

Campaign Issues for 1940 State Primary Contest in Republican Party

Only one vote was needed in the present session of the legislature to remedy this situation. That vote failed at the crucial moment. It was at that moment when the Republican legislature wrote the issues for the 1940 primary election.

What about the platform of the Democratic party in the next state campaign? That will be written for them by the Republicans in the next Republican state primary contest.

If the anti-machine, anti-boss element of the Republican party can win the nominations for high state offices as well as the majority of delegates to the next Republican state convention, there is not much question but what the voters of Michigan who prefer to be known as independent voters will follow the popular type of political leadership that comes directly from the electorate.

But unless the Republican party CLEANS HOUSE in the next primary, no one can rightly predict what might happen in the next state election.

There is no question but what the Democratic members of the legislature have been pursuing a cautious and carefully studied policy during recent months.

They have voted with those Republicans in the house who have been trying to clean up their own back-yard. They have voted carefully on many controversial problems. They have taken practically no part in floor discussions except on minor bills.

There was but one time during the session when their attitude on a public question was reversed and that pertained to the labor program of the late Governor Fitzgerald.

Two years ago when their own labor bill was presented to the legislature, it was hurried through without much consideration.

Then objection arose to it and former Governor Murphy deemed best to veto it.

This year the Democratic members of the house reversed their position and refused to support a labor bill. They explained their position by declaring that the bill was in no way similar to the one presented two years ago.

Some members of the house took the attitude that no labor bill was needed—that there are plenty of laws on the books at present to apply to any situation that might develop. They saw no need of new laws on this question. It was on this measure that the Democratic members showed a considerable spirit of fight.

There was one other bill that they did battle with much vigor. That was the measure which made possible the selection of an entirely new public service commission, to take the place of the utilities commission. The measure came as the result of the refusal of one Democratic member to resign. These two occasions were the only ones upon which there was any display of organized opposition to Republican endeavors.

"MUSKOGON RAINBOW COME BIG!"

The conservation officer agreed that this big rainbow from the Muskegon river was well over the seven inch legal limit! It tipped the scales at more than six pounds.

Some Republican members of the house think that their efforts to balance the budget and conduct the state's business within its income will be sufficiently satisfactory to overcome the opposition to the action of the legislature on other important questions. They feel that if the budget should be balanced at the end of the next two years as the result of the reduction of expenditures, the public hostility to the curtailment of the duties of the civil service commission will be overcome and that there will not be much else to talk about except the budget balancing accomplishment.

That remains to be seen. The state is not in a very satisfactory financial condition, there is not much question about that. The ways and means committee of the house has made a studied effort to try and solve one of Michigan's most difficult problems. The feeling is that the committee did a pretty good job. There is one thing that will help out to a very great extent—and that is an expected increase in state revenues.

It will be interesting to watch the public reaction to the work of a legislature that started out to enact a program of a Governor who was suddenly taken by death within sixty days after he had assumed office.

The few brief weeks that Governor Fitzgerald did serve were probably the most hectic that any man ever experienced.

He was besieged-night and day by job seekers. He was plagued by those who sought favors from the state. There are many who are firmly convinced that his untimely death was hastened by the terrific "give me" pressure that was heaped upon him.

He had little or no time to work out in detail his legislative program before his death. Some members of the legislature took their text from his message and endeavored to follow it as closely as possible.

But immediately after his death there were many outside and inside the state government who sought to impose their legislative ideas upon the law-makers.

There have been too many complicating situations to deal with. Never before have there been so many selfish pressure groups operating in Lansing as during the present session.

They were out to get all that they could for themselves and more too, if that was possible.

In addition to the vast army of selfish interests who have worked night and day—and sorry to say with some success—there, too, has been another complicating situation. That has been the desire on the part of a number in advantageous positions to seek for themselves as much political control and advantage as possible for their own purposes. As a result there have been little cliques and factions that have sought possible personal advantage by working with a certain few and against others who apparently have not seen eye to eye with them. Such a condition just naturally developed as the result of the tragic death of Governor Fitzgerald so early in his administration.

The house of representatives remained on a pretty even keel most of the time. Speaker Howard Nugent and his followers on the floor did a good job in keeping things going smoothly. Then, too, the house was not beset by efforts on the part of any of its members to seek personal political advantage at the expense of other members.

There is much that cannot be reviewed in detail at this time. There was caustic criticism of the legislature and its work two years ago when it adjourned. In fact, so hostile was the public attitude that former Governor Murphy had it return the last of July on final adjournment day to do some of its work over again.

There will be criticism of the actions of the present legislature. Some of it will be justified. Most of it will not be.

Charter Presented to Junior C. of C.

The purpose of the state organization is to link together those chapters in the various cities in a manner whereby one group may exchange ideas with another, may receive suggestions and advice and may enter into an expression of opinion on matters of statewide importance.

"This is done by coordination as we have termed it. Through the years there has always been that need for an integrated program of activity—from the nation to the state—and from the state to the local groups. This we feel has at last been accomplished.

"The state organization picks up from the national and carries on where the national organization leaves off. We have established the 17 work committees of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce and have passed these on to the local groups with the request that each appoint to our state committees the chairman of their local committee on each subject head. Through our meetings with the state board we exchange the ideas with which all of these men are working in their own local committees.

"I hope you will always keep before you the three-fold purpose of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. First, to teach civic responsibility to your young men and through your activities show them what they can do to make their city a better one in which to live.

"Second, to help the young man in his own business relations, not by telling him what he must do to be a success, but by a broader knowledge of public and local affairs and by his fellowship with other young men, to make him a better citizen and certainly a more valuable man to his employer.

"Third, to express the opinion or voice of the young man.

"To-night as you receive your charter I would extract from you the pledge that you will remember those points in your work that is before you, and from you Bob Wesley—that you may help to direct your organization on those principals. My congratulations to you as Plymouth's first president and to your members for the step they have taken."

National Vice President Raymond J. Bonini of Grand Rapids also brought greetings to the membership from the national organization and explained to them some of the important work that had been accomplished throughout the nation by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Noted Harpist to Play Here

Otto Baganz of Fond Du Lac, Wisconsin, one of the leading harpists in the United States, has been engaged for a concert here on May 31 at 8 in the evening, at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church. No admission will be charged, but a free will offering will be taken.

Mr. Baganz is widely acclaimed a very talented and skilled musician, who through many years of faithful application has acquired a marvellously brilliant technique on an instrument which is known to be one of the most difficult to master. He began playing the harp at the age of nine years. He is a pupil of Enrico Tramonti, who is recognized to have been the world's greatest harpist, and of Edmund Schuecker, the world's greatest harpist. For seven seasons he studied under and accompanied with Joseph Vito of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. He now specializes in church music and during the last three years has given some 1200 concerts in Lutheran churches in twenty states.

Of great interest in the unusual instrument which Mr. Baganz owns and plays. It is believed to be the last word in the harp-maker's art, both as to construction and tone, and has been termed "the Scandinavian of harps." It was produced especially for exhibition at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago and was there shown as "the finest harp ever built." It is worthy of note also that this particular instrument was played for the first time in public by Mr. Baganz in a symphony concert towards the close of the Worlds Fair.

Assisting the harpist in his concert are Rhoda Trapp with the Vibraharp and chimes and his son, Ralph, with the Cathedral Bells. This ensemble has very rarely been announced an excellent combination, splendidly adapted to the results of the programs in which he features chorales, hymns and religious music. Mr. Baganz comes well recommended by most prominent in church and musical circles, and his text from his message and hearing his unique and inspiring concert program.

City Budget Rises Slightly

pro-rated to the general fund with $8,490 to be paid by the miscellaneous revenues; $10,645 to the Highway fund with $6,500 to be paid by revenues; $14,237 was pro-rated to the Bond and Interest fund; $3,770 was allowed the Sewer fund with an expected revenue of $750 from new sewer taps; the police fund was allowed $10,380 with $1,790 to come from penalties and fines; $3,295 was pro-rated to the Fire fund with $250 to be paid by other revenues.

For the Street Lighting fund a $7,000 limit was set with only $36 to come from other sources than taxes; the Welfare fund was allowed $4,000 with $150 to be paid from other funds. Allotted to the garbage and rubbish fund was $4,350 with $700 coming from revenue; to the Equipment fund $4,194 with $500 from refunds; and to the Contingent fund $5,022.36 with $350 from permits and fines.

These figures which are $1428 higher than last year will include the increase in salaries. The city employees wages for Plymouth have been low and this year they will be raised to the average of other cities this size. Another factor responsible for the increase in the budget can be attributed to the fact that the bonded indebtedness of the city will reach its highest peak this year. The increase will be $502,500 since the figure this year was $13,675 and for next year will be $14,237.50. After the next fiscal year the bonded indebtedness will decrease, gradually at first until in several years it will be completely paid.

The other notable figure in the planning of the new budget was an increase of $119,900 in the assessed valuation of property this year due to new buildings. Last year's assessment valuation totaled $6,287,910 and this year it is $6,407,810. Of this last amount, $4,627,970 is the valuation on real property and $779,840 is the valuation on personal property.

Bear were put on the protected list in Michigan in 1925, being included under the deer law in that year.

Former Resident to Guard King

Hugh F. Quee, who formerly lived at Ray Vale at the junction of the Five Mile road and Northville road, will be a member of the guard of honor for their Majesties the King and Queen of England when they visit Windsor, Ontario, on Tuesday, June 6.

Mr. Quee who was employed by the Detroit House of Correction for a number of years is well known in this district. On the day that England declared war in 1914, he was the first man to volunteer and register for service in the British forces at Windsor. At the time he was a sergeant in the Irish Rifles reserve corps. He served throughout the world war on both the eastern and western fronts in many capacities; his work in the espionage service was outstanding. Mr. Quee who has been decorated many times for his bravery in action, was wounded twice during the war.

REVERSE COLLECTION PAYS

Bangor (MPA)—Quite some time ago, $50 were distributed to Congregational church members here, who were requested to invest it and return it and the profits. That this reverse plate-passing worked is shown by the $128 turned in as earnings when the allotted time for investment was up. Each member started with a one dollar bill. One lady made $10 from her original capital. There were no losses.

Mosquito Bite Sickens Horses

Sleeping sickness which travels scientifically under the frightful name of Equine Encephalomyelitis, may again attack horses in Michigan some time after the month of June.

To aid those in Wayne county where horses might become affected, a new bulletin has been prepared by Dr. E. J. Killham, extension specialist in animal pathology at Michigan State college.

The publication, Extension Bulletin 201, is called "Sleeping Sickness." Copies can be obtained through offices of the county agricultural agent or by writing the Bulletin Clerk, Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Mosquitoes get the blame for at least some of the transmission of the virus disease. Thus the prevalence usually occurs some time after June and disappears with the frosts in the fall.

Symptoms vary with individual horses and mules. Deranged consciousness often is exhibited. Dizziness, an apparent mental coma or mental dullness are characteristic. Paralysis of various organs, says Dr. Killham, commonly includes even the throat of the animal.

Sprays and fly nets are recommended, especially for pastured animals where mosquitoes prevail. A chick embryo vaccine seems one of the best preventives, specially worthwhile where valuable animals are to be protected. After symptoms appear, a veterinarian should be called at once. Home remedies such as drenching may be dangerous procedure, experience of the bulletin's author indicates. Further, he concludes, quacks and vendors of secret so-called cures should be avoided in dealing with this comparatively mysterious malady.

With the Wayne County Agent

E. I. BESEMER
Maggot in cabbages and onions may be controlled with corrosive sublimate. Tar paper disks may also be used on cabbage plants.

Corrosive sublimate is a violent poison and must be handled with care. It corrodes metals so must be used in wood, glass or crockery container. To make up the solution use one ounce of corrosive sublimate in one gallon of water. One pint of this stock solution is diluted to one gallon and applied at the rate of one-half teaspoonful about the roots of each plant. It is applied when the plants are set out and two times afterward at weekly intervals.

Livestock feeder's day at Michigan State college is Friday, June 9. The program starts at 10:00 a.m. and includes such subjects as "Hay Silage for Breeding Cows", "Michigan Pasture Problems" and "Growing and Feeding Cattle." It will be an instructive day for all those interested in beef cattle feeding.

Many inquiries are being received concerning hybrid corn. Michigan 1218 for grain and Michigan 1581 for silage should prove best for this section. Other varieties are being used and may prove adapted to this locality. It is through demonstrations that the best varieties can be determined. With any variety make sure to get it planted as early as possible.

Obituary

WILLIAM WRIGHTINGTON
William Wrightington, who resided at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hansen at 6300 Territorial road, Salem township, passed away suddenly Monday morning, May 22 at the age of 78 years. The body was taken to the Schrader Funeral home, Plymouth, from which place funeral services were held Wednesday, May 24, at 2:00 p.m. Interment was made in Lapham's cemetery, Rev. Cora Pennell of Salem officiating.

MRS. HARRIETT ALICE WARD
Mrs. Harriett Alice Ward, formerly of Plymouth, who has resided at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lovina R. Hetsler at 1400 West Base Line road, Northville township, passed away suddenly early Monday morning, May 22 at the age of 82 years. She was the widow of the late Thomas T. Ward. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lovina R. Hetsler of Northville, and an adopted son, Roy T. Ward of Fisk, Missouri; four grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. The body was taken to the Schrader Funeral home, Plymouth, from which place funeral services were held Wednesday, May 24, at 4:00 p.m. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery, Rev. Gustave Enss officiating.

WORK ON BIRMINGHAM CUT-OFF TO START
The work on the Birmingham cut-off along Woodward avenue which is one of the longest sought highway improvements in the metropolitan area of Detroit was ready to be initiated this week with the approval of a low bid of $167,608 from the R. D. Baker company of Royal Oak. When this announcement was made, it was also stated that construction will probably be started by June 1 and the cut-off opened to traffic by September 1. The project calls for the construction of two 44-foot lanes of concrete pavement on the east side of Birmingham.

Honor Guard Keeps Watch Over Shrine

ONCE a year—on Memorial Day—eyes of the nation focus on a tomb in Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D. C., on which is inscribed: "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God." That those soldiers who died in service of their country shall be constantly remembered, the United States Army maintains a perpetual vigil over the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

1 On guard at all times is one soldier. The sentry detail includes three shifts of four men each. Each shift is on duty 12 hours, then is off duty 24. This sentry marches 30 paces a minute, keeps the post for two hours, then is relieved for four.

2 While waiting to go on duty, this private answers the questions of two sightseers. He and the 11 others of his detail will serve for 15 days, then be replaced by new sentries.

3 During bad weather guards use the sentry box instead of marching back and forth before the tomb. At all other times regulations provide that sentries shall stand guard outside.

4 Placing a floral wreath on the tomb is a time-honored gesture of reverence and commemoration. Each year, in this way, many visiting dignitaries pay their grateful respects to America's heroic Unknown Soldiers.

Two Score Aces at Hilltop

Laurence Moe, who is a member of the low handicap league, made a hole in one at the Hilltop Country club Monday evening. He made the 125-yard shot on the fourth hole with his No. 7 iron. The other members of the four-some were John Powers, Paul Richards and Gordon Moe.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Alice V. Hayes, of 1733 Lysander avenue, in Detroit, sunk a hole in one on the sixth with a 145-yard drive. Players with her were T. J. Hayes, Lee McConnell and Al Conery.

Insects are Good Fish Lure

Both artificial and natural insects are increasing rapidly in importance as lures for fish as warmer weather increases insect activity in Michigan lakes and streams.

Investigation by the Institute for Fisheries Research of the department of conservation has established nine orders of insects as most important to the fisherman. While there are more species of insects than of all other known groups of animals together, these groups are largely terrestrial with only a few living in the water. Imitations are usually designed to imitate the insect that has led a part of its life in the water. They may either simulate the aquatic form or the adult as it arises from the stream.

The favorite forms of the angler are the stoneflies, mayflies, dragonflies, damselflies, hellgramites, caddisflies, beetles, true flies and moths. Although not aquatic, the cat tail grub, goldenrod gall grub, meal worm and sawdust worm are important as winter bait.

Of the 500 species of mayflies only the wigglers, large burrowing nymphs, are important to the bait fisherman. The fly fisherman on the other hand may be provided with numerous imitations. These live nymphs are good for bluegills, perch, sunfish and crappies, largely during the winter months. The imitations, of course, are used largely for trout and only during season. Caddisflies, who live in portable cases, are also good for panfish.

The hellgramite is the larval form of a large winged insect called the dobsonfly. Excellent bass bait, they are also effective at times on big trout. Dragonfly and damselfly nymphs are little used in Michigan but are popular in New York. Others sometimes used with success are the leather jacket, which must be tied to the hook; goldenrod gall worms; cattaill grubs and meal worms and sawdust worms. The last two forms are both beetle larvae. All these baits are regarded as good in winter, main reliance of the summer bait fisherman will continue to be worms, crickets and grasshoppers.

Wildlife Movies to be Open to Public

"Skipper" Schwimer, of Detroit, will bring his moving pictures of big game and fishing to the next meeting of the Western Wayne County Conservation association on Monday, June 5.

Mr. Schwimer, whose hobby is supporting a camp for orphans on the French river, makes picture taking his business. He is the owner and manager of the two Acme camera shops in downtown Detroit and he has taken pictures in all parts of the world. He will present one and a half hours of game pictures when he speaks here on June 5. Much of his work has been done in technicolor and he is well-known for the beauty as well as the technical perfection of his movies.

This meeting of the Wildlife club will be open to the public and further details will be announced later in The Mail.

YOUTH FEDERATION PLANNING JUNE DANCE

There will be no roller skating at the Methodist church this next Tuesday but there will be skating the following Tuesday and several more parties to follow. Don't forget about the dancing party to be given in June at the Masonic Temple by the ladies of the Eastern Star because all young people in Plymouth who have attended the dances at the city hall will be invited to attend what promises to be a big affair.

All small children enjoy stories and games and they find all of these and more each Saturday morning at the city hall at the story hours. The time is 9:00 o'clock for children eight to 10 years old and 10:00 o'clock for children from five to seven years old. When the weather permits they have their activities in the park across from the school.

The tire-makers are discovering that there are more miles in their tires than they ever claimed.

Rotary Anns Hosts to Men

Rotary Anns entertained their husbands last Wednesday night at a ladies' night, planned and conducted by them, at the Mayflower hotel. The entertainment, presented by the ladies, was headed by an interesting program put on by O. James Crews, Moderator at the Temple of Light in Detroit, who talked on the subject, "Stars in Your Life." Music was furnished by members of the Detroit police quartette and Kenneth Hannah, of Plymouth, who played several accordion selections.

A large wheel, symbol of the Rotary club, was placed in the center of the ball room and tables were placed around it to represent the spokes of the wheel. Each table was decorated to represent one of the 12 months of the year, by wives of the club members.

Independent thinking, when based on common sense, courage and intelligence, still meets with success.

Defending the oppressed peoples of the world would be noble, chivalric, gallant, romantic. But the cold, gray dawn of the morning after!

Michigan's one experiment with the importation of reindeer in 1922, was disappointing. All but one of sixty died within five days.

"Keep Memorial Day Sacred"

 the flower and the fealty" of a free and undivided republic.
 Of that host of 70 years ago, a scant handful yet remain, a dwindling vanguard of the once mighty Grand Army of the Republic. But these, too, although now feeble and infirm would if need be "keep the solemn trust" to guard and decorate the graves of their comrades with "sacred vigilance." But other younger comrades have caught the torch flung from feeble arm, and World War veterans, three million strong, shall bear aloft and rekindle anew the "flame of devotion" carried on high these many years by that glorious army who saved the flag of our republic from dishonor.
 Three million strong, still young, still bright of eye, still bearing in unwaried arms the emblems of remembrance and sacred duty toward those hallowed graves.

 But they too "shall pass away" and we trust and pray that they, when too feeble to guard and cherish their comrades' graves shall "cast again the torch into willing hands."
 And although we know that comrades of war have always been the comrades who have most readily caught the torch, yet now we trust and pray that 70 years hence it shall be to "comrades of peace," soldiers of a better and more Christian republic that has in that span of years found a new and saner way to find justice, liberty and tranquility than by force. And when that time comes, we trust that, five million mounds shall ever remain garlanded, sacred symbols of a host that "asked not why when duty called, but fought to make it possible for their children to demand peace with honor."
 It is more difficult to keep and protect liberty than to win it.

Coaxes Double Crop in Fruit

Lower California Wizard Proves to Be Second Luther Burbank.

ENSENADA.—The work of this life is well nigh over for David Smith, 78 years old, the Ensenada Burbank, who makes two oranges grow where one grew before, who has bred persimmons as large as your hat, who is considered throughout Mexico one of the horticultural wizards of the world.
 Fifty years ago old David left the Pennsylvania German valleys of his youth and migrated to the frontier town of Ensenada in lower California. There he lives in his adobe cottage amid long lanes of cherry, orange, lemon, avocado and persimmon trees.
 For a half century people have known about old David. His skill in coaxing the impossible out of the soda caked soil of lower California has made his name a byword throughout Mexico. Down there they call him "old man Smith."
 His Greatest Triumphs.
 Today David counts these as his greatest triumphs:
 Avocados that grow long and thin and seedless—like green-ripe bananas.
 Those persimmons as large as your hat.
 Juice oranges that look like wrinkled sponges and which spew sweetness at the touch.
 "Cherry-plums" that can grow on the roughest, toughest hillsides.
 David disclaims miracles. Although he basks in the title of the Ensenada Burbank, he lays his success with fruit trees to his early cognizance of the fact that combining a wild growth with a domestic one produces a miraculously hardy fruit-bearer, and to the fact that his own peculiar style of grafting gives A-1 results.
 To a Californian David snorted: "They do things all wrong in your part of the country. They want trees to look like trees. With long trunks and branches that are out of reach. That's nonsense. The sun should never shine directly on a fruit tree's trunk. It stunts the growth."
 His Oranges Grow on Bushes.
 Thus David's orange trees, for example, look like squat little Christmas trees.
 Their lowest branches sprout from the trunk a few inches above the hot soil.
 The weight of their gigantic fruit sends these selfsame branches dragging on the ground.
 Now David has given his farm to his Mexican housekeeper, who has maintained his two-room home for 10 years.
 Technically, David is the servant, she the master.
 At 78, David's old bones have become brittle from the alkali saturated water for 50 years. He knows he has not long to live, and he is sad because he cannot tend his full six acres of beloved crops.
 English David speaks with the Pennsylvania Dutch accent. He learned horticulture from his grandfather, a member of the Philadelphia sugar trust, he explained. The patriarch of Ensenada Americans, David remembers the father of the Hussong boys—Ensenada's present German-American tycoons—who came to the town in 1887.

Name Four Boys as Delegates

 Blunk avenue, spoke on "The New" of Civil Service in Michigan. They were determined as winners by the applause of the large audience in the Legion hall on the Newburg road. They will represent the Plymouth Rotary club and the Myron H. Beals Post of the American Legion at the Lansing during the week of June 13. The balloting was very close and the boys had to be called back to the platform for extemporaneous speeches to determine the winners. Richard Strong and Thomas Mitchell, runners-up in the contest, will be alternates, in case the winners are unable to attend.
 The two local boys who did not enter the competition, but who will go to Boy's State as honor guests are Earl Merriman and Keith Sprout. Earl, son of Leon Merriman of Newburg road, is being sent by the local Legion post which is entitled to a representative and which will pay his entry fee.
 Keith, son of Mrs. Edna Sprout of Forest avenue is being sent by the Detroit police post. He is the son of a World War veteran who died in the service of the Detroit police and his fees will be paid by that group.

Youth and Age Err as Drivers

Middle-Aged Persons Most Reliable at Wheel, Yale Expert Finds.

NEW HAVEN.—Dr. Harry R. DeSilva, conducting a program of driver research at Yale's Institute of Human Relations, classifies youthful and elderly drivers as the most unreliable on the highways.
 "Most of our elderly motorists," he said, "learned to drive relatively late in life when their habits were rather inflexible. Elderly persons learn more slowly and when they have attained a minimum standard of skill are more likely to be satisfied than youngsters. Many have never pushed on to the higher level of skill reached by present-day young people, so many of whom receive vigorous training followed by an examination."
 "Add to this fact that elderly persons learned with old, noisy, slow cars with high seats and correspondingly easy visibility on uncongested highways, and one sees a reason for present-day maladjustments among our 'old-timers.'"
 Youth Lacks Restraint.
 Youths in their teens and early twenties, he finds, while more skillful, "have the greatest accident incidence."
 "They drive more rapidly and travel farther than older drivers. Having less experience and responsibilities (there are fewer car owners and fewer married men in the younger age group) they undoubtedly drive with less restraint and are more interested in getting places in a hurry. They have less insight into their own faults and into the possible defects of their cars. Since they are continually exploring new and unfamiliar roads they are less acquainted with the dangers that may confront them on the highway."
 "Their ability to respond to complex situations and emergencies is not as good as it will be in later years. The chief redeeming virtue of young people is that they have keener ears, quicker reactions and a better co-ordination."
 Drivers Past 30 Safer.
 The middle-aged drivers, between the ages of 30 and 50, he said, "have more experience and more responsibilities and have a better accident rate despite the fact that they drive almost as fast and as far as the younger group. An outstanding paradox of middle-aged drivers is that during the period of fewest accidents (40-50 miles an hour) there is the greatest incidence of alcoholic drivers."
 Dr. DeSilva suggested a "driver clinic" for elderly motorists.
 "Drivers, like sick men, can be cured best by helping themselves," he said. "When faced by objective facts old persons can carry out just as successful a self-improvement campaign as young persons."
 "Although they may not themselves get into so many accidents, on account of their slower speeds, more leisurely habits of turning corners and more cautious operations at intersections, they may, by hindering the steady flow of traffic, cause others to have accidents."

CAT SAVES FAMILY

Keego Harbor (MPA)—"Pete," a big maltese cat, is credited by the Lee Taylor family with saving them from asphyxiation. Shortly before midnight one evening, the cat, who had been shut up in the kitchen, awakened Taylor with his meows and wild scamperings. Investigating, he found the kitchen filled with gas, and the main gas jet on the stove turned on.

Citizens' Legion Protests Taxes

 The headquarters will be here in Plymouth.
 "I am confident that when the people realize that the so-called Social Security Act is not a program of protection to the individual but only another tax on the poor—they will reject the present plan," said Mr. Purcell.
 "I believe that taxes are fully justified when the taxpayer has received value for his money. But that is not the case with this program which is little understood by the Congressmen who passed it."
 "Take the case of a young man, age 20, drawing $1,500 a year who dies at 62, his normal span. His estate gets $1,125 less than he and his employer paid in. If he had taken a policy with an insurance company for the same thing he would have received all he paid in plus a few hundred dollars interest. This short-changing stunt provides the funds for the spenders. Is that fair?"
 "None of the hundreds of millions taken from payroll envelopes is in reserve. It has all been spent. The 'benefits' to be paid back will be raised by additional taxes in payment of 'interest' on the reserve. Thus we have the sad case of being taxed twice for a purpose and then getting back much less than we originally paid in. That this mess of potage be handed a people struggling with a depression is nothing short of madness."
 Plans are being made to furnish protest blanks to every taxpayer who will use them as well as to hold mass meetings throughout the state.

Teachers' Personalities Judged on 'S' Traits

SPRINGFIELD, MO.—Modern schools have become so technological that the teacher's personality has been virtually eclipsed, and that is not desirable, says Dr. Merle Prunty.
 Dr. Prunty is curriculum director at Stephens college, where many teachers have studied. Personally, he told the Southwest Missouri Teachers association, is more important than degrees in its "portentous influence on the lives of boys and girls."
 An effective personality for teachers, Dr. Prunty said, includes these "S" attributes: sense, sincerity, spirituality, simplicity, sympathy, scholarship, strength, self-control, serenity, sweetness, scientific organization, self-reliance, sportsmanship, salesmanship, and skill.

'Date' Shyness at Toronto U. Now Lost to Students

TORONTO.—The University of Toronto's four-year-old "dime-date bureau" is in danger of death through "starvation," but editors of Varsity, undergraduates' newspaper, proposed to conduct a thorough survey to see if it can be rejuvenated.
 The bureau, established four years ago, arranged dates for students of the university for the cost of 10 cents. Applicants were required to fill out a lengthy form paper, giving their preferences as to height, appearance, interests and social standing of their prospective dates.
 The bureau enjoyed a boom until this year when interest suddenly died. Varsity editors, however, indignantly denied suggestions that campus romance was dead and put forward the suggestion that this year's undergraduates are either more bold in their efforts to arrange their own dates or have formed themselves into small "sets" in which they have their own friends.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.—Rev. G. H. Enns, Th.D., pastor. This is Pentecost Sunday reminding us of the historic event of the beginning of the Christian church in Jerusalem. On this day three thousand souls were received into the church. In the true sense of the word, this is Church day. Let us make it our church day. We shall commemorate this memorable event in our morning service at 10:00 o'clock. The pastor will speak on the subject "The Day of Pentecost." In the evening at 7:30 o'clock the ordinance of baptism will be administered by the pastor. There are nine candidates for baptism. We welcome you to witness the baptism ceremony. The pastor will speak on "The Meaning of Church Membership." Our Sunday school session as usual at 11:15 a.m., and the young people's meeting on Wednesday nights at 7:30 p.m. We now study the first letter of the apostle Paul to the Corinthians. "I will not forget thy word."

THE METHODIST CHURCH.—Stanford S. Closson, pastor. 10:00 a.m., church services; 11:30 a.m., Sunday school; 6:30, Epworth League; Thursday, 8:00, choir rehearsal.

CATHOLIC CHURCH.—Rev. V. Renaud, pastor. Sunday—Mass at 8:00, 10:00 and 11:30. Confessions Saturday nights at 7:30 and before each mass. Societies—The Holy Name Society for all men and young men. Communion the second Sunday of the month. The Ladies' Altar Society receives Holy Communion the third Sunday of each month. All the ladies of the parish are to belong to this society. Children's Sunday—Every child of the parish should go to communion every fourth Sunday of the month. Instructions in religion conducted each Saturday morning at 10:00 by the Felician Sisters. All children that have not completed their 8th grade are obliged to attend these religious instructions.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL church.—Harvey and Maple streets. Whit Sunday, Morning prayer and sermon, 10:00 a.m.; church school, 11:15 a.m. The Ladies' Guild will meet at the home of Mrs. Alfred Innes, 244 East Ann Arbor on Thursday June 1 for a 1:00 o'clock luncheon with Mrs. William Henry and Mrs. James Henry as co-hostesses. Business meeting to follow.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST Scientist. Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy" a Memorial and Hypnotism. Denounced in the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 28. The Golden Text (Ezekiel 13:9) is "Mine hand shall be upon the prophets that see vanity, and that divine lies: . . . and ye shall know that I am the Lord God." Among the Bible citations in this passage (Deuteronomy 10:20): "Thou shalt fear the Lord thy God; him shalt thou serve, and to him shalt thou cleave, and swear by his name." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 183): "Divine Mind rightly demands man's entire obedience, affection, and strength. No reservation is made for any lesser loyalty."

Consider these words—and let the Lord have full sway in your life. Co-pastors: Arno Thompson and Clifford Funk.

Geer School News

About 100 members of the Geer school district met at the school Friday, May 19, for a picnic supper which marked the closing of another successful school year. All that attended enjoyed an excellent exhibit of the school work done by the children during the year. The work judged best was kept to be displayed at the county fair.

Other activities of the week was dinner given by the children and their teacher in honor of the eighth grade graduating class, which consisted of Betty Grammel, Beverly Eschels, Juanita Montoro, Bill Mudge and Ted Sherman. Children in the school also took part in the annual festival and field day held at Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Melvin Stacey will return as teacher for the coming year.

A LOT OF BULL—Setting a new record for the Highlands Dairy herd, a bull calf weighing 182 pounds at birth was born to one of the cows in the herd, according to Robert Cook. When six weeks old, the calf tipped the scales at 290 pounds. Cook says calves weighing 100 pounds and over are not rare in his herd.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mandl was the scene of a very happy affair Saturday evening when their daughter, Kathryn, entertained about 25 guests at a party honoring Faith Braid, of Pontiac, who is to become the bride of Donald Bronson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bronson, of Detroit, formerly of Plymouth, on Saturday, June 3. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many needs for the pantry after which bridge and Chinese checkers were the entertainment with a dainty repast following. The guests were Miss Braid, her mother, Mrs. John Braid, Sr., Mrs. Harold MacDonald, Mrs. John Braid, Jr., Geraldine Ruf, Marjorie Fuller, of Pontiac; Mrs. Walter Bronson, Patricia Bronson, Mrs. Bert Tower, Sr., Mrs. Bert Tower, Jr., Mrs. Claire Tower, Mrs. Lloyd Mettetal, Mrs. Richard Mitchell, Mrs. Bert Fench, Mrs. Mathew Mandl, Mrs. Donald Goodremont, Mrs. William Leil, Mrs. Joseph Klinger, Mrs. Alvin Chapley, Mrs. John Ball, Mrs. Mollie Bronson, of Detroit; Mrs. Herman Salmonsom, Mrs. Dolstrom, of Ypsilanti; Georgiana Payne, of Lansing; Mrs. Edwin J. Burrows, of Royal Oak; Hermine Maire, of Dexter; Miriam Joffe and Mrs. Mandl, of Plymouth.

Honoring Yvonne Hearn whose marriage to Alvah Elzerman will take place on Saturday, June 10, Mrs. George Fischer and Mrs. James Kincaid were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday afternoon. In a corsage of lavender sweet peas and tea roses, Yvonne carried little cards on which were written rhymed descriptions of the places that shower gifts were hidden. Guests for the luncheon which was held in the home of Mrs. Kincaid on Plymouth road, were Mrs. Fred Hearn, Mrs. William Elzerman, Mrs. Harmon Gates, Mrs. Alfred Bakewell, Mrs. Wesley Dunn, Mrs. George Huger, Mrs. William Bartel, Mrs. Frank Farrington, Mrs. R. G. Jordan, Mrs. William Bakewell, Mrs. George Murphy, Mrs. George Schmidt, Mrs. Mark Joy, Mrs. Burton E. Greenman, Mrs. Laurence Ingham and Mrs. John Miller. ## New Boat is put in Service

A second boat will be put into service this year on the Tahquamenon river and will be used to carry passengers on the Tahquamenon Falls run from Soo Junction.

The new boat, to be named Paul Bunyan II, will be 70 feet long and 18 feet wide. Power will be supplied by a large cruising launch. The boat will accommodate 400 passengers and will supplement the service of the 800 passenger stern wheeler "Tahquamenon."

Summer runs on the river began Friday, May 19, with high school graduates prominent among the first group of passengers. The Toonerville Trolley leaves Soo Junction at 10:00 a. m. and connects with the boats at Hunters Landing half an hour later. Passengers are allowed approximately three hours for sight-seeing at the famous falls, the return trip coming back to Soo Junction at about 6:30 p. m.

The new boat, when it goes into service, will be placed on a late run, probably leaving about noon and returning at 8:00 p. m. Her predecessor, the Paul Bunyan

I, will be temporarily retired from service or held in reserve.

The Tahquamenon Falls comprise the principal attraction in one of the upper peninsula's most beautiful areas, an area that has been assured public possession for the benefit of all the people. Large quantities of valuable timber and potential water power developments were obstacles to the acquisition of this important bit of Michigan's wilderness heritage but were eventually overcome.

The park site lies along the south boundary of the Superior state forest which extends to Lake Superior on the north, and to the mouth of the Tahquamenon river southeast of the falls. A major part of the land in this area is now state owned. Each year many more visitors have journeyed to the Falls and a nation wide interest has grown in the area. When it is completely developed as a state park, the area will be somewhat more accessible but will remain in its present wilderness condition. All improvements contemplated for the future by the parks division of the department of conservation have been considered in the light of their ability to blend into the natural beauty of the area.

TRAVELLING STORK

Sebawaing (MPA) — Twins were born to a Unionville couple, recently, but not in the same city. There were three hours between the two births, and a distance of 22 miles. The first child was born in the family home at 7:15 a. m.; then the mother was moved to a Bay City hospital, where the second of the twins was born at 10:40 the same morning.

COW BEARS TRIPLETS

Mt. Morris (MPA)—A jersey cow three and a half years old recently gave birth to triplet calves here. The calves weighed in at 35, 35 and 40 pounds. T. B. Glendening, the owner, reported the mother and her offspring to be in good health.

Noted Harpist to Play Here

Otto Bagans of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, one of the leading harpists in the United States, will appear at 8:00 p. m., Wednesday, May 31, in St. Peter's Ev. Lutheran church, where he will give a public concert. Assisting the harpist in his concert are Rhoda Trapp with the vibraharp and chimes and his son, Reuben, with the Cathedral marimba.

Maccabees Hold Annual Banquet

The Mother and Daughter banquet sponsored by the Maccabees for their members and guests last Wednesday evening was attended by 130 guests who enjoyed the delicious meal prepared by Lady Angie Blunk and her committee. The guests were given a most cordial welcome by the commander, Arbutus Killingsworth who then turned the program over to Lady Dora Wood, the toastmistress. The guests were taken on an imaginary musical trip to foreign lands and through the United States.

The original poem by Arlene Soth and the "Toast to the Mothers" by Betty Jane Brown were both deserving of special mention.

Lady Grace Martin presented corsages to five of the older members who in the past have acted as mothers to the Hive, giving them words of praise for their faithfulness to the order. Those receiving corsages were Ladies Anna McKeever, Hattie Holloway, Lena Willet, Elsie Bovee and Jessie Terry. Two of the older members, Ladies Ella Glympe and Anna Wright, were unable to be present because of illness.

Lady Edna Magraw introduced Mrs. Retta Smith, of Detroit, a Commander of the Hive for ten years. Everyone enjoyed her speech, in which she included a "Toast to the Daughters." Lady Dora D. Nicholson, assistant Q. Commander, of Detroit, paid splendid tribute to motherhood in her talk.

The guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Frederick Ray, from the office of the Dean of Women at the University of Michigan, gave an inspiring address entitled "We, the Builders." The guests were fortunate in hearing the charming and able speaker whose work keeps her in touch with the problems of the young people of today and enables her to understand and assist them in adjusting their lives to the requirements of the day's social standards. The pleasant evening closed with the desire that closer relationships between mothers and daughters might be established and thus bring a fuller, richer, mutual understanding and pleasure into their lives.

Kiwanians Hear Famed Scientist

Professor Clinton B. Ford, famed young scientist, from Ann Arbor, spoke at the Kiwanian meeting on Tuesday evening, Prof. Ford, who obtained his B.S. in astronomy at the Yerkes Observatory in Chicago in his youth gave Kiwanians an illustrated lecture on the constellations.

After graduating from the Yerkes Observatory, he taught there for some time before he came to the University of Michigan to take post graduate work. He is now earning his M.A. degree by studying at the Ann Arbor Observatory.

Julius Kaiser was chairman for the meeting and his nephew, Roland Rhead, who is a student at the University of Michigan, introduced Professor Ford. Pictures of the stars, of the distances between the sun and its planets, the Saturn and Jupiter and the volcanic disturbances on Mars, eclipses of the sun and moon were used to illustrate his talk.

State Will Buy no More Ferries

Murray D. Van Wagoner announced today through the local branch of the highway department that Michigan's White Fleet at the Straits of Mackinac will not be enlarged this year.

This is the first time in three years that a new boat has not been added to the fleet of ferries operated by the state highway department between the upper and lower peninsulas. Michigan is the only state in the union with ferry service as a function of the state highway department and it has a capital investment of $1,080,000 in its white fleet.

The announcement was made because the state believes an adequate supply of ferries are now available. Five state-owned and one leased vessel are now operated during the tourist season and the railroad ferry, Chief Wawatun is also available for emergency duty. When Michigan began the ferry service at the Straits in 1923 the traffic was about 10,000 and this figure has grown until it was 275,000 vehicles last year.

The two largest boats in the fleet have been added during the last two years. In 1937 the department purchased a former railroad ferry, reconitioned it and christened it the City of Cheboygan. Last year another railroad ferry was purchased and named the City of Munising.

THE BEFORE NEED PLAN

Don't put off making permanent memorial arrangements. A Before Need selection permits an intelligent decision as a result of calm deliberation when the mind is free from worry and grief and when financial requirements are lightened by the ease of the budget payments provided by our Before Need Plan. Full information concerning this plan will be sent upon request.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Frankfort, of Detroit, were dinner guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rolan.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Johnson were unintentionally omitted from the list of hosts for the dance in the clubhouse, held on the evening of May 13.

Mrs. Harold Page, Mrs. V. H. Petschulat and Mrs. Ralph Baker were the guests, Tuesday, of Mrs. Martin Laitur at a bridge luncheon at the Brooklands Country club.

The Arts and Letters Book club met Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Milton Stover, Mrs. C. H. Tingey gave a review of "Wickford Point," by John T. Marquand.

Mrs. C. L. Bowdler and Mrs. E. J. Butlin were co-hostesses, Wednesday, at a dessert luncheon for their auxiliary group, in the home of the former.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns and the former's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burns, of Detroit, will attend a Spring Dance this evening in the Masonic Temple, Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Balsley had the pleasure of entertaining the former's brother, Clyde Balsley, of Hollywood, for the week-end. He left Sunday by plane to visit the New York World's Fair. Mr. Balsley is head of the American Cosmetic Association.

Mrs. Lester Smith and son, Lloyd, of Port Washington, Wisconsin, are visiting for a few days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Van Coevering.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wright and daughter, Emajan, of Detroit, were dinner guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Laitur.

The Mother and Son banquet, held Wednesday evening in the Presbyterian church, was a complete success. The dining room was beautifully decorated with garden flowers for the occasion, making an inviting setting for the large number present. The program was most interesting, so everything was just right for the first Mother and Son banquet.

Mrs. Elmer G. Ross will entertain her auxiliary group at a dessert luncheon this (Friday) afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Van Coevering returned last week from an interesting motor trip to Missouri, visiting in Kansas City, and driving through the Ozark mountains. Mr. Van Coevering gave a talk on "Wild Life Writing" in the University at Kansas City.

The pot-luck dinner of the Woman's Club, held Wednesday evening, was well attended. Mrs. John Forsyth gave a very fine book review following the dinner and Miss Ekhart talked on flower arranging.

Livonia Center News

Mrs. James Holzman of Farmington road, has as her guest, her sister, Mrs. Ida Pischke, from Detroit, for several days.

The Livonia Center school is losing a teacher who was popular with teachers, students and parents, to the Stark school, where he has been offered the position of principal. While we of L. C. S. are sorry to see him go, if they benefit as much in the next three years as we have in the past three years, we'll just wish him the best of luck. Our loss and the other fellows' gain is James Rossman.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Schumacher, of Westmore, entertained a group of 25, comprised of the members of Mrs. Schumacher's sewing club and their husbands. It was on the order of a lawn party, and primarily, a farewell party to one of the members and her husband, who has just accepted a position in Vienna. On Tuesday the wife was feted at a luncheon in Detroit.

Our annual school picnic is to be held on the 27th.

Mrs. R. D. Merriam, of Surrey road, Coventry Gardens, gave her young daughter, Sally, a birthday party, on the 18th, with the kindergarten class as guests.

Miss Neva May and Allan Owen took part in the musical recital held in downtown Detroit at Grinnell's. Several of their friends and neighbors attended to give their bit of moral support to these young pianists in our midst.

Mrs. Schabile, industrial artist at Kern's, residing on Westmore, had a week's vacation and, while she busied herself a great share of the time in gardening activities, and such, did take one day for a jaunt of approximately 200 miles.

On Wednesday, the 17th, the last meeting of the P. T. A. for the term was held at the school, the main point of interest being the installation of officers as follows: Mrs. Magee, president; Mrs. Donnelly, vice president; Mrs. Case, secretary; Mrs. Kilgore, treasurer; and Mrs. Gus Zobel, historian. They were installed by Mrs. Lena Wilcox school.

The eighth grade class of Livonia Center school will graduate on Friday, the 26th. The orchestra will be under the direction of Owen Gorton of Plymouth; the invocation by Rev. Miles. The activities will be directed by Mrs. Agnes Hawkins and Mrs. Case. It to be the pianist. The master of ceremonies is to be Bill Kolak, welcome, Clarence Case; class history, Neva May; Shys that Come in, Ronald Dick; Toast to the girls and boys of the school, Joyce Magee and George Badder; "For Value Received," Donald Haxton; "Books Why Can't You Tell," June Butler; class song, entire class; seventh grade farewell, Elaine Mahoney; "In High School," Ellis Magee; class will, Raymond Litwick; address, Miss Mary Jameson; giftarian, Geraldine Genap; class prophecy, Bill Hawkins; diplomas, Mr. Smith; of the school board; "School's Pleasant Trails," Betty Clark; farewell, Bill Kurtz; benediction, Rev. Miles.

The lowest temperature on record in the United States is sixty-six degrees below zero (Fahrenheit). It was recorded at Riverside, in the Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming.

Wallace Guilty in Assault Suit

A jury in the Circuit Court of Wayne County last Friday found Alva Wallace guilty of felonious assault upon Bert Swadling on Friday, January 20.

The case, which was heard and decided before Judge DeWitt H. Merriam, climaxed two months of postponed hearings of the case. The trial, first called for the end of March, was delayed a number of times because of the inability of the defendant to gather witnesses from other states.

During the trial Bert Swadling testified, showing the court how Wallace had entered his restaurant on the night of January 20 and had struck him down with one of the stools from his own lunch counter. John Crandall, attorney for the defendant, held that his client was defending himself. After the hearing which lasted two and a half days, the jury reached their verdict in less than an hour. Wallace is being held in custody by the Wayne county sheriff until a complete report has been made by the probation department. Local police expect that he will be sentenced next week.

What's the Answer?
By EDWARD FINCH

FROM WHERE DID THE EXPRESSION 'HOBSON'S CHOICE' COME?

TOBIAS HOBSON was an English livery stable keeper. From his famous stables he hired out horses by the day or hour. In hiring a horse you could look them all over and make your own selection but by hook or crook, Hobson would contrive to get you to take the one nearest the door. As that horse was sent out the rest were moved up and the next customer would be inveigled into taking Hobson's choice of horses while being blamed for thinking he had made his own. It became the joke of the town and the expression came down to us meaning a choice with but one course to choose.

All religious legislation is based on the false assumption that God needs protection.

Zeal ceases to be a virtue when it is misguided and deprives others of their natural rights.

Go Wai Wai and Escape Jitters

Doctor Finds Race in Brazil With No Worries, Nerves Or Divorces.

NEW YORK.—A place where there is no worry, perhaps the last of its kind on earth, today gave civilization a startling medical message.

The place: The jungle home of the Wai Wai Indians in northern Brazil.

The message: These Indians have no heart disease, no high blood pressure, no cerebral hemorrhage.

The messenger: Dr. William H. Holden, chief surgeon of the American Museum of Natural History, who early this year made the first medical study of this possibly last of completely primitive peoples.

Their immunity is not due to a different physical makeup. In a test which violated a sacred taboo, Dr. Holden discovered that they possess the same capacity for high blood pressure as other humans.

Stone Age People.

The Wai Wai, he says, have a few steel knives, obtained from Indians nearer civilization. Otherwise they are still entirely a Stone Age people. Their home is the Sierra Akari mountains. He described four months' travel to reach them in Natural History, the museum's publication.

"They live," he said, "in one of the densest jungles on earth, undisturbed by man. It is a country of peace and quiet, a literal lost world, a tropical fairyland."

When Dr. Holden and a single white companion, William G. Hassler, photographer, reached the Wai Wai, both medical tests and photography were welcomed. The villages were about a day's travel apart. This distance the Indians call a "short walk." Time has no meaning to them.

Strang on the Dogs.

They live in large, communal houses, with conical roofs. Each holds 25 to 30 persons and 40 to 50 dogs. These "fairyland" dogs are reasonably quiet.

Dr. Holden took the blood pressures of the older people. Their ages he said, were uncertain, because they reckon years from one rainy season to the next, but they live to a ripe old age.

Analyzing the reasons, Dr. Holden declared:

"The Wai Wai never have to worry how they will pay their grocer's bill. There are no telephones to drive them to distraction. A husband never worries about how he can buy his wife a new hat or dress. Their personal adornments are procured from the brilliantly plumaged birds that fly overhead; and as for clothes—they wear none.

"There is no stock market to send one's blood pressure skyrocketing. These fortunate people are not forever dodging automobiles or watching red lights in their hurry to keep this appointment or that. There are no such things as being late for work or punching the time clock.

Your tender, new little plants won't get too fat on too much concentrated plant food, but you can get very disappointing results when you offer them too much. Read the labels, and sit down for a long evening with your garden books before you don your overalls for a first hand session in plant care.

Useful: Mrs. Louise Hamer told me of the woman who got on a subway train at an uptown station with a big bass viol. The doghouse or rowboat, or whatever swing musicians call it, was in a case of course and in the case were two pockets. After some trouble, the woman found a seat and propped the bass violin beside her. Then she opened the bottom pocket and took out knitting needles and yarn. All the way downtown her needles flew. And Mrs. Hamer never did learn what she carried in the other pocket in the bass viol case. But she believes it might have been her luncheon.

End Piece: New York color scheme as painted by Andre Baruch: Sky-scraper gray, taxicab yellow, Union Square red, greenhorns, blues singers, the Great White Way and that well-known dark brown taste. To which might be added the Wall street gold and Park avenue purple.

Lights of New York

Advertising: Sandwich men run pretty much to type, that is in the way of equipment—two boards and cards to hand out. Occasionally there is variation. For instance, that old man who parades Forty-second street doing publicity for a pants-to-match establishment. As he comes toward you, his sign is topped with a white man. Going away from you, the man is colored.

It remained for Bill, however, driving away up on Broadway, to discover something unique. The sandwich man had the usual boards. But instead of carrying cards, he had a portable radio which was playing loud and strong. The light changed before Bill could tell whether he was attracted to his employer's establishment with wires but at any rate, he attracted a lot of attention. And what was he advertising? You'd never guess—a radio store.

Controversy: Whether to do the hair up or down has split the fair sex into two factions. It seems that Hollywood's stars refuse to pile their hair on top of their heads and that recently 60 of the New York's smartest debs, gathered at a luncheon with their hair down. Those who argue against the hair up hold that it gives an older appearance and that no hair fashion in the last decade has been more flattering to a woman than the "casual coiffure" which falls in soft curls at the nape of her neck. And so despite the dictates of a fashion which says, up, one of the town's big department stores advertised that "hair up is out." As for me, I'm neutral. I can't forget the sad fate of my campaign against red fingernails—a campaign that came home to roost.

Pictorial: Years and years ago, a young photographer started in business in Yorkville. An expert and conscientious workman, he specialized in children. He began with baby pictures and went on up through the years. Then came wedding pictures and next pictures of children of those whom he had pictured as children. He's now working on the third generation. Having kept specimens of the work he has done, his studio is now a pictorial history of that section of the city.

Grim: There have been only seven electrocutions at Sing Sing prison during the last year. This is a record; over a nine-year period the average number has been 16 each year. The present low may or may not indicate a falling off in crimes for which the sentence is death. But it does indicate a falling off in the income of Robert Elliott. The state executioner is paid $150 each time he throws the switch.

Useful: Mrs. Louise Hamer told me of the woman who got on a subway train at an uptown station with a big bass viol. The doghouse or rowboat, or whatever swing musicians call it, was in a case of course and in the case were two pockets. After some trouble, the woman found a seat and propped the bass violin beside her. Then she opened the bottom pocket and took out knitting needles and yarn. All the way downtown her needles flew. And Mrs. Hamer never did learn what she carried in the other pocket in the bass viol case. But she believes it might have been her luncheon.

Attorney is Manufacturer

D. Harper Britton, of Detroit, who was formerly an attorney in Northville, recently put on the market a new kind of child's chair. His product, known as Totseat, was shown at the Furniture Mart in Chicago last year and at the Toy Fair in New York this April.

The chair was designed by a young engineer who could find no practical chairs for his twin children. Mr. Britton began the manufacture of his friend's invention under the name of Steelwood Manufacturing Company, with headquarters in Detroit, and put it on the market April 10 of this year. Whyom Grier, salesman for the organization, has already sold the chair to department stores in large cities of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, Virginia, North Carolina, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Texas.

Totseat is a non-tipping chair made with a wooden base which will not scratch floors, spring steel parts, a seat and toy-tray of heavy drill material, which can be easily removed for laundering. When the child is placed in the seat of this chair, he cannot get out, but is able to get exercise.

The chairs are decorated with rabbits and rubber balls to make them attractive to the child and they come in four color combinations of red and ivory and blue and ivory. The Totseat is light, it weighs only six and three-fourths pounds and can be used in car as well as the home because of its compactness. As the child grows larger the seat can be raised with the turn of two screws at the back, to allow him more leg room. The retail price of the chair which is lower than any similar chair, is $2.95.

Last week Blunk and Thatcher furniture store announced they will be the local retailers of the chairs and that they expect the first shipment of Totseats this week.

Campaign Passes Former Mark

The campaign to sell seals for the benefit of the Crippled Children is nearing completion and R. M. Daane, treasurer of the Wayne County drive, announced yesterday that the sale in this district is fifty per cent ahead of last year.

It was planned to make the campaign very intensive when it was begun in April. But the committee discovered that it was beneficial to prolong it throughout the month of May. Local sponsors of the drive will finish their business here simultaneously with the rest of the county next week.

In the meantime the stamps are still on sale, and people who have not yet purchased them are urged to do so before the campaign ends. The seals sell for $1.00 per sheet of 100, thus enabling even those in modest circumstances to have a part in this great humanitarian work.

One of the biggest contributions in Plymouth was made by the Woman's Club who raised $140 for the fund with their recent benefit bridge party in the Hotel Mayflower.

The Hanford school closed Wednesday with a picnic. Mrs. Graca Gill of Ridge road was hostess to the members of Cherry Hill Ladies' Aid society Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Walter Wilkie, who is sailing on the Queen Mary, May 24, for London, England, was remembered by a lovely five-year diary by the society. The table cent-piece, "A Bon Voyage" display was admired by all present. The visiting guests from away were Mrs. Effie Gill, of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Claude Gill, of Lansing.

Building a New Lawn
Your lawn is the most important part of your garden. Without its expanses of smooth, green turf, your flowers would look lonely and forlorn. Please keep its importance in mind, while I tell you this: If your grass has never got a good start, or if it's full of weeds, the chances are you'd better figure on building a new lawn this spring. I know that isn't a pleasant prospect, but if you do it and get a fine new lawn established, I'm sure you'll look back and agree that in the long run you've saved yourself trouble and disappointment.

Now, the first thing to do in building a new lawn, of course, is to spade up the soil. Then go over it with a hose and rake to pulverize the lumps and clean it up. After that you can give some thought to the nature of your soil, because its texture is mighty important in establishing a good stand of grass. If it's too sandy, you can correct it by spading in peat moss. If there's too much clay in it, you should mix in some sand or finely sifted ashes.

Then comes the grading of the lawn. It's mighty important to have it sloped right for good drainage. That is, it should carry water away from the house and not have any low spots where water will collect and stand. After you've finished the grading it's a good idea, if you have time, to let the ground settle a couple of days so that if any low spots develop you can level them off.

Next comes the most important step of all—feeding. Very likely the old troubles you've had with your lawn were caused directly or indirectly by lack of nourishment in the soil. Your grass didn't get all the food elements it needed. It gradually got weaker and thinner, and lost its ability to keep weeds choked out. So this time don't take any chances; give your new grass a good square meal right at the start. Get a plant food that supplies all eleven of the food elements growing things need in balanced proportions. Spread it evenly over your soil, four pounds to every 100 square feet; then rake it thoroughly and level the ground off smooth.

Now you're ready for seeding. Be sure you use good seed. Ask your garden supply dealer's advice on the kind of seed best for your soil, and be sure to get special seed for the shady places on your lawn. Apply the seed on a day when there's little or no wind, sowing half of it one way and half the other, to help you get it even. Don't be stingy with the seed; use five or six pounds of it to each thousand square feet of lawn. That much, on properly-fed soil, should produce real thick turf, heavy enough to keep weeds pretty well choked out.

Rake your seed in lightly, and if the soil is dry enough it's a good idea to roll it with a light roller. Then water it gently but thoroughly, and don't let the ground get dry again until the grass is growing strongly.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

(By O. F. BEYER, of Beyer Drugs)

The world darkens at times for all of us, but it brightens more quickly for the person who has sound health, because such a person has the buoyance to regard misfortune as an experience rather than as a climax to life. The healthy person isn't stampeded by circumstances. Instead he has the courage to see straight through to the other side.

If your health and spirits are below par, so that life seems a weary struggle, instead of a good game, don't wait. Go to the best doctor you can find and have a thorough examination.

If he finds a prescription necessary, be careful that you take it to a good druggist who has the reputation for accuracy and care in filling orders. There is more need for precaution than perhaps you realize.

Townsend Club Plans Party

The Plymouth Townsend club has planned a dinner and entertainment for Friday evening, June 2, in the Masonic temple. The dancing baileys of Northville, have kindly offered to give an exhibition of fancy dancing as part of the program and U. S. A. Heggblom, Townsend manager for the Detroit area will be the speaker. All who wish to learn more about the plan and what is going on in connection with it, are urged to attend. For further information, see the classified section of this paper.

Tonight (Friday) some of the officers and members will go to Farmington for the purpose of cooperating in organizing a Farmington Townsend club. The next meeting of the local club will be Monday evening, May 29, at 8:00 p. m. in the Grand hall. Final details for the June dinner and entertainment will be decided upon, therefore all members are asked to come and the public is always welcome.

TRICK OF FATE

Chesaning (MPA)—Maybe it was fate, or maybe it was just coincidence, but at least there is something unusual about a recent experience of Mrs. Frank Brier. She had intended to drive to Saginaw with her husband one day, but something came up and she stayed at home. While making the trip, her husband was injured in an auto accident, and died, making the 13th auto fatality in Saginaw county in 1939.

Official Proceedings Of The Commission

Plymouth, Michigan May 22, 1939

An adjourned meeting of the City Commission held in the City Hall on Monday, May 22, 1939 at 7:30 p. m.

Present: Mayor Wilson, Commissioners Hondorp, Whipple and Worth.

Mayor Wilson called the meeting to order for the purpose of confirming the Assessment Roll and adoption of the City Budget.

The following resolution was offered by Comm. Whipple and supported by Comm. Worth:

Pursuant to Section 11 of Act 243 of the Public Acts of 1933 as clarified by the Michigan Supreme Court, March 2, 1936.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the City hereby grant exemption of valuation of properties to soldiers and sailors and/or their widows covered by the above act for city tax purposes only.

Ayes: None.

Nays: Mayor Wilson, Commissioners Hondorp, Whipple and Worth.

A communication was received from the City Assessor reporting that the Board of Review had certified the Assessment Roll in the total amount of $5,407,810.00 of which $4,627,970.00 was Real property and $779,840.00 was Personal property.

The Mayor asked if there were any objections to the 1939 roll. There were none.

The following resolution was offered by Comm. Hondorp and supported by Comm. Worth:

WHEREAS, the City Assessor has reported the Assessment Roll for the year 1939 to this Commission; and

WHEREAS, no valid objections have been filed with this body to the assessments as reported by the Assessor;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Assessment Roll of the City of Plymouth for the year 1939 as adopted by the Board of Review in the total sum of $5,407,810.00 be and the same is hereby confirmed.

Ayes: Mayor Wilson, Commissioners Hondorp, Whipple and Worth.

Nays: None. Carried.

It was moved by Comm. Worth and supported by Comm. Whipple that the City Manager be instructed to have police ticket violators for double parking on Penniman and Main streets beginning not later than June 3. Carried.

SENTIMENTAL DOG

Grass Lake (MPA)—A dog belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hill is either sentimental or particularly fond of young things. The dog unearthed a nest of rats containing the mother and six little ones. The dog killed the mother rat, and then carefully removed the young rats from the nest. Carrying them in his mouth, he placed them in a pile, but declined to kill them.

Temporary Orphans' of War Cared for and Fed By National Bodies.

HANKOW—"Here's a receipt for your son. Don't worry, we'll take him to a very safe place where there is no bombing. He will be fed well, we'll teach him to read and write and a trade. And when the war is over you'll see this receipt and you'll have him back."

Thus hundreds, even thousands, of Chinese boys and girls become "temporary orphans" for the duration of the war, to be cared for and fed by nation-wide organizations instead of left as a burden on already starving parents.

For the same war that makes tens of thousands of Chinese children homeless and robs them of whatever start in life they would have had in peace, paradoxically is providing many with better care and more favorable conditions than they normally would have had. The majority of the children left destitute by the war are the children of the poor.

Receive Expert Supervision.

Organizations have sprung up to collect these children from city and hamlet, and to send them in groups to new country homes in the interior, where they will receive expert attention. Not only this, but they will partake in the construction of the New China in hitherto unexploited territory.

Most of the children are not orphans in any but an economic sense. Their parents are living, but themselves penniless and homeless. They are in no position to support their children. That they should give them up to an organization which is able to look after them in safety is common sense, the parents realize.

Brought from within a 100-mile radius of Hankow, the children are fed, clothed (white blouse and blue overalls) and given a badge on which is written their name, age and group. Three photographs are taken—one for the association's file, one to be sent to the future camp or home in the interior and one for the godparents who undertake to pay their expenses at the home.

Cost Less Than $1 Monthly.

It costs about 85 cents a month to "adopt" a child in this way. In Chungking numerous pledges for the support of war orphans have been made by the rich. The former mayor of Chungking, Li Ken-ku, set the example by offering to support 20 of them for an indefinite period. A well-known banker is playing godfather to 40. There are cases where foreigners living abroad are supporting a hundred or more children. Thus far there is only one case reported in which the godparents actually adopted the child into the home.

As soon as transportation can be obtained groups of children set off with teachers for their new homes. Most of them are in Szechuan, Kwangsi, Kweichow and Kwangtung. A camp also is being prepared in northern Hupeh province within hiking distance of Hankow.

The children in these refugee camps are taught handicrafts, such as spinning, weaving, bamboo work, knitting and also gardening. In this way they become almost self-supporting.

MANY-LIVED CAT

St. Ignace (MPA)—Mr. and Mrs. Ray McLachlan thought they should dispose of their angora cat after it suffered leg injuries when caught in a rat trap, to Marshall John McLean was asked to shoot it. Several days later the cat returned. When questioned, McLean said he had shot the cat and left it for dead. For a second time, he had it shot and buried it. A week later the cat came back to the McLachlan home, its jaw injury healed and with only a slight scar at the base of its head. It now has a permanent home.

A SURE THING.

There is one sure thing about the state fair in Detroit this fall—and that is—if Dr. Lynwood Snow, its managing director has his way, the state of Michigan will get every penny that is taken in at the fair. Not only that, but if he can control the situation, there will be few if any "extras" to be secured by any one. If it is humanly possible, Dr. Snow will run the fair one hundred per cent HONEST; you may rest assured of that fact.

THE BIBLE—BEST SELLER

In these days when democracy is being forced to take stock of her resources, lovers of human freedom will read with encouragement the releases from the annual report of the American Bible society, whose 123rd annual meeting has just been held and whose sole purpose for a century and a quarter has been to make the Bible available to all men of all nations, however little they may have with which to purchase it. Wherever this great book has been seriously read human freedom has flourished and democratic institutions have been born. Earl Baldwin in an address in Toronto recently expressed his belief that Britain's disposition to attempt the solution of the international problems by honest deliberation and conference roots back into generation upon generation of Bible reading by the people of England. Even in the face of the dictator's edict the Bible out-sold Mein Kampf in Germany last year by 200,000 copies. Latin America for whose trade and friendship dictators are strenuously bidding has a hunger for the Scriptures that is apparently insatiable.

China with all her appalling needs bought more complete Bibles from the Society than ever in her history. Japan likewise increased her purchases by about 10 per cent over the year before. Meanwhile the Scriptures moved into a dozen new languages in 1938, bringing the total number of tongues in which some part of the Scriptures have been translated to 1021. It is now conservatively estimated that nine-tenths of the people of the world might hear some substantial part of the Scriptures read in their native tongue. No book in the world even faintly approaches this record. As long as this continues human freedom has a great ally.

HASTY JUDGMENT.

It is rather difficult to believe that there is anything wrong in the conduct of the county clerk's office at Ann Arbor, except possibly a few errors that might have crept in as the result of too few employes trying to do the work of an exceedingly busy office. One should not pass judgment until all the facts have been revealed. The present county clerk of Washtenaw county has long been regarded as a mighty efficient and honest county official. We should keep on believing that until it has been proven otherwise.

NOT THE ONLY ONE.

Plymouth residents might have an idea that the local state representative is the only person who has brought down the wrath of the big-shot political bosses upon his head. Change that idea! Read the following brief paragraph from the Ingham County News, published at Mason, Michigan:

As prophesied last week the campaign of vilification against V. J. Brown has been launched by the Michigan State Digest. Last week's effort was feeble and certainly not up to the standard usually maintained by the Lansing political organ. V. J. Brown is being attacked because in his oath of office he didn't swear to play ball with the Digest's friends, friends who do business in Grand Rapids, Detroit and Miami. V. J. Brown raised his right hand and took an oath that he would perform the duties of his office honestly and faithfully. He did not say that he would grant favors to McKay, Barnard, McKeighan or other politicians. So now the Digest implies that the auditor general is a Judas. Such condemnation is praise, indeed.

TREES.

Might just a word of editorial commendation be expressed in behalf of the city officials of Plymouth who have seen to it that several hundreds of new trees have been planted during the present spring. Last fall and winter a large number of old trees had to be removed because of danger of falling limbs. These have all been replaced with young trees that within an exceedingly few brief years will be providing plenty of shade along the city streets. Plymouth's shade trees have for years been one of the city's fascinating attractions. Every one is pleased to know that Mayor Wilson and the other city officials plan to keep the streets lined with them.

TAXATION HEADACHE.

The New York Sun ran an editorial in an issue late in April about the TVA (Tennessee Valley Authority to you) and the effect that the expansion of this government agency has had upon various governmental units.

The country down there has been served by private utility companies for many years. These companies were taxed by the townships, counties and school districts in which they operated.

So these small units of government had money with which to carry on their functions.

But when the TVA was established, the states taxed it, and this cut down on the revenue that the smaller units had been accustomed to get. They are wondering now where they are going to find sources of revenue which the private utility companies used to pay, but which now are gone.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, guardian angel of the TVA, admitted that he didn't know what the answer would be. He claims that the TVA pays as high as seven and a half per cent on its gross revenues for taxes, but admits that the states which get the money keep it, and don't distribute pro rata shares to counties, school districts and townships.

Says Senator Norris: "On my desk now there is a printed amendment intended to be offered which provides that all property of the TVA shall be subject to taxation everywhere under local laws of taxation. If we go to that extreme, Senators can see that the TVA would be out of business in three months."

Well, the private companies paid these local taxes for years, and they didn't go out of business. They were able to run and make some money.

The fact of the matter is this: that the TVA might thrive also if it paid its taxes and put them in its bills for electric service. But that would destroy the claimed "yardstick" of rates. It would make electric users pay fair rates, instead of subsidizing them at the expense of the taxpayers.

Government has no business to compete with its citizens, for "yardstick" or any other reasons, but when it attempts to do so and gets into hot water, it should not make taxpayers all over the country stand for the losses on a business which serves only a small part of the population.

DEMAND LARD

Farmers who raise hogs can not afford to use Spry, Crisco or other vegetable shortenings. The demand for lard has dropped to the point where last week two carloads of lard went as grease to soap manufacturers. The price of lard dropped below the price of live hogs, an unusual situation.

A new law won't help the situation. A cost of production law won't answer the purpose. Millions of dollars have been spent to tell people that Spry and Crisco are better than lard. The manufacture of vegetable shortening is controlled by the big meat packers. They had just as soon sell Spry and Crisco as lard. But to all the small packers and to every farmer who raises hogs, the lowering demand for lard means lower hog prices. An advertising campaign, by word of mouth, through cooking schools, through home economics classes, through newspapers and by radio is needed to bring back a market for lard, and to help pork prices.—Nelson Brown in The Ingham County News.

A FIGHT TO THE FINISH

"Bossism Loyalists" in Michigan's Legislature defeated Rep. Elton R. Eaton's bill to make impossible control of Wayne, Genesee, or Kent counties. Eaton declares that he will keep up his fight to clean up Michigan Republicanism. Eaton will have lots of support, too. Alert Democrats who want to get votes next year will be smart to "cash in" on the discontent within decent Republican circles in this State.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eclectic.

REPUBLICANS WATCHED

Most of the polls taken recently by the various national organizations that make a business of sounding out public sentiment indicate that the Republicans have the edge on the Democrats for the 1940 election.

Whether they can keep it depends on a lot of things. It is quite likely, however, that they will be able to do so, because the dissatisfaction with the present Administration has grown slowly and, presumably, can not be removed any more rapidly. But when I look at our own State of Michigan and see what little success the Republican administration has had in meeting public problems, I wonder what the result of that will be in 1940.

You all know that several states replaced Democratic government, this year, with Republicans. The legislatures in a number also changed their political complexion. It will be a fine thing if the Republicans in 1940 are able to point to these states as examples of how much better the Republicans can do than the Democrats.

It is quite possible that the national GOP leaders will not do so much boasting about Michigan.—Floyd Miller in The Royal Oak Tribune.

EAGLES COME HOME TO ROOST

President Roosevelt's 59-cent dollar, whose eagle is a full brother to the "lamented" Blue Eagle, is now coming home to roost, according to government statistics. On January 31, 1934, when President Roosevelt devaluated the dollar by withdrawing specie payment, and increased the value of gold from $20.67 to $35 per ounce, the raw material price index stood at 66, and now after five years the index has again dropped from 90 (comparing favorably with the 89c dollar) to the index of 68, very nearly on par with the index at the time of the devaluation.

This, in fact, means that the producer of raw materials—cotton, wheat, livestock, coal, metals, etc., have a deduced income of some 40 per cent under January 1934, because their dollar is valued 41 per cent lower; they can now buy for a dollar only as much as they could for 59 cents before the inflation. This situation is causing quite a bit of concern among administration leaders, and there are some who again urge further devaluation, but the President is not over-anxious to follow this advice. What the result will be of Congress extending him the power to devalue the dollar to 50 per cent of its original value remains to be seen. There must have been some reason for his demanding this extension until June 30, 1941.

Devaluating the dollar is a great deal like cutting a yardstick in two and calling each half, a yard. It may measure more yards, but there isn't any more cloth. But some people don't know any better. In money, it is repudiating 30 per cent of the nation's debt—you know, inflation, repudiation, bankruptcy: that is the way it finally works out.—Adrian Van Koevring in The Zealand Record.

NEW LAW IS BETTER

Michigan's new civil service law, while not flawless, is an improvement over the old one to our way of thinking. The old law blanketed in some 15,000 state employes or about 98 per cent of the whole. The new law exempts the policy-making heads of the various departments and the men and women in the lower brackets of work including janitors, manual laborers, etc.

In a democracy like ours, it is essential that the policy-making department heads be appointive so that they may be in sympathy with the administration. Otherwise, the state officials elected by the people could easily be stopped by department heads from carrying out the pledges the people put them in office to affect. The people who do the detailed work such as clerks, stenographers, etc., are still under civil service as they should be. In this manner, the arduous duties of state may be performed efficiently and uninterrupted from one administration to another.

The old civil service law was too inclusive and too expensive to operate, providing as it did that equal pay should be given for the same kind of work. This eliminated the personal equation for two people may be doing the same kind of work and one worth more than the other, depending on capabilities. It is estimated that the administration of the old law cost the tax payers approximately $1,000,000 a year and considering the burden of state government, together with the present indebtedness, a million dollars is worth while saving.

Michigan will eventually have a model civil service law. All legislation is a compromise and weaknesses can only be discovered and corrected after a new law has been tried and found wanting.—John Lignian in The Olivet Optic.
