

CONGRESS SHALL MAKE NO LAWS ABRIDGING THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS
What I Think and have a Right to Say
ELTON R. EATON

A COMMON SENSE IDEA.

We like the suggestion of Attorney Perry Richwine made in a letter published in the last issue of The Plymouth Mail that sometime in the near future steps be taken to set up a three or five man board of assessors to pass upon assessments made in this city. He suggests further that this board not be under the control of the city manager or of the city commission, which all makes sense. Right now is not the time to do anything about it, but when things settle down a bit then we should take steps to remedy a situation that should not exist. We've got to remember one thing, a city without factories, a city without business, a city without other activities that are created by industry and business is not a city. It's a walking graveyard. We can get somewhere by pulling together, so when the right time comes, let's get our heads together and do the thing which is for the greatest good of the greatest number.

THIS STRIKING BUSINESS.

It isn't always safe to express your thoughts about strikes because you do not know whether you are going to get a brick through your window or a pat on the back. But without discussing the merits or demerits of any strike, there is one thing to think about, and that is the loss every one suffers as a result of a strike, as well as the ill-will created.

It will take the average employee of a Racine, Wis., plant more than 17 years to earn back what it cost him and his colleagues to stage a recently settled 14-month-strike.

The total payroll loss, on the basis of employee earnings at the time the strike was called by union leaders, was $11,850,000.

Add to this total the company's last pre-strike offer of an 18-cent hourly wage boost, and the total amount lost by the strikers becomes $13,684,400.

This averages some $2,480 per employee, figured on an average loss of $1 an hour.

Thus, on the basis of the seven-cents-an-hour difference between the company's original offer and the 25-cent settlement figure, the individual employee would have to work 35,429 hours—or 17 years—to gain back what he lost in wages while on strike. If good will could prevail in these matters such losses could be avoided.

FEDERAL TAXES ARE THE HIGH TAXES.

No one likes taxes and no one is more to blame for high taxes than ourselves. For nearly 15 years we permitted ourselves to become burdened with a lot of crazy ideas that we could live without doing an honest day's work, that debts meant nothing because we owed the debts to ourselves and that almost every day should be a holiday.

A business man down in Pittsburgh wrote a letter to congress the other day. His "astonishment" upon finding that his Federal tax was 37 times as great as his local tax was recently communicated to Congress by W. A. Robertson, of Pittsburgh, chairman of Westinghouse Electric Corp.

He said he paid $746,717 Federal tax from 1942 through 1946 while all other taxes for the same period were $20,200, adding:

"This $20,200 paid for all public school facilities, all police protection, and sanitary service.

"Unless we have embarked openly on a policy of confiscation of property of the citizens, Federal taxes must be reduced until they are in line with other taxes."

AN EMPTY GRAB-BAG.

From a recent issue of The Adrian Telegram, one of the best edited newspapers in Michigan, the following editorial dealing with Michigan's tax plight, was taken:

The Michigan legislature is intensifying its search for new tax sources. A higher tax on beer has been proposed along with a new soft drink tax and a state property tax of two mills. A state income tax now is receiving consideration. Some and possibly all of the new taxes may be necessary if the state is to balance its budget and wipe out a looming deficit of 50 million dollars.

The Michigan tax situation presents a strange paradox. The state raises ample taxes for its own needs and has done so since the sales tax was adopted 15 years ago. Then why all the skrimishing and searching for new taxes? Why a state deficit of 50 million? The answer is easy. The state treasury has become a grab-bag for the schools, cities and local government units.

Just as all goods things must come to an end, the funds in the state treasury rapidly are running out. The last grab by the schools and local governmental units—the sales tax diversion amendment—really scraped the bottom. The state now finds that it hasn't enough of its own tax money left to operate state services and conduct normal state business without going into the red. The only course open to the legislature is to raise more state taxes. It really is a sorry picture of muddled financing.

The schools of Michigan are due to receive 111 million from the state government this year, the largest amount of state school aid in Michigan's history. Local governmental units will get at least 35 million from the state in the sales tax split, and possibly more funds from other state sources. The local units probably will receive more state aid than they ever have received before. The state will collect around 150 million in taxes from local communities, and turn the money over to them. If the local communities hadn't grabbed for state funds, and if taxes were collected on the current basis, the legislature could expect a surplus of 100 million this year instead of a 50 million deficit.

The local communities have gone too far in their demands for state aid. Is there any reason, for instance, why the city of Adrian or any other Michigan city should not pay its own way and raise its own tax money? Is it good business for any city to receive a state subsidy for the operation of its municipal services?

We don't think so. The 15 mill tax limitation amendment always is cited as the prime reason. But few cities have made an effort to find other tax sources. They have concentrated all their fire on the state in an effort to get a share of state funds. The goal has been to get what they think is something for nothing.

The same holds true of the Adrian school district. The Adrian schools received about $200,000 in state aid last year as compared with a voted tax of $239,000. This year, at the current rate, the schools will receive about $275,000 from the state. Adrian is a busy and thriving city with a wide trading area and busy factories. It always has been a thriving city with its full share of material blessings. Is there any sound reason why the state should contribute more than half of the cost of operating and maintaining our public schools? We don't think so. Adrian can pay its own way.

Most other communities could do the same if they were so inclined. But it is so much easier to raise a little local tax money as possible; it is so much easier to placate local taxpayers; it is so much easier to put the pressure on the state for more and still more state aid. The policy tends to make the community think that it is getting something for nothing.

The practice is a hold-over from the depression days of the 1930's when the federal government doled out billions and urged local communities to come and get their share for civic projects of questionable value. "If you don't get it someone else will" always was the clincher of the selling argument. In local, state or federal governmental service, no one ever gets anything for nothing. Someone always must pay in one way or another.

Michigan's contributions to the Adrian schools and the municipality are not "donations." Adrian taxpayers are paying the bills every inch of the way. But when the state acts as the tax collecting agent for the local communities, the cost of city government and school operation tends to become distorted. Adrian residents pay part of their local tax costs through the city treasurer's office and part of them through the state treasurer at Lansing. The actual costs of city government and schools are hidden. It is a tax evasion muddle that never would be permitted in private business.

The state of Michigan raises more tax money than it needs for state purposes. The answer, then, lies not in perfecting formulas for local distribution of surplus state funds, but in reducing state taxes. On the other hand, if the schools and municipalities need more tax money, the answer is to find new tax sources and not compound the problem by crying for more state aid.

New state taxes of one form or another are a certainty this year. If the legislature adopts an income tax, the people must remember that it was made necessary by their own action. The people took away a third of the state sales tax revenue and at the same time authorized a bonus payment of 210 millions. The people of Michigan can't eat their cake and have it too. Let there be no whining when it comes time to pay for the folly in taxation that we have permitted.

It's Derby Time Again

It is almost Coaster Derby time again and once more Plymouth youths are laboring long hours in basements and garages busily constructing their racers.

This event, which was resumed last year after the war, is being sponsored by the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce. Plymouth residents can well remember with what enthusiasm the race was met last year.

This year's derby is expected to far outshine that of last year. There is reason for this optimism in that almost fifty per cent more entries have been received this year. The number of those participating may reach thirty.

The Coaster Derby has always embodied the thrills of a regular motorpowered automobile race. There is the parade and pageantry which precedes the event and the race itself presents a thrill which is not soon forgotten by those witnessing it. The sight of the little cars whizzing down the slope provides thrills and excitement for all.

The competition for prizes is keen and develops the best of whatever mechanical aptitude possessed by the boys as well as providing many hours of wholesome and educational endeavor for the youth of Plymouth.

The cars have always been a spectacle in themselves. They are of all shapes and sizes and the professional-like designing of some of them is amazing.

It is urged that those boys who wish to enter the derby attend the Tuesday evening meetings at the Plymouth High school. At these meetings they will receive guidance in the construction of their cars and can keep abreast of the latest rules and regulations governing the contest. Any additional information which is needed can be obtained from the local Chevrolet dealer. Everyone who possibly can should enter the race and make this year's derby the biggest and best that Plymouth has ever seen. The official date of the Coaster Derby will be announced in a later edition of the Plymouth Mail.

City Officials Will Attend State Safety Meeting

Plymouth will be represented at the 19th annual Michigan Safety Conference which will be held May 20, 21 and 22 in Detroit, to study ways in which the mounting deaths and injury toll can be combated.

The Plymouth delegation will include police chief Lee Sackett, fire chief Bob McAllister and Gerald Prince. Especially stressed will be safety precautions against accidents that should never happen.

The conference will be divided into five classifications of safety including traffic law enforcement, industrial, public utility, transportation, school and college, engineering and planning, mayor's and city manager's safety programs and the woman's division of home safety.

Due to the fact that highway accidents claim the largest number of fatalities and injuries, it is probable that a great deal of attention will be given to this classification.

Governor Kim Sigler will address the conference banquet on the night of May 21.

Mastick Buys Horton Interest In Plymouth Store

Effective May 13, the Horton and Mastick Co. of Walled Lake and Plymouth have divided their holdings and the Plymouth store is now owned and operated by Earl S. Mastick.

Don Horton, Jr. has taken over and is operating the Walled Lake establishment.

This will be Mr. Mastick's 21st year of serving the residents of Plymouth and he will continue to handle Alis-Chalmers farm machinery as well as De Laval separators and milking machines.

As in the years past, Mr. Mastick will continue soliciting and serving those persons interested in Packard motor cars and Packard service.

Bob Hitt Again Scores Record

An occurrence which happens but once in few bowlers' lifetimes was performed again last Saturday at Parkview Recreation. Bob Hitt bowled his sixth perfect game within a month.

This last 300 was scored in an afternoon practice session while Bob was playing with Bill Schneider.

As far as known he is the only living bowler who ever accomplished such a feat in this sport.

Wild Lifers Plan Early Summer Barbecue--To Announce Date Soon

Plans are now being formulated by the Western Wayne County Conservation Association for its annual barbecue event. Ernest Henry, secretary of the association, says that this year's event will be the biggest of its kind ever held by the club. The date will be announced later.

Plymouth is sending two representatives from its club to attend the annual convention of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs. They are Dr. E. E. Champ and Wm. Rambo, of the sport shop.

The members of the W.W.C.A. are going to spend a great deal of time and energy in an attempt to beautify the club buildings and grounds this summer. The club has forty acres to landscape and when it is completed will provide a place for the Boy and Girl Scouts to carry on their activities which the association is fostering.

Bill Ouimet Is Winner of City Marble Title

Bill Ouimet, 11646 Haggerty Highway, is the winner of the bicycle given by the members of the Plymouth V.F.W. Mayflower Post No. 6695, to the city champion of the Marble Tournament. The tournament was sponsored by the Mayflower post as a part of the National V.F.W. Marble Tournament.

The entrants in the tournament included boys from the first through the eighth grades from the Central Grade, Starkweather and Junior High schools. Gold, silver and bronze medals were awarded to the first, second and third finalists of each school, while Dick Wakefield baseball gloves were given to the champions of the tournament.

City Marble Champs

Each school. The bicycle is the grand prize awarded to the champion-final winner of the three schools.

Jack Helmer, Cadillac road, champion of Starkweather and Dick Mishler, 1076 Ross, champion of Central Grade school, won the ball gloves. The gold, silver and bronze medal winners of the three schools are as follows: Central Grade school, Dick Mishler, Richard Brown and David Beagle;

U. of M. Club Elects Officers

At a dinner meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Chute, the Board of Governors of the University of Michigan Alumni Club elected officers for the '47-48 season. The new president is Kenneth Greer; vice-president, Everett Joliffe; secretary, treasurer, Mrs. Maurice Woodworth.

The U. of M. Club of Plymouth will be host at the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Ninth District, including Detroit, Ann Arbor and eleven other U. of M. Clubs. This will take place at the Western Golf and Country Club on Tuesday, May 27, at 7 p.m. All members of the Plymouth Club are urged to attend. Reservations must be made through George Chute, Kenneth Greer or Ray Warner.

Musical Group To Start Series

Paul T. Wagner, supervisor of music of the Plymouth High school, announced that the Community concert group would resume playing again this season. The first regular rehearsal of this group will be held at 8 p. m., Tuesday, May 20.

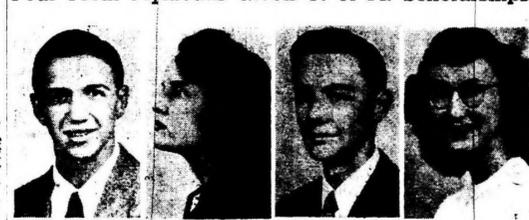

It is urged that all adults who have been a part of this organization in the past and those who wish to join attend this rehearsal. Regularly scheduled rehearsals will be held every Tuesday evening thereafter.

The Community concert has always enjoyed a fine support in the past and this year should be no exception. Mr. Wagner has planned on directing eight concerts this season which will be given on Friday evenings in Kellogg Park.

Guest conductors for this season so far are Cecil W. Munk, director of the Baldwin-Wallace Conservatory band and R. J. Stokert, superintendent of music for Springfield, Ohio.

All adult musicians who may be interested in joining this group should contact Mr. Wagner as soon as possible.

Four From Plymouth Given U. of M. Scholarships

It was announced this week that four Plymouth High students have been awarded University of Michigan Regents-Alumni Scholarships for the coming year. These four were chosen by the University Selection Committee in Ann Arbor, from a group of twelve students recommended by the University of Michigan Club of Plymouth. All local applicants have appeared before the Club's scholarship committee whose members are: Dr. John Olsaver, chairman, George A. Smith and Mrs. Thomas Bateman.

All applicants were given examinations at Ann Arbor which, together with club's recommendation, were the basis for selection. Certificates of Award will be presented to this year's winners, who are:

Mary Lorraine Rowe, 363 N. Main
Donald Craig MacGregor, 11320 Melrose, Rosedale Gardens
Gerald T. Joyce, 197 S. Union
Elizabeth Maxine Ross, 50000 Ann Arbor Road

Each one scholarship is given for each accredited high school in the state. Plymouth received four because of the high quality of its students, and due to the great activity of its U. of M. Club of 210 members.

Erich A. Walter, director of the Office of Student Affairs, made the announcement. "The Regents-Alumni Scholarships provide for payment of semester fees for the freshman year at the University," Walter added. "Successful scholarship performance will permit renewal of the scholarship through the sophomore, junior and senior years."

A total of twelve graduates of Plymouth High School now hold these continuing scholarships at University of Michigan.

School Asks Voters For Additional Millage for Future School Buildings

Plymouth school electors will be asked at the annual school election on June 9th to vote for a 5-mill tax increase for the district for the next five years. The increase, which will amount to about $65,000.00 in additional revenue each year, is to be set aside, during the five year period, for the sole purpose of constructing new buildings for the district.

The present over crowded condition of Plymouth's schools will soon force the construction of new buildings and school officials advocate the raising of the funds in advance rather than paying huge sums of money for interest if the buildings were financed at the time they were needed.

The increase will amount to $5.00 per thousand during the five year period that it will be in force. In addition to the present steady population growth in the city a recent census revealed that there are over one thousand preschool age children in the district and when they in addition to the growing number of newcomers, descend upon the grade schools there will be no possible way of accommodating them.

It is pointed out that even though Livonia high school students are leaving the Plymouth school, so that they may attend their own high school which is now under construction, the influx of local children from grade school classes now in Plymouth, will more than tax the high school facilities.

If Plymouth continues to grow, and it will if it continues its present pace, the local schools will in no way be able to cope with its increased population.

School officials believe that the present financing plan, which maintain they point out is for building purposes only, will save the district over $300,000.00 in the five year period if interest was paid on the cost of a building during that time.

School electors will be asked to vote yes on two ballots at the election to legally raise the five mills. The first ballot will ask voters for permission to levy a tax of five mills for five years and the second will give the district permission to exceed the fifteen mill limitation for a period of five years.

The June 9th election should prove an interesting one in that at the same time the voters are asked to provide the additional millage, five candidates are seeking the two vacant seats on the board that will be vacated by Howard Stark and Dr. Harold Brisbois.

Massed Bands To Be Feature At Rodeo Show

High school bands from the Metropolitan area will take part in a massed band concert preceding the rodeo out at Saddle Ridge club, Sunday afternoon, June 1. The concert will begin at 1:00 o'clock. Paul T. Wagner, director of instrumental music at Plymouth high school, is planning the affair, reports that an attempt is being made to secure a member of the music department at the University of Michigan to guest conduct. Plans now call for more than 200 high school musicians to take part in the program.

The afternoon's entertainment, sponsored by the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce as a means of raising funds to purchase band uniforms for the high school, will include the concert scheduled for an hour, followed by a three-hour rodeo. Details of the real western show are being worked out by Saddle Ridge officials who are bringing top-notch performers from all parts of the country especially for the affair. Events include bronco busting, calf roping, steer wrestling, trick riding, quadrille riding and other features of every other big rodeo.

The show will be staged in the specially constructed corral at the riding club located at 5400 Curtis road, nine miles west of Plymouth, between Ann Arbor and North Territorial roads.

Junior Chamber of Commerce members in pledging to raise funds to purchase the uniforms, have underwritten the purchase price which amounts to approximately $2,400. They solicit the support of every Plymouth resident to contribute in assisting them in their civic enterprise and promise that the band concert and rodeo will be well worth

Two Overcome By Escaping Gas

Mrs. Irene McCartney and her daughter, who reside at 459 Elmer street, were partially overcome by coal gas leaking from their furnace, about 7:50 a. m., Saturday. The Plymouth police department responded to the call and resuscitated the two with the use of an inhalator.

After Mrs. McCartney had been revived and while sitting in a chair, she fainted, falling to the floor and breaking her right ankle. They were quickly attended by Dr. Brisbois, after the police had arrived, who pronounced both victims out of danger.

Announce Plans For Memorial Day Celebration

Memorial Day will find the citizens of Plymouth ready to honor the war dead. Plans are being formulated at a fewish pace in order to have everything ready for the holiday. Leaders of the various organizations feel that this will be the largest and best parade that has ever been held in Plymouth. As in years past, this parade will be made up of all service and ex-service groups. Sponsoring the Decoration Day service will be the Myron H. Beals Post No. 32 (American Legion), Passage-Gayde Post (American Legion), Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ex-servicemen's Club of Plymouth.

The program will begin with the assembly on N. Main and Mill street at 1:15 p. m. This will be followed by a salute to the sailor dead at the Plymouth road bridge with the Navy Mother's Club at 1:30. The parade formation will take place at N. Main and Mill streets at 2:30 p. m. and will consist of the following groups: Plymouth High school band, Gold Star Mothers, G. A. R. Widows, Spanish American War Widows, World War I and II Widows, Navy Mother's Club, Mom's Club and the Red Cross. Massed colors will be composed of the Ex-servicemen's Club and Auxiliary, American Legion and Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Daughters of America, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and the Cub Scouts.

Harold J. Jacobs is to be the Grand Marshal with Harry Mummy as aide.

The line of march will begin at N. Main and Mill streets and march to Ann Arbor Trail, East on Ann Arbor Trail to the Bell Telephone Co. and north across Kellogg Park to the speakers

Masons Invite Local Residents On Eastern Trip

Through the co-operation of the Plymouth Rock Lodge No. 47 and the Pere Marquette railroad, the residents of Plymouth and vicinity will have the opportunity of taking a four day trip, via special train, to Washington, D.C., Philadelphia and New York City.

Ralph Pentecost, Worshipful Master of Plymouth Rock Lodge has announced that his lodge will sponsor another "family affair" trip similar to the one which was given last year. One hundred and twenty-five people made the weekend trip to Washington, D.C. last year and it proved so enjoyable and educational that another trip was agreed on for this year. It was decided, however, to broaden the scope so as to include Philadelphia and New York City.

The lodge secretary, Oscar E. Alsbro, has charge of the arrangements and he advises that reservations will be held for 200 persons at the Ambassador Hotel in Washington and at the New Yorker Hotel in New York. The group will be in Washington on Thursday night and in New York City over Friday and Saturday night. Sightseeing trips to cover everything in the city will be arranged.

The special train will leave the Plymouth depot Wednesday, June 18, at 6 p. m. and will consist of coaches with reclining seats, one dining car, pullman and one baggage car, comprising 8 cars in all. They will be all steel, air-conditioned and of the very latest design. Anyone who may not have

Growth of City Reflected In Postal Receipts

Postal receipts of the Plymouth postoffice have made the spectacular jump of twenty percent over the previous year it was stated by Postmaster Harry Irwin yesterday.

This general up-swing is attributed to the tremendous amount of new building that is taking place in the sub-divisions to the east of Plymouth.

Mr. Irwin stated that there were at least eight percent more rural patrons being served now than there were a year ago. This figure is based on the number of new boxes that have been put up, he said.

In addition to this figure there has been an increase of approximately four percent in the deliveries in the city of Plymouth. The two figures add up to a rather impressive total and it is evident that the "City of Homes" is becoming a city of even more homes.

Mr. Irwin said, however, that since the end of the war there has been a sharp decrease in the number of money orders and savings bonds sold by the postoffice here.

Plymouth's Good Traffic Record Helps State

Plymouth's excellent traffic record, marred by only one fatal, but unavoidable auto accident in a year, has helped to keep down the state's total of people killed or injured in automobile accidents. The state report indicates a downward trend which began early in January.

Seventy-nine persons were killed in March, a reduction of 34.7 percent as compared with March of 1946, and 2,509 were injured, a drop of two percent. Accidents, however, increased 39.2 percent, with 10,978 being reported.

The fatality reduction was recorded in both rural and urban areas, a decrease in pedestrian deaths accounting for the greatest saving in lives.

During the first three months of this year 251 persons were killed and 7,252 injured in 35,366 reported accidents. Compared with the same period of a year ago deaths were down 23 per cent and injuries down 3.8 per cent, but reported accidents increased 34.6 per cent.

A reduction of 45 pedestrian deaths accounted for the largest savings of lives on a cumulative basis. The death toll in the collision of motor vehicles with trains, collisions with animals and overturning in the roadway showed a slight increase, but was lower in all other types of accidents. Estimated motor vehicle mileage for the first two (two) months of this year increased 17 per cent compared with the same period of 1946, but the death rate per 1 million miles of travel decreased 29 per cent on the same comparative basis.

In Genoa, Italy, Vasco Cavallero got a year in jail for bigamy, despite the impassioned pleas of his two wives, who protested that they were a "perfect family", living cosily together and minding their own business until the law stuck its nose in.

In Danville, Va., when the local radio, on a tip from a nameless schoolboy, broadcast the news that classes were called off, School Superintendent G. L. Johnson countered with a more reliable radio bulletin. Easter holidays would be shortened by one day.

WEDDINGS

Spitz-Miller Marriage Solemnized in Our Lady Of Good Counsel Church

Our Lady of Good Counsel church was the scene of the wedding ceremony Saturday, May 10, uniting Miss Katie Spitz of Plymouth to Cpl. Donald Miller of Grand Rapids. The service was read by Father William Mooney. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace and net gown and a beaded head-dress. She carried white roses.

Anna Spitz, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. She wore a pink lace and net gown and carried yellow roses. The other attendants, Mary Jane Spitz, another sister of the bride and Pauline Nightengale of Detroit, were similarly attired, and Esther Brockmann of Detroit wore a blue lace gown and carried pink roses.

Mike Spitz, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were Fred Ruelle, Jack Pugh and Beaze Burkheart.

John Schomberger sang two selections.

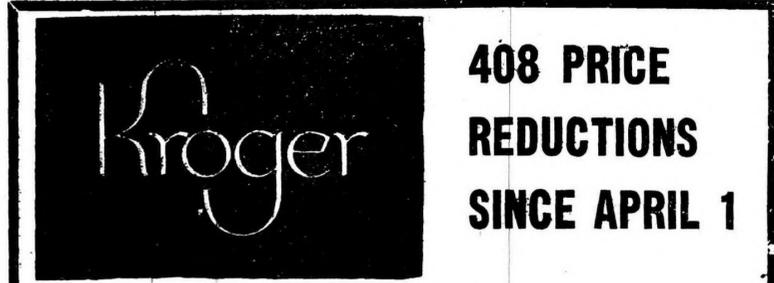

The bride's mother wore a rose colored dress. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

After a reception in the bride's home the couple left on a short trip.

America's largest electric advertising sign today is installed atop an 11-story building on Broadway in New York. This sign, 75 by 102 feet, shows a 5-foot girl demonstrating lingerie as she walks from one side of it to the other. The illusion of movement is achieved by flashing her on and off in ten successive positions which are outlined by 18 miles of neon tubing.

In Camden, N. J., Gustav W. Weber sought a divorce on the complaint that he had married the girl next door four years ago—but she went right back to mother on their wedding night, had stayed next door ever since.

traveled on trains in recent years since the advent of air-conditioning and other modern improvements, will be agreeably surprised at the speed, cleanliness and efficiency of present day rail-roading.

The Plymouth Mail feels that the officers and members of the Plymouth Rock Lodge should be complimented on promoting a trip of this nature as a good-will gesture. They should be further complimented on the provisions which have been made for the proper conducting of this tour. The tour will be well chaperoned to allay the fears of parents who wish to allow their older children to be a part of the trip.

This tour makes it possible for a great many people, both young and old, to see these historic places who otherwise might never have the opportunity to do so. It is hoped that the citizens of Plymouth will lend their full support to these trips so they may become a yearly event. Running a special train from Plymouth to various cities bring not a little publicity to our city and shows that Plymouth is very much "on the map."

The complete cost of the trip is $55.00, including all railroad fares, sightseeing trips in the three cities and three nights in hotels. This is the actual cost of these items and the lodge accrues no profit. This does not, however, include any meals.

Further information, literature and reservation blanks, if desired, can be secured from Oscar E. Alsbro, secretary, 999 Penniman avenue, Plymouth, Michigan. Phone 1548.

Cemetery Entrance Landscaping Done

The landscaping on the new entrance to Riverside Cemetery was completed this week by George Merriweather of the Merry-Hill Nursery. The new entrance, a gift to the city by Edward C. Hough, adds much to the approach and since it has been landscaped it presents an appearance comparable to any in the state.

The Plymouth Mail wants ads bring results.

platform. George Simmons, Commander of the 17th district of the American Legion will be the master of ceremonies.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Walch of the Presbyterian church and this will be followed by the Star Spangled Banner played by the high school band.

Next on the program will be the dedication of the bronze plaque to those who paid the supreme sacrifice. This will also be by Rev. Walch. Members of the Plaque Committee are John Jacobs, Harry Mumby and Arno Thompson.

At this point there will be an address by the speaker of the day but due to communication difficulties they are unable to give his name at this time. The Allegiance to the Flag will be given by the assembly which will be followed by the wreath ceremony. A wreath will be placed before a table honoring the Veterans of the Civil War, Veterans of the Spanish American War, Veterans of World War I and Veterans of World War II. The firing squad will fire a salute and taps will be played in their honor.

The program will be concluded with the benediction given by Rev. Eicher of the Baptist Church.

Every citizen of Plymouth who can possibly attend should do so in memory of those who so gallantly laid down their lives for us.

Foundation Is Subject Of Rotary Address Mason's Invite

Foundation brought in, at its own expense, Mr. Donald L. Kline, special consultant with the National Recreation Association, to survey the community and its needs, and to co-ordinate the whole picture of the community and the further development of recreational facilities.

Mr. Kline spent three days in Plymouth inspecting the present equipment of the community. Using the "Saarinen" or "Cranbrook" report made in the pre-war years as a basis of predicting the future, & with his own observations for the present, Mr. Kline reported the community as woefully lacking in facilities for recreation, particularly as regards the schoolage groups. The problem resolves itself into the necessity for integrating all the community projects of the area school, city civic groups, Memorial Foundation into an integrated and unified plan to co-ordinate all the activities of the community. He recommends the reactivating of the school board and the Memorial Foundation on the Commission. His report approved the present proposed site of the Foundation for the Memorial buildings and concurred in the types of facilities the Foundation Committee had recommended.

On the basis of this report it is apparent that before any action is undertaken, the whole picture of the proposed plans for the whole community should be clearly before the Memorial Foundation so that it may see what its particular job is. With full knowledge of other plans, the committee may then move on to the next step of determining what it must do apart from the efforts of other groups. This will then automatically decide what construction is the concern of the Foundation, and what is not which will lead to a clearer picture of the amount of funds to be raised, and the decision to raise them by subscription, or in some other way.

It is clear that in a project as great as that undertaken by the Foundation, and because of its relation to the whole community, progress must necessarily be careful in order to avoid expensive and serious mistakes, and cannot, therefore, be hurried or impulsive. The committee will move forward as rapidly as the way becomes to the ultimate goal of making real the dream which originally inspired the formation of this project in the hearts and minds of the people of this community, the dream of a fitting memorial to the soldier dead of this community, dedicated to the fuller life of those whom they loved, and for whom they died, the people and youth of the Plymouth area.

Boy Scouts Plan Many Activities

Travel by bus, train, canoe, and even ocean liner, are all included in the great variety of activities offered to Scouts of this area, according to plans announced by the local Council's Program Department.

A group of Senior Scouts will conduct a sight seeing and exploration tour to the one hundred and twenty-seven thousand acre National Reservation, known as Philmont, located in the Rocky Mountain Section of New Mexico. This Reservation is historically known as the home of the famous Soldier-Scout, Kit Carson, whose house still remains on the property. Many kinds of wild life, such as buffalo and antelope, abound the Philmont Reservation, and much of the programming includes mountain trail exploring, burro packing, and eating from a "chuck wagon."

Several Local Council Troops have been fortunate enough to secure a camp reservation at old Fort Mackinac. These Scouts will live in the historic old barracks and be responsible for guide duty and flag ceremonies on the island. Other splendid activities, available to Senior Scouts, are the several week long canoe trips to be held in Southeastern Michigan, and a long term canoe trek in the Canadian wilds. Undoubtedly, the most spectacular activity of all, will be the International Jamboree, to be held in Moisson, France, from August 9 to 21. This Council will be represented by at least eight or ten Scouts and Leaders. Ocean transportation, one of the most difficult arrangements to overcome, will be provided under War Department supervision. President Truman recently signed a bill authorizing the War Department to provide at cost, a special ocean transport which will enable all members of the American delegation to journey together.

Many Troops, of course will be conducting their regular summer encampments, either at the Charles Howell Scout Reservation, near Brighton, or on some other site, either in State Parks or on private properties.

Births Exceed Deaths in State

Births in Michigan during the first quarter of 1947 exceeded by 24,249, the deaths during the same period, according to figures released today by the Michigan Department of Health.

Births, numbering 58,835, during the first quarter, exceeded those for any other first quarter recorded by the state. They exceeded by 9,616, the five year average for the quarter and by 13,757, the births during the same quarter last year. Record quarter for births in the state was the final quarter of 1946 when 44,675, were reported.

Deaths for the first quarter of 1947 were 14,586, exceeding the last year's figures for the quarter, 14,179, and the five year average of 14,425.

In Kankakee, Ill., Doris Keller dramatically tried to get even with her husband for blackening her eye, succeeded only in getting sick when he said to her to be neutralized the poison she swallowed.

New Jaycee President

George Todd

George Todd is the newly elected president of Plymouth's Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was named Wednesday evening when the group met for its annual meeting at the Hotel Mayflower.

Of ten men nominated five were elected to the board of directors by the general membership. They were Sanford Knapp, Marvin Partridge, Lee Turkett, William Otwell and Alfred Schuster. When the new board took office Todd, along with the following officers were named to serve for the year: chairman of the board, Lee Turkett; first vice-president, Donald Rank; second vice-president, William Otwell; secretary, John Gaffield, and treasurer, Sanford Knapp. Other members of the board are Gordon Moe and Vincent Herter.

Retiring president is Charles Wolfe and retiring members of the board are Wendell Lent, Marvin Terry, R. Jack Marsh and John Palmer.

Inaugurate New Foreign Service

In an order from the postmaster general it is learned that effective April 29th, an air-letter service to all foreign countries will be inaugurated. A uniform postage of 10 cents will be charged.

Air-letter sheets which can be folded into the form of an envelope, with a printed postage stamp and air mail markings, will be on sale at the Plymouth post office. Messages are to be written on the inside of the sheets. No enclosures are permitted.

Air-letters will be given all available air service to the countries of destination but they can not be sent under registration.

Air-letter sheets which are manufactured by private concerns may be used after 10 cents in postage has been affixed.

If you have items of interest about your family or friends for publication in these columns please phone them to number 16.

Cherry Hill Girl 4-H Club Winner

The Detroit Edison Company gave the Wayne County 4-H Electrical Club members and leaders a free trip to the Trenton Plant Monday, May 5. The group gathered at the Trenton plant for a 5:30 dinner, 238 were served. After dinner all enjoyed a movie and the following program.

1. Paul Penfield, Advertising Manager for the Detroit Edison Company was program chairman and he made a few remarks about the 4-H program.

2. J. Clare Cahill and Mrs. Maryqueto Dygert from the Edison Company were introduced.

3. Henry Brand and Gilbert Reaume, 4-H club members from Dearborn played their guitars and sang several songs.

4. R. T. Duncan, Commercial Superintendent welcomed the 4-H club group.

5. Edward German, District Commercial Manager at Wayne presented prizes to the top winners of the county.

The Electrical Projects were judged by Mr. Nevels Pearson, Assistant State Club Leader from Michigan State College at our three 4-H Club Achievement Days, April 16, 17 and 19. In order to enter the contest each club member made an extension cord or a trouble lamp and one other article.

First place went to a girl, Ena Keinbaum, 12 from Cherry Hill School, Mrs. Earl Buchner was the 4-H club leader. She was presented a totemaster for her outstanding work.

Second place went to Willard McQuaig, 15 from Vining School District. He was presented an electric fan. Third place went to George Angel, 16 from Vining School District and he was presented an electric clock. The three winners made trouble lamps and table lamps.

4-H Electrical Project Emblems were presented by Mr. German to the 4-H club leaders. Each club member that finished the electrical project received an emblem.

Following are schools that entered the contest and the 4-H club leaders that helped the Boys and Girls.

Kindergarten Registration Set

Registration of prospective kindergarten children will be held in Plymouth shortly.

Those expecting to attend school next fall will be able to register at the Starkweather Grade school, Tuesday, May 27th, from 8:30 A.M. to 3:15 P.M. Central school will hold their registration on Thursday, June 5th, from 8:30 A.M. to 3:15 P.M. The age limit for those enrolling is five years on or before December 1st.

It is requested that the parents accompany the children at this time so as to furnish any necessary data that the school should have.

The kindergarten teachers and nurse will meet the visitors in the kindergarten room.

To prevent water from entering their lungs when submerged aquatic mammals such as the seal, beaver and hippopotamus do not, like men, hold their breath, but close their noses by contracting a ringlike muscle that surrounds each nostril.

Urges Farmers to Grow Sudan Grass

Emergency pastures, which are needed because drought in many parts of Michigan last year damaged alfalfa seedlings, occupy the thoughts of many farmers in the vicinity of Plymouth and elsewhere throughout the state.

C. M. Harrison, specialist in farm crops at Michigan State college, says that sudan grass will provide excellent emergency pasture in most parts of the state. It is also useful as supplemental pasture.

When weather is very hot during the summer months, sudan will thrive when other pastures are dry and non-productive. Sudan requires warm weather for best growth and should not be seeded until the ground warms up. Frost will damage the growth severely. May 15 to June 10, or after danger of frost is past, is the best planting period.

A good seed bed is necessary for sudan growth. Soil and seed bed requirements are similar to those of corn. Fields that grew legumes the previous year will produce good yields of sudan. Fertilizer needs are the same as for corn.

If moisture is plentiful, 25 to 30 pounds of seed drilled per acre is adequate. In dry regions, 15 to 20 pounds per acre is recommended for drilling. Depth of seeding depends on moisture and seed bed. One inch is the best depth where conditions are favorable.

When grazing sudan, the field should be divided in two parts and grazed alternately. Cows can graze the first field when it is 12 to 15 inches high. When they have eaten the sudan down to 6 inches, change them to the other field and allow the first field to build up again. The two fields should be alternated during the entire grazing season.

Possibility of sudan poisoning can be lessened by never grazing the grass until it is at least 12 inches high. Short dark green sudan is dangerous and should be avoided.

Build a Strong U. S. A.—Galín

"Your motto is 'We build'—my advice to you is to wake up, stay awake and watch American thinking so that we can BUILD for a strong United States of America."

Those were the words of David Galín, Plymouth merchant, who addressed the Kiwanis Club at its Tuesday evening meeting at the Hotel Mayflower, Galín, who recently returned from a five-week flying trip to South America, visited his brother and sisters in Argentina whom he had not seen for 33 years. He had an opportunity to observe, first hand, conditions down there, and it was his opinion that farming methods are at least 50 years behind our time, and merchandising, 25 years.

"Visiting South America and observing the workings and results of the Paron government reminded me of Russia," he declared. Galín was born in that Communist country and lived there for 16 years before coming to the U. S. A. "And Communism has taken a firm hold in South America," he said. "I had a chance to attend one of their picnics, which was interesting, but frightening because of the danger of these fanatics getting so firm a hold here in our country. I played along with them trying to learn something of their inside workings, but when they wanted to pin a Red flag along side my American Legion lapel button, that was much too much," the Plymouth merchant said.

He said that the Paron government had done quite a few constructive things for the people down there, such as improving their school system, creating an old age pension fund with a 19 per cent deduction tax paid by the employees and employer, and shorter working hours for the employee. But the cost of living has increased at least 25 per cent over any pay raise.

In spite of government control of rent, people are afraid to move from their unsightly, overcrowded dwellings because once they move, government regulations are removed and rent is allowed to increase indefinitely, Galín said.

Interesting was his comparison of prices there and here, such as eggs costing $1.60 a dozen; shoes there for 16 years before coming to the U. S. A. "And Communism has taken a firm hold in South America," he said. "I had a chance to attend one of their picnics, which was interesting, but are allowed to raise their own food and keep half the milk check.

"All in all, the picture is not very rosy", Galín declared, "and if I don't tell you one other thing tonight that will be remembered, please, every one of you, don't let us forget what America stands for—don't let us forget that the United States of America is for Americans and for them to live the American Way—and don't let us allow any foreignism to undermine our government so that it can get a hold here as it has down there in my brother's country."

Program chairman for the evening was Harry Reeves who said in closing that he wished every Kiwanian could have gone on the trip so that they could be as appreciative of the United States of America as is Dave Galín.

What I Think and Have a Right to Say

By Elton R. Eaton

THIS COMMUNISTIC THING.

We have always detested Communism because of our way of thinking it represents deception, dishonesty, trickery, disloyalty to America and out-right banditry.

A Communist wants what you have worked hard to possess and he refuses to put forth an honest effort to work to get anything for himself. He represents the lowest-down type of human trash that has flowed into this country from Europe where for centuries some groups have existed for no other purpose than to cut the throats of those who have worked diligently to better their own condition.

The Paterson Evening News, of Paterson, New Jersey where Communists have flourished for years and where the people know something about these pests, recently published the following editorial about this plague which is now infesting our country:

High Time to Stop Kidding Ourselves About Communism and to Look the Facts in the Face.

The basic fact about which public knowledge must be aroused is that communism is a world movement directed from a single center in Moscow.

The purpose of that movement is to overthrow every capitalist, socialist, and democratic government in the world.

Abolition of the Comintern merely transferred its direction to the central committee of the Communist Party in Russia.

The great social war which Lenin declared has been going on for 30 years. Stalin and Trotsky split not over the ultimate goal of world revolution, but over the tactical point of timing.

We are confronted in this country today by the advanced guard of Communist infiltration and terrorism.

As a matter of self-preservation, we have the right—and if we are not completely insane we shall exercise it—to meet this challenge by every legal expedient at our command.

J. Edgar Hoover is in position to know more than any other American about subversive activities in this country.

As Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation he smashed every Nazi sabotage plan before it could get started. At the same time he kept an eye on Communist sabotage efforts during the early months of the war, when Stalin and Hitler were pals.

The Communists, according to the FBI officials, were even then so widely infiltrated in our labor unions that if Stalin and Hitler had not split, this country would have been faced with an uncontrollable wave of sabotage against production and national defense.

When, therefore, J. Edgar Hoover tells the House Committee on Un-American Activities that American Communists constitute a "fifth column," doing Moscow's bidding he knows what he is talking about.

The Communist Party in the United States is better organized, testified Mr. Hoover, than the Nazi "fifth columns" were in Europe before the war. Then he added:

Communism in reality is not a political party. It is a way of life—an evil and malignant way of life.

The dangerous element in the Communist Party here and abroad has been drilled and disciplined in deception. When cornered it denies any connection with the movement to which it is dedicated.

Anyone who got up in the Red Square in Moscow and advocated democracy, as we understand the word, would be promptly shot or whisked off to a "concentration camp" and worked to death.

The Communist Party in Russia does not tolerate subversion as we do.

Whether or not the advantages of outlawing this movement would outweigh the disadvantages is now being debated throughout the country. A good many people believe that it is dangerous folly to allow the Communist Party to take advantage of the Bill of Rights in order to plot destruction of our form of government.

A good many others share Mr. Hoover's fear of making martyrs of Moscow's agents and their dupes. They fear, too, that outlawing the CP would "drive communism underground."

Communism already is underground in this country, as well as above ground. The menace is not from Communist Party members, who go around showing their cards, but from those who conceal their membership, and take their orders secretly from the hundreds of NKVD agents working in our midst.

Were it possible, all Communists might be forced to wear labels so that they could be publicly known for what they are.

Whether our own form of government can long survive the tolerance shown in the past to Communist activities right under our noses is a moot question.

Any attempt to restrain these activities is immediately met by the cry of "witch hunt" or "Red baiting." When the Supreme Court of the United States upheld the dismissal from the War Manpower Commission of a member of an out-and-out Communist organization, the appellant's counsel accused the Court of joining in a witch hunt. That is Communist technique.

The bill in Congress to outlaw the Communist Party may not indicate the wisest course to be taken to meet this menace.

Yet the hearings on it serve the useful purpose of attracting public attention to a movement that has heretofore received all too little informed notice. The people do not want emotionalism. They do want the facts.

The Communists work throughout the world under many different party names. They outlawed their own party here by changing it to an association when Russia entered the war. Then, when the war ended, they dropped up again as an American political party.

The mere outlawing of their official organization would still leave their agents and dupes to carry on their intrigue and propaganda through American-Soviet Friendship and hundreds of similar fronts and transmission belts.

More Automobiles On the Market

Dealers in automobiles in Plymouth who have been having considerable difficulty in getting new cars, are now finding that cars are coming through a bit faster than they were a few weeks ago.

But that doesn't help out much in their present plight. Their backlog of orders is such a large one that it will be months before they can be filled, say several of them.

It is expected however, that the early fall season will somewhat ease the demand for new cars, as the used car lots are beginning to fill up and many buyers will be able to fill their needs from used cars lots.

Apple Scab Is Threat to Crop

(By E. I. Besemer)

Apple scab spores were first observed about May 1. The rainy weather the first part of May made ideal conditions for the spread of the apple scab spores.

The apple scab fungus develops in the old leaves on the ground during the winter and early spring. Spores are usually mature when the tips of the buds show green or in the delayed dormant period.

Spores may be discharged over a period of 5 or 6 weeks, depending on weather conditions. Rain is necessary for spore discharge and infection. Success in scab control depends on thorough and timely application during the period of leaf growth.

Experimental spraying during the past several years has shown that wettable sulfurs, if thoroughly and timely applied, are good substitutes for lime-sulfur.

The delayed dormant spray may be 5 to 8 pounds wettable sulfur and 1 pt. nicotine sulphate per 100 gallons of spray.

The pre-pink spray—just as first leaves are unfolding around blossom buds 5 to 8 pounds wettable sulfur, 3 lbs. lead arsenate. This is for scab, curculio, and chewing insects.

Commercial vegetable growers and others will hear Russell Delp, District Horticultural Agent and the County Agent discuss commercial vegetable growing and marketing over radio station WPKM 1540 kilocycles at 1:15 p. m. Monday, May 12.

Breeding chickens and growing pullets require good nutrition if they are to develop properly. County agricultural agent E. I. Besemer recommends green pasture to supply needed feed this summer.

When birds are kept on good pasture they consume less mash because they secure proteins and vitamins from the pasture. Good pastures will support 300 to 500 growing chickens on each acre.

Temporary pastures can be provided for late spring and early summer by seeding oats, 4 to 6 bushels per acre, broadcast or drilled both ways. An early seeding of 15 pounds of domestic rye grass plus 2½ pounds of Ladino clover will also provide a good range.

For midsummer pasture, sudan grass seeded 35 to 40 pounds per acre may be used. Sudan should not be sown until all danger of frost is past.

Perennial pastures can be grown by seeding mixtures of clovers and alfalfa. These pastures require less work and are easier to maintain than annual pastures.

Careless use of green feed is not recommended for the laying flock because of the variation in yolk color that the feed causes.

More than 7,000 veterans of World War II purchased items for their own personal use at the War Assets Administration veterans sales center in Detroit last month. They bought 23,000 separate items, including clothing, shot guns, hand tools, furniture and office equipment.

No man can be provident of his time who is not prudent in the choice of his company.—Jeremy Taylor

To worry about tomorrow is to fail of devotion to the task of today, and so to spoil both days.—William Dewitt Hyde

College Suggests Pasture Grass

Emergency pastures, which are needed because drought in many parts of Michigan last year damaged alfalfa seedings, occupied the thoughts of many farmers now.

C. M. Harrison, specialist in farm crops at Michigan State college, says that sudan grass will provide excellent emergency pasture in most parts of the state. It is also useful as supplemental pasture.

When weather is very hot during the summer months, sudan will thrive when other pastures are dry and non-productive. Sudan requires warm weather for best growth and should not be seeded until the ground warms up. Frost will damage the growth severely. May 15 to June 10, or after danger of frost is past, is the best planting period.

A good seed bed is necessary for sudan growth. Soil and seed bed requirements are similar to those of corn. Fields that grew legumes the previous year will produce good yields of sudan. Fertilizer needs are the same as for corn.

If moisture is plentiful, 25 to 30 pounds of seed drilled per acre is adequate. In dry regions, 15 to 20 pounds per acre is recommended for drilling. Depth of seeding depends on moisture and seed bed. One inch is the best depth where conditions are favorable.

When grazing sudan, the field should be divided in two parts and grazed alternately. Cows can graze the first field when it is 12 to 15 inches high. When they have eaten the sudan down to 6 inches, change them to the other field and allow the first field to build up again. The two fields should be alternated during the entire grazing season.

Possibility of sudan poisoning can be lessened by never grazing the grass until it is at least 12 inches high. Short dark green sudan is dangerous and should be avoided.

You're just kidding yourself when you think you have nothing to do until tomorrow.

IN MEMORIAM

"In loving memory of our dear father, Edwin O. Place, who passed away six years ago May 19, 1941.

The days are sad without you And nothing seems just right. A face we dearly loved has gone A heart both kind and bright. We loved you, oh, no tongue can tell

How much we loved you, and how well. God loves you too, and thought it best

From the cares of this life to give you rest. His Children

In memory of our dad, Otto Smith, who passed away May 11, 1944.

Three years have passed since that sad day. When one we loved was called away. God called him home, it was his will

But in our hearts he lingers still. Son and Daughter — Walter L. Smith Mrs. Edw. Peterson 1tc

Kiwanians Visit Big Steel Plant

Kiwanis Club members of Plymouth made a tour of the Great Lakes Steel plant at Ecorse last week. Approximately forty Kiwanians made the interesting and informative trip. They were escorted through the plant by guides which the company furnished. The members covered the plant thoroughly, beginning at the point where the furnaces were being fed and ending as the steel was being trimmed and made ready for shipment. It is reported that the trip was enjoyed immensely.

The club was pleasantly surprised recently when they were visited by George Haas. He is a former resident of Plymouth and now resides in Miami, Florida. He was one of the organizers of the first Kiwanis club which was formed in Detroit. He is also the number two man in the Kiwanis National organization.

Bill Quimet Is Winner Of City Marble Title

Storkweather school, Jack Helmer, Billy Petrazewski and Jerry Lee. Junior High School, Bill Quimet and Lillas (Cash). One of the unusual winners in the tournament was Richard Brown, 644 Blank street, who, though only seven years old and in the second grade, came in as runner-up at the Central Grade school.

Bill Quimet, Jack Helms and Dick Misler, as finalists, will represent Plymouth at Wyandotte in the district meet, which is being held on Saturday, May 17. At this meet the forty finalists from this district will compete to determine the winner, who will go to Eaton Rapids on June 7, for the state finals.

Chairman Berle Fisher announced that a total of 386 boys entered the marble tournament. He wishes to express his appreciation to the principals of the three participating schools, Mr. Alford, Mr. Bell and Mrs. Bird, and also to all the teachers who helped in carrying out the tournament. Mr. Fisher, along with the other members of the V.F.W., hope that in the future even more interest will be shown by the boys and their parents. They feel that this is an opportunity to encourage and develop good sportsmanship among the boys of Plymouth and next year they are hoping for a much larger entry.

A Communication
 To my Fellow Citizens:
 In thinking over the events of the last three weeks, in my opinion the manner in which Plymouth's taxes were spread has caused a rather bitter controversy which seems to have split the residents of our fair city into two opposing factions. I can think of nothing that would be more detrimental to Plymouth and the interest of all its citizens than a continued bickering and bitterness between fellowtownsmen.
 I attended the commission meeting held Monday night, May 5, and did even more than my share of kicking, not, however, because of increase of assessment on my own property, which raises were normal and reasonable, but because I felt there was inequality in the manner or way in which all Plymouth property was assessed; and any statement I made at that meeting was not of a personal nature or aimed at any person or citizen of Plymouth, and if any citizen or friends of mine feels aggrieved by any remarks or statement I made that night, I am sorry and extend my sincere apology. I consider it a bit late in my life to go about stirring up contention and ill feeling between friends and fellowtownsmen and am writing this that they may know it.
 Most sincerely
 Charles H. Bennett

PLYMOUTH CAPTURES ELEVEN FIRSTS

Capturing eleven firsts Plymouth conquered Wayne's track squad by a score of 82 1/2-21 1/2 Friday, May 8, at Plymouth. Wayne's younger team was without the help of their most valuable athlete who was attending a funeral. The near-freezing weather caused many stiff muscles thus slowing the times and lessening the distances.

This concludes the dual league meets with Plymouth sporting three wins and two losses. May 13 a non-league practice meet with Northville will be held at Plymouth. On May 17 the regional track meet will be held at Ypsilanti.

Gerald Kaluzny had a perfect day capturing three firsts, the 100, 220, and the broad jump, and was on the winning relay team. (The relay was won by forfeit). Bob Mielbeck won the high and low hurdles.

120 yd. high hurdles—Mielbeck (P), Hasselback (P), Zima (W)—17.7
100 yd. dash—Kaluzny (P), Ingle (W), Long (W)—11

34 Year Old Horse Dies at South Lyon

Dandy, the 34-year-old horse owned by Mrs. Hattie Bailey, died Sunday from natural causes. Mrs. Bailey and her late husband became owners of the horse 32 years ago when the animal was a colt of two years. When Mr. Bailey died about 10 years ago, she vowed to keep the animal for the rest of his days. He was too old to be sold into work. His last days were day of ease. He had the run of the barn and also of the pasture in good weather. He had all he wanted to eat—hay and grain—and plenty of water. He was buried in his favorite pasture. Now he's a memory.—South Lyon Herald.

The Doctor Doesn't Wait

Michigan doctors are imbued with the spirit of wanting to make their State the healthiest of the nation. They are constantly, through unified group action, setting up the clinics and centers and measures that are aimed at detecting disease and controlling it. More than any other person, your doctor believes that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure — and much of his time is given to putting that belief into practice. The doctor doesn't wait for disease to strike you; he finds it far more gratifying to take the initiative, voluntarily, in placing Michigan to the forefront as the healthiest State to live in.

Club Seeks Two New Scoutmasters

The Kiwanis Club of Plymouth is anxious to find two men who would care to accept the posts of assistant scoutmasters for the Kiwanis troop, P-5.

The club is especially interested in anyone who has had previous experience in scout work and scouting activities. The club would be very appreciative of any volunteers for the post and anyone interested should contact Harold Raufaub, scoutmaster of the Kiwanis troop.

The club has further announced that there are openings for more boys who are desirous of joining the boy scouts.

Budget Hearing Is Quiet Affair

Thursday, May 8th, was the date of the last City Commission meeting. Included in the meeting was a public hearing on the proposed city budget.

A good deal of interest was shown in this meeting with approximately 100 citizens attending. The proposed budget was presented and there were no objections raised to the budget as prepared. An interesting feature of the city budget is the amount to be spent for general government purposes. This figure is a proposed $217,000. This expenditure is exclusive of water and cemetery appropriations.

During the course of the evening there was more discussion on the assessment problem. Mayor Jack Taylor requested that Harold Cheek, city manager, give an explanation of the method in which assessments will be made this year. Mr. Cheek stated that the 1946 assessment rolls will be used in determining the new assessments in conjunction with the 1933 field sheets. The city commission feels that this is the fairest basis upon which new assessments can be figured.

STUDY GROUP TO HAVE POT-LUCK SUPPER AT SCHOOL

The members of the parent training class under the direction of Dr. Trow, are planning on a Pot Luck supper at the Starkweather school, Monday, May 19 at 6:30 p. m. This will be the final meeting of this group for this year but the class will be resumed again next year.

It has been announced that the Plymouth string ensemble will play for this function. Mrs. James Thrasher and Mrs. Homer Dill are in charge of preparations for food and entertainment for the event.

If you have any items of interest about your family or friends please call Plymouth 6.

May 16, 1947

To the Highway Commissioner of the Township of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan.

Sir:

You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did at a meeting of said Board held, Thursday, April 17, 1947, decide and determine that the certain road described in the minutes of said Board should be a County Road under the jurisdiction of the Board of County Road Commissioners. The minutes of said meeting fully describing said road are hereby made a part of this notice, and are as follows:

"Minutes of the meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, held at 3800 Barlum Tower, Detroit, Michigan, at 10 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, Thursday, April 17, 1947. Present: Commissioners O'Brien and Brown.

It was moved by Commissioner Brown that the Board assume jurisdiction over the following street in the Township of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan. All of Judson Avenue, as dedicated for public use in Rucker Estates, part of the S. W. 1/4 of section 35, T. 1 S., R. 8 E., Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan, as recorded in Liber 70 of Plats, on Page 70, Wayne County Records, being in all 0.049 mile of subdivision street. The motion was supported by Commissioner O'Brien and carried by the following vote: Ayes, Commissioners O'Brien and Brown; Nays, none.

Whereupon it was ordered that the above-described street in the Township of Plymouth be hereafter a county road under the jurisdiction of this Board.

THIS NOTICE IS GIVEN UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF ACT NO. 283 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1909, AS AMENDED.

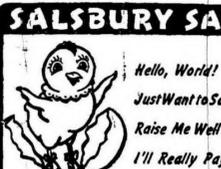

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit this 24th day of April, A. D. 1947.

Let's Talk Sense About Food Prices

In all the talk about lower prices, don't forget this:

Day in and day out, no retailer does a better job of keeping prices down than your food merchant. No food merchant does a better job than A&P.

We would like you to understand two important things about A&P's price situation:

Our net profit during the past five years has averaged only about 1 cent on each dollar of sales. If we were to operate our business without any profit at all, this 1 cent would amount to a saving of less than 4 cents a day on the entire food bill of the average American family.

We sincerely believe that A&P has the lowest cost of distribution of any retail business in the world. When you spend $1.00 in an A&P store, you get 86 cents worth of food and only about 14 cents goes to meet all expenses—wages, taxes, rent, light, heat and the hundreds of other expenses incidental to the stocking and operating of a modern food store—including our very small profit.

Obviously there is little "fat" in such a price structure. Our operating costs and profits are already cut close to the bone.

Merchants generally have reduced prices on many items on which they were overstocked. In recent weeks we have reduced prices on hundreds of such items. That is common merchandising practice and has no relation to a general or permanent price reduction.

While many food prices have already been lowered we must recognize that no substantial general reduction in retail food prices is possible until the cost of food to the retailer is reduced.

As any housewife knows, A&P's business has been built on the policy of selling quality food at the lowest practical price every day.

We pledge to our customers strict adherence to that policy. We will continue to lower our prices as fast as reductions in costs to us and economies in our operations permit.

People living in and around Plymouth and especially along the valley of the Rouge river, know that there was a tremendous amount of flood water that rushed down the Rouge river and Tonquish creek valleys during the recent April storm period. Everybody thought the creeks were higher than they had ever seen them before, but no one fully realized the tremendous amount of water that rushed down these valleys during the flood.

Some residents of Northville claim that some 35 or 40 years ago there was a flood which was worse than this one. A Novi farmer, driving home from Northville at night with his horse and buggy, they recall, was caught in the flood waters at the corner where the Novi road leads off from the Base Line road.

His horse was drowned and only through fortunate help that came to the farmer was his life saved.

The quantity of water that surged through southern Michigan river valleys on peak days of the April floods may astonish even those who fought to save their homes from high water and thought the flood of 40 years ago was the worst one.

For stream flow during the recent flood was not three or four times normal, as some may have supposed; it was 12 to more than 100 times normal. Stage and current meter readings made by engineers at flood time are being compiled now in the Lansing office of the U. S. geological survey and the conservation department's geological survey, which work on this problem jointly. The graphs and tables resulting are statistical backing for flood victims' tallest tales.

Most spectacular of all the recent serious floods in Michigan was the one that roared down our own Rouge river, which runs along the Plymouth-Northville road. In the summer time this stream is the little babbling brook that runs through the parkway in which children wade.

Runoff from the section this stream drains, now built up to house roofs and street paving, produced a prodigious flow of 12,000 cubic feet per second April 16—132 times normal and thousands of times this stream's minimum record flow of three second feet.

Grand river at Grand Rapids in 16 years of record had a normal flow of 3,080 cubic feet per second (cfs). But April 9 the volume hit 37,800 cfs, 12 times as much. At Lansing the Grand averaged, in 12 years of record, 752 cfs; it swelled on April 7 to 17,000 cfs—23 times as much water in the same valley. For 15 years the Red Cedar at East Lansing averaged 169 cfs; April 7 it was carrying 5,940 cfs—35 times as much.

Flint river at Flint normally, in the last 14 years, had a flow of 479 cfs; April 6 it was 27 times as great, at 12,900 cfs. Clinton river at Mt. Clemens in 11 years of record had a normal flow of 427 cfs. Its peak April 6 was 25,000 cfs—58 times greater.

Engineers computed these water volumes, and those of other streams in the flood zone, from a cross section of the river valley, the depth of water at that point, and the velocity of the current at that time, according to established hydraulic engineering practice. Stream flow records, recognized as a necessary basic preliminary to plans for control or use of a river, are now maintained by the U. S. and conservation department geological surveys on 89 Michigan streams.

New concept, an entirely different game management approach, is being tried on several areas in the Southeastern States, the Wildlife Management Institute made known recently. Normally game managers try to fit their wildlife programs to existing agricultural practices, but not so with Herbert L. Stoddard and E. V. Komarek, two well-known game technicians of Thomasville, Georgia. These men are reversing the procedure and are developing a profitable system of land use that will not interfere with the desired wildlife program, which involves both quail and wild turkeys.

Many large estates in the South are maintained almost exclusively for hunting preserves. Usually the areas are operated at a loss. Now and then large holdings, formerly accommodating numerous hunters, are subdivided or converted to agriculture. Others will follow unless ways are devised to help defray expenses. For this reason the work undertaken by Stoddard and Komarek on their own lands, and on tracts which they supervise or act as consultants, is essential.

The plan, if successful, will provide two splendid game bird crops supported by an agricultural program. Both men believe that they already have some of the answers. On their own lands, where much of the work is being done, they have good bird populations. Game managers are interested and await the reports on the results of the various crops and combinations of crops now being tried.

The last of a year's production of 1,400 picnic tables, most of them built during the winter in the central warehouse of the conservation department's parks division here, are being prepared now for distribution to state parks throughout Michigan. The tables are of the standard state park pattern, of cedar timbers with varnished pine benches and table tops, in five-, six-, and seven-foot models.

Killing deer, bear and waterfowl in close season and killing fish with explosives were among the offenses that resulted in 172 arrests by conservation officers in March. There were a dozen violations of fur regulations, some arrests for cutting timber or leaving rubbish on state lands. Fishing without a license was, as usual, the most common violation. Offenders paid $2,726 in fines, $1,055 costs.

A total of 255 important projects, upland game mostly, have been undertaken by the 10 Co-operative Wildlife Research Units during the 11 years this nationwide educational program has been in operation, the Wildlife Management Institute reports. The units located at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Iowa State College, University of Maine, University of Missouri, Ohio State University, Oregon State College, Pennsylvania State College, Texas A. & M. College, Utah State Agricultural College and Virginia Polytechnic Institute, are cooperatively financed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Wildlife Management Institute, and the state game departments and land grant colleges in the participating states.

Of the 255 projects undertaken to date, 138, nearly two-thirds, have dealt with upland game of which the bobwhite quail, ring-necked pheasant, cottontail rabbit, and wild turkey have received most attention. Practically every species of upland game has been studied by one or more of the units.

A total of 97 projects were devoted to game management and related problems. Habitat studies, particularly food and cover relationships, have led the list. Game surveys and distribution investigations rank second in number. Big game problems have been the subject of 28 projects. Deer studies, as may be expected, represent about 80 per cent of the work, although moose, black bear and scarce big game species have received attention in some of the states.

Fur animals, with muskrat and beaver leading, were considered in 41 projects. The continual fox problems has been studied in five states. Twenty-one of the projects covered waterfowl problems. Iowa, with eight projects, leads other states in this respect. Habitat requirements and nesting success have constituted the principal waterfowl studies.

The major purpose of the Co-operative Units is to train men for technical and administrative positions in the wildlife profession, but in their training students investigate such things as game trends, biologically sound hunting seasons and location and development of refuges and other game lands.

It was a close call for
Mrs. Ballard's lemon pie

It's been said that a piece of Mrs. Ballard's lemon pie would soften the hearts of the wicked, cause strong men to cry like babies and encourage bosses to hand out raises. Imagine, then, Mrs. Ballard's dismay when her electric range broke down the very day her own husband's boss was coming to dinner! But a call to Detroit Edison saved the day...

and the dinner. The trouble-shooter who arrived so quickly was able to locate the difficulty and, fortunately, to make repairs on the spot. At no charge except for replacement parts, Detroit Edison will repair many home appliances—in many cases, right in your home. It's one of the steps Detroit Edison takes to help you get the most from all the electricity you buy.

Plymouth Duck
Hunters Worried About Fall Crop

Recent surveys undertaken by the game division of the State Department of Conservation have confirmed the pessimistic outlook expressed by many Plymouth duck hunters concerning the expected 1947 duck crop. Carried out from the air, observation indicated that in four of the state's best hunting areas — the Lake Erie marshes in the Detroit and Monroe regions, the St. Clair marshes, the Saginaw Bay district, and the lower waters of the Kalamazoo River, the duck population is on the decrease, with wild geese the only game fowl showing any improvement whatsoever.

Currently there is a strong movement among state and national conservation authorities toward drastic legislation in the hope of curtailing the yearly kill of wildfowl. Some experts in the field have even advocated a three-year closed season, while others have put forward numerous suggestions which prove equally harsh to many confirmed hunters. With a very gloomy outlook for the future game bird population of not only Michigan but also the entire nation, sportsmen's associations have recently indicated their desire to support all aids which promise an increase in hunting enjoyment. Such organizations have stressed co-operation on the part of individual hunters in enforcing the legislation which is decided upon.

However, according to wildfowl experts throughout the country, the hunter himself is the means by which the situation can be improved. Such men advocate an increased feeling of personal sportsmanship, and hold that such an attitude will accomplish a great deal more than any form of legislation.

If and when the wildfowl population is restored through strict conservation, continue the wild game specialists, we shall be inviting a new crisis unless we conceive a new pattern of hunting "etiquette."

By making regulations offer a challenge to the expertness of the individual it is thought that hunters will show increased interest in measures of conservation. Such proposals as the prohibition of the use of repeating guns carrying more than three shots; and the banning of guns of more than ten gauge; the reduction, or even outlawing, of the use of decoys; the lessening of the spot and powder charges contained in shells—such measures as these have been brought forward as a challenge to the hunter.

Among government authorities the shortening of day hours, the staggered season, the establishment of numerous sanctuaries and refuges, the raising of the hunting tax, and even the closed season are the proposals which have received the greatest support.

Whatever the final decision on the part of state and federal legislators, sportsmen's groups have joined the experts in stressing, not the results of a day in the field, but the skill and the fun which should be the goal of all true hunters.

Many United States senators and representatives are obliged to devote 80 per cent of their time to answering mail and doing favors for their constituents.

The playing of The Star-Spangled Banner on the organ in New York's Grand Central Terminal has been prohibited since December 8, 1941, when we had declared war on Japan and the organist played the anthem. As everyone dutifully stood at attention, the unexpected delay caused several hundred persons to miss their trains.

Elect Smith Club Delegate

District Governor-elect George A. Smith of this Rotary district, has been elected by the Plymouth club as its official delegate to the International Rotary convention to be held this summer in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will leave a week or so before the convention begins and spend the entire convention period in the Pacific coast city.

Delegates will be present from all parts of the world, some 54 countries having Rotary organizations. Those who have attended some of these conventions, which are frequently held in foreign countries, say they are not only intensely interesting, but spectacular as well.

The Metropolitan Opera of New York has presented, during its 62-year history, 194 operas by 66 foreign composers and 19 operas by 16 American composers.

You have the wheel, now, in your hands, smooth and light and feeling right at home. There's the gas treadle, where your foot falls most naturally—it takes only a nudge to give you ACTION in capital letters.

Here's the big, deep seat, seeming as though it were made for you, and out front is the road—tempting—in inviting—calling you to see how it smooths itself when it spots a Buick coming.

You're set—let's go—let's find out what it's like to pilot the handsome honey that calls the turn on automotive styling for years and years to come.

Can't that quiet hum really be better than a hundred horsepower at work out front? Be careful, sir, how you tramp on that treadle, lest all this eager Fireball energy be too suddenly let loose!

This buoyant, fluid ride—where has that magic-carpet gait been hiding? It's been in Buick's cushiony coil springs, one on each wheel—and in Buick ample, jar-absorbing roadweight.

In the Legislature

By Elton R. Eaton

The closing weeks of a session are always hectic and busy ones. Since the Supreme Court's ruling on the sales tax amendment, a noticeable change has taken place, with more committee activity and longer daily sessions.

Normally with a legislative week beginning with a Monday night session at 8, no committee meetings are scheduled for the day, but last week was an exception, and many attended committee meetings beginning at 3 Monday afternoon.

Public hearings, extra long sessions with hours of debate on such controversial measures as capital punishment, labor bills, amendments to the criminal code and gas tax bill, and the introduction of five appropriation bills highlighted the week's activities in the house.

Besides the five appropriation bills, calling for $23,485,768 for general education, $9,189,189.00 for general government purposes, $7,890,000.00 for constructing armories around the state, $5,227,770.00 for regulatory services and $4,453,736.00 for aeronautics, highways and conservation, other bills of interest introduced, would:

1. Amend the school code to provide for 13th and 14th grades;
2. Outlaw closed shops in Michigan;
3. Increase the sales tax from 3c to 5c;
4. Require extradition expenses to be paid by county where the crime is alleged to have been committed;
5. Create a Board of Boiler Rules within the Department of Labor

The House concurred in Senate action, combining two house liquor bills into one, providing the World War 11 veterans who gave up liquor licenses to enter the armed services, would regain their licenses, and permitting the Liquor Commission to issue resort licenses without regard to population limitations, but restricting the licenses issued to the total number issued in 1941, and ordered the bill enrolled for presentation to the Governor.

A bill to repeal the apple tax act, defeated a week ago and tabled following a successful motion to reconsider, was taken off the table late this week in a surprise move, and passed. Debate was prolonged, provoking a remark that "not since the day of Adam and Eve has an apple caused so much trouble."

Among bills passed by the house, one would allow women, who own liquor establishments, to act as bar tenders, with licensing of bar tenders required only in cities of 125,000 population and over; another measure would provide that parents of any veteran who died in service, would be included in the Michigan bonus payment plan; other measures passed would, permit the location of a county jail outside the corporate limits of the county seat; adding request, poison ivy and poison sumac to the list of noxious weeds and requiring their control to prevent their becoming a detriment to public health; closing Macomb county to Sunday hunting; amend the election laws to permit the designation of the term "incumbent" on the ballot under the name of a candidate seeking reelection; permit spearing of Sturgeon thru the ice in inland waters during January and February; repeat the act creating the Mackinac Bridge Authority; permit the Corrections Department to grant an easement over certain property to the City of Jackson.

H. B. 340, amending the Municipal Housing Act to prohibit further acquisition or construction, but permitting operation and improvement of present projects, was a bitterly fought measure, and after considerable time was consumed in its debate, it was re-referred to committee for the purpose of holding a public hearing on it next week.

Another measure that came in for long hours of discussion this week, and wound up being made a special order on General orders for next Tuesday, May 13, was the proposed increase in gasoline tax from 3c to 5c. Postponement of further consideration of this bill was made to enable the committee on Roads and Bridges sufficient time to bring before the House a complete breakdown in dollars and cents and percentages of the amount of revenues going to the various governmental units under this increased tax.

H. B. 356, which would place the operation of prison concessions under the warden, with the revenues to go to the welfare fund of the institution, for the benefit of all inmates, was killed. The vote was reconsidered and the bill placed on the table later, when facts were brought out that at the present time a very few inmates have a monopoly on these concessions, and earn anywhere between $10 to $15 a day from same, whereas the prisoners helping, earn only about 20c a day. This situation creates dissatisfaction and trouble.

Warned that all House Bills must be passed and over to the Senate by next Friday, the 23rd., if we are to adjourn by June 5, we adjourned for the weekend, with the knowledge that next week will be a strenuous one with appropriation and tax bills to be considered, and acted upon.

Extend Time To Keep Venison
 In Food Lockers

Largely through the efforts of Dave Galin and the Michigan Frozen Food Locker Association of Michigan Mr. Galin is an officer, there is being written into the Michigan game laws a provision whereby sportsmen who do not desire to use up their game during the season may keep it until it is long as they desire.

But this permission must be secured from the conservation department in order to prevent any "chiselers" on the part of some fishermen or hunters who might desire to evade the law.

So readers of The Plymouth Mail may know just exactly what the new law will provide, it is printed in full as follows:

"Such game birds and game animals, for which a permit herein provided for has been issued, may be had in possession indefinitely. Provided, however, that it shall be unlawful for the owner, operator, or agent of any refrigerating plant, icehouse, warehouse, frozen food locker plant, or other commercial cold storage establishment to accept for storage, or to store, any game bird or game animal or part thereof more than 30 days after the close of the respective open season thereon, unless a permit covering same as herein provided for has been issued. Provide further, that any owner, operator, or agent of any refrigerating plant, icehouse, warehouse, frozen food locker plant, or other commercial cold storage establishment shall maintain a record of all protected birds or animals accepted for cold storage and such records shall be available to any conservation officer at any reasonable time; provided further, that game birds and game animals properly identified as having been lawfully taken in and exported from another state may be possessed in this state for 10 days after being brought in. Persons desiring to possess such game for more than 10 days shall procure a permit as herein provided, the same as though such game were taken in this state."

Manufacturers of phonograph records anticipate that production and sales of discs in 1947 will top the 1946 high levels of 275 million records.

Plymouth's first pet show, which was held at Curmi's Vitality Feed Store last week, was a real success. Over 250 attended the show which was conducted along the lines of a dog show so far as possible.

The first prize in the most appealing pet class went to Ruth Geraldine Hopper and her pet Curley. The second prize went to Larry Daly and his dog Lassie, while Lillie, belonging to Connie Mae Stamtitz won the third prize in this class. Cash prizes were awarded to all winners.

Another classification of pets was the trick class. Brenda Jewell with Bowser as her entry walked off with honors in this event and Arthur Jerris with Stubby and Donald Todd with Taffy winning second and third prize respectively.

The pet with the smallest tail was won by Sandy, a Belgium Bristol belonging to Martha Bernash and Billy Blossom won the prize for the oddest pets in the show with his mice.

The judges in the show were Vic Pelezski, representing Gaines Dog Food, Frank Huest, of Vitality Feeds, William Norman of Plymouth and John Britcher, also of Plymouth.

Ed Curmi, who sponsored and developed this first pet show in Plymouth said, "We wish to thank all contestants and spectators for the interest they have shown in this event. We hope to have another show, even bigger, in the fall."

In Chicago, Irving Drell left $700 outside a safe in his office, hoping that if thieves did break in, they would take the ready cash and leave the safe alone. That, Drell finally complained to police, was exactly what some thieves had done.

In Tokyo, Farmer Shigevosi Kezuka was unperturbed when the Government seized his hoarded rice harvest, shrewdly decided to capitalize on his nationwide publicity by running for the House of Representatives.

BABSON SAYS

Babson Discusses Efficient Education

Kansas City, Mo., May 16.—Many young job hunters today are not being received too cordially by employment managers. There are two reasons for this: (1) during the past decade our young people have acquired the very curious job attitude of "anything that goes is good enough," and (2) too many are too poorly prepared in the basic tools of learning—fundamentals of good speech, writing, spelling, self-expression, and simple arithmetic—to be good risks for the employer.

"Get All You Can For As Little As You Can"

Personnel men tell me that post-war lawlessness, lack of respect for authority and disregard for the rights of others are too common with job hunters today. The attitude to "get all you can for as little as you can" is the chief cause of the increasing cost of living. Young people who have this attitude are reported by businessmen to be indifferent toward their work and poor in attendance. They also fail to recognize the importance of good health and living habits. These young people make the mistake of expecting raises and promotions simply on the basis of time served. These would-be workers have yet to recognize that every little assignment well done is the best way to earn promotions and salary increases.

These young people are not wholly to blame. Our 16-27 year olds have yet to live in a normal economic era. They were born into "the world owes us a living" political age and matured in an unnatural wartime economy. The fact remains, however, that too often both schools and parents have failed in their attempts to build healthy attitudes toward life and work. Character and personality traits can be developed by our schools with proper educational experience and wise counseling. This task is paramount today in the training of our youth and should cease to be considered outside the realm of teaching. What good is a trained intellect without those personal and spiritual qualities which make for competence?

Teach Them The "3 R's" Just before Everett W. Stephens, Personnel Director of Babson Institute, recently came to us from Boston University he completed a three year study of some 100 secondary schools throughout New England. He and his staff administered "achievement and aptitude" tests to more than 30,000 pupils in grades 9 through 12. The appalling revelation is that the average New England school-boy cannot read well; furthermore the further he goes in school, the slower his progress becomes. Because these New England youngsters can't read and understand what they read, many high school graduates today cannot solve a simple arithmetical problem. They can add and subtract, but they cannot make their addition and subtraction do anything for them. Employers out here in the Central West assure me that this applies only to children from the large cities, not to those from the small rural communities.

Qualities Business Is Looking For Business and industry are clamoring for young people who show some creative ability who can comprehend what they read, and who can make simple mathematical calculations. They are also searching for emotionally stable young people filled with vim, who are also sincere, loyal, dependable, resourceful, but still willing to learn. Business needs young people who have not only the willingness but the ability to assume responsibility and to cooperate with and inspire others.

Business also sorely needs young people who can think and pray. The ability to make correct decisions cannot be learned by merely memorizing facts. It cannot be "mass produced" in large classes with busy work and sound-bites. We need smaller classes, taught by more seasoned teachers who themselves know how to recognize problems and determine issues, seek pertinent facts, develop alternatives and reach reasoned decisions.

Business and Education I am sometimes criticized for writing about Education and Religion in these columns instead of writing about Business. To such criticisms I can but reply that good business must be preceded by good education and good religion. Higher standards of living do not come from wishful thinking. They come from blood, sweat, and tears. The gaps between education, religion and business must be bridged.

County Starts Road Program

Taking advantage of the first real break in the weather, the Wayne County Road Commission has started a major program of repairs on roads just outside of Plymouth. Repairs being done at this time include Sheldon road which is in sad condition following the hard winter and the early spring floods. In several places to the south of Plymouth, Sheldon road had been practically washed out. Creeks had overflowed, their banks causing even more damage to the road. Sheldon road is now being graded and resurfaced and while there is still a great deal of work to be done the improvement is evident.

Other streets in the vicinity are also being worked on. Gordon, Elmhurst and Oakview are all being ditched and drained prior to the construction of new roads. The ditching is a welcome project indeed to those whose houses are on these streets. They were among the hardest hit property holders in the floods this spring and many of them were forced to evacuate their homes due to the inadequacy of the old ditches.

The county has planned on an extensive road improvement program; much to the satisfaction of those living in and around Plymouth.

Sickle-cell anemia is the only disease that is known to be completely confined to a single race—the Negro, its occurrence being entirely dependent on the presence of a certain inheritable strain in Negro blood.

25 YEARS AGO FROM THE PLYMOUTH MAIL FILES

Ralph Lorenz who has been manager of the Atlantic and Pacific store in this village for the past two years, has again taken over the Plymouth Hotel, of which he is the owner, and will conduct the same in the future.

The special election held Tuesday to vote on the proposition of bonding village for the sum of $10,000 and issuing bonds therefor, the purpose of paying the cost of that part of the expense to be borne by the village at large for the paving of Starkweather avenue, resulted in an overwhelming vote for the improvement. The vote was 234 yes and 23 no. The paving of Starkweather avenue will make a fine improvement, and one that is certainly needed.

Arthur E. Blunk and Irving E. Blunk will open a new department store in the building formerly occupied by E. L. Riggs on Main street, under the firm name of Blunk Bros. Mrs. A. G. Burnett, who has been clerking at the Riggs store for some time has been engaged to take a similar position with the new firm.

The Junior play given Thursday evening, May 4th, was quite successful. The girls Gladys Schrader, Wilma Briggs and Fannie Grainger, who had to learn new parts Tuesday morning on account of the illness of Carol Pierce, certainly showed no sign of forgetting their lines and their acting was entirely up to the standard of the play. Olivia Williams, as the truth teller for twenty-four hours, brought down the house. Perry Richwine, Max Trucks and Dan Murphy, as his enemies, were mightily entertaining "rascals." Martin Strasen made a canny young bishop, not so slow at business after all. The Vamps Dorothy Hinnaw and Dorothy McClungha, brought a laugh in their interview with Marion Kieley as a dignified matron.

Andrew Sanborne has built a new porch on the front of his hotel in North village and is making other interior improvements.

The baseball season will be opening in Plymouth, Saturday afternoon, May 13 at 3:30 o'clock. The strong Dearborn team will furnish the opposition for the Plymouth team. The team looks the best that it has in years, so turn out and root for the boys. Schrader will probably pitch the opening game, with Williams on the receiving end.

James Kincaid is seen on Plymouth street driving a new Hupp touring car. The roadway through the Henry property which was purchased some time ago by the village, is being graded and put in condition for travel, and will soon be open to those who wish to go to the river flats for picnics.

Roland Allenbaugh is building a new dragway a short distance south of town in Canton township.

While working at carpenter work last Tuesday, E. C. Vealey had the misfortune to run a nail in his right foot, which has since confined him to his home, but he is improving at this writing.

Little Ira, the small son of Grover Place, was taken to Harper hospital the first of the week, where he underwent an operation, Thursday. His grandmother, Mrs. Ira Wilson is staying with him.

Harry Lush left Tuesday for a several weeks visit at Jackson, Minnesota. He motored through, and was accompanied part way by M. G. Blunk.

Plymouth friends will be interested to hear that Mrs. Dora Cole of Kalamazoo, formerly of this place, has gone to Princeton, New Jersey, to spend the summer with her son Edwin Corwin, who is professor of politics in Princeton University. He has also a national reputation as a critic on American Constitutional Theory. It is with a feeling of pride that Plymouth friends speak of Mr. Corwin's success, as he was a member of the '95 graduating class of the Plymouth High School.

Mrs. Mark Joy had the misfortune to sprain her ankle at the Gleaner meeting, last Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Roe have a new boy born in Florida. They expect to return home June 14. James Todd is building a new house.

Born, a son, to Mr. and Mrs. William Todd, Wednesday, May 10.

B. D. Brown, who was gored in the leg while loading cattle into a freight car a few weeks ago, and has since suffered greatly with the leg, was taken to Harper hospital Tuesday, when drainage tubes were placed in the wound.

Several playmates pleasantly assisted Ruth Hamilton in celebrating her eleventh birthday at her home, last Saturday afternoon.

There is an eloquent silence; it serves sometimes to approve, sometimes to condemn; there is a mocking silence; there is a respectful silence. — La Roche-foucauld
