City Officials Attend Ceremony at Wyandotte

Dedicate Sewage Disposal Project Tuesday

Members of the city commission and City Manager C. H. Elliott attended the dedication ceremonies of the Wayne county sewage disposal project held at the disposal plant in Wyandotte Tuesday.

Representatives of federal, state and county agencies were also present at the ceremonies. The plant was inspected with guides present to explain the functioning of the equipment and apparatus.

The city of Plymouth will connect into the Middle Rouge parkway interceptor, which is the longest unit of the Wayne county sewage disposal system, sometime during October. The interceptor is designed to serve not only the Middle Rouge parkway of the county parks system but also the institutions and communities situated in the north-west section of the county. The interceptor is over 16 miles in length.

This interceptor begins at the Detroit House of Correction outlet sewer, located near Phoenix and Ridge roads, where the first service connection is made. The line then extends northeast over easements acquired from private individuals, to the northwest terminus of the Middle Rouge parkway at Fishery road in Northville.

A branch line designed to serve the Maybury sanatorium connects into the sanitary collecting lines on Beck road a half-mile south of the Base Line road, and extends southeasterly to a junction with the main line east of Beck road and south of the Fishery road.

The interceptor is constructed in the valley of the Middle Rouge river in the Middle Rouge parkway, to the present southeasterly limit of the parkway at Newburg road from which point it was constructed in tunnel under the Ann Arbor Trail to a point south of Nankin Mills. At this point, the tunnel section ends, but the sewer continues along Ann Arbor Trail to Merriman road, where it meets the main line, where a disposal plant has been constructed.

Sanitary sewage of Plymouth is intercepted at the existing plant located in Plymouth Riverside park near the cemetery and that of Northville is intercepted at the existing Northville filter beds near the fairgrounds. Both of these existing plants will be ultimately dismantled. An outlet sewer from the Wayne County Training school, which has been constructed, and connects with the interceptor in the parkway.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ralph Miller and son, Keith, returned Sunday night from a brief stay at Asheville, North Carolina, stopping enroute at the Great Smoky Mountain National park and the Norris dam.

SALVATION ARMY TAG DAY SATURDAY

Saturday will be tag day for the Salvation Army in Plymouth, according to Captain Elizabeth Lemorie. Sales will be made throughout the day by members of the Girl Guards, a junior organization sponsored by the Army.

The tag day will mark the close of the annual drive put on by the organization this year according to reports furnished the advisory board at a meeting in the Hotel Mayflower last Wednesday noon the drive will go well over the goal set this year.

Kiwanis Club Gun Shoot Starts Monday

To Benefit Under Privileged Plymouth Children

Much interest is being shown in the annual Kiwanis rifle shoot which is to take place this year October 9 to 13, at 637 South Main street. The shoot is for the benefit of Plymouth under privileged children. A ticket entitles the holder admission to the building, ammunition for the competition shots, chance for high score on a team, chance for high score of the entire shoot and possibility of a valuable door prize which will be awarded to someone present each night.

Monday, the first night of the shoot, the gallery will be open for practice. The following four nights city target experts will attempt to wrest the individual shooting championship from Bartlett Rice, last year's high scorer and winner of the Plymouth Mail silver loving cup.

Kiwanians anticipate that interest in the shoot will be higher this year than last, when nearly 400 persons participated in the individual and team contests. There were 400 rounds of ammunition fired last year.

In addition to under privileged children benefit, proceeds of the tournament will go to help the sick and the poor in Plymouth, according to Carvel Bentley, who is the Kiwanian in charge of the project.

Plymouth Kiwanians also sponsor the Potato club for high school children, the Cub Scouts and the Boys' club. The organization contributes to the University of Michigan hospital for crippled children, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

Other activities include packing Christmas baskets and presenting toys and clothing to the Plymouth needy, and in previous years, a turkey dinner for the under privileged on Thanksgiving day.

To Observe Fire Prevention Week

The Plymouth fire department asks the cooperation of Plymouth citizens in the observance of National Fire Prevention week, October 8 to 14.

City officials as well as officers and members of the department are proud of the record of the Plymouth fire department both as to the low per capita loss as well as the number of runs made without an accident.

Prevention week will be stressed at the high school next week in addition to projects carried out by various civic bodies. Residents of Plymouth and store owners are urged to check their buildings and heating systems for possible fire hazards.

The annual national loss from fire alone is $300,000,000 worth of property and the lives of 10,000 men, women and children.

Money may rebuild a building but it cannot restore the lives of fire victims. Fire prevention instilled in the hearts and minds of the public at large, does more to combat the "fire demon" than a large number of pieces of the most modern fire apparatus.

The Plymouth fire department requests Plymouth residents to refrain from driving on fires upon hearing the fire alarm sounded. The practice creates a grave traffic hazard and impedes the functioning of the department. A traffic jam may mean the loss of homes and property to say nothing of the lost minutes that may save a life.

Salem Accidents Result in Deaths of Two

Father and Son Die—Chester Zidar to Recover

Twice within a week town-folks of Salem and residents of the surrounding country have gathered at the Salem Congregational church to mourn deaths in the Bauman family of that community as the result of an automobile accident early last week.

Tuesday afternoon the little Salem church was filled to overflowing when the funerals of Reynold Bauman, 24 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bauman, was conducted by the Rev. Lucia Stroh.

It was last Friday when the same church and the big lawn that surrounds it was crowded with relatives, neighbors and friends who had come to pay their last respects to the memory of Edward Bauman, father of Reynold, who died a few minutes after the accident. The son expired last Saturday from his injuries in Sessions hospital at Northville.

Only once during the time he was in the hospital did he regain consciousness, and that was just for a moment when he recognized his mother who was sitting at his bedside.

Reynold had just secured a job in the Lincoln plant of the Ford Motor company and he was being driven to work by his father on the morning their automobile was struck by a train at the railway crossing in Salem. Besides the mother, there are two younger brothers and a sister who survive. Burial took place in the Plymouth Riverside cemetery where his father was buried last Friday.

Chester Zidar, who resides at the corner of Seven mile and Millford roads, and who suffered a severe fracture of one of his legs when his car struck the same train that blocked the crossing on the same morning Mr. Bauman and his son were injured, is rapidly recovering from his injuries and physicians say he will probably be able to return to work within five or six weeks.

Not only is his excellent recovery good news to his wife and six children, but his host of friends in the Chrysler plant where he has worked for nearly 16 years, are elated over the fact that doctors say he will suffer no permanent disability as the result of the serious fracture he received. He will remain in Sessions hospital for the present.

Jack Miller to Celebrate

Saturday, October 7 will mark the ninth anniversary in business of Jack Miller, well known gasoline dealer and Studebaker agent in Plymouth according to an announcement appearing elsewhere in this issue of The Mail.

The celebration will take on a "double feature" for Mr. Miller as it will also mark the grand opening of his new Studebaker show room built next to his station on the corner of Stark-weather and Pearl streets. At the time of the opening he will have two new Studebaker cars, a Champion and a Commander on display.

Mr. Miller came to Plymouth nine years ago from Flint where he was employed in the Fisher body plant. He entered the gasoline business on his arrival here and has remained in it since. During his residence here he has been active in the Ex-Service Men's club and served as their commander in 1934.

He is one of the leading Studebaker dealers in the United States, placing third in a national contest for percentage of Studebaker sales in any locality this year. In his anniversary announcement he invites everyone in Plymouth to visit his station on Saturday and view the cars on display.

Will Entertain Williamston Club

At the next meeting of the Ex-Service Men's club and the women's auxiliary Tuesday evening, October 10 at the Grange hall, the veterans and women will entertain as guests the members and women of the Williamston Post Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Supper will be served at 7:00 p.m., followed by initiatory degrees by the club at 8:30 p.m.

All members of the club and all veterans in the vicinity are cordially extended an invitation to be present to greet the Williamston comrades.

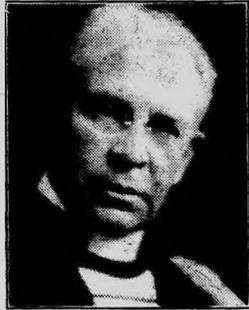

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Chambers were Sunday afternoon visitors of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Vourburg, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Runyon, in Fenton.

Bishop Page to Conduct His Last Confirmation Here on Sunday

Bishop Herman Page of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan will Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock conduct his last confirmation services at the St. John's church of Plymouth. In view of the fact that this will be his final services in the city, Plymouth members are planning a dinner for and from that time on at the Mayflower hotel following the church services.

Bishop Page has resigned his high place with the church after 15 years of diligent services. Not only do members of the Plymouth church regret his departure, but throughout the state there is a similar feeling of regret over his decision to relinquish his high church position.

A graduate of Harvard, he was ordained to the Diaconate in 1914 and from that time on his advancement was most rapid, being consecrated a bishop of the missionary of Spokane, Washington in 1915. He has been especially interested in religious education, church music, pageantry and church financing. He is also the author of many church manuals.

"Battle" of Corn "Nubbins" Rages— How Big Is Your Biggest "Nubbin"?

Maybe the corn grows tall out on Schrader's buffalo ranch, but when it comes to big ears of corn—that's different—if some samples of "nubbins" from the Edward C. Hough old homestead farm out on the Warren road now on display in The Plymouth Mail office are any indications as to how big the ears really are.

It looks as though the big "contest" of the year is on. The three ears of "nubbins" raised by Perry Hix on the Hough homestead out in Canton township, measure eleven and a half inches long, and there are 20 rows of kernels surrounding the cobs.

Yes, sir, the three ears are about as fine samples of corn as ever grown hereabouts.

Oh, yes—if Fred D. Schrader, operator of the Schrader buffalo ranch, or any one else, has an idea he has any "nubbins" which are as big or bigger than these on display in The Mail office, there's a place for them in the big display window of The Plymouth Mail office.

Maybe if you haven't a big corn to display, there might be an overgrown pumpkin, squash, turnip or something else the "city folks" of Plymouth would like to see on display in The Mail office. You may be sure that your home newspaper will be pleased to place on exhibit any exceptional product you have on your farm.

Lobby of Postoffice to Be Kept Open Three Hours Sunday Forenoons

Announcement has just been made by Postmaster Frank K. Learned that the lobby of the postoffice building will be opened Sunday forenoons from 9:00 o'clock until 12:00 o'clock.

If it is found during the next few weeks that a sufficient number of people are benefited as the result of this action, the order will be made permanent.

The action of the postmaster will make available for Sunday forenoon use, all of the lock boxes of the postoffice as well as permitting the mailing of letters in Plymouth on Sunday.

It is hoped that the attention of the postal authorities that some people who have had mail they desired to get in the postoffice on Sundays have gone to Detroit to mail letters. This will no longer be necessary.

In addition to this new service at the postoffice, it is also announced that as the result of arrangements just made, letters placed in the postoffice before 6:00 o'clock in the evening will be dispatched at 7:00 o'clock in the evening, with delivery possible in New York City the following afternoon.

Dr. Savage of Pontiac to Address Sunday Afternoon Vesper Services

Plymouth's first vesper services of the present year will take place Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the First Baptist church, Methodist, Presbyterians and Baptists of the city all cooperating in this special Sunday afternoon meeting.

Dr. H. H. Savage, popular and well known Pontiac pastor who has gained considerable state wide distinction because of his timely and interesting radio addresses, will be the speaker.

Everyone is especially welcome, whether a member of any of the churches mentioned, states Rev. G. H. Enss, pastor of the Baptist church. The services will start promptly at 4:00 o'clock.

Wins Golf Trophy at Convention

For the second time in two years Plymouth again becomes the home of a state golf championship and this time the honors were brought to Plymouth by Ralph Lorenz, who won the championship of the Michigan Golf and Country Association at its annual tournament held in St. Joseph last Saturday.

Last year Cass S. Hough was a guest of the State Bankers' association at Mackinac Island and he brought to this city the championship trophy awarded to the best golfer at the convention.

Mr. Lorenz carded a 74 to carry off top honors at the hotel meeting and Harry Werley, last year's winner was next with an 80. The championship flight was played by 100 Michigan golfers and well known Tabor Fagan golf course.

Mr. Lorenz said that hotels in Michigan had suffered during the last year because of the two fairs and the unusually large amount of tourist competition but that he hopes to see a large increase in attendance at the convention were looking for a sharp upturn this month.

Main features of the meeting were talks on party table arrangements and displays and discussions of how hotels could cope with the fast rising food markets.

On his return to Plymouth Sunday Mr. Lorenz announced that work would start early this week on the remodeling of the offices formerly occupied by C. H. Finland & Son for the hotel so that they could build a new room on that side of the building. He hopes to have the new room open by Wednesday of next week.

Dondero Discusses Embargo Problem

Son Phones Maw to Tell Paw He's Got a Job Here for Him

Now just what would you do if you were a newspaper reporter and you were sitting in a drug store and some one came in to use the telephone and made a call way down in Tennessee, and said:

"Hello, Maw, how's the folks? Say, tell Paw I've got a job for him up here. Tell him when he comes to bring the dog along. Say Maw, there's some more folks from Tennessee from over east of us who just got here in Plymouth. Did you hear yet when the folks are comin' north? Well, that's all I'm sayin' now, but be sure and bring the dog."

Wouldn't you write it up as a bit of news to show just how things are booming in and around Plymouth?

Yes, sir, things are so boomin' again around our fast growing little city—growing so fast we've got to get down in the deep South to get folks to do our work.

Conservation Club Membership Grows Rapidly

Secretary Lisle Alexander of the Western Wayne County Conservation association announced at the meeting held Monday evening that the organization now has a paid membership of 198 with the prospects that the total may reach 300 by the end of the month.

"I have been surprised at the way the old dues have been paid and new members have been coming in," he stated.

The organization, a little over one year old, has made a remarkable growth in the short time of its existence. The total given by Mr. Alexander does not include the farm members who come into the organization through the adoption of the Williamson hunting plan.

It was decided that a committee of trustees should be named by President Brick Champ to have charge of the new skeet field that is just being developed by the club. This committee must be incorporated because of the necessity of carrying liability insurance and to comply with regulations of the National Skeet shooting organization that the Plymouth skeet shooters desire to join.

Committees were also named Monday night to post the farms that will come under the hunting plan. Some excellent motion pictures were also displayed Monday night.

More Students for Night School

Mrs. Anthony Matulis, instructor in a night school class which will review and discuss current books, announces following the first meeting, Wednesday, that there is an insufficient number of students enrolled in order to carry on classes in this subject.

The next meeting of the class will be Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. At this time Du Maurier's novel, "Rebecca" will be reviewed and also "Seasoned Timber" by Dorothy Canfield Fisher.

Those who attended the meeting Wednesday night, requested that Mrs. Matulis first review the books and then permit the class to have an open discussion about them.

All persons who are interested in a class of this kind are asked to be sure and attend the meeting Tuesday night.

Woman's Club Meets Today

The members of the Woman's Club of Plymouth and guests will convene in their annual fall luncheon at the Mayflower hotel today (Friday).

Mindful of the times, the program committee, Mrs. Miller Ross, Mrs. Claude Dykhouse and Mrs. Edward C. Eckert, has secured Professor Paul K. Butterfield to speak on "The Present International Situation and the United States." Professor Butterfield of Wayne University, is an excellent speaker of forceful magnetic personality and will give a clear cut picture of the muddled European situation.

To Construct Curb and Gutter on Blunk

There were no objections to the construction of a curb and gutter on Blunk avenue between Farmer and Junction streets when the matter was brought up at the commission meeting Monday night.

As it is now planned, work will begin on this project some time during the next two months.

Mr. and Mrs. George Howell who have been in Dexter the last few weeks where Mr. Howell has been recuperating from his illness, have gone to Detroit where they will spend the winter months.

Mrs. Evans fell on the pavement sustaining injuries to her head and shoulders. She was brought to the Plymouth hospital where she was treated for her bruises.

Recalls Stand England Took When War Started in 1914

"If congress votes to change the neutrality law at this time to help England and France, it will be doing the very thing that England protested against during the earlier days of the World War in 1914," declared Congressman George A. Dondero when in Plymouth Saturday.

Accompanied by his secretary, Forrest McConnell, the 17th district Congressman spent considerable time in the city consulting with local citizens about the war situation.

He returned to his home in Royal Oak for the week-end because of a recess taken by the house pending senate consideration of the administration bill proposing removal of the shipping embargo on war materials.

"Files of the state department show that in 1914, when an embargo on the shipment of munitions to belligerents was proposed in the senate, both Great Britain and the Wilson administration contended that it would be unneutral to change the rules on this while the war was in progress," declared Congressman Dondero.

Early in December, 1914, Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, introduced a resolution to place an embargo on the exportation of munitions to all belligerents. Walter Hines Page, American ambassador to Great Britain, almost immediately communicated with the state department.

Todd Resigns City Post

Robert S. Todd resigned his position as building inspector for the city of Plymouth in a communication to the city commission, Monday night. The action was entirely voluntary, as Mr. Todd stated that all of his time is taken by his work as manager of the newly constructed Parkview Recreation hall. He has served as building inspector for the city since 1931.

City Manager C. H. Elliott, appointed Stanford L. Besse, city engineer, to fill Mr. Todd's position. The commission unanimously approved of the appointment.

Mr. Besse's appointment indicates that the work will probably be conducted in the future by the city engineering department. A good share of the permit fees were formerly refunded to the inspector. Under the new set-up, the money will be kept in the city treasury.

The new zoning ordinance which affects homes which are being constructed in certain areas of the city will in all probability be in effect in November, Mr. Besse is well qualified to inspect these homes in accordance with the ordinance as he thoroughly understands zoning and its principles.

Ecorse to Play Here Today

Plymouth high school will resume athletic relations with Ecorse (today) Friday when the respective football teams of each school will meet at Plymouth.

Severing athletic meetings as the result of a baseball argument two years ago, each school's eleven outplayed all Twin Valley opponents to lead their league in an unplayed tie last year. Now Plymouth and Ecorse will have an opportunity to decide the better team in a rightful contest.

Unusual Accident Occurs Sunday

An attempt to close an automobile door that had become unfastened while the car was in motion was the cause of a serious accident which occurred on Penniman avenue near Sunset avenue Sunday morning about 9:00 o'clock.

As Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Evans of 8562 Pittsburg, Detroit, were driving west on Penniman, Mrs. Evans noticed that the right front door of the car was unfastened. She opened it in preparation for slamming it shut. The force of the wind threw her off balance and she was thrown from the car.

Mrs. Evans fell on the pavement sustaining injuries to her head and shoulders. She was brought to the Plymouth hospital where she was treated for her bruises.

Matulis Speaks at Kiwanis

"Plymouth residents during the summer visited the playgrounds or took part in the recreational program 34,130 times," declared Director Anthony S. Matulis in a talk before the Kiwanis club Tuesday night. "This figure shows an increase of 10,000 over last year and by far the largest attendance for any such program in Plymouth."

Mr. Matulis stated that spectators were in a ratio of about one to every three participants. These figures were taken from a count that leaders took every day the program was in progress. Eight hundred twenty-eight were in the music classes and 391 children went swimming at Rouge pool on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The swimming trips were sponsored by Plymouth civic organizations with a cost of 11.5 cents per child for transportation.

"Two playgrounds provided facilities for the younger children. There were 650 taking part in the activities at Hamilton playground and over 900 at Forest field.

"The total cost of the summer activity was $816.78 including salaries for the persons hired by the city and board of education. WPA furnished a certain amount which paid for leaders hired by the association."

He said that 16 girls from the high school Leaders' club donated their services and alternated supervising the smaller children in the morning's activity at the neighborhood playgrounds.

"Public recreation is an integral part of municipal government, once thought a mere 'fad,' it now has achieved the status of a necessity. It is as much a part of city life as the school, which it supplements and complements by guiding the young during leisure time and continuing this guidance to those no longer enrolled," he said.

"Plymouth's recreation program is a year-round program carried on jointly by the board of education and the city through a recreation committee which represents all civic organizations in the city."

The personnel of the summer recreation program included, Anthony Matulis, director; Dorothy Roe, assistant director; and Lewis Evans, band director; who all were hired by the board of education and the city of Plymouth. Leo Van Bonn directed the work of those leaders who were hired by WPA. They were Ruth Hadley, A. Rowe, Lester Daly, Charles Stitt, L. Welch, C. Brown and C. Howe.

"Fine sportsmanship prevailed at all times during supervised play and there was no disturbance at any time. However, the plan is far from perfect and next year residents of Plymouth will see a great deal of change in the present set-up," he said.

Will 'Red' Become Senior Diplomat At London Court?

According to tradition, the senior diplomat at Britain's Court of St. James is a venerated figure and his wife is consulted on court procedure by wives of other diplomats. With the retirement Tuesday, October 10, of Brazil's Sir Paul Regis de Oliveira, Russia's Ivan Maisky, above, becomes the most likely candidate for senior diplomat because his only superior, Belgian Ambassador Baron Carriere de Marchienne, is expected to retire in a few weeks.

What to Do

BY PHYLLIS BELMONT

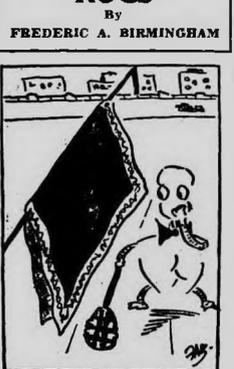

WILL you kindly tell me if it is considered bad manners to rest the elbows on the table during luncheon or dinner? I have always understood that elbows should never rest on the table, but today it seems to be a general habit with most persons.

Answer—Certain rules have come down to us and elbows off the table was one of them. But you are quite right that more and more we are deviating from this rule, and today it is no violation of good table manners to rest one or both of the elbows on the table. But elbows are permitted on the table only between courses and not when food is being conveyed to the mouth. Clapsed hands should not at any time be placed on the table, nor should the forearms rest on the table edge. When the hands are not engaged they should rest quietly in the lap and not top with the appointments on the table or make designs on the tablecloth.

Terry Pin's Tips on CLEANING RUGS

By FREDERIC A. BIRMINGHAM

Rugs have an unhappy lot. People play with a piano, but beat rugs and then step on them. Tennis players are good at beating rugs because of forehead drives, although some housekeepers are definitely against the use of a cannonball serve on their best rug. Oriental rugs are just like Orientals, exotic and mysterious, although rugs never have slanting eyes to speak of. Seeing a happy group of little children playing with their toys on the living room rug is quite a sight. So is the rug when they get through.

REYNOLD BAUMAN

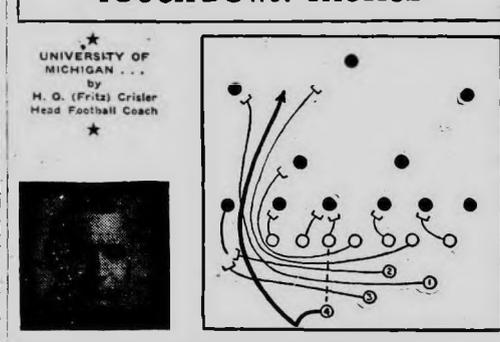

Reynold Otto Bauman, oldest son of the late Edward and Ella Bauman, was born in Plymouth, July 2, 1915. In his early school life he attended the Briggs school, corner Six Mile and Newburg roads, then later the Salem school where he graduated from the eighth grade. For several years he was employed on the Hunter farm, then in the Ford service in Northville. The morning of the accident he was on the way to the Lincoln Motor company, Detroit, to be given new work there.

Reynold was one of a class of 28 young people who were converted after three months of religious instruction united with the Congregational church of Salem Easter morning, April 27, 1927.

He was also a member of the choir where his tenor voice and cheerful presence was an inspiration to all of the church. Reynold was a most devoted son and brother; also a faithful true member of his church and a very active member of the Crusader Sunday school class. He will be greatly missed by his mother, Mrs. Ella Bauman, his brother, Alvin, and wife, Luella, brother, Edward, Jr., and sister, Marian, besides many uncles, aunts and cousins and this entire community.

A great number of beautiful floral pieces were contributed. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery, Plymouth.

TOUCH-DOWN TACTICS

This is the fourth of a series of six outstanding diagram plays by leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's new Football Guide.

Deception has always played an important part in football. By faking a pass and hitting the tackler on the left, I have found this play to be valuable in offensive football. The ball goes to the No. 4 back who fakes a pass and hits up following the No. 1 back, inside guard and right tackle. The end blocks in on the tackle and the 2 and 3 backs block out the end. The inside guard and right tackle go around the end's block and turn in to block the backer-up. The No. 3 back leads the play up and blocks out on the halfback. With the guard, tackle and No. 1 back leading the play it makes good interference for the ball carrier to follow. By faking a pass the men backing up the line are held in position.

During the 1938 season this play was strong for us and worked particularly well in our game with Pennsylvania.

Who a few moments later had collided with the freight cars and who also was seriously injured, were all taken to the Susquehanna hospital where Mr. Bauman passed on to be with his Lord about 10 or 15 minutes later.

Edward Bauman, Sr. was born in Livonia township, August 1, 1888 and reached the age of 51 years. All his life he has lived in the community of Livonia, Farmington, Plymouth and Salem. For some years Mr. and Mrs. Bauman lived at Farmington in Livonia but 14 years ago they bought a farm on Curry road just off Six Mile road. Here Mr. Bauman has lived and labored in various capacities; first, as a most faithful husband and father, devoted to his family, a splendid provider, ever ready to help and serve his loved ones. He farmed and did carpenter work, which was his trade. But more than his fine secular ability he labored in our religious, educational and social world to a marked degree.

He served as director of the Salem school board for several years where he was most interested and active and became a most efficient leader and friend to all the teachers and the children who shall miss his happy visits to the school more than we can say. As a neighbor and friend he was appreciated and loved by young and old. As a faithful attendant, friend and member of this church he shall never be forgotten.

He has always been very faithful in discharging his tasks as trustee of the church and served for many years at various intervals. At one time he was chairman of our official board. Our brother was always most happy when our little church was growing and God was blessing and he used his natural friendly resources and personality to promote love and harmony among his friends and associates. To us, the passing of our dear member means a great loss and void in the ranks of our Christian fellowship and proves again the finiteness of this life and uncertainty of our activities; but the certainty of death and eternity. Our brother was greatly beloved by this entire community, for his happy friendly manner in all his dealings and contacts. He is survived by his dear wife, Ella, and two sons, Alvin and wife, and Edward Junior; one daughter, Marian; three sisters, Mrs. Anna Rosenberg; Mrs. Martha Gates and Mrs. Mamie Murrey; and one brother, William, of Plymouth, besides five nephews and two nieces and a host of friends who mourn his loss. The eldest son, Reynold, who was injured with his father, died last Saturday. The Lord has given, the Lord hath taken away.

Blessed be the name of the Lord. Funeral services were held in the Second Congregational church of Salem Friday at 2:00 o'clock. Mrs. Foreman and Mrs. Searfoss sang two touching hymns, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "It is Well With My Soul." Rev. Lucia M. Stroh, pastor of the Salem church officiated. Her comforting message was built on the theme, "A Friend of God." The church could not hold all the friends who gathered to pay their tribute to their friend and the many wonderful floral pieces proved how much our brother meant to them. Interment was in Riverside cemetery, Plymouth.

Have you had corned beef and cabbage lately? Or spareribs and sauerkraut? Does the whole house smell as a result? Fill a broad basin with boiling water. Drop into the water a few drops of oil of peppermint, oil of cloves or oil of lavender and let the basin stand in your living room until the water is cold. The odors will be gone.

crease of the sales tax to four percent. And right there Mel is ABSOLUTELY WRONG. No Michigan legislature will ever vote to increase the sales tax. There is no reason for it and the people of Michigan will not stand for it. It is unfortunate that one who has been on the public payroll as long as Mr. McPherson, should look upon increased taxation as the only way of solving Michigan's financial problems. There are other ways, and it can be done WITHOUT an increase in the sales tax as Mr. McPherson proposes!

During the session of the legislature last winter, the writer called attention to the fact that state officials during the past couple of years had been robbing trust funds to meet the over-throwing payrolls and expenses of fund for any purposes other than practice work strongly condemned and a warning was issued that if such a proceeding was continued Michigan was bound to run into financial chaos.

What do we now find? The state's financial condition is in such a deplorable condition that apparently there is some sort of juggling of the primary school fund taking place. School district officials all over Michigan are complaining because primary money is long over due. They have a perfect right to complain, because under the constitution, no state official or no state department has the slightest right to divert one cent of the primary fund for any purpose other than that for which it is intended, the support of Michigan's public schools.

It would seem that it is about time for Michigan to be giving a little serious thought to its financial plight. The absurdity of the situation lies in the fact that one of the richest commonwealths in the union must be constantly faced with a depleted state treasury for the most important functions of the government—the education of its youth and the proper care of its distressed.

Roaring gas-burners do not add to the quiet and peace of the home. The roar means that there is too much air in the gas and the right thing to do is to call the gas company promptly and have a man come and adjust the burners. Generally this is done as a matter of service by the gas company, without cost to the consumer.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

When we say that the color of a brown, yellow or black person is not "skin deep," we are still not accurate. The skin is made up of two general layers, the outer epidermis and the inner dermis (or true skin). The pigment granules which give color to the dark races are located in the epidermis, in the mucous malpighian layer just under the horny outer surface. No blood vessels enter this layer, which is nourished by the deeper subjacent corium layer. So color is less than half "skin deep" at best and outside the true skin.

Start Building Six More New Homes in City

Building permits have just been issued for six more new homes in Plymouth, the total cost amounting to a combined estimated value of $21,300. One new $4,000 commercial building will be constructed and additions, alterations and improvements will be made on 15 additional structures amounting to an estimated $3,655.

These amounts fall short of the August total, which proved to be the largest month of the year.

Included in the permits for homebuilding and repairs to already improved property is one for William A. Arcsott who will build a $3,000 house at 1170 West Maple street. Howard Shipley plans to construct a house at 245 Fair street for $500 and a garage will be built at 314 Evergreen street by E. D. Bolton for $225.

I. Maloney will have a $3,000 home at 259 Farmer, Ida Lashua will repair her home to the extent of $500 and D. S. Mills will build a $4,900 home at 387 Adams street. A $2,000 house will be constructed at 1117 Beech by F. Wagenschutz.

At 219 South Harvey, Clair Avery will make repairs to the extent of $425 and Perry A. Lacy will build a $7,000 home at 1469 Sheridan.

Repairs amounting to $500 will be made by Leslie Ferenczi at 545-549 West Ann Arbor trail.

Triple A Elections Friday, October 13

According to an announcement made today by Maurice Bird, chairman of the Wayne County AAA committee elections for township officers will be held in all of the townships on Friday, October 13 at 8:00 in the evening.

The election for Plymouth and Northville township will be held under the direction of Chairman C. W. Good in the Plymouth city hall.

Fred Barker, Canton township chairman, has called his election in the Sheldon school and Bennett Butler, Nankin township chairman, has called their election in the Wayne county ACA office.

Hunting Season Opens October 15

Plymouth sportsmen have been cleaning their guns and working their dogs for the last two weeks in anticipation of the opening of the bird season on Sunday, October 15. From the early sale of licenses at Plymouth's only two outlets, The Plymouth Hardware Store and Boyer's Haunted Shack and from the unusually heavy demand for "no hunting" signs at The Plymouth Mail office, it seems as if there might be quite a problem on the opening day.

Wayne county being the only county in this section open to Sunday hunting, it will no doubt draw thousands of hunters besides the local residents to this locality.

From the increase of lands posted under the Western Wayne County Conservation association's plan and from the hundreds of acres that are going to be posted by no hunting signs, indicated by early sales at The Mail office, it seems that hunters may find trouble in finding lands on which to hunt.

Hunters who have been running their dogs report that there is an abundance of cock pheasants and all that will be necessary to make the opening day a big success will be land upon which to hunt. Dr. B. E. Champe, president of the Conservation association, is making a plea to all local hunters to use extreme care in the field on Sunday and warns them to take special pains to stay as far away from other hunting groups as possible.

Between 80 and 100 million acres of marsh land have been drained in the United States, meaning millions of acres of water have been taken from plants, animals, birds and man.

Doctors and Hospitals Help the Afflicted

New State Health Insurance Plan to Aid Many

(By Gene Alleman)

An apple a day doesn't always keep the doctor away, but low incomes have.

No one has known this better than 4,357 doctors in the Michigan State Medical society.

Two weeks ago these physicians, represented by official delegates in annual convention at Grand Rapids, officially approved a plan that is both liberal and daring. They hope that the experiment, for such it obviously is, may provide an intelligent answer to a problem that has long been a vexsome thorn. That social significance of the step was widely recognized is shown by the fact that news of the society's action was placed on front pages prominently beside headlines of latest war bulletins from Europe.

The problem is an old one, of course. But it was only in recent years that the serenity of the medical man was disturbed gravely by the rise of a new specter on the far horizon. It was that of state socialism.

At Washington a bill was prepared, for example, which would put the national and state governments heading into the medical field. Doctors would be subsidized, if you please, so that the masses in the United States might be assured of the medical care which they need. The cost would rapidly mount into hundreds of millions, so another federal tax, similar to those for old age pensions and unemployment compensation, would logically follow to make it "self supporting."

Insurance Policy

This is the background for the medical society's decision two weeks ago. Having first obtained legislative sanction to do it, the society has set up a plan whereby any family may obtain family medical service at low cost on the same principle as buying an insurance policy.

That involved an agreement on price, and the element of price has been something which, ten years ago, would have probably prevented even a preliminary discussion of the idea. Professional ethics were stern against the introduction of anything that faintly smacked of "commercialism." The mention of price had that unfortunate connotation to some.

Under the incorporation of the Michigan Medical Service, a non-profit group, physicians of Michigan now offer to provide full medical services to any individual or family which agrees to make small monthly payments. It is the installment plan combined with an insurance policy, all dignified by one of Michigan's leading professions as well as by the state legislature, itself.

Operation of the plan will go into effect in the near future. The state will supervise it through its insurance department at Lansing.

What You Get

And now for the plan in a nutshell. For a subscription charge of $2.00 monthly, a family, including the husband and wife and all the children under 21 years of age will be entitled to the service of a doctor of medicine of their own choice. The services offered include the following:

1. Medical and surgical care, including office, home and hospital visits.
2. Consultation services and special medical services including X-ray, laboratory and anesthesia services.
3. Obstetrical care after subscribed has kept up payments for 12 months.
4. Diagnostic services necessary to determine the presence of tuberculosis, cancer, venereal diseases, or mental ailments. (Actual treatments for these conditions not included.)

Plan Is Flexible

But the payment is not fixed. The $2.00 monthly amount, for example, entitles the family to medical benefits up to $375 in any one year.

For $3.50 a month, the family is entitled to $550 in a year. For $4.50 a month, the medical services may reach $875 in a year.

At the outset subscribers to the plan will be limited to employed persons under the age of 65 who can be enrolled in groups of 25 or more. Such subscribers may, however, also enroll their dependents including the husband or wife and children under 21 years of age. An annual income not in excess of $2,000 for individual subscribers or $2,500 for subscribers and their families will be a membership requirement.

Restrictions are as few as possible. Medical services will be made available for self-imposed conditions such as alcoholism, drug addiction and self-inflicted injuries. To limit demands for trivial services, the first $5 of medical expenses incurred each year must be paid by the subscriber. Subscribers will be entitled to free choice of any doctor of medicine legally licensed and practicing in the state of Michigan.

Hospital Plan Too
While the medical installment and insurance policy plan is brand new, Michigan being the first state to take such a step, an approved hospital plan on the same basis is now functioning in 25 states. Eleven states have rejected a plan for group hospitalization; twelve states have it under consideration.

In Michigan this parallel service is sponsored by the Michigan Society for Group Hospitalization.

During the first five months of its operation in 1939, more than 40,000 subscribers were enrolled.

Ninety-five per cent of all hospitals in the state and all but five of those institutions having 50 beds or more, are participating in the movement.

The hospital plan provides 21 days of hospital service a year for each member of the family irrespective of number, furnishing complete service in a semi-private room (or ward) in any member hospital. Other benefits include use of operation room as often as necessary, anesthesia service when rendered by a salaried employee of the hospital, all routine clinical laboratory service, and ordinary drugs and dressings. After a subscriber has held a membership in the plan for twelve consecutive months, maternity service is furnished. This includes care for the mother and infant in a semi-private room or ward.

There are no age limits for adults, no physical examinations, no exemptions of chronic conditions, no given percentage of a group is required, and only ten need enroll to make the plan effective.

A cash deposit is not required from the subscriber at the time of admission to the hospital. He is admitted upon presentation of his identification card, and the hospital sends the bill to the society for the services rendered.

2 Cents a Day
Rates for the Michigan hospital "insurance policy" are as low as 2 cents per day for the individual and 5 cents per day for the entire family.

Monthly rates are:

Single subscriber	Room	Ward
Family (children 1 to 19)	$1.20	$1.50
Single subscriber	$1.75
Family (children 1 to 19)	$1.80

The same legislature which authorized the group medical plan gave sanction to the hospitalization program.

The 77 participating hospitals, with assets of over $65,000,000 further agree to return any surplus accrued in the operation of the plan to the subscriber either in the form of reduced rates or increased benefits.

Regimenting of Medicine
With doctors and hospitals themselves taking the step to insure proper medical care to those of moderate incomes, the Michigan State Medical society believes that there is no social justification for regimentation of American medicine.

According to Dr. Edward J. McCormick of Toledo, past grand exalted ruler of Elks, "it is entirely in the realm of possibility that the Wagner program (subsidized health service) could double the present budget within the next decade. Can the United States stand the shock of the Wagner program without another depression? Any school child could answer that question."

DR. McINTYRE ATTENDS OPTOMETRISTS MEETING

Dr. John C. McIntyre, local optometrist spent several days early this week attending the 43rd annual convention of the Society of Michigan Optometrists at the Bood Cadillac hotel.

The convention was opened with a greeting from Mayor Richard Reading and Former Governor Wilbur Brucker introduced Dr. Ewing Adams, principal speaker of the convention. Dr. Adams told the assembled optometrists that there are some people who cannot wear contact lenses, the thin lenses fitted to the eye ball, but many people obtain visual correction with them that cannot be obtained by ordinary glasses. An interesting illustration was provided showing how that ordinary glasses in one case could only provide 40 per cent vision and contact lenses increased the same vision to 95 per cent.

Commissioners Accept Zoning Ordinance

Public Hearing to Be Held October 25

Following nearly a year and a half of consideration, the zoning ordinance and city map were accepted by the city commission Monday night and are to be placed before Plymouth residents at a public hearing which is to be held October 23, in the commission rooms at the city hall.

Commissioners believe that all special requests have been heard and it is expected that final approval by property owners will be given at the final hearing.

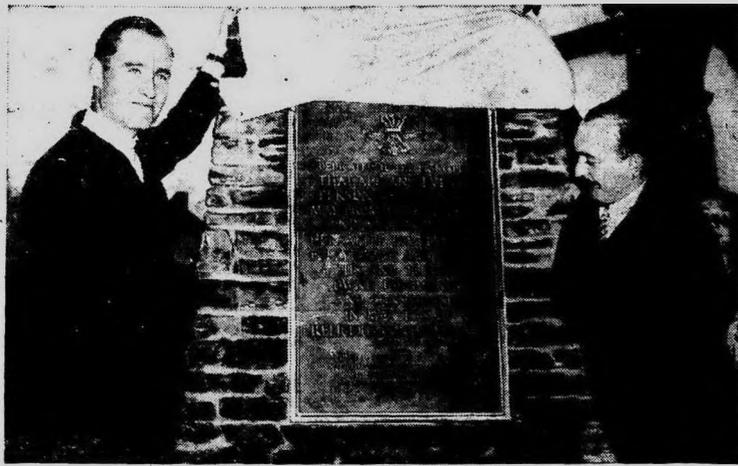

If the ordinance is approved at the meeting, it will be read in full two times and once by title during the following two meetings. Three weeks from the third reading, the ordinance will go into effect.

The planning commission which has worked in conjunction with T. Glenn Phillips, well-known city planning consultant, has held several special meetings during the summer months so that the ordinance could be considered finally this fall. It is their belief that every person who objected to any part of the ordinance or map has been heard by the planning commission. Each case has been given careful consideration and in all instances a desirable result has been obtained.

City Manager C. H. Elliott wrote letters to property owners who indicated objection to the proposed plan. As a result all possible objections have been eliminated.

If there still are objections to the ordinance commissioners suggest that residents make their objections known at the hearing on October 23.

Herald Hamill, registered civil engineer and registered land surveyor, who formerly shared the Finlan insurance office at the hotel, has moved into the offices used by Dr. Brisbois in the Conner building.

Thomas W. Moss, architect, is also located in the Conner office suite.

Cinema Industry Marks 50th Year

Fifty years ago, on October 6, 1889, Thomas A. Edison announced completion of a photographic device which showed objects in motion. Today's highly perfected motion picture industry will celebrate this event today (Friday). Contrasted with modern movies are the above early scenes, top to bottom: Bill Hart, early cowboy hero; a scene from "The Great American Train Robbery," first movie telling a complete story; and Charlie Chaplin with Jackie Coogan in an early comedy film.

On reading and filing the petition of Vincent Sweet praying that this court adjudicate and determine who are or were at the time of the death of said deceased her heirs-in-law and entitled to inherit the estate of which she died seized.

It is ordered, That the second day of November, next at ten o'clock in the forenoon at said Court Room be appointed for hearing said petition.

And it is further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published three successive weeks previous to said time of hearing, in The Plymouth Mail, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Wayne.

PATRICK H. O'BRIEN,
Judge of Probate.

"I Just Didn't Know - - a Place of This Size Could Have Such a Fine Newspaper," commented a business visitor about The Plymouth Mail when calling upon a customer in Plymouth last week. He had just gone over the paper, page by page, most carefully.

He represented a concern that is vitally interested in local advertising of the product he markets.

We in Plymouth are accustomed to accepting The Plymouth Mail as a good local newspaper.

But it is pleasing to have outsiders come in and express such a fine compliment.

Naturally a paper to win the yearly award of The Michigan Press Association as being Michigan's best weekly newspaper—must be a fine newspaper.

Garden City Evens up League Series

A six-bit victory pitched by Waldo Scott of Garden City evened the series with Trenton Merchants in a championship battle for the Inter-County league title. Garden City reversed the score of the previous game played in Trenton by winning 4 to 2 on their home grounds. Lefty Schmeier started the game for Trenton, but had to be relieved in the seventh inning when Garden City started a batting spurge which proved to be the winning drive of the game. With the score tied at two runs Sonnenberg opened the seventh with a walk, Anderson sacrificed and Bud Johnson drove Sonnenberg home with a single. O'Brien forced Johnson at second. Rzch singled after O'Brien stole second, O'Brien stopping at third. Schmeier was relieved at this point by Don Crist, Trenton ace who set Garden City down with five hits during the previous game. Lovell Hill drove home O'Brien with a single to left. Next Sunday's game will be played in Trenton at Sibley high school which is located at the end of Fort street. This last game will decide the Inter-county league championship. Garden City has won their division title for four successive years and have taken the league title in 1936 and 1937. Trenton defeated Garden City for the league title last year in two games.

New Traffic Law Regulations Soon Effective in Michigan

Following is the third of a series of articles pertaining to new traffic regulations in Michigan that has been prepared by Chief of Police Vaughan Smith:

Traffic Control Signals

The state's new traffic law prohibits right-hand turns on a red light. Red means stop for all traffic—including the driver who heretofore has been swinging to the right around an intersection into the flow of traffic moving on the green. This driver, hereafter, stops on the red, and makes his turn only when he has the green signal.

Flashing red means stop. It is to be interpreted the same as a stop sign.

Flashing yellow or amber means caution.

Green means vehicles may go straight ahead, right or left unless a sign prohibits such turns. Traffic proceeding on the green must, however, yield the right-of-way to other vehicles and pedestrians lawfully within the intersection.

Yellow or amber when shown with green requires that vehicles be brought to a stop before entering the intersection if such stop can be made in safety.

If a green arrow is shown with a red light, vehicles may cautiously enter the intersection to make the movement indicated by the arrow, but must yield the right-of-way to other traffic.

Legal placing of lights in traffic signals, Police Chief Vaughan Smith points out, calls for red at the top, yellow or amber in the middle and green at the bottom.

A Proclamation

WHEREAS, The civic bodies and service organizations of our community and the related departments of the local government have joined with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in a campaign to conserve lives and property through a program of fire safety of and in the home; and

WHEREAS, The campaign to this end will extend throughout the year;

THEREFORE, I, L. E. Wilson, Mayor of the City of Plymouth, do hereby establish the duration of the campaign as a period of special effort in the promotion of measures designed to bring about fire safety of and in the home, and urge our citizens to cooperate in making the campaign successful.

Signed, L. E. WILSON, Mayor.

GOD KEEP OUR THINKING CLEAR

The world is full of war and strife.—
Confusion is abroad;
The hearts of men are crying out,
Oh, why must this be, God!

The greed of power, the lust of might—
Makes fiends of mortal men,
And turns the iron from plough-shares back
To sharpened swords again.

The hearts of common men cry out
For just a chance to live!
To know the joy of work well done
And of their best to give!

To see the beauty of the earth,
The flowers, the sky, the trees!
They have no wish to wallow deep
In blood, up to their knees!

But since these things have come to pass
In countries far and near,
Oh may our country hold the torch—
God keep our thinking clear!

Plymouth Police Department One of the Best

Local Officer Finds Comparison Most Favorable

Compared with other cities of the same size, the Plymouth police department ranks very high, according to reports that Police Captain Charles Thumme received when he attended the International Association for Identification convention at Tulsa, Oklahoma, September 11-14. The equipment of the department here is handled by officers who are tops in their profession. In active use is the inter-county teletype system, extensive fingerprint files, and other methods employed by the department for criminal identification.

Clark Shiliter, assistant director of federal prisons, spoke before the convention on the subject of pardons and paroles. It connected duties of law enforcement officers as one body for the betterment of parole conditions, "which are far from perfect throughout the United States as well as in foreign countries."

Shiliter showed many improvements in the system of parole which have cut down "repeaters" to five percent—ninety-five percent making good as a result of the cooperation of the judges, parole officers, efficient police and the public in assisting and not shunning the ex-convict.

"The prisons make him want to live better. They train him so that he will be a better citizen when he is released," the assistant director said.

He said that the parole system is not perfect. It needs many improvements, and the whole set-up needs efficiency. "Each man in the system should have complete understanding of their duties and of the man paroled."

Shiliter said that hardened criminals in the prisons should be segregated from those who are in for lesser offenses.

The prisons have schools to educate men and women who are confined in them. "A good example of this fact is our own prison at Jackson," Captain Thumme remarked.

The assistant director of the system said that members of the parole board should be especially trained for their jobs. Under the present system, they are assigned to the board by political appointment. Before men are paroled, a complete case history should be learned of the parolee.

There are now 60,000 persons in United States prisons and 2,000,000 ex-convicts are at large in the country. Almost all of the men who come out of the prisons have a firm belief that they never want to go back.

"One generation serving constructively in the parole system will go a long way to solve the crime problem in the United States today," Shiliter said.

Members of the association at the convention heard a lecture on photography and its many improvements. An example was shown in the murder of President McKinley. A film taken at the time of the assassination shows the whole story including Schol-golz, the assassin, both before and after the shooting.

Photographs are permanent records; therefore, the smallest city, on account of traffic conditions alone, should supply photography equipment to its police department as a picture tells a truthful story and may show what cannot be told by a witness.

Captain Thumme said, "James E. Osborne of the United States secret service gave us much information on the interesting subject of counterfeiting and what of the service is doing to prevent it."

It was said that there are many "repeaters" in the counterfeiting racket. In 1930, policemen arrested 4,000 persons on this charge alone and confiscated over $300,000 in worthless money which was estimated as a loss of $200,000 to the public.

Dr. Leonard Keeler demonstrated the polygraph or lie detector. He went into lengthy detail concerning different methods of obtaining confessions, dating back to the old testament, using ordeals and religion up to the present day and the third degree. He remarked that this last method is inhuman, unjust, and shows inefficiency in the police departments. "Police officers should be trained in modern methods of crime detection and then brutality will not be necessary," Keeler said.

A mock trial was held in order to convict a "horse thief." All known methods of crime detection were used to obtain the confession.

Mr. Thumme became a member of the association in August, 1937, and has attended the 1938 and 1939 conventions. He pointed out that the one this year at Tulsa was by far the more interesting and informative.

He was accompanied on the trip by his wife and son, Kenneth, all of whom motored throughout the middle western and west coast states before returning to Plymouth.

Suburban Bar Association Wins State Trophy

Perry Richwine Tells of State Convention

For the second time since its organization, the Suburban Bar association, an organization of attorneys residing in Plymouth, Northville, Wayne and Dearborn, has won the Michigan State Bar association for attendance at the annual convention of the state organization.

This year's convention held last week in Detroit, according to Perry Richwine, of Plymouth, was by far one of the most outstanding and important ever held by the organization.

Several outstanding members of the state judiciary and state senate conducted the meeting with Nelson A. Miles, of Holland, presiding. D. Hale Brake, of Stanton, reviewed practically all of the bills with which attorneys would come in most common contact in their legal profession. Senator J. T. Hammond of Ben-ton Harbor, reviewed legislation involving insurance companies, changing of insurance policies and automobile dealers, and the attempt of the state legislature to protect the purchasers of cars by requiring greater information to be filed showing the type of insurance and proper financing charges," stated Mr. Richwine.

"At 12:15 noon Friday, the state attorneys gave a luncheon in honor of the members of the Michigan Supreme court. The meeting was in charge of Carl R. Henry, president of the State Bar of Michigan, and George W. Burke, prominent Ann Arbor attorney acted as the toastmaster.

Following the dinner, the toastmaster announced that the registration at the convention was the largest registration at any state bar convention in the United States. Chief Justice Henry M. Butzel of the Michigan Supreme court, gave very outstanding remarks with reference to the more detailed duties of the supreme court and informed the bar the tasks of the court were greatly increasing and that the cases appearing before the court were increasing. He requested that the members of the bar use every means possible to eliminate unnecessary litigation and wherever possible not to present matters before the supreme court which did not involve a true question of law upon which the supreme court had not already established a clear opinion. Chief Butzel also informed the attorneys that in a large number of cases, appearance before the court was unnecessary, and that personal argument by counsel before the supreme court should be avoided unless we felt that some particular message should be presented in person.

"Following the remarks of Chief Justice Butzel, Honorable Roscoe Pound, Dean Emeritus of the Harvard Law School, one of the outstanding jurists of the world, was presented and the entire audience stood in respect to the outstanding reputation and service rendered this government and the governments of the world by Mr. Pound. The audience listened with unusual interest to every word of Mr. Pound's address. His subject was "The American Judiciary," and his knowledge of the subject was outstanding. He traced the foundation of the American court way back to the Roman and English courts and compared the system back of the Roman court, English court and American court. He presented the fact that as principles which people are attempting to present as something new are not new, in fact, but have been tried at various periods during the last four or five centuries. Professor Pound expressed his confidence in the ability of the lawyers of this country and the American judicial system to survive any attack launched against them, and he stated the greatest test of our judicial system would be presented when the executive departments of our government, at various periods, would attempt to control the judiciary. He urged the members of the legal profession to ever strive to keep the judiciary and the executive branches of the government properly separated so that the judgment of the judiciary would continue to be outstanding and unimpeachable.

"The annual banquet was held in the evening at the Hotel Statler, and at this meeting the attendance trophy was presented to the Suburban Bar association. The outstanding speaker of the evening was Honorable George Maurice Morris, tax attorney from Washington, D. C. His address was on the subject of "Nothing But The Record." He used as a basis for his address the reports from the convention of the American Bar association held in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, in the fall of 1914, which meeting was presided over by Honorable William H. Taft, one of the most outstanding statesmen and jurists this country has ever known, at which meeting former President Wilson also spoke. Parts of their addresses and portions of their remarks were given in detail, and the speaker very clearly proved to his audience that all of the present local governmental problems and foreign governmental problems were anticipated by the outstanding statesmen of that day.

"It seemed to be the keynote of the whole convention," states Mr. Richwine, "that attorneys throughout the country should recognize a new public responsibility. They were continuously urged not to be swayed by any radical remedy which from time to time appeared and attempted to sway the policies of our government. The fact that these things have occurred in practically every decade in the history of our government from the time of the signing of the constitution seemed to add calmness to the atmosphere when all present began to realize that we are not ever facing something new but merely improving upon a system of government by gradually sorting out the good from the bad and continuing toward a goal in government never before equaled by any other nation in the world."

Christmas Seals Sale Soon Starts

Proud of its share in the tuberculosis control movement which has brought to this state the lowest death rate in its history Michigan Tuberculosis association will try to extend its Christmas seal supported educational program next year, Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the association, said today.

"For we have the disease on the run," observed Mr. Werle. "The death rate of 36.6 per 100,000 is one indication; Michigan, leading the country in cases reported for each annual death, 3.05 as against the national average of 1.65 according to the latest report, is another. Such results bespeak a co-operation between all agencies fighting tuberculosis that is bound to maneuver the disease into normal position as a cause of death within a few years."

"The real test of our educational program lies in what the people themselves are doing about tuberculosis. We can't meter knowledge, but we know that the public has accepted and used our information on danger signals, the importance of early diagnosis and the value of immediate sanatorium care after disease is found."

"One proof of this is the fact that private physicians report more than 50 per cent of the cases of tuberculosis. This means that an impressive number of Michigan people present themselves for examination each year and indicates intelligence on the part of the public that is unequalled elsewhere."

"Between doctors, health units and volunteer agencies no one need go without examination in Michigan," Mr. Werle said, explaining that the tuberculosis association, although not a case finding agency, was responsible for the discovery of many cases of tuberculosis uncovered each year.

"A part of the Christmas seal fund supports a traveling X-ray unit, on call for communities possessing little or no equipment or where a demonstration of the effectiveness of modern methods in examination may be desired. Nearly 6,000 X-rays were made last year and this work will be equalled in 1940," Mr. Werle said.

But it is on the education front that the association hopes to extend its lines, according to Mr. Werle, who pointed out that the curve of tuberculosis retreat was in exact proportion to the advance of knowledge.

Brown stains on scorched pans and dishes will be found to yield readily if they are left to stand a day or two in a solution of borax and water. After this treatment soap and water will make them shine as when they were new.

Girls' Clubs Will Assist in Drive

The Girls' clubs plan to help in the Christmas drive this year. The Cardinal and Jay clubs plan to donate one-half of all the money they make on their sale of Christmas cards to the drive. They are also collecting and selling magazines and newspapers. They feel that in this way they will be doing their share to aid the committee in charge. They will also have many social activities for the members.

Wednesday the Junior American Citizens club of Central school had a hike and weiner roast. Monday night the Starkweather J.A.C. club had a meeting in the school and Thursday night the Cardinal club met at the city hall at which Caroline Goodale and Lettie O'Leary were hostesses.

Friday night the Jay club met in the city hall to discuss plans for the bake sale. Hay rides, hiking, picnics and special parties will make up the Girls' club social program for the fall and winter.

A new club has been organized for boys from nine to 12 years of age. This club will have similar aims as the Girls' clubs and will be a part of the Junior American Citizens' clubs. They have not elected their officers as yet but they plan to do so by next week.

Roller skating at the Methodist church each Tuesday night attracts more and more young people. In fact, if the crowds keep coming, it may be necessary to have two nights of skating instead of one. The hours have been changed and are now 7:00 and 9:00 o'clock.

Dancing seems to draw more and more young people to the city hall each Saturday night. Of course the fact that Mike and his Rhythm Kings have very swingy rhythm and keep the jitter-bugs amused may have a great deal to do with the crowded condition at the hall. The hours are 8:00 to 11:00 and the young people all have a grand time demonstrating the latest steps.

Birmingham Deals Plymouth Eleven First Defeat

Birmingham high school firmly established itself as a leading T.V.A.A. football contender Friday by bowling over Plymouth in scoring a 13-6 victory.

A new addition to the Twin Valley Athletic association, Birmingham unleashed the full power of the best team they have had in years upon a lighter and comparatively untried Plymouth eleven at the Rocks' first home game.

Crossing the Plymouth goal in the third and fourth quarter Birmingham maintained a steady cannonading of the opposing line, mostly inside of the Plymouth 40-yard marks the entire game.

The contest was begun in a slight drizzle which in the first quarter developed into a steady rain. Although it left field, players, and ball completely soaked the storm blew over after the half.

Beginning on their own 40-yard line after an exchange of downs Birmingham poked holes into the Plymouth line almost at will in pushing across their first six points. An end around on the first down carried the ball to the Plymouth 35-yard line. A series of line smashes varying from two to ten yards gained accounted for first downs and planted the ball deep in Plymouth territory. The Birmingham quarter back punched through a hole in center aided by superb blocking by his mates to finally be stopped on the Plymouth two and a half yard line.

Birmingham set back briefly when Bob Sessions broke up a play on the five, but on the second down Wenzel plunged through the right of the Plymouth line for a score. Professional-like blocking permitted Gowan to convert the point easily by a perfect placement.

Seven minutes later, Mack initiated a flint pass and raced 23 yards down the left sidelines without being touched by a Plymouth hand for a score. A bad throw by the Birmingham center left no chance for the point after the touchdown.

Plymouth's lone touchdown came directly after Birmingham kicked off following the second goal. A time honored ruse, the "sleeper," in which a man slides off to one side and races out for a pass with no hindrance from opposing backs, was responsible for the Rocks' necessary gain in yards toward the Birmingham goal.

After Jim Birchall had dodged the kickoff to his own 40-yard line, Bob Norman and Doug Prough collaborated on the sleeper which accounts for 42 yards of battleground between the Plymouth 40 and the Birmingham goal.

On the 10-yard line after a minor penalty, Bob Norman spilled a ten-yard pass to Birchall who trotted upon the Birmingham line even as he received the ball. Baker's conversion try was null.

Although a thoroughly wetting rain in the early part of the game put completed passes in the "miraculous" classification, Bob Hitt worked in enough snap throws in the final periods to do his quota of good.

Wenzel, stellar Birmingham halfback, provided the battering ram in his team's frequent marches up the field. Besides fulfilling this duty, he scored a touchdown and was a contributing factor in the good Birmingham blocking.

Although his name does not appear twice in the box score, Neal Curtiss played an important part in backing up a none-too-confident Plymouth line.

SENIOR G. R. HOLD RECOGNITION SERVICE

Within a circle of lighted candles in the darkened auditorium six girls were officially recognized as members of the Senior Girl Reserves, Monday evening, September 25. Each girl, following the repetition of the code, slogan, and purpose, received her tie and certificate of membership, and then signed her name to the register. A salute to three flags, the American flag, the Christian flag and the Girl Reserve flag followed. At the conclusion of the ceremony the girls marched out, holding their lighted candles. Refreshments followed, and the girls enjoyed cocoa and cookies in the cafeteria. They then gathered around the piano and sang popular songs, round and Girl Reserve songs. The new members were Dorothy Richards, Ruth Kirkpatrick, Violet Zimba, Evelyn Stewart, Evelyn Bohl and Mary Ellen Dahmer.

ADVICE TO ADOLESCENTS

A student policeman was attending to his duties with all the soberness of a Buckingham palace guard when he was approached by a comrade who was undismayed by his show of authority.

"Are you the monitor?" queried the brave one.

The monitor confirmed his position.

"Well, then, where is the Mermaid?"

The new hall system is an acknowledged success, but like any other institution it has its weak points.

Wishing to show he was in accord with the new system, a teacher in the closing moments of a class period gave permission to the monitors to leave early so as to be at their posts at the passing of classes. He was quite dumfounded when the masculine element in the class room rose.

One uninitiated into the so-called "democratic government" in modern history class would have found himself suspecting strange things had he walked into the class room last week.

Asked their ideas on punishing an over active sophomore in their midst, the members of the history class decided upon the novel idea of emptying their notebooks on the floor and having the errand class member act as cleaner.

With any knowledge of boys and girls the results can be foreseen.

LIBRARY OBTAINS NEW BOOKS

The library has obtained eight new books this semester all of which are published by the Junior Literary Guild. Six of these are fiction books. "All the Days Were Antonia's" by Gretchen McKown is the story of a young girl on the old west who took a trip across the plains and settled in a town. Here she met Indians and lots of adventure. She overheard a conversation from which a big mystery developed. "Circus Shoes" by Noel Strafford tells of two orphans who go to live with an uncle who they've never seen. He turns out to be the owner of a circus and to the children find many adventures. "Lost Island" by Nora Burgin reveals the story of a girl living alone in the Arctic and of her struggle to solve the mystery of her ancestry. "The Girl Who Was Marge" by Edith Tallant tells of two girls who make plans for helping fisherfolk of Newfoundland under the guidance of Dr. Grenfell. There is a great deal of excitement. Because of her "mailed boots" which he bought in spite of a warning Dan Ballard was brought in contact with real adventure. He was suspected of being a spy and later had thrilling experiences with George Rogers Clark. This is a "River Rising" by Hubert Skidmore tells the story of a school teacher in a lumbering town who is trying to earn money to finance a medical education. He doesn't realize the adventure that is in store for him. "Runner of the Top" by Mabel L. Robinson is the true life story of Louis Agassiz in novel form. He is one of the greatest naturalists the world has known. "Woodcrat" by Bernard S. Mason answers any and all questions about camping out.

All new books are very interesting and worth one's while to read.

STUDENT POLICING SYSTEM REDUCES HALL CONGESTION—EDITORIAL

Congestion in Plymouth high school halls has been cleared to a considerable extent by the hall policing system which will enter its third week Monday.

Student troopers on each floor have so well established in the minds of floor walkers the importance of keeping to the right and maintaining a consistent pace that a majority of students fulfill these laws automatically.

Need for a system of this type has become increasingly evident every successive school year. With the yearly increase in attendance has come a yearly decrease in hall orderliness. More students naturally create more disorder.

When the present system was first begun last semester, it showed very definite possibilities of being a successful answer to the high school traffic problem.

This year police system is more highly organized than previously, out its fundamentals are the same. A number of student troopers on each of the floors are assigned weekly posts. At the passing of each class the troopers police the system and see that traffic runs orderly and correctly, each stream keeping to the right. Should a student show incivilities apart from law and order the officer is licensed to give a "ticket" to the offender.

The three floors each have a lieutenant who takes his orders from a chief-of-police.

A traffic court with judge and jury tries the offenders and "Contra Cooperation." If he is found guilty of a reprehensible crime the court levies a sentence if a first offense he may be acquitted or placed on probation.

The policing system is divided into weekly shifts. Boy troopers yield their post to girl troopers every alternating week.

No hall system can entirely abolish noise and confusion, but student cooperation has aided in approaching the minimum.

The following article was written by Marie Ann Miller, sophomore of Miss Waldorf's second hour English class.

THE ROCKETTES WRITE

Must We Forget? — A democracy? We talk, write, and ponder about the war raging in Europe today. Yet we speak in horror of dictatorships and of certainisms. Do we appreciate the fact that our nation is a democracy, a government run by the people instead of by one or two men? During these crucial moments our democracy is shrinking from the tentacles of fascism, communism, and nazism.

There are actually hundreds of people in the United States who are in favor of communism and fascism and they call themselves Americans who are educated. It is for us to remain out of European entanglements for we must preserve civilization.

Other great civilizations have risen and fallen but our civilization remains. It remains our world of scientific achievements and inventions crumble before a dictatorial government?

If all the great men such as George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, and Abraham Lincoln who died to mold our nation could come back to our country today what would they do? Perhaps they who were great leaders of democracy could foresee the future would shudder to think that perhaps our nation would have to fight against dictatorial powers.

Let us remember before we forget.

HOW THE APPEARANCE OF PLYMOUTH WILL BE IMPROVED

The tenth grade English class was assigned by Miss Waldorf to write an outline and from this to develop a theme. One student chose as his topic "How the appearance of Plymouth will be improved in three years." As "A" he had "There will be more people here," and for "B" he had "There will be new teachers."

"Just a minute," Miss Waldorf said. "Do you mean to say that there are not good-looking teachers here now and that there are to be better ones in three years?" The student stammered and stuttered and finally escaped from his predicament.

Miss Waldorf related this to another class and when she had finished the class began to laugh and then to "snicker." When they were so weak that they were unable to laugh any longer she said, "He who laughs last, laughs best because as 'A' he has 'There will be new students here.'"

INFORMATION ABOUT CLASS WORK

Miss Lundin's food classes are concluding their work on canning, and the laboratory is being equipped with necessary utensils. The clothing classes are working on their first cotton problem. Some girls are making cotton aprons while others are making blouses.

American history classes, taught by Miss Biegel, completed the study of the period of colonization and development of the colonies and the work which involved England and France. For each period the students have made a chart to aid in examination studies. They are now beginning the study American Revolution.

Miss Tyler's 8B-1 English class has been dramatizing examples of good etiquette and telephone concluding this unit by drawing a poster or cartoon, or writing a poem or an etiquette story. The other classes are studying correct usage of possessives and subjects and verbs.

The 8B science class, taught by Mr. Walden, is now studying water. They will endeavor to find out what is what water pressure is and its uses, of what benefit water is, and of what it is composed. The 8A class is studying the human body and its organisms.

Miss Allen's 12B English classes have just finished discussing ballads and are trying their hand at writing one. They are also trying to write descriptions of people in the same manner Chaucer did.

Mr. Jensen's shop classes are coming along with rapid production. They are making such things as bike trailer, lamps, and ash trays. The boys do their own soldering and have some A.C. to be a floral design. The one Mr. Clave's shop classes can now enjoy the band saw as it has been repaired.

Miss Fry's art class is now designing art bands for the officers of the student government. When the design is made the class will make them out of felt.

The class is also designing form panels for the lunch room and home economics room. Both are to be a floral design. The one for the home economics room is to be six feet by 30 inches.

The junior art club has been discontinued since Miss Fry has not had the time to give towards it.

Miss Gray's seventh grade girls are working on care and repair of clothing. The eighth grade girls are working on the construction of uniforms.

Those girls in junior high school taking cooking have had two cooking sessions in the new foods laboratory.

An oratorical contest is being planned by Miss Rathbun's nine A. English class. This contest will come at the end of the unit on Julius Caesar. The contestants will give some of the soliloquies from Julius Caesar. These will include the funeral orations of Anthony and Brutus.

Miss Lovewell's English classes have finished "The Gold Bug" by Edgar Allan Poe and are now reading some of his poems.

Physical training classes taught by Mrs. Miller are studying the fundamentals of soccer in preparation for a soccer tournament. Portions of the gymnasium received a new coat of paint last week. The boards on the walls and baskets were painted white and parts of the wall were retouched.

FOOTBALL TERMS

Many of the Plymouth high school students who watch the football games know little or nothing of the terms used in this popular sport. This article will try to explain the terms used in the game.

Penalties are given in football for "chipping," which is blocking a man from behind, and "illegal use of the hands," which is pushing. A penalty of 15 yards is given for any of these. "Off sides," which is being in motion before the ball is passed, calls for a penalty of five yards.

When a player is kicking the ball and "passing" is throwing it to a receiver. A "lateral" pass must be thrown backward. The line of "scrimmage" is the place where the ball rests.

A "first down" is won by advancing the ball 10 yards in four plays.

There are many different formations used when a team is on the "offense" or in other words has possession of the ball. "Defense" is the side which hasn't the ball. Plymouth this year is using the "double wing" back formation, with the two halfbacks playing opposite the ends, the quarterback playing at about four feet to the left of the right halfback. The fullback plays about 10 feet directly back of the center.

SCHOOL BOARD IMPROVES SCHOOL LANDSCAPE

Several improvements have been made in the landscaping of the school grounds recently. A large cavity in one of the trees in the park in front of the school was partly filled to prevent further decay. Shrubs and bushes have been planted in front of the school sidewalks where the old road was recently. The old trees and shrubs have been pruned. The center of the circle from Adams street has been sodded, which makes a much better appearance.

STUDENTS PROTEST REPEAL OF ARMS EMBARGO

Dear Sir: We, the future soldiers of the United States, declare ourselves to be staunchly opposed to the lifting of the Arms Embargo. If the Arms Embargo should be lifted and the United States be drawn into the war as a result, we will bear arms only under protest.

Sincerely,
This was the text of a letter signed by 36 high school fellows which was sent to Senator Vandenberg protesting President Roosevelt's attempt to have the Arms Embargo clause of the Neutrality Act repealed. According to the promoters little resistance was met in obtaining signatories to the letter.

Rock Collecting, My Hobby (By Charles Bowdler—English 10B)

Rock collecting is a fascinating hobby because one learns so many unusual and interesting facts. There is more to learn about rocks than most people think. One can learn about their shape and color, their composition, and the story they tell of the world's development. Many people are interested in collecting rocks for their beautiful and interesting shapes. One example of this is the rose quartz of Oklahoma. This rock is shaped exactly like an open rose. It is found in only two places in the world where it is imbedded in a soft red sandstone which gives it its reddish tint. Rocks are composed of many elements such as minerals, salts, and gases. All these things show scientist the stages of the world's development. An example of these are fossils which show the stages of the development of man, plant, and animal. From these fossils scientists can discover the environment of man as it was thousands of years ago. People in all walks of life collect rocks. In the Michigan Mineralogy society are lawyers, doctors, high school students, college students and many others. Many of these people take interesting trips. For instance Maurice Woodworth is now collecting rocks on a trip through the states of the East.

Rock collecting is interesting because it leads people into many strange and new places and causes them to make new friends.

Rock collecting is not only interesting but it helps on to using one's spare time. There is no limit to the amount of rocks one can collect. There are literally millions of rocks that differ from each other. Also many books have been written on the subjects of gems, gem cutting, minerals, fossils, the history of rocks, and many others. Also there are many interesting places in which rocks may be found where one may go to and spend his spare time. Among these are mines and all types of quarries. The club to which I belong has spent many worth while hours in these places. In a plaster mine we found many minerals, crystals, and other formations of rocks. A rock collector doesn't even take a walk without having his eyes opened for a possible addition to his collection. In this way his spare time is well invested and well spent.

A REPORTER DIGS INTO HISTORY

This reporter was assigned the job of finding all she could about the school fire during World War I. Not knowing exactly where to start, she began by inquiring among the members of the faculty who had been teaching in Plymouth for a number of years. All inquiries proved to be fruitless for those questioned were not here at the time and so were unable to furnish any information. She then decided to go through the old files of The Plymouth Mail in an attempt to find the necessary data. One of the teachers had remembered that the fire had occurred sometime between 1914 and 1916 and so she began with the 1914 volume.

(Every weekly issue of the paper is kept on file in a book and each volume has fifty-two issues inside its cover. Going through the old papers proved to be a most interesting experience. The age of the paper was apparent in its yellowed pages and ragged edges. One point that was especially noticeable was the difference in style of newspaper writing. The tendency then was to use a great deal of flowery language and rather large words whereas the custom now is to make the writing as simple and brief as possible.)

Having completed the 1914 volume and finding no information she then began with the 1915 issues. Skimming quickly through each weekly issue, she did not find the necessary information. It was then suggested by a member of The Plymouth Mail office that she go to the city hall and find the exact date and year in which the fire occurred in the records. With this idea in mind she asked Mr. Thumme about the telephone and called his wife explaining meanwhile that she had a copy of that particular paper. She called back and gave the date as March 31, 1916. Hurrying back to The Plymouth Mail office, your reporter asked for the 1916 volume and began her final search.

At last she had reached the end of her explorations for there was the issue with the account on the front page. This is condensed, revamped version of the original:

Plymouth suffered one of the most disastrous fires in its history when the school and Methodist church were totally destroyed at 4:00 a.m., March 31, 1916. The estimate of the total damage was set at $65,000. The school with its contents was insured for $40,000 while the church with its contents was insured for $8,000. The fire originated at the rear west corner of the building and before the alarm could be sounded that entire section was in flames. It was a Oregon conclusion of the fire inspectors that the fire was already out of control and that nothing could be saved. The fire fighters were unable to save anything from the school, "not even a slate pencil," so they devoted their time to protecting the nearby homes from igniting. Spent, carts for $40,000 while the church with its contents was insured for $8,000. In every 1940 Buick you get the skilled engineering and sturdy quality traditional to Buick—enriched by all the extra value which General Motors science and Buick workmanship can provide

No, you couldn't do what we wanted to do, and do it cheap. You couldn't set out to top the field, focusing on how much you could put in rather than take out—and with accustomed equipment keep costs down. You couldn't micro-balance engines, heavy-up frames and running gear, strengthen bodies, enrich upholstery and fittings, improve performance, better the value per inch, per pound and per dollar—and do it with last year's methods. So we faced it, re-tooled and renewed our vast modern plant all over again—put eight million new dollars on the line; the Buick line for 1940. What did we get for it? Rather ask, what do you get? Listen. You get a big beautiful brawny car styled to knock your eye out—the fashion pattern for them all next year, just look around and see. You get a car that positively glitters in its brilliance of action, modern as television in the wondrous way it does things.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (I Cor. 15: 26): "The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 427): "If man is never to overcome death, why do the Scriptures say, 'The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death'? The one that the Lord shows that we shall obtain the victory over death in proportion as we overcome sin."

Several gay parties have been scheduled in honor. Bride-elect Frances Ingall, daughter of the Harlow Ingalls, who will become the bride of K. Bennett McGione, on October 7. Geer School Notes
A group picture of the entire school was taken last week. (One of these things we all keep to show to our grandchildren.) A civic health club has been organized. The officers are as follows: President, Betty Reeder; secretary, Esther Sherman. There were 14 children, who, during the month of September, were neither absent nor tardy. A splendid record for a district school.

State to Take Over Delinquent Tax Property

Pay County Treasurer Before November 2, Says Garlett

Property owners of Plymouth and elsewhere in Michigan whose taxes are in arrears for 1935 and prior years, will have their property taken over by the state November 2, 1939, providing such property was on the May 1938, tax sale, advises City Treasurer Charles H. Garlett.

The state will take absolute title to all property on which the taxes are delinquent from 1935. It is extremely important, therefore, for persons affected by the sale to act at once to save their property. November 2, 1939, is the final redemption date. Until then payments may be made at the county treasurer's office in Detroit.

In May, 1938, properties were sold for delinquent 1935 and prior years' taxes. Whether a parcel was bid in by the state of Michigan or by an individual, any party of interest in the property may redeem within 18 months by paying to the county treasurer the amount bid at the sale, together with interest of one percent per month from May, 1938.

If the property bid in by the state is not redeemed, at the expiration of the 18-month redemption period, November 3, 1939, the state of Michigan will become the absolute owner.

City Treasurer Charles H. Garlett and the county treasurer have both notified residents of Plymouth whose taxes are delinquent that after November 3, their property will be taken over by the state.

"Persons whose property taxes are delinquent should act at once in order to save it from a state sale," the city treasurer said.

Newburg Harvest Festival Tonight

Tonight (Friday evening) at 5:30 members of the Newburg Methodist church will open the doors of the church hall located on Newburg road just south of Ann Arbor Trail on their harvest festival. No effort has been spared to make this event one to be remembered by all who attend. The keynote of the evening will be that of fun and fellowship for everyone—from the youngest to the young of heart.

In addition to an excellent supper put on by the Fidelis class tonight will be a dancing class continuously from 5:30 on—there will also be numerous booths. The adult Bible class is providing a booth at which will be sold baked goods and canned fruits and vegetables. They will also have meat and poultry, ice cream and household use. Ice cream and pop will be sold by the intermediate and high school classes, and the junior girls are arranging a candy sale. There will be an exhibit by the Boy Scouts of Newburg.

The carnival side of the evening will be provided by the Epworth league and the intermediate class. In addition to a fishpond and a fortune teller par excellence, there will also be several sideshows. One of the main features of the evening will be an opportunity for everyone to have their pictures taken by a couple of photographers who have the unusual knack of photographing you as others see you! A special variety program will climax the whole evening. Needless to say, everyone is invited to attend this festival and to bring all of your friends and anyone else interested in a good time.

Plymouth to Aid Camp Fire Girls

The sponsors of the Northville Campfire Girls' groups plan to hold a training course November 12 to December 13. Miss Catherine Stearns of the Detroit Council will lead.

Meeting will be held from 9:00 to 11:00 each Wednesday morning, the place to be announced later. The course is open to persons over 18 years of age who are interested in girls' group leadership, or who have daughters especially interested in getting the cooperation of the Plymouth groups, and their sponsors and parents.

A bit of rubber tubing, fitted around the ends of water faucets, will save many a nick and chip off glassware and china.

Novi School Plans Unique Dance

"She'll be coming round the mountain when she comes," and by that is meant the big home talent Prairie Farmer WLS Barn dance which is being held this Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at the Walled Lake amusement park under the auspices of the Novi school.

The skating rink for the evening is being transformed into a veritable hayloft with the stage piled high with baled straw and decorated with harness, lanterns, pitchforks, and other rustic accoutrements. A cast of approximately 75 will be on hand to furnish two hours of good old fashioned fun and frolic.

Talent taking part in the show comes not only from Novi but also from Northville, Farmington, Pontiac, Wilcox, New Hudson, Highland, Detroit and Jackson.

The show, copied after the National Barn Dance, will have a Lulu Belle singing, giggling and chewing her gum and of course that old jumping Jenny Wren of an Uncle Ezra who arrives late but with an alibi that makes all forgive. Max Rowe, as Possum Tuttle, George Sanders, as Oley, keep the fun rolling and the arrival of Norma Chatham, as Susie Striplin, will bring down the house. Two complete sets of high stepping square dancers will vie with modern taps for popularity and yodelers are mixed with popular swingsters and the whole thing tied together with a dancing band and a couple of accordionists.

Changes of program are planned for each night. The Walled Lake band will be on hand Thursday night to give a rousing welcome. Friday some novelty acts from Pontiac, including a dancing version of the story of Ferdinand, two boys playing one accordion and a novelty instrumental group, will star. Saturday the Maple City Four from Jackson as well as two funny cork comedians, Swampy Sam and Eight Ball; also Garland Wells, of Pontiac, who recently sang over station WLS in Chicago. Sunday the drum and bugle corps, of Northville, will play a half hour's pre-curtain performance. Ma Fritz and her Young'uns from the Lansing radio station and Joe Stine and His Mercury Rangers from Detroit, will close the show with a bang. All shows start promptly at 8:00 o'clock.

Garden Club to Meet Monday Afternoon

The regular meeting of the Plymouth branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association on October 9 will be held on Monday at 2:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. George Smith on Sheridan avenue. A guest speaker will talk on "Bulbs."

A meeting was held by the board, Monday afternoon, in the home of the president, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, for the revision of the constitution and by-laws of the organization.

Mrs. C. G. Shear attended the state officers' board meeting, Tuesday, held at the Woman's City club, in Detroit, as a representative of the Plymouth branch.

Sportsmen Aided by Legislature

Small game hunters beginning their season's sport in Michigan next week can thank the 1939 legislature for diversified attention to their interests that resulted in seven separate new acts.

Most hunters will be interested in extension of the season on rabbits by 30 days in the upper peninsula and the northern half of lower Michigan. Southern hunters, who had to content themselves with other game last year, this season may hunt fox squirrels in all of the lower peninsula except Emmet and Cheboygan counties. Gray squirrels also may be hunted this year in the northwestern corner of the lower peninsula bounded by highways M-46, US-131 and M-113 and including Leelanau county. Upland game bird hunters will enjoy a season five days longer than last year's in the lower peninsula and eight days longer in the upper peninsula.

Small game hunters as well as deer hunters will wear their license numbers across the backs of their hunting jackets this year, though no change in the law was necessary to provide for this.

To the growing body of sportsmen who like to stalk their game as the Indians did, the legislature was generous. Deer may now be shot by bow and arrow November 1 to 14 inclusive in any county open to gun hunting two weeks later. Last year archers were confined to Iosco and Newaygo counties. The archer is limited to one license; he may not get a second license for gun shooting if he hunts in the same county in hunting for five years.

Restrictive legislation of the last session protects rabbits at the Gougeau lake sanctuary in Calhoun county and closes Bloomfield township, Oakland county, to hunting for five years. Before the law allowing bears to be taken at any time could become effective, boards of supervisors of 36 northern counties asked, and the conservation commission ordered, that bear be killed in these counties only during the regular open season from November 15 to 30 inclusive, and only by means of firearms or bow and arrow. Taking bear elsewhere is now permissible. Old bear damage claims were ordered paid from the game protection fund and future claims were disallowed by the legislature.

Several comparatively minor matters were attended to. Hunters may feel safer now that reckless use of firearms is legally a misdemeanor. Many may appreciate the opportunity to train hunting dogs using pistols and blank cartridges to accustom them to the sound of guns, and they may be grateful that stealing of hunting dogs will be lessened by a registration and ear-tagging system. They may feel relieved to know that when their watches read 7 a. m. (EST) it is "sunrise" and they can start shooting with no one getting the jump on them through a different interpretation.

One act of one brief, significant paragraph authorizes the commission to cooperate with the federal government in wildlife research and restoration projects, under the Pittman-Robertson act. From the federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition Michigan this year received $78,587, an annual grant which may grow to nearly twice this sum. Combined with a third as much state money, it supports projects like those now conducted at Ross Lake and Swan Creek, with the goal a general increase in game birds and animals.

"A fool and his money are soon parted with" is an old and true adage, and for this reason any division of the world's wealth would be only temporary.

Meet Christopher Columbus; All 4 of Him

In the 447 years since Christopher Columbus discovered America—an event being celebrated October 12—no one has been sure just what the intrepid navigator looked like. Was he tall or short, thin or fat? Was he bald or did he have curly hair? The answers can be found in almost any library. History books are full of his pictures. But he is a different man in each. You can pick the one you like best, because even authorities have been unable to agree. So if you prefer tall, dark men, find the artist who agrees with you. It won't be difficult.

When the Scouts arrived in East Lansing they were conducted on a tour of the college campus before attending the Michigan State-Wayne University football game that afternoon.

It has been estimated that nearly 16,000 Scouts paraded before the spectators in the stadium during the intermission of the game.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the home of the bride's mother on Wayne road to 20 guests. The house was decorated in fall flowers for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Barron left immediately on a brief trip and will reside at the Leonard apartments in East Dearborn.

Mrs. Barron is very well known in Plymouth, having formerly lived in Northville and for the past three years with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Campbell, in this city, during which time she graduated from Plymouth high.

THE WAR.

The thoughts of every person these days are on war—will America get into it, or will we stay out? Will we make the same mistake we did before, or will we use better judgment than we did in 1917?

Probably one of the best things written about the problem appeared in Malcolm Bingay's Good Morning column in The Detroit Free Press a few days ago, reprinted by request from an April issue of The Free Press.

There is so much common sense in it and so clearly reviews what happened before, that The Plymouth Mail is publishing it in full, as follows:

INTERVIEWING AMERICA

"What did we get into the last war for?"
"To make the world safe for democracy."
"Did we?"
"No, the liberal movement was checked everywhere and the trend is definitely back to absolute power in the hands of a few."
"Was that all we went to war for?"
"No. We also went to war to end war."
"Did we succeed?"
"No. The world was never so war-minded."
"Didn't we have any other objective?"
"Yes. Many. One was that there were to be open covenants openly arrived at. No more secret diplomacy."
"How did that work out?"
"They locked the doors at Versailles, let nobody in and signed secret agreements. And they are still signing secret agreements."
"Wasn't there some talk, too, about the self determination of peoples?"
"Oh, yes. They talked a lot about that until they got us in and got what they wanted. Then they redrew the map of Europe without any consideration whatever of minority groups—just as ruthlessly as they did at the Congress of Vienna after the Napoleonic wars."
"How long has this row been going on in Europe?"
"For at least a thousand years."
"Was Europe ever united in a common bond of understanding?"
"Yes. Once. That was for some years after the World War when they all united—Germany, France, England, Italy, all of them—in a vast scheme to flim-flam the United States. We financed the last years of the war, then we financed all the reparation work through loans. And while we poured billions into Europe—to the victors and vanquished alike—they spent their own money, and a lot of ours, for armament to start another war. The only time in the history of Europe all nations were united was when they plotted to put the bee on Uncle Sam."

"Did we get any of it back?"
"Only from Finland. What money the other nations paid back, largely as interest, was our own money they borrowed for that purpose. What money Germany paid in reparations to England and France was American money. We are the only ones in this international poker game that had any chips. All the rest played on I.O.U.'s that they refused to honor. Uncle Sam was denounced by all of them as 'Shylock' when he finally saw he was going broke himself and quit the game. Oh, yes, all Europe was united in grabbing our money and hating us for asking if we couldn't—please—have some of it back."
"What did the World War cost the United States in actual cash?"
"As near as can be estimated the United States spent out of governmental and private funds $50,000,000,000."

"Fifty billion! Is there any chance of ever getting any of it back?"
"None whatever."
"That's bigger than our whole national debt, isn't it?"
"Yes, our whole national debt is around 40 billion. And 15 billion of that is for the remainder of our own war debt, money we spent for munitions and planes and ships and the movement of our own men."

"So we spent 10 billion dollars more making the world safe for democracy (we thought) than we now owe for all our domestic obligations despite all the New Deal orgy of spending. Is that right?"
"Not quite. Eliminate that 15 billion we still owe on our own war costs and the national debt would be down to 25 billion. So we actually spent 25 billion dollars more 'saving civilization in Europe' than our whole mountain of national debt for domestic purposes."

"Does this estimate of costs take in pensions that are now being paid and will be paid?"
"It does not."
"How much did the government loan the Allies?"
"Eleven billion."
"And what do they say when Uncle Sam asks for payments on it?"

"They say—not officially but very bluntly, privately—that they carried the burden of the war for three years while Uncle Sam was living the life of Riley, that they won the war and therefore Uncle Sam should cancel the debt as his contribution."
"To what?"
"Making the world safe for democracy, open covenants openly arrived at, the abolishment of war and self determination of peoples."
"But we didn't get any of those things we were told we were fighting for?"
"Certainly we didn't. They now admit that was a lot of bunk to fool us into sending those billions and two million men over there?"

"Did the Czar want that democracy we were supposed to be fighting for in the last war?"
"Certainly not."
"Does Stalin?"
"No more than does Hitler or Mussolini."
"Then what do we want to get into the mess again for?"
"We won't know until they figure out the new set of slogans."

"What should be our slogan?"
"Millions for defense but not one cent for chips in the international poker game of power politics."
"What is the European slogan?"
"Never give the sucker a break."

WHY CLEAN THE RECORD?

Because John Lewis and his gang threw nearly a half million dollars they had collected from the common laborers, into President Roosevelt's last campaign fund, perhaps entitles him to believe he can call Vice President Garner anything he likes, and New Dealers dare not resent it. Congressman Hoffman, a Michigan republican congressman wants Lewis' remarks expunged from the records, but why do that? Why not let them blare forth in all their hellish viciousness to taunt the so-called Americans that they would hide behind the cloak of this man that proposes to hold them by the neck?—Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer.

THAT PARKING BUSINESS

Again the City Council is fussing around with parking regulations attempting to bring some sort of order out of the scrambled situation. And the result of all these parking regulations is that motorists continue to park just about as they please. What the Duck cannot understand is why the council does not try the remedy which is at hand and which has proved the solution to the problem in scores of cities. The apparent remedy is parking meters—recommended to the council many months ago by the chief of police and the Safety Commission after considerable investigation. In virtually every case where parking meters have been tried, they have met the unanimous approval of motorists, merchants and police officials and have been added to after a trial. Maybe that wouldn't be the case in Dearborn. But the trial can be made without any cost to the city and until the trial is made, nobody knows what their value might prove. Nothing that has been done in the last few years has brought any relief. Let's try parking meters, anyway. —William Klamer in The Dearborn Press.

MACHINES OUST ELECTION CLERKS

From now on Birmingham voters will experience little delay in registering their likes and dislikes at election time, because the City has six automatic voting machines to handle polling. That ought to bring out increasingly larger voting—which is one way of keeping self-government.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

TRUTH TO THIS

This newspaper is a little bit disappointed in the action of the new milk committee created at the last session of the state legislature in setting the price of milk at $1.90 for the Detroit section, which takes in Sanilac county. This price at the farm would not be so bad, but take out the hauling from the farm to the receiving plant to Detroit and what have you. There is no reason under the sun why this price of milk could not be at least $1.75 clear for the farmers, when distributing companies just raised their retail price another cent. With fall coming on it had been hoped the price would get a little more on an even basis to the farmers. One company has come out with a flat $1.50 hundred to farmers at the door and this price is too low. The time for fooling around with this milk price is at an end. Let the farmers have action in the right direction.—William Irving in The Sandusky (Sanilac County) Republican-Tribune.

DO FARMERS HAVE TOO MUCH INFLUENCE ON CONGRESS?

One of the high-ups in Harvard University, Arthur M. Holcombe, says that farmers have a "disproportionate influence" on the American politics. In other words, the farmers get a whole lot more attention in the state and national legislatures than the volume of their business and numbers deserves. In spite of the generally accepted opinion that the special interests are big corporations, he indicates, he points to the billions and billions of dollars voted to help farmers.

Well, professor, farmers may not be important . . . but they are the boys who create your breakfast, dinner and supper. They raise it. You eat it. If tomorrow morning you, and a few thousands more of you fellows who live in an office and think great thoughts, were told that there was no bacon, no eggs, no wheat-bread toast . . . and that there was no chance of getting any more for a week . . . then, we suspect that you would hastily revise your estimate of the importance of farmers, their work and their products.

You see, it's like this: A farmer isn't a factory worker . . . although he has to work harder than the men in factories. He is not a business man . . . because he has little or nothing to say about the sale price of his produce. He is not a manufacturer . . . for the weather, the soil, the insects and the blistering winds many times control his production. He is not a professional man studying up exact solutions to problems . . . for the very best and most carefully thought-out plans of his can be knocked into a cocked hat by the elements. Farming is a way of life. It has its attractive features . . . but it is not an exact science and most of you college men wouldn't understand that.

In spite of the fact that a practical farmer cannot be put in any exact classification, such as workingman, professional man, employer, employee, retailer, wholesaler or what-have-you, it remains that he has an investment in land, buildings and equipment which represents a higher percentage of his gross revenue-dollar than any business or profession you can mention. He is tied to his job and tied to his investment. His business is raising food for the nation. If you can think of anything more important . . . if there is anything more fundamental . . . than the need for food, we would like to hear what it is.

Counting noses or counting the dollars invested may not rate the business of agriculture as high as some other industries. Because of the hazards and uncertainties, agriculture always has been and always will be a national problem. If it has had more Congressional attention than other interests, the good reason for it is that agriculture is a wealth-producing and a life-giving industry. Farmers produce wealth. Others manipulate it.

In conclusion, if farmers have a "disproportionate influence" that influences has failed to solve their problems.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County (St. Johns) Republican-News.
