Plymouth C. of C. to Conduct Poll of Civic Interests

Questionnaire Survey to Form Basis for Program of Action

Plans were launched for a community interest program at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, at which representatives of the Ypsilanti Board of Commerce outlined its system of conducting community clinics.

Following a committee meeting of the Chamber of Commerce tonight (Friday) at 7 o'clock at the Hotel Mayflower, a questionnaire survey will be submitted to the citizens of the city next week to form the basis for the organization's program of action.

"The Chamber of Commerce to fulfill its purpose stands ready to serve the community along whatever lines the residents of the city desire it to proceed," declared President Earl Russell. "On that basis, we will send out letters to representative citizens inviting them to participate in the first of a series of community clinics by filling out questionnaires. These 'thought surveys' are to be submitted to the residents of the city rather than offering a cut and dried program in which the citizens have no vital interest. The questionnaires will remain confidential and we wish everyone to offer frank and constructive comments and suggestions." Mr. Russell stated.

"The purpose of the Chamber of Commerce is to encourage industrial, commercial and civic development," declared Paul Ungrodt, secretary of the Ypsilanti Board of Commerce, who appeared as guest speaker at Tuesday night's meeting of the local group.

"The Ypsilanti organization has proceeded on a program of analysis, action and achievement. We have made citizens realize their interest in activities of the Board of Commerce by stressing this slogan: 'If you are earning a living, you are in business; what helps business, helps you.'"

"With such a campaign, we have accomplished many worthwhile projects of interest and benefit to our citizens during the last year. The retail affairs committee conducted a comprehensive consumers' survey to improve retail service; the educational committee sponsored Town Hall meetings of citizens and city officials to discuss problems of general welfare; our publicity department advertised the city's industrial expansion for defense and studied resultant housing problems; and we have made gains toward parking and traffic control and park and city beautification," explained Mr. Ungrodt.

Spencer Davis, president of the Ypsilanti Board of Commerce, who also attended as a guest, extended an invitation to Plymouth members and wives to attend the twenty-first annual meeting of the Ypsilanti group at the Charles McKenney hall at 6:30 o'clock on Monday, June 9. The guest speaker at this meeting, De Loss Walker, associate editor of Liberty magazine, will discuss "Making America Secure."

Finds Rare Coin in Collection

While rummaging through some old family keepsakes the other day, Mrs. E. E. Curtis, 705 Forest, discovered among a number of old coins left by her father an Irish piece dated 1700. While there are numerous other old coins in the collection, this is by far the oldest one.

Its value is unknown to the owner, but it must be considerable, as coins of that date are exceedingly rare and much sought after by collectors. The coins were originally owned by her grandfather, who was born in Avr. Ireland. The family located near Orchard Lake in Oakland county many years ago. Mr. Curtis is a well known Plymouth real estate dealer.

Take Bonus in Place of Vacation

James Schnarr, chief steward at the Allen Industries plant in Plymouth, announced Tuesday that the union had just completed a new contract with the Allen management which gave a blanket increase of five cents an hour to all of the employees. Certain classifications were raised 10 cents and all employees were given two and one-half per cent of their yearly earnings additional in lieu of a vacation. The latter agreement was reached in an effort to keep the Allen defense work at full speed throughout the summer months.

Tuition Payment to Exceed $41,000

Plymouth's share of state school funds for next year as the result of having tuition high school students from outside the school district, will exceed $41,000, upon basis of estimates just made. High school tuition payments for next year are based upon the high school attendance of the present year.

This year the district received from the state a little over $31,000 as the result of tuition payments by the state for high school students, based upon attendance of last year.

It has been pointed out that if by any chance Plymouth should eliminate Americanism for the students, which of course will not be done, there would be an increase of nearly 25 percent in the school district taxes in order to take care of the funds eliminated by the state, providing there were no tuition high school students permitted to attend the local high school.

Warns of Dangers to America

The threats within our midst were discussed by Rollin F. Becker, director of the department of Americanism for the American Legion, at the annual Memorial Day address and services in Kellogg Park last Friday.

"As we pause to honor the war dead, we must also realize the importance of safeguarding those things for which they died and for which we, as veterans, stand," declared the speaker.

"Since January 1, defense industry has lost nearly 2,000,000 man-days of work, which is sufficient to build one battle cruiser, 16 destroyers and 2,400 fighting planes," Mr. Becker stated, commenting upon the prevalence of strikes in the national defense efforts.

"I have no doubt that 90 per cent of the CIO and AFL members are 100 per cent Americans, but they are being led by about 10 per cent of men with Communist and other un-American influences whose only purpose is to sabotage defense work," he continued.

The speaker also protested the appointment by the government of officials with records in un-American activities to key positions in the defense program.

"Thomas Amlie, recently appointed as special assistant attorney general for the United States, was first named to the interstate commerce commission but on protest of the patriotic citizens of his home state of Wisconsin, the Senate refused to confirm his appointment. In 1934, Mr. Amlie, together with William Z. Foster and Earl Browder and other Reds, signed the call for assembly of the national convention of the Communist Party in America," declared Mr. Becker.

Calling attention to the necessity for loyalty to the government and the President, Mr. Becker stated that everyone must do his share in the national defense efforts without regard to political or any other considerations. However, he continued, that does not mean that we as Americans must relinquish our right to protest to the administration against the continuance of all subversive elements in key defense positions.

David Mather's Uncle Heavy Fire Loser

Frank Mather, uncle of David Mather of the Plymouth Lumber and Coal company, is the owner of the Central City Lumber company of Jackson, Michigan, which was destroyed by fire last Friday. Damage from the blaze which razed an entire block of buildings was estimated at $200,000.

Plans Under Way For Construction Of Apartments

Board of Appeals Settles Zone Problem At Special Meeting

Construction of three units of a multiple-dwelling project will start soon on Wing street between Forest and Harvey streets, it was announced by J. M. Robison, sponsor of the plan, following the successful settlement of a zoning problem at a meeting of the board of appeals Tuesday night. Building contracts have been awarded to Richard L. Widmaier, local contractor, for the construction of three buildings, including one four-family apartment and two duplex houses on Lot No. 1, Block No. 2 of the C. R. Kellogg addition.

Acting upon its authority to extend zones up to 50 feet from lesser class areas to higher class areas, the board of appeals at a special meeting granted an extension of 35 feet of Class B property into the west half of the block. According to the city's zoning ordinance, the west half of the block is a Class A residential district and the east half of the lot is in a Class B area. Granting concessions to both the owner of the property and the residents who presented petitions of protest, the board of appeals enabled the owner to construct one duplex and the four-family apartment building in the Class B portion of the block with the second duplex on the west section according to Class A requirements.

Both of the duplexes, to be situated on either side of the apartment building, will be set back 20 feet from Wing street at the front and 24 feet from the side lot lines on Harvey and Forest streets with a minimum back yard area of 18 feet.

The 80x28-foot apartment building, to be built in the center of the block, which includes the 27-foot front setback, is estimated at a cost of $8,000. The general plan for the apartment building calls for two two-story apartments in the center section, 32x24 feet, and a single-story four-room apartment in each of the two wings, 24x24 feet, on either side of the center section. Each of the duplex houses at the side of the apartment building is to be a two-story construction, 24x48 feet, with two apartments each. All three of the buildings are to be of wood frame construction in a Colonial design.

The building plan also calls for an asphalt compound roof and oil heat with individual heating units in each of the apartments. The wall partitions between each of the apartments will be sound-proofed.

Music Pupils to Present Recital

Miss Hanna Strasen will present a number of pupils in a piano recital Monday evening, June 9, at 8 o'clock, in the Crystal room of the Mayflower Hotel. She will be assisted by Miss Patricia Mahan, soprano. This will be the first of a group of two recitals.

Those appearing on Monday's program are Betty Arigan, Annabelle Becker, Roy Bennett, Elisabeth Braidel, Margaret Brown, Ruth Campbell, Rose Marie Ericsson, Marion Fisher, Betty Fulton, Sally Gustafson, Shirley Herish, Elizabeth Hines, Alan Kidston, Marion Kirkpatrick, Peggy Millard, Margaret Jean Niel, Arnold Phillips, Jane Pierce, John Pint, Doris Rose, Marjorie Fay Tait, June Van Meter, Virginia Waldecker and Helen Wooten. The public is invited and all children must be accompanied by adults.

Gauge and Tool Plant Expands

Demand for increased production has necessitated the expansion of another of Plymouth's industrial factories. The foundation has been completed for an addition, 50x38, to the Plymouth Gauge and Tool factory on Amelia street between Spring and Farmer streets, and it is expected that the new unit will be ready for production within three weeks.

The addition, to be located at the rear of the present factory near the railroad tracks, will be of cement block construction with steel sash windows and built-up roof. The estimated cost of the construction is $1,950.

The Plymouth Gauge and Tool plant, engaged in 100 per cent defense production, is working on a 10-hour day and six-days-a-week schedule. The local plant supplies gauges for anti-aircraft guns and aircraft to General Motors, Chrysler and all major defense industries.

The Plymouth Elevator company at 305 North Main street also announces the construction of an addition, 30x40, to its coal shed at an estimated cost of $300.

Methodists to Burn Mortgage

Special services commemorating the burning of the church's retired mortgage will be held at the First Methodist church Sunday morning, June 15, at 11 o'clock. Guest preacher for the occasion will be the Rev. P. Ray Norton, former pastor of the church, who is now located at the Preston Methodist church in Detroit. All former pastors of the church have been invited to the mortgage burning ceremony.

The service will mark the retirement of a $35,000 mortgage contracted in 1924 when the community hall unit of the church was constructed during the pastorate of the Rev. Dow D. Nagle. Refinanced in 1934, the mortgage has been paid off at the rate of $1,000 a year during the last seven years. The retirement of this indebtedness will mark the first time the church has been out of debt in 27 years, according to Rev. Closson.

Plymouth Methodism dates back as far as 1828 when preaching services were conducted by a pastor of the Detroit circuit, and Plymouth was made a circuit in 1834. Previous to 1848, the services in Plymouth were held at first in private residences, then in the school house at Waterford, later in the schoolhouse at Plymouth. A frame church was erected on the present site in 1848. This building along with the high school building was destroyed in the disastrous fire of 1916. Of the $8,000 insurance, $3,000 was required to complete payment on the destroyed building, leaving $5,000 for re-building.

Plans were made for the building of the sanctuary unit of the present church in 1916 during the pastorate of the Rev. Joseph Dutton, now retired, and building was started during the tenure of the Rev. Frank Field, now pastor of the East Grant boulevard, Methodist church in Detroit. A mortgage of $25,000 for this construction has previously been retired.

In 1924, the building of the community hall unit including gymnasium and meeting rooms was required to meet the needs of a rapidly growing church and Sunday school. Sunday will mark the completion of years of work and sacrifice in developing Plymouth's Methodist church.

Following the morning service and mortgage burning ceremony, an informal potluck fellowship dinner will be held in the church dining rooms, with Mrs. Howard Bowden, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, in charge.

Ditch Caves in, Paul Groth Hurt

Paul Groth of 312 Blank avenue, foreman of the city construction crew, suffered a broken wrist Monday afternoon when a ditch in which he was working caved in on him. Mr. Groth was working on the installation of a water main on Junction street between Ann and Harvey streets. He received treatment at the Plymouth hospital and is now on the mend at home.

Barbara Joan Leadbetter celebrated her eighth birthday last Saturday by inviting the following little friends to attend the matinee: Sally Zink, Jayna Arnold, Barbara Goodale, Dorothy Curtis, Bettis McKenna, Shirley Ranney, Jack Elliott, David Donaldson and Walter Dennis. After the show the children were served ice cream and cake at the home.

Low Pressure Reduces Water in Northwest Area

City Orders Pumps; Requests Temporary Limit on Use of Water

Low water pressure has reduced the supply of water in the northwest section of the city and necessitated the purchase of two new pumps of greater capacity at the city's booster station.

Taking immediate action to remedy the situation, the city has ordered two new pumps with a priority order for prompt delivery. Pending delivery and installation of the new equipment, the city commission requests that all residents refrain from using garden hose for sprinkling lawns and other unnecessary use of water between the hours of 5 and 9 p.m.

The problem, City Manager C. H. Elliott explains, is not one of water supply but rather of distribution through the mains. A bottleneck exists in the water main system from the booster station to the city's water tank where the size of the mains is reduced from 10 to six inches.

Another corrective measure which is nearing completion is the installation of a new six-inch water main on Junction street between Harvey and Ann streets closing two dead-ends in the main system. The additional feeder main will furnish more water to the district, and the new pumps at the booster station will increase the available water gallonage from 600,000 to 1,440,000 gallons per day.

The purchase of a new turbine pump and motor for the eight-inch well at the spring was authorized at the meeting of the city commission Monday evening.

It is planned to install a 12-inch line from the booster station to the water tank as soon as possible, routing water through the north end of the city near Farmer street. Future plans also call for the installation of a 12-inch main on Farmer street between Adams and Evergreen to service the entire area adequately.

Warren Worth will head the program committee, assisted by Mrs. Henry Baker, Mrs. George Burr, Miss Evelyn Schramm and Lewis Evans. The Rev. G. H. Enss is chairman of the membership committee which includes Mrs. J. D. McLaren, Mrs. J. G. Perkins, Miss Edna Allen, Robyn Merriam, Dunbar Davis and Edward Bolton.

George A. Smith was named chairman of the scholarship committee of which Mrs. Robert Willoughby and Mrs. Austin Whipple are members. Chairman of the library committee is Sid D. Strong, assisted by Mrs. Anthony Matulis.

The recently elected officers of the U. of M. club for the ensuing year are Stuart Dube, president; Rev. G. H. Enss, vice-president; and C. H. Elliott, secretary-treasurer.

Namesake Group 'Adopts' Children

The care of 10 children in war-torn Plymouth, England, was assured last week when a check for $300 was authorized by the executive committee of the Namesake Town group. Local funds, raised by contributions and a musicale, have been dispatched to the Save-the-Children headquarters. The executive committee considered it advisable to work in cooperation with an organization which already has established machinery for international exchange.

Mrs. George Chute, chairman of the clothing committee, reported excellent response to the appeal for warm clothing. After the clothing is cleaned and repaired, it will be transported by truck to the headquarters of the British War Relief in Detroit for dispatch to Plymouth, England.

Mrs. Matthew Neal and Mrs. Hugh Means attended the meeting as representatives of the British Relief society.

Tentative plans were made by the Namesake executive committee for an ice cream social and bazaar to be held in July for continued aid to Plymouth.

It was also explained at the meeting that the recent trans-Atlantic broadcast to namesake towns was carried through short-wave radio only. Cass Hough of the Daisy Manufacturing company broadcast the message from "Plymouth to Plymouth."

Mrs. Bessie Sallow and Mrs. Merle Weiler and Floyd Dicks, with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howey and daughter of Detroit spent the week-end at Marine City.

Board of Education Conducts Annual District Election Monday

School District to Hold Annual Meeting Monday

Electors to Consider Tuition Problem and Length of School Term

The annual meeting of the electors of Plymouth school district will be held at the high school auditorium next Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, following the close of election polls.

In addition to reports of the secretary and treasurer for the first eleven months of the school year, the electors may legally determine at this meeting the length of the school term above nine months, which is required by the state; the supplying of free textbooks to school pupils as is now done in the grades from the kindergarten to the sixth inclusive; fixing of salaries of the board of education and the paying of tuition which applies only to primary school districts.

In the interest of general information to the electors of the school district, the board has submitted the following statement:

"The board of education will be happy to discuss at the annual meeting with the electors any problem about which they are interested and upon which they ask for information or offer advice to the board of education."

"Through the past several years, the board of education has endeavored to conduct the school under two general principles: 1. To supply the greatest possible opportunity to each boy and girl in attendance within the financial limitations set upon the board of education by the state aid law and the county allocation board. 2. To plan for the future of the school district with the hope and expectation that sometime in the next 10, 25 or 50 years, Plymouth school district will not find itself embarrassed because of having built schools in unwise locations.

"Under principle two, with the assistance of Mr. Wilcox, an authority in school planning, the board of education located a site (Continued on page 8)

Traffic Accidents Reach Year's Peak

Traffic accidents and injuries, continuing to mount each month, reached the year's high with 10 reported during May. According to the monthly report of Chief V. R. Smith, there have been 41 accidents in Plymouth with 35 last year in comparison with 35 last year at the same time.

Traffic tickets issued for violations show a corresponding increase. Police issued 89 tickets last month in comparison with 67 during April. Last year to date there were 164 tickets issued and this year the total is already 232.

"It is obvious that speed is the greatest contributing factor to our heavy accident record, for there were 35 tickets issued during May for speeding," declared the police chief.

Other offenses for which tickets were issued include reckless driving, four; illegal parking, six; overtime parking, 10 and failure to observe stop street signs, 15.

Junior Rotarians Present Program

The "Junior Rotarians" will have charge of the program at Rotary club this (Friday) noon at the Hotel Mayflower. Every year, the Rotary club invites one senior boy from Plymouth high school each month to be a Junior Rotarian for the month. At the end of the year the Junior Rotarians have complete charge of the program for one meeting, acting as president, secretary, treasurer and sergeant-at-arms.

The acting president and general chairman for the day will be Robert Daniel, assisted by Robert Norman as secretary, Jack Gettleston as treasurer, Allan Bennett, sergeant-at-arms and Orlyn Lewis, song leader.

Others sharing in the program include Paul Harsha, who will present a flute solo; Jack Butz, saxophone solo; James Zuckerman, piano solo and Norman Pearsall, scenic sketching.

The Junior Rotarian program is sponsored by the boys' work committee of the Rotary club of which George A. Smith is chairman, assisted by Russell Powell and Fred Schrader.

Construction Started On Many New Residences

Building Permits For May Exceed Total of Previous Month

Building permits for the construction of six new homes within the city limits of Plymouth were issued by the city during May and creation of ten attractive new homes has been started by Vernon M. Pilgrim on the Phoenix lake subdivision just off the Five Mile road and directly east of Phoenix park. In addition to these 16 new homes there is under construction probably a dozen or more in other locations just outside the city limits.

The total value of buildings started within the city during May reached a total of $38,773 compared to $34,000 for April.

Present prospects are that all records will be broken during the month of June, as several permits have already been applied for, according to City Manager Elliott.

A two-story house with seven rooms and two baths and attached garage is under construction at 415 Arthur street for Irving E. Blunk. The estimated cost of the house, being built by Richard Widmaier, is $8500.

The Fred A. Hubbard construction company is building a new home for John Giles at 399 Adams street. The house, of frame construction, will include five rooms and bath, the estimated cost being $4000.

A one-and-a-half story house, of frame construction with five rooms and bath, is being built at 272 Pacific street, for James A. Van Loo. The estimated cost of the house, being built by Roy S. Strone, is $6000.

The Wallace J. Osgood family will soon move into a new, one-and-a-half story frame house, being built at 1450 Penniman avenue between Auburn and Sunset streets. The five-room house, built by the Hehl Building company, has an estimated valuation of $5500.

Another one-and-a-half story frame house with five rooms and bath, is being built at 433 Pacific street, between Blanche and Farmer streets, by the Fred A. Hubbard company, for Max Connolly, at an estimated cost of $4000.

Many house repairs and additions are included in the 22 building permits issued during the month of May.

Sunrise Service On Sunday, June 22

The location has been selected and arrangements for the musical program completed for the fourth annual sunrise service to be held at 6:30 o'clock on Sunday morning, June 22. The service will be held near the ball park in Riverside park, east of Eager highway and north of Edward Hines drive.

Guest preacher for the occasion will be Dr. Marshall Reed, pastor of the Nardin Park Methodist church of Detroit, who is known to many persons in Plymouth as past governor of the Michigan district of Kiwanis International. Mrs. Maxwell Moon, chairman of the music committee, announces that the chorus which was last heard at the Namesake Town committee's musicale in Plymouth and the glee club of the Plymouth Women's club will sing at the Sunrise service.

Two Candidates for School Board for 3-Year Term

Board Offers Two Special Proposals to District Voters

Electors of the Plymouth school district will go to the polls Monday, June 9, to elect one member of the board of education and to vote upon two special proposals submitted by the school board. Polls at the high school building, will be open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

The two candidates for a three-year term on the board of education are Michael J. Huber and Russell A. Kirkpatrick, incumbent and now president of the school board.

Mr. Huber, who is a civil engineer and construction superintendent for the Wayne County Road commission, has lived in Plymouth school district for the last 10 years and is a homeowner.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, employed as an adjuster in the office of the Pere Marquette railroad, has served as a member of the school board for the last six years.

The two proposals to be voted upon by the qualified electors are as follows:

"Shall the school district be authorized to sell out lots, located at the corner of Forest and Sutherland avenues, which were purchased a number of years ago and are no longer needed for school purposes?"

"Shall School District No. 1 fractional of Plymouth assess, collect and place in the building and site fund one mill on the taxable property in said district during the year of 1941?"

The purpose of the proposed one-mill assessment, it is explained, is to increase funds with the federal government if the school district succeeds in obtaining an appropriation for the extension of the high school and the building of a new grade school on the recently acquired site in the southeast district near Robinson subdivision. In 1938, the school electors approved a similar proposal to assess one mill for the building and site fund.

A public hearing to consider complaints regarding parking problems on North Main street and the disposal of dogs by the city will be held at the city hall next Monday evening, June 9 at 7:30 o'clock.

Several objections have been filed against the prohibited parking on the south side of North Main street. Business places in that locality report that the parking problem has been more acute than ever in the past due to the local office of the selective service board. Parking has been prohibited there because the street is designated as a fire route.

Objections have also been raised against the method employed in disposing of dogs impounded for running at large without licenses. Unlicensed dogs are impounded for 48 hours and if not claimed by their owners, they are shot by the police. Pending approval of the city commission, the city manager announces that Dr. E. B. Cavell, Jr. of Plymouth will administer injections to dispose of the dogs.

Another public hearing will be held on June 16 to consider the proposed installation of a 12-inch storm sewer on Sutherland avenue west of Harvey street.

The city commission also passed Ordinance 112, an amendment to the city's zoning ordinance, at its meeting Monday. It was announced by City Attorney Harry Deyo that the case of the Hotel Mayflower vs. the city of Plymouth is being dismissed in the supreme court of Michigan as both attorneys signing stipulations marking the end of the city's last pending court case.

Babson Predicts Good Year for Nation's Farmers

Believes Producers Are Soon to Receive Just Deserts

(By Walter W. Babson)
 Babson, Mass., June 6—The industrial and defense areas of the country have long occupied our attention. Now comes the turn of our rural areas. The outlook for farm communities is now seen more clearly than was possible at the time I made my Annual Business Forecast on January 1, 1941. It will be a good year for farmers. Defense spending has been filtering through for several months past into the great agricultural areas. Large crops, the signing of the Fulmer Parity Bill by the President, continual government buying, and other factors, all forecast better times in the wheat belt.

What Is Parity?
 For the past 20 years, succeeding administrations have tried various ways to restore farm purchasing power to the level of the years 1910-1914. To bolster the farm bill, the current farm bill provides for Commodity Credit Corporation loans up to 85 per cent of the prices which wheat, corn, cotton, rice, and tobacco brought in 1909-1914. Thus, farmers would be able temporarily to provide for their needs in keeping up with advancing living costs if market prices do not rise high enough to make cash sales more attractive.

Commodity prices, wage rates, and other factors in the cost-of-living picture are moving upward gradually at the present time. Unless the farmer receives something more than existing farm benefits he must find himself in a bad way in competing with industrial workers for the necessities and some of the luxuries of life. The farmer is in a far different position economically from the wage worker in that he has no one to look to for a raise in wages. Hence, the Administration set up machinery in the form of the mandatory loan bill to permit the farmer to borrow larger amounts against his crops than has been the case in previous years.

Big Supply of Wheat
 Considering all crops, current surveys indicate that total acreage planted this year will be about the same as last year. Allowing for favorable weather, the yield should thus be about the same as a year ago. Wheat is the one crop, however, that looks like it is going places in a big way. At least, with forecasts of a total supply of 150 million bushels, we shall have a domestic supply equal to the record of 1250 million bushels in 1931-1932.

Certainly, 1941 will be a good year for the grains although from a statistical point of view the situation does not look so favorable. This is due to two factors: (1) The large carry-over, (2) A big prospective crop. The large carry-over is not such a factor as it was in previous years. After all, our rate of domestic consumption is running at high levels. True, normal export markets are shut off at the moment, but before the year is over we may be called upon to feed some of the conquered nations.

Some of the government-owned "stores" will go to feed our army forces. While in any year of so-called normal conditions I would be disturbed over the statistical position of the grains, yet I can not now get excited over either the size of the carry-over or the new crop.

Farmers To Share in Defense Profits
 With the rise in consumer purchasing power, due to increased wages and dividends, more money will be spent for farm products. Not only the wheat grower and those engaged in the raising of other grains, but also all other types of farming, including cattle, hogs, fruit and poultry, cotton and sheep, as well as dairying will bring in more money as the defense program continues. We also must not forget that the purchasing program covers the export of farm products under the provisions of the Lease-Lend Act. Already the combined average prices for all farm products are the highest in four years.

Washington will undoubtedly attempt to curb any runaway tendencies, but after all the farmer deserves any breaks he can get. The Administration cannot continue to let wages soar without permitting the farmer also to get more for his labors.

All this makes good news for the 30,475,000 farm population. Incidentally, the number of persons living on farms is about the same as it was ten years ago. The census reports, however, show a decrease of three per cent in the number of farms under cultivation. More than the above-mentioned farm population are actually supported by some form of farming, when the dependents of farmers are taken into consideration. With something more than one quarter of our population dependent upon agriculture for their livelihood, we must have prosperous farm conditions before the rest of us can look forward to real prosperity. I believe the day is close at hand when the farmer will receive his just deserts, although I think there is a better method than by getting him to borrow on his crops. Of this, I will write some later week.

What About Prices?

Doris Herrick of Salem Becomes the Bride of Roy Rew

Last week Thursday evening at 8 p.m. a beautiful candlelight wedding was solemnized in the Salem Congregational church by Rev. Lucia M. Stroh when Doris Herrick, daughter of John Herrick and the late Mrs. Minnie Herrick, became the bride of Roy Rew, of Northville.

The altar was massed with baskets of mixed peonies and iris and a 14-taper candelabra. The bride was given away by her uncle, William McCullough, of Plymouth. Miss Carol Jean Reivitzer of Northville played the wedding march and Mrs. Velma Seafroth was soloist.

The bride's gown was of white nylon silk, trimmed with lace. She wore a shoulder length veil and her bouquet was of white gardenias tied with white satin ribbon. The bridesmaid was her cousin, Miss Dorothy McCullough, of Plymouth, whose gown was yellow taffeta and lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white flowers. Donald Herrick, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were George Russell and Melvin Kiiken of Northville.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception for 100 invited guests was held in the church parlors and was presided over by the bride's two aunts, Mrs. William McCullough of Plymouth and Mrs. Carrie Herrick, of South Lyon, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Donald Herrick. After a week's trip to Kentucky and Tennessee they will be at home in their newly built home in Plymouth.

Ylmer Slater Takes Ypsilanti Girl as Bride

Miss Edna Kempf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kempf, of Ypsilanti, became the bride of Elmer Slater, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Slater, Sr., of Plymouth, in a ceremony solemnized at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in St. John's church of Ypsilanti. Father Bernard Kearns officiated before the altar which was decorated with lovely baskets of pink and white peonies.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Wagner's wedding march from "Lohengrin," which was played by Miss Marie Staehlewitz, church organist. The bride wore a gown of white satin with an over skirt of illusion, short puffed sleeves, a tight fitting bodice and a square neckline. Her floor length veil was also of illusion and she carried white roses.

Miss Rita Kempf, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and she wore a long pale blue georgette gown with a halo of the same material and carried pink roses.

Merle Vasher, uncle of the bride, served as best man. During the ceremony, Gerald Kempf, brother of the bride, sang "Ave Maria" following which Miss Staehlewitz played the recessional.

Mrs. Kempf, mother of the bride, was dressed in a light blue crepe dress and Mrs. Slater in a gown of green and white. Their corsages were of regal lilies.

A wedding breakfast was served for the party and in the afternoon there was a reception for 35 guests at the home of the bride. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated in white with red rosebuds and topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. The home was decorated with pink and white peonies and mock orange spirea. Guests were from Plymouth, Milan, Marion and Brighton.

Miss Mary E. Haskell Weds Kurt Friedrich At Home Ceremony

Miss Mary Elizabeth Haskell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Haskell, became the bride of Kurt Friedrich of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Friedrich of Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, Tuesday noon, June 3, on the birthday of the bridegroom.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Herman Page at the home of the bride against a background of greens with white peonies and Easter lilies and in the presence of the immediate families and friends.

At the time of the engagement announcement a month ago, it was planned that the two Haskell daughters, Mary Elizabeth and Margaret Louise, would be married in a double wedding ceremony on June 28. Mary Elizabeth's wedding date was changed suddenly when Mr. Friedrich received notice of his forthcoming induction into the army.

The bride wore traditional white, with a bodice of heavy white lace with sweetheart neckline, and a bouffant skirt of chiffon. She carried a prayer book and wore a cluster of orange blossoms in her hair.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Haskell chose a dress of green crepe with embroidered shoulder detail and a corsage of white carnations.

Following a luncheon at the Haskell home, the couple left on a trip through the East and South. For her going-away costume, Mrs. Friedrich wore a dressmaker suit of light blue with black accessories. Mrs. Friedrich is a graduate of the Lake Erie college at Painesville, Ohio, with graduate studies at Columbia and Wayne universities. The bridegroom is a graduate of Columbia university, a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and Boar's Head society, and has received letters in football and track.

The blue linen dress, left, is topped with a blue and white striped pinafore apron and sunbonnet of matching fabric. Playtime togs, right, show a pinafore apron over a rose-colored gingham dress, with ruffled-edged sunbonnet of flower sprigged pink dimity.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Cyril, of South Lyon. About 50 relatives and friends were in attendance.

At the close of the ceremony, Joseph Tracey sang "For You Alone." The young couple took a short trip to Ohio and are residing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tracey, 900 Church street, Plymouth.

Mr. McAndrews attended the bridegroom. Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served after which the bridal couple left on a few days' motor trip in the East. They will reside at 38620 Plymouth road for the present.

Dramatic Season at Ann Arbor Opens on Tuesday, June 10

The Ann Arbor dramatic season announces a change in the cast of "Man and Superman," the fourth play of the spring series. Gloria Stuart, noted Hollywood actress, has just been engaged to play the Madge Evans role, as Miss Evans is seriously ill with a streptococcus infection and will be unable to fill the Ann Arbor engagement.

Miss Stuart is well chosen to enact the leading role in the Shaw play, as she is a beautiful and talented actress with many notable screen successes to her credit.

"Man and Superman" is a provocative comedy in which Shaw is at his best in debunking the traditions of a romance. Ann Whitefield, a beautiful English girl, decides to marry Jack Tanner, whom she has appointed her guardian through her father's will. He objects to this responsibility, and, upon discovering Ann's real intention, is panicked. Deciding his only hope for escape from marriage is in flight, he rushes off to Europe, only to be overtaken by Ann in the mountains of Spain. The romantic illusion that women do not take the initiative in love is hilariously deflated, and man, according to Shaw's play, is no longer, like Don Juan, victor in the duel of sex.

Hiram Sherman, one of the theatre's most distinguished young comedians, will play the part of Tanner. Last year Mr. Sherman delighted Ann Arbor audiences with his roles in "Boyd's Shop" and "The Winter's Tale." This season he was equally successful in his interpretation of the sardonic lawyer in the second dramatic season production, "Skylark."

Philip Tongo and Matt Briggs, both well-established favorites with campus theatre-goers, will play featured supporting roles. Mr. Tongo will portray the baffled and slightly crotchety Ramsden and Mr. Briggs will enact the blustery, self-made American businessman, Malone.

Others in the cast include Tom McDermott, Robert Scott, Perry Wilson, Richard Kendrick and Dorothy Blackburn. "Man and Superman" opens Tuesday, June 10, and runs through Saturday, June 14, with matinees Thursday and Saturday at 3:15.

If it clears off during the night, it will rain again shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Holmes and daughters, Kathryn and Barbara Jean of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Chambers were Sunday afternoon visitors in Wayne and saw the I.O.O.F. parade and Memorial Day services of that order.

That Reminds Me

BY RALPH HERBERT

If all goes well, according to plans of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, 55,000,000 acres of land will be planted with wheat for the year 1942 in the United States. In other words, this will be the formal wheat acreage allotment and will be a decrease of 7,000,000 acres from the preceding year.

The reason for the smaller acreage is that the government estimates the country will have a carry-over of 500,000,000 bushels of wheat. The 1942 allotment has, therefore, been cut to the minimum allowed by the laws governing the subject. It is believed this will take care of all normal home consumption, all exports that are in prospect and a 30 per cent reserve for national defense and other needs.

In making the 1942 allotment, the Department of Agriculture estimated the 1941-42 supply of wheat at 1,236,000,000 bushels. It is figured that 675,000,000 bushels will suffice domestic consumption needs. The remaining 561,000,000 bushels will be sufficient for all demands for export and for carry-over. Owing to the war exports are not expected to increase over the past year. Therefore, the July 1, 1942 carry-over will probably be the biggest in the nation's history. It is expected to be something over half a billion bushels.

In making the 1942 state allotments, the basis has been each state's wheat acreage during the past 10 years.

No figures have been given for a number of states, indicating that the acreage of wheat there was either nil or so small as to be negligible. Of those states to which allotment figures were assigned, Kansas topped all with the enormous sum of 11,371,809 acres or one-fifth that of the entire nation. The smallest allotment was to potato-producing Maine, which is given 3977 acres.

Outside of Kansas, the biggest acreages were as follows: North Dakota, 7,982,425 acres; Oklahoma, 4,004,445; Texas, 3,748,141; Montana, 3,346,343; Nebraska, 3,146,579; South Dakota, 2,886,655; Illinois, 1,676,214; Missouri, 1,658,305; Washington, 1,656,687; Ohio, 1,636,308; Minnesota, 1,488,887; Indiana, 1,411,458; and Colorado, 1,303,162.

To the layman, the remaining figures are surprising. For instance, Texas, pre-eminent as the state that raises the most cotton, beef, cattle, sheep and mules, also is shown as quite a big wheat producer.

The same is true of Montana, commonly looked upon as a copper and other mineral producing state and as a prime furnisher of timber. Nevertheless it ranks among states whose acreage is over 3,000,000. Its average wheat crop for the years 1927-1936 was 42 million bushels and in 1938 it produced 72 million bushels.

Raise $100 for England

The benefit bridge party sponsored by the Plymouth Masonic lodge and the Order of the Eastern Star Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple proved an outstanding success, $100 being raised for aid to civilians in England. Approximately 200 persons enjoyed an evening of cards for which a bar and door prizes were given. Refreshments were served following bridge.

Richard Straub of the Plymouth Masonic lodge and Mrs. Garnett Baker of the O. E. S. were general chairmen of the event. Arno Thompson, general chairman of the Namesake Town committee to which proceeds have been given, states that the $100 will be used for the project which officials of Plymouth, England report most needed. The local committee is awaiting word from England regarding the necessity of a mobile kitchen unit and other relief items.

Shelden Launches Building Program

First Home Ready for Inspection

The Shelden Land company, developers and builders of Rosedale Gardens, are now operating on a large scale in Plymouth. To introduce "Shelden quality" and value in home construction, the company is presenting for public inspection a beautiful colonial home at 1075 Roosevelt near Edson in Manicoff subdivision. The floor plan reveals that every available foot of space is utilized to advantage.

Colonial detail is carried throughout with wall paper in the colonial design used in both the living and dining rooms. The bathroom is designed with white tile and black trim which permits of any preferred type of color scheme. Each of the three bedrooms is papered in colored design. The woodwork and trim is Curtis, in the latest Regency style.

The Shelden Land company now has several other homes in various stages of construction here including a brick bungalow at 936 Ross street, and frame bungalows at 498 Ann street and 1149 Dewey street.

The firm is preparing for the immediate construction of 10 more homes in a group, as the start of a 40-house project in Sunset addition. These homes, according to L. B. Krogh, sales manager of the Shelden Land company, will be in the $4300 to $4900 price bracket, available for families in the middle and lower income brackets, as payment requirements including payment, interest, taxes and insurance will be approximately $32 to $35 monthly. All of these homes may be purchased on FHA terms.

The Shelden Land company developed the Rosedale Gardens community, running south from Plymouth road about a mile west of Middle Belt, where more than $2,500,000 worth of homes have been built by the company and more than $500,000 has been spent by the firm for landscaping and improvement of this west side community. Years earlier, beginning in 1919, the Shelden company developed Rosedale Park, one of Detroit's finest residential districts.

According to Sales Manager Krogh, Plymouth should in coming months participate in the building activity of the greater Detroit area to an increasing degree.

"People need only to be shown that they can enjoy the residential advantages of this pleasant community, its lower taxes and excellent land values in conjunction with accessibility to west side centers of employment," says Mr. Krogh. "Actually, the employe or executive of most large west side industries can live in Plymouth, far from the smoke and noise of factory zones, and yet be only a five to 15 minutes' drive from such plants as the Burroughs Plymouth plant, Nash-Kelvinator, Detroit Gasket company, Ford Rouge plant, Ditzler color company, Goddard and Goddard General Motors' Diesel plant, Reliance Steel corporation and many others."

The Shelden company draws most of its tradesmen and mechanics from the Plymouth area and intends to still future call upon local help in their developments here, according to company spokesmen.

Plymouth to Cook With Texas Gas, Says Consumers

Company Seeks Right to Use Out-State Fuel Supply

Authorization to proceed with a plan for supplying Plymouth and 65 other Michigan communities with Texas natural gas was asked of the Michigan Public Service Commission today by Consumers Power company.

The company revealed that it has contracted with the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company for sufficient natural gas to meet the needs of all communities in the Consumers service area now supplied with manufactured gas. Among these communities are Flint, Pontiac, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Owosso, Royal Oak, Mt. Clemens, Birmingham, Ferndale and Marshall.

After presenting their petition to the commission, Consumers representatives conferred with Governor Van Wagener who, they said, was especially interested in obtaining natural gas service for Michigan cities which are key points of defense production.

Under the contract announced today, Panhandle will build pipelines connecting Consumers gas distribution arteries with pipeline which brings Texas gas to Detroit. One pipeline will run north from the Michigan-Ohio border to a point eight miles west of Saginaw. A branch line will connect this line with the Consumers gas plant in Royal Oak. Another line will run west to Kalamazoo by way of Jackson and Marshall.

In its petition to the Commission, Consumers asked permission to serve the 66 communities with natural gas instead of manufactured gas. It asked that a uniform rate be established for all the communities involved "such rate to be temporary in nature and to be subject to revision as the business develops." Consumers further requested permission to build a pipeline from the northern terminal of the proposed Panhandle line to a point a few miles east of Midland, where existing pipelines from Michigan natural gas fields intersect.

For some years Consumers has been supplying natural gas to Michigan fields to Sarnow, Bay City, Lansing, Midland, Alma and about 30 other communities. With Grand Rapids and Muskegon also drawing natural gas from Michigan fields, the supply was considered inadequate for further extensions.

While the contract with Panhandle contemplates that Texas gas will be supplied to all communities now receiving manufactured gas service, there is a proviso that in case of any substantial increase in the amount of Michigan natural gas available, a limit may be put upon deliveries of Texas gas.

The plan of using Michigan and Texas gas in combination to meet the requirements of such industrial centers as Pontiac, Flint, Jackson and Kalamazoo was first advanced by Charles S. Porritt while he was serving as a member of the Public Service Commission in 1937. Under his leadership, negotiations were begun at that time, but various obstacles intervened to prevent an agreement until now. Chairman John P. O'Hara and other present members of the Public Utilities commission have taken keen interest in the plan and have held several conferences with gas experts and city officials for the purpose of speeding natural gas service to Michigan industrial areas. Impetus has been given to the negotiations by the interest of the Cities Alliance, a group of city officials of which W. P. Edmondson, city manager of Pontiac, is chairman. Others in this group who have been particularly active are Orph. C. Holmes, city attorney of Ferndale, and City Managers Jay F. Gibbs, Ferndale; Edward M. Shafter, Gaylord; and Clarence Elliott, Plymouth.

In addition to those already listed, communities which would receive natural gas under the plan include Clio, Davison, Grand Blanc, Lapeer, Corunna, Durand, St. Johns, Flushing, Fenton, Linden, Mt. Morris, Pine Run, Almont, Dryden, Imlay City, Holly, Orionville, Canas, Ovid, Pleasant Ridge, Huntington Woods, Farmington, Bloomfield Hills, Berkeley, Center Line, East Detroit, Utica, Plymouth, Clarkston, Clawson, Lake Angelus, Lake Orion, Oak Park, Orchard Lake, Oxford, Rochester, Sylvan Lake, Fraser, Roseville, St. Clair Shores, Warren, Northville, Wayne, Vandercook Lake, Michigan Center, Gaylord, Parchment, Schoolcraft, Vicksburg, Bangor, Decatur, Hartford, Lawrence, Lawton and Paw Paw.

If Swimm' Holes Could Talk . . . They Might Say:

It's been some parade, what with swimming suit styles changing each year. From the percale "longies" of the 1800s, we've watched women's suits get smaller and smaller . . . and the designs and fabrics prettier and prettier.

"Back in '66 were the days! Young ladies sure had fun dabbling in the water. Swimming? Oh, some of them tried it, but of course their percale suits were a bit cumbersome—they weighed 75 pounds when wet—and then, too, their frilly bathing hats weren't at all waterproof!"

"Jersey suits? Well, they were the vogue about the turn of the century when modest misses still insisted on sleeves, collars, full skirts, and all the trimmings. Active swimming was still out of the question."

"'Twas 1910, or thereabouts, that women donned real knit swim suits. And what pace setters those models were—gone were the sleeves, the high necklines . . . and the skirts actually ended above the knees."

"Now you're talking," one swimmin' hole said, watching 1941 swim suit versions marching toward the water's edge. "Yep, believe you've got something there!"

Paul Harsha Relates Experiences in 'City Government Experiment'

Paul Harsha, senior student at Plymouth high school who acted as "city manager" last Friday in the government students' experiment in municipal administration, presents an essay entitled "We Ran the City," as the concluding article of a series written by senior government students in James Latture's class this week. The essay follows:

The day I was nominal city manager of Plymouth, I was asked by about 40 people either "Are you having fun?" or "Are you learning something?" For the sake of counter-balance, with nothing better to say, I answered the first inquiry; "Well, I'm learning something." To the second I said, "Well, I'm having fun." The whole truth was I hadn't time all day to digest my experiences and come up with a logical report.

I knew that other seniors on the new city government could answer an affirmative to both questions. With Mr. Elliott, I had visited some of those who were working outside the city hall (Field trips are one of the multifarious duties condensed in the person of the city manager.) I had seen Bill Wernett removing a leaking fire plug and George Parsons supervising two burials and Charles Ryder reading water meters. I had read Mary Jane Olsaver's comprehensive report as city health inspector on the general condition of Plymouth's alleys, and watched John Wilkie testing milk as milk inspector.

Not until the clock showed quitting time, though, did I obtain a secure idea of the particular value of the city manager. Up to that time I had developed a middling complex of awe as a dozen telephone calls and another dozen cases of neighborly defiance passed through the mayor's office. Like a friendly shadow, I watched Mr. Elliott settle them with dispatch and ease. Several times I ventured to ask how everyone connected with the city government understood so well his duties. That is still my question. I still can only express admiration at the smooth, efficient manner in which business falls into its proper order and things get done through the office of the city manager.

This is the first time in Plymouth that such a project has been tried. I hope general conduct of high school seniors who filled the government roles was considered such that the project will be repeated. "Did you learn anything?" is a foolish question. Anyone who attempts to fill a duty intelligently for a day must learn something. Seniors stepping from a school room text by McGruder into active control of a good-sized city had to learn something or step immediately back into the class-room.

Under the city manager, commission government, affairs progress along the same lines as a large business. It strikes me now, after a day of observation, as the most fair, equitable, and honest system a city of Plymouth's size could use. In simple and clear outline are the duties and responsibilities of each officer. If the city manager receives much power, he receives also the necessity to use it wisely. I like immensely the relation of balances between the manager and the city commission.

Commissioners for a day displayed an extreme brilliancy at dealing with municipal affairs as did any of us, but they did prove convincingly that they could take sides in a problem. No model of government efficacy, the student-commission meeting was successful to the extreme of acquiring and holding student interest. Training on Plymouth high school's student council spoke valuably here.

Was the project of student government successful? Yes, of course. For the government went on, people were buried, trucks were greased, complaints were aired, arguments were settled, dogs were impounded. Students took care of them all. They were efficient; they had fun; and they learned something.

The step from governmental theory to governmental work was probably the most important single accomplishment of seniors. As working administrators, students found the jobs as practised, distinct and real.

The day as officials gave the seniors a chance to appreciate the enormity and efficiency of a government. Even to students who did not actually participate, it created interest, and that is an important substance at this time or any other. I would call it a successful experiment.

School District To Hold Meeting

in the central northwest portion of the district in 1939, and a site in the central southeast portion in 1941. The selection of these sites was the legal duty of the board of education under Section 7122. Compiled Laws of 1929, which provides in graded school districts that it is the duty of the board of education to designate such site or sites as it may deem necessary. For a school building on the central southeast portion, the board of education has made application to the federal government for assistance. The Lannon Bill, which provides assistance to the school district, has passed the house of representatives, and is now in the senate in Washington. The Honorable George A. Dendero, representative from our district, is watching this bill for the board of education. The board of education has also asked the federal government to enlarge the present high school, which would, under the Lannon Bill, make it possible for boys and girls adjacent to Plymouth to continue coming to Plymouth. The board of education has not considered it wise for Plymouth District No. 1 fractional to vote a tax to increase the buildings for the high school, but to admit tuition students where room is available is good for the community and valuable to the district," declared the board's statement.

"Our state funds this year, except tuition, were discounted by the state 18.2 per cent. This cut on resident pupils was 18.2 per cent of $75.00, or $13.65 per pupil discounted from our state aid, while the district received per capita cost in full of $101.07 on each tuition pupil. The per capita cost in the high school for bond retirement and interest this year was $5.58. The difference between the $13.65, which is deducted from state aid for resident pupils, and the per capita cost for bond retirement, or $5.58, would leave a net gain to the district of $8.07 per tuition pupil. In addition to the financial gain, there is the fact that, where children attend schools, the parents do considerable of their trading, banking, and church, lodge and social attendance.

"Plymouth board of education is hopeful for favorable consideration by the federal government in aid for school buildings, because of the location of preparedness plants in and adjacent to our school district, and because of the fact that they were the first community, except adjacent to cantonments, which made application to the government for consideration.

"Proposal No. 1, which would permit the selling of four lots no longer needed for building purposes would help in the purchase of additional sites, when needed, or in the construction of a grade school. Proposal No. 2 would authorize the board of education to endeavor to secure permission from the county allocation board for an increase in the moneys allotted under the 15-mill limitation amendment for the purpose of purchasing sites or constructing buildings. Proposal two, if accepted by the electors, would in no way increase the possibility of county, township and school districts assessing more than a total of $15.00 per thousand, which is a constitutional provision," the board of education statement concluded.

Kiwanians Hear Waterway Talk

At the regular meeting of the Plymouth Kiwanis club held Tuesday evening in the Hotel Mayflower, Barnes Warden, a member of the Detroit Board of Commerce, discussed briefly the proposed Great Lakes and St. Lawrence waterway project. Pointing out the advantages in trade opportunities to all ports on the Great Lakes, the speaker stated that the St. Lawrence waterway is an important feature of the national defense program. The navy department already has made a survey of docking facilities in the Detroit area proper to the approval of the project, Mr. Warden declared.

Raymond Bachelder and Leroy Crites were received into the Kiwanis club as new members Tuesday evening. Next week, the club members will meet for an afternoon of golf and dinner party at the Hickory Golf course on Loon lake near Wixom on Tuesday evening. Agencies Report Employment Gain Improved employment conditions are reflected in reports from the local branch of the Michigan State Employment service and from the Department of Social Welfare office this week.

Unemployment claims, at their lowest ebb since depression days, have dropped off more than 50 per cent from the normal load in recent months, according to Clarence Jetter, manager of the local employment office. The Department of Social Welfare, headquarters for welfare clients in Plymouth, Northville and Canton township, also show a marked decrease in the welfare case load for this district.

Heavy employment gains are attributed not only to new jobs in defense industry but to the stimulated activity in normal business. Skilled machinists and tool and die makers are filling many positions in defense production, but the demand for store clerks and clerical workers in regular business is equally great.

The Michigan State Employment service announces there are jobs available for skilled workers and men with ability to operate machines. Information may be secured from the local branch which is open every Wednesday morning at the city hall Applications for such jobs in defense industry may be made at the state headquarters, 112 East Jefferson avenue, Detroit.

Army's Tiny Airacobra Thrills Air Base Visitors

SELFPRIDGE FIELD, Mich.—A big treat for visitors these days at this important army air base is to see at close range the Airacobra pursuit plane shown here and to watch it perform. This tiny but remarkable ship has a speed of nearly 400 miles an hour with a military load and has devastating fire power. A 37mm. cannon protrudes from the ship's nose and is flanked by four machine guns. As he prepared for a take-off, this pilot described the Airacobra to two visitors who drove to the field in their sporty new Ford Super De Luxe Convertible. The plane is designed to intercept enemy bombers.

Babson Urges Saving to Build for Future Security and Independence

(By Roger Babson)

Babson Park, Mass., May 30.—While the newspapers are filled with war news and it looks as if the world might go to smash, it is well to remember a few fundamentals: God is still reigning in His heavens; the trees are budding as they have every spring; and compound interest is going on just the same every day, including Sundays and holidays.

Rockefeller and Edison

When I graduated from college I went to work for a Boston banking house at $6 per week. I was fairly contented until I read a story of how John D. Rockefeller, Sr. got his great wealth. Said he: "When I was working at $6 a week, I learned that if I could save $100, the interest on this amount at six percent would give me as much as I was earning in one week; that when I could save $400, the interest would give me as much as I could earn in a month. I, therefore, devoted all my energy to saving and getting six per cent compound interest."

During the last talk that I had with Thomas A. Edison, I asked who he considered his equal as a great inventor. Rising from his couch and shaking his shaggy head, he replied: "Babson. I guess the world's greatest inventor was the chap who invented six per cent compound interest!" My father at Gloucester, Massachusetts, used to say to me: "The wheel of fortune continually revolves. The great majority get on at the top and fall at the bottom; a few have the courage to get on at the bottom and get off at the top; but those who get on the wheel and stay on through prosperity and depression, depending upon six percent compound interest, are sure to be successful!"

What Statistics Show

The saving of $1 per year, paid at the beginning of each year, will increase at compound interest to over $150 in 40 years. With this simple rule one can quickly figure that saving $1 a week under these conditions will amount to almost $7,800 in 40 years. If this dollar a week is increased to $6 a week, the sum jumps to nearly $50,000! Is there a single reader of this column who cannot save $6 a week?

With these figures staring us in the face, why should we clamor for pensions, bonuses, and bonuses, and government Social Security? Compound interest treats everyone alike, rich and poor, black and white, young and old. It is one of the basic principles of democracy. Are we not making a great mistake in forgetting compound interest and jumping to false gods of which we never heard ten years ago?

Getting Six Per Cent Interest

Some readers will reply: "Yes, this is all right in theory, but how can we get six percent interest?" It is true that most banks in their savings department pay only from one percent to two percent, while U. S. Government Baby Bonds pay only about three percent and Federal Building and Loan Associations are paying only about four percent. Let me tell you, however, that the soundest corporations in the country have earned an average of over six per cent during this entire century. They today are earning very much more than six percent on the price you would need to pay for becoming a part owner in their business. Take this clipping to your local clining industries.

Have An Investment Program

The safest way of getting six percent compound interest is to have a definite investment program and be willing to pay someone to help you develop it and stick to it. Do not bother about quotations. Visualize the physical plant, the net assets, and the earning power of the company in which you invest and forget stock market quotations. If you owned the whole of a business, these are the only factors which you would consider. You would not care as to what the neighbors would be bidding for your stock.

It, of course, is vitally important for you to watch these factors of plant, net assets, and earning capacity in the large corporation of which you are a stockholder as well as for a little company of your own. This, however, is something which you can do by the reports published in the press and elsewhere. If you will only make up your mind to lay up a certain sum each week, however small, and secure six percent compound interest by observing the above few simple rules, your fortune is assured.

To Decide Soon on Summer School

James Marsh, president of the Cooper school district, states that a decision has not yet been reached pertaining to plans for the opening of a summer school in that district. He advises that some definite action will, however, be taken within the next week or so. The board is contemplating the advisability of continuing some of the school work during the summer to take care of children who were deprived of some of their school work during the past year because of the crowded condition of the school.

It is possible that a class for children of the kindergarten age who did not attend school during the past term will be conducted this summer so that when school opens in the fall they will be ready to enter the first grade. Then, too, other children of first grade age who are not ready for the second grade, might be prepared for the second grade. These are matters the board has not definitely passed upon, but will do so soon.

The tremendous growth of the Cooper school district has made it necessary for the erection of a large addition, for which bids will soon be asked.

Civil Service Offers Many Jobs

An examination for junior stenographer and typist, of interest to all persons wishing to secure government clerical work, has been announced by the United States Civil Service commission. These examinations, open to both men and women, are offered infrequently and applications must be filed before June 16. Those qualifying will be employed in field offices in Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin at a salary of $1440 and $1260 a year respectively.

Another examination which offers an interesting opportunity is for a chauffeur to be employed with the war department at Detroit at a salary of $1200 a year.

Other civil service positions for which examinations have been announced include a public health nursing consultant, $2,600 and $3,200 a year, requiring four-year college training and one year in public health nursing, for which application must be filed by July 26; junior graduate nurse; medical technician; laboratory helper; alphabetic card-punch operator and tabulating machine operators. Full information as to the requirements for these examinations and application forms may be obtained from Mrs. Beatrice Schultz, assistant postmaster at the Plymouth post-office.

Serve 20,404 Bottles of Milk

More than 20,000 bottles of milk were served to school children in the Central and Starkweather grade schools during the last year. The project for providing milk to under-privileged children, which concluded last week, was made possible through the Parent-Teacher associations of both schools, the annual Milk Fund ball, and donations from several individuals and business firms in Plymouth.

Milk was served during each morning recess for a period of 25 weeks. The total amount of milk dispensed free of charge was 8200 bottles. An additional 12,204 bottles were served to children whose parents could afford to purchase the milk.

At Starkweather, there were 3535 bottles purchased by the P. T. A. and 4664 purchased by parents. Central school children received 4665 free bottles and 7540 bottles which were purchased.

The Milk Fund ball sponsored by the two P.T.A. organizations last fall raised $210 for the project and $488.40 was received from the sale of milk in both schools. Cash paid out for milk and crackers totaled $650.92. After expenses were paid by both schools, the Starkweather P.T.A. chairman reported a balance on hand for next year of $11.67 and Central P.T.A. reported a balance of $50 remaining in the milk fund.

Former Plymouth Man Visits 'M'

Professor Edward S. Corwin, a distinguished alumnus of the University of Michigan, a former resident of Plymouth and now a member of the faculty of Princeton University, was the guest of honor and speaker at the annual initiation banquet of Phi Beta Kappa recently at the Michigan Union. Professor Corwin, class of 1900, returning to the campus he left 40 years ago, spoke as a renowned authority on "Constitutional Revolution, Ltd."

Graduating from Plymouth high school and later from the University of Michigan as president of his class in 1900, Prof. Corwin went to Brooklyn Polytechnic in 1901 as instructor in history. Four years later, in 1905, he was invited to teach at Princeton by Woodrow Wilson. He became professor of jurisprudence in 1918. He is frequently consulted by the administration in Washington and is the author of several volumes on legal subjects.

Newburg News

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bovee were supper guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bullock in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith entertained the relatives and friends from away at a buffet luncheon Thursday after the funeral of Mr. Smith's father, William Smith.

The many friends of Mrs. William Smith will be glad to learn that she is improving remarkably well.

Howard Gerst of Cleveland, Ohio, flew here to spend the week-end in the home of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grimm.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bovee, Mrs. Ina Bovee and daughter, Beverly Bovee, attended the wedding of Evelyn Gagnon of St. Clair Shores and Norvell Bovee of Mt. Pleasant, the former's brother, which took place Thursday afternoon, May 29 in Nardin Methodist church in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Norris and family spent from Friday until Saturday evening in Oscoda, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur La Van, also the Indian settlement in charge.

A large number of residents of Newburg attended the funeral of William Smith, Thursday of last week in Plymouth. Other friends and relatives from Toledo, St. Johns, Dexter and Plymouth were also present.

Marion Luttermoser sang two numbers accompanied by Mrs. Boles and Rev. Robert Treney officiated. Mr. Smith, who has resided all his life in Newburg, will be sadly missed by his many friends.

The Methodist church of Newburg held its dedicatory services Sunday. In the morning Rev. Stanford Clouston, of the Plymouth Methodist church, gave a splendid sermon on "Divine Invasion" and the choir sang "Listen to the Lambs," with Mrs. Boles accompanying on the piano.

At the afternoon service Dr. Walter Fruit of Detroit talked on "As a Man Thinketh in His Heart, so is He." Donald Hyder presented the church hall, free of debt, and Rev. Robert Treney accepted it in a few well-chosen words.

Dr. Joseph Dutton of Ann Arbor, who was pastor of the Plymouth and Newburg church 25 years ago, gave a prayer. This service was followed by a tea, with Mrs. James McNabb and Mrs. Melvin Guthrie presiding.

The table was beautiful with its lace cloth, lighted tapers and spring flowers. In the evening the young people held a youth rally, to which guests present from Plymouth, Northville, Garden City, Willis, Stony Creek and the St. James Methodist church in Detroit.

Dr. Charles W. Brashers of Ann Arbor gave a most interesting talk on "Christianity Must Save America." The Newburg group entertained afterward with dainty refreshments. The church and hall were profusely decorated with rose-colored peonies, generously furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hodges of Northville, formerly of Newburg.

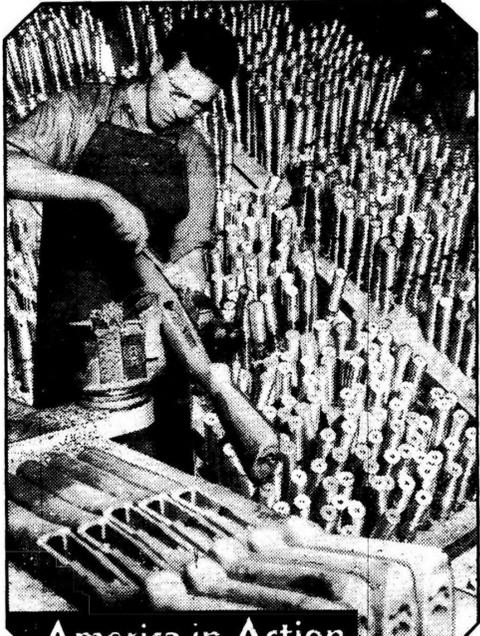

Among those from away were Rev. and Mrs. Paul Havens of Detroit and Rev. and Mrs. Harry Lord of Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Drews entertained at a birthday party Wednesday evening of last week, for her brother, Wallace Moore, of Dearborn. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Noah, of Farmington, Mr. and Mrs. Burl Drews, Mrs. Clarence Evans, of Columbus, Ohio.

Bert Ryder of Salem was a caller Sunday at the Ryder homestead on Plymouth road.

America Speeds Building Of 'Arsenal of Democracy'

Composite picture shows a worker at the Springfield, Mass., Armory, where thousands of the army's new Garand automatic rifles are being made. The plant's capacity nears 1000 rifles daily.

BY DAVID STEIN
RUNNING 24 hours a day, seven days a week, government-owned arsenals are speeding to supply the army's needs. Large numbers of weapons of all kinds from pistols to huge guns and tanks, and tremendous amounts of ammunition are needed for the army.

The Ordnance Department is working constantly to improve old weapons and to develop new ones. More than 2500 separate items, for which more than 250,000 different parts are needed, are provided through this department.

Some of the main items produced by America's arsenals are: pistols, semi-automatic rifles, machine guns, trench mortars, hand grenades, anti-aircraft guns, cannons of all sizes, tanks, armored cars, scout cars, combat cars, instruments for controlling and directing the fire of weapons, ammunition, pyrotechnics for signalling purposes, and bombs.

SIX leading government manufacturing arsenals are: Watervliet Arsenal at Watervliet, N. Y.; Frankford Arsenal at Philadelphia, Pa.; Rock Island Arsenal, at Rock Island, Ill. and Springfield Armory, at Springfield, Mass. In addition, the government is rushing new arsenals to completion, chiefly in the midwest states west of the Alleghenies and east of the Mississippi.

Only 10 per cent of the nation's war needs, however, can be made in government arsenals. The rest must come from commercial manufacturers. The industrial mobilization program, now well under way, is being carried on through 14 procurement centers, each headed by a district chief thoroughly familiar with industrial capacity of his district.

The Ordnance Department, with its large staff of technical experts, co-operates closely with the fighting forces to provide them with the best and most powerful tools of war. America is speeding its efforts vigorously to become "The Arsenal of Democracy."

YWCA of Plymouth, England Reports Devastating 'Blitzkrieg' on City

"The Name of the Lord is a strong tower." That a simple statement of spirit and faith is the motto of the city of Plymouth, England, it is related in a letter received this week by the local Namesake Town committee from the Young Women's Christian Association of Plymouth, England. This vivid word-picture of the death and destruction of modern warfare was written during the smoldering aftermath of a "blitzkrieg" upon that city.

"At the last meeting of the committee of the Central Y.W.C.A. it was reported that the Lord Mayor, Lord Astor, wished all organizations in the city to get in touch with the other Plymouths in the U.S.A. so as to establish a friendly contact with each other. It appealed to the committee and I was asked to write to you telling something of our work and aims and hoping to hear something of yours," writes the YWCA secretary of Plymouth.

"I am writing at first just as if the happenings of last week had not occurred. Our hostel is the Central Y. W. C. A. It is nearly always full of boarders. We take about 30. We have all ages and occupations. Young girls sometimes cannot pay much and we meet their needs. Some are resident older people. We are beautifully situated near our historic Plymouth Hoe.

"We arrange to meet the boats when needed. We haven't room for much club work, but the Girls' Friendly Society has a room in the lower floor and they make a homely meeting place of it. As our hostel is economically run, we are able to help some of the girls' clubs and we send donations to the city's Patriotic club which is trying to help the rougher type of boy and girl on our streets.

"Our matron has been with us some years and we are rather proud of our domestic staff. Our housemaid has been with us 20 years and a few weeks ago we gave a party in her honor and presented her with a gold watch. Altogether our aim has been to provide a happy Christian home for boarders, visitors and staff. The household side is run under a small committee managed by Miss A. Pitts who was once a missionary in China and one of the best-loved women in Plymouth.

"This will give you some idea of us and our work. We live in a solid well-built house of the Georgian type, a minute's walk from the Hoe and ten minutes' walk from the Mayflower stone. "If I had written last week, I should have ended here and I wish I had done so, so as to end on a happier note.

"Unfortunately, we were the victims of the Blitz. Last Sunday I found our fine building only an empty shell. The large iron letters Y.W.C.A. with their blue paint stood up cheerily. We have much to be thankful for that all our people got away safely. The matron and some of the boys of the Y.W.C.A. near us are still buried under the debris. Churches, hospitals and homes seem, as usual, the main objectives. Our lovely old parish church, 600 years old, is no more. Also our fine Methodist church which did great work in the centre of the town is just a shell and this is true of all other denominations. Most of our committee have badly damaged homes.

"Still, after we have recovered ourselves a bit and taken breath, we intend to start again. Our Plymouth motto is 'The Name of the Lord is a strong tower.' Nothing weak about that and we intend that there shall be a still finer and better Plymouth in the future. And a better Y.W.C.A. too. We have something in hand fortunately and we are meeting next week to plan for the future. As I said before, I wish this had been written before the Blitz, but it wasn't. All good wishes to your Plymouth from our Plymouth," concludes Secretary Helen E. Waterhouse, of Plymouth's Y.W.C.A. in England.

Many are planning to attend the Sports Dance to be held by the Civic association Saturday evening in the club house. The committee in charge is Mr. and Mrs. Von D. Polhemus, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lyndon, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Albright. Music will be furnished by the Schaeffer orchestra and a breakfast will be served in the early morning hours in the club house.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rolin and family plan to leave Friday on a two week vacation with relatives in Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. William King spent the week-end and until Tuesday in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Smale and family spent from Thursday until Sunday in Canada. Samuel Gibson, of Cleveland, Ohio, was a week-end guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gibson.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will have its meeting on Wednesday, June 11, in the church basement with a buffet dinner following at 6:30. Mrs. F. C. Winkler entertained at luncheon and bridge, Wednesday, at Meadowbrook Golf club having the following guests: Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Earl Sayre, of the Gardens; Mrs. Roy T. Mitchell, Mrs. Ed Seymour, Mrs. Frank Baxter, Mrs. John Hitche and Mrs. H. P. Adams.

On Thursday evening Mrs. H. P. Adams and Mrs. Winkler attended a lovely old parish church, 600 years old, is no more. Also our fine Methodist church which did great work in the centre of the town is just a shell and this is true of all other denominations. Most of our committee have badly damaged homes.

Picnic Closes Work of the Year

The Business and Professional Women's club brought its year to a most successful close with a picnic in Riverside park on Monday evening, June 1. The club is proud to report the addition of eight new members during the last year, and is anticipating a big year ahead. Plans are already underway for the fall.

The picnic, always enjoyed by everyone especially with the natural beauty of our own Riverside park, was well attended. Any passerby would have been attracted by the general spirit of gaiety to say nothing of the savory and pungent odors of broiled steak, hamburger and the inevitable picnic "hot dog." As though all this wasn't enough, the committee brought forth a big grunt when they passed around home-made apple pie and ice cream. Everyone will remember with delight, intermingled with pangs of distress, the most delicious picnic that closed a most successful year for the club.

The committee members for the evening were Hanna Strassen, Mildred Barnes, Betty Marquis and Vaun Campbell.

A Great Citizen, A Great Statesman, A Great Patriot!

William Randolph Hearst

There is one thing that I like to do—I like to say a good word. I like to praise our outstanding citizens who have won for themselves a high place in American life. I like to praise men and women who do something for humanity, who put forth efforts to make the world a better place in which to live. Especially do I like to say good words about those who have given up a life of ease and luxury to work for the betterment of mankind.

That is why I so greatly admire William Randolph Hearst.

Born in San Francisco in 1863, the son of a noted western capitalist and statesman, it was not necessary for the lad to give up a life of ease that he might have enjoyed. But, like his father, he wanted to do something for the people of his state and the nation.

It was very early in life, soon after he was graduated from Harvard, that he decided to become a newspaper editor. While young friends enjoyed their days and nights in lives of pleasure seeking, not so with young Hearst. He became one of the hardest working newspaper men in America. As a result, his San Francisco Examiner became one of the most successful newspapers in the world.

Then he bought the New York Journal and soon established the Chicago American. All of America was soon to benefit by his great newspapers, for he extended his field into every nook and corner of this great nation.

It was a great day for Detroit when he purchased the old Detroit Today and made it into the progressive, inspiring Detroit Times.

For more than a quarter of a century, The Times has been a power for good in Detroit and Michigan. Its stand upon public issues has been always on the side of right and justice. Its influence has been one of the powerful ones that has made Detroit the fourth and dynamic city of America.

This great newspaper has more than once successfully chamioned numerous great causes that have resulted in vast benefits to the city of Detroit and the state of Michigan. For what it has done, we, the citizens of this state, owe The Times an everlasting obligation.

He has made it possible for Michigan citizens to know the great Arthur Brisbane, one of the most inspiring editorial writers of all time.

He is today making it possible for Michigan citizens to know the viewpoints of General Hugh Johnson, of Dorothy Thompson, of Walter Winchell, Paul Mallon, Damon Runyon, Westbrook Pegler, and he brings to us the snappy "Roaring Fireside" by Arthur "Bugs" Baer. What sports fan is there who does not enjoy the sports reviews and views of Leo Macdonell?

What Michigan citizen is there who does not thoroughly enjoy and profit by reading the unbiased and clear-cut reports of state affairs written by Frank Morris and Don Gardner? Their views on Michigan affairs and Michigan politics are without favor or fear, and are most informative. We are glad, too, that this great newspaper has brought Bill Cunningham, a great newspaper reporter and writer, to Michigan. Although here but a short time, he has already won for himself a place in the hearts of our people.

Few men in American life have lived a longer and more beneficial life than has William Randolph Hearst. May the years to come be filled with blessings for a citizen who has done so much for humanity—may his reward be in keeping with the tremendous good that he has done.

It has been our great privilege to have served many of Michigan's outstanding leaders, many of its famed newspaper people, who have required optical services of the most accurate nature. We feel fortunate, indeed, in possessing the high type equipment and the ability to satisfy people whose successful work depends to a very great extent upon good eye-sight.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 502): "There is but one creator, one creation. Full Year for Seniors

As Mr. Evans dedicated that piece "Recessional" to the seniors in assembly last Wednesday, these students were reminded that in a few short weeks their high school careers will be ended. This last year has been a full one which went all too quickly. Last September, the freshman reception was given in honor of the new pupils by their upper classmen. A clever program was presented in which there was singing, a talk by President Bob Daniel followed by refreshments and dancing.

Shortly after that Warren Hoffman was seen soliciting fellow class members to buy calling cards. These were sent as presents, very often, with the senior pictures taken by L. L. Ball and finished conveniently just before Christmas.

Great discussion and planning made the Senior Prom a huge success. After the meeting in which arguments were presented about two themes for the dance, "Patriotism" was selected for decorations theme. Huge drapes of red, white and blue were hung on the bleachers, flags were placed around the sides and a large figure of the statue of liberty composed the main designs. Later practice was begun on "Pride and Prejudice," the senior play taken from Jane Austen's book. A large cast of 26 characters gave 52 seniors chances for parts. Thursday and Friday night casts were equally good.

In the late fall the class of '41 decided to leave the school a flag and pole as a memorial. In the spring, the flag presentation was held. Bob Daniel as speaker for the seniors and Mr. Smith for the school. The ceremonial was held on the front lawn and was very impressive. One of the busiest members, Ruth Parmelee, has been working on senior annual to be given each student. Pictures of outstanding clubs and groups were taken and will be published in this annual along with history of the class and all its activities. Annually a junior-senior banquet is held in honor of graduates to be. This event will take place tonight (Friday) in the gymnasium and next week, the final one will see the seniors in their caps and gowns at baccalaureate class night and commencement, and this will be the end.

Nine Loses Twice

Plymouth's ball team dropped two games last week to Birmingham and Dearborn, nine to ten and two to seven. Ross went the way for the Rocks in the Birmingham scrap giving seven hits while the opposing Balton yielded nine hits. Plymouth made four runs on Blanton's single, followed by Kaiser's stolen base, a walk presented to Vetal and Ross's single. Bridge then tripled, driving in the three preceding runners. In the fifth another rally was staged, starting with Blanton's three-bagger followed by Williams' double and Kaiser's single. Then Vetal whaled the horsehide for a homer. The following inning showed a run on Blanton's double and an error.

League Victors

Plymouth's golfers were again victorious last week when they defeated Wayne by 49 strokes, 334-383, on the Hawthorne Valley course. This being the last league match of the season, the first place honors are to be split between the Rocks and Dearborn, each losing one match. There are to be no plays-off between the two teams so both schools will receive trophies. The results of the Wayne match are as follows: For Plymouth, Hoffman, 41-39, totaling 80; Owens, 42-38, also for 80; Shoemaker, 44-43, making 87 and Russell with a 45-42 making another 87. For Wayne, Goodrich 42-45 for 87; Temple, the low scorer, with 41-45 to make 86; Kinder shot 50 and 46 to total 96; and Burgh tallied 61-53 summing up to 114.

The total shots made by the Rocks in league competition was 1449. The opponents made 1551. One more match is scheduled with Northville. The tractive power of the average locomotive in 1939 was nearly one-eighth greater than in 1930.

Athletic Year

Fearful and justified were the grumbles that issued last fall from the department of athletics after the news came in that Plymouth high school for the year 1940-41 was booked as a Class A school. The announcement was a promotion from B rating into the highest organized high school competition in Michigan, and it did not bode at all well for Plymouth's athletic chances.

Shortly, it meant that it is now one of the three Class A teams in the Twin Valley League. Others are Dearborn and River Rouge. Further it meant that in all sports involving regional and possibly state competition—basketball, track, tennis, golf—Plymouth would involuntarily enter and compete against A schools.

No regionals are possible in football, and so the team had no cause to worry about its rating. It did not do so well against Twin Valley schools since Ypsilanti Central was the only one defeated in league competition. Results for the season were three wins, five losses. Most comforting victory was a defeat of Clawson in the rain and stopping of All-State halfback, John Creever. Co-captains on the eleven were Shirley Dunham and Jack Gettleton.

When Plymouth's basketball team finished its regular season with four victories, nine losses, it was scheduled to play class A regionals at Adrian. Coach Anthony Matulis pulled out of the hat none other than Jackson high. Jackson has a population ten times that of Plymouth. Results of the regional game were a 46-16 win by Jackson. Northville was defeated twice by Plymouth, once 46-16 so the season was not lost altogether. High point man of the season was John Wilkie with an average of 8.5 points per game.

The track team was next to meet with A regionals. After a regular season of three wins, five losses Plymouth trailblazed ran fifth against a regional field of nine. Dearborn, Wadsworth and River Rouge. The same day golf and tennis regionals were scheduled. Coach Carvel Bentley didn't even enter his tennis team though the regionals meets were held at Riverside park. But the golf team two weeks ago Saturday did qualify and enter the state meet. They were the only Plymouth this year to compete in State.

A Year in Sports

Ushering in the girls' sport year, the soccer tournament held in September was won by the seniors. The seniors repeated their triumph by winning first honors in the elimination basketball tournament and also in the round-robin competition, which served as a warm-up to a basketball play day. The present class of senior girls have won the school basketball championship for the last three years.

Four teams from Dearborn journeyed to Plymouth to participate in a basketball play day on April 8. Plymouth defeated their visitors in all four games, thus keeping intact their record set in previous years. With the last volley ball game the juniors emerged with their first victory in the year's tournaments. The team captained by Carmel Stitt defeated Olive Mae Bakewell's senior team.

At about the same time a junior was winning individual honors in table tennis. Allene Parmelee went on to take first place in the tennis tournament when she defeated last year's champion, Beverly Smith, and then downed Lillian Fisher. The practice inaugurated last year of allowing Plymouth high school girls to play golf at the Hilltop golf course has continued this season. Last year a slight charge was made of each girl, but this year the Student Council paid the fee.

The baseball tournament was won by a freshman team led by Lois Vetal after eliminating four other teams to gain the finals. This was the end of the spring tournaments and the end of The Leaders' Club girls' duties for the year. Officials for all of the sports, with the exceptions of tennis and golf, were obtained from the club.

Banquet

The junior-senior banquet is to be held this evening in the high school auditorium. The committee chairmen are: General chairman, George Chute; Menu Billodene Blackford; program planning, Billodene Blackford; seating chart, Marie Ann Miller; invitations, Frances Weed; program covers, Allene Parmelee; table setting, Virginia Dunham; table decorations, Ruth Drews. The banquet is sponsored annually by the juniors as hosts

Track Finale

Plymouth's track team beat out two schools in the Twin Valley track final, but placed fifth to red hot running and field contestants from other T.V.A.A. schools on the Ypsi Normal track Wednesday. This was the last meet of the year.

Behind Dearborn, Birmingham, River Rouge, and Wayne, Plymouth produced only four point getters and one first place for 12 points. Ypsilanti Central and Ecorse, defeated earlier this year in a triangular meet, placed behind Plymouth.

Less than a point separated winner and runner up in the meet as Dearborn edged out Birmingham 54 and one-fifth to 53 and one-half. Wayne high school, besides Birmingham, was the only class B school to win more points than Plymouth. A week earlier Plymouth in class A competition placed below Rouge and Dearborn in the Regional Meet.

Strapping Jack Baker was Plymouth's single inner wheel. He weighed 160 pounds, 44 feet six inches, he outmeasured every opponent in the shot put. Baker was sixth in State class A competition last Saturday. Bob Sessions showed his heels to the cream of this section's sprinters, in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes, but poor selection in the 100 left him without a score. He placed second time though, with a time of 22.6 in the 220 yard run for second place. Paul Harsha qualified for the 220 finals and Victor Riblett for the 100. Neither could muster enough speed for places 1, 2, 3, 4 or 5.

Bob Kirkpatrick ground out a fifth place for one point in the half-mile run. The winner made it in 2:06. Although Plymouth's 880 relay team, Harsha, Riblett, Whitaker, Sessions demonstrated its best time this year—1:39, it secured only a fourth place in the last event. Birmingham won the relay in 1:36.

The majority of the times and distances in the T.V.A.A. exceeded those of the Metropolitan Detroit high school track meet pictured conspicuously on the pages of Detroit newspaper sport sections.

Music

The music departments of Plymouth high school have during the last school year, presented several entertaining programs under the leadership of Miss Doris Hamill and Lewis Evans.

During the first semester, an assembly was given featuring the "Wedding of the Painted Doll," songs by the Girls' Glee club, and a violin trio. Before Christmas, the high school orchestra and the Girls' Triple Trio offered a program to the women's division of the Detroit House of Correction. The Girls' Glee club led in community singing in Kellogg park in Plymouth before Christmas. A beautiful musical play, portraying the court of good King Wenceslas, entitled "The Twelve Days of Christmas," was presented to the high school students at a Christmas assembly. During the second semester, many music students participated in the musicale at Ypsilanti and also in our own annual musicale recently presented in the high school auditorium. In the past year, the Girls' Triple Trio has sung at the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches, the Kiwanis club, the Ypsilanti and the Plymouth musicales. The trio also offered a group of Shakespearean songs for Miss Allen's twelfth grade English students, and western songs for Miss Wall-dorf's English class. The high school orchestra has, during the year, played selections for the Citizens Junior club, style shows, father and son banquet, and the junior and senior plays. All of the above presentations were under the direction of Miss Doris Hamill.

The high school band under the direction of Lewis Evans appeared on several occasions. Last semester it played at the football games, and marched in a parade for the Goodfellow's day prior to Christmas. This semester the band played for an Americanization program sponsored by the American Legion, and also put on a program for junior and senior high assemblies. In March it entered the State District Festival in Ann Arbor. On Memorial day it played several numbers, and also sponsored a concert in Kellogg park.

Junior Class

Ushering in the social activities of the class of '42, Don Mielbeck played for the junior dance on October 11. Try-outs for the junior play, "Young April" were held in the month of October and a complete double cast was chosen, which, after weeks of practice was presented on November 28 and 29 to an appreciative audience.

January saw the class rings arrive. They were greeted by alternate shouts of joy and dismay—the former caused by their beauty and the latter by their size. The culmination of much hard work was the Hop held March 21. Earl Stevens' orchestra supplied the music for 199 couples that danced in the Alaskan decorated gymnasium. The juniors proudly counted $15 profit from their first formal dance.

April 4 was the date of the one-act play contest in which the juniors were represented with a comedy called "The Bandit From Brooklyn." The social activities of the class of '42 will end tonight with the junior-senior banquet. This annual event was the subject of some controversy this year when a special assembly was called for the girls to decide if they were to wear formal or street-length dresses. A vote was taken which ended 67 to 59 in favor of formal. Therefore, the juniors and seniors will break bread together with the girls clad in their beghemal best.

Band Assembly

The band assembly presented to the junior and senior high schools at different times last week was more than a success. It was a triumph on the part of the members and their conductor, Mr. Lewis Evans. The whole program was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience and the desire to hear it again soon was expressed. Unfortunately, this appearance will be the last for this school year. Several solos and trios topped the program. The saxophonists Jack Butz, Phyllis Campbell and Mike Kleinschmidt tripped on the Song of India by Kinsky-Karshoff. Harry Wooster rendered a solo "I'm Falling in Love with Someone" by Victor Herbert on his trombone. The flutist was Paul Harsha who soloed Rigoletto by Grieg. Don Vanderveen and Bill Upton made up a trumpet duet. Malcolm McGregor accompanied the piano. Orlyn Lewis concluded the solos with a group of drum movements.

The "Valse Triste" was most enjoyed as a classical piece by the student audience. Other pieces were the "Stout-Hearted Men," with words sung by band members and audience and the William Tell Overture. It was during this piece that Valbert Groth and Bill Sexton offered humor in all phases to the audience. "America the Beautiful" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

School Band

After hearing the assembly program given by the high school band last week, the members of Miss Allen's third hour English class wrote out their reactions to the program. These students had different ideas as to the value of a high school band. The general enthusiasm was summarized by Frances Dunn, who wrote thus: "Every school should have a band. After seeing how our band adds life and school spirit to anything it takes part in, this will always be my belief."

A band's educational value was emphasized by Gerald Shoemaker, who wrote, "It gets the pupils away from this jazz music, and gives them a lead to stardom in classical music." The educational value was also stressed by Robert Allbaugh, who said that, "A band such as this adds color and variety to high school life and also gives musically inclined pupils a chance to improve upon and add to their musical ability."

That a band will give people relaxation and enjoyment was Ruth Burden's viewpoint. Her comment was "Music is something that will make you relax and forget your troubles." The idea that a band is important to football games and intramural competitions was expressed by Donna Jovee Smith. She pointed out that "when the band plays and the cheering sections join in, the teams feel they have something to fight for."

Another reason given for the value of a high school band was, as Robert Lindberg pointed out, "It brings out talent." Bob Fisher added the idea of the increased interest in activities that a band gives in his comment: "A band, whether large or small, adds an excitement to the school activities. When it plays for football games, assemblies, and concerts, it livens up the festivities." As Gerald King pointed out, "It also gives pupils opportunity to learn how to play instruments, and it gives them experience in playing with others."

A typical example of the favorable student reaction to the band was that of Guy Mudge, who wrote "The Plymouth band under the leadership of Mr. Evans has excelled itself this year. This has been shown by the applause and attentiveness of the school attendance in assemblies, and the comments of teachers."

Assembly

A very beautiful program was presented to the juniors and seniors last Thursday by the Girl Reserves and Hi-Y boys. The presentation was offered as a Memorial Day service. Prayers were offered by several students who acted as citizens of the world. Individual students, who took the parts of War, Peace, Courage, Cowardice, Distrust, and Faith, read from scrolls indicating who they were. After the readings the citizens said the Benediction. All of the students joined together and sang "America," "America the Beautiful," and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Dramatics

Because drama is quite popular among students of Plymouth high school have participated in the dramatics course offered here under the direction of Miss Win-nifred Ford. During the past school year over 40 public performances of one-act plays were given by 50 students. Most of the plays were directed by students. These plays were presented for the style show, several churches and various organizations in Plymouth, besides Rosedale Gardens, Salem, Newburg, Livonia, and several country schools. One particularly beautiful program, presented by dramatic students for the Red Cross, was patriotic pantomime. The students have learned such things concerning drama as make-up, lighting, stage technique, costumes, directing, acting, production voice and gestures. Some of the dramatics students directing the plays in the one-act play contest held in April.

Over 50 per cent of the girls in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades who entered the second annual pentathlon will receive either a bronze, silver or gold medal. Sponsored by the Woman's club, the pentathlon had a total of 229 girls participating. The seventh grade won a total of 23 medals, the eighth grade 31, and the ninth grade 69. The number of girls winning gold medals showed a large increase over last year. This year 15 girls won high honors with a gold medal as compared with two such awards last year. Of the 15, 1 was won by a seventh grader, 2 by eighth graders and 12 by freshmen.

Nineteen silver medals were won: Seventh grade, 3; eighth, 5, and ninth, 11. By far the greatest number of medals won was the bronze: 19 seventh graders, 24 eighth graders and 46 ninth graders won these emblems. Frances Weed, G. R. President

Frances Weed was chosen as president of the Senior Girl Reserves last Thursday to succeed Ardith Rowland, retiring president. She and the program chairman, who were chosen by officers before the election, are to go to the Girl Reserve Summer Conference for a week.

Other officers chosen are vice-president, Annabel Becker; secretary, Nancy McLaren; treasurer, Hazel Pankow; and inter-club councilor, Ruth Drews. Last Tuesday, June 3, the Senior Girl Reserves held their semi-annual recognition and installation service in the high school auditorium. Twenty-three girls were recognized in a candle light ceremony, conducted by Ardith Rowland and Virginia Garrison. Ruth Ash, president of the Girl Reserves last year conducted the installation service. The newly elected officers and appointed chairmen were installed into office by receiving tokens of their jobs for next fall, and exchanging places with the retiring officials. Punch and wafers were served to the girls and their mothers.

Senior Farewell is to be held June 10 at the Parmelee home. The program, planned entirely by the juniors, is under the direction of Dorothy Ritchie. Preparedness is the price of peace. Production is the foundation of preparedness. Working-men's health is an essential to production. Therefore, health is the price of peace. Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

Three Students Receive U. of M. Scholarships

Local U. of M. Club Sponsors Alumni Scholarship Awards

Three Plymouth high school students are among the 100 high school seniors in every part of Michigan who have been awarded Alumni undergraduate scholarships to the University of Michigan for the next school year.

The three scholarship winners are Virginia Rock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rock of 1840 Five Mile road and valedictorian of the June graduating class; Robert Daniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Daniel of 1185 West Ann Arbor Trail and Paul Harsha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Harsha of 11317 Arden avenue, Rosedale Gardens.

Each of the scholarship recipients was chosen from recommendations made by the local University of Michigan club. For each 25 club members, the group may recommend one student for a scholarship award. This is the first year that the U. of M. club has sponsored scholarships for local students, and Mrs. Thomas Bateman, president of the club, expressed pleasure with Plymouth's fine representation. The scholarship committee was composed of George A. Smith, Mrs. Robert Willoughby and Miss Gertrude Fiegel.

Each award covers two semesters' fees in any of the university's undergraduate schools, according to the announcement made by Dean Clarence S. Yokum, vice-president of the university in charge of educational investigations. Recipients of the awards are selected on the basis of scholarship, character and financial need. Students who maintain a satisfactorily high standard of scholarship during the term of their awards are eligible for similar awards in their successive years at the university.

Virginia Rock who plans to study for a teaching career has maintained the highest scholastic average in the senior class and has participated in the following activities: Debate squad, Girl Reserves, Leaders' club, school and T. V. A. A. league extempore speaker, Pilgrim Prints, student council and school mayor, senior play and "best girl citizen."

Bob Daniel, who intends to study school administration and social science at the university, has been active in debate, student council, school orator, track team, Pilgrim Prints, Wolverine Boys' State delegate, senior class president, Hi-Y club and "best boy citizen."

Paul Harsha, who was elected to act as "city manager" of Plymouth last week and is interested in studying journalism, has participated in the Plymouth high school band and orchestra, Pilgrim Prints, Varsity club, Hi-Y club, torch club, student council, Junior Rotary club and track man.

Discovered! Deep Sea Fisherman

Would you ever believe it! For years and years and years Plymouth residents have known Charles Finlan as an insurance man without hobbies, as a citizen who always attended strictly to business and one who believes that work is about all there is to life anyway.

But all of this isn't so, now that the truth is out. Yes, sir, Charles Finlan has been discovered to be one of the best deep sea fishermen about here.

It seems that the truth came to light the other day when it was discovered that Mr. Finlan and his many friends about the city were enjoying some big slices of kingfish, kingfish that were caught last winter when the Finlans were in Florida, and kept meanwhile in one of Dave's locker freezers.

"Didn't you know I was an old timer at deep sea fishing?" he asked the inquiring reporter the other day.

"Why, I've been one of the best that ever sailed out of the harbor at Miami. Of course there are two kinds of fishermen, those who advertise what they catch and those who keep it to themselves. I thought it best to keep my fishing habits to myself, but as long as the truth is out, I'll tell you about it.

"You see those fellows who make a business of deep sea fishing, get a lot of fancy tackle, spinners and things like that. Sometimes they get fish but more often they do not. When I go out, I always get my fish.

"Maybe you don't know much about Fowlerville, but that's where I learned to fish. There isn't any ocean up there, but we have Maple creek, you know. Some folks call it Maple river, because they like to make it appear that it amounts to something.

"Well, it does when it comes to fishing. Now these big-shot deep sea fishermen down in Florida think they know it all when it comes to fishing, but I showed them a few tricks they didn't know about.

"I just took my old fishing line, you know we call 'em drop lines, and baited it up like I used to do it up at Fowlerville. I didn't have any shiny hooks or spinners or anything like that. I just went out in the ocean and put a great big gob of night-crawlers on my hook—just like I used to do it years ago. And you had ought to see those kingfish go after that bait!

"Well, I just got tired of pulling 'em in. You know I had enough fish as the result of that one trip to feed all the folks in our neighborhood down there—and then I shipped home what I had left—and that's my fishing story for this summer."

Thus endeth Mr. Finlan's instructions to those who would become successful deep sea fishermen.

Townsend Club to Celebrate

Officials of the Plymouth Townsend club announce that on Friday evening, June 13, there will be a celebration meeting held in Grange hall on Union street, a celebration of the legal victory won over the group set up in opposition to the real Dr. Townsend club. The courts have denied the organization known as the National Townsend Recovery Plan of Michigan, Inc., a right to use the name of Dr. Townsend.

The order thereby makes the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc., of Illinois, the legal Townsend organization in Michigan. This is the organization to which the Plymouth members belong.

Rev. George Gullen will be present at the meeting to discuss legislation now pending in congress. The meeting will begin at 6:30, as there will be a potluck dinner. The public is invited. There will be no meeting on Monday evening.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

FULL STEAM AHEAD!

Each day, each hour that passes brings news from Europe that is most alarming to the safety of our own country. There has been nothing of an encouraging nature in any of the news for weeks or months—and with every passing hour it would appear that the situation is growing more desperate for our people.

We have long urged that American defense industry go on a 24-hour schedule, seven days a week. There can no longer be any question in the minds of our doubting Thomases as to the danger confronting us. The time has long since passed for any one to listen to the Wheelers, the Nyes and others who have been trailing along with them in their heckling campaign, a campaign that can give aid and comfort only to those who have not yet come to a full realization of the great emergency that lies ahead of all of the Americas.

We blame President Roosevelt, we blame all of our national leaders for not having waged during the past two or three years a propaganda campaign that would have aroused our citizens to the seriousness of world conditions. We should have been told long ago—and told in a most emphatic way, if that had been done there would be no large groups in America today giving ear to the so-called isolationists. But that is now past history. Harping criticism now does no good. The time is here for FULL SPEED AHEAD—with every man, woman and child in America doing all within their might to help build the most powerful air fleet that ever sailed through the skies, to build a navy so powerful that we will need the help of no other navy to make this the greatest naval power of all time, and to build an army that will be as invincible as have been our armies in past wars.

We urge and we recommend with all the power at our command UNITED action in the building of the most powerful armed force this or any other nation has ever known. We urge it because we believe, and have believed for a long period, that we are confronted by the gravest military threat since the creation of our United States.

AS SURE AS FATE.

When the light of tolerance is blown out, darkness will descend upon the world. There will be no light. There will be no hope. Why blow out the light of tolerance?

STREET SIGNS.

Once upon a time it was not so necessary for the streets of Plymouth to be designated by names. Everybody in town knew where Gravel avenue was located. Everybody knew where to go to find Penniman avenue, Mill street or some of the other thoroughfares of the Plymouth of other days.

But that isn't so any more. Plymouth has become a rapidly growing city, with new residents moving in almost daily. With the increase of population, streets that were laid out years ago but never built up now have homes located along them. And many of these streets are without proper designation.

Street signs that might at one time have been erected are no longer to be found. It has reached a point where it has become exceedingly difficult to intelligently direct a person to find some certain place on some of our streets. Not only are there no street signs, but houses are without numbers.

Here is a problem that should receive our immediate attention. The Detroit Edison company, which maintains an exceedingly accurate house numbering system, has frequently expressed its willingness to cooperate in properly designating homes by numbers. In fact, the company even offers to provide residents of the city with house numbers to place on their residences.

The problem is not so difficult if we will just decide to do something about it. The marking of street corners by proper street signs would probably involve some expenditure, but we must remember that Plymouth is a rapidly growing city, and with our growth there are certain new items of expense that will confront us. But public convenience is the first essential to consider.

THE MCKAY TRIAL.

As expected, the trial of Frank D. McKay, self-elected Republican National committeeman from Michigan, is producing some startling testimony. We assume that as the trial develops it will amaze the public to a far greater extent than it has to date, although on reading the testimony so far given one must turn his face in shame over the transgressions that have taken place within our state government. The Plymouth Mail, long a crusader against McKayism, does not care at this time to comment about the revelations that are being made at the trial. We prefer to wait until the jury has rendered its verdict of innocent or guilty. From the nature of the testimony being given it will be some weeks before the trial comes to an end.

PLAY FAIR

It is to be hoped that the unofficial report coming out of Lansing to the effect, the Public Service Commission is considering a revision of the telephone rates is unfounded. The report, if correct, is based likely on the recent satisfactory earnings of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, which action would be, in normal times, sufficient basis for public interpretation and possible readjustment. But in these new and mounting tax days—and from all appearances just beginning—it is time for caution and especially when rate structures, involving the interests of a whole state are likely to be disturbed. Corporations, large and small, are already considering plans to build up their reserves to meet new tax schedules which of itself would seem to be sufficient fiscal upheaval for the present. Taxes to be paid have to be earned first and public officials should keep in mind that the least disturbance of tax sources at this time is definitely in the broader public interest, not to mention the overshadowing problem of national defense.—Muri H. DeFoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune.

AID AT HAND

America is a land of travelers. The wanderlust is firmly imbedded in our national character. The typical American wants to go places and see things, and he does on every possible occasion. We Americans, as a result, have the finest transportation plant in the world. The number of motor cars we possess, for instance, is the envy and wonder of other peoples. A car is a rich man's luxury in most countries—here it is an ordinary man's necessity. The great bulk of Americans do all their traveling at home. One unfortunate consequence of this vast amount of motor travel is our high accident rate. We skid into ditches. We hit other cars. We run over pedestrians. We collide with trains. The result is hundreds of thousands of injuries each year. But in spite of the carelessness of the American citizen, he gets a break in the form of the finest and most comprehensive medical service the world knows. No matter how remote the area, the chances are that a doctor can be on the scene of an accident within a few minutes. And he will be a capable doctor, who will go quietly and swiftly and efficiently about the job of treating wounds and doing whatever else is necessary. Outstanding medical technique is the rule, not the exception, in this land of ours.

There is a qualified physician in this country for each 767 people, on the average. That is a higher proportion than in any other nation. Whether you're in a big city or a tiny village or driving through the open country, you can be sure a doctor isn't far away. He's ready to serve if the need arises. And it may be that he will save your life.—Robert Rowe in The Milford Times.

PAYING THE PRICE

Of course it is tough for a chap like Hank Greenberg to have to give up a nice baseball job for the army; peace-loving folks extend him every sympathy. It's equally tough on any young chap, whether he drives a truck or is the American League's most valuable player, to have to enlist for a year of military service; but that is the price of liberty in a world now over-run with killers. Pondered thoughtfully, it's a cheap price, too—don't you think?—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

STATE FINANCES

It is estimated that the state will receive revenues amounting to at least $96,500,000 during the one-year period ending June 30, 1941. Taxpayers shouldn't expect to receive any special dividends or refunds, though, because state expenditures for the same period will be $92,500,000 with any balance to be applied on the red ink balance. Read that first sentence again, $96,500,000 is being collected by the state this fiscal year.

It's fun, isn't it, to roll millions around on the tongue when times are lush? As we get used to spending $100,000,000 a year what will we do when the war-boom vanishes and revenues are halved? We'll probably run up more debt. It isn't likely that expenses will be materially reduced.—Nelson Brown in The Ingham County News.

YES, WHY?

The United Press recently said: "The Supreme Court today ruled that the National Labor Relations board can require an employer to hire men who had been denied employment because of their union connections." When our New Deal supreme court rules that an employer has no right to refuse to employ anyone he does not want in his plant, for any reason, why should we be asked to fight to defend the "freedom" of this country? Certainly nothing more rank than that could happen in Hitler-controlled Germany.—E. C. Sibley in the Springport Signal.

Namesake Poem

The following poem, "Our Namesake City," was written recently by Mrs. G. H. Enss for the local Namesake Town Committee, dedicated to aid Plymouth, England:

OUR NAMESAKE CITY

This age of progress has accomplished much
For betterment of man and his abodes;
Enlightenment doth know no heights
Its followers may not scale,
But War, that monster, hungry as of yore,
Doth hover o'er us still, screeching for food!
Alone with human gore his hunger will he still,
And man, in all his progress,
Serves him still!

Above the noise of the tumult
Of this merciless, total war,
Come the voices of helpless victims,
Pleading as never before,
Clear as the call of the trumpet
Comes the wail of the widows' plea;
The orphans and cripples are waiting
For help from over the sea.

Do you hear their solemn voices
As they dig their deep mass-graves,
As they weep o'er shattered cities,
As their ships sink 'neath the waves?
Their fields are torn and cratered
While ours, freshly plowed,
Are being sown for harvest!
Our heads were never bowed
Before a conquering foe!
We do not know that bitter woe!

There's a city in southern England,
A city for which we're named;
Its homes are now dust and rubble,
Its famous harbor lamed!
Its children are lost or scattered
In homes which already were filled,
And many there were who could run no more,
Whose voices were quickly stilled!

Let us help out of our abundance,
Let us give as never before,
Lest this monster of War, still hungry,
Should come to America's shore.
The name of our own, fair city
Brings us close in brotherly love
To the Plymouth that lies in ruins,
Struck down in the night from above.

Let us gather our gifts together;
Let us help wherever we can,
For God looks down in pity and love
When man helps man!

The band concert and entertainment given under the auspices of the Plymouth band at the opera house Tuesday evening was largely attended. The march entitled "Long Live the U.S.A." with a chorus of young ladies was especially fine and drew several encores. The band rendered an excellent program of music and local talent presented a variety program of entertainment.

A heavy freight train was thrown from the track and tipped on the side by the dealer near the depot Monday morning. The wrecker was called and after several hours work the engine was righted. No one was injured.

The parcel post social Saturday evening was well attended, considering the rainy evening. The sum of $9.30 was added to the M. E. church treasury to be applied on the minister's salary.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Merry-lee visited C. V. Chambers and wife of Plymouth Sunday.

Miss Autie Millard of Detroit and S. Cranson of Northville were Plymouth visitors last Tuesday.

C. W. Root has purchased a new Ford and is enjoying his spare time learning to drive it.

Decoration Day was an ideal day—neither too hot nor too cold. The usual crowd from away was here. The Newburg church looked beautiful with its decorations of flags and flowers. The smiling faces of the children as they marched up the aisle with the color bearers as an escort for the old veterans and the W.R.C. to the strains of "The Red, White and Blue" was a sight to make the tears start. The address by our pastor, Rev. Dutton, on "The Coming American" was a splendid effort. Harvey Meldrum accompanied the choir on the violin. Mrs. King presented a flag to Newburg school and Miss Helen Farrand responded.

Miss Isabelle American read Lincoln's Gettysburg address and Miss Bessie Farley and Gladys Smith presented recitations.

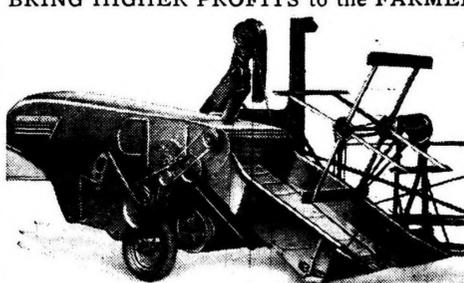

The new cave troughs have been placed on the Newburg church. The windows will soon be put in the basement. Now if some liberal minded person or persons would contribute the wherewithal to paint the church it would add greatly to the appearance of the Newburg corners.

Anyone finding a round gold breast pin, which was lost Tuesday either in the Newburg church or between there and the cemetery will confer a favor by calling Mrs. C. Ryder.

Kenneth Rucker underwent an operation last Sunday. He had suffered continually with throat trouble and it was thought advisable to remove his tonsils. He is doing fine at this writing.

Rambo & Griffith, the local agents for the Dort automobile, have sold cars the last week to Harold Joliffe, Melvin Partridge and Frank Beaman.
