The service will be held at 1 p.m. in the Church of the Nazarene, 41550 East Ann Arbor trail.

Well attended last year, the 1954 World Day of Prayer observance was held at the local Salvation Army church.

Publicity Chairman Mrs. Harry J. Christensen from St. John's Episcopal church announced that the theme for this year's service will be "Abide in Me."

Guest speaker will be Mrs. B. R. Donaldson, state president of the United Church Women of Michigan. Mrs. Donaldson will have as her topic, "The Meaning of Peace." She is listed among the leaders in the international effort by Christian women to bring about world peace.

This year's production will be held at the Plymouth high school auditorium with curtain going up at 8:15 at each of the three performances. Proceeds from the show will be used for the support of the Girl Scout Lodge maintained by the local Kiwanis.

Driver Only Bruised As Car Strikes Train

A Livonia motorist escaped serious injury early Wednesday morning when his car crashed into the side of a C & O freight train at the Joy road crossing.

John Keszlering, 29205 Sunnydale, received only leg bruises, the state highway patrol reported. He told police that he was driving to work at Willow Run at 5:45 a.m. and failed to see the train across the track. After striking a freight car, Keszlering's car skidded into the train sideways and traveled down the tracks about 50 feet. Keszlering got out of his car and walked to a nearby home to report the accident.

Symphony Drive Lags

In its final stages this week the Plymouth Symphony drive looked anything but bright. Mrs. M. J. Huber, Co-chairman with Robert Wesley, said that so far the financial support and memberships are falling behind last year's totals.

With the help of the Women's Committee the Symphony Board has followed written appeals to business and industry with personal calls. Many businesses and major industry remain yet to be called.

Board members are perplexed by the fact that the orchestra is enjoying one of its best years with attendance at concerts at an all time high. "If the membership donations kept abreast of the attendance, we wouldn't have a worry," Mrs. Huber remarked. The Symphony Society has 157 members this year, about 30 below previous years.

Membership pledges may be addressed to "The Plymouth Symphony Society," P. O. Box 99, Plymouth. All concerts are open to the public without charge.

Furnace Firm Plans New Plant

Construction of a new industrial plant on South Mill street to provide more space for the growing Superior Furnace and Manufacturing company has been announced by James Hinckley, president of the firm.

"At the same time, the firm is announcing that it is offering five year debenture bonds at six percent interest to the public. Site of the proposed building is at 350 South Mill near the present Universal Stamping and Machine company.

Superior Furnace is one of Plymouth's lesser-known industries but is also one of the fastest growing. Hinckley says that the firm has increased business five times since its beginning in 1949. He adds that the air conditioning and air filtering field is expecting an expansion of 10 times its present volume.

Unlike other air condition units which operate with flowing water, Hinckley states that his firm has developed an air cooling system which can be purchased either as new units or as additions to existing furnaces and uses air for cooling. The combination heating and cooling units are one of many products manufactured at Superior which now has its offices and factory at 322 Hamilton.

Dimensions of the proposed building are 120 by 200 feet. It will be on a two and one-half acre site.

Hinckley predicts that because water and sewage facilities are becoming over-burdened, that 80 per cent of the air conditioning business in the next five years will be with air cooling units instead of water.

License Shopping Days Dwindling

With only 10 shopping days remaining before 1955 license plates must appear on all cars, the Plymouth license bureau is preparing itself for a last minute buying surge by staying open several evenings before the deadline.

The office, located at the Plymouth township hall, will be closed next Monday because of the primary election, it was announced by Mrs. Charles Root, Jr., branch manager. But on the following day, Washington's birthday, the office will be open as usual.

This Saturday, the office will remain open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturday, February 26 and Monday the 28th, hours will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

With over 6,000 plates already sold, Mrs. Root reports that the job is only a little more than half completed. The remaining buyers will crowd into the township hall during the next 10 days. This number includes licenses for passenger vehicles only.

Here are a few of the questions most frequently asked by license buyers:

"Do I need my certificate of title?" Answer: Yes, you must have the title with you.

"Do I need my certificate of registration?" Answer: The registration slip is not needed. A new one can be filled out before obtaining the license. The slip is needed, however, before obtaining commercial and trailer licenses.

"Can I cash a paycheck to obtain a license?" Answer: No, paychecks are cashed and only certified personal checks will be honored.

Aiding Mrs. Root is a veteran of license bureau work. She is Mrs. Freda Range of Plymouth who worked a number of years in the Detroit license bureau.

Injuries Caused By Snowy Roads

Four persons were injured in two accidents Saturday, the most serious occurring on North Territorial road near Curtis road. The other took place at Harvey and Blanche streets.

Luana Line, 24, of Lansing, was driving when her car skidded on the snow-covered highway and struck a tree Saturday afternoon. State police said that she suffered a lacerated left knee. Her passengers, Evelyn Line, 20, received a fractured right arm and possible fractured leg and Maxine Line, 7, suffered a possible fractured pelvis. All were taken to University hospital.

The city mishap involved three vehicles. Police said that William Elyman, 40555 Plymouth road, was driving west on Blanche and skidded into a Gould's Cleaners vehicle driven south on Harvey by George Rimer, 413 Ann street. The delivery car was thrown into an oncoming car driven by Lester Robinson, 563 North Harvey. Robinson received a head laceration, police reported.

Plan Benefit Style Show

Four Plymouth merchants will combine efforts in staging a Style Show for the benefit of the Plymouth Symphony Society on Wednesday, March 2. The event will be held at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Participating merchants are Cassidy's, Davis & Lent, D. Galin and Son, and Minerva's. All expenses for the show will be paid by the local shop owners with proceeds from ticket sales going directly into the Plymouth Symphony fund. The orchestra and related activities of the Plymouth Symphony Society are now in their ninth year.

"Spring Fashion Parade of Wash and Wear Fabrics for Men, Women and Children" will keynote the benefit show. Featured will be 60 events displaying clothing along with theme by non-professional models from the Plymouth community. Prizes will also be awarded visitors.

Miss Doris Quackenbush, home laundry consultant of the Monsanto Chemical company, will do the commentary and conduct the demonstrations during the program. Staging and lighting of the Style Show will be done by Agon Weiser of Detroit.

A string ensemble of symphony orchestra members will furnish introductory music prior to the event as well as offer selections during the intermission.

Tickets are available now at the participating stores. They may also be purchased from any member of the Women's committee of the Plymouth Symphony Society, Mrs. Harold Kellogg, chairman, announced.

Photographic equipment valued at $600 was taken last week from the John Gaffield Studio, 659 West Ann Arbor trail.

Police reported they are continuing their investigation of the theft which took place sometime after 12:30 a.m. and before 10:30 a.m. Wednesday. Entrance was gained by breaking through a door.

Among the items taken were a 4 x 5 Speed Graphic camera, a 5 x 7 enlarger, a camera case, film holders, lenses and lens shade.

Sentence Suspended

A suspended 60 day sentence and two years on probation was given Robert Anthony Graham, 5815 Globe, Wayne, who appeared in court this week to face a charge of cashing a stolen check.

Police said that Graham took the check for $67 from the cash register of Jack's Burgers and later cashed it at Davis & Lent men's store. A disorderly persons charge was filed against him. Graham had been employed at the Penniman avenue eating establishment.

Noted Schoolman George Bentley Succumbs at 79

George N. Bentley, a graduate of Plymouth high school and widely known for his interest in schools, died last Friday at Beyer Memorial hospital in Ypsilanti of a cerebral hemorrhage at the age of 79. Livonia high school was named after him.

Funeral services were held at the Schrader Funeral home here Monday afternoon with the Reverend Henry J. Welch, D.D., pastor of First Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment was in Riverside cemetery.

Mr. Bentley was a member of Livonia's Board of Education for 30 years and was nicknamed by some as "Mr. Schools." His interest in school affairs remained until his death. It was two years ago that he was honored with a testimonial dinner and was presented a scroll by the school board.

Born in Livonia on July 1, 1875, he was the son of John and Margaret Bredin Bentley. He was united in marriage with Jessie Orr on July 20, 1910. She preceded him in death in 1944. Survivors are a son, G. Nelson Bentley of Seattle, Washington; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Thomas of Chelsea and Mrs. Margaret Roubush of Detroit; a brother, Clyde of Livonia; and seven grandchildren.

After graduating from the University of Michigan in 1900, he taught at Chillicothe, Ohio for one year, at Golden, Colorado for another year and at Cripple Creek, Colorado for 12 years. One of his students at Cripple Creek was Lowell Thomas, noted commentator. He later became superintendent in the gold mining town and introduced courses in domestic science and shop and even directed Shakespearean plays.

After returning to Livonia, Mr. Bentley and his brother Clyde bought a general store on Middlebelt road. George later bought his brother's interest in the store and operated it until his retirement five years ago.

Mr. Bentley was a member of the Rotary Club of Livonia and First Presbyterian church in Plymouth. His home was at 12414 Middlebelt.

Pallbearers were Harry Wolfe, Fred Weinert, Earl Bedell, Robert Carlson, Harry Johnson and Clyde Rickert. Mrs. Edna O'Connor was organist for the service.

Polling Places Same

Voters going to the polls Monday between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. will remember that Plymouth township has but one voting precinct and Plymouth city has four.

The township polling place is at the township hall on Ann Arbor road near Lilly.

In the city, precinct 1 is at city hall, precinct 2 is at the Northside fire station, precinct 3 at the high school, and precinct 4 at Smith elementary school.

Voters not knowing what precinct they are in are advised to either call city hall or consult a neighbor who has voted.

Rotary Marking 50th Birthday

Members of the Plymouth Rotary club, along with nearly 400,000 other Rotarians in all parts of the free world (89 countries to be exact) are now celebrating the 50th anniversary of the founding of their service organization.

To commemorate the milestone and to acquaint fellow citizens with their projects, the Plymouth club has planned a celebration for Tuesday night at the high school. President L. P. McGuire, Frank Henderson as general chairman and other past presidents are working out details for the celebration.

Plymouth Rotary today has 83 members. Five of the present members are charter members, having been in the club since it received its charter 31 years ago.

The late George A. Smith was the first president and the five active charter members are Edward C. Hough, Dr. B. E. Chorppe, John S. Dayton, Carl G. Shear and Paul J. Wiedman.

It was 50 years ago when a lone young Chicago attorney named Paul Harris invited three clients to hear his proposal for a new sort of club—a club where business acquaintances could become friends. They decided to call it Rotary because they would meet in rotation at their various offices. There are now more than 8,400 clubs.

Republican Voters Must Decide

Township Opponents on Review

Who are the local candidates in Monday's primary election and what are their qualifications? Plymouth township Republicans are the only voters needing to worry about this question. Only one Democrat, Lawrence Money, has filed for township trustee. But six Republicans are competing for this office. It will be up to Republicans to select two of the six candidates to run in the April election.

The Mail has asked each candidate the same questions concerning their personal and business life. Two other questions were asked: "What do you consider to be the major problems confronting the township?" and "What would you like to see accomplished in the township if elected?"

Alton F. Frederick
Frederick lives at 45989 Ann Arbor trail. He is married, has two children and was a former die maker. Now 58 years old, he has lived in the Plymouth area 15 years. He is a high school and trade school graduate.

"I think the most urgent problems confronting the township," he states, "are the water and sewer conditions because of the rapidly increasing population." He adds that he would like to see "rigid zoning accomplished so the township will remain a pleasant place to live in."

Leslie H. Taylor
Taylor, 57, lives at 14320 Ridge road. He is a mechanical engineer and has lived in Plymouth township 11 years and in the area 23 years. He was in the service two and a half years during World War I and is a member of the Plymouth Kiwanis club.

This candidate believes that water and sewers for the township's populated areas are two of the biggest problems confronting the township and that he would like to see a good, sound zoning plan.

Ralph J. Kelley
Kelley is owner and operator of the Kelley Awning company, 2905 Puritan, Detroit. His home is at 41900 Schoolcraft road. Born in Detroit 47 years ago, he has lived at his present address since 1946. For the past two years he has been township constable.

Educated in the Detroit public schools, he is a veteran of World War II and is a member of the University Lions club since 1941. He has been a director, vice-president and is now president of the Detroit Canvas Awning association. He is also vice-president of the Ohio, West Virginia and Michigan Awning association.

Acute problems he believes now facing the township are schools, water and sewers.

Louis J. Norman
A resident of this area 35 years, Norman lives at 41681 East Ann Arbor trail. He is married and has two children. He is in the excavating business.

The candidate is a member of the Plymouth Grange, Elks club and Plymouth township fire department.

Norman, 39, believes the most pressing problems are the sewers and water. "The quicker we go to work on these problems the quicker we can have more homes, business and industry. With this will come other necessities of a good prosperous community."

In addition to sewers and water, Norman stated that he is "interested in the present administration's drive for the proper zoning and everything in regard to improvement and betterment of the township at large. We also need to enlarge the township hall to take care of future business which will soon grow beyond the present available space."

Herald F. Hamill
At 54, Hamill owns and operates a consulting civil engineering and land surveying business at 292 South Main. His home is at 47007 West Ann Arbor trail. The Hamills have one married daughter.

Hamill opened his office in this area in 1928 and has served all

Symphony Society Program

Closes with Saturday Concert

Attendance of 30 Plymouth school children at the last children's concert of the Detroit Symphony orchestra on February 12, brought to a successful close a community program started this year by the Plymouth Symphony Society.

Starting with the December 18 children's concert of the Detroit Symphony, members from the local Junior Symphony committee have been chaperoning various groups of Plymouth school children to each of the four concerts presented by the Detroit orchestra.

Purpose of the Detroit trips was to acquaint youngsters with symphonic music and to foster potential musicians among local children for the community's symphony orchestra.

Rotating among the Plymouth public schools and its two parochial institutions, the Society provided tickets for 30 school children at each of the concerts.

Members from the junior high school band and chorus as well as children from the string instrument classes at the high school also attended. The string instrument classes were started for the first time this year under the sponsorship of the Plymouth Symphony Society by the local Woman's club.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Congdon, the following Junior Symphony committee members took turns chaperoning the various groups of youngsters: Fred Nelson, Mrs. William Edgar, Mrs. James Warren and Mrs. Charles Ellis.

Programs enjoyed by local youngsters were the December 18, Christmas program featuring Caratoniist Stuart Hample, who entertained the kiddies and orchestra with illustrations to the Nutcracker Suite. On January 15 the concert program featured the "William Tell Overture" and "Carnival of Animals," with guest artist Charles Sirard on the bassoon.

The January 29 program was based on the cowboy theme with rondo for piano and orchestra. Dorothy White was featured soloist.

Winner of the Young Peoples Instrumentalist Class in Detroit was soloist for the February 12 children's concert. Program selections were "Lincoln Portrait" by Erin Copland and "Le Coq d'Or" by Rimsky Korsakov.

Dowling - Reddeman Rites Read Saturday

Baskets of white gladioli and American Beauty roses decorated Our Lady of Good Counsel church Saturday morning, February 12, for the marriage of Betsy Ann Reddeman and Patrick James Dowling, Jr. Betsy Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Reddeman of 325 Blunk. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Patrick J. Dowling, 1316 Sheridan, and the late Mr. Dowling.

The Reverend Father Francis Byrne read the 10 o'clock nuptial service.

Presiding at the organ was Mrs. Felix Cylk. Soloist for the ceremony was Mrs. Cylk's daughter, Mary Ann.

Given in marriage by her father, Betsy Ann was gracefully gowned in white Chantilly lace highlighted with touches of satin. Designed with scalloped decollete, the molded bodice featured long sleeves traditionally pointed at the wrists.

A satin cummerbund accented the waistline and the gathered skirt, caught at the sides with folds of satin forming a bustle bow, swept to a train. A lace circular cap, trimmed with iridescent sequins, secured her fingertip veil of delicate illusion.

Betsy Ann carried two white orchids on her prayer book, gift of the bridegroom's mother. Her paternal grandmother's necklace, a single strand of pearls, and tiny drop earrings were worn by the bride.

Maid of honor was Arlene Dowling, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a pink velvet gown of modified princess style with tiny matching hat and mitts of similar material. Her shoes were of a shade identical to that of her gown. A heart-shaped bouquet of roses and carnations in American Beauty red was carried by Miss Dowling.

Bridesmaids were Alice Reddeman, sister of the bride; Dolores Spanier, Barbara Cushman and Kathleen Dowling, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns were of American Beauty velvet with tiny hats and mitts of the same material and shoes in matching shade.

Bouquets of American Beauty roses and pink carnations in heart shape were carried by the bridesmaids. All wore three-strand pearl necklaces, gift of the bride.

Patrick asked William Farwell to be best man. Seating the guests were Elton McAllister, Richard Bloomhuff, Harry Benjamin and Neal Lamphear.

For the ceremony Mrs. Reddeman chose an aqua gown of lace and net with hat and accessories of matching shade. Mrs. Dowling selected a dusty rose gown of lace and silk crepe with hat and accessories of matching color. Both wore white orchid corsages.

A wedding breakfast was held at 12 o'clock noon in the Beacon Room of the Hillside Inn. Forty guests were in attendance. Following a reception was held at the V.F.W. Post home, 1426 Mill street. A large number of relatives and friends were present, some coming from Rochester, New York, former home of the bridegroom's parents.

For traveling to New York City, the new Mrs. Dowling chose an aqua two-piece knit dress with matching spring hat. Brown accessories and beaver coat completed the ensemble, together with the orchids from her prayerbook corsage.

Both Betsy Ann and Patrick are graduates of Plymouth high school. A member of the class of 1951, Betsy Ann is also affiliated with the Business and Professional Woman's club of Plymouth.

Patrick graduated from the local high school in 1949 and served four years with the U. S. Navy, in Alaska and Japan as an aviation ordnance man. Just recently he has joined the Elks club here in Plymouth.

Upon their return, the couple will reside at 670 South Harvey street, Plymouth.

Prior to the wedding date Betsy Ann was honored at two miscellaneous and one personal shower. Hostesses for the party at the home of Mrs. Russell Hoffman were Barbara Cushman, Mrs. Jean Isle and Mrs. Sven Eklund.

Mrs. Arthur Krauter and daughter, Mrs. Thomas Klatt, also entertained in Betsy's honor at their Detroit home. Hostesses at another occasion were Arlene and Kathleen Dowling and Dolores Spanier at the Dowling home on Sheridan.

The rehearsal dinner for the wedding party was given Friday evening at the Dowling's Sheridan avenue home.

Mother: "Shirley, be still! Why don't you be nice and quiet like Johnny? He isn't making a sound, and you're jumping and screaming."
Shirley: "Sure. That's our game. He's daddy coming home late, and I'm you."

Tickets for the March 26-April 3 Michigan Flower and Garden Exhibition at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit are now available locally, announced Mrs. Charles E. Nelson of the Plymouth branch, Michigan Division of the Women's National Farm and Garden association.

At a substantial reduction from those sold at the Fairgrounds gate tickets may be purchased now from either of the Beyer Rexall drugstores in Plymouth or from Mrs. Nelson, ticket chairman of the local club.

Highlighting the Detroit show will be a Parade of Flowers, an exhibit commemorating Michigan State college's centennial year and numerous floral displays by industrial corporations in the Detroit area.

The Plymouth branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association is affiliated with the Michigan Horticultural Society, sponsors of the Detroit show. A portion of the ticket proceeds will aid the local organization.

Rock Tankers Tie Dearborn Again

For the second time this season Plymouth and Dearborn swam to a 42-42 tie. Earlier in the year, the Rocks won the final event, the 200 yd. relay, to salvage the tie.

Tuesday night, February 15, in Plymouth's pool, the relay team again copped the final event to overcome a four point lead that the visitors held and bring the final score to a deadlock.

Coach John McFall got some fine individual performances from his natators, as they picked up five firsts to four for Dearborn, but the Pioneers had enough depth to make up for the extra blue ribbon Plymouth earned.

Chuck McKenna, Bill Brandell, Dave Beegle, Art Losse, plus Don Carney, Gary Wright, Beegle, and McKenna, who formed the decisive relay quartet, were the tankers who swam off with the top spots.

Dave Beegle topped the individual performances as he broke the team record he had set just last Thursday against Birmingham in the course of winning the 100 yd. freestyle. Art Losse also turned in a beautiful job in winning the diving to highlight the meet.

Bill Brandell and Gary Wright continued to thrill the spectators with their nip and tuck duels in the 200 yd. freestyle. Brandell edged out Wright by .1 of a second in the latest match as they finished one-two for the sixth time this year.

PHS's other individual first occurred in the initial event of the meet, the 50 yd. freestyle, when McKenna beat the other three swimmers to the tape. In winning the 200 yd. relay, the Plymouth foursome played it safe after gaining a big lead and finished far above their pool record for the event.

Another team record went by the boards when Jim Zukosky covered the 150 yd. individual medley in 1:49.8, but the best he could gain from his effort was a second place. A third record to fall was the standard in the 150 yd. medley relay. John Gregory, Mike Conrad, and Dennis Baker broke it.

Dearborn set the only pool record in this meet when Morrill clipped off the 100 yd. breaststroke in 1:08.2. His time erased the time of 1:08.6, set by Cy Hopkins of University of Michigan High last year.

The final tabulations of this meet: 1. 50 yd. freestyle - McKenna (P), Eissfeldt (D), Burns (D); winning time: 26.0; 2. 100 yd. breaststroke - Morrill (D), Donahue (D), Conrad (P); time: 1:08.2 (new pool record); 3. 200 yd. freestyle - Brandell (P), Wright (P), Slogon (D); time: 2:11.1; 4. 100 yd. backstroke - Ahlstrom (D), Packard (P), Gregory (P); time: 1:08.0; 5. 100 yd. freestyle - Beegle (P), Burns (D), Eissfeldt (D); time: 57.9 (new team record); 6. Diving - Losse (P), Palmer (D), Beattie (D); total points: 60.8; 7. 150 yd. individual medley - Ahlstrom (D), Zukosky (P), Rezecky (D); time: 1:47.5; 8. 150 yd. medley relay - Dearborn (Hill, Morrill, Slogon, Plymouth); time: 1:26.9; 9. 200 yd. freestyle relay - Plymouth (Carney, Wright, McKenna, Beegle), Dearborn; time: 1:44.8.

Plymouth Man's Relative Sells Rich Uranium Claim

The big profits from western uranium mining touched close to home recently as the sister of Landon Taylor, 402 Pacific avenue, sold her uranium claim in Colorado to an independent mining company for $50,000.

Mrs. Muriel Gould, of Saguache, Colorado, will also receive a 15 per cent override royalty included in the sale. The strike hit the front page of the Saguache Crescent newspaper early this month.

Staked out last July by Mrs. Gould, the initial checks on the claim made with a high-powered geiger counter known as a scintillator showed good signs of the rich ore.

In November Taylor went out and took samples of the rock by blasting and bull-dozing. The assays run by the Atomic Energy Commission in Grand Junction, Colorado, proved the ore to be quite valuable.

According to Taylor uranium mining is not as easy as it might appear. His sister, who weighs less than 100 pounds, had to tackle the arduous task of working the claim and keeping claim-jumpers away.

Mrs. Hildreth demonstrated the new method of artificial respiration. For their service project the troop voted to knit squares to be made into an afghan throw for a wheelchair patient.

The Girl Scout Planning Board, consisting of two members from each troop, has been busy making decisions for the annual Juliette Lowe Rally and also a rally for Intermediate and Senior Scouts. Dates to be reserved for Scout activities are February 19, March 6 and March 13. The Intermediate and Senior Rally will be on February 19. There will be ice skating at Newburg lake followed by refreshments and a movie at the Kiwanis Girl Scout Lodge at 4 p.m.

Each Scout and Brownie is asked to attend her own church on Sunday, March 6, marking the beginning of Girl Scout Week. The Juliette Lowe Rally will be held Sunday, March 13, in the high school auditorium. Mrs. Clifton Tillotson and Mrs. William Edgar are meeting with the planning board. Arrangements for the Juliette Lowe Rally are under the direction of Mrs. John Lodge and Mrs. Thomas Thorpe.

were served by Mrs. William Rudick. Troop 22 is happy to welcome a new co-leader, Mrs. Roman Arjay. New officers are: Linda Lar-kin, president; Mary Tess New-ingham, secretary; Celeste Arjay, treasurer; and Donna Terry, reporter. The girls are starting to make skirts at the next regular meeting.

Junior high school Scouts of Troop 14 are working for an interior decoration badge as their present project. On February 1, Mrs. Verne Steele, owner of the Cadillac Drapery company, spoke to the girls on fabrics and color schemes. She brought many lovely samples to show and told the troop a great deal about the new synthetic fabrics as well as the natural ones. On February 8, the entire troop spent the evening at the Pease Paint and Wallpaper company store. Gerald Pease talked about paint and wallpaper, color schemes and the effect color has on people. The Scouts thank both Mrs. Steele and Mr. Pease for their contributions of time and information. Mrs. Carl Wall is the leader. Mrs. E. J. Readman and Mrs. George Bauer accompanied the girls.

Robins Still Around

Why a robin which has an opportunity to go South for the winter would decide to stick around these cold latitudes is hard to explain — but there always are several individualists.

Mrs. E. Paul, 14025 Newburg road, reported that she spied a robin two days this week on her flowering crab tree. The bird was eating off the little red apples. The sighting of robins usually gives us an indication that spring is here, but seeing one in mid-February makes us skeptical.

WATCHING ASSISTANT Vice President Harry Larsen of the Plymouth branch, National Bank of Detroit make his canister contribution for Radio Free Europe is Ernest Koi of the Passage-Gayde Post, American Legion. During Freedom Week, February 12-22, the local post has set up a scroll and canister in the lobby of the Main street and Penniman avenue bank to aid the U. S. sponsored network. Plymouth residents are urged to join in the nationwide campaign to support Radio Free Europe by contributing to it financially and signing the scroll endorsing the program.

Warn Farmers of Seed Swindling As Result of Production Shortage

Because certain farm seeds will be in short supply this year, persons buying seeds during coming weeks should be careful in their purchases and read carefully the label on the seed container.

This was the suggestion of G. S. McIntyre, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The Department at Lansing maintains a seed testing laboratory for the protection of seed buyers. Last year 3,019 samples of seed were tested for germination and freedom from noxious weed seeds.

Drought conditions in certain parts of the country caused a shortage in production of some seeds last year. This was particularly so in red and alsike clover, prices of which have risen sharply. Combined with this has been heavier foreign buying, which has increased the shortage.

Each year the Department receives inquiries about bargain lots of seeds offered by some seedsmen. Often these seeds price lots are of secondary quality, as determined by germination tests. Established seedsmen and reliable elevator operators usually offer good seed at fair prices.

"Farmers," said Mr. McIntyre, "are particularly warned about certain peddlers, who have been selling seed oats. Some have taken orders for Rodney oats, a new Canadian variety. When time of delivery came, the shipper tried to switch the order to another variety with the explanation it was a better variety for Michigan growing conditions. Neither the Rodney or the substitute offered has proven its superiority in Michigan tests."

In the opinion of the Department, no Michigan grower can afford to invest in seeds without carefully reading the tag or label on the seed container.

The only sin which we never forgive in each other is difference of opinion.—R. W. Emerson.

Local Post Participates in Support of Radio Free Europe Program

The local Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion are observing Freedom week, February 12-22, for the support of Radio Free Europe by placing a scroll containing information on the program and a canister for contributions to the nationally-sponsored project in the lobby of the Plymouth branch, National Bank of Detroit.

State observance of Freedom Week will climax in the operation "Freedom Sky-Drop," a joint project of Michigan Legion posts and the Civil Air Patrol. Several Michigan cities will be showered with Crusade for Freedom materials in behalf of Radio Free Europe, the U. S. supported network which fights communism behind the Iron Curtain. Nationally, more than 1,000 Civil Air Patrol airplanes will drop Crusade educational materials on more than 200 cities.

The materials, supplied for the Crusade by the American Heritage foundation, include souvenir replicas of the Freedom Bell medallions dropped in the captive countries; Freedom scrolls for individual signatures of 44 persons; envelopes in which contributions can be mailed; and reprints of the January, 1955, Reader's Digest article "Balloons Over the Iron Curtain."

Said Michigan Legion commander Lundgren, "To most of the 70,000,000 people in the slave states Crusade for Freedom provides the only voice of truth. From the powerful transmitters

First Senior Mixer

A large turn-out of seniors made the first senior mixer of the year a big success. Approximately 85 upper classmen attended the annual party.

Tolly Barias and Wayne Smith, under the supervision of Mrs. Freda Case, senior adviser, arranged the February 8 mixer. The co-chairman engaged Chet Finney and his orchestra to furnish the music for the square and round dancing.

of Radio Free Europe and leaflets dropped by the Crusade's balloons they learn the facts about their Communist captors and the free world.

"Day after day, hour by hour, these voices are reassuring them that their religions, their native cultures and their struggle for freedom is being kept alive by free men beyond the Iron Curtain."

"Effective proof that the Crusade for Freedom is piercing that curtain is expressed in the words of Lt. Jarecki, the Polish jet pilot who escaped in a Russian MIG: 'There are three things the Communists could not kill; what mother said about God and Poland, what one's heart dictates, and what Radio Free Europe tells us.'"

The Crusade for Freedom is supported entirely by 'Truth Dollars' contributed by the people of the United States. 'Freedom Week' and 'Freedom Sky-Drop' are intended to dramatize the appeal and the effect of Crusade for Freedom.

Mr. Knapp was born in Canada July 8, 1869 and lived most of his life on a farm in Sanilac county. Eight years ago he moved to Plymouth, making his home with his daughter. Six of his years in Plymouth were spent as an employee of the Mayflower hotel until he was forced to retire for reasons of health.

His wife, Edna, preceded him in death in 1929. Mr. Knapp is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Ernest Wilson and Mrs. Ada Adam of Plymouth, and Mrs. Otto Baughman of Redford; five grandchildren, seven great grandchildren, other relatives and many friends.

Mr. Foerster was born May 10, 1880 in Germany. At the age of 14 he came to America where he spent his early years in Pennsylvania. In 1909 he married Julia Fisher.

Mr. Foerster came to Plymouth from Detroit in 1933. A former Ford Motor company employee, the deceased had been engaged in farming at the time of his death. He was also a member of the Farm Bureau.

Students Learn Latest Methods of Freezing Food

Fourth and sixth hour home-making classes of Plymouth high school witnessed a demonstration on the latest methods of freezing foods Wednesday, February 9.

Arrangements for the event were made with Mrs. M. L. Kirchoff of Kirchoff Implement company, Ann Arbor road, to have Miss Norma Urtz, home economist of International Harvester of Toledo, Ohio, as the demonstrator. Miss Urtz showed the students how to freeze citrus fruits, baked goods, meats and other fruits and vegetables. She also pointed out that freezers are a big convenience but not always a big economy. They should be used as a checking account, not as a savings account.

Food to be well preserved must be packaged so it is moist and vapor proof. She demonstrated wrapping food for freezing the proper way.

Miss Urtz commented on the most popular freezing wrappers on the market and showed ascorbic acid, a flavor-saving powder used for fruits.

Miss Urtz said in reference to foods put into the freezer, "The flavor you put in is the flavor you pull out." She continued by saying that sometimes people put old, tough green beans in the freezer hoping that the freezer will tenderize or improve the beans. It won't, Miss Urtz emphasized.

Girls in the Homemaking classes interested in taking home economics in college then interviewed Miss Urtz, a recent graduate of Cornell University.

Debaters Win Loop Title

After four years of drought, Plymouth High School's debating team surged into the fore on the strength of its 6 win-2 loss record in the Interlakes debating league.

This year makes the first time that Plymouth has been crowned league champ, since its entry into the new loop in 1951. The local debaters are now eligible for the regional competition to be held at Jackson the week of February 21-28.

Plymouth's team of four members was awarded a recognition plaque as league champions by the Detroit Free Press under the auspices of the Michigan High School Forensic Association.

The topic debated this year by state high schools was resolved: That the Federal government should initiate a policy of free trade among nations friendly to the United States.

Speaking for the league victors from PHS in the affirmative were Tom Rowe and Barbara Smith. Negative debaters were Tom Sawyer and Karl Wehman. The debating coach is Mr. Carl Kranish, speech teacher.

Attempt To Raise Marten Population

Ontario wildlife officials shipped a second pine marten to Michigan late last week. The animal was a female and is being housed at Cusino wildlife experiment station in the upper peninsula. The station also has an adult male marten, captured in Ontario earlier.

Michigan game workers hope to establish a colony of the rugged little tree-living furbearers somewhere in the wilds of the upper peninsula.

The marten was a resident of northern Michigan before civilization pushed him out. However, because Michigan's northern forest area is growing up again, game workers think it may be possible to re-establish the marten here.

At present, he is found in a number of remote areas of North America. The two Ontario martens were captured in the region north of Lake Superior.

A bayou on the Grand River near Lamont is open for anglers to take any kind or size of fish to reduce winter kill losses. Fish in the bayou are threatened with annihilation because of a shortage of oxygen in the water.

Conservation department director Gerald E. Eddy signed an emergency order opening the bayou early this week. It was the first winter kill problem reported this season.

Hunters are warned that game hunting report cards must be in the mail by February 15. The cards are summarized annually to give an appraisal of the season. License buyers who fail to report — whether they hunted or not — are guilty of a misdemeanor.

Tax Books to Close

This is the last call to pay 1954 taxes at the township and city halls, it was pointed out this week by treasurers of the two areas.

Tax records will be taken to the Wayne county building at the end of this month, meaning that late tax payers will have to journey to Detroit if they want to pay their taxes. The tax deadline has actually gone by here and a four per cent penalty will be imposed, but records will remain in the treasurer's offices until February 28.

Merchants to Get Break As Freight Costs Ease

Reductions in express rates of 25 per cent and as high as 35 per cent to many points, on apparel and accessory items moving from New York, N. Y. and Jersey City, N. J. to all points in the United States are now in effect, it has been announced by Leonard Millross, agent of the Railway Express Agency.

The rate slashes mean reduced transportation expense for both independent and chain-operated retail specialty and department stores in this area receiving apparel shipments weighing 125 pounds or more from New York, the nation's major apparel manufacturing center, the express agency representative stated.

The new low rates cover items of wearing apparel, footwear, gloves, handbags, hosiery, men's furnishings, mittens, and purses, but do not include millinery or men's hats. The rates apply on shipments weighing 125 pounds or over.

Specifically, the new rates are 25 per cent below the first class rates on shipments weighing from 125 to 299 pounds, and 35 per cent below first class rates on shipments weighing 300 pounds and over.

The 100-pound rate which now applies from New York to Plymouth on wearing apparel shipments from 125 to 299 pounds is $5.95 compared with $7.94 previously, a 25 per cent reduction.

Under the new express rates, shipments may include related advertising matter when its weight does not exceed 10 per cent of the gross weight of the shipment.

The new rates, the local express official announced, are the result of extensive studies by Railway Express Agency to increase its volume and at the same time better serve shippers and receivers of apparel and accessory items.

In adapting this new tariff to the needs of those expected to make greater use of express service, the Agency had the benefit of the counsel and cooperation of many apparel shippers and receivers, particularly the Women's Apparel Chains Association, Inc., New York, represented by its president, Milton M. Frith, and its traffic consultant, John V. Hoey.

neighboring towns in a professional capacity at one time or another. He served as Livonia's township engineer from 1937 to 1950 and as Livonia city engineer from 1950 until present. His parents came to Plymouth in 1912 and the candidate is a graduate of Plymouth high school and the University of Michigan where he received his engineering degree.

Hamill has served nine years on the Plymouth board of education (1930-39), on the Plymouth Recreation commission and was Plymouth municipal judge. He is a member of the Plymouth Rotary club and is past master of the Plymouth Rock Lodge of Masons. "In my opinion, the major problem confronting Plymouth township at the present time is the extension of sewer and water facilities to populated areas, in such a manner and upon a basis that people can afford."

William C. Webber

Webber, at 73, is the only incumbent candidate running for trustee. He served in two capacities, as justice of the peace and township board member, from 1932 to 1953. In 1953, when the two offices were separated, he was elected as trustee.

Born in Redford township, Webber graduated from Plymouth high school and has farmed all his life. He has been on the farm at 14985 Sheldon road for 58 years and is now semi-retired. Webber believes that the major problem confronting the township is to "keep taxes down where they belong and to still get things really needed. We should keep out of debt."

Speaking of things he would like to see accomplished, Webber stated, "I think we are getting along pretty good right now."

Speaks At Hi-12

Members of the Plymouth Hi-12 club heard Dr. J. O. Kinnaman, one of the foremost archaeologists in the nation, speak at their weekly meeting Wednesday night at Arbor Lill.

Dr. Kinnaman, who has nearly 50 subjects on which he speaks, talked about "King Tut and His Relation to the Bible" at the Hi-12 appearance. He illustrated his lecture with slides.

The speaker has spent 52 years in the archaeological field but is also an ordained Presbyterian minister. His familiarity with New Testament Greek has made him one of the leading researchers. He points out that many findings in the desert substantiate Bible stories.

Dr. Kinnaman is a member of many learned societies and has written books called "Diggers for Facts" and "The Great Pyramid."

Madonna Pupils Start Teaching

With the opening of the second semester a number of Madonna College students have embarked on their directed teaching program in both public and parochial schools in the vicinity.

Under the guidance of co-operating teachers these "student teachers" spend the afternoon of each school day in the assigned classroom. During the course of the semester, they will be given opportunity to observe the teacher in action, to make and carry out lesson plans, to conduct individual classes and finally to take full charge of the class.

Joyce Kubick of Plymouth has been placed in the sixth grade at Bird Elementary school with Mrs. Mable Bloxson as her co-operating teacher.

Patricia Kaspzyk of Detroit, under the direction of Mr. Carroll Blair, is in the eighth grade at Rixey Junior high school, Livonia. Also at the same school in other eighth grades are Alice and Rose Wolak of Detroit, under the guidance of Mr. Kenneth Cogswell and Mrs. Florence Eveland respectively.

Also fulfilling their directed teaching requirements are 10 student-Sisters who are spending their afternoons at St. Michael's and St. Valentine's schools, in Livonia. They are Sister M. Denice, Sister M. Edith, Sister M. Leonita, Sister M. Michaela, Sister M. Pauline, Sister M. Lauratana, Sister M. Agnesine, Sister M. Rosalette, and Sister M. Miranda.

The people who smile often have more friends than the people who frown.

Riverside Church of God Opens Drive for Building

A building fund campaign for enlargement of the Riverside Park Church of God, Plymouth and Newburg roads, opened last Monday night and will be highlighted by a Loyalty Dinner this Saturday, it was announced this week by the Reverend E. B. Jones, pastor.

It was six weeks ago that the congregation voted to begin a fund campaign for a church addition to meet the pressing needs of the community. They authorized the trustees to secure the services of the Mid-Century building committee of the Church of God, Anderson, Indiana. Reverend Cecil Brown and Reverend Charles Weber are the co-directors.

Trustees met immediately and selected chairmen for seven committees: general chairman, Walter Majors; publication, Gerald El-ston; listings, A. N. Wilburn; evaluation, John Proctor; solicitations, William Pryor; Ladies
Brigade, Irene Robinson; Loyalty
Dinner, Howard Harder; and follow-up and monitoring, Clayton McNamara.

The Ladies Brigade has already been active. They have conducted the mailing of three letters, a brochure and invitation to the Loyalty Dinner. Elston has completed an informative brochure which is available to any interested party. The evaluation committee has estimated the potential giving of the members.

The Loyalty Banquet will be held at the Newburg Methodist hall and will be furnished by the church. The listings committee has prepared names and addresses of all members, church school
members and friends of the church who have not yet become associated with a church in the community.

Last Monday, Reverend Weber met with all building fund workers and with individual committees throughout the week. This Sunday he will conduct a dedication service at 10 a.m. A luncheon will be held and a visitation completed in the afternoon. On Sunday evening, at 7:30, a film will be shown.

Members and friends of the church are asked to prepare for a visit Sunday afternoon or Monday or Tuesday evenings, February 21 and 22.

Theme of the campaign is "Let Us Rise Up and Build." Anyone desiring information concerning the campaign can call Reverend Jones at Plymouth 2775 or Walter Majors, Livonia 4264.

Organic Club Meets Saturday

The Wayne County Organic and Farming club will hold its regular monthly meeting Saturday evening, February 19, at 8 o'clock sharp in the Romulus township fire hall on Middlebelt road, one-half block south of Ecorse road. Meetings are held the third Saturday of each month.

Speaker for next Saturday will

Madonna Campus Life Presented Via Series of Speeches, Lectures

In keeping with the purpose of making the public aware of the significant aspects of Madonna college, the recently established
Public Relations Committee
(PRC) sponsored three major activities in the past weeks.

A PRC Social, held on February 13, enabled high school seniors from both public and parochial schools of the vicinity and the Detroit area, to express their opinions on higher education, to discuss the advantages of the small college, and to answer the questions put forth by the committee members. The discussion period was followed by a tea and a guided tour of the building and campus.

February is Americanism month. Is your Americanism showing? Americanism is many things. It may be the simple expression of one's feelings for America, shown by giving the Pledge of Allegiance and by the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner. But these two actions, done with a considered appreciation of the full meaning of both, involve so many things that the expressions are no longer simple, but are entwined with the traditions and heritages which brought up these symbols. Americanism

chairman Robert Wilson and Fern Burleson urge all Post and Auxiliary members to attend their respective meetings and participate in their programs. Americanism is one of the underlying fundamentals of the American Legion.

At the regular business meeting of the Passage-Gayde Post on Wednesday evening, February 9, William Langmaid gave an informative discourse on the Civil Defense program in the Plymouth area. He stated that the Post would be aiding the program immensely if the Legionnaire in each family would enlist his name to the CD program, to be called upon to serve in case of an emergency. Every Ex-GI has some knowledge of first aid, rescue work, corpsman duties, etc., from his military service, knowledge which, when combined with efforts of others, would constitute a solid civilian defense program.

Due to the inclement weather
last Thursday, the Auxiliary postponed their regular business meeting to Tuesday evening, February 15 at the usual time and place.

Legionnaires and Auxiliary members are reminded that the Freedom Scroll circulated by the Passage-Gayde Post, is located in the National Bank lobby at the corner of Main and Penniman.
Pass the word around and let's fill the canister that is up there!

All Legionnaires, especially the new members, are asked to keep the evening of Wednesday, March 16, reserved for the joint meeting of the Post and Auxiliary. At this meeting, the birthday of the American Legion will be celebrated, the main feature of the celebration being the initiation of the new members.

Rotary International Celebrates 50 Years of Service

Plymouth Club Joining World-wide Observance

Plymouth Rotary's 83 members will next week join 400,000 other Rotarians in 89 nations to celebrate the 50th birthday of their service organization.

A program has been planned for Tuesday night at which the local organization will commemorate the founding of Rotary on February 23, 1905. They will also look back on their own history which started on the night of March 6, 1924. This makes the Plymouth Rotary club 31 years old.

Dr. Edward Lee of the Wayne Rotary club was appointed by the Rotary district governor to form the Plymouth club. He met with a number of Plymouth businessmen and it was decided to organize. Twenty-three men signed up and Rotary International accepted their application on March 10. District Governor Paul King presented the charter to the club on Charter Night, April 27, 1924 and Judge Arthur Tuttle made the principal address.

Officers and charter members of the club were George A. Smith, president; Edward C. Hough, vice-president; William Wood, secretary; Sidney Strong, treasurer; Frank Rambo, sergeant-at-arms; Fred Schrader, Edgar Bennett, Fred Dibble, Charles Mather, Otto Beyer, Jesse Hake, Carl Shear, Harry Lee, Calvin Whipple.

Dr. R. Edward Cooper, Roy Parrott, Dr. B. E. Champe, Lawrence B. Samsen, Paul J. Wiedman, Harry Lush, John Dayton, Harry Robinson, and William Pettigill.

Still active among these charter members are Hough, Dayton, Shear, Wiedman and Dr. Champe. The club held its first meetings in the basement of the Pennington-Allyn building and later moved to the old Masonic dining room, then the new Masonic Temple, to the high school auditorium, the Lutheran church and finally the Mayflower hotel after its completion in 1927.

"Service above Self" still remains as the Rotary spirit. One of the early activities attempted by the club was that of making a house-to-house canvass of the entire community and surrounding area to find crippled children and to arrange for their proper care. Since that time, a county and state society has been brought about and the Rotary club is still donating time and money to the cause.

Another early activity was the sponsorship of a Boy Scout troop. Sidney Strong first led this movement and the troop remains today as one of the most active in the city. The Decathlon Meet at the high school was another event sponsored regularly by the club.

George Smith, the late superintendent of Plymouth's schools, led a movement to establish a Student Loan Fund through which many students have been assisted financially to secure a college education.

Fostering friendship between city dwellers and their rural neighbors has been another project of Rotary. Each year a meeting is held at which members invite rural members of the community.

Another opportunity to promote the community came when a movement was started to build a community hotel in Plymouth. Every club member served on a committee and when the drive was over, nearly a quarter million dollars was subscribed and the Mayflower hotel came into being in 1927. It has been the home of Rotary club and many other service clubs ever since.

When Father Frank LeFevre was club president in 1935-36, he conceived the idea of making some member of the high school senior class a Junior Rotarian. This has been the custom ever since and two senior boys are Rotary guests for a month's period.

A lighted football field for Plymouth was also another project promoted by the club. The fund campaign started in 1947 and money raised by Rotary and another sum contributed by the Athletic department paid the $20,000 cost.

Thirty-two presidents have served the Plymouth Rotary which is now in its 32nd year. Their names and dates of their terms of office are:

George Smith, 1924-25; Edward Hough, 1925-26; Dr. B. E. Champe, 1926-27; William Wood, 1927-28; Carl Shear, 1928-29; Allan Horton, 1929-30; Edward Gayde, 1930-31; Reverend Walter Nichol, 1931-32; Charles Bennett, 1932-33; Cass Hough, 1933-34; Lynn Felton, 1934-35; Father Frank LeFevre, 1935-36; Fred Sabom, 1936-37; John Blickenstaff, 1937-38; Andrew Dunn, 1938-39; Floyd Eckles, 1939-40; Glenn Jewell, 1940-41; Russell Daane, 1941-42; A. Blake Gillies, 1942-43; Garnet Baker, 1943-44; John MacLachlan, 1944-45; Rolf Smith, 1944-45.

Harold Curtis, 1945-46; Charles Brake, 1946-47; Paul Wiedman, 1947-48; Edward Gardiner, 1948-49; Frank Henderson, 1949-50; Robert Willoughby, 1950-51; David Mather, 1951-52; Frank Arlen, 1952-53; Lewis Goddard, 1953-54; and L. P. McGuire, 1954-55.

HEADING PLYMOUTH'S Rotary club as the international organization observes its 50th year are these seven officers and directors. Seated, from left, are: Evered Jolliffe, secretary; L. P. McGuire, president;

Dave Galin, vice-president. Standing are Louis Goddard, Russell Isbister and Harry Draper, directors; and Don Sutherland, treasurer.

This is How Rotary Had Its Start 50 Years Ago

Fifty years ago, on February 23, 1905, a small group of Chicago businessmen met to form a new club. Today, there are 8,431 such organizations with 396,000 members.

Rotary was the dream of a man named Paul Harris, a Chicago attorney who decided on the name of "Rotary" because members met, in rotation, at their various places of business.

His idea was born one day in 1900 when he dined with a lawyer friend. Harris had been in Chicago four years but still knew very few people. So after the dinner, the friend took Harris for a walk and he was impressed by the fact that his friend stopped at several stores and shops in the neighborhood and introduced him to the proprietors, who were his friends.

Paul Harris' law clients were business friends, not social friends but this experience set him to wondering why he couldn't make social friends out of at least some of his business friends — and he resolved to organize a club which would band together a group of representative business and professional men in friendship and fellowship.

For the next several years he devoted a great deal of time to reflection on conditions of life and business, and by 1905, he had formulated a definite philosophy of business relations. Talking it over with three of his law clients — Silvester Schiele, a coal merchant, Gustavus Loehr, a mining engineer, and Hiram Shorey, a merchant tailor — he decided, with them, to organize the club he had been planning since 1900.

On February 23, 1905, the first meeting took place and the nucleus was formed for thousands of Rotary clubs later organized throughout the world. Almost every member had come to Chicago from a small town and in the Rotary club they found an opportunity for the intimate acquaintanceship of their boyhood days.

When Paul Harris became president of the club in its third year he was ambitious to advance its growth and to extend the Rotary movement to other cities because he was convinced that the idea of the Rotary club could be developed into an important movement.

The second Rotary club was founded in San Francisco in 1908. By 1910 when there were 16 clubs, it was decided that they should be united into an organization which would extend the movement to other cities and serve as a clearing house for the exchange of ideas.

Representatives of the clubs met in Chicago in August 1910 and organized the National Association of Rotary Clubs. When clubs were formed in Canada and Great Britain, making the movement international in scope, the name was changed in 1912 to the International Association of Rotary Clubs. In 1922 the name was shortened to Rotary International.

Paul Harris was the first president of the National Association and first president of the International Association.

When he died in January 1947, he was president emeritus of Rotary International.

Rotarians Adopt Four-Way Test Of Its President

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOOD WILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

These 25 words were written in 1932, during the depths of the depression, by Herbert J. Taylor of Chicago, who is President of Rotary International during its Golden Anniversary year. Assigned by creditors to save a company from bankruptcy, he found that debts were $400,000 more than its assets. His company made a good product but so did its competitors and they had the added advantage of being in a strong financial condition.

Faced with tremendous handicaps, Mr. Taylor decided that in order to succeed he must develop in his organization something which his competitors might not have in like amount. That was the character, dependability and service-mindedness of his personnel. As a yardstick by which everyone in the company could measure their relations with others, he developed the four questions known around the world today as the "Four-Way Test."

Its adoption in checking plans, policies and advertising, marked the turning point in the company's history. The debt-ridden enterprise became a successful enterprise, worth more than two million dollars. Intangible dividends from the use of the "Four-Way Test" were even greater than the financial ones. Happier relations, based on mutual trust and confidence, resulted between the company and its customers, suppliers and competitors.

The story of the "Four-Way Test" does not end with its success in one company. Other companies and individuals found that it could be made to work successfully for them, and Rotary International brought it to the attention of Rotary Clubs around the world as a means of furthering the vocational service phase of the Rotary program. Translated into a dozen languages, the "Four-Way Test" is now being used not only in offices and factories, but in schools and in legislatures, as an effective measuring device for business and personal conduct.

FIVE YEAR SIX-PER-CENT BONDS

A rapid growth in the air conditioning, heating, and air filtering industry has taken place during recent years, and authorities predict that sales in this field will be tripled during the next 10 years.

At Superior we have already felt the impact. Since our beginning in 1949 our business has increased FIVE-FOLD. Each year we have shown a profit.

Needless to say, we must expand to maintain this pace and keep abreast of the demands in residential, industrial, and commercial air conditioning, heating, and filtering systems. In addition to a larger plant with twice the floor space, we shall need additional working capital for this rapidly expanding field.

Because our business has grown in Plymouth with local employees, we are turning first to the citizens of this area with this unusual investment opportunity. It is our desire to help the community grow by employing more people and at the same time ask the community to help us grow by investing in our future!

To achieve this goal we are offering FIVE YEAR DEBENTURE BONDS AT SIX PER CENT INTEREST.

We invite your inquiries and ask that they be directed to

OUR SLIP showed badly last week as two bits of mis-reporting popped-up in our column! First off we called Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kidston's attorney son "Marlowe." Well, as most everyone knows, it's Alan—his wife's name is Marlowe and as we stated last week she was just admitted to the Illinois State Bar and also became a full-fledged lawyer. Secondly, we said young David Finney, MSC sophomore son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Finney of Arthur street, was elected secretary of an English fraternity. He's an engineering student—thus it's an engineering frat!

LAST WEEK Shirley Carter made the newspapers, both in Hillsdale and Detroit. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carter of Pacific, Shirley is a student at Hillsdale and quite a swimmer. Recently, with two team mates, she broke just about every pool swimming record on hand at Bay City Junior college. The trio handed the 20-member Bay City team a sound trouncing—all alone! Shirley broke the 40-yard freestyle and breast stroke records and helped set a new 120-yard relay record.

FROM MESA, Arizona comes word from the Robert Jolliffe who are enjoying the opportunity to relax after a pleasant trip to Hawaii.

THE ELMER MENDES write from Melbourne Beach, Florida that they are enjoying the fishing at the "trout capitol of the world." They also enjoy getting The Mail and "keeping in touch" with local doings. They'll be there until the middle of May, says Mr. Mende.

PLYMOUTHITES on the Michigan State college honor roll for the fall term are Kay Frances Ingram, Lawrence G. Kemp, Gladys Witt and Mary Anne Witwer.

A THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK: Example has more followers than reason.—Christian Bovee.

The Railroads —

Our No. 1 War Asset

AMERICA is committed to a policy of doing all it can to prevent a war. Simultaneously it is maintaining as far as possible the kind of economy that has in the past given us superiority in time of war.

No one who has lived through two major wars and Korea can dispute the great contribution to them by the railroads.

Despite all modern developments of other means of transportation, the fact remains that the vast bulk of war materials and personnel must be moved on rails.

The stepped-up production of heavy goods required by war is possible only with a network of railroad systems operating at full efficiency.

America has that network. America should give full thought to assuring that full efficiency.

Handful of Plymouth Men Engage in Hobby Of Building, Piloting Gas Model Airplanes

Shades of the Wright Brothers at Kittyhawk! Only this time in miniature.

A handful of local men engage in the interesting past-time of flying gas model airplanes as a hobby. Nearly every Sunday afternoon they gather at a picnic spot on Northville road overlooking Phoenix lake to pilot their small heavier-than-air craft.

From the ground, with the aid of 70-foot braided guide wires, these pilots maneuver their tiny models through a regular air show. Included in the high-speed stunts are loops, figure eights, and upside-down flying.

For final thrills and at no little risk to their planes, two of the flyers may even stage a dog-fight.

On arriving at the "airbase" a visitor's tour would consist of seeing the planes gassed-up, the flying lines connected, and the pilot ready himself for the take-off in the center of the large flying field.

Then the mechanics start the one-fifth horsepower engine, with the aid of one cell from a regular automobile battery. The engine is revved up a few times, and the proper gas mixture reached.

Finally the small model is held a few feet off the ground and the pilot raises it into flight at the edge of the circle. With their two-and-one-half ounce fuel tanks, the miniatures fly as long as eight minutes.

Engines conking out or exhausting the fuel, bring about the landings, which can sometimes end up in topsy-turvy fashion on the rough ground.

Ranging in age from 13-year-old Bobbie Vos to W. D. Cowger, 47, the group includes Sheldon Baker, Glenn Cowger, Paul McBride, Don Stout, Ozzie Teachworth, and Jerry VanTassel. All of the older men live and work near Plymouth.

VanTassel, shoe repairman at Fisher's Shoe store and a retailer in model building kits and accessories, is the unofficial leader of the group, and it is from him that the other men get their materials.

W. D. Cowger, builder of three models, got interested in this past-time with his son, Glenn, about 10 years ago, and found it so much to his liking that he didn't give it up.

Cowger feels that the biggest expense is in the time spent in building the models properly, and not in the 25-dollar average price for the kit and engine.

Two members of the group have carried their interest further than just the model airplane stage. Although neither Don Stout nor Glenn Cowger hold flying licenses, both can pilot a real plane.

Sheldon Baker, tool-maker at Daisy Air Rifle, developed his liking when he was a boy, building rubber-band models. Then when his own two sons took up the hobby a few years ago, he helped them and renewed his own interest for the sport.

Baker remembers when the group used to fly any place in the park that was clear, until the park officials chased them out. The resulting complaints caused the present site to be loaned to them for their use.

A move is now under way to get permission to use the grounds behind the high school, which will give the younger boys, interested in the hobby, a better chance to participate.

Baker's feelings on his hobby reflect the usefulness of the sport. "It is not just a toy, there's a lot of skill involved in it," he said. "It could be a great aid in combating juvenile problems."

Old Railway Employees Plan Party in Ypsilanti

The annual mid-winter party for the old Detroit, Jackson and Chicago Electric Railway that ran through Plymouth and Northville for many years will be held at the Plythean Castle Hall on South Park street in Ypsilanti, Saturday evening, February 19, at 8:00 p.m.

A short business meeting will be held to elect a new vice-president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Fred Barker of Sheldon. Included in the meeting are motion pictures.

There are about 20 of the old employees still living in and around Plymouth, and many members from out-state are expected to attend.

Grange Gleanings

We had a nice party last Saturday night at the hall with quite a variety of games being played at the various tables. We hope to have another party in March so be ready.

Art and Angie Blunk are leaving this week for a few month's stay in Florida.

Mrs. Evelyn Fisher left on Sunday by plane for a visit with her son and his family in Arizona.

Mr. Hodge is improving every day. Feels fine, he says.

Tonight is Grange night as all of you know so we hope to see a good attendance. A speaker is expected.

Advertising is known by the company it keeps.

AVERAGE PRICE of these models is about twenty-five dollars, which includes the engine, and would take two weeks to build properly. Exhibiting their workmanship from left to right above are Paul McBride, W. D. Cowger, Ozzie Teachworth and Bobbie Vos. The model engines are started with the aid of one cell from a regular automotive battery and are fueled with a mixture of castor oil for lubrication and a combination of alcohol and gasoline.

Scout Troop Has Court of Honor

Nearly 135 boys, leaders, parents and friends were present when Boy Scout Troop P-3 and Explorer post held their sixth annual pot luck supper and court of honor during National Boy Scout week.

These groups are sponsored by the Plymouth Rotary club and meet in the Starkweather school. Six years isn't too long to be holding suppers, but the troop is finishing its 27th year of life and its Scoutmaster, Ferris J. Mathias, is completing his 22nd year as troop leader.

Mrs. Mathias was in charge of the supper. This was followed by a Scouting program at which Assistant Scoutmaster Steven Verish showed colored movies of the troop's camping trips during the past year. James Hardiman, youth work chairman of Rotary club, extended the club's good wishes.

The awards for advancement were in the hands of committeeman Clayton Luther. His court included committeemen Kenneth McMullen, Ray Heldreth, Claude Eaton, Alex Yoeman, Explorer coordinator J. J. Huddleston and Field Commissioner S. D. Strong.

The lengthy list of Scouts and Explorers receiving recognition showed a cross-section of the advancement program of Scouting. There were five second class ranks conferred, nine first class, seven Explorer apprentice and 70 merit badges given to 16 boys. Three troop leaders and five troop committeemen. Six Explorers were advanced to Stark rank. Perfect attendance pins for the past year were awarded to two boys for their first year, four boys for second year and one for his third year.

WITH SO MANY planes going up and coming down the inevitable had to happen. This model was landing when the rough snow tripped it up and threw it into a series of somersaults. It finally ended up on its nose, but fortunately was not seriously damaged. THE PILOTS become quite adept at handling their small craft and can stage dog-fights, and fly them through an intricate series of maneuvers including loops and figure eights.

Coed Tells Rotary Of Native Liberia

Miss Cora Gibson, daughter of the late Liberian minister of education, and a student at Cleary Business college in Ypsilanti, was the guest speaker last Friday noon before the Plymouth Rotary club.

The speaker reviewed the history, geography, economic and social life of her native land located in northern Africa. Liberia was colonized in 1824 by a number of freed American Negroes with the aid of the American Colonization Society. They founded the city of Monrovia, named after President James Monroe. It is now the nation's capital.

Miss Gibson pointed out the similarities between Liberian and the U. S. governments. "With nearly 3,000,000 people now living in the country, the chief language is English," she explained.

A lengthy question and answer period followed her talk in which Rotarians asked many questions concerning the independent Republic.

The Reverend Henry Walch, D.D., introduced the speaker.

Not everyone who plans a life can live it.

William Jay Micol

Word has been received from Private William J. Micol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Micol of 42111 East Ann Arbor trail of his safe arrival in Stuttgart, Germany, on duty with the United States Army.

Private Micol reports: "My new home for the next 36 months is wonderful. I couldn't have asked for a better assignment."

I am stationed at the Fifth General hospital right in downtown Stuttgart.

This was a big German hospital during the war, and since there are no Army camps nearby, we live here at the hospital or in town. Our quarters have good lighting, heating, and furnishings, plus our own day room with recreational facilities and a small library.

There are only about 20 Military Police here and it's not at all crowded. Just like living in a hotel.

My rating has been changed from Security Guard to Military Police, so I'm a full-fledged M.P. now.

I sure would like to hear from my friends at the following address:

Edward R. Ferenczi

Recently completing his nine weeks of boot training at Great Lakes Naval Training Station in Illinois, Edward R. Ferenczi of Plymouth reported for duty Tuesday, February 15, at the naval base in New Orleans, Louisiana. He will be assigned to the USS CORREGIDOR where his brother, Leslie, is presently serving as a machinist mate.

Parents of the two Plymouthites in service are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ferenczi of 47111 Ann Arbor trail.

Bruce R. Parmenter

Army Private First Class Bruce R. Parmenter of Livonia is a member of the 511th Airborne Regimental Combat Team which will serve as an aggressor force in "Exercise Follow Me," a simulated atomic warfare maneuver in Alabama.

Regularly stationed at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, the 511th has headquarters at Camp Rucker, Alabama, for the exercise. The combat team will "attack" elements of the "friendly" 3rd Infantry Division forces.

Private First Class Parmenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Veron Parmenter, 28055 West Six Mile road, is a mail clerk with the team's 675th Airborne Field Artillery battalion.

Parmenter entered the Army in March 1954 and completed basic training at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas.

DOLPHIN FISHING is just one of the things which keeps Plymouth's Alfred L. Innis busy at Ocean Breeze Park, Florida. "Al and Dot" Innis live in a 600-unit trailer park. The park boasts a large clubhouse where games are provided three nights a week, dancing three nights and movies on Sunday night. Shuffleboard is also a popular sport. Mrs. Innis is taking lessons in ceramics and Mr. Innis is in a camera club. They are inviting Plymouth friends to drop in to see them when traveling down Florida's east coast.

Area Planners to Speak Before Local Chamber

T. Ledyard Blakeman

"The Regional Plan and How it Affects the Plymouth Area" will be the topic of discussion when the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce holds its first dinner meeting of the year February 28.

Presenting the topic will be four top men in the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission. Ledyard Blakeman, executive director; Robert Carpenter, planner; and William Rowden, intermediate planner of northwest Wayne area.

They will discuss the purpose of the regional plan, area growth and its potential, land use and area aid. Their estimates are projected through 1970.

The program chairman, James Thomas, announces that the meeting will be in the Mayflower hotel at 7 p.m. Tickets will be limited to 125.

Executive Director Blakeman started his career as a landscape engineer with the Montana WPA and later advanced through many jobs such as planning technician in Richmond, Virginia, technician with the Virginia State Planning board, general assistant to executive director of the Hampton Roads Regional Defense Council; and planning engineers for the New Jersey State Planning board.

He was one of three planners in the nation invited to make a one-month study tour of planning and reconstruction in West Germany at the expense of the German government. He has been head of the Detroit commission since 1948.

Reid has also been with the commission since 1948. Before that he was in adult education work in New York and Chicago, was in the Army 40 months as a captain in the Transportation corps and was on the Michigan State Planning commission and Detroit City Planning commission from 1946 to 1948.

Carpenter worked for planning consultants in St. Louis county and for various architect-engineers on Army camps and ordnance plants. LETTER BOX

To the Editor:

This is a story of Dusty, a gray cat.

On Friday, February 4, Dusty was struck by a car on Ann Arbor trail. His owners did not know of it. However, some kind person saw his terrible suffering and called the police. The officers must have responded promptly as we don't believe Dusty could have lived long without help. They took the cat to the Parkway Veterinary Clinic operated by Dr. W. E. Lickfeldt. There Dr. Lickfeldt and his staff cared for Dusty for three days until his owners located him.

We have Dusty at home now and although he still is badly hurt we have hope he will recover completely. But this could not be if a number of kind people had not come to the aid of one gray cat.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Phillips and Suzy and Sally

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

John Gaffields Endorse Schnitzel Dish

Charlotte Gaffield, wife of studio owner John B. Gaffield, highly recommends Paprika Cream Schnitzel as a delicious item for the dinner menu. It's been a favorite with the 342 Pacific family for many years.

A rich, tasty dish, Mrs. Gaffield finds that she can prepare Paprika Cream Schnitzel in a matter of moments and doesn't have to watch it once it's been started cooking on the back of the stove. Often the Pacific street resident will add small, whole peeled potatoes to the schnitzel dish and let them steam done while the meat cooks. This gives her plenty of time to be with guests or with her three youngsters, Christopher, 9, six-year-old Craig and Carol, 2½.

PAPRIKA CREAM SCHNITZEL

1½ pounds of veal steak
2 tablespoons of chopped onion
1 teaspoon of paprika salt to taste
1 cup of sour cream
½ cup of tomato sauce
Brown veal in bacon fat. Add onion, season with paprika and salt. Stir in sour cream and tomato sauce. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes.

Prof Speaks Before AAUW This Evening

Associate Professor Dorothy Schroeder of the University of Michigan will discuss mental health for adults before the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women at their meeting tonight, February 17. The event will be held at the home of Mrs. B. T. Rogers, 397 Blunk street, starting at 8 p.m.

Miss Schroeder is an associate professor in the School of Social Work of the University of Michigan and heads its psychiatric program. She is a graduate of Vassar, has a master's degree from Smith and has done post-graduate work at the New York School of Social Work.

Professor Schroeder is a member of the Committee on Social Work Education which sets the standards in schools specializing in that study. She is also chairman of the Committee of Professional Education of the American Association of Psychiatric Social Workers.

Because of her eminence in her special field of psychiatric social work, Professor Schroeder has been instrumental in raising the standards of the School of Social Work at the University of Michigan with the result that 18 recent graduates have qualified for positions in the State Department of Mental Health.

This meeting is sponsored by the special study group on Social Studies of which Miss Mildred Field is chairman. The group meets the first Thursday of each month in the homes of its members. Co-hostesses for tonight's meeting will be Mrs. W. E. Gibson and Mrs. H. E. Pine.

Tropical products such as cocoa, coffee, tea and rubber represent nearly 25 per cent of U. S. imports. These are followed by raw materials such as wool, crude petroleum, nonferrous metals and paper.

Mrs. John Gaffield gets the Paprika Cream Schnitzel under way with a minimum of assistance from daughter, Carol, who seems to have other thoughts on her mind.

Encourage Child to Paint; Leads to Rich Adult Life

Encourage your child to paint. Many psychologists have said for a long time that painting is one of the surest ways to help a child express his feeling for beauty. Your encouragement and interest in his work will make your child feel a part of the real home. It will also help him to meet the adult world on his own terms.

Suitably framed, your child's picture will be an interesting addition to almost any room in your home. At worst it will be a conversation piece.

By encouraging children to create, you are helping them to a fuller, richer life. The joy their child will get from having one of his pictures beautifully framed and being in the home will be reward enough to most parents. It is important for the parents to understand that it does not matter what your child paints; nor how accurately. That comes later. At first the rhythm and balance is what counts. Your child will want to please you most of all, so keep this in mind.

If your child cannot attend a class, he can paint at home. The necessary materials are few. All he will need is construction paper 19 inches by 24 inches in assorted colors, a set of poster paints, bristle brushes in 1 inch, 1/2 inch, and 1/4 inch sizes and a cup of water for cleaning the brushes.

Perhaps the most important side of all this is that painting will help your child to see more beauty. He will learn to see beauty in such simple things as rocks, tree trunks, and the way paint peels off old wood. As he grows older this appreciation will grow to include many things of nature and art that some people never learn to enjoy.

Planning Saves Time, Steps In Kitchen

Don't be a slave to your kitchen. With wise planning you can cut down the time spent in food preparation and, at the same time, conserve your energy.

Arrange equipment and food supplies for easy reaching. If your kitchen is divided into various areas of preparation with utensils near each area, you can save time in getting meals together.

When planning a meal, have only one dish which requires several steps in preparation. One night this can be a casserole and a simple dessert. Another meal can be something broiled if the dessert is to be fancy.

When making a dish, measure your ingredients out and set on a tray. Then the dish can be put together quickly.

Try Serving Lamb Chops This New Way

Broiled lamb chops are on many persons' "favorite food" list. However, broiling is only one method for preparing lamb chops. Use chops for a braised dish, Lamb Chops New Orleans.

Less demanded shoulder cut arm and blade chops are ideal for this dish. Blade chops may be identified by the long thin blade bone they contain; arm chops by their round arm bone. You often find both will retail for several cents per pound under the loin and rib chops.

To prepare this dish, brown the chops, cut 1 inch thick, in lard or drippings. Then season with salt and pepper. To the meat add 1 1/2 cups tomato juice, 1/4 cup chopped green pepper, 1/2 up of chopped onion. Cover and simmer the chops for 30 minutes. Then remove to a warmed platter and thicken the liquid to serve over the chops.

Patriotism Has Start In Childhood

Patriotic love doesn't come ready made. It's something that we build slowly over the years, starting with childhood, says a parent education specialist.

He explains that learning to love one's country is a chain reaction. He says a person will not love his country if he doesn't love his state. And in turn that person will not love his state if he doesn't love his community, his home and his parents.

So in this chain reaction of loving one's country enough to fight and if necessary to give one's life for it, all the links in the chain are important. But, says the specialist, the beginning link is for parents to love each other. This is the parents' foundation on which they base the love for their children. If children are loved, they will feel secure.

Parents must also respect their children as a reflection of their love. Then the children will develop self respect. A child should also be helped or disciplined so he will learn to develop his abilities. "Authorities" feel it is important to praise a child for what he does and what he is. From this praise a child will develop his own set of values — values about himself as a person, about parents, teachers, friends, his neighborhood, his state and finally his country.

To sum it up, whether a child reaches adulthood as a worthwhile citizen depends on whether he is loved and learns to love his fellow men.

Cleaning walls? If water and suds tend to drip down your arms to make you uncomfortable, fasten a washcloth around the wrist to absorb water and suds.

Celebrate Washington's Birthday With An Ice Cream Cake Roll

To celebrate Washington's Birthday, here's a Cherry-Vanilla Ice Cream Roll which makes an elegant party dessert. The cake is like that used in jelly roll, and while the recipe is long, it is not difficult. The filling is delectable cherry-vanilla ice cream which is the February special of ice cream makers throughout the country. You'll find it in your super markets and drug stores pre-packaged in convenient pints and half-gallons. Cut it in slices to make a uniform and attractive filling for the cake roll. This roll serves 10 to 12 and uses 2 pre-packaged pints or half of a half-gallon of ice cream.

Cherry Vanilla Ice Cream Roll

4 eggs 1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder 1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 cup sifted cake flour
2 pints pre-packaged cherry vanilla ice cream

Have eggs at room temperature for greater volume. Grease bottom of a 16x10x1-inch pan; line with waxed paper and grease lightly. Beat eggs with rotary beater until foamy. Add baking powder and salt; beat until very light. Add sugar, about 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating until very thick. Fold in vanilla and sifted flour. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 13 minutes. While cake is baking, sift confectioners' sugar lightly over towel or brown paper. Loosen cake from pan with point of paring knife. Invert pan onto towel or brown paper. Remove pan; quickly remove waxed paper. With both hands roll up cake from narrow side. In rolling, first fold all the way across roll; continue rolling by lifting towel or brown paper with left hand and guiding roll with right hand. Wrap towel or brown paper tightly around roll to hold it in shape. Cool on cake rack. To fill with ice cream, unroll cake carefully. Open ice cream carton and cut into slices approximately 1/2 inch thick, or enough slices to cover roll. Reroll. To serve, cut in slices. YIELD: 10 to 12 servings.

For Family Treat, Make "Tangerine Velvet"

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Tangerine Velvet
(Serves 6)

1 can frozen concentrated tangerine juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1/4 cup sugar
Defrost fruit juice to a mushy consistency. Add sugar to whipped cream and mix with fruit juice. Continue beating until fluffy. Pour into a freezing tray and freeze rapidly until firm. Serve in scoops like ice cream.

Don't overload your refrigerator with food. It will stop necessary circulation of air.

It's Fun Making Your Own Candy

Candies

Peanut brittle is a favorite of all age groups. It is not hard to make and will stay fresh for a long time if stored carefully. The recipe for old-fashioned type Peanut Brittle is as follows:

2 cups sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup water
2 cups unroasted Virginia peanuts or raw Spanish peanuts
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon butter
1/4 teaspoon soda

Combine sugar, corn syrup, and water in a heavy skillet. Cook slowly stirring until sugar dissolves. Cook to the soft-ball stage at about two hundred and thirty-eight degrees. Remove candy from heat while testing.

Blanch Virginia peanuts. Raw Spanish peanuts don't need blanching.

Add nuts and salt and cook to the hard-crack stage, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add butter, soda and blend. Pour onto greased platter. Keep spatula moving under mixture to keep it from sticking. When firm but still warm, turn over. Break into pieces when cold.

If you want to make something a bit fancier, try jelly mints. They are easy to make, beautiful to look at, and delicious to eat.

Jelly Mints

1 pound confectioners' sugar
1/4 teaspoon peppermint extract
1 light teaspoon salt
1/4 cup cold water
Jelly strips

Put sugar, peppermint extract, salt in a bowl. Add water gradually. Stir till sugar is moist. Knead mixture until it is stiff enough to roll.

Measure 1 1/2 tablespoons of fondant mixture. Flatten into small rectangle. Hold 3 or 4 jelly strips together. Roll fondant around them. Slice.

If patches of dirt on floors are hard to remove with a dry mop, rub them with fine steel wool moistened with turpentine.

Here's Suggestion for Luncheon Casserole

For a tempting serving, alternate layers of cubed luncheon loaf, cream-style corn and bread crumbs in a greased casserole. Moisten with milk and bake in a moderate oven for 30 to 45 minutes.

Not a shift, but a switch of the pitch

And man! What that does for Dynaflow*!

This is for sure ... There's never been anything in your car-driving experience like the feel of Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—because there's never been anything like it in a car before.

In a modern plane, yes. For this is the principle of variable pitch propellers used on airplanes. Their propeller blades change "pitch" for quick take-off—then change to another "pitch" for better gas mileage in cruising aloft.

Now you can do the same thing on the ground—in a 1955 Buick. Twenty propeller blades are ingeniously engineered into the Dynaflow unit. They pivot—one way for a big boost in gas mileage while cruising—another way for brilliant new performance.

You switch the pitch for instantaneous acceleration just by pressing the pedal way down. Then it happens ...

A build-up of momentum smooth as oil—and quick as a split second. Dazzling new response on getaway—or a spectacular burst of instant safety-surge power when you need it on a highway.

It's pure thrill—and a happy surprise in its far better gas mileage in cruising. Yet Variable Pitch Dynaflow costs not a penny more than earlier versions of this wonder drive.

How about you trying it?

And look into the sizzling new horse-powers, the fresh new styling, the ever-level ride, the eye-opening low prices—all of which are making the 1955 Buick the hottest seller in all history. Come in this week, won't you?

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

DISTINCTIVE AND DIFFERENT. ISN'T IT? This built-in, living room fireplace, in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Armstrong, 16799 Bell Creek Lane, Livonia, is framed by practically a wall-to-wall expanse of honey-colored Tennessee ledge stone. The raised slate hearth provides an attractive setting for the andirons and tools. Notice the arrangement of plants above the fireplace. The striking brown and tan wallpaper in the front hallway, visible at the right of this picture, was selected for the Armstrongs by Pease Paint and Wallpaper Co., Plymouth. The living room carpeting was installed by Blunk's, Inc., local home furnishings store.

With all the wonderful products they've got out now, there's almost no reason at all why anyone can't have his home fixed right up to the queen's taste at a minimum of cost.

Take the plywood products, for example. Down at Plymouth Lumber and Coal Co., 308 North Main, they've got just the wall-paneling to redo that living room, den, extra bedroom in the attic, or what have you.

Especially nice for these do-it-yourself projects are the Weldtex and Surfwood paneling put out by U. S. Plywood. They're easily installed and when you get through you'll be amazed at the modern, up-to-date appearance of your room.

In the Weldtex wallpaneling, irregularly-cut striations run the full length of the board to create an unusual and attractive background for your home furnishings. For walls, Weldtex is available in squares or panels. Striking effects may be achieved by installing the plywood product in horizontal, vertical, stripe, check-board, diamond or herringbone patterns.

Finished in veneers of Douglas Fir, Southern Gum and Philippine Mahogany, Weldtex is also available at the Plymouth store in blue, green, yellow and other attractive colors. Besides Weldtex for wallpaneling, Plymouth Lumber handles the exterior grades of the product.

While looking over Weldtex you should also take in another U. S. Plywood product, Surfwood. This wallpaneling has been made to resemble sea-swept driftwood even to the color, knots and other surface features.

Like Weldtex, you can get it in neutral finishes or paint it in tones that will harmonize with the color scheme in your home. Also, you can produce duotone shading on Surfwood by rubbing dry pigment into the panel face, then covering it with a protective coating.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Question: My house is made of light-weight aggregate concrete blocks, plastered inside and out. Walls are cracking inside and out. I have tried filling the cracks, but the cracks continue to grow. What can I do to repair these cracks? There is no basement.

Answer: Apparently the footing under the walls is inadequate, or undermined with water, letting the walls sag. You can fill cracks with mastic calking compound which is waterproof and can be painted over inside or out, but this will not prevent further trouble if the footing under the walls is weak. Check the underground structure first, and if need be have it properly shored up, after which simple patching will hold.

Question: My new house is heated with forced hot air, fired by a gun-type oil burner. I have been told that oil heat results in a slight oil deposit on the walls and windows throughout the interior of the house. Would you please advise if there is any way to prevent this from occurring?

Answer: There should be no oil deposit inside the house at any time. If windows are tightly fitted, smoke from furnace cannot enter and that is only source of oil deposit. There may be some slight film on exterior paint surfaces, but paint formulas have been developed containing zinc oxide to resist damage from this source and no injury to house should develop. A well regulated and adjusted furnace does little smoking in any event.

Practical Note

If modern shower stalls have waterproof clay tile surfacing all the way to the ceiling, tub showers should be tiled right up to the ceiling, too. Builders around the country are doing just that in fine new homes.

Experts Outline Four Factors Important in Noise Control

"Sound Conditioning" has become almost as important in modern home planning as air conditioning.

Most of us accept noise as an inevitable part of 20th century living, but architects and builders have already demonstrated that homes can be effectively conditioned against noise just as they are effectively conditioned against weather.

Most experts on sound conditioning agree that there are four basic considerations in planning a home to minimize noise so that the family's efficiency and harmony stay at a high level.

1—Location—Obviously, if you can build your home in an area where outside noise is not great, you've gone a long way toward solving the problem. So look for a large lot, well-shrubbed if it's an older home or at least with room for shrubbery and other sound barriers. Pick a street where the travel is limited to residential traffic. Stay away from streetcar lines, railroads, airports and industrial plants. There should be a respectable distance between your house and the neighbors on either side. Otherwise, the problem is multiplied in that their noise becomes part of our noise.

2—Materials and Construction Methods—There are two phases to noise control. First, is the job of keeping outside noise from entering the home; second, is the job of insulating and minimizing inside noise. To keep noise out, builders use such materials in the walls as insulating siding and insulating board sheathing. They both insulate against heat and cold and cut down the transmission of outside noise. However, they become useless when windows are open. So air conditioning and sound conditioning become part of the same package. With air conditioning, windows can be left closed the year around.

3—Room Layout—Closets, bathrooms, fireplaces, hallways provide natural barriers to the transmission of noise. So locate closets between bedrooms and living areas. Separate the television room from the bedroom. Put the telephone in an out-of-the-way spot where its use doesn't interfere with normal activities.

4—Interior Finishing—The way

inside walls are finished and the method of furnishing and decorating the home have much to do with sound conditioning. To keep hallways and stairways from echoing and multiplying noises, carpet the floor or steps and use acoustical tile to finish the ceilings.

Cedar Closets Add Beauty and Value to Homes

Almost before the ink is dry on their mortgage papers, many people discover that their "dream houses" are not quite as livable as they first appeared to be. Inadequate closet space often is the cause for disappointment.

Recognizing that homes, especially those without basements, need ample storage space, many builders today are putting a record number of closets and storage cabinets in their houses.

One leading builder surveyed all of his prospects and found that closets rank second only to kitchens as selling features in new homes. He promptly included more closets and cabinet space in his plans for new homes, and reduced his selling time per home by ten days.

One of the practical features of the closets in this builder's homes is that all are lined with aromatic red cedar, which gives them a custom quality appearance and, of course, provides moth-repellent storage for families.

This builder found that he could afford to put all cedar closets in his homes, because they can be installed faster than many other types and require no drying time or painting, since they are left unfinished.

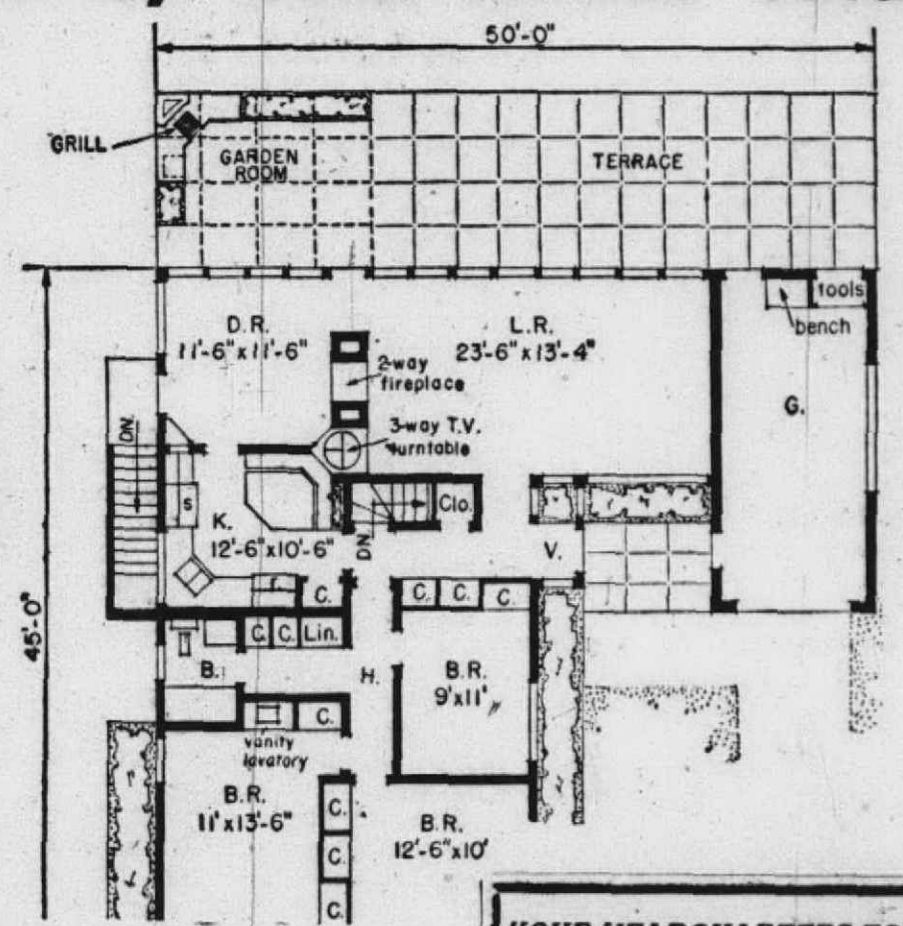

Another feature of the closets in this builder's homes is adjustable shelves in linen closets, and each coat closet is equipped with two such shelves, thus doubling the normal space that is available for hats.

3-Way TV Plan Featured by Small Homes Guide

Three-way television, visible from the living room, dining room and kitchen, is one of the interesting features of this house planned by a leading architectural firm.

Other elements contributing to the casual and modern living possible in this house, are the garden room at the rear, the large planting areas and the big windows. Area is 1,384 sq. ft. Information on blueprints and their cost may be obtained by writing the Building Editor, The Plymouth Mail.

Damp Basements Sometimes Caused By Condensation, Not Leaking Walls

"Have a damp basement? If you do," American Builder magazine, in its "Ask the Experts" column of advice to professional builders, gives a solution that might be of help:

"Q—I have my office in the basement of my home. It gets so damp that I cannot open my desk drawers. The basement floor is four feet below grade. The foundation is drain-tiled and the sand trap is dry at all times. How can I eliminate this dampness?"

"A—The dampness does not, apparently, come from any water condition in reference to foundation construction. The condition is probably caused because windows are opened in the summer, allowing warm air to come into contact with the cool air of the basement, resulting in condensation of moisture.

"Keep windows closed, if possible. Install a fan to circulate air, but if this is not satisfactory investigate some of the new dehumidifiers that are on the market."

Oak Floors Are Noted For Easy Maintenance

Ease of maintenance is one of the natural attributes of oak floors. Most widely used of all residential floorings, oak can be kept looking beautiful with only a daily sweeping with an untreated dust mop, plus an occasional cleaning and waxing. If you should move into a home where the oak floors have had "ever wear and neglect, just sand and refinish them, and you will have fine flooring with its original charm.

The Baptist church is putting in a new lighting machine this week and will be able to have the evening service in the auditorium this Sunday.

Mark Joy and his wife have moved to Toledo.

Miss Estelle Hamilton entertained 12 of her young friends at progressive lunch last Saturday afternoon. The young people had a delightful time.

Plymouth passengers on the evening train out from Detroit last Saturday did not get home until nine o'clock. The delay was caused by a broken engine.

This vicinity of late has been in the throes of a surprise party epidemic. A large number of our young people starting out on Saturday evening as usual to surprise some of their friends were surprised themselves in finding the doors locked and consequently had the laugh turned on them. How's this for cold weather? Eighteen degrees below zero makes one wish for the good old summer time.

The roads are so blocked with snow this week as to be almost impassable. The rural mail carriers are having a hard time and some of them have been forced to turn around and go back not being able to get through the drifts.

Miss Josie Hawthorne of Sand Hill is visiting her sister Rose.

Mrs. Henry Ray gave a dinner party for her daughter, Rosemary, last Tuesday, the occasion being her fifth birthday. There were four little guests present.

Last Saturday evening 25 Plymouth friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfram, who live south of Rosedale Gardens, all dressed in costumes of 25 years ago, dropped in to help them celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Wolfram's brother of Redford, was the ring bearer, the same as he was at the time of the wedding.

Miss Anna L. Young presented June Nash in a recital at the studio in the Plymouth United Savings Bank building, Penniman avenue entrance, on Wednesday, February 26, at 8 p.m. The public was invited.

Working Drawing for Hot-Bed Outside Basement Window

Start Seedling Plants in Hot-Bed Heated Through Basement Window

A by-product of a heated basement, which home gardeners will find helpful, is a hot-bed built around a window, through which basement heat can escape to help plants grow.

This is a most convenient way to start seedling plants weeks before they could be grown outdoors. The basement window will give easy access to the plants when the weather is still too cold for outdoor comfort.

Sunlight is as necessary for this type of hot-bed as for all others. For sturdy plants of full transplanting size a south window is required. Temperature can be controlled by raising or lowering the sash, and use for it can be found throughout the year, especially in protecting plants during the winter.

The cost of construction is small, especially if you build it yourself from the complete working drawing which accompanies this discussion. Dimensions in the drawing provide for a frame covered with two standard 3x6 sash; but these can easily be changed to fit any size sash you prefer to use.

Start by making an excavation in front of the window about 6 inches deep. Its area must be figured carefully, so that it will hold a frame fitted to your sash. As in the case of other hot-beds, a plastic substitute for glass may be used if preferred.

Build a frame to fit the excavation. The sides must slant sharply from a point above the window, almost to the ground. Fit the sash on this frame, using hinges at the top so the sash may easily be raised for ventilation. Earth may be banked around the frame to keep out the cold; and the sides should be as tight as possible to keep out the wind. The frame should be caulked where it joins the foundation to prevent drafts.

Heat is supplied to this bed by opening the basement window.

Warns Job Offers Might Be Racket

Those with a yen to go to far places and make a fortune while doing it, are warned to be on the alert for advertisers who purport to have foreign jobs to offer but whose real interest lies in the sale of an alleged directory listing such jobs.

Nat Sibbold, manager of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce said today that, according to information from the National Better Business Bureau, there has been increasing appearance of these "job-list" services, selling directories for a dollar or two, but masquerading as construction companies seeking skilled or semi-skilled workers for high paying jobs overseas.

"They attempt to place their ads in the 'Help Wanted' columns," said Sibbold, "and the jobs sound marvelous. But construction workers who really know say that the salaries quoted are twice the actual rates paid and the number of jobs open is highly exaggerated. Furthermore, none of the jobs are open to laborers and unskilled workers. American companies overseas hire natives for such work."

As for the directories, in most cases investigated they have been found to be either obsolete, inaccurate, or only a restatement of information obtainable from the U. S. Government in a 15 cent pamphlet. The pamphlet is called "Federal Jobs Outside the Continental United States," and may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

There are instances Sibbold reported, where workers relying on directory information travelled long distances to find that the jobs they were applying for were listed without the company's consent, perhaps from newspaper advertisements clipped months before, and had been long since filled. To avoid being victimized by the foreign employment scheme, Sibbold advised local residents to investigate before investing in any proposition.

Epilepsy Not Linked With Insanity Or Low Intelligence, Says Prof

Epilepsy is far more common than people think. Approximately 800,000 individuals in the U. S. suffer from it.

In a recent talk over the University of Michigan broadcasting station, WUOM, Dr. Donald E. Forbeck, a senior clinical instructor in the U-M's Department of Neurology, stated that epilepsy is not only a costly disease but is still one of the least understood among the public.

Said Dr. Forbeck: "People no longer adhere to the idea of witchcraft as the cause of epilepsy, but the horror and mysticism with which many regard seizures still remains to be dispersed."

Many persons, declared the U-M doctor, think that because epilepsy is related to the brain it is akin to insanity. "This impression is erroneous, and I should like to dispel such a notion," he declared.

There are some who think that because of the involvement of the brain, that epilepsy is akin to low intelligence. Actually, indicated the physician, studies show that 67 per cent of the epileptics are above average in intelligence.

What then seems to cause an epileptic's seizures? The U-M neurologist lists a few:

- 1) Scar tissue in the brain as a result of an injury;
- 2) Infections such as "sleeping sickness" or "brain fever;"
- 3) Brain tumor;

The epileptic, depending upon the cause of his disease, may be treated with medication, surgery, diet, and advice. "The patient should engage in normal social pursuits," said Dr. Forbeck. But, he added, he should avoid fatigue and alcohol.

If you are in the presence of an epileptic when he has a seizure or convulsion, according to the U-M doctor, probably the best thing for you to do is get the patient to lie down close to the floor. "Valiant attempts to keep the individual from biting his tongue usually are of no avail," he explained.

"There is no need," concluded the doctor in his talk, "for an epileptic to withdraw from social life because of a feeling that he has a shameful disease, one that cannot be cured."

Medical science has gone a long way in controlling epileptic seizures and in helping such patients adjust to a productive life.

NO GHOST TOWNS

For hundreds of Michigan communities, motor vehicles are the sole means of transportation — autos and buses for passengers, trucks for freight. These communities are not served by any other transportation system!

Yes, wherever there are roads — and Michigan is known for its many miles of good highways — trucks can and do perform a vital service for the people, bringing them everything they eat, wear or use — swiftly, economically.

There are no ghost towns in Michigan. Folks in small, out-of-the-way communities are as well fed, well housed and well clothed as the people of Michigan's largest metropolitan centers — thanks to trucks.

Pictures From Down Mexico Way

Touring the Southwest and Mexico is Mrs. Norma Schmeman, The Mail's photographer who is trying out her new camera on the scenery along the border.

A rare sight this time of year is the picture above of dozens of shrimp boats in port at one time. Taken at Brownsville, Texas, the boats came into port because of storm warnings on the Gulf. Brownsville claims to be the shrimp capital of the world. They have their own harbor just off the inter-coastal waterway.

Shrimp is as big a business in Brownsville as oil is in other parts of Texas. A syndicate can buy a boat upwards of $30,000 and if things go well, can get their investment back in one year. They can lose it, however, just as quickly. The boats stay out about seven or eight days at a time. The sailors "really looked rugged," Norma reports, "and the names of their boats are apt to be anything — anything at all."

A popular tourist stop is Falcon Dam, on which a highway is built between Mexico and the United States. While tourists stop along the causeway, they are cautioned with signs to watch for rattlesnakes which live among the rocks along the roadway. "And everyone we saw was watching," Norma asserted.

Pictured below is probably the most popular portrait painter in the French quarter at New Orleans which the photographer snapped while enroute to Mexico. His name is Jacques and he is able to do a pastel portrait in 10 minutes for $7.50. People were waiting in line to have their picture painted and there is always an audience watching over his shoulder. His studio is on the St. Louis Cathedral side of Jackson Square.

A Plymouth family was also visited by our photographer as she passed through San Benito, Texas. The Plymouthites are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 361 Sunset, and their children Kendall and Raina. The Smiths are visiting Mr. Smith's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Billie. They are planning a side trip into Mexico.

HEALTH & BEAUTY

Sleep is an important function in our lives. Without enough sleep our bodies break down mentally, emotionally as well as physically.

Rest is a cure for many kinds of heart ailments and should be used more often as a preventive for heart trouble. Many women indulge in a little "beauty sleep" after lunch. Perhaps this is one reason why so few of them, as compared to men, have heart attacks. The count is almost three to one.

Men have a great deal of drive and it's a good thing they do. They need it to make a living these days. However, men should learn to take advantage of slack periods, of the day, to relax. One important American businessman learned this when he was young. He often takes forty winks at his desk after a long, tiresome conference or interview. He is now one-hundred years old and still active in business.

It is doubly important to relax after dinner if you are under particular strain. It is amazing how much you reduce the strain on the heart by lying flat for as long as fifteen minutes.

OUTDOOR NOTES From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Results of trial surveys to determine effect of illegal kills on Michigan's deer herds indicate the necessity for a more complete and extensive study of the problem, a conservation department spokesman said late last week.

Deer hunters responding to a questionnaire, spot checks of selected hunting areas and an aerial survey of the northern lower peninsula leave little doubt that the illegal deer kill problem is a significant factor in deer management, the department official said. Exactly how significant is a question which can only be answered by a comprehensive study.

Recently, questionnaire postcards were mailed to 1200 Michigan deer hunters asking how many accidentally shot does and fawns—they saw in the woods during last year's buck season. About half the hunters have replied. Their individual answers range from no kills seen to 12 or 14 in some cases.

At the Straits of Mackinac last fall, 1289 hunters were interviewed at random. They reported seeing 113 illegally killed deer in the upper peninsula. This same group took 221 bucks.

In the Rifle River area, spot checks were made in 1953 and 1954. The ratio of legally killed deer to those killed illegally was three to two in 1953 and four to one in 1954. Another check, made in an eight-square mile area near Gladwin in 1954, showed 23 deer killed illegally, 15 known legal kills and 20 estimated additional legal kills. Another check in the vicinity of Rose Lake wildlife station northeast of Lansing showed two deer killed legally in 1953 and five illegally. In 1954, five were killed legally and three illegally.

An aerial survey of the northern lower peninsula made during the 1952 season showed 3500 illegally killed deer.

As a result of these isolated checks, the department plans a more comprehensive study of the entire problem.

Boy Scouts in Michigan completed 4400 conservation Good Turn projects in 1954.

About 52,000 Scouts and leaders participated in the work. Included were 1423 soil and water conservation projects completed. Erosion was checked on gullies and streams, grass was planted on open lands and soil conservation lectures and exhibits were presented.

In the forestry division, 1253 projects were completed. These included tree planting, woodlot improvement and fire prevention education work.

In fish and wildlife work, Good Turns included hedgerow planting, nesting box construction, brush piling and a variety of educational programming.

Other work included lessons in outdoor manners, aid to conservation officials and gun and boat safety campaigns.

Major construction on Winchester Dam, the Martiny Lake flooding project, is finished.

Conservation department engineers say a few details remain, but in general the work is done. Final cleanup chores have been postponed until spring.

The $16,000 structure consists of an earth dike and concrete spillway permitting adjustable water levels.

The dam blocks the Chippewa River in Chippewa River state forest east of Big Rapids. The completed project will provide about 2,000 acres of lakes, islands, swamps and forest land for public recreational use.

Conservationists have been trying for 25 years or more to push the project to completion, but court battles and land ownership tangles always stymied progress.

Last year, however, a circuit court in Big Rapids ruled that hunting, trapping, fishing and other outdoor recreations were necessary to the welfare of the people. The few remaining hold-out land parcels in the area were purchased by the state and the project authorized.

Archers may be given a special bow hunting season in Ontario, the Ontario department of lands and forests notes.

Legislators in the Canadian province have been studying Michigan and New Jersey archery laws "for some time," a Canadian release says.

At present, Ontario archers are able to hunt only during the regular gun season in defined areas. The Canadians indicate a shift in present regulations would be made partly to reduce highway accidents and crop damage caused by deer in Ontario.

Editorials — Features

Our first visit, this year, to St. Petersburg was at the home of Mrs. Arlo Emery. Not all Plymouthites will remember Mrs. Emery because she has been gone from the city for several years. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Volbrecht bought their present home from the Emerys. In fact the Emerys were our old neighbors living in that beautiful, big brick house on the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and McKinley which has a back yard that joins our own and also is directly west of the former Tom Moss residence.

Col. and Mrs. Emery lived in Plymouth for many years. Col. Emery was at one time Plymouth's city attorney and is at present the extension representative of the National Exchange Club. They have two sons, Arlo, Jr., who is serving with the armed forces in Japan, and 18-year-old Bruce, who is a freshman in St. Petersburg Junior College.

Active in Florida, as she was in Plymouth, Mrs. Emery is chairman of the largest circle of the Pasadena Community Church and also sings in the church choir. She is at present corresponding secretary of the Gulfport Bird and Garden Club and secretary of the St. Petersburg chapter of P.E.O. It is interesting to note that she and Mrs. Paul Nutting were founders of the very active chapter AI of P.E.O. of Plymouth in 1936.

And speaking of neighbors . . . look who we bumped into next — The friends who used to live just behind us . . . Tom and Lucille Moss. We surprised them on a cold St. Petersburg day and found Mrs. Moss seated in the Florida room of their new Snell Island home enjoying the picture of the James King family, in a current issue of The Mail. The Kings, you know, bought their home.

Directly beyond the rear of this gorgeous home which supports such extravaganzas as automatic lawn watering system, private yacht dock, etc., is a waterway where the Mosses can catch, at their leisure, almost any variety of fish they desire from their own back yard. At low tide they may bathe on a sandy beach of their own or, on a cold day such as this one was, they may turn on their efficient oil heating system, also planned for air conditioning, and keep the temperature where they desire.

We were also pleasantly surprised on our visit at the Moss home to find another former Plymouthite, William Lavers. One should delve deep into Plymouth history to find the part this fine gentleman played in our community.

It was through Mr. Laver's efforts that the branch of the State Highway department was located in Plymouth which brought to our city many of the people who are now employed with the Wayne County Road Commission. The branch was first located over the Huston hardware and later moved into the building now housing the Dunning Library. At one time nearly 100 highway employees worked out of the Plymouth office. It was moved to Detroit several years ago and only a handful of the former employees still remain in Plymouth. Mr. Lavers is now retired and makes his home with his charming wife on Reddington Beach on the outskirts of St. Petersburg.

The busiest hours of architect Tom Moss, pictured above right with Mr. Lavers, are now spent playing cribbage, caring for his lawn and learning the art of back yard fishing. Since taking up residence in Florida the Mosses have kept a guest book in their new home which lists among its visitors, assistant-postmistress Beatrice Schultz and her mother, City Manager and Mrs. Al Glassford, and former Plymouth City Manager and Mrs. Perry Cookingham, now of Kansas City. In the few brief minutes we were in their home it wasn't hard to see that everything in their future was planned for leisure fun and we are sure they will have it.

Bibles or Bombs in Formosa?

BABSON DISCUSSES THE BIBLE AND FORMOSA
Babson Park, Mass., February 10—Four hundred years ago, my ancestor, the Reverend John Rogers, was burned at the stake in London, England, on February 4, 1555. To commemorate him and to add some current comments, is my desire today.

BIBLES WERE SMUGGLED INTO ENGLAND

The Reverend John Rogers was martyred for his work of translating the Bible into the English language and circulating this complete Bible in England. Tyndale, with the help of Coverdale, translated the New Testament and a portion of the Old Testament, as far as II Chronicles, when he was martyred there. Then John Rogers — under the assumed name of "Matthews" — completed the Bible in its entirety for readers in England. This was in 1537; and he did most of the work in Holland.

From Holland, the English imported flour, cheeses, and other goods. My ancestor arranged with the packers of the barrels and crates containing these food products to hide a Bible among the contents and thereby smuggled these Bibles into England. When he returned to England, about ten years later, he was arrested and imprisoned in the Tower of London. Finally, he was martyred at Smithfield, where I have seen a bronze marker telling this story of his martyrdom.

IMPORTANCE OF SACRIFICE

There are many lessons for us from the above experience. First, is the consecration of the priests and preachers of that day and their willingness to make any sacrifice, including their lives. Our unwillingness to sacrifice for our Church and Faith is a basic difficulty of the U. S. today. It is good to see church membership and attendance increase; but these figures mean little unless accompanied by a willingness to sacrifice.

Jesus never quoted statistics — He demanded that His followers be judged by their works of righteousness. I would go even further and say that the greatness of every powerful nation has been made possible by the people's sacrifice. When the willingness to sacrifice declined, the nation's economic strength declined along with its spiritual strength. In fact, the best U. S. barometer of our spiritual strength is the value of our dollar. It increases or decreases according to our willingness to sacrifice for what is right.

WE MUST AGAIN TEACH BIBLE TO OUR CHILDREN

The second lesson applies to the great need of more Bible reading today. When I was a boy, most New England families were Bible-reading families with daily family prayers. We were all taught to obey the Bible teachings and to memorize them. I believe that we must again install the Bible as a family guide and as our national guide.

Atomic bombs will not save us, any more than the Chinese Wall saved China, or the Maginot Line saved France. This nation is depending too much on material defense. The more wealth we have, the better target we are, and through jealousy, the more enemies we will have. Only as we practice the Bible's Golden Rule, both in national and international affairs, can we hope to survive. The Bible is the only "Bomb" which can save America. Read Isaiah, Chapter 31.

WHAT ABOUT CHINA AND FORMOSA?

The Chinese leaders of today were largely educated in colleges founded by missionaries sent to China by the Christian churches of the U. S., England, and our other Western Allies. I have visited some of these Chinese colleges and have seen the Bible being taught there to the brightest young men of China. These students were greatly impressed by Jesus' Teachings, especially by the Sermon on the Mount.

As these students matured and became acquainted with the way our businessmen and politicians acted, they truly wondered if we are a Christian nation. Students who came to New York, Chicago, and other large American cities for post-graduate work concluded that we are hypocrites. They returned to China saying that the Bible is a forgotten book with us. The Russian Communists told them that our missionaries used our Bible only to "put the Chinese to sleep" while we robbed China. President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles — both Bible-reading men — are handicapped by this unfortunate situation. Fighting alone will not save Formosa. Formosa and the entire East can be saved only if we stop worshipping material success and atomic power and return to the Teachings of the Bible.

Resort Boom Shows in Sales Tax Returns

Michigan's resorts on the lakeshores and northern playlands are big business.

From the dunes and beaches in the west to the lakes and resorts up both sides of the state and through the upper peninsula, the industry is keeping a steady grip on Michigan's economy.

State officials came upon proof in a new set of sales tax figures. Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council compared January to July sales tax revenue from northern counties to show the impact of the vacationer.

"Some show increases of nearly 300 per cent and others well over 200 per cent in the July over January comparison," he said.

The figures also dramatized the up and down economy of northern counties.

During January last year total sales tax receipts for the 50 counties deemed to be northern were $1,832,398 while the same counties turned in $2,912,478 during July — an increase of 58.9 per cent.

"When certain 'vacation-favorite' counties are studied individually, the percentage increases are phenomenal," he said.

Senator Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, is a farmer and proud of it.

He has turned over some time consuming duties to younger hands now and devotes most of his time to keeping the state's budget as near a balance as possible.

But, the Senator tends a gigantic garden during the summer months and is a gladiola farmer of more than a little talent.

Last year, he said he discovered a new kind of tomato with a shape something like a football which grows large and lush and contains less acid than others. He said:

"It doesn't seem like much to do, but I just want to keep busy."

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal, is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"If someone handed you $50,000 today, what would be the first thing you would buy?"

MRS. DONALD WELLS, 48525 Eight Mile: "I would buy a home. We just rent now and the rent is so high. We would buy a home in Plymouth although we live in Northville now. My husband works at the Chevrolet plant."

ED LEE, 9235 Corrine: "If I had $50,000 I would buy myself a farm. It would have a house on it too. I used to do some farming in Tennessee and I would like to get back to it again. I should be able to buy a nice little farm for that money."

Mrs. Wells Lee Sumner Mrs. Basnaw

JOHN SUMNER, 15070 Bradner road: "Is that tax-free or not? I'd invest it in some good stocks—something like Detroit Edison. I could then receive an income off the investment."

MRS. ALBERT BASNAW, 42524 Parkhurst: "A new home would be the first thing I would buy. We have a home now but it is too small for our two children. We have but two bedrooms. I would also refurnish it with that money."

Q—What is meant by the term so often used "Capitol Hill"?
A—This term is used because the Capitol building is constructed on a gentle elevation, or plateau of surrounding territory about 88 feet above the level of the Potomac River.

Q—Is it true a new Senate office building is to be constructed, despite the fact the present Senate office building was only completed in 1933?
A—Yes. Apparently Senators are cramped for space in the present building and plans were approved for a new building several years ago. The site, across the street from the present building, was razed of buildings during the war, but due to press of war business, construction was never started. New construction is just now getting under way.

Q—What is the area of the Capitol grounds?
A—131.1 acres.

Q—What officials comprise membership of the National Security Council?
A—The President, vice-president; Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, Director of Foreign Operations Administration; Director Office of Defense Mobilization, ex-officio; and the Secretaries and Undersecretaries of other executive departments and of the military departments when appointed by the President, with approval of the Senate.

OL' JOHNNY PILGRIM SEZ—

One day late last summer I & Mother was setting out on our side porch after supper when the doorbell rang and I jumped up quick to go and see who it was but before I could get to the door he started knocking the knocker so I knew it was not a sociable call from one of the neighbors but somebody on a mission of extreme urgency. Nobody had got around to call on us yet because we are Johnny-come-latelys since 1952 when we moved here from Detroit, but I calculated they had probably come but the bell was out of order so I installed the knocker as we are anxious to get acquainted with some nice family to visit back & forth and split a bottle of Frankemuth with once in a while.

Well, it was a dapper little guy in the biggest hurry I ever sec. He shoved a legal looking paper under my nose & a fountain pen & rattled Do you ever come over Farmer Street and cross the railroad track and I said Brother gimme that pen I know just what you mean. Night before last a moving freight train that I couldn't see ground all the nickel plating off my front bumper. It was a long train and I was glad it was because it gave me time to take off my shoes and empty the cold sweat out of 'em before it went by. What is this, a petition, I sez. Here, Mother, you sign it too.

Yep, said he, and when I get 500 signatures it goes to the City Fathers & Hizzonor the Mayor & our City Manager.

Gosh, I said, I didn't know it took so much top brass as all that to run a town of this size. All that crossing needs to make it safe is a couple of properly placed light beams so a feller can see what he is running into in time for him to prevent running into it. I should think the City Engineer would be the man to stir up.

Red tape, snapped the little guy. And the Railroad. Committees have to be appointed. Meetings held. Budgets consulted. Precedents to be considered. And politics. And another thing: Farmer & the Railroad ain't the most stylish neighborhood in town, and I doubt if the Authorities seldom ever have occasion to expose themselves to that particular physical phenomenon.

What are ye driving at, I sez. Shorten up yer words.

Didn't ye ever study physics, he continued. One of the fundamental laws of matter is that two bodies cannot occupy the same identical space at the same time. It causes wrecks. Mountain goats know this but people don't. When two goats meet on a narrow ledge one of 'em lays down and the other one hops over him. People and trains ain't that smart. They collide and are buried by the insurance companies. That grade crossing is overdue to kill somebody one of these days if it isn't lighted or guarded or separated.

Most of us natives know about it and are careful, but some dark, rainy night in the wintertime when car windows are closed and you can't hear the noise of a train, a man & his wife & their three kids will be driving to Ann Arbor from Highland Park and they will come out Schoolcraft to Wilcox to Mill Street to Liberty Street to Starkweather and head west on Farmer. They're thankful they crossed the tracks safely on Mill Street and don't know about the other division that crosses Farmer. Their depressed driving lights don't pick up the box cars as they whistle by on the elevation. He can't stop in time and—

Mercy me, Mother screeched, spare us the gory details. Run along and file your petition. If it don't get fast action you let me know and I'll station JP (he calls me JP) there with a red lantern, from dusk to dawn.

Well we haven't heard from him since so I calculate the petition done the trick. One of these days we aim to drive over that way & inspect what was done. Glad we could help by signing. We like it here and love to do our share besides just paying our taxes. Get all you can out of life, I always say, because you're a long time dead. No matter how ye die!
