George C. Cramer Dies Suddenly

Retired Railroad Man Known for Prize Roses

George C. Cramer, 68 years old, died suddenly Monday night at his home on North Harvey street. He and Mrs. Cramer had just returned from a week's vacation trip in northern Michigan Monday.

Mr. Cramer, who was born on Long Island, New York, retired from the railroad service two years ago after a record of 42 years as an engineer. He came to Plymouth about 32 years ago transferring from the New York Central railroad to the Pere Marquette.

Mr. Cramer, known to his friends as a simple, home-loving man, made a life-time hobby of gardening. The garden at his home on Harvey street was his pride and joy, and he devoted most of his time during the last two years since his retirement in the cultivation of his rose gardens. On the two lots adjacent to his home, he grew more than 300 varieties of roses, all arranged in neat beds and enclosed within a beautifully-kept hedge.

He is survived by his wife, Jennie; two sisters, Mrs. David Warren of New Hudson, Michigan and Mrs. Elizabeth Schweikert of Long Island, New York; and two brothers, Emil Cramer of Long Island and Clyde Cramer of New York City.

Funeral services will be held this (Friday) afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Schrader Funeral Home, with the Rev. Walter Nichol officiating. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

Flower Show Dates Are Fixed

To Be Held in Mayflower Sept. 4

All flower lovers of Plymouth and surrounding territory are reminded that the annual flower show sponsored by the Plymouth branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association will take place Thursday, September 4, from 10 o'clock in the Crystal Room of the Hotel Mayflower.

The public made a grand response last year, both in exhibits and attendance, making the event an unusual success. The club appreciated such fine cooperation and hopes for the same response this year.

Entries must be in place and ready for judging by 12 o'clock, noon, so that the judges, Mrs. Edith Forbush and Mrs. William Purvis of Bloomfield Hills, both accredited judges, may be finished by the opening hour. All having entries will please bear this in mind.

A complete patriotic table for the center of the room will be a special feature this year, to be done by a committee from the garden group. In addition, there will be simple patriotic flower arrangements.

A special meeting has been called by the president, Mrs. C. E. Elliott, for Monday, August 25, which is to be held in the home of Mrs. Paul Wiedman on Blunk avenue at 2 o'clock. All members of the association are urged to be present as final arrangements for the show will be made at this time. Each member is asked to bring a jar of jam or jelly to this meeting to be sold at the show.

Members of the Livonia township board have called another public hearing for Wednesday evening, August 27, at 8 o'clock at the Rosedale Gardens Civic hall for the purpose of considering any objections that might be raised against the plan to extend the fire protection services of the township.

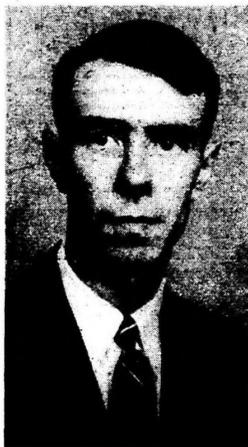

At the first hearing there were no objections of any kind raised. In fact, the plan was highly approved. The second hearing has been called in order to comply strictly with a new state statute that recently came into force. It is expected that the same approval will be given Wednesday night as at the first hearing.

Half-Year Tags Expire August 31

Plates for Last Half Of Year Now on Sale

Motorists are reminded that the deadline for driving with present half-year plates is Sunday, August 31, at midnight. Plates must be purchased at the local license bureau by next Saturday, August 30, for the last half of this year.

Frank Rambo, manager of the local branch of the Secretary of State's office, announces that the office will remain open until 7 o'clock next Saturday night. To avoid a last-minute rush, owners of automobiles, commercial trucks and trailers are urged to purchase license plates during the next week before the deadline.

Motorists must present titles of ownership at the time of purchasing license plates.

Manager Rambo reports that only a third as many half-year plates have been sold this year in comparison with last year's sales. This is explained in part by the fact that more full license plates were sold at the first of this year than in recent years, due to improved financial conditions.

Livonia Plans More Fire Protection

Members of the Livonia township board have called another public hearing for Wednesday evening, August 27, at 8 o'clock at the Rosedale Gardens Civic hall for the purpose of considering any objections that might be raised against the plan to extend the fire protection services of the township.

At the first hearing there were no objections of any kind raised. In fact, the plan was highly approved. The second hearing has been called in order to comply strictly with a new state statute that recently came into force. Coasters on Display Saturday—Event Takes Place Next Thursday at 5:30

Interest is running high in the approaching Plymouth Mail Coaster Derby which will be held next Thursday afternoon on the long hill in Cass Benton park. Plymouth residents will be given an opportunity to inspect all of the cars tomorrow (Saturday) when they will be on display in front of Kellogg Park on Main street.

Test runs will be made Saturday at 5 p.m. on Mill street just south of Plymouth road by all of the contestants and at that time Junior Chamber of Commerce officials will give the boys their final approval of the cars.

Official starting time of preliminary events will be 4 p.m. Thursday, August 28, and the races will start at 5:30 enabling local spectators to reach the course after their day's work has been completed.

Clayton Koch and Charles Wolfe, directors of the event for the Junior Chamber of Commerce, named the following officials Wednesday: directors of hilltop operations, William Rambo and Casey Partridge; directors of finish line operations, Byron Becker and Robert Wesley; directors of heats, George Todd and Frank Walsh; starters, Marvin Terry and John Selle; timers, Tom Mangan and Dr. Elmore Carney; inspectors, Jack McAllister and Jayson Lykes; judges, John MacLachlan and J. Rusling Cutler; clerk and registrar, John Gaffield; directors of service, Edward Sinta and Fred Koch; announcer, Charles VanVleck.

Last minute instructions will be given the boys at a meeting to be held at the Hotel Mayflower Tuesday evening. At that time rules will be agreed upon and arrangements will be made for final inspections at the service pit on the course to make sure that each car is perfectly fit to enter the race and that all safety provisions have been met.

The service pit will be built and serviced with complete repair equipment by the Swanson Silver Service station.

Officials agree that many of the cars are able to obtain speeds of from 30 to 40 miles an hour so they are taking every precaution to protect the boys from any possible accidents on the day of the race.

Ex-Service Men Organize Canteen

Solicit Aid of Clubs For "Boys in Training"

The Ex-Service Men's club is soliciting the cooperation of all fraternal, service and social clubs and organizations in the city to support a canteen fund for boys from the Plymouth district who are now in the Army, Navy, Marine and Air Corps forces. Letters requesting that other civic organizations adopt a quota of Plymouth's uniformed men have been sent to clubs from the Ex-Service men.

"We can all contribute to the morale of the boys in training camps throughout the country by remembering them with a little gift of cigarettes or candy once a month. Let's let the boys in camp know that those of us on the home front appreciate what they are doing by contributing our share," declared Melvin Alguire, chairman of the Ex-Service Men's committee, in fostering the canteen fund organization.

"Some of the boys are being taken care of now by local industries, including the Daisy Manufacturing company and Wall Wire Products company, and several of the local church organizations. The Ex-Service Men's club believes that others want to and can share in this patriotic endeavor by taking a quota and sending their gifts direct," said Mr. Alguire.

The Ex-Service Men will do its share and will also act as a clearing house for the names and outfit numbers of all local men in service. In addition to organizations and business concerns, it is believed that individuals will be willing to participate in the canteen drive.

All persons and organizations interested in enlisting their aid in the campaign to give a boost to Plymouth boys in the army are requested to report to any members of the Ex-Service Men's committee before Tuesday, September 9 when the club will organize complete plans for canteen activities. The committee includes Chairman Alguire, Harry Brown and George Evans.

Commission Offers New Proposal for Comfort Station

Set Hearing for Sept. 2 On Plan to Construct Station on Parking Lot

The city commission at its meeting Monday evening set Tuesday, September 2 as the date for a public hearing on a proposal to construct a public comfort station on the municipal parking lot site. City Manager C. H. Elliott was authorized to obtain tentative plans for the building from Architect Thomas Moss.

The plan will entail the removal of the present comfort station on Main street to provide a wide passageway from the street to the parking lot. The proposed construction for a new comfort station will be located on the alley entrance to the parking lot immediately to the rear of the Main street business property. It is further suggested that the caretaker of the comfort station may also supervise the city parking lot. The building of a comfort station at that location will sacrifice the parking space of only three or four cars.

A previous proposal to remove the comfort station to the local parking lot drew unanimous protest from business men on the grounds that the city hall is not centrally located. It is believed that the suggestion to build comfort station facilities adjacent to the parking lot will meet with approval of both business men and store patrons for it will remove the station from Main street and provide convenient for shoppers using the parking lot.

Plymouth high school will have a large representation of graduates attending colleges throughout the mid-western states this year with 35 or more members of last year's senior class planning to take up freshman studies this fall.

So that The Plymouth Mail advertisers can secure whatever advantage there might be from pre-Labor day advertising, The Mail is publishing next week's issue one day early. Instead of going into the post-office on Thursday night, it will be entered on Wednesday night for circulation one day earlier than usual. Because Labor Day falls on Monday of next week, this will provide local merchants with an extra day to push their specials for the final vacation period of the summer. The Mail will appreciate it greatly if our correspondents and business men will get their copy in as early as possible next week. Thanks in advance for whatever assistance might be given.

'M' Club Directors To Meet Tuesday

Club to Plan Year's Program Activities

Plans for the second year of the University of Michigan club of Plymouth will be made at a meeting of the board of governors of the club to be held at 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening, August 26, at the home of the president, Stuart W. Dube, 360 South Harvey street. It is expected that at this time a program for the winter months will be outlined, with the opening event, a send-off banquet for the young people of Plymouth and surrounding territories who are attending the University of Michigan this year.

Warren Worth, chairman of the program committee, will report on the findings of a poll made last spring when cards were mailed to members asking their preference as to the types of meetings desired this year.

The club, which was organized last year with the very satisfactory enrollment of 106 members, is expected to include many more names by the time the first meeting is held. The membership committee, with the Rev. G. H. Enss as chairman, has been working during the summer and is expected to report at the meeting of the board of governors on Tuesday. As an effort is being made to contact all persons in Plymouth and neighboring communities who are interested in joining the club, the officers announce that all former students at the University, including summer or extension course students, those whose husbands, wives or children have enrolled at Michigan; or all persons interested in furthering the cause of the university are invited to join the club. This may be done by contacting Rev. Enss or the secretary-treasurer, Clarence H. Elliott, at the city hall.

The board of governors chosen last spring from their own group to direct the club's activities for the coming season are: Stuart Dube, president; Rev. G. H. Enss, vice-president; Clarence Elliott, secretary-treasurer; Sidney D. Strong, George A. Smith, Warren Worth and Mrs. Thomas Bateman of Plymouth and Paul Hastings and Mrs. Richard Brand of Rosedale Gardens.

Interest is running high in the twenty-fifth annual fair at Northville for the committee has arranged to present an outstanding rodeo show every evening and the largest horse show in the fair's history. In addition to the many agricultural, horticultural and industrial displays, there will be a three-day harness racing program on September 11, 12 and 13.

C. of C. Sponsors Program for Fire Prevention Day

State Association to Stage Educational Campaign Sept. 24

An extensive program in fire prevention education will be sponsored in Plymouth by the Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with city and school officials on September 24. The city commission has extended an invitation to the Michigan State Fire Prevention association to hold its fall meeting here on that date.

This will mark the association's first visit to Plymouth. The state association is composed of field representatives of various stock insurance companies in the state. A corps of 40 to 50 insurance inspectors of the association will make fire inspections of all business, public and semi-public places within the city.

Through the sponsorship of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, all merchants are urged to give complete cooperation to the fire prevention and education program. In an effort to determine potential causes of fire, inspectors from the association will place a red tag on all fire hazards in local stores and public buildings, and the owners will be given books of instruction advising corrective measures for designated hazards on their property. It is announced by Walter Ewald, Wayne County representative of the Michigan State Fire Prevention association.

The association, which stages similar demonstrations and programs in different cities throughout the country each year, will also present a program for students in Plymouth schools. "Smoky" Rogers, the clown fireman, will speak at the school assembly and give demonstrations of common fire hazards and problems. Home inspection blanks will be given to all school children suggesting possible fire hazards which they may check in their own homes.

Mr. Rogers will be the guest speaker at a noon luncheon to be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce for business men and members of the local service clubs at the Hotel Mayflower. The program offers an outstanding opportunity for all residents of Plymouth to learn the essentials of fire prevention and take safety measures in their homes and places of business.

Plymouth Schools To Open Sept. 2

Students to Convene Tuesday Afternoon

Plymouth public schools will open for the fall term on Tuesday, September 2 following the Labor Day holiday. Teachers will organize their activities in the forenoon and students in the grades and high school will assemble in the classrooms at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

"The starting of classes has been changed to Tuesday afternoon this year to permit late vacationists to return home Tuesday morning and avoid Monday's holiday traffic," George A. Smith, superintendent of schools, announced.

Everything will be in readiness for the opening of school with painting, cleaning and remodeling completed. A large enrollment is expected this year. New books and supplies have been ordered and checked and most of the teachers have already returned from their vacations. A complete schedule of courses to study is contained in a school notice on an inside page of this week's paper.

City Proposes New Municipal Garage

More Storage Space Needed for Equipment

The city commission proposed the building of a new municipal garage, to be located on city-owned property in the northwest section of the city, at its meeting Monday night, and instructed the city manager to obtain plans and specifications for the proposed building from Architect Thomas Moss.

The city has stored all trucks and equipment in the garage at the rear of the city hall building for several years, but larger quarters are now needed to store equipment and supplies. The amount of equipment necessary for street cleaning and garbage collection has increased measurably with the increased growth of the city in the last year, and the city buys most supplies in car-load lots for economy purposes. Most of the new equipment including air compressors will be stored in the new proposed garage while regular trucks used daily in the collection of garbage and rubbish will continue to be stored in the present garage at the city hall, the city manager explains.

The Best Ever!

NELSON C. SCHRADER

Everything is in readiness for the annual Northville-Wayne County Fair, which takes place in Plymouth's energetic neighborhood city to the north on September 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14, declares Nelson Schrader, youthful president of the association.

To provide something different, something outstanding, the association has arranged to stage in connection with the fair and horse show this year, the biggest rodeo ever staged in Michigan outside the state fair grounds.

According to Secretary Fred Lyke, inquiries for entries for the different exhibits exceed that of any previous year.

Plymouth day will be Thursday, September 11, with most of the town going over to take part in the big Northville event.

Board Explains Army Discharges

Applications Must Be Made Direct to Army

It has been variously reported that some 200,000 men are to be eligible for discharge from the selective training forces of the army in December. The possible classifications of discharge priorities are reported to include those trainees who are 28 years of age or older as of July 1, 1941; those whose continuance in the army service causes undue hardship upon his dependents and those married men whose cases may be reviewed after the completion of 12 months' service.

"Our orders from state headquarters state that the initiating, processing and issuance or denial of a discharge for any trainee requested under the Selective Service Act is primarily a responsibility of the Armed Forces. The jurisdiction of the selective service system ends when the registrant is accepted by the army at the induction station. Applications for discharge of trainees from the armed forces shall not be initiated by the local boards of the selective service," declared Walter A. Harms, chairman of local board No. 61.

With the exception of applications for discharge of key employees in national defense industries, which must be initiated by the responsible head of the industry concerned and addressed to the Under Secretary of War at Washington, D. C., all other applications for discharge should be initiated by the soldier himself through application to his immediate commanding officer in the regular military channels, it is explained.

In regard to release of trainees 28 years old or over, local board officials state that discharge is not automatic with the enactment of such legislation. Soldiers 24 years of age or older must make application for discharge and each case must be reviewed individually on its merits.

Applications for discharge fall into two general classes. They are requests for discharge of key employees in national defense industries, and requests for discharge based upon dependency, disability or death or disability or to same conditions other than death or disability which may have arisen since induction, causing undue or unusual hardship on the dependents of a trainee. In the latter case, the soldier's application for discharge should be accompanied by any necessary affidavits from dependents, factors or from welfare agencies to show that the trainee's presence at home is necessary for the support and care of members of his family and that this condition has arisen since his induction.

California Court Deprives Daughter Of Any Share In Father's Estate

Into the pockets of the children of a California lawyer, who acted as "attorney, advisor and friend" of the late William H. Markham, one time Plymouth resident, will flow most of the fortune created by a former citizen of this city, as the result of a decision of a California court.

The only surviving daughter of Markham, Mrs. Maude L. O'Brien, born in Plymouth, educated in the public schools of this city, and well remembered by older Plymouth residents, has been deprived by the same courts, of any share in her father's estate, according to information in Los Angeles newspaper clippings sent to The Plymouth Mail. Mrs. O'Brien now lives in Glendale, California.

It will be recalled that Markham, founder of an air rifle factory in this city, sold his business in the early days, took the money he made from the sale of his Plymouth property, invested it in Los Angeles real estate and as a result of these California investments, created a fortune estimated by Los Angeles courts to be worth nearly $2,000,000.

One of the newspaper articles sent The Mail, follows:

"Hopes of Mrs. Maude L. O'Brien to share in the $1,800,000 estate of her father faded today when the District Court of Appeals announced a decision upholding a will clause which cut her off with $1 because she contested her inheritance of $250 a month for her mother's death."

"Mrs. O'Brien, the daughter of the late William H. Markham, a rifle manufacturer, demanded in a suit filed in 1936 removal of her mother, Mrs. Blanche Markham, as executrix, dismissal of Harlan G. Palmer, Hollywood (former judge), who was to act as administrator on the mother's death, and asked for one-third of the $1,800,000 instead of the monthly allowance. She also brought actions against several of the Palmer children who were to be beneficiaries under the will.

"Superior Judge Joseph W. Vickers upheld a clause in the will that if any of the beneficiaries sought to break the instrument they would be cut off with $1.

"It was that ruling of Judge Vickers which the Appeal Court upheld today, declaring 'the forfeiture clause (in the will) subjected her to loss of the legacy,' because of 'an outright attack.' "Justice Thomas P. White wrote the decision which was concurred in by Associate Justices John M. York and William C. Doran.

"The will provides that after all expense settlements are made the residue of the estate goes to the four Palmer children."

Young Fisherman Lands A Whopper

And what do you know about this! While devoted followers of old Isaac Walton in and about Plymouth have been fishing all the deep holes in lakes and streams about here trying to catch a fish that might come up to legal size, young seven-year-old John Wahn, drops his hook into Walled Lake and comes home with a pike that weighed more than five pounds. To add a bit of chagrin to it all, the youngster had two veteran Isaac Waltonians with him, John Nelson, his grandfather of Walled Lake, and James Blake of Northville. These two veteran fishermen fished and fished and fished. They tried minnows, worms, grasshoppers, crickets and then even artificial bait—and no luck. Not only did the youngster hook his fish securely, when it snapped at his bait, but he showed the skill of an old-timer in landing it. "Gee, I wish my Mom could see that fish," he declared when the boat landed. Enthusiastic neighbors saw it that "Mom did see that fish. They packed the pike in ice and when the juvenile fisherman returned to Plymouth, "Mom" had first chance to see the prize catch of her young son.

THAT REMINDS ME
Patriotic Hens Assist Army
BY RALPH HERBERT
FOR years the British have cherished the famous signal of Admiral Nelson: "England this day expects every man to do his duty!"
Emulating this, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard at the beginning of this year practically said: "America this year hopes every hen will do its duty!"
And, by gosh and by gravy, the patriotic hens have done so! They gloriously helped in the job of supplying "ham and" to the populace of the United States and, especially, to the 1,500,000 in the big Army. Uncle Sam is building. In addition, there may be enough to supply both fresh and dried eggs to sorely beset Great Britain.
DESPITE the fact that this June there were fewer layers in the farm flocks than in June of last year, the hens made up for it by a record rate of lay—over 15 eggs per each faithful cluck-cluck. In all, in June they produced over four billion eggs, the highest for the month since 1930.
The Department of Agriculture claims the farmer also did well out of this. The prices received by the farmers in June, 1941, averaged 23.2 cents per dozen, the highest for the month in 12 years. The average cost of farm poultry rations was less. One-hundred pounds cost $1.33. At these prices, it required 5.72 dozen eggs to buy 100 pounds of ration, as compared with 8.45 dozen eggs last year and an average of 7.67 dozen eggs over a period from 1930 to 1939.
A big and steady customer for fresh eggs is the United States Army. All the scientific sharks, who talk about food calories and vitamins, have told Uncle Sam there is no better way to make strong, hefty soldiers than to give them plenty of eggs. To you, eggs mean the yellow and the yolk. But you will be surprised to learn what the sharks find in the plain, simple, democratic henfruit—vitamin A, vitamin D, thiamine, riboflavin, nicotinic acid, protein, calcium, iron and phosphorus.

City Constructs Alley Sidewalk

Work Progresses On City Parking Lot

The pouring of concrete for the construction of a sidewalk around the alley and parking lot site at the rear of the Main street business district was started by the city department of public works the first of this week.

Preliminary steps completed for the development of the municipal parking lot include the moving of a fire hydrant about 25 feet to the edge of the alleyway and the removal of three large trees from the property.

As soon as the sidewalk is completed, the city construction crew will begin the laying of a wide sidewalk between Wolf's store and Purity Market. When the concrete work is completed, the lot will be finished with a topping of cinders or gravel and the construction of frame stalls for the parking spaces.

Mrs. K. Lytle has returned from a month's visit with her daughter in Ithaca, New York.

Lisle Alexander Has "Twin" in the Legion

Legionnaires at the recent state convention in Grand Rapids thought they were seeing double last week. The striking resemblance between Lisle Alexander of Plymouth and his "twin" in appearance, C. H. Wade of Plainwell was a source of constant confusion to other Legionnaires at the meeting.

The unrelated doubles have become accustomed to being mistaken for each other for they have been associated with Legion meetings for a long period. Both men have been in the Legion slightly more than 21 years and each is a charter member of the post to which he now belongs. Legionnaire Alexander is five feet five inches tall, weighs 128 pounds and is 43 years old. Wade is approximately five feet six inches tall, weighs 130 pounds and is 44 years old. Both men wear glasses and have the same coloring and facial features. Mr. Wade is a post department commander and Alexander is serving his sixth year as state department finance officer.

Miss Winnifred Jolliffe and nephew, Lynn Wilson, visited relatives in Brant, Saturday.

Rotarians Enjoy Movies of West

Group Attends Tiger Ball Game Friday

Rotarians enjoyed some interesting and instructive moving pictures shown by Glenn Jewell at last Friday's noon meeting at the Hotel Mayflower. The pictures were taken by Rotarian Jewell on his recent trip to the West. He also displayed several interesting rocks which he collected at various places along the way to add to his already fine collection.

Following the regular luncheon meeting this Friday, a group of Rotary club members will attend the annual baseball game at Briggs stadium to see the Washington Senators and the Tigers. Russ Powell, chairman of the club's sports committee, obtained tickets for the Rotary group and has arranged transportation to the ball park.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Drews of Plymouth road attended the Ionia fair with Mr. Drews' father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Drews of Sydney, Michigan.

Ruth McConnell Takes State Pharmacy Exam

Miss Ruth McConnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McConnell of 170 North Harvey street, was in Lansing this week to take her state board examinations as a pharmacist. Miss McConnell graduated from Plymouth high school in 1934 and from the University of Grand Rapids, formerly the School of Applied Science, at Grand Rapids.

Dr. Kelly's Son in Officers' Training

William Kelly Enters Army Infantry School

Arrival of William W. Kelly, private first class, as a candidate in the Officers' Training school was announced at Fort Benning, Georgia, today by Major R. R. Coursey, commanding the candidate battalion. Instruction in officer training will begin as soon as the 200 candidates, chosen from every corps area and foreign station in the army, complete formal registration.

Pvt. Kelly is the son of Dr. John F. Kelly, Plymouth. He entered the army in January, 1941 as an enlisted man and was formerly with the M. P. detachment, Camp Shelby, Miss.

The present Officers' Training school is open to any soldier with six months' service, provided he can pass the rigorous mental and physical examinations. Under the supervision of Brigadier General Omar N. Bradley, commandant of the infantry school, the course is the first of its kind giving commissions in the infantry reserve in 23 years.

At the conclusion of the three-month training period, successful candidates will be commissioned Second Lieutenants of Infantry Reserve and assigned to a new station.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Salisbury, of Chicago, arrived Saturday, for a visit with her father, Charles Grainger. Mr. Salisbury will visit relatives in Kingston, Canada, while Mrs. Salisbury is here.

Warns Drivers to Heed Stop Signs

Many Accidents Occur At Intersections

"Accident records for the past several months in Plymouth indicate that carelessness has caused numerous accidents at intersections due to drivers' failure to heed stop-signs and traffic signals," declared Chief V. R. Smith this week.

The majority of accidents in recent weeks have resulted from collisions at stop-street intersections. Two of the most dangerous intersections at which accidents frequently occur are at Ann Arbor Trail and Mill street and at Sheldon road and Penniman avenue. Stop-signs are prominently displayed at both intersections.

"Drivers must remember that 'right-of-way' is no guarantee of safety. Motorists should slow down at all intersections and come to a complete stop at those corners marked by stop-signs. Each must assume his responsibility because every other driver also assumes the right-of-way. A green traffic light is no guarantee of right-of-way either. Drivers should look before proceeding on a green light," advised the chief.

Plymouth Bus Service O. K.

Operating on Time To Grand River

Although a row between Detroit unions tied up all Detroit street traffic Wednesday, it did not interfere with bus service between Plymouth and its big neighbor to the east.

The Plymouth Coach service was able to maintain regular service from this city over Plymouth road to Grand River in Detroit, but from that point to the downtown section of Detroit was an entirely different problem.

But many from in and about Plymouth depend upon Detroit street cars and Detroit buses from the Plymouth road stop at Grand River. These residents were forced to find other means of transportation in Detroit, using taxicabs and privately owned cars to get to their destinations.

In view of the fact that the Detroit transportation strike has been in the offing for many months, many have expressed the opinion that it is a good thing to have it come to a climax so that the row between the conflicting unions can be settled once and for all time—if such a thing is possible.

"Naturally it is the public that suffers and will eventually 'pay the shot.'"

Many Plan to Attend Wayne Flower Show

Many flower and garden-lovers in Plymouth are expected to attend the annual Wayne flower show to be held in the high school auditorium at 3712 Williams street, in Wayne next Tuesday and Wednesday. The show will open at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and at 1 o'clock on Wednesday.

Townsend Club to Meet Monday Eve

The next meeting of Plymouth Townsend Club No. 1 will be held next Monday night, August 25 at 8 o'clock in the Grange hall. A social evening will follow and everyone is invited.

Mrs. Mate Loomis left last Saturday for a four weeks' visit with relatives in Grand Rapids, Rockford, White Hall and Hart, Michigan.

Roy Pursell Uses New Fuel Mixture

Burns Water and Fuel Oil on Test Trip With conservation of gasoline already in effect in Canada and many of the eastern states and in the offing for most of the other states, Roy Pursell, owner of the Pursell Publishing company in Plymouth, has devised a scheme for using water as a part of the fuel mixture. The Pursells drove to Niagara Falls on a vacation trip last week with their Studebaker car equipped with btrn fuel oil and water.

Usually the trip to Niagara Falls requires 20 Imperial gallons of gas which at today's price level amounts to $6.20. Publisher Pursell made his trip last week on 15 gallons of kerosene at 22 cents or a cost of $3.30 through Canada and even less returning through the states.

Pursell, a graduate of the Heath Area School in Chicago, has had machine shop experience on many different types of motors. At a cost of less than $8, Pursell had two extra tanks installed by George Humphries and hooked up tanks for the water along with other odd parts to test his idea. A 12-gallon water tank was installed under the hood with a copper tube wired to the exhaust manifold and to the air strainer, thereby vaporizing the water so that it is then mixed with fuel oil vapor and taken into the cylinders. The water yields extra mileage because of the expansion when turned to steam. The steam also eliminates much of the smoke which accompanies fuel oil. The water flow is controlled from the dash board.

A two-gallon tank was hooked up on the side of the car to supply gasoline for starting a cold motor. When the motor is warmed up, the gas is cut off at the dash control and then the fuel pump pulls fuel oil from the regular tank. One gallon of water will burn with one gallon of fuel oil. "Inventor" Pursell reports: The mixture is also said to work very smoothly, pulling a car up all hills at high gear.

Communists Seek To Rule America

Democrat Points Out Gravest Danger

Congressman Martin Dies of Texas is a Democrat. He made a speech in congress the other day that should have been delivered by a Republican—but for some reason Republicans are not making many speeches like the one that Congressman Dies made to his colleagues.

It is so vital, so full of startling charges about Communism and its inroads into the American government under the New Deal, that The Mail believes it worthy of publication in full. From a casual reading of Michigan newspapers, only one publication in this state used any portion of the address, and that was The Detroit Times.

Democratic Martin Dies goes so far as to say that even Leon Henderson, head of the price control administration, has "a record of membership or sponsorship in four Communist-controlled organizations."

His address, taken from The Congressional Record, follows, in part:

"Mr. Chairman, a great majority of the people of America, wisely or unwisely, endorsed the foreign policy of this administration.

"When they endorsed that foreign policy they committed this country to the obligation of aiding the democracies in every possible way short of war.

"Evidently many people in this country and some of those connected with this administration did not appreciate the implications of that policy.

"Evidently there are still many people in America who construe the defense program as a glorified W.P.A. project.

"But the time has come in this country when all of us must begin to realize that the only way we can carry out that policy and the only way we can preserve freedom in this country is frankly and truthfully to tell the American people that they must be prepared to sacrifice without stint for the preservation of this country.

"We have declared that there is a national emergency.

"We have challenged the supremacy of the greatest military power on earth.

"Adolf Hitler has welded the manpower and the resources of Germany and the whole continent of Europe into a single unprecedented fighting force.

"He has not only done that but he has made tremendous progress in South America.

"The time has come when this Congress must be prepared to face the facts.

"Congress, of course, has a difficult problem ahead because we are the representatives of the people and pledged to carry out their will and their wishes; but we must talk honestly and frankly to our constituents; and our President must speak honestly and frankly to the American people and set an example to this country, an example of courage, of frankness, and of candor; telling the American people that every one of them must pay, and pay; and their children must pay, and they must sacrifice.

"There is no alternative.

"We must realize that all of us—C. I. O., A. F. of L., business, people of all degrees and of all economic stations of life—must be prepared to make great sacrifices.

"If we are not, then we ought to abandon our foreign policy and frankly say that we were speaking without knowing the consequences of our talk.

"How can you stop the mechanized barbarism of Adolf Hitler?"

"How can you stop it if we imitate the disastrous steps that led to the downfall of France?"

"If there is a man in this house who has not carefully studied the 10-year period preceding the collapse of that republic, he should do so at the earliest opportunity, and I will guarantee that he will recognize a strong similarity between the cowardly attitude in that country and our own—for it is nothing more nor less than cowardly to preach all-out defense and then say to organized labor:

"You can have all you want, you are not going to surrender anything, you can have high wages, low taxes, and low prices."

"The man who is put in charge of the task of seeing that prices do not rise too high (Mr. Dies later said to reporters that he referred to Leon Henderson) has a record of membership or sponsorship in some four Communist-controlled organizations.

"I would not put him in charge of a dog-catching unit.

"Now I say to you, Mr. Chairman, I think the time has come when we must speak frankly if we are going to preserve this democracy in an era when dictatorship is triumphing over democracy.

"Democracies have become soft and their people continue to clamor for bounties and subsidies and an easy life, and lying politicians constantly promise them things they know they cannot fulfill.

"We are now about to reach the moment of sacrifice in America, when we must tell our people that for every right there is a corresponding duty, that there is something to citizenship besides the clamor all the time for bounties, subsidies, and money out of the treasury.

"Citizenship means honesty, and there is one form of dishonesty that is almost as reprehensible as stealing, and that is to undertake to get something for nothing by using the ballot box to accomplish this purpose.

"Now, my views may not be popular.

"But, whether popular or not, they are true.

"We must tell all of our people that now has come the time when we must place upon them the largest tax burden ever known in the history of this country; and we might as well be frank with them and tell them that we cannot begin to finance this stupendous undertaking without the heaviest kind of taxes.

"We must tax every man and woman in the United States if we hope to prevent the inevitable consequences of our financial and economic policies.

"I say this frankly because I am amazed that in the presence of a great danger and at a time when democracy is gravely menaced throughout the world so many of our people still cling to the Utopian idea that they can get something for nothing from the federal government.

"There still prevails throughout this country the erroneous and fallacious idea that the government has an inexhaustible reservoir of money and that if we have someone to tap it we can live in plenty and in luxury.

"This conception has become so widespread that it reflects itself in all of the polls.

"People are demanding more and more pensions, higher and higher wages, lower and lower prices.

"Many people think we can carry out the policy of preserving all our social gains, maintaining W.P.A. projects, relief funds of all kinds, and giving to everyone what he wants; and at the same time defeat the aspirations and ambitions of Adolf Hitler.

"I say to you it cannot be done.

"The politicians of France under Leon Blum, every one of them, ought to have been driven out of France.

"They betrayed their country by their cowardice and by their cheap demagoguery during the critical period when France should have been preparing.

"What did they do?"

"The popular front, initiated by and controlled from Moscow, composed of radicals and professional reformers of every shade and description, and led by Moscow, the country that we now propose to make our partner in the great task of defending democracy, undermined the national unity of France.

"During that period when the people of France should have demonstrated their love of liberty, they were confused and weakened by dissensions of all kinds and character, strikes, sit-downs, prolonged stoppages of work, and the incessant clamoring for more government aid and subsidy, and an unwillingness on the part of the government to properly direct the energies of the people and tell the people the truth.

"I say this, Mr. Chairman, because I am sincerely and deeply alarmed by the mental attitude of this country, an attitude that is to my mind dangerous for the future liberty of our people.

"I know from my study of the democracies that have fallen across the water that in nearly every instance it was the same cause that led to their downfall.

"I am not proposing any reactionary doctrine.

"I am merely saying that we must tell all of our people—labor, industry, all alike—that we must make equal sacrifices.

"I will say it to the industrialist, and I will say it to the labor leader.

"The man in this country who is unwilling to make his share of the sacrifices has no right to claim the privileges and the rights of American citizenship.

"I would abandon this hypocritical inconsistent attitude of attempting to play politics with this group because it has more votes than that group, of trying to have the cake and eat it, too, of trying to please everybody politically, while at the same time trying to prepare America.

"I say to you, Mr. Chairman, that we have antagonized all of the dictator countries on the face of the earth.

"Whether we want to or not, we cannot draw back.

"Our course is fixed, our future has been determined by our own people.

"Having made our bed, there is but one course left, and that is the course of brave and courageous Americans, to be prepared to make sacrifices.

"When we do, we will begin to put the taxes on this country, and make no mistake about this, this tax bill that we passed the other day was a sop—the beginning of what almost inevitably will follow.

"You and I and every other man in this country will be paying, directly or indirectly, 50 per cent of his total income before long to sustain and to support our democracy.

"As for me, I am prepared to make any sacrifice, because I love this country and I want to see it preserved.

"I do not want the people to make the great mistake of opposing totalitarianism in Europe and embracing it in America."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 331): "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His 'ideas.'"

FLINT—Fastest growing Telephone City of its size in America

★ Among the industrial centers working night and day in the national emergency, none is busier than Flint.

★ A year ago there were 31,500 telephones in Flint. Now there are 38,500—an increase of over 22 per cent. And telephone growth is still climbing faster than in any other American city of comparable size.

★ As a part of the soundly financed Bell System, the Michigan Bell is enabled to obtain capital funds with which to meet that growth. The Company will spend more than $1,000,000 in Flint this year for new equipment, cable lines, and an addition to the Central Office building.

★ But Flint is only one of many places in Michigan where such situations must be met. $11,000,000 is programmed to serve camps, arsenals, factories, and others engaged directly in defense work. And the Company's total 1941 plant construction program exceeds $26,000,000.

★ The telephone has a little part in almost every National Defense effort. And a little part in every effort adds up to pretty big figures.

Roof Completed On New Theatre

Concrete Flooring to Be Poured Next Week

Construction of Plymouth's new theatre on Penniman avenue across from Kellogg Park is progressing steadily. Heavy girders and arc-shaped trusses for the roof structure have all been erected and covered with roof boards.

The next step in the construction of the new building will be the pouring of the concrete portion of the wall over the concrete blocks and the pouring of concrete for the floor. Manager Harry Lush reports that several shipments of equipment have arrived for the interior of the theatre, to be installed when the flooring is completed.

Hazel Rathburn Tours the West

Returns From 1,000 Mile Western Trip

Hazel Rathburn returned recently from an extensive western trip of the United States covering approximately 7,000 miles. Her first stop was at Yellowstone Park, entering via the famous Cody road over the Absaroka mountains to view the Grand Canyon and falls. At Old Faithful Inn the famous geyser which erupts on the average of 67-minute intervals was witnessed. Other phenomena explained by the U. S. ranger naturalists were the Morning Glory pool, Upper Geyser Basin and Mammoth Hot Springs.

While in Seattle, Washington, Miss Rathburn boarded a Canadian Pacific steamship for Victoria, an old English city on Vancouver Island and capital of British Columbia. In Vancouver an excellent view of the world famous harbor was seen from Stanley park. Returning across the Puget Sound to Seattle, a bus trip was taken to Paradise Valley, situated on the side of the 14,408-foot glacier-covered Mt. Rainier. Majestic Douglas fir and tall cedar trees line the road and the mountain sides are covered with vivid flowers—the Indian mint, hewch, blue lupine and white heather.

From Portland, Oregon, the Old Oregon Trail was followed along the Columbia River to Bonneville Dam. Along the way are many beautiful falls, the highest being the Multnomah Falls. On the coast in California Miss Rathburn stopped at San Francisco, where on a cruise of the Bay, she had the thrill of watching the China Clipper land at Treasure Island. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gale Keaton in Los Angeles, who were formerly of Plymouth. She returned home by the Grand Canyon, which she also visited.

Kelsey Plant to Be Permanent

To Be Used for Peace Industry

No matter how soon or how long the war continues, prospects are that Plymouth has gained a permanent new industry.

It is persistently rumored that when the new Kelsey-Hayes plant, just off Plymouth road, is through making machine guns for the government that the Plymouth plant will be turned into one of the permanent big production units of the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel corporation.

The rumor is borne out by the fact that the new machine gun plant has been constructed in such a way that it can very easily be converted into other uses than the production of machine guns.

The plant has not yet reached capacity production and it will probably be some weeks before it will be turning out all the guns originally scheduled.

Betraying A Public Trust

John Hamilton, a former member of the state legislature and later elected a member of the Detroit city council chiefly because of his activities in Lansing, will during the next three years serve as a convict in Jackson prison. He betrayed a public trust and now is paying the penalty for his misdeeds.

There is no greater crime than that of failure on the part of a trusted public servant to fulfill a public obligation of strictest honesty in connection with a public position, for if the people cannot trust and have faith in their public servants then there can be no responsible government.

Seemingly in recent years there has been far too many crimes such as that committed by the former Detroit councilman. Graft has become so rampant in the conduct of public business that some people go so far as to say that there is no one holding a public position who can any longer be trusted.

That, indeed, is an unfortunate thing, because it is far from the truth. But it is such deeds as committed by Hamilton and other public officials who betray their trust that give rise to unwarranted and untrue aspersions directed at all public officials. The vast majority of people holding public positions are honest and are intent in keeping faith with the people.

But seemingly in a world torn asunder by economic issues, troubles brought about by covetous political leadership and other public distractions, the voters have at various times in the last eight or ten years elected individuals to high public office who knew nothing of the exalted responsibilities attached to the positions to which they were selected.

That is the case of John Hamilton. Never during his lifetime had he ever taken a public interest in public affairs until the Nudéal came along. Then he was appointed to a high position in connection with the Nudéal housing project. What the troubles were, has never appeared in print, but Mr. Hamilton resigned this position and soon became a candidate for the state legislature.

Supported by all the elements that went along with the Nudéal, he was swept into office with a lot of other unknowns from the city of Detroit.

During the early months of his career he was one of the most vociferous members of the house in supporting all of ex-Governor Frank Murphy's Nudéal set-up for Michigan. At no time did the writer or any one else suspect him of dishonesty, although frequently the writer did challenge his sincerity in the things he was doing and saying, having been a member of the legislature at the same time.

It was during the final days of the session in which Hamilton served as a member that the serious doubt did arise in the writer's mind as to the integrity of Mr. Hamilton. It was just about the time that he began to "cross-up" under cover his chief, Governor Murphy.

One day he arose to address the house of representatives concerning the so-called labor bill that the former Governor had demanded be passed. Mr. Hamilton charged that the Nudéal labor committee of the house had sold out for cash, that its members were guilty of having accepted money in connection with this important labor legislation proposed by Mr. Murphy. All of the members of the committee were present and heard the charges. Not one made denial of the accusations of Mr. Hamilton or even asked that he retract the statements he had made.

As the session wore on through the day, the silence of committee members as to the charges aroused the writer's concern.

At the opportune moment on the calendar schedule, the writer presented a house resolution demanding a full investigation into the charges, and demanded that if the statements of Representative Hamilton were proven, that proper steps be taken to prosecute members of the committee. If the charges were found to be untrue, then the house was to demand from Mr. Hamilton just retribution.

The house, predominantly Democratic at the time, was forced to pass the resolution.

The speaker announced that he would appoint the committee within a few days. Shortly after this announcement, there appeared in some Detroit paper a statement by the speaker that he hadn't fully decided upon the full membership of the investigating committee, but that he was thinking of appointing Representative Gardner of Wyandotte and Representative Adams of Howell, but that he did not have in mind definitely the third member of the committee.

These charges were made near the closing days of the session. The legislature was meeting days and nights in an effort to get out of the legislative jam that had been created.

But still there was no announcement of committee members as directed by the resolution. The writer asked the Speaker later about it and practically the same information was given as had appeared previously in a Detroit paper.

Then came the final night of the session—and still no committee. The legislature had been in session all through one day and continued in session all night and into the next day. It was along about five o'clock in the morning when the Speaker was again asked about the committee. In substance he said it was too late now to do anything about it as the legislature was about to adjourn, and under the rules the inquiry had to be made and the report filed before adjournment. His answer was correct, it was too late—but according to legislative records, one of the most serious charges ever made in the house by a member still stands unchallenged.

Whether Hamilton told the truth or falsely branded his Nudéal associates, including one Republican now a state senator, the legislative record does not show, and never will. It isn't often wise to resort to speculation, but the thought has frequently come to mind, upon what grounds did Hamilton base his charges and how could he have known anything about the matter if he had not been in some way a party to the affair that he called to the attention of the legislature.

The time, we believe, is not far distant, when there will be a more settled public opinion and voters will no longer flock to the polls in great waves to vote into highly responsible public positions, men with unknown public experience and public records—such as was Mr. Hamilton before his elevation to the Michigan state legislature.

The fact that he and one other member of the Detroit council are now wearing prison numbers may serve as a timely warning to other misfits who may have temptation laid in their way. It will be well for the nation when only those who cherish above all things else the strictest integrity, are called upon to serve in public capacities.

Their Views About Public Problems and Issues

SURE AS FATE

Did you ever see a driver sail through an intersection at seventy miles per hour just because the light was green? All he has to do is to keep on assuming the other fellow is more careful than he, and the law of averages will get him.—Emerson O. Gildart in The Utica Sentinel.

PLACING THE BLAME

Has the national House of Representatives finally become aroused over the bogging down of the defense program? Indications are that at least some of them are awakening. It is somewhat reassuring to note that the committee on military affairs, which has heretofore said yes to practically everything the president said or asked, has by a vote of 16 to 9, severely scored the administration and demanded that control of the defense program be placed in the hands of a competent head (with Knudsen indicated as the best man for the job). The committee struck at the creation of a new board for every problem that arises, seeing clearly that the more boards clothed with authority the greater the confusion. The committee appears to have placed the blame upon the president, though somewhat tardily, for it has been common knowledge that the "bottleneck" of the defense activities was the president's desk. The governor of Michigan, who probably knows much less about the conditions than do members of the military affairs committee, rushes to the defense of the president by placing the blame on the army and navy officials. Perhaps he is thinking about another Michigan governor who soared to great political heights by a show of extreme loyalty to the national chief.—William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.
