

Chief Smith Cooperates With Prosecutor

Law Pertaining to Sale and Use of Fireworks Quoted

Police Chief Vaughan Smith is cooperating with Durnan C. McCrea, prosecutor of Wayne county, in his drive against the bootlegging of fireworks into Detroit and vicinity. Most of these capsules of powder, which are capable of bodily harm and nervous unrest, are shipped from Ohio and Indiana whose fireworks factories are evading laws of Michigan by shipping them and breaking the law by offering them for sale. The fireworks are bootlegged into the state and the police are powerless to act, except to confiscate the fireworks when they are in the hands of the buyer.

In previous years it has been quite in Plymouth and around the 4th of July, a few people have obtained the fireworks and there have been a few minor accidents. Primarily the fireworks ban was to curb accidents, and it has done that very thing. But, in order to prohibit all accidents, all fireworks must be stopped from coming into Michigan cities.

McCrea has asked police in Ohio to help curb shipments into Michigan cities and has urged interstate cooperation on this issue. Parents may aid the law-enforcing officers by not permitting their children to send for the fireworks, thus stopping the misdemeanor at its source.

The law pertaining to the use and sale of fireworks as quoted in the Public Acts of Michigan, session of 1931 follows:

"Any person who shall offer for sale, expose for sale, or sell at retail, give, furnish, use, explode, or cause to explode, any blank cartridge, toy pistol, toy cannon, toy cane or toy gun in which explosives are used; the type of balloon which requires fire underneath to propel the same; firecrackers, torpedoes, skyrocket, Roman candles, Daygo bombs or other fireworks of like construction, or any fireworks containing any explosive or inflammable compound or any tablets or other device commonly used and sold as fireworks, containing nitrates, chlorates, oxalates, sulphides of lead, barium, antimony, arsenic, mercury, nitro-glycerine, phosphorus or any compound containing any of the same or other modern explosives shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

"Provided, That the council or commission of any city or village or the township board of any township may, upon application in writing, grant a permit for the display of fireworks by municipalities, fair associations, amusement parks or other organizations or groups of individuals approved by such city, village or township authorities, when handled by a competent operator. After such permit shall have been granted, sales of fireworks for such purpose only: Provided further, That nothing in this chapter shall be construed to prohibit any wholesale resident dealer or jobber to sell at wholesale such fireworks as are not herein prohibited, or the sale of any kind of fireworks provided the same are to be shipped directly out of the state; or the sale or use of blank cartridges for a show or theatre or for signal purposes in athletic sports or by railroads for signal purposes, or for the use by the militia or any organization or war veterans.

Taylor & Blyton Obtain Franchise

Taylor and Blyton have procured the local franchise for handling the popular line of "Carole King" junior dresses. Each dress is original and may be obtained at popular prices.

In past years there has been only one out-let for this line in Michigan. This summer two additional department stores in the state have been permitted to handle the line of goods.

Taylor and Blyton feel that they are very fortunate in being able to secure these dresses, which are considered in the trade to be one of the most outstanding brands in style, quality of materials and workmanship.

See the large advertisement elsewhere in this issue of The Plymouth Mail. The dresses are also displayed in the department store windows.

ANTHONY S. MATULIS

High School Gets New Sports Mentor

Matulis to Coach Summer Recreation Activities

Mr. Matulis is a graduate of Western State Teachers' college, where he received his bachelor's degree in 1934. In 1938 he received his master's degree from the University of Michigan. For the past four years he has been head coach at Davison high school, Davison, Michigan, where he has had successful teams in all sports. This past school year was Davison's first year of class B competition; and the football team was undefeated, while the basketball team was defeated by the State quarter-finals losing to Alton, Illinois, winner, class B. Mr. Matulis will coach football, basketball, and a spring sport in Plymouth.

Mrs. Matulis also has her master's degree from the University of Michigan. She has done a great deal of work in dramatics and critical reviewing, appearing frequently before clubs in Alton, Illinois, where she was an English professor at Shurtleff college. Two years ago she conducted a book review clinic before an adult education group at North-western high school, Detroit.

The Matulises will make their home on west Ann Arbor Trail.

Minors Not to be Employed

Employers are warned not to employ minors in their places of business. Just because they have obtained a social security number is no indication of their age. The number is issued to all persons, regardless of their age, if they have use for such a number.

It is not necessary to have a school certificate showing that a boy or girl is of legal working age, in order to obtain a social security number. This statement is made by John F. Ballenger, manager of the Social Security Board field office in Detroit. Commenting on this subject he said:

"And boy or girl who has an opportunity to get a job during the vacation period may obtain a social security account number by calling at or writing to our office. No proof of age is necessary as social security numbers are issued to persons of all ages who have use for these cards. Employers should remember, however, that the fact a boy or girl has a social security number is no proof the holder of this card is old enough to comply with the provisions of child labor statutes covering the employment of minors."

Hikers' Club Entertained by Hazel Lickiet

Hazel Lickiet entertained the E-Che-Kar branch of the Detroit News Hikers' club at her home Sunday afternoon. The afternoon was spent hiking through the region and games were played before dinner.

The dinner table was decorated with a centerpiece of oxen drawing an ox-cart which was filled with a load of hikers' boots.

That evening movies were shown of some of the activities of the club. Plans were discussed for a trip to Isle Royale this summer.

Elmer C. Adams of the Detroit News, demonstrated his three-pound sleeping bag which is used by Appalachian mountain climbers.

City Employees Complete Extension Course

Four Men Do Good Work in Civic Courses

Four city employees have completed extension courses given by the International City Managers' association. Each man will receive his diploma of achievement from City Manager C. H. Elliott. The men who took the course are in different divisions of city employment and each course was in his respective field.

Charles Thumme has recently completed the course in police administration; Louis Westfall, fire administration; Charles Garlett, finance administration; City Manager C. H. Elliott completed the personnel administration course.

These courses were carried on much after the style of correspondence courses with a textbook of 450-500 pages, which had to be supplemented with much collateral reading. The course covered a period of from four to five months and Clarence Ridley, director of the courses, has notified Elliott that every one has done exceptionally good work.

Many of the principles involved had to be correlated with the problems of the management of a small city.

Ridley spoke of the originality in the writing of all papers. The employees were commended on their work.

"It is a pleasure for me to present the diplomas to these three men because they can be of greater service to their community. By taking the course they have broadened their concept of municipal administration," said City Manager Elliott.

Work Progresses on Tonquish Creek Project

Re-routing Plan Employs Thirty-five Men

In the two-months' work that has been done on the excavation and re-routing of Tonquish creek, great progress is being seen, and if conditions are favorable for the next month, the work will be completed by the first of August.

Thirty-two to 35 men are employed every day who work with five trucks and two power shovels. One cement mixer and a number of smaller tools keep the workers busy and work is done rain or shine.

A trench is being dug from South Harvey street to Wing street about 12 feet deep and 15 feet wide at top tapering down to 10 feet at the base of the hole.

In this trench there is being constructed from reinforced cement, a cylindrical tube into which the waters of the creek will be directed. About 40 feet of top soil and 60 feet of the bottom section is being hauled per day. Eight hundred feet of the project has been completed in the 2400 feet that is to be done.

The tube is 12 inches thick at the bottom tapering up to seven inches at the top. It is seven feet wide and seven feet high.

The work is being done by sections. As the dirt is excavated from the hole, the bottom is leveled off, forms laid, and cement poured.

At present a temporary bridge is over the ditch where it crosses Ann Arbor Trail, but when the construction is completed, there will be a new section of pavement in the street and the trench will be completely covered with soil.

The tubing will connect the section already constructed at South Main street and South Harvey street at the other end. This construction from a health standpoint and desirability for town beautification and rating will aid Plymouth as waste materials and sewage from business establishments and homes along the creek empty into it.

D. A. R. Gives Prizes To High School Girls

At the Honor assembly held recently at the high school, the Plymouth chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution presented awards to three girls, two of whom were seniors.

Mrs. Sidney Strong, a D. A. R. representative, presented Dorothy Roe with a medal which she received for being chosen the best girl citizen in the high school. Belva Barnes was given a prize of $2.00 for having the highest and most steady scholastic average in American history, a senior subject.

All eighth graders were eligible to enter an essay contest about the United States flag which was sponsored by the D. A. R. organization. Fifteen such essays were submitted and Joyce Tarnutzer won the contest with her essay, "Our Flag." Mrs. Charles Root presented Miss Tarnutzer with a prize of $2.

Baccalaureate Speaker

DR. G. H. ENSS

Graduates Pause for Hour of Reverence

Dr. G. H. Enss Gives Baccalaureate Address

In the rush and excitement of commencement week, Plymouth high school graduates paused for an hour of reverence, Sunday evening, June 18, for the solemn services of baccalaureate.

Dr. G. H. Enss said the invocation and Rev. Stanford S. Closson read the first 16 verses of the 119th Psalm for the scripture.

"Seek Ye the Lord," a lovely lyric melody was sung by the girls' choir of the Baptist church. Miss Doris Hamill accompanied them on the violin and the anthem's choral background was sung by the Baptist adult choir.

After the choir sang, Miss Hamill played, "Danish Song," a folk tune of that country. Miss Czarina Penney accompanied her on the piano.

One of Handel's familiar airs, "Awake, My Soul, Stretch Every Nerve" was then sung by the audience.

Rev. Walter Nichol offered the prayer and said the benediction.

Dr. G. H. Enss, in a sermon filled with logic and sound advice, said in part:

"Two significant words of Christ I wish to bring to your attention tonight, both recorded in the gospel of Matthew. The first is, 'Seek, and ye shall find,' and the other, 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.'"

"The first expresses the general principle evident in all experiences of life. The other gives definite direction for the individual seeker."

"As long as we live we all seek something all the time. We seek food and shelter, which cause us to engage in the ordinary every-day activities which we call work. We seek fellowship, and out of this desire spring our social activities. We seek safety, and because of it we develop all kinds of devices for self-protection. Seeking is at the basis of all of our activities. The Lord tells us to seek and be active in order to accomplish things."

"One of the great poets, Goethe, has given a classical expression to this aspect of human nature in his incomparable drama, 'Faust.' Faust is that dynamic human soul with that demonic spirit constantly seeking and finding, unfortunately, not always the best. He seeks amusement, pleasure, love, and he finds what he seeks."

"But he finds also that indiscriminate seeking nets doubtful results and that the best way of living means a careful selection of things sought after. Hence the great significance of the word of Christ, 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God.' The seeker must be directed to the best things first. You, graduates, have been taught by your teachers how to seek after things. That is the essence of our educational process. Now go and seek. Seek diligently."

"Seek pleasure; you must have your share of it in order to live happily, but select the best. Seek love, you need it, but do not misuse other personalities. Love and loyalty belong together. You will find that as you grow older you will not seek the things for which you long now. That is the law of growth."

"What is important to you now will lose its attraction for you later, but you will have other desires, those of riper age and life keeps on being interesting to the end. But at all times of life seek first the kingdom of God in the form of truth, goodness and real beauty, and with it the immortality of the soul. Then your life will have been worth while and the eternal values of your personalities will be preserved forever. Seek, and ye shall find, but seek ye first the kingdom of God."

I. Tillotson and son, Irving, of Canton, were recent guests of Al Root, in northern Michigan.

Final Edition of "Rockette" Goes to Press

Class Night Program Well Received in Packed Auditorium

Class night was held Tuesday evening by the graduating class of Plymouth high school at 8:00 o'clock before a large crowd which filled the auditorium.

The program was very cleverly arranged and each item showed evidence of a great deal of preparation and forethought. The "Last Edition of the Plymouth Rockette," was the name given to the last edition of the activities of the class.

Various seniors gave columns from the newspaper, each a different phase of the regular class night program, only in this case the items were of the same nature as before but presented in truly newspaper style. The whole program teemed with newspaper tradition, even in the president's address.

The editor-in-chief of the Plymouth Rockette was Lewis "Pete" Gilbert who introduced columnists.

Betty Korb, class historian, told of the four main editions of the class has put out, each one a year of high school life. As the editions rolled out there were special feature stories that she summarized. The editors and their assistants, the class officers, were announced.

The audience responded with many rounds of laughter when Ben Barnes and Jess Hamill read their column, "Horoscope" which was the class prophecy. Some of the unique highlights of it were that in the annals of a future publication it will be (Continued on Page 7)

Will Boost Prices On Drivers' Licenses

To Cost $1.25—Department Still Operates At a Loss

The Plymouth police department started Wednesday to collect higher fees for driver's licenses under a new state law.

It will cost the applicant $1.25 to obtain a license to operate a private car. The department will receive 25 cents of this, an increase of 10 cents over the previous share. Police Chief Vaughan Smith says that the department will still be operating at a loss of about 10 cents per license.

The most important change in the license law affects salesmen. All persons who sell and actually deliver products to the customer, with the exception of farmers and their helpers selling their own produce, must have $2 chauffeur's licenses.

This affects bakery salesmen, milk-trucks drivers, rug salesmen, and other house-to-house salesmen, even if they operate on a commission basis. In the past they were classified as drivers of private cars.

Examiners, under the new law, will be permitted to administer oaths to license applicants, dispensing with notaries.

Rotary Hears Wayne Member

Alex Moore, past president of the Wayne Rotary club spoke at the Plymouth Rotary meeting Friday, June 16.

Moore gave an inspiring talk in harmony with the commemoration of Flag Day. He emphasized the thrill of being an American and being in the only place on the face of the earth where individuals and clubs are allowed to meet and discuss all possible topics pertaining to government, economics and service.

The Wayne Rotarian brought out the individual's responsibility in a democracy and concluded with the thought that the democratic spirit of service on which Rotary is founded is the principle on which democracy must flourish or fail, depending upon to what extent an individual American actually accepts his individual responsibility and lives the ideal of service.

Texas Coal & Oil Opens Here

The Texas Coal and Oil company has opened a gasoline service station at 2600 W. Main street, corner of Main and Fralick streets. This concern has been established in this state for 18 years; they own and operate a number of the largest wholesale and retail stations in Detroit, and Axe, Bay City and Esser, Michigan. They are reputed to have always carried quality products at the most economical prices. With this motto they should have no difficulty in making a great success in this city.

Police to Prohibit Sidewalk Bicycling

An age-old complaint has again been brought to the attention of the Plymouth police authorities, that of bicycle riding on the sidewalks.

Numerous verbal complaints have been received from pedestrians who feel that the sidewalks are for walking purposes and not for bicyclists.

"The police department has been very lenient regarding children riding on sidewalks in residential parts of the city, because the department feels that it is much safer to have the children on the sidewalks instead of riding on the streets. In as much as we have endeavored to keep the children off the sidewalks in the business district, we will appreciate the cooperation of the parents in instructing the children to comply with this request," pled police chief Vaughan R. Smith.

A bicycle rider is considered the same as a motorist and must obey all traffic regulations.

City Will Not Allow Dancing in Beer Gardens

Petition Filed by Hotel Anderine Laid on Table

"There will be no dancing in beer gardens or other places that sell intoxicating liquors in the city of Plymouth," say the League of Women Voters, Methodist Sunday school board, and the Baptist church. And the members of the city commission agree with them.

Resolutions were received from the above organizations at the city commission meeting, Monday, June 19. The petitions were signed by 186 voters that objected to the dance permits.

The action was brought about after the management of the Hotel Anderine asked permission from the State Liquor Control commission for such a permit. The state commission, before granting a permit demanded that the local legislative body attach its seal of approval.

The original petition was presented to the city commission, June 5, and it was laid on the table for the time being. Monday night, June 19, it was again brought up. The motion was made, supported, and carried that the matter be laid on the table indefinitely.

From this it is apparent that the city will not sanction or allow dance permits in places of business that sell intoxicating liquors within the Plymouth city limits.

Curb, Gutter to be Built

A curb and gutter will be constructed on Evergreen street between Farmer and Blanche streets.

This construction was decided upon at the city commission meeting, Monday evening, June 19. As there were no objections to this construction, work will begin as soon as possible.

The city manager has instructed City Assessor William Petz to make a study of the construction and submit the cost figure to him.

"It is apparent that a curb and gutter are necessary at this point on Evergreen street; the city commission will appreciate any suggestions made to them pertaining to city beautification and improvement that citizens of Plymouth make," Mr. Elliott, city manager, said.

Two Dodge Street Houses Sold

The city of Plymouth sold two houses that were offered for sale to the highest bidder, it was learned at the commission meeting, June 19.

Located on Dodge street, the houses were just about what the bidder offered for them, $50.00 apiece. They were in such a condition that they can be used only for the lumber that can be salvaged from them.

The houses were an eyesore to the city, and the removal of them will permit further building on this property with modern, up-to-date construction.

It is the hope of the city commission that more such houses may be done away with in the future, so that new homes may be built.

Two New Teams at Starkweather

Two new softball teams have recently been organized and play at the Starkweather playground. They are the Studebaker Champions, sponsored by Jack Miller, and Super Shell Farms.

These teams played against one another Thursday, June 15, and the Studebaker team emerged on the long end of the scoring in an extra inning game, 8-7.

Leo Van Bonn, supervisor of softball play, expresses the wish that more such teams will be formed, and wants every man who would be so desired, to be on some one of the organized teams.

Detroit, Wyandotte and Dearborn Have Same Rating

Announcement was made this week by Postmaster Frank K. Learned of the advancement of the Plymouth postoffice from second to first class. Plymouth now joins with Detroit, Wyandotte and Dearborn in having the only first class offices in Wayne county.

Official notice was received June 1 that the Plymouth postoffice will become first class, effective July 1, 1939. This class of postoffice is governed by postal receipts.

Official receipts of $8,000 to $40,000 is in the second class and all those with receipts totaling over $40,000 are first class. During the calendar year of 1938, the Plymouth postoffice doubled its postal receipts. The volume of work governs the number of employees in each branch and because additional people were added continually as the postoffice grew, it is probable that the list of 20 employees at the present time will be enlarged.

About the only immediate change to be made in Plymouth will be the establishment of a dead letter office where the service rendered in that department will be taken care of here instead of being mailed to a returnable letters or mailing pieces sent to the branch office of the dead letter division.

"Because of the great amount of mail passing through this office from the various manufacturing and business concerns of Plymouth and because of the steady growth of the entire area served by our postal routes, it has been apparent to us that Plymouth would soon become a first class office," stated Postmaster Learned. The advancement would become effective on Saturday, July 1.

At the present there are 20 postal employees in the Plymouth postoffice. Postmaster Frank K. Learned; assistant postmaster, Beatrice M. Schultz; five clerks; three city carriers; three rural carriers; one substitute clerk; one substitute carrier; one temporary substitute; two custodial employees; one messenger; and one special delivery carrier.

At the Central and Starkweather playgrounds minor tournament games will be played by the younger people in the morning.

The playgrounds will open at 1:30 o'clock for the afternoon's activity. Afternoon will be devoted to athletics and sports such as softball, tennis, horse-shoe pitching, badminton, shuffleboard, etc.

This recital is open to the public and Miss Strasen cordially invites anyone who is interested to attend.

Story Hours Changed

During the summer the story hours will be held on the playground and in the school instead of at the city hall. Central school children will meet Friday instead of Saturday. The hours remaining the same; 9 until 11 o'clock. The Starkweather school children will have their story hours on Wednesday morning from 9 until 11. These story hours are for all children from 5 to 10 years and it is hoped that many children will plan to attend. Games, songs and stories will comprise the program.

Plymouth-Allen Plays Inkster Here Sunday

Four Garden City Men to Play With P.-A.

When the Plymouth-Allen baseball team trots onto the Riverside baseball diamond Sunday, the spectators will see a practically re-organized aggregation. In the past week Manager Lee Turk has secured four men from Garden City, one of them, a pitcher, and when the results of the game with Inkster are totaled, there is apt to be a decided change in the team standings in the blue division of the Inter-County league. Sunday, June 18, Plymouth-Allen won from the strong Detroit Olympic team, 15-12, on the Olympics' field. Plymouth-Allen's new catcher, "Pepper" McGarry, had a perfect day at bat. His line of "gab" spurred the players to victory and he handled the duties behind the plate in a very satisfactory manner.

Sunday, June 25, when the rejuvenated Plymouth-Allen team takes the field against Inkster at 3:00 o'clock, B. Hovey will handle the duties on the mound with McGarry behind the mask in his usual role. The Inkster battery has not been revealed, but they will use the best they have in order to quell the confident Plymouth team.

Boyd-Kahrl Nuptials Spoken

At a simple home ceremony, before their families, Marvel Boyd, daughter of Mrs. Grace Boyd, of Plymouth, and Kenneth Kahrl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kahrl, of Plymouth road, were married at 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning, June 22, by Rev. Edgar Hoenecke of the St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church. The ceremony took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Terry, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, before a bowler of roses.

For her wedding, Miss Boyd chose a street length gown of white silk crepe made with a yoke of fine tucks, short puffed sleeves and flare skirt. Her corsage was of pink roses and swansonia. Doris Whipple, who was bridesmaid, wore a rose silk crepe dress, street length, made with short puffed sleeves and full skirt. Her corsage was of pink roses and blue lace flowers. Carole Jean Henry, niece of the bridegroom, attended them and carried a dainty bouquet of sweet peas, swansonia and blue lace flowers. She wore a dotted blue organdie with trim of white. Norman Atchinson, of this city, was the bridegroom's only attendant.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Boyd wore an all white dress while Mrs. Kahrl chose a gown of light blue lace. Both wore a corsage of pink roses. A breakfast followed the ceremony at Hillside. A tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, and bowls of roses graced the dining table. Mr. and Mrs. Kahrl left immediately on a two weeks' motor trip through the East, the bride wearing a blue and white sport dress with white coat and accessories. They will reside for the present on Main street. They have the best wishes of a host of friends in and around Plymouth.

Four Teams Still in Deadlock

Last week's playoff in the softball league did nothing to leviate the tie situation in determining the holders of second and fourth places. The teams are fairly evenly matched which accounts for the number of overtime games. The winners of three of the four games played, last week, were determined by one score. Daisy won from the Plymouth Mail 6-5; Sutherland edged out the Walk-Over team, 7-6; and Super Shell eked out a 3-2 decision over the Sutherland team.

The schedule for next week is: Tuesday, June 27, Times vs. Plymouth Mail. Wednesday, June 28, Daisy vs. Walk-Over. Thursday, June 29, Sutherland vs. Schrader.

Friday, June 30, Plymouth Hardware vs. Super Shell. The girls' teams in their league play very good ball, and it is well worth the time to come out to Central playground and watch their games every Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The standings of the men's teams are as follows:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Sutherland	5	2	.714
Plymouth Hardware	4	2	.667
Super Shell	4	2	.667
Schrader	3	2	.600

Youth Dance Well Attended

The Youth Federation dance, held Friday in the Masonic Temple, was a great success if we may judge from the enthusiasm shown by the dancers. A good sized crowd of young people attended and many parents and friends looked in during the evening. Music was provided by the Youth Federation's two young orchestras, The Top Hatters and the Rhythm Kings. These orchestras can provide really good music for dancing and they will be heard from in time to come. They are young, peppy and musical and it is hoped they receive recognition for their efforts. They are open for engagements and can be contacted through Jack Butz, who is leader of the Top Hatters and Mike Kleinschmidt, leader of the Rhythm Kings.

The dancers who attended the dance expressed the hope that more such dances would be given in the future. Here's The Difference

Railroads operate on their own roadways, built and maintained entirely by the railroads. Out of every dollar the railroads take in, taxes take 9 cents, and their rights-of-way take 23½ cents—a total of 32½ cents for roadways and taxes. Highway motor carriers operate on public highways, built and maintained by taxpayers. Out of every dollar taken in by the certificated motor carriers, 7½ cents (L. C. C.) goes for taxes of all sorts—and this represents all they pay for roadways and taxes. Barge lines which operate on our inland waterways—the canalized rivers of the country—operate on "roadways" built and maintained by taxpayers. Out of every dollar taken in by these inland waterway freight carriers slightly under 2 cents goes for taxes of all sorts—and this, too, represents all they pay for "roadway" and taxes. Thoughtful people now believe that forms of transport which operate on and by means of facilities provided by the taxpayers shall pay for the use of such facilities and shall be on an equal basis as regards taxes—real taxes to be expended for the general support of government. Laws now before Congress aim to remedy the present inequitable situation in the American transportation industry. In substance, they call merely for a square deal for the railroads. And a square deal for the railroads means a square deal for the taxpayers, too.

Scientist. Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00. "Christian Science" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, June 25. The golden text (Isaiah 49:13) is "Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted His people, and will have mercy upon His afflicted." Among the Bible citations in this passage (John 14:12): "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 107): "Through Christian Science religion and medicine are inspired with a diviner nature and essence; fresh pinions are given to faith and understanding, and thoughts acquaint themselves intelligently with God."

MONEY AHEAD

(By O. F. BEYER, of Beyer Drugs)

Sickness is one of the most expensive troubles that the human being is heir to. Often, it is avoidable, very often it can be relieved early in the attack, and money and time saved, in addition to saving a lot of suffering.

It is becoming the practice of sensible people to see the doctor before one gets sick. Much less expensive to take the physician's advice about keeping well than trying to recover from a malady which should not have occurred.

If you see your dentist twice a year, add to that good rule one just as good—see your doctor once a year. He will advise you to correct habits of living into which you have unconsciously lapsed and which are dangerous to health.

Perhaps corrective medicine is not required. If it is, entrust the prescription only to the best of his profession—the trained druggist.

Young Couple Wed in St. Peter's Lutheran Church

Wednesday evening, June 14, at 7:30 St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church at Plymouth, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, uniting Miss Geraldine L. Waldecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Waldecker, and Clyde J. Hodgson of Dearborn, son of Mrs. Allison Beane.

Rev. Edgar Hoenecke, pastor, read the ceremony before about one hundred relatives and friends. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, mock orange and pink and white peonies.

The bride wore a white silk net gown over white satin made with full double skirt having white satin bows of ribbon fastened all over the skirt with a small white orange blossom. She wore a finger tip length veil held in place with a tiara of pearls with white orange blossoms and calla lilies fastened at each side of the tiara, and carried white roses and swansonia tied with white satin ribbons.

Miss Norma Jean Waldecker, sister of the bride, who was maid of honor wore peach silk net and carried talisman roses.

The Misses Viola Lidke and Frances Backhaus, who were bridesmaids, both wore gowns of aqua chiffon and carried bouquets of pink roses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Waldecker chose a gown of beige lace over satin with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink sweet peas and pink rose buds.

Mrs. Beane wore a gown of black chiffon over taffeta with black and white accessories and wore a corsage of talisman roses.

Assisting the groom were his brother, Wallace Hodgson, who acted as best man, and Frank Waldecker, brother of the bride, and Charles Smith who acted as ushers. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Seven Mile road. The happy couple left immediately after the reception for a motor trip through Illinois and southern Michigan.

Stella Pedersen Married Saturday

St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church of Plymouth was the setting for the wedding at 3:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 17, when Stella Pedersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sorn Pedersen, of this city, and Harold Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stevens, of Newburg, spoke their marriage vows.

Rev. Edgar Hoenecke, pastor, performed the ceremony before a background of tall vases of peonies and tall lighted tapers.

The bridal gown of white lace over satin had a shirred bodice with short puffed sleeves, sweetheart neckline and full skirt with long train. She wore a finger tip veil secured to a halo of satin and carried an arm bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Viola Lutermoser attended the bride, as maid of honor, wearing a blue chiffon gown with shoulder length veil and shirred jacket. She carried roses in a deep pink shade. The bridesmaids were Elizabeth Stevens, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. Walter Curtis, of Detroit. They wore gowns the same as Miss Lutermoser in a dainty pink shade.

The bridegroom, his best man, Niels Pedersen, and the ushers, Oscar Lutermoser of Plymouth; and Marshall Purdy, of Detroit, wore white suits.

Mrs. Pedersen chose a gown of fuchsia lace and Mrs. Stevens blue lace. Both wore corsages of gardenias.

A reception followed the ceremony, for 150 guests, in the bride's home on Holbrook avenue. Two six-tiered wedding cakes, flanked by lighted tapers and bowls of roses, decorated the table. Two younger cousins of the bride served the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are enjoying a motor trip to the New York World's Fair. For traveling she wore a white dress with a striped skirt, red belt and white accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias. They will reside at 2015 East Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

M. E. Conference Now in Session

Bishop Edwin F. Lee, head of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Malaysia and in the Philippine Islands will be the guest-speaker at the session of the Detroit Annual Conference to be held in the Methodist Church, Adrian, on Friday evening, June 23. The Rev. J. W. Greenwood is the pastor.

Bishop Lee has under his jurisdiction Methodism's evangelistic and educational work in the Malay Peninsula, in Borneo, Sumatra, and in the Philippine archipelago. In these islands the most unique interracial fusion of civilization is taking place; in Malaysia the civilizations of the Malays and of Chinese and Indian immigrants are fusing with western culture; and in the Philippines the culture of America is being transplanted among a people who have been Asian through centuries. In the midst of this changing situation, the Methodist Episcopal Church has hundreds of churches and schools.

The climate of the Malay Peninsula and of the islands is unusually severe upon the white man, and scores of missionaries have broken under it. Bishop Lee is one of the few administrative officers of Methodism who have become thoroughly acclimated in this tropic region.

Bishop Lee was born in Eldorado, Illinois, and received his education in Upper Iowa University, Northwestern University, Garret Biblical Institute, and the University of Chicago. He served in pastorates in Illinois and in 1911 went to Java as a missionary, serving in Batavia and Kuala Lumpur as a minister and teacher; later transferring to Manila as pastor of the American Union Church. From 1917 to 1919 he served in France as a chaplain of the United States Army with the rank of captain. He was decorated by the French Government for his war service, and by the Government of Serbia for relief work in which he engaged after the war.

Following the war, Dr. Lee became an associate secretary of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions, and in 1924, he returned to the Orient as superintendent of the Singapore District. In 1928 he was elected a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Plymouth Girl Weds in Utah

Miss Frances Learned, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Learned, and L. Freedom Byars, eldest son of Mrs. Julia Byars, of Shelbina, Missouri, were quietly married Saturday, June 3, in St. Mark's Cathedral, Salt Lake City, Utah.

The ceremony was performed by the Very Reverend Franklin L. Gibson, who will be remembered by some of Plymouth's residents when he conducted Episcopal services in the Grange hall on Union street, this having been his first church.

The bride has lived in different cities of Colorado for the last six years and is a graduate of the University of Colorado. The groom is also a graduate of the same university and at present is employed by the United States government in the field of entomology.

At present the couple is residing in Salt Lake City, but expect to live in Elk Lake City in the near future.

Mrs. Byars was a graduate of Plymouth schools in the class of 1930.

Look for Cash in State's Grass

Michigan in some years hence may be marketing grass in the form of livestock and dairy products with as great or greater profit than 198,000 farmers now find in production of such cash crops as beans, sugar beets and potatoes.

At least that is the suggestion made recently to livestock farmers by H. C. Rather, head of the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

"It's an easier type of farming," says Rather. "Cows, beef animals and sheep can do such harvesting far easier than can a farmer and his family out in the fields."

"Another advantage is that the state usually has climatic conditions which encourage grass production. Further, such grassy areas are consistent with attempts to keep soil tied down and keep it from losing fertility."

Here come the problems, however. Native grasses, as farmers usually term the Canadian and Kentucky bluegrass fields, are not productive enough as some of the "harder-to-get" seedlings of legumes or of legumes mixed with a palatable perennial grass such as smooth brome.

In fact, Rather points out, it does little good to improve the native grasses. They merely push out extra growth in early spring when it is extremely easy to produce pasture and forage. He suggests, then, a process of filling in this midsummer gap with heat resisting crops such as alfalfa and brome grass.

FIRE-LESS CITY

Stanton (MPA)—On May 9, 1938, the Stanton city fire department answered a call to a local home to extinguish a small blaze. The department has not had a city call since that date. There wasn't even a chimney or roof fire during the winter. Only work for the firemen has been answering a few rural calls.

Bowling Alley Building Nearly Completed

Walls and Floors Done; To Start Roof Next

The building which is to house the bowling alleys being constructed on East Ann Arbor trail, is rapidly nearing completion. The cement block walls and concrete floors are finished and rafters are being built in the roof. The roofing is to be started next week and it is expected that everything will be far enough along so that work may begin on the alleys approximately on July 10.

The building has ample space for eight alleys, concession room, men's and women's locker and rest rooms, basement, and a pin boys' rest room. There are also storage rooms.

New equipment will be used throughout, and the building is of the latest design and construction. It will be steam-heated with electric fans driving the hot air to all parts of the building. There is also an air conditioning unit which will make a uniform temperature both in winter and summer.

The construction is being financed by Robert Todd and Manna Blunk, and the building contract was awarded to Paul Wood.

It is planned that play will start by September 1.

Official Proceedings Of The Commission

Plymouth, Michigan June 19, 1939.

A regular meeting of the City Commission held in the City Hall on Monday, June 19, 1939 at 7:30 p.m.

Present: Mayor Wilson, Commissioners Hondorp, Robinson, Whipple and Worth.

Absent: None.

The minutes of the regular meeting of June 5, 1939 were approved as read.

This was the night set for the public hearing for the construction of a curb and gutter on Evergreen between Farmer and Blanche Sts. There were no objections.

The following resolution was offered by Comm. Hondorp and supported by Comm. Whipple:

WHEREAS, the plan, profile and estimate covering the proposed improvement have been accepted and are now on file in the office of the City Engineer, and

WHEREAS, a public hearing has been held covering the proposed improvement and no valid objections have been received thereto,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that this Commission approve of and declare its intention to proceed with the construction of the curb and gutter with the cooperation of the W.P.A.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Assessor be directed to prepare an assessment roll covering the total cost according to the frontage of each owner abutting the said improvement.

Ayes: Mayor Wilson, Commissioners Hondorp, Robinson, Whipple and Worth.

Nays: None.

A communication was received from Wilbur H. Johnston stating that the balance due the Wayne County Relief Commission was $685.20.

It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Comm. Robinson that Mr. Johnston's communication be accepted and placed on file. Carried.

The matter concerning exemptions of soldiers and sailors under Act 243 of P.A. 1933 was again discussed.

It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Comm. Robinson that the Commission rescind their action of May 22 relative to exemptions and grant exemptions to soldiers and sailors or their widows as provided in Act 243 of P.A. of 1933.

Ayes: Mayor Wilson, Commissioners Hondorp, Robinson, Whipple and Worth.

Nays: None.

A petition was presented requesting the construction of a 6-inch water main and an 8-inch sanitary sewer on Williams street between Pacific and Arthur Sts. This work to be done with City employees. A petition for sidewalk on the east side of Mill Street between Park Avenue north to the old sidewalk was also presented.

The following resolution was offered by Comm. Whipple and supported by Comm. Robinson:

WHEREAS, the City Commission declares it necessary to construct sidewalk on Mill Street, east side, between Park Avenue north to the old sidewalk, and

WHEREAS, this is a special benefit to the property owners abutting the improvement;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that this Commission will meet and consider any objections thereto on July 3, 1939, Monday evening, at 7:30 p.m.

Carried.

A communication was received from the City Manager relative to sanitary sewer on Wing Street serving Mrs. Hillmer's property.

It was moved by Comm. Hondorp and supported by Comm. Whipple that the matter concerning Mrs. Carrie Hillmer's property be laid on the table until the next regular meeting. Carried.

Resolutions were received from

Once we are in circulation We may be cut apart: Some clippings are discarded: Some filed near some one's heart.

A few will travel onward And never much will age: Some will melt from newsland: Yet some will be "front page."

Robert Brown, on behalf of the class of 1939, presented the school with an electric basketball scoreboard. In part, he said, "We of the class of 1939 wish to leave the school a better place than it was when we found it, because we realize that the school has been working to make us better citizens. We hope that this electric scoreboard will serve as a symbol to make Plymouth high school a better and finer school."

The Voice of The People, Superintendent George A. Smith, accepted the gift and said, in part, "On behalf of the board of education and the boys and girls in the school, I accept with pleasure this fine gift. It will be an incentive for teams who follow the class of 1939."

President Jack Ross supplied the editorial for the Plymouth Rockette. He said that as freshmen the class thought they were "front page copy," but they were promptly put in their place, the back page. There were many headlines, large and small, and they made up their minds to be front page copy. Through the efforts of editors, the faculty, they have finally become material for the front page. As graduates, they have handed their stories to the editors and feel they are good enough to be placed on page one. The way the world accepts them will determine their success.

The class song, written by Linnea Vickstrom and Carol Campbell, was sung by the class. As Vera Enss played the recessional class, led by the president and vice-president, marched out in twos.

The edition of the class of 1939 has definitely gone to press. When it gets on the street, will it sell well? It is up to the individual to sell it now.

Library Extends Book Time for Vacationists

Book List Printed for Fourth and Fifth Graders

For those of you who plan to take an extended vacation or trip this summer the Plymouth branch of the Wayne county library has made special arrangements whereby books may be borrowed for a period of three months or less, if desired.

Books, which are not in great demand, may be drawn from the library for this extended time and may be kept until September 1.

Children who are through with school may want reading for fun. Books for the fourth and fifth grades are suggested here:

"Susan Beware," by Hunt; "Polar Bear Twins," by Tompkins; "Thimble Summer," by Enright; "Step-Twins," by Knox; "Flaxen Braids," by Turngren; "Petite Suzanne," by DeAngeli; "Henner's Lydia," by DeAngeli; "Moo-Wee," by Tompkins; "Nancy Alden," by White; "Smiths and Rusty," by Dalglish; "Penelope Eilen," by Parton; "Nightingale House," by Palmer; "Drusilla," by Brock; "Mick and Mac," by Brown; "Susan and Arabella, Pioneers," by Morris; "Jacques at the Window," by Emerson; "Golden Basket," by Bemelmans; "Little Girl with Seven Names," by Hunt; "Oak Tree House," by Gibson; and "Tracy Gay," by Simon.

White cedar is perhaps the most staple diet of deer in the winter.

What's the Answer?

WHEN England was very young, a man by the name of Dun was bailiff. He bent his efforts to the collecting of debts long overdue and was so successful that his fame spread throughout the kingdom until his very name was incorporated into the language and any repeated efforts to collect payment on account came to be known as "dunning."

Plymouth Schools to Have New Members in Teaching Personnel

A number of changes will be made in the 63-teacher faculty of the Plymouth public schools for the ensuing year — changes in personnel of the physical education, music and art, English and history and the industrial arts departments. Also teachers will be added to the grades.

Dora Gallimore Hondorp is being succeeded by Doris Hamill in the high school music department. Anthony Matulis takes the place of Milton Jacobi as head of the physical education division for boys.

Other new teachers are, Henry Jensen in the department of manual training and Georgia Zemer who will be in charge of music in the grades.

Wallace, science; Harry Fountain and Ursula Cary, commercial; Donald Sutherland, commercial and science; Carvel Bentley, vocational coordinator; Ingeborg Lundin and Chrystena Gray, home economics; William Campbell, Robert Ingram, Ray Clave and Henry Jensen, industrial arts; Evelyn Fry, art.

Marian Taylor, librarian; Doris Hamill, music; Anthony Matulis and Luella Miller, physical education.

Mary L. Strasen is the high school and grade nurse; Georgia Zemer will teach music and Martha Luecht is scheduled to teach art in the grades.

The faculty of the Central grade school is: Principal, Nellie E. Bird; Marian Lage, kindergarten; Vaun Campbell and Wanita Disbrow, first grade; Gwendolyn Inge and Marion Weatherhead, second grade; Dorothy Sly and Jenn Jewell, third grade; Fern Widmayer and Grace Robinson, fourth grade; Grace Carr and Earnest Berridge, fifth grade; and Ruth Eriksson and Nancy Holliday, sixth grade.

Accident Victim Related Here

Frank Longyear, office manager in the State Board of Tax Administration, who was killed in a traffic accident along with Orville E. Atwood, director of the Board, was a second cousin of Harry C. Robinson of Plymouth.

Thursday afternoon, June 15, about 4:15, Atwood and Longyear were enroute to Detroit on US-16 near Howell. Atwood, driver of the car, in which Longyear was riding pulled out from behind a light truck and crashed into a Lansing bound bus. Longyear was killed instantly and Atwood lived about 20 minutes.

High School Salutatorian Writes Long Term Paper on Timely Subject

Ellis Brandt, salutatorian of the class of 1939, wrote the theme "Unemployment and the High School," as a requirement for the course in senior English. (This, in part, was the same material as used in his salutatory address.)

The subject matter of the paper is vital to every person now-a-days as one hears so many opinions, pro and con, to the timely issue.

The theme follows: "Unless unemployment is halted, democracy is doomed!" That is the prophecy of William Allen White, famous editor of the Emporia (Kansas) Gazette. He gives two good reasons for his stand. First, he feels, as do many others, that if the present system is permitted to work badly enough long enough, the people will tire of democracy and accept the leadership of some person guaranteeing them a decent livelihood. Second, he is convinced that, because of its failure to get them jobs, some thirteen million who are unemployed in the United States today have an entirely indifferent attitude toward their government. They want work, and they do not care who gives it to them. Because they do not care who gives it to them, they provide an excellent stepping-stone to streamlining for those who promise employment—along with the overthrow of the government. It is therefore extremely important that we get rid of the dissatisfied feeling which grips this huge bloc of our citizenry.

do it more easily and cheaply, too. One would think that the unemployment problem would have started right there, but that was not the case. The country was in its first great growing stage, and demand increased hand in hand with ability to produce. And if a man did become idle, he could go to the frontier and start over.

Actually, the Industrial Revolution has never stopped. Men are still inventing labor-saving machines. But the frontier has gone. The supply has overtaken and passed the demand. The result, on an ever-expanding, ever-growing scale, is unemployment.

In 1929 prosperity was greater than ever before, and yet, even at that great peak there were three million unemployed. Four years later we hit the depths of the depression. Seventeen million, two hundred fifty thousand willing and able workers were then out of jobs and our national income had decreased 40 per cent. In 1939 there are still 13,000,000 men and women out of work, according to the latest survey.

We can hardly conceive what a colossal number 13,000,000 is. It means that one in every four American workers is without a job. It means that the number of unemployed is equal to the populations of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Delaware, Florida, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Washington, and Oregon—18 states—all added together.

How did the unemployment problem get started? We know that it never bothered our grandfathers or, for that matter, any of our ancestors. In fact, mankind has never before been faced with the problem which it faces today—the problem of great masses of people for whom there are no jobs. We find that it can all be traced back to the Industrial Revolution, which began soon after our war for independence. In those days man invented a good many of the complicated machines which we know today. He began to do by machine the work he had always done by hand, and he began to

But the school cannot do the job alone. Two elements, the family and society, are not being trained, or hardly at all, to be exact. According to Dr. C. A. Fisher, director of the extension service of the University of Michigan, the machine age is working against the schools and fathers and mothers are coddling their children and there is too much driving around in automobiles by young people and not enough walking; too much money given to children and not enough earned; too much dishwashing and cooking by tired mothers and not enough by "sweet young things"; too much tea cup balancing, and not enough perspiring by the young generation. He continues by averring that one of the curses of the present age is the silly, indulgent father and mother who want to make things easy for their children. What we have in both high school and college is a generation of young people who are graduating with enough to buy, they have background, a certain amount of knowledge of the subjects they have studied in school; they may even have poise and know how to meet people, but they have few skills and too many of them are still dependent upon their parents for graduation. The point is that the school should give the student more training for his job than it does at present. It must remember that only six per cent of the employed workers of today are engaged in the professions, the so-called white-collar jobs.

A. R. WEST

Yet it is an absurd situation, when we stop to think about it. All through the ages man has struggled to wrest from nature the bare necessities of life. At last human ingenuity has conquered; there is enough, and more than enough, for all. One would think that we ought to be enjoying such plenty as the world has never known. But that is just what we are not doing. Instead, we have made it impossible for millions of workers to earn a living and buy the things which might be had in such abundance. Besides we have deprived all mankind of the goods which might be produced if the millions of unemployed had a chance to get back to work. History has never seen such a paradox.

There we have the problem—13 million people out of work. Now what are we DOING about it, and what are we GOING TO DO about it?

First of all, the federal government itself realizes the serious nature of the problem and is doing all that it can. It has passed the Social Security Act, for one thing. It has established unemployment insurance agencies in most states, for another. Then, too, there are now such governmental bureaus as the United States Employment Service and the Federal Committee on Apprenticeship Training, the N. Y. A., the W. P. A., the P. W. A., and the C. C. C.

But what are the high schools doing? It is there that students are supposed to learn a little of how to live, and it is there that 85 per cent of them finish their education. Vocational guidance and vocational training are now well-established studies in the high school curriculum. But there is a big gap between the present and the future. It has already been acclaimed across the nation, and been adopted in five states. By this system boys are taught a trade by actually working at it. They go to school in the morning, and work in the afternoon. For the most part they are trained for the skilled brackets, which is in itself a good thing; there is a distinct scarcity of skilled workmen, and always has been. Thus there will always be room for these boys when they go out into the world. Our own school has an illustrious example of this in its own apprentice system. One boy even has his journeyman's license, and can now command a journeyman's wages anywhere in the state. The apprentice system is a godsend to the high school boy who will enter the trades.

But the school cannot do the job alone. Two elements, the family and society, are not being trained, or hardly at all, to be exact. According to Dr. C. A. Fisher, director of the extension service of the University of Michigan, the machine age is working against the schools and fathers and mothers are coddling their children and there is too much driving around in automobiles by young people and not enough walking; too much money given to children and not enough earned; too much dishwashing and cooking by tired mothers and not enough by "sweet young things"; too much tea cup balancing, and not enough perspiring by the young generation. He continues by averring that one of the curses of the present age is the silly, indulgent father and mother who want to make things easy for their children. What we have in both high school and college is a generation of young people who are graduating with enough to buy, they have background, a certain amount of knowledge of the subjects they have studied in school; they may even have poise and know how to meet people, but they have few skills and too many of them are still dependent upon their parents for graduation. The point is that the school should give the student more training for his job than it does at present. It must remember that only six per cent of the employed workers of today are engaged in the professions, the so-called white-collar jobs.

I hope that I have not painted too dismal a picture for those who expect to get a job after graduation. That is not the impression I wish to leave. On the contrary, I quote Dr. George H. Estabrook, head of the placement bureau of Cornell University. He says, "At this year's graduation every senior who has a job waiting for him!" But the student must remember that the positions open are not vice-presidencies, he continues. In other words, one must start at the bottom. In a recent poll of the presidents of Bell Telephone Companies, it was very forcibly brought out. It was found that every one of these officials had begun at a very fundamental level! One started as a clerk in the payroll department at $10.00 per week, another as a cable splicer's helper at $9 per week. One even commenced life as a night operator at only $12.00 per month. That one who began with the best position of the group earned only $19.00 per week. The average first salary was approximately $12.00 per week.

All right, the graduate says, I will start at the bottom; but where am I going to get the job to start with? Here is the answer: Go about it in the same manner that you would if you were going hunting. Find out something about the animal you are hunting, what sort of places it inhabits, what is the best kind of gun and ammunition to use, and then go where the animal is. Track that job down to its lair!

But the prize essential in looking for a job is to be able to fill it after it is found. The assistance mainly in holding the correct attitude toward one's job. In a combined report of 76 business concerns in Detroit, only ten per cent of the total number of employees dismissed lost their jobs because they lacked the skill needed to hold the job. The other 90 per cent did not fit because of poor character traits. The Carnegie Foundation made a study of 10,000 men to determine what factors made for success or failure in business. It was found that technical training accounted only 15 per cent and personal qualities 85 per cent toward industry.

We can see that there is more than a little bit of hope for the graduating student who expects to get a job. What he wants to do is to get a job, stick at it, and work up. He faces the question of whether he is prepared to stand with his eyes closed by the exercises of Commencement. If he can do a job and maintain the correct attitude toward it, he has nothing to fear.

In the end this problem of unemployment will be solved, by us as individuals and by society as a whole. It is undeniable that man should get on his feet in the wasteful fashion which he follows today, doing without so much that he might have. We were ingenious enough to devise the machines; and in the end, with God's help, we shall be wise enough to devise a way of using the machines for the greatest good of all.

Veronica Marti Gives Valedictory at Commencement

Veronica Marti, valedictorian of the class of 1939, Plymouth high school, gave the following address at the Commencement exercises held in the auditorium, Thursday evening, June 22, at 8:00 o'clock. Miss Marti will leave for Bern Switzerland, upon her graduation from the local high school. She plans to make her home at that place.

The address follows in full:

Democracy's Need
Next month I am leaving the United States to live in Switzerland after having been born here and lived here all my life. Thinking about my departure has made me realize certain things which are usually taken for granted in the United States. In a democracy such as this the people are given many advantages; however, there are definite responsibilities which accompany these privileges. We Americans fail to appreciate the personal rights and privileges we have inherited. We are prone to take for granted everything we have. We are willing to receive the opportunities of democracy but are rather reluctant to assume any responsibility. When a person lives in the United States he does not realize how fortunate he is. It is when one leaves the country and has to give up his opportunities that he becomes aware of the benefits a democracy offers. Since these privileges have always been afforded to Americans they assume that they will always have these rights without their doing anything to keep them. This indifference toward democracy and its responsibilities may very easily lead to its destruction. How can a democratic government be strong if its citizens take no interest in it? A government whose people are inactive is very susceptible to corrupt politics and even in danger of being taken over by a dictator. People do not seem to understand that they have certain obligations toward this democracy if it is going to be maintained and improved. Voting, a responsibility which is also a wonderful privilege, is often neglected by the citizens. Of all the qualified voters in Michigan only 61 per cent of them actually went to the polls to vote in the last national election. Why do people demand rights if they disregard them when they have these rights? Often the statement is made that due to rain a vote was small. However, rain does not keep many people away from a football game or a movie. Does it not seem strange that people will brave a little rain for amusement but not for the great privilege of voting? We Americans demand our rights and privileges but we fail by our actions to deserve them.

One cause of this disinterest seems to me to be the lack of education for citizenship. In our own state there is a law which makes one semester of government compulsory in the high schools. In Highland Park citizenship classes sponsored by the American Citizenship Bureau of the Highland Park Recreation Commission were held. On June 1, 400 graduates of these classes traveled to Lansing for graduation exercises. Governor Dickinson and other state officials welcomed these new citizens. In Manitowoc county, Wisconsin, on May 21, after months of instruction in Americanism, 350 Americans took an oath of allegiance to the constitution and then received certificates of citizenship. The chief justices of Wisconsin administered the oath and the governor of Wisconsin presented the certificates. The Boys' States sponsored by the American Legion to give future voters practice in citizenship and government was begun in Illinois in 1935, and the idea has spread rapidly. The second Boys State in Michigan went into session in East Lansing on June 15 for a ten-day period. All these methods of educating for citizenship are excellent and should be carried on all over the United States. However, since this is not being done all over the country, the young people of today should recognize their duty and take it upon themselves to study the government and its problems. When this is done our government will be a true democracy with every citizen taking an active part in it.

G. R.'S HOLD FAREWELL FOR 17 SENIOR GIRLS
The senior girls formed the circle of light for the last time with the Senior Girl Reserve Club on Tuesday, June 13 at an outdoor ceremonial held at Arlene Soth's home. The girls marched to the yard in twos and formed two circles, the senior girls forming the inner circle. Margery Merriam led devotions with a prayer and then Dorothy Roe, former president, gave an address which was answered by Ruth Ass, the new president. Vera Ess, the new music chairman, played a solo on the organ and then Mrs. Joseph Rowland, a Girl Reserve in the class of '39, presented the ribbons to the senior girls. Evelyn Bower, Betty Korb, Mary Jane Parmelee, and Linnea Vickstrom received white ribbons showing that they had belonged to the Y. W. C. A. organization one year and had shown much interest in its work. Bettie Knowles, Martha Ingall, and Jean Hamill received green ribbons signifying growth in their two-year membership. Gloria Hartling's ribbon was rose colored for enthusiasm during her three years in the club. Agnes Nowatarski and Shirley Mason have been members for four years, so their ribbons were red for love. Anabel Brown, Norma Coffin, and Celia Lewis received blue ribbons for their loyalty during the past five years in connection with the Girl Reserve activities. Dorothy Roe, Shirley Sorenson, Arlene Soth, and Elaine Eiert joined the club when they first entered high school and were given gold ribbons to signify service. The senior girls then sang "Witchcraft" and while doing so gave their lighted lanterns to the junior girls behind them and stepped back out of the circle of light. The junior girls sang a farewell song to the seniors to be followed by "Follow the Gleam" and "Tape." Lemonade and cookies were served while the girls chatted with one another.

country, only six were published, and Miss Lickfelt's was one of them. And hers was the only picture selected from the Michigan groups.

The picture is very unusual in that it shows Miss Lickfelt feeding a deer from her hand. Accompanying the picture is an article which tells of the advantages of participating in sports or some kind of recreation rather than playing the part of an interested bystander. The six pictures used along with the article show evidences of bicycling, golf, swimming, horseback riding and sailing, besides the one of Miss Lickfelt in her hiking attire. She is dressed in a pair of breeches, flannel shirt, scarf, and high boots—truly an American woman. For the reader's information, under the picture is, "No bleacher or amazon is Hazel Lickfelt of Plymouth, Michigan, here doing a mere 120-mile hike in Glacier National Park. THE CHILD HAS GROWN, THE SUIT HAS SHRUNK

Public schools in Michigan received $14,800,000 less for operating expenses in 1938 than in 1930, despite the fact that school enrollment had increased 25,000. In 1930-31, the total expenditure in Michigan for school operation was $96,700,000, and the total enrollment was 997,000. In 1937-38, the total expenditure was $81,900,000, and the total enrollment 1,022,000. Even greater decreases have occurred in expenditures for school buildings. The decrease in revenues from the property tax has been replaced only partially through State aid for schools.

"The notion that the schools should get along with what's left after other branches of state government are financed, again emphasizes the need for some plan for revenue for schools based upon the facts concerning their actual needs," said Earl H. Babcock, superintendent of Grand Haven public schools and president of the Michigan Education Association, when interviewed concerning the State school aid problem.

"The Michigan Education Association includes in its membership approximately 34,000 members of the teaching profession, and also represents a number of departments or affiliated groups interested in public education. The schools urge that intelligent inquiry be made concerning the curtailments that schools already have suffered during the past few years, and that comparisons be made with the increased costs of other branches of the state government, some of which are new or experimental," said Superintendent Babcock.

"The fact that approximately half the money for school support is collected by the state has created the mistaken notion that schools are costing more money than in earlier years. Actually, schools during the past year (1938) will receive $14,800,000 less than in 1930-31, and yet they helped 25,000 more pupils than in 1930-31.

"Schools would have been helped considerably by the increase in the Primary School Interest Fund this present year, had it not been for the fact that Governor Murphy cut $9,000,000 from the Legislature's appropriation for the State-aid Fund for schools. This reduction not only crippled the schools; it also threw the distribution formula badly out of balance. The emergency appropriation of $2,500,000 passed by the present Legislature only partly offset this deficiency. Including this deficiency appropriation, the schools this year (1938-39) will receive $43,800,000 from State sources, including the Primary School Interest Fund.

"Schools face the prospect of less revenue next year and the year thereafter. Certain interests are seeking to reduce the $43,000,000 continuing appropriation for the next biennium in spite of the pledge of the late Gov. Fitzgerald that $45,000,000 would be guaranteed the schools by the state. These interests present the theory that the way to balance the budget is to take care of state employee's payrolls and all other state expenditures first, and let the schools struggle along with what's left.

"We must face squarely this question: Are free public schools essential to Michigan and to our ideals of democracy? If so, the state cannot turn back to the community the bulk of the responsibility of school support because that state has limited the amount that the local district can raise.

"There are two methods of balancing the budget that would be fair and practical. One method, as one does in his own personal affairs, is to list all the essential items in a budget, compare them with the income, and then reduce proportionately the items in the budget if revenue is insufficient. Schools have taken the brunt of previous reductions, but still are willing to take the same percentage of cut as other state services. In such instances, however, the needs of schools should be set at $47,000,000, which is the amount needed in order to provide the minimum program of education as set up by the present law.

"Another method of budget-balancing is to estimate reasonable costs for necessary services, and then provide sufficient revenue.

"Schools have recommended again and again that the state government make an inquiry into its own governmental costs with a view to reorganization for purposes of economy and efficiency. It is quite probable that economies here and there would enable the state to balance its budget for the next two years without penalizing Michigan's million children in public schools.

"The state cannot hope to maintain its present patchwork system of taxation and at the same time reduce the so-called $31,000,000 deficit, unless it plans to destroy completely the effective service of public education. Schools have already assumed more than their share of this deficit. The total deficit would have been $40,000,000 instead of $31,000,000, but $9,000,000 was taken from the State-aid Fund last year and indirectly diverted to welfare. It seems that every year there is some excuse for playing politics with school funds. During the past two years it was welfare, now it's 'balancing the budget!' What will the next excuse be?"

In government, business and science, the men of high faith and uncompromising ideals are measured by the dozens and not by the thousands.

GOING FORWARD

A total of 106,517 Michigan families have repaired and modernized their homes or other property with FHA insured Title I loans since 1934. These insured loans have totaled $36,216,390. This is in addition, of course, to the mortgage insuring operations of the Federal Housing Administration, which in Michigan have greatly exceeded this sum. This figure has to do only with property improvement loans under Title I of the National Housing Act, according to Raymond M. Foley, State Director of the Federal Housing Administration.

"We are unable to say, of course, how many tens of thousands of working men have found employment through this means in the past few years," Foley said. "Neither are we able to say the scores of millions of dollars of value that have been added to the properties thus improved. But we do know the employment total thus created has been great and the property value improvement immense. We know too that the living satisfaction obtained by these families because of such an investment has been immeasurably increased."

The old human urge for a better looking and more comfortable home seems to have hit Michigan families pretty forcibly this spring. Mr. Foley believes, and he bases his conclusion on the fact that lending institutions which have contracts of insurance with the FHA to make modernization loans have been swamped with inquiries and applications during the past few weeks.

"The FHA plan is really very simple to understand," Mr. Foley explained. "If the house needs a new roof, or some repairs to safeguard its value, or if the inside needs new plumbing, heating, paint and wallpaper to make it more comfortable and attractive, these improvements can be made at once and paid for by the month, out of income. FHA insured loans are not Government money, it was pointed out, but are made by private lending institutions and insured by FHA.

"These loans," said Mr. Foley, "may be used for almost any type of outside or inside modernization job; as an example extensive alterations, such as a new wing, or repairs such as the replacement of worn floors. Living comfort may be increased by installing up-to-date wiring, or built-in shelves."

The State Director advises home-owners who want to fix up their property under the FHA plan to first get an estimate from a local contractor. As soon as the estimate is in hand, application for an insured modernization loan may be made to any local lending institution making FHA insured loans.

ANYTHING BUT THAT!

(From The Rotarian)

Cherished among the many legends of the Spanish-American people of New Mexico is the story of Ysidro. It seems that San Ysidro was plowing his garden one spring day, when an angel appeared and said to him, "The Lord wants to see you, Ysidro. Come with me."

Ysidro plowed on. "I can't go now," he answered. "You tell the Lord that I'm late in getting my corn planted and that I'll see Him later when I've finished."

The angel nodded and disappeared.

Soon another messenger hovered about San Ysidro's plow. "The Lord wants to see you right now," he said. "And if you don't come at once, the Lord says He'll send hot winds and drought to wither your corn."

Ysidro paused only long enough to wipe the sweat from his brow. "I've had hot winds and droughts before, and they don't bother me," he said. "I can carry water from the river. Tell the Lord I can't come now, but will see Him when I have my corn planted."

Baffled, that angel, too, vanished.

A few moments later a third angel, larger and sterner than the other two, tapped Ysidro on the shoulder. "The Lord doesn't like your attitude," the heavenly courier said. "He says if you don't come with me right now He'll send a plague of locusts to devour your corn from the top and a plague of cutworms to eat its roots."

That doesn't frighten me," answered Ysidro, turning his plow and starting back. "I've had plagues before, and with fires and hoeing and hard work, I've saved by corn. You tell the Lord I'll see Him tomorrow."

And so the third angel flew away.

San Ysidro had plowed several furrows before the fourth messenger glided to earth.

"The Lord isn't going to argue any more," the angel announced, flapping his wings hard to keep up with the stubborn plowman. "He simply said that if you don't come with me right away, He'll send you a bad neighbor."

Instantly San Ysidro stopped his mule and wrapped the reins around the plow handle. For the first time there was fear in his eyes.

"A bad neighbor!" he shouted. "No, no! I can stand hot winds and droughts, locusts and cutworms—I can stand anything but a bad neighbor. I'll go with you right now."

UNCLE SAM IS A GIANT

Statistics usually are not interesting, but it is a good thing to look at them now and then just to see how well off we, who live in the United States, are in comparison with other countries in the world," writes an exchange editor.

The United States operates 60 per cent of the world's telephone and telegraph facilities, owns 80 per cent of the motor cars in use, and operates 33 per cent of the railroads. Also, our country produces 70 per cent of the oil, 60 per cent of the wheat and cotton, 50 per cent of the copper and pig iron and 40 per cent of the lead and coal output of the globe.

It doesn't seem possible, but it is true that the purchasing power of our people is greater than that of the five hundred million people in Europe, and is even larger than that of more than a billion Asiatics.

Facts like these should make us happy and proud to live under the Stars and Stripes.

THE JOB ISN'T WORTH THE PRICE

Down in Pomeroy, Ohio, the citizens are having trouble. They can't get candidates to run for office. Pomeroy is a little city over in the southeast part of our neighboring state, situated at the top of one of those big bends of the muddy Ohio river.

The trouble there is that folks don't think a public office is worth the messy campaign fight and the meager pay which follows. Elections down there are in August, the deadline for candidates to file is nearly here. And Pomeroy is wondering if it will have any officials to carry on parts of the municipal duties.

The surprising thing is that more towns do not find themselves in the same fix.

Campaigning is no job for a thin-skinned person. And once in a while it gets so that even a rhino hide feels the attacks. Add to that the fact most public offices do not draw much pay, and it is obvious that good candidates will steer clear.

On this subject of public pay I had quite an argument a while ago with my step-father of Charlotte. He maintained we were paying our state officials too much. I agreed that on the whole, we tax payers were paying too much for the service we got, but that the remedy was not cutting the salaries.

We should pay more. And we would save money by doing it. I don't know if I convinced him or not but my argument was the old one that a good high-priced man is cheaper than a poor, low-priced one.

Compared with income for similar work in industry and other fields, state service is underpaid. Naturally, the more able men are going where they will get the best pay.

What the state should do is get better top men by paying them more, they would do more work, cut out a lot of the costly duplication and other wastes, and would save their added pay many times over.

After watching this session of the legislature, for example, think how much better off we would be as a state if we had half the number of legislators up there all these months—and they had had twice the ability.

We might even have the welfare tangle straightened out, some progressive labor legislation enacted, the finances back on a sound basis.—Lawrence Towle in the Jonesville Independent.

THE TAX ON ELECTRICITY

Governor Luren D. Dickinson should sign the bill which will equalize the sales tax on electricity. Now those who buy electricity in Mason and other areas from public utilities pay the 3c sales tax while customers of municipal plants pay nothing. Either all users of electricity should pay the sales tax or else all users should be exempt.

Lansing residents are hollering loud and long over the fact that Lansing will have to pay $50,000 a year under the new bill. The statement is misleading. The sales tax is a tax levied against the consumer and where the consumer lives should make no difference if he lives within the state. Mason people have to pay the sales tax and there is no good reason why Lansing people should not pay at the same rate.

Users of electricity purchased from municipal plants have escaped their fair share of taxes. Their schools, their welfare and other state-aid programs have been receiving sales tax payments made by users in Mason and other public utility areas while Lansing residents have contributed toward the fund. Instead of Lansing people having to pay $50,000 in taxes under the new law, a better explanation is that Lansing people will no longer be permitted to escape payment of their $50,000 share of the sales tax.

The Detroit Edison, the Consumers Power and other utility companies do not and have not paid the 3c sales tax out of the company coffers. The customers have had it added to their bills every month. Certainly everyone who uses electricity should pay the tax or else none should pay. The bill passed by the legislature last week removing the exemptions is the second-best bill which could have been passed. The best bill would have been one to remove sales taxes on all electricity and on food and some other necessities.—Nelson Brown in The Ingham County News.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER TO SCHOOL SALARIES?

A few weeks ago we had a visit with a young school man. He had had a rather liberal education. After graduating from college where he made a good scholastic and athletic record, he spent a year or two in business and government work. Then he got a year at one of the best business schools in the country. Finally he has turned his hand to high school teaching and coaching.

"I have several offers to change this year," he told me. "One offer carries a $2,000 salary, but I may decide to become a rural mail carrier." That was a strange statement, we thought, and said so. A man with four or five years of college training, who had proven himself a successful teacher and coach, was contemplating delivering mail in the farm sections for Uncle Sam.

A little further conversation developed what the young man was thinking of. He had decided that there was little chance of gaining any independence as a school teacher. Top salaries in the teaching profession are not large. As a coach he pointed out that with exceptional material he might be something of a hero when his teams were winning, but when lean years come "I would be a bum," as he expressed it.

The rural mail route he was considering was a long one. The amount paid for that contract was in excess of what he had been offered as a teacher and coach. Further, he pointed out, that his work on the mail route would be completed early in the day and leave him time to devote to other gainful undertakings. We guess he had been using his head. At least it sounded logical.

As a teacher much was expected of him in the community. He, like other teachers, was considered legitimate prey for almost any kind of a public job. He owned and maintained an automobile which he used to transport Boy Scouts and do many other community errands. As a mail carrier none of these duties would be expected of him.

We have no quarrel with rural mail carriers' salaries. It does seem a bit strange that a college trained and successful high school teacher would find the mail carrying job more attractive and better paid than what he was doing.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

WHY NOT?

We suggest that the Republican State Central Committee proceed with whatever is necessary to change the name of the G. O. P. in Michigan to the "McKay Party." There is no evidence today to prove that McKay has lost his control and influence in State affairs. Much as we may disagree with Mr. McKay's policies, we must take off our editorial hat to him for his ability to maintain his leadership. If he had the genuine talents and heart of a statesman, he would be Michigan's greatest public benefactor.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eclectic.

A BIT TOO CRITICAL

Just where is Michigan Republicanism heading for? Rumbles of dissatisfaction with the present leadership of Governor Dickinson are being heard. That he is an honest man cannot be questioned; that he ought to know a great deal about government should also be admitted. What we are beginning to wonder is just this: are the real facts being given him, or are they filtered through the hands of "party bosses"? Governor Dickinson has received much publicity about his being a Godly man; few question his Christian background. However, one might suggest to the Governor that if he gets too far from the earth he is likely to lose touch with the common problems.—William Berkeley in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

CONTENTMENT

Hundreds and hundreds of lower bracket wage earners are leaving industrial cities for nearby locations. This is not exactly a healthy sign. It is definite notice of industrial unrest rather than stability. We have created a false social standard—economically—for the factory man. No nation can have a contentment above that enjoyed by the worker. It's the cross section rather than the extremes that determine social reactions.—Muriel H. DeFoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune.

One of the beauty spots of Plymouth just at this time of the year is Penningman-Allen park. With its beautiful trees and shrubbery and its neatly trimmed grass, it is indeed a very pretty place, and adds much to the beauty of that part of the village in which it is located. Mrs. W. O. Allen, through whose generosity and civic pride this beautiful park is made possible, is entitled to much credit for the interest and care which she gives in its maintenance, and that it is appreciated is very evident by the expressions of appreciation by the citizens of the village and visitors who pass by it and stop to admire its beauty.

The wedding was to have been a surprise affair, but before the ceremony it became known and several intimate friends were present, bringing the usual amount of rice. Miss Trinkhaus has resided in Plymouth all her life and has many friends here.

Mr. Todd is one of our enterprising young business men, holding the office of village treasurer and also treasurer of the Alter Motor Car company.
