Vote No

There will be two constitutional amendments given to the voters Monday for their decision. Vote no—as it is persistently rumored and underlined that certain questionable interests are sponsoring these issues. Vote No!

Voters to Elect Commissioners Monday, April 7

Six Proposed Charter Amendments to be Submitted to Voters

City electors will go to the polls next Monday, April 7 to vote for three city commissioners, one constable and one municipal judge and to vote upon six proposed amendments to the city charter.

Candidates for the office of city commissioners include George Robinson, L. E. Wilson and Warren Worth, incumbents, and Robert Joffe and Dunbar Davis. The only declared candidate for the office of municipal judge is J. Rusing Cutler, and for constable, Leroy Reiman. Voters may fill in the names of other qualified candidates for either of these offices.

The mayor of the city of Plymouth will be elected from among the commission body by the city commission following the city election. Other city administrative officers to be appointed by the new commission following the election include a city assessor, two members to the board of review, an auditing committee consisting of two commissioners, a recreation committee consisting of two members of the commission, two members of the board of registrations, a city treasurer, four members to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, one member to be appointed by the commission for a three-year term, and a city attorney. The two remaining members of the city commission whose terms are unexpired this year are Henry Henderson and Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple, incumbent mayor.

No serious objections have been registered against any of the six proposed charter amendments and city officials have recommended their adoption for improved municipal government. Proposal No. 1 provides a salary of not less than $600 and not more than $1500 a year for the municipal judge, the exact amount to be fixed by an ordinance of the city commission and also prohibits the collection of fees by the judge in all criminal and civil cases.

Proposal No. 2 provides that the municipal judge shall devote not less than eight hours a week to the work of his office, and that the salary shall be paid on a regular basis, and shall be paid by him with the approval of the city commission.

Proposal No. 3 provides that candidates for the office of municipal judge must be attorneys admitted to practice law in the supreme court of the state, be a freeholder in the city, at least 25 years of age, and a resident of the city of Plymouth for five years.

Proposal No. 4 provides that the city manager with the approval of the city commission shall be permitted to purchase large lots of goods or materials up to a $500 limit for quantity discounts. Proposal No. 5 is a clarification of the qualifications for candidates to the city commission requiring that they must be both a freeholder and a resident of the city for two years.

Proposal No. 6 provides for the increase of the salary of the city commissioners from $3 to $5 for commission meetings provided there are no more than 52 meetings in any one year.

Telephone Manager to Attend Training Series

John MacLachlan, manager of the Bell Telephone company of the city of Plymouth, will attend a commercial training course in office management at Grand Rapids, division headquarters for this area, four days a week during the month of April.

Timely Discovery Prevents Serious Damage

Timely discovery of a fire and quick work by the Plymouth fire department last Saturday forenoon saved the Masonic Temple from serious damage by flames.

Robert Lawson, 284 Union street, who lives near the structure, noticed smoke pouring through a basement window. He quickly called the fire department.

Firemen discovered the furnace room in flames and the fire spreading to floors above. Paper refuse which had been stored in the basement, had in some way caught fire.

Forcing entry through a door that led to the basement, the firemen were able to reach the blaze and extinguish it almost immediately. Damage to the extent of nearly $1500 was done. It will be necessary for the entire structure to be cleaned and redecorated as the result of the smoke and heat.

Dunn Steel Co. Builds Tool Room, Office Addition

Building Activity Increases; New Homes Under Construction

Construction was started last week on an addition to the office and tool room of the Dunn Steel Products company at 377 Amelia street between Blanche and Main streets. The addition, 25x25 feet, of cement block construction is being built by Contractor Ernest W. Rossow, at an estimated cost of $3300. A Lechnivar oil unit is to be installed in the new addition to the plant, which is to be complete and ready for operation by the first of May.

The new professional center building on West Ann Arbor Trail, being constructed by Richard Widmayer and E. Fletcher Campbell, is expected to be ready for occupancy by the middle of this month. The plastering and flooring is complete and the building is ready for interior finish work. Three of the four suites have been rented and will be occupied as soon as the building is completed.

Building activity in general took a seasonal upward swing during March with 17 building permits issued at a total value of $23,658 including five new homes in Plymouth.

Current home-building includes two speculative projects by the Sheldon Land company and Daniel S. Mills, local contractor. The Sheldon Land home, located at 936 Ross street between 10th and 11th streets, is under construction.

Girl Reserves Club Plans Annual Mother-Daughter Banquet May 7

The seventeenth annual mother and daughter banquet, sponsored by four local groups of the Girl Reserves, will be held on May 7 at the high school auditorium.

Mrs. E. C. Thompson, state president of the Congress of Parent-Teachers associations, has been selected as the principal speaker for the evening. Co-chairmen in charge of arrangements are Miss Helen Wells, one of four Girl Reserve sponsors, and Miss Virginia Rock, program chairman.

The theme of the banquet program will be a portrayal of the evolution of the modern girl, tracing the change and progress of young American women in occupational fields and political freedom from Civil War times to the present.

Tickets, to be placed on sale next week, will be limited to 300 persons, the capacity of the high school auditorium. Chairmen and committees for the banquet are as follows: Table setting, Virginia Dunham, chairman; Louise Piker, Betty Klingbeil, Beverly Eschele, Beatrice Robertson, Nancy Smorretti, Harriet Mitchell, Beatrice Radtke, Elizabeth Horvath, Dorothy Hackenberry, Anna Lou Blessing, Margaret Brown, Dora Gruebner, Carmel Stitt, Allene Parmelee, Beatrice Reed, Sybil Bassett, Geraldine Burgett, Nora Wefsenmoe, Doris Cole, Nelda Meader, Caroline Goodale, Nancy Maddock, Jane Hood and Gertrude Mulry; typing, Kathryn Michol, chairman; Violet Zimba, Glena Clark, publicity; Marie Ann Miller, chairman; Dorrit Strauss,

To Live in Iowa

ARTHUR STROLL

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stroll have just moved to Des Moines, Iowa, where Mr. Stroll has been appointed to an important position in the service department of the Burroughs Adding Machine company. It was in February when Mr. Stroll completed a nine months' course in the training department of the Burroughs company. This course followed a previous seven weeks' junior training course.

Mr. Stroll, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stroll of East Ann Arbor Trail, is a graduate of the Plymouth high school with the class of 1937. He is a member of the Plymouth Masonic lodge and has a host of friends in and around Plymouth who wish him success in his new position.

Mrs. Stroll was formerly Bernice Lawson. She attended the Plymouth high school at one time but moved with her parents to Grand Rapids about four years ago. She, too, has many friends in Plymouth.

George Moriarity to Address J.C.C.

George Moriarity, ex-baseball player with the Detroit Tigers during the Ty Cobb era and veteran umpire who was retired last year, will relate his experiences "Batting Around the American League" at a dinner meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Crystal room of the Hotel Mayflower Friday evening (tonight).

Members of business men's clubs in the city have been invited to join J. C. C. members for the meeting which will feature movies of teams in the American League circuit along with Umpire Moriarity's talk. Marvin Terry is program chairman in charge of the meeting.

Following the regular dinner meeting, the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet to consider changes in the by-laws of the organization to effect a system of pro-rated membership dues and to provide for two vice-presidents instead of one to direct committee work. Plans will also be discussed for the club's annual clean-up campaign.

Vote Monday -- The Duty of Every One

Absent Voters' Ballots Available at City Hall

Absent voters' ballots for the April 7 biennial spring election are now available at the city clerk's office in the city hall.

The ballots, which may be used by persons who will be unable to go to the polls on April 7 because of absence from the city or physical disability, may be obtained until 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, April 5. Voted ballots must be returned to the clerk's office on election day, Monday, April 7 to be included in the final count of votes.

Army to Summon Quota of 50 Men for April 18 Call

Next Month's Quota Due Before May 21; Heavy Call in June

A quota of 50 men will be summoned into army service and training in the fifth selective service call on Friday, April 18, according to notification received this week by local board No. 61 in Plymouth.

"All deliveries of selectees to induction stations for the month of May will take place prior to May 21," declared Col. E. M. Rosecrans, state director of selective service, in a letter to Walter Harms, chairman of local board No. 61. "All local boards must plan to have their quotas at the earliest possible moment in May to fill this call when it comes. The call for May will be approximately 25 per cent less than the April call. Tentative figures are not yet available. The June call will be a heavy call. To be forewarned is to be forearmed. All local boards should start preparing immediately to meet the June call by having sufficient questionnaires classified and enough potential Class I-A men on hand to meet a very heavy call."

Including the next call for 50 men on April 18, a total of 148 men have been called into service from this local board, leaving a balance of 127 men to be called during May and June to fulfill the board's total quota of 275 men. Included among the local board's credits of men inducted into service are 29 enlistments in the regular armed forces of the United States. Nine local men have enlisted in the army service, 14 in the navy, one in the marine corps and five in the National guard, in addition to those drafted.

The local board has issued a total of 1650 questionnaires at the rate of 300 a week. There are 35 men who have passed their physical examinations and are on the waiting list as Class I-A registrants ready for the next call this month. The number of volunteers has decreased slightly in recent weeks, according to Chief Clerk Everett Joffe, who adds that many young men who have attained the age of 21 since the national registration day last November have asked to register recently, but the local board can accept no new registrations until another registration day is proclaimed by selective service directors in Washington.

Relative to marital status definition, selective service headquarters issued the following statement to local boards this week: "Marriage of itself does not provide a basis for deferment. Local boards cannot call all unmarried men first before married men. Married registrants, whether or not their wives are dependent, must be classified as questionnaires are received, and local boards must determine claims for deferment as each case arises."

Hilltop Golf Club Opens Saturday

The Hilltop Golf club will open its spring season Saturday, April 5, marking the twelfth year that the course has been in operation and the seventh year that Casey Partridge has been pro-manager of the club.

The management anticipates a larger membership this year with about 150 golf participants. There were 112 regular members last season. The club house has been redecorated throughout and many changes are planned for the course. A much larger display of golf equipment will be available this year. Spring fees will be in effect until playing conditions are normal.

Many Important Public Officials to Be Elected

Contests Grow in Interest as Voting Day Nears

Monday is election day. It is the day when voters of Plymouth will elect three members to the city commission. Three of the present commissioners are candidates for re-election. There are two other candidates. A municipal justice and constable are also to be elected.

It is the day when voters of Wayne county will elect 18 circuit judges to serve for the next six years. For the 18 places, there are numerous candidates representing elements that have no place in the American way of life. In another place on this page The Mail makes its recommendations to the voters in this part of Wayne county.

There is to be elected one county auditor, with the present auditor, Edward H. Williams, having the preferred rating of the Detroit Citizens League. On the state non-partisan ballot for supreme judge, there are four candidates. One of the present judges, George E. Bushnell, and a new candidate, George A. Cram of Pontiac, have outstanding endorsements for election.

Two state officials, the superintendent of public instruction and a state highway commissioner, are to be elected. Supt. Eugene B. Elliott, brother of Clarence Elliott of this city, has been conducting a strenuous campaign throughout the state. He is opposed by Edward W. McFarland, a former member of the state liquor commission, now instructor in a Detroit college. Mr. Elliott has the strong support of influential educational leaders.

The contest for state highway commissioner has developed into a horse race. LeRoy Smith, who has made Wayne county's road system one of the outstanding in the world, has waged a strenuous fight for the place Governor Van Wagoner would like to have filled by his former assistant, G. Donald Kennedy.

Another outstanding candidate is William Berkey, present member of the state board of agriculture, who has won the admiration of voters throughout Michigan by his common-sense policies in connection with the Michigan State college.

Two regents of the University are also to be elected. Vote Monday, no matter to which party you belong.

America is one of the few countries left where people still have a right to vote. Keep that right—and VOTE MONDAY.

School Secretary Resigns Position

Mrs. Joseph Rowland, the former Irene Krauter, who has served as secretary to George A. Smith, superintendent of schools and the Plymouth board of education, for the last 12 years, resigned from her position last Tuesday.

Graduated from Plymouth high school in the class of 1929, the school secretary was valedictorian of her class and accepted her present position shortly before graduation.

Mrs. Rowland's duties, in addition to her own bookkeeping and secretarial work, have included the supervision of office practice assistants working in the high school office in preparation for secretarial employment.

"Mrs. Rowland has been outstanding for her efficiency, courtesy and dependability, and the board, as well as myself, feels a great loss in her decision to retire from work at this time," said Superintendent Smith.

Mrs. Rowland, who was married to Joseph Rowland, principal of the Cady school, in 1934, plans to devote her time exclusively to home-making in the couple's new home at 419 Blunk avenue.

Miss Dorothy Richards, who was graduated in the class of 1940, has been appointed by the board of education as Mrs. Rowland's successor to the position of secretary to the superintendent, and she assumed her duties the first of the month after working part-time during the last month.

Starkweather P. T. A. Holds Election April 10

Central P. T. A. Meets Both Groups to Name Convention Delegates

The Parent-Teacher association of Starkweather grade school will hold its annual election of officers next Thursday afternoon, April 10, at 2:30 o'clock, at the school, and the Central grade school P. T. A. group will appoint a nominating committee at its meeting Tuesday, April 8, for an election in May. Delegates will also be appointed from both groups to attend the state P. T. A. convention to be held in Flint later in April.

A nominating committee, comprised of Mrs. Howard Hunt, Mrs. William G. Johnson, Miss Hazel Parmelee and Miss Mary Lyon, was appointed at a special meeting of the Starkweather P. T. A. board last Monday afternoon. The present officers of the Starkweather P. T. A. include Mrs. Jess Hines, president; Mrs. Dreifuss, vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Swanson, secretary; Mrs. Clark Sackett, treasurer, and Mrs. Jewell Bell, program chairman.

Following a book report by Mrs. Anthony Matulis, the Central grade school P. T. A. at its meeting on April 8 will appoint a nominating committee for the annual election in May. The present officers of the Central P. T. A. are Mrs. F. R. Holscher, president; Mrs. William Arscott, vice-president; Miss Grace Robinson, secretary; Miss June Jewell, treasurer, and Mrs. Edward Dobbs, program chairman.

Mrs. Hines, Mrs. Holscher and Mrs. Dobbs attended the District No. 1 meeting of the P. T. A. held in Waukegan last week. Mrs. E. C. Thompson, state president of the P. T. A., gave a message, and Tracy McMurtry, president of the Wayne County council, gave a report of activities in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Scheppe are the parents of a new baby, a half pound son, born April 1. Both mother and babe are doing nicely.

Rotarians Go to Country for Club's Largest Annual Urban Meeting

President's Idea Makes Hit With Members and Guests

Instead of bringing farmer guests in and around Plymouth to attend the annual urban meeting of Plymouth's Rotary club, President Glenn M. Jewell hit upon the idea of taking Plymouth Rotarians to the country for their annual farmer meeting. That is why nearly all Plymouth Rotarians drove out to Salem last Friday night to attend one of the largest and most interesting urban meetings the Rotary club ever held.

The big dining hall of the Federated church was filled to overflowing with farmers from around Salem who had been invited to be the guests of the club. Ladies of the church served one of the dinners that has won for the church more than fame that has spread far beyond the confines of Salem.

Superintendent of Schools George A. Smith of Plymouth was to be the main speaker, but unfortunately could not be present.

Seizure of Ford Plant Forces Idleness Here

Lack of Materials Throws Hundreds Out of Work

Because of the long list of candidates seeking election as circuit judges, The Plymouth Mail strongly urges its readers to clip this list out and take it with you to the polls Monday.

Most of these are the present circuit judges who have honored Wayne county by distinguished and UNBIASED service. In the list is NOT ONE candidate who has flirted with Communists or other dangerous elements in order to win votes.

They are tried and proven public officials who have the courage of their convictions. These are trying days, and there will be days ahead that are going to take unbiased MEN of the highest integrity to meet the issues that are bound to confront the people of our county, state and nation.

That is why The Plymouth Mail urges its readers to clip this list of names and vote for these 18 candidates on the non-partisan ballot for circuit judge. Vote only for 18, as follows:

- X Joseph A. Moynihan
- X Guy A. Miller
- X Vincent M. Brennan
- X Sherman D. Callender
- X James E. Chenot
- X Homer Ferguson
- X Ira W. Javne
- X Harry B. Keidan
- X Adolph F. Marschner
- X DeWitt H. Merriam
- X Lester S. Moll
- X Henry G. Nicol

Plymouth Voters Like Sempliner

The success of Arthur W. Sempliner in winning the nomination for Wayne county circuit court commissioner and securing the support and endorsement of all civic groups is an example of how the younger attorneys of the county are taking greater interest in government and civic affairs and are beginning to occupy more of executive and judicial public offices.

Although practically an unknown name to the voters of Wayne county, except for his vigorous candidacy for state senator from the first district last fall, Sempliner won the nomination for circuit court commissioner by a comfortable margin over names which have long been politically potent in Wayne county. He also led all candidates in the primary bar vote conducted by Detroit attorneys, registering more than three times the vote of his nearest opponent, and is the endorsed candidate of the Wayne county lawyers in their recently announced vote for the election.

As a candidate for state senator last fall, Sempliner was one of the first men to advocate a speeding-up of the Workmen's Compensation Benefits, claiming that these benefits should be paid at the end of the third week instead of the present five-week period. He also campaigned to take the sales tax off of food and beverages, pointing out that under the present system, the small storekeeper actually pays more than half of the sales tax out of his own pocket because he is unable to collect tax on small items from his customers.

Sempliner is a graduate of the University of Michigan Law school with a fine record and has been a successful practicing attorney in Detroit for the last several years. His candidacy for circuit court commissioner is supported by civic and bar groups as well as by organized labor.

His friends and supporters have presented Arthur W. Sempliner to the voters of Wayne county as a young and efficient attorney of unquestioned integrity, a capacity for hard work, a successful record in private practice with an active interest in, and a liberal attitude toward, civic affairs.

State Officers on April 7 Ballot

State officers to be elected at the biennial spring election next Monday, April 7 include two justices of the supreme court, two regents of the University of Michigan, superintendent of public instruction, member of the state board of education, two members of the state board of agriculture, state highway commissioner (to fill vacancy for term ending June 30, 1941 and also for full term ending June 30, 1945), circuit judges, county auditor and circuit court commissioner. The partisan contest centers around the key positions of superintendent of public instruction and state highway commissioner.

Two proposed state amendments to the constitution will be offered to the voters relative to the circulating of petitions for constitutional amendments and initiative and referendum petitions and the summarization of amendments on the ballots. The Plymouth Mail along with all exponents of good government recommends the rejection of both of these state proposals.

Birthdays of the Week

Only one day separates the birthdays of two prominent Americans. Madam Frances Perkins will celebrate her fifty-ninth birthday on April 10, and the following day Charles Evans Hughes, chief justice of the Supreme court, will celebrate his seventy-ninth birthday.

Roger Babson Says

Babson Park, Florida, April 4.—Naturally, I get a lot of letters from readers, and most of them are good letters. I often wish that space would allow me to quote from at least one every week, but I fear this would get me into too much trouble! I, however, must quote from a letter recently received from M. C. Yates of Pueblo, Colorado. The gist of the letter is as follows:

Using Spare Time
"I am employed in the steel mill here in Pueblo — have worked for the company 15 years. My father died when I was six years of age. I never hired out as a carpenter, although I have spent many hours reading books on carpentry work. You may call it my hobby, as, of course, I have not neglected the processes of steel making and blast furnace practice, which are my main jobs. I enclose snapshots of three homes I have built during my spare time, and am about ready to start on another. They are modern to the last minute, and the two latest were sold before completion."

"During the summer months I go to work in the mill at 6:00 a. m.—am let out at 3:00 p. m. and start work on my new house at 3:30 p. m., working until dark or perhaps until 9:00 p. m. every night for five days. When I have a day or two off, I average 14 hours per day at work on my new house. Time passes very fast for me. I wonder what could be accomplished if the people in this free country would quit worrying and put their hearts in their regular jobs and their spare time into something constructive?"

Rebuilding Old Houses
I think this is a wonderful idea, but it need not be limited to building new houses. Spare time could also be used in providing the family with food from a garden or clothes from a work bench. There also is a great opportunity in buying up and fixing over old houses for those who will study and take up, as a hobby, carpentry and painting.

Recently, I was at an auction in Boston and saw a four-story brick house with a furnace and a bathroom sell—free and clear of debt—for $1500. It was within three minutes walk of the Statler Hotel and Public Gardens. It was bought by someone who will fix it up in his spare time and get a good rent for it. The property is assessed for $8500. I understand that there are thousands of such bargains in Boston and other older cities.

What About Taxes?
Some "smart" reader will say, "this program would be okay if we didn't have to pay taxes." Well, I will answer that comment by quoting some more from Mr. Yates' letter. Says he: "A neighbor who ridicules my home-building program always says when I start a new house, 'Well, you will have two houses to pay taxes on now, instead of only one.' My answer to him is, 'The difference between me and a smart man is that a smart man tries to figure out how he can get out of paying taxes, while I use the same time in figuring a way to pay them.' What America needs is more elbow grease and less belly-aching. And this is the only way we can lick Hitler."

Organizing Labor vs. Organizing Yourself
I believe in collective bargaining. Wage workers have as much right to get together and bargain collectively through the president of their Union as have the stockholders through the president of the company. On the other hand, when all industry is organized, the raising of wages will do no good; while the shortening of hours will surely raise prices. Wage workers will have to pay more for everything they buy. All of us get richer only as more is produced. Surely, only as your employer produces more is there more for him to divide among you and me.

Instead, however, of trying to reform the labor unions, or upset the New Deal, perhaps Brother Yates has the solution to the problem. This is to quit grumbling, conform to existing labor standards, but use one's spare time in some constructive work. When showing Yates' letter to a prominent Baltimore attorney, he replied: "An old German lady once came to my office for help in settling her husband's estate, amounting to about $40,000. Among other things she told me that he had never received more than $15 a week in his life; but through her thrift and his spare-time work, they had built 12 houses. These they rented for about $20 a month. Remember, however, that the $15 a week built only the first one or two houses. It was the rents which built the others." The biggest goldmine is compound interest.

Profit Taxes for Labor
I notice that Mrs. Roosevelt has suggested starting an excess profit tax for wage workers. The scheme is to have all workers put their increased weekly wages into the new U. S. Savings War Bonds. This is not a bad idea; but would it not be better to have this money put into bank to be used only for building a new home after peace is declared? Something surely will be needed then to prevent a terrible business depression with the accompanying unemployment. The time to prepare for this is now. Here is the way that the wage workers, who will be the worst sufferers, can ward it off. Remember that when you build a house, you help the wage workers of 27 different industries. What we all want is security and stability. Both of these things will come only through working more hours, saving more money, and developing ourselves. By this I mean self-improvement—spiritually, physically, and mentally. Here is a practical way to get security for yourself and stability for your brother. In fact, let us not forget that Jesus was right when He said that we get security ourselves only when others also get security. This reminds me of something President Woodrow Wilson once said: "No man ever hung the red flag of anarchy on a house which he owned himself."

Men are people who expect to kiss all the girls and then find an unkind one to marry.

Urge Veterans to Attend Meeting

All Plymouth veterans are urged to attend a meeting of the seventeenth district, sponsored by the American Legion in the Royal Oak auditorium, 709 North Washington avenue, Royal Oak at 2 p. m., Sunday, April 6.

A report of National Commander Milo Warner who just returned from England after making a two weeks' survey of home defense and sabotage, fifth column activity, and invasion for the purpose of organizing a similar force in this country will be made.

Speakers will be A. C. Putt-brese, state commander of the American Legion, John Bugas, chief of the federal bureau of investigation of Detroit, Addison Alguire, state adjutant and Rollin F. Becker, state director of Americanism.

Music will be furnished by the bugle octet from the Cook Nelson champion drum and bugle corps of Pontiac.

Harold Owens, district commander and member of Myron H. Beals Post, Plymouth, declares that every veteran who has the interest of his country and welfare of its citizens at heart should attend this meeting and learn what you, as a veteran, can do to help in this emergency.

Mrs. Frank A. Miller and daughter, Joanne, of Sheldon road, returned Tuesday from a four-day visit with relatives in Cleveland.

LEROY C. SMITH

Is Best Fitted for the Job of

State Highway Commissioner

Michigan Needs
LEROY C. SMITH

Leroy C. Smith is the kind of a man Wayne County needs in Lansing . . . He will do for the State as he has done for Wayne County—use highway funds wisely, eliminate waste in maintenance and construction, and build long lasting roads rather than "political" roads.

Qualified? Yes! For nine years he was State highway engineer and Deputy State Highway Commissioner. For 23 years he's been kept on the job as Wayne County Highway Engineer.

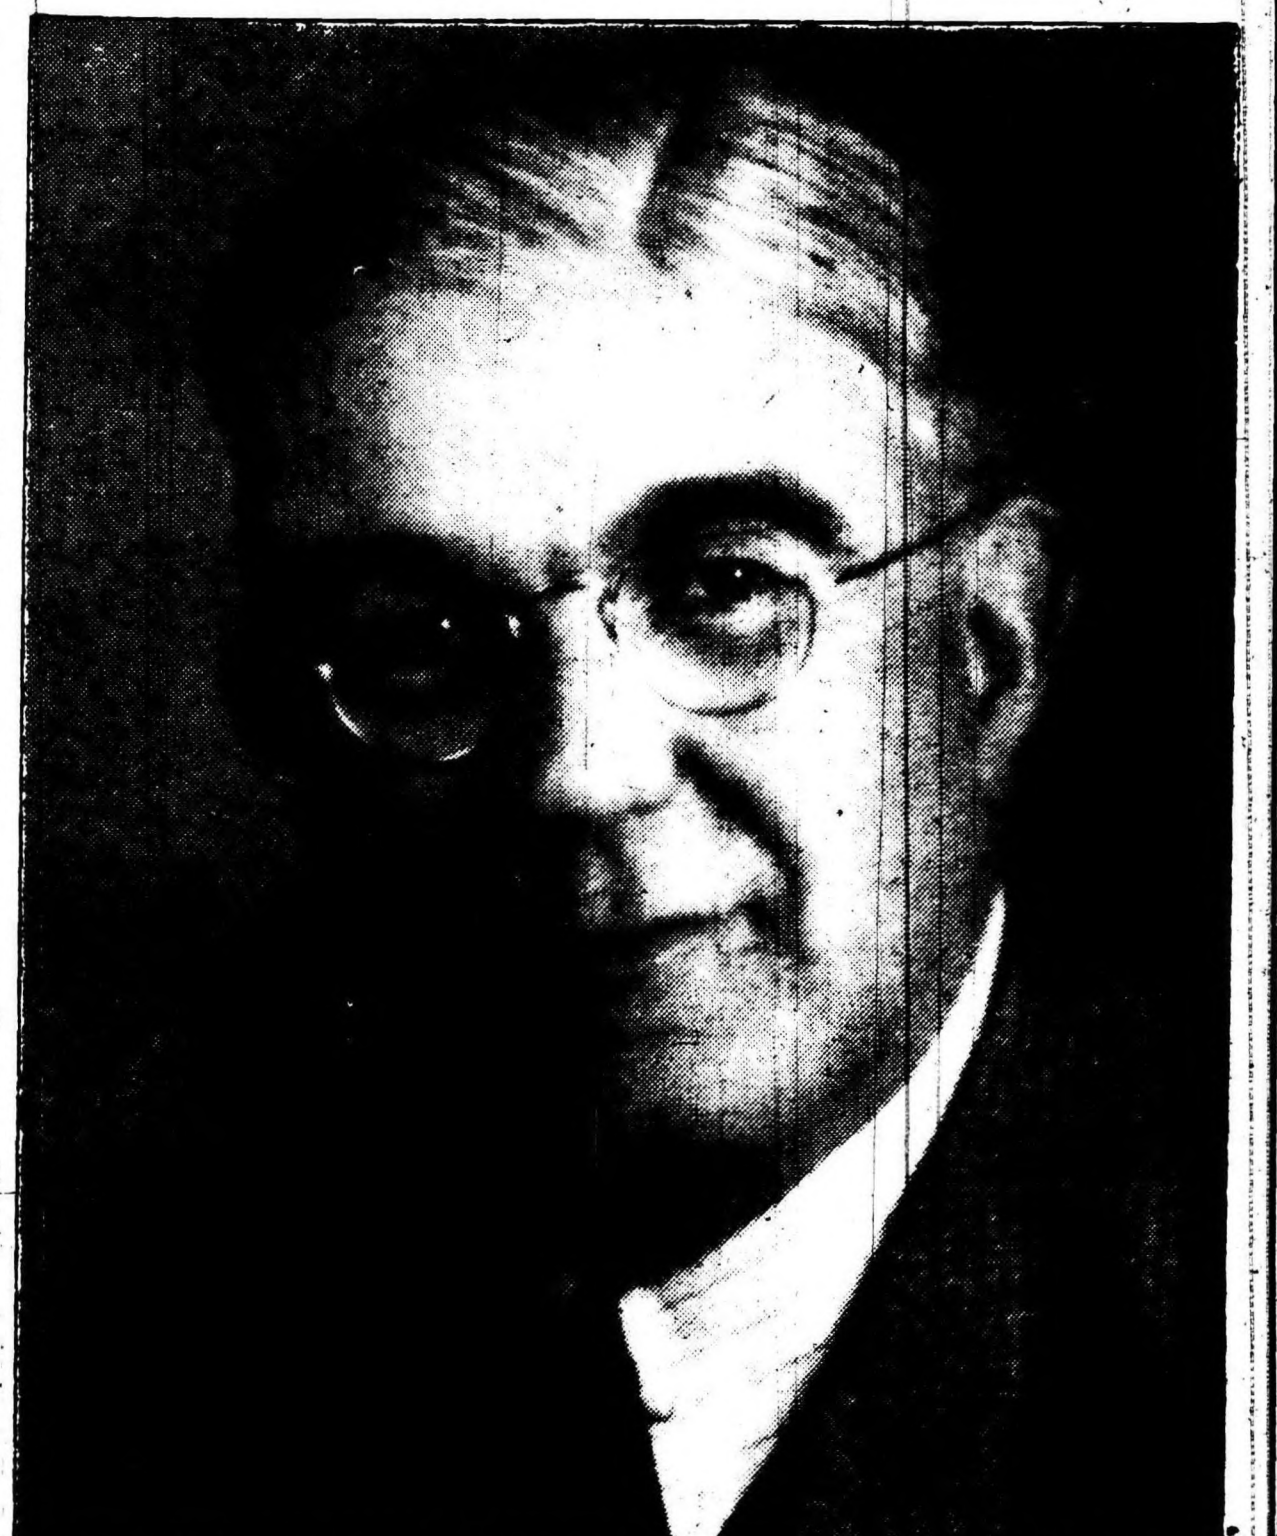

Here, he has built the country's finest system of County roads, the country's first superhighways and cloverleaf grade separation.

Mr. Smith was directly responsible for the development of Plymouth's fine parkway system.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winkler and Mrs. I. C. Merker returned home last week from their stay in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Mrs. Merker and Mrs. John Hettche, of Detroit, left Tuesday for a week's stay in New York City, where they will be the guests of Mike Jacobs.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burton and son, Winston, and Kaye Brigham of Dearborn Hills, visited Daniel Burton at Gross Isle Sunday and enjoyed dinner together.

Mrs. William Morris entertained several guests at breakfast, Tuesday, after which they attended the meeting of the Northwestern Mothers' club, held in the Fisher Y in Detroit when Mrs. Henry Weidutes gave an interesting book review. The guests were Mrs. William King, Mrs. James Kinahan, Mrs. Bernard Folsom, Mrs. Ernest Wooster, Mrs. Paul Harsha, Mrs. Stanley James and Mrs. Carl Groth.

Mrs. A. C. Burton attended a luncheon, Wednesday, in the home of Mrs. Erma Twist on Manor boulevard, in Detroit. There will be six members of the Rosedale Gardens Unit of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association who will serve at the Pantry Shelf, one day during the Flower Show. Those who were not fortunate enough to get their tickets by Thursday (yesterday) for the show will have to pay the full price as all unsold tickets were turned in on that day.

Mrs. Fred Winkler, Mrs. H. P. Adams, Mrs. I. C. Merker and Mrs. John Hettche attended the bridge luncheon of the Woman's Athletic association held Thursday at the Lakeland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Winkler are moving this week from the Gardens to Lilley road just off of Ford road.

Mrs. Henry Holcomb attended a meeting of her bridge club, Tuesday evening in Plymouth, when Mrs. Harold Riggs was hostess.

Mrs. A. C. Burton and Mrs. James Lee were guests, Friday, of Mrs. George E. Fisher, at a luncheon-bridge party held at Kerna in Detroit.

Friday evening of last week Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gibson and the following friends enjoyed an evening of movies in technicolor furnished by Messrs. Williams, Copping and Dawson: Mr. and Mrs. Charles William, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Copping, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Miller, Juanita Mallon, Harold Simmons and Vera Frasier, of Detroit. A buffet supper with Easter decorations was served at a late hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brand entertained Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Moore and son, Walter, of Lansing, over the week-end.

Friday, in the home of Mrs. Robert Burns, a group of ladies honored Mrs. Stanley James with a potluck luncheon. This was an "appreciation" luncheon for having furnished the transportation to the members of the group who attended Fisher Town Hall series each week, during the season.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Micol of Pontiac, are visiting in the home of their son, Henry Holcomb, and family, while Mrs. Micol is convalescing from a recent operation.

Mrs. Jean Mullikens, Mrs. Mary Ross, Mrs. Edgar Peck, of Detroit, and Mrs. Blanche Hoffer, of New York City, were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. George E. Fisher.

Mrs. G. Freda Byan and Mrs. A. R. Koats, of Toledo, Ohio, were luncheon guests of Mrs. Kenneth Gibson, Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns attended the dinner-dance of the American Institute of Banking, held Friday evening in the Hotel Statler.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Beach of Clarkston were entertained at dinner, Sunday, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holcomb.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schwarz and family have returned from their stay in St. Petersburg, Florida. They were the guests, for a day and night, of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winkler at Treasure Island, while away.

Our teacher's niece, Elizabeth Chaffee, visited our school Tuesday.

Mary and Harriet Mitchell visited Shirley Miller on Sunday.

Miss Jameson visited our school last Wednesday. We sang, and danced.

Frances Eskra's brother, Walter, left for Camp Grant, Illinois, last Friday.

Mary Mitchell and Kenneth Brinks were on the 4-H county honor roll. Kenneth Brinks will spend a week at the 4-H camp at Lansing.

The children of our school are practicing their songs and dances for the May festival rehearsal on April 10.

Claire Belle Williams got her new glasses on Tuesday.

Livonia School News

Plans for this year's festival have been sent home by every child. The county office makes these arrangements. All parents are urged to visit school. The best way to observe a class is for the parent to simply watch the activity with no discussion with the teacher until the children have been dismissed. In this way the routine is not broken into. The child who is well, physically, normal mentally, who has had his first five years of life in a normal, happy home environment so that his emotional balance is normal and who has not changed schools again and again, progresses normally at school. It is during the first five years of a child's life that the basic habits of behavior and attitudes are formed. Discuss your child's work with his teacher.

First and Second Grades
"Our Goldfish"
We have nine goldfish. They swim around and around. One day two fish had a fight. They splashed water on the floor. Our teacher had to put more water into the bowl.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
The people who got A's in spelling are, Dorothy, Joyce, Marguerite Oppen, Lillian, Theresa, Bob Shelton, Rosays, Pamela, Sylvia, and Wallace. Dick is going to New Orleans soon. We have a new girl in our fifth grade. Her name is Pamela Krause. We had a visitor in our fifth grade. Her name was Marjorie Rathel. She stayed four days. We are practicing for our spelling contest. Bob Graham is the first child in our fifth and sixth grade school children to sell Easter stamps. We have different kinds of pictures in our room. In art we are making posters of spring and food. Saturday, March 29, was Mr. Gleason's birthday. Thursday, Kenneth found out the way home from school, three puppies. They were thrown out of a car window going about ten miles an hour. He saved them from getting hit by a truck. Bob Schaible is back in school after a long sickness. We missed him.

Seventh and Eighth Grades
In literature class we have our border finished. We are starting on the pictures for our pictorial map. We are now studying Mexico. Tuesday we got a new girl. Her name is Flea Krause. We were very pleased to get her.

Elm School News
Primary Room
The children of the Primary room have been making trains this week.

The second grade children are learning more new combinations. The first grade children are enjoying their Mother Hubbard workbooks.

Second, Third and Fourth Grades
We have Easter pictures on the board.

We have safety picture books. The second grade is studying about cotton.

We are also learning a spring poem, "Over in the Meadow."

The third grade is studying about bees and are making books about them.

The fourth grade is studying all about Holland.

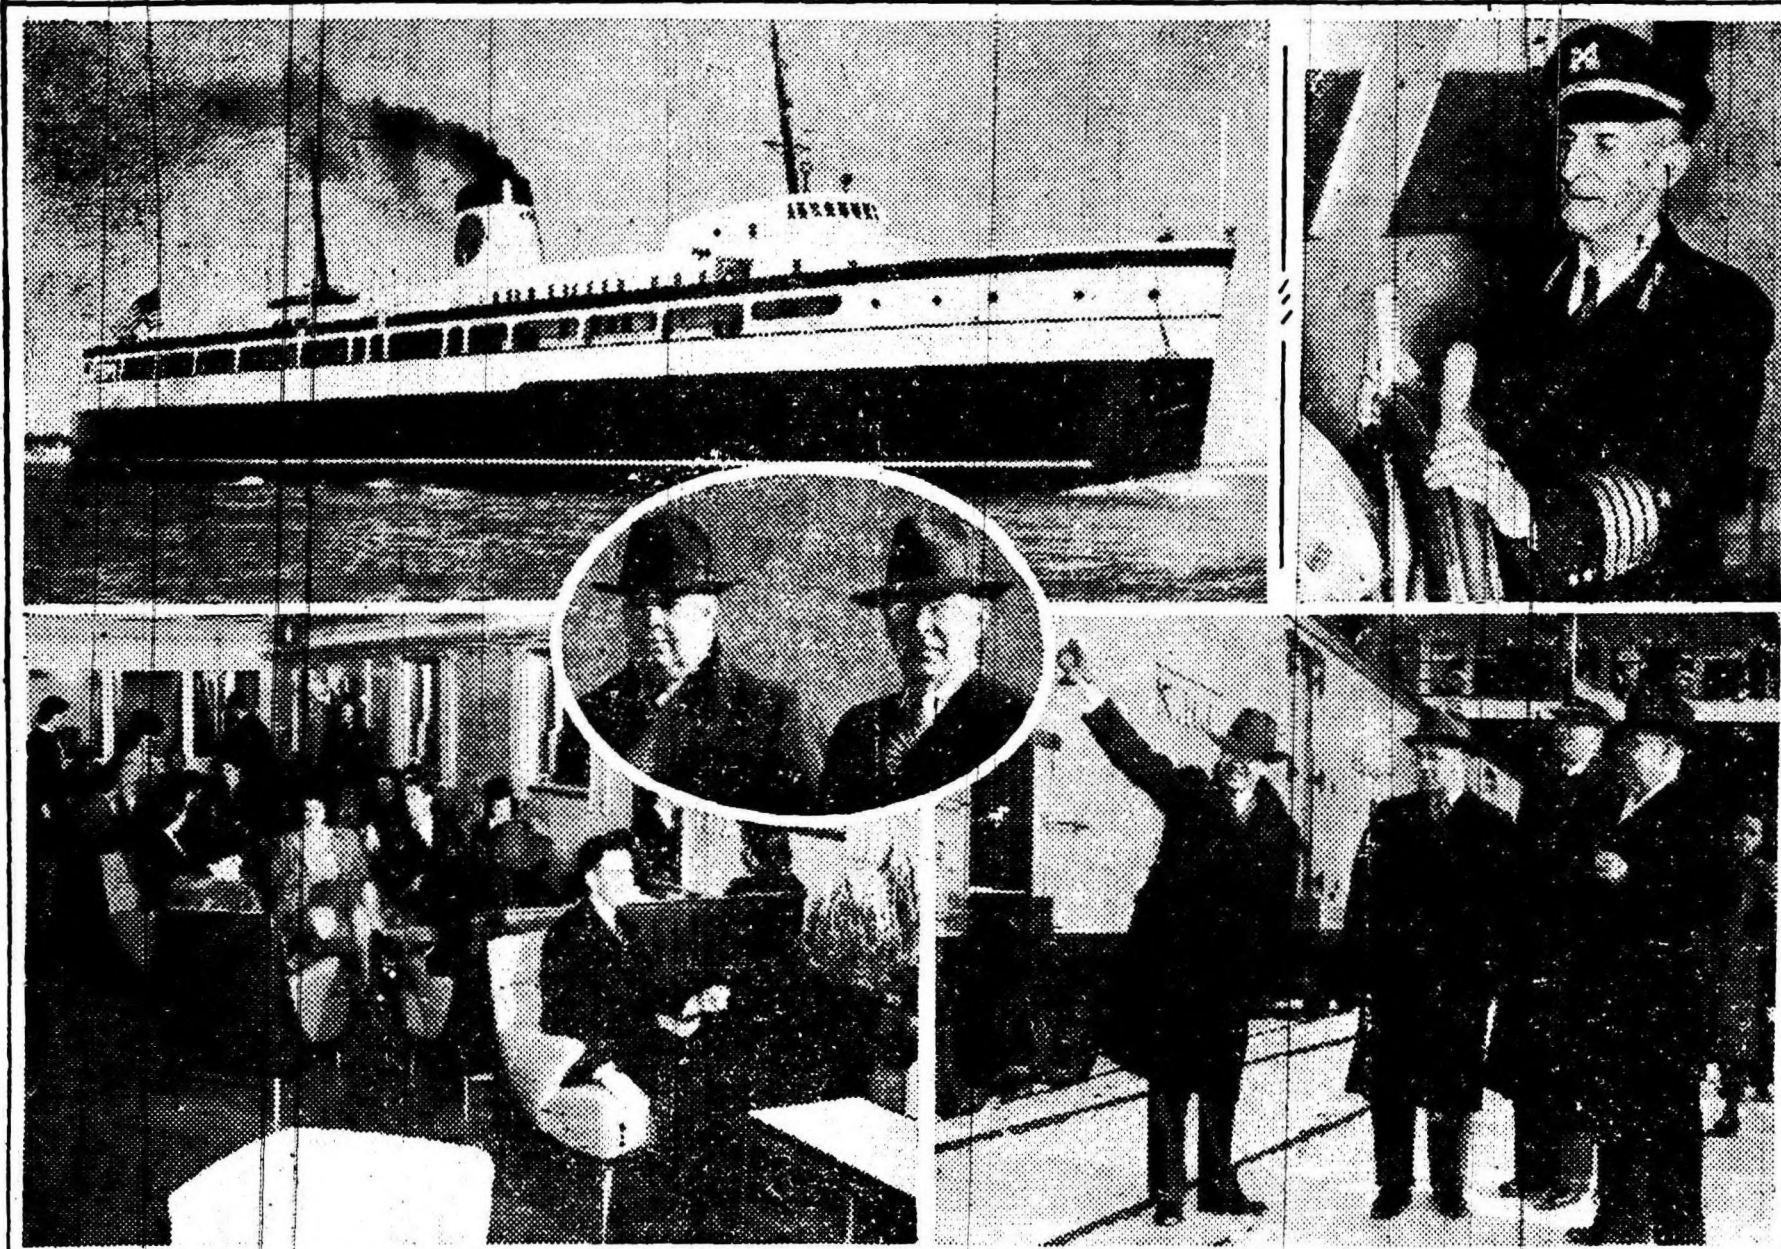

Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Grades
Last Wednesday we had a perfect attendance in our room for the first time in six weeks. The boys at our school are playing marbles now.

We didn't have any school last Thursday because of teachers' institute.

Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Grades
The fourth grade has been working with pictures of mountains in Switzerland.

We are very glad to have Robert Connelly as a new student in our fifth grade.

Now in Regular Service on Lake Michigan

Captain Charles E. Robertson, of Glen Haven, Mich., skipper of the luxurious car ferry, at the wheel (top right). A view of a portion of the main lounge, port side, corresponding with the main lounge facilities and officials who supervised construction and outfitting of the new car ferry (inset), left to right, L. H. Kent, Superintendent of Steamships, and R. J. Williams, Superintendent of Motive Power.

New Flagship Welcomed at Four Carferry Ports

The $2,000,000, streamlined City of Midland now is operating on her regular route between Ludington, Mich., and Milwaukee, Wis., following a maiden voyage that embraced visits to all four Lake Michigan ports served by the Pere Marquette car ferry fleet.

She sailed out of Manitowoc, Wis., on her maiden voyage on March 12, visiting Ludington, Mich., Milwaukee and Kewaupee, Wis., with a return trip to Manitowoc.

On her initial voyage she carried, consecutively, capacity shipments of evaporated milk, automobile frames, paper, and cheese out of Wisconsin ports, a full carload of Buick automobiles and another of Ford Motor Company automobile parts, out of Ludington. Hundreds of spectators greeted the vessel at each of the ports.

A crowd estimated at from ten to fifteen thousands welcomed the $2,000,000 flagship on her first appearance at Ludington, the home port of the fleet. Banks, schools, Post Office, Court House, and business establishments shut down at noon to enable the workaday population to participate in the Ludington civic celebration signaling the ship's first trip to that port.

A 90-piece high school band saluted the ship's first trip to that port. A 90-piece high school band saluted the ship's first trip to that port.

Spectators shouted. Harbor craft sounded the familiar greeting of three long and two short blasts. The taking of hundreds of automobile horns and the whistles of three Pere Marquette locomotives on the shore tracks added greatly to the din.

The City of Midland will continue operating over the Ludington-Manitowoc route until the start of heavy summer automobile tourist travel. She will then be placed in operation over the Ludington-Manitowoc route, which is the trans-lake link in U. S. Highway No. 10, saving motorists hundreds of miles of detouring 'round the base of the lake and through heavy traffic of large industrial centers that fringe the southern portion of Lake Michigan.

The ship accommodates 378 passengers. She has a carrying capacity for at least 50 automobiles on her upper deck, and 34 loaded freight cars on her car-deck.

The sixth grade has a unit on medieval castle times. The fifth grade has a unit on "Our Colonial History."

The fifth and sixth grades have chosen baseball teams. The captains are Jerry Hepler and Paul Leurek.

On March 26, the sixth grade invited the other rooms to see their unit.

We are looking forward to our Easter vacation.

Recent studies of city driving during peak traffic hours show that a car which gets 12 miles to the gallon during congestion periods, gets 18 miles per gallon on Sunday morning when congestion is absent. On the basis of gasoline wasted, traffic delays in Detroit cost motorists about $8,000,000 a year, he said.

Cooper School News
Fourth Grade
We had our C.O.C. meeting last week. We may change some of our room committees. We plan to choose a new editor for our newspaper. We hope that the children in the room will help the new editor by reporting any interesting news. On Thursday the teachers had an institute at Wayne and so the children had a nice holiday.

We are learning how to multiply by a three figure number. We are remembering to be careful to watch zeros when we multiply.

Madeline and Charles are still out of school. We don't know when they will be back. Most of the boys are playing marbles now. We keep them in a box or bag while in the room.

Don Smith says, "Thank You" to all who have helped him while he was editor. He hopes you will help the new editor even more.

Jokes
What runs but never gets to the door?
Answers
The salad dressing said to the icebox, "Shut the door, can't you see I'm dressing!"

Worth Knowing
Snakes are great helpers for they eat many insect pests.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
Joey Yeoman has returned to school after having had the measles.

Since Dr. Lipsit is leaving soon for a vacation, there will be no dental work done for the school children until he returns, in about three weeks. The fifth and sixth grades are studying different methods of communication.

Eighth Grade News
(By Jack Hiebner)
The eighth grade has been making booklets on "Shakespeare's Works" by Charles and Mary Lamb. We have also made booklets on civics and arithmetic. Our Citizenship club is sponsoring a campaign to help crippled children. We are selling Easter seals. We are very sorry to hear of one of our former pupils' father's death, Mr. Nicholas. We all extend our deepest sympathy. We had no school Thursday because of Teachers' Institute at Wayne.

Attendance in the eighth grade are: Alton Davison, Jack Hiebner, Naomi Cummings, Donna Langdon, Lorraine Langdon, Alfred May, Audrey McCleod, Guntram Rattal, Glen Shaw and Robert Wallace.

Salmon Mills Boasts Well-Known Orchestra
Your attention is called this week to one bandman of the "old school" and his very fine aggregation, "The Toppers," now playing week-ends at Salmon Mills Inn, on West Main Arbor Trail, between Stark and Farmington roads. "Smiling Bill" Howarth and his Toppers, hailing from Ann Arbor, are well-known for their versatility. Bill, the leader and drummer, is one of the finest handlers of the skins in this neck of the woods and is widely known for the manner in which he sells his songs.

Leader Howarth M.C.'s at the Mill, having years of experience along this line in both the United States and Canada. His banjo playing is also an attraction not to be missed.

Salmon Mills boasts a band that is hard to equal in this part of Metropolitan Detroit and extends a cordial invitation to Livonians to take advantage of the modern facilities offered.

Seventh and Eighth Grades
We are selling Easter seals for the crippled children. We have a new aquarium in our room. We have some tropical fish in it. We did not have school last Thursday. Our spring vacation starts on April 4 and ends on April 14.

Girl Scout News
The Girl Scouts had a very nice time entertaining their parents. There were about 25 parents present and they all seemed to enjoy themselves very much. We girls all received our pins and are ready to work for our second class badges now.

Mr. and Mrs. George Buers of Superior visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buers, Sunday.

The Salmon Mills club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Roberts, Thursday, for dinner at 12:30. Mrs. Eva Farley was program chairman. Roll call was "What is Your Favorite Household Appliance?"

The Women's Study Club of South Lyon met with Mrs. A. C. Wheeler Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Carrie Herrick of South Lyon was a helper.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stacey were Mr. and Mrs. Stacey of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Heinz and Miss Mabel Ketchum.

Dr. Conklyn and wife of Lansing, visited at the Henry Whitaker home last week Thursday.

A family party was held at the home of Leslie Curtis on Curtiss road Sunday, honoring his mother, Mrs. Curtis, who is leaving for United States training camp this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitaker were dinner guests of their son, Glen and wife, Sunday, and in the afternoon drove to Ypsilanti to call on their grandson, Orin Whitaker and wife.

Stark School News

Aileen Arbuthnot and Rosemary Davis brought their cameras to school and have been taking pictures of the boys and girls. We hope they will turn out satisfactorily.

We are planning to have a festival at the school sometime in May. We intend to sing all the songs which will be sung at the Wayne County Training school. We also intend to do dances which we practice every Monday morning.

Madeline Simpson, Betty Solberg and Marjorie Stokes are preparing a scrapbook in which we will keep all news concerning the school and community which we will clip from The Livonian and other available papers. We will also put the names of the members of the Safety Patrol Service squad and members of the Junior and Senior Glee clubs and others.

There was no school Thursday, March 27, due to the fact that there was a teachers' institute in Wayne.

The seed sale is closed now and Easter seals will soon be given out. The profits which we received from the seeds will be used to buy capes made of saten material for the members of the Rhythm band.

Upon looking over our athletic equipment we find that we have a new catcher's mit and we have been receiving instructions about the care of it.

The seventh and eighth graders made posters to advertise the Spring Frolic which will be held on April 12. Several large posters were made and some smaller ones.

Friday, March 28, there was a motion picture at the school, "Atlantic Flight" was its name. A serial was also shown.

We have been having trouble to get the people of our community to realize the necessity of the respect of school property. Last Sunday one of our swings was broken and a new one has been required. We believe that because the children or their parents pay for the equipment that they should try and preserve it instead of destroy it. At the shows a number of things have been taken from the desks, so we have formed a rule. No desks are to be opened by anyone but the person who uses it, or the school authorities. We hope this rule will be carried out and that it will prove successful.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
The spelling bee of the fifth and sixth grades was won by Martin Kregger, fifth grade, and Jerry Hepler, runner-up. The word was "sixty". The sixth grade winner was Donna Jean Swarbrick and the runner-up was William Keil. The word was "steady".

The sixth grade has a unit on medieval castle times. The fifth grade has a unit on "Our Colonial History."

The fifth and sixth grades have chosen baseball teams. The captains are Jerry Hepler and Paul Leurek.

On March 26, the sixth grade invited the other rooms to see their unit.

We are looking forward to our Easter vacation.

Recent studies of city driving during peak traffic hours show that a car which gets 12 miles to the gallon during congestion periods, gets 18 miles per gallon on Sunday morning when congestion is absent. On the basis of gasoline wasted, traffic delays in Detroit cost motorists about $8,000,000 a year, he said.

FREEDOM OF THE BALLOT:

Here in the United States is the only place left in the world where there is complete freedom of the ballot so far as electing government leaders is concerned. On Monday, April 7th, here in Michigan there is an all important election. The people themselves, by going to the polls, decide if they appreciate this greatest gift of God to our civilization.

The officers to be elected on April 7th are of major importance to every citizen of Michigan.

Mrs. Irving Schuster of Richmond is visiting her sister, Mrs. Paul Wiedman and another sister in Birmingham for the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blickenstaff visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lapo, in Lake Odessa, Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Mills was a Sunday guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson, on South Main street.

Miss Lorraine Hix is in training at Wayne, for a position with the telephone company in this city.

Mrs. Kate Mecklenberg was a last week Thursday guest of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Foss DeWind in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wood and children of Detroit, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wiseman.

Dick Olin will celebrate his thirteenth birthday, by having eight of his boy friends in for a luncheon, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Holmes and daughter, Kathryn, and Barbara Jean, of Detroit, were Sunday guests of their parents and grandparents, respectively.

The many Plymouth friends and acquaintances of Mrs. L. A. Babbitt, of Northville, mother of Mrs. J. J. McLaren, of this city, will regret to learn that she is very ill in the home of her son, Hugh Babbitt, in Northville.

Norman Laskev, of Detroit, who is now a member of the air corps at Pensacola, Florida, was the guest, Friday night of Mr. and Mrs. Maryn Terry.

Barbara Olsaver is expected home today (Friday) from Northfield, Minnesota, where she attends Carleton college. She will remain here for the Easter vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Mettetal were called to Redford, Sunday, by the death of the former's cousin, George Stuckey. They also called on Mr. and Mrs. Murray Book in Detroit, that afternoon.

On Thursday, April 3, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green entertained the following guests at their home on Union street: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sheel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hawk, Mr. Maycock, and Miss Rebecca Obsniuk. A social evening was enjoyed, after which a luncheon was served.

They will have charge of building and maintaining our highway system for the next four years. And the people will select on this election day the six men who form the educational policies for our youth for the next six years and two members of the Supreme Court.

Voting slackers are today the greatest menace to the retention of our constitutional form of government. Michigan citizens should broadcast to the world her Americanism by voting.

Clyde Wood, who has been in training for six months at the CCC camp in Grand Haven has returned to his home, having finished the time for which he had signed up.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Rice are entertaining company this week from their former home in Flannan, South Dakota. They are Dr. and Mrs. Mueller and daughters, Janette and Marianne.

Mrs. Carl Shear visited relatives in Cleveland, Ohio, from Friday until Sunday, accompanying her son, Frederick, of Ann Arbor, who made a business trip to Akron.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Elzerman in Plymouth hospital, Monday, March 31, a seven-and-a-half-pound baby daughter. She has been named Jean Anne. Mrs. Elzerman was formerly Yvonne Hearn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hearn.

Drs. Ed and Alta Rice, Chiropractors, X-ray service, 747 West Ann Arbor Trail, Ph. 122-Adv.

Mrs. Winston Cooper returned home Sunday evening from her visit to the lovely old homes and gardens in Natchez, Mississippi, New Orleans, Louisiana, and Mobile, Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hix celebrated their twenty-sixth wedding anniversary with a delightful family dinner party, on Monday, in their home on Warren road.

Mrs. Marvin Terry and son, Norman Scott, returned home Thursday of last week from a two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLemore, in Ravenna, Kentucky.

Hillside Constructing Large Dining Room Overlooking Park

Rapidly increasing business has forced Jake Stremich of the Hillside to begin the construction of an addition to his dining room and dance floor which will almost double the present capacity.

The addition, being built on the south side of the present structure, will be an open-type dining room, so that during the summer the windows can be removed and the large space open on three sides. It will be fully screened. In the winter it can be completely closed in.

From the new dining room a beautiful view of Plymouth-Riverside park will be possible. Situated as it is on top of a hill, the popular Hillside will become even more so with the extensive improvements that are now under way.

The present capacity of the dining room will accommodate about 100 people. The addition that is being constructed will make it possible to serve 67 additional people. Because of its splendid location, the Hillside has also become a popular place for dinner parties.

Glider Pilots Make Many Good Flights as Spring Weather Arrives

Saturday Proved to be One of Best Days of Season

(By Skysailor)

Both Saturday and Sunday, March 29 and 30 were very good days. On Saturday actual flying was started late in the afternoon. This was obviously a mistake as there were cumulus clouds in the sky from about 9 o'clock in the morning until about 4 in the afternoon. These clouds were almost sure evidence of thermal activity.

Pilots were, however, late in coming out to the field. Many find it necessary to work Saturday mornings now. Others work so much overtime during the week that there are many things saved up which have to be done on Saturday. Finally Ed Laine and Lyle Maxey aided by Robert Bacon took out the XYZ Midwest Sailplane and stationed the towing winch at the proper corner of the gliderport.

Ed Laine made the first flight and discovered that the rate of climb indicator had not been connected. He was unable to stay within rising air currents, though he was aware that there were such currents present. Upon landing, he connected the instrument properly. Again Ed made the flight and this time succeeded in staying in the thermal lift. Clouds were not any longer forming but the rising air currents were still present nevertheless.

Ed climbed fairly rapidly and at the same time drifted southward in the fairly strong wind. He was soon rather far away and yet quite high, so that he could have still made it back to the field had he wished to do so. Ed reported later, however, that he reached 4200 feet. With this much altitude there was ample chance for making a few miles cross country and almost any of the pilots would have decided to go just as Ed did.

The one first thermal lasted a long time and the pilot was able to reach Wayne County Airport before he had lost much altitude below the highest reached on the flight. He was beyond Wayne county, but decided to land when he found a second thermal also of fair strength. He climbed for a while in this one, but before getting too far to the south and east of Wayne County Airport he decided to come back in and land there.

Ed had reserve altitude and was able to circle the field to the left just as airplanes are expected to do. A glider has the right of way over airplanes and dirigibles but not over free balloons. However, Ed found no special privileges necessary and made a fully proper landing. He was immediately besieged by his brother who had driven to Wayne county from Triangle during the flight and by many power pilot friends.

During the flight there were times when the rate of climb was two and a half meters per second. The total time in the air was one hour, ten minutes and five seconds.

On Sunday many pilots were on hand. Considerable training was carried out. The air warmed up a great deal from the 23 degrees of early Saturday and the 26 degrees of early Sunday. On the first winch tow of the day Helen Montgomery made 14 minutes and 35 seconds in the XYZ Midwest sailplane. Ed Laine was operating the winch since he had had the good flight the day before. Helen reached 1,600 feet.

About an hour later L. D. Montgomery made a flight of 15 minutes in the XYZ Wolf Sailplane, reaching 1,600 feet. Before the Wolf was back on the ground Helen again succeeded in gaining altitude in the Midwest after the release from the tow line. She reached only 1,400 feet but stayed up 17 minutes.

For fully an hour no soaring was accomplished, then Ed Laine made seven minutes in the Midwest. Immediately afterward Lyle Maxey made a very nice flight in the Wolf, staying up 11 minutes. Maxey took off before Ed landed, in fact. Meanwhile the XYZ Franklin was being flown in training flights by auto tow. XYZ owns three ships and for the second time in the one day all three of them had been in the air at once, two of them actually soaring.

Then Charles Kohls took the XYZ Wolf up for a flight of 23 minutes and reached 2,200 feet. He reported that he had found a large smooth thermal in which he was able to climb only about one meter per second, but with very little effort. He enjoyed the flight very much. There were some more flights of six minutes duration, but between one o'clock and 3:30 no other noteworthy flights were made.

Then Lyman (Lucky) Wiard of Elmira fame took the XYZ Franklin (a training ship) up to 4,500 feet. Lyman has always been able to soar that Franklin when almost nobody else could stay up—not even sailplane pilots with better ships. Lyman went cross-country and later landed near Grand River avenue about a half mile east of Middle Belt road. Crew members went after him with the Franklin trailer as soon as he reported his landing location back to Triangle by phone.

Lyman told of climbing in thermal lift at the rate of 10 feet per second. He found only one good thermal and had to land when this one weakened and let him slowly back down to earth.

About five minutes after Lyman got away Ed Laine followed in the XYZ Midwest. Ed found himself in the same thermal with Lyman, but later he branched off into another thermal which just happened to be about. He considered there was more room in the sky that way. Anyway Ed stayed up and kept climbing. He later reported reaching only 3,400 feet, but then this is very satisfactory performance when you don't have to pay for any gasoline.

Ed drifted with the wind also just as Lyman was doing. Ed soon noticed rising smoke from grass fires. At some points the smoke was being carried up rapidly in columns by strong thermals. Lyman could perhaps have made use of one of these when his one good thermal weakened. However, Lyman had gone farther from Triangle and was not near enough to use the smoke indicators.

Ed stayed up an hour and 37 minutes. Every time he needed a new thermal he headed into a new smoke column. He would not have been able to find lift so easily, had these smokes not been present. He had a lot of fun chasing these chimneys of rising air.

When he could smell smoke he practically knew he was going up because that smoke was coming up from way down below. Some scientists believe that the hawk in his eternal search for food formed the habit many thousands of years ago flying in the portions of air where he could smell delightful earth odors. These men believe that the hawk has a very keen sense of smell and can scent his prey. If this be true, it turned out that the hawk's habit taught him how to soar. For, while he lingered where he could smell earth odors and possible prey he was, in fact, staying in the thermals. He found it unnecessary to flap his wings. He could sail about with effortless ease. So with the buzzards and vultures.

The birds have been soaring for countless thousands of years in thermals that man could have used a thousand years ago, had he known they were there and had he known the workings of an airfoil. Man, a thousand years ago, could have built a glider with the tools and materials he then had at his disposal, had he but had a very few principles of air-flow over wings to go along with these other essentials.

Ed Laine found rising currents which allowed him to climb at three meters per second, but his ceiling seemed to be 3,400 feet. He finally landed but a few miles from the area of the rising smokes at National Airport—where he has more friend pilots and where he again received a hearty welcome.

What is more, while Lyman and Ed were soaring high Lyle Maxey took off in the Wolf sailplane. He also soared for a few minutes, but was just a little late to get into the good thermals which Ed and Lyman were using. Maxey has soared higher and farther than either of the other two. His good Wolf Sailplane was as good as the others, too, but luck was not with him to so great an extent this time. He was able to stay up only five minutes and 50 seconds. This meant, however, that all three of the XYZ motorless ships were in the air "soaring" at the same time. They were all three climbing in free rising air over flat country. Such feats have not been accomplished consistently around this part of the country longer back than early in 1938.

Even while all three XYZ ships were soaring one of the members of the Soarheads club climbed to the top of the winch tow line and tried also to climb beyond that height. He did not succeed, but his luck may be better at another time. All four of the ships which were flying at Triangle on Sunday were, therefore, in the air at once.

It was the end of a perfect day, when all these ships were then stored back in the hangars, all in condition to fly again next week.

Police Issue 26 Traffic Tickets

A total of 26 traffic violation tickets were issued by the Plymouth police department during the month of March, and a total of $86 in fines were collected, according to the monthly report submitted by Police Chief V. R. Smith this week.

The tickets issued included nine for speeding; two for reckless driving; six for improper parking; three for overtime parking; four for failure to observe stop signs; two for drunk driving; and two for driving without operators' licenses. The police department issued 297 drivers' licenses during March bringing the total issued to date this year to 1005 as compared with 659 last year for the same period. There were 10 traffic accidents during last month.

Church Holds Annual Meeting

Bachelor was re-elected treasurer of the church organization, and J. W. Kaiser and James J. S. Gallimore were elected members of the session, the central organization of the church.

Members of the church committees have been faithful in attendance and have striven to administer well the work committed to them. An excellent staff of officers and teachers have carried on the work of the Sunday school. To these, together with the members of the choir, the ushers and officers and members of the different organizations, the congregation owes most hearty thanks," declared the Rev. Walter Nichol in the pastor's annual message, in which he reported the present church membership was 443 persons.

James S. Gallimore was nominated as superintendent of the Sunday school to replace C. J. Dykhouse who has asked to be relieved of his duties, and Ralph Mettetal was named assistant superintendent of the Sunday school for next year.

The annual financial report of the church, including accounts of the women's auxiliary, the Sunday school and the building fund of the church, was delivered by Raymond Bachelor, treasurer of the church organization.

Harold J. Hubert, Former Resident Here, Weds

Of interest to many Plymouthites is the announcement of the wedding of Florence Angela Beach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Beach, of Topeka, Kansas, to Harold J. Hubert, of Peoria, Illinois, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hubert of Birmingham, formerly of Plymouth.

The ceremony was performed Wednesday morning, March 26, in the study of the Central Congregational church in Topeka, with Dr. W. Ernest Collins officiating.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Gordon A. Mark, of Clay Center, Kansas, and the bridegroom chose Calvin Whearty for his best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the Colonial room of the Hotel Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert are on a honeymoon trip, planning to spend several days in Birmingham with his parents.

The bride has been employed as branch cashier for the Mutual Life Insurance company, of New York, for the last few months. The bridegroom, who is a graduate of the University of Michigan and a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, is editor of National Radio Personality, Inc., of Peoria, Illinois. He was to report for United States army training at Fort Sheridan, Chicago, Tuesday. Mrs. Hubert will divide her time between Topeka and Chicago during his training period.

Harold has many friends in Plymouth who extend sincere best wishes to him and his bride.

Canton Offers Only Township Contest

Canton is the only township in which there is a political contest for offices in the election Monday, April 7. The present incumbents were re-nominated without opposition in both Plymouth and Livonia townships.

The Republican slate of candidates in the Canton township contest include: Clyde D. Truesdell, supervisor; Frank Schofield, clerk; Ina J. Woolger, treasurer;
Charles Curtis Sr., highway commissioner; George Simmons, justice of the peace; Lloyd Bordine, member of the board of review, and Glen Curtis, Robert Simmons, Louis Buehler and Lester
Corwin, constables.

The Democratic candidates in Canton township are: Philip Dinkley, supervisor; Andrew Smith, clerk; Mrs. Becker, treasurer; and Frank Schofield, member of the board of review; Robert Walcker, justice of the peace; Irving Tillotson, highway commissioner; and Bert Walling, Philip Dinkley, Jr., and Frank Wal-cker, constables.

Unopposed candidates on the Plymouth township ballot are Charles Rathbun, Jr., township supervisor; Norman C. Miller, clerk; Samuel Spicer, treasurer;
Jesse Tyler, member of the board of review; Robert Holmes, highway commissioner; Russell Coon, David Baker, Edward Howard and Floyd Miller, constables; and Walter Postill, justice of the peace.

The candidates in Livonia township, also uncontested, include Jesse Ziegler, supervisor;
Harry Wolfe, clerk; Arthur
Trapp, treasurer; Daniel McKinney, justice of the peace; Charles Wolfm, highway commissioner; Charles Canfield, John Whitehead, Ray Owens and Serv-us Flach, constables; and Albert Nacker, member of the board of review.

To Re-Number Township Homes

The Detroit Edison company, in cooperation with Plymouth township, will undertake a project to establish a uniform numbering system of all homes in Plymouth township. The project, to be conducted by the map division of the Edison company, will conform to the metropolitan numbering system with east and west street numbers starting from Woodward avenue and the north and south numbers from Cherry Hill road. The re-numbering of homes in Plymouth township will result in greater convenience and eliminate confusion now prevalent.

Black numbered figures mounted on white boards will be installed by the Edison workers.
Numbers will be assigned to all vacant property as shown on Wayne county plats.

Eugene Bakewell Joins ATO Fraternity at Ohio Wesleyan U.

Eugene Bakewell, son of Mr.
and Mrs. G. A. Bakewell of 38-105 Plymouth road, was initiated into Alpha Tau Omega fraternity at Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio, recently.

Bakewell is a freshman at the University and a graduate of Plymouth high school where he was active in student government and served on the prom committee. He is majoring in business administration. The Plymouth youth returned to his home last Saturday for a week's

Dunn Steel Co. Builds Tool Room

tween South Harvey and South Main streets, includes five rooms and bath, brick veneer and wood siding construction, valued at $4250. Contractor Mills is building a one-and-a-half story house, four rooms and bath, of wood siding construction at 675 Auburn street between Farmer and Junction streets, at an estimated cost of $4000.

A permit has been issued to the Fred A. Hubbard company to build a new home for Cecil
A. Owens, postal employee, and his wife, at 970 Ross street between Harvey and Main streets.
A one-and-a-half story house, including five rooms and bath, the construction will be brick veneer.
The estimated cost of the house is $3800.

Another new home at 1280
Junction street between Evergreen and Pacific streets is being built by Contractor Daniel S.
Mills for Scott Denton of Detroit.
The plans call for a one-story frame house of three rooms and bath at a valuation of $2100.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Aldrich of Plymouth also plan to move into a new home to be built at 301
Adams street between Church and Blanche streets by Don Nut-ten of Northville. A wood siding construction valued at $3300, the one-and-a-half story house will include five rooms and bath.

Many other building permits were taken out last month for remodeling homes to provide additional rooms or new flooring, as well as for repairs to chimneys.

Board of Review Meets May 8-9

Dates for the board of review's annual meeting to examine the 1941 general assessment rolls were set for May 8 and 9 at a special meeting of the city commission this week. Possibly before that date, there will be a board of review session to consider special assessment levies.

The city's annual budget for 1941-42 will be presented to the city commission by City Manager Clarence H. Elliott at the next meeting of the commission on Tuesday evening, April 8. The commission will meet on Tuesday because of the spring biennial election on Monday, April 7. The annual budget is presented to the city commission as the recommendation of the city manager and public hearings will be held during April before the budget is given final approval by the commission.

"While an accurate forecast cannot be made at this time, it is estimated that the assessed valuation will undoubtedly be $170,000 higher than last year due to building activities during the last 12 months and the placing back on the rolls of many lots which became state-owned on November 3, 1939," declared
City Manager Elliott this week.

Nine of every 10 pedestrians killed in traffic do not have driver's licenses and thus probably lack full knowledge of car operation and traffic problems, according to recent AAA reports.

Far from enriching the soil,
"spring burning" so reduces its fertility that it can support neither the variety nor the profusion of vegetation that will be found on similar unburned soil.

Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Williams Michaels was celebrated this year on two occasions, first by 28 friends who joined them on Friday evening for games and midnight lunch and on Sunday when about 20 relatives enjoyed a dinner party with them in their home on Ann street, at their invitation.

Lovely gifts of silver were presented to the happy couple and they also received many flowers and congratulatory cards which they will always prize.

The out-of-town guests on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs.
George Burgett, of Port Huron,
Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Burgett and son, LeRoy, of Sandusky, Mrs.
William Corkins and daughter,
Dorothy Ann, of Deckerville.
Those from Plymouth were Mr.
and Mrs. Floyd Burgett, Mrs.
Lawrence Burgett and daughters, Geraldine and Janet, Mrs.
Mary Robson, Marion Hix and Lewis Foreman, of Northville.

Townsend Club to Meet Monday, April 7

The next meeting of the Plymouth Townsend club will be held next Monday evening, April 7, at 7:30 o'clock in the Grange hall. The public is invited to attend the meeting and hear latest reports from Washington.

Which grass had Vigoro early?

On the right side of the line you see thick, sturdy grass, fed with Vigoro as soon as the first frost left the ground.
When applied early, Vigoro seeps down, encourages a deep, matted growth of roots and strong, healthy grass before weeds can get started. That's because it provides all the 11 food elements that growing things need from the soil.
Safe, sanitary, and odorless.

Vigoro is the easy, economical way to have a green, luxuriant lawn.
Only 4 pounds per 100 square feet required. Order a supply now to feed early.

Re-elect EDWARD H. WILLIAMS as County Auditor

Nominated at the Primary Election by more votes than the total cast for all other candidates for same office.

The election of Williams, former war veteran and former member of the Detroit Board of Education . . . is preferred by practically every political, non-partisan and veterans' organization; religious and racial group.

During the two terms Williams has served on the Board of County Auditors, Wayne County's financial stability has been rated highest of all metropolitan counties in the United States. INDEBTEDNESS IS PRACTICALLY WIPE OUT.
WILLIAMS HAS GIVEN THE PEOPLE MORE AND BETTER GOVERNMENT
AT LESS COST. KEEP GOOD GOVERNMENT IN WAYNE COUNTY!

Vote for the Re-Election of County Auditor EDWARD H. WILLIAMS

on the Democratic Ticket, April 7th.

Smelt go up the streams to spawn in late March and April. With waders and hand-nets, the crowd waits for the night run of fish to begin.

Each spring local girls are chosen to reign as "Queens" of the various Smelt Festivals which take place during April.

Tons of smelt are frozen in huge slabs and stored for use as feed on mink and fox farms in

LITTLE FISH MAKE A BIG MICHIGAN INDUSTRY

● SMELT are running! Around Escanaba and Menominee, Beulah, Boyne City and other smelt centers, that means busy days and busy nights. Thousands of people join in the activity, netting tons of fish every night.

The annual catch of smelt in Michigan is over 9,000,000 pounds and growing every year. In the Escanaba area alone, it's a $50,000 industry.

Like all fish, smelt are highly perishable, and handling the catch requires lightning communication between packer, shipper and city market. In locating the places where smelt are in demand, speeding up shipments, routing fast orders, modern telephone service helps get the succulent little fish from river to frying-pan in the shortest possible time.

Women Voters Attend Luncheon

A spiritual appeal for moral rearmament in government was the note struck by Mrs. Hazel Moran in a speech before the second annual luncheon meeting of the League of Women Voters in Plymouth last Friday afternoon at the Hotel Mayflower.

Tracing the history of women and the vote, Mrs. Moran outlined the contributions made by women in local, state and national government, concluding with an appeal for the application of spiritual principles in democracy.

Mrs. Moran, who is vice-chairman of the Wayne county Republican committee, is a practicing attorney and past president of the Women Lawyers' association.

"Women in Work Projects of the State" was the subject of a speech by Mrs. Bess Garner of Lansing, who is director of women's work projects in Michigan. Formerly a member of the state labor commission, Mrs. Garner is also an attorney-at-law.

Included among the works projects are sewing projects which supply all welfare garments distributed in the state, school lunch projects which provide 56,000 hot lunches a day for undernourished school children of the state, garden projects which raise food for the school lunch projects, housekeeping projects to furnish aides in distressed homes during times of emergency, and a variety of skilled arts projects for professionally-trained persons who are unemployed "employables," explained Mrs. Garner.

Others who spoke briefly on the program were Mrs. Dorothy Kemp Roosevelt of Birmingham, chairman of the professional WPA group, Lila Nuenfelt, municipal judge in Dearborn, and Mrs. James Starr of Grand Rapids, state president of the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple, program chairman, explained that the purpose of the League which was formed in Plymouth in 1924, is to "promote political education of women through active participation in government."

More than 100 women, members and guests of the local League, attended the luncheon event. The members in charge were Miss Mabel Spicer, luncheon; Mrs. A. L. Pittenger, tickets, and Mrs. Whipple, program.

Mrs. Louis Truesdell and Mrs. John L. Olaver were joint hostesses, Wednesday, at a dessert bridge, given in the former's home, as a benefit for the local branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association.

Mrs. Edward Helzerman and Abbie Melow entertained at dinner Sunday afternoon in the home of the former, honoring Miss Eldora Ballen who will become the bride of Earl C. Melton on Friday, April 18. About 40 relatives and friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bartel on Plymouth road for a surprise shower also in honor of Miss Ballen, very recently. The guests came from Detroit, Howell, Mt. Clemens, Rosedale, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Starkweather entertained at a dinner party, Sunday, having the following present: Mr. and Mrs. Arbra Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ryan, Mrs. Mary Hillmer, Davis B. Hillmer, Hubbard Lee, Beulah Starkweather, Eva Huffman, of Detroit; Lois Hubbard, of Wayne; Jewell Starkweather, of Kalamazoo. Miss Jewel had been home for a week's vacation but returned to Kalamazoo, that evening. She will graduate in June.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Herbert of York street announce the marriage of their daughter, Norma J. to Herbert V. Murphy, the ceremony taking place Friday, March 28 at the home of the bride's parents on Holbrook avenue. Rev. Robert Trerney of Newburg Methodist church performed the ceremony. The couple is spending a few days in Chicago before going West where they will make their home.

Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple plans to attend the tea and dinner of the Helen Newberry residence alumnae association, to be held in Ann Arbor, Saturday. The tea will be at the Michigan League and the dinner in the Helen Newberry residence. Mrs. Whipple is anticipating a visit with an old friend who is coming from California whom she has not seen in many years.

Mrs. John Hamernik was hostess in her home on East Ann Arbor Trail last Thursday to the following ladies from Detroit: Mrs. R. Brown, Mrs. H. Pittcock, Mrs. D. Vezinaw, Mrs. R. Jeffries, Mrs. R. Leininger and Mrs. W. Roberts. The guests enjoyed playing buncie during the afternoon which was followed by a lunch served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sexton entertained the following guests at cards, Tuesday evening, in their home on Penniman avenue: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terry, Mr. and Mrs. George Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Anderson. The occasion honored the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Anderson. Mrs. Sexton served a late evening lunch to her guests.

Mrs. Hattie Hollaway spent the week-end in Detroit visiting in the home of her son, Fred and family, her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Smith, and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Knapp. She also called on her sister, Mrs. Van Epps, who is in a convalescent home, and found her somewhat better.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garlett will be hosts to their dinner-bridge group Saturday at a potluck dinner with bridge following. The guests will be Mr. and Mrs. J. Merle Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cowgill, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Moss, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Neale and Dr. and Mrs. John L. Olaver.

Dr. and Mrs. Elmore Carney will be hosts to their bridge club, Saturday evening. The guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Williams, Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dobbs and Mr. and Mrs. William Arscott.

Mrs. Leonard Curtiss, of Detroit, entertained her bridge club of Plymouth, Wednesday evening, which includes Cordula and Hanna Strasen, Hilary Carlson, Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Howard Wood, Mrs. George Farwell and Mrs. J. J. Stremich.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter W. Hammond entertained at dinner, Sunday, the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. McGee and Mrs. Roy Ross and two children of Grass Lake, the occasion celebrating the eighty-third birthday anniversary of Mr. McGee.

Mrs. Robert Willoughby, Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel, Mrs. William Otwell and Mrs. Austin Whipple attended the tea, given Wednesday for Mrs. Emma A. Fox, at the Woman's Federation building in Detroit in celebration of her ninety-fourth birthday.

Mrs. John Henderson attended a luncheon, Monday, in the home of Mrs. Gertrude Painter, president of the Orient club of Detroit, when she entertained the Worthy Matrons of Wayne county.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamburger of Webberville, were Sunday dinner guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Jennie Meyers, in her home on Ann street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewer entertained the members of the La-f-a-Lot card club, Saturday evening, at a potluck dinner after which games were played.

Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson entertained the following guests at supper, Friday evening, following the Eastern Star dancing party in the Masonic Temple: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dobbs and Mr. and Mrs. William Arscott.

A bridge luncheon was given by Mrs. Walter Hammond, Tuesday, when she entertained a group of 12. The table was centered with a lovely arrangement of spring flowers in the pastel shades.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wiedman and daughter, Pauline, attended a family dinner party, Sunday, at the Michigan League in Ann Arbor, after which bridge was enjoyed in the home of her sister, Mrs. J. A. Hutzel.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Livingston, of Clawson, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Zella Livingston. Mr. Livingston played in the orchestra, Friday evening, for the Eastern Star dance.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hood and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hood plan to attend the gathering of the Alliance "500" club which is to be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolfson on Middle Belt road, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Halstead of the Halstead and Herrick jewelry store have purchased the Harry Mumby home on Ann Arbor Trail and will occupy the same about the first of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jewell will be dinner and bridge guests, Saturday, of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rathburn.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Nielson, of Detroit, Mrs. Ed Wagner and Miss Emma Wagner, of Rosedale Park were breakfast and dinner guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Christensen.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane A. Blair, of Ann Arbor Trail, attended the Tau Beta Pi, honorary society, dinner party, held Wednesday evening, at the Book-Cadillac, in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terry accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, of Six Mile road, Redford, to Fowlerville, Sunday, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gow.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blickenstaff were hosts to the dinner bridge group, Tuesday, for bridge following dinner at Hillside.

On Tuesday evening, April 8, Mrs. Elmore Carney will be hostess to the members of her bridge club.

Mrs. Ralph West entertained the members of the Tuesday evening contract bridge group on April 1.

Mrs. Harold Finlan entertained her contract bridge club, Thursday evening of last week, in her home on Arthur street.

Miss Ethel Rau and Miss Cassie West, of Grosse Pointe, were luncheon guests, Friday, of Mrs. Horace Thatcher.

The Tuesday afternoon contract group will be the luncheon guests of Mrs. Raymond Bachelder, on April 8.

Church Auxiliary Meets April 9

The Women's auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will present a Picture Day program next Wednesday, in the church dining room at 2 p.m. Mrs. Carl Caplin will be chairman for the day.

Mrs. Maxwell Moon, president, will conduct the business meeting, following devotional, led by Mrs. E. J. Cutler.

Motion pictures taken by members of the auxiliary will be shown. A feature of the afternoon will be the display of old pictures of auxiliary members and their families. Everyone attending is asked to cooperate with the committee by bringing several such photographs or snapshots to add to the entertainment. Anyone having films which may be shown is asked to notify Mrs. Caplin or Mrs. A. S. Matulis.

Methodist Women to Meet April 9

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church will take place on Wednesday, April 9 with a luncheon meeting at 12:30 o'clock.

An interesting program has been planned which will include a talk by Miss Marion Simons, now of Ypsilanti, who recently returned from a several years stay in Tokyo, Japan, where she taught in the kindergarten of the Mission school. She has a very interesting Japanese collection which she will show. Music will be furnished by Mrs. Robert Edmiston, who will play several selections on the vibrachord and the newly organized girls' choir will sing.

The committee in charge hopes to have a large attendance on this occasion.

Plan to View Easter Lilies

The members of the Plymouth unit of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association are planning to visit the greenhouses of Raphael Mettetal, some time between April 3-6 to view the display of Easter lilies, which will then be in their prime. Mrs. Elliott, the president, would like as many as possible to accept Mr. Mettetal's invitation to see the many beautiful blooms.

Many of the members are planning to visit the annual Flower Show in Convention Hall from April 5-12.

The annual state convention of the Garden association will convene in Saginaw, May 15-16.

In honor of Miss Isabelle Lueke, a bride-elect of April, Mrs. William Hampton was a hostess at a miscellaneous shower at her home in Detroit last Sunday. A large wedding cake surrounded by sweet peas, in white, orchid and pink colors made an attractive centerpiece for the luncheon table. Miss Lueke was given many nice gifts. The invited guests were Mrs. Charles Lueke and Rosemary Lueke, mother and sister of the bride-to-be, Shirley Freeland, of Plymouth; Mrs. Myrtle Reeves of Lansing; Mrs. Earl Wicks, Mrs. Ernest Poland, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Richard Zimmerman and Mrs. William Hampton of Detroit.

Gardens Need Spring Tonic During April

(By The Master Gardener)

April is the month to give a spring tonic to your garden. Ample nourishment for plants may be assured by incorporating the plant food into the soil at the time beds are being prepared for planting.

For those interested in rejuvenating hedges, we advise just as soon as the ground is workable, a feeding of complete, balanced plant food. Apply one pint of plant food to every 15 feet of hedge, putting half on each side of the row. Work into the surface soil.

Asparagus beds should be fed early in the spring, applying one pound of plant food per 25 square feet of surface area. Water in thoroughly and make another feeding six weeks later.

For small or medium sized shrubs, apply one tablespoonful of plant food to each square foot of space around each bush. Work this into the soil. For large shrubs, such as lilac, snowball and others of similar size, make holes 8 to 10 inches deep and about one and a half inches in diameter, every two feet in the circle under the tips of branches. In each hole apply two handfuls of a mixture of half complete plant food and half soil. Then water and fill the holes with soil. The result of this care will be thicker foliage and a healthier color in the foliage greens.

An available supply of plant food enables perennials to bloom freely, and to build up enough reserve food material in their roots to bring them uninjured through the winter months. Spread the plant food as uniformly as possible between the plants, without allowing it to come in direct contact with the youth growth of leaves and stems. Apply one tablespoonful of food per square foot of space.

Foster Poultry Farm Has $1,000 Loss From Fire

Stove Explosion Sets Building on Fire Friday

Loss estimated to be approximately $1,000 was caused by a fire at the Foster Poultry farm, corner of Middle Belt and Six Mile roads, Friday morning. William F. Foster, owner, suffered minor burns on one hand from an explosion which occurred as he was lighting a brooder stove, setting fire to the building.

The Redford township fire department responded to the call and checked the flames before the building was leveled. However it was considered a total loss by the insurance company.

Although 100 laying hens escaped being killed in the fire, about 500 week-old chicks were lost, plus a quantity of feed and equipment.

Further plans for the construction of another building were not made by Mr. Foster.

This complete loss from fire was the second within two weeks in Livonia township, the other being a week ago Monday at the Aldrich Poultry farm in the Joy-Middle Belt section.

Sends Thanks

France Field, C. Z. March 17, 1941

Wayne County Library, Plymouth Branch, Plymouth, Michigan.

Dear Librarian:

This letter is created with a two-fold purpose; namely: to express my sincere thanks for the fine service which your branch of the Wayne County Library has extended to me over the years of 1932 to 1936 while I was in attendance at the Plymouth high school; and to extend the invitation to you and to your patrons to correspond with me on any question concerning Panama, the tropics, or the people of the Canal Zone. This invitation is extended as a free service to aid the people students, and prospective visitors to better understand the history, botany, culture, industry, climate, and government of Central America.

Panama is little known to the majority of people and to many others it is only partly known by them because of short visits to this strange land. But nine degrees from the equator Panama is blessed with warm weather the year round and is subject to moody dry and wet seasons. At the crossroads of the world here in the Tropics are jungles of scenic beauty and mystery. The world-over famous Panama Canal is just one of the many attractions to hold the visitor spellbound. And Gatun Lake is the largest manmade lake in the world.

As Spanish is the universal language of Panama, it is surprising the huge use of English by the various nationals living here. And as the majority of the people are from various nations we are witness to strange dress, habits, and customs of their respective countries.

In over a year I have not even begun to know Panama as one could learn about most any country in half this time. Here in the path of the sun, here in dense jungles and modern cities, here where the purple mountains rise a few miles between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, is a land of unusual people, living in unusual manners, with carefreeness of life.

I feel that at this time I am well able to present worthy and accurate information about many subjects concerning the land where the sun sets in the Atlantic ocean. And I am willing to write articles, answer letters, or secure data for anyone interested in Central America. Just address me as follows and you can be assured of a prompt reply:

Lloyd G. Renaud, Finance Office, France Field, Canal Zone.

Bowling League Standings

Parkview Recreation League

This Goldstein team did something this week which no other team has been able to do all season—take three games from Simpson's—with 959, 962, 907 over 821, 874, 894. C. Levy was the Goldstein spark plug getting a 600 series. Unusual as this was the outstanding highlight of the bowling season which ends next week was Bill Choffin's bowling for the Cavalcade team. Bill, who maintained a 164 average all season, surprised his team mates and himself by getting 232, 188, and 225 for 645. When it was apparent that Bill was clicking his team mates gave him a rousing ovation every time it was his turn to roll. Maybe that was all Bill needed because he sure rolled up a nice score and triumphantly carried away the jackpot for the evening. The team, collectively, took one game from the Daisy and lost another by five pins. The scores, 839, 851, 896 and 835, 888, 901 for the Daisy. Mayflower Hotel took two from Wild & Co. and Strohs took two from Taylor & Blyton.

Letters Tell of Good Health of Riggs Family

Letters received by old time Plymouth friends from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riggs, who removed from Plymouth to Venice, California many years ago, state that both Mr. and Mrs. Riggs are in excellent health and getting along nicely. There was a report in Plymouth sometime ago that Mr. Riggs had been seriously ill. This report proved to be incorrect as both have been in good health and have enjoyed the last winter greatly, even though California did have its usual share of "unusual weather."

A Lecture on Christian Science Entitled Christian Science: Its Divine Origin and Operation

by Elizabeth McArthur Thomson, C.S.B. of Saint Louis, Missouri

Member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Tonight, you are invited to journey in thought to a "city foursquare," whose gates open wide to all who seek a spiritual and divinely practical understanding of God and His work for man. You are called to give consideration to His Word and meditate upon His law. Truth, to be valuable, must be useful and helpful. The attainment of "good admittedly should be the aim of every sincere thinker. Surely no one desires a continuance of fear, hate, or destruction. We can be grateful for every evidence of mankind's effort to find God, to express His love, power, government, and control.

The most important thing in the world is to know God. A practical Christianity, as demonstrated by Christ Jesus, appeals unceasingly to those who are willing to give up evil thoughts and deeds. Eventually all must find "the secret place of the most High," where God is revealed, and where His love, law, and government hold unending sway. Christian Science has come to this age to show the path which leads mankind out of false beliefs, sickness, and sorrow. Christian Science reveals the city foursquare as infinite divine consciousness, the complete understanding of God and His work. To that city, the new Jerusalem, mankind can go to find refuge from all ills of the flesh. The way of understanding is straight and narrow. Why? Because it leads directly to Truth, and excludes all but the good. Unknown only to those who reject the Christ, this straight and narrow pathway is available to all who are longing for an understanding of Truth.

The Import of God's Word

Were one to ask the question, "What are you seeking?" he would probably receive the reply, "A larger measure of good." A commendable ambition! But the question arises: Can we not be able to define his sense of goodness in terms other than physical well-being, financial success, or greater material possessions, yet as one examines and analyzes humanity's true desires, he soon discovers an honest longing for peace of mind, freedom of action, and relief from want and limitation. Could we ever go back far enough into the history of mankind to find a time or place in which material reasoning was sufficient unto itself, or able to provide for its own needs? Yet, mortals still go on searching in matter, seemingly unwilling to take the course of a better way. Surely it must be true that mankind needs to discover and learn to love the path of Truth, the pure Christianity which leads unerringly to God and His perfect unfoldment of good.

Studying the writings of the Old and New Testaments, one gains most helpful thoughts regarding God's city. The Psalmist sang of it as he metaphorically illustrated some of the ideas of Truth in his words: "There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the Most High. In the midst of her, she shall not be moved: God shall help her, and that right early." Let us spiritually view the river or stream which continues to offer refreshing, cleansing, and healing thought. Let us know that we, too, can bathe in the waters of Truth, Christianity, the perfect Science of Life, Truth, and Love. Following the right path which ever winds upward, we shall express more and more clearly the divine being; we shall reflect the divine Mind at all times. To human sense the manifestation of the one God may appear as character, building, and the resurrection of mortals from ignorance, fear, sickness, and sin. As we keep on praying, working, and watching, we shall eventually rise in spiritual understanding as to see ourselves as we really are—children of the one Father, the one God, and the one Christ. Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer, Founder, and Leader of Christian Science, by the divine way of revelation, reason, and demonstration, discerned the truth of being in the teachings of Christ Jesus. In her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mrs. Eddy gave to the world the perfect Science. Christian Science interprets the law of God, which is teaching us the eternal verities we need to know. In her textbook, Mrs. Eddy writes (p. 174): "Truth is revealed. It needs only to be practised. Jesus went about doing good. Mary Baker Eddy followed in his footsteps. In the spirit of gratitude for Christ and Christian Science, we recommend to you their teachings and practice, which reveal the perfect ideas of Truth and Love.

There Is Work for Us to Do

Human thought, from infancy to manhood, never gives up its search for health and happiness. Mankind, even in its earliest or formative years, centers its interest around the construction of a model of its own invention or one prepared by another. It may be only a building of blocks, or a house of cards. Yet, out of sincere effort, however immature, presently may grow a home for the family, or even a place of worship. In fact, the infantile effort which begins so simply, may it not indicate humanity's longing to express itself in form or being? After what pattern, and with what success? Humanly speaking, the questions are answered in the seeming unrest, dissatisfaction, discouragement, and illness of many who are looking for help in matter, or unspiritual methods and means. The plans of mortal mind cannot be the pattern of God, of His work, or His city, for if they were, the results would certainly be different and much more satisfying. Only spiritual Science can explain the meaning of the city foursquare, and the work that must be done by all mortals as they progress and succeed.

Are we doing our part in seeking the kingdom? Are we striving to serve in the city which God has made? Has our search brought us to the heavenly structure, to a consciousness of good that is perfect, enduring, real, and true? Are we building up thought that expresses divinity, do we definitely follow a course that is wise and right? What is our goal, the spiritual or carnal? Answers to the questions are not so easy as one might think, for whereas each may desire goodness, purity, and justice, the seemingly incessant demands of mortal thought, its clever way of counterfeiting all that is holy and true, make the choice of our thought, our work, and our service a very proof of Christianly scientific understanding. We must demonstrate our ability to know the truth about God, His power and government. In Christian Science we have a religion of good works. Could it be otherwise, considering its source? Those who, through prayerful effort, have known and proved in a degree what Truth is and what it does, repeat after Paul: "Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift." Christian Scientists do thank God for His gift, a pure Science which came to bless all mankind.

In a general way mortals may differ as to the best method of developing a fine character, a good business, harmonious home relationships. But there could not be any disagreement as to the desirability of training youth and adult in a practical and demonstrable Science which heals and saves. Christian people—and are there any better?—those who have learned to love the Bible, must finally acknowledge that material thought is mere physical action, however highly developed, can never really provide for humanity's needs, nor invent a permanent curative or preventive agency of healing. The material search has been long, painful, and generally discouraging, has it not? As evidence one has but to view and thoughtfully consider the war, illness, discontent, and unrest of the times. On all sides one hears the question, "Is there no permanency of home, habitation, business, no sure way out of sickness, woe, and sin?" God's two best witnesses, Christ Jesus and Christian Science, reply: "Yes, there is a way. And you can find it in Christian Science." And the followers of Mrs. Eddy have learned to keep on rising in thought above the mists of erroneous thinking, until the true idea of God and His perfect creation is clearly discerned and understood. It is then they find their place in the great city, as they gain the true consciousness of Life and Love. Going about doing good, as he must if he is to be a real follower of Truth, the Scientist, in humble gratitude, thanks God for the revelation and demonstration of his Leader, Mrs. Eddy, and for the privilege of service to all mankind.

Opportunity to Reflect God

Always there is the opportunity to reflect divine, infinite consciousness. Scientific work well done must include the realization that no thing of human invention, no theory of ignorant mortal mind, no traditional, hereditary belief or so-called inheritance of evil can keep us from possessing, expressing, and enjoying "the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." Can these "things" be less than health and true substance? Can they bring to men any peace, harmony, and joy? Would the works of God be revealed if they did not meet the human need? Divine Mind, through the perfect Science as revealed to this age by Mrs. Eddy, is repeating the glorious message of Christ, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." In Mrs. Eddy's discovery, the Scientists have found rest in the revelation of Truth, which never fails. The individual may err, but the Science never, for its Principle is God, its rule perfect and divine. Tonight, we invite you to view this Science. We urge you to accept the new-old order of Life and Love. Let us journey together in full faith and hopeful expectation, much is to be gained by an increasing understanding of Truth. The city of God, which Christian Science reveals in its true nature, the nature of infinite, divine consciousness, is offering, at all times, refuge, loving welcome, and abundant provision. What must we do to receive?

Adore His Word, Accept His Law

A wholesome regard for constituted authority, for the law of God and the good laws of men, is an excellent beginning for the understanding and demonstration of divine government. Respect for what is good in the human leads one to clearer discernment of the demands of Truth. If we adore His Word and honor His law, we are preparing to overcome the evil of lack, disease, and sin. Law observance is law protection. Our own obedience to the rule of Principle is our protection from evil.

Cities of olden times were built with the idea of safety or refuge from the enemy. May we not view symbolically our city foursquare and see in it a new reign of good? What can the manifestation of infinite, divine consciousness be but the kingdom of heaven within us, the reflection of one Mind on the earth where men dwell? Mrs. Eddy in her textbook clearly defines our beautiful city in her words (Science and Health, p. 577): "This spiritual, holy habitation has no boundary nor limit, but its four cardinal points are first, the Word of Life, Truth, and Love; second, the Christ, the spiritual idea of God; third, Christianity, which is the outcome of the divine Principle of the Christ-idea in Christian history; fourth, Christian Science, which to-day and forever interprets that great example and the great Science of Life, Truth, and Love." This divine Word made flesh, as John declared, appears in the glorious teachings of Christ Jesus and Christian Science. True Fatherhood, sonship, brotherhood, and manhood are made plain through the spiritual unfoldment of the Bible teaching. The city foursquare, whose sides Mrs. Eddy so beautifully defines (Science and Health, p. 575) as "the Word, Christ, Christianity, and divine Science" is providing for all men the good works of God, as they appear in divine revelation, inspiration, illumination, and interpretation. Practice and demonstration of the truths of being afford proof of God's sustaining care.

Has humanity any greater need than to know the absolute fact about God and His creation? Can we hope to prove our right to the good things of God if we refuse to heed and obey His law? To realize the truth of being and put into practice what Christian Science teaches—is there any better foundation for the building of character, establishment of a good home or business, harmonious relationships, and the developing of a healthy body and mind? Did not our Master rely wholly upon Truth as he healed the sick, cleansed the sinner, and raised the dead? He adored God's Word, revered and followed it. His law, Mrs. Eddy urges her students to accept Jesus, the Christ, as the perfect Exemplar. And Christian Scientists pray that they may work, as she did, in accord with the pattern of Truth which only God could design.

The Design of Love

Our Leader reveals in Christian Science the unnumbered blessings awaiting those who strive to gain spiritual understanding. Spiritual understanding is the way out of the pain and discord of material sense into the secret place of Spirit or Soul. In the secret place, the holy habitation, men may gain release from sickness and sin. To become conscious of God's goodness and love, and that worth every sacrifice? There is no fault or failure in the pattern of Love, and divine Love never fails us when we leave all for Christ.

With profit we can study every illustration in parable and story our Master gave us. How he worked, what he said, we must know and do. Treasures indeed are the Master's teachings. And the message of our beloved Leader, Mrs. Eddy, brings comforting assurance of final deliverance from evil in her words (Science and Health, p. 531): "The human mind will sometime rise above all material and physical sense, exchanging it for spiritual perception, and exchanging human concepts for the divine consciousness. Then man will recognize his God-given dominion and being." "Recognize his God-given dominion and being," what a duty and privilege! The way of health and holiness is made plain in Christian Science. We can accept it and through it prove our dominion over evil. The Master's words and works made clear man's eternal unity with God, the Father. And the teachings of Mrs. Eddy show how all mankind can demonstrate that unity scientifically in human affairs.

Love as a Rule of Action

To sing of God's greatness, majesty, and power is not difficult. But to follow in the way of Christ and practice his Science it is necessary to work and pray for wisdom, understanding, and love. The sick are healed, the hungry fed, not by mere words, but through the comprehension and application of truth in a service of love for God and man. The spiritual education we all need is attained only through a pure Science. By its practice we learn that no form of evil can possibly obstruct, impede, or curtail the unfoldment of good. We can solve human problems by manifesting in daily living the divine qualities of intelligence, purity, unselfishness, honesty, faithfulness, courage, and love. These characteristics are guideposts directing the way to the city of our God.

Christian Scientists endeavor to follow the rule of Principle and to meet the human need. Consider the definition of the word "love" which appeared recently in a copy of The Christian Science Monitor. In a column entitled "A Word a Day" the verb was defined as follows: "Meet. No one is met by standing still, much less by moving backward. The verb 'meet' suggests reciprocal action on the part of both agencies that come together. If our next state of mind by Love, we must not by thought or action move in an unlovely direction. We must prove our worth in practice; not only preach, but live the truth we love.

Through God's two witnesses, Christ Jesus and Christian Science, all mankind has been given the wonderful legacy of Love. Through "the Word, Christ, Christianity, and divine Science" we may view the "city's" buildings as divine revelation, inspiration, illumination, and interpretation, culminating in demonstration or proof, the works of God as they appear to men. Mrs. Eddy's second discovery of the truth of being has come to bring freedom to all mankind. We must love her and her work to receive the benefit, for as she says (Science and Health, p. 454): "Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way."

"But," questions one, "what have the things of the Spirit to do with my problem of sickness, despair, lack of work and supply? It isn't religion I need, but some human charity, a workable plan of relief." That has been the claim, and call of the centuries: what some might term their unshared prayer. Out of such thoughts come inactivity, chaos, and confusion. Yet, on mortals go, still declaring what they term religion or Christianity as useless and unavailing. Yet thousands, yes, millions, have found untold blessings, healing of sickness, restoration of life, hope, home, business, through true religion. Christian Science fills the void of alone with a glorious promise, but with work and its rich reward. In it the world is shown a pure Christianity, a practical, everyday religion which provides a study, prayer, and work that does not fail. Christian Science is here for all to use with profit. We are blessed if we accept and obey its rules.

The Value of Unceasing Prayer

Let me tell you how Christian Science has been the family and prayer for all its members a substantial measure of good. For years they have been fed from the table of Science, refreshed and sustained by it, and provided with work. Christian Science appeared in that home through its textbook which was lent to a family of mortal mind. It was a mother of little children, who because of her ill-health, were without her care. At the time, this woman was confined in a hospital condemned to chronic invalidism or even worse, perhaps death, in a few years. Where she lived, in those days, no practitioner of Science was available. She soon saw the work was hers, that she must go alone to God for help. Through the study of the textbook there came just what the mother needed: revelation, inspiration, interpretation, and the possibility of demonstration; a spiritual vision which lifted her gradually out of fear and pain. She had suffered greatly for years from a complicated internal disorder, and hope had seemed to vanish. She was willing to go; in fact, looked to death for release. Dying seemed much easier than living, if she could have provided for her children. She prayed as best she knew for a sign of encouragement and help. It came at a time when her thought was apparently hopeless—this angelic message from God to men. In the form of Christian Science, Truth appeared to her consciousness, and through the study of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" health was restored. As she gained in understanding, she was freed of fear. The human footsteps that followed were not always easy, but the pathway had been made plain, and she was willing to work. The textbook brought to this home just what was needed, hope in God, faith in His promise, and desire to serve. The mother's healing was complete and permanent. And every member of that household has been blessed by Mrs. Eddy's revelation and demonstration of Truth.

The woman was my mother, and she lived with our own. We saw it more. Instead of fear and death, there was joy and life, all the result of Mrs. Eddy's work and teaching, which the family soon learned to respect and to heed. We reverse and love our Leader with enduring affection, for we know and have proved, in some measure, what her revelation brings to mankind. It heals, reforms, and restores the sick and the sinning; brings succor from grief and a gratitude that outweighs words. What Christian Science has brought to this family over a period of more than half a century—fifty-five years ago for our father, a sick man, for a person who cannot find God and His healing Christ, or Science; not one but can share in His blessing and love. All it requires, as was proved in the case of this woman, is spiritual desire, consistent prayer, and watchfulness against fear. We must avoid the material thinking which suggests selfishness, limitation, unemployment, death. These were the claims that burdened that household, the thoughts which had to be destroyed. Entirely effective was the work of Christian Science as its members learned how to demonstrate over fear, sickness, material want. Today a family, large in number, enjoys many of the blessings Truth provides for all.

In gratitude to God for Christian Science, members of the Christian Science movement make every effort to serve in a manner acceptable to God, who is Love. To Mrs. Eddy they give full credit, for she was the one who saw the way. The story of mine could half tell the story. We must use Christian Science in order to understand its Leader. We must serve as she did if we wish to comprehend, even in a degree, the wonders of her revelation and demonstration. Mrs. Eddy consecrated her life to the service of God and man. She made every sacrifice that we might be saved and blessed. Is it any wonder that her followers love her? You, too, will do the same as the healing comes, day by day. Mrs. Eddy's discovery provides consistent study, and a working plan for safe and sure movement. To the question Edison replied: "If you take your religion seriously, the religion you profess, you should be able to answer this question: 'What is the use of it?' It has gone already too far technologically. Our next job is to catch up spiritually." "Catch up spiritually"—is not that a course which all need to follow? Oh, the good that will come as we work to this end! It means a labor of love under God's direction. In the words of Albert Einstein: "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

How Are We Building?

In the Bible we may read of another city, the one constructed by "the families of the sons of Noah" who said, "Go to, let us build us a city and a tower, whose top may reach unto heaven; and let us make us a name." The Bible calls that building Babel, and the story is quite well known to all. It fell because it had no true foundation; for it was the work of men, not of God. Much could be said of this city, how it represents the evil beliefs of mankind. As related in Genesis, the story is an indictment against confusion, pride of place, and the spirit of self-interest. Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it. Our story tonight is almost ended. It is the oft-told tale of God's love and His care. It is true, and you can prove it, as can everyone who sincerely and honestly tries. Let us walk in God's pathway till we reach His city. Let us cherish in thought the perfect idea of pure consciousness of Life, Truth, and Love. To apply the rule of Principle takes love, patience, courage, and the right kind of enthusiasm. Children of God possess these qualities in abundance. And children of men, through the teachings of the Christ and Christian Science, can attain a spiritual consciousness of good that is enduring. All we need is to talk with God, and find Him their very best friend.

"Take time to be holy."

Speak oft with thy Lord; Abide in Him always; And feed on His word."

—Christ Jesus urged us to accept Truth and its blessings. Mary Baker Eddy interprets the Master's words and works. We urge you to continue in the study of Christian Science, for "God is in the midst of her, she shall not be moved; God shall help her"—and you. That is the truth, as has been proved by thousands.

In a knowledge and practice of Christian Science lies the world's salvation. Through Science we see a new heaven and a new earth. In the Bible, as recorded in the book of Revelation, John tells us much about our beautiful city foursquare, what it holds for you and me. And in the textbook of Christian Science Mrs. Eddy completes the revelation, showing how all may enter the holy city, may recognize the truth of being and be rid of all error. In speaking of perfect, spiritual consciousness she states (Science and Health, p. 573, 574): "that we can become conscious, here and now, of a cessation of death, sorrow and pain. This is indeed a foretaste of absolute Christian Science. Take heart, dear sufferer, for this reality of being will surely appear sometime and in some way. There will be no more pain, and all tears will be wiped away. When you read this, remember God's words, 'The kingdom of God is within you.' This spiritual consciousness is therefore a present possibility."

We thank you heartily for taking this journey, for your kindly interest, and patient thought. In gratitude to God for Christian Science and its Discoverer and Founder, Mary Baker Eddy, we wish to say in parting: "The Lord bless thee, and keep thee; the Lord make his face shine upon thee, . . . and give thee peace."

Reverence for Law

"Out of a finite sense of things, Into the joy that the infinite brings— This is our resurrection."

The experiences of the aforementioned family are not unusual in Christian Science. Students from all over the world can testify to the same results in practice. In fact, one has only to attend an Annual Meeting of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, The Mother Church, in Boston, to hear of widespread healings from those who come from all parts of the globe. Similar statements of benefits received are given every Wednesday in branch churches as well as in The Mother Church. Verified testimonies of healing appear regularly in the authorized literature of our movement.

Attendance at church and the reading of our periodicals soon convince the honest investigator that Christian Science heals. If in need of help or treatment, one has but to go to any faithful, loyal practitioner and receive the good each has to give. Or he may be cured, as was this mother, through study of the textbook. Many have done just this, and have been wonderfully benefited.

Thought that reaches out for Truth, and heeds its lessons, must eventually prove man's exemption from sickness and sin. We may walk slow or fast, we may gain much or little, but of this we can be sure: in Christian Science everyone can prove that there is no lack in God's kingdom, no closed door to His city, for divine, impartial Love is forever opening the way. Let us study and work to gain and express more of infinite, divine consciousness. Let us demonstrate that, despite appearances, threats of war, unemployment, beliefs of sin, disease, and death, God is dwelling with men, and that His presence, power, and love can be known and expressed by all. Let us go forth courageously, with faith in God's care. Then we can rest in action and enjoy our blessings; for cause we have earned the reward of good work.

As we learn more of God, Life, Truth, and Love, we are ready for heaven, prepared for a home here on earth which represents the harmony of Spirit. Rich through obedience to the rule of Principle, one can rely wholly on God can never lack. Spiritual revelation, inspiration, illumination, interpretation, and finally demonstration, make up his dwelling place, and to these gates the real Scientist goes for refreshment and supply. The student of Christian Science realizes, in his increasing measure, what adoration of God and reverence for law will do. In obedience, he seeks God's habitation, dwells therein, conscious of ever-present good. Our Master, Christ Jesus, and the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, clearly demonstrated that pure spiritual activity and unselfed love would bring peace supernal.

Of George Washington it was once said: "He applied himself to learning, and applied his learning to living. He was a disciple of application. He urged respect for authority and obedience to law." Some fine thinkers no longer identify our movement with the views of Christian Scientists. One man highly respected in business, who believes in the power of prayer, recently told of a conversation he had with the great inventor, Thomas A. Edison, shortly before Mr. Edison's death. I quote him: "I asked Mr. Edison what he considered the greatest machine in existence—the one with the greatest possibilities. I thought he would mention the airplane, the internal-combustion engine, or radio developments. To my surprise Edison quietly replied: 'The soul and brain of a little child.'"

What a question! The country has gone already too far technologically. Our next job is to catch up spiritually. "Catch up spiritually"—is not that a course which all need to follow? Oh, the good that will come as we work to this end! It means a labor of love under God's direction. In the words of Albert Einstein: "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

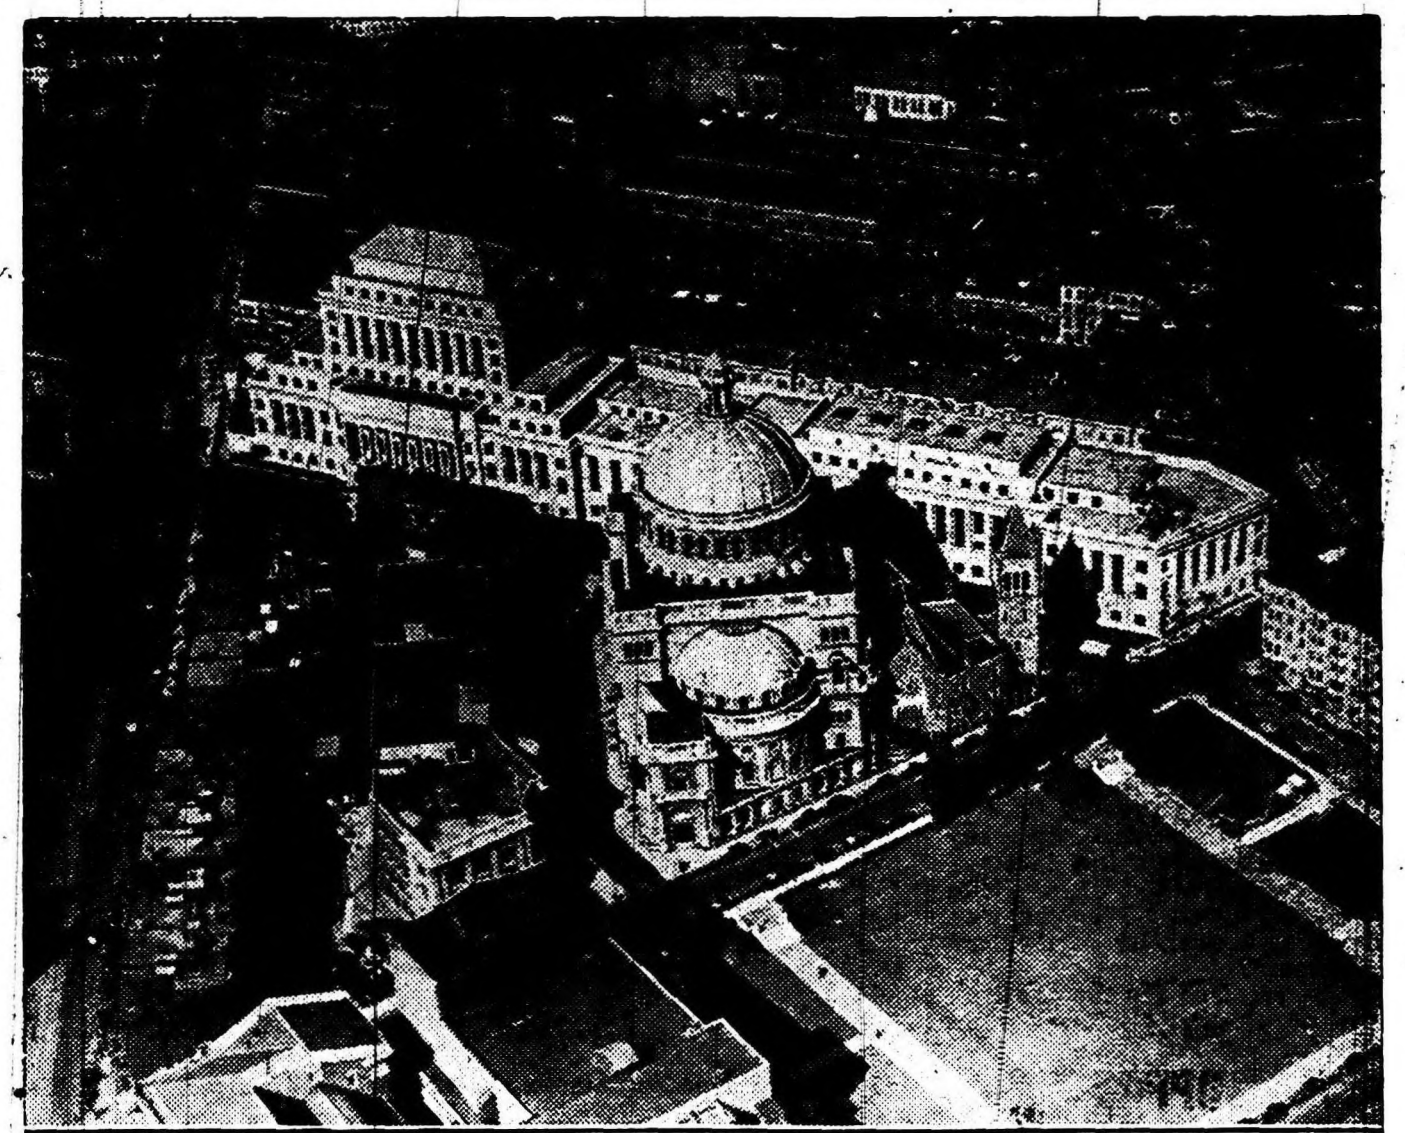

Proposed amendments 4 and 6 concern the authority of the manager and compensation of the commissioners, respectively, and do not warrant discussion. Proposed amendment 5 would require any one elected to be a freeloader of the city at least two years before election. Without commenting upon the desirability of such a change in the law, one must wonder if it does not conflict with proposed amendment 3, in that the latter requires the justice to be a freeloader only momentarily before election while number 5 requires that he be a freeloader at least two years before his election. If both 3 and 5 are passed, the law on this point will be much more in doubt than it is at present.

Viewing the proposed amendments as a whole, numerous benefits have been cited, that the Court will become more efficient, that the sessions will now be public and that the jurisdiction of the court will be increased to $500. Upon these one may pause. The court is already efficient; the court is up to date in every department of its work. There probably is not a justice court in the state that has as complete and as accurate records as has the Plymouth court. The sessions of the court already are, and always have been, public; this benefit is illusory. The same comment may be made concerning the jurisdictional benefit; the court already has jurisdiction up to $500 and has frequently exercised this jurisdiction.

Which, if any, of the proposed amendments should be adopted is not for the writer to say. The aim has been to recognize advantages and suggest disadvantages concerning the proposed amendments, being content to point out certain possibilities but leaving the ultimate conclusion to the good judgment of the voter. This, it is believed, is the true purpose of democracy.

Communication

Editor of The Plymouth Mail:

Considerable ink has been spilled concerning the proposed amendments, but little, however, from an analytical point of view, considering each proposal separately.

Proposed amendment 1 would change the compensation of the justice from a combination salary and fee to a straight salary, obviating, as has been pointed out previously by the mayor, the prejudicial incentive that inclines a judge to favor those from whom he receives the larger fees. In justice to the incumbent, John S. Dayton, it should be said, however, that no court, with or without the fee system, has been any more impartial than that of Judge Dayton. The proposed amendment follows the suggestion of the state law under which Plymouth was incorporated and seems for the best.

Proposed amendment 2 provides that the place and hours of court shall be fixed by the justice with the approval of the commission. This veto power is already given the commission by the charter and the amendment seems superfluous.

Proposed amendment 3 states the qualifications of the justice, providing among other things that "he must be an Attorney admitted to practice . . . immediately preceding . . . his election" (this would make ineligible the experienced lawyer) and that he must be a freeloader in the city. Passing over errors in draftsmanship, it should be noted that in future elections it is quite possible there may be no qualified lawyer willing to accept the duties.

Proposed amendments 4 and 6 concern the authority of the manager and compensation of the commissioners, respectively, and do not warrant discussion. Proposed amendment 5 would require any one elected to be a freeloader of the city at least two years before election. Without commenting upon the desirability of such a change in the law, one must wonder if it does not conflict with proposed amendment 3, in that the latter requires the justice to be a freeloader only momentarily before election while number 5 requires that he be a freeloader at least two years before his election. If both 3 and 5 are passed, the law on this point will be much more in doubt than it is at present.

Mrs. Rowland Honored at Informal Tea

Mrs. Joseph Rowland, who has resigned her position as secretary to the superintendent of Plymouth schools, was honored Tuesday afternoon at an informal tea given by the women members of the teaching staff, the wives of teachers and the clerical and maintenance staff of Plymouth high school, and Central and Starkweather grade schools.

Tea was served in the home economics room of the high school with Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. Nellie Bird presiding. Tea cakes in pastel colors and dainty sandwiches were served from the tea table, which was decorated with a beautiful centerpiece of pink flowers. The guests at the farewell party enjoyed a short skit and several games.

A silver tea service was presented to Mrs. Rowland as a token of appreciation for her services, as well as many other small gifts.

Church News

SALEM CONGREGATIONAL church. Lucia M. Stroh, minister. Next Sunday, Palm Sunday service, 10:30 a.m. We trust to see many at the Lord's service on that day. Sunday school, 12 a.m. All are cordially invited. Evening song and testimony service, 7:30. All are welcome. Prayer meeting this week Thursday at the parsonage. Rev. E. P. Black, renowned artist, evangelist and preacher, will be back with us to show some wonderful moving pictures on the suffering, death and resurrection of Jesus. He will conduct services here in the church beginning Thursday evening, April 10, Good Friday evening, April 11 and Easter Sunday evening at 7:30. We urge all our friends in Plymouth and community to come. Do not miss this wonderful opportunity of great blessing. Good Friday afternoon we will have our usual "union service" from 2 to 3 o'clock sharp. The Salem Federated church is uniting with us and their pastor, Rev. Cora M. Pennell will be our speaker. The joint choir will sing. The Salem school and the outlying schools will also attend enmass and participate in this service. The school children render a great service in song. Be sure to come to this service with your children. Easter morning, April 13, at 10:30 a.m. will be a joyful triumph and service for the Lord. All members and friends are urged to unite with us to make this the most blessed service of all. We feel truly grateful here in America that we can worship our Lord and savior in freedom, peace and liberty. Long may this liberty stand and we come to serve our God. There will be baptisms of children, reception of members and the Holy Sacrament of the Lord's Supper administered.

ST. PETER'S EV. LUTHERAN church. Edgar Hoenecke, pastor. Ribar, Mrs. John Selle, Jr. Monday, April 7, 8:30 p.m., sacred concert of Baganz harp trio under auspices of Lutheran Woman's club. An offering will be taken. Tuesday, April 8, 8:00 p.m.: Meeting of the congregation. Maundy Thursday, April 10, 7:30 p.m.: Holy communion service. Good Friday, April 11, 1:00-2:00 p.m. Memorial service. Bring a friend and neighbor to this service. Easter sunrise service, 6:00 a.m. Easter communion service, 10:30 a.m. "Let us keep the feast!"

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN church. Walter Nichol, pastor. 10 a.m., Sunday school. 11 a.m., church worship. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed Sunday morning. There will also be a service of reception of new members. The session of the church will meet in the pastor's room at 10:30 a.m. Those who are being received as members will meet with the session. Mr. Kidston, Scoutmaster of P-4 troop is planning a progressive and interesting program for the boys of this group. Mrs. Edward Hawk is chairman of Division 2 of the Women's Auxiliary. This division will have a potluck luncheon together in the dining room of the church on Wednesday, April 9, at 1 p.m. Will all the members endeavor to be present? The Women's Auxiliary is to have a "Picture Day" at their meeting on Wednesday, April 9, at 2 p.m. Mrs. E. J. Cutler will lead a devotional service. The chairman for the program is Mrs. Carl Caplin. The Tre Ore Good Friday service will be held in First Baptist church, Mill street, from 12 to 3 Friday, April 11. The Presbyterian church is joining in this union worship. Easter Sunday will be celebrated with special music and appropriate sermon. Children will be received in baptism at the service.

CHURCH OF GOD—333 North Main street. Clifford C. Funk, pastor. Our services are as follows: Sunday: Worship service, 9:45 a.m.; Bible school, 10:30 a.m.; Young people's meeting, 6:30 p.m.; evangelistic service, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday night, 7:30, young people's prayer meeting; Thursday night, 7:30, general prayer meeting. Everyone is welcome and we would like to see you out. "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Romans 5: 8.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL church—Corner of Harvey and Maple streets. Morning prayer and distribution of palms at 10 a.m. Church school, 11:15 a.m. Lenten services on Good Friday, 7:30, April 11.

FIRST METHODIST. Stanford S. Closson, minister. Palm Sunday services. A cordial invitation is extended to all. If you have no church home, you will be welcome with us, 10 a.m., Sunday school. The Easter program will be held at this time (Palm Sunday). All departments and classes will meet together, 11 a.m., church service—Family Hour with Junior church and nursery care for the children. Rev. Closson will preach and talk to the children. Special music by the choir, 6:30 p.m., Epworth League, 7:30 p.m., evening service—The Brightmoor church players of Detroit will present a sacred drama entitled "Into Thy Kingdom." You will not want to miss this. Monday, 8:00 p.m., official board meeting. Wednesday, 12:30, the monthly luncheon meeting of The Woman's Society of Christian Service. Luncheon served. This will be a Lenten meeting with a guest speaker. Thursday, 6:30, Lenten supper, the seventh and last in the mid-week series. Supper is potluck and service is cafeteria. Following supper adjournment will be to the sanctuary for the annual Holy Week Communion service. Thursday, 7:30, Holy Week communion service. Arrange with the pastor for baptism of children.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST. Scientist. Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00. "Unreality" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, April 6. The Golden Text (I Timothy 6:17) is: "Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Proverbs 20: 1): "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 538): "Passions and appetites must end in pain. They are of few days, and full of trouble. Their supposed joys are cheats. Their narrow limits belittle their gratifications, and hedge about their achievements with thorns."

BEREA CHAPEL. Assemblies of God. Rev. John Walaskay, pastor. Corner Mill street and Ann Arbor Trail. Sunday school, 10:00 a.m.; morning worship, 11:00; young people C. A., 6:30 p.m.; evening service, 7:30. Thursday, 7:30, prayer and praise. An Open Letter...

The eyes are wonderful instruments, but—like the camera—they cannot properly function without light. The well known picture we all have of Lincoln reading by the flickering blaze of a fireplace contrasts sharply with modern lighting such as we all now have in our homes. His eyes and the eyes of others in that time were no doubt punished severely.

Today all of us are interested in sight saving. Not only must the page be well lighted with avoidance of glare, but we have developed larger and sharper type. Much time has been devoted to develop more contrast between ink and paper and the most desirable angles and distances for reading have been worked out... all in an effort to avoid fatigue.

Hundreds of thousands can testify to the relief they have experienced from the correction of minor abnormalities. WE KNOW THAT ANY STRAIN WHICH CONTINUES DAY AFTER DAY, YEAR IN AND YEAR OUT, MAY LEAD NOT ONLY TO OCULAR BUT ALSO TO CONSTITUTIONAL SYMPTOMS.

Did you ever stop to consider the immense amount of energy it takes to read a printed page... First the muscles must move the eyeballs back and forth in the sockets so they may follow the type from right to left. The eyes must maintain a sharp focus on every letter. A certain amount of fatigue results from unsteady handling of the page... eyes must steady the movements so that again the thought will be continuous.

Eyes are a vital part of our every day life... Adults may have good or fair sight... Children can be helped greatly by providing lights that are powerful enough to make every printed word distinct. Often times poor students in school are that way only because their vision handicaps them in their absorbing the tasks before them. Some students will be apparently normal at the beginning of the morning school session, only to find that their abilities will wane as the day progresses. It is only natural that these children should fall behind their classmates.

IN ONE SCHOOL SYSTEM, NEARLY HALF OF A SIZABLE GROUP OF READERS WERE TRANSFORMED INTO EXPERTS WITH A LITTLE PATIENCE AFTER REMEDYING REFRACTIVE ERRORS.

When we reach middle life, most of us are obliged to hold the paper or magazine farther away in order to see. This is because the lens has lost much of its elasticity. Therefore we put on glasses so we can see better and focus on near objects. Much of this has been caused by carelessness, such as sitting and reading by a window long after the artificial lights should have been turned on.

Visual fatigue is dangerous. No one should overlook this important factor. Unfortunately, symptoms of fatigue do not always show themselves until after some damage is done. Headaches will usually tell us that we have overdone the matter. Blinking is often a sign of strain. Many persons will exhibit a marked increase in the rate if the period of reading is too long, especially if improper glasses are employed. Many times you have noticed this in your friends and have dismissed it as nervousness. It is one of the means that nature has adopted of insisting on rest.

Truly nature is great, but as the years roll on, man and science have found ways to help and improve the deficiencies that develop with time. Optometry is the science of improving sight. Improving sight and correcting visual deficiencies is a study that we have made our life work. Our professions in our profession are exemplified by the thousands of pairs of glasses being used every day to help people better see the things so vital in their every day living.

Electric Water Heating Earns Place in Million Modern Yankee Homes

Silent, Clean and Safe, Here's System That Works With the Speed and Economy of Light to Keep Hot Water on Tap

By H. L. MARTIN

Manager the Modern Kitchen Bureau

Starting the day with a shave in ice-cold water is guaranteed to turn Dad's language blue, as well as his face. To make Mother's day miserable, there's nothing quite so effective as trying to wash grease stained dishes in lukewarm water. As for Sis, when she's dressing for a party—but has to wait for hot water, pat a tank and nurse an old water heater—no wonder her evening's ruined before it's even begun.

That's why it's such a pleasant surprise when these people learn that if their home has electric light, they can also enjoy electric water heating that's just as fast, clean and cheap as electric light.

Imagine a giant thermos bottle that holds all the hot water any family would need, kept at just the right temperature, ready for instant use at any hour of the day or night—silent, clean, requiring no attention. That would certainly solve every hot water problem in every home. Yet today more than a million families enjoy exactly this kind of convenience with their electric water heaters!

Fast as Electric Light

There's no waiting for hot water, no tank patting, no turning the heater on and off in these homes. Just as quickly as when we flip a switch we light a room, when we turn a faucet we enjoy instant hot water, kept hot constantly without guesswork or failure. An electric thermostat turns the heat on and off, heats only the amount of water necessary to replace the water used. The electric water heater is on the job all day, every day.

Since there's no flame in electric water heaters, there's no dirt, no ash carrying. The heating elements are immersed right in the water itself. That's why an electric water heater is as clean as the filaments in an electric light. That's why it saves money, too; there's no waste of heat, since the heat goes right into the water, with none lost through radiation. And cool! With its submerged heating elements and all-around insulation, the electric water heater actually puts less heat into a room than an electric light bulb.

An electric water heater is so smart, so modern in appearance that it fits into any kitchen. Since it does not have to stand next to a chimney and needs no flue or unsightly connections, it can be installed in any convenient location.

Many families put their electric water heater in a closet, because of its perfect safety; or it may be placed in the basement right underneath the kitchen and bathroom, so that the water pipe will rise in a straight line and so increase heat conservation and efficiency.

Health Advantages.

It is from the standpoint of health, however, that the electric water heater makes its major contribution to modern living. The health of the entire family is safeguarded with plenty of hot water on tap at all times.

An automatic electric water heater provides hot water for all health protective purposes with none of the unhealthful work and worry of old-fashioned methods. Flameless, it burns no oxygen, throws off no fumes, leaves the air pure, wholesome, fresh. There are dividends in extra health when an electric water heater supplies adequate hot water.

Reduces Electric Rate

Too many families, when they hear of electric water heating's speed and convenience, think that it must be too expensive. Yet almost any income can afford the carefree comfort of electric water heating.

Not only does an electric water heater prevent the fuel waste, the extra cleaning bills from soot and dirt that are involved in an old water heater; it actually reduces the average electric rate a family pays.

Electricity is getting cheaper every year. But it becomes still cheaper when an electric water heater is installed.

U. of M. Club Plans Banquet May 1

The annual spring banquet and election of the board of governors for the University of Michigan club of Plymouth will be held on Thursday evening, May 1, it was stated this week by Mrs. Thomas Bateman, president of the club.

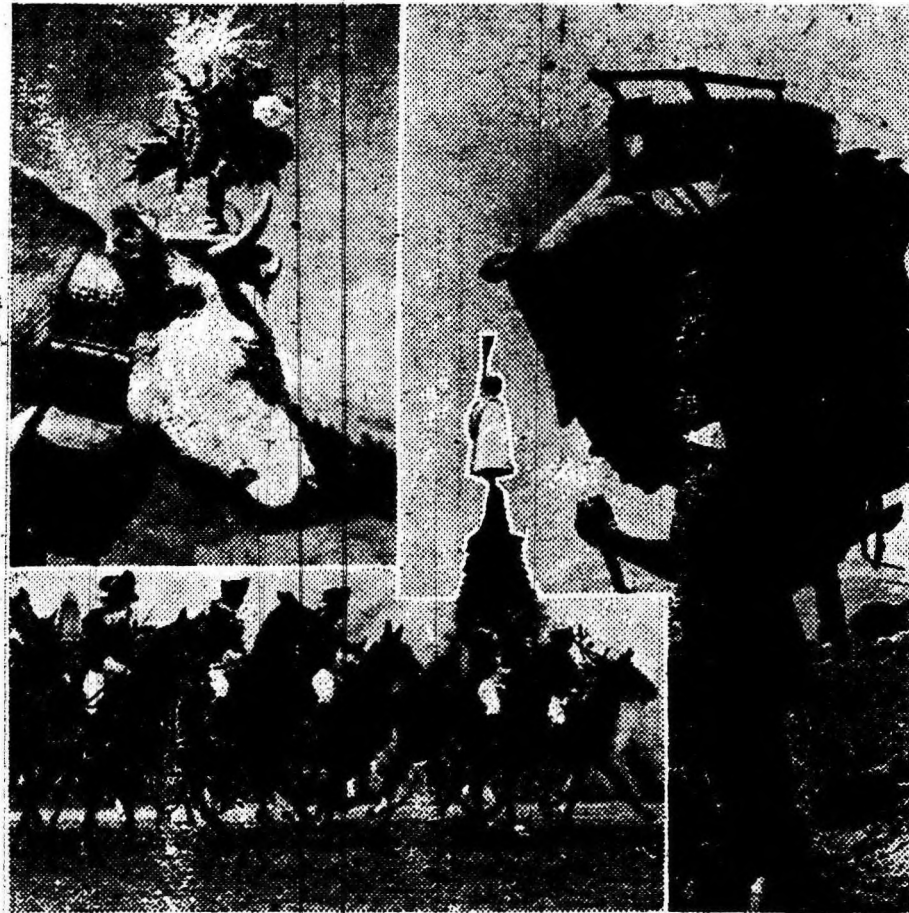

The banquet will mark the first anniversary of the club which was organized at a similar banquet meeting last April and which now includes a membership of 115 alumni and persons interested or associated with the U. of M.

Details of the program, committees for the banquet and the principal speaker of the evening will be announced next week.

The present officers of the U. of M. club include Mrs. Bateman, president; Warren Worth, vice-president; C. H. Elliott, secretary; treasurer; Rev. G. H. Enss, Stuart Dubee, George A. Smith and Sidney D. Strong, members of the board.

Spring Comes to Switzerland

April brings a great change to farmers in Switzerland. In Zurich, spring is "officially" welcomed by a festival (below) in which an effigy of winter, known as Bogg, is burned at the stake. Before cattle are driven to summer pasture higher in the mountains, lead cows are generally decorated (upper left) with flowers on their heads and bells under their necks. The sturdy farmer then loads his belongings on a cart or straps them onto his back (upper right) and leaves his home for the hills where he will remain until next fall.

Church Plans to Stage Comic Play

Much interest is being shown in a play to be sponsored by the choir and booster class of the First Methodist church on April 14 and 15. The entertainment is to be a "Womanless Wedding," in which the city's business men, with the magic aid of lipstick, rouge and eyebrow pencil, will be transformed into beautiful girls, charming debutantes, stately matrons and vamping flappers.

The show is to be directed by the Symphonie Levie. Producing company of Jackson. The "Womanless Wedding" has been presented in cities all over this section by this company, and more than 1000 persons enjoyed the play at a recent showing in South Lyon.

For air-conditioning systems there is a new type of duct which is smooth on the outside, has no exposed hangers, and has flat seams fastened with flathead countersunk screws. As the duct resembles a beam, concealment is not essential.

Kiwanians Hosts to Their Ladies

Fifty-five members of the Plymouth Kiwanis club and their wives enjoyed a "ladies' night" program at the Hotel Mayflower last Tuesday evening. Following a turkey dinner, they were entertained by the Dixie Eight musicians, through the courtesy of the Ford Motor company. Earl S. Mastick was chairman of the program.

Kenneth Corey, chairman of next Tuesday's meeting, announces that a speaker from the social security board in this division will provide the next program.

Traffic experts are convinced that in the majority of cases involving a pedestrian death, the driver of the death car did not see the victim until the moment of impact.

Rotary Club to Elect Officers

The membership of the Plymouth Rotary club will elect four directors for the coming year at the club's regular meeting—Friday noon (today). The board consists of seven members, Glenn Jewell, president; Russell Daane, vice-president and treasurer; William Wood, secretary; Floyd Eckles, Otto Bever, Blake Gillies and Garnett Baker. Last year, Mr. Daane and Mr. Gillies were elected for two-year terms, and the retiring president, Glenn Jewell, becomes a member of the board automatically, leaving four directors to be elected to the new board.

The club year begins July 1 but elections are held during April in order that the incoming officers, directors and committee chairmen may be able to participate in the various group assemblies at the district conference of Rotary which takes place in Ann Arbor on April 27, 28 and 29.

In addition to the annual election, the program at the Friday meeting will feature a musicale which will be presented by a group of artists from the Detroit band of the Salvation Army.

No Opponent Against LeRoy Reiman

Present prospects are that LeRoy Reiman will go into the election next Monday as a candidate for constable without opposition. The problem in this connection is, however, in the fact that his friends must write his name on the ballot and after doing so, place a cross in front of the name. It is urged that this be done.

Chemist

William L. Evans will preside over more than 3,500 chemists, industrialists and educators at the national meeting of the American Chemical society to be held in St. Louis on April 7 to 11. Scientific problems involved in national defense will be discussed at the meeting.

Methodist Church Gives Sacred Drama Sunday

The Brightmoor church players will present a sacred drama, "Into Thy Kingdom," at the First Methodist church of Plymouth Sunday evening, April 6, at 7:30 o'clock. The Brightmoor players have appeared in Plymouth on two previous occasions. Reverend Holcomb, known to many Plymouth residents, was formerly pastor of the Brightmoor Methodist church which will present the drama.

Trade Journal Photograph Brings Guggisberg Family Together

This is a pretty small world after all—even though it is more than twenty-five thousand miles around it, no matter which direction you travel.

That is what Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guggisberg of 37530 Plymouth road and State Representative and Mrs. John Guggisberg of Gaylord discovered last Sunday. Not only did they discover that this troubled old world is not so big as most people think, but they discovered that their ancestors who came from the same place in Switzerland were related and that they, too, are related, but they haven't had sufficient time so far to figure out their relationship because they met Sunday afternoon for the first time in their lives.

It is an interesting story. A few weeks ago Representative Guggisberg sat at his desk in the capitol at Lansing turning the pages of a trade journal.

He happened to see a picture of a man named Robert Guggisberg, who was doing some highly technical work in the new Diesel plant of the General Motors company, located east of the city between Plymouth road and the Pere Marquette tracks.

"I wonder if that fellow might be some relative—there are not many people in this world by the name of Guggisberg," said Representative Guggisberg to some associates who were near his desk.

A day or so later he wrote a letter to the Plymouth Guggisberg family—and almost immediately Representative and Mrs. Guggisberg received an invitation to visit the Plymouth Guggisbergs.

It was last Sunday afternoon when that visit was made. And sure enough when the limbs and branches of the family trees were dragged out, it was discovered that the Plymouth Guggisbergs and the Gaylord Guggisbergs originated in Belp, Bern, Switzerland.

The Guggisberg family in Gaylord came to America many years ago, but Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guggisberg and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Robert, brother and sister-in-law of the Plymouth Guggisbergs, came from Switzerland in 1919, right after the end of the first world war.

All of the original Guggisbergs were watchmakers or fine tool makers—and the Robert Guggisberg of Plymouth has followed in the footsteps of the family and is a highly skilled tool maker in the Diesel plant.

State Representative Guggisberg is a prominent and well known Gaylord merchant.

Three Officers of Local Chapter Attend State D.A.R. Conference

Three local officers of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. J. Merle Bennett, regent; Mrs. Henry Baker, vice-regent; and Mrs. Sidney D. Strong, member of the board of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter, attended the forty-first annual Michigan D.A.R. conference at Fort Huron last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Strong, state vice-chairman of finance, attended a state regents' luncheon given by Mrs. O. D. Heavenrich of Jackson, who is state regent of the D.A.R. on Wednesday afternoon, after which a memorial service was held for deceased members of the organization.

Mrs. Baker presented the two pilgrims selected by the local chapter, Miss Virginia Rock of Plymouth high school and Miss Marilyn Cavell of Northville high school, to the convention. The girls were selected from their respective schools as "best citizens." There were 150 pilgrims selected as representatives from high schools throughout the state at the conference, and Miss Lucille Barnes of Grosse Pointe was selected to attend the national D.A.R. convention in Washington later this month as Michigan's pilgrim representative.

Mrs. Bennett on Thursday afternoon submitted the regent's report from the local chapter on activities here during the last year. The highlight of the conference was the annual banquet which Mrs. Bennett also attended Thursday evening.

The guest speakers at the banquet were Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, who proposed a 13-point program to improve civic education in Michigan schools and to eliminate from the school system undemocratic practices and others inconsistent with community advancement; and S. L. A. Marshall, military critic of The Detroit News, who spoke on the world situation.

The head of Michigan's public school system, advocated that students be given greater responsibility in school government.

Leaders Lose But Still Lead

In spite of taking an eight to seven licking, Serf Flach and Ray Owens maintained their lead of the Euchreites after last Thursday's match at John Schroder's home on Six Mile road. In fact, the only changes in standing were those of Jesse Ziegler and Ernie Ash who dropped from second to third and Ralph and Harlow Wagenschutz advanced a notch and are now in second position.

The most one-sided affair was the match between Ralph and Harlow Wagenschutz and the Gerald Ziegler-Charlie Ash combination, which Ralph and Harlow tucked into their hip pockets with a neat little 12-3 win. As mentioned above, there was one 8-7 match and all the rest were 9-6.

Oakland County Editors Highly Praise George A. Cram, High Court Candidate

Pontiac Attorney Wins Exceptionally High Endorsement

When a group of prominent, independent editors of a county unite in sending to their friends a strong endorsement of a candidate for public office, a candidate seeking a position where there are no favors of any kind to be extended to any one, that endorsement means something.

And that is why The Plymouth Mail strongly recommends to its readers a vote for George A. Cram of Oakland county for the supreme bench next Monday.

Robert Rowe, editor of The Milford Times, George Averill of the Birmingham Eclectic, E. A. Sankrauff of the Holly Herald and Floyd A. Miller of the Royal Oak Tribune, almost life-long acquaintances of Mr. Cram of Pontiac, united in the endorsement sent to editors throughout the state not only highly endorsing Mr. Cram, but reviewing his public activities.

Certainly the voters of Michigan can make no mistake in electing Mr. Cram as a member of the supreme bench. He is a candidate upon the non-partisan ticket.

These Oakland county editors say:

"Mr. Cram is recognized among Michigan lawyers as a lawyer's lawyer." Which simply means that he is a student and scholar of jurisprudence. He is a digger for legal facts. As such he is looked upon by his fellow-lawyers. By temperament and experience, he is ideally fitted for Michigan's supreme court bench.

"Mr. Cram attended Pontiac

public schools, and graduated from the University of Michigan literature school in 1911 and its law school two years later. At the university he was a member of the debating team, and of Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary debating fraternity. He also wears the coveted key of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society, and holds membership in the Order of Coif, national honorary law fraternity.

"George A. Cram is respected and admired in Pontiac and Oakland county. Scandal has never touched him in any way, for he has lived a clean and upright life in his community. He possesses a practical analytical mind, so necessary for qualifying as a supreme court justice.

"As his personal friends, we endorse him and, for the good of Michigan legal procedure, hope he will be elected April 7."

Elm P. T. A. Meets to Install Officers

Installation of new officers will take place when the Elm P. T. A. Teachers' association meets Monday evening, April 7, at 8 o'clock at the school. Following are the officers to be installed: Mrs. Albert Birdsall, president; Kenneth Wilcox, vice president; Miss Mary Welkenbeck, secretary, and Mrs. Henry Thiel, treasurer.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. E. Liddle, Mrs. E. Eads and Mrs. C. Trueman.

A musical program will be presented by students from the Elm seventh and eighth grades.

All members of the association are urged to be present, as several items of utmost importance are to be considered.

ATTACK ON AMERICA

THE STORY SO FAR: Intelligence Officer Benning's warning that 200,000 foreign troops were poised in Mexico for an attack on the United States caused grave concern in army headquarters, but the people branded the statement as "war mongering." Without warning, four large southern cities were attacked

Benning waited for several moments to regain complete composure and went over to a seat at the Fincke table. The Austrian looked up and brightened slightly.

"Thought I might find you here, Bromlitz," Fincke muttered. "I want to ask you a few questions if I can talk to you as one friend to another."

"I suppose, Major," Benning said with a mischievous grin, "you are to be addressed as Lieutenant colonel hereafter."

Fincke glared and demanded: "I'm in no mood for being kidded, Bromlitz. Or did you know Boggio gave me the double-cross?"

"I've been busy with my own affairs," Benning answered. "For all I know Boggio is back in Mexico City."

"Not yet, but he'll be flying south tomorrow while here I am stuck right in Washington for three days more until the big boat sails. What's eating at me now is I may get double-crossed out of the cruise if Boggio hops up to New York to see Bravot."

Benning said crisply, "All right, Fincke, out with your grievance."

Fincke said at once, leaning across the table: "Boggio was up here in Washington on another job when he boarded in on mine. Said he wanted to check my plans from the air corps angle. What does he do but grab off all my calculations for lights, steals my triangles, and pilfers all my technical data, then he sent me out of town at the last minute on a goose chase so he can put my plans across himself! That gives him all the glory for the White House, and now off to Mexico he goes to get a general's crescent."

"I've got it figured out, Bromlitz, you're in on the big show, aren't you?"

"There are some things we're not expected to talk about too much, Fincke," Benning shot back. "Why did you ask me that question?"

"I thought maybe if you are going aboard we might work together, Bromlitz."

"If you're sincere in that, let's make sure we're talking about the same thing. When do you sail and from where?"

The Van Hasek spy weighed this dangerous question.

"I see no harm in saying that, Bromlitz," he responded shortly. "Not so long as we don't say where we're going or what for, which mustn't be repeated to anybody under any circumstances. Does it mean anything if I tell you Per Twenty, at four Wednesday afternoon?"

Several tables distant, directly behind Fincke, Benning had observed Lieutenant Jones. The lieutenant's eyes had let Benning know that he had a matter of urgency to discuss. Benning lit a cigarette and got up.

"Suppose we meet here on Wednesday morning at eight o'clock," Benning proposed. "We might just as well travel together to the pier."

"Right," Fincke agreed. "Glad to tie up with somebody I can trust."

When Benning passed out of the hotel into the street, Lieutenant Jones promptly joined him. Jones had his private car at the curb and ushered Benning inside.

"Sorry I couldn't get to you sooner, sir," Jones reported. "Your man Boggio came out of the Pujol apartment at six-thirty. The girl friend was with him. Outside they were joined by a man who apparently is Boggio's bodyguard. I followed them to the depot where Boggio and the other fellow took the seven o'clock train for New York. The girl returned home. I didn't have a chance to get word to you sooner, Captain."

Benning studied his watch and made a rapid calculation. The hour was a few minutes short of eight o'clock.

"Drive me at once to the airport, Jones," he directed. "I've still time to meet Boggio when he steps off his train at the Pennsylvania Station. Please let Colonel Flagwill know I've developed a very interesting trail."

CHAPTER XIII

Lieutenant Jones turned on his radio as the car got in motion toward the airport. General Hague was just coming on the air, introduced to the nation by the Secretary of War. Without preliminary the Chief of Staff began speaking, his voice clear and calm.

"I will speak very frankly to the country," he said. "It will give you general facts it is important for you to understand. First, our inability to prevent invasion is no fault of the Army. The Army is your army, limited by you through legislation and appropriations. The fact that it is scattered in small posts throughout the country, instead of being concentrated in combat divisions for proper training, is no fault of the War Department."

"I speak without bitterness or blame, but it is important that you face the future with belief in your potential armed forces."

INSTALLMENT ELEVEN
from the air, Washington was bombed and the President killed. National forces were ordered mobilized, but they were ill prepared for immediate action. General Hague, commander of the army in Texas, reported to General Hague, chief of staff at Washington, that he was being attacked by greatly superior

"Briefly, our armies must be assembled slowly from scattered garrisons. Initially our actions must be limited by immediate lack of ammunition reserves and armaments. If we cannot supply adequate anti-aircraft protection to our important cities, deeply as our hearts bleed for them, it is because we have insufficient anti-aircraft."

"But I want to say to you what I said the other night to my associates of the staff. Whatever violence lies ahead, this country will master it. Let our foes mark these words. The United States is unconquerable. Its resources and manpower, its determination and courage, are equal to any conceivable emergency. Whatever reverses may lie ahead of us in the immediate future will only temper our spirit of resistance. Inevitably that day will come when the foes of the United States will meet the mighty vengeance of our massed valor!"

Benning, as they reached the airport, instructed: "Get G-2 on the telephone at Governor's Island at once, Jones. I'd like to have two good intelligence men from First Corps Area meet me at the Pennsylvania Hotel. One of them to be Lieutenant Crane, if he's available."

On disembarking at Newark shortly before ten o'clock, Benning took a cab into the city and drove direct to the Pennsylvania Hotel where he found Lieutenant Crane waiting. Crane, a short, chunky young officer with a pleasant, alert face, accepted terse instructions with a crisp "Very good, sir." With him was Sergeant Adams, Intelligence police, a seasoned and dependable non-commissioned officer. Both wore business suits.

Benning crossed over to the station as the train from Washington pulled in. Boggio and his henchman got off as soon as the train stopped and hurried out to catch a cab. Benning followed them alone in a second cab while Crane and his sergeant trailed from a discreet distance.

Boggio stopped near the McAlpin Hotel to let out his henchman and drove on the stone's throw to the Empire State Building, where he paid his fare, dismissed the cab, and went inside to be whirled up in an express elevator. Benning waited several minutes until the identical cage returned to the lobby.

"Pardon, I just missed a friend, an Italian in blue suit and white felt hat," Benning said to the operator. "Did he go to the roof with you?"

"Forty-fifth floor," the operator informed.

Benning shot up to the forty-fifth floor and walked cautiously down the hall. A brief reconnaissance told him there was a light in but one of the offices. He read the legend on the door, "Andes Gold Mining and Milling Company, Inc."

Without pressing his luck any further, he returned to the street. He had crossed the street, meaning to keep the Empire State under observation against Boggio's return to the street, when his way was barred by the stubby man who had accompanied Boggio from Washington. The fellow's face was bell-shaped, his hand thrust suggestively in his pocket.

"You was just up pretty high in the big building, wasn't you?" the fellow growled close to Benning's ear.

"What of it?" Benning asked. "Supposing I told you I was up to the forty-fifth to see a friend named Palazzo Quatre about buying a pair of silver sabers?"

cer with a pleasant, alert face, accepted terse instructions with a crisp "Very good, sir." With him was Sergeant Adams, Intelligence police, a seasoned and dependable non-commissioned officer. Both wore business suits.

Benning crossed over to the station as the train from Washington pulled in. Boggio and his henchman got off as soon as the train stopped and hurried out to catch a cab. Benning followed them alone in a second cab while Crane and his sergeant trailed from a discreet distance.

Boggio stopped near the McAlpin Hotel to let out his henchman and drove on the stone's throw to the Empire State Building, where he paid his fare, dismissed the cab, and went inside to be whirled up in an express elevator. Benning waited several minutes until the identical cage returned to the lobby.

"Pardon, I just missed a friend, an Italian in blue suit and white felt hat," Benning said to the operator. "Did he go to the roof with you?"

"Forty-fifth floor," the operator informed.

Benning shot up to the forty-fifth floor and walked cautiously down the hall. A brief reconnaissance told him there was a light in but one of the offices. He read the legend on the door, "Andes Gold Mining and Milling Company, Inc."

Without pressing his luck any further, he returned to the street. He had crossed the street, meaning to keep the Empire State under observation against Boggio's return to the street, when his way was barred by the stubby man who had accompanied Boggio from Washington. The fellow's face was bell-shaped, his hand thrust suggestively in his pocket.

"You was just up pretty high in the big building, wasn't you?" the fellow growled close to Benning's ear.

"What of it?" Benning asked. "Supposing I told you I was up to the forty-fifth to see a friend named Palazzo Quatre about buying a pair of silver sabers?"

The man's hostility relaxed somewhat as he heard the Van Hasek words of secret identification. But after searching Benning's face, he shook his head.

forces. General Hague ordered him to resist the enemy's advance at all costs. Brill hastily prepared plans with the help of General Mole, division commander. Suddenly the American outpost was attacked by a strong force crossing the Rio Grande.

Now continue with the story.

"You may be all right, but we're playing no chance," he decided. "What you say to a little jump up to the forty-fifth with me just to make sure?"

"If you insist," Benning said indifferently.

Benning, as they returned across the street, did not risk looking about for Crane and the sergeant. With expert eye he watched his own chance of attack. His prompt capitulation had the effect of throwing his captor slightly off guard. As they passed the entrance of a gown shop, Benning seized the fellow's gun arm and drove him into the dark entrance of the shop. The impact crashed the heavy glass door, the two went sprawling inside through a jagged aperture of broken glass.

The Boggio henchman gave a cry of pain as the glass tore into his body, but floundered into battle with a surge of frantic strength that shook his arm free of Benning's grip. Benning regained his hold before the spy could bring a pistol into play. They had staggered to their feet in the uncertain battle over the weapon when Crane and Adams dashed up. A sharp tap of the sergeant's service pistol promptly ended the fray.

"Keep a watch outside, Adams," Benning instructed.

With Crane's help he bound the prisoner's arms. A watchman in tan uniform, attracted by the crash of glass, rushed in with drawn pistol. Crane promptly dismissed the watchman on the mission of notifying the owner of the shop of his broken door.

They were getting their prisoner, still in a daze, on his feet when Sergeant Adams hurried in from the street.

"Your Italian just came down, sir," he reported to Benning. "He's now getting into a cab."

"Follow him!" Benning promptly instructed. "Follow him as long as he stays in New York. If he attempts to leave the city, arrest him. You don't need to be gentle if he gives you any trouble, Sergeant."

"Yes, sir," said Adams.

Benning instructed Crane to take the prisoner to Governor's Island, there to be held in close arrest. Crane was next to report to Benning at the near-by McAlpin. Benning walked to that hotel and called Colonel Flagwill on the telephone. Flagwill was tied up in conference with General Hague, and an hour passed before he responded on the telephone. Benning reported events in pertinent detail.

There were several moments of silence as Flagwill's mind searched through Benning's disclosures, then he burst into excited enthusiasm.

"That sounds like the real quill, Benning—sounds like the trail we've all been looking for!"

"I'll instruct Colonel Wallace at once to give you whatever you want from corps area, Benning. Have you decided on any plan of attack?"

"Tonight, sir," Benning replied. "I thought I'd keep entirely away from the Empire State. In the morning I intend to go up to the forty-fifth alone and give the Andes Gold Mining and Milling Company the once-over."

Benning was having a late breakfast at his hotel the next morning, after a busy night plotting moves, when Crane came in, his face glum and heavy with tragedy.

"Your Italian got Adams last night," Crane said at once, sinking heavily into a chair at Benning's table.

"Adams, when we brought him to hospital, told me Boggio got suspicious when his henchman failed to join him outside Empire State. He had the cab drive him under the Hudson and headed to the Newark airport. Adams followed closely. Boggio slipped behind a hangar to observe his rear, and as Adams came up, shot without warning. He had a plane waiting at the airport which took off immediately."

"Sorry," Benning said glumly. "We put out a warning at once," Crane went on. "Our intercepts picked up the engines of the plane over Lexington at two this morning. It was traveling high and fast and must have been Boggio's plane. Our estimates give small hope that pursuit aviation can pick him up in Texas, but we've put heat on the air corps to make a try."

The public radio in the dining-room was buzzing with war bulletins. Van Hasek's attack had jumped off at daybreak, but at eight o'clock had made small progress against the Second Division. Europe was in a turmoil, expecting war to break at any hour in France and Belgium. Unconfirmed reports came through London of an immense troop concentration on the Chinese coast, another report of a Coalition fleet mobilizing in Mediterranean waters.

Enemy bombing had centered on only two cities last night—Galveston and San Antonio. Fort Sam Houston had been heavily pounded and many of its installations destroyed. Hastily formed defenses seemed important.

Concert Draws Eager Response

An audience of about 350 persons was enthusiastic in the reception of a spring musicale presented by the Detroit Schoolmen's chorus and four artists from the music department of Wayne university under the auspices of the Civic committee of Plymouth last Monday night in the high school auditorium. Although the auditorium was not filled, the audience outnumbered that of the 1940 musicale sponsored by the Civic committee.

The Detroit Schoolmen's chorus, directed by Howard A. Love, and accompanied by Gene Fenby, opened the program with the rollicking "Come to the Fair," by Martin, touched a responsive chord with the audience with the old Scotch folk song, "Turn Ye to Me," romped through Bantock's "The King's Messenger," and received appreciative laughter with Mousorgsky's satirical "Song of the Flea."

Robert Ritzenein, concert master of the Wayne Symphony orchestra for three years, accompanied by his sister, Betty, presented several violin solos including Granados' "Spanish Dance," Lohar's popular "Serenade," the beautiful "Meditation" from "Thais," and Kreisler's "Schon Rosmarin." Both the Ritzeneins have studied abroad and have given concerts in Detroit. Miss Ritzenein accompanies the Wayne university girls' glee club.

Miss Ellen Rosin, a member of the Ford Symphony chorus, with Robert Jones, baritone, sang a number of Victor Herbert selections including "Thine Alone" and "Kiss in the Dark." Miss Rosin's solo number was Ernest Charles' "A Home on a Hill." Mr. Jones' solo was Sigmund Romberg's "Auf Wiedersehn."

The two singers closed their part of the program with Victor Herbert's "I'm Falling in Love with Someone," and "When You're Away." Miss Ritzenein also accompanied the vocalists.

The Detroit Schoolmen's chorus concluded the program, with James' "Death Rides High," Forsyth's "At the Play," which was a most unusual arrangement. Sanderson's "Friend O' Mine," and the ever-popular "Lost Chord" by Sullivan.

The committee in charge of the concert included Mrs. A. S. Matulis, Mrs. Claude J. Dykhouse, Mrs. Roy E. Crowe, Glenn Jewell, Miss Marion Beyer, Mrs. Burgett and Miss Doris Hamill.

I find my wife hath something in her gizzard, that only waits an opportunity of being provoked to bring up; but I will not, for my content-sake, give it.

AN OPEN LETTER

LEROY C. SMITH
Republican Nominee
State Highway Commissioner

REPUBLICAN
Monday X April 7th

EUGENE B. ELLIOTT
Republican Nominee
Superintendent of Public Instruction

Vote for Smith twice, short term and long term.

(Reading time: 43 seconds)

Citizens of Michigan:

Today's critical times demand the highest qualified public servants.

In state convention, 2106 Republican delegates chose unanimously for state offices men of outstanding ability and experience.

You have an unusual opportunity Monday, April 7. You will decide by your vote whether YOU want politics in your schools and your highways.

Elect LEROY C. SMITH state highway commissioner. He served NINE YEARS as deputy commissioner and engineer; TWENTY-THREE YEARS as Wayne county road engineer. Here is a nationally-known road builder. He pioneered the first national defense type roads in Michigan. He originated the idea of tourist park facilities in Michigan.

A native of Mecosta county and former resident of Benzie county, Smith knows the needs of local government—he's tops in his field!

Re-elect EUGENE B. ELLIOTT state superintendent of public instruction. He will continue to keep schools out of politics. Here is an able public servant who knows Michigan's educational problems. He, also, is tops in his field!

Other Republican nominees, whose names and pictures appear below, join in this appeal: "For Good Government in Michigan, Vote Republican on Monday, April 7!"

Michigan deserves the best!

Fishermen Make Record Catches

Maybe Mrs. Harry Lush and Mrs. Russell Powell found the stores, beautiful gardens and buildings of Mexico most interesting to them, but to Harry Lush and Russell Powell, there is no place in all the world quite like Acapulco, Mexico, and the Pacific ocean coastline where they enjoyed the best fishing they have ever experienced.

To confirm their stories of remarkably good fishing luck, they brought back with them photographic evidence of their success in catching sail fish twice as big as any they ever landed off the Florida coast.

Then, too, they found Acapulco almost as interesting as they did their fishing trips. A city of some 7,000 or 8,000 people, it is the oldest port on the North American Pacific coast, having been founded in 1550.

"The bay on which the city is located is a thing of beauty," said Mr. Powell yesterday. "There are two bathing beaches, one for the forenoon and the other for the afternoon. You know the sun gets pretty hot down there. We were some 200 miles south of Mexico City, and that's just as far south as you can go in Mexico by automobile," he added.

Mr. Lush declares that they caught five big sail fish in less than two hours, the biggest they have ever taken out of the ocean anywhere.

In fact, when I hooked the last one, I said that was enough. I was so tired in landing it, I was ready for one of those famous Mexican siestas," said Mr. Lush.

University Aide Visits High School

Albert K. Stevens, instructor in English at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, will visit Plymouth high school to make a tour and study of English classes at the school Friday (today).

Mr. Stevens will spend the day in visiting several English classes, conducting an advanced class, and meeting with members of the English staff to discuss their problems and the results of his examination. Assisting him in his visit will be Miss Edna M. Allen of the high school faculty.

In addition to visiting classes, Mr. Stevens will make a writing assignment in one of the advanced English courses, and will then mark and comment upon papers submitted.

Upon the invitation of high school officials, Mr. Stevens is making the visit as a part of the University's effort to cooperate with high schools in solving their common problems. The University gains an insight into the particular problems of the high school, and the high school, in turn, is better able to plan its college preparatory courses in the light of University requirements.

The visiting project was begun in 1935 by the department of English of the University's literary college. Since this time, 85 schools have been served, and 160 sets of high school papers graded and analyzed.

Don't keep telling her that you are unworthy of her. Let it be a surprise.

Palm Sunday

This little girl finds herself well prepared as she awaits Palm Sunday observance. Most other people will be content April 6 with only one or two sprigs of palm.

Communication

Editor, Plymouth Mail:

Circuit Judges Arthur Webster, Guy A. Miller and Lester S. Moll, candidates for re-election, are receiving condemnation from certain organizations for their refusal to render judicial decisions in favor of radical groups who pretend to represent the best interests of labor, even though such decisions be contrary to law. The fact that circuit judges decide cases according to established legal principles is certainly no reason for condemnation or criticism. If the time ever comes when our circuit judges declare in favor of any group or organization, without regard to the rights of others, law and orderly proceedings are out. It is the sworn duty of circuit judges to uphold the law, and any judge who would or could be induced to violate that oath would be dangerous and a menace to society.

Circuit Judges Arthur Webster, Guy A. Miller and Lester S. Moll are able lawyers and competent judges, and their decisions are made without fear or favor. To replace them with ones who may, and probably would, favor any person or group would be a start toward government by a favored class. To put an end to such activities is ample reason for keeping Circuit Judges Arthur Webster, Guy A. Miller and Lester S. Moll on the bench. Their records are unassailable by those with proper motives.

There has never been just criticism of our circuit bench for favoring any special groups, but special mention is made of the three above named because they have been singled out for sacrifice and defeat at the coming election on April 7. We certainly do not want any circuit judges in Wayne county who could be influenced by intimidation or political pressure.

Tom Brock Wins Speech Contest

Tom Brock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Irwin, of Plymouth, won first place in the extemporaneous speaking division of the annual Delta Sigma Rho speech tournament held March 28 and 29 at Madison, Wisconsin. Forty-eight colleges and universities were represented in the national contest in which Brock speaking for Albion college won top honors. The finals of this contest were broadcast over the University of Wisconsin radio station. Other schools which had speakers in the final round were: Wayne University, second place; Dartmouth, third; William Jewell of Missouri, fourth, and the University of Chicago, fifth.

On March 24 Brock was elected to Ti-Me, Albion College men's honorary fraternity which is petitioning a charter of Blue Key national honorary. Nominations were made by a student-faculty committee and the upperclassmen of the college elected eight senior and eight junior men to membership. Brock led the balloting for both groups. At a meeting of the Ti-Me group Brock was elected president. Other senior men elected were Richard Ford, Detroit, Mark Putnam, Midland, Marshall Cook, Hastings, Jack Rininger, Pontiac, Arthur Dibden, Chesaning, Donn Doten, Bay City, and Henry Barnes, Detroit. The basis for membership is a combination of leadership, scholarship, and character.

Finds Ideal Vacation Land

Odd things happen—even in these days of tribulations. Mr. and Mrs. William Pettingill, just back from a delightful winter vacation in Florida, started out for Miami last winter when they left Plymouth. But they never reached that city of alleged bathing beauties, dog races and the stick-up gentry.

On the way South they stopped at a hotel in Davenport, an inland city of Florida, for an overnight stay, expecting to leave the next morning for Miami.

But so delightful did the hotel and the little city of Davenport prove to be that they spent their entire vacation in that place. In past years they have always gone to Miami for the winter.

"Never again will we go beyond this beautiful little inland Florida city for a vacation. The climate is just as delightful there as at Miami, and it is not so far from the ocean if one desires to spend a day on the beach. We found it the ideal vacation land of Florida," stated Mr. Pettingill yesterday.

"On one of the afternoons when we visited the Tiger training camp at Lakeland, we saw nine different people from Plymouth there," he added.

Six strange pups found in an underground nest on a farm near Grand Haven are tentatively identified by Adolph Stebler of the conservation department of a game division as offspring of a dog and a coyote. The animals weighed about 12 pounds each and had characteristics found in coyotes and dogs. Five were killed, but the sixth is being reared and tamed.

The TONQUISH CREEK BREEZE

Published at Tonquish Creek,
Michigan

The People's Watch Dog

Vol. 3 No. 5

The Tonquish Creek Breeze has been revived again. The editor thought when the Breeze blew out a while back that its days were numbered for good.

But for many weeks past The Breeze has been rolling and tumbling down in the graveyard and finally with the coming of the spring sunshine, the editor has decided to come out of his hibernation and serve humanity again in these trying and disturbing times.

Every great emergency calls for a great leader—and the Breeze editor is not going to shirk his duty, even though nobody has paid up for the Breeze in nearly two years.

We have some important issues in the Creek again.

First, there's that Florida cattle business of old Creeker Fred D. Schrader. What is he going to do or not do? Who started the scurrilous rumor that he was in Florida on a vacation?

Then there's been some insinuating things said about what happened to Tonquish Creek and what were the powerful interests back of the fight to keep the old creek floating on top of the earth. There's been some dirty digs at the Breeze editor, who thought it a shame to bury from sight such beauty as there was in that old creek bottom. The Breeze editor just doesn't like the look that he gets every now and then from that Purity League founder and apostle, Stanley Corbett. This matter will be taken up in due time.

Meanwhile, if you are in arrears to The Breeze, please settle. Like that disciple of Huey Long, old Gerald K. Smith, the Breeze has to have something to keep its sails full of air.

Now for some discussion of that cattle business or some other sort of business that called Creeker Schrader down among the Florida glamour girls and orange blossoms.

Was it, or is it, business or vacation? And then what about cattle down in Florida?

Did anybody ever see anything down there that looked like a Michigan steer or a Rocky Mountain buffalo?

The Breeze says NO.

But if Creeker Schrader is at all serious about this funny cattle business in Florida, there's the "feed" question. That's something that has been bothering the Breeze.

Ernest Berger, just back from Florida where he has been spending a brief vacation with Mrs. Berger and children, has solved the "feed" question for Creeker Schrader's proposed cattle ranch down among the orange trees.

"You look around for some nice green grass for cows to eat and you don't see any," said Mr. Berger. "When I read in the Plymouth Mail that Fred was thinking about trying to raise some cattle down in Florida, it worried me, too. I know they can't eat palm trees and I know they don't like orange juice, so what?"

"Well, I got to thinking it over one afternoon when down to the Tiger camp seeing the boys work out. I saw Schoolboy Rowe wearing some green goggles. Say, the thought struck me right away as to how Fred could solve the grass question for his cows and buffalo if he ever went into the cattle business down in Florida.

"I looked around to find Fred. I found him over near third base and I said to him that if he'd go out and buy a lot of green goggles and tie them over the eyes of his cows, bulls and buffalo and then turn them loose down in Florida, he might fool them into thinking the stuff they were eating was really grass," said Mr. Berger.

"Well, what did Fred think of the idea," asked the inquiring reporter from The Breeze.

"He didn't say, but I guess he is trying to find out how it is that a Florida cow can look like a hank of hair and bunch of bones and still hang together."

Perry Richwine who now and then condescends to associate with the common creek rabble that graces the family table down at the Mayflower, has a different idea about Creeker Schrader's alleged cattle business trip to Florida.

Perry thinks there might be some monkey business about it somewhere. The barrister has heard much about Florida's monkey farms and he thinks Fred has got his vacation trip all mixed up with the monkey farms.

"The paper said this was Fred's first vacation trip. Then Fred wrote a letter and said it wasn't a vacation trip at all—it was a cattle business trip. Now why don't you ask him if that vacation trip we took down to Kentucky a year or so ago was some sort of horsey business—or was it just horse play? I'd like to know."

At any rate no one will know until it's time to plant potatoes, and then folks can look for Fred to come back here. Before he left for Florida he told The Breeze he had cut up his potato seed and found that he had enough seed out of one of his big potatoes to plant twenty acres—the kind of acres that the department of agriculture pays well for planting.

School Champions Chosen at Contest

Winners of the annual declamation, extempore, oratory contest were chosen on March 26 and 27.

The three people who competed in the declamation contest were Betty Ann Hoheisel, Harold Young and Calvin Furlong. The judges were Mr. Dykhouse, Mr. Latture and the students from two English classes and study hall. Marion Parsons was the chairman.

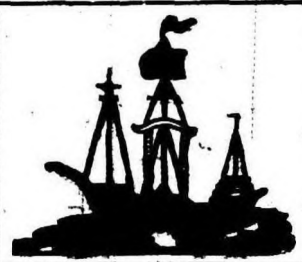

Calvin Furlong was pronounced the winner with the speech "Ropes."

After the competing extempore speakers, Frances Weed, Phyllis Hawkins and Marion Goodman worked before the same chairman and judges. It happened that Phyllis and Marion tied for first place. It was then decided that the girls would meet on Friday and give new speeches, thus determining the final winner.

Friday was the scene of much tension not only on the part of the extempore speakers but the three orators, Jack Lee, Jim Zuckerman, and Norman Pearsall. Harold Young was chairman and the judges were the Misses Fiegel, Sweet and Allen. It was decided that Jim Zuckerman would be the school orator, with the oration of "Quicksand."

Phyllis and Marion then spoke, "Will the War End in Revolution?" and "Will Hitler be Forced to Fight on Two Fronts?" Marion won the contest. Marion, Jim and Calvin will now practice until the latter part of April when they will enter the Twin Valley Activities association league contest as representatives of Plymouth high school.

Grouchy people are the pet peeve of Matilda Saner, a short, dark senior girl who is always smiling. Matilda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Saner, was born in Detroit and now lives at 3580 Powell road. Her chief hobby is horseback riding, and her high school activities include Glee club, Home Ec. club, and all girls' sports. Her aim is to be an artist.

Accorded Honor

Dorothy Roe, of the class of 1939 has been accorded one of the most influential offices a student may receive, president of the Y.W.C.A. at Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti. Dorothy, who was president of the Plymouth group during her senior year, has been at East Lansing to arrange a state-wide conference of Y.W.C.A. and Y. M. C. A. and church groups. She was recently appointed one of a committee to attend the Central Branch meeting of the Y. W. C. A. to plan a state cabinet training conference on April 25 and 26.

As president of the college group she will hold one of the highest offices on the campus.

At D.A.R. Meet

Having been chosen best girl citizen of her class by the seniors and teachers, Virginia Rock attended the D.A.R. state meet at Port Huron with Marilyn Cavell, best citizen of Northville high school, last Friday, March 28. The "Good Citizenship Pilgrimage," as it is called, is sponsored annually by the Daughters of the American Revolution. This year, 192 pilgrims met at Port Huron, 30 more than last year. At the morning session, Lucille Barnes of Grosse Pointe, was selected as the outstanding citizen of Michigan high schools to go to Washington for the national D. A. R. meet. Two alternatives and ten honorable mentions were also named. The sections were based on the answers given to the questionnaires sent out in early March.

At the morning session, Mr. O'Sullivan, of Port Huron, spoke on "Optimism," declaring that despite the dark days that now face us, the future will inevitably be brighter because it always has.

Archalose Godoshiam, last year's delegate to Washington, also spoke. This girl of Armenian descent recited a poem, "America for Me." She has received a scholarship to the University of Michigan and has won one of the Hopwood Awards for her poetry making her eligible for the $2,000 scholarship.

Luncheon was served to the high school delegates at the church.

A business meeting was held after the luncheon with Lucille Barnes, the new president of the Good Citizens' club, presiding. The vice-president, corresponding secretary, and recording secretary were elected. Archalose Godoshiam, the retiring president, also told of her experience at Washington a year ago.

Editorial

"But I don't want my son to go to war." This is a phrase that has been heard more than once of late. And to it the boys and men of America have replied, "And we don't want to go." Yet America is moving toward a war its people do not want. Why?

The American people have failed to realize two things. First, that war is not merely the clashing of two armies. Second, that a nation at war cannot always draw the line as to how far it will go.

In warfare today industrial production is every bit as important as an army in the field. Churchill knows that. So does Roosevelt. The fact—evidently accepted by a clear majority of the people—is that Germany must be defeated. And that the English by themselves cannot do it because they lack the army needed at present, but because they do not have the industrial production needed. Therefore, the American people determined that England should not lose because she lacked the food and munitions to carry on the war.

The result is the Lend-Lease bill. Our President—speaking for his constituents—has declared, "Hitler must be defeated." America is then at least morally at war with Nazidom. Our government is supplying the materials at present needed to defeat Nazidom. America is then at war with Nazidom.

But at least 83 per cent of the people are opposed to our entrance into this war according to the latest Gallup Poll. In reality these people oppose not war with Germany, but the sending of American troops abroad. Troops in war have a strong tendency to become killed. No wonder that men don't want their sons to go to war. No wonder the boys and men don't want to go. Yet we have made our decision—Germany must lose. Every passing day makes it more difficult to repeal that choice. Fortunately at present the English have no need or desire for American troops. The day is coming though, perhaps two or three years hence when the English will have to once more send an expeditionary force to the Continent. As with Napoleon, the British must occupy the continent to insure the disintegration of Hitler's New Order. Conceivably the British might be able to do that with their available man-power. But if the British should fail, what then? We would then be faced with exporting manpower to Europe or our gifts of food and material would have been made in vain. Undoubtedly as in 1917 there would be an A.E.F.

War we have. It is not a pleasant prospect, but nevertheless real. American troops may not have to go overseas. Whether they do is not completely in our power. Let us hope for the best.

Play Contest

The one-act play contest, sponsored by Student Council, will be held this evening in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. All of the plays are comedies and will be very entertaining. There will be special entertainment by high school students between the plays. A cash prize will be given to the class that wins first place and another cash prize will go to the class that sells the most tickets. Tickets can be purchased at the gate.

Honor Court

Since the establishment of the student government under the present constitution last year, the Honor Court has been one of the mainstays of this system. Under the rules of the new administration, court sessions are held every Thursday after school. With Margery Merriam acting as chief justice, Justices Hoffman, Lewis, Sexton, Christensen and Crisp act as the jury. Jack Christensen's duties also extend to being bailiff.

A unique method of filing offenders' names and other information is used by the court secretary, Doris Dubee. As the student is brought before the chief justice, such information as his name, offense, and plea of not guilty or guilty is recorded on a filing card. After the jury reaches a decision and the punishment is given, these facts are also stated. This system is indispensable for future reference to second or more offenders.

In spite of the fact that the court has inflicted punishments equal to the misdemeanors, the junior high school representation of offenders has increased, while the representatives of the senior high have remained the same.

The most common offenses are resisting an officer and loitering.

Elburna Schrader, of 16725 Haggerty highway, is without a pet peeve. Her intention of being a good secretary is therefore all the more practical. Elburna has been chairman of senior prom, senior play and annual committees as well as in intramural sports, Girl Reserves and Leaders' club. She lives with Mr. and Mrs. John Carlson.

Social Register

Though Easter activities are a few weeks away, the younger set has a "surprise-party" craze going through it like that of spring fever. Six girls surprised Donna Becker last Monday evening. The girls were Geraldine Burgett, Beverly Bovee, Lois Mills, Shirley Hitt, Jean Minehart and Mary Jackson.

Madeline Saner and Joe McGarry saw "The Great Dictator" at the Michigan theatre last Thursday evening.

Delphine Wagenschütz, Laurence Jones, Grace Squires, Bob Kirkpatrick, Ruth Keefer and Valbert Groth were present at the Ford Sunday Evening Hour, March 30.

Theatre parties were in vogue last week. Sally Haas, Ray Kearney, Ruth Wellman, Junior Korte, Betty Holman and Gerald Shoemaker visited the Annex last Friday evening. Another group was made up of Beth Livingston, Bud Archer, Rita Archer and John Maxey, who saw "Strawberry Blonde" at the Michigan last Friday evening.

Taking advantage of the one-day holiday, Bernice and Pat Kinahan, Betty Holman and Elaine Waters went to the United Artists theatre Thursday.

Mickey Sullivan was the dinner guest of Gloriette Galloway last Saturday evening.

Evenly Stewart was the overnight guest of Betty Wilske last Saturday.

"Sprig has cut," announced Carolyn Sanford, Virginia Garrison, Jo Ann Steinhurst, Carmel Stitt, Allene Parmelee and Francis Weed, who satisfied their spring fever by hiking to Northville.

Jack Wilkie and Betty Hines went to the Michigan theatre Sunday.

Orlyn Lewis celebrated his birthday last Friday evening by being host at a party to Marion Parsons, Jack Christensen and Joyce Tarnutzer, Larry Arnold and Ruth Parmelee, Jim Zuckerman and Margery Merriam and Jack Gettleson and Mary Ellen Burgess.

Jack Butz and Jack Baker visited the Fox theatre last Thursday, March 27.

Frances Morgan, Bob Brown, Gloriette Galloway and Lloyd Clark visited Ann Arbor last Sunday.

Donna Joyce Smith, Ruston Laval, Marjorie Allen, Louie Formet, Delores Wilson and Bob Hale went to Dearborn Saturday night.

Volleyball

Participating in the volleyball tournament this year will be ten teams. Two each are from the juniors and seniors and three each from the freshmen and sophomores. The play will be in elimination form and each defeated team is out of the contest.

The captains are as follows: freshmen, Irene Niedospal, Rebecca Penn, Jacquelyn Melan; sophomore, Barbara Dunbar, Ruth Brown, Janice Downing; junior, Carmel Stitt, Virginia Garrison; senior, Betty Scheppele, Olive Mae Bakewell.

The chief interest of Charles Donald Ryder, of 36725 Ann Arbor Trail, is the amassing of a coin collection of pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters. Charles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ryder, values his estimated 400 separate coins at $25. On graduation he expects to "get some kind of office job."

Golf

Eleven boys turned out for the golf team last Monday, according to the coach, Mr. Blunk. They are Bill McAninch, Charles Ryder, Warren Hoffman, Allen Owens, Alvin Jackson, Ellwood Russell, Jim Zuckerman, Ford Lounsbury, Bill Keefer, John Maxey, and Jack Shoemaker.

The present golf schedule is as follows:
April 22—Ann Arbor, there.
April 24—Howell, here.
May 1—Howell, there.
May 6—Ann Arbor, here.
May 8—River Rouge, there.
May 12—Ecorse, here.
May 14—Ypsilanti, here.
May 17—Regionals.
May 19—Birmingham, there.
May 22—Wayne, here.
May 26—Dearborn, there.
May 31—State, University of Michigan.
June 2—Northville, there.

The Rocks will not have all of the "Big Four," Dick Dunlop, Warren Hoffman, Al Owens, and Jack Sequin to lean on this year, but with good support the team should go over the top.

Baseball

Prospective baseball batteries began loosening up last week in the Plymouth gym in preparation for a week of inter-school baseball competition later this year.

This warm-up procedure preceded by a week the general call for baseball recruits by Coach Henry Jensen.

Four pitchers, of whom three are seniors, threw baseballs last week to Erland Bridge and Don Williams, candidates for catchers. Bob Hancock is the only junior so far reporting for pitching duties. The seniors are Gerard Blanton, Fay Pratt, and Gordon Ross.

Baseballers this year will work on a streamlined and condensed schedule which to date has only one game scheduled in April.

Difficulty in preceding seasons with undesirable weather has promoted a schedule change all through the Twin Valley league. Instead of two games scheduled with each league team, Plymouth plays only one (officially), shearing the season from 14 to 12 games. The change leaves only six sanctioned league games, one each with River Rouge, Ecorse, Ypsilanti, Birmingham, Wayne, and Dearborn.

Plymouth by the new schedule will play an average of two games weekly from the first meeting April 30 at Ypsilanti until the last with River Rouge, June 9.

Five regulars of last year's squad which produced six wins—two from River Rouge—and eight losses, are now graduated. They are Jim Kelley, pitcher; Larry Newman, catcher; Don Blackford, outfielder; Wes Hoffman and Gordon Robinson, infielders.

Baseball schedule:
April 30—Ypsilanti, there.
May 2—River Rouge, here.
May 5—Dearborn, there.
May 9—Ecorse, there.
May 12—Ypsilanti, here.
May 16—Birmingham, there.
May 21—Northville, here.
May 23—Wayne, there.
May 29—Dearborn, here.
June 2—Wayne, here.
June 6—Northville, there.
June 9—River Rouge, here.

Teachers Meet

Attending the annual meeting for the Wayne County District of the Michigan Education Association at Wayne last Thursday, March 27, 850 teachers heard Gordon Enders, famous writer, lecturer, and traveler, speak on "Can Anyone Stop Japan?" at the morning session. Mr. Enders has spent much of his life in the Far East where he has obtained a thorough knowledge of Far Eastern life and customs. He attended school in India but completed his education in the United States. Mr. Enders declared in part that Japan is defeating herself because, although she has succeeded in conquering parts of China and has invested money for its subjugation, the Chinese will work for such a lower wage that they, and not the Japanese, are deriving the benefit of the investments. He also explained how the Japanese for a long time, unfortunately, have been filtering into China and have been getting strong footholds. Japan wanted more power and more natural resources and China seemed to be the logical victim. Mr. Enders declared that today Japan and Germany are playing a waiting game, each holding back and hoping that the other will draw Britain into an important conflict so that the successful waiter can receive the benefit of the other's war. He declared that Hitler wants Japan to draw Britain into a war in the Far East so he can make a successful attack on the Isles while England's attention is drawn elsewhere, and that Japan wants Hitler to invade England so that there will be a good chance for success in a war with Britain in the Far East afterwards. Mr. Enders also maintained that the Lend-Lease bill was an important and necessary piece of legislation in the present conflict. The remainder of his speech was of an idealistic nature, suggesting plans for permanent peace after the war. He advocated that nations disarm and that an international police force be established to maintain order and peace.

The meetings in the afternoon were divided into the five discussion groups as follows: Group I—"How Can Mental Health Be Developed in the Classroom?" Group II—"How Can Democracy Be Made a Way of Living in the Classroom?" Group III—"How Can Readiness in Tool Subjects Be Developed at All Levels?" Group IV—"How Can the Present Defense Programs Be Made a Peace-Time Service to the Community?" and Group V—"How Can Teachers Help to Solve Their Own Professional Problems?"

Special entertainment was provided by girls of the Madrigal club of Wayne high school and violin solos by Miss Virginia Mutter, Miss Clementine McCauley was general chairman for the day's session. Seventy teachers attended from the Plymouth schools.

If we could regain the money we've lost in foolish and greedy speculations, we'd be sitting pretty.

U. of M. Tour

University Day at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor came last Saturday, a day when the University offers tours of the campus to high school students. From Plymouth went Bill McAninch, Dean Mettsger, Paul Harsha, Carolyn Sanford, Virginia Garrison, Frances Weed, Joann Steinhurst, Nan McLaren, Ruth Drews, Marie Ann Miller, Marion Goodman, Betty Jewell, Elburna Shrader, Virginia Rock, Gloria Jones, Doris Dubee, Margery Merriam, Bob Daniel, and George Chute. After registering and obtaining lunch tickets (for those who wished), all were divided into groups according to schools. The guides were university students. The tour began at the Union and went from there to the Law Quadrangle library, next to Angell Hall, General Library, the Rackham Building, and Student Publications buildings where the students saw how the paper was printed. At noon they returned to the Union for lunch. After this the groups again assembled for the afternoon tours. The first building visited was Stockwell Hall, the women's dormitory. A tour of the University Observatory came next. The last of the tour was a visit through the Engineering building. This was particularly interesting as different experiments and devices were explained. The day ended with a campus "Coke Bar" dance for everyone. University Day proved very interesting especially to those planning to attend the University.

New Charts

"The government of our nation is a living thing and these new charts help students to realize its importance," declared Mr. Latture, social science instructor in commenting upon the benefit of the 20 charts called "Democracy at Work" by the A. J. Nystrom & Company of Chicago to the government classes. These charts, in picture and graph form do much to place a wealth of material in a compact and interesting manner, thus making it easier for students to grasp the essential features of government. The topics of the charts are as follows: (1) With and Without Government, (2) The Two Types of National Government, (3) Democratic and Dictator Government, (4) The National Government of the United States, (5) The Legislative Branch of the National Government—the Senate, (6) The House of Representatives, (7) How a National Law is Passed, (8) The Executive Branch of the National Government, (9) The President of the United States at Work, (10) The Judicial Branch of the National Government, (11) Major Political Organizations, (12) Some Checks and Balances in the National Government, (13) Some Ways in Which National Services Help Us, (14) The National Government in Education, (15) Defense Agencies of the National Government, (16) Some Social and Economic Benefits of Our Country, (17) Some Social and Economic Needs in Our Country, (18) The Income and Expenses of the National Government, (19) Some Dangers in the Operating of the National Government, and (20) The American Creed and Its Observances.

Inspirations

Formidable and imposing is the University of Michigan to those high school hopefuls who inspect it each year at the invitation of the Michigan Union. Romantic, alive, dashing, it appears to some; opportune, powerful, desirable, it appears to others. But to all who accompany young college men on tours to discover its resources, it exerts the appeal of a great University, an atmosphere of regulated intelligences and life.

While the guides were escorting the assorted parties to choice campus spots, they contributed no small amount of atmosphere and sage advice. One student guide, a portly fellow named Sam, particularly endeared himself to 25 or 30 prospective college-bred from the city of Plymouth.

"Imagine, studying on Saturday morning," expostulated an uninitiated high schooler, as he passed through the main library near the engineering buildings.

Said Sam with superior experience: "If you're an 'Engine' you study both on Saturday morning and Saturday night."

Which raised the query: "What are you?"

Which elicited the response, "I'm an Engine."

To any high schooler who views college life from the outside, big loads of hopes and anticipations and questions arise. Even the super ego of the average high school senior is reasonably suppressed by the general flavor and aroma and sound and sight of a college town. For this reason alone it's an experience to take a college tour. Better still is the opportunity for the prospective collegier to dig a mental grappling hook into something solid up ahead.

Senior Sketches

William Patrick, who lives at 954 Eastside Drive, lists machine shop work as his hobby. Bill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Patrick, was born at Highland Park. His pet peeve is stuck-up girls. Bill, whose aim is to be a tool and die maker, has participated in golf one year.

Grace Agnes Squires, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Squires, was born in Detroit and now lives at 492 North Harvey street. She is a stamp collector and also enjoys swimming. Her activities in school cover a large field, having participated in Leaders' club six years, Drama club one year, Stunt Night, One-Act Play contest, junior and senior plays, J-hop and Senior prom committees, and other class committees. Her pet peeve is girls who smoke.

Harriet Jean Penoyer, the daughter of Allen R. Penoyer of Detroit, lives at 173 North Harvey street. Her ambition is to be a graduate nurse of the Henry Ford hospital. Her high school activities have been Girl Reserve, senior play, "Pride & Prejudice," All girl sports, Home Ec. club, Girl Scout, and refreshment committee for Senior prom and J-hop, biography committee for Annual, Indiscreet people annoy her.

Play Day Here

Dearborn high school girls will be the guests of the Plymouth girls at a basketball Play Day on Tuesday, April 8. Each class, the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth has a team of ten girls who compete against the Dearborn girls.

Play Day is held under the sponsorship of Leaders' club and committees for the affair were appointed from this group. Dorothy Ebersole will act as general chairman with the other chairmen serving under her. Lois Hoffman, reception; Olive Mae Bakewell, equipment; Grace Squires, song sheets; Ruth Wellman, program; Phyllis Nichols, booklets; and Betty Scheppele, refreshments.

Was there ever a successful bond salesman who wasn't an active member of a country club?

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

AMERICA'S DEFENSE PROGRAM IS NOT A PARTY ISSUE — IT IS AMERICA'S GREATEST ISSUE!

The Plymouth Mail once again agrees with the patriotic declarations of President Roosevelt made last Saturday evening in his address to the nation. Especially do we approve of that which he said about the activities of our enemies within the nation.

That portion of our President's address with which we especially agree, follows:

"The decision we have reached is not a partisan decision. The leader of the Republican Party himself—Mr. Wendell Willkie—in word and action, is showing what patriotic Americans mean by rising above partisanship and rallying to the common cause. And now that the plain people of America have spoken their determination, Republicans and Democrats in the Congress and out of the Congress are patriotically co-operating to make that determination take positive form.

"The enemies of democracy are now trying, by every means, to destroy our unity. The chief weapon they now use against us is propaganda. The propaganda comes in ever increasing quantities, with ever increasing violence, from across the seas. And it is disseminated within our own borders by agents or innocent dupes of foreign powers.

"It is directed against all Americans—Republican and Democratic—farmers and bankers—employers and employees. "Propagandists, defeatists and dupes, protected as they are by our fundamental civil liberties, have been preaching, and are still preaching, the ungodly gospel of fear. They use insinuation and falsehood. They have tried to shatter the confidence of Americans in their Government and in one another.

"We have seen what has happened to the great industrialists of Germany who supported the Nazi movement, and then received their reward in Nazi concentration camps or in death.

"We have seen how the workers of France were betrayed by their so-called champions, the Communists. For no matter what Communists lips have said, their actions have proved that in their hearts they care nothing for the real rights of free labor.

"The agents of Nazism and those who unwittingly help them are still trying to play both ends against the middle. They have attempted to exploit the natural love of our people for peace. They have represented themselves as pacifists, when actually they are serving the most brutal warmongers of all time. They have preached "peace, peace!" in the same way the devil can quote Scripture.

"Of course, the purpose of all this has been to spread terror among us. The effect of it has been only to fortify our determination.

"When Abraham Lincoln became President, he had to face the awful reality of war between the States. On July 4, 1861, in his first message to the Congress, he presented this vital question:

"Must a government, of necessity, be too strong for the liberties of its own people, or too weak to maintain its existence?"

Lincoln answered that question as Jackson had answered it—not by words, but by deeds. And America still marches on.

"We of today have been presented with that same question. We, too, are answering it by deeds. Our well-considered philosophy for the attainment of peace comes not from weakness but—everlastingly—from the courage of America."

POSSIBILITIES FOR MICHIGAN.

Indications are that the Washington government is just beginning to realize the vast potentialities of the Great Lakes region as a safe ship-building district. Recent news dispatches indicate that steps are being taken to develop the shipyards that already exist here and that new ones may be built. The Plymouth Mail has long advocated this step and we hope that within the next year or so Lake Michigan and Lake Huron and the connecting waters will become the greatest shipbuilding center of the world.

SAYS MALCOLM W. BINGAY.

"Jan Valtin, author of 'Out of the Night' has been arrested for illegal entry into this country and as a former Red agitator. Inasmuch as it is the Communists who have been the ones fiercely denouncing him, this looks funny, and by funny I don't mean comic.

"The most devastating exposure of the Russian Reds ever written comes from his typewriter. The only people who hate him worse than the Communies are the Nazis. Yet he is to get the bum's rush. Why not also tie a can on the still active Communies who have been attacking him?"

"It is somewhat ironic to have a government that pets them and kicks him for telling the truth about 'em.

"If he is sent to either Germany or Russia he will be executed—which is exactly what the Communies want done.

"Nobody can read his book without looking upon the Stalin-Hitler outfit with a feeling of horror and finding a new found faith in democracy and America. Yet he is to be tossed to the wolves because the wolves have been demanding it.

"The division of our government which is sending him to his death—or planning to—is called the Department of Justice."

Well, Mr. Bingay, Valtin has stepped on the toes of some of Madame Perkins' associates—that's the why of all of this. But Mr. Bridges—that's an entirely different situation!

THE SHAME OF AMERICA!

Turning over the pages of The Congressional Record of Monday, March 24, the writer's attention was attracted by this startling heading: "The Defense Program — A Gold Mine For The Grafters."

In the paragraph under the heading was the following assertion made by Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan:

"Mr. Speaker, apparently all the grafters, the professionals and the amateurs who tried to grow rich out of prohibition, like vultures and hyenas, are taking advantage of the national apprehension and the workers' necessity, to raid the National Treasury, increase the cost of national defense and make the necessities of life for the families of loyal Americans who would work in defense of their country. ... Digging up and robbing the dead, buried in a cemetery, is a mild and comparatively pastime as compared with these hyenas and vultures who know neither humanity nor patriotism. Blood-suckers and leeches; they not only weaken the Nation as a whole, but they would, if they could, suck the very lifeblood from the veins of those who must work if they would eat."

And at the conclusion of this startling indictment delivered upon the floor of congress, what happened?

NOT ONE member of the Congress took exception to the charges hurled by Congressman Hoffman — not ONE made denial of their truth. Not ONE came to the defense of those branded as grafters.

Will some one, will SOME ONE please rise up and tell a confused public—a public that wants to be patriotic and support its government—why under Heaven in this free land of ours such a condition is permitted to exist?

We rightly ask if the conduct of public business has become so corrupt that even our public officials cannot stop the widespread grafting which is without question a far greater threat to our country than Hitler's bombing squadrons?

DEFENSE DAYS LOST.

United States army officials said a few days ago that one million, two hundred and seven thousand work days had been lost in the production of supplies needed for defense work as the result of strikes since the first of the year. And still Sidney Hillman says strikes have had little effect on the building up of our national defenses. That is probably true of the kind of defense Hillman has in mind for our country.

FALSE LEADERSHIP.

As we see the labor situation that has delayed our national defense program at a most unfortunate time, the difficulty does not lie with the rank and file of American workers. It lies entirely in some of the false leadership that has wormed its way into high places in the labor movement. When the workers and that they have been misled and are being misled by leaders who are devoted to Russian Communism instead of true Americanism, there will be a new and patriotic labor leadership created so quickly that it will amaze the nation. True American citizens, which of course includes American workers, have never let their country down—and our prediction right now is that before this emergency is over, every American worker will be right out in the front line trench to save America and the American way. The present difficulties have come about not only due to a false leadership within the ranks but a nauseating and palavering attitude upon the part of a group of coat-tail riding public officials who should be and will be relegated to obscurity when the house-cleaning comes.

PUBLIC PIFFLE.

Secretary of State Harry Kelly the other day wasted a lot of state-owned postage and stationery in writing letters to Michigan editors urging them to request the voters to get out and vote. Apparently Mr. Kelly doesn't know that Michigan editors for generations back have known full well the importance of voting and that they have, year after year, and decade after decade, urged citizens to perform this sacred public duty. It would appear that Mr. Kelly's suddenly discovered interest in voting lies more or less in personal benefits and self-created publicity than in a public duty that editors had assumed before Mr. Kelly ever appeared before the gaze of voters.

HOW TO BRING ABOUT INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

The nation is greatly disturbed through its long siege of labor battles and disputes. When the Wagner act was passed it was said that it would forever end labor troubles. But instead, the country has had more labor troubles since its enactment than in the entire history of the country—more really serious labor troubles.

Why do we have all of these strikes? Why do we not have labor peace, especially at a time when our nation is so seriously threatened?

Simply because no one has hit upon the one method of solving the problem—a method that would be so effective, if made compulsory, that it would almost immediately end all labor troubles.

What is that remedy?

Just take the MONEY RACKET and the Communists out of the labor problem and there would be no labor problem. If the administration desires to try and force compulsory unionism upon all workers, then the administration should make it possible for any person to join a union without paying a cent of tribute to any one. And it should go farther and make it a felony for any Communist to be associated directly or indirectly with any labor organization. Why not try this simple remedy and see how it works out?

IT ALL DEPENDS.

If Governor Van Wagener has a desire to place upon the conservation commission a Michigan citizen who knows what conservation means, who knows what Michigan's conservation problems are, who has made a life study of the conservation problems and who has been one of Michigan's outstanding conservation leaders for more than a quarter of a century, he will name Al Weber of Cheboygan to the commission. Of course, in the selection of Mr. Weber there would be no politics involved, and for that reason it might be difficult for the Governor to place one of Mr. Weber's ability upon the commission. But for the good of Michigan and the tremendous importance of our conservation program, the outstanding leader of Michigan—Al Weber—should be named to the commission without delay.

Not since the fire of 1893 has Plymouth been visited with such a disastrous conflagration as that of yesterday morning, when the large public school building and the Methodist church were totally destroyed, involving a loss estimated at approximately $65,000. The fire originated mysteriously in the school building and when discovered the rear and west corner of the building was a seething mass of flames. The alarm was sounded at 4 o'clock and the fire department and most of the populace desponded very quickly. Sparks from the fire frequently endangered the roofs of residences on Main street. The heat of the flames shooting out from the upper windows and roof of the school ignited the spire of the church. Everything was removed from the Methodist parsonage and Chauncey Rauch, living next to the parsonage, also removed his household goods. Nothing of the contents of the school was saved—not even a slate pencil. The origin of the fire remains a mystery. The fire has shown Plymouth that its water pressure is entirely inadequate when a fire of large proportions strikes the village.

A pleasant birthday party was given last week Thursday, March 23, at the home of Mrs. L. N. Dickerson on East Ann Arbor street in honor of the seventy-ninth birthday of her aunt, Mrs. Lydia Dean, who is staying with Mrs. Asa Joy this winter. Among the local guests were Mrs. James Joy of Wixom; Mrs. Mark Joy and two daughters, Leona and Lydia of Newport, and Mrs. W. C. Minehart of West Plymouth.

The members of the First Division of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church entertained about 100 ladies at a thimble party in the Epworth League room at the church last Friday afternoon. The members of the division were dressed in costume, several gowns being more than half a century old. This party was in the nature of an experience social, each member contributing to the society a dollar of her own earning, and the various accounts of the methods employed in earning this money proved interesting and amusing.

The Edison theatre will be re-opened Saturday evening, April 1, under the management of Ralph Brown and J. Edward Tighe. The name of the theatre has been changed and will hereafter be known as "Tom's Place." For their opening bill tomorrow night, Mary Pickford in "Behind the Scenes" will be the attraction.

Henry J. Fisher has placed in his shop in north village a line of automobile accessories.

Carl Heide has let the contract for the material for a new greenhouse 25x65 to be erected the coming summer. This greenhouse will be devoted exclusively to the growing of flowers.

B. Fisher, the shoe repairer, has had the interior of his shop on Penniman avenue newly re-painted and decorated, and it presents a very nice and clean appearance. Mr. Fisher has only been in business here but a short time, but by his courteous treatment and the workmanlike manner in which he executes his work, he has made many friends and is enjoying a splendid patronage.

On account of high water last Monday the interurban cars were greatly delayed. Service between Northville and Plymouth was discontinued during the afternoon and evening, but was resumed again Tuesday morning.

Their Views About Public Problems and Issues

CRACKS COMRADE REUTHER
A lot of talk about Hank Greenberg and his war rating under the "selective service" draft. The big Tiger never asked for any deferment, always said that his country came first and he would abide by all rules and laws. Yet the public was not satisfied and shouted "favoritism." Never for a moment in his life by a single act has the Americanism of Greenberg been questioned. Why not look around a bit at another citizen known in public life right here in Detroit? One of the Reuther boys trained in Communism in Russia and preacher as well as teacher of Red doctrines, an organizer of the CIO and leader in strike movements, not only asks deferment, but his union claims he is "indispensable." He is needed to help close industrial plants engaged in war work.—Milton Carmichael in The Detroit Courier.

THE ONLY WAY

Perhaps the surest way to reach the pinnacle is to have such a burning desire to get there that nothing can divert us.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

SOME SENSE TO THIS

The old age assistance has been more political than practical from its inception. Most any critic can step into any Michigan neighborhood and make comparisons of benefits that could not be justified by any formula. The trouble has been that in an attempt to spread the appropriation over as many applicants as possible, queer adjustments have been made. There should be no minimum in a charity of this character; the applicant either needs it or he doesn't need it. The plan of paying one person $2.50 a month and his neighbor in the next block $18.00 doesn't make sense. In the first place, the maximum payment is tragically low and a scale of benefits, no matter how honestly it is done, is bound to suggest favoritism. It is time to take official fraud out of this statute and quit deceiving old folks.—Muri H. DeFoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune.
