What I Think and Have a Right to Say

By ELTON R. EATON
"We Told You So"

It begins to look as though the chickens are coming home to roost. Some 20 members, past and present, of the state legislature have been indicted for graft. Able Judge Leland Carr hints that the work of the grand jury has not yet been finished.

No, we do not like to rejoice over the tribulations of mankind. We are finding, however, considerable gratification over the facts being revealed in Lansing. Among those who have so far been indicted are many, very many of the political polecats we have battled for years, including the Detroit members of the Wayne delegation.

Well does the writer remember the day that he made a final effort to get out of a senate committee a measure which would have ended immediately—and for all time—the McKay domination of state politics.

And well do we remember the surly, nauseating attitude of the senator from Hamtramck, and of the back-tracking of Senator Jerry Logie of Bay City, who had informed the writer that he was for the measure and then when the showdown came, voted against reporting the bill out of committee.

It isn't quite polite, maybe, to discuss matters of this type before the grand jury has completed the splendid work it has started. It had been our intention to say nothing until the final wash had been hung on the line—but results so far have been so gratifying that it is difficult to refrain from expressing our sentiments.

Editor DeFoe's Question

Senator Muri DeFoe in his excellent political column in the Charlotte Republican - Tribune asks if Senator Vandenburg's boom for McArthur for president is "tactical stuff as an individual or is he pretending to speak for the Republican party in Michigan?" We would like to ask the Charlotte editor a question about his question—Why ask a question when you know its answer?

A Good Endorsement

About the best endorsement that Wendell Wilkie has is the fact that Gerald L. K. Smith, who crawled out of Huey Long's Democratic slime in Louisiana to hook up with the McKay mob of money grabbing politicians in Michigan, is opposed to him.

Discovered Again! Doc Haber!

Well! Well! Of all things! We see by the United States News where our old friend Doc Haber is back into the "pictures" again. This time it is in connection with the nation's war manpower commission. We do not know what his "take" might be in connection with this job, but Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer can rest assured that it is a plenty, providing he has free access to the nation's expense account sheets.

In former years up in Lansing, they used to call these expense account claims the "swindle sheets." We do not know what they call them in Washington.

Good Hitler News

"Labor trouble is good news for Hitler," testified a self-confessed Nazi spy in federal court in Detroit the other day. It seems that everybody knows it, except the New Deal labor politicians, who want to take over perpetual control of the government. And who knows but what they may know it, too!

Thanks

The other day there came a letter to the "Editor" from the War Production Board in Detroit. It was marked "Official Business" and it was without postage stamps, like all "important" letters sent out by the government.

It advised that we were invited to an informal press conference at 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday, January 26, in Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's suite at the Book-Cadillac hotel. The "Special Assistant" to

Graft In The Legislature - 20 Members Indicted—What The Editor Of The Mail Said About The Loan Bill Mar. 17, 1939

Data Used In Debate In House Of Representatives Was Reprinted In Part In This Paper When Measure Was Pending In Legislature

By ELTON R. EATON

The following article appeared on the first page of The Plymouth Mail March 17, 1939. It was compiled from data that the writer, who was then a member of the Michigan state legislature, had used in a house debate in an effort to defeat a small loan measure. The indictment of 20 members of the legislature so far for accepting graft in connection with this measure, makes especially interesting just at this time the information we presented to the legislature at the time the bill was under consideration and which was published in The Plymouth Mail shortly after the debate.

The article published on March 17, 1939, follows:

LOAN OFFICIALS COLLECT FABULOUS SALARIES FROM INTEREST EARNINGS PAID BY PEOPLE IN FINANCIAL DISTRESS

Plymouth Representative Reveals Some Interesting Data to Members of the State Legislature

When an effort is made to do something for the poor fellow who now and then thinks it is necessary for him to borrow money for some needed purpose it seems that all the powers in the world are brought down in opposition to any attempt to help him. Last week there was before the state legislature a bill to regulate the conduct of small loan outfits operating in Michigan. The writer sought by amendment to reduce the exorbitant amount of interest these concerns take out of the pockets of the poor people who become their victims. To back up the contention that this interest rate could be lowered the writer of this article presented facts as to the salaries and bonuses paid many of the high-up officials of these loan companies who do not even live in Michigan.

Would it surprise you to know that during the year 1936, the last year the figures are available, that B. H. Henderson, president of the Household Finance corporation, received a total income of $102,400 for the year? Mind you, this sum does not include any dividend checks he received from the company.

That is $27,000 per year MORE than we pay the President of these United States!

Think of it! All made out of interest money paid by the poor devil who at times actually goes hungry in order to meet his interest payment on small loans.

When a person at the head of some industry, some concern that manufactures something, produces something for the good of the people, runs a factory or some concern that creates a product as well as labor, a high salary for the fellow with enough brains and initiative to do these things does not seem out of place.

But when such outrageous salaries are paid out of "earnings" made from money lending, it is something more than an insult to the people of this state and nation!

But that one income of more than one hundred thousand dollars per year is not all.

Ten other officials during the year of 1936—and that was during a year when taxpayers spent more than $20,000,000.00 in Michigan $224,900.00 in salaries and bonuses—received a total of more than $20,000.00 per year for each one of these officials. That is twice as much as we pay our United States senators.

What about the other personal finance concerns operating in Michigan?

The Beneficial Industrial Loan, corporation of Delaware is the holding company for most of them.

Charles H. Watts, who gives his address as Clearwater, Florida, is the president of this concern.

His salary for the year during 1936 was $86,300.00!

O. W. Casperman, vice-president and a resident of Andover, New Jersey, received a salary of $41,399.00.

Clarence Hodson II, another vice-president, who resides in Hemet, California, has a salary of $23,100.00 from the holding company.

These staggering figures were made known to the members of the legislature by the writer. A very slight reduction in the interest rate was forced, but it could be lower and SHOULD be lower.

Notwithstanding all of this bunk about the New Dealism and its benefits to the average citizen, it just seems impossible to get the things done that WILL ACTUALLY HELP those who need help.

Maybe SOME DAY in SOME WAY something will happen so that the vast majority of people of this and other states will get the right kind of a break.

ington and do some digging in connection with old Doc Haber's salaries and expense accounts! There's one thing sure, he's one individual who will come out of the 12 years of New Dealism far better off financially than he was when the crackpots moved down on the banks of the Potomac.

the Regional Director of the War Production Board, advised in the letter that the wife of the President had accepted the invitation of Mrs. Dorothy K. Roosevelt who is "Director of Women's Activities in War Industries," to make a tour of war plants in this area.

We felt honored by the invitation, but we wondered as to the propriety of the use of official government stationery and the franking privileges of the post-office department to invite a country editor to a political discussion with Mrs. Roosevelt.

New President Of Kiwanis Starts Year With Big Minstrel

Paul Ramsdell

President Paul Ramsdell's administration as president of the Plymouth Kiwanis club is starting off with a bang—judging from the exceptional interest manifested in the big charity minstrel show staged last night at the Plymouth high school auditorium, and which will be repeated tonight.

Seldom has such an excellent show been rounded up in such a short time. Earl Harrison, an old-timer in the minstrel business, even though he has been one of the numerous victims of the flu epidemic, has performed miracles with a group of amateur actors.

There was a sellout for Thursday night's show, and it is expected that it will be repeated tonight. Every cent raised above the cost of production will go into the Kiwanis charity fund.

President Ramsdell has been one of the most active members of the Kiwanis club for years. His advancement to the presidency of this energetic and progressive Plymouth organization is regarded as a merited promotion for the good work he has done in past years.

Price Of Baking Soda Has Never Been Raised Or Boxes Made Smaller

Arthur Todd, pioneer grocerman of Plymouth, was discussing the grocery business under its newfangled regulations with a customer the other night.

The customer wanted a couple of boxes of baking soda, one for herself and the other for another person.

"Here's a funny thing," said Mr. Todd. "Baking soda is the only article we have in the store which has not varied in price since the war started and the boxes remain exactly the same size as they were years ago. It's one thing a customer can buy and feel as though he is getting his full money's worth," said Mr. Todd.

Had never thought about it before, but it looks as though this well-known South Main street grocer "knows his groceries."

Rooster Roosts All Day In Front Of Plymouth's Postoffice

"There'll be grass growing in the streets of American cities," it said back in 1932.

It proved true in Plymouth—local residents recall the grass that grew up between the cement blocks in the sidewalks and paving around the Connor hardware store shortly after the change of administrations.

But no one ever predicted that roosters would be roosting in trees right down town in this busy little city just previous to another national election.

All day long Wednesday, that rooster sat on a lower branch of a tree in front of the postoffice, viewed the traffic up and down the street, saw the busy crowds going in and out of the postoffice, and acting just like any New Dealer who wants to get by without doing anything to help earn his daily bread.

P. S.: Latest report says the rooster was tired of being cooped up all day long in Max Moon's backyard and decided to look over the possibilities of moving into the postoffice grounds for a permanent home.

Armstrong-Durfee Homestead Is Sold

The residence known for years in Plymouth as the Armstrong-Durfee home has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Smith of Ypsilanti, who plan to move to Plymouth after some alterations have been made. The transaction was conducted by John H. Jones, Howard Smith of Sheridan avenue is a son of the purchasers. The senior Mr. Smith has for more than 25 years been an employee of the Lincoln Motor company.

Free Theatre Tickets Will Be Given For Each War Bond Purchase

Effective from the moment you read this announcement, you can get a free ticket to either the Pennington Allen or Penn theatres for the purchase of a $25 war bond or more.

The tickets will be good next Friday, February 4, at either theatre, and is a new departure in theatre participation in the gigantic war bond rally.

No matter where the bond is bought; no matter from whom you buy it; no matter if it is a $25 bond or a $1,000 bond, you get one free ticket to either theatre just by asking for it, which is, in effect, a new dividend on the already large dividend payable on purchases of war bonds.

At the Penn the picture will be "Riding High," which features Dorothy Lamour, Dick Powell and Victor Moore.

At the Pennington Allen, the picture will be "As Thousands Cheer," an all-star cast with Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, John Bowles and Eleanor Powell.

So, any way you look at it, this is a good buy. If you buy the bond, and don't ask for the theatre tickets, it's a good investment.

But thanks to Harry Lush, manager of the two theatres, it's a better buy if you buy that bond now, and get the theatre ticket.

School Children "Gallants" Sell $75,000 In War Bonds In Two Weeks

With the Fourth war loan drive just a little half over the Junior Gallants of Plymouth public schools under the direction of Supt. George A. Smith and his staff of instructors, have sold more than $75,000 worth of war bonds to date.

"We're going to make it well over a hundred thousand," asserted Mr. Smith when he reported the remarkable success of the campaign so far.

"It just seems that every boy and girl in our schools is anxious to do everything possible to help in the war effort. I knew they would do a good job in this war bond drive, but the patriotic enthusiasm they have displayed has been an inspiration to everyone," he added.

It should be remembered that every school boy or girl who is selling war bonds is a "Junior Gallant," fighting just as hard to help our country win its fight against our enemies as the boys who have gone to the front.

Over $250,000 In War Bonds Already Sold—City Determined To Go Over Top

When women and children go to war, there is going to be but one result—and that is VICTORY.

With Plymouth's war bond campaign not yet half over, the total sales of bonds in this city today exceed $250,000, more than half of the quota assigned to this city.

Mrs. Walter Kellogg Sumner, general chairman of the various women's organizations conducting the drive, stated yesterday that she is delighted with the fine reception the people of Plymouth are extending to the workers.

But the women and children are not the only ones who are putting forth every effort to make the bond totals roll up. Bank employees, merchants, postoffice workers, city officials, factory workers, farmers, in fact every one seems determined to make the Fourth war loan drive a success.

Most Merchants To Open Stores Friday Evenings

Friday night is to become the big shopping night in Plymouth. Most of Plymouth merchants have decided that it will be of convenience to the fast growing section about here to keep their stores open Friday nights instead of Saturday nights.

It wasn't so long ago when Saturday night was the "big night" in every town in Michigan.

It was the time when folks from round about met on the sidewalk with their neighbors and talked over their affairs and did their shopping, not for the day, but the entire week.

But things do change! Effective immediately, according to an advertisement by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce in this issue of The Plymouth Mail, most of the stores of the city will be open Friday evenings instead of Saturday night.

That means Friday nights will become the big nights in this bustling little city of some 6,000 souls.

It all came about as a result of a petition filed by rural patrons of Plymouth stores with the local business organizations asking that this consideration be given them.

Granddaughter Of The Pecks Christen Great Power Dam

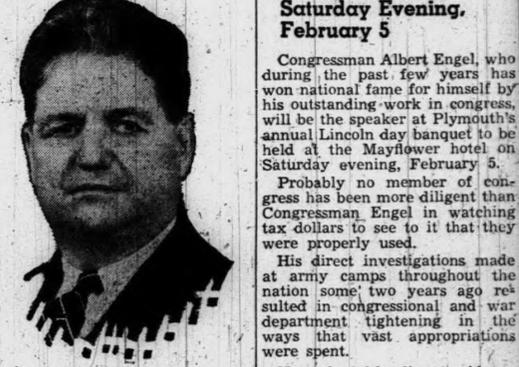

To little Jean Ann Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lloyd of Youngstown, Ohio, and granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. Luther Peck of this city, fell the recent honor of christening the new government dam at Youngstown, Ohio.

The bottle she swung as the great power switch was thrown open was wrapped in blue—and unlike many of the ship christenings, the bottle hit the right place and broke just as it should for such a notable event.

Present at the christening were numerous high Washington officials, among them being Senator Michael Kerwin. The little miss has often visited at the home of her grandparents in this city and has numerous young friends in Plymouth who will be pleased to know of her part in such an historic event.

Use Ohio Coal To Relieve Serious Shortage

Dealers And Officials Get Results From Their Pleas

To relieve the current coal shortage in the Plymouth area, more Ohio coal is being shipped in. At least three cars were received over the week-end.

Coal dealers are not at all certain just how much Ohio coal they will receive, nor whether that will in any way replace the normal supply of Pocahontas coal.

However, it now appears that the coal shortage has been somewhat relieved because of the action of the coal dealers themselves, and City Manager Clarence Elliott, who has been in contact for more than two weeks with the state Office of Civilian Defense, Congressman Dondero and Senator Vandenberg.

Through these combined efforts, the Federal Fuel administration has guaranteed that there will be no shortage of coal.

However, it was pointed out that patrons of the Plymouth fuel dealers may be required to take a ton of Ohio coal on occasion.

Here are the facts: There has been a tremendous influx of population into the Plymouth area, including Livonia township, the fuel for most of which is supplied by the Plymouth dealers. The federal government in its allocation of coal supplies failed to take into consideration this influx of population in allocating coal to certain areas.

The northeastern states of the nation have been required to convert their furnaces from oil to coal because of the fuel oil shortage in that area. Flues in these houses are not large enough to take the smokier brands of coal.

There has been a shortage in mine output due to the unpatriotic strikes of the miners last spring and summer.

How Supervisors From Plymouth Stood On Wash Candidacy

Supervisors Henry Hondorp and Stanley Corbett of this city and Charles Rathburn of Plymouth township have been reading with more than ordinary interest the grand jury proceedings that are taking place in Lansing.

They are especially interested because of the fact that they helped defeat the court house Democratic ring's scheme to try and elect Edward Walsh, one of the indicted state representatives, as a member of the Wayne county road commission recently to fill a vacancy caused by the death of John Breining.

However, Plymouth's membership on the board was not united on this position. It was Supervisor Ruth Whipple of this city who helped sponsor the candidacy of the indicted state representative and made the nominating speech in behalf of this Democratic candidate before the board of supervisors.

The out-county supervisors were almost unanimous in their opposition to Walsh, who now faces a state charge of being a grafter.

Will Collect Scrap On Feb. 3

Last Paper Collection Big Success

Plymouth's next scrap paper collection will take place on Thursday, February 3, according to Mrs. Esther Powell, chairman of the Plymouth salvage committee. The collection will be made by city trucks, as formerly, the small amount received by the city for the scrap going into the city's waste collection fund, where it rightly belongs.

Mrs. Powell states that on the last collection, more than 31,000 pounds were collected in Plymouth. That is the largest amount collected in any paper drive in the city.

The Scouts have collected 1,600 pounds up to the present and seven special stops have been called into the salvage chairman that will be taken care of on the next general pick-up in the city.

Tire Problem Grows Worse—Drivers Are Warned To Be Careful

The Plymouth War Price Rationing board warned again this week that the tire situation has in no way been relieved, that there is still a terrific shortage, and that new tires are being allotted only in the most dire cases.

Exceptional care should be taken of the present tires by all automobile owners, with recaps and retreads being attached when needed.

There is no indication when there will be an increase in the tire supply. National officials have indicated that although the synthetic rubber is being produced as fast as possible, it still is not coming through as it should.

Juvenile Crime Report Made

Data Shows But Little Increase Here

City Manager Clarence Elliott as submitted to the city commission a detailed report of juvenile delinquency in the city of Plymouth for the year 1943, together with a comparison with the year 1942.

The report was important because it showed comparatively little increase in actual delinquency, and because it showed comparatively little delinquency.

City officials believe that one boy in the city has been the ringleader for a number of escapades of young people, and his case has now reached the point where juvenile court authorities are planning to transfer him from Plymouth to some other field of activity.

City Manager Elliott also pointed out in his report that through the combined efforts of the school and the city police department, arrangements have been made for probation officers to make frequent trips to Plymouth to talk with those children which appear to be verging on delinquency. In this way, it is believed that some of the deceptions can be halted.

The report showed that in 1943 there were 12 children between 7 and 11 taken into custody for one reason or another. In 1942, there were 11. Between 12 and 16 years, there were 88 youngsters taken into custody in 1943, and 51 in 1942. The older age group, from 17 to 21, increased from 23 to 42.

Following is a tabulation of the disposition of these cases:

Petitions filed in probate court:
1943	1942
Age 7-11.....	none
Age 12-16.....	3
Age 17-21.....	3
Arrested in police or justice courts:
Age 7-11.....	none
Age 12-16.....	none
Age 17-21.....	14

Warned and released:
1943	1942
Age 7-11.....	9
Age 12-16.....	31
Age 17-21.....	3

Put on probation to police department:
1943	1942
Age 7-11.....	3
Age 12-16.....	13
Age 17-21.....	1

The report showed that the police department had made contact with every parent of every child taken into custody for whatever purpose during the year 1943, but the report pointed out that a broader concept for recreation is needed in the community.

and West Virginia, will be shipped to the northeastern states because it is a shorter haul. By the same token, the Ohio coal will be shipped into this area, because of the shorter haul for the railroads, which already are overcrowded.

The Plymouth coal dealers, who have been called upon to meet a heavier demand on their supplies, are permitted to sell only the same amount of Pocahontas coal this year that they sold last year, and they could sell last year only the same amount as they sold the year before.

The result was that there was not sufficient Pocahontas to go around. Thus, a new supply was demanded.

While it is admitted by the coal dealers that the Ohio coal is not as satisfactory as the Pocahontas, they point out that it is cheaper in price and will keep a house warm. One dealer said that it burned quickly, and there is considerable smoke—more than in Pocahontas coal.

A check of the heat content of the Ohio coal shows that it has a British thermal unit value of 13,670, while Pocahontas runs 15,600. Hard coal runs about the same thermal units as the Ohio coal.

Famed Municipal Planner Pictures The City Of Plymouth In Years To Come As Ideal Community Of 90,000 People

The January issue of Fortune Magazine prints a detailed map of the Plymouth of the future—a city of 90,000 people, living in a dream area, so to speak, in which everything will be convenient to everything else, in which transportation is planned, in which industries are centered in a particular area and in which recreation plays a dominant part.

The Plymouth of the future is the dream of Eliel Saarinen, an authority on city planning, located at the Cranbrook Academy of Art.

Actually the article does not go into great detail on what the Plymouth of the future will be, but from the published map, it is quite obvious that a great deal of changing must transpire before 1990 if the city is to become what Mr. Saarinen foresees for it.

Mr. Saarinen suggests what Plymouth can become through wise planning and in the article in no way recommends that his plans be followed exactly, Plymouth, so to speak, is a guinea pig, which forms the basis of his article on suburban planning.

Cities in the past just grew. Some of them have to a large extent planned for the future. Others have not. When some cities needed something, it was created by the city government, but there was still no actual planning. They still just grew.

From the published maps, Mr. Saarinen would leave the topography as a whole much as it is now, but Main street would be straightened, and would form the main thoroughfare of the city. It likewise would be the southern boundary of the civic center, which would be created in the approximate center of the city.

The industrial area would be to the east toward Detroit. The single home area would be in the northwest portion of the city, multiple homes in the south-eastern area. Recreation would abound to the north and the west.

The principal thought behind the article shows that Mr. Saarinen feels that the spreading process now creating disorder and reduction in real estate values should be in some wise regulated and guided by people who know how.

The program could be completed by easy stages.

What It Costs To Produce Milk

B. A. Hodge Gives Additional Data

B. A. Hodge, well-known dairy farmer of the Eight Mile road east of Northville, in the following article, provides additional information pertaining to the cost of producing milk.

This well-known dairy farmer says: "In my former article regarding cost of milk production I quoted estimates. Now I have a report of feed, milk, and butter-fat production taken from 77 herds by D.H.I.A. supervisors.

These supervisors visit the farms at regular intervals, weigh the feed, weigh and test the milk and advise the farmer as to kind and amount of feed to be fed for best results.

"First: These cows produced 8,570 pounds of 3 1/2% milk, which is about 40% above the average, showing they were high producers and therefore cheap producers; because three of these cows produced as much milk as four ordinary cows, as only three maintenance rations were used instead of four, which is a saving of 25% for maintenance.

"Second: 2,450 pounds grain fed for the production of 8,570 pounds milk is 3 1/2 pounds milk per pound of grain. This is almost a pound above the claims of feed dealers and experts.

"Third: 3,142 pounds hay for 199 days is 15.78 pounds per day; at $1.20 per 100 is... 1893

4,850 pounds silage for 199 days is 24.32 pounds per day; at $4.00 per 100 is... 0972

650 pounds other roughage for 199 days is 3.25 pounds per day; at $7.00 per 100 is... 0228

Total cost of roughage per day... 3093

2,450 pounds grain for 365 days is 6.71 pounds per day; at 3c per pounds... 2013

Total cost grain and roughage... 5106

8,570 pounds of milk in 365 days is 23.48 pounds per day; costing $1.06 for feed equals $2,175 per 100.

"In another place they give the cost of bedding at 5 cents per day. Adding this to the cost of feed as above—5106+.05=5606 for the 23.48 pounds milk or $2.387 per 100 pounds. The above costs are based on 8,570 pounds per year. If only 6,000 pounds were produced per year the cost per hundred would be at least 20 cents higher. If it costs the farmer $4.35 per day for feed to produce 200 pounds milk, what should he get for it to live like other people?"

Although nearly 25 army officers have been either successful or unsuccessful nominees for the presidency of the United States, no officer of the navy has ever been honored by such a nomination by a major political party.

When The War Clouds Roll Away

(By Mrs. B. C. Martin.)

This good old world won't seem so big when the War Clouds roll away.

We all will be more neighborly when the War Clouds roll away.

The seas will seem like duck ponds; The mountains, hills of home; The jungles, children's playgrounds; The desert with flowers strewn.

Some have gone to their Maker To help build Mansions there; Others are left to start a new world That all with them can share.

We'll all listen to one Captain, And obey His every word Of His promise of "Peace on Earth"

To His flock of human herd. Mothers will make the homes again, Fathers will earn the bread, Brothers and sisters will rest and hope For a better world ahead.

We'll join hands with peaceful In a prayer of gratitude Nations For God, our home and loved ones, For Victory and for food.

When the War Clouds roll away And the sun shines through, We'll wipe all tears of sorrow And begin a life anew.

Away with all worldly things, And work to save more souls; Don't strive for selfish honor, But spread the Gospel Roll!

Away with all this cursed strife Of lucar, drink, and sin; Open wide your heart to God, He will strengthen you within.

He will give you hope and courage, He will guide you safely through, He has done just that for thousands; He will do the same for you.

So those of us who God has spared From a grave of bloody war, Let's put our shoulders to the wheel And help each other more.

Steam the boats into harbor, Bring our loved ones safely home To a victorious reunion, Never more we'll want to roam.

Just remember when you're gazing Through a mist of pain and loss, There would be no Resurrection If it were not for the Cross.

If along life's sunny pathway You have found some saddened day, May the heartaches be forgotten When the War Clouds roll away.

Uses Daisy Air Gun As Harpoon

Famed Author Tells How To Land Small Fish

A Plymouth product that has made the name Plymouth, Michigan, known around the world—the Daisy air rifle—is mentioned in a book entitled "Twenty Modern Americans" that is now in the Plymouth branch of the Wayne County library.

This book, which briefs the lives of outstanding Americans including Walt Disney, Richard Byrd, J. Edgar Hoover, Helen Wills, The Mayos, Walter Chrysler and Bill Stout among others, gives the highlights of the work of William Beebe, the outstanding scientist and author.

Beebe, curator of ornithology for the New York Zoological society and director of the department of scientific research, has become especially noted for his deep-sea explorations, conducted at a greater depth than any other marine explorer. In 1934, he and Otis Barton reached a depth of 3,028 feet near the Bermuda islands.

Beebe is known as one of those entirely unassuming naturalists and scientists who take the things they do as part of a day's work and don't let himself get worked up over his outstanding deeds performed in the deep in the interest of science, even when he knows he has done things never before done by any living man.

In his diving exploits Beebe never refers to his submarine explorations in any other way but "let's go down and bother the fish a little." It is in the chapter in "Twenty Modern Americans" devoted to his work and entitled "Bothering the Fish" that the mention of the Daisy air rifle is made.

The particular paragraph states, "Another interesting sight was the tiny fish called the 'dmoiselle.' This particular creature was quite vain. She made a complete change of clothing from head to foot about 6 o'clock every night. For afternoon wear she favored a color scheme of brilliant yellow with blue underneath. As evening came on she would gradually discard this dress for a more somber coal-gray gown with dark vertical bands. To capture these specimens, Beebe used several methods. The most successful for the small fish was a tiny harpoon which he shot from a Dairy air rifle.

Thus is the name of one of Plymouth's oldest and first famous products recorded for all time in the annals of biography of America's most outstanding pioneers in the realms of science, exploration and industry. Plymouthians who take pride in the growth and glory of our city will, we know, be interested in knowing of this reference.

For the biscuits, replace two of the tablespoons of fat with four of peanut butter; in cupcakes use half of the fat called for in the recipe and make up the difference with peanut butter; and for drop cookies, use the peanut butter as substitute for all the fat.

Sgt. Floyd McAlister has returned to the army base at Richmond, Virginia, where he has been stationed for the past year or so. The furlough he has just enjoyed with his old friends and relatives in Plymouth is the first one he has had in many months. The sergeant says Richmond is an intensely interesting city, that the residents treat the soldiers mighty fine and he has thoroughly enjoyed his stay in that locality. President Alexander Ruthven of the University of Michigan is not the first educator in this state to issue a warning pertaining to the danger of national bureaucratic control of public education in America. Supt. George A. Smith, for years one of Michigan's prominent educators, has warned of the encroachment of federal bureaucracy in educational matters. Speaking on a national radio hookup, President Ruthven gave to the nation a warning that centralized control of education may bring about a United States bureaucracy having most of the evils of fascism. What really is needed is a wider distribution of education, according to Dr. Ruthven. He said that efforts in this direction should be a part of the war effort and not be postponed until after the war. "The greatest dangers before the United States at this time," Dr. Ruthven said, "are that education will not quickly be given a wider distribution and that a narrow, rigid, formal rule by government clerks will be established. "We should be careful that in our fight for freedom we do not win the battles in the field and fail of our main purpose by building a bureaucracy which has most of the evils of fascism." Describing the major objective of the war as "liberty for the individual within the bounds of respectable communal living," Dr. Ruthven declared that "education for all" is of prime im-

"Totalitarian systems of government assume that the people are not qualified to govern themselves," he continued. "Democracy, on the other hand, rests on the belief that the people of any nation can be trained for the responsibilities of self government, shouting dictators to the contrary notwithstanding. "Not always is it seen, however, that a requirement of effective rule by the people is education for all. "If we insist upon training the people to rule, which can only be done, of course, if our educational agencies can be kept free from centralized control, then we may ensure social progress through evolution instead of revolution. "Dr. Ruthven called upon the schools, churches, press and radio to work more closely together in better preparing people for intelligent self rule. "America is fortunate today in having comparatively well developed the four great educational agencies—the school, the church, the press, and radio. It remains now for these four institutions to work more closely together to prepare our people as individuals ever better for the full measure of intelligent self rule which has been the ambition of man almost from his humblest beginnings." Episcopal Ladies Hosts To Northville League On Wednesday, January 26, St. John's Episcopal League entertained members of the other women's organizations of the church at a joint meeting and tea in honor of the newly organized Northville league of St. John's church. Members of the guild and altar guild were also guests. The double quartette of Plymouth high school, under the direction of Clarence Luethman, sang several groups of songs, after which Miss Neva Lovewell gave an interesting review of the book, "Brothers Under the Skin" by Carey McWilliams. It was decided to make these joint meetings regular events to take place every third month with each organization being in charge of one program during the year. The altar guild will act as hostesses for the April meeting. The sales of the E. F. and G series of the United States War Bonds, since first offered, May 1, 1941, to June 30, 1943, totaled $18,500,000,000, while their redemptions with interest amounted to only $835,000,000, or less than five per cent. More than 100 companies have already made application to the Civil Aeronautics Board for certificates or permits to operate a total of 350,000 miles of new domestic and foreign air routes after the war.

FBI Seeking Girls To Work In Washington

If you are a girl 16 to 40 years old, have had a high school education, and would like to help the FBI combat sabotage and crime by working for it at Washington, D. C., here is your chance. R. A. Guerin, special agent in charge of the eastern Michigan district of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has announced that there are many openings for girls and women with good records in the identification division of the bureau at its Washington headquarters. Typing or stenographic ability is not necessary, since the work is chiefly clerical and filing.

Applicants need not be concerned about the difficulties of finding living quarters in Washington, for the FBI assures applicants of desirable accommodations in government dormitories at $24.50 a month, and says that accommodations are available also in private apartments and rooming houses. Work in the identification division is mainly concerned with handling the records and fingerprints of millions of persons listed and indexed in the FBI index.

This work has increased tremendously within the last two years, since records are now kept of millions of civilian and government employes as well as of criminals. The positions are not merely for the duration of the war, but are permanent.

Full details of the work may be obtained by addressing R. A. Guerin, Special Agent in Charge, 913 Federal Building, Detroit 26, Michigan.

A Fort Worth undertaking firm has applied for a permit to fly funeral parties in helicopters as a regular service; and a Los Angeles cemetery has nearly completed its own helicopter field for funeral processions that are soon expected to arrive and depart by air.

Roosters Find Friend In Court

Can Crow If They Want To Anywhere

Roosters, crowing roosters, have come into their own these days—not only in Plymouth, but out in the great, rapidly growing city of Los Angeles.

That's according to Manager Wickens of the Specialty Feed Products company, 901 Haggerty highway. The other day Mr. Wickens found it necessary to make a business trip to Baltimore and

New York. He purchased a copy of the New York Times to busy himself as he rode along between the two cities.

Right on the first page of the New York paper was a newspaper dispatch from Los Angeles which told of the victory of the crowing rooster over some folks who didn't like to hear the rooster crow so early in the morn.

"Yes, sir," said Mr. Wickens, "crowing roosters are as welcome in Los Angeles as are the pretty gals of the motion pictures," as he handed the clipping to the editor of The Plymouth Mail.

And this is what the Los Angeles dispatch said:

"Unable to solve the problem of which came first—the hen or the egg—or why is a rooster, the city council and Mayor Fletcher Bowron today were locked in a word battle with the mayor catching most of the eggs.

"The council decided the rooster must go and adopted an ordinance proscribing them from residential areas. Mayor Bowron vetoed it. It would prevent chicken raising in most backyards of the city," he said. Councilman Harold Harby jumped up and shouted:

"The mayor doesn't know a chicken from a hole in the ground!"

"Roosters, Councilman Vernon Rasmussen said, haven't anything to do with chickens. You just buy the little chicks. They grow up and you get rid of the roosters and the hens lay eggs and that's all there is to it."

"They keep roosters around not because they need them to increase egg production, but because they think the hens will feel better," he added.

"Mayor Bowron admitted roosters couldn't influence egg production but didn't see why a man who just wants a few eggs to go with his bacon, if he has any, shouldn't have to buy small incubator chicks from large poultry raisers."

The party will be held in the Ship Ahoy room of the Jewel and Blach hall. Entertainment and refreshments will be provided. It was announced by Horace Thatcher, chairman of the combined groups.

This is the first meeting since the Christmas pageant, which was presented with such success at the high school auditorium.

Although the evening is planned as one for entertainment, as a sort of reward for those who have participated in the organization up to this time, some plans for the future will be made.

Mr. Thatcher said there have been some requests for establishment of art and folk dancing divisions of the civic group and that this will be considered at the Tuesday evening session.

Although everyone is invited and it is not absolutely necessary to notify the committee in advance, all those persons who can be asked to notify Mrs. Morris Woodworth (413-J) before Tuesday evening, whether or not they will attend.

Horace Thatcher Returns From Market

Horace Thatcher of the Blunk & Thatcher furniture store has just returned to Plymouth from a widespread buying tour in the major furniture markets.

He reports that he was able to purchase a large supply of good furniture at the Grand Rapids, Chicago, New York and Jamestown, N. Y., markets. The merchandise which is expected is all of standard quality, he said, pointing out at the same time that there is a considerable amount of the cheap war-merchandise being offered to indiscriminating buyers.

Mr. Thatcher said he had investigated the upholstered furniture market at length, and that while some new merchandise will be equipped with steel springs, they will not be available for from 60 to 90 days, and even then only in limited quantity.

He also stated that at the markets, he was not permitted to make selections of the fabrics that he wanted, or the patterns he wanted, but that the construction was all that could be desired.

In addition to a shortage of lumber, much of which the government has claimed for war purposes, there is also a labor shortage, which may reflect on the furniture of the future, although it has not materially affected that which will be shipped to Plymouth.

Kalmbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kalmbach of Rosedale Gardens, were united in marriage Wednesday evening, January 5, in St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church. Rev. Edgar Hoenecke performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock before an altar lighted with tapers and decorated with palms and baskets of white mums and snapdragons. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Marion Luttermoser sang "O Promise Me," and was accompanied on the organ by Robert Bartel.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white satin trimmed in lace. A tiara of orange blossoms held her finger tip veil in place. She carried a bouquet of gardenias centered with two orchids.

The maid of honor, Miss Lois Hoffman, cousin of the bride, wore a gown of light blue and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Marilyn Kalmbach, sister of the groom, and Miss Kathryn McKinney, cousin of the bride, were gowned alike in pale pink. They carried bouquets of pink roses.

Sheron Ann Kalmbach was flower girl and was dressed in a floor length gown of pink net and carried a bouquet of pink and blue flowers. David Melow, nephew of the groom, acted as ring bearer.

Lieutenant Kalmbach was attended by his brother-in-law, Donald Melow, as best man. The ushers were Warren Hoffman and Charles Schaffer, cousins of the bride. Mrs. Rohde, mother of the bride, wore a seafoam green crepe dress with black accessories. Mrs. Kalmbach, mother of the groom, wore a soldier blue dress with hat to match. Both wore corsages of gardenias. A reception was held for 200 guests at the Rosedale Gardens club house.

Lieutenant Kalmbach is stationed at Camp McCain, Mississippi.

Root vegetables are good for winter meals. To get the most vitamins, minerals, and flavor from them, cook them in boiling salted water, about one teaspoon to a quart of water. If they're young, use just enough water to keep them from sticking to the pan.

ROUGH 'N TUMBLE SPORTSWEAR NEEDS THOROUGH CLEANING

Take good care of the sports clothes you have, so you'll be able to finish the winter without replacing them! Keep them clean so you can economize by not having them cleaned too often; but remember that if they are dry cleaned before they get too soiled, you can be sure of better results. We'll be glad to keep your winter sports things sparkling—but please allow a full four days' cleaning time.

Bread Demonstration Given At High School

Miss Emma Dubord, Wayne county extension agent, gave a demonstration on the art of bread making Thursday, December 13, at the high school.

Miss Dubord got this recipe many years ago from a home economics teacher and has improved it greatly. She said the basic equipment needed for making bread is: a mixing bowl, bread board, quart measure cup, measuring and mixing spoons, spatula, flour sifter, baking tins, cooling rack, thermometer, bread knife with serrated edge, flour scoop, and two measuring cups.

The recipe Miss Dubord used for making white and whole wheat bread is: White bread—1 T. salt, rounding; 2 T. sugar, rounding; 1 T. fat, rounding; and 2 c. warm water. To this mix- ture add 1 yeast cake dissolved in 1/2 c. lukewarm water. After this is done add 2 quarts flour.

For whole wheat bread use 1 1/2 yeast cakes dissolved in 1/2 c. lukewarm water, 1/2 c. brown sugar, 1 quart whole wheat flour and 1 quart white flour and follow recipe for white bread. Bake at 400° for 30 minutes, then 375° for 45-50 minutes.

Miss Dubord said rounding measurements must be used, except for water, and use no more than the recipe calls for. When making whole wheat bread, use all the whole wheat flour and the white that is NEEDED. Some flour absorbs more moisture than others, so some times all the flour does not have to be used. Always use enriched flour.

The bread is slow in rising, one may use 1 1/2 to 2 times more yeast the next time.

There should not be a draft in the kitchen and when the bread is rising put on warm stove or on top of a radiator at 85°; use warm utensils. If the bread is to be kept for two or three days in the refrigerator, punch the dough so the bread will not have a coarse texture.

Bread must not be kneaded too much, and edges must be folded over and sealed. It should rise thoroughly for a half hour before being put in the oven.

To make sweet rolls use 1 1/4 c. fat, 2 1/2 c. sugar, 2 to 2 1/2 yeast cakes and use preceding recipe.

For variations of bread add raisins, nuts, wheat germ, soy bean meal, candied or dried fruits. If wheat germ is added, keep out 1 c. flour and add 1 c. wheat germ. If soy bean meal is added, use 1 part soy bean meal to 4 parts regular flour. If candied or dried fruits are added, use more yeast because additions slow up the process.

A loaf of the white bread was cut and passed to the audience and the bread was judged according to texture, taste, color of bread, and lightness.

The two loaves of whole wheat bread made by Miss Dubord were won by Mrs. Dickerson and Mrs. James Joy.

Hesco Valentine Silver Tea Feb. 8

The Hesco club is giving a Valentine silver tea on February 8 at 4 p.m. for the mothers of the Hesco club members and the teachers of Plymouth high school.

The committee members are: For menu, Betty Lou Arnold, Joan Miller and Louis Thomas; program, Nancy Proctor, Pat Keyhoe and Doris Sawtelle; decorations, Kay Fisher, Muriel Woods and Edith Nolte; invitations, Juanita Petty and Gertrude Mulry; clean up, Phyllis La Vergne, Jean Ann Livernois and Rosemary Miller.

Register Now For Blood Bank

Today, not tomorrow, is the time to call Mrs. H. R. Penhale and advise her that you will register as a blood donor for the American fighting lads when the Red Cross blood unit comes to Plymouth February 23.

The unit will be at the Masonic Temple between the hours of 3 o'clock in the afternoon and until 7:15 in the evening. Mrs. Penhale's phone number is 252-W.

More than 30,000 persons must contribute blood to the Red Cross each week to meet the requests already made by the army and navy, states Mrs. Penhale.

"This appeal," she declared, "gives every able-bodied resident of Plymouth a chance to help our men on the battlefields and at sea. Warships throughout the war zones carry blood plasma. Every army medical unit carries blood plasma with it."

"In the first world war there was high mortality among the casualties. In many cases, this was because at critical moments there was not sufficient blood for life-saving transfusions. Confused conditions in the wake of battle are such that it is virtually impossible to obtain adequate quantities of whole fresh blood, properly typed and ready for use."

"During the North African campaign, according to a report made by Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general of the army, plasma was the foremost lifesaver used by the army medical corps," states Mrs. Penhale.

She assured donors that contributing a pint of blood is simple and after a short rest the donor feels as fit as ever. Volunteers must be between 18 and 60, but donors between 18 and 21 must have a parent's consent form filled out. These can be obtained from the local Red Cross, she added.

"Dried plasma," Mrs. Penhale said, "has many advantages over whole blood. It keeps longer, requires no typing, is transported easily without refrigeration, and is easy to use in transfusion. Production of dried plasma makes it possible to bring the transfusion to the patient under battle conditions where it would be impossible to give a direct whole blood transfusion."

Odds And Ends

The LAM Service club has taken on a new project under the guidance of Mrs. Straesen, the school nurse. One girl will be in the nurse's office each school hour to carry on when it becomes necessary for the nurse to go out on calls or to teach her classes.

The officers of the Girl Reserves, together with Miss Allen, Miss Lickly, Miss Fiegel and Mrs. Robert Willoughby, are meeting at Mrs. Lickly's home Monday, January 31, to discuss Girl Reserve membership and to select a council of women to represent them in the national organization.

The Girl Reserves will have a concession at the next basketball game with Marion Fisher as the chairman.

Although the girls at the Girl Reserve ice skating party did not get to skate because of water on the ice, they spent the evening at Dora Gruebner's home playing games and singing. Dora was the recipient of many gifts for her birthday.

One happy girl—singing lustily in the dark of Thursday morning on Church street? Was she going to or from work? A senior boy states that the St. Lawrence river flows into Hudson's bay! Even the war does not teach geography!

AMERICAN HOUSEWIVES WASTE enough food to feed AN ARMY OF 10 MILLION

- by buying too many perishables at one time
 - by overcooking or burning
 - by not using left-overs
 - by not using all edible parts of food—tops of greens, heels of bread, etc.
 - by forgetting food stored in the back of the refrigerator.
- These are some of the ways 15% of all food bought by the average family is wasted. waste now means want later

LET'S GET THIS SHIELD UP—

News of Our Boys In Uncle Sam's Fighting Forces Defending Our Homeland and Our Liberties.

PLENTY OF SNOW WHERE HE'S LOCATED

From Private John Thorpe, with the military police section of the army, came a note to The Mail the other day that he is now located somewhere up in Newfoundland, where there is plenty of snow and cold weather.

NEW SOLDIER HAS PRAISE FOR ARMY

Charles M. Pettibone, located at Camp Callan, California, for the past three months, has a lot of praise for Uncle Sam's army.

"If anyone could see all the equipment and supplies right here in this camp that has to be moved by motor, they wouldn't kick about being cut short of gas.

"I know the people of Plymouth are doing a fine job in buying bonds. I was drafted in February, 1941, but was put in 4-F, then volunteered eight months later and was accepted.

NOT EASY TO UNDERSTAND THE ENGLISH

Chase Willett, son of Mrs. Lena M. Willett of this city, a sergeant in Uncle Sam's army who is now in England, writes that it is not an easy thing to understand what the Englishman is saying to you, even though he speaks English.

"Sometimes, we have to ask them to spell out the words in order to know what they are talking about," wrote Chase to his mother a few days ago.

"It is quite pleasant in England, but nothing like it is in the good old United States," he said.

"Some of the regulations they have over here do not seem to make sense. Apparently they are made for the few and not for the many—and that spoils the thing for everybody.

"Speaking of meals, I am really getting them here. We have an organized officers' mess, and they really put out the food. The cost is just one-quarter of what we paid at Princeton for fare.

MISSING THE MAIL BAD AS MISSING MEALS

From Lieut. (j.g.) Tony Matulis, now stationed at Norton Heights, Connecticut, comes a letter stating that he has missed a number of copies of The Plymouth Mail since being transferred from Princeton university to his new location.

In a letter to The Mail, he says: "We are pained for home news; not to have The Mail is like missing meals, and you know what that means to a man of my appetite."

"They work us with no let-up here, but it's fascinating dope; mostly codes and ciphers. We have no physical drill at all. We are in classes from early morning until 9 at night with barely enough time off to eat.

"Louise has an apartment at 71 Van Buskirk avenue, Stamford, Connecticut. Noticed in the casualty list that the print Don Hunter's death was dated all casualties were marines and navy officers. I received a letter from Don during the holidays; in it he said that he was back on ship. I wonder if he lost his life in a navy encounter. I thought the world of that kid, and the thought that he won't be back seems impossible to hold. Best wishes for 1944."

GEORGE SHETTLEROE IN NAVAL HOSPITAL

Private George Shettleroe, who joined up with the U. S. marines some time ago, is at present in the naval hospital in San Diego because of an old hip injury. He writes that he is sure that after a brief stay in the hospital that he will be able to return to active military duty.

"It's difficult to express my gratitude for The Plymouth Mail, enjoy reading every line in it," he stated in his letter.

Do Not Write New Auto License Number On Gas Coupons

The Plymouth War Price and Rationing board announced this week that under current rulings of the Office of Price Administration that all gasoline coupons should be marked by the owners with the automobile license number at the time they are issued.

Dealers are forbidden to accept coupons unmarked, and regulations have been made more stringent in this respect.

At the same time, it was pointed out that those coupons which have been marked with old license numbers, and new license numbers have been changed, that the markings on the coupons should NOT be changed.

The new license number should be written on the cover of the coupon book, however, which may be shown to the filling station attendant when the numbers on the coupon are questioned.

Can You Picture MICHIGAN without Police? Today, we all owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to men and women in the uniforms of Uncle Sam's fighting forces. They're on duty today at the four corners of the earth and on all the seven seas—protecting our lives and our way of life. And we mustn't overlook the splendid job that other men in the uniform of our police forces are doing. Their "zone of operation" may be Michigan rather than the Mediterranean, it may be the highway to the next town rather than the airways across the Pacific, but their job is fundamentally the same—protecting us and ours. We in Michigan can indeed be proud of our police organizations—city, county or state. Most of us have few occasions to call upon the service of our police forces—but that in itself is a tribute to their efficiency. They're on the job day and night whether we need them or not. WHEREAS, The social and economic desirability of such projects must be based on well advanced planning and their design requires careful engineering study to produce working drawings and specifications for their construction; and

WHEREAS, It is essential that all political subdivisions of the State have a sound post-war construction program to meet the impact of unemployment; therefore, be it

RESOLVED By the Commission of the City of Plymouth, that the Michigan State Planning Commission request his excellency, Governor Harry F. A President is Born

HE is so small and helpless. So dependent on you for his life and well-being. And yet you are able to look at him and say—

"Someday he may be President."

Put it down as foolish sentiment. Put it down as parental pride. But where else in the world could you envision for your child the possibility of his attaining, one day, the highest office in the land?

Maybe your child won't make it. But one child, very much like him, will. One child out of the three million babies born this year—or the next—or the year after.

Whether or not he attains this high position is not so important. What matters is that here, in America, he is born with that opportunity. He is born in the stubborn tradition of free men—men who felt that in government, the wisdom of the many is preferable to the ambition of the few. He is born in a tradition of self-reliance—where he may succeed or fail, win or lose, rise or fall, according to his own efforts.

Because of that, you will train him to think for himself, to fight his own battles, to make his own way.

You will teach him that responsibility is inseparable from freedom. And that if he joins with other men in an enterprise he should demand the same responsibility and freedom for his business that marks his birthright as an individual.

Someday he may hear, as you have heard, voices that say, "Surrender your opportunity for the certainty that you shall always have bread"—as if man lived by bread alone. As if the country were better served by limiting all to mediocrity—instead of assuring to all, under law, an equal chance to rise by their own efforts, conscious of their obligations to others.

What that son of yours learns at your knee will decide whether or not he will ever have to bend his knee before dictation and tyranny.

And because of what you teach him, he too may one day look with that same foolish pride on his own son to say, "Someday he may be President—"

"Give Seven to Ten to the Service Men"

They're busy during the day. A few hours each night are about the only time they have to telephone. Wouldn't seem right if a casual call of yours held up a soldier's call back home.

Best way to avoid that is to play safe and not place any Long Distance call between 7 and 10 P. M. unless it is really urgent.

Tonight and every night, "give seven to ten to the service men."

NO MORE TUBERCULOSIS IN MY POULTRY!

"John and I are producing more eggs, healthier poultry, and more pork now. We're making more money, too. Tuberculosis in my flock was cutting down egg production. They say it's quite common and that hogs become infected from the hens.

"We got rid of tuberculosis in our flock and herd by... FIRST—Culling and selling all hens over 18 months old. SECOND—Replacing the old hens with pullets from TB-free stock.

THIRD—Cleaning and disinfecting the premises after removal of infected hens.

FOURTH—Keeping John's hogs and my poultry separate."

You, too, can do this!

Belle Covert Adams Dies In Detroit

The many former Northville pupils of Mrs. Belle Covert Adams of Detroit will be saddened to learn of her death following a two-week illness of pneumonia, which occurred Tuesday, January 18, at the King's Daughters and Sons home on Pierson street in Detroit, where she and her sister, Mrs. Minnie Parker, had been living for the past few months.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon, January 20, in the Armstrong funeral home in Detroit, with her pastor, the Rev. Andrew E. Kurth of the Redeemer Presbyterian church of that city officiating. Burial took place in Rural Hill cemetery in Northville.

She was beloved by all who knew her for her sterling character, her never-ending interest in all things good in life.

She will be especially missed by her former pupils, who honored her each year with a gathering, during the summer, when the highlight of the afternoon was a talk by "Miss Covert," as she was best known. They knew that each word spoken came from the heart and was spoken sincerely. Letters written by those unable to be present at these gatherings were read and cherished by "Miss Covert."

A number of these pupils were present at her funeral, among them being Mrs. Mable Freeman Dicks and Mrs. Pearl Little Dunn of this city.

News Notes Prepared By The County Agent For Farm Readers

(By E. I. Besemer)

Farmers desiring copies of Form 1040P to use in making out farm income tax reports may secure them by calling at the office of the county agricultural agent.

Every legitimate $10 expense that is overlooked in paying an income tax will cost at least $2. A well kept farm account book will help account for all expenses. No special type of account book is required. One devised by Michigan State college has been set up especially for income tax purposes. Ask for it.

War approved seed potatoes is a special designation for seed that has had one field inspection and will be inspected before shipment. These potatoes will give good seed for growing table stock where certified seed can not be obtained. A list of growers is on file with the county agricultural agent.

Farmers who use binder twine are promised supplies of a henequin-jute developed after Japanese cut off the usual supplies of manilla and sisal.

Early tests indicate satisfactory results in binding corn and rice straw, which leads makers to predict proper typing for wheat, oats, barley and rye. Knives mechanisms should be put in tip-top condition and properly adjusted so that trouble with the new type twine can be avoided if possible.

Farmers with livestock slaughter permits now may legally accept brown ration points ahead of the dates permitted in retail markets. The OPA ruling is designated to permit farm sales to consumers who have enough stamps in ration books to purchase half a hog or perhaps a quarter of beef for use in cold weather or for putting into a freezer locker.

Pictures On The Wall

By Dorothy Rowland

Pictures on the wall
They can never be anything more now.
Just memories, past people we knew
Yes, that's all, the graduates who wore the white and blue.
They have known, and will know well
What it means to live or die;
To fight through hell—
These heroes of P. H. S. on a basketball floor
Are heroes now in a bloody war.
Some have fought and now shall live no more.
Remember Don Hunter? "Wheaties" to many
That's one of them that many of us knew.
He was a tall, lanky kid,
An alright fellow to his classmates.
A basketball and football player no more.
"Wheaties" was a swell kid.
He had to die.
A picture on the wall
Come to life no more—

Grads of Plymouth High
From the classes up to '43
And even those of '44
Do or will know well
The bitter realities of fighting a world war.

A separate snowflake falling to the earth
Is soon melted and destroyed to be no more
But many snowflakes together
Can cover hill and lane,
Street, and lawn, destroyed only by the power of time;

And such is war—

United we can fight on
Victory being our inevitable goal
But, alone we can not face the foe.
As our armies fight in companies and battalions
So we at home must do.
We must work, save, conserve,
Worship, cooperate,
Back those who
Are pictured on the wall
That still can come to life!

Each student here at P. H. S.
Is a slacker,
A cheat,
A traitor,
A failure to the cause,
An enemy to democracy,
A friend to freedom's foe
Who won't get out there and BACK THE ATTACK with all he's got
Who won't see that our goal is reached,
Who won't put our school name on an army plane.

Time is short—so is a soldier's life.
The goal is far—so is the way back home from a battlefield.

So, GET IN THERE AND PITCH!
Get those bonds
And get 'em now
Get behind those kids you know
And show 'em that these colors blue and white
Are colors that mean what they should.
That everyone who calls those colors his
Is made of what it takes, no matter what the case or cause.
Get in there and bring 'em back.
Get in there and slap it to those Japs.
Put a gin in a soldier's hand,
Give him that grenade he needs to throw.
Give him the food he needs to stay alive.
Give him what it takes to Win a war, to lick those dirty guys.

Pictures on the wall
That come to life no more.
Pictures on the wall
Friends of yours and mine

In our hands the decision rests
Whether more must die.
So give it all you've got

Pictures on the wall
Come to life once more
And we'll show you
We're not friends of the foe
We're your old classmates
Come to help bring peace
Once more to all.
So give us this chance
And we'll do our part.

Remember how we used to cheer them
As the team would come on the floor?
Remember how we used
To holler good and loud
"Yes team, FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT!"
Well now the cause is different
The yells are from the other side.
Can't you hear those kids
Wherever they may fight
Or wherever they may lie?
Can't you hear them holler
"Come on you pals from P. H. S.
GET IN THERE AND HELP US FIGHT!"

Purchases Land Right Of Way For Water Main

The city commission at a special meeting last Saturday night purchased the property across the present booster station for a new city water supply on a street from the owners for a stipulated price of $3,350, plus $1,750 in back taxes.

The owners were Glen Jewel, Frank Pierce and Charles ...

The city commission action was because of the necessity of obtaining a right of way for a water main from the new water supply to the tank in the center of the city.

The city health department had indicated it would not grant sewer rights to the owners for building purposes, because of the proximity of the water supply.

However, there was always the chance that the owners might get a court order for a sewer system on the property, which would require that the city condemn the property. In that event, it was felt that the property might cost more than to pay the current purchase price.

AAA Here Paying Off Farmers

Milk Producers Take Money, But Kick

Fred Ernest, chairman of the Wayne County Agriculture Adjustment Administration, arrived in Plymouth Tuesday morning, and with a secretary, installed himself in the lobby of the city hall for the purpose of paying dairy subsidies to farmers in the Plymouth area.

Mr. Ernest has made a tour of the rural areas of the county making agriculture subsidy payments. The payments were on the basis of 30 cents per hundred weight of milk produced, or 4 cents per pound of butterfat, dependent on the manner in which the farmer sold his milk to the market.

The payment for fluid milk for January will be on the basis of 35 cents a hundred weight, but there is no assurance that further subsidy payments will be made after the January payment. That is up to congress, which at the moment, apparently is in no mood to continue subsidies.

The first four farmers to appear at the city hall to receive their subsidy payments were grim in their disapproval of the entire program.

E. J. King of North Territorial road said: "I think the consumer should pay the difference, or at least the creameries and the truck drivers. They make more than the farmer does, and we have all the risk."

Charles Strebbing of Eckles road said: "I think the creamery should pay it. There's too much difference between what we get and what the public pays."

W. Butler, Eckles road, said: "It's not right the way it is. We have to pay it all back in taxes in the long run."

Sylvester Kranz, North Territorial road, said: "It isn't right, no matter how you figure it. The creamery should pay the difference, or let the Michigan Milk Producers association pay some of it back that they took. They've been going to get the farmer higher prices for a long time, but they never have."

Mr. Ernest said that the subsidies are being paid by the government to make up for the difference in the price of feed, which has increased materially.

Daddy Does The Washing—And What A Mess He Made!

This is the story about an unnamed individual about town. You'd hardly guess his identity, and The Mail is sworn to secrecy, but the incident did happen and this unnamed man has a red face and pink shirts.

Furthermore, they are the pink shirts imaginable. In fact, they are so pink that they have been entirely discarded.

The individual's spouse, having details to perform on Monday morning, suggested to her husband that perhaps he would like to help her with the laundry on Sunday evening.

"I suppose I'll have to," he replied.

And so of course he did.

So the water was prepared, and the washer filled with good, hot suds. The sheets were duly washed, and the husband called up the clothes chute, asking what went next.

"There's a pair of your shirts over there on the floor," the spouse replied.

The husband dutifully picked up the pile of shirts and placed them in the washer and turned it on.

He waited while they washed, but before he could get them out of the washer, the spouse arrived on the scene to inspect operations.

The washer was stopped. The lid was raised. And there in all their glory were the pinkest shirts ever devised.

"Good heavens," spouted the spouse.

"Pink heavens," replied the husband.

"There must be a pair of your socks in there," she went on.

And a thorough search revealed the culprits.

"I should have done it myself," she said.

"You told me the clothes were sorted," he said.

"But I picked them up a piece at a time," she said.

"You told me they were sorted," he insisted.

And then, in addition, the family possesses a regular "he-man" size and included in the washer of clothes was some of his underwear—now pink.

"He'll never wear it," she said.

"He'll never see it," he said.

"He'll take one look and yell, 'What the heck,'" she said.

And so that's why she went on a shopping tour to buy shirts for the husband, and underwear for the boy.

Savings Assn. Elects Officers

Prosperous Record Shown By Reports

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Plymouth Federal Savings and Loan association on January 19, the following officers were re-elected:

Edson O. Huston, president; William T. Pettingill, vice-president; Perry W. Richwine, secretary-treasurer.

It was the 25th annual meeting for the shareholders, and the first investor who invested in 1919, and the first borrower who borrowed in 1919 were present at the meeting.

The association has had 25 years of continuous growth, and has financed, or assisted in the financing, of 430 homes in Plymouth and the surrounding area.

The association was the third association in the state of Michigan to receive 100 per cent insurance from the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation.

At the directors' meeting following the shareholders' meeting, the directors voted to purchase $15,000 in fully paid United States government bonds in the Fourth War Loan drive, credit for the sale of these bonds to be shared by three of the local organizations who are taking active part in the bond drive.

Central Canning Center Planned

Rosedale Gardens-Plymouth May Unite

Possibility of establishing a central canning center in Livonia township to can the produce of all the victory gardens in the township, was advanced this week by Mrs. A. T. M. Petersen of Rosedale Gardens, township chairman for victory gardens.

Mrs. Petersen will present a complete report to the Rosedale Gardens Garden club at the next meeting, detailing what she saw on a trip to Battle Creek, which was attended by more than 200 township chairmen throughout the state.

Victory garden authorities from throughout the United States participated in the discussions, after which she and the others were shown through the Battle Creek canning center.

This is a large organization, canning 4,800 cans of produce a day, and Mrs. Petersen said obviously no such large place could be established in Livonia township. But she said a smaller one is entirely feasible.

Experts in such matters are available, and the state is planning a school for canners if sufficient interest can be established.

Babson Says --

Hard Times Are Ahead—Made By The Bureaucrats

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—The general public has been unprepared for the cancellation of war contracts. Exact figures are not known but these must total over 10 billions to date. Most affected are companies handling subcontracts. Now faced with overnight cancellations many dislocations occur. Unless new orders of some kind, either for war or peace, are quickly obtained large numbers of workers will be let out. Prime contractors in many instances are now hard pressed to keep their own plants operating. They offer little encouragement to subcontractors. Washington officials were perhaps wise in not tipping business off for patriotic reasons. Result, however, may be a too sudden transition. This should far better come by degrees.

Production Fallacies

The War Production board is calling for a 20 per cent increase in output in 1944 over 1943; but the bulk of this new production will be in airplanes and other specific items. The average reaction to this is that more employment will result and more money will be spent. Thus, it was expected that both profits and payrolls would be maintained. Actually the results will be quite different.

Undoubtedly the total expenditures for war work in 1944 will exceed those of 1943. The peak in wartime employment however has been passed. Reason is that once production is underway greater efficiency of operation results. More units of work per employe are performed and fewer employes are needed. The value of the goods produced stays up until renegotiation occurs. This last wipes out the increasing profit margin resulting from better trained employes and the gradual absorption of initial tooling and other costs.

Upsets Can Be Lessened

Business men need all the time they can get to work out postwar ideas and new production schedules. They are willing to care for 15,000 unemployed after the war; but this they cannot do overnight. Neither will they be able to operate efficiently or profitably under peacetime conditions if still subject to present government regulation, control and ruinous taxes. Our men at war are fighting for economic freedom and full opportunities for all peoples. Surely our own country should set the example.

Draftees expect and are legally entitled to their old jobs back. If, however, Washington fumbles its postwar plans as it is now fumbling the current domestic economy, these boys may be out of luck. No further time should be wasted in changing, wherever expedient, to peacetime production. Many business men have felt that the cancellation of war contracts would be only a postwar problem. It is already in their laps. If the war ended suddenly on all fronts, Washington authorities would immediately cancel 75 billions more orders!

Character of Planning Most of Washington's present postwar planning is in the nature of social security benefits and public spending. It will be up to the voters to decide what kind of a postwar era they want. They should elect to office, from the bottom up, men and women conscious of the part that business has played in bringing about the defeat of the Axis powers. This same business group is capable of winning the domestic battle for a profitable peacetime economy if Washington will let them.

For political reasons there is a lack of any definite statement at Washington as to what is to be done to help business men re-supply the millions who are being discharged as war contracts are cancelled. The White House apparently has lost all interest in the people of the United States. Besides, too many in Washington fear that if they relaxed their present harmful controls over business and employment, then there would be no Washington job left for them! They would have to go back home and earn an honest living! This they dread to do!

Encouraging Factors Political parties, bureaucracies and governmental controls can do much to help or discourage employment by their treatment of business in general. Therefore, some show of understanding and straightforward consideration of manufacturers' and other business men's problems is overdue from Washington. Certainly I do not see how many Democrats (other than the President himself) can expect re-election next Nov.

member with the country flooded with unemployment.

Yet such employment is not necessary. Farmers will be prosperous during 1944 and will constitute a ready market. Civilian goods shortages should help small businesses if the bureaucrats would only use a little common sense. Programs for the re-establishment of residential construction should at once get under way. The railroad equipment business should be encouraged. Money rates will remain low and abundant credit will be available for those justified in seeking it. As the end of the war draws nearer, opportunities will arise in foreign trade, travel and in the resort business. Yes, 1944 can provide much useful and profitable work if Washington and the labor unions would only help in pulling the cart instead of tying the wheels.

VICTORY'S SONS

Sgt. John Basilone
of the Marine Corps
N.I.

TITLE-yellow warriors were pressing in on the beleaguered Marines! Though man after man dropped as the Americans pumped lead from their Garands, the Japs were too many there on Guadalcanal. It looked like a lost stand for the Leathernecks.

Sgt. John Basilone, USMC, was sweeping the field with his machine gun. Despite the slaughter his weapon was making, the soldiers of Nippon came onward. He felt that they would soon get him.

His only protection was a little mound of earth. He needed a higher barrier if he was going to stay in the fight.

Filing the bodies of 38 friends and enemies into a wall, he crouched behind his machine gun furiously. When his magazines were empty, he seized an automatic and continued firing. Finally, the Japs wavered and stopped.

They don't know just how many Basilone killed, but this Italian boy from Raritan N. J., was credited with "playing a major part in the destruction of an entire Japanese regiment," when he was awarded the Congressional medal of honor.
