

What I Think and Have a Right to Say
Eaton R. Eaton

YES, WHAT ABOUT IT?
 According to the ruling laid down by a federal judge, minors will not be permitted to work in lumber camps hereafter. They might be allowed to wash dishes or do chores around the cook camp, but not out in the tall timbers where a tree might fall on them, as the judge probably was afraid the kids under age do not know enough to get out of the way of a falling tree. It's getting so kids won't be able to learn much of anything but raising hell until they are of voting age.—Al Weber in The Cheyboygan Observer.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?
 Editor William Berkey recently made the following comment in The Cassopolis Vigilant pertaining to the slowness of our courts of justice:

"Thirteen convicted men in Detroit, eleven of them police officers, are still at large five years after they were indicted by Judge Ferguson's grand jury, all of them having filed bonds after conviction and appealed their cases to the Supreme Court, where they will not be heard until the fall term. Their convictions were the result of Judge Ferguson's graft clean-up in that city, the evidence showing that the graft ran into millions of dollars. There is something wrong with court procedure that permits convicted men to stay out of prison five years after they are sentenced, and such delays inspire a lack of confidence in courts in spite of the fact that former prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea, former sheriff Thomas Wilcox, former Mayor Reading, former Superintendent of Police Fred Frahm and a motley crew of gamblers, prostitutes and other racketeers were sent to prison. Why these others cannot be landed there in less than five years is a question of public interest because speedy justice is the most effective justice."
 Try and provide the answer to Editor Berkey's question if you can.

JAILS OR HOSPITALS.
 The Mental Hygiene Bulletin recently published the following editorial, commenting about a condition that prevails in Michigan and which should be corrected at the earliest possible moment:

"These people are sick; they are not criminals, and I will no longer accept responsibility for their detention and care," was a recent statement of Sheriff Harley Ensign of Macomb County. He was referring to the fact that mentally ill persons have been put in Macomb County Jail to await mental hearings. Sheriff Ensign wrote to his board of supervisors that he had adequate facilities to care for only two mentally ill persons, but he has often been required to detain as many as six at one time. He further stated that his department had no trained personnel capable of giving such persons proper care. The statement of Sheriff Ensign has pointed out again the problem of keeping mentally ill people in jails where there are no proper facilities or supervision for them. Jails are not the correct places for their detention, they should have the benefits of a hospital, because, as Sheriff Ensign said, they are ill, not criminals.

Although facilities in the general hospitals of the State are not adequate, this situation could be helped if the general hospitals would furnish from one to six beds for the mentally ill. The Michigan Society for Mental Hygiene is encouraging general hospitals of local communities to provide such hospital facilities for the mentally ill. It is known that the State of Michigan does not have enough beds for ready admission of patients to the state mental hospitals. Thus, the State government is also negligent in refusing to accept its responsibility.

IT IS BEYOND UNDERSTANDING.
 Newspaper dispatches from Minneapolis a few days ago quoted R. J. Thomas, one of the high officials of a labor group, as saying that Victory day over Japan would be the signal for him to start authorizing strikes—and that "there will be plenty of them."

Who will suffer as a result of these strikes? No one but the men, women and children of this country. All will suffer.

We were given to understand by high government officials that when the Wagner act was passed, it would bring to an end all labor disputes in this country, that there would be labor peace forever and forever more.

But never in the history of this or any other nation, with the possible exception of France and Italy, have there been so much labor trouble as in this country since the enactment of the miserable Wagner labor law. It has been the cause of more labor trouble, the cause of untold losses in American lives on the fighting fronts—Yes, the cause of the deaths of thousands of American boys who might be living today, if strikes resulting from the Wagner labor law, had not been forced upon American working men.

What if Henry Ford or General Motors or the steel plant owners would say that they plan to close down their plants until they have their own way? You would brand them as worse than anarchists. Surely there is some way where peace and harmony and good will can be brought about between the man who has labor to sell and the man who finds it necessary to hire labor. Strikes cause a hatred that never ends. It causes ill-will that should never prevail.

Why continue to tolerate a condition which does nothing but create bitterness and loss to every one, and especially those who are in no way involved in the strikes?

It is about time for business men, workers and the innocent by-stander to get busy and end this foolishness. If we do not settle it pretty soon, you can bet your last dollar that when the fighting lads come home after they have crushed Japan, that they will do some settling of the thing, and those who have been responsible for all of these strikes and labor disputes will regret that they used so little common sense in the conduct of a highly important public responsibility.

Here's Example Of U. P. Loyalty
 There's nothing quite so loyal as Upper Peninsula loyalty. "It's thicker than molasses," said one, the other day, who knows. Judging from a Plymouth case, there isn't much question but what it is true. A few weeks ago Attorney Nandino Perlongo, a former resident of the Upper Peninsula, read in The Plymouth Mail a news article pertaining to the engagement of Randall Penhale, of Iron River, as principal of the Plymouth public schools. Attorney Perlongo knew that the well known Upper Peninsula resident would have to have a house to live in—and he knew that houses in and around Plymouth were about as scarce as the proverbial hen's tooth. He knew of one house that was going to be for rent, so without consulting his Upper Peninsula "countryman," he drew up a contract, wrote out a check and rented the house. After he had taken care of all of these details, he called his "fellow countryman" and advised him that he had a house rented for him if he wanted it. It is needless to say that one of the major worries of the new Plymouth high school principal was immediately ended. Such is Upper Peninsula loyalty among Upper Peninsula natives. No wonder Upper Peninsula folks get along so well.

Jap Flag Taken from Enemy He Had Killed Writes Soldier Cass Denski

A few weeks ago there was displayed in one of the windows of The Plymouth Mail office a Jap flag that had been taken from a Nip by Cass Denski, a Plymouth lad with American fighting forces that have been driving Japs from many of the islands in the Pacific. With the flag was another highly decorated strip of cloth with Jap characters printed on it. He calls it a Jap belt "with a thousand sticks."

At the time of the display there wasn't much information about it. Cass had sent it to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Denski, who reside on Lilly road. But this week a letter came to The Plymouth Mail direct from the young soldier in which he gives considerable information about his war prizes. He killed the Jap that he got them from. His interesting letter follows.

"I thought maybe you would like to hear from one of the Plymouth boys. I have been in the service now for three years, two of which have been overseas. I am on Luzon and have been here since we first started fighting. Now I am in a rest camp and I hope to stay here awhile. I've seen all the action I care to see for awhile. "I got the Jap flag and belt of a thousand sticks while I was out fighting. Almost every Jap soldier has a belt of a thousand sticks and a flag. I killed the Jap I got my flag from. He was just another pale yellow rat to me. It's just like going hunting back home. "I sure miss my home town. There's no place like home. We boys know what home sweet home means now. I haven't met a boy from Plymouth yet since I've been in the army. I still have hopes that I will meet one of them soon. "I have spent a lot of time in Hawaii and New Guinea and East Indies. I have seen all the world I care to see. The Philippines are a nice place. The people there are swell. They hate the Japs just as much as we do. Now they are all building up what the Japs wrecked. "I forgot to tell you what the 'belt of a thousand sticks' says. It reads, 'Son of the Rising Sun.' It was a gift to him from his friends. I guess many of them did not think they were going back. Well, they were right. "I have quite a few medals now. Expert infantry badge, good conduct medal, two battle stars, 4 overseas stripes, Philippine liberation ribbon, theatre ribbon. I guess that's a chest full. "Well, I must sign off now. Say hello to all my dear Plymouth friends. I hope to see them all soon, so 'til we meet again may God be with you all."

Free Holland Again Seeks Daisy Business

Industrial, wholesale and retail establishments in Holland and Belgium are not waiting long to let the rest of the world know that they are planning to resume business as quickly as possible.

During the past few days the Daisy Manufacturing company has received from concerns in Rotterdam the following letters, expressing their unending appreciation for their liberation and at the same time advising American producers that they are again ready to resume business activities:

"Dear Sirs— "Re Daisy Air-rifles and pistols. "We are extremely glad that we are now again in a position to send a message to friends overseas, since the victorious Allied forces made their glorious entry into our country, after five hard years of hateful German occupation. "We have the deepest admiration for everything the Allies did for our country and feel a genuine desire to fulfill with all our hearts the obligations laid upon us and to co-operate with you in the same fine spirit as displayed by your army-men, who are indeed 'Ambassadors for their Country.' "As we are very desirous of extending our business relations with the United States, we should esteem it a great favour to act in the future as agents for first class American firms.

"In view hereof, we should highly appreciate if there might be an opportunity for us to be appointed as agents for your famous products, preferably for the European continent. "As far as we know you were not represented here before the war and in fact good friends of ours specially recommended us to get in touch with you as they knew your products by experience and were really very enthusiastic. "We expect to be able to supply you with fullest information regarding our firm by a next mail, using the present letter as an introductory one, but we might point out already now that we are one of the leading firms in this country, having a splendid reputation."

Another letter reads as follows: "To our friends all over the world "Our hearts are filled with great and deep joy, now that we are at last liberated from the merciless terror of our enemies. "Many, many thanks to all those, who supported our country, directly or indirectly, during these extremely hard and bitter years. "Thanks for the helping hand reached out to us at the moment we were at the absolute end of our food and despair crept into our hearts, seeing our men, women and children starve to death. We shall never forget the blessing of your relief. "And now . . . here we are! inspired with the sincere and strong desire to build up a better world of good comradeship and to work for a new welfare of our own dear country and of our good old Rotterdam that suffered so heavily from war events. "May we call upon your co-operation?"

Bronze Star is Awarded Koch

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Koch of Ann Arbor road, have just received from their son, W. Clayton Koch, a copy of a citation recently given him with the army bronze star for heroic action during the invasion of Leyte.

In the nearly three years Clayton has been in the armed forces, he has taken part in five different Pacific island invasions. He was with the army that first invaded Kiska up in the Aleutians. But real action came to his outfit when they started driving the Japs off from islands on the other side of the Pacific.

The citation reads as follows: "Technician Fifth Grade W. Clayton Koch, 36518016, Medical Department, United States Army. Improvements Being Made at The "Music Box"

Alterations were started last week end on the Music Box at the corner of Adams and Church streets, and the extensive repairs to the youth center will be completed before school opens, according to the various groups making the improvements possible.

The main job of re-siding the building is being undertaken by the city, which owns the property and rents it to the youth organization. A white asbestos siding is to replace the stucco on the exterior of the house. This repair is being done at a cost of $550.00. The second improvement is being undertaken by Plymouth's active Hi-12 club. At a cost of $200.00 the garage, which is attached to the house, will be enlarged by the removal of a wall and the construction of a roof and a new wall on the east side of the house.

This addition will provide space to accommodate a pool table which has been given to the organization and will also add enough room for another ping-pong table which is badly needed. The job of removing the stucco has been undertaken by some of the boys who belong to the Music Box and maintenance committees of the group have been painting and renovating the building getting it ready for opening on a full time basis this fall.

Membership in the Music Box is open to any sophomore, junior or senior of Plymouth High School at a cost of $1.00 per year. Last year's membership was close to the 400 mark and it is expected that it will go much higher this year.

The adult board members of the full year's operation of the project has been more successful. A supervised program of activities was held throughout the year and dances were held at regular intervals throughout the winter.

The house provided a place for the students to find amusement in their idle hours and offered opportunity for groups to get together in the evening for games and other activities. A much fuller program is being planned for this fall, with educational movies and talks for the entire membership planned at least once each month during the school term, in addition to the other recreational facilities that the club offers.

Drowning of Child on GI Dad's Return Is War Tragedy

Plymouth was witness last week to another of the tragedies of war. Judith Lee Cover, two and a half years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cover, of 10320 West Ann Arbor road, was drowned in Tiptico Lake, near Holly.

But that's only part of the story. Judith had only just been reunited June 27 with her father, who hadn't seen her since she was four days old. He had been in the China-Burma-India theater of the war, serving as a staff sergeant in the Army Air Forces.

Judy, who was the granddaughter of Mrs. Edith Hadley, of 638 Dodge, had just begun to get acquainted with her father. She was the only child of Cover and his wife, the former Jean Hadley.

The grandmother works in city hall as night clerk of the police department and as night telephone operator. Funeral services were conducted Sunday from the Schrader Funeral home by the Rev. T. Leonard Sanders, pastor of First Methodist church.

The interment was in the Rose Center cemetery. Mrs. M. J. O'Conner played two lullabies on the organ. Active pallbearers were Frank and Fred Hadley, Burton Rich and Jack Eagen. After Cover's discharge with more than 100 points, he spent five days with his little family in their home in Plymouth and then they went to Cheyenne Falls, O., to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Cover. They returned to Plymouth July 13 and then went to Tiptico Lake to spend the week. Thursday evening, at about 6 p.m., Judy went out to play. Her mother followed her out about five minutes later and found the child floating in the water, a little way from the dock. Cover tried artificial respiration until a pulmonologist arrived from Fenton, but it was too late. Death was attributed to suffocation and shock. She is survived by her great-grandparents and many other relatives in addition to her parents and grandparents.

Eleven Homes on Roe Street Provide Twelve Sons for The Armed Forces

Here is one for Ripley—and Ripley probably cannot beat it anywhere in the country! In one block of Roe street in Plymouth are eleven houses. These houses have 12 boys in the armed services.

Bud Elliot, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Elliot, is now on duty in the Pacific. Harry Pelky Jr., USA, son of Mrs. Harry Pelky Sr. is home on furlough from Germany.

Bill Swadling, USA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Swadling, is home on furlough after having been released from a German prison camp.

Dale Rittenhouse, USA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rittenhouse, is in an army hospital in Paris, France. Ernie Archer, USCG, is stationed in the States.

Bud Archer, USAAF, is home on furlough from England. These boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archer. Richard Stolte, USN, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archer, is on duty in the Atlantic.

Stanley Schleiw, USCG, made his home with the Archer family until he entered the service. He is now on duty in the Atlantic.

Bob Smith, USN, is home on leave from Pacific duty. Ted Smith is with the US Merchant Marine. These two boys are the sons of Mrs. Helen Smith.

Edward Kopenski, USA, son-in-law of Mrs. Smith served in the Aleutians and is now stationed in Mississippi. Harved Hallam, USA, entered the service from 375 Roe street and has received a medical discharge.

Let Ripley try and beat this one!

School Renovating Shows Big Results for Hard Work

Being a school superintendent, or principal, is a soft snap. You get a three months vacation every summer and only work from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. during the school year. Oh yeah? If you think so, just stop up to the High School any day, at practically any hour and you'll change your mind in a hurry.

Plymouth's new school superintendent, Helmer A. Nelson, and the new principal, Randall Penhale, are really sweating these days getting things ready for the new school year, which opens Sept. 5. And they're getting things done too.

Besides the complete and long overdue renovating job being directed by Nelson which will make the schools well nigh unrecognizable to the returning pupils, they're completely reorganizing the administrative setup. They're modernizing and streamlining the antiquated system under which the schools have been operating, and they're working long hours to do it because it is a big job.

After they're finished, it'll be worth it, too. Operations will be much simpler for the teachers and principals, although they may have to take a refresher course of some sort to learn the new methods of keeping records, making reports, etc. Many's the night they've worked long after dark, getting things in order under their new reorganized system. One night it was after 12:30 when Nelson finished work. It's quite a treat to see Nelson, in summer time, carrying his homework with him when he leaves the office, too.

The renovating work in the schools includes complete repainting of all buildings, inside and out, with emphasis on modern decoration to make the atmosphere in the schools easier on the eyes. It also includes patching up all the loose plaster in the three buildings, of which there was plenty. Practically whole walls had to be replaced in some instances. The workmen also are caulking all of the outside seams around the windows and elsewhere where moisture has been seeping in to damage the plaster. A major share of the credit for the renovating should go to the Plymouth School Board, which quietly worked long and untiringly during the past year planning the work. The board held perhaps as many as 60 meetings during that year.

The membership of the board, which gave so untiringly of its time and efforts are Mrs. Sidney Strong, Sterling Eaton, Howard Stark, Donald Sutherland, and Dr. Harold Brisbois. The work on Starkweather School, which included moving the principal's office from the second floor to the first floor, directly under its former location, was completed this week.

Moving the principal's office into the former library, entailed moving the entire signal control system. The library was moved into the former principal's office—in other words the two just changed places. It was an entirely logical move, made at the direction of Nelson. The principal's office certainly should be on the first floor, near the entrance. And it gives the library larger quarters. The halls are all being painted in a suntone color which will make them much lighter than the old drab brown. All of the rooms are being done in eye-restful shades, which at the same time makes them lighter. The desks also are being removed and the floors sanded and

Ex-Plymouth Mail Employee Gets the Bronze Star

The heroism of another Plymouth boy too modest to tell of his exploits himself, was disclosed last week with the award of the Bronze Star to Donald G. Leichtweiss, 22, of 454 South Harvey street.

Leichtweiss who formerly worked as a steno-typewriter for the Plymouth Mail, was awarded the medal for extraordinary heroism in action in the vicinity of Lubine, France, Nov. 25, 1944.

As a result of his bravery and "utter disregard for his life," he was seriously wounded by machine gun fire and subsequently discharged on May 26, 1945. Leichtweiss now is working at the Wayne County Training School, in Northville, as a cottage supervisor.

The citation says, in part: "During the daylight hours of 25 November, 1944, in the vicinity of Lubine, France, Pfc. Donald G. Leichtweiss, litter bearer assigned to Company A, was pinned to the ground by intense enemy mortar and small arms fire. "Informed that many wounded were in an exposed position in front of an enemy roadblock, he, with utter disregard for his life, dashed forward to locate and evacuate the wounded. "Despite the withering fire that swept the area, he continued his heroic efforts completely oblivious of the dangers that confronted him. "He worked untiringly and courageously evacuating many wounded, until he himself was seriously wounded by enemy machine gun fire. "As a result of Pfc. Leichtweiss' magnificent valor prompt medical attention was rendered efficiently and expeditiously to his wounded comrades." Leichtweiss, who has a permanent impairment of his right leg, as well as internal injuries, will draw a partial disability pension for life.

He's planning on marrying Stella Cojocari, of Detroit, on Sept. 15, as the first part of his postwar plan.

New Bus Service Planned for City; Wayne-Northville

Plymouth is due to get a much needed new transportation consideration if plans now under consideration are approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission. Tunis P. Biddle, owner of the Northville Coach Line, has received permission from the Plymouth City Commission to operate a bus line through Plymouth from Wayne to Northville, to South Lyon, to Whitmore Lake.

If approval is forthcoming, Biddle plans to operate six coaches a day from Wayne and five from Whitmore Lake starting Aug. 1. Approval of the office of Defense Transportation for the vitally needed service has been obtained, Biddle said. The line recently added two new busses and has another new one on order. If the demand warrants it, more busses will be operated daily. The tentative schedule calls for service from 7:45 a.m. to about midnight.

Invitation For Boys in Florida

Here is an example of real old-fashioned Plymouth hospitality. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Horvath moved from Plymouth to Florida. Through The Plymouth Mail they have invited all Plymouth boys in the armed services in Florida to visit their home. "We would like to extend an invitation to all of the boys and girls in service from Plymouth, that are stationed in Florida near enough Welaka to visit us, to do so. "We are located at Sportsmans Lodge in Welaka, about 75 miles south of Jacksonville and 15 miles south of Palatka right on the St. Johns River. Anyone wishing to contact us should drop us a card and let us know when he can visit us. The bus and train run to Satsuma where we would pick him up and bring him on to the lodge. "We certainly would be happy to entertain everyone stationed here, so drop that card in the mail today and let us know when to meet you. "We like it down here very much, but still look forward to seeing The Mail every week."

Will Collect Paper Saturday

Do not forget that Saturday is paper collection day, Saturday, July 28! You know its benefits—you know what to do with your paper. Let's make Saturday's collection a record breaker! The membership of the board, which gave so untiringly of its time and efforts are Mrs. Sidney Strong, Sterling Eaton, Howard Stark, Donald Sutherland, and Dr. Harold Brisbois.

District Legion to Be Beals' Guests

The 17th District of the American Legion and Auxiliary will be the guests of Myron H. Beals Post and Auxiliary for their Annual Memorial Service and business meeting Friday, August 3rd at 8 p.m. at the American Legion hall on Newburg road. Members are urged to attend and bring an old and a new member and pay respects to departed comrades. A lunch will be served by the Auxiliary.

Virginia Stanley of Northville spent last week in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cronkrite on Ann street. This week they have their grandson, Richard Stanley, and his friend, Alfred Iverson, of Northville for the week.

Scouts to Collect Paper Saturday

The Boy Scouts of Plymouth will conduct another city-wide wastepaper collection tomorrow, Saturday. All residents are urged to put every scrap of paper they can scrape up on the curb in bundles early tomorrow morning so as to facilitate the collection. In case of rain, put the paper on the front porch. Wastepaper is vitally needed now more than ever before to carry the war to the Japs. Distances that war materials must be shipped are much greater and the climates in the Pacific are very detrimental to all materials, necessitating much better packaging.

Add to this the fact that the source of wastepaper is diminishing, whereas the need is increasing, and it is simple to see the necessity of saving every scrap. Part of this is caused by the fact that the paper products sent overseas obviously are unsalvageable. Plymouth mills, which supply more than a third of the nation's paper products, are operating on less than a week's inventory of the War's No. 1 critical material. Let's do our part and save EVERY scrap.

A Bit of the Old West Provides Buffalo Meat for Plymouth

MARVIN AND HERBERT GUNTZVILLE AND CHARLES MESSMORE Pointing to bull's-eye by Messmore that dropped bull buffalo

Plymouth was the scene of quite a bit of excitement Wednesday afternoon when some of the members of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association brought a little of the old west to the Schrader Buffalo Ranch, on North Territorial road.

The event, shooting of the three remaining buffaloes on the ranch, was expected to provide a temporary solution to the city's meat shortage as early as today and tomorrow when point-free "buffaloburger" will go on sale in the Purity Market.

The buffaloes had been a hobby for the late Fred D. Schrader, who died in March.

The first two, both bulls, were brought down in their tracks with one shot each. The third, a cow, was only grazed by the first shot and it took two more to finally bring it down as it galloped all over the 15 acres.

Herb Guntzville, of Northville, got the first and biggest one, weighing about a ton, with a shot right between the eyes with his 300 Savage rifle.

Then Charley Messmore, of 351 West Liberty, brought down the 1,500-pound bull with a remarkably well placed shot right behind the ear with his 30-60 Remington.

The cow finally was brought down behind the woods by Elroy

Crites, of 260 South Main, after a chase that took the hunters and buffalo practically all over the farm.

Crites' shot caught the cow behind the ear while in full flight. "Its front legs just buckled right under it," he said, "and it sure bit the dust. Plenty of dust flew up."

The 2,000 pound bull, first to be brought down, fell in its tracks like "a ton of lead" without ever moving a step.

Others on hand with their rifles to assist in the shooting were Marvin Guntzville, Northville taxidermist, and John Crandall, of 974 Church street, an attorney.

David Galin, proprietor of the Purity Market & Refrigerated Food Lockers, purchased the buffaloes from the Schrader estate after Mrs. Schrader and her son, Lt. Edwin A. (Bud) Schrader decided to dispose of them.

Roasts will go on sale over the counter next Friday and Saturday at the Purity Market and choice steaks will be ready for sale the following weekend, Galin said, after they have been aged.

He hopes to sell the roasts at 50 cents a pound and the steaks at 75 cents. One of the buffaloes will be sold over the counter, another will be reserved for Galin's locker customers and the third will be earmarked for institutions. Part of the third also will be saved for the Conservation Association's annual wildlife dinner.

Even the Anti-Cruelty Association of Michigan and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals were on hand in the person of Myrtle Babcock, president of the Anti-Cruelty Association, and State Humane Officers Ralph I. Power and Stanley Doner.

They'd heard the animals were to be hunted with bow and arrow and were on hand to prevent any unnecessary cruelty.

It was necessary to hunt them down with rifles as would be done with wild buffaloes rather than kill them like ordinary cattle, said Galin, because they were too wild to control otherwise.

Galin said he will price the meat so as to allow himself the same margin of profit that the OPA allows him on beef. He said all records of the costs will be turned over to the OPA for inspection.

Mr. Galin decided to hold the buffalo hunt this week because his son, Eugene, has just come home from Navy boot training. His son-in-law, Army Lt. Sidney E. Locke, of Detroit, also is home on leave, and attended the hunt.

It is planned to have the heads mounted, one for the Conservation Association's new club rooms, another for the market and the third for the Guntzville boys, Galin said.

There is a new angel in heaven On Sunday God called her away Our hearts are sad and lonely, for we hoped and prayed she might stay, but God has a better judgment and in choosing his angels he uses great care. Truth was her greatest virtue Truth is His greatest joy. She accepted Christ and went to dwell with the Saviour in a far away land beyond the sky. They are beckoning you and I to follow them up there, where we shall all be united, and live forever on high.

Tenant Housing

Houses of tenant farmers in the United States are in much worse condition than are those of farm owners, reports the U. S. department of agriculture. About one-half of the dwellings occupied by tenants should be replaced altogether, a report of the department's interbureau committee on postwar programs shows, while about one-fourth of the owner-occupied farm houses need to be replaced. The report also shows that tenants had only about half as many refrigerators, electric lights and radios as farm owners, and about half as much modern plumbing.

Fly Spray

An odorless and non-irritating fly spray has been perfected by chemists of the United States department of agriculture. It is the result of a new method of purifying pyrethrum. It promises to be an effective postwar weapon against flies in homes, airplanes, restaurants, and pests, such as cockroaches, bed-bugs, ants, mosquitoes, spiders, silverfish, dog ticks and dog fleas. Members of the armed forces are using it all over the globe at the present time against disease-carrying insects.

Weather Forecasting

Stripped of technical language, weather forecasting is an attempt to judge what air masses will be over a certain region at a specified time plus a description of the characteristics of the air mass—its temperature, clouds, winds, air stability, etc. Weather "fronts" (the boundary between two air masses where the conflict responsible for bad weather occurs) must also be forecast and their speeds calculated mathematically.

Australian Wool

From about 125,000,000 sheep, Australia gets an annual woolclip of almost 1,000,000,000 pounds — an average of nearly 9 pounds per fleece shorn. The annual wool check averages $211,000,000 and, before the war, it was the only primary industry whose product was sold at world market rates without a subsidy or other government aid.

Cleaning Closet

Remove oily rags and mops which lend themselves to spontaneous ignition in cleaning the closet and don't hide your fire extinguisher in a forgotten corner. Keep it in an accessible, visible spot in the kitchen or near the cellar door, ready for use. In case of an emergency you won't have to waste time looking for it.

Room Lighting

A room painted in deep blue or green requires much more light for illumination than the same room painted white or cream. The dark colors absorb several times as much light as the brighter colors, which reflect most of the light back into the room.

Cleans Pot

If you have sour milk you can't use, put it in the coffee pot, leaving the gadgets in place. Allow to stand 4 day or two, then pour out, and that awful brown will drain away with it. Wash the pot well with soapy water, scald thoroughly and allow to air.

Wash Load

Your machine is designed to wash a definite load. Weigh the clothes or put in only the number the directions advise. Too many will not wash clean and, in an electric machine, may strain the motor or cause the fuse to blow.

Preserves Bottom

A piece of galvanized iron, cut and bent to lie snugly in the bottom of tanks used for washing dairy utensils, will lengthen the life of the bottom of the tank many times over and save many costly repairs.

Banana Industry

The banana industry is the most highly specialized of all major agriculture. The crop requires the installation and management of at least two tons of mechanical equipment per producing acre.

Coat Buttons

Heavy linen thread should be used to sew on coat buttons. Small buttons should be sewed on the underside to protect the coat fabric and to cover the untidy, irregular stitches.

The Christianity that is merely of sects, the pulpit, and fashionable society, is brief; but the Word of God abideth.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Airplane Crash Shakes Up Four

Four persons were shaken up and injured slightly Monday evening when the Fairchild 24, four-place cabin plane in which they were riding crashed about 1,000 yards after its takeoff from the Hartzell Air Terminal, 39139 Ford road, formerly the Smith Airport.

Pilot of the plane was Robert L. McBrien, 43, of Detroit, part owner and manager of the airport. The passengers were Bertha Ziesman, 17; Hilda Crawford, 21, and William Leon, 42, all of Detroit.

Leon was the most seriously injured, suffering lacerations of the head, face and knee. Miss Crawford injured her leg, while Miss Ziesman was only shaken up. McBrien suffered minor bruises.

Expert handling on the part of McBrien, who has had several thousand hours flying time, prevented a more serious crash. The plane had just cleared some trees near the field when the engine cut out, according to witnesses.

McBrien tried for a vacant field near the intersection of Ford and Hix roads, but didn't have enough altitude. By adroit maneuvering, he managed to miss a farm house, but he couldn't quite clear a chicken coop, clipping it with the landing gear.

The occupants of the plane were given first aid by a Garden City doctor and sent home. The CAA is investigating to determine what caused the engine to go dead.

Gay Decorations

Popcorn balls shaped like bells and covered with cellophane tied with a bright ribbon make gay Christmas decorations.

Musician's Typewriter

A variety of typewriter that is used by musicians and composers is one that types the staff, ruled lines and notes.

Check Leaks

Leaky vases and similar containers of china or glass can be made watertight by coating the inside with paraffin.

Wool Storage

Before you store at home any article of wool, see that it's clean and free from pests.

2,500 Lenses in Eye

The eye of a crayfish has about 2,500 little lenses, each catching a ray of light.

Gasses in Air

Air consists chiefly of two gasses, oxygen and nitrogen.

★ BUY WAR BONDS ★

Spice Bags

Spice bags give a faint, yet enticing flavor to certain soups and stews. To make one, mix three sprigs of parsley, six whole cloves, one bay leaf and a little thyme. Tie them loosely in a small square of white cheesecloth. Drop bag into soup or stew.

Cow's Body

Milk is 87 per cent water. Water constitutes from 70 to 80 per cent of the cow's body, carries digested food materials into the body, carries waste products away from the body, and helps to control the body temperature.

Press on Wrong Side

Steam-press on the wrong-side if wool is likely to shine from pressing, or if the weave has any raised pattern. Right side pressing may be best if wool is thick. Try a little and see which way gives the nicest press.

Smallest Republic

Smallest republic in South America, Uruguay has well-watered plains for grazing, excellent communications, and one of the most democratic-minded people on the continent.

Electric Fingers

"Electric fingers" have been devised to grope inside turbines and motors, lifting out loose nuts and bolts that formerly would have made necessary taking apart the entire machine.

Cricket Loud

The "song" of the tiny cricket, an insect which is less than an inch long, can sometimes be heard as far as a mile. The female cricket makes no sound at all.

Ripen in Warmth

Bananas must have warm air to ripen properly. Don't put them in the refrigerator until they are ripe, in the event you need to hold them over a short time.

Plan Widening of Main Street

The city commission has scheduled a public hearing for Aug. 6 on the question of widening Main street between Dodge and Fralick to the same width as in front of city hall, about 40 feet.

It approved the laying of black topping on several streets after public hearings at its last meeting. Those to be improved are:

Sheridan, from Sheidon to Lincoln; Lincoln, from Sheridan to Ann Arbor Trail; Division, between Starkweather and North Mill; Dewey, from Burroughs to Edison; one block on Adams, from Farmer to Junction, and Wing from Main to Deer.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Curb and Gutter and Widening of South Main Street

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held in the Commission Chambers at the City Hall, Monday evening, August 6, 1945, at 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of determining whether or not to construct curb and gutter and widen South Main Street between Dodge and Fralick on both sides of the street.

All property owners whose property abuts the improvement will be given ample opportunity to participate in such hearing.

I. P. Cookingham, city manager of Kansas City, who served as Plymouth's city manager from 1932 to 1936, has been elected president of the American Society of Planning Officials.

Cookingham, who came to Plymouth from Clawson, where he also served as city manager, went to Saginaw for four years in a like capacity after leaving Plymouth. From there he went to his present important post in Kansas City.

Prior to 1932, Plymouth operated under the city manager form of government since 1918. It was the fifty municipality in the State to adopt that form.

Day Camp Enjoyed by Cub Scouts

(Contributed)

There were 27 out of the 36 members of S-1 Cub Scouts who participated in the day camp held during the past week, in addition to two den leaders, Eric Nyman, Jack Fetterly and Senior Scout Neil Burkholder.

Our leaders for the week in handicraft were J. Bennet, cubmaster, taught the boys soap carving; G. Brewer, pack chairman, leather headband; R. Wagenschutz, secretary-treasurer and L. Fetterly chairman of Scouters club, tomahawk and knife; V. Nyman, committeeman, sail boats; C. Sergison, cub dad, finished up all handicraft work.

These leaders had the capable assistance from Den mothers, Messdames Crawford, Clemens, LaMay, Jenkins, A. Wagenschutz and Bennett.

Cub mothers and others: Messdames C. Sergison, G. Brewer, R. Wooley, Prine, Schroder, Case, Armistead, Schweinn, and Miss H. Lord.

Besides the handicraft the boys had several hikes collecting leaves, weeds and wild flowers. They mounted these collections to add to their cub rank.

To end the day camp we planned a pack picnic Friday night in the park but because of rain we journeyed to Stark school and had a pot-luck dinner and ice cream, furnished by the Pack.

We had one new cub, Thomas Guthrie of Newburg joined our pack. A new den mother, Mrs. Clemens and her son, Donald, transferred from Detroit to our pack.

The following cubs were awarded wolf badges, Hugh Jenkins, Charles and Richard Ugermann, Kenneth Sockow, Thomas and Herman Mullaney.

Wolf Gold, Hugh Jenkins.

Combination Wolf Silver, Gerald Brewer.

Bear and Bear Gold, Robert Armistead.

Bear, Jack Schroder.

Several of the boys had birthdays during the month and were given their books, according to rank.

The cubs put on a patriotic skit forming a "V" and singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" (America). Mr. Brewer and the boys closed the meeting dressing up as Indians and having the boys around by their tents.

The "living circle" brought our day camp to a close.

We had several guests present with us during the evening, including Mrs. H. Hees of Plymouth Pack 620.

Everyone left having a very enjoyable time and looking forward to another year.

There must be not a balance of power, but a community of power; not organized rivalries, but an organized common peace.—Woodrow Wilson.

Former Scouts Army Leaders

(Contributed)

It is getting to be a regular thing to hear from servicemen who were, and are, Scouts, and who are finding that their Scout training is of great use to them in their work in the armed services. The latest letter that the Field commissioner has received is from Richard Neale, a marine corporal now stationed on Guam, an assistant scoutmaster of P-1.

After acknowledging the receipt of his commission card for this year, Dick went on to say "I'm now a radio operator in this outfit, and having been trained as a technician, I've had to take a little training to take over this new job. And I have found some of my Scout work very helpful. Thinking I knew nothing at all about the duties of a radio operator, one day they showed a pair of semaphore flags at me and started teaching me how to use them. But as soon as they saw what I could do with them they turned around and had me instructing other fellows. Another thing I've found very useful is first aid, and that is a subject everyone learns out here. The two subjects I've just mentioned are the ones I have gotten the most use from, but map making and astronomy have been very helpful also.

"This island I'm on even has a Scout Troop, and you ought to see them all decked out in old army and marine gear."

Dick is one of eight boys who went directly from active service with P-1 to the army, navy or marines. And they are among the hundred and four that we know about who have been members of this troop and are now serving their Uncle Samuel all over the world.

The worth of a State in the long run is the worth of the individuals composing it.—John Stuart Mill.

Voters Asked to Approve New School Plant for Livonia

Approximately 1000 pupils will be accommodated in this Livonia Township School. To be built as soon as possible after the war, the Board of Education have planned it as the start of a complete Junior-Senior High School, including an auditorium, a gymnasium, a cafeteria, and extensive recreational facilities. Thirty-three acres have already been acquired south of Five Mile and east of Farmington Roads, a location that lies almost in the geographical and population center of the township.

"Results of the Township-wide vote on Monday, July 30, will prove conclusively whether or not the citizens of Livonia stand for growth, progress and good citizenship," according to a spokesman from the Committee on Civic Affairs at last night's meeting. This was a series of meetings held in the Township; sponsored by the newly organized Civic Group to present in graphic form Livonia's desperate need for a new school building. In a statement to the Press Fred C. Weinert, President of the School Board, discussed Livonia's future connection with neighboring High Schools, and referring to the proposed plans for a new building stated, "the only means of attaining this end will be through the establishment of a Building and Site Fund adequate to 'match dollars' with anticipated Federal Aid Funds." He then proceeded to point out that this could only be accomplished by a vote of Livonia's citizens on two issues.

(a) To establish a Building and Site Fund and

(b) To vote "Yes" on the proposed five mill tax increase.

Both of these issues will be up for vote of the people on Monday,

School Renovating
filled and refinished. A couple of the rooms will be re-equipped with the latest model desks.
Even the lavatories are being repainted in more suitable colors. One almost needs a guide to get through the halls these days they're so cluttered up with workmen and their equipment. It's really an impressive sight to see the work being done.
The lockers in the High School are being raised off the floor so they'll be easier to reach and kept cleaner.
Most of the work, of necessity, is being done in the grade schools since they were in the worst state of repair. Even the roofs were leaking some.
It will be a pleasure for the children to go to school and easier for them to study when the work is finished.

Weddings

Laycock-Vanderhoef.
Ruby Vanderhoef, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Vanderhoef of Marion, became the bride of Sgt. Floyd T. Laycock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Laycock, of Tustin, Sunday, July 8. The service was read at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Wesley Griffin in the parsonage of the Wesleyan Methodist church of Dighton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Laycock, of Flint, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the attendants.

Following a few days visit in the homes of their parents the young couple returned to Plymouth where the bride makes her home with an aunt, Mrs. Andrew Jettreys, on Gilbert street, Robinson subdivision.

Mrs. Laycock is employed by the Bell Telephone company. Sgt. Laycock returned to Williams Field, Chandler, Arizona, on July 21, where he has been stationed for several months.

Brown-Sinta.

The marriage of Violet Ida Brown, daughter of Patrolman and Mrs. Edwin N. Brown of 9464 Northern avenue, to Theodore J. Sinta, took place last Saturday afternoon, July 21, at the Methodist parsonage, the Rev. T. Leonard Sanders officiating. The groom, who went through the European invasion with General Patton's army, is a resident of Brighton. He is a brother of Edward Sinta of this city. He returned from Germany on August 11 and has a 31-day furlough before being re-assigned. The bride is a former student of the Plymouth high school and has many friends among the younger people of the city. After a brief wedding trip, their future plans depend largely upon the groom's army orders. A reception at the bride's home took place last Saturday evening.

Obituaries

Mrs. Mabel M. Renner.

Funeral services were held Saturday, July 21st, at 2 p.m. from the Schrader Funeral Home, Plymouth for Mrs. Mabel Matilda Renner who passed away at her home, 9515 Six Mile road, Salem township after a long illness. Mrs. Renner is survived by her husband, William H. Renner, four daughters and four sons: Mrs. Harriet Fox, Mrs. Lillian Gasper, William, Orris, Charles, Katherine, Lois and David Renner, one granddaughter, Carol Gasper, one brother and two sisters, George Salow of Detroit, Mrs. Harriet Van Dyke of Calumet City, Illinois and Mrs. James McKenzie of Chicago, Illinois, a host of other relatives and friends. Rev. Cora Pennell of Salem officiated. Mrs. Renner was taken to Chicago, Illinois where service was held Monday, July 23, at 2 p.m. Interment was in Forest Home Cemetery, Chicago, Illinois.

Truman Robert Monroe.

Truman Robert Monroe of 14273 Northville Road, passed away early Wednesday morning at Eloise hospital after a long illness. Mr. Monroe is survived by one daughter and two sons, Mrs. Fred Pinnow, James Monroe of Plymouth, and Fred Monroe of Detroit. Funeral services will be held from the Schrader Funeral Home Saturday, July 28, at 2 p.m. Interment will be in Clarenceville Cemetery.

Egg Protein

Nutritionists warn that it takes about three eggs to give the same amount of protein as does an average serving of meat. They may be eaten as eggs, or may be camouflaged in souffles, custards, scalloped dishes or desserts.

Rail Taxes

Railroad taxes in 1944 were by far the highest on record, amounting to the unprecedented sum of $1,900,000,000. In order to meet their taxes alone railway revenues derived from 73 days of operation were required in 1944.

Preserve Rubber

Rubber tubes and fixtures are kept softer and in better condition if treated once in a while with a weak solution of ammonia water. For fine quality rubber, the solution should not be too strong.

Nutritious Forage

Since the legumes are high in protein and minerals, they produce a more nutritious forage than do grasses alone. Also, the legumes provide nitrogen for the healthy growth of grasses.

Flying Fish

According to Encyclopaedia Britannica, flying fish probably move through the air to escape capture by other fish, sometimes sailing over the water as far as 200 yards.

Safe Industry

The steel industry continued to be the third safest industry last year, the National Safety council says. Its safety record was twice as good as the industrial average.

Orange Nutrition

Strained orange juice contains only 50 to 75 per cent as much vitamin C as would be obtained by eating segments of the same orange.

Rolling Dough

When rolling dough on waxed paper, moisten the table top first, then put the paper down. This prevents the paper from slipping.

On August 30, 1914, the flower of the Russian army was annihilated at Tannenberg, East Prussia, by Von Hindenburg. So in the 1920s, the Germans erected a great eight-towered national memorial there for the burial of their war heroes and Hitler later boasted that, "Tannenberg will remain forever a symbol of Germany's greatness as a military power."

But just before the city's capture by the Russians on January 21, 1945, the retreating Nazis blew up this "symbol of military power," thus indicating that they believed the entire province of East Prussia was permanently lost to Germany.

When shedding their skin, all species of snakes also shed the outer film of their eyes.

Add 10 to your age...

and read this!

It's funny how time can fool you... Looking backward, ten years doesn't seem so long.

But looking ahead—ten years seems like an eternity. And that's the reason why many people never save money... Looking backward, they wish—oh, how they wish!—they'd started saving ten years ago. Looking ahead, ten years of saving seems like such a long, tiresome program that they never get started.

Look at this! Suppose you had been able to start just ten years ago to put only $3.75 each week in United States Government "Series E" Bonds.

Today—right now!—your bonds would be worth $2,163.45. A tidy sum!

Well—why not start a savings program like that? Why not make the next ten years work for you—the ten years that seem so long now, but that will seem so short, come 1955?

There's a War Bond Timetable on this page.

It shows how regular savings of certain weekly sums accumulate—principal and interest. Set your goal. Then keep on buying and holding War Bonds until you reach your objective. Some day you'll say, "It was the smartest thing I ever did!"

This is what happens when you pay $75 for a $100 Series E Bond

After 2 years it's worth	$76.50
After 4 years it's worth	$80.00
After 6 years it's worth	$84.00
After 8 years it's worth	$92.00
In 10 years it's worth	$100.00

And—if you save regularly each week this is what will happen:

WAR BOND TIMETABLE

Weekly Savings	SAVINGS AND INTEREST ACCUMULATED
	In 1 Year	In 5 Years	In 10 Years
$ 3.75	$195.00	$1,004.20	$2,163.45
6.25	325.00	1,674.16	3,607.54
7.50	390.00	2,009.02	4,329.02
9.38	487.76	2,513.42	5,416.97
12.50	650.00	3,348.95	7,217.20
15.00	780.00	4,018.67	8,660.42
18.75	975.00	5,024.24	10,828.74

Plymouth Studies State's Municipal Retirement Act

The City Commission has made a formal request to the State Treasurer to make studies to determine the cost of the new state-wide retirement plan for Plymouth city employees.

The new plan, which was enacted into law by unanimous vote of both houses of the Legislature during the 1945 session, provides a simple method by which even the smallest municipalities now can provide for pensions to their employees upon retirement.

In other words, by acting co-operatively a group of municipalities will have all the advantages that previously only big cities possessed.

There are two alternate plans, Plan A, for smaller municipalities, such as Plymouth, and Plan B, for medium and larger municipalities.

A three-fifths majority vote of the governing body or a majority vote of its electors is necessary for the municipality to come under the provisions of the act.

When cauliflower heads are two to three inches across, the leaves should be tied or pinned up around them to keep out the sun and prevent them from turning brown.

To keep aphids off cauliflower and broccoli spray or dust them with nicotine. Cabbage worms can be kept under control by dusting frequently with rotenone.

To build up the plants for next spring's product, fertilize rhubarb and asparagus at this time. A 4-12-4 fertilizer can be used at the rate of three pounds per 100 square feet.

The figures 4-12-4 on fertilizer bag mean that it contains four parts nitrogen, 12 parts of phosphorus and four of potash.

Garden Tips By Garden Expert

(By E. I. Besemer.)

To prevent corn earworm trouble, nip the tips off the corn ears after the silk has started to turn brown, or drop a few drops of mineral oil on the silk and down into the end of the ear.

Pull and destroy wilted cucumber vines to reduce the spread of bacteria wilt. Since this disease is spread by cucumber beetles, keep them off the plants by dusting regularly with a combination consisting of one part of calcium arsenate and 19 parts of gypsum.

As soon as peas have stopped producing, the vines should be pulled up. They can then be used to mulch the tomato plants.

Keep the cultivator and hoe going to control the weeds. As the season progresses, shallow up on the cultivation and stay further away from the rows to avoid disturbing the roots of the plants.

Beans planted prior to July 10 in Southern Michigan will, provided the fall weather is right, produce a good late crop.

A mulch of straw, grass clippings, or leaves placed on the soil under the tomato vines at this time will help to keep the soil cooler and more uniformly moist.

New Equipment Improves School's Athletic Setup

Randall Penhale, who besides his duties as the new High School principal has taken on the tasks of athletic director, has stepped into that job with a vengeance.

As a result of his summertime activities, Plymouth High School will have one of the best equipped athletic plants it has ever had when school opens, come Sept. 5.

Penhale has ordered several hundred dollars worth of new equipment, part of which will be covered by insurance on football uniforms lost in a fire at the renovating plant in Buffalo where they had been sent.

A complete new set of game suits has been ordered as well as big quantities of other necessary athletic material.

Falan, (Wayne Falan, the new head coach) will be disappointed if he doesn't have at least 100 boys out for football," Penhale said, "and we'll be able to equip a squad of at least 60 after they are weeded out."

The school will participate again in the Michigan High School Athletic Benefit Fund, Penhale added. This fund protects boys against injuries sustained in athletics—a form of insurance.

Music Box Notes

Once more our house on the corner of Church and Adams streets is being "overhauled" to make it a better place for us to enjoy ourselves.

During the past year and this summer movies have been shown to the members and have been received with great enthusiasm.

JACK LEE WINS COMBAT BADGE FOR FIGHTS AGAINST JAPS.

Pfc. Jack Russell Lee of this city has just been awarded the Combat Infantryman's badge for exemplary conduct in action against the Japs in the Philippines Liberation campaign.

Pfc. Lee, who previously was awarded the Expert Infantryman's badge for service in Dutch New Guinea, is a veteran of three campaigns. He served with his unit in the recent drive through the rugged mountains of Central Luzon which was climaxed by the capture of Baguio, the summer capital of the Philippines.

The Expert Infantryman's badge is awarded only to men who meet the highest standards of the American Infantryman. To receive the award a soldier must be a crack marksman, must be skilled in the use of the bayonet and schooled in hand to hand fighting. He must be able to hike long distances at a rapid pace and must be a versatile combat man able to fight equally well in jungles, mountains or cities.

The Combat Infantryman's badge is awarded to a soldier after he has proven his mettle in combat.

Pfc. Lee, who is a member of Company M of the 123rd Infantry Regiment, entered army service on Dec. 14, 1942. After serving in the Hawaiian Islands and New Guinea, he has been in the Philippines since February.

MARY KESSLER GIVEN ASSIGNMENT TO DUTY WITH THE WAVES.

Having successfully completed her basic training and indoctrination course at the Naval Training School (WR), The Bronx, New York City, Mary Kathryn Kessler, daughter of Mr. Ertman W. Kessler, 50325 Cherry Hill road, has been assigned to her first duty station in the navy as a member of the WAVES. She has reported to the Naval Air station, Jacksonville, Florida, and thereby joins the more than 82,000 WAVES now taking a vital part in the work of the navy.

Miss Kessler is a graduate of Ypsilanti high school and before volunteering to serve her country in the WAVES, was employed by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. as an operator.

Women interested in helping their country finish the fight against the terrorists of Tokyo are urged to contact the navy, ninth floor, Book Building, Detroit, to determine if they are eligible to become members of the navy's smart Women's Reserve, WAVES are needed more than ever before, with many required for important hospital corps duty, as the navy goes all-out for final victory.

RICHARD C. INNIS WINS COMMISSION FOR SERVICES IN COMBAT.

Highly prized among men on the armed forces are promotions that have come as the result of services in the armed forces.

Recently Richard C. Innis, 41943 East Ann Arbor Trail who is now stationed in France, was one of 146 former enlisted men who completed training as the 8th class of the Infantry Officer Candidate school at the ground forces training center in the European theater of operations.

Selected as outstanding men from a wide variety of organizations stationed in the ETO, the new lieutenants satisfactorily completed a highly intensive course of eight weeks training under the direction of Colonel Harold E. Rogers, commandant, GFC.

Nearly every branch of the army was represented in the class with many of the members coming from combat outfits. In a large number of cases the men were reassigned as officers in the outfits where they served as enlisted men. All will serve as platoon leaders in infantry organizations.

TWO PLYMOUTH BOYS BEGIN TRAINING FOR MARITIME SERVICES.

Thomas E. Shoemaker and Harold A. Micol, Plymouth, have recently been accepted for enrollment in the U.S. Maritime Service and are now undergoing basic training at the Maritime Service training station, Sheephead Bay, N. Y. After completing six weeks of basic training which includes lifeboat work, fire fighting, breeches buoy, mess, sea rules and traditions, swimming, ship construction and equipment, gunnery and physical training, they may enter deck or engine training, including three weeks of practical experience aboard a training ship at sea or they may apply for one of the specialized schools of training such as radio, hospital-purser, or the deck or engine division. Upon completion of this training they will become part of the largest fleet of merchant vessels in world history and be U. S. Merchant Seamen manning the ships that supply the war fronts and are delivering the goods on time and enroute.

All applicants between the ages of 17 and 50 may now enroll. Men of all draft classifications are eligible. Men between the ages of 17 and 35½ who meet the educational and physical requirements are eligible for general training; men between the ages of 35½ to 50 may qualify for limited duty in the Steward's department.

Trainees are paid $50 a month. Uniforms, quarters, food, medical and dental care are furnished. All are guaranteed the same re-employment and seniority rights as those given members of the armed forces.

FLOYD McALLISTER IS GIVEN PROMOTION TO STAFF SERGEANT.

From the First Base Air Depot at Warrington, England, comes the information that Floyd G. McAllister has won a promotion from sergeant to staff sergeant. The announcement of the advancement was made by Brig. Gen. J. H. Houghton. Previous to entering the service he was employed at the Plymouth Tube company.

LUCILE TRUAX HAS RETURNED TO DUTY AT CAMP HOOD DOWN IN TEXAS.

Pvt. Lucile Truax who recently enjoyed a brief furlough at her home in Plymouth, has returned to duty at Camp Hood in Texas. She has written the following letter to "Our Boys" page in The Plymouth Mail:

"It was grand to be home for awhile but it will be good to get back to camp and get settled down again. I didn't get to see everyone that I wanted to. You don't really have enough time in fifteen days.

"I arrived here on Monday and am leaving tomorrow for camp.

"It's a shame there isn't more meat for people to eat. A soldier or anyone in the armed forces should be able to get their meat while they are home but I guess the way things are it couldn't be helped.

"I saw Mr. Schomberger and he asked me if I knew his daughter Agnes who is stationed at McCloskey General Hospital in Temple, Texas. The last time I saw her she was doing all right. They are kept pretty busy there now with more of the fellows coming home from the ETO war. They are a grand bunch of fellows.

"You'd be surprised how high their morale is. They're just glad to be home and nothing else is important except getting out of the hospital and home.

"Thanks for sending The Plymouth Mail to me and also my brother who is in the Coast Guard. I wish I could have seen him but didn't so I guess I'll have to be satisfied with looking at his picture."

PREPARES FOR DUTY IN THE FAR PACIFIC.

Pfc. Charles Pettibone, 10608 Wayne road is now being processed at Camp Atlanta in northeastern France, as a member of the first ETO armored division to be ordered to the Pacific.

Pfc. Pettibone is a member of the 83rd Cav. Recon. Sqd. Mezz. "B" Troop and served with the 13th Armored Division in the Battle of the Ruhr pocket and in the drive through Bavaria into Austria. He holds the Good Conduct medal, and two Bronze battle participation stars.

The 13th, popularly known as the Black Cat Division, captured more than 20,000 German prisoners in the fighting in the Ruhr and took an additional 19,000 in Bavaria. In the closing days of the war in Europe, it captured Hitler's birthplace city of Braunau, Austria, and liberated 14,000 Allied prisoners of war.

PLYMOUTH SOLDIER ARTIST WINS FAME IN LAND OF ARABS.

There isn't much color left to the region around the American air base at Abadan, Iran, which once was the scene of the stories in the Arabian Nights. The Garden of Eden has ceased to be anything but a name; the cradle of civilization at the Tigris and Euphrates rivers now holds only the hot, shimmering sands of the desert. And in the place of the caravans of ancient times, great air transports of the North African Division of the Air Transport command now carry the cargoes across the Middle East and on to China and India.

At the Abadan Air Base, one of the largest fields in that part of the world, Pfc. Ernest H. Engleson, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Engleson, 824 So. Main street, is bringing back scenes of the once romantic region as he spends his free time decorating various buildings with pictures and murals of local and Arabian Nights' motifs.

Pfc. Engleson has had a varied career in art work, having studied at the School of Applied Art, Chicago, worked as a designer for the Beauty Review magazine and cartoonist on The Plymouth Mail in the years ago. He has also done free lance work while studying.

Stationed at Abadan Air Base as an artist in the Information and Education section, it is just one art job after the other for this local Rembrandt. But Engleson is always anxious to do any request for he says it is excellent experience and helps him to try new techniques. He has done illustrations for many field publications and training aids and recently completed a twelve by twenty foot mural, located in the officers' mess, which depicts the work of the ATC on that base. At present, he is working on a program of illustrating entertainment posters and movie signboards throughout the base.

Engleson's talents have found another medium of expression in his writing short stories, mostly of travel nature, several of which have been accepted by the King Newspaper Syndicate. His travels in the North African Division have taken him to many places of interest from which he has taken a great deal of material for future stories. He has visited Naples, Italy, Cairo, Egypt and many places in the Middle East.

Engleson entered service in January, 1942 and trained at Courtland Air Base, Ala., and Helena Air Base, Arkansas and arrived overseas in October, 1944.

One other interest has found place in Engleson's time. He is now studying criminology and has applied and been accepted for officers candidate school. He hopes, upon completion of the school, to be assigned to the military police forces in Germany.

ALEX KONAZESKI'S OUTFIT WINS PRIZED PRESIDENTIAL CITATION.

T/5 Alex Konazeski was a member of the 3rd Battalion of the 415th "Old Faithful" Regiment which received a presidential citation for the capture of the strategically located towns of Luchenburg before the Roer river. It was also this Battalion which engaged and made prisoners of the 1219th German Regiment on the flank of the Ruhr pocket. Company L of which T/5 Konazeski is a member was one of the first units to send motorized contact patrols through German-held territory to the Russians.

The 104th Infantry (Timberwolf) Division was the first to travel directly from the states to France. Little more than a month after landing, the Timberwolves, led by Major General Terry Allen, went into the line and remained in continuous combat for over six months. After fighting with the First Canadian army in the successful Holland campaign which opened the port of Antwerp to Allied shipping, the Timberwolves took their place in the First Army line at Aachen. In a slashing campaign that was featured by night attacks the Division drove through the industrial Eschweiler area, then assault-boated the Roer, pushing ahead to take Cologne.

Once across the Rhine at the Remagen bridgehead, the Division stabbed furiously into the heartland of the Reich, taking part in the Ruhr pocket encirclement.

The final phase of Timberwolf combat in Nazi land saw the men of the 104th racing to the Mulde river where the last remnants of the Wehrmacht were crushed between the Russians and the American First Army making that sector the first in Germany to be cleared and completely conquered.

This victorious division which has never given an inch is in the United States now. While here combat veterans will be granted furloughs and will then be given training to prepare them for further service.

FILIPINO SERVANT OF LIEUT. METTETAL WRITES OFFICER'S WIFE HERE.

Mrs. Robert J. Mettetal, 679 No. Harvey street, wife of Lieut. Mettetal who is serving with an American flying force somewhere over in the Philippines, was pleasantly surprised the other day when she received an interesting letter written her by Emilio Garbo, a native Filipino who is working for her husband's outfit.

The letter has not been altered or edited. It follows:
"I am sorry to write you this letter because I have not acquainted with you. If not your Lt. Mettetal I never would write this letter to you, because I feel ashamed too."

"Now I am living with them about five month and weekly they prove me for my ability and my character for serving here. When they prove me about one month and they found that I am a good man.

"And now they consider me as their brother, then I can tell to you what I work here. First in the morning to fill the water, after filling the water, to clean out everything inside of the tent.

"And also I am cooking their food everyday and night. Well, I got married and have a family. We have four children, two of them are going to school, and their names were very laughable, somewhat, Domingo (Domy), Leonardo (Leony), Jullia (Joely), Marciana (Mary), and my Mrs. also Genoviba Vargas, we call it, (Geny).

"We are living also very, very poor because we got no land to plant rice and raise, therefore, we can not live a good life.

"Here, I can tell to you the story of the Japanese when their living here in the Philippines about three year ago. Now the costum of the Japanese were like a foolish animals in the mountain, because some of them were very cruel, and also doing no good for the civilian.

"Well, I think you can not read my own wording because I have not continued my study in the school. I got only grade five."

ALBERT LANDERS MEMBER OF GEN. MACARTHUR'S GUARD OF HONOR.

Pfc. Albert L. Landers, whose wife, Mrs. Margaret Ellen Landers, resides at 32320 Myrna street has been selected as a member of the Guard of Honor attached to General MacArthur's headquarters in Manila.

He is one of 17 combat infantry men chosen from the 41st Division for their soldierly qualities and exemplary records of service and given this permanent assignment. Landers came overseas early last spring and joined the famed 41st, veterans of 39 months' campaigning in the Far Pacific. Shortly after his arrival he participated in two assault-landings in the southern Philippines, distinguishing himself as a rifleman with the crack 163d regiment.

CECIL OWENS MAKES PROGRESS AS SEAMAN.

Now in training at the U. S. Maritime Service Training station, Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., is Cecil A. Owens, 28, of 634 So. Harvey St. Apprentice Seaman Owens will receive six weeks of basic training, including lifeboat work, fire fighting, breeches buoy, mess, sea rules and traditions, swimming, ship construction and equipment, gunnery and physical training.

After completing "boot" training he may enter deck or engine training, including three weeks of practical experience aboard a training ship at sea, or he may apply for one of the specialized schools of training.

High Island, Old King Ben's Hide-Out, Is Now a Deserted Colony

(By Gene Alleman.)

High Island, Lake Michigan—An abandoned deserted village, complete to a church, school, saw mill, barns and numerous cabins, silently greets the traveler today as he visits High Island in Lake Michigan, the one-time summer colony and hide-out for King Ben Purnell and his House of David of Benton Harbor.

Like its nearby island neighbor, Beaver Island, where the Mormons once practiced polygamy under purported divine sanction, High Island was the offshoot of a strange religious sect featured by King Ben and his harem of young pretty girls.

The two islands, off the beaten path of modern tourists, have much in common as to their past history.

Today, the Irish Catholic fisher-folk dominate St. James, the former Mormon colony. And today the House of David settlement on High Island is slowly decaying into the sandy soil, its wooden buildings standing gaunt like silent sentinels to remind the visitor of the bustling activity 25 to 35 years ago.

From the captain's cabin of the conservation patrol boat No. 1, we had our first view of the small island, about two miles wide and four miles in length, as we rounded the northern coast of Beaver Island on a circular route back to Charlevoix.

Erwin Belfy, first mate, was at the wheel.

"About the turn of the century High Island was the home of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians," he related. "They lived in log cabins along the small bay at the northern end. The harbor is not a good one, but it does offer shelter under favorable winds. I recall the time when the Indians traveled by water in sailing boats, known as Mackinacs. That was about 1906, as I recall it."

From a marine map, Belfy piloted the 75-foot marine-powered boat toward the harbor. We tied up to a floating dock, used wagon. Inside was an ice cutter of delicious white-fish, prepared by Emil Pischner, the engineer-chef, Captain Charles J. Allers rowed the party ashore.

Along the semi-circle of the bay was the deserted settlement, about 20 buildings in all. Other than the gulls in the sky, the scene was void of life. The quietude amid the buildings had a haunting fascination. We felt like explorers who had suddenly discovered a forgotten city—the first persons to walk upon the scene.

The air was laden with sweet perfume. Lilacs were just in bloom. Outside of a large barn stood an ancient hand-hewn farm wagon. Inside was an ice cutter for two persons. Nearby were two sleds for hauling timber.

One of the most unique buildings in the settlement was a 7-sided log stockade, round in appearance, with a narrow entrance leading to an inner room. Leading out from the inner room were seven bedrooms, all identical in dimensions. A brick chimney was suspended from the roof by iron supports, indicating that dwellers of the seven rooms had depended upon the central heating plant for warmth on winter nights.

Not all of the buildings on High Island were constructed by King Ben's followers. A half century ago the Indians resided there, and the Roman Catholic church maintained a mission and a school, probably an offshoot of the old mission at Cross Village, north of Petoskey, known to the French as L'arbre Croche, the oldest settlement of continuous occupancy in the state of Michigan.

After the Indians moved to St. James, attracted by steady wages of the fishermen and availability of liquor, King Ben and his bearded tribe moved to the seclusion of High Island, first to exploit the remaining good timber there and then to enjoy the perfect safety of the island as a hide-away from snooping police officers.

Beset by repeated charges of immorality, King Ben finally disappeared early in 1923, and the Berrien county sheriff twice raided the House of David colony in Benton Harbor in search of the vanished leader. We recalled the year and this incident as we noticed, upon the walls of the High Island women's dormitory, a two-story structure, pages from an issue of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, a newspaper. The date on the yellowed pages was April 1, 1923.

We recalled, too, how a detachment of state police in 1926, four years after King Ben's disappearance, broke down the doors of the Diamond House at Benton Harbor and captured the missing king, garbed only in a nightcap and underwear, along with three women who were clad only in nightgowns.

The authenticity of these historic details is vouched for by the eminent Detroit historian, Dr. Captain Allers, who was a young man on Beaver Island when King Ben frequently visited High Island, told us how one pretty wife protested against the king's rule that a bride must wait seven years to reside with her husband. She finally fled from High Island.

"The men at the settlement were suspicious of visitors," Captain Allers added. "They would not let us get out of their sight."

Today, High Island is a deserted bit of land at the northern rim of Lake Michigan. The wood buildings are slowly decaying. Like King Ben, who died in 1927, High Island has had its day of glory.

Attendance Up at Playgrounds

The city summer recreation program, which got off to a late start for various reasons, now has swung into high gear under the able direction of Wayne Falan.

Attendance is up over last year, with 103 girls and 107 boys registered at the six playgrounds. Last week showed the best attendance in some time when a total of 523 used the playground facilities.

The Friday night dances, in the High School gymnasium, also are drawing good gatherings, averaging more than a 100 a week. Last week 165 attended, Falan said. Music is furnished by the summer band directed by Clarence H. Luchtman.

However, there still is plenty of room for more swimmers. So far, only about six a day have gone with the supervisor to the Rouge Park pool. A total of 15 youngsters can be accommodated daily.

Tops in attendance among the playgrounds is the one at Starkweather School, under the capable direction of Barbara Daniels. Last week 143 attended the Starkweather playground.

The youngsters using the playgrounds range from three to 15 years old. The average is about nine years, Falan says.

The program includes supervised games for all ages. There also are sandboxes at all playgrounds. Falan, who also is High School coach, and gives instruction in baseball and other sports at the Central Grade School playground.

Issues Warning of Paralysis

Residents of Plymouth and this locality are warned that July, August and September are the months when poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis usually occurs in Michigan. Of course cases may occur at any time during the year, but when it appears in epidemic proportions, it is during these three months.

Dr. David Littlejohn, director of the Wayne County Health Department, says while the disease most frequently attacks children, no age group is exempt from the disease. The exact way or ways by which the infection is spread is not definitely known. For this reason, prevention must include all possible channels through which the infective material may gain entrance to the individual.

Recently it has been conclusively shown that the infectious material is thrown off through the intestinal discharges of persons suffering from the disease. This makes possible spread of the infection through anything which may be contaminated by the intestinal discharges. This means entrance through the mouth into the alimentary canal.

This does not eliminate the possible entrance through the respiratory tract during the breathing process. It has been experimentally demonstrated that the infective virus can be absorbed through the mucous lining of the upper respiratory passages. So that the necessary precautions must be used to prevent possible infection through respiration.

While every precaution should be taken to prevent the entrance of the infection through any channel, other precautions are also necessary. It has been definitely shown that anything which lowers the resistance of the individual makes more possible the development of symptoms of the disease when the infection enters the body. Therefore, during the season when the disease is prevalent, over-exertion, whether from work or play, should be avoided. Contact in crowds, or with any person who may be ill, or with persons not usually being contacted should also be avoided. Complete protection of all food from possible contamination must be provided and windows and doors properly screened to prevent contamination through flies or mosquitoes and only pasteurized milk should be used.

Finally, any child showing signs of illness should be immediately put to bed and a physician called as the most important thing in the treatment of the disease and in the prevention of subsequent crippling conditions, is an early diagnosis which makes possible the institution of the necessary treatment early in the course of the disease. Above all, if the disease does develop in the community, avoid becoming panic stricken. This only adds to the difficulty in controlling the spread of the disease. Cooperation with your health department and physician is the most successful way to combat the disease and limit the resultant effects in those persons who do contract it. So far this year, few cases have developed in Michigan or in Wayne county, but this does not mean that everyone should not be alert to the possibility that the disease may become more prevalent at any time. In this, as in the control of all communicable diseases, "Eternal Vigilance" is the essence of success.

Extra Comforts Show Progress

Progress of the building industry, and its contribution to better homes, is reflected in the multitude of comfort and beauty features found in modern homes as compared with the homes of 20 years ago says Practical Builder Magazine.

Such things as insulation, vapor sealing, automatic heat controls, streamlined bathrooms, engineered kitchens, large window areas, glass blocks, recirculating fireplaces are only a few of the scores of comforts enjoyed today, which were unobtainable at any price two decades ago.

Yet the house of 1941 is, in the majority of cases, less in cost than the now obsolete homes we knew in 1929, the magazine points out.

Builders will give tomorrow's postwar homes so many additional features contributing to even greater livability and convenience, Practical Builder says, that tomorrow's housing dollar will buy more than ever before.

City Has Water Aplenty — Elliott

Plymouth's water supply, since the new well went into operation two years ago, is adequate to meet all present needs and no shortage is anticipated this year, City Manager Clarence H. Elliott says.

There is a possibility that the city may experience a few low pressure days during August if a prolonged dry spell occurs, Elliott said, but this will be caused only by many users drawing on the supply at the same time, watering their lawns, etc.

This condition will exist until the new 12-inch main from the well to the water tower is completed. It's merely a matter of getting the water here from the well, not one of supply.

Bids will be taken next Friday, Elliott said, on the 4,000 feet of main remaining to be built.

The wet spring that this area "enjoyed" also helped to insure an adequate water supply.

Our gifts and attainments are not only to be light and warmth in our own dwelling, but are also to shine through the windows into the dark night, to guide and cheer bewildered travelers on the road.—H. W. Beecher.

Butter Reduced To 16 Points

The long-awaited point reduction for butter has become a reality.

As of 12:01 a.m. last Sunday the point value of butter was reduced from 24 to 16 points a pound, according to Chief Ration Clerk Ray Bachelder.

This order came out of Washington to relieve the jam in grocers' coolers. Because of the high point value, very little butter was purchased and as a result, it piled up and much went to waste.

Reports were rife that many grocers were selling butter point-free rather than have it spoil on their shelves. While this probably was a violation, it is doubtful if any OPA trial board would have had the courage to convict anyone for it.

So now, housewives, you can serve your butter-starved families a little of the delicacy again.

Iwo Jima Vet Gets Citation

Raymond D. Rogers, son of Mrs. Mary Powers, 43065 Joy road, who took part in the invasion of the Jap stronghold on Iwo Jima, has been awarded the Navy Cross, according to information just received by his mother.

The citation, signed by H. M. Smith, Lieut. General of the U. S. Marine Corps, reads as follows:

"For extraordinary heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces while serving as a fire team leader with a Marine infantry battalion on Iwo Jima, Volcano Islands, on 21, February, 1945. When the advance of the company to which he belonged was held up by extremely heavy grenade and small arms fire from an enemy cave position, Private First Class Rogers, disregarding his own safety, voluntarily rushed across a wide open area in the face of enemy fire in order to reach the cave entrance. Despite fierce resistance from the enemy within the position, Private First Class Rogers, using hand grenades to cover his advance, charged into the cave and with his pistol destroyed the three Japanese whose efforts had succeeded in halting the company. The heroic action of First Class Rogers enabled his company to continue its advance without casualties and contributed materially to the prompt destruction of the remaining enemy in the area. His inspiring courage and staunch devotion to duty in the face of heavy enemy fire and almost certain death were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval service."

In a letter commenting about the award just made, Corporal Rogers wrote:

"I take great pride in receiving the Navy cross. Equally I take great pride in the regiment to which I belong, the 28th Marines, for it was this regiment which raised the Ensign on Mount Suribachi."

"If I ever meet a navy flier who strafed and bombed Iwo Jima I would like to shake his hand and tell him that he did a grand job. Those fliers will never know how glad we were to see them come in for their bombing and strafing runs."

"The Japanese fought a stubborn defense at Iwo. If ever the determination and courage of men was called upon, it was there at Iwo. I believe we proved to the world that the U. S. Marine Corps was the one organization that could do the job."

"Our hats are off to the Naval Air Corps as well as the navy which aided us in every way possible in the taking of Iwo."

Edison Co. Gives Correct Figures

Recent electric rate comparisons of the Federal Power commission overlook a $4,000,000 a year saving for service benefits to Detroit Edison customers and entirely ignore a $20,000,000 tax bill paid from customer receipts for the support of village, city and federal governments, according to an analysis by James W. Parker, president of The Detroit Edison company. "These studies are a healthy thing and we are glad to see them published, but they fall far short of telling the real story," Mr. Parker said.

"Detroit Edison in 1943 paid more taxes per kilowatt-hour sold than the Tennessee Valley Authority averages in revenue per kilowatt-hour," said Mr. Parker. "Furthermore a quarter of all the money received by the company was paid out in taxes, while in Los Angeles, which is municipally owned, the plant paid only 5.8 per cent in taxes including contributions to the city's general fund. In the year compared in the Federal Power commission's report this meant a customer using 100 units or kilowatt-hours paid $2.86 in Los Angeles and $3.28 in Detroit. If Detroit Edison customers had to pay no higher tax rate on their utility service than did Los Angeles, we could have given our people a bill of $2.64, or 3 per cent less than in Los Angeles, and our lamp exchange and special service in addition."

Mr. Parker pointed out that Detroit Edison is one of only six companies in the United States (serving cities of 50,000 or more people) which exchanges customers' lamps without charge other than their regular bill for electricity. The other five cities are, St. Louis, Hartford, Kansas City (Missouri), Lansing and Pontiac (Michigan).

"Detroit Edison is the only company that provides fuse replacements, renews appliance cords and makes small appliance repairs free—free in the sense that there is no charge beyond the regular bill for electricity."

"Considering that 25 per cent of gross receipts goes for taxes and considering also this extra service to customers which is tremendously economical for the customer because it is done on the basis of its wholesale cost, our rating on the national scale is a creditable one. This is true in spite of the fact that coal and labor costs are noticeably high in Detroit and this makes a great difference in the cost of rendering service in different parts of the country. The Power commission's studies show that residential and commercial rates have gone steadily down and that in the Detroit Edison area the average domestic customer's bill for 100 units is $3.28 a month compared with the national average of $3.76. The charges paid by somewhat larger users also compare favorably with those in other cities of comparable size. In some cases the bill is slightly less but in many others it is more than the amount paid in Detroit."

All of these varying costs must be taken into consideration in order to make an accurate comparison. "A ton of suitable coal which costs $5 delivered in Detroit may cost more than $6.00 in Boston and only about $3.60 in Chicago," Mr. Parker said, "and this element of cost is further complicated by variations of the heat content of the coal. Also Detroit Edison operates in one of the world's highest cost labor markets according to figures from the United States Department of Labor."

Babson Says - -

Gloucester, Mass., July 27. — This city where I was brought up has its youth problem the same as every other city. It is probably worse today than when I was a boy; but considering the additional distractions of today, such as automobiles, movies, radios and amusements, the situation is not so much worse. I am sure that if these new factors had existed fifty years ago the youth problem would then have been serious.

Reasons for Behavior
There are four basic reasons for behavior, viz: Heredity, environment including home training, religion and food. When discussing the teen-agers or the bobby-cox girls of today, it is too late to consider heredity so far as they are concerned. Their die has been cast. Furthermore, as everyone recognizes the importance of home-training, I need not here discuss this, except to say that much of the trouble which parents are having is due to the poor example they set.

I will say something about the other two factors, namely, religion and food, to which we owe 90% of our troubles and disappointments as well as our successes and pleasures. Certainly the behavior of our children is greatly influenced by what they believe and by what they eat. Too many preachers seem to think that religion is something apart from food and drink. There is nothing in the Bible which substantiates this notion. In fact, the food which the Jews were allowed to eat, by their priests, was an important part of their religious ritual.

Watch for Allergies
I am not a physician, psychologist nor dietitian, but I do know that food is a real factor in my feelings, behavior and mentality. For instance, I know that eating an excess of tomatoes will not only give me physical pain but also interfere with my mental activity and make me ugly. This does not mean that tomatoes necessarily bother anyone else. Different people are allergic to different things, including foods, climates and odors. Hay fever sufferers are an excellent example.

I will not further amplify the above thought so far as different foods affect us physically. The thought which I want readers to consider is that the mental and spiritual attitudes of both adults and children are largely caused by the foods eaten. When a boy is a thoroughly "bad boy," as the neighbors call him, he may be eating something to which he is mentally allergic. The action of the brain is determined by the quality and quantity of the blood flow through the brain. This blood flow is determined by what your boy eats, drinks, breathes and thinks.

Schools and Churches
Notwithstanding the above, school committees are giving almost no attention to this important subject. It is true that some of the schools are now providing lunches, but there is no attention given to selecting different lunches for different students. Yet, foods which are nourishing to the brains of some students are poison to the brains of other students. Moreover, this applies likewise to parents although as we get older, we tend to get immune to some of these poisons.

The future of the Church depends on getting back to the old Bible teachings that there is no line of division between our religion and our habits. In Bible days good health was a sign of righteousness; while poor health was an evidence of sin. In order to survive in this present scientific and rapidly-moving world, the Church must be open to new ideas and must also be open at all times to give advice and counsel along these fundamental lines of food, habits and faith.

Soils Are Important

History clearly teaches how our ancestors of the Seventeenth Century became discouraged and unruly as they existed on the run-down soils of England; but that they developed initiative and vitality when living off the virgin soils of New England and Virginia after emigrating. In the final analysis, a family or community depends not only upon what it eats but also upon the soil which these foods are raised. Perhaps the Prussians owe their fighting qualities to their soils!

Motorcycle Spill Injures Couple

Two persons were injured slightly last Thursday night when the motorcycle on which they were riding skidded on some loose hay at Wilcox and Mill.

Don Markey, 23, of 30951 Schoolcraft road, the driver, suffered a slight concussion and lacerations of the leg. The passenger, Evelyn Bennett, of 2213 Christine, Wayne, suffered lacerations of the right arm.

Markey was operating the motorcycle at about 25 miles per hour around the curve when he hit the hay, which apparently had been dropped by a passing truck.

Both Markey and Miss Bennett were taken to Markey's home by Schrader's ambulance. They were attended by the Markey family doctor.

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

The Plymouth Motor Sales company have commenced excavating for their new garage on South Main street.

An Epworth League lawn party is to be held at the home of Misses Ada and Mildred Daggett on North Main street.

S. W. Spicer has moved the old Spicer house across the road, and placed it on a foundation. He is now preparing to stucco it and make other improvements.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Willett returned home last week Thursday from a two weeks' motor trip to Chicago.

Kenneth and Marian Gust spent Sunday with their grandmother, Mrs. Gust, at Wayne.

According to an article in a recent issue of the Detroit News, the construction work on the permanent building at the prison farm of the Detroit House of Correction, west of this village, will begin late this summer. There are at present 340 prisoners at the prison farm.

About one hundred members of the Daisy Employees association and families attended the Daisy picnic, held at Walled Lake, last Saturday. Games and races of various kinds with prizes were enjoyed in the early afternoon, and boating and bathing made the day a pleasant one for all. Soft drinks and ice cream were served free by the association.

Character Loan Aid To Success

Dave Galin admits that he is a consistent reader of the column in The Plymouth Mail conducted under the heading "What I Think And Have a Right to Say."

Comment was made in this column a week or so ago about a speech that was delivered by Governor Lester Hunt of Wyoming at the Mackinac Island conference in which the Governor said that "character loans are no longer made by the banks," this practice being one of the things which passed out with the coming of the New Deal.

"I was sorry to read that, but I guess it is true, nevertheless," said Mr. Galin the other day.

"You know I would not be in business today if it had not been for a so-called character loan that was made to me by one of the local banks. It helped me stay in business and it helped me to expand my business. I paid every cent of the loan back to the bank, plus all of the interest. I made a success by the loan, and the bank made a little money by it.

"There is no question but what dozens and dozens of other men in business in Plymouth today have been granted similar character loans. They are in business because the banks trusted them, not because they had any security to offer.

"I think it is nothing, less than a shame to think such a commendable practice upon the part of the banks has ended. I do not blame the banks, because they are told what they can do and what they cannot do. But I am predicting that the day is going to return when confidence and good will and character loans will again play an important part in business," he said.

War will never yield but to the principles of universal justice and love, and these have no sure root but in the religion of Jesus Christ.—William Ellery Channing.

The task and triumph of Christianity is to make men and nations true and just and upright in all their dealings, and to bring all law, as well as all conduct into subjection and conformity to the law of God.—H. J. Van Dyke
