

It's Ten Minutes To Midnight—"Oh! What a Dread We Have of Moonlight Nights!"

(By ELTON R. EATON)

It's Ten Minutes to Midnight!
No! No!!
It's Ten Hours to Midnight! Ten hours before the glorious month of April, 1943, has passed forever into oblivion.
It is April. Ten more hours and it will be May, the month of flowers, sunshine—the awakening of all things that spring from the eternal earth.
Ten more hours and it will be midnight—and moonlight down under the equator on the other side.
"Darkness is falling and very soon the moon will be shining brightly. Oh! What a dread we have of moonlight nights. Our prayer is for protection—and that the Japs don't find us while we try to get some rest."
Albert Drake, a Plymouth soldier lad now way down under the equator on the other side of the world, wrote that paragraph in a letter a few days ago to the editor. Al's letter is published in full on the page with other letters from OUR BOYS in all parts of the world.

Ten more hours to midnight—and moonlight!
"Dear Mom—You will find enclosed in this letter my first war bond. Remember the spending money you gave me a few weeks ago when I left Plymouth to go to camp? Well, Mom, I didn't spend any of it. Then when I received my first pay check from the army, I took that spending money and with my pay, I have bought a war bond with your name and my name on it. Keep it until I get home."
Private Harold Nipper, the high school boy of yesterday, now learning to drive a great army tank in an army school out in California, carefully folded that war bond in a letter, and mailed it to his mother, Mrs. Floss Nipper, of East Ann Arbor Trail. Harold's brother is in the army, too.
Out in the Kelsey-Hayes machine gun plant, Mrs. Nipper, the mother, is one of those Trojan workers. She is a worker who never slows down, who toils with the valiant spirit of a Paul Revere making machine guns for our boys in service, and then goes to rest at nights in her empty home where she reared two sons who are now offering their young lives—their ALL—so that you and I might live in peace and plenty.

Ten Minutes to Midnight!
No! No!!
More than ten long hours to midnight!
More than ten hours to midnight and moonlight—on the other side.
But there are no Japs circling overhead in America looking for human targets on which to drop their deadly bombs.
OUR BOYS are suffering and dying to keep the enemy from our shores and our homes so that we may live in comfort and sleep in peace and quiet.
"Oh! What a dread we have of moonlight nights."
★ ★ ★ ★ ★
No—nothing like that here! We look to the full, clear moon and say HOW BEAUTIFUL, without giving a thought to what it means to OUR BOYS over there.
Ten Hours to Midnight!
Ten hours are left for you to take those idle dollars out of your pockets, go to the banks and postoffice and LOAN to our government every penny you can command!
Yes, there are ten long hours left for every person in Plymouth to honor the historic name of the city in which we live in security and plenty.

Ten hours before midnight to show OUR BOYS who have gone forward to meet a cruel, vengeful, and bloodthirsty enemy, that we who remain at home are mindful of our responsibilities to our government.
Ten hours are left to prove to OUR BOYS that we are willing to sacrifice all that we have so that the lads in uniform may return to home, security and glorious American opportunities as quickly as possible!
Ten hours are left to show our enemies that American Protestants, Jews, Catholics, Republicans, Democrats, the whites, the Negroes, the Indians stand as one great, undivided nation when threatened by enemies who seek to destroy American life, liberty and happiness for the purpose of conquest.
Ten Hours to Midnight!
Ten Ten Minutes to Midnight—and success in the great war bond drive in all history!
Our city, our state, our country—will NOT FAIL!
Loan your dollars and work like Trojans to speed the day of victory for AMERICA!

Two Men Drown When Boy's Life Is Endangered

Tragedy At Newburg Lake

Charles Orr and John Thompson died last Friday afternoon in Newburg Lake, heroes who had futilely attempted to rescue a 13-year-old boy who had upset his raft 150 feet from shore.

The boy, Leo Kline, of 11943 Newburg road was rescued from the icy waters even as Orr and Thompson sank.

Walter Beglinger, operator of Moonlite Inn on the south side of the lake, said Mr. Orr, who lived at 9301 Haggerty highway, and was 52 years old; Thompson, who was 47 years old and lived at 31530 Plymouth road and Riley Welch, of 229 Pearl street, Plymouth were at the inn, when three boys rushed in and reported Kline was in trouble out in the lake.

The four men rushed out to the bank. The Kline boy had ventured into the lake on a homemade raft. The raft, constructed on the principal of a kayak, was made of a steel barrel, out of which one side had been cut. Two boards laid across the barrel served to keep it from rolling over in the water.

But somehow, the boy had fallen into the water.

Welch swam to his aid, and succeeded in dragging the raft, to which the boy was clinging to within about 75 feet of the shore. At that point Welch said he was tiring and would be unable to make it.

Welch then swam to the bank alone, Beglinger said, and caught a rope thrown to him.

Orr then swam out to the Kline boy and dragged him to within about 35 feet of the bank when he became exhausted. Thompson swam to Orr's aid, and they apparently were both seized with cramps and sank beneath the surface.

Beglinger and Frank Schlinki, a soldier on furlough, called to the Kline boy to paddle toward the shore, which he did, caught a rope thrown to him by Schlinki and was pulled to safety.

The Kline boy was rushed to Eloise hospital, where it was reported he would recover and was suffering only from exposure and shock.

Sheriff's officers dragged the lake for two hours before they located Thompson's body in about 12 feet of water. It required four hours to find Orr's body near by.

Orr, who was employed by the Burroughs Adding Machine company, was buried with American Legion honors Monday afternoon in Riverside cemetery. He is survived by the widow, Gladys May, and two daughters, Mrs. Laura Cowell and Mrs. Lucille Maron, both of Detroit.

Thompson was buried Tuesday in Detroit.

Thanks!

Last week The Plymouth Mail asked its advertisers, readers and others to send in their advertisements, news and notices as early in the week as possible. We suggested that it would help materially if the bulk of this matter could be sent to the office Monday or Tuesday, so that our limited force would be able to spread the work out more than has been done in the past.

It is nothing less than remarkable the way our patrons and readers have cooperated this week. We thank you most sincerely. It has helped even so much. Thanks again—and we hope you will not forget in the many trying weeks and months that lie ahead.

Needed Shoes, Robs a Store

Goldstein Display Window Broken

Some fellow who needed a pair of shoes and had no ration book, or some fellow who knew several people who needed shoes and had no ration book, now has the shoes and he didn't give up a single ration coupon to get them.

The fellow, who ever he may be, merely smashed a front show window of Goldstein's department store Monday night, reached through the broken glass and lifted the shoes and fled.

Abraham Goldstein, owner of the store, said not less than three and perhaps as many as six pairs of shoes were taken. At least one of the pairs of shoes was work shoes, while the others were all dress shoes and all were size seven or seven and a half.

The robbery was not discovered until Tuesday morning when Mr. Goldstein opened the store.

The matter was reported to the police, but they could find no clues. The robber, whoever he was, didn't even leave the implement with which he broke the glass at the scene.

Flames Damage Big Joy Bar

Severe damage to the Joy Bar, located at the intersection of Joy and Middle Belt roads, was caused by fire Wednesday morning.

The fire was discovered by the night watchman about 6:45 after he had started the morning fire in the furnace and had gone outside to sweep the walk.

When he went back inside, he said he smelled smoke, and discovered that a heat duct had become overheated. The watchman threw a bucket of water on the blaze, but it was beyond his control.

He called the Nankin fire department, located at Wayne, but the trip was so far for the department that the blaze was well underway before the firemen arrived.

The furnace was located in the store room and much of the liquor caught fire, adding to the fury of the fire.

All of the back end of the building was destroyed and much of the front part of the bar was damaged by smoke and water. The fire was not put out until about 10 a.m.

A new bar and a new back bar can be salvaged, it was reported, but there was no insurance on the contents of the building. The bar is operated by Irish Frank and Joe Stewart.

Kiwansians Are Windsor Visitors

Eighteen members of the Kiwanis club attended the international district convention of Kiwanis clubs of the Michigan and Ontario, held at Windsor last Monday night.

A member of the Canadian parliament was the principal speaker. Kiwanis dignitaries from Michigan and Ontario also attended the banquet.

Students Will Operate City Government

Seniors to Control City For a Day Next Week

The entire city government will abdicate next Thursday in favor of members of the senior class of Plymouth high school.

For on that one day, Thursday, May 6, the senior high school students will be the city government. They will sit in official chairs. They will handle the money. They will write up the criminals (if any). They will answer the fire calls. They will take care of the streets, and see to the welfare of the city's health.

During that one day, there will be a mock trial at 10 o'clock in the morning with a judge, two attorneys, the defendant and at least four witnesses.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the city commission will go into session with the mayor presiding. The senior students will act as they see fit on the affairs of state now before the city government.

While none of the acts of the students will have official standing, actually they will be in charge of the various departments.

If drivers' licenses are to be issued, the students will issue them. If traffic is to be directed by the police department, the students will direct it.

If telephones are to be answered or letters typed, the students will do it.

If streets are to be fixed (and there had better be some to be fixed) the senior boys will be right on hand. As a matter of fact, the most popular job among the senior boys is that of the street department. The boys want to operate the air hammer with which streets are torn up.

Only senior student to have been selected for the jobs in the city government is Jack Kenyon, who will be the city manager. He will work under the watchful eye of City Manager Clarence Elliott.

Other offices to be filled are mayor, chief of police, chief of the fire department, city engineer, city judge, two patrolmen, four employees of the street department and city attorney, all to be filled by boys. The girls will be superintendent of the water office, two secretaries in the police department, secretary to the city manager, health officer and court stenographer. Both boys and girls will be members of the five-man city commission.

No doubt there are others which were not announced. The senior class is choosing the class members for the jobs they will hold.

New Commission Cuts Budget

Not to Raise Expenses of City

City Manager Clarence Elliott said after a meeting with the city commission last Monday night that he thought the budget for the city during the next fiscal year would not exceed that for the current year.

The commission at its session reduced some expenditures which had been recommended in the original budget. Some reductions are expected at other sessions of the commission.

Mother And Daughter Banquet On May 11

The annual high school mother and daughter banquet will be held in the high school auditorium May 11, it was announced this week.

More than 300 persons are expected to attend the banquet, which will be served by the Order of Eastern Star.

Ralph Lorenz Joins U. S. Navy to Fight Country Where He Was Born

Mayflower Hotel Manager Resigns to Enter Service

When Ralph Lorenz came to Plymouth in 1921 and entered the Plymouth public schools, he spoke no English—nothing but German.

On May 24, Lieutenant (junior grade) Ralph Lorenz, United States Navy, reports to the Harvard school of business administration for a brief course, to be followed later by a course of study at Babson Institute.

Lorenz, who has been manager of the Mayflower hotel for the past four years, will be assigned to the division of supply of the navy, where his training in hotel and restaurant management will be utilized.

"All I have, all that I have managed to attain in this world," said Lorenz, "I got right here in this country. That's the reason why, if I can be of any help in this war, that I want to do what I can."

Lorenz as a youngster, went through the first world war at his home on a farm near Galacia, Austria. That portion of the country after the first war was divided, and his home town became a part of Poland, near the city of Krakow.

"Trenches were dug in our backyard," said Lorenz, recalling the fighting he saw as a child.

In 1921, Ralph and his mother joined his father, who had established a home in Plymouth. Ralph could speak nothing but German, and school became hard for him. But not for long. He worked diligently and long, and was graduated in 1930 from the high school.

He entered Michigan State Normal school at Ypsilanti, working his way through all but the last few months, when he dropped.

Eight Students Pass For Navy

Physical Tests To Be Taken Soon

Eight of the 38 senior high school boys who took the navy and army tests for officer candidate school have passed the first examination, it was revealed by Principal Claude Dykhouse.

Information that eight of the boys had passed the examination was received from the navy. No information has been received from the army. Mr. Dykhouse said.

The eight boys who passed the examination were Arthur Robinson, Richard Virgo, Clare Ebersole, Richard Behler, Jack Kenyon, William Upton, John Schwartz and Gordon Vetal.

If these boys pass the physical examination and convince naval officers in two subsequent interviews, they will be requested to indicate the college in which they wish to enroll. If it is possible, the navy will then send the boys to college for training which will lead to commissions in the navy.

The length of time it will take them to complete the various courses and receive their commissions will depend on the individual students. New tests and examinations will be held each three months during their course.

While in college the boys will be rated as apprentice seamen and paid accordingly. They will be under military discipline throughout the period of training.

Mr. Dykhouse said that he considered that eight out of a class of 38 is an exceptionally high percentage. He said he doubted if many high schools would show 20 percent of the class passing the examination.

Mrs. Harlow Burrows and Don Burrows of Holland; Mrs. Ella Downing, Pontiac and Mrs. Anna Clement of Detroit were in Plymouth Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. William C. Schoof who passed away Sunday.

Petitions for the candidacy of four persons for the Plymouth school board are now being circulated in the city, and it is possible that other petitions will be circulated later.

Trouble Maker Found To Be A Bank Robber

Alva Wallace Is Convicted Out in South Dakota

This is the saga of Alva Wallace, who found nothing but trouble in Plymouth and had little but trouble for the past seven years.

Wallace first became known to Plymouth when he cracked a chair over the head of Bert Swadling, proprietor of Bert's Place, a restaurant on North Main street, about two years ago.

Swadling testified against Wallace in his trial in Detroit, charged with felonious assault, but the court saw fit only to sentence the miscreant to six months probation.

Free, Wallace returned to Plymouth and eventually married a Plymouth girl, but almost immediately he caused so much trouble that the family turned him out.

The father, reported to Vaughan Smith, then chief of police, that he had heard that the man had robbed a bank in South Dakota.

Chief Smith took the matter up with the Federal Bureau of Investigation officials who began a systematic search through the records for the robbery itself.

It was a difficult job, but it finally was established that the bank robbed probably was that at Turton, South Dakota, where $250 was taken in an armed holdup in 1938.

The FBI also established that there were two men concerned in that robbery, and by further looking, they determined that the men were Wallace, who gave his residence as Detroit and Roy L. Story of Iliopolis, Illinois.

Pictures of Wallace and Story were sent to the bank at Turton, and the cashier there readily recognized the men as the robbers. Especially did the bank cashier remember Wallace.

Story and Wallace were arrested immediately by the FBI and returned to Aberdeen, South Dakota, for trial in the Federal court there.

They pleaded innocent to the charge when they were arraigned, but subsequently were convicted. Smith, now chief of police at Continental Motors in Detroit, testified against Wallace and Story at the trial.

Judge A. Lee Wyman sentenced each of them to 20 years in the federal penitentiary.

And that is the saga of Alva Wallace, late of Plymouth.

Falls Off Roof, Breaks Neck

Pete John in Critical Condition

Pete John, who lives with his brother and sister on the former Heeney farm on the Territorial road, suffered a broken neck Tuesday afternoon when he fell from a sheet he was re-roofing.

Dr. Harold J. Brisbois was called and immediately sent him to Mt. Carmel hospital in Detroit.

While his condition was considered serious, it was not expected that the injury would be fatal.

Merchants Offer Charity Prizes

Plymouth business men have been most generous in donating door prizes for the benefit bridge to be given by the Woman's Club of Plymouth Thursday afternoon, May 6 in Masonic Temple. There will also be table prizes.

The members of the club hope to make a substantial sum for the benefit of Michigan's unfortunate crippled children.

A Benefit!

On Thursday afternoon, May 6, members of the Plymouth Woman's club will sponsor their annual bridge party for the benefit of Michigan crippled children. The affair will take place in the Masonic Temple beginning at 1 o'clock with a dessert. The committee in charge is composed of all new members taken into the organization this year. A large attendance is anticipated and those who wish to make sure of the opportunity to play should call either Mesdames Jesse Hines, Dow Swope or O.M. Valliquette. Here is an opportunity to help suffering humanity in a most gratifying way. All of the funds raised will go direct to the Crippled Children's Fund.

City Recreation Program Is Considered

City Officials And Ministers Hold Conference

The city commission is expected to make a final decision of what, if any, recreation program is adopted for the city of Plymouth at its meeting next Monday night. Mayor Carl Shear said certainly that the subject would be taken up and discussed by the commissioners and that he was hopeful that a decision could be reached.

The city commission met last Tuesday night with members of the recreation commission and pastors of five of the Plymouth churches.

At the session, the ministers told the city commission that they are convinced that a recreation program of some kind is needed in Plymouth.

Most of the churches of the city have programs for the youth of their church under way in some form or another, but as one minister expressed it:

"The church's primary work is to minister to the spiritual needs of the city. I think that a recreation program should be city wide."

One of the ministers expressed the opinion that a recreation program is needed in Plymouth, and added that he was certain that it would be of material benefit to the program which he already has underway in his own church.

The recreation commission feels that a trained recreation director is needed. The members pointed out that while they have the interests of the youth of Plymouth at heart, that they lack the technical training necessary for conducting such a movement.

None of the commissioners would express an opinion following the meeting, but from authoritative sources it was learned that the commission will have before it next Monday night two programs. One of these programs will be all inclusive, a city wide recreation program for every person in the city. The other program would be only for the youth, probably all those under 21 years of age.

It also was learned that there are two methods of conducting the program being considered. One of these would be for the employment of a full time recreation director, and the other would be to use local talent for conducting the program with the city providing a lion's share of the money to be used.

The recreation program for the city was conceived after it had been revealed that juvenile delinquency in the city is on the up grade.

While some of the commissioners feel that the upswing of juvenile delinquency is directly traceable to the home, it was pointed out that the city cannot force parents to observe proper precautions with respect to their children. The only alternative, it is believed, is a recreation program where the youth of the city will be kept so busy that they will not have time to run around the streets, especially at night.

Plymouth Way Over Top In Bond Sale

City May Be Among Leaders in Nation In Purchase of War Bonds and Securities

Midnight Friday (tonight) is the hour when the nation's greatest war bond drive will end.

When the mail carrier leaves the last patrons on his route, copies of The Plymouth Mail today (Friday), there will be some 10 hours left before the great drive ends.

But Plymouth need not worry as to the final outcome! This truly American little city has already more than tripled its quota in the war bond drive.

Indications are that the patriotic people of this part of Wayne county have made their quota and nearly fourfold over. Almost a MILLION DOLLARS!

The goal of a quarter of a million dollars was passed days, yes, it might be said, weeks ago.

Then Plymouth rang the bell for ONE-HALF A MILLION dollars, and now it has gone to more than three-quarters of a million dollars, and by midnight tonight (Friday), the one hundred percent Americans of Plymouth and vicinity will have loaned to OUR government nearly a MILLION dollars!

Almost four times our goal! No, it is not just ten minutes before midnight. It is ten hours or more!

Let's make it a MILLION! The school children, the fathers and mothers, the farmers, the factory workers, the business men, Kiwanians, Rotarians, Legion members, Ex-Servicemen, ALL proved ace salesmen. To Ivan Goldstein goes the credit for being the ace bond salesman among the school children. His total cash buyers amounted to $12,340 yesterday—and he has more than ten hours yet to go before the drive ends. The seventh grade of which he is a member, will top all school classes. The tremendous total includes the purchases made by the two local banks, but excluding the bank purchases, Plymouth has more than doubled its quota in the purchase of series E F and G bonds alone. And mind you these purchases represent the investments that have been made by people who toil daily for a living, the farmers, and the small business men.

As an indication of how the patriotic spirit swept this city, Plymouth's smallest eating place, started out to buy one jeep. Mrs. Bert Swadling stated yesterday that the little restaurant had already sold ped his course of study to become assistant manager of Charles McKenney hall. He had worked in the hall throughout his school years.

He then entered into business at Hillside, but soon sold his interests and became manager of the Mayflower.

Under his management the hotel has prospered, said Fred Schrader, president of the hotel company. The board of the hotel granted Lorenz a leave of absence to assume his commission in the navy.

Ralph's parents still live here at their home on Harvey street, and they are extremely proud of their son, who goes to war to fight for an adopted land.

Relatives of Lorenz, still residing in Poland, are now in a concentration camp in Prussia, Ralph said.

Ralph's family will remain in Plymouth.

In going to Harvard, Ralph will join his old school chum with whom he was intimate through high school and college—Kenneth Gust, who is now in Harvard.

Fred D. Schrader, president of the Mayflower company, stated yesterday that there had been no arrangements made as yet for a successor to Mr. Lorenz, although two or three prospective managers had been interviewed. He stated that it was by unanimous action of the board that Mr. Lorenz had been granted a leave of absence to enter the armed services of our country.

Spring Weather Perfect For Victory Gardens

Not Advisable To Start Plants Too Early, Says Gardener

Instead of being down in the mouth—as a lot of them are—victory gardeners should be highly elated that the weather this spring is just what it is.

This is the word of Raphael Mettetal, one of the outstanding gardeners in western Wayne county. Mr. Mettetal is a large grower of vegetables at his farm on Lilley road.

"The facts are," said Mr. Mettetal, "that the cold, damp spring has prevented the wasting of a lot of seed and plants because gardeners are always too anxious to get out and work when the first sun comes along in the spring.

The result is that the seeds either rot in the ground or are frozen or if they do come up they are bitten by frost and as a result time, effort and money is lost.

"This spring, it has been obvious that gardens should not be started so early. That is good.

"At the same time the snow and the rain have done a good job of getting the ground into condition for planting when the right time comes. Especially is this true where the gardens already have been plowed."

City Manager Clarence Elliott estimated that more than 50 acres of vacant property in the city had been plowed or will be plowed this spring for victory gardens.

Mr. Mettetal warned all gardeners that leafy plants should not be planted until after the 15th of May and not until after the May full moon. He said that storms would precede the period of the full moon and that it might be labor and money lost to plant before that time, because of frost dangers.

The leafy plants include tomatoes, beans and peppers. Mr. Mettetal urged all gardeners who intend planting strawberries to plant them at this time.

Busy Keeping Watches Going

War Workers Find Jewelers Essential

The War Manpower Commission says watch repairmen are not essential to the war program.

Maybe not, as a whole. But the repairmen employed by Herrick Jewelry in Plymouth are essential to the war program.

Right now the clocks in defense plants, when they fail, are repaired by Herrick.

Right now, the watches of the guards, are repaired by Herrick. Right now, the watches of railroads are repaired by Herrick.

You could go on for another column, but the white space in newspapers is at a premium, so just figure that anything which requires the precision of watches, is and can be repaired by Herrick.

Deane Herrick, owner of the store, sent a letter to defense plants in this area.

"We are offering a 'War Time' service which we think will be of value to your firm as well as to your employees," the letter said.

And it is a valuable service. Tiny gauges and dials, with infinitesimal measuring capacities are repaired at the store. Frequently it is necessary for the Herrick jewelers to make new parts on the extremely accurate lathes available.

And in the case of watch repairs, Herrick has installed a highly sensitive time recording device which measures the accuracy of a watch in a 24-hour period within a space of 30 seconds.

So many watches need repair, that the firm is eight weeks behind on its normal repair work. But defense watches and clocks can be repaired in a 24-hour period if the work is urgent.

Watchmakers are not important? Maybe not to the War Manpower Commission.

But just ask the men whose jobs depend on watches.

Call Public Hearing In Sewer Project

A public hearing will be held May 3 on whether or not a public sewer should be installed on Adams street between Farmer and Junction streets. Recommendation for the sewer was made before the city commission last Monday night by city officials who said that the entire block has now been occupied by homes now served only by a small storm sewer. The city officials said that the public health might be affected unless the sewer is installed. The public hearing will be held in order that property owners on the street may file any objections to construction of the sewer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeBar entertained on Easter their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Drulia and son, Thomas of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Felton, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sharp and children, Erland and Susan spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. W. Bell at Birmingham.

Pocket books, ladies' hats, dresses with sunburst pleats, tuxedos, full dress suits, fancy evening gowns, formals, gloves, men's white suits, curtains, toys, lamp shades and pillows.

All fancy buttons and buckles and other dress ornaments must be removed from the garment before cleaning by the owner because the new restriction forbids us to perform this service in conjunction with our cleaning.

This restriction is now in effect. Dry cleaning has been declared an essential industry in Wayne county so that we may continue to care for your work and business clothes. The new order will facilitate our cleaning services and will eliminate all of the unessential frills not needed to help in the war effort.

New Hours • EFFECTIVE AT ONCE

It is necessary that we close our yard and offices at 5:30 p.m. on week days and 5:00 on Saturdays.

We are fortunate in having several men who serve us on Saturdays when they are not working on their regular jobs and because of their help and the tireless efforts of our regular employees we are able to keep pace with the hundreds of coal delivery orders that come to our offices.

But, we are anxious to relieve our men of the strain forced on them by the current labor shortage and we feel our new hours will prove a decided advantage to them.

We ask you to phone in your orders as far in advance as possible and we assure you we will do all we can to continue our service to you.

"Everlasting Punishment" will be the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 2. The Golden Text (Galatians 6: 7) is: "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Galatians 6: 1, 2): "Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 518): "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good."

For Recaps Only Scrap Rubber

Tire Rationing Is Reclassified

The Plymouth Price and Rationing board has received notice from the Detroit district office of the Office of Price Administration that tire rationing now has been reclassified.

Under the new regulations, manufacture of the victory tires and two varieties have not been discontinued. All of the rubber reclaimed in the scrap drives now will be used for recapping old tires.

Regulations as to who will be able to buy new tires of grade 1 and 2 varieties has not been made clear. However, it was established that any person driving more than 240 miles a month is now entitled to purchase either grade 1 or grade 2 tires, depending on the price the purchaser wishes to pay for them.

What was not clear was whether or not the autoist still must have tires recapped at least once before he is permitted to purchase new tires.

The motorist must still get an order from the Plymouth Price and Rationing board before he may make the purchase, and in order to get the purchase order, it must be established by an official tire inspector that new tires are needed.

Thirteen billion dollars—the sum the Treasury must raise in the Second War Loan drive, is only one sixth of the estimated cost of the war for the fiscal year of 1943.

Will Americans Be More Tender With Their Money Than Lives of Their Sons

Washington, D. C.—A blunt challenge—whether Americans will be more tender with their money than with the lives of their sons—confronts U. S. citizens as they prepare to meet the appeal of the government to put an additional 13 billion dollars into the fight in the next three weeks.

American dollars which run off to some cozy shelter to hide while American boys are dying to defend our cities and towns from destruction and invasion will face a rising demand from all classes of patriotic citizens to come out and fight. Millions of workers who now are buying War Bonds regularly out of current income must lend extra money to their government during the Second War Loan campaign (which started April 12).

In recognition of the spirit of sacrifice which is sweeping over the land as our troops swing into of-fensive action in Africa and await the signal for a landing in Europe, the Treasury Department is offering a series of government bonds to fit every pocketbook.

No matter whether Americans buy the familiar Series E Bonds or 2 1/2 per cent bonds or 2 per cent bonds or tax certificates, they will be doing their part to make the Second War Loan drive a success.

To Hasten Victory
No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse. The most you can do is little enough compared with the sacrifice offered by our boys in service. They give their lives—you lend your money.

Canton Doubles Red Cross Gift

1943 Drive Proves Record Breaker

Canton township, a part of the Wayne branch of the American Red Cross, more than doubled the amount of 1942 contributions in the War Fund Drive this year, by turning in a total of $1018.02 as compared to last year's sum of $498.46.

Canton and Nankin townships, with the exception of Inkster and Garden City, go to make up the Wayne branch of the Red Cross, and due to the gasoline rationing, the Motor Corps, with the able assistance of Mrs. Clifford Ellis, was given the responsibility of furnishing transportation to volunteer workers so that Canton township could be covered in a house-to-house canvass.

Women from Canton township who worked for the drive were Mrs. Chester Dasher, Mrs. Olive Hannan, Mrs. R. H. Steinger, Mrs. Ben Jones, Mrs. Ewald Heike and Mrs. Don Haralson. Volunteers from Nankin were Mrs. Frances Thomas, Mrs. Jessie Milsark, Mrs. Cannon, Mrs. George Sagen and Mrs. Mary Reid.

Contributions were received as follows: S & B Machine Shop management, $100; employees, $175.00; house-to-house canvass, $874.66; and Junior Red Cross from schools, $68.36. Schools participating in the drive and amounts donated were Cherry Hill, $6.63; Walker, $16.14; Truesdell, $19.98; Kenyon, $6.05; Hanford, $7.30; and Hough $13.06. Returns have not as yet been received from Canton Center, Palmer, Bartlett and Sheldon.

Also included in the donations was $5.00, sent in by a group of neighbors in the name of Mrs. Byron Wilkin, recently deceased.

Soldiers' socks are expected to last 50 per cent longer as a result of a new process of treating wool now used by the Indian Army.

Four Children Left Fatherless

Joseph Rex Finnegan, 37, of 6015 Beck road, was killed Sunday morning about 6 o'clock, when he drove his car into a ditch at the intersection of Ford road and Haggerty highway.

The coroner's verdict said he died of internal injuries occasioned by a crushed chest.

No details of the accident were available. There were no witnesses, but it was presumed he fell asleep at the wheel.

Besides the widow, there are four children surviving. They are: Barbara Jean, Jerry Rex, James Charles and Flora Ann.

Society Events

The Townsend club will have a potluck dinner meeting on Monday evening, May 3, at 7:00 o'clock. Jean and Wilbur Lute will furnish the music. A very interesting meeting is planned. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mrs. Alex Lloyd, president of the Central Parent Teachers' association, will act as a delegate from Plymouth, to the Parent Teachers' convention to be held in Saginaw, Tuesday, May 4. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Edward Dobbs and Mrs. William Ward.

Cadet Edwin Smith Earl, Barbour Hall Military, who spent his Easter vacation with his mother, Elizabeth E. Earl, was pleasantly surprised with a birthday party, Saturday evening, April 24 at the Mayflower. The guests were Allyn Williams, Robert Williams and Betty Fulton of Plymouth, and Elaine and Ethel Mahaney of Farmington. Miss Emma Wolf assisted Mrs. Earl. Cadet Earl returns to Barbour Hall today.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Huber, formerly of Plymouth, entertained Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Wagenschutz, daughter, Bettis, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wagenschutz, of Plymouth; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huber and daughter, Barbara of Dearborn at their home in Dearborn Woods Easter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Livingston and son, Larry James, of Clawson, and Mr. and Mrs. Dave McKinley, of Caro, were dinner guests, Easter day, of Mrs. Zella Livingston and daughter, Beth. Later in the day they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lyke and two daughters, of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Michelin of East Ann Arbor Trail, were hosts on Easter day at dinner honoring the seventy-ninth Lois B. Crumb. As Easter day birthday of her mother, Mrs. fell on April 25, only twice in twelve cycles of the moon, it was the good fortune of Mrs. Crumb to celebrate on both dates, in 1886 and 1943. Another feature of Sunday's gathering was the fact that Mrs. Crumb was honored by godmother to five of her great grandchildren who were christened by the Rev. Francis Tetu in St. John's Episcopal church in the morning. They were Dixie, Diana, Constance and Ronald, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee, and Kay Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Freshman. Other guests in the Michelin home on the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil P. Bacon of Detroit and Senior and Senora Gregorio Larrazabal and daughter, Julieta of Havana, Cuba and Detroit.

Burning of grass and marsh lands on Michigan farms after April 20 will destroy nests of cottontail rabbits, pheasants, quail and other ground nesting birds. Thousands of acres of land are burned over each spring by farmers. The practice is wasteful, says R. G. Hill, Michigan State College farm game extension specialist. Such fires destroy organic matter and frequently kill annual grasses, allowing less desirable perennials to grow. Fires also burn off fence posts and damage the galvanized protection on wire fencing so that nesting occurs. Even buildings are sometimes destroyed when fires get out of control.

Seek Advice On City Water Supply

City Manager Clarence Elliott recommended and the city commission approved last Monday night the appointment of a consultant engineer to advise the city on the best procedure for the use of the additional water supply uncovered at the booster station.

The city manager said he would appoint the consulting engineer in the near future in order that the city can take advantage of the additional water supply as soon as possible.

There are several problems in connection with using the new well which Mr. Elliott said could be solved only by an engineer experienced in such matters. He said no city employee had the necessary technical knowledge to handle the situation.

City Sells Garbage For Next 12 Months

The city commission at its meeting Monday night sold the municipal garbage to Clarence Sherwood, a Joy road farmer, for $650.

Only two bids for the garbage were received. The other bid was for $900, but upon examination, it was found that it was probably less than the bid of $650 because of the additional mileage necessary for the city to drive to deliver the garbage to the higher bidder.

The higher bidder lives 3.9 miles farther from the city. With the city making about 900 trips a year to deliver garbage, the cost of the additional transportation was greater than the difference, in the amount of the bid.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride and bridegroom left for Cedarville, Oklahoma, a beautiful summer resort in the Arbuckle Mountains for a short honeymoon.

Mrs. Owens will reside in Gainsville, Texas for the present near Camp Howze where Private Owens is stationed.

The goal of the Second War Loan drive is 13 billion dollars. That is just about one fifth of the estimated increase of the Public Debt for the fiscal year of 1943.

● IN LINE WITH the national policy of conserving manpower and materials, we are adopting the modern postal card type of service statement.

It replaces the old-style larger form of statement which in some parts of the territory served by this Company was sent through the mail in envelopes, and which in other areas was hung on customers' doorknobs by Company representatives.

Introduced in many parts of the country as a war measure, the postal card bill has been welcomed by customers, who find it simpler and easier to handle than the bill enclosed in an envelope or doorknob hanger.

Watch for your first postal card bill. The picture above will help you recognize it. We hope you will like this change which helps to conserve materials and to meet the wartime manpower situation.

Plymouth Women To Celebrate

Anniversary Of Farm Extension Work

The Home Demonstration groups under the supervision of Michigan State College's extension department at East Lansing have been organized for 25 years in Wayne county. At their annual home economics extension achievement day, Tuesday, May 4, at the Methodist church in Sheldon they will celebrate their silver anniversary, reminiscing over the period of one-quarter of a century.

There are four charter members who are still active and will give the history of home demonstration work as they experienced it through the years. Mrs. S. W. Spicer of this city, is the one woman who was largely responsible for the starting of extension work among the rural women of Cherry Hill.

With her will be Mrs. E. W. Moyer and Mrs. Sadie Stuart of Cherry Hill and Miss Bertha Warner, also of Plymouth. As usual some of the projects of the extension work completed this year will be on exhibit from 10:00 in the morning until 4:00 in the afternoon. There are approximately 1000 women enrolled in the extension program for Wayne county. Most of the work is carried on by the local leader basis.

A buffet luncheon will be served at noon-time by the Ladies Aid of the Sheldon church. The program will start at 1:15 in the afternoon with community singing led by Mrs. Anthony Kregger, one of the executive committee members. New executive committee members elected to office this spring will be introduced by Miss Emma DuBord, county home demonstration agent. Women who have made dresses or tailored suits and coats will stage a dress revue. Under the supervision of Miss Helen Hempstead of the Wayne County Library staff, a "Reading Group in Action" will be demonstrated. Reading is one of the extra-curricular activities undertaken by the Home Demonstration women. Miss Edna V. Smith, state home demonstration leader from Michigan State college, will give a talk on "Just What Is Our Job Today." Dean Gordon, 4-H club agent of Wayne county will outline the 4-H club program to the women while E. I. Besemer, county agricultural agent, will talk on the "Farm Labor Situation."

In addition to the work already completed this year the rural women of Wayne county have already scheduled two months of canning demonstrations for May and June. Scholarships will be awarded on Achievement Day to some of the women for their outstanding leadership to Farm Women's Week at Michigan State college in July and to Farm Women's camp at Waldenwoods in June. The extension Achievement Day program is opened to any of the public who are interested.

Students See Bank In Full Operation

The high school economics class, taught by Superintendent George Smith, received first hand information on how a bank is operated when the class was escorted through the Plymouth United Savings by Vice President and Cashier Russell Daane, last week.

The tour of the bank began with an explanation of the mechanics of operating a bank, how posting is done to individual accounts, how checks are handled and the amount of the checks subtracted from the accounts of depositors, how loans are made. After the tour of the mechanical portion of the bank, Mr. Daane explained to the students by means of charts just how the funds of a bank are distributed, how the money is loaned, and why it is necessary for the bank to make a charge for its services. "After all," said Mr. Daane, "when you go into a grocery store and purchase a loaf of bread, you expect to pay the grocer an amount of money sufficient for him to realize a profit for his service.

"The same is true of the bank.

We have services which are performed and it is necessary for us to make certain charges for that service. Otherwise the bank would not be able to stay in business."

FRED FOREMAN

Fred Foreman, son of Fred and Mary Foreman, was born in Walpole county of Norfolk, England, on September 21, 1868 and departed this life, Wednesday, April 21, 1943, at the University of Michigan hospital, Ann Arbor. When Fred was a small boy, his brave mother with her little family, crossed the Atlantic to join the father who had previously come to Salem township to establish a home in the new land of opportunity. Fred craved schooling and in those days compulsory education had not been established to help every boy and girl to a good education so he left home to work on nearby farms to carve out a worthwhile future.

By hard work and long application to each day's tasks in farm and school he earned a very fine education and was given a certificate to teach, and he was successful as proved by the fact that he taught ten years west of Ann Arbor and in Illinois. In the latter state he met and married Effie Mitchell who was called from this life in 1935. Fred Foreman's later years have been blessed in the companionship of Harriet Artman, whom he married in 1937.

Surviving are his wife, Harriet, a daughter, Edna Drews, of Plymouth; two sons, Ralph, of Northville and William of Detroit; his brothers, Alfred of Salem; and David of Houston, Texas; a sister, Mrs. Alice Greenman of Plymouth, and seven grandchildren: Mrs. George Richardson, Mrs. Lester Finley, Arlene Foreman, Private Lewis Foreman, Ralph Foreman Jr., Gale and Brenda Foreman. There are also several great grandchildren.

Outstanding traits contributing to Mr. Foreman's success in life were his hopeful view of life and his remembrance of his mother's teaching, "Whatever a man soweth that shall he also reap." Funeral services were held from Salem Reformed church, Saturday afternoon at 2:00. Rev. Cora M. Pennell, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Thayer cemetery.

PTA Hears Address On Russian Problem

Members and friends of the Central Grades P.T.A. heard an interesting address dealing with current affairs Tuesday night when Prof. Waugh of Ypsilanti gave a paper entitled "The Foreign Policy of Soviet Russia." His field is political science and he has had the first-hand contacts of visiting England, France, Germany and Russia. He recounted the major steps of Russia's foreign policy since 1917 and gave reasons for Russia taking such steps as she has.

His warning to America was, "If we fail in making good the coming peace it will be because of our ignorance of the problems of security. Whatever we can do to formulate definite post-war plans I believe it should be done now rather than after the war." Special music was presented by the junior choir under the direction of Mr. Luchtman.

If every man, woman and child in the United States lays aside $100 the aggregate will be about $13,000,000,000 or the amount the Treasury must raise in its Second War Loan.

Floyd Eckles Hurt In Severe Fall

Probably one of the busiest men in Plymouth has been Floyd Eckles. He's worked ten, twelve and fifteen hours a day for weeks and months. Frequently, he hasn't taken time to eat some of his meals.

Then to slip in a bathtub and crack a number of ribs, well that's just adding trouble to trouble.

Doctors say it will be some little time before Mr. Eckles will be able to return to his work. At any rate, while he is suffering all the pain that goes with a severe injury, he is getting some rest he's needed so badly for months.

Reports gathered by the soils science department at Michigan State College indicate farmers in Michigan follow closely the college fertilizer recommendations, especially in 1942. In a total of 187,517 tons purchased the past year more than 94 per cent were of the grades or mixtures recommended by the college department. More than 98 per cent of the purchases contained 20 per cent or more plant food, another college recommendation. In 1934 only 72 per cent contained that much plant food.

Burglars Didn't Wreck Room

But Police Uncerth The Real Culprit

It wasn't a Japanese bomb and it wasn't burglars that ransacked and turned topsy-turvy the room of Mrs. Elizabeth Earl, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bolton at 592 Maple street, last Sunday evening.

And it required the services of three members of the police department to figure out just what had happened.

Window shades had been torn to shreds. Curtains were stripped from their rods. Books had been shoved from shelves to the floor. The clock was knocked from the shelf to the floor.

There was barely a thing in the room that had not been disturbed or damaged, and there was every evidence that burglars had visited the place, robbed it and destroyed that which had not been removed. The damage was discovered when Mrs. Earl returned to her room from the Mayflower, where she serves as cashier.

But—after a thorough search the police could find nothing missing and the officers came to the conclusion that there was something strange about the whole affair.

There were no open windows, no open doors.

Suddenly Mrs. Earl's son, Edwin, who is home from a military school for a few days, saw the tail of a big fox squirrel sticking out from under the cushion of an easy chair in the room. The squirrel jumped out. The window was raised, and with one leap, it went back into the top of a tree.

"Fingerprints" and other evidence revealed the fact that in some way after the squirrel had gotten into the room, the window had closed—and for several hours Mr. Fox Squirrel had the time of his life—to the sorrow of Mrs. Earl.

Standardization of glass food containers will increase their production by about 20 per cent more this year, with existing equipment than were produced in 1942.

FINAL INSPECTION:

Make sure it's right with good light

INSPECTION has always been an important step in production. But in war work—where a soldier's life may depend on the accuracy of machined parts and the absence of flaws in a gun or shell or tank or engine part—inspection is doubly important. Final inspection must make sure that the product is RIGHT—and that no defective parts or workmanship are allowed to go out of the plant.

The more precise the work, the more critical the inspection—and the greater the need for GOOD LIGHT to help detect imperfections. Besides finding "rejects" when the work is finished, inspection helps to prevent losses by catching flaws early, as the work goes along. Periodic inspection saves wasted man-hours and reduces spoilage.

Good light for inspection is "tailored" to the needs of the specific job. What is satisfactory lighting for one job may be wholly inadequate for another. For example, inspection may involve the internal structure of a piece, or its composition. It may involve surface contour, or color and finish. In each case there is a particular kind of lighting to assure best results. Our industrial Lighting Advisors will be glad to discuss any lighting problem you may have, and study your requirements. They will then submit recommendations without charge. Call any Detroit Edison office. The Detroit Edison Company.

Your country is asking you to lend your dollars in greater amount than ever before. It is asking for 13 billions of dollars extra this month... 13 billions for the weapons of war to make sure that it is our side which dictates the peace.

If we do not win, the money you fail to lend now will be worse than useless to you. If we win, as we must, the money you lend now will be returned with interest... for you to spend on the good things of life... for you to enjoy in a free and safe world.

So dig down, Americans. Answer the challenge by buying War Loan securities this month with every idle dollar you have except what you need for the barest necessities of life.

New Air Raid Signals Are Announced

Same Rules Apply To All Parts Of The State

Clarence Elliott, commander of Plymouth Civilian Defense issued a series of new regulations with respect to possible air raids this week.

Hereafter in every air raid or every prospective air raid, there will be a "blue" signal preceding the "red" signal.

The "blue" signal will indicate that an air raid is likely and warns citizens to be ready for the "red" signal which is an order for all citizens to seek cover, that enemy planes are nearby and that bombs may start falling immediately.

The "blue" signal will be flashed to the citizens of Plymouth by the fire siren and factory whistles. It will be a two-minute steady blast on the signals.

Upon the "blue" signal, all civilian defense services will mobilize immediately. All lights, except special cases, will be blacked out. Traffic may proceed with caution and with lights dimmed. Pedestrians may continue with their business and workers may remain at their jobs, but all are cautioned to be ready to run for the nearest shelter if an air raid should come and the "red" alert signalled.

The "red" alert will be signalled by a fluctuating blast on the fire siren and by a series of short blasts on whistles. These blasts will continue for three minutes. At this "red" signal, all air raid wardens and police and fire auxiliaries as well as regular police and firemen must be at their posts.

It is admitted by city officials that there is a distinct similarity between the air raid and the normal fire signal, which calls the firemen to the fire station. But City Manager Elliott said that it should make no difference to the public, as the general public is not expected to attend fires anyway.

At the signal of "red" alert, motorists must pull to the side of the street or road and seek the nearest shelter. The streets must be cleared of pedestrians; shoppers must seek the nearest shelter, and citizens in private homes must be ready for an air raid.

After the "red" alert the city will return to the "blue" alert before the "all clear" is sounded. The "blue" alert after the "red" alert will be sounded by a steady blast on the siren or whistles for two minutes. The public must follow the "blue" rules after the "red" alert the same as they did before it for although planes may have disappeared, they may return.

The "all clear" will be sounded by three one-minute blasts on the siren and whistles, with two-minute intervals between each blast.

Exclusive of Army, Navy and Maritime Commission, whose scrap program produces about 20 times as much as all other Government agencies combined, Federal agencies are expected to yield 100,000 to 120,000 tons of scrap metals and paper this year.

The British Eighth Army has been using a water pump made in Columbus, Ohio, and at one desert well one of these pumps was operated almost continuously for three months.

U. S. Treasury Department

Chief Warns of Fire Dangers

Urges Plymouth to be Most Careful

Fire Chief Fred Wagenschutz today urged a spring offensive against home fires on the ground that they impede the war effort just as much as fires in war plants.

"Every dwelling fire destroys materials that are becoming more difficult to replace," the Chief said. "Like a saboteur, it subtracts just that much from the help we can give our boys at the front. And we must remember that war-time conditions make bigger loopholes for fire to break through. Men are working longer hours, and have less time for attending to all the odd jobs and chores that used to keep the home safe from fire. This means that women, and even children, must take on a bigger share of fire prevention activities."

The Chief outlines three fundamental rules for fire safety:

1. Good housekeeping: Dispose of or salvage all combustible "junk" in attics, cellars, and closets. Do not keep gasoline in the house, or use it or other volatile flammable liquids for dry cleaning. Burn or dispose of oil and paint-soaked rags, and keep oil mops in tightly closed metal containers.
2. Repair: Have heating plants and stoves cleaned and repaired. Have the chimney and flues cleaned regularly. Inspect all electrical appliances and wiring, and replace frayed cords.
3. Fire-fighting: Keep fire fighting equipment in good condition, and make sure that it is kept where it is readily available.

To Mail New Rationing Book

Consumers Must Fill Out Cards

War ration book No. 3 will be mailed to all the residents in the Plymouth area, it was announced this week by Ray Bachelder, executive manager of the office.

Under the system to be used, each householder in this area will receive application cards which will be dropped into every mail box in the district by regular carriers.

These cards when properly filled out and mailed to the ration board headquarters, will bring the third war ration book to each person.

The third ration book is intended to replace the first ration book, not the second one. It will be good for coffee, sugar, shoes and other rationed items which can be purchased with single coupons.

The mailing of the third ration book will be made in order to reach the people sometime after June fifth. The applications will be distributed by the postoffice department between May 20 and June 5.

The fourth ration book which will be similar to the present second book, containing red and blue stamps for the purchase of meat and fat and rationed groceries, will not be distributed before October when the present books will expire.

Speeders Better Watch Out!

Officers Making Check About Here

Law enforcement authorities are "cracking down" on speeders in the Plymouth area, it was learned on reliable authority this week.

While no special drive is being made, every person caught exceeding speed limits within corporate limits or the state and county highways are being given tickets.

While the courts have been anything but lenient on the speeders, more serious consequences are being faced by the speeders before the local war price and rationing board.

Every person convicted of exceeding the speed limits is immediately called before a session of the rationing board.

The ration board has the authority to take away from the driver all gasoline coupons or any amount of gasoline coupons which the board may think is necessary to impress on the speeder the fact that it is necessary to cut driving speeds in order to save tires.

Despite the fact that synthetic rubber is now being produced in this country, the Office of War Information has let it be known that it will be the end of 1944 before any plentiful supply of rubber for passenger cars will be available.

Excessive speeds—which are prevalent on the state and county highways—are not only unpatriotic, but they're definitely costly to the individual in both money and gasoline coupons.

Plymouth Meal Prices Filed

Restaurants Asked For Menu Copies

All Plymouth restaurants were required by the Plymouth War Price and Rationing Board to file a schedule of the menus and prices charged during the week of April 4 to 10, inclusive.

While there is no indication that price ceilings will be established on restaurant prices, it was believed that the filing of schedules was a precautionary move "to hold the line" against inflation that threatens the country.

At a "Paper Goes to War" exhibition in London, the blue prints required to produce a Merlin Rolls-Royce aero engine weighed 325 pounds.

Although the Texas prison system produces all its own sugar, rationing within the walls is the same as on the outside.

Hilltop Camp To Open Soon

Provides Summer Quarters For Children

Hilltop Farm Summer Camp, the only listed camp in Wayne county, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Joffe, is a busy place these days getting ready to open June 1. It is located on Beck road between Ann Arbor and Territorial roads.

The Michigan Camping association has sent out letters to the 330 camps in Michigan, normally caring for over 100,000 children, asking them to do everything possible to care for more children this summer.

Hilltop Farm Camp went up to 49 children at one time last summer, the average being 40 for the two weeks. This year they are preparing to care for 60.

The older boys, 8 to 11, live in a cabin in the woods; the girls 8 to 11, in a log cabin on the edge of the woods, and the little ones in the garage, which last summer was fixed over with living quarters upstairs and downstairs, screened and made very cozy. This year one end of the large barn is being prepared for the six- and seven-year-old boys. It will be large enough for a reception room on rainy days. The swimming pool is being made ready to fill.

Last week, three baby orphan lambs, which have to be fed five times a day on a bottle, came to Hilltop. Two pair of beautiful peacocks are in the barn waiting for warm weather to come out and strut. Cheyenne, a gentle mare, came a few weeks ago to keep Laddie, the Shetland pony, company. All ready to give the children rides on their backs and in the English cart. There are baby rabbits, chickens, ducks, pigs, calves, and cows which the boys love to drive to and from pasture, and get such a kick out of trying to milk. Many of the children who come from the city have never even seen a cow. And there is Loreta, the parrot, that is ugly to grown-ups but likes to have the children take care of her and pet her.

On Sunday nights the children and counselors gather on the front porch of the big house for singing.

This year, they will be accompanied by the new Hammond organ. There are two tone cabinets and one can be moved onto the porch, thus throwing the music out-of-doors.

The shelves at Hilltop are full of canned fruit and vegetables—enough meat for the summer, lamb, beef and pork, home grown, is in the frozen lockers. Mrs. Joffe expects to have enough butter made and in the lockers by June to last through the summer.

So with a large garden the food problem doesn't look too serious. Even the help problem is looking bright. There will be experienced teachers over each group. So it looks like a happy, healthy, summer for the kiddies at Hilltop in spite of the war.

The annual art exhibit will be on the same night in the sewing room, Mrs. Gorton announced. Included in the display will be water colors, oils, pastels, pencil sketches, and charcoal drawings. The exhibit, like the styles show, is free of charge and the public is invited.

Odds and Ends

Joe Brisbois and Malcolm MacGregor never agree on anything discussed in English. Does it use up good time for unprepared work, or is it just a natural friction?

These people with whom the French class students correspond are quite friendly, at least their letters are—especially the one Shirley L. Writes to Canada isn't as far as Europe though.

A certain "chubby" of U. of M. is supposed to be having an awful time with his subjects; they say he is thinking of a certain Plymouth girl. Is that right, Audrey?

When Mr. Evans' wanted to find out the operation of a refrigerator from the chemistry students, he found most of them knew only how to open and close the door to take something good out.

A student of Mr. Reeves' world geography class, when asked what common plant we get to eat from marshes in spring, replied "cat tails."

Well, the Girl Reserves taffy certainly went over big. Students and teachers all over school bought some, and most of them are picking their inlays and bridgework out of the taffy.

Girl Reserves Get Coupons

The Girl Reserves were given coupons from the O. P. A. to purchase food for the annual Mother and Daughter supper. In arranging this the O.P.A. probably decided people had to eat and where they eat is irrelevant. Some functions are necessary to maintain a high morale among the American people.

The Girl Reserves have sponsored a Mother and Daughter banquet for eighteen years, even having pot-luck suppers during the depression and they feel the need of one this year. The Girl Reserves purpose being "To Find and Give the Best," they are trying to make this supper as nice as others even though the war has brought about inconveniences.

Flowers and birds will form the colored designs of the programs, and crepe paper maypoles and spring flowers will be the table centerpieces.

Anyone wishing tickets for the Mother and Daughter banquet, Tuesday, May 16, at 6:30 in the high school gym, should contact Margaret Jean Nichol, or call the school at 610.

Dean Hill, dean of women at Ypsilanti Normal College, will be the guest speaker of the evening.

ENTERS ARMY FINANCE SCHOOL IN INDIANA

Private Robert Whittaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whittaker of 9057 Brookville road, recently arrived at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, where he will take a course in the Finance Replacement Training Center. Upon completion of an intensive field program, he will study army pay methods. He only recently entered the army.

WILBUR C. CHAPMAN WINS ANOTHER PROMOTION.

It was not so long ago that The Mail advised its readers of the promotion of Wilbur C. Chapman, better known to his host of friends as Bill, to a corporalship in the army. Now comes the information that he has been promoted to sergeant, his chief duty being section leader in the personnel headquarters of a Ranger battalion down at Camp Forrest, Tennessee.

"I'm with a swell bunch of fellows and you can tell all of my friends that I am proud to be in the Rangers. You will recall that I was employed at the Kelsey-Hayes plant before I entered the army. I'm glad to read in The Mail that they are doing such a good job out there to help win the war," wrote Bill to The Mail's Army-Navy column.

FIVE MORE BOYS ENTER GREAT LAKES.

Recently inducted into the U.S. Navy as apprentice seamen, five Plymouth boys have reported to the U.S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Illinois for a period of basic training.

The Plymouth recruits are: Firmin A. Perrin, 29, husband of Mrs. Marjorie Perrin, 105 Union street; Melvin Sockow, 19, son of Mrs. Edith Sockow, 40370 Plymouth road; Ralph D. Lorenz, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz, 1419 Sheridan avenue; Howard J. Hellner, 25, husband of Mrs. Elaine Hellner, 15805 Farmington road; Wallace G. Savage, 20, husband of Mrs. E. Savage, 10423 Stark road.

GRADUATES FROM ARMAMENT SCHOOL

Wilbert W. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Clark of 3840 Napier road, has just graduated from Uncle Sam's armament school located at Lowry Field in Colorado. Wilbert before entering the army was employed as a machine gun assembler in the Kelsey-Hayes plant in Plymouth. While he attended high school in Ypsilanti, he has many friends in Plymouth who will be glad to know of his success in completing a difficult army assignment.

MEASLES SERIOUS FOR THIS SOLDIER

According to letters received from Sergeant Harold Hallam, who has been stationed at McChord Field in Washington, he has been seriously ill for the last five weeks in McChord General hospital in Walla Walla, Washington. Harold, a son of Mrs. Iva Hallam of Roe street, was hopeful of being promoted to technical sergeant when he was taken ill and forced to go to the hospital. He is now reported as improving.

JOSEPH E. MEASEL JR. IS AVIATION CADET.

Joseph E. Measel Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Measel of 396 Ann street, who has entered the services of the U.S.N.R., is now an aviation cadet and has been assigned to the U. S. Naval Flight Preparatory school at Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio. The youthful cadet is a former student of the Plymouth high school.

THINKS UNCLE SAM'S ARMY IS "THE TOPS"

A letter which will prove of interest to all of the friends and acquaintances of Kenyon G. Olds, now a radioman in the U.S. Army Air Corps, has been received by the editor, written from his training field at Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

The letter follows: "This is a very late date to thank you for The Plymouth Mail, after receiving it for three months and I certainly beg an apology. My opinion is the same as the others who are enjoying it; it's like someone from your home town. I look forward to reading it every week. Thanks to you and your helpers, who make such a pleasure possible.

"My army life, since entering in December, has been a very busy one, as all technical schools are. Uncle Sam has everything planned to perfection, which is the only way it should be. It is by thorough training of men and scheduled production on the home front, that we will win over our enemy. How proud we are to be training in this great army of ours.

"In May I will finish my radio operators' course and then will be transferred to a gunner's school. Radio operating is very interesting and I hope to be placed on a bomber as its radio operator as they have already told me I would be. Our planes are wonderful and are being made safer and more accurate in their operations every day. This school is classed as the No. 1 radio school in the United States. There are lots of students here. The only one from Plymouth I have ever seen was Harry Dahmer.

"In the army we do everything at a certain time and place. We are always there too or suffer the consequences. Now, when we read the papers about absenteeism and strikes for higher wages it makes the soldiers feel very disgusted. There is no absenteeism nor strikes in the army. If the civilians on the home front would only realize they are just as important as we are, perhaps they would stop such foolishness. Where will they be if the army fails to bring victory to us. The army is doing its part perfectly, are you doing yours?"

"The bond drive is now on. Here, the different squadrons try and beat each other in the sale of bonds. It is a great satisfaction to know that those bonds are being used for such a wonderful cause as—Freedom in every phase of our American life. What a pleasure to just lend our money to our country with such a high rate of interest and to be used for such a righteous cause.

"All these work together for Victory; the production lines, our army and our money. Let's not fall short in any one. Let's show the enemy and make plain to their people, that democracy does work.

"I am proud of the way Plymouth responds to the scrap and bond drives. Plymouth always was a 'go-getter'.

"Again I will thank you for The Mail and say 'hello' to all my friends at home and those away in the army and the other branches of service."

AL DRAKE WRITES FROM SOMEWHERE WAY OUT IN THE PACIFIC

"Darkness is falling and very soon the moon will be shining brightly. Oh! what a dread we have of moonlight nights! Our prayer for protection and that the Japs don't find us while we try to get some rest," wrote Albert Drake, a corporal in a United States army squadron, to The Plymouth Mail a few days ago. He is located somewhere far out in the Pacific.

"I've had many thrilling experiences of which I am unable to tell you about at the present time," he adds in his letter written April 15 and sent to this country by air mail from some far-away island in the Pacific.

To his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Squires of North Harvey street where "Al," as he is best known to his many Plymouth friends, has made his home in recent years, he has sent a citation of high commendation for his part in a decisive victory won by American forces sometime previous to March 14 of this year.

The letter of commendation to Corporal Drake came from Brigadier General Ennis Whitehead, deputy air force commander, in which he said: "You are a credit to our armed forces, and your country is indebted to you for your devoted service. I am proud to have such an exemplary comrade."

Corporal Drake's letter continued: "Just a few more lines to tell you how much I have enjoyed The Plymouth Mail. Next to the letters, it has provided much comfort and has helped to lessen the homesick feeling that cannot be overcome, no matter how long you are away.

"I have been kept very busy for several months and we returned to this new base the latter part of March. I found waiting for me 72 letters and the balance of my Christmas boxes. As much as I would like to write all of my friends for their kindness in remembering me, I do not have the time to write so many letters and if The Plymouth Mail will just thank everybody for me, and express my appreciation, it will help me a whole lot. I hope very soon I will be able to do this personally."

GRADUATES AS EXPERT MECHANIC

Charged with the vital task of keeping huge B-24 Liberators in the high state of mechanical perfection required for modern aerial combat, Pfc Charles Gasper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gasper 279 South Mill street, Plymouth, has graduated as an expert mechanic from this unit of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command at Keesler Field, Mississippi.

Private Gasper has just completed the 17-week course in bomber mechanics, receiving specialized training in B-24 maintenance, hydraulic and fuel systems, electrical systems, instruments, electrical systems, engines, structures and inspection. During the last eight days he was given a field test under simulated battle conditions, enabling him to apply, as he would in combat, what he learned from the course.

FROM "THE WAYNE COUNTY TANK BUSTERS."

Corporal Bernie Horowitz, who is stationed at the Tank Destroyer Center at Camp Hood, Texas, writes that the Michigan boys down "deep in the heart of Texas" thoroughly enjoy reading the news from Plymouth.

"When The Mail arrives, it's the signal for The Wayne County Tank Busters' to gather from all surrounding companies and battalions to read the news from the old home town. You don't know how good it is to read what's going on back there every week," writes the Corporal.

OWEN FORD GORTON HOME ON BRIEF LEAVE.

After enjoying a brief leave of absence from the Great Lakes Training station, Owen Ford Gorton has returned for additional training as an aviator radioman. Owen is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Gorton and says he is thoroughly enjoying his work at Great Lakes.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"You can't imagine, Judge, how much comfort Louise and I got out of reading that recent report made by the government on drinking habits in and around Army camps. If you hadn't loaned us your copy we'd still be worrying about our Jim... all because of those silly rumors goin' around."

"I'm mighty glad to hear that, John. As the report says, no Army in American history has been so orderly, so well-behaved, so well-trained. Why, even on pay-night, there's very little drinking done. I was particularly interested in that part which said the Army, with an eye to its own problem, usually prefers to have its camps in wet communities rather than dry communities because wet communities can be regulated... dry communities with their bootleggers can't. It's just more proof that prohibition does not prohibit."

THE JAP IN HIS TRUE LIGHT.

Americans were horrified the other day when President Roosevelt revealed to the nation that a number of the American boys who took part in the raid on Tokio had been murdered by the beasts that inhabit the island of Japan. When the true nature of the torture and the horrible deaths these boys suffered is known to mankind, every decent human being will shudder at the brutality the Japs inflicted upon these youthful American fliers.

Over a long period of time, The Plymouth Mail has consistently endeavored to emphasize the vicious nature of the yellow beasts with which we are at war. We have been berated by some because of the strong language we have used in discussing the Japanese situation. One benighted subscriber in a rage over our Japanese editorial policy thought it might displease The Mail if the subscription was cancelled.

We suppose it is perfectly all right to some if the sons of true, loyal Americans are slowly butchered to death by the Japs—it is O.K. to them if the ears, the fingers, the feet and portions of their bodies are cut off as the American boys are slowly put to death.

Only a person too dumb to understand or too disloyal to America to care, would rise to the defense of a race that would do these things to any human being.

The Japs through all history have been noted for their cruelty, their trickery, their deceit and their viciousness. How any person who knows anything about Japanese history can find one redeemable characteristic of this race of beasts is more than the writer can understand.

We protested strongly last winter when it was proposed to import some American born Japanese to Michigan to work on our farms. We thought such a proposal nothing more than an insult to the people of Michigan.

Some of them have already been brought to our state. Even though American born, they should NOT be allowed to remain on Michigan soil.

The Japs came to America in the first place to colonize the Pacific coast so they could take over the entire American continent lying west of the Rocky Mountains. The Japs being brought to Michigan are some of the offspring of these colonists. Maybe they are not loyal to the Rising Sun, but we don't want them in Michigan, no matter to what country they pledge allegiance.

Governor Kelly, if he really wants to do something, can serve Michigan well by having the state police remove EVERY Jap to the boundary line and tell him to get out of Michigan and STAY OUT.

A SPLENDID APPOINTMENT.

We commend most highly the appointment recently made by Prentiss M. Brown, administrator of the Office of Price Administration, of George J. Burke of Ann Arbor as general counsel of the O.P.A. Mr. Burke over the years has proved himself one of Michigan's outstanding citizens. He has been a credit not only to the political party to which he belongs, but to our state. We are glad to note, too, that Mr. Burke has consented to remain a member of the Michigan Civil Service Commission. He has served well and faithfully in this important position. The appointment is a credit to the state and nation.

Noted Artist Paints War Poster

Urging Americans to "Keep 'em Flying" through the purchase of more War Bonds, the above poster will soon make its appearance in several hundred thousand stores and display spots throughout the country. It was painted by Georges Schreiber, internationally known artist, whose pictures hang in the Metropolitan and Whitney Museums in New York and other museums in various cities.

Babson Says-- Country's Future To Be Most Prosperous

Babson Park, Mass., April 30—We still have a long way to go before this Global War is ended, but I am optimistic. The longer the war lasts the nearer its end. Some are impatient over the slowness with which a "second front" is being opened; but in Africa, in stepped-up Allied bombing of the Continent and in other ways we already have a second front. The lives of many men are being saved by cautious and thorough policies. I have great faith in our military leaders and have no arm-chair recommendations to make them. As an economist, however, I am justified in looking forward to some of the opportunities awaiting us. Winston Churchill has predicted that at the end of the war, the British people will have at their disposal more money per capita than ever before in the nation's history. Likewise in the United States the average person will have considerably more money on hand and far greater purchasing power than ever before. Billions of dollars have been spent in manufacturing destructive war materials during the past three years. While much of this war material is consumed or lost, yet its monetary cost has not been lost. Money can never be destroyed, although its purchasing power may decline. It simply changes hands or takes a new form.

I believe that sufficient cash or credit will be available in our post-war period to handle easily the change-over from armaments to consumer goods. Great new manufacturing enterprises should arise to accommodate the expansion for civilian use of new technological processes now being developed by our scientists. Employment can be available for all if the government will encourage employers to expand and develop new markets. Most bankers, merchants and investors are now being rapidly outpaced by the scientists. Physicists, chemists, engineers and others with highly specialized technical backgrounds are bringing about a changed world. This new post-war world is already clear to the young mind, but it will take most readers a little while to appreciate the materials, processes and improved ways of living that we shall have.

More than anything else, scientific research to find new materials and new methods of expanding production will preserve our free enterprise and save our nation from a slump. More jobs can originate in our laboratories, after the war, than can be supplied by a resumption of government aid through Works Progress Administrations. There is no doubt but what private industry, which has learned so much in the last decade, will be able and ready to assume the problems of returning service men and other factors involved in our change-over to civilian living.

All industry asks is that the government (Editor's Note—He means New Dealers) stop persecuting and abusing it. We even remove the checkrein from a horse when it is pulling up-hill. The most recent real estate boom was in Florida in 1924-26. During my visit there this past winter I could not help but notice the advantageous position held by people who owned real properties. This is likewise true in other sections of the country. I am not, however, as optimistic on large city properties as I am on certain farms and realty in small communities. Yet the upward trend in values of city properties has been marked for some time by rising prices for real estate bonds.

Unlike past real estate booms, any coming new boom will be financed on a much sounder money basis. Land purchased will be paid for with Uncle Sam's notes rather than with the notes of "Tom, Dick and Harry." Funds now being raised by the government and represented by War and other types of government bonds will become legal tender. Much of this money will ultimately be invested in the purchase of land and the building of new homes. Certainly, there will be a great revival in the manufacture and use of automobiles. At first few changes will be apparent; but in a few years many radical changes will be made in style and in materials used. Largely because of their lightness, aluminum and plastics will take the place of much steel and iron. Gas engines will be smaller but greatly improved. I foresee the day when the average car will get 40 to 50 miles per gallon of gasoline; and will add that the price of gasoline and the price of automobiles may even be lower. The field of aeronautics is developing at a tremendous rate. Most of us are agreed that we shall see large freight and passenger-carrying clipper planes reaching almost every point of the earth. With over a million young men learning to fly and with a great margin of safety being built up, anyone who can learn to drive a car will also be capable of handling a small plane for his personal use. The helicopter type of plane appeals to me very much in this latter connection.

If I took this war to teach us that we can make synthetic rubber and other products. This makes us independent of the East Indies and Germany. Adequate substitutes for quinine, for example, are already in use; and we have found substitutes for hemp which formerly came only from the Philippines. We are now manufacturing our own potash and nitrogen generally used in fertilizer and in insecticides. Thus, agriculture, particularly through the science of chemistry, faces a most hopeful future.

Radio as we know it today will be replaced by television. Thousands of people are now being prepared to become customers, manufacturers and distributors of new electronic equipment. Space allows for the consideration of only a very few of the wonderful tools and services that will be made and used in the post-war era. As I consider them my enthusiasm for the future steadily increases provided we have an accompanying spiritual awakening.

Life Features "Jango" Teacher

She's Daughter-in-law of Local Residents

And what place in America makes the cover page of Life magazine more often than does Plymouth?

Not so long ago a picture of a Plymouth soldier lad while he enjoyed a soda with a famed actress was the cover page attraction. In last week's issue the first page cover featured Mrs. James F. Meier, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meier, 844 Ross street.

Mrs. Meier was shown conducting the "capping ceremony" of a "Jango" graduate at the Doctor's Hospital in Washington. Mrs. Meier, who is the wife of a son of Mr. and Mrs. Meier of this city, has been assistant director of nurses of this famed Washington hospital since it opened. Her husband is at the officer's training school at Fort Benning, Georgia. When he entered the army, she decided to return to her old profession and was almost immediately placed in an administrative position at the hospital.

The "Jangos" is a new profession of young girls who have joined the Junior Army, Navy Guild organization in an effort to relieve the critical nurse situation that has developed since the beginning of the war. Mrs. Meier

The ways and means committee is planning a cook book of favorite recipes of each boy and girl in service. On Mother's day, the Moms will attend the Salem Federated church. Rev. Pennell is a member of this club. Anyone wishing transportation call 527-J.

In 1942, despite the stress of war, younger Russian readers were provided with 173 new books, and their total distribution was 36,851,000 copies. Average daily listening time for radio programs has increased from three to five hours on farms since the beginning of the war.

25 Years Ago

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

Plymouth has gone over the top on the Liberty Bond sale, and the $93,295 quota has been passed and then some. The local board has moved their headquarters from the council chamber in the village hall, to the suite of offices on the second floor of the Penniman-Allen auditorium on Penniman Ave. J. H. Patterson, contractor and builder of this village, has been awarded the contract for building Farmington's new school building.

The annual meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star was held in Masonic Hall, last Tuesday evening. An election of officers took place as follows: W. M., Maude Schrader; W. P., C. H. Rauch; A. M., Carrie Hillmer; Secretary, Luella Chappell; Treasurer, Carrie Lombard; Conductress, Grace Bennett; A. C., Ermah Tiffin. Joe Hance, Lee Sackett, Floyd Eckles and Harry Mumby were home from Camp Custer, Saturday and Sunday. The removal of the Valentine house on Main street removes one of the landmarks of the village. Just how many years this house has been built we are unable to learn, but the original part of the house was one of the first frame houses erected in the village. Perry Woodworth has commenced the building of a new house on Main street. The Lutheran Young Peoples Society gave a farewell surprise party for Edward Drews, at his home on Starkweather avenue, Tuesday evening. Edward Drews with the contingent Monday morning for Camp Custer. Born, a son, to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dunn, Wednesday, April 24. We are sorry that Mr. Chambers of Newburg is tearing down his blacksmith shop and is taking it to Plymouth to put into a garage. Mrs. Harry Atchinson, Mrs. H. Doane and Mrs. Charles Kensler of Salem were Northville shoppers, Thursday. Civilian per capita food consumption in 1943 is expected to be about 3 per cent more than the average for the 1935-39 period but 6 per cent below the average consumption of 1942. Operation of the refrigerator car pool by American railroads saved almost 45 million empty refrigerator car-miles in the last four months of 1942.

The Farmer, The O. P. A. and the Locker Plant Operator

Prior to meat rationing you, Mr. Farmer, asked us many questions and so did the O.P.A. We, of the Michigan Refrigerated Food Locker Association, through our National President, Mr. Titus, answered official Washington that the lockers are not a means of hoarding, but a way to properly preserve fresh foods and eliminate waste and that if the farmer was put on his honor he would cooperate with rules and regulations as a good American.

Now is the time to substantiate these statements. Uncle Sam says that you, Mr. Farmer, may dress your own meats for your own use and no questions asked. This is a real privilege in these war days, so please don't abuse it, just follow these few simple rules. Govern your own use of meat in order to give our boys on the fighting front their just share. DON'T give away your unused red ration stamps, bring them to me and I shall be glad and proud to turn them into the ration board with your name (a receipt for all stamps turned into the board will be at our store for your inspection any time) and forward a list to our state and national association.

LET'S COOPERATE

Let's do the right thing.
Let's turn in the unused ration points now.
