

What I Think and Have a Right to Say

By Eaton R. Eaton

AN EDITORIAL ESPECIALLY FOR PLYMOUTH LADIES
It's tiresome work, and it's hard and monotonous, folding and preparing bandages to be used back of the front line battle trenches to stop the flow of blood from the wounds of American soldier boys.

Yes, it's tedious to go down to the Starkweather school and sit there from 9 o'clock in the morning until 2:30 in the afternoon doing the same thing hour after hour.

But while the good ladies of Plymouth are doing this work, they can talk out loud. They can laugh, they can move about now and then and they can stand up without fear of a bullet crashing through one of the windows in their direction. In fact, it isn't quite so bad as it sounds.

It's tiresome work, and it's hard and monotonous, too, to fight suffer and tramp hour after hour, day after day, sometimes all day long and far into the night—fighting the enemies of America!

But American lads out on the fighting fronts do not complain. They do not go up to the fighting front one day and the next day stay away. They are right up there where they are the targets of determined killers every hour of the day and night. Week after week and month after month.

Over 200 Plymouth women registered to make bandages for use at the battlefronts. The Plymouth quota is only 10,000 of these little bandages per month, an exceedingly small number for such a patriotic city as Plymouth to produce. Our quota, say those in a position to know, should be something like 20,000 or 25,000 per month.

But have these 200 ladies who registered to do this work for the Red Cross made 10,000 bandages, per month.

No—we're sorry to say. The quota has not been made any month in the last year or so.

Please understand, no one is being scolded—we're simply trying to emphasize the fact that out of 200 women who registered to do this work, less than a dozen show up on Tuesdays and Thursdays to donate a little of their time in helping to save the lives of our fighting lads.

Every once in a while during the past year, there has been published on the first page of this paper an appeal to the women of Plymouth to aid in this highly important war work. During the next two or three days after these appeals have been made, there has been a slight increase in the number of the workers, but soon the number drops back to eight or ten or twelve.

Suppose our fighting lads followed the same rule—suppose they got tired and quit the battlefronts? What would happen?

The need for these bandages is far greater now than ever before. With another life added this week to the long list of Plymouth boys who have already been sacrificed on the nation's altar, it would seem that there would be a waiting line at the Starkweather school of hundreds of women anxious to get into the work room and do their bit for the boys at the battlefronts.

May we take this occasion to pay tribute to the Plymouth ladies who have not failed in this service to OUR BOYS. From the very day that the work room was opened several of these women have been consistent week after week, month after month, year after year in visiting the Red Cross work room twice each week helping to prepare bandages for use in saving the lives of our boys.

Yes, you are busy. You have lots to do, more than ever before. But isn't it possible to make your workdays a little longer, to neglect something you think must be done—and go over to the Starkweather school and help Plymouth make its quota of Red Cross bandages for wounded American fighting lads?

It is so important that you can well afford to neglect everything except your children.

Let's begin now to make our quota each month!

BINGAY COMMON SENSE

Malcolm Bingay, one of the outstanding editorial writers of the country, who preaches a lot of common sense, said a plenty about "classes" in one brief paragraph the other morning when justly taking the hide off of one of his critics.

Said Editor Bingay in his "Good Morning" column in the Free Press:

"As long as America remains America there will be no classes. America became great because there never has been a caste system. Brains and character are all that count and that is why there can never be any such thing as 'Society.'"

NO CREDIT FOR OTHERS

We heard the coming-out speech of Candidate Harry Truman, the President's running mate, the other night. If one was to accept the theme of his talk, there is just one person in the world who has had anything to do with winning the war, and that individual is the Nucleus candidate for re-election. The generals, the admirals, the marines, the navy and the army—all of these—have been mere scenery, according to Mr. Truman. We're perfectly willing to give credit where credit is due, but please, Mr. Truman, permit our famed fighting generals and admirals and the fighting youth of our land to have just a little credit for their part in the smashing victory we are about to win. In fact, Mr. Truman, if we had our way, our military organizations would get 99 percent of the credit. The other one percent we might let you have for your candidate.

OFF TO A GOOD START

We commend the high school students for the good judgment they have shown in deciding to have an advisory board consisting of high school student parents and one of the school faculty to act as an advisory board for the student recreation center. We are also pleased to know that they have decided that full supervision of the center by some adult is essential and will be provided. These steps meet our objection expressed when the matter was first discussed and when it was being proposed to have no adult supervision and that the committee was non-representative of the high school student body.

There is no one more interested in the welfare of the high school boys and girls than their own parents, and with the parents in control, we believe that the plan can be worked out most satisfactorily, especially with such an excellent committee as has been selected. This group consists of Mrs. George Chute, Mrs. Cass S. Hough, Miss Neva Lovewell, Roy Vershure and Carroll Cushman. The selection of Miss Lovewell as representative of the school faculty is a most fortunate one. With due respect to other teachers who have given especially good service, Miss Lovewell has won a place among the students that is outstanding.

The new organization also meets with the full approval of Mayor Stanley Corbett, who was one of the first to suggest such a project and who helped clean out the politics that was injected into the movement in the beginning.

With this excellent project now started under the leadership of a group of such outstanding merit, let us all get behind the students and make it an outstanding success.

MONEY GRABBER GERALD L. K. SMITH

It begins to look as though many others are "catching up" with the notorious Gerald L. K. Smith, he of collection plate fame. One of his mouthy henchmen charged that 15 percent of the members of the American Legion are "the most unloyal Americans in the country."

The Legion members, rightly angered by the utterly false statement, are out to call the hand of the apostle of hate and greed and have declared war on Smith and his boogey-woogy followers. It is about time for some one to put the kibosh on this kind of smear artists.

There have been a lot of political fakery who have traveled the highways and byways of these United States of ours since the days of Washington, but to our way of thinking Gerald L. K. is about the prize of the lot. He has made a money racket out of politics and in order to do it, he has dragged the church down into the political gutter with him.

We hope the American Legion makes it so hot for him that he will be forced out of the easy-money racket that he has worked so successfully since his advent into Michigan. There is no place in this country, especially in these times, for any one who breeds discontent, discord and hatreds. And Gerald L. K. is the prize packet among all rabble-rousers!

WHY THE WORRY?

A lot of congressmen, talkative labor leaders, aspiring politicians, et al, profess to be greatly worried about jobs for everyone after the war ends.

We believe that they are doing a lot of unnecessary worrying. As we see it, there may be some temporary lay-offs in some of the war industries during the so-called reconversion period.

If by chance there should be a long period of idleness, haven't we been buying war bonds to be used in just such an emergency? We are not expecting any long periods of lay-offs, however, and

Daisy Company Has Made Plans For Celebration When Germany Falls

When "Victory day" comes—and most people believe that it is not far distant—officials of The Daisy Manufacturing company will not have to hurry around and make their plans for the celebration. They have already planned just what will be done by the employees and officials of that famed old industry of this city.

E. C. Hough, secretary and general manager, has had distributed among all of the employees a card of "Instructions to Daisy Manufacturing Company employees on V Day."

The card says:

1. If the European war should end during the night time, no one is to report to work the following day, but should report the day thereafter.
2. If the European war ends any time during working hours the factory will immediately close for the balance of that day as well as the day following, but will be open the next day.
3. If the European war should end on a holiday, the factory will be closed the following day, but open for business the next day unless it be Saturday.

New Library Planned For This District

A "First" Project After-The-War

Proposed Site Issue May Be Decided By The County Board

One of the first after-the-war projects contemplated for Plymouth is the erection of a new $25,000 branch library building, it has just been learned.

The structure is already being planned by the Wayne County Library commission and is a part of the extensive library expansion program being worked out by the commission.

In view of the fact that the village of Wayne is more centrally located, the proposal provides that the main out-county library building to serve the various branches throughout the out county will be erected in that place. The proposed Wayne library structure will be considerably larger than the one that has been suggested for this city.

Methodists To Double Capacity Of Auditorium

So large has been the growth of the membership of the First Methodist church of Plymouth that plans are now being made for increasing the size of the church auditorium so that several hundred more can be accommodated at the regular services.

Rev. T. Leonard Sanders, when asked pertaining to the reported enlargement of the church, stated that the situation had become a real problem and that the church board was working out some plan whereby a much larger auditorium could be provided for those who are now frequently forced to stand during services.

The Methodist church, like many others, in recent years has experienced a rapid growth. During the past two years the membership of the church has almost doubled.

Rev. Sanders believes that it will continue to grow, especially after the war is over. He believes that thousands and thousands of the young soldiers who will return from the fighting fronts will be more interested in church work than ever before.

His belief in this respect is confirmed by reports that came from army and navy chaplains on all the fighting fronts. They all say that the boys of all faiths are faithful attendants at all military religious services.

There is no reason to believe that this interest in religion will drop suddenly when the war is over, and it is for this reason too that the Methodist church is already planning to nearly double the capacity of the church auditorium.

Mail Christmas Packages Now!

Despite the speed with which the allied armies in Europe and the Pacific are moving, there is no indication that American men will be home from the battlefield by Christmas.

Therefore, all persons with Christmas gifts for men in the army overseas, are again advised that Christmas mailings for overseas must be in the postoffice between September 15 to October 15.

Requests from the soldiers are not necessary for mailing of these packages, but the army will not undertake to guarantee delivery of packages mailed after October 15.

The packages again are limited to five pounds, with minimum size the same as it was last year.

There is no limit on the mailing of packages inside this country, and there is no limit for the mailing to men in the naval services.

we are going to use our war bonds to help bring about the prosperous conditions that the proper use of war bond funds will help create.

There is going to be such a demand for civilian goods, such as a building and expansion boom that every one who needs a job will be able to get work.

There isn't a farm in Michigan that will not need extra hired help in order to repair buildings, fences and till fields that have been producing nothing except weeds for the last two or three years.

Hundreds of thousands of new homes must be constructed in order to properly house the nation.

The chicken coop homes, the basement "residence" and the tarpaper shacks that the Nucleus bunglers have forced mothers and fathers to live in and raise their families, must quickly be replaced by decent American homes, such as were built by the people of this country before the days the fuzzy-brained boys and girls took over the control of things down in Washington.

All of this talk about long periods of idleness during the "reconversion" period, seems to us to be nothing more than political bunk.

We believe that there is going to be so much work for all of us, that there will not be many idle moments for anybody, providing we want to work.

The nation has been standing still for more than a decade. In fact we have been going backwards in a lot of ways. It is going to be a big job to catch up, and in order to catch up, we have got to do a lot of work.

Knowing we have got the work to do, why fuss and fume so much about an eventuality that we know is not going to exist, unless we permit it to be forced upon us by a lot of political bunglers?

Wm. Rose Opens New Hardware Store Tuesday

Tuesday morning, September 12, the new Plymouth hardware store, will be opened to the public at 376 South Main street with one of the finest stocks of merchandise that William Rose, its owner, has been able to buy under present conditions.

Formerly occupied by the Goldstein Department store, the business place has been entirely reconstructed, redecorated and made into as modern a hardware store as there is outside the city of Detroit.

Ralph Lorenz, one of Plymouth's well known and popular business men who retired a few months ago as one of the partners of the Lorenz & Ash service station, will be the manager of the new hardware store to be operated by Mr. Rose.

His present place of business at Starkweather and Liberty street, will be managed by Marvin Miller, assisted by William Curtis. John Hopkins will be associated with Mr. Lorenz in the Main street store, and Mr. Rose will supervise both stores.

It was on November 1, 1936 when Mr. Rose quit his position as supervisor of accessories of the Cadillac Motor Car company and came to Plymouth to take over the Liberty street hardware store that had been operated by the late Ed. Wilson. Starting from scratch, Mr. Rose in a few brief years more than doubled the business of the Liberty street store.

During the past year or so, his trade in the south end of the city grew so rapidly that he decided to open another store to take care of his business in this end of the city.

When Mr. Goldstein decided to take over the Simons store, Mr. Rose immediately secured a lease of the building that had been occupied by the Goldstein department store.

For over a month he has had workmen busy reconstructing the entire interior. The store is 100 feet long and a wide aisle runs the full length of the store. Indirect lights have been installed and a most conveniently arranged shelving system has been constructed.

A rear entrance has been provided from the city parking lot. The basement has been converted into a large sales room which will be used for household (Continued on Page 5)

Jane Helen Burr Dies Suddenly

The many friends of Jane Helen Burr, the 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Burr, 1463 Sheridan Drive, were shocked to learn of her death in the University of Michigan hospital Wednesday evening at 10:30 o'clock.

Popular among high school students, she was most active in various student affairs.

A member of the Junior class of the present school year, she was planning for her school work when stricken with rheumatic fever. She was a member of the band, the Majorettes, the Leaders' Club and active in young people's work of the Methodist church.

Besides the parents, a brother, Sanford, and a sister, Margaret Ann, survive.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Schrader Funeral home, Rev. F. Leonard Sanders officiating.

Emergency Call For Boy Scouts!

In an effort to bring about better results in the collection of waste paper, Mrs. Russell Powell, general salvage chairman of Plymouth and vicinity, has called a meeting at her home, 4505 West Territorial road, next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock of all Scout leaders and active scouts.

Plymouth paper collections have not been up to par and Mrs. Powell hopes to be able to induce a more active campaign on the part of the Scouts who have been delegated this responsibility.

While there are four Scout roops in Plymouth, only one has been at all active in paper collection. The salvage chairman asks every one interested in the Scout movement to be at Tuesday evening's meeting in the hopes that Plymouth's paper collection can be brought up to be where it should be.

Falling Limb Badly Damages Automobile

When a sudden gust of wind swept the city Wednesday afternoon just before the rain storm, a large branch was blown from a tree on Ann Arbor Trail, falling on an automobile belonging to Mrs. R. R. Parrott. The top of the car was crushed and the hood also smashed down. The damage will amount to a considerable sum.

Postal Business Triples Here In Ten Years

Business at the Plymouth post office in the ten years ending June 30, 1944, has tripled in money value.

This phenomenal increase in the size of the Plymouth post office is a reflection of the growth of the city of Plymouth itself, but almost equally, it is a reflection of a change in mailing habits.

This tripling of the amount of money taken in every year at the post office actually means a greater increase in first class mailing than is indicated by the figures.

Back in 1933, the annual receipts of the Plymouth post office were $38,000. The biggest single mailer was the Daisy Air Rifle company, and the Plymouth post office was rated as only second class.

In 1937, the business had gone up to almost $37,000. In 1938 the receipts went up to $49,000. This sudden increase is generally attributed to the erection of the Burroughs Adding Machine company plant, where much of the printing for the concern was done.

In 1939, this new business, along with the Daisy mailing, and the increase in population of the city had jumped the annual receipts to the unheard figure of $81,000.

It went up again in 1940 to $89,000, and in 1941 to $97,000, and then despite the war, the volume held steady at that figure through 1942.

In 1943, much of the advertising literature had been abandoned, but the receipts were still going up, this time to $99,000, and in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1944, which is known as the 1944 fiscal year, the receipts passed the hundred thousand dollar mark for the first time, and hit the unprecedented peak of $112,000.

Postmaster Harry Irwin attributes this increase to a variety of factors.

In the first place the amount of parcel post has increased because of mailings to members of the armed services, but almost equally important is the increase in the use of air mail.

A few years ago, four or five air mail letters a day were all that could be expected. Now there are scores of them every day. It seems that every day more persons are using air mail facilities.

The increase cost makes no difference, for most people have a great deal of money available, and the increased speed of travel of letters is worth the difference.

Plymouth has been a first class postoffice since 1938, when the amount of annual receipts passed $40,000 for the first time. From now on, it's just a question of how big the Plymouth post office gets as a first class post office.

Has Served City For 25 Years

Last Saturday, September 2, was an important day in the life of William Reddeman, one of Plymouth's best known citizens.

It was on that date just 25 years ago when he became an employe of the village of Plymouth.

The village at that time had a population of some 1500 or 1800 people.

It is now a busy city of some 6,000 people or more, and Mr. Reddeman is serving just as efficiently as he did a quarter of a century ago.

Under his direction much of the water system of Plymouth has been constructed and he directed the laying of most of its sewer system.

Blood Unit Here Next Tuesday

Some boy maybe a Plymouth boy, will die today because there was no blood plasma for use in saving his life.

The mobile unit of the Red Cross blood bank will make its next visit to Plymouth, Wednesday, September 13.

There are needed 325 registrations for this visit. What are you going to do about it—especially when you know that your blood donated may be the one that will save the life of some Plymouth boy.

The blood bank will be at the Masonic Temple between 3 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday, September 13.

The motor corp of the Red Cross will furnish transportation to and from the Masonic Temple, if needed.

Registrations will be accepted at the Beyer drug store on Liberty street, the clerk's office in the city hall or you may phone 646.

Maybe your blood donations will save the life of not only one fighting American lad, but several of them.

If you have not registered, do so today!

Youthful Marine Plymouth's 28th Victim of War

Ronald D. Tobey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Tobey, 630 South Harvey street, the youthful Plymouth lad who always had a smile and "howdy" for both young and old friends, is not coming home to greet his associates again.

Ronald, who was so anxious to become a Marine that he went down to Detroit and signed up when 17 years of age, but had to wait until he was 18 before he could get into the service.

Whether he was killed by a Jap sniper or met death on another island invasion made by the Marines after the capture of Saipan, his parents have not been advised.

It was August 7, last year when he was sent to San Diego to begin training for Marine service. It was about Christmas time when his outfit was sent to the South Pacific. All his letters during recent months reflected the same happy attitude that made him a favorite among his many youthful friends in Plymouth.

About three years ago he was critically injured when a switch engine hit an automobile he was driving at the Mill street crossing. University of Michigan hospital physicians thought his recovery amazing, so badly was he injured at that time.

Ronald was born in Plymouth and lived here his entire life. After he left school he was employed for a time at Ken's place and later at Burgett Service station.

He was the youngest of seven children. His brothers and sisters are, Mrs. Kenneth Stevens, Virginia avenue; Mrs. Lawrence Burgett, South Harvey street; Gerald D. Tobey, Maple avenue; Mrs. Grant Wilsie, Starkweather avenue; Burton Tobey, Walled Lake; and Gwendolyn Tobey, a Bomber plant worker residing at home.

The death of Ronald brings to 28 the total number of Plymouth boys killed, missing, or held prisoners of war.

Weddings

Morgan - Brown
On Saturday evening, September 2, the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth was the scene of the wedding of Miss Frances Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Woods, of Detroit, and Ensign Robert Brown, of the navy who makes Plymouth his home. The Rev. Henry J. Welch read the double ring ceremony at 8 o'clock before an altar decorated with palms, baskets of white gladioli and lighted tapers. Preceding the service Erma Radke sang, "I Love Thee," and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Woppe, was lovely in her gown of white marquisette made in princess style and with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves extended to points over the hands. Her skirt was made full with three lace panels in front and back and with a train. Her Juliet cap of lace held a three tiered veil of illusion. She carried a white prayer book mounted with white roses. Her necklace of pearls was the gift of bridegroom.

The maid-of-honor, Annabelle Becker, and the bridesmaid, Muriel Morgan, sister of the bride, were gowned alike in pink, the bodice of lace and skirt of chiffon. Their matching head-dresses of roses held shoulder length veils and they carried pink roses and white gladioli.

The bridegroom was attended by Ensign Robert Custer of Detroit, as best man, and George Rathbun, of the navy, who was home on leave.

The bride's mother wore a gold print dress with brown accessories. Mrs. Paul Snyder, an aunt of Ensign Brown, wore a green print with white accessories. Their corsages were of yellow asters.

A reception followed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark on Union street, where nearly fifty relatives and friends of the young couple gathered for congratulations. The buffet table held a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, the latter being in navy uniform. Bows of pink and white asters and lighted tapers were placed on either side of the cake and the napkins bore the names "Frances and Bob."

Ensign and Mrs. Brown took a brief trip and on Wednesday left for San Diego, California, where he will be stationed. She wore a gray suit with fuchsia accessories for traveling.

It's 'Music Box' Not Hang Out

Here's good news! The Plymouth Recreation Center established for the use of high school students, will no longer be known as the Hangout.

It has been named the "Music Box."

The structure, through the energetic work of the boys and girls who have been donating their time and efforts, is nearly ready for use.

It has been completely redecorated, the floors have been sanded and all carpenter work nearly finished.

Some of the high school girls are making drapes for the rooms. The grounds surrounding the building have also undergone improvements. A badminton court has been created and the back porch of the house removed for safety reasons.

Rules will be set up soon under which the "Music Box" will be conducted.

Eas High Praise For The Hospitality Of The South

Lieut. Keith Jolliffe

Home on a brief leave of absence from Spruce Field, Georgia, where he is an instructor, Lieut. Keith Jolliffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evered Jolliffe, has only the kindest of words for the fine treatment given to Uncle Sam's fighting men by the people of the south.

Lieut. Jolliffe has been located in the south most of the time since going into the service.

"Seemingly every one living near where we are located are very rich or they are very poor. But it makes no difference, both the rich and the poor of the south treat us most considerately. The communities near our field are highly religious and the boys from our field who attend the local churches are always asked out to Sunday dinner," stated Lieut. Jolliffe.

"The people of the south where we are located seem to go out of their way to do what they can for us, and the men in uniform certainly appreciate it," he added.

Keith, a graduate of the Plymouth high school, after he had completed his aviation training and was awarded his commission, was assigned back to the same field from which he was graduated as a single engine advanced instructor. But like all other aviation officers who are assigned to field instruction, he is anxious to get active service and hopes before long to be given a transfer. He returns south Sunday.

Captured 700 Nazi Prisoners

Sergt. Rodney Cloutman, 26, of Athol, Mass., (left) singlehandedly captured 400 Nazi prisoners, outdoing the famed Sergeant York. Like York, he was armed only with a rifle. Capt. J. E. Willingham, Tuscaloosa, Ala., (right) captured 300 Germans by circling overhead in plane and herding them to the Allied armored columns who took charge. Due to this exploit, he has been called the "flying cowboy" of the American Air forces. The German prisoners stated that they were tired of fighting and in addition were afraid of being fired upon.

Deposits of anthracite are concentrated in eastern Pennsylvania. Anthracite is, of course, the preferred type of coal for household heating because it produces little or no smoke. An average of 80 per cent of production normally goes for such purposes, making it pre-eminently a domestic fuel and giving the industry a seasonal character. The remainder is consumed by electric power plants and railroads in the anthracite region where the cost of small sizes of anthracite is comparable to some of the best grades of bituminous coal.

Gas a By-Product Another by-product of coal carbonization is gas, which amounts to 10,000 cubic feet per ton of coal carbonized. In addition, two to three gallons of light oil are normally obtained from the same coal, 10 to 13 gallons of tar, and 22 to 27 pounds of ammonium sulphate. Heat for the coke ovens takes approximately one-half of the gas and the remainder is generally utilized in nearby steel plants or distributed in city gas lines.

Increase Wear Recent tests by the U. S. bureau of standards show that shoes whose soles had been treated with hot wax had their wear increased by 41 per cent. The bureau also tested shoes costing $5, treating one sole of every pair with a blend of mineral oil and solvent. The shoes were worn by Washington, D. C., high school cadets. Results showed that treated soles gave 14 per cent longer wear than untreated ones.

Tiny Gland The pituitary is a tiny gland situated under the brain, back of the nose. In fact, its name, given to it by the Greeks, means a thick secretion in the nose, because, centuries ago, it was thought that the pituitary had something to do with colds and other nasal affections. The pituitary consists of two portions, embryologically different.

Water Clock The arguments in the Roman senate were timed by the clepsydra or water clock. This instrument too was made in many forms, some of which had very modern-appearing clock faces. The Men Doing Our Fighting are Doing a Lot of Thinking

They are wondering what will happen when they return. Will there be jobs and opportunities to get ahead?

Michigan, under Republican leadership, already has the answer to that question.

The present Republican administration has created the office of Veterans' Affairs to help and advise veterans. Large appropriations have already been made to aid veterans in emergencies and for an adult education program. Michigan's rehabilitation arrangements are unequalled by any other state in the union.

At a recent state convention, the American Legion men who know what is being accomplished have gone on record as follows:

"Be it resolved that the American Legion in Convention assembled at Grand Rapids, Michigan, August 11, 1944, go on record as commending the Governor and members of the 1944 Michigan State Legislature for their sincere interest in the returning veterans and the comprehensive program presented which includes the creation of the Office of Veterans' Affairs to provide veterans with information, advice, direction and assistance through coordination of programs and services in the fields of education, health, vocational guidance and placement, together with mental care and economic security; to also establish community counseling centers for referral to all Service Agencies."

HELP YOUR SOLDIER TO VOTE
Michigan's Republican administration led the nation in legislation enabling servicemen to vote the regular state and national ballots. Rev. Stout Ends Services Here

Rev. Lynn B. Stout

Rev. Lynn B. Stout has resigned as pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of this city. Rev. Stout's resignation will take effect on Sunday, September 10, and will end a ministry which began seven years ago in a store room, but which for the past eighteen months has been carried on in a new and debt-free house of worship strategically located in the central section of the city. The value of the new house of worship has not been definitely established, since the work of construction was done, almost entirely, by Rev. Stout and the men of the church, only a few hundred dollars being spent for labor. Material costs were said to be slightly above four thousand dollars. The building, forty-five feet in width and ninety feet in length, is of concrete block construction. Rev. Stout's ministry has been marked by a corresponding increase in missionary giving and interest. During his first year in Plymouth, missionary contributions amounted to $400. Last year missionary giving was $2,400. The church now supports Roy and Fern Tillotson, members of the congregation, on the mission field. Other interests are the Hebrew Alliance in South America and the Children's Bible Mission. Rev. Stout has stated that his plans for the future are a little uncertain, but that for the present he will be available for pulpit supply work and revival campaigns.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith and family of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith and family of Birmingham, and Dr. Edwin Smith and family of Grand Rapids were callers at the home of their brother Dewey Smith, the first of the week. Cpl. Elmer E. Fulton, who has served two years in the Aleutians, left Friday (today) for Camp Haan, California after spending 21 days with his wife and friends in this city.

"Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did."

"Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him, Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dry. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally...whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. That's the answer, boys... simple as A-B-C."

To Customers of the Detroit Edison Company

It is important for you to know why we are appealing from the Michigan Public Service Commission's recent order that Detroit Edison refund $10,450,000 to its customers*

Attempts are being made to impose added taxes and other burdens on the Company and to divert Detroit Edison war taxes from the U. S. Government:

1. BY MEANS OF AN "EXCISE TAX". The City of Detroit passed an "Excise Tax" ordinance, designed—as the City's representatives stated—to divert Detroit Edison war taxes from the U. S. Government to the City Treasury. The "Excise Tax" requires The Detroit Edison Company to turn over to the City of Detroit up to one-fifth of all gross income received from Detroit customers.

2. BY MEANS OF A RATE CUT OR REFUND. When in 1942 the City of Detroit asked the Michigan Public Service Commission to order a cut in rates, the plea was denied and our rates were held to be reasonable. After appeal and rehearing, the Commission has now decided that a refund should be made to customers, from money that would otherwise be paid to the Federal Government in war taxes. So then... despite Detroit Edison's acknowledged fair rates... the Commission ordered a refund to customers, ignoring the excise tax described above. This was done despite the fact that since the start of World War II, we have made reductions in rates to residence and commercial customers. The general cost of living has increased by 29 per cent; food by 38 per cent. Wages and the price of coal have increased, all bringing about a heavy increase in our own costs. But while prices have risen our rates generally have not.

These actions would take about two million dollars a year more than we would otherwise pay the Federal Government in war taxes.

The same ten million dollars is being claimed in three places at once!

Obviously, we cannot pay it to the Federal Government in war taxes—and to the City of Detroit in excise taxes—and to our customers in the form of a refund.

Only the courts can decide. Our customers should know that we will pay these war taxes or the refund when we know to whom the law requires us to pay them.

The "Excess Profits Tax," designed by Congress to help pay for the war and to prevent excessive war profits, is an 85½ per cent top-bracket tax which now leaves this Company with a smaller net income than it had in 1939. The Company is not making excessive profits. And our dividends have been reduced. The recent refund order would leave the Company with a return of only four and two-thirds cents on each dollar in the electric business, as fixed by the Commission. This is too low.

If the 1943 excise taxes are valid, the return would be about four cents on the dollar. A return on its investment as low as either of these would most certainly damage the Company's ability to continue its present good service.

Rate cuts have many times been made by The Detroit Edison Company voluntarily. Today Detroit Edison's rates are among the lowest in the world. Since 1918 there have been some 40 reductions in our charges for various classes of service. Today your residence electricity costs you only half as much per kilowatt-hour as it did in the last war.

We intend to keep up this good record in the future.

How Mr. and Mrs. Plymouth Will Live This Winter

During the months immediately ahead Mr. and Mrs. Plymouth and their family will have plenty to enjoy even such peace-time luxuries as new ash cans, coat hangers, and can openers, but rationing of goods for civilian use is not going to be relaxed; the family automobile will continue to run sparingly, and fuel, both oil and coal, may be scarce before the end of next winter.

This is the consensus of experts who have made a mid-summer survey of the output of farm and factory. They warn that, at best, only a gesture has been made in the direction of civilian production, and as a result folks here at home will continue to feel the pinch of war for many months to come.

The food situation is the brightest part of the picture. Bumper crops are being harvested in the West, and official government forecasts are for new record harvests of wheat and corn and for increases in truck crops of all kinds.

Increased output is seen for 1944 as a whole for cheese, margarin, onions, rice, eggs, beef, veal and pork but with totals of butter, potatoes, meat, chickens, lamb, and mutton less than in 1943.

Weather and growing conditions have been generally favorable on the 6,000,000 farms and the 2,000,000 home gardens of America this year. The food processing industry has been hard pressed for manpower, so less canned foods are possible, but home canning may make up the difference. Cereals, such as bread and breakfast foods, will continue plentiful.

The 1944 meat output will exceed that of 1943 by more than a billion pounds, reports the National Live Stock and Meat Board in Chicago. About 7,000,000,000 pounds of meat will be required this year to fill the demands of the armed forces and for lend-lease, but the per capita civilian share of the meat supply is expected to exceed the 137 pounds of 1943. Present rationing will continue for at least the next several months.

During the first five months of this year the number of cattle slaughtered under federal inspection was 21 per cent more than in the same period of 1943. Hog slaughter was 46 per cent greater and sheep and lamb slaughter three per cent larger.

As for clothing, little change is in prospect. Men's wool suits will continue inadequate, and more than enough women's clothing is expected. Knit goods will continue scarce, and more rigid allocation of cotton textiles by mills is expected. Other tight lines include denims for overalls, broadcloth and print cloth for pajamas, aprons, and shirts, sheets and pillowcases, canton flannel for gloves, and chambray for shirts. Increased supplies of low-priced dresses are possible, but there is slight prospect of a more liberal rationing of shoes.

Items such as beer, whiskey, cigars, cigarettes, candy, cosmetics, and chewing gum will be scarce. All essential drug products will continue in good supply, and stocks of coffee and tea are months ahead of demand. The sugar supply probably will remain unchanged according to officials.

Two serious threats of shortages are clearly seen. Sale of coal may be even more strictly regulated than it now is—and householders are warned to buy their next winter's allotments immediately. Fuel oil will remain tight. There is no likelihood of more liberal gasoline rations. Tires for the cars of civilians are not yet in prospect. And the civilian who thinks he soon will find the hardware store well stocked with goods for the home and farm is in for a rude disappointment. Production of so-called durable goods for civilians is being resumed, but on scarcely more than an experimental scale at present.

Two steps have been taken: 1. Limited production has begun on 124 scarce items in factories which have labor facilities not needed for war; 2. Industry has been told it may get to work on experimental models of post-war automobiles, refrigerators, airplanes, vacuum cleaners, radios, juke boxes, and vending machines. The civilians must understand these two moves do not mean a sudden rush of scarce goods to store shelves.

Items which may be manufactured will provide only a trickle of goods in comparison to the shortages in those goods which have developed while manpower and materials were needed exclusively for war production. And the government has specifically stated that experimental models must be held in secret and may not be used for advertising purposes. In a few simple words, the civilian buyer isn't going to be able to go on a splurge—for either a five-cent coat hanger or a $1,000 automobile.

He will have to be satisfied with the realization that he still is the best fed, clothed, and housed civilian in the world today, and he will have to go on making the best of goods that are wearing out and of rationing regulations that may rub his patience thin.

New Depot Talk Is "Old Stuff"

Talk of commuter services between Plymouth and Detroit is nothing new.

Neither is talk of a Pere Marquette depot for Plymouth something right out of the band box. In a recent letter to the Plymouth Mail, Frank J. Burrows, who has a keen knowledge of what has been going on in Plymouth for the past 25 or 30 years, advises that the recent agitation for the commuter service to Plymouth was discussed and planned in Plymouth, over a quarter of a century ago.

And so is the talk of a new Pere Marquette depot "old stuff."

He even quotes the 25 year ago column of The Plymouth Mail to verify his statements.

The letter from Mr. Burrows follows:

Dear Editor—
"In the last issue of The Plymouth Mail, Friday, August 18th, 1944, the question of rail commuter service to Detroit is again being considered and as before, the same opinions both pro and con are mentioned in this issue.

"About forty years ago we had the best commuter service to Detroit with monthly books issued at a round trip for 40 cents now ever since this special service has been discontinued the same question has popped up every few years, then after a lot of talk the whole matter was dropped until a way was found to get the commuter trains through the bottle neck from old Delray station to the Union Depot.

"In the same issue of the mail I have cut out a clipping of 25 years ago when the P. M. engineers were looking up the matter of a new depot, today the same depot is still with us with a promise that repair and refurbishing of the station is definitely in the plans.

"There is no question but that commuter service would be a fine thing for the people of Plymouth also for those who live along the road to Detroit. I have talked to a large number of Detroiters who would like to live out side of the city if they had good transportation service, even those who have automobiles and drive them to their work, the matter of down town parking is a problem.

"I am for a new depot and commuter service NOW."

Ask Oil Users To Conserve Now.

The OPA asked all fuel users in the Detroit District to save as much as possible throughout the next heating season beginning September 1st. They give the following simple methods of protecting fuel:

1. Keep heaters turned down during the day and turned off at night after the family has gone to bed. Pull all window shades during the evening.

2. Don't burn heaters in rooms not being used, and when you leave a room, pull down the shades, and shut the door of that room.

3. If possible, in the evening arrange for the entire family to be in one room instead of several rooms.

4. Cook complete meals at the same time whenever possible in one oven or in one service unit.

5. Fill in cracks around windows and doors and don't leave outside doors and windows open anymore than absolutely necessary.

OPA also asked poultry raisers who use kerosene brooder stoves to follow the request of the Department of Agriculture who have 95-98 degrees under the over recommended a temperature of for the first week, then reduce the temperature 5 degrees per week for several weeks, the length of time depending on the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Priestkorn and son, Larry, of Wayne, are spending the week in the Floyd Wilson cottage at Whitmore Lake.

Floyd Wilson was host, Saturday evening, to members of his bowling club consisting of Edward Kilinski, Knut Anderson, Gus Lundquist, Halvar Elomberg and William Lorenz, at his home on Arthur street. Cards and a late lunch were the entertainment for the evening.

Miss Sophia Saner, whose marriage to Fred Balko, Jr., of Northville, will be an event of Saturday evening, September 9, has been the honored guest at several parties during the past ten days. The first of these given by Mrs. James Huff, of Northville, was a red and white kitchen shower on Wednesday evening of last week. The thirty guests present enjoyed playing continuous bunco after which Mrs. Huff served dainty refreshments. The table was centered with a tiered cake topped with a daintily dressed doll in colonial style gown. The guests included mostly aunts and uncles of the bride and bridegroom to be, from Detroit, Northville, and Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Lorenz, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Brocklehurst, and Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Blunk were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Simpson at their home at Houghton Lake.

Delphine Bogenschutz, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Bogenschutz of Cadillac Road, Plymouth, who joined the Cadet Nurses August 15, left August 31 for the Michael Reese hospital in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Balko of Eight Mile road and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kreeger, of Fowlerville were hosts Saturday evening to sixteen couples in the Balko home honoring Sophia Saner and Howard Balko.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Seitz and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seitz, of Monroe, visited their mother, Mrs. Anna Seitz, Thursday evening of last week, in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Wilson, where she is now residing.

Pauline Wiedman, Jaqueline Dalton, Alice Erdelyi, Kay Fisher, Ellen McAninch, Marjorie Elliott, and Clara Simonette returned home from Ann Arbor, Tuesday morning, where they had been attending the annual Girls State for the past week.

Last Friday evening co-workers of Miss Sophia Saner, employed at the Phoenix Ford plant were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held in the Saner home on Powell road. Thirty guests were present. Refreshments were served from a table centered with a bowl of pink carnations and pinks flanked by candles. Guests were present from Highland Park, Detroit, Garden City, Northville and Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis and children, Sandra Lee and Larry Stewart, joined Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis and family at Big Crooked Lake, Sunday, for a dinner honoring their son-in-law, Edward Winkler, who is home on a furlough from Camp Robinson, Little Rock, Arkansas.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Brisbois, son Joe, and mother of Mrs. Brisbois, Mrs. Christine VanPoppelin have returned home after spending some time at a cottage on St. Clair River. Mrs. Van Poppelin and Joe spent the summer there while Dr. and Mrs. Brisbois enjoyed a month with them.

The Birthday Club was entertained Thursday at a bridge luncheon in the home of Mrs. Harold Brisbois, with Mrs. Paul Wiedman as guest of honor. Other guests were Mrs. George Cramer, Mrs. Hattie White, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Raymond Bachelder, Mrs. Ernest J. Allison, Mrs. Christine Van Poppelin and Mrs. Josephine Fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers were hosts, Saturday evening, at a dinner party celebrating the birthdays of Mrs. William Morgan,

Mrs. James Robinson and Mrs. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sweeney of Birmingham, and the Messrs. Robinson and Morgan were the other guests. Last year the same group celebrated in the Morgan home.

Her guests were Mrs. Earl Johnson of Garden City, Mesdames Robert Mimmack, Raymond Bachelder, Fred Thomas, Horace Thatcher, Arlo A. Soth, Lyle Worden, Everett Jolliffe, and Harold Jolliffe. Preview of the shop of TOMORROW—is what you will see when you visit the new store of Plymouth Hardware on Main Street opposite Kellogg Park.

For the first time, color has been used to create a new effect, to make a store more pleasant and comfortable to shop in. This color is . . .

Truscon's New
"Eye Comfort" Color Harmony
"Day Light" Series

"EYE COMFORT" COLOR HARMONY is "eye restful." It is soft, calming. It shows up your merchandise for easier inspection. It makes your shopping visit pleasant, restful.

"Eye Comfort" Color Harmony was first developed to give eye-ease to war workers. First used in the Lens Inspection Department of a big war plant where workers had serious eye trouble because of the delicacy and refinement of their work the use of "Eye Comfort" has spread to many other industries. Now for the first time, it has been used in a store; your own Plymouth Hardware store.

No use of our going to great lengths to explain it to you—you must come in and view it. If interested, we have a magazine article of which you may have a copy for study. More of Plymouth's merchants, perhaps, can use Truscon "Eye Comfort" Color Harmony to advantage in their stores and display rooms. More of our homes and our institutions may be able to use one or more of the "Eye Comfort" series on their walls and ceilings.

"EYE COMFORT" eliminates jarring color contrasts—provides distinct physical and psychological advantages based on color harmony.

You are cordially invited to drop in—see for yourself—we will endeavor to give you all the information available.

REMEMBER WHEN
—women's hats were held in place by two or three hatpins? Long affairs they were, some with large fancy heads, jewel studded and ornately decorated with metal work. Putting on and taking off a hat was a real feminine art that required a mile of patience along with the skill of adjusting the pins. Remember?

PLYMOUTH BOYS MEET IN HAWAII
In a brief letter from Joe Butler, Jr., who is now stationed somewhere in the Hawaiian Islands, he says he met "Chuck" Minthorn recently on the island of Oahu.
His note follows:
"I'm writing to inform you of a change in address. I'm a little behind in telling you but you can understand my neglect as I've just come overseas again. I'm sorry now as I've been missing some of the papers and those that have been getting here are very old. The Mail is the part of home that lifts my morale to the sky as I know what's going on even though I can't be there.
"I'm in the Hawaiian Isles at the present time. I can't say just exactly where except that it's Oahu island and my liberty town is Honolulu. I met one of the fellows from Plymouth here the day after I arrived. Chuck Minthorn is his name. He was quite surprised at seeing me and I must say I was too. We talked about this and that back in Plymouth. He hopes to get home pretty soon as he's been out here quite some time. I know how he feels as I was really lonesome the last time I was out here after the first six months.
"Well, I guess there isn't much left for me to say except to thank you for the paper and say I hope it'll start coming better with the new address on it."

HAROLD JACOBS THANKS PLYMOUTH FRIENDS
Harold Jacobs, who has returned to active service somewhere out on the Pacific coast after having spent nearly two years at sea, sent a note to OUR BOYS page in which he said he'd like to thank every one who had sent him boxes, cards and letters while he was away. Harold declared that he thoroughly appreciated the thoughtfulness of every one. He does not know where he will be located in the future.

CLAIR FINCH IS NAVAL TRAINING GRADUATE
Clair W. Finch, 27, husband of Dolores Finch, 142 Pearl St., was graduated recently from the Naval Training School (Electric) at the St. Louis, Missouri, Naval Armory, and received recognition as eligible to qualify for the petty officer rate of electrician's mate third class.

WALTON TATZKA TELLS OF LIFE DOWN IN NEW CALEDONIA
Way down in New Caledonia, in the South Pacific where it is hot the entire year around, came an interesting letter the other day to his mother, Mrs. Albert Tatzka of 676 Holbrook avenue.
In part it follows:
"Well, here goes for a few lines to let you know that I am well, and hope this finds you both the same. I haven't gotten any mail from anyone in the past three or four days, so I thought I would write anyway.
"I just came back from seeing a show, which wasn't too good. It hadn't finished but it started to rain so I came in. I went to church before I went to the movie and will send you the program; it was really interesting.
"I'll bet that was a big surprise to see that I made a rating, but one never knows about such in the army.
"One could be a private one day, and become something else the next. Anyway it pays nearly twenty dollars more than what I have been used to getting.
"I haven't gotten any Plymouth Mail's in two or three weeks so probably they will come in a bunch, the same as your letters will.
"Oh yes, here is a little thing which was made up by a fellow here I thought was real good. Sure hope it comes true.

HIS COPIES OF THE PLYMOUTH MAIL COMES IN BUNCHES
From Gordon A. Moe, Plymouth lad with a bombardment squadron in England, came a brief note the other day. In part he says:
"I just received four copies of The Plymouth Mail, and, after waiting for quite some time to receive them, I was very glad to have my mail man hand them to me because that's the only way we boys away from home can keep up on what's taking place back in Plymouth.
"In one of the copies I just received, I noticed where some of my old friends are now stationed in England and I was wondering if you would forward to me the APO numbers for Herb Burley, and Harold Granger as I think they can be found very easy once I have the correct APO number to work with.
"Thanking you for sending me the Plymouth Mail each week for that's just like receiving a letter from home."

TWO MORE PLYMOUTH BOYS AT GREAT LAKES
Two Plymouth men are receiving their initial Naval indoctrination at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.
When their recruit training is completed, these men will receive a period of leave. They are: Walter William Rutherford, 25, husband of Mrs. Bettie Ruth Rutherford, 416 Pacific avenue; and Robert Chapman Deyo, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Deyo, 808 Church street.

JAPS DYING OF STARVATION AND THIRST ON MARIANAS ISLANDS
It has been sometime since "OUR BOYS" page has heard from Staff Sergeant Earl H. Wilson of the U. S. Marine Corps, one of the boys who has been putting the kibosh on the sneaking Japs out on the islands in the Pacific.
Earl has seen plenty of real action against the Japs in the last couple of years. His letter tells how OUR BOYS are getting rid of the good-for-nothing beasts known as Japs. It follows in full:
"Some little time has passed since I last paid a visit to you, via "Our Column." I have been missing the "Mail" as of late, due to the fact that our little mail system has not as yet permitted us to receive much more than an occasional air mail letter.
"I have travelled quite a few miles since I last wrote to you. I have crossed the equator becoming a "trustworthy shellback" in the Kingdom of Neptune. I have become a "twice-inducted" member of the "Domain of the Golden Dragon" by crossing the International date line twice.
"Quite a few things have happened since I left Tarawa, most of them among the unmentionables. I was sent to a rest camp for a much needed rest, which incidentally, I did not receive, but instead was trained for further combat duty. While spending some little time on Kauai, I ran into a quite a few army fellows from Michigan but in all my travels I have as yet to find one familiar face from good old Plymouth.

"I am now located on Tinian in the Marianas Islands. Most of the excitement here has passed, much to my pleasure. Nearly all organized Jap resistance has ceased, although we are still bothered with a few nip snipers.

"The Japs remaining have been driven up in the hills. They are poorly clothed and in need of arms and ammunition, besides slowly dying of starvation and thirst. They become so very desperate that they raid the camps in broad daylight—much to their dismay. They soon join their many ancestors.

"Those Japs remaining in caves have been given a chance to surrender. If they don't surrender by a given time, they are sealed up to die of starvation, unless of course they resort to eating each other, then they will die of ptomaine poisoning. But enough said about the worst things of life.

"I will soon have my eighteen months in overseas and then perhaps, I shall come home to see each and everyone of you who have been so kind and helpful to me out here. I am in hopes of receiving my back copies of the world's best source of news (The Plymouth Mail) pretty soon. May I wish each and everyone of my many friends, the best of everything."

POEM TELLS JUST WHAT SOUTH PACIFIC ISLANDS ARE LIKE

Corporal Robert Hewer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewer of Canton Center road, has sent to his wife, a poem written by some one in his outfit which tells plainly what OUR BOYS think of the south Pacific. In his letter he advises that mail service has been bad lately and it has been several weeks since he received copies of The Plymouth Mail. He's hoping they will catch up with him.

The poem, entitled, "Somewhere in The South Pacific," follows:

Somewhere on a south sea island where the sun is like a curse Where each long day is followed by another slightly worse.

Where the canal dust blows thick- er Than the deserts shifting sands, And the white man dreams of leaving For a cooler, greener land.

Somewhere in the south Pacific Where a woman is never seen, Where the sky is never cloudy, And the grass is never green, Where the gooney birds scream nightly, Robbing man of blessed sleep, Where there isn't any whisky, And two cans of beer a week.

Somewhere in the south Pacific Where the mail is always late, Where Christmas cards in April Are considered up to date, Where we always sign the payroll But never draw a cent, Though we never miss the money, There's no place to get it spent.

Somewhere in the southern ocean, Where the gooney moans and cry, Where the southern deep sea turtles Come out on the beach to die, Oh, take me back to Michigan, The place I love so well, For this God forsaken island Is awful close to Hell.

Amen.

ROY McALLISTER NOW DOWN IN MISSISSIPPI

Pvt. Roy William McAllister, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley McAllister, Northville Road, Plymouth, has reported at Keester Field's unit of the Army Air Forces Training Command located near Biloxi, Mississippi, for reassignment to new military duties. He will remain here for a short period of time until his new assignment is determined on the basis of a review of his previous training, aptitudes, and experience, together with consideration of the military needs of the Army.

JOHN SCHWARTZ TRAINS FOR COMBAT AIR CREW

Pvt. John Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Schwartz, 8207 Lilley Road, has completed the first leg of a training program at Keester Field in Mississippi, that will qualify him for dual duties as a member of a combat air crew.

During the last seven days of his course, he logged several hours in a B-24 Liberator bomber in the practice performance of the duties of an aerial engineer. He previously had been skilled in the fundamentals of the Liberator's fuel, electrical, engine, hydraulic and propeller systems.

HOWARD MARRIOTT WINS NAVY RATING

Howard Edwin Marriott of 193 Union street, recently graduated from the Aviation Electrician's Mate school at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station in Florida, was rated Aviation Electrician's Mate Third Class in the U. S. Navy.

Entering the Navy Sept. 25, 1943, he received his recruit training at Farragut, Idaho, before being transferred to the Naval Air Technical Training Center here. Marriott is now a qualified Aviation Electrician's Mate and will probably see service with a Naval Air Unit.

He has been in the army since December 5, 1941, and is assigned as a member of a search and rescue squadron. In civilian life he was a truck driver.

Blood Plasma Helped Save Lives at Tarawa, Returning Wounded Relate

Blood plasma helped save the lives of these men on Tarawa, Bougainville and Guadalcanal. At right, blood plasma from the veins of home-front donors is administered to a wounded Marine at Tarawa.

IT WAS "D" day at Tarawa, and Pfc. Harold A. DeVille of Opelousas, La., was in the first wave of Marines fighting their way shoreward toward the tiny Pacific atoll.

He made the beach all right, but ten minutes later a Jap machine-gunner cut him down. He lay on the beach with the battle raging around him for about an hour before medical corpsmen were able to pick him up and transfer him to an LST. After preliminary first aid was administered, the Louisiana Marine was taken to his ship, and there received four blood plasma transfusions.

Those four transfusions helped save his life!

Offshore, Cpl. Norman Sidney Moise of New Orleans, La., was jockeying his landing craft through the hazardous waters to get more ammunition for the embattled Marines, who held a fifty-foot beachhead. A Jap shell ended their run.

So intent was Cpl. Moise on saving his men, he didn't realize he himself was badly wounded. He doesn't remember how many transfusions of blood plasma were required to pull him through, but the corporal now convalescing in the East Bay Naval Hospital in San Francisco is thanking the unknown donors whose blood meant the difference between a white cross and a Purple Heart to him.

At Tarawa, Bougainville, the Marshalls, Guadalcanal, Buna, in Burma and China and halfway around the world in North Africa, Sicily and Italy, blood plasma and serum albumin from the blood of volunteer donors enrolled by the American Red Cross Blood Donor Service helped save the lives of countless wounded Marines, soldiers and sailors. From the thirty-five Red Cross Blood Donor Centers and nearly eight hundred nearby cities visited by mobile blood donor units, more than six million pints of blood have already gone to the armed forces, and another five million have been requested by the Army and Navy for 1944.

Pfc. Eddie Shue, Jr., of Graham,

N. C., knows how Red Cross blood donors are backing up the men in the front lines.

"It was pretty rough going," he recalled when telling how his outfit went ashore at Bougainville. "The Japs were sinking our Higgins boats with their 77-mm. guns, and after going over the side we had gotten only about twenty yards toward the beach when we were hit. I was hit in the chest but somehow managed to make the beach. Luckily for me, one of the doctors arrived very soon and gave me some plasma. I felt a lot better!"

Another Bougainville casualty, Marine Corporal Coral Dwight Chamberlin of Belle Center, Ohio, is quite sure that blood plasma played a major part in saving his life.

"I was wounded three times in the second day's fighting for Bougainville, and was in such a position I could not be removed from my foxhole until about nine hours after I was wounded—twice in the right leg and once in the left," he related at the East Bay Naval Hospital.

"I was pretty weak when they took me to the rear. They gave me three pints of blood plasma and it perked me right up. Take it from me, if the people back here in our country fully realized the value of blood plasma, they wouldn't hesitate to make their donations."

And if any further evidence of Red Cross blood plasma's life-saving value is needed, ask Cpl. William Frederick Frazier of Watertown, Mass., to tell you how twenty pints of plasma flowed into his veins.

Cpl. Frazier's story dates back to the battle for Guadalcanal, when a Jap machine-gunner put bullets through both legs. Badly wounded, he was driven in a jeep over eight miles of bumpy road back to a headquarters dressing station. As soon as they reached the station, he was given the first of his twenty plasma transfusions.

While Navy medics used penicillin to save his legs, they used plasma as an aid to save his life, the plasma from the blood of twenty donors who gave their blood in the comfort of a Red Cross Blood Donor Center.

Plasma and serum albumin have been called the "foremost life-savers of this war" by the Surgeons General of the Army and Navy. Every Army and Marine Corps medical corps unit carries these life-savers, as does every Naval and Coast Guard vessel large enough to include a pharmacist's mate among its crew. To keep this life-line fully supplied in 1944, the Red Cross must collect 5,000,000 pints of blood, or thirty-six pints every minute of every working day!

VICTORY'S SONS

While flying over Bougainville island in the South Pacific on a mapping mission, a Flying Fortress had to pass over a Jap airport. A few moments later ten Zeros came swarming up. The photographer continued taking pictures of the terrain, while the other crewmen prepared their guns for action.

Lieut. Joseph Sarnoski, a bombardier, was manning the nose gun. The first time the Japs swept past, bullets pierced his steel and glass enclosure. He suffered wounds that were to prove fatal. He was alone, and he knew that help could not reach him during the heat of battle. Knowing, too, that the fate of the Fortress might very well depend upon him, he bound his injuries as well as he could, and by sheer will power forced himself to continue firing.

Five Zeros went down before the Fortress' guns. Lieutenant Sarnoski accounted for two. The other five Jap fighters pulled away, and the big plane streaked for home, its mission finished. When it landed, field attendants found that five of the crewmen were seriously wounded. Lieutenant Sarnoski died soon afterwards.

Babson Says - -

Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 8. We hear a lot of ballyhoo today by brokers, investment advisors and others about the big opportunities in the stock market. These tell us about the big railroad profits, the new uses for plastics and alloys and other new products "which are going to revolutionize our way of living". Electronic, television and other stocks are being ballyhooed to an unreasonable degree.

If Germany cracks some time between November 7, 1944 and March 7, 1945, it is fair to assume that we will go on a full peace basis in 1946. After a short period of re-adjustment (which will be shorter as the time required to whip Japan is longer) we should enjoy a few years of good business. The pent-up demand for goods, the great surplus of money and other considerations may even lead to a sharp and short boom. There certainly will be great activity in the building of small homes.

Sooner or later, however, the entire world, including our country, must pay for what has happened since 1939. I should not be surprised any time around 1950 to see business go into a tailspin with considerable unemployment. Hence, it is much more important for investors to base their purchases on fundamentals than on hopes of new inventions, new processes and other possible booms.

Investment dealers make their money by selling or exchanging securities. To get people to buy with cash, or to sell securities now held and re-invest in other securities, requires bullish talk of some kind. Strange to say, investment advertisements headed "Avoid Losses" pull very few inquiries; while other advertisements headed "Increase Profits" get big returns. Hence, both investment dealers and brokers feel that they must always be optimistic on something. Just now they are ballyhooing the rails, plastics, electronics, television, etc.

To a certain extent, the above also applies to some professional investment advisors. Too many such talk much about the "opportunities ahead" without giving sufficient consideration to the danger signals. They do not remind you of the $300,000,000,000 of government debt for fear of the FBI or FRB or some other governmental bureau. They dare not give out bearish talk on the rails, etc. because they—like the brokers—lose subscribers thereby. Hence, they also fall into the common trap of talking of the possibilities of big profits.

It is a great mistake to compare conditions today with those of the days of World War I. Under the conditions of twenty-five years ago the ballyhoo which I am now criticizing might be justified; but investors will find a different postwar world a few years hence than what they found in the "good old 20's". Then the masses had not awakened. Today—whether we like it or not—the people are on the march. Following World War I the government was not in business, but today the situation is very different.

For instance, the government now owns 95% of the synthetic rubber industry, 90% of the magnesium industry, and 85% of the airplane plants. The government probably owns 50% of the shipbuilding, machine tool and aluminum plants of the country; and 10% of the steel foundries, 30% of the metal working plants and 20% of the high test gasoline refineries. After the War, the states where these plants are located will put up a terrific fight to keep them running. Is not this a communistic economy made to order for the New Dealers?

This does not mean that you should put your money in a sock or bury it in the ground. Investments may well be safer than cash in the years to come. Certainly, postwar inflation is inevitable. On the other hand, because I am advising against reaching for quick profits, there is no reason why you should not buy well-seasoned investments. Capital can be conserved today as well as in the past. Those who have their holdings properly diversified and who can depend on fundamentals, realizing that "the people are on the march", should have little to fear.

OPA Office Now Judge and Jury

The district office of the Office of Price Administration has advised the Plymouth War Price and Rationing Board of new responsibilities with respect to the enforcement of price ceilings within this board area.

One of the principle guards against overcharging has been the right of the person overcharged to sue the person who did the overcharging for three times the amount of the overcharge, or for $50, whichever was greater. These suits could be entered in any court.

However, very few persons took the trouble to bring suit against a merchant, even when they knew they were being overcharged.

Under the law as it now stands, the ceiling price panel of a local board may call in a merchant or dealer who is known to have made charges above ceiling prices. Where this has been done, the panel may require the merchant to refund the overcharges, and if the person so overcharged can be found, the money returned. Where the person cannot be found, the amount of the overcharge will then revert to the federal treasury.

Failure of the merchant to comply with the demand of the price panel will result in the matter being turned over to the enforcement division for suit to be brought against the merchant. Every effort is being made by the local price panel to insure compliance with all of the price ceilings.

White of South Bend, Indiana, and formerly of Northville, and Miss May England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John England of this village, were married at the Woodward Avenue Baptist church, Detroit, Saturday afternoon, September 6th, at 3:00 o'clock. After the ceremony the young couple went to the home of the bride's aunts, the Misses Trick at 87 Elm Dale ave., where a six o'clock dinner was served to the immediate families of the bride and groom. Later in the evening the happy couple left for Flint, where they will visit relatives and friends before going to their new home at South Bend.

Early last week thieves entered the home of Paul Wood, who resides near the National Foundry & Machine Co. plant, in the west part of town. They proceeded to help themselves to something to eat and later departed, carrying away a suit of Mr. Wood's clothes, a ring, a child's bank containing five dollars, one 22 gauge rifle and one 30 Remington rifle and other articles, amounting all to about one hundred dollars.

To police in Decatur, Illinois, George Sides reported that a thief entered his hotel room and stole $25 and his suspenders.
