

City Takes Over the Permanent Care of Old Village Cemetery

Place Historical as Sacred Indian Burial Ground

The old Plymouth cemetery located at the end of Pearl street, on the north side of the city, and formerly used as a burial ground for Indians of this locality in the early days, has just been taken over by the city of Plymouth for perpetual care.

This action came as a result of a request by Donaldson Craig, of Detroit, who is the owner of the property. Mr. Craig, one of the first subscribers to the Plymouth Village Cemetery, who took care of the place for a number of years. Not being able to do so during recent years, he has now deeded the property to the city of Plymouth. Mr. Craig asked the city to take over the cemetery and replace the old markers that have been overturned and keep the place up generally.

The cemetery is located on the top of a small hill. At the north-east corner of the hill is the place where the old Indian chief conducted their worship according to Mr. Craig. At this place, records show that about 100 years ago there stood a stone altar before which the Indians met. Henry Holbrook, who platted the village of Plymouth and a Mr. Schoolcraft saw the altar and one of them saw the secret ritual which took place there before the Great Spirit. Somewhere within a few feet of that spot is where about a century ago bones of chiefs and warriors were buried by the Indians. It was the sacred repository of bones and not the original burial place. The Indians first buried the dead body and after a number of years they took it up and buried the bones elsewhere in spots supposedly sacred. This place in Plymouth happened to be one of them. Another place was at the mouth of the Rouge river and another was near Flint. Each of these places had altars which were square rough stones. It is said that the Indians never harmed Plymouth settlers except occasionally stealing something and then it was apt to be by a sick or drunk Indian.

Nevertheless the cemetery is a spot where the ashes of many early settlers now rest and it is honoring their memory that the city of Plymouth is taking care of this historical plot of ground.

Mr. Craig had the cemetery measured and studied carefully and he says that in addition to the many settlers who are buried in this ground there are soldiers who fought in the Black Hawk War, others of the military company established in Plymouth in 1827 and soldiers who fought in the Civil War.

City Manager C. H. Elliott, following a number of conferences with Mr. Craig, unearched in the city vaults the "Records of the Plymouth Village Cemetery Society in Wayne County, Michigan," which give something of the founding and opening of the cemetery, as well as interesting sidelights on the people and the times.

June 19, 1845, the citizens of Plymouth village and vicinity convened at the school house in accordance with notice by many citizens and appointed Lyon J. Brearley, A. Green, W. McKay, L. Hudson and William H. Craig as a committee to plan measures for forming a cemetery. The committee purchased about an acre of land from Bethel Noyes which was deeded over for the sum of $75. A cemetery society was then formed and a constitution adopted.

The first list of subscribers included Joseph Brearley, W. H. Craig, Wesley McKay, J. P. Lyon, John Miller, Zndu Mathew Leckard, Archibald Green, L. Shattuck, Hiram Newman and William Markham.

William Markham was named first president of the society, with J. P. Lyon as vice-president; Joseph Brearley, secretary; Hiram Newman, treasurer; and W. H. Craig, assessor. It was decided that the lowest price for lots should be $3. The first public sale should be held July 28, 1845. Twenty lots on the east side were reserved for burial of transients.

S. W. Averill was granted Lot number one in consideration of relinquishing a claim on some of the land. Henry Colton was named the first sexton and the organization meeting was adjourned.

The meetings were then held yearly. The record book says, "October 8th, 1845, second annual meeting in evening at the school house. Eight males and seven females have been buried in the cemetery. Number under one year old—seven. Between one and five years old—two; between five and 10 years old—two; between 10 and 20 years old—two; between 20 and 30 years old—two; between 30 and 40 years old—two; and one over 74 years old. The average age of males is seven years, six months and three days and the female average is six years, three months and 18 days. The average of the whole is 12 years, six months and 18 days. J. P. Lyon being chairman was chosen president; H. H. Holbrook, vice president; Joseph Brearley, secretary.

Junior Chamber Discusses Civic Affairs

Meeting Held at Country Club Monday, August 14

Special committees appointed at the July meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to promote civic affairs in Plymouth reported at the August meeting held at the Plymouth Country Club Monday afternoon and evening, August 14.

Following an action taken at the last meeting, these committees were appointed after members discussed the subject of making Plymouth a better place in which to live.

As many of the members of the Junior Chamber are business men, one of the projects which was referred to a committee was to make a study of the reasons why Plymouth people do some of their buying in the larger cities in the vicinity. C. D. Van Vleck was appointed chairman of the committee. With him on the committee are James Hauk, James Meyers, Lionel Coffin, Charles Wolf, George Shetterloe, William Williams, Clayton Koch and John Gaffield.

Sky Glider Sails From Plymouth to Monroe

"Skysailor" to Write Each Week for The Mail

(By Skysailor)

Arrangements have been made by The Plymouth Mail with the "Skysailor" to report activities at Triangle Gliderport.

Saturday morning's cloudy weather produced conditions which were entirely unsuitable for soaring and it began to look like a poor week-end and nothing to report.

Sunday, Randall Chapman made an attempt to fly to 700 feet in the ABC glider. He was making a circuit around the airport after releasing from the tow line when he chanced to fly into a rising air current seemingly started by the hot pavement of U.S.-12. "Randy" began to make small circles as he stayed in the rising column which he found was fairly small in diameter. Spectators saw that the ship was gaining altitude. Soon "Randy" appeared to have reached about 1,200 feet. Along with this stage of the flight it must have been necessary for "Randy" to decide whether he was going to land in Triangle airport or outside Triangle. The thermal (rising air current) in which "Randy" was circling was being swept along in a fairly strong northwest wind of about 17 miles per hour. Apparently the decision was for cross-country, or perhaps "Randy" was watching his rate-of-climb indicator more closely than he was looking where he was going. He claims that his Askania rate-of-climb indicator was reading two meters and one-half per second U.P. Assuming his story to be correct he was climbing 500 feet per minute without using any gasoline. That must have been some whirlwind that got started by the hot pavement and developed bigger and better as it drifted along.

Whatever may have been the decision or lack of it our daring young flyer must be characterized as being bold for he certainly departed from Triangle without the least sign of a shirt. We wonder if it wasn't embarrassing to ask someone for one of us of a telephone to call back to Triangle for trailer and crew to get the sailplane back after landing. Chapman went up to 4,600 feet (so he says). It looked like it from the ground, too. As a matter of fact the Rollis-man sensitive altimeter which Chapman was reading has been

Tax Collections Over 1938 Mark

City tax collections on August 10 equalled those that were received by October 31 last year, City Treasurer Charles H. Garrett announced after tabulating all receipts following the deadline. This fact that the collections are two and one-half months ahead of last year shows that residents of Plymouth as a whole are in a better financial condition than a year ago.

The collections amounted to 98 per cent of the total levy of taxes which is $71,928.43. The total tax collection up to and including August 10 was $59,414.87 as compared with the $49,947 of last year, collected before the deadline. This year's figure is 4.6 per cent above the 1938 collection which was 78 per cent of the total levy of taxes.

"Final" collections for the 1938 tax of March 1, amounted to $7.8 per cent. It is hoped that this year receipts will pass the 90 per cent mark by March 1, as then it is necessary to return the roll to the county treasurer.

"All taxpayers are urged to make payments of any unpaid taxes by September 16, if possible, to avoid penalties of over two per cent which is the amount charged up to, and including that date," the city treasurer said.

After March 1, the county assesses penalties amounting to three-quarters of one per cent for each month the taxes are delinquent plus a collection fee of four per cent.

Persons who pay their taxes on or before September 10, Mr. Garrett said, will have one-half the total possible city penalties. He pointed out that penalties rise steadily upward in the course of a few months if taxes are permitted to remain delinquent.

John Jacobs Narrowly Escapes Injury to Eye

"One thing leads to another," it is said, and it certainly did in the case of John Jacobs home at 743 Virginia street one day last week.

Mr. Jacobs, a member of the Ex-Servicemen's club, while storing some grave markers that the club had just received, being officer of the day, dropped one of the markers and it struck the markers. As he stooped over to pick it up, the marker, which had stuck in a vertical position on the floor, ran into his eye-ball.

The victim was sent to the University hospital at Ann Arbor where several stitches were taken. Mr. Jacobs will not entirely lose the sight of the injured eye, it is reported.

Quite oddly enough, because of bathing her husband's eye with some medicated soap, both of Mrs. Jacobs' hands became poisoned and she, too, was sent to the University hospital.

Both husband and wife are improving from their injuries.

Mrs. John Dalton and daughter, Jacquelyn, plan to leave Saturday for Jackson Heights, Michigan, to visit Mrs. M. A. Dalton, mother of Mr. Dalton. While away they plan to visit the New York World Fair.

"That is one thing we plan to do," said Miss Johnson, "we will aim to give our friends and customers service at their convenience, not ours. We are going to give you an ideal beauty salon and I am sure that the ladies of this city and vicinity will appreciate it."

Earl Fluelling Celebrates 15 Years in Business

Has Grown up With Gas and Oil Service

August 15th is an important date in the life of Earl Fluelling. It has just been discovered—that it was just 15 years ago—that date when he started in the gas and oil business in Plymouth.

This week and next week he is celebrating—celebrating because of the fact that during the 15 years he has been in business in this fast growing city, his business has grown tremendously and he is participating for the future the same successful results that his efforts in the past have brought about.

Mr. Fluelling came to Plymouth from Northville where he operated a service station in that place for over a year. Previous to that time he had been employed in the same line of work in Detroit.

When he came to Plymouth he leased the William Beyer property on North Main street adjoining the Pere Marquette tracks and for nearly 13 years conducted a service station at that location.

Five years ago he constructed another service station at the corner of Main and Starkweather and over two years ago he erected one of the most modern service stations in the city at 1755 South Main street. He operates both the new service stations as well as one at Walled Lake.

In addition to conducting these stations, he supervises 18 additional stations for the Jaeco Oil company. He has been with the HI-Speed company for eight years.

Mr. Fluelling is active in Chamber of Commerce affairs and owns an attractive residence at 1755 South Main street. His host of friends hope that his next 15 years in business will be as successful as have been the last 15 years.

Case of Polio at Cherry Hill

Latest reports in regard to the poliomyelitis—infantile paralysis—situation in Plymouth show that the city is still without a case of this nature. However, one case of the disease is reported to be in Cherry Hill, six miles southeast of Plymouth.

City Health Officer Dr. Luther Peck declares that the epidemic is apparently well under control in this part of the state but residents are warned to take every precautionary measure to protect themselves, their friends, and children.

Dr. Peck advises the people of Plymouth to keep their children at home, especially those under the age of 12 years old, during this period.

"The children should be kept under the very best of hygienic conditions with regular meals and sleep. They should be protected to no undue excitement. Children who become ill should not be fondled unnecessarily.

"If the child develops a fever or any symptoms of feverishness or a rash, he should be isolated at once within the home. Infected persons are a contact disease, that is of utmost importance that the child is kept away from crowds," Dr. Peck advised.

There are over 100 cases of active poliomyelitis reported in Detroit. It is advisable to inform parents that during the outbreak of infantile paralysis the infectious agent of this disease is widely distributed among healthy people, both young and old.

The health department of Plymouth is taking every precautionary measure toward preventing the disease from entering our city and the cooperation of every parent in keeping his or her child strictly at home will further much in keeping infantile paralysis away from Plymouth," the health officer said.

Not all cases of poliomyelitis result in paralysis, so it is advisable in case of sickness to call the family physician at once.

Dr. Peck advises the parents to remember the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Youngster Killed While Crossing Road Monday

Anthony Smith Runs in Front of Car; Dies of Injuries

When Anthony Smith, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Smith, of 8384 Canton Center road, two miles south of Plymouth, suddenly ran out on the paving he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Mary Henning of 6300 Canton Center road, and killed about 4:15 Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Henning said that she was traveling about 25 miles an hour and could not avoid hitting the child who darted into the road, following a group of playmates to a field where his older brother was threshing grain.

Robert Wingard, of Plymouth, in a car following the Henning car, said that he arrived at the scene of the accident a few seconds after the youngster was struck down. Wingard rushed the child to the Plymouth hospital where he died soon after admittance.

The boy's body was taken to the Schrader funeral home and later to the Smith residence where the funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Rev. John Walaskay officiating. Burial was made in the Woodmere cemetery at Detroit.

The child is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Smith, three brothers, Robert J., Marvin, and two sisters, Marjorie and Marvella.

Plymouth Acers Enter Contest

Five golfers from Hilltop Country club are eligible to enter the hole-in-one contest to be held at Clinton Valley Country club today (Friday). In order to enter the contest, participants must have been lucky (or skillful) enough to have obtained an ace sometime in their golfing career.

The Plymouth acers are Earl Markham, Larry Moe, John Powers, Ray Danol and "Casey" Partridge. Only Danol and Partridge will participate in this year's contest at Clinton Valley.

Contestants are permitted to shoot three balls in attempting the 155-yard eleven-hole designated for the contest. Prizes are given to the individuals who come closest to the hole.

First prize among the men competing in the tournament will be a set of 10 Walter Hagen International irons while three Hagen American Lady woods will be awarded for the best shot among the women. Professionals are competing for a cash prize of $25 as in previous years.

In addition, a dozen other valuable prizes will go to the golfers competing the closest to duplicating their hole-in-one in Friday's contest.

Bleachers have been erected for spectators at the contest which starts at 8:00 a.m. Friday and continues until the final ball is shot.

The chances of making a hole-in-one are reputedly 7,000 to one. At that rate, another ace is due in the near future since only one has been made in the seven year history of the tournament.

Edison Company Completes Installation

Nearly 250 Men to Be Employed Early in Fall

Workmen of the Detroit Edison company have just completed the installation of a power line into the plant of the Wall Wire Products Company which will provide that concern with more electric current than is now used in the entire city of Plymouth.

The work of the electricians started less than three weeks ago, has been rushed to completion so that the plant can be in operation as early as possible.

Several Plymouth contractors are also working long hours these days with officials and workmen of the Wall Wire Products Company in an effort to complete the necessary building and remodeling of the former National Window Shade company plant on Grand Drive so that factory operations can soon get under way for the new concern.

First signs of actual production can be seen in the tool room of the Wall Wire plant where skilled tool makers are working 24 hours a day to produce tools for the plant when it goes into operation. Officials estimate that the tool room will operate for the next six or seven months at least at this high rate of production.

Some 240 or 250 workmen will soon be working two shifts a day, bringing the plant up to its near capacity in the production of welded wire products. Chief demand for the products to be made in Plymouth comes from the refrigeration industry. The Wall Wire Products Company will furnish a solid stainless steel shell which is far superior to those now in use.

The plant is so designed as to permit the manufacture of automobile control rods now necessary with the new automatic gear shafts. Other items will be made for stove companies, meat packers, and other lines of industry. Officials state there is practically an unlimited field for its products.

It is estimated that the plant will be in full operation by the first week in September and when it is operating it will be one of the most modern and completely equipped of its kind in the United States. Approximately 150 machines are installed or in the process of installation and at least 50 more will be added. The plant is unusual in the fact that there are no belts driving the machinery. Each machine having a direct connection with the motor that operates it.

Workmen are at the present constructing a new factory fence around the three acres purchased by the company. Officials have also directed the construction of a parking ground for their employees within the fence.

A railroad siding has been built and at present a large loading dock for shipping and receiving is under construction. All of the electrical construction without exception is of the latest style, overhead lines lead direct to the machines where a cut-off is run directly down to the motor. A new lighting system is being installed in the factory where the brightest daylight can be produced 24 hours of the day. The power line carries 25,000 volts.

A four-inch water main has been laid to the plant, bringing the city's four-inch installations now up to a total of three. Two others now in operation are at the Burroughs Adding Machine plant on Plymouth road and the other at the Choice Foods, Inc. plant on General Drive. It is interesting to note that these three major water installations have been made in Plymouth during the last two years and provide for the greatest commercial use of city water ever contracted for by the city.

Work of constructing the factory and setting the machinery in operation has been "done under the capable direction of its two vice presidents, Earl L. Busby and Earl V. Fry. They will have complete charge of the plant when in operation and will direct the production, sales, advertising and management. Each, when interviewed, was high in his praise for Plymouth, its contractors, workmen and both state and city officials who cooperate so highly in the development of every hand while in the process of getting their plant in operation.

New Wall Wire Plant To Use More Power Than All of Plymouth

Russell Powell Weds in Toledo

Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Russell Powell of this city and Miss Esther Jossman, who has been a school teacher in the city of Detroit for a number of years. The wedding took place last Thursday evening in Toledo, Ohio, and the young couple left Wednesday of this week for a wedding trip to northern Canada where they will spend the next three weeks on the shore of Lake Superior.

Upon their return home to Plymouth, construction will be started on a new home on Penniman avenue just west of Plymouth on a 28-acre tract of land Mr. Powell recently purchased.

Workmen in drilling for water a few days ago struck an artesian well and the young couple have decided to convert some eight or nine acres of the ground into an artificial lake.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Powell have a large circle of friends who extend to them their best wishes.

Fair Crowds Are the Biggest in Many Years

Plymouth Day Proves to Be a Regular "Picnic"

With larger crowds than have ever before packed the Northville fair grounds during the first two days of the fair, present indications are that this year's Northville-Wayne County fair is going to be by far its biggest and best.

Plymouth day was outstanding as usual, nearly all business places closing up to permit their employees to attend the afternoon's program.

Not dozens, but hundreds of cars filled the highways for nearly an hour between this city and Northville early Thursday afternoon.

There seems to be more interest in the running races than there has been in the thrilling events of past years. The association is this year making just a test plan of running races and if they prove to be more popular with fair crowds than are the trotting races, they will be held again next year.

Plymouth Presbyterian ladies are doing a land-office business at their dining room under the grandstand. It has been considerably improved this year over what it was last and the crowd seems to be more than appreciative of the fine meals that are being served.

The displays of farm implements, provided by A. R. West and Don Horton, implement dealers of Plymouth, are two of the best that have ever been shown at Northville's fair.

One of the outstanding ball games of the series to be played at the fair was the game Thursday afternoon between the Schrader-Haggerty team and the Allen Industries team. The Mail went to press before the game was completed and the result cannot be published.

Exhibits are larger and more numerous than ever before. If the weather continues as favorable as the opening day, there isn't much question but what attendance records will be broken this year.

Moe Wins Tourney by Tying Record

Larry Moe won the championship flight in a medal tournament held Sunday at the Hilltop Golf course. Moe's second round, which was the course record, 68, which was made by Louis Compagnon six weeks ago. Moe's final score was 114 strokes for the 57-hole match.

Lionel Coffin won second place honors by coming in with 117, and Bill Hunter and Bud Archer copped third places with 119 strokes.

The first flight 18-hole match was won by Joe Archer, with a 79. Marvin Curry showed a 81, placed second with Murray Rowland and Harold Mitchell, each getting an 85 to tie the third place.

Harold Stevens won the second flight with a 91 with Howard Patterson and C. D. VanVleck at 92 strokes for second and third places.

people; duets and solos, both vocal and instrumental, comprise part of the program, with the remainder made up of numbers which the audience will sing.

In the German section of the program an interesting feature will be the appearance of a German band composed of seven Plymouth young people, Elizabeth Whitaker, Dorothy Richards, Billy Schoof, Joe Briscoe, Bob Birch, Harry Krum and Bill Wooster. Mr. C. E. Brown organized the band and will direct it.

The chorus, which was organized especially for the community sing, has developed rapidly and it is certain that any part of the program that it will take part in will be enjoyed by all. Some of the numbers will have solo parts taken by Jim and Bruce McAllister, Frank Hadley, Denise Daoust and Lois and Betty Ridley.

Instrumental solos will be given by Merle Whitsall on the violin, Keith Sprout on the accordion and Nancy Dunham on the guitar. Keith Jolliffe will sing a vocal solo, "Without A Song," and Dorothy Roe, accompanist for the program, will play the piano solo, "Mother Machree."

The entire program is as follows: chorus, "Sing, You Sinners"; solo, "Without A Song," Keith Jolliffe; audience, round, "Three Blind Mice."

City Takes Over Old Cemetery

Archelans Green, treasurer; and Henry Colton, assessor. Then adjourned. J. Brearley, secretary.

In 1847, '48 and '49 there was no record as to the members not come. There were 40 lots sold in 1850 and left 80 unpaid for. By this time there were 75 persons buried in the grounds, 39 men and 36 women. Members present at the meeting resolved that the dead be removed from lots not paid for, to the public lots.

Nearly all the entries, made in quaint old-fashioned script in ink which has long since faded to a pale brown on the yellowed pages of the old notebook, officers and the granting of payments for services rendered.

On July 12, 1867, permission was granted to the Detroit and Howell Railway to run their road on the section line south of the cemetery. Three years later the secretary was authorized to "purchase the material and put up a railing to hitch horses to."

The report of the annual meeting of October 31, 1876 shows "no secretary's report as H. Colton is dead and gone," buried in that same cemetery about which he had kept records from 1862 to 1873.

In October, 1881, the beginning of the end of the society came when the secretary recorded, "Meeting called for first Tuesday of this month. Present, J. N. Hedden, president and myself. Adjourned one week. J. C. Peterhans, secretary." The next entry says, "Next week same result. Present, J. N. Hedden, president and myself. Went home in disgust. J. C. Peterhans, secretary."

The last entry was made in this book on June 20, 1891, by the same J. C. Peterhans, and reads, "Met in an adjourned meeting called to order by the president, J. N. Hedden. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. Report made by committee and accepted. Motion made by Henry Reichelt and supported by Peter Gayde that what has been known as the Plymouth Village Cemetery society is dissolved and the grounds turned over to the common council of the village of Plymouth, that the society can no longer maintain itself and therefore vacate the grounds. John C. Peterhans, secretary."

And so ended the Plymouth village cemetery society. In the back of this same old book, however, is a record of the first interments made. The first is that of Asenath Delia Lyon, nine years old, who was buried April 24, 1845. Alfred Hudson, three-year-old baby, who died of convulsions, was buried July 31, and Barbary Peterhans, 33, who, the record says, died of brain fever, was laid to rest September 18. The last interment recorded in the book is that of Virginia Bradner, one year old, who was buried October 18, 1858.

The list includes many surnames famous in Plymouth history, which are found attached to streets and landmarks in this district. Perhaps one of the most interesting and amusing columns is that which shows the causes of death of each individual buried in the cemetery. In addition to brain fever, consumption, croup, "hooping" cough and old age, we find one case labeled "croup and fits," while another was killed by a pitchfork and a third by drinking lye. In one case the cause given is a fall down cellar, in another just "bleeding."

Nine Civil War veterans are buried in the cemetery. Since resurfacing the ground, repairing broken tombstones, replacing some, and setting up others, the city of Plymouth has placed American flags over the graves of their Civil War dead. J. L. Perry who was in Company H of the second Michigan Infantry and L. N. Kingsbury of Company F of the first Michigan E and M are buried in the cemetery. Both were killed in action.

Sargeant J. M. Bently, Company H of the second Michigan Infantry; Jacob Baur, 1840-65, fought with Company D of the Michigan Cavalry; Captain John L. Young, Company C of the second Michigan Infantry was killed in 1864 at the age of 28; and Captain Amasa E. Matthews, of Company H of the first Michigan Infantry are also buried in the cemetery.

At the head of another G.A.R. veteran, James H. Kinney, there was a stone which had become indistinct from the ravages of the elements it could only be learned that he was 22 years old when he died and a member of Company F of the Michigan Volunteers. J. T. Mason of the Second Michigan Infantry, Company H, was born in 1832 and died in 1867, probably as a result of the war.

Joseph Tassman of Company I of the Fourth Michigan Cavalry was born in 1832, but the date of his death is not recorded on his marker.

Secretary of State Kelly estimates that there are 400,000 drivers in Michigan who have moved since applying for license. Failure to have the address changed on the license may result in having the license revoked. "There is no charge for this service and persons may do so by merely coming in to the police department and filling out a form which is sent to the secretary of state in Lansing," the police chief said.

Dondero Declares Communists Control Workers' Alliance

Says Testimony Shows It's a Red Outfit

Readers of The Plymouth Mail will be interested in the following comment sent to this newspaper by Congressman George A. Dondero in which he points out that additional information has been revealed to congress which declares that the Workers' Alliance has been established definitely as a "front" for the communist move in this country.

The Russian organization which seeks to destroy the American form of government as well as annihilate all of those who believe in it, has frequently been charged as being the dominating influence in this WPA organization and the House committee investigating the WPA continues to uncover evidence of communist domination in the Workers' Alliance, declares Congressman Dondero.

Charles Walton, a State director of the Federal Theater Project, testified that the project was "absolutely dominated" by the Workers' Alliance, which he termed nothing but a "fence" for communism; that 90 per cent of the project's administrative workers, with no previous theatrical experience, obtained and held their jobs through Alliance influence.

Charles White, a colored information writer and a former communist, testified that he had been sent to Moscow with 100 other American communists to learn the communist technique and philosophy, that while there he met Herbert Benjamin, secretary and treasurer of the Workers' Alliance; that approximately two-thirds of the 15,000 members of the Alliance were communists.

Another witness testified that the Alliance was a "bursery" for the communist party. In New York she declared, "If you want to get a job on relief, they tell you to join the Alliance."

The American people have a right to demand an administration of relief which will care for those actually in need, and which is free from coercion of those on relief; and they are certainly opposed to the direct or indirect use of relief funds for the furtherance of alien propaganda.

Statistics show that in the country at large 17 per cent of the people on WPA rolls have been there for more than three years. In New York City 44 per cent of the people on WPA rolls have been there for more than three years. On Federal Project No. 1, which is the writers' theater and such projects, 33 per cent have been so employed for more than three years. Much was recently said concerning the WPA exhibition building at the New York World's Fair. According to the report made by Representative Clifton A. Woodrum, Democrat of Virginia, 83 per cent of those working on the exhibition building were not taken from the relief rolls; only 17 per cent came from the relief rolls. Instead of the building costing $250,000 as estimated, the cost will run over $600,000.

Builds Showroom; Gas Station Addition

Jack Miller, Studebaker dealer located at the corner of Starkweather and Pearl, reports that he is planning to build a showroom in connection with his gasoline service station.

Mr. Miller expects the addition to be completed in time to show the new 1940 Studebaker when it is released October 1.

The structure is to be a one-story, cement block building. Work is to begin within the next few days.

The descendants of David and Lucy Jane Brown, their families and a few intimate friends met in Riverside park Sunday, August 13. Guests were present from Lansing, Greenville, Lapeer, Williamston, Pontiac, Deckerville, Detroit and Plymouth. Corla Brown Harrison was re-elected president of the organization; Arthur Brown, secretary; and Myrtle Eckles Brown, treasurer. The day was spent in enjoying contests, eating, reminiscing and anticipating next year's reunion.

Society

Of interest to many in Plymouth is the marriage of Asa Stevens, formerly of this city, and Mrs. Madeline Kolb, of Washington, D. C. which took place August 2 at Baltimore, Maryland. While on their honeymoon they spent a week at the home of their uncle, Silas Sly, and family, visiting other relatives and friends near and about here. Many enjoyable events were planned in their honor, among them being a picnic supper at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sly near Whitmore lake on Thursday evening, where about 35 relatives and friends gathered to congratulate them. On Wednesday evening they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Smith of this city. Robinsons Back From Races

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Robinson and Miss Rose Hawthorne have returned from Goshen, New York where they went to attend the famous harness honor meet at that place. While in the East they visited several interesting places, they have often read about, but missed on previous trips.

Although but 30 or 40 miles from the New York World's Fair they changed their plans and did not go down to the big city to see the World of Tomorrow.

"Over 40,000 people paid admissions to see the races at Goshen. I never saw so much interest in harness horse racing as there was this year. People came from all over the country," said Mr. Robinson.

He stated that there was plenty of automobile traffic on eastern highways.

"We've returned home in time to go over to Northville to help make this year's fair the biggest and best ever," he added.

But things are a bit different this year than in past years. For more than 20 years Mr. Robinson has started the trotting races at the Northville fair. This year there will be no trotting races, the fair board having decided to try running races for one year. Starting for running races is done automatically, so there will be no special arrangements for interesting, being a very

Crop Conditions Above Average

The condition of all important crops, as reported by Michigan growers to the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service on August 1, was above the 10-year average as was also the case on July 1. While all field crops registered declines during July, the drop in conditions was greater than average only in corn, field beans, alfalfa hay and pastures. Except in the extreme southwestern part of the state, July rainfall amounted to only 25 to 35 per cent of normal. Practically no rain was recorded in most counties after July 4th until the occurrence of scattered showers during the closing days of the month. Berrien and Van Buren Counties were favored with a plentiful supply of moisture throughout the month, and the condition of each of the tree fruits for that area and the state as a whole is higher than reported at the beginning of July. By the end of the month, considerable apprehension prevailed as to final yields of the season's field crops, as a continuance of the drought throughout August would presumably curtail crops very decidedly. However, since the first of August there have been light showers, and more or less general rain on August 8 that should go far towards preventing further deterioration for several days, at least.

The winter wheat crop averaged 21 bushels per acre, one-half bushel less than last year and 1.1 bushels more than the average of the preceding 10 years. The crop is mostly of excellent quality and much of it has been threshed. Production is materially less than last year because of a 21 per cent reduction in acreage.

The indicated yield of corn is 3 bushels per acre, one-half bushel less than in 1938 but nearly 7 bushels greater than average. The acreage is 3 per cent less than that of last year. Oats and barley are yielding less than last year on a per acre basis, but somewhat more than average. Total production of oats will be nearly 4,000,000 bushels less than in 1938; barley production will be a trifle larger than a year ago.

The total production of field beans is estimated at 3,504,000 bags, compared with 4,567,000 bags in 1938, and an average of 3,861,000 bags during the preceding 10 years. The condition declined during July from 86 per cent to 78 per cent of normal. As the actual decline was nearly the same as that allowed in previous estimate, no change in the estimate was necessary. Blight is reported to have appeared in a few local areas. The crop is blooming at the present time, and as that is the critical stage, much depends upon the weather should prevail for the next two weeks.

City Pays Off Its Cemetery Land Contract

Saves $1,865.40 in Interest

The city commission has authorized City Manager C. H. Elliott to pay the balance due on the $18,000 land contract held against the city by Mrs. Mary Hillmer.

By paying the amount this year the city will be able to save $1,865.40 in interest on the bonds. Paying the amount off leaves a total bonded indebtedness of the city of only $164,750. This amount is one of the lowest municipal obligations in the state of Michigan.

In 1921 the city purchased 38 acres of land from Mrs. Hillmer for the development of Riverside cemetery. Some of this land has already been laid out in cemetery lots and sold, but the greater part of the 38 acres is still undeveloped.

Supposedly the contract was to run for 29 years, falling due in 1950. But by being careful of expenditures of the city and living well within the budget, the contract was paid off August 1. A lump sum of $5747.54 was paid to Mrs. Hillmer.

The contract called for a six per cent payment on the unpaid principal each year.

Other bonds held by the city are $75,000 in general obligation bonds. Because of its excellent financial condition the state of Michigan would permit the city of Plymouth to borrow over $500,000 in general obligation bonds.

In water bonds there are $68,000 worth outstanding. These are paid out of the revenue of the water department. Special assessment bonds have been reduced to $20,000. There are only $1750 to be paid on cemetery bonds which will be retired within the next year.

Mr. Elliott says that before July 1, 1940, $25,000 more in bonds will be retired, leaving a total bonded indebtedness of $139,750 to the city.

Sky Glider Sails to Monroe

calibrated very recently and it is known that when it read 4,600 he must have been flying at very nearly 4,750 feet above his starting point.

Chapman stayed in the air about two hours and landed a race track at Monroe, an air line distance of approximately 31 miles.

Earlier in the day than Chapman's flight, L. D. Montgomery had picked up a thermal rising off the field west of the orchard and had climbed to 2,700 feet in the Wolf airport, a glider of 45 feet wingspan belonging to the XYZ Soaring Club of Michigan. Montgomery landed back at the airport after a flight of 28 minutes.

Dallas Wise found a suitable rising air current and climbed to 1,600 feet after releasing from the tow line at an altitude of 800 feet. Wise was flying a Franklin Utility glider of 37 feet wingspan. This type of glider is common in the United States since the Franklin Glider corporation built 51 of the machines at Ypsilanti, between the years of 1931 and 1936. Mr. Wise stayed aloft in his own Franklin for 14 minutes and 18 seconds. He considers that it is really great sport to own and fly a glider.

Jim Cook, of the West Michigan Tourists and Resort association, called representatives of the Detroit Glider council by telephone from Detroit City Airport Friday evening, August 11 and announced that the regular Midwest Soaring Meet will be held at Frankfort again this year from August 26 to September 5. More definite information for this meet will be available very soon. Nine gliders and sailplanes will probably be taken to this meet from Triangle. SKYSAILOR.

Schrader's Ranch Makes Headlines

Fred D. Schrader's buffalo ranch has again attracted statewide attention. In a recent Sunday issue of The Detroit Free Press, appeared the following write-up of this interesting ranch out on West Pennington avenue road:

PLYMOUTH — Buffalo may have disappeared from the prairies, but they're increasing in Michigan—thanks to Fred D. Schrader, Plymouth funeral director.

Back in 1932, Schrader was disappointed at not being able to attend a Rotary club convention at Denver. His disappointment was keener when returning delegates told him of the buffalo ranch of Mrs. Len Sherwin at Sterling, Colorado.

So Schrader, always interested in breeding Durham and Holstein cattle, sent to Mrs. Sherwin for two buffalo calves—John and Myrtle, both still living.

"It was my idea to cross the buffalo with my cattle following experiments tried in Canada," Schrader explained. "I hoped thus to get animals more resistant to winter cold and which would provide meat combining the qualities of buffalo and beef meat."

Schrader was successful in his experiments to the extent of having cross breeds born. But none lived more than a few days. He has about abandoned hope in that field.

However, bred among themselves, the buffalo produced healthy offspring and now Schrader's herd numbers 12.

"And I'm having too much fun with them to let it stop there," Schrader said. "I don't know just what I can do with them but I'm going to continue raising them."

John Cool Here to Visit Old Friends

John E. Cool, who was born and reared in the vicinity of Plymouth, but left here some 21 years ago to reside at Linden, near Flint, was in Plymouth last Saturday, calling on boyhood friends. He recalled that with a number of other boys, he walked and ran out to Salem, at the time of the disastrous Pere Marquette railway excursion wreck that took 25 or more lives and injured several hundreds of persons.

"Plymouth certainly has grown since I lived here," he declared. "We read much about it in the newspapers and of course any old time Plymouth resident is glad to know his home town is going places," he said.

Elizabeth A. Wilkie and John R. Marsh Wed Saturday

The wedding of Elizabeth A. Wilkie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Wilkie of this city, and John R. Marsh, of Detroit, will be an event of Saturday, August 19, the service to be read by the Rev. Charles Steves of Muskegon, an uncle of the bride, at 10 o'clock in the morning in Our Lady of Good Counsel church. Betty Ridley will sing "Ave Maria" and "Be-cause," accompanied by Mrs. Irene Blaharski.

It will be an all-white wedding, the bride wearing a satin and net gown, having a satin basque with double net skirt. Her fingertip veil will be attached to a coronet of satin, trimmed with orange blossoms. She will carry lilies and a prayer book of white kid, tied with satin ribbon.

The maid of honor will be Hope Marsh, sister of the bridegroom. She will wear embroidered organza with orchid velvet trim and headdress of the same and will carry a colonial bouquet.

Marion Botsford of Highland Park will be the bridesmaid, wearing a gown similar to that of the maid of honor, with peach colored velvet trim and will carry a colonial bouquet.

The bridegroom will have as his attendants Robert Wilkie and Richard Wilkie; ushers will be Arthur Veth and William Marsh of Detroit.

Mrs. Wilkie will wear a gown of pink triple sheer trimmed in dubonnet, and a corsage of orchids.

A breakfast for 60 relatives will be served at the Hotel Mayflower immediately following the ceremony. In the afternoon a reception for 150 guests will be held in the home of the bride on North Main street. Bright colored gladioli and snapdragons with lighted tapers in crystal holders will decorate the wedding table, centered with wedding cake.

The young couple will enjoy a week's motor trip through northern Michigan and will be at home at 11538 Outer Drive, Detroit, after September 1.

They have the best wishes of a host of friends, both in Plymouth and Detroit.

New Yorker Killed by Train

By means of a social security card, police were able to determine the identity of William Thomas Healey of Peekskill, New York, who was killed by a train early Saturday morning at North yard.

Peter Lomonaco, car inspector for the Pere Marquette railroad, stationed at the Plymouth roundhouse, was walking west on the tracks, about 12:10, toward some cars which had just been left off by the eastbound freight. He came upon the body of a man who had evidently been killed when he fell underneath a train.

Mr. Lomonaco immediately notified Plymouth police who investigated the accident. It is believed that Healey fell beneath the train when he attempted to hop the 12:02 freight. He was about 60 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches tall and weighed 180 pounds.

He carried the usual bundle of articles, and in his pocket-book was 35 cents and a letter dated in 1938 from a minister in Monroe.

The address referred to on his social security card was to an orphanage in Peekskill. It is not known whether he worked there or formerly lived at the institution.

Healey's body was taken to the county morgue in Detroit, and if it is not claimed by the Peekskill orphanage, it will be buried in Potter's field.

Benjamin Franklin's son-in-law made one of the first attempts to introduce pheasants in this country. In 1790 the birds were a flock brought from England and released in New Jersey.

Trolling for Mackinac or lake trout on the Great Lakes is prohibited in Lake Huron during the month of October, in Lake Superior from October 10 to November 4, and in Lake Michigan from October 10 to November 10, during which time lake trout may not be taken in any manner.

Insurance for 1940 Wheat Crop

Insurance on the 1940 Michigan wheat crop is now being offered to all farmers in the state. Representatives of the Wayne County Agricultural Conservation committee are now calling on all wheat growers, discussing with them their 1940 wheat acreage allotments and offering them the opportunity to insure their next year's wheat.

Farmers in Wayne county can be guaranteed 75 per cent of their normal yields by taking out insurance, according to Maurice C. Bird, chairman of the Wayne County Triple A committee. Premiums run as low as 5 bushels per acre. Farmers who have cooperated with the farm program this year may pay for their insurance by simply having their premiums deducted from their Triple A payments.

Through this insurance program, Mr. Bird says, the Triple A is helping farmers get a more uniform income from year to year. Even in years when wheat crops are seriously damaged or totally destroyed, farmers will have at least 75 per cent of their normal yields on which they can depend. A new regulation permits the insured farmers to assign their crop insurance policies as security for loans, the proceeds of which may be used without restrictions.

About one out of every ten Michigan farmers who took out crop insurance on their wheat last fall will receive at least partial indemnity this year, Mr. Bird says. Although weather conditions have been generally good in Michigan this year, rust, winterkill, fall and spring

New Homebuilding Idea Started by Vernon Pilgrim Company

A new thing in home building will be started when the Vernon Pilgrim company begins to construct a series of houses on the six acres that have been purchased on Sheldon road between Six Mile road and Park Drive overlooking Riverside park.

The new homes will be entirely of masonry construction, and will have all the new and latest developments that are comparable to the times. Mr. Pilgrim says that the price of the homes will be easily within the reach of people who wish their homes to be restricted to the individual rather than to price. That is, one may enjoy horse-back riding, tennis, badminton, shuffle board and other things that Americans are doing today without fear of being told what they can or cannot do.

Being air conditioned throughout, the homes will be the very latest in modern development. They will be constructed of cinder block, cement floors with plaster walls. All will be painted so that furniture may be moved and the interior of the house may be washed with running water, if the owner so desires. Indirect lighting will also feature each home.

Mr. Pilgrim and Austin Van Howe are starting five new homes on Pacific in the Sunset addition subdivision. Excavation for these homes was started today (Friday) and it is expected that they will be completed in about 40 days.

Each home will be individually constructed as to design. Models are made of each home before work is begun so that prospective buyers may see them actually as they will be when completed.

These plots of land are to be developed by V. M. Pilgrim and Austin Van Howe. Interested persons may speak with either of these men concerning the development of these new ideas in home building.

Rare Cereus Cactus Plant Blooms Again Saturday

Third Time in Seven Years

When certain Plymouth residents learned that they had missed seeing the blooming of the rare night-blooming cereus cactus plant of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Robison's about the 15th of July they were gratified when Mr. Robison told them that the plant was to bloom again last Saturday night.

Mr. Robison is able to foretell the blooming of the plant for about a week before the blossom comes out. Many Plymouth residents flocked to the Robison back yard where they viewed the opening of the cereus blossom.

Each blossom stays out only for about four hours and it is not at all uncommon to have two or more of the large fragrant white flowers out at the same time as happened at the Robison home

Saturday night when five came out: One was out Sunday night and there are seven or more buds that are expected to burst into bloom sometime within the next two or three nights.

Saturday night was the third time the plant had ever bloomed. Last year was the first time in the seven years of its life, and twice this year. Mr. Robison brought a shoot of the plant to his home seven years ago and nursed it to the mammoth thing it is now. Each winter he takes it to the greenhouses of the Wayne County Training school where he leaves it until late spring when he brings it back to his home on Penniman avenue.

Soon after the July blooming of the plant, 40 buds made their appearance and began to grow. From time to time, some of them dropped off, leaving only the six which bloomed and the six which are expected to bloom this week-end. Two more recently showed up and if nothing happens to them it is expected that they will bloom early this fall.

Those who were at the Robison home Saturday night watched the flower develop from an egg-shaped bud to a beautiful blossom, and then about four hours later, say it wilt.

The blossom is about seven inches in diameter and when open is supposed to signify the scene of the Christ child in the manger. The numberless stamens represent the manger bed and the pistil looks very much like the Star of Bethlehem as it shoots out above the crib and gracefully curves over the manger, all of which is very beautifully set upon a background of pure white petals.

Mr. and Mrs. Robison may feel very fortunate that they have kept living so rare a plant to this locality. The night-blooming cereus cactus (Cereus grandiflorus) is a native of tropical countries and it is very seldom that one is found in this part of the country.

Extend Membership Drive to Plymouth

The Harris-Kehrer Post No. 3323, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, located on Wayne road, between Cherry Hill and Ford roads, has extended its membership drive to Plymouth and vicinity for all veterans who served overseas during the World War, Spanish-American War, or in any foreign campaign.

Every veteran owes it to himself and his family to become a member of the V. F. W. if he is eligible. There are many benefits each veteran can receive because of his membership.

The membership drive being put on by the Harris-Kehrer post is the biggest drive that any veteran organization has ever attempted in this locality. Interested veterans who are not members of this organization may communicate with A. St. Jacques, 1203 Wayne road, RFD No. 1, Wayne, Michigan, or phone Wayne 466. Mr. Jacques is chairman of the membership drive.

Warn Merchants of Bogus Tax Men

Plymouth merchants as well as others throughout the state were warned against bogus sales tax investigators today by Walter F. Reddy, managing director of the State Board of Tax Administration.

Reddy said that he has received numerous complaints that persons falsely representing themselves as tax administration field men are annoying business men and obtaining information to which they have no right.

"All bona fide representatives of the administration have been equipped with full credentials," Reddy said. "Our men have been ordered to show their authority before they request any records. If a man representing himself as an investigator cannot identify himself he is an impostor and the taxpayer should notify the nearest sales tax office immediately."

The credentials of authorized investigators carry the state seal and are signed by Reddy or Orville E. Atwood, late managing director of the tax administration.

New Guernsey Milk Record Is Made

A new record, exceeding the average of the Guernsey breed for her age and class has just been completed by a two-year-old cow, Brookwood Iris 455330, of Northville, tested and owned by Mrs. E. M. Bricker. Her official record supervised by the Michigan State College and announced by the American Guernsey Cattle Club is 12966.2 pounds of milk and 607.4 pounds of butter fat in class G.

Veteran Teacher Plymouth Visitor

Edward J. Quackenbush, for more than half a century a well known Michigan school teacher, and who was superintendent of schools at Grand Ledge when the late Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald was a school boy, was in Plymouth Saturday, visiting at the home of Mrs. William Tait and other relatives. Mr. Quackenbush, who is a resident of Highland Park, is a member of the merit board of review of the unemployment compensation department that hears dismissal and promotional complaints. Because of his long teaching experience and training, Mr. Quackenbush is ideally qualified for the position he holds.

Tells Why Fishing Is Not Good

Plymouth fishermen who have been going up north to fish and coming home with alibies about their bad luck, have no further reason to explain why they didn't have an extra trout, bass or pike for the next door neighbor. The conservation department is out with the excuse—it's the weatherman, says the department.

Sectional reports received in the last week by the fish division of the state department of conservation show the weather running the scale from too-hot to too-cold and rainy, with fishing luck and prospects acting accordingly.

Western parts of the upper peninsula saw continued popularity of bass and bluegill, and better trout fishing. Lake Superior counties reported all species were doing fairly well. Scattered showers in the Menominee-Delta district failed to bring up water levels to help the trout situation, but pike in large numbers were taken.

Eastern upper peninsula counties told of growing success of lake trout trolling. Lake fishing and trout casting were "holding their own" especially during ideal weather early and late in the day.

The lower peninsula, at its northern portion, experienced rains that varied the results in streams. The grasshopper season was found well on its way and fairly productive. In the Alpena-Montmorency-Presque Isle section, exceptional pike fishing marked the lake fishing, and bass and panfish were taking flies and minnows better than usual. Counties surrounding Roscommon told of good results only on certain lakes for pan-fishing. The section east of there reported all species giving good angling. Northwest of Grand Rapids, a six-county area underwent heavy rains which improved stream fishing in general, although some localities had high water difficulty.

Deep water pan fishing was most productive in southwestern counties, although some good catches with flies were recorded. Calico bass in that district were active. South central counties divided between good and fair fishing for bass, bluegills and walleyes. Southeastern counties reported bass catches were far above average.

Americans still favor what likely was the first real American dish, succotash. It originated about 1620 when the Indians taught Pilgrims how to put beans with corn to make what they called "Mishkutotash."

More than 15,000 farmer-owned and controlled associations and mutual companies are in operation in the United States, it is estimated by the Federal Farm Credit Administration.

School Tuition Discussion

Following is an exchange of correspondence between school district number 4 of Livonia township and Superintendent George A. Smith of the Plymouth schools pertaining to the matter of tuition:

Dear Sir: Your letter of July 11 received advising us of the action taken by your board of education increasing the high school tuition $12.15 per pupil in addition to $65.00 per pupil now paid you by the state.

At a meeting of our board of education held July 31, 1939 it was decided to call a special meeting of the taxpayers of this district and submit to them your demands for the payment of this extra tuition. We will inform you at a later date of their action in the matter.

In view of the patronage anticipated by the merchants of the city of Farmington they have invited our pupils to attend their high school without an additional tuition payment. Accordingly unless some change is made in your board's action we shall recommend to the taxpayers that the invitation of the Farmington public schools be accepted and arrange to divert our transportation bus to the Farmington district.

For your information copies of this communication are being forwarded to the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and Plymouth Mail (newspaper) so that the merchants in your city will be fully advised of our action.

Yours very truly,
SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 4,
LIVONIA TOWNSHIP,
L. A. Smith, director.

August 11, 1939
Mr. L. A. Smith, Director,
Livonia School District No. 4,
Plymouth, Michigan.
Dear Mr. Smith:

In reply to your letter to the Chamber of Commerce and The Plymouth Mail, of which you sent me a copy, would say that our board of education meets on Monday, August 14, at 7:30, and if you wish to bring your matter before them, they will be glad to receive you; otherwise, it will be a case of having your boys and girls go to Farmington unless they or you elect to pay the $12.15 which our board has elected to assess districts, or charge individual pupils who come to Plymouth for the school year of 1939 and 1940.

You were mistaken in the amount which the state pays, stating that it was $65.00. Under the new law the state will pay per capita cost of any high school less the $12.15 (this year) primary money which, under the state constitution, must be sent to the district in which the pupil is living. To pay 100 percent of tuition and primary money would be for the state to pay each high school pupil attending Plymouth high school approximately 112 percent of the actual cost of running the high school.

I believe my board feels that there is no reason why the property owners of Plymouth should be assessed to pay $12.15 per pupil cost and allowing the sending districts to receive the same amount of money from the state for doing absolutely nothing for the pupil who attends Plymouth high school.

The board of education of Plymouth is not asking you to, in any way, do differently from what all other districts sending pupils to Plymouth are expected to do.

We enjoy having your fine boys and girls in Plymouth high school, but if your district insists on paying to the extent of $12.15 on each one of them for which you do nothing, or, unless my board of education, after a conference with you, should determine that they wanted to change the present ruling, it will be necessary for you to find some other school in which to attend the coming year.

Respectfully,
GEORGE A. SMITH.

THERE IS JUST ONE ISSUE

Editor Murl H. DeFoe of The Charlotte Republican-Tribune a week or so ago declared that next fall's Republican campaign will be between two types of political philosophies and the lines will be so sharply drawn that "you can find your seat in the dark."

The editor is absolutely right. The Plymouth Mail months ago declared that the next primary election will be between the groveling ward heeleders that follow political bosses, and decent Republicans who believe in conducting political affairs in broad day light and in the respectable ways that honest government demands.

How Editor DeFoe can classify jumping-jack, spineless political puppets lying about in political gutters waiting to snatch and snarl among themselves over the crumbs that the bosses might now and then throw to them, as believers in a "type of political philosophy" is rather difficult to understand.

The use of the word "philosophy" in connection with politics implies a certain dignity, a practical understanding and wisdom. Certainly no one believes that a gang of political bosses whose only object in political manipulation is personal gain and advantage for themselves and their puppets, have the slightest interest in the science of good government, economical government and popular government.

There is no dispute as to what the one issue of the next Republican primary will be. Party control by bosses, or party control by the people—that IS THE ISSUE.

There will be no middle ground.

Republicans are going to be for the political fixers or they are going to be against them.

They are going to be for good government or they are going to be for the miserable form of government typified by political bosses.

There will be no chance for candidates to straddle the issue.

The state senate wrote the issue for the primary last spring when it killed the writer's proposal to divide the Wayne county delegation to state conventions into six delegations. The house passed this bill by a vote of 90 to 0. The senate at the behest of the big bosses killed it by just ONE VOTE, thereby disfranchising every delegation from every county in the state outside of the three with the largest population.

That measure would have annihilated the boss control of politics in Michigan. It is now up to the voters to do the job, and it is the sincere hope of every good citizen of Michigan that they will do it in a most emphatic way.

The Plymouth Mail is not often given to making political predictions, but it can be stated now, as it was in the issue of The Mail on May 26, that if the Republican party will clean out the political manipulators, fixers, schemers and bosses in the primary and go sledge length for honest, decent and efficient government, it will win the 1940 election by the largest popular vote of the people ever given any political party in this state.

Irrespective of their wishes, the bosses should never forget the fact that this is still a government of and for the people.

BOLTING.

President Roosevelt says that if the Democrats do not nominate the "right man" for president he will bolt the party. From the looks of things, wonder if the Democratic party has not already bolted Mr. Roosevelt?

NOT PLEASING NEWS

The elimination of former Congressman Grant Hudson from his position in the state purchasing department and the resignations of Grover Dillman as budget director and Kenneth Pennebaker as director of the civil service commission indicates strongly that all is not going as well as it should up in Lansing.

Mr. Pennebaker is going to Minnesota to take charge of the newly organized civil service department of that state. He is a native of Michigan and would much prefer to retain residence in his own state. He was an efficient, loyal and hard-working official and his departure is to be regretted. There is no question but what he regarded the present outlook for the proper sort of a merit system in the state government as somewhat distressing. His viewpoint for the immediate future is probably correct, but Michigan is going to have a real merit system sooner or later. There is no doubt about that. We are sorry Mr. Pennebaker has decided not to worry along with our present set-up until the system can be more firmly established.

Mr. Dillman has decided to go back to his college presidency at Houghton rather than continue as budget director. He did an outstanding job as budget director. In the few months he held the position he indicated that he knew more about the state's financial problem than his predecessor who is now national budget director, would ever know. In fact, Mr. Dillman had to start from scratch, because the present "national budget director" left a mess of figures no one, not even himself, knew anything about, or could make anything out of. Mr. Dillman has not stated his reason for resigning.

One can probably correctly surmise, but this is not just the time to do that. The public regrets greatly that these things are happening in Lansing. They are not indicative of good things in public affairs.

NEEDED—A BUMP ON THE NOSE.

(From The Rotarian)

A successful businessman who is also a university trustee, widely read, cultured, thoughtful, and a good judge of human nature, was discussing a certain young man. "I have known him," he said, "since he was five years old. He has a fine mind, and in school he has used it to advantage, at least to the extent of getting good grades. He was home last week from college; he is taking graduate work for a Ph. D. degree in English. He is 23 years old, and the thing that impressed me most about him was his complete unconcern about earning his living. He is satisfied that somehow, in due time, it will be arranged, by somebody—somebody else. Things have been arranged for him by others ever since he was born."

An increasing number of people, including some educators who have their feet squarely on the ground, believe that the case of this young man is far too typical today. They say it represents the severest indictment of the present so-called higher education.

Employment officials assembling not long ago at a regional gathering of personnel associations brought out the fact that a principal reason why jobs often are not given to youngsters just out of college is because their attitude toward employment is such a curious one. They expect to be given fairly large salaries and congenial work, yet they have been on the receiving end of things. They have been fed, clothed, and cared for, and have not had to turn a hand to help their families or themselves. To many of them it is a shock to learn that as adults they are expected to stand up and fight and give value for what they get. Increasing numbers of employers, these personnel officials declared, prefer to wait for a year or two before they hire fresh products of the colleges—"at least until they have had their noses bumped a bit."

Probably some of the fault lies with the home, and urban living. Cash allowances are given to city children, many of whom never do a lick of work to earn the money. Probably part of the fault lies with school and college teachers; too many of them turn their faces to theories about life, rather than to the actualities of living. "There is some good evidence," said Dr. Henry C. Link, discussing what he called "the vice of education" in his provocative book "The Return to Religion," "that the prolongation of formal education results in a deterioration of personality."

The "gimme" attitude is the negation of the service ideal. True education, whether in home or in school, insists that a primary quality of adulthood is ability to take care of oneself; which means to give, more than it means to get. The youngsters will be swarming in and out of the houses for another month yet. Perhaps this is exactly the felicitous season subtly to suggest to the young bloods some of the things they will be expected to give—if you can do it in between their tennis matches and beach picnics.

NO CAUSE FOR KNOCKING

Dr. Moyer came to Gaylord for the purpose of familiarizing himself with the institution and the tuberculosis problem in general. He spent most of his time listening to discussions regarding problems of both the Gaylord and Howell institutions. As a result of his visit, Dr. Moyer volunteered some ideas of his own. Not only were his conclusions sound and logical, but he indicated that he has a good grasp of general health conditions in the state. One member of the commission, a Democrat, came up to this writer afterward and said, "I can't see what those Detroit doctors were bellyaching about. This man Moyer looks good and sounds good to me. I think the old man (meaning Gov. Dickinson) knew what he was doing when he appointed him."—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

TRYING TO PUBLICIZE GOVERNOR DICKINSON INTO OBLIVION

People like to read about the intimate habits of prominent people. When the King and Queen of England visited this country, scores of writers described every costume, every gesture and every mannerism of the royal couple. Gov. Sleeper was ridiculed for pompousness. Groesbeck was labeled an autocrat. Fred W. Green's sporting proclivities got liberal space. Brucker was the ambitious young political accident who took himself seriously. Comstock's friendship with the mysterious Leabov filled the columns of columns. Fitzgerald got more than his share of publicity regarding the real, or imagined, alliance with Frank McKay.

Governor Dickinson is having his inning. We, and we imagine many people, are trying to determine whether Governor Dickinson's utterances regarding "high life," "pipelines" and "brinks of hell" deserve the publicity they are getting. Is the governor just a senile old moralist... a male Carrie Nation without the strength of disposition to wield a hatchet? Is he as doddering as the feature story in the Sunday issue of the Lansing State Journal would indicate, and if so, is it important? Other Sunday newspapers carried the same story with variations. The inference was plain... there was nothing subtle about them. It appeared to us as rather studied effort on the part of the state capitol reporters to present the governor in his most unfavorable light.

Dickinson is eighty years old. The people of Michigan elected him to office... they have repeatedly elected him. He is honest. He is not callous or ignorant of the problems of the state. Michigan's present administration is not involved in any scandal. The worst that can be said is that this 80-year-old man (whom the people elected) is that he may be somewhat rustic... possibly "cracked"... on the subject of public morals and the liquor traffic. And again, he may not be so far off. Spend an hour or two observing some of the crowds in beer hangouts and you may find yourself more or less in accord with his views.

It is customary to highlight all the lurid details of a murder. The murderer generally deserves and gets the so-called white-light of publicity. We can detect nothing about either aged Gov. Dickinson or his sensible secretary, Margaret Shaw, which warrants the continued sneers of the sophisticated boys who are assigned to the state capitol. It is getting tiresome.

It would seem that a smart and hustling reporter could, if he tried, find something more important to write about... and if he can't, that his editor could exercise a little more discrimination in the prominence he gives this relatively unimportant subject. Michigan has other and more important problems than what this ancient Anti-Saloon League leader thinks about "high life."—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.
