

Nationally Famous Drum and Bugle Corps to Perform Here

Participation in Detroit's 250th birthday celebration by the Daisy Manufacturing Company of Plymouth will bring this city an unusual musical treat on Friday, July 27. Through arrangements made by the Detroit Council of the Boy Scouts of America officials of the Daisy Manufacturing Company will be hosts for an afternoon and evening to the nationally famous Racine, Wisconsin Scout Drum and Bugle Corps who are brought to Detroit to participate in the celebration parade on Saturday afternoon.

As a special favor to the boys who arrive Friday noon a specially conducted tour through the Daisy plant has been arranged and several shooting contests have been planned for them on the Daisy testing range. After an afternoon in the plant the boys will be feted at a dinner by the company in one of the local churches.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's entertainment the corps has agreed to give a concert Friday evening in the high school field at 7:30 p.m. and the people of Plymouth are invited free of charge to hear them perform.

The Corps is a perennial winner of national championships and is rated as the most outstanding group in its class. The group has 60 members and travels about the country in their own private bus.

The Corps will head up the massed color section of 250 flags in the giant celebration parade on Saturday afternoon in Detroit.

Says GI's Think Americans Not Interested in War

Back in America after nine months in Korea, First Lieutenant Robert Thams is relaxing at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Thams, 475 Jener Place. Lieutenant Thams and his family were in Japan at the outbreak of the Korean War. He landed with the Seventh Division at Inchon during the bleak days when it looked as though we might be driven from Korea. He participated in the North Korean campaign and fought within 5 miles of the Changjin Reservoir. He was evacuated with his unit, the 31st infantry battalion, to Pusan, and later joined the drive back into North Korea, his outfit holding the right flank of the U.S. forces. He was awarded the Silver Star medal for bravery in action last December.

The attitude of the American people toward the Korean War is a subject of interest to the Lieutenant, and he says, to most GI's in Korea. Many of them fear that the public is not interested in the war and think of it as a "far-away police action."

"Morale of the GI's has been good," he says, "even during our early defeats. And contrary to some reports, our troops have been adequately equipped at all times. The only exceptions were some units which advanced too fast for their supply units to keep up with them."

"Chief complaint among the GI's is a cry for more beer and more mail. And they are all interested in an early end to the fighting. However, they do not see the reason for stopping where we began—at the 38th parallel."

"Most of them want to quit calling it a 'police action' and go all out to win. They are afraid that if we leave the Chinese forces intact in North Korea, we will have to go back eventually and fight them anyway."

Lieutenant Thams fought against North Korean troops much of the time but saw some action against Chinese communists. The North Koreans make far better soldiers, he says, possibly because they are fighting on their own soil.

"Chinese rely on their numbers while the North Koreans rely on stealth and guerilla warfare. Our South Korean allies, the ROK's (Republic of Korea) have not made a very good showing but their trouble is lack of training, not lack of courage."

Most GI's resent the lack of help by other UN nations but have a great deal of respect for the fighting abilities of allied troops in Korea. While many of them do not understand the diplomacy behind the war, they all feel that we have been let down by other UN members.

Speaking of General MacArthur, Lieutenant Thams says that he is held in high respect by the GI's. His successful rehabilitation of Japan and his quick work in getting an unprepared army into the field are the chief reasons for this respect.

Among the difficulties encountered in the Korean War, he mentions the intense cold of last winter and the trick of the North Koreans of dressing as civilian farmers during the day and at night in the uniform of the Army. Regarding the cold, he says it was consistently 20 below zero and occasionally went to 30 below.

Lieutenant Thams went from Korea to Japan where he spent one month. He landed in this country on the 11th of this month and arrived home on Sunday, July 15. He will report to Fort Riley, Kansas, on the 18th of August, where he will join the 10th Infantry Division.

His wife and three children, one of whom was born in Japan two months ago, will probably join him in Kansas at a later date.

Capital Airlines Man to Speak to Rotarians

Speaking at the Rotary club weekly meeting Friday at 12:30 will be Kenneth Smith, district sales manager of Capital Airlines. The topic of his speech will be "Progress of Commercial Air Transportation."

HERE IS PROOF of the tremendous corn harvest from the fields of farmer Clyde Smith down on Newburg road. Thousands of ears of sweet corn were piled high on his shipping dock last week, ready to be sacked and sent to the Eastern market for Detroit consumption.

It May Sound "Corny" But Really Neighbor These Are Truthful Facts

Sweet Corn? Who said you get it from Iowa and Illinois? Why neighbor, you are living right in the middle of the biggest sweet corn producing area of the whole state of Michigan. Yes, that's right, and the facts come from the Wayne County agent's office over in Wayne, Michigan.

There is not only more sweet corn grown right here than any other place in Michigan, but Canton township produces more than any other township in the entire state. Not only do we produce more sweet corn but our local growers are the first to get their corn on the market and would you believe it, all last week early bird Clyde Smith down on Newburg road has been picking corn for over a week and marketing it on the Eastern Market for 75 cents a dozen ears.

Mr. Smith is growing corn for the first time commercially this year. He learned a trick or two from Florida growers last winter while on a vegetable growers' tour of the sunny south. This year he started his sweet corn in his greenhouse and when it was a foot high he transplanted it outdoors, hence his early and very profitable harvest.

Statistics show that there are over 4,000 acres of sweet corn grown in this section and last year Plymouth area sweet corn was shipped as far south as Texas for table consumption in the lone star state. One of the unusual factors about the excellent corn grown in this area is the fact that all of it finds its way to family tables and none is used for commercial canning purposes.

Another interesting factor about local corn is the fact that the skillful growers in this area have practically eliminated corn borer, so that housewives have little spoilage when they get corn grown on local farms.

Prominent among corn producers in Canton, according to the county agent, are Fred Korte, Sid Eastin, Columbus Wilkins, Warren Palmer, Henry Houk and Robert Waldecker. Doesn't this make your mouth water? Stop & Shop is featuring some of this corn in its produce department this weekend.

Young Letter Writer Located in Plymouth

The story in last week's issue of The Mail in regard to a local youngster writing an unsigned letter to a northern Michigan camp revealed the fact that 10-year-old John Edward Jousma was the author.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jousma who reside at 674 Evergreen street. His letter was prompted to the camp by a poster he had seen on the bulletin board of the Central Grade school where he was a student last year.

At this writing correspondence is already taking place between his parents and S. N. Geal at Hale, Michigan where the camp is located to see if some plan can be worked out whereby John can take advantage of Mr. Geal's most generous offer of two week's free camping if the local youngster could be found.

Barton Rogers Joins Faculty at High School

Another addition to the Plymouth High school teaching staff will be Plymouthite Barton Rogers, who has accepted a position in the English department, announced Russell Isbister, superintendent of Plymouth's schools. Mr. Rogers has spent some 25 years in public school education, which includes the principalship of Bentley High school in Livonia and teaching in Northville High school.

He completed his undergraduate work at Wisconsin State Teachers College and received his Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have made their home in Plymouth for several years. They reside at 397 Blunk street. The new English teacher at the high school is a member of the local Kiwanis club.

"His broad experience in working with youth of high school age will materially enrich the school program," said Mr. Isbister.

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Education

The Kiwanis club heard an address recently by Fred Miller, education consultant of the University of Michigan, who spoke on the "status quo" of the education system. Mr. Miller told the Kiwanians that we must educate our young people in the basic principles that build individual characters strong enough to overcome the temptations that confront government leaders.

The education consultant discussed Communism that is boring into the United States educational system and government. Mr. Miller also talked on state and national affairs. Barton Rogers was program chairman.

Dean Saxton and Dr. A. E. Van Ornum gave a report on the recent national Kiwanis convention in St. Louis at the meeting last Tuesday at the Hotel Mayflower.

Entries are now being accepted, said Max Todd, chairman of the event. There is a charge of $2.50 for registration and entry blanks are available at Hilltop.

Match play will begin on August 12. All Plymouth golfers are invited to enter the tournament. Last year approximately 100 golfers turned out for the city's top golf event.

At Last!

Mawhorter and Fish

From down in South Bend, Indiana comes this picture of Plymouth fisherman Myron Mawhorter taken in front of the latter's cottage on Whalen lake near Baldwin, Michigan where Mr. Mawhorter spends his summers. According to Fred Anspaugh of South Bend, the man that took this picture, this particular bass has been fed by Mr. Mawhorter for nearly three years and it was only by accident that Mr. Mawhorter was able to land him.

However when brought to shore the fish weighed six and a quarter pounds and was 22 inches long. This is the first actual proof that Mr. Mawhorter has actually landed a fish out of Whalen lake, says Glenn Smith, also of Plymouth who spends many of his days in the same northern neighborhood with Mr. Mawhorter especially around the fishing and deer hunting seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kops and family of Hamilton avenue attended the christening of their new niece, Charlotte Catherine Ray in the Church of the Sacred Heart in Dearborn Sunday.

Monday saw the first wheat from Plymouth's productive fields start to roll into local elevators. According to Joe Wickens, of the Specialty Feed Products, well-known farmer John Bunynea of Joy road made the first delivery Monday of 150 bushels of new wheat that tested 57 pounds of good quality.

Next in line to deliver the first of their wheat crops was Don Smith and Kenneth Kahl who both had exceptionally fine quality grain. The elevator expects the crop to reach its peak sometime late this week and will probably process some three to four thousand bushel per day for the next week. Approximately 75,000 to 100,000 bushels of wheat will be shipped by the Specialty Feed this season, says Mr. Wickens.

Doctor Barber Issues Warning On Insecticide

A new insecticide, recently put on the market in this area, is the subject of a warning issued by Dr. Ray Barber, Plymouth Health Officer. Known as Parathion, the insecticide is very effective but, unfortunately is also highly toxic to humans.

In the past this preparation has been used primarily by commercial growers. Now, however, it is available for home garden use. Last year a number of cases of illness and several deaths were caused by mishandling of the insecticide.

Because of its extremely high toxicity, Parathion should be used with caution. Poisoning can occur by breathing in or swallowing small amounts of it. It is also rapidly absorbed through the skin. However, it may be safely used if proper precautionary measures are taken. The manufacturers' instructions should be followed in all respects.

General precautionary measures include: avoiding contact with the preparation; laundering of clothing after each use of the insecticide; showering with plenty of soap after each use; immediate and thorough washing of any portion of the body which may come in contact with Parathion during its use; and thorough washing before eating, drinking or smoking, after using it.

Eating, drinking or smoking should be avoided near the area of use, and if necessary, protective clothing, including goggles, natural rubber gloves, and approved respirator, should be used during application. At all events, it should be kept out of the reach of children, and away from food.

Warning symptoms of poisoning by Parathion are: weakness, headache, blurred vision, pin point pupils, nausea, sweating, vomiting, diarrhea, discomfort in chest, cramps, dizziness and muscular twitching, symptoms appearing in order of listing.

Should Parathion be swallowed, the victim should be made to vomit by giving him warm salty or soapy water. Milk or water should be taken freely. In event of contamination of the skin, the exposed area should be washed with soap and water for at least 15 minutes. Should the eyes be affected, they should be immediately flushed with water for at least 15 minutes.

In any case of Parathion poisoning, the patient should be removed from the exposure and a doctor called at once.

Martin to Open New Business

Announcement of another business locating in the Plymouth area was revealed by Plymouthite Homer Martin, who has organized the Homer Improvement company, a storm window manufacturing, distributing and home improvement business.

Mr. Martin plans to build the factory on his farm at 7405 Brookville.

He formerly owned and operated the V-Seal corporation in Royal Oak, and served as president until last summer when he sold his interest.

The V-Seal corporation manufactured aluminum storm windows, where he became thoroughly acquainted with the storm window and home modernization business.

The Plymouthite was the first International president of the United Automobile Workers of America and held that position until 1939. He then resigned and went into private business.

Mr. Martin states that as president of the union he refused to go along with communists and was the first labor leader of the then new C.I.O. to break with the communist element.

He says that he waged a strong fight against them and was prevented from ousting them from the U.A.W. only because the other leaders of the C.I.O. refused to support them in the fight.

"However, the C.I.O. later followed my example and advice and has undertaken belatedly to clean the communists out," stated Mr. Martin.

Early Wheat Now Being Processed

Monday saw the first wheat from Plymouth's productive fields start to roll into local elevators. According to Joe Wickens, of the Specialty Feed Products, well-known farmer John Bunynea of Joy road made the first delivery Monday of 150 bushels of new wheat that tested 57 pounds of good quality.

Next in line to deliver the first of their wheat crops was Don Smith and Kenneth Kahl who both had exceptionally fine quality grain. The elevator expects the crop to reach its peak sometime late this week and will probably process some three to four thousand bushel per day for the next week. Approximately 75,000 to 100,000 bushels of wheat will be shipped by the Specialty Feed this season, says Mr. Wickens.

Local Man Comes Back to City for Music Position

The director of the Plymouth High School Band and instructor of instrumental music in Plymouth schools is a former graduate of the high school, Laurence Livingston.

After Mr. Livingston graduated in 1929, he went to Michigan State Normal College and received his degree in 1934. From that time on to the present time, Plymouth's new instructor of instrumental music has been quite active in the music world.

After he taught music in Utica, Michigan for two years, he went to Clawson and taught music there for five years.

Continuing in the field of music, Mr. Livingston then became a professional musician and arranger, and he conducted his own studio in Detroit for a while.

The position of supervisor of instrumental music was then offered to Mr. Livingston and he had been employed in that capacity until last year.

Also a composer of music, Mr. Livingston wrote the Huron Fight song, the official song of Ypsilanti Normal College. He has recently completed writing an overture entitled "Copper Harbor" which will be published in the fall.

The new conductor of the Plymouth High School Band is an honor student in Wayne University's Graduate School. He will receive his master's degree in February.

Mr. Livingston is quite well known in the music world and he comes highly recommended as a teacher who has a complete understanding of music and instruction of high school students.

Plymouth schools' new instructor of instrumental music will move before school opens in the fall to Plymouth with his wife and two sons. Mr. Livingston is presently making his home in Royal Oak.

Mr. Livingston replaces Paul Wagner, who will take a similar position at Pekin High School in Pekin, Illinois.

"I'm very happy to come back to teach at the high school where I graduated," said Mr. Livingston, "and I'm looking forward to teaching instrumental music this fall in the high school." He is the son of Mrs. Zella Collon of Plymouth.

Local Girl Wins Championship

Another honor was awarded to Miss Sarah Ann Mackintosh, who received a scholarship from the Michigan division of Women's National Farm and Garden Association last week.

Sarah was awarded the state 4-H club championship for her work in clothing, gardening, and canning this week. The June graduate of Plymouth High school was a junior leader for four years in the 4-H club.

Sarah is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mackintosh of 4593 Maben street. She will attend Michigan State College in the fall where she plans to major in home economics.

Same Song Seeks Plymouth Home

A visitor from Manila and recently of Tokyo and Korea, who seems to like Plymouth so much that she has started raising her family here is Same Song, who is also looking for a home.

Same Song, who carries herself with dignity fitting her aristocratic blood, is a beautiful creature with her short silver grey hair and sooty black ears, nose, and paws. She is also a very talkative Siamese cat. Her kittens are almost carbon copies of their mother.

Miss Marjory Hadley, who is staying with her mother, Mrs. Edith Hadley on Dodge street, brought Same Song with her from the East where she was working with the Red Cross Special Services. Now that she will be leaving soon for another assignment she would like to find a nice home for Same Song.

The kittens are already spoken for—in fact, one of them, named Tajon, jumped on the lap of the Plymouth Mail reporter and it was love at first sight. The Mail reporter is now the happy owner of a blue-blooded, silver furred, talkative Siamese kitten.

While Miss Hadley was in Manila at Clark Field, an army sergeant, who was transferred to Japan, gave Same Song to her. Same Song's journey began when Miss Hadley took the cat to Tokyo with her.

The air flight to Japan didn't bother Same Song a bit, said Miss Hadley. In fact Same Song enjoys traveling, which makes her quite different from most cats who become ill when traveling.

Same Song took Tokyo in her stride and seemed to like the city, said Miss Hadley. When Miss Hadley returned to Plymouth for a vacation, Same Song came along.

The trip with Same Song, she said, had been quite uneventful except on the trip home. Miss Hadley had to get a compartment on the train coming from California, where Same Song could not get into the train.

When the Plymouthite went into the dining room, she closed the door so Same Song couldn't get out, but the conductor opened the door to find out how the cat was coming along. Same Song slipped out and sneaked into another car.

Suddenly a startled G.I., who had been taking a nap, yelled for the Siamese cat had perched on his shoulder. Except for that incident, Same Song behaved herself on the trip.

Same Song, who is used to warmer climates, appears to have adapted herself nicely to Plymouth. Five weeks ago, the Siamese cat added three kittens, Sandra, Pusan, and Tajon to the Plymouth cat population.

The three aristocratic kittens were born with white fur and blue eyes. As the kittens became older, their fur turned into a silver grey resembling their mother.

Already the kittens are showing the traits of the Siamese cats by talking or meowing a great deal.

"Siamese cats," said Miss Hadley, "are wonderful house pets." Same Song taught her kittens in one day the rules and regulations of living in a home. Now the only thing that remains to be taught to the kittens is "no jumping on furniture."

Virginia has sufficient coal reserve to maintain its current annual production for a period of one thousand years.

Through a new process, coal can be pulverized at the mine and piped directly to the plant using it.

Coal was first mined in the United States near Richmond, Va., about the year 1700.

How To Conquer Fear

JAMES M. BIRD, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, says, "If you would be sure of controlling your fears, literally burn your bridges behind you so you will have no avenue of escape. Then advance against your fears and destroy them—before they can destroy you."

By the time James was 13 years old he was six feet tall and rather frail. Standing head and shoulders above his classmates made him self-conscious and in time he developed a terrible inferiority complex.

When ever he engaged in sports he made a poor showing, and because of his not strong constitution he often suffered injury. When he a little later enrolled in a school of commerce, he brought all his worries and fears right along with him, and as a consequence, although his classmates were a friendly lot, he failed to make a single friend during the four months he was there.

It was the army that took him out of his dilemma. He worked hard and obtained a commission, believing this would help him to face the two things he feared most: people and what he thought was cowardice.

One day the test came. He went into action with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. He experienced terrifying fear time after time; his blood ran cold, his knees turned to jelly. But as he came through each experience he said to himself, "I was afraid, but here I am." And he realized anew each time that he could control his fear, and that through this fear he was really becoming a better leader of men.

Medicines, poisons and insecticides should be clearly labeled and kept out of reach of children.

Light is the task where many share the toil. —Homer

THERE'S A LEGEND that Bing Crosby is a lazy guy... Crosby himself is partly responsible for the legend, thanks to his gift for managing, with seeming effortlessness, his massive schedule of radio, movies, records and the countless business enterprises in which he has an oar...

But effortless and laziness are two different things, as anyone observing Crosby at work soon discovers...

For example, Bing's CBS radio show is sometimes cited as an example of his laziness because he tapes records in advance...

In fact, he was the pioneer in recording a network radio show... The fable has grown in some quarters that Bing tapes his show eight or ten weeks ahead so he can spend a few months hunting, fishing or, perhaps, just lying in a hammock.

It has also been assumed by members of the Crosby-is-Lazy school that Bing can round up his regular musicians and cast, plus a stageful of guest stars and do half a dozen of his radio shows at a single session...

This would be a very convenient arrangement, but for a number of reasons it just isn't done that way... The fact is that Crosby's radio schedule is as demanding as any "live" show, and in a way even more so, since the matter of editing is involved...

Generally, Crosby records one show a week, staying roughly two weeks ahead of broadcast dates. His maestro, John Scott Trotter, can whip together just so many musical arrangements...

The tape-recording date isn't set whenever Bing happens to feel like it, either... It has to be set days ahead so that calls can go out to the musicians and cast, guest stars can be engaged, a studio can be reserved and tickets printed for the studio audience...

When the day rolls around, Crosby puts in a full day, from about noon until 8:00 p.m. or thereabouts.

The show is over when taped as far as the studio audience is concerned, but not for Crosby.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Mrs. Ida Treat, Wilsonville, Neb.: I remember when father sold our farm in Webster county, Neb., and went out to Furnas county, in 1890. He bought a man's right to a timber claim. He loaded furniture and farm machinery onto a hay rack and into a covered wagon. Brother rode a pony and drove about 20 head of cattle. On the way, we met over 50 covered wagons going east and only one going west. It had been a dry year and the people were abandoning their farms and going back home in the east.

QUADRUPLE AMPUTEE... Sgt. Werner Reininger, Oakland, Calif., marines' first quadruple amputee, tries out artificial limbs at naval hospital. He is victim of Korean bullets and frostbite.

HAVOC IN WAKE OF TWISTER... Here's an airview of the extensive damage wrought by tornado which swept through Duncan, Iowa, population 100, recently. There wasn't a house left undamaged by the freak twister which caused one million dollars damage and injury to five persons.

That eternal life is gained through understanding of God is explained in Sunday's service on July 22, in all Christian Science churches. The topic of the Lesson-Sermon is Life. The Golden Text is from Romans 6:23: "The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Among the Bible citations is the passage, (Ps. 27:1): "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid?" Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "If what opposes God is real, there must be two powers, and God is not omnipotent and infinite. Can Diety be almighty, if another mightily and self-creative cause exists and sways mankind?" (P. 337).

In 1950, 512,000,000 tons of bituminous coal were produced in this country by 431,000 full time miners employed in 8,400 mines.

The 1950 weekly average production of bituminous coal in the U. S. was 9,800,000 tons.

War conditions seem to build a fire under bashful Romeos and turn the bridal path into a stampede. It happened in World War II, and has picked up again since the start of the Korean clash last year. Today there are three marriages a minute in the U.S., and the eligible males outnumber the eligible Juliets. This gives the lassies a chance to be a little choosier . . . and one adviser suggests that these questions be considered: Does he repeat his jokes? Does he criticize? Is he selfish? Of course, the big question is: When will he propose?

Italy has purchased 1,200,000 tons of American bituminous coal for the second quarter of this year, three times her purchases in the January-March period.

Coal industry teams from Belgium, England, Germany, Japan, and other friendly nations, have been in America studying U. S. mining methods.

The TVA will use from one to one-and-a-half million tons of coal for production of electrical energy in 1951.

Begin Program to Conserve Trucks

An area-wide truck conservation program designed to keep international trucks operating at peak efficiency through any emergency will be initiated July 16 by West Bros. International truck dealer here.

As part of a nation-wide truck conservation plan launched by International Harvester company, West Bros., has been established as a "truck saving station."

Free-of-charge inspection service for all international trucks in this area will be offered during a 60-day period by West Bros., 534 Forest.

"It is our aim to help ensure the Plymouth area of the continued services performed for the community by international trucks," says Bill West.

He pointed out that the program is based on truck conservation knowledge gained by International during World War II. "It is designed to meet the needs of the one-truck owner, or to supplement the facilities of the fleet owner who has his own service establishment," he said.

Mr. West pointed out that while demands on the services performed by trucks had increased greatly during the last decade, the average age of the truck population was one and a half years greater than in 1941.

"Everything the people in Plymouth eat, wear or use is handled at some time by truck," Mr. West said. "With our trucks old, on the average, and with our people placing greater reliance on their services than ever before, it is important that they be kept going at peak efficiency."

He stated that nationally, the U.S. truck fleet increased from 5.1 million in 1941 to 8.5 million through 1950. The national fleet, he continued, traveled 55 billion miles in 1941, and more than 80 billion miles in 1950.

V.F.W. News

Kay Coolman, Viola Sparkman, Marion Warner and Alba Van Meter attended the Fourth District planning conference at the Wolverine post in Detroit.

All of us have a challenge to meet. If we work together, we can win the 1951-52 membership drive which started July 1 and ends March 31, 1952. Let's bring in all those new that we've been planning to for some time. There is a district trophy and an individual trophy for the winning auxiliary.

The National Encampment takes place in New York city this year during the week of August 26-31. Mrs. Vivian Haar and Mrs. Ruth MacDonald are our local representatives to New York.

The Auxiliary to the V.F.W. throughout our land does many things that few people know about. One of the many important things down is the "Airlift Canteen" maintained at Honolulu's International Airport with the help of the Salvation Army. This is a canteen which provides warm meals, baths, and rest for those who are "laving over" on their trips to and from Japan and Korea. It was started in July, 1950.

Guy Lombardo was recently given an award by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the V.F.W. for maintaining high musical standards and for his outstanding work in bringing encouragement and entertainment to hospitalized veterans and active armed forces members.

Daisy Girls Nine Make TV Debut, But Lose 2 to 1

Making their debut on television last Saturday evening at Mack Inter-Park field in Detroit, the Daisy Girls' softball team lost a heartbreaker of a game to the Detroit Lithofolders by the score of 2 to 1.

The game was scoreless until the third inning when the Lithofolders managed to get one run across. In the fourth inning, Daisy pitcher Marlene Skelt hit a home run over the left fielder's head to tie the score.

The game was deadlocked for the regulation seven innings forcing the game into overtime. Daisy didn't score in their half of the eighth inning, but the Lithofolders used a walk and two singles to get a run in their half.

Pitcher Marlene Skelt held the Lithofolders to two hits until that fatal eighth inning when the Detroit team collected two more hits. The Daisy girls nabbed five hits.

Plymouth residents, who saw the game on their TV sets, said the Daisy girls played an excellent game of ball. Fred Wolfe, announcer for TV station WXYZ, was enthusiastic in his praise of the Daisy players. He particularly singled out third baseman Eleanor Hoelscher, first baseman Betty Ross, Marlene Skelt, pitcher, and Dolly Boutsers, the catcher.

Recreation Dept. Classes

WOMEN'S SWIMMING

Many women are taking advantage of a cool, refreshing swim every Wednesday night at the Wayne County Training School between the hours of 8:30 and 9:30. There were not enough people to fill the 9:30 class so it had to be discontinued for this time. Register now for the class beginning September 5.

Are you taking advantage of the wonderful opportunity to play golf every Thursday at Hill Top Golf Course? It's Ladies Day and the charge is very reasonable.

DAY CAMP
Every child between the ages of nine and 14 is eligible to join in the hiking, outdoor cooking, and swimming every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Kensington Park. The bus leaves Central Grade School at 9:00 and returns at 4:00. Register at your nearest playground every Monday for the entire week.

PLYMOUTH PLAYGROUNDS
Several hundred children are enjoying the interesting activities offered on any one of the three playgrounds in Plymouth. Central playground children marched through the city last Friday with the instruments they made themselves and singing their playground song which was also written by them. They are going to put on a play, July 26, which will be open to the public.

Sutherland playground participants are very happy with their new craft table. They have made some beautiful objects which will be on display at the Craft Exhibit the third week in August.

Starkweather boys and girls are trying their hand at some carpenter work. Some very fine window boxes and bird feeding trays have been turned out.

Sonderegger Funeral Home

Price Policy

"How Much Should a Funeral Cost?"

Many people in Plymouth have asked us this question—and our answer is always the same. A funeral should cost as much—or as little—as the family wants to spend—and is able to pay without straining their finances.

When a Sonderegger funeral is selected at a certain price, there are no hidden charges—no extra prices added in. Because sudden expense of any kind is a heavy burden on many of today's budgets, we offer—

*Complete funerals from as low as $200.

*Assistance in securing insurance, Social Security and veteran's benefits.

And, of course, no matter what price funeral the family selects, the service is dignified and beautiful—a memory to cherish.

Former Local Business Man Visits Plymouth

Mr. Clarence Lidgard, a former Plymouth business man, was in town this week on a visit from Arizona, where he now resides. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter. Mr. Lidgard was in the meat business with his brother, Robert, for eight years in Plymouth prior to his departure for Arizona in 1948. This is their second visit to Plymouth since leaving.

The Lidgards are now in the motel business at Tempe, Arizona, about ten miles east of Phoenix. Their facilities consist of six air-conditioned, kitchenette apartments, and 16 trailer spaces. They are located three blocks from the Arizona State College.

The motel business, says Mr. Lidgard, is a very interesting one. In that part of the country, the winter months are the chief tourist season and from November to April he seldom has a vacancy. Rates have dropped from the immediate post-war boom and Mr. Lidgard's prices compare with the average for the country.

The Lidgards moved to Arizona for reasons of health. They hoped the climate would prove beneficial to their arthritis, and says Mr. Lidgard, it has. They noticed great improvement immediately and are feeling better all the time.

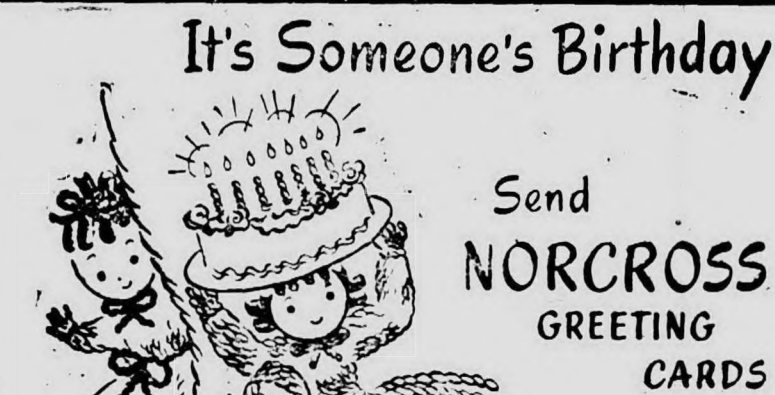

The temperature when they left Tempe was over 110 and the average for the summer months is over 100. However the humidity is much less and the heat is not as noticeable.

The Lidgards stayed at the home of Mrs. Lidgard's sister, Mrs. Felix Bourban, 829 Forest. Their oldest daughter, Carol, is hostess at the Mayflower Hotel here for the summer. On Tuesday afternoon they left for Grand Rapids and on Wednesday they began their trip home.

Hints For Plymouth Homemakers

Fricassee Chicken Tops for Picnics

Crisp, golden brown fried chicken, juicy fricasseed chicken with fluffy dumplings and barbecued chicken in a pungent sauce are all favorites. This is a good time to choose them for family dinner or picnic fare because young birds are plentiful in the market at this time of the year, at prices are relatively low.

If you are planning to entertain a large group of people, you'll need several chickens, oven-frying is a convenient method to use, according to the Food and Nutrition Service of the American Red Cross. This is really a combination of a soup and baking which yields a deliciously brown meat with a minimum of watching.

Oven Fried Chicken

Choose young chickens, broilers, fryers, or roasters. Cut into pieces for serving. In a sturdy paper bag place a mixture of 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper and 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning. Shake each piece of chicken in the bag at a time.

Drop one or two pieces of chicken in the bag at a time and bake until well coated with flour mixture. Place on rack or waxed paper to dry slightly. Save any left-over flour for making gravy. Brown the pieces of chicken in a 1- to 2-inch layer of hot oil. Drain and place in shallow baking pan. Drizzle a mixture of 2 tablespoons melted butter or fortified margarine and 2 tablespoons chicken broth for each chicken, over the top. Cook in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., uncovered, for 30 to 40 minutes or until tender. Turn pieces once during the cooking. Drizzle with a little more oil if chicken appears dry.

MEAT CUT QUIZ

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. American leg of lamb.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. As the name implies, it is the leg of lamb, corresponding to the round of beef. For this style leg, the meat is peeled back from the shank, then the bone is removed. The meat from the shank is tucked back under the fella and pinned in place.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting. It is placed skin side down on a rack in an open roasting pan. No water is added. The leg is roasted in a 300° F. oven allowing 30 to 35 minutes per pound. A roast meat thermometer inserted in the meat before cooking will register 175° F.-180° F. when the roast is done.

For Good Health Don't Pass Up Breakfast

In this jet-propelled age, all of us are plagued with speed fever. Sometimes we forget that the nightlong fast from 6 a.m. to 6 or 7 a.m. is the longest stretch between meals and the morning meal is no less important than lunch or dinner and may be the most important of all three.

Your body, like an engine, needs fuel to operate, but an engine will stop using fuel when it is not running, while the human body energy both awake and asleep. It is important to realize that the body burns fuel during sleeping hours just as an engine burns fuel when it idles. The amount of fuel burned depends on the length of time and the speed with which the engine operates.

All body activities require energy, which is supplied by food. Activities, dependent upon their extent and strenuousness, require different amounts of food energy.

If you go out for sports, such as basketball or swimming, you need more to eat than if your extra-curricular activities are confined to canasta, bridge or listening to the radio. The more physically active you are, the more energy you burn but remember that your body is burning energy even when you are at rest.

Traditionally, you eat three meals a day. Only if you eat a good breakfast can your mental and physical fitness remain at highest levels during the morning hours, which are for most people the most productive hours of the day.

A good breakfast pattern to follow is:

Fruit or Fruit Juice
Breakfast Cereal
with milk or cream
Whole Wheat or Enriched Bread and Butter
Beverage

Try Unusual Variations of Cherry Pies

Cherry pie tastes wonderful any time of the year. Even on the hottest summer day it's almost good enough to let the oven blaze away for an hour or so while the pie bakes—but that really isn't necessary. Here are two versions of cherry pie that are especially suited to warm weather. "Cherry Pie with Meringue" is baked for only 15 minutes at low temperature, and "Cherry Chiffon Pie" is not baked at all.

Cereal Crumb Pie Shell

4 cups corn flakes

1/2 cup sugar

1/2 cup melted butter or margarine

Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Add sugar and butter; mix well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of pie pan. Bake 10 minutes at 350° F. Yield: one 9-inch pie shell.

Cherry Pie With Meringue

1/2 cup sugar

3 tablespoons cornstarch

1/2 cups juice from cherries

4 cups drained sour cherries (stewed or canned)

1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

2 egg whites

4 tablespoons sugar

Combine sugar and cornstarch. Add cherry juice and butter; stir until smooth. Stir in cherries. Cook over low heat until thick and clear. Cool. Beat chilled cereal crumb pie shell. Beat egg whites until stiff; add sugar gradually, beating until very stiff. Spread lightly on top of cherries. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) about 15 minutes or until meringue is lightly browned. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

Heat, dryness and odors are three enemies of egg quality, say Michigan State college extension poultrymen.

Mid-Afternoon Refreshment

Tall glasses, tinkling with ice and filled with a delicious, bubbling beverage—what better way to revive the drooping spirits of guests or the family on warm summer days? A mid-afternoon drink, served on the porch, or any cool, shady spot, is a delightful interlude in the day's activities. A cooling drink is a welcome offering to unexpected callers and affords such a quick and easy way to bring on the refreshments.

A few cans of fruit juices and bottles of pale dry ginger ale and sparkling water in your refrigerator and you are ready for any time that a quick drink may be called for. Fresh fruits, too, peaches, cherries, berries and the citrus fruits, all come in handy for invigorating drinks. Here is a good afternoon refresher, the cherry syrup to be made ahead of time and set in the refrigerator to chill until ready to use.

Cherry Glow
1 cup chopped, ripe cherries
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon grated lime rind
1/2 teaspoon lime juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/2 cup orange juice
2 teaspoons lime juice
Sparkling Water

Combine cherries, water, grated lime and orange rind. Simmer until cherries are soft. Chill. Divide in 4 tall glasses; add orange and lime juice. Fill glasses with ice cold sparkling water. Serves 4.

Hawaiian Nectar

1 No. 2 can pineapple juice
6 limes, juice
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/2 cup dry ginger ale

Combine ingredients, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Pour over ice into 6 glasses. Fill glasses with pale dry ginger ale. Garnish with maraschino cherries in thin slices of orange. Serves 6.

Fish Are Tasty Fried Out Doors

Every fisherman knows how delicious small, freshly caught fish can be when cooked in a frying pan over an open fire. But it is not necessary to be a fisherman to have this treat. Pan-fish, fillets and fish steaks may be purchased.

Supplies for a Fish Fry for Four

1 pound fish fillets

1/2 cup cereal crumbs

1/2 cup flour mix with crumbs, and season with pepper & salt

1 quart sliced raw potatoes

Shortening or drippings for frying fish and potatoes

1 small jar pickle relish

4 medium sized tomatoes, stuffed with cole slaw

8 buttered buns

2 quarts coffee in thermos jug

Cream and sugar

Salt and pepper

1 muskmelon or 1/2 watermelon

8 ripe peaches (diced)

1 dozen home-made cookies

2 skillets

2 spatulas or pancake turners

Dip each piece of fish first in cold water, then in the crumb and flour mixture until it is thoroughly coated on all sides. This can be done by shaking each piece in the flour mixture in a paper bag. Lay it in the hot fat; brown on both sides. Watch the fire to keep the heat even and moderate.

Serve immediately on picnic plates. A pickle relish makes an appetizing accompaniment for fried fish. Include raw-mashed potatoes, buttered rolls to toast, a salad and some home-made cookies, and your picnic meal is complete.

 ELTON R. EATON

Ray Bachelder, well known Plymouth resident who is traveling through the Canadian northwest with members of his family, a few days ago tore out the first page of The Calgary Herald and mailed it to "ye editor." There was no item marked and a most careful reading of the page revealed only two articles that the touring Plymouthite might have thought there would be a local interest in.

One was a story about the decision of some Canadian judge who had ruled that a wife has a perfect right to "nag" her husband. It seems that the husband had become a "heavy" drinker in order to create for himself a shield against his wife's nagging. The court ruled, however, that his wife could keep right on nagging her husband and in addition he forced the husband who had brought the court action to sign a pledge not to drink any more hard liquor.

Maybe that wasn't the newspaper story that the Michigan tourist intended to call to our attention—maybe it was an article about the nearest lot of bucking cow ponies ever collected for the annual wild west stampee that has helped to add to the fame of the progressive western Canadian city being visited by the Bachelders. More than 300 horses have been entered for the various bucking contests and tribes of Indians from all sections of that part of North America have collected in Calgary to take part in the Calgary annual western stampee. At any rate we'll know more about it when the Bachelders return to Michigan, the state they like better than any other place in the world.

There will be plenty of argument over a statement made recently in Jack Van Coevering's column in The Detroit Free Press that "testimony of firearms experts (given before a recent meeting of the Conservation Commission) hold that shotgun slugs and buckshot are more dangerous than rifles."

The commission used this testimony, states Mr. Van Coevering, as its basis for permitting the use of rifles to hunt deer in lower peninsula counties like Livingston and other localities in this thickly populated part of the state during the forthcoming deer hunting season.

Maybe the word "buckshot" was tied in with the discussion for a purpose—as few can rightly claim that hunting deer with buckshot is not good sportsmanship. Buckshot should never be permitted to be used in deer hunting—but shot-gun slugs are something different.

There are very many who strongly affirm that the use of shot-gun slugs in hunting deer is by far the safest method in hunting deer. As a matter of fact it is doubtful if the Michigan Conservation department or the conservation department of any other state has any data which shows a single hunting accident resulting from shot-gun slugs.

This, say unbiased hunters, is due to the fact that one hunting with shot-gun slugs will never shoot at a deer unless it is within proper range and that if the hunter does not hit his target, there is little danger from the slug carrying far enough to do injury to some hunter who might be in the woods some hundred feet beyond.

Bullets shot from rifles will sometimes carry a mile or more, and no hunter knows what it might hit on its long flight.

The order of the department does not prohibit the use of shot-gun slugs or buckshot. It simply states that rifles can now be used in hunting deer in the southern portion of the state.

The commission also decided that there can be no deer hunting any place in Michigan before 7 o'clock in the morning or after 6 o'clock in the evening—and that provision will meet with the favor of all careful deer hunters.

It was good news to read that the rumor going around for some weeks that Stewart Woodfill had sold the Grand hotel on Mackinac Island is anything but the truth. Mr. Woodfill declares there is not the slightest grounds for the rumor—that he had not sold the hotel and has no intentions of doing so. To the many Michigan residents who have followed the tremendous success story of Mr. Woodfill in restoring the Grand hotel to its outstanding place as one of the world's leading summer resort hotels the statement that he intends to retain the hotel and remain as its administrative official will be good news indeed. Back some 30 or more years ago when Mr. Woodfill took over the management of The Grand, it had lost much of its fame and glamour and the vast building had been permitted to deteriorate to a point where a good sized fortune was required to restore it.

Mr. Woodfill didn't have the fortune—but he did have the common sense, the ability, the kindly way of greeting people that leaves a lasting impression of good will and a determination to make good. Using these assets to the fullest, he soon turned them into the fortune necessary to place the Grand hotel at the top of the list of all famed summer hotels in this or any other country.

He has given both Mackinac Island and the entire state of Michigan wide and favorable publicity throughout the country in more ways than one. He has been one of the leaders who helped turn the tourist tide to the Wolverine state, which now ranks far above all other commonwealths in the nation in tourist travel. And that means that tourists leave more dollars in Michigan than they do any place else in this country.

If you have never visited the Grand hotel, it would be well to do so—even if just for a day. You will come away impressed by the fact that no matter who you are or what you are, never were you treated more courteously than you were by every one associated with the Grand hotel—no matter how minor or how important his position might be.

It is good for Mackinac Island—good for northern Michigan—in fact—all of Michigan, that Mr. Woodfill intends to keep right on working to help build an even greater tourist travel to the northern part of this state than it now possesses—and that is tops.

This one says You've Arrived

HERE pictured is an automobile that may well be the fulfillment of any man's dream of a fine motorcar.

For you've a right to expect, when you pay a fine-car price, that your money will buy more distinction, more comfort, more performance than are to be found in vehicles of lesser worth.

So mark well the things that a ROADMASTER offers.

No other car on the American scene has a prouder bearing.

No other automobile has more spacious dimensions, more luxurious comfort, or finer appointments.

No other car has a ride more serenely smooth on curve or straightaway, highway or byway.

And no other car, at ROADMASTER's price or above, has Dynaflo, and the supreme command of every traffic condition which it provides.

So you, at the wheel of Buick's biggest and best, have a right to feel distinguished.

But there's a joy of possession which goes deeper than visible things.

There's the feel of a power plant as brilliantly eager as this great car's valve-in-head Fireball Engine — and the satisfying companionship of a brawny traveler instantly responsive to your every wish.

And there's one thing more, which only ROADMASTER can give you in such generous measure. That is the pride of a wise investment, based on the fact that this car stands alone in price per pound, among fine cars similarly equipped.

So why not take that very important first step—and come in and see us soon?

Equipment, accessories, tires and models are subject to change without notice.

Summer is Time to Replant Iris

Iris is one of the most hardy of flowers, apparently thriving under most adverse soil conditions. However, it does respond to root treatment. If not renovated for several years, an iris planting will become root bound and low in vitality, resulting in smaller and fewer blooms.

If you have old, root bound clumps of Iris, July is the time to dig them up, separate them and replant them. Save only the largest for replanting. Cut back the leaves leaving a fan about 6 inches long. This will decrease water loss from the plants at the time when their root systems are re-establishing themselves.

Prepare the soil to a depth of at least 10 inches by spading deeply and thoroughly. If your soil is acid, a limited quantity of lime may be used provided it is thoroughly worked into the soil. If you are planting in clumps work in two handfuls of balanced plant food; if in a row, work in one pound for each 25 linear feet.

Set the rhizomes about 8 inches apart to allow for future growth and divisions. They should not be set deeply; rather, very shallow planting is definitely necessary. Spread the roots evenly in all directions and work the soil between and around, then firm with the hands or feet.

Continue this process until about two-thirds of the rhizome is covered; leave the remainder exposed to the sun and air.

If you are in a climate where there is lots of freezing and thaw, apply a light top dressing of clean straw or similar mulch in late fall to prevent heaving of the newly planted iris.

Iris planted with plenty of space between each rhizome will need no lifting and dividing for several years. It is important, however, to feed them each year, at least in the spring.

Roses Should be Trimmed Now

Roses are not spring pruned nearly so heavily as was once thought necessary. Removal of dead wood and improving the general conformation of the bushes is now regarded as about all that is desirable for hybrid tea roses. It is necessary, however, to watch out for suckers all through the growing season and remove them as soon as they appear.

It takes practice to spot them instantly, but any unusually strong shoots from the base of a budded or grafted plant comes under suspicion. Examine it carefully and compare with other shoots. Look especially for differences in the number of leaflets, color of the stem and leaves, prevalence in size of thorns, and if that does not lead to a solution, follow it into the soil.

If it arises from below the knuckle which indicates the old bud position, it is a worthless sucker which by the time it produces its telltale flowers may have robbed the budded part of the plant of considerable nourishment. Do not cut the suckers but yank them off at the base to prevent a stub which may still have an eye to start the trouble all over again.

Climbing roses should be pruned after flowering. Those which form strong new shoots from the base should have all the old canes taken away when the new ones are at least 5 feet long. Others not inclined to form new shoots from the base, or close by, need virtually no pruning except for the removal of superfluous canes and shortening unduly long ones.

When the plant is in full vigor one old cane may be taken out for every new one coming from the lower part of the plant. Most everblooming climbers produce their recurrent blooms from the first eye below the June flower cluster so that cutting below that point will affect the subsequent display.

Roger Babson Says --

Babson Discusses "Merchandising"

New Boston, N.H., July 20, I have invested the bulk of my savings in the stocks of merchandising companies. This probably is because of the advice of my good father who once owned the leading "dry goods and variety store" in Gloucester, Massachusetts.

My Father's Advice

"Don't be a manufacturer and be dependent upon one location and one product with accompanying labor troubles. Don't be content to be always working for others. Start out by being a salesman of investments, insurance or merchandise with the ultimate goal of having a business of your own. In other words, be a middleman or shopkeeper, free to grow and to serve."

The above was my father's advice and he would sometimes add, "The live merchant who cleans up his bank loans once each year and puts half his profits back into the business can't help but succeed. But remember, Roger, that the best floor covering for a successful store consists of the footprints of the owner!"

What About Merchandise Investments?

First, I would advise a young man to have a store in a small city. Likewise, I advise investors to put their money into helping to build up a local independent store, rather than in the stock of any big department store of some large city. If you can't invest money in such a local store, then buy stock of one of the good chain stores operating in your town. It may be one of the grocery chains like the A & P, or one of the variety stores like Penney, Woolworth, Kresge, Grant, McCrory, McLellan, Newberry, Murphy or Green—although some of these stocks seem pretty high priced to buy now.

Large department stores have prospered the past few years through the sale of furniture, electric refrigerators, television sets and other household goods which are not carried by the variety stores. When, however, hard times or a crop failure come, department store sales fall off sharply; while the variety store sales often increase. Besides, having stores in many different states, as do the chains, gives the advantage of diversification both of merchandise and locality. Most such chains have excellent management and no debt. The stock of all are listed on a Stock Exchange; if you buy into one which has a store in your own community, you can keep an eye on what it is doing.

What About Inflation?

Dollars may decline in purchasing power until they reach 25 cents. If World War II should come, dollars could go even lower. Hence, it is common sense to have your money in good merchandise rather than in cash or government bonds. But, insist upon investing in those stores with an annual turnover of four to seven times a year, and which charge off to zero every article held more than one year.

The live merchant—chain or independent—has nothing to fear if he follows the above rules, using his profits to improve his store and buying only quick-selling goods. Or, he can use his profits to open another store in an adjoining community, putting in charge thereof the best clerk in his present local store. This not only makes a success of the new branch, but also serves as an incentive to all employees. Such a policy will soon make you a chain owner.

A Word to Children

Let me add a word of advice to young people—boys and girls—whose father has a good store. Learn to know and serve in your father's store. Follow my example, and work there during vacations and Saturdays. This is the way I started and today—with my savings alone—apart from my regular business of writing and advising on investments, I am the largest owner of a chain of over 200 stores, the stock of which is listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

At your father's death he can leave you a good store—free of debt and with "good will" established by extensive advertising and good service. Such a store is a safer and more profitable investment than any bonds or mortgages that your father may have in his safe deposit box. Remember what happened to the poor cow who was always seeking the green hill in the distance!

Bituminous coal mining in the United States is an industry of some 9,000 mines of commercial size located in 30 states.

Vacationists Told Wild Game is Abundant

Vacationists wanting to observe wildlife will find plenty to interest them in Michigan, although they probably will have to leave main highways to find it, conservation department game men report.

Best time for excursions to see animals is early morning or just before dark as most wildlife is more active at those times than during the middle of the day.

In northern lower peninsula and upper peninsula back trails and forests it is possible for sharp eyes to catch sight of a bear; although in spite of their size, these animals are adept at keeping out of sight. Deer are so plentiful they can be seen in numbers in most parts of the north country. In this section of the state coyotes can sometimes be glimpsed as they hunt for food.

Dams and other signs of beaver are plentiful in many northern spots but it is difficult to catch a glimpse of the big rodents themselves as they usually work after dark. The rare otter can be watched from a distance playing along streams and some lakes in the daytime by those interested enough to use the time and caution to discover them.

Snowshoe hares, so called because of their big feet constructed to hold them on top of snow, are now in their summer coats of reddish brown. Porcupines, slow-moving and awkward, give plenty of time for observation and picture-taking when they are sighted. Gray and black squirrels are among the smaller animals that attract attention in the north woods.

One of the largest areas of nesting geese can be found at Sney Wildlife Refuge in Schoolcraft county. Other waterfowl and birds are plentiful although it may take a period of quiet watching in a woodland area to spot them.

Southern Michigan game areas offer a variety of wildlife but conservation game men warn that vacationists shouldn't expect wild animals and birds to be in a particular location at a definite time like animals in a zoo.

Cottontail rabbits may be an old story to farm and suburban residents but city families find it fun to see them on a drive or hike in the country. Pheasants can be seen in meadows and farm fields.

Deer, although not as common as in the north, can be spotted in many locations in southern Michigan.

Patient watching will often be rewarded with sight of a ruffed grouse, a game bird usually associated only with the north.

Possums, coons and fox squirrels are among other animals to be seen in the southern part of the state by persons willing to stray from the beaten path.
