

Postoffice Patron List Jumps Skyward

Increase of More Than 25 Percent in Two Years

Postmaster Urges Care in Addressing Letters

There are now 14,114 patrons of the Plymouth postoffice. This total includes residents of the city and rural route patrons.

The data which show the tremendous growth of Plymouth in the last few years, has been prepared by Postmaster Frank Learned to be submitted to the postoffice department in Washington.

It reveals an increase in the total number of patrons of the office of more than 25 percent in the last two years. In 1938 the total number of patrons was a trifle under the 10,000 figure.

Postmaster Learned states that the figures are continuing and that he anticipates a similar if not greater increase during the present year than was experienced last year.

Because of this exceptional increase in the number of postal patrons, Postmaster Learned urges that all mail bear the complete address, including the street and number.

Failure to place street addresses upon letters has resulted frequently in mail reaching its destination much later than it should.

City Studies New State Tax Law

Recommendations concerning the new intangible tax law were made by City Manager C. H. Elliott to the city commission Monday night on the basis of a report submitted by City Assessor Arno B. Thompson.

Explaining the effect of the act upon municipal tax administration, "We must realize that this tax is something new in the history of Michigan. The act itself is not explanatory. Undoubtedly, the new law will be amended several times before it becomes a good tax. On our assessment roll for 1939, there appeared about $100,000 valuation of property which would be taxed as intangible. In 1940, this amount was written off," explained the city manager.

"It is my recommendation, therefore, that our city assessor be instructed to distribute the blanks to persons who have property which has been removed from the city tax rolls, and to others whom he feels may be eligible to pay the intangible tax," stated Mr. Elliott.

The distribution of the tax collection will be one-third retained by the state, and the remaining two-thirds allocated to the counties and cities equally on a per capita population basis. Allocations are made after deductions for the cost of administration and collection.

Explanations of the act and the filing of tax returns are contained in another article in The Plymouth Mail this week.

Finish Steel Work on Heating Plant for New Factory

Construction on Kelsey-Hayes Plant Progressing Rapidly

Steel construction on the heating plant for the Kelsey-Hayes munitions factory near Plymouth was completed this week, and brick work on the heating plant will be started immediately, according to the superintendent of the W. E. Wood Construction company of Detroit, general contractor on the building.

City Manager to Report Legislation

City Manager C. H. Elliott was appointed as legislative contact man to study and report on bills affecting municipalities by the city commission at Monday night's meeting.

The appointment was made in response to a communication received from the Michigan Municipal League suggesting the appointment of a person familiar with municipal administration. The league's letter stated that it is expected more than 250 bills will be offered by the 1941 legislature which will in one way or another affect municipal finance and administration.

The purpose of the legislative contact man will be to "inform governing bodies of each municipality of legislation which will affect municipalities." The league will furnish all data on vital current legislation to the city manager for study and reports to the city commission.

City Manager Elliott was recently appointed a member of the important tax committee of the Michigan Municipal League by President W. W. Richards. He is also a member of the advisory committee on public reporting for the International City Managers' association.

Illness Causes Official's Absence

City Commissioner L. E. Wilson, a member of the governing body for the last six years, was absent from the commission meeting last Monday night. The former mayor of Plymouth was taken to University hospital Monday, where it is expected he will be confined for observation for about two weeks. His condition is not regarded as serious. City officials and his many friends in Plymouth hope to see Commissioner Wilson back in his usual chair in the commission chamber again soon.

Mrs. Russell Kirk is in Grace hospital in Detroit having been taken there on Monday.

City Assessor Explains Tax Law on Intangibles

Arno Thompson to Aid in Filing of Returns; Deadline Is March 1

Individuals and corporations subject to the payment of taxes under the new intangible tax law, passed by the 1939 legislature and put into effect recently by the Michigan tax commission, were advised by Arno B. Thompson, city assessor, to secure blanks for filing of tax returns before the deadline, March 1. City Assessor Thompson attended a meeting of assessors, county, and municipal treasurers, called by Melvin B. McPherson, chairman of the state tax board, in Lansing, Monday, December 30.

The new intangible tax law will assess bank accounts, accounts receivable, stocks, bonds, annuities, mortgages, land contracts, and royalties. The tax is state collected, but local assessors will cooperate and assist the state in the distribution of tax blanks and assist the taxpayer in making them out.

On non-income producing assets, the tax is one-tenth of one percent of the face value or par value of the asset. On income-producing assets the tax rate is 6 percent of the income, but not over three months of one percent of the par or face value. The tax will therefore be one dollar per thousand for non-income producing assets, and may go as high as three dollars per thousand in the case of income-producing assets.

Face value or par value is the only consideration. A $3,000 exemption is allowed bank deposits whether they are income-producing or not. Persons whose tax figures up to only seven dollars or less do not have to pay a tax or file a return. All government, state, or municipal bonds are tax-exempt.

The owners of intangible property have until March 1 to make their returns and they are advised to secure blanks from the city assessor, or at the city hall.

"Holders of intangible securities have been taxed locally according to the regular city tax rate for personal property in former years. It formerly worked a hardship on the holders of securities to pay the old rate. The rate of taxation under this new act will result in much lower taxes to the individuals and corporations affected," said Mr. Thompson.

"In Plymouth, for example, until this act was passed, there was $100,000 assessed which took the regular city rate. Under this act, it is likely the tax will bring in 70 percent less. Returns must be made direct to the state, unlike income tax returns under penalties for failure to file," he added.

The city assessor explained that a wide difference in the tax on the shares of different corporations is due to differences in the par value of the shares and also to a provision which taxes the stock on the basis of how much value is represented by investments within the borders of Michigan as compared to the amount of investment in other states. Stocks or dividends on property within the state of Michigan are entirely exempt.

The local tax assessor has a copy of a bulletin listing the taxable percentage of all stocks and holdings which will be taxed. Persons are advised to consult the assessor for these listings and for aid in filing returns on intangible holdings.

Hillside Enjoys Its Best Year

One of the busiest places in or about Plymouth right now is Jake Stremich's popular Hillside Barbecue, located on Plymouth road just east of the city.

Increased activity in that vicinity, due to the construction of the new industrial plant by the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company, has already reflected in the business at the Hillside, which even in normal times is a busy place.

Mr. Stremich stated yesterday that his last year's business was the best he had ever enjoyed. "Our New Year's celebration was also our largest. Every reservation was sold nearly a week in advance of the evening," stated Mr. Stremich.

"I am not sure what we will do next year to take care of the crowd, but it looks as though there might be some expanding to do somewhere."

Dr. Geneva Bailor spent the holidays with friends in Central City, Kentucky, an aunt in Louisville, Kentucky, and in Waukegan, Illinois with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bailor.

34 Traffic Tickets Issued Last Month

Traffic violations reported by the Plymouth police department during the month of December totaled 34, for which fines amounting to $96 were imposed.

In addition to traffic violations, court cases for the last month included two convictions for intoxication, one for using improper plates, and three for breaking and entering. Four felonies were reported and cleared during the month. The increasing issuance of drivers' licenses continued with a total of 587 applications.

The largest toll among traffic violations was for overtime parking in the business district where only two-hour parking is permitted. Thirteen tickets were issued for overtime parking, eight for speeding, four for improper parking, three for failure to observe stop street signs, three for reckless driving, one for failure to observe school signals, one for driving through an amber light, and one for driving without an operator's license.

Michigan Bell to Inaugurate New Service

Plymouth to Become Toll Center for Long-Distance Calls in May

The Plymouth office of the Michigan Bell Telephone company will become a toll center, handling all long-distance calls and checking all destinations except collect calls, after May 20, stated Manager John MacLachlan this week.

In preparation for the practice which they will follow when the new service is added this spring, Plymouth telephone operators began this week answering with "operator" instead of asking "number please?" Except to a few neighboring stations, Plymouth has not handled long-distance phone calls. All person-to-person long-distance calls are now referred to Detroit for placement.

"Operator" is the general term used by long-distance or toll center stations. Nine operators have been added to the Plymouth station and three have left the company since February, 1940, leaving a net gain of six new operators here. Four new positions are to be added to the local switchboard for long-distance and local service when the new service is inaugurated.

Three Deaths Within Brief Space of Time Bring Sorrow to Finlan Family

Death has brought grief to one family three times within the last ten days, a brother and two sisters of Charles L. Finlan, of this city, having died suddenly within that brief space of time.

Last week Mr. Finlan was called to Fowlerville by the death of his brother, William A. Finlan, of that place. He had been ill but a brief time, having been removed to St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing a few days before his death on December 29.

It was while Mr. Finlan was in Fowlerville helping to arrange for the funeral of his brother that he was notified of the sudden death of his sister, Mrs. P. C. McCann, who resided on a farm near Stockbridge.

Mrs. McCann had been in excellent health and had visited the bereaved Finlan home in Fowlerville during the day and returned with her husband to their home near Stockbridge. Physicians say that sometime during the night she was stricken with apoplexy and died while asleep.

A few days ago Mr. Finlan was called to Monroe by the illness of another member of the family, Sister Frances Xavier, a member of the Servants of The Immaculate Heart of Mary of that place. He had again visited with her after the funerals of his other brother and sister early in the present week and thought that she might be on the road to recovery from her illness.

Late Tuesday night he was called by telephone and told of her death, due to a stroke of apoplexy suffered early in the evening.

William Finlan was born in Shawassaw county on May 1, 1869 and the family soon after moved to Fowlerville, which has remained the home community of the Finlans for a long period of years. Mr. Finlan was the owner of a popular Inn at East Lansing. He was one of the prominent and well liked citizens of Fowlerville.

Mrs. McCann was past 70 years of age and had lived near Stockbridge for more than 33 years. The husband, who survives, is a well known farmer in that locality. She was buried in the family lot in Bunker Hill cemetery. Like her brother, she had always enjoyed good health almost up to the time of her death.

Sister Xavier graduated from the Fowlerville high school, and after receiving normal school training, became a school teacher in Livingston county. Later she became a teacher in the Detroit archdiocese and then became Mother Superior of Sacred Heart at Monroe. Before she entered that order in 1911 she was Anna Finlan and the youngest sister of Mr. Finlan. She was 54 years old and had been a member of the order for 29 years.

Her funeral was held in the convent chapel yesterday, Thursday, morning at 9:30, burial taking place in Monroe.

Mass was sung for William Finlan by four nieces, Mrs. Wayne Peterson, Mrs. William Miner, Josephine Finlan and Mrs. Frank Curtis.

It is also interesting to note that the six pall bearers at his funeral were all nephews. They were Harold Finlan, Donald Wines, George Finlan, Ernest Bessert, William Miner and Wayne Peterson.

Besides Mr. Finlan, two other brothers, John, a retired farmer of Fowlerville, and Thomas Finlan, for many years a deputy sheriff of Livingston county, survive.

Plan School for Southeast Section

Answers Urgent Need of Robinson Subdivision

In response to insistent requests from residents and parents of school children in the Robinson subdivision district, the board of education this week purchased a 10-acre site for a new school building on Haggerty highway, south of Ann Arbor Trail.

The property, 330x1320 feet, was purchased from Miss Flora Somers of Newburg at a price of $3,000. This is the same acreage upon which the board entered a bid at the state's public scavenger sale of tax delinquent property last February. The state of Michigan, in accordance with the law which stipulates that the last owner within 30 days of the sale at the bid price, determined that Miss Somers had a prior right to the property. The school board this week completed negotiations with the owner for the purchase of the land.

It is expected that the board of education will start work immediately on the drawing of plans for a school-building to be ready for occupancy by next fall. The need for a school building to care for children in the southeast portion of the school district has become increasingly urgent during the last year in view of the rapid growth and development of the subdivision. Seeking an expedient solution to their problem, members of the school board petitioned for and obtained a special election last fall on the matter of providing bus transportation for children to the Plymouth schools.

"This area is probably the one which will be most affected by the influx of families caused by the new Kelsey-Hayes munitions plant in Plymouth," said George A. Smith, superintendent, reporting the board's action.

The Plymouth school board also received deeds last week from the state land office board for lots 28 through 31 and lots 34 through 37 on the south side of Blanche street. The board purchased lots 32 and 33 which were privately owned, so the school now has the use of this entire block of 14 lots for the development of the high school athletic field.

Catholic Girls Form Sodality

Fifty Catholic girls took part in a meeting at the church rectory last Monday evening to form the Plymouth branch of the Sodality of Our Lady. Having been instructed a week ago as to what would be expected of them as members of the sodality, the girls will be officially recognized at a three-day retreat sometime in March during Lent.

Six main committees will form the organization. Teaching catechism, taking the church census, distributing the Catholic papers and pamphlets, also encouraging social events for the promotion of friendship among the younger groups in the church are a few of the objectives of the group.

A St. Valentine's day dance at the Masonic temple will be the first social event to be scheduled by the new organization. A well-known orchestra will be obtained and announced later.

Temporary officers of the sodality elected were Miss Irene King, president; Miss Johanna McGraw, secretary, and Miss Henrietta Burch, chairman of the dance committee.

Mrs. J. H. Todd Garnishes Simple Foods To Make Appealing Meals

Mrs. J. H. Todd and two of her sons, Robert, 10, and Charles, 7, in their home at 890 South Main street.

The simple things of life reputedly are the best, and Mrs. J. H. Todd, who resides on South Main street, prefers simple foods and simple menus, which she serves can be made very appealing. An example is the fruit salad dressing for which Mrs. Todd gives a recipe this week. This dressing will add greatly to even the most simple salad mixture.

Another tenet of Mrs. Todd's is that it is more economical to market only twice a week. She makes out complete menus for her family of five for three or four days at a time, and buys accordingly.

"I never throw anything out. Left-overs don't come back as a revival, but as a debut," says Mrs. Todd.

A favorite, dinner menu and recipes for some of these simple dishes served by Mrs. Todd follow:

Dinner Menu
Leg of Lamb
Mashed Potatoes
Carrot Fluff
Fruit Salad and Dressing
Jelly Roll

Mrs. Todd places a four-pound leg of lamb in an open roasting pan which she allows to brown for 3 or 4 hours at 350 degrees, adding salt when the roast is

2 tablespoonsful flour
1/2 cup milk
Melt the butter, rub in the flour, add the milk to make a sauce, add four egg yolks, and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake for one hour at 350 degrees," advises Mrs. Todd, who adds that children who do not like to eat carrots will enjoy them prepared this way.

Fruit Salad Dressing
1/2 cup maple syrup
1/3 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup whipped cream
1 tablespoonful flour
1 egg
Mix the syrup and flour, and boil for three minutes. Add lemon juice and beaten egg. Cook until thick. Add whipped cream when cool. This dressing blends better with the fruit flavors than a more spicy dressing," says Mrs. Todd.

Old-Fashioned Jelly Roll
3/4 cup sifted cake flour
3/4 teaspoonful baking powder
1/4 teaspoonful salt
4 eggs
3/4 cup sifted sugar
1 teaspoonful vanilla
1 cup jelly (any flavor)

"Sift the flour once and measure. Combine baking powder, salt and eggs in bowl. Place over smaller bowl of hot water and beat with egg beater, adding sugar gradually until mixture becomes thick and light-colored. Remove the bowl from the hot water. Fold in flour and vanilla. Turn into pan, lined with greased paper, and bake in a 400-degree oven for 15 minutes. Quickly cut off the crisp edges of the cake. Turn from pan at once onto a cloth covered with confectioner's sugar. Remove paper. Spread with jelly and roll. Wrap in a cloth and cool on a rack."

This is a recipe which can be varied with custard or whipped cream fillings.

Army Learns More About Beans

In preparation for a year of active army service, cooks and prospective cooks of the 147th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, attended a series of cooking classes conducted by Jean Allen, home economist for the Kroger Grocery and Baking company, at the Kroger Food Foundation in Cincinnati, Ohio. In addition to demonstrating some new angles on preparation of the famous army bean, Miss Allen explained how to plan well balanced meals and provided a series of menus, complete with shopping lists, for groups of 50, 100 and 500 men. For several years the Food Foundation has offered a similar menu service to large lodge and church groups. Shown with Miss Allen, left to right, are Private Claude Washam, Major E. F. Heilman and Private William Frederick.

John T. Howell's Father Succumbs

John T. Howell, who resides on LaMoine avenue in Livonia township, is the field representative of the sales tax department for this part of Michigan, was called to West Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania Monday by the sudden death of his father, John R. Howell, who had been the county judge of Lawrence county in that state for more than a quarter of a century.

This is the first death of any immediate member in the Howell family for many years. Besides the son, who lives near Plymouth, another son who is a teacher in Detroit, two daughters and a widow, survive.

Judge Howell had for years been one of the outstanding Republican leaders in the part of Pennsylvania in which he lived. He was born in Wales and came to America with United States Senator Davis, when the two left the old world to make a home for themselves in America. That was nearly 50 years ago. Senator Davis has served Pennsylvania in Washington in the upper house of congress for nearly 20 years.

Mr. Howell expects to return to his home in Livonia the last of this week.

Captain Elizabeth Lemorie reports. Their gifts enabled the local corps to give out 25 well-filled bushel baskets of food. Each basket contained the following: Five-pound sack of flour, large fruit cake, one-half pound of coffee, one pound of butter, two pounds sugar, one pound rice, jar of peanut butter, bunch of celery, one pound lard, can of peas, one pound candy, two cans of tomato soup, can of milk, can of tomatoes, can of corn, can of peaches, dozen oranges, dozen eating apples, two pounds onions, one-half peck of potatoes, five pounds beef roast, and five pounds of chicken.

Henry Ford to Produce New Light Weight Metal for Aircrafts

Starts Construction of Immense Foundry Near Dearborn

Installation of a magnesium foundry to produce lightweight castings for airplane engines has been started by the Ford Motor company, it was revealed today.

The new foundry, which is one of the few of its kind in this country, is being incorporated into the present foundry building at the Ford Rouge plant. It will be one of the largest magnesium foundries in the world. The project will cost an estimated $800,000 for building alterations and equipment.

Construction schedules call for the magnesium foundry to be ready for operation early next March. It will turn out castings for use in the airplane engine plant the Ford company is erecting at the Rouge to build Pratt & Whitney aircraft engines for the U. S. army. The $21,000,000 engine plant unit is scheduled for completion late in the same month.

Present magnesium foundry facilities of the nation are far below the requirements of the aircraft building program laid out by the national defense council and for this reason chiefly, additional foundry capacity to cast the light metal is imperative, it was said.

The Ford foundry unit has been designed with a capacity somewhat larger than the company needs for its own airplane engine plant.

Plans for a foundry section equipped to deliver a total of 110,000 pounds of magnesium castings a month.

Importance of magnesium alloy in the aircraft industry lies in its high strength with low weight. The alloy is one-fourth the weight of cast iron and is approximately two-thirds the weight of aluminum alloy.

The weight advantage gained by using magnesium metal instead of iron or aluminum for large castings and other aircraft parts is a vital factor in airplane performance. Pound for pound, magnesium alloy is virtually as strong as cast iron. The alloy consists of 6 to 9 per cent aluminum, one and a half to three per cent zinc and the remainder magnesium.

The foundry installation at the Ford plant will embrace about 100,000 square feet on two floors at the southwest corner of the 17-acre foundry building. On the first floor will be the section where sand cores are made, final inspection division, the shipping department, and laboratory and office. After the sand cores are finished and baked they will be delivered to the second floor where a system of four continuous-type conveyors will carry the molds to pouring stations opposite gas-fired melting furnaces.

After the castings are poured and removed from the molds, "risers" and "gates" will be trimmed and the castings given a primary cleaning preliminary to heat treating. Two vertical type annealing furnaces, equipped with conveyors to carry the castings through the heat treatment, will be installed. Each casting must be annealed at closely controlled temperatures for approximately 40 hours, part of the time in an atmosphere of SO₂ gas.

Nineteen furnaces with a combined capacity of 500,000 pounds per month will do the melting and refining of the magnesium metal. Four of the furnaces each have a capacity of 2,000 pounds, four of 400 pounds and seven of 200 pounds. Four furnaces of 100-pound capacity will serve as refiners.

A special laboratory will be built in the new foundry to permit close control and inspection over all phases of the foundry operation. Ford metallurgists said, for example, the laboratory workers make chemical and physical tests of raw materials and finished castings. This will insure smooth surfaces in magnesium alloy castings, and thus eliminate a large amount of machine work which would be necessary otherwise.

An elaborate inspection department, including water testing equipment for parts that require it, will be included in the new foundry section. From this department the castings will be delivered to the airplane engine building for machine work.

New sand storage bins and space for magnesium metal storage will be installed. Also new toilet rooms with showers, coat rooms and lunch rooms are to be provided for the convenience of the employees.

Approximately 350 men are to be employed in the new magnesium foundry.

"Choosy" Baldwin

Baldwin high school in Birmingham, which won the Twin Valley football title isn't in the basketball league because some of the league's teams aren't big enough drawing cards. So they make it their policy to procure a team with which they will draw a maximum attendance.

But Baldwin still plays Plymouth, and 501 paid admissions were in the large Birmingham gym Friday night to watch their team beat Plymouth 32-23. It was Plymouth's first loss of the season and their second yearly defeat by Birmingham.

Maybe it was Plymouth's starting the "fight" too late, or leaving it off too early; maybe it was a three-inch height advantage held by Birmingham; maybe it was the absence of left guard, John Wilkie; it might even have been the referee's calling 17 fouls on Plymouth and only nine on Birmingham; but Plymouth neglected to overcome a 13-3 first quarter lead and consequently lost the decision.

It wasn't that they failed to put up a challenge, because they challenged continually, but the Birmingham lead was 8 points in the first period, 8 in the second period, 13 in the third period and slightly less at the game's end.

Birmingham began the contest in a quiet and unfriendly manner and scored most of their winning points in the first three minutes. By the time Plymouth had adapted their technique and scored 3 points to the host's 11, the lead was glimmering on some place ahead, and there it stayed.

Plymouth sailed back home with a better percentage of four throws made good than Birmingham, but quantitatively it was the other way around. The horrible hosts sunk eight gift throws—three more than Plymouth. They also shot three baskets more to make their nine-point winning lead.

Bob Norman of Plymouth scored 9 points by himself and thereby was acclaimed high scorer of the game. Dennis Therrian and Joe Armstrong challenged this total slightly with 7 points apiece. However, eight Birmingham men scored at least once, while five Plymouth men contributed points.

Following a policy of starting no semester men, Baldwin has won her three previous games, managers said. Keego Harbor, Cranbrook and the school faculty have fallen under their wing. Plymouth has won two league games so far, and will lose Bob Norman and Jack Butz at the semester graduation.

The lineup: Plymouth—32; Gorton, r. f., 3; Olds, r. f., 0; Norman, l. f., 9; Hoffman, c., 4; Hunter, c., 0; Baker, r. g., 2; Butz, r. g., 0; Lorenz, r. g., 0; O'Conner, r. g., 0; Johnson, l. g., 5; Hancock, l. g., 0.

Girl Reserves

Annabelle Heller and Louise Newman will act as president and secretary respectively of the new Girl Reserve club of ninth graders. Because of its size, the former club, which included the ninth and tenth grades, has been divided into two. Annabelle and Louise, who were officers of the other group, are merely acting officers until an election is held next semester. Paula Hoencke and Janet Strachen were appointed to plan the programs until the election. The first program on January 9, will be an explanation of the Girl Reserve code.

There are now 28 members of the group, who will make up the club until next fall.

Senior Sketches

Glenna Clark, a blond, shy, sweet senior girl, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Clark of 3840 Napier road. Her chief hobby is drawing girls. She has been a member of Girl Reserves for one year and in the glee club for four years. To go through business college and become a private secretary for a big company in a large city, preferably New York, is her principle aim. What's her pet peeve? People who talk too much about something they know nothing about.

Lloyd Clark, a tall blond senior who lives at 236 Union street, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Clark. Lloyd, who was born in Northville, wants to become an engineer. His hobby is music and playing the trumpet, and his high school activities include three years of band and orchestra, Senior Prom and J-Hop committee, and a few others of Stunt Night. His pet peeve, although we don't believe it, is girls, especially those who hold back their opinions.

To be a good housewife and home manager is the aim of Jeanne Compton, who lives at 592 North Mill. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Compton. Jeanne's hobbies are sewing and cooking. Her pet peeve—girls who smoke, drink, or swear. Jeanne has participated in girls' sports, glee club, double quartette, dramatics, the musicale and the junior play as student director.

"Trouble-shooter Curtis," Dale Curtis of 4834 Curtis road would like to enter the service of an electric or telephone company. Dale has been active in glee club and in the band. He has a number of peevish: Stuck-up people, being yelled at, and being pushed and shoved around.

Betty Jean Curtis, whose parents are Maude and Edward Curtis, lives at 795 Forest avenue. She was born in Long Beach, California. Betty has participated in Stunt Night; been active in library and Prom and Hop committees and the annual committee, and taken part in girls' sports. Her hobby is collecting china animals. She intends to become the proprietor of a dress or gift shop.

Richard Littleton Daily, the son of Mrs. Viola Daily, was graduated from the Henry Ford Trade School in 1939. Dancing is his chief recreation. He aspires to become a lawyer. His pet peeve: people who say "He don't" irritate him. Richard lives at 409 Plymouth road.

7th Grade Dance

Plymouth's seventh grade students presented their first dance Friday evening, January 3 from 7:30 to 10 o'clock. The ticket committee was made up of Beth Laughlin, Barbara Davis, Gerald Rorabacher and Richard Tarnutzer. The committee for refreshments was composed of Ruth Campbell, Pauline Wiedman, Betty Fulton and Wilma Becker. The committee for floor and clean-up was Bob Chute, Elmer Shoemaker and others who could help.

Attendance was restricted to seventh, eighth, and ninth graders.

Cage Lead

Early T.V.A.A. league leadership angles in the basketball breeze as River Rouge and Plymouth engage this Friday, January 10 on the Rouge court to find the better team.

For six years past Rouge has proved itself the better team as well as the league's basketball winner.

Now Plymouth and Rouge boast a midget record of two games undefeated in league competition. Plymouth has stepped nimbly over Wayne and Ypsilanti Central and Rouge has erased Yps and Ecorse.

And so Rouge, undefeated in all basketball competition last year, faces Plymouth, the team that tied Wayne for second place. Last year both were undefeated until they met for the first time in the middle of the season. Then Rouge asserted her superiority and went on to the league title, leaving Plymouth in its wake.

Grad Makes Good

Eugene Bakewell, a graduate of the 1940 class, seems to be doing nicely for himself in his freshman year at Ohio Wesleyan college located in Delaware, Ohio. Besides playing the position of guard on the freshman basketball team, he is the intramural manager for his class. Another honor given him is the position of business manager on the staff of the Beta Eta chapter paper of the ATO fraternity. This is an achievement considering that nine boys out of 1940 were chosen to make up the staff.

Eugene is vice president of his senior class in Plymouth and also the co-chairman of the prom activities. He intends to become a public accountant. After two years' study at Ohio Wesleyan, he will continue his work at the University of Michigan.

Other notables, present in the high school, are Messrs. Latture, Groth and King, all of whom have won contests within the last month. Mr. Latture won first place, and Valbert Groth, a senior, won second place in an "Improvements for Plymouth in 1941" contest. Archie King received a set of photographs autographed by Errol Flynn, a Hollywood star, as a prize in the "Santa Fe Trail" contest which was featured in the "Scholastic" last month.

Inspirations

He was a good brother. I should have known what was wrong with him. I'll never forgive myself. It all started a month ago.

A freshman, he is tall and like most boys, combed his hair on Sundays (under protest), never shined his shoes and never thought of wearing a tie to match his suit. In fact he never thought of wearing a tie. That was a month ago.

One Monday he came to breakfast wearing a tie (Being at breakfast was breaking a precedent in itself.) About the end of the week he put on a tie. Then he shined his shoes. Those were the first symptoms. I should have braced myself for a shock, but no, I was too busy with other matters.

It is time for report cards. Now, I admit he is no scholar, but he can get B's and even a C is excusable. But now the first fever appeared. Every mark went down at least one grade. He had been working hard—perhaps too hard. That must be the reason, I thought. Oh, I was dumb.

He used to go about half singing, but mostly croaking over and over, "Shoot the chili to me, Willie." Now there was a strange silence about him. Still I didn't suspect.

Finally on Christmas Eve I learned the cause. The usual holiday preparations were going on as the phone rang. Answering it, I could barely hear someone ask for him. From the next room I kept an eye on him. As soon as he had picked up the receiver and dispensed with the usual hello's, he reddened about the ears. Mumbling, "The same to you," he put down the phone. "Who was it?" mother called from the kitchen.

"Jerry," came the embarrassed reply. Yes, he was a good brother. Too bad. Too bad. And at Christmas time.

Girl Reserves

Recognition service will be held January 13 for girls in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades who wish to become members of the Girl Reserves. At the present time there are vacancies for eight girls in the club which has a membership of 50 when full.

This service, which is held twice a year, will not be open to the public as the June meeting is. A girl must attain a C average to be a member of the club.

Editorial

Soft and green, the landscape
Mirrors peace, repose, quiet.
Glorious temples stretch their way
To heaven.
And man finds — rest.
Great minds have made her great.
They wrote of her.
They lauded her, sang her praises.
Recorded her ideals.
Yea, they have made her great.
Till all the world will ne'er forget that
This was — England.

Screaming bombs
Hurl their way toward the helpless earth.
Destroying beautiful nature,
Tearing out great clods of verdant land
With greedy claws,
Leveling God's temples,
Till all that's left
Is a shapeless mass of rock and stone.

Below, people, like scurrying ants, rush for shelter
With fear and sadness in their hearts
As they see the hail of death
And man, with deep despair,
Is forced to say,
"This is — England."

But while men have hearts to feel
And minds to remember,
Her greatness will ever live.
While there is
A voice to speak
And courage to go on,
An ideal to preserve,
A dream to dream,
England shall always be —
England.

Carriers

Did you ever try walking a long rural mail route in the Christmas season with letters coming in by the ton and addresses blurred and scratchy?

If you did, you'll agree that it's no fun even if the weather is good and Christmas is in the air. Shirley Dunham and Dale Kaiser took a week off from their senior class duties two weeks before Christmas and entered upon the temporary occupation of rural mail carrier. They were the only senior boys of 18 or over in Plymouth high school who were both interested and eligible.

Making two trips a day the pair carried previously sorted mail along regular routes while the permanent carrier sorted new mail. It was not hard, they say, to learn the routes.

Dunham's was the longest of the two, roughly ten miles of country roads. He and Dale each made two trips a day.

The boys were excused from school on the week preceding Christmas and began their work on Saturday. With a one Sunday rest after their first day, they tramped the route on both Sundays and week days up to the climactic day before Christmas.

"Hard?"
"Well, sort of."
"Did you get tired?"
"Yes."
"Could you do the job regularly?"
"Yes."
They're back in school today at any rate living an ordinary life again.

If you build for the future, let us furnish the materials.

Trash Heap

Flash! Lloyd Clark has a new girl, so it seems. It's another Ruth, a drum-majorette, if it makes the guessing more helpful. And Bob Daily is making off with the other Ruth, you know.

Item on Jim Sexton's mechanization: the tinseltize I mentioned several weeks ago just doesn't seem to run. Have you got any oil in the tank, Jim? By the way, how is the other Lizzie making out, Johnny?

Has anybody seen Pauline Taylor's big brown bear? Thank heavens it isn't the genuine thing. But I'd like to know who gave it to her.

Well, boys, I suppose the novelty of that eye-appealing (?) old institution, the Christmas tie, has worn off. If anybody wishes to discard those "warm" neckpieces, just give them to me. I set a record this Christmas when I didn't receive a single tie. But I made up for them in socks. Wow!

Prize pun of 1940, unknowingly submitted by Dudley Martin: What kind of cars are engine-bers? Sorry, girls, Bill Widmaier has something like a New Year's resolution: "No more girls." I wonder how long he's going to keep it.

Now that the 1941 calendars have been distributed, I shall pass on this warning: Only 291 shopping days 'till Christmas. And let me be the first to wish my dear readers a Happy New Year—for 1942.

Social Register

A progressive dinner was given New Year's eve by a group of students. Dorothy Fisher served the cocktail, Ione Stuart, the salad, Pat Hudson and Sally Haas the spaghetti, Jean Crandell the ice cream and cake and Janice Downing entertained the group afterwards. At Janice's house they danced and drank coca cola. The girls' escorts were Bob Fisher, Mike Kleinschmidt, Milton Humphries, Arvel Curtner, Bill Salter and Dick Virgo.

Doris Shinn entertained Thelma Cowe of Novi during the week-end.

Miss Fiegl entertained members of the high school faculty at an open house December 31 at her home in Ann Arbor.

Jerry Farrar, Carolyn Castle, Sally Haas, and Arvel Curtner went to the Fox theatre, Saturday, January 3, where they saw, "Truth and Consequences."

How quiet it seems in school compared to the social rush of the holidays! Although Ole Man Winter didn't lend us any ice, several girls took advantage of the ice at the Olympia. On New Year's eve Betty Maas and Derua Deplanche, Pat and Bernice Kimahan, and Ernestine Mead visited the Olympia last Friday evening.

Not satisfied with the social season in Plymouth, several boys and girls traveled the country during their vacation. Two boys who go in for "roughin' it"—Alan Bennett and Bill Wernett—spent the week at Alan's cottage in Black Lake state forest.

Phyllis Nichols vacationed in Taylorville, Illinois visiting some friends; while Jack Butz enjoyed himself in Angola, Indiana. Joanna McGraw visited her aunt in Grand Rapids, and Marian Parsons went to St. Clair Shores for a week-end.

Parties were in full swing. Carolyn Castle was hostess to Jack Kiof, Helen Jones, Jack Lee, Evelyn Stewart, Jack Crisp, Charles McKinney and Betty Wilkske at a ping-pong party.

The group formed a theatre party then went to Helen's for lunch.

Several of the Plymouth alumni made their appearance in the high school during the last week. Jewell Starkweather, who will graduate this year from Kalamazoo college, Gladys Salow, who is studying nursing at the Ford Nursing school; June Gardiner, who attends Cleary Business college; Velma Thatcher, who is a freshman at Albion; and Bob Marshall, who is now a member of the United States navy were among them.

New Year's Dance

Red and white was used as the color scheme in the high school gymnasium, when approximately ninety people welcomed in the New Year at a dance sponsored by the student council. Streamers of red and white crepe paper decorated the ceiling. White curtains and red floodlights on the stage effectively revealed Bill Thomas' orchestra as they supplied music. Paper hats and noisemakers added to the midnight gaiety.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (I Corinthians 5:8): "Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, includes the following (p. 140): "We worship spiritually, only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual devoutness is the soul of Christianity."

OUR GREATEST DANGER

The President in his message to the Congress said: "At no previous time has American security been so seriously threatened from WITHOUT as it is today."

The President's sentence is not complete. He should have said that—At no previous time has American security been so seriously threatened from WITHOUT AND WITHIN as it is today.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Various state issues and problems that have been discussed and considered for several years past were enumerated in Governor Van Wagener's message to the legislature. Practically all of the subjects have been before the solons during the last five or six years, so the subject matter of the message does not bring new problems before the law-makers. Because of this previous discussion and because of the Governor's favorable attitude upon many of these issues, some real good ought to come out of the present session of the legislature.

From a casual reading of the message without taking the time to check various state financial reports, it would seem that the Governor is anticipating that the state will have an added income of something like $25,000,000 or $30,000,000 a year more than it has enjoyed in the past. He recommends additional expenditures that will roughly require nearly that amount. If the legislature approves of all the expenditures he recommends and if the income of the state does not increase by an exceptional amount, there will be nothing left to pay off the deficit and the prospects are that the deficit might be increased instead of decreased.

Michigan's income during the last year was many millions of dollars more than had been anticipated, and it is possible that it will continue to jump at the excessive rate it assumed during the last year. If it does, it is possible that the state may be able to meet the increased expenditures, providing of course there is rigid economy in all of the various departments.

A GOOD COMMISSION.

Governor Van Wagener has been fortunate in his selection of members of the newly created civil service commission. In fact, its membership comprises just the right type of leadership to work out a most complicated and difficult problem.

With such men as Former Governor Groesbeck of Detroit and George Burke of Ann Arbor, on the commission, the various department heads and others in Lansing will find it difficult indeed to evade the intent of the voters of Michigan.

There will be none of the mess that took place under the Murphy administration or under the Fitzgerald-Dickinson administration. Mr. Burke was on the original commission and if he had had his way about it, much of the criticism against the administration of civil service would never have developed.

We commend Governor Van Wagener for the civil service selections he has made.

NOTHING NEW.

Newsweek, a national publication, recently stated that a "cross section of government attorneys and supreme court reporters who keep a close tab on performances" (of the supreme court) rated Frank Murphy as "below average, and lacking the mental habits to make a Grade A justice."

Justice Frankfurter is another disappointment, says Newsweek. Justice Black, the Klu Kluxer was "poorly trained for the job when appointed, but has worked and studied harder than any court member, with the result that he is growing in legal stature."

Justice Douglas rates high and is expected to become one of the outstanding justices of the court, adds Newsweek. Many Michigan voters apparently had the same idea about Murphy some years ago that New Deal lawyers in Washington now possess.

ANOTHER JOB FOR CONGRESS!

Congress has been continuously in session for nearly a year. It did not adjourn last summer because its leaders declared that the national emergency was so great that they did not dare leave Washington.

That position was well taken. The public is in full accord with it. But seemingly not much has been done about some of the tremendously important problems before the country even though the law-makers have been in constant session.

But it is never too late to act. We know that there are hundreds of thousands of aliens—and hundreds of thousands of CITIZENS of these United States, who would strike at Uncle Sam's heart at the first opportunity.

We know that one of the methods used so successfully in breaking down the resistance of various European nations that have been trampled under foot by the War Lord has been the use of armed traitorous citizens.

Without weapons there is not much that they can do. We can IMMEDIATELY end that danger in our own country by requiring an immediate registration by EVERY person in this country of the firearms, ammunition and explosives in his or her possession.

It would not be a difficult task, as the law enforcing officers would be glad to cooperate. The village marshals, the police chiefs, sheriffs, state police—in fact, all law enforcing agencies could easily be summoned to carry on this vast detailed, but HIGHLY important public responsibility.

This registration should be a PUBLIC registration of every conceivable kind of a firearm—shot guns, rifles, revolvers, yes, even guns in possession of law enforcing agencies.

So severe should the penalty be made for failure to register deadly weapons or materials included under the act, that no one would dare ignore it. And in this case pleas of ignorance of the law SHOULD NOT BE ACCEPTED.

Here CONGRESSMEN, is something you can do TODAY, which will help save your constituents, your neighbors and your friends and YOUR COUNTRY from a danger that THREATENS from WITHIN.

KICK THESE ENEMIES OUT!

According to the report recently made by a special congressional committee, the National Labor Relations board is an un-American organization out to destroy the very existence of our country and its established government.

Probably the best editorial that could be written about the situation, would be the publication of a Washington newspaper review of this report. The article follows in full:

Blanket indictment of the National Labor Relations Board as a Communist influenced agency that defies Congress, harbors enemies of constitutional government, oppresses labor, ruins employers and jeopardizes the national defense program has been made by the Smith House committee in its final report to Congress.

President Roosevelt's recent appointments of Dr. Harry A. Millis and Dr. William S. Lieserson to the board were hailed as a step in the right direction by the committee, which, by implication, called for the dismissal of board member Edwin S. Smith. It accused Smith of being affiliated with Communist "front" organizations and associated with Harry Bridges, West Coast labor leader.

Ending 17 months of investigation, the committee concluded:

"When an administrative agency of the government so far forgets its proper function as to defy the will of Congress, harbor and protect avowed enemies of constitutional government, invent and devise extra-legal (and even unlawful) methods of tormenting and ruining employers, foment and perpetuate industrial strife and oppress and penalize certain labor groups to favor others—then the time has come when the people of this country must raise their voices in insistent protest lest industrial peace, and with it, the entire program of national defense, be jeopardized, and the fundamental concepts upon which this government is based, be ultimately and utterly destroyed."

The committee, headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D) of Virginia, recommended:

1—"A house-cleaning of personnel, including 'prompt dismissal of all members of the erstwhile League for Peace and Democracy and the League Against War and Fascism, together with all employees of the board who may be, or have been at any time, members of similar Communist front or other radical organizations.'"

2—"Sweeping revision of the Wagner Labor Relations Act to include the Smith bill, passed by the House in this Congress but which was blocked in the Senate."

3—"Institution by Congress of 'a study of the entire field of labor relations.'"

The committee presented in its lengthy report examples from the record which assertedly showed how board members, including Edwin S. Smith and former Chairman J. Warren Madden, and employees "were profoundly influenced by the doctrines and teachings of a leftist philosophy which the committee believes incompatible with a truly democratic system of government."

The report emphasized:

"Fraternizing with Communist sympathizers, attending meetings of societies behind whose innocuous names lurk the Communist incus, accepting suggestions and instructions from Communists and near-Communists—all these and many other instances of improper associations and activities have convinced the committee that many of the employees of the board are unfit for the task of fair and impartial administration of the act."

"Amid such a luxuriant growth of alien philosophies, no democratic process would long have a chance of survival."

The report cited what the committee described as "anti-American affiliations and associations" of board personnel, leading off with board member Smith and Madden, whose appointment to a federal judgeship is pending in the Senate; former Secretary Nathan Witt, former Chief Administrative Examiner Alexander Hawes, and David J. Saposs, native of Russia and former director of economic research. The last three were among those who resigned when Madden was not reappointed to the board.

It charged that Smith was hailed as "comrade" in Mexico City when he was elected secretary for the United States at the meeting in 1938 of the National Congress Against War.

"After his return to the United States," the report said, "Smith became prominently identified with the Communist front organization known as the American League for Peace and Democracy and described by Earl Browder, the candidate of the Communist Party for president of the United States, as 'a transmission belt for communism.'"

The report told of frequent conferences between Smith and Bridges, in connection with West Coast labor affairs, and said the board's decision on June 21, 1938, favoring Bridges' CIO Longshoremen's Union, "established Bridges as the virtual czar of American maritime trade and commerce on the West Coast."

Charging the board with mal-administration of the Wagner Act, the committee said it had found fundamental and basic wrongs "which are the very antithesis of the result intended by Congress."

It cited them as:

1—"The existence of a large group among the board's personnel motivated by the social concept of an employer-employee relationship based upon class conflict rather than on co-operative enterprise."

2—"A complete lack of loyalty and belief in democratic institutions and processes, demonstrated at times by subversive doctrines and by affiliation with or sympathy for un-American organizations advocating the overthrow of our political and economic system; at others by a bold defiance of the will of the people of the United States."

3—"A flagrant disregard of constitutional rights and procedural safeguards demonstrated by the invention of non-statutory remedies, the use of economic pressure devices and the abuse of administrative discretion."

4—"The interpretation of this law by certain members of the board and its staff as an affirmative mandate to use the power of their official position and prestige as a stimulus to drive employees to accept and join forms of organizations not of their own choice, thereby actually depriving the workers themselves of their statutory right of self-organization."

The report charged the board had been "unfair and biased" in relations between employers and employees; lacked "judicial temperament and 'as between the two great competing labor organizations, pronounced pro-CIO sympathies have been ever present in the board's policies and decisions.'"

The Smith committee also charged the use of a "goon squad" by Nathan Witt, who, as secretary, assertedly sent out his own investigators to look into activities of employees; "dilatory methods" used by the board to inspire and prolong industrial disputes in order to favor the CIO, and the solicitation of business by personnel.

The committee listed the following "invidious board practices":

"Blacklisting litigants before it."

"Denial to legitimate organizations of opportunities to appear and be defended in the very litigation that may destroy them."

"Refusing to employ the privilege of testifying in their own cases."

"Requiring industry to 're-instate' persons who were never employed and pay 'back wages' to persons never on the pay rolls; and to others who never even applied for employment."

"Seeking to legalize as part of the American way of life the infamous, anarchistic sit-down strikes and persevering in this course even when rebuked by the Supreme Court."

The committee said Congress should find a new definition for interstate commerce, because the board had sought "to find every conceivable enterprise to be subject to its regulatory power."

It denounced former Chairman Madden for his part in the board's alleged defiance of Congress through the establishment of the "Technical Service Division" to supplant the Economic Research Division. Congress denied $346,600 for the division, headed by Saposs. The committee said this was the first time in history an agency had defied Congress by discharging employees in another division to transfer them to a new one.

The report described Saposs as a "man of very pronounced leftist tendencies and his writings and affiliations show his opposition to the American system."

Their Views About Public Problems and Issues

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

The British haters masquerading as isolationists are quite busy just now. The average isolationist doesn't care a hoot about the result of the European contest. They have no keen distaste for Hitler and stupidly believe that even should he triumph in the present struggle it means nothing to the world democracy or this country. They are the type of individuals who would watch their neighbor's house burn and not lift a hand to save his furniture or perhaps his life.—James Smith in The Muskegon Observer.

THE PERFECT RULE OF LIFE

One of the most difficult truths for men to learn and to incorporate in their living is the truth of the Golden Rule. "As ye would that men should do to you do ye also unto them likewise," is a stumbling block to many when it comes to adopting it literally as a rule and practice of their lives. We think in interpreting the Golden Rule, as in interpreting much of Christ's teachings, a little common sense is necessary. Christ taught his truths 2000 years ago, and while the principles have not changed, times and conditions have. We believe in the application of the Golden Rule, a spirit of mutuality is anticipated. We do not believe that a man would be justified in applying the Golden Rule in his dealings with Hitler or Mussolini because there could be no mutuality of spirit and desire. We do not believe that a banker would be justified in loaning and continuing to loan to an individual who borrowed with little or no thought or concern of ever paying back. We do not believe that there is any virtue in turning the other cheek to a senseless clod of a bully. The Golden Rule anticipates a mutuality of spirit and desire. Without the Golden Rule life becomes ruthless and elemental. Under it is possible the largest measure of happy and harmonious living. —George O. St. Charles in The Dearborn Independent.

A GOOD CHOICE

We believe the members of the state board of agriculture, the governing body of Michigan State college, chose wisely in picking John A. Hannah to succeed Dr. Robert S. Shaw as president of Michigan State college. Folks here in Ingham county are practically under the eaves of the college and so come to know many of the leaders there. For almost 20 years John A. Hannah has been listed among the leaders.

Mr. Hannah is a graduate of Michigan State college with the class of 1923. For 10 years he put his specialized knowledge to practical use. He became a recognized authority on poultry. For a few months he served as a NRA code authority. With the outlawing of NRA, Mr. Hannah returned to the campus to become secretary of the board of agriculture.

The president-designate has been a key man in the rapid expansion of Michigan State college and in the progress of its gigantic development program. He helped plan what buildings would be provided under the federal spending program and he knows what went into those buildings.

Members of the board of agriculture could have been excused had they gone deep into academic ranks to pick a president, because that is so often done. It has been done at Michigan State and it has been done at the University of Michigan, and sometimes to the embarrassment of the state.

We think the choice of a poultry expert to be president of a college which long was primarily an agricultural college is refreshing. So many people in this day and age seek to cover up some of the practical things. They are inclined to hold themselves somewhat aloof from farmers, machinists, electricians, welders, printers and other craftsmen and tradesmen. They want to have white-collar jobs. They want to be considered progressive and so live somewhat apart from the workaday world.

There is still a lot of work to do in this world. There is still a lot of progress to be made in farming, in welding, in distribution and processing milk, in printing and in many other lowly walks of life. We believe that a man who has proved himself in practical work is apt to keep his feet on the ground as college president. We maintain that a man who can keep his feet on the ground will be a better administrator of an institution the size of Michigan State than some great thinker with his head in the clouds. Perhaps we are unintentionally doing an injustice to Mr. Hannah. He may be big enough to have his feet on the ground and his head in the clouds, too. If so, then so much the better for Michigan State and for the state of Michigan.—Nelson Brown in The Ingham County News.
