THE MAIL IS HOME OWNED — COMPLETELY PUBLISHED IN PLYMOUTH — BY PLYMOUTHITES — FOR PLYMOUTHITES

GETTING A CLOSE look at the first prize in the forthcoming Plymouth Community Stamp corporation $10,000.00 contest are three interested Community Stamp store merchants. Seated atop the 1956 Rambler "Cross Country" station wagon is Nash Dealer Bill West who seems to be showing the others just how versatile the car

Merchants Sponsor Biggest Promotion

The largest promotion ever undertaken by a group of Plymouth merchants was introduced Wednesday evening, January 25, by the board of directors of the Plymouth Community Stamp corporation to the 39 members of the group.

Meeting in the new Miles Standish Room of the Mayflower hotel, fifty merchants and guests studied the details of a fabulous $10,000 Community Stamp contest that will offer nearly 200 outstanding prizes to customers shopping in Plymouth. Complete details and rules of the contest will be revealed in a two-page advertisement in next week's edition of The Mail.

Heading the list of prizes will be a 1956 Nash Rambler "Cross Country" station wagon. A 10-day all-expense paid trip for two at the Fontainebleau hotel on Miami Beach will be offered as second prize, while this galaxy of appealing prizes will also be included on the long list:

Motorola color television set, Westinghouse laundromat, Kelvinator electric range, Fedders room air conditioner, Gruen watch, General Electric portable television set, 10 Evans-Colson bicycles, 10 $25 savings accounts at First Federal Savings and Loan association, 10 Daisy air rifles, Spring-Air springs and mattress, plus a long list of other valuable items. Most merchants believe that it is the largest contest ever undertaken in a shopping area the size of Plymouth.

Contestants will have nothing to buy to enter and must only complete the sentence, "I shop in Community Stamp stores because..." in 25 words or less. Contest rules and entry forms are expected to be available in all 39 Plymouth Community Stamp stores on Thursday, February 9.

The contest was explained to merchants attending the dinner meeting by William Sliger, general manager of The Mail. Samuel Stephens, mail advertising manager, outlined a 22-week advertising campaign to promote the contest throughout the area. Previously, merchants had heard a business report on the financial condition of the unique non-profit corporation by Accountant Donald Sutherland. Program Chairman James Taylor and Joseph Rucker, stamp company president, also addressed the group on the progress of the Community Stamp Plan.

Merchants were told that the contest would be completely sponsored by the Community Stamp corporation to induce shoppers throughout the whole area to shop in Plymouth. Prizes have been made especially attractive and plentiful, while entry regulations have been kept simple to encourage all Plymouth customers to enter the contest and win a prize.

For all the information on how you can win a new automobile, a trip to Florida, a color television set, etc., etc., watch for next week's edition of The Mail. And start collecting your thoughts now on why YOU like to shop in Plymouth Community Stamp stores!

Polio March Nets $2,614

A record-breaking $2,614.59 was collected last Thursday in the Mother's March on Polio staged in Plymouth and Plymouth township. It exceeded last year's collection by $658.

Mrs. Harry Bartel, general chairman of the drive, said that she and workers on the polio fund drive "are very pleased with the results."

About 40 women went from home to home in the township in the afternoon and 100 did the same in the city during the evening. Some of the volunteers "marched" both in the city and township.

The $2,614 does not represent the grand total collected during the month-long drive, but merely during the Mothers March. Donations received by mail and money deposited in canisters will be entered into the books late this week.

The near-by townships of Canton and Salem also had their Mothers March last Thursday. Mrs. Floyd Cline, chairman of the Salem drive, reported that $224.49 was collected. In Canton township, Mrs. Wanda Rea reported collections of $292.46.

Unlike last year when the mercury dropped to seven degrees for the evening Mothers March, workers this year found the night crisp but "quite respectable." Homes where occupants were found away will not be called upon again but envelopes were left in which they can mail their donations to the local polio fund.

Mail Wins Honors At Press Meeting

New honors were given The Plymouth Mail last weekend as publishers of Michigan newspapers gathered at East Lansing for the 88th convention of the Michigan Press Association.

In competition with "urban" weekly newspapers The Mail was chosen third in general excellence. It marked the first time that The Mail had been classified as an urban newspaper, thus placing it in competition with the state's largest weekly newspapers. First place honors were accorded The Birmingham Eccentric, second to the Grosse Pointe News, and following The Mail in fourth place came the Highland Park. The newspapers were judged by members of the University of Illinois journalism department.

In past years The Mail has always been a top contender for general excellence awards among the state's weeklies. At the 1955 convention The Mail received highest honors as the best weekly newspaper in the largest circulation class excluding metropolitan publications. A special honorable mention award was also won by The Mail last year in a nationwide National Editorial association general excellence contest. The Mail has placed among the top publications in the state since 1937, when the paper first won the highest award.

In other business at the two-day convention publishers heard talks by E. A. Schirmer, senior vice president of Campbell Ewald advertising agency; Allen B. Sikes, field director of the Bureau of Advertising; Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, United States Under-Secretary of the United Nations; Congresswoman Martha W. Griffiths and Congressman Gerald R. Ford, Jr.; and Paul Harvey, news commentator.

The publishers named Frank Worthington of the Wyandotte Tribune to head the Michigan Press association for the coming year. He succeeds F. Granger Weil of the Port Huron Times-Herald.

Mail Begins Series For Home Merchant

A cartoon series illustrated especially for The Mail begins this week on page five of section two. Designed to promote shopping at home, the series demonstrates the pitfalls of patronizing distant business firms and encourages support of your home town merchant. Service, convenience and reputation are three "intangibles" difficult to equal anywhere but home.

Watch for this series on the first classified advertising page in each edition of The Mail.

Addition Started At Hillside Inn

Another addition to the popular Hillside Inn on Plymouth road has been started and may be ready for occupancy by the end of April, according to Manager Robert Stremich.

The 35 by 98-foot building will be the fourth addition made to the original structure since the establishment was opened. The newest addition is being constructed as a separate building as added fire precaution but will be connected with hallways and will have the outside appearance of one building.

A new and modern kitchen will run the entire length of the new building. The present kitchen will be remodeled as a private dining room for 60 people while still another room will be used as a private dining room for about 25 people.

The colonial design of the present structure will be carried into the new building, Stremich said. Turk & Ramsey, Builders, are the contractors.

Patchen, Nankin Schoolmen Tell Local Board of Problems

Estimate Township's 1960 Population At 8,200; Predict City to Have 9,700

Estimates that Plymouth city's population will be 9,700 by 1960 and Plymouth township's will be 8,200 have been made by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning commission.

The newly-released estimates claim that the metropolitan area will have a population of 3,960,000 by July 1960, or an increase of 843,803 people.

In general, smaller gains are anticipated for the next five years than took place in the preceding five years. The backlog of housing demand piled up during the depression and World War II has been reduced. It also took into account the low birth rate during the 1930's and the water shortage in out-county areas until after 1960.

According to the state census taken here last summer, there were 8,114 people in the city and 5,144 in the township. (The Regional Planning commission estimated last year that the city had 7,950 and the township 6,200.) They also make estimates that there will be 400 new dwelling units built in the township by July 1960 and 350 in the city.

Looking at Plymouth's neighbors, the planners say that there are 4,500 people now in Canton township and that 5,300 are expected by 1960. Dwelling units will increase 200.

Livonia is expected to increase its population from 35,400 to 55,000, and dwelling units are to jump 5,200 more.

Salem township now has an estimated 1,840 people and this is expected to increase to 2,200. One hundred more dwelling units are anticipated.

Northville city's population is expected to jump from 5,070 to 5,900 and dwelling units should increase by 130.

Northville township is predicted to increase in population from 4,800 to 5,600 and dwelling units to increase by 230.

The commission emphasized that the estimates should be regarded as "working figures." Economic changes, new industry, shopping centers and sewer and water facilities can slow or increase building rates. Plymouth and Canton townships, for instance, are working on sewer and water facilities which can easily multiply their present population several times.

Improvement Petitions Should Now be Filed

Plymouth citizens wanting improvements such as paving, curbing and gutter and sewer should submit their petitions to the city by the end of this month, according to City Manager Albert Glassford.

Projects for 1956 will be completed next month by the City commission. Glassford said that where a number of property owners are involved, it is best to secure as many signatures as possible. If 50 per cent of the affected property owners is not secured, a shortage of water supply was submitted anyhow since the city commission has the power to authorize an improvement if it is considered of public benefit to do so.

Blame Builders for Not Telling Buyers of Classroom Shortage

Builders who plan to construct thousands of homes in Nankin Mills and Patchen school districts and who tell prospective buyers that there are ample school facilities there were severely criticized Monday night when the two boards of education met with the Plymouth board to give their opinions on what should be done with their students who attend here under tuition.

"They advertise that the bus will come right to your front door and take your child to school," one Nankin member declared, "but they don't say that it's a one-room school and that they will end up in the basement."

The meeting between the three boards was a result of tentative action taken at the last meeting of the Plymouth Community School board to ask that Patchen and Nankin Mills districts find high school facilities elsewhere. It had been the local board's proposal to eliminate ninth grade students next fall, 10th grade the following year, etc.

There are 111 attending Plymouth high school from Patchen district and 19 from Nankin Mills. The two districts are located south of Livonia and north of Wayne and Garden City. The districts have their own elementary school facilities but never have provided high schools. Tuition of these high school pupils is paid by the local districts and the state.

The Plymouth board has argued that the tuition covers the cost of schooling but not the cost of constructing new buildings. They have also said that people living in the two districts are not actual part of the Plymouth community.

Although some hint was given the board in late years about the possibility of barring their high school students here, the Plymouth board decided recently to take definite action when it was learned that thousands of new homes are anticipated in the two districts.

Not only were the builders and real estate dealers criticized for telling buyers about the presence of school facilities, several school board members from the two districts also blamed the buyers who apparently are not interested enough to drive past the alleged schools.

One board member suggested that the county board of education should run advertisements in newspapers informing people of the school situation in the various communities.

At the start of the meeting, Horace Alexander, a member of the Nankin Mills board, questioned (Continued on Page 8)

P. E. A. to Honor Past Presidents Tuesday Night

The Plymouth Education association will honor nine of its past presidents, one of whom retired last week from his teaching position with the local school system, Tuesday night at a banquet to be held at 6:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Retiring last Friday after 25 years with the local school district was James Latture, president of the organization for 1947-48. A social studies teacher at the high school, Latture was honored Saturday night by fellow teachers at a dinner in the high school auditorium. His honors at the banquet will be given in absentia as the former teacher left for a three-weeks trip last weekend. He is owner of Latture Real Estate, 630 South Main.

Formerly known as the Teachers club, the local organization received its charter from the Michigan Education association in the fall of 1954 when it officially became the Plymouth Education association. Presidents to be honored Tuesday night, in order of consecutive school years from the first term of office 1946-47, are:

Carvel Bentley, Mr. Latture, Mrs. Roswell Tanger, Calvin Cooley, Ross Hedrick, Miss Katherine Bock, Loren Grieves, Melvin Blunk and Robert Smith, 1954-55 president. Earl Gibson is head of the organization for the present year.

Robert Carson is in charge of the after-dinner entertainment. Program chairman is Gerald Elston.

Plymouthite Completing Greenfield Village Archives

Pictures and publicity about Ford Motor company "brass" which have flooded newspapers and magazines in recent months are a far cry from two and three decades ago when Henry Ford was at the wheel of his auto empire. It was the late Henry's desire that associates remain in the background and avoid all possible pictures.

So it was no surprise that the general public has never learned of the work of Edward J. Cutler of Plymouth, who bore the title of Mr. Ford's personal architect for over 25 years. Among his many achievements, it was he who was responsible for laying out and building the famed Greenfield Village.

Although Cutler faded out of the Ford organization when Henry died in 1947, he has returned to Greenfield Village every Thursday since last June. Officials of the Institute have found the archives sadly lacked historical details of the buildings, so they called on the only man who could answer their questions—Edward Cutler.

The Plymouthite and four members of the Institute have been touring the buildings with a tape recorder. Cutler is asked such questions as why Ford wanted the buildings, what condition they were in when found, how they were moved and unusual construction details. It has been up to 30 years since some of the buildings were brought to Dearborn but Institute officials say that Cutler's memory of these details is amazing.

Many people have come to know the name of E. J. Cutler from paintings they have seen hanging in the Mayflower hotel. Both he and his wife sell their oils which they paint in the studio of their home on Ridge road and while on their travels.

It was with an art school background that Cutler came from Cincinnati (his wife's home) to Ford's Highland Park plant in December 1915. Working first in the windshield department, he later was transferred to the drafting department, but he found that there were few changes to be made in those days of the Model T. Cutler then went to Dearborn where "one thing led to another" and he emerged as Ford's personal architect.

Remodeling the Ford Home-stead was one of his first jobs. But his big job in life was not conceived until the early 1920's when Ford became suddenly interested in antiquities. The idea of establishing a village of historical buildings took root one day when Ford came into Cutler's office and asserted, "Let's see if we can find some place suitable."

"First we went out on Cherry Hill road," Cutler reminisced. "Then we went over this land near Greenfield where the village is now located. It was just a farm then—no trees. We decided this place would be best."

The location of every building was then carefully talked out. Cutler was put in charge of bringing the buildings to Dearborn and seeing that they were (Continued on Page 8)

"Family Concert" Draws 1500 Adults, Children

Approximately 1500 persons, including many children, attended the Plymouth Symphony's most recent concert held Sunday in the high school gymnasium. The presentation, entitled the "Family Concert," consisted of 12 selections of all-Viennese music.

Featured attraction on the afternoon's bill was the initial appearance of the Plymouth Youth Symphony, comprised of about 35 members of junior high school age, conducted by Donald Morris. The junior symphony presented two numbers, Shadow Mountain and In a Glider waltz by Adams.

A novelty for the audience was the performance of two Bavarian zither players, who played an outstanding accompaniment to Tales from the Vienna Woods, Christian and Hans Baals, costumed in native dress including plumed hats, received handsome applause following their zither artistry.

Conductor Wayne Dunlap opened the concert with Schubert-Damrosch "Military March; Mozart's "Two German Dances, K. 605, Sleighride; Haydn's symphony No. 94 in G Major, Surprise; Symphony No. 8 in F Major by Beethoven; and Hungarian Dances No. 1, 3 and 10 by Brahms.

Following the junior symphony orchestra's presentation, Conductor Dunlap concluded the concert with Johann and Josef Strauss' Pizzicato Polka; Perpetual Motion, Tales from the Vienna Woods and Pleasure Train Polka by Johann Strauss, Jr.; and Radetzky March by Johann Strauss, Sr.

The next Plymouth Symphony concert will be held March 4 in the high school gymnasium. It will be a special birthday celebration commemorating the 200th birthday of Wolfgang Mozart. The Plymouth Symphony will be joined by Soprano Norma Heyde, and the Plymouth Civic Chorus.

GENERAL MANAGER of the Automobile club of Michigan E. S. Matheson points out the change in the state's new speed law which becomes effective Friday.

State Speed Limit Effective Friday

Michigan's new state speed limit law becomes effective this Friday, February 3, and a few reminders in connection have been given by State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

The law placed an absolute limit of 65 miles an hour on state and county roads during daylight hours and 55 miles at night. For enforcement purposes, State Police will regard nighttime hours as those during which headlights are normally used.

The State Police commissioner points out a few other provisions which the motorist should remember.

1. It is unlawful to drive faster than the absolute limit, regardless of how good or clear a highway may be.
2. The basic speed law still remains in effect. It is unlawful to drive at any speed too fast for conditions, such as weather, condition of road and traffic.
3. Many roads are posted with lower limits, and these remain in effect.
4. The speed limits applying to trucks, 45 miles per hour, busses, 40 to 50 miles per hour, and passenger cars with trailers, 50 miles per hour, are still in effect.

Actually, the absolute speed limits are just a new regulation that has been added to the basic speed law under which the state has operated for years. The new limits were approved at the first special session of the legislature early in November as part of a safety package aimed at reducing accidents.

Don't Try Cheating U.S. of Three Cents

Although you may be paying the Internal Revenue department several thousand dollars in taxes, don't try to cheat the government by not putting a three cent stamp on the envelope when mailing in your tax return.

That is the advice from Postmaster George Timpona who states that the local post office has received numerous letters containing income tax returns which bear no postage stamps.

"Some people seem to think that since the letter is destined for the government, no postage needs to be paid," the postmaster added. "Instead, it is liable to end up in the dead letter office."

In other words, a government agency on official business can send a citizen a letter postage-free, but citizens should not attempt to send postage-free letters to the government even if it is official business.

The same play will be produced by the Guild for the Father and Son banquet at the Presbyterian church on February 15.

Plymouth Scouts Win Derby Test

Plymouth scouts led the way in the Klondike derby held at Warren Valley golf course last week as three local troops finished among the winners in the two-mile sled treks.

According to George Conover, chairman of the district camping committee who arranged the district competition, Explorers' Green Bar crew of troop P-1 took first honors in their class. The troop compiled 180 points to edge out their fellow Plymouth Explorers from troop P-3, the Wolverine crew. P-1 troop is headed by William Baker, while Ferris Mathias is scoutmaster of P-3.

In Patrol troop competition, Livonia won first place while the Stag patrol of P-1 finished second. Scout Master Beach's P-4 Eagle patrol placed third in this event.

Points were given on the basis of numerous tests in survival techniques which were demonstrated during the two-mile sled run.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bartel, Sr. are entertaining at dinner and canasta tonight, Thursday, in their home on Plymouth road for Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brocklehurst and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Lorenz.

CO-SPONSORS of the forthcoming Theater Guild play, entitled "George Washington Slept Here," are the local Theater Guild and the Plymouth Kiwanis club. Proceeds from the production, which will be presented at the high school auditorium on Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday, January 22, 23 and 25, will go toward new high school band uniforms. Pictured here purchasing a ticket from Kiwanian Dr. A. E. Van Ornum is Suzanne McNeilly, 1279 West Ann Arbor trail.

SNAPPER

Of course I always knew this was a trick but all the same I never was so glad that I'm just a little guy. When that saw first started I felt longer and leaner than I ever did before in my life. If you come in the store I'll prove it really is a trick by waiting on you with both halves of me at the same time.

All the "do-it-yourself" projects that are in progress in homes across the country are indicative of an earnest desire to create items that are custom-made for individual needs and tastes — items that proudly say "made by hand—especially for our home."

Because these "do-it-yourself" ventures—though often master-minded by Dad—so often become family affairs, they make excellent subjects for your picture-taking, too. One family built a fine new dining table and mother took the snaps.

Step-by-step, she snapped a picture story. So—whatever your project—how about letting your camera in on the home-workshop activities at your house? You'll be glad you did.

See you next week, SNAPPER

Junior Achievers — the boys and girls who learn about the American way of doing business by practicing it — are observing National Junior Achievement Week and joining the celebration are members of the eight Plymouth Achiever firms.

The local companies operate their business from their center at 204 South Main street. This is the third year for Junior Achievement in Plymouth.

Starting in October 1953, J.A. had six companies at that time. Last year there were seven firms and this year another was added. The Plymouth clubs belong to the Southeastern Michigan J. A. program which is the largest in the nation. There are 40,000 youngsters belonging to J.A. in the United States. Started in Detroit in 1949, with 600 boys and girls in 63 firms, the area's program now has nearly 6,000 teen-agers operating 274 business firms of their own.

J. A. now operates 73 areas in 25 states. It is hoped to double the program's size within the next 10 years.

Girls as well as boys help operate the companies and even join in the actual manufacturing operation. Each company spends one night a week at the center.

In the fall, the companies are formed by electing officers, deciding on a product and raise operating capital through sale of stock.

After products are once being produced, it is up to members to start taking orders. At the end of the school year, the company is liquidated and if a profit is shown, dividends are paid to stockholders.

Each J. A. company has a real-life company as a sponsor. Backing the Plymouth Achievers are Daisy Manufacturing, Barnes-Gibson-Raymond, Evans Products, Michigan Bell Telephone and Chevrolet Motor division, all sponsors of one company, and Burroughs corporation, sponsors of three.

Sponsoring firms send three advisors to the center to help the youngsters with problems in sales, management and production. Woodworking machinery in the center is used to manufacture many of the items, although some firms have metal products. Some J. A. companies have sub-contractors who manufacture parts for the products.

Gibson-Raymond, who headed the program for two and a half years.

Junior Achievement was started in 1919 by Horace A. Moses, chairman of the Strathmore Paper company, together with Theodore Vail, former American Telephone and Telegraph company president, and the late Senator Murray Crane of Massachusetts. J.A. was incorporated on November 29, 1926.

Names of the eight local J.A. companies and the products they make are as follows:

Built-Rite company, nut and bolt dispensers; Ben-Ply company, novelty lamp in the form of a scotty dog; Chevco Products company, small utility stool; Floral Novelty company, wire planter; Novelty Woodcraft company, wall rack for kitchen use; Wee-Whatzit company, combination child's chair and record rack; Ja-Co Products company, mail box; and Pict Ends company, book ends in the form of picture frames.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pockington of Ross street announce the birth of a daughter, Nancy Jane on January 18, weight eight pounds three ounces. Mrs. Pockington is the former Helen Moore.

Rosedale Gardens

Mrs. Joseph R. Talbot, Jr. GARfield 1-5847

We were sorry to see that moving van parked in front of 11034 Berwick on Friday, January 27, and their three children, Judy, Jimmie, and Joanne, have moved to Rosedale Park in Detroit. Both Jean and Jim were very active in civic affairs and also devoted many hours to the activities of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church and will definitely be missed by everyone.

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Durivage and their five daughters to Rosedale Gardens. The Durivages moved into their home, 11036 Blackburn, a couple of weeks ago. We hope they enjoy their new neighbors and will stay with us for a long time.

The Rosedale Gardens Civic association sponsored its monthly dance at the clubhouse on Saturday, January 28. A few of the people that enjoyed dancing on the newly finished floor were: Mr. and Mrs. Mary Swain and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilhelmssen, co-chairmen for the evening; Shirley and Ray Robinson, Barbara and Les Core, Mildred and Lowell Jacobs, Hazel and Art Larson, Angie and Bob Scott Gwen and Bob Jackman, Peg and Bob Jenking, and many others.

Sister Mary Martina, CSSF, from Madonna college was the speaker at the meeting of parents and teachers at St. Michael's School hall on Sunday afternoon, January 29. "YOU, YOUR CHILD, and READING" was her topic. Following the discussion parents were able to contact the teachers of their children in the respective classrooms. The child's progress is of mutual concern to parents and teachers and it is believed that some parents were disappointed in their children's progress while others possibly were pleasantly surprised.

St. Michael's Cub Scout Pack Number 271 held their monthly meeting on Friday evening, January 27, in the school hall. The meeting varied from the others because after the awards were distributed the parents entertained the children. Each den, of which there are 10, had to plan a small original skit and present it to the audience. The judges had a difficult time picking the winner but they finally decided on Den number 2 for their realistic interpretation of a den meeting.

George Campau was the "den mother," beautifully attired in a green knit dress and lovely red wig. Fred McNulty, Bob Darrah, Frank Richard, Bob Clogg, and Mary Swain were dressed in cub scout uniforms and Joe Talbot was the den chief. Anyone who has ever been a den mother could readily appreciate the various antics, such as fighting for a 50 cent piece that dropped, bandaging the poor den chief until he couldn't see or talk and just plain nonsense. It was felt that the parents had as much fun practicing and preparing the skits as the boys had watching them.

The flowering almy crab tree sale will again be sponsored by the Rosedale Gardens branch of the Livonia Farm and Gardens association. There will be no orders taken this year, however, there will be a sale on April 13 and 14 of these trees at the City Hall at a bargain price. We hope to have more information for you at a later date.

Concrete forms made of GPX plywood can be re-used as much as 50 times, builders report.

Plymouth, which has no air pollution laws, may soon have regulations regarding smoke if the legislature enacts a bill backed by Wayne county and Detroit officials.

The proposal would authorize the state health commissioner to set up regulations and standards for smoke abatement and would provide penalties for violations.

One suggestion was made that a statewide "air czar" be appointed to regulate the program. Detroit would be exempt from provisions of the state bill because they already have a program which has been underway 20 years.

Local Troops Participate In Scout Week Observance

Store window displays, courts of honor, flag presentations and other special programs will highlight the local observance of Scouting's 46th Birthday anniversary during the next week and a half.

Most unit celebrations will occur during official Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12. Nearly all Plymouth troops will attend church services in uniform on the closing date of the week-long celebration.

Local troops have announced the following program of activities in observance of the event.

Troop P-1, under the leadership of William Baker, will have a window display at Davis and Lent throughout Scout Week. Exhibited will be the sled made by Stag patrol for use on "Trail of the Yukon," recent district scouting event, as well as other items of scout activity. Two troop members, John Williams and Robert Isbister, will participate in the 11 a.m. services at the Methodist church on Scout Sunday, while the remainder of the troop will present a group appearance.

At 7:30 Tuesday night, February 21, P-6 will hold its court of honor at the Methodist church. An overnight camping trip at the Charles Howell Scout reservation in Brighton is slated for Saturday, February 18.

Members of Ferris Mathias' troop, P-3, will attend the church of their choice on Scout Sunday. A potluck supper and court of honor is scheduled for the troop on Monday, February 13, at 6:30 p.m. in the Starkweather gymnasium.

Troop P-4, led by Frank Beach, plans a potluck supper and court of honor at 6:30 p.m. Monday, February 6, at the Presbyterian church. Uniformed attendance at the 11 o'clock services on Scout Sunday is also planned with dedication of the troop's new set of flags at that time.

Also expected to attend the Presbyterian services on Scout Sunday is troop P-6, under the leadership of Edward T. Miller, Jr. Following Sunday's freeze-out, the next major activity of the troop will be the first aid meet scheduled for mid-March. Plans for the troop's annual canoe trip down the AuSable river in May are also being made.

Clair Avery, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 298, Canton center, announced that a Blue and Gold banquet has been scheduled for 6:30 Tuesday night, February 7, at the Sheldon Methodist church. Boy and Cub scouts of the troop and their parents will attend the event. Troop members will attend the church of their choice on Scout Sunday.

Man Sought by Police Takes Gasoline Here

A motorist who bought over $4 worth of gasoline at Kubick's Service station on Ann Arbor road and then drove away without paying for it is being sought for armed robbery of a gasoline station in Royal Oak, it was learned by Plymouth police.

Eddie Kubick, owner of the station, said that an employee had put gasoline in the tank and as he came out of the station with a flashlight to wait on another customer, the car sped away toward the east. A teletype message received by police identified the car as belonging to a Robert Wolff who was wanted in Royal Oak for allegedly robbing a service station there.

ed the Plymouth board's opinion that people in his district are not members of the Plymouth community. He asserted that most residents consider Plymouth as their shopping center. It was also noted that many have a Plymouth post office address, Plymouth telephone and go to church here.

President Carl Caplin answered that he believed that Patchen and Nankin was more closely allied to other communities. He added that some citizens of the Plymouth district believe that the district is already too widespread. It was pointed out that the local district is the third largest in area in Wayne county and has been doing its share in assisting neighboring districts through the recent annexations of three Canton township districts.

It was suggested that Nankin and Patchen districts consolidate or merge with others. The board held with other neighboring districts on that subject but that Garden City and Livonia "both tell us that we don't know what school problems are" while Wayne is non-committal. To point out the problem, Alexander stated that his district had assessed valuation of only $750,000. In other words, said Mrs. Esther Hulsing, Plymouth board member, "if you sold your whole district you couldn't even build a high school."

It was also noted that there is little hope for any immediate industry in the two districts from which the majority of tax dollars are derived.

Outcome of the lengthy discussion was a postponement of any action by the Plymouth board until a special meeting next Monday when the full board will be present. Superintendent Russell Isbister was instructed to obtain some figures on high school enrollment expectations on which the board is expected to decide whether to exclude all high school students from the two districts next fall or to taper off enrollment.

P. T. S. A. to Hear School Architects

Architects working on plans for the new junior high school will be the speaker next Tuesday night at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher-Student association.

Held in the junior high auditorium at 8 p.m., the meeting is being opened to parents of all school children, especially those of the fifth and sixth grades whose children will soon be in junior high.

Preliminary drawings will be shown and factors that determined the design will be explained.

erected in perfect shape. "By 1929 we had a fair showing of buildings and the village was opened," Cutler added. Included in these original buildings were two from Plymouth—John Gunsolly's carding mill which Ford said he often visited with his father, and an old home located on North Mill street which in Greenfield Village is called "The Plymouth House."

The vacant lot near First Baptist church is where this home stood. Cutler's experiences during these years could probably fill volumes. "We just went crazy with work," he recalled. Ford would get a half dozen projects going at one time for the Plymouthite. When he decided to obtain a new building, it was up to Cutler to travel alone to the place and find a crew of men to dismantle it. "The bigger chunks for the better." First, however, Cutler drew detailed sketches of each structure.

After it was dismantled, the pieces marked and boxed, Cutler would hurry back to Dearborn to make architect's drawings for reconstruction.

One of Cutler's big jobs was reconstruction of Menlo Park, Thomas Edison's old laboratories in New Jersey. Nothing was there when Cutler arrived except for the Sarah Jordan boarding house. The buildings had been dismantled by neighbors who had used the boards for building of their own. By carefully measuring the remaining foundations and obtaining all existing pictures, it was possible to re-erect the park on paper. All buildings containing former Menlo Park lumber were then purchased and used in reconstructing the park in Dearborn. From Edison's former employees, original inventions were secured to furnish the laboratory.

Ford usually had no difficulty in obtaining the buildings he wanted. The private owner of the Lincoln Courthouse in Lincoln, Illinois was glad to turn it over to Ford. Townspeople had never taken interest in it. But when they learned that Ford was interested, they started court proceedings. Their interest came too late, for when Cutler had heard of the possible legal action, he wasted no time in moving the building to the village.

The Cotswold Cottage from England, constructed almost entirely of stone, has always brought comments from tourists who wondered how such a building could be moved. Cutler did not go to England to supervise its dismantling but he was responsible for its reassembling here.

In December 1936 Cutler walked into an old home on the Yale university campus where Noah Webster wrote his dictionary. "It was a spooky place with windows broken out," Cutler recalled as he looked at his notebook containing his original sketches. Clipped to one page was a picture he had taken of a young, slender boy, Henry Ford II. Henry's grandson, then a student at Yale, had dropped by to watch Cutler and his men dismantle the building.

It took three or four boxcars to move the old home to Dearborn. Plaster was taken off the walls, out in sacks, re-ground and put back up when the building was reassembled.

Among Cutler's notable achievements was his designing of the Mary-Martha Chapel located in Greenfield Village. Five similar chapels were later built by Ford, one of them at nearby Willow Run. It was recently moved to Gully road in Dearborn where a Baptist congregation had Cutler as a speaker during its dedication.

One of Cutler's favorite projects was the restoration of the famous Wayside Inn at South Sudbury, Massachusetts. Purchased by Ford in 1923, the old inn was being operated by a man named Mr. Lemon. It had been changed considerably, however, throughout the years, so it was Cutler's job to restore it to its original state. The inn, about which Longfellow wrote his renowned poem, was destroyed by fire last December.

A man who worked with Henry Ford so closely could not help but have numerous tales about this controversial figure. Cutler maintained his office in the Plymouth House, mainly because it was the only building which had a good heating system. Several times a day Ford would visit Cutler's office, sometimes with ideas about the village, other times merely to escape.

"Mr. Ford would go to chapel every morning and Plymouth House was along his route there. So he would stop and sit down, put his feet up along the fireplace and start talking. He would talk about everything under the sun except what you wanted him to talk about. He wouldn't let me have a telephone because when he came to my office he didn't want anybody to find him. So every time I wanted to make a phone call I had to walk across the road."

Many up and coming young people who thought they were becoming close friends of Mr. Ford were hastily shut out of his life when he decided that they were becoming "too friendly." Cutler was able to go through these years with but a few arguments. "One time I wanted to make an addition to a building for a bigger heating plant so Mr. Ford said okay. So the next day he came along when I had a crew of men working there and he wanted to know what was going on. I told him and he said that he had never given his permission for such a thing. I said that he did, he said that he didn't. I said that he did and he walked away in a huff."

"The next day he came back and said that he had given permission for the job after all and that he must have forgotten it during all of his other business." Cutler added, however, that Ford never spared money for the village. "Everything had to be perfect though. His favorite habit was to stand in the middle of a room and spring up and down on his toes. If the floor gave a little he expected it to be fixed."

Ford once had Cutler do over an old home at Nankin Mills, and then suggested that it be turned over to the Cutlers and their five children for their home at a reasonable rental. The family lived there until they built a home of their own on Ridge road.

Late in 1936, Ford learned that Cutler was building the new home and wanted to come to Plymouth to see it. After viewing the home, he asked his architect to get help from the company work crew to help him, which Cutler never did. Ford found out about it and ordered them on the job himself. A short time later, Ford paid another visit to the home and found that the crew had not quite completed their sodding of the lawn. His wrath came down heavily upon the foreman despite an explanation that the ground had frozen during the sodding operation.

One of the Ford Museum's popular attractions is a scale model thrashing machine, which according to the sign, was made by Ford for his grandchildren. It was Cutler who actually made the machine and he spent three months doing it. Not until the miniature machine produced pure grain without any chaff was Henry satisfied.

Another of Cutler's achievements was his designs for the Ford Plantation in Georgia. With some 75,000 acres of old Civil War plantations merged into one, Ford had a winter home and other buildings constructed for the purpose of bettering conditions for people in the area. The Cutlers were guests at the plantation for several seasons.

Everyone knows today of the success of Greenfield Village and the museum. Right from its opening in 1929, Cutler recalls, trainloads of visitors started coming. Up to a million persons a year now wander over the vast grounds. Although the name of Henry Ford will always be linked with this national institution, not forgotten either should be the deeds and name of his personal architect, Edward Cutler.

Mrs. Nellie Stopher of Detroit will be the weekend houseguest of Mrs. Brant Warner of North Harvey street.

The American Legion's fifth annual nation-wide "Back to God" telecast will be carried on the National Broadcasting television network on Four Chaplains Day, Sunday, February 5, from 2:30 to 3 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. It was announced this week.
 Appearing on the program, to be telecast from the NBC-TV Century Theater in New York City, will be National Commander J. Addington Wagner and National Chaplain Joseph Mac Carroll of the American Legion, and distinguished representatives of the clergy.
 President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon have been invited to participate. The president has appeared on the telecast for three consecutive years.
 The Four Chaplains Day program is the annual highlight of the American Legion's "Back to God" movement through which the world's largest veterans organization has championed the bringing of the American people to the realization that our Nation was founded upon the faith in God, and that we should return to the precepts of our Founding Fathers if our nation is to flourish. Cardinal objectives of the movement are regular public worship, daily family prayer and the religious education of our children. Majority of the Legion posts and units implement the program in their communities.

American Legion News

Thanks again to all the girls who participated in the Mother's March of Dimes last Thursday, January 28. The Drive was very successful. Our president, Melva Gardner, was chairman of the Plymouth Township this year.
 District President Ada Langmaid attended the business meeting of the Lloyd Green Unit of Northville, Tuesday, January 24. Two resignations were on hand, and Bernice Denune as treasurer, Virginia Burnham as president, Newly elected and installed were President, Margaret Corey; Clara Alexander as treasurer. We wish them a successful term. Ada also attended the Rosedale Park unit on Friday, January 27, on her annual visits to all units in the district.
 Our next business meeting is February 9, Veterans home, 8 p.m. Through our meetings we hope to carry the inspiration of the two Americans born during February to a wide portion of the American public. Mrs. Fern Burleson, Americanism chairman, said, "We feel that in the critical conditions of today, Americans need to give thought to the lives and words of the men who guided the founding and the preservation of our Union. The American Legion Auxiliary's Americanism activities are a year-round program, but we feel that by giving special emphasis to them during February, we can reach millions with our patriotic message."
 Our Junior Activities group met at the Veterans home on Wednesday, February 1, at 3:30 p.m.
 The Post's business meeting held Wednesday, February 1, was attended by the Department Blood Bank chairman, Bill Beitner, who discussed the set up of the blood bank for the 17th District.

Grange Cleanings

We are to have a speaker and the program will be conducted from the table with Past Master Hartom as the toast master. The committee requests that the baskets be carried directly to the kitchen and they will take charge of the serving from there. Do not bring any dessert as it will be provided. Bring a good generous dish to pass as we are to have guests you know.

Many Plymouthites will remember Dorothy Kenyon Cline, former cashier at the Penn theatre, now a dyed-in-the-wool Californian. She is associated with the UCLA Teaching Hospital and makes her home with the Larry Crosbys in Pasadena. Mr. Crosby is Bing's oldest brother and is associated with the crooner in the operation of Crosby Research in Los Angeles. She says she doesn't see much of the rest of the famous family but speaks most highly of them all. She says she keeps up to date on Plymouth through the pages of The Mail and would like to make a visit home to see the many changes that have taken place there during the last few years.

Pictured here are Mr. and Mrs. Rod Highfield with their two boys and an aunt who was visiting at their home. Mrs. Susan Morgan. Rod is the son of Mrs. Stanford Besse and is at present a student in the Fuller Theological Seminary where he is studying to become ordained as a Presbyterian minister. He graduated from Plymouth high school and Ypsilanti Normal and moved to Colorado Springs with his wife in 1951, and came here in 1954. They are now residents of Pasadena.

Busy industrialist Ward Tracy and his wife took time out to say hello. Now residents of Glendora, a town similar to Plymouth they say, the Tracys while in Plymouth resided in the old Wilcox homestead while he was associated with the Ford Motor Company for 16 years. Later he became one of the first Wall Wire employees where he remained until moving to California in 1941. At present Mr. Tracy is general manager of the Southwest Products Company of Duarte, California. He joins Mrs. Tracy and his daughter Marlene in sending regards to all of their former friends and promises to answer all letters any of them would wish to write.

The former Isabelle Nairn, now Mrs. Jack Hovey and a life-long Plymouthite, is pictured with her husband who also resided in Plymouth about 12 years previous to their marriage. They are at present residents of Van Nuys and Mr. Hovey is a sales engineer at Hollywood Tool and Engineering in North Hollywood. They have a nice family of three girls and one boy and wanted especially to be remembered to the Nairns back in Plymouth. Mrs. Adeline and her two sons James and David. They are very satisfied with California having made their home here since 1946.

The right of the people to know is basic to the preservation of our freedom, and fundamental to our American way of life. The infringement of this right, whether by government or by groups, or by individuals, no matter in what small measure it may begin, will lead to tyranny and the death of liberty.

GOP Eyes Appointments With New Hope in 1956

Republicans controlling the legislature are wading through the first weeks of the 1956 session still uncertain just what to expect from Democrats.

Schedules call for adjournment April 6 in time for a full season of politics before the primary and the November elections.

But the tone for the session set by Gov. Williams has majority members of both houses wondering whether some knotty problem will keep them in session beyond the deadline.

Williams has asserted he won't cause trouble over taxes this year, with collections of existing levies reaching new records, but some of his other ideas are stirring consternation.

For instance, he has asked that the legislature start working out some way to meet the prospect of automation and to try to fit peace time atomic energy into the economy.

Both of those are federal problems and not ours," said one Republican leader.

Williams said the state should find new jobs for the workers who are replaced by automation and atomic energy.

At the same time, he is urging that the state do everything possible to encourage automation and atomic energy — "to have the courage and foresight" to prepare for them.

Senator Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek) and majority leader in the Senate, retorted that the program was Williams' appeal to the national political scene and had little bearing on immediate problems in Michigan.

"It's the best speech Walter Reuther (CIO president and vice president of the merged labor movement) ever made," Coleman told the Lansing Rotary club.

Williams has asked for higher unemployment compensation, an expanded aid-to-the-farmer program, more State Police, added mental care facilities and a budget $60,000,000 over the expenditures of 1955-56.

Republicans figure the major issue of the 1956 session will be the budget, with the turnpike versus free road controversy, mental health, prisons, labor legislation and others in the runner-up spots.

More than 75 appointees of Gov. Williams will face confirmation tests in the 1956 Senate. Republicans surprised everybody the first week by confirming Tom Downs, a former CIO official, to the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Downs first was appointed in 1949 and was confirmed. When his term expired in 1953, he was reappointed, but Republicans were angry at him this time.

They charge he changed the minutes of a commission meeting. He admitted this but said he was just making them conform to what was done, not attempting to change the sense of the meeting.

So for three straight sessions, Downs appointment was ignored and he held office under an informal arrangement pending some positive action by the Senate.

His confirmation was unanimous, but his term expires anyway eight days after the next governor takes office — whether Republican or Democratic.

Senator Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), chairman of the Senate business committee, said the even-year tradition will be revived this year.

The tradition calls for the Republicans to hold back action on confirmation of key officers to allow the next governor—which they hope will be Republican — to make replacements immediately.

"The Democrats would do the same under different circumstances," he said.

The latest highway safety issue before the legislature is a school for poor drivers.

Sixteen legislatures are pushing for the plan for counties over 20,000 population. The same idea was killed during the special session last November which was dedicated to highway safety.

The plan would require drivers who get three tickets in two years to enroll in a local driver's school, organized by the State Police commissioner, the sheriff, local prosecutor and the chief law enforcement officer of the largest city or village in the county.

The driver would be required to pay a $5 tuition fee for a six-week course. Course standards would be fixed by the State Police.

Democrats are opposed to the idea because it takes the standard-fixing duties away from the office of secretary of state.

Secure Your Own Future By Saving, Investing Wisely

Babson Park, Mass., — Most people seem content to live from day to day irrespective of their pocketbooks. Governmental "womb-to-tomb" social security has caused people to take lightly problems of unemployment and old-age security. Most young people give little or no sound thought to their financial futures. They, therefore, never get even the few dollars necessary to get themselves started on the road to successful investment. Surely, the birds who build their nests (homes) before they raise their young set us a good example.

My father used to tell me that a man who systematically spends less than he gets, automatically becomes an employer; while a man who spends all he earns, automatically remains a wage earner. Father insisted that the business of saving had nothing to do with how much money a person had, or the amount of his salary. "Some people with very large incomes never save anything," he used to say.

It has been my own observation that partners in business and partners in marriage tend to get along well as long as there is plenty of cash in the bank. It is when the bills come in, and there is no money with which to pay them, that trouble begins. The only way to assure financial or marriage success is to tell your dollar where to go instead of asking where it went.

Main Investment Problem: Saving

Your first step in an investment program is to save some of your income each week. The next step is to make your savings produce some more income. I am a firm believer, however, that it is cheaper to pay the grocer than the doctor; hence a budget should be drawn up which puts first things really first. Many of my clients tell me that they are disappointed by spending too much on rent, or its equivalent in taxes, repairs, insurance, etc., on property owned. The best thing that could happen in many households today would be to cut down household labor costs by getting the children to help more with household chores.

To start a budget, one ought to determine from experience and from old bank statements and cancelled checks what his probable expenses will be for the year ahead. My observations through the years are that a man with a family of four who has a net income of $4,000 (after income and social security taxes) ought to hold his living expenses to about 75% of that $4,000. About 42% of this would go for food and clothing; 33% for housing and transportation. Right here I think many families, especially in the lower-income brackets, will find that they are paying altogether too much for their transportation in the form of a new automobile which they cannot afford. If they want to get started on a sound investment program, they better pay more cash, and use less credit. Six per cent is budgeted for benevolence and the church; 6% for personal and miscellaneous items. This leaves about 13%, or $545, for insurance, savings accounts, and investments. Let us hope that $220 dollars of this will go for life insurance premiums. This would

★ THINKING OUT LOUD ★

One question, sometimes controversial, sometimes personal is asked each week by The Mail of four pedestrians along Plymouth's downtown streets. This week's guests are "thinking out loud" on the question:

"It seems to be a fact that shopping in downtown Detroit is gradually falling off. Today we are asking local housewives if they shop in downtown Detroit as much as they used to."

MRS. DORIS HERRICK, 14231 Northville road: "I used to shop there but now if we go down, it's usually on Friday night to just look around. I guess it's the traffic. Occasionally we go to Northland now but we do most of our shopping around here."

MRS. WILBERT THOMPSON, 11885 Haggerty: "No, I don't go shopping there anymore. Why waste time trying to find parking? I occasionally go to Northland. But I can get a nice selection from stores right here in town."

Mrs. Herrick Mrs. Thompson Mrs. Snyder Mrs. Hatch

MRS. WALTER SNYDER, Livonia: "I don't go shopping downtown anymore. Everything seems more handy by coming to Plymouth. I can find just as much right here."

MRS. ARTHUR HATCH, 8249 Ravine drive: "No, I don't go too much now that Northland has opened. Northland is more convenient for Plymouthites. By driving downtown you waste time parking and spend so much money on gas that you don't save anything even if it is on sale. Most things I can find right here, except perhaps for clothes."

New Future For Your Present

How many ties did you get for Christmas? For once I didn't come up with any—could have used a couple this year, too. Instead I got three wool mufflers. Never wear a muffler.

Some people are determined to do something about the Useless Gift Problem—they're holding a "White Elephant Party" Saturday at the Community Hall.

Handy Peterson's the chairman. "Bring any presents you'd rather give than receive," he says. "Chances are you'll swap them off for something even worse—but it ought to be fun."

From where I sit, it's sometimes pretty hard to give a man exactly the present he wants. Other people so often have tastes and preferences that differ from our own—for example, think of all the people you know who claim coffee's the beverage, and all the others (like me) who'd rather have a glass of beer. Being able to make your own choice is the greatest "gift" of all.

Brunswick Stew Makes Tasty Family Dish

Here's a hearty dish that's practically a meal in itself!
Mrs. David Gates of 13900 Ridgewood suggests "Brunswick Stew," for its delicious flavor and finds it makes a wonderful item for the family menu. Chock full of all kinds of vegetables, this dish needs only a tossed salad and dessert accompaniments to finish a meal off to the queen's taste.

Given below is the procedure.
Brunswick Stew

- 4-lb. chicken
- 1 tablespoon of salt
- chicken stock
- 2 cups of canned tomatoes
- 2 cups of lima beans
- 2 cups of corn
- 1 cup of chopped onions
- 1 teaspoon of pepper
- 2 bay leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon of thyme
- 1/4 cup of butter
- 4 tablespoons of flour

Cut chicken into pieces. Simmer for 1 1/2 hours in one quart of water with tablespoon of salt. Remove meat from bones in rather large pieces. Place in pot with two cups of chicken stock. Add tomatoes, lima beans, corn, chopped onion, pepper, bay leaves and thyme.

Melt butter in saucepan, blend in flour and gradually add the remaining chicken stock. Pour into pan with chicken. Mix well and cook slowly (covered) over low flame for 1 1/2 hours.

Ingredients for "Brunswick Stew" go into the pot as Mrs. David Gates of 13900 Ridgewood prepares one of her favorite supper dishes. Looking on are four-year-old Mary Ellen (left) and Martha Ann, 6.

Good Equipment - Half the Battle, Says Expert on Cookie-Baking

Cookies are good any time but the equipment you have can decide whether or not you will enjoy making them. A shiny cookie sheet, a cake turner or spatula for removing the cookies from the pan and cake racks for cooling a whole sheet of cookies at one time are pieces of equipment recommended by culinary experts.

A pastry cloth and rolling-pin stocking prove to be wonderful aids and are inexpensive. Dust the pastry cloth and stocking with a mixture of one part sugar and two parts flour, and the cookie cut-outs can be readily lifted off.

An automatic refrigerator cookies, the cloth can be used to wrap around the dough to prevent a warm hand from heating the dough. Warm dough is harder to handle.

An alarm clock or stove timer helps to set the time and will keep the cookies from burning. Preheat the oven to the desired temperature and put in the cookies. Since each oven is slightly different, the first batch of cookies may bake a little faster or slower than the recipe suggests. After it has been checked with the first batch, bake successive batches accordingly. Other equipment might include cookie cutters for various designs and a cookie press.

You will want to store these cookies, too. So put the crisp ones in a jar with a screw top. The soft ones keep best in a stone jar with an apple or orange slice to help retain the moisture.

Be sure to keep them in a cool dry place. The experts add that cookies keep for longer periods of time in your home freezer.

New Machines Whisk Away Carpet Dirt

Science has found a way to get your wall-to-wall cotton carpets really clean. A new and revolutionary cleaning method that will restore the bright clean color to heavily-soiled installed cotton carpets in a single visit to your home has been developed by research sponsored by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

A Wayne County Home Agent explains that machines necessary for this new method are not yet in commercial production, but will be demonstrated to potential manufacturers this month. Wall-to-wall cotton carpets have always been a problem to cleaners, who sometimes had to make as many as three home calls to clean one carpet. Small cotton "scatter" rugs are successfully laundered in washing machines.

Unlike most rug-cleaning methods, the new procedure uses large amounts of fresh, clean suds which are actually worked through the carpet pile by a rotating brush. Then they are sucked up through a vacuum nozzle at the outer edge of the brush. By removing both suds and soil from the carpet through the vacuum, a cleaner, drier carpet can be obtained than with conventional cleaning methods. Detergent and soil remain in the carpet with some of our present equipment.

Following cleaning, the cotton carpet undergoes a rapid drying operation. Lastly the texture of the pile is restored by an agitation-type vacuum cleaner.

CORN MEAL HUSH PUPPIES SATISFY "Growling" TUMMIES

There is an exceptional taste treat in store for you any time the table calls for a flavorful bread to go along with a meal. Whether it's a party for friends or just an every day dinner for the family, you'll find Hush Puppies the corn meal food to delight hard-to-please appetites.

High in nutritive value yet low in cost, Hush Puppies make a delightful service when combined with vegetables, meat, fish or poultry. And they're extra good when served with fresh, boiled shrimp, too. You can serve them with every meal, any time of the day or night, and you'll have the family coming back for more.

Whatever the occasion, prepare Hush Puppies and you'll make meal-time so nice to come home to.

HUSH PUPPIES
2 cups corn meal
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup finely chopped onions
2 cups sweet milk
(If self-rising corn meal is used, omit baking powder and salt.)

Combine dry ingredients and sift together. Add onion and milk and blend well. Preheat deep fat to 365° F., dip tablespoon into hot fat and then into dough, shaping the dough slightly to make fairly round. Drop into hot fat and cook until well browned.

Specialist Tells Way to Clean New Interfacing

To wash or not to wash Pellon: that's the question. Or, should this new non-woven interfacing be dry cleaned?

An extension clothing specialist at Michigan State university, answers this by citing some research studies using Pellon as interfacing in suit fronts, as lining in girl's gored cotton skirts and as separate slips for little girls. The studies were done at Cornell university.

Washed in both an automatic washer and by hand, the material laundered well. However, she explains, Pellon did shrink lightly. She suggests to home seamstresses that Pellon should be sewed loosely into seams to prevent puckering after washing. When Pellon is attached only at the waist such as in undershirts or dresses, it can be sewed more firmly.

Dry cleaning Pellon is a different story, the research studies point out. The samples became very yellow after a few cleanings. And when put away for a few weeks the dry cleaned samples became stiff and "boardy." They did not shrink, though. The yellowness of such interfacing would be likely to show through in light weight white or light colored materials after a few dry cleanings. And, researchers conclude, the additional stiffness would be undesirable in some garments.

Keep Home Freezers at Zero, Say Experts

Zero degrees F. is the temperature recommended for foods in home freezers, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Temperatures above zero don't hold food quality and those lower don't keep food enough better to be worth the extra operating expense.

290 EGGS per HEN

New All-time State Record with

DEKALB CHIX

In Missouri, a DEKALB flock averaged 290 eggs for Ernest Schmetzler at Salisbury, establishing a NEW, high record in the University of Missouri's Extension Poultry Record Keeping Program. Schmetzler housed 185 birds, and lost ONLY 7 birds during the year ending August 31, 1955, (3 from moldy feed.)

OTHER TESTS SHOW DEKALB CHIX SUPERIORITY

DEKALB CHIX won the first Texas Random Sample test with the earliest maturity; the highest egg production and the best adult livability. In the 5th California Random Sample test, DEKALB birds averaged 267 eggs per pullet (Hen-Day Basis), and 271 eggs per pullet (Hen-Day Basis) in the 6th California Random Sample Test. In the Kansas Poultry Flock Improvement Project Sept. 1, 1954 thru Aug. 30, 1955, DEKALB CHIX took first in the Hatchery Breeder flock division with 271 eggs average per bird, and first in the Farm Flock division with 270 eggs average per bird.

Urge Parents to Keep Food Prejudices Mum

An outstanding food study group believes it is possible to improve the nutritional habits of large groups of people by improving the food practices of children.

They say that: "If these children have an opportunity to learn and practice principles of good nutrition in school, they will acquire better food habits and attitudes which will carry over into adulthood."

This group of educators state that it is never too early to start the child's education in good nutrition. They would like to see schooling in this field begin in kindergarten and the first grade.

They stress how important it is for parents to keep their food prejudices from children until good habits have been firmly formed.

It started right on announcement day.
On that day, we made bold to call this the Best Buick Yet. (A pretty big statement, we're sure you'll agree.)
But, in the scant three months since then, we've had ample proof of how more-than-right we were—
Not just from the tremendous initial interest shown in the new 1956 Buicks—
Not alone from the way our sales have zoomed past all expectations—
But more especially and more clearly and more positively from the enthusiastic "play back" that's coming from happy new-Buick owners.

Yet, when you do floor the pedal to switch the pitch—you get an extra abundance of safety-surge power to pull out of tight spots on the highway.
You'll hear about a new "sweetness" of ride made even more buoyant by deep-oil cushioning and all-coil springing—and about a new ease of handling and steering—and a new four-footed sureness when taking the turns.
So what's left to be told?

Except the news of brilliant new Buick styling inside and out—which you can see for yourself. And the question, "How much?"—which only you can answer.

For you can go all the way from the bedrock-priced SPECIAL—to the high-stepping CENTURY—to the outstanding SUPER—and on to the custom-built ROADMASTER.

Grade Labels Ease Job of Door Selection

If you have a need for a hardwood flush door for a building or remodeling project you can determine the quality level of the door by checking the grade mark, according to a new commercial standard covering hardwood veneered hollow-core flush doors.

Recently issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce, the standard says that "grade marks have been adopted by the National Woodwork Manufacturers Association as a means of assuring consumers and distributors that hardwood veneered hollow-core flush doors conform to the high standards of quality defined herein."

The NWMA acts as licensing agent for the grademarks. Unless a door is produced according to the requirements of the new standard, it is not eligible for a grademark.

The grade marks are stamped on the upper or lower edges of the doors in red for exterior doors and green for interior.

The three NWMA grades are Premium, Good and Paint. The hardwood face panels for Premium grade doors are selected for higher appearance values. If the face panels consist of more than one piece, the joint is tight and the two pieces are matched for color and grain pattern. Good grade doors are also faced with beautiful hardwoods intended for a natural finish, and sharp contrasts in color and grain are avoided when the face panel consists of more than one piece. A few small burls, occasional pin knots and slight color streaks or spots are permitted.

The face panels of paint grade doors must not contain defects which will be visible after two coats of paint are applied. The same three grade names apply to the face panels of both interior and exterior doors. The difference between the two basic types is that exterior doors are bonded with waterproof adhesives, while interior doors are bonded with moisture-resistant adhesives.

A new grade marking system for hardwood veneered hollow-core flush doors has been inaugurated by the National Woodwork Manufacturers association, whose members include major door producers. Doors labeled in conformity with the system are certified to meet the new U.S. Department of Commerce standard for such doors.

Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Manager Urges "Operation Home Improvement"

Edward Hart, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, stated today that the American building industry has launched a promotional campaign entitled, "Operation Home Improvement," which will be conducted throughout this year. Using the slogan "56—The Year to Fix," the reputable industry hopes to encourage home owners to undertake those remodeling operations which may be necessary for their homes, and also for the improvement of their utility and beauty.

In urging residents of Plymouth to participate in Operation Home Improvement this year, Hart also urged home owners to confine their dealings to local reputable firms, and to avoid doing business with the minority of unscrupulous builders who have caused problems for both the legitimate industry and the public.

Quoting a bulletin from the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local Chamber is affiliated, Hart warned against such long-standing building rackets as the "display house scheme," the itinerant roofers scheme, bait advertising for storm windows and doors, phony furnace repairmen, and problems arising from the use of certain types of mastic paint.

In the "display house" scheme, the promoter calls on one or more local home owners, and explains that his company plans to commence remodeling operations in the community. Before they begin activities, he claims, a good "demonstration job" is needed in the neighborhood to show their prospects. He, therefore, offers to supply a new roof or new siding for the house "at less than cost, and he also offers to pay a commission on each job that he gets as a result of showing the 'display house' to other customers.

This entire sales pitch, Hart states, is a falsehood. The promoter has no intention of using the house for display purposes, and the bargain-seeking home owner finds that he has paid an exorbitant price for an inferior job.

Itinerant roofers park their truck near a victim's home, and state that they have just finished another job in the neighborhood, and have some materials left over. They offer to repair the victim's roof at a small fraction of the ordinary cost, since they will be pleased to dispose of their left-over materials.

Like the "display house" pitch, this story is also a pure fabrication. The itinerant repairmen often ruin the victim's roof and charge him a fantastic price.

Bait advertising for storm windows and doors is another scheme which home owners should avoid, according to Hart. Such advertising features windows at such prices as $7.95, $9.95, $10.55, etc., and frequently makes alluring statements to the effect that the windows will require no maintenance, are "unconditionally guaranteed," and that immediate delivery may be had.

However, when the salesman calls at the prospective customer's home, he tells a different story. He says that the advertised window is of poor quality, that it will pit and corrode, that the guarantee is very limited, that delivery will take weeks or months, and generally does everything possible to disparage the window and to "switch" the customer to purchase a more expensive item at prices ranging from $20 to $45.

In the furnace repair field, the most persistent racket continues to be an attempt to sell a new furnace after the dishonest "repairman," in the course of his inspection, "discovers" that the present furnace, "discovers" that the furnace cannot be repaired. After gaining access to the basement, these men will usually dismantle the furnace completely, and then, with the parts strewn all over the cellar floor, state that they are unwilling to re-assemble a "worn out" furnace. They state that the furnace is dangerous to use, and that parts are either unobtainable, or take months to secure. In this way, they hope to frighten the home owner into buying a new furnace.

So-called "mastic paints" have also sometimes been a source of difficulty. Certain of these paints, which are advertised as having a high degree of permanence and dependability, have been reported by some users to chip, crack, discolor, peel or blister, immediately or very soon after they are applied. It is difficult to ascertain to what extent these problems may lie in the deficiency of the product, and to what extent they may lie in faulty application.

Frequently, mastic paint purchasers have "guarantees" from both the manufacturer and the contractor-applier. However, when the mastic deteriorates, each of these parties may insist that the fault lies with the other. In such situations, the customer may be unable to salvage anything from his transaction, despite the fact that he holds two guarantees.

Hart states that the National Better Business Bureau has furnished the local Chamber with a set of recommendations for persons who are planning to carry out their own "operation home improvement." He will be pleased to discuss these recommendations, and to discuss current rackets in the field, with any resident of Plymouth who desires this information.

More than 250 individual companies, including distributors as well as producers, have accepted the new U.S. Department of Commerce commercial standard for hardwood veneered hollow-core flush doors. The National Woodwork Manufacturers Association has established a new grade labeling system in conjunction with the standard.

To encourage colonization, settlers in Canada and in some of the American colonies were given by their government four small lights of glass to make a single window in a log cabin.

TV Snack Tables Designed For Stacking, Easy Building

Eating at least one or two meals each week while watching TV is becoming an American habit. Instead of using lap trays, it's easy to build a stacking set of individual tray-tables with Do-It-Yourself aluminum legs and a plywood top.

Cut the three frame pieces from 1x2 screen stock or clear cabinet wood. Bore 3/8" holes in the underside of frame ends for aluminum rod legs. Assemble the wood H-frame with glue and 8-penny nails.

For the top, cut 1/4" plywood to 14"x20" size. Use a hardwood veneer surface that can be finished naturally or fir plywood to be enameled. Screw the top to the H-frame, countersinking screws.

Fill over screw heads with wood putty and sand smooth.

Finish the table top with enamel or varnish before adding the legs. Cement the 24" aluminum rod legs in the holes with quick-drying plastic cement. Slip rubber cane tips on leg ends.

Reynolds Do-It-Yourself aluminum is available at hardware stores and building supply dealers.

Vapor Barriers Protect Home From Condensation

Vapor barriers help defeat condensation in the modern house. With the construction of smaller, tighter-built houses, plus the growing use of moisture-producing appliances such as clothes washers, dryers, and dishwashers, the difficulties resulting from excessive indoor water vapor have become more pressing.

The key problem is keeping water vapor out of places in the house where it might condense and do harm, particularly exterior walls and the attic. Condensation can cause paint failures, wall paper stains, and wood rot. In new construction, protection against condensation accompanies the installing of insulation, for mineral wool batts and blankets are manufactured with vapor barriers built in.

In older homes, it frequently is impossible to install special vapor barriers. Here, specific kinds of paints are often used as vapor barriers. Rubber-base paints and paints with a high varnish content are impervious to vapor. So is aluminum paint, often used as an undercoat. It is important that paint used as a vapor barrier should have no breaks or cracks in the surface through which vapor can seep.

In places, in existing houses where framing is exposed, vapor-barrier batts and blankets can be used.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Many times in these columns, people have been instructed to go regularly to their family physicians, and have themselves examined. Large numbers live in terror of disease and yet fail to take this advice. Most people become very much alarmed if they suffer from shortness of breath. It is a very disagreeable condition, and may really be the symptom of a serious trouble. On the contrary, it may mean that one is so fat and lazy that any unusual exercise causes the breath to come in rapid panting gasps, when there is no underlying organic disease of the heart.

The normal rate of respiration is from 15 to 20 per minute. During sleep it drops to 14 or 18. When you run a race, or engage in unusual or strenuous exercise, breathing becomes more rapid. This is due to the fact that nature requires more air in order to oxygenate the tissues for the exertion breaks them down more rapidly. When the heart is normal, the quick breathing ceases in a very short while after the exercise is discontinued.

If the person is not engaging in any strenuous or unusual exercise, and yet breathes faster than normal, he should go to a physician for his heart, lungs or other organs may be at fault.

Difficulty in breathing or shortness of breath could be due to some acute disease, such as influenza, pneumonia, or even tonsillitis. Maybe the lungs have something wrong with them. So many causes produce shortness of breath that it is useless in an article of this kind to enumerate them. Not every case of heart trouble is accompanied by shortness of breath, unless the patient is taking active exercise.

A heart that has been damaged by rheumatism or some other infection can be greatly improved, if the condition is found early enough to apply the proper remedies, of which one is complete rest over a definite period of time. Overeating or a wrong diet, sometimes causes shortness of breath not only by distending the stomach from bulk, but fermentation frequently sets up. This engenders gases, which cause the diaphragm to be pushed up to out of position and affects movement of the heart.

A patient remarked to the writer a year ago that she had long suffered with shortness of breath and discomfort about the heart, but she didn't much believe in doctors and so she had done nothing about it. Her belief or disbelief did not alter the fact that she was suffering from a serious heart trouble and had she sought counsel, she could have been helped. She didn't believe in doctors until too late and she is in her grave.

Michigan Joins U.S. Corn Belt

Michigan has now joined the Corn Belt. So spoke James R. Bliss, general manager of the Michigan Elevator exchange, to a Farmers' Week group at Michigan State university.

Last year, Michigan farmers grew 90 million bushels of corn to rank 9th nationally. Ten years ago, Bliss said, the state ranked 16th in production and had to import corn for livestock feed.

He also pointed out that growing corn for cash sale had moved north in the state because of new quick-maturing hybrids, increased use of fertilizer and the influence of government corn price programs. In order to keep pace with this boost in corn growing, local elevators have had to do extensive remodeling to handle cash corn. This modernization trend will continue, Bliss predicted.

Fear is kin to both envy and a guilty conscience.

"Of course, I have no doubt that some of the savings increase in December here in Detroit was due to the fact that the newspaper strike and absence of newspaper advertising kept many people from spending as much as they might have for Christmas. By saving the difference, they are storing up future buying power, and that will be of benefit to all of us."

"This is all part of a savings trend that has been in evidence all over the country," said Gehrke. "In 1955, the country's insured savings associations accounted for over 50 per cent of the public's net new savings. That means that over half of all the money saved in this country's financial institutions went into accounts in insured savings associations — and that's after deducting withdrawals."

First Federal is Michigan's largest savings association and has seven offices, including the downtown headquarters at 751 Griswold street, and there are branches in Highland Park, Ferndale, Plymouth, on Gratiot just beyond 7 Mile, at Grand River and McNichols, and in Livonia's Sheldon Center.

A new branch office, First Federal's eighth, is under construction in Grosse Pointe, on Kercheval near St. Clair.

Consumers Makes Expansion Plans

Consumers Power company will invest more than $14,000,000 in its Southeast Division, headquartered at Pontiac, during 1956 to expand and improve its natural gas services throughout Oakland, Macomb and western Wayne counties, according to Division Manager David H. Gerhard. The area includes Plymouth.

Gerhard announced that the company will install, in various division areas, some 140 miles of new gas mains to meet the needs of an estimated 23,000 new consumers which it expects to add to its service lists during the year.

In addition, an important new 16-inch gas main will be installed from the mains of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company in the Northville gas fields to the company's Coolidge Highway gas regulator station in Royal Oak, a distance of some 28 miles. This will provide for a new source of supply of gas from Panhandle, and from the Northville fields, to the company, Gerhard said.

Important improvements to many gas regulator stations on the service lines will result in better service and more efficient operation of the system, according to Gerhard. Principal regulator projects will take place at stations in Macomb, south Oakland and west Wayne counties, he said.

In Wayne county, 3 stations will be built or enlarged.

Junior Varsity Cagers Compile 4-3 Card

Plymouth high school's junior varsity cagers have compiled an exact replica in the won-lost department as that shaped to date by the Rocks varsity during the current basketball battling. The reserves have notched four wins and suffered three setbacks.

Since the Christmas vacation lay-off the JayVees have broken even in four games with two victories and two defeats. Prior to the holiday, the junior Rocks had won two and lost one.

Most recent outing for the junior varsity took place last Thursday when the locals posted Belleville with a 61-43 defeat. Paul Cummings with 14 points and Jim Dzurus with 12 highlighted the rout of visiting Belleville.

Twelve of the 15 reservists entered the scoring column as Coach John Hoben watched his hopefuls display what he described as their "best effort" of the season. Earlier in the year the young Rocks won a tight 29-28 contest from the same Belleville foe.

At Allen Park January 20 Plymouth's reserves struggled two overtimes to eke out a 40-38 decision over their hosts. Deadlocked 33-33 at the close of regulation play, the squads remained tied at 38 apiece at the end of the three-minute overtime.

But in sudden-death, Dave Walasky drove in for a basket to earn the locals the nod. Cummings' 11 points and Walasky's nine paced the Rocks. The varsity failed to fare as well the same evening, suffering a humiliating 42-41 defeat at the hands of a control-ball playing Allen Park machine.

Against Redford Union January 13 the young Rocks suffered a close 37-33 loss despite Cummings' eight point contribution coupled with seven points from both Wayne Jurhdal and Jerry Hearl. The loss was the third and most recent of the season for the reserves.

In the first tilt after a twelve-day holiday rest, the JayVees were nosed out 48-43 in overtime by Trenton on January 6. Frozen at 41-41 as the final buzzer sounded, the teams went into a three-minute extra-play period to decide the contest. Plymouth could muster only two points as the Trojans pumped in seven, gaining the nod. Two Rocks fouled out in the overtime, thereby slicing the locals' chances.

Don Alsbor's 12 points headed the Rocks scoring as Wayne Wilson and Bill Hubert each tallied nine. Hubert has since advanced to the varsity roster.

Shouldering its 4-3 record, the junior varsity will travel to Livonia-Bentley's floor tomorrow evening to engage in the second Bentley battle of the season. Previously the Bulldogs clipped Plymouth's reserves 48-32. The junior varsity tilt will begin at 7:00 p.m. with the varsity battle to follow immediately.

Cagers Repeat Pummeling of Belleville, 61-42, Suburban 6 In Preparation for 2nd Tilt with Bentley, Friday

Plymouth's cagers strolled to their fourth win of the current basketball season last Thursday evening by swamping the Suburban Six league's doormat, Belleville, with a 61-42 decision. The victory also was the Rocks' third in conference play and raised them to .500 per cent in the loop with three losses.

The locals splurged happily in the opening minutes of the game, played on the Plymouth court before a slender home-town crowd. Before Belleville could collect itself offensively, the Rocks had raced to an 11-0 lead with five minutes gone.

Although the resulting winners had little trouble holding back the bumbling Belleville quintet following this commanding early bulge, the Rocks were unable to maintain their mauling attack and stone-wall defenses. Plymouth continued to a 17-10 first-quarter lead and swelled it to 28-17 at the half. Twenty points in the third period and an additional 13 in the final frame smashed the guests, who meanwhile were tallying 25 counters in the last half.

Featured on the evening's agenda was the debut of a new variety hopeful. He is slender Bill

Hubert, a blond-headed sophomore recently moved up to the varsity roster from the reserve squad, who started the contest and scored four points on two field goals. Cage Coach Charlie Ketterer explained that Hubert "periodically" showed good form and promise.

Other point-makers who joined in the battering of hapless Belleville included Dick Davidson with 13, Jack Carter with 11 and Tom Ferguson with seven. Eleven of the 14 varsity cagers, all of whom saw action, participated in the scoring romp.

The loss was Belleville's fifth of the campaign against one victory. Its one win was over Allen Park, who nosed the locals a week earlier.

The decisive pummeling of the Belleville cagers by Plymouth was the second time this year that the Rocks have been able to take advantage of them. Earlier the locals blasted Belleville to a 61-39 tune.

This most recent battle marks the beginning of the second round of action in the Suburban Six league basketball wars. Prior to it, all of the six member teams were scheduled to face each other once more on the way to completing the 10-game conference slate.

Statistics from the game include the fact that Plymouth attempted 69 shots from the floor and connected on 26 of them while Belleville tried 59 and made good on 16. In addition the Rocks cashed nine of 19 free throw tries and their guests hit for 12 out of 31.

Tomorrow night the locals journey to Bentley to take on the Bulldogs, who previously edged Plymouth 53-49 as the Rocks produced one of their best team efforts of the year in a futile attempt to stop the Bentley machine which is centered by 6-foot 5 Ron English. English methodically totaled 30 points last time to break Plymouth.

Although the Plymouth varsity cage squad managed to card its third Suburban Six league basketball win last Thursday night, the Rocks are still no better off now than they were before the contest. They remain, however now more securely, in third place with a 3-3 record.

The locals were unable to climb, despite their 61-42 win over Belleville, due to a sudden turn of events that featured Trenton in a 55-46 upset decision over highly-touted Redford Union on Friday evening. Trenton and Plymouth were co-champs of the league last year.

Redford Union, previously deadlocked with Livonia-Bentley for claim on the league's top rung, dropped into a tie for second with 4 showings. Meanwhile Bentley cut a further swath through the league with a 49-36 nod over Allen Park. Bentley stands at 5-1.

As a result the Suburban Six cage race is a scrambled affair with four teams (the Rocks as the fourth) in a tight net for top honors. Even with its mediocre 3-3 card to date, Plymouth stands an outside chance of going to the top should the breaks favor the locals from here on in.

The standings:

This Friday Plymouth takes on Bentley on the Bulldogs' court while Redford Union faces Belleville and Trenton squares off with Allen Park. Including tomorrow's game, each of the six member schools have four tilts remaining on the 10-game conference schedule.

8 First Place Slots Earn 4th Tank Win

Invading the Allen Park pool the Plymouth tankers gathered in their fourth victory of the current season Friday, dumping the Parkers by a 59-28 advantage.

Explosive throughout the entire meet, the locals captured eight first places as they eased their way to the win. The initial first place finisher for the victors was Don Carney with a time of 25.4 in the 50 yard free style.

Dennis Baker succeeded Carney in .25.6 while Tony Anowick picked up third place honors for the Parkers.

The tilt's second event was the Parkers' most profitable as Bob Buss picked up their lone first in the time of 1:10.5 in the 100 yard breaststroke. Recording a second was the local's Mike Todd 1:12.2, while third place went to the A. P. crew.

As usual, the local's Bill Brandell wasted little time in completing the 200 yard freestyle as he splashed out a time of 2:11.5 which was sufficient for first place awards and a new pool record. Second place points were handed to the Parkers while Jack Taylor gave Plymouth its first third place rating for the evening.

With the time of 1:06.1 John Gregory set a new pool record in the 100 yard backstroke as he raced to the finish line for a first and five points. Succeeding Gregory was the Parker's Steve Loses who captured second slot honors with a 1:15. Third place was handed to the A. P. crew. Also smashing a pool record was the local's Garry Wright when he lashed out the time of :56.4. Picking up second in this event was the local's Denis Baker with a time of :57.0 Lumon (A. P.) trailed Baker for the one point award of third.

Arthur Losse's 67.2 points were more than enough to capture a first in the diving competition as his closest competitors were team mate John Walker and the Parkers' Bill Ruske who tied.

In the 150 yard individual medley event Dick Showers scored a first as he cracked out a time of 1:50.4 and was followed by Allen

Trippsters Lose Final Dimes Tilt

Geo. Tripp, local men's recreation cage leader, was defeated 72-60 last Saturday evening by Van Meter Insurance of Wayne in the Trippsters' second and final game of the Wayne March of Dimes basketball tourney. The battle was played on St. Mary's high school court, a match-box sized gymnasium in Wayne.

In the consolation contest the same evening the 30th Air Force from Willow Run routed the Ford All-Stars 65-55. Proceeds from the tourney will be turned over to the March of Dimes.

Tripp, unable to get underway in the first two periods, was severely pummeled by Van Meter during the opening minutes. Tripp fell behind 12-4 and finished the first quarter at a 13-8 disadvantage. Still listless in the second frame, the Trippsters slipped even further back as Van Meter ran its edge to 28-17.

Although Tripp's cagers rallied to meet Van Meter on equal terms in the second half, the damage was already complete. Tripp tallied 17 points in the third period as against Van Meter's 18 and then notched 26 in the final quarter, the same number counted by the winners.

Tripp's stalwart guard combination, Duane Becker and Mac Pierce, teamed up to count 35 points between them, better than half of the Tripp final score. Pacing Van Meter's scoring was Macomber with 23, while Rielly added 18 to the cause.

Tripp gained the tourney's championship game a week earlier by downing the Ford All-Stars 65-63 while Van Meter was whipping up a win over the 30th Air Force at the same time.

Bird, Starkweather Pace Elementary Cage League

Bird and Starkweather grade schools have succeeded in dominating play in the elementary school basketball league this far into the current cage schedule. Both schools hold records of four wins and no losses.

Surprising the charter members in the conference this year is a newcomer to the elementary loop ranks, Canton Hill's squad. Composed of boys from Canton Center, Cherry Hill and Truesdale school districts, recently absorbed by the local district, Canton Hill has battled its way to a tie for second place. All boasting a one-win and two-loss total are Canton, Lutheran and Catholic.

At the bottom of the league is Smith with one win and three defeats and Allen with no wins and three losses.

High scorers to date are Starkweather's D. Gotthard with 22 in three games, Bird's Tom Lock with 13, Canton Hill's Ralph Gady with four, Lutheran's Bruce Stevens with nine, Catholic's B. Gillis and D. Stremich each with eight and Smith's Bruce Horvath with seven.

The standings:

TEAM	WON	LOST	BYE
Canton Hills	1	2	1
Lutheran	1	2	1
Catholic	1	2	1

Brader Wins, Snips 8-Game Losing Streak

Highlighting action in the Plymouth men's recreation basketball league last week was S. L. Brader's first successful outing in nine straight games as the Brader squad shaped a 55-40 decision over Bathey Mfg. The win snipped an eight-game losing skid.

The only other cage battle of the week in the recreation conference resulted in the Geo. Tripp cagers powering to a 71-48 nod over Tait's after the Cleanersmen had throttled Tripp's fast-break attack throughout the first half. Tripp nearly tripled its half-time score in the third and fourth quarters.

Brader's edge over Bathey who five days earlier had nipped high-flying Tripp, came on the strength of Jerry Heaton's 22 points, eight in the fourth frame when Brader decided the tilt.

Following a three-quarter score of 38-36 favor Brader, Bathey's offense literally fell apart. Bathey netted only four points in the final period as compared to Brader's 17.

Larry Brennan's 14 points and Don McMurray's 10 aided the winners' cause. Bob Houghton paced the losers with 15, while Dick Day tallied 10 and Dwight Eckler added six.

Tripp, racing back after holding a slender three-point 25-22 halftime edge, mauled the hopeful Tait's team with 46 points in the final quarter. Tait's managed 28 counters in the last half.

Carrying the scoring load for the Trippsters was Mac Pierce, who cashed 18 points. But two other players hit double figures as all seven of the winning players got into the scoring act. Bud Lanphear and Duane Becker each garnered 13, Jim Bloomhuff scored nine and Don Huebner and Bob Luifs pumped in eight apiece.

Ron Pagenkopf's 10 points led the losers as Pat Robinson, Bud Nedry and Bill Vaughn each got nine and Phil Straub, a newcomer, marked eight.

There were no games played Thursday.

The standings:

TEAM	WON	LOST
Tripp	11	1
Tait's	5	7
Bathey	5	7
Brader	3	9

Odds Against Them

Big "IFS" Block Rocks' Cage Trail

Although thrice defeated in conference action already this season, the Plymouth cagers still stand a slender mathematical chance of retaining their share of the Suburban Six league basketball crown which they captured last year in a tie with Trenton. But to do so the Rocks will need help—and lots of it!

To date the locals have compiled a 3-3 league card. Their prime rivals for the 1955-56 crown, Bentley, Redford Union and Trenton, rest substantially out of reach—so it would seem. Bentley stands 5-1 while the other two are holding down 4-2 records.

But with good fortune and some timely assistance from these same three teams, the Rocks might just be able to preserve their share of the championship for another year. However, Plymouth's hopes in the league scramble hinge on a long line of theoretical ifs.

The largest factor in the Rocks' path is that they must win all four of their remaining league tilts. One additional defeat tagged to their already mediocre record will eliminate them from the hustle entirely. And to notch four straight decisions, the Plymouth cagers must include wins over the three leaders, Bentley, Redford Union and Trenton. Then they must also turn back Allen Park, who earlier beat them.

Other ifs that block the Rocks' road to success swing on the shoulders of the same three teams. As in all races with more than two competitors, the performance of any pair of entries will serve to determine the result of all others involved. Bentley, Redford Union and Trenton could let the Rocks in the back door by cutting each other's throats.

Beginning with Redford Union and Trenton: Each must lose one more game to wind up with a card that matches Plymouth's possible 7-3 final tally. But these two do not meet each other again. Therefore it's up to the Rocks to furnish the defeats. The locals face Trenton February 10 and Redford Union a week later.

Bentley on the other hand must suffer two additional losses in order for the Rocks to match the Bulldogs at the season's end. Supposing that Plymouth whips Bentley tomorrow evening, the Livonia club would have to lose one to either Redford Union or Trenton to finish with a 7-3 result.

The intricate and hopeful figuring skips over one other item. The unexpected appearance in the win column of either Belleville or Allen Park with a decision over Redford Union, Trenton or Bentley (but not Plymouth), could throw the crown to the Rocks alone.

But a more feasible, yet just as far-fetched finish would find the present top four quintets sharing the conference title with 7-3 records at the finish while Allen Park and Belleville close with 1-9 cards.

Although the probability appears slight, it's the possibility that makes horse races. And the possibility keeps Plymouth hoping.

Although the probability appears slight, it's the possibility that makes horse races. And the possibility keeps Plymouth hoping.

BOY SCOUTS FROM PLYMOUTH participated in the annual Klondike derby held recently at Warren Valley golf course, where scouts hauled Alaskan sleds across a two-mile course, stopping at numerous points to be tested in winter outdoor survival techniques. Among those from local troops present were these four scouts of P-1 with George Conover (second from right), who was in charge of the derby. From left standing are: David Melow, Karl Melow, Conover, Dennis Baker and (on the sled) Ernest Reddeman. The derby was held for all district seven scouts.

Chamber Group Hears Social Security Talks

Social Security was the subject discussed when the state and National Affairs committee of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce met recently at the Mayflower hotel. The speakers were Roy Pursell, widely-known opponent of the social security system, and Harold Curtis, local insurance representative.

While Pursell took a definite stand against social security, Curtis offered an explanation of the system and its workings.

The annuity business of the federal government is 10 times greater than all private insurance businesses, Pursell pointed out.

To back up its social security program, the government has but $22,000,000 in non-negotiable I. O. U.'s he added. He accused the system of being un-Constitutional, "but most of us go along with it because we feel so helpless."

He added that Congress has made the plan compulsory because they feel that no one would participate if it were voluntary. "I ask, if no one wants it, why have it?" He asserted that politicians have bought huge blocks of votes by sponsoring various bills to liberalize benefits.

Courtesy Rules

The teacher wrote on the black-board "The horse and cow is in the stable."
"Now," she said to one little boy, "what is wrong with that sentence?"
"Well, miss, you should say, 'The cow and horse is in the stable.'"
"Why?"
"Ladies first."

Michigan's Crude Oil Drops 6% in 1955

Michigan' crude oil production dropped six per cent in 1955, but the year's recovery of natural gas was up 15 per cent from 1954.

Major companies and independent producers drilled 484 wells during the year and brought in an estimated 200 oil producers, 22 dry gas wells and 262 dry holes.

At present, nearly 4250 oil wells are producing in the state; these gave about 11,000,000 barrels of crude oil last year. The state's 300 gas wells produced 6,000,000,000 cubic feet, an increase of nearly 1,000,000,000 cubic feet from 1954.

Four new oil pools, three new gas pools and seven new oil "pays" were discovered during the year. A pay is production from a new level or from some other source in a proven field. Important for future state production was a 30 per cent increase in geological test permits issued. Petroleum operators explore underground rock formations and make other tests under these permits.

The experts may know better, but we suspect more accidents are caused by the law requiring oncoming cars to stop when a school bus is unloading, than are prevented by it.

New "Miss Brooks" Format Leaves Critic Cool

There is something strange happening in the world of situation comedy shows... They have been deteriorating as a general rule but this season they have about fallen apart at the seams...

Miss Brooks was transferred to a grade school and the pace is now at a complete standstill... The only ray of sunshine in the new hedge-hodge was the addition of Bob Sweeney, a very clever man who has a penchant for inducing laughter from his viewers...

Then there is the case of "My Favorite Husband"...

over... Miss Brown, although beautiful and charming, was simply no match for the talented blonde comedienne and as a consequence the show folded completely... Too bad... It had all the earmarks of a good show...

Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dean Martin are planning a San Fernando Valley golf course. Wouldn't you like to be there when all three are playing on it? Stewart Granger and wife, Jean Simmons, have bought a $17,000 house in Bel Air...

Bob Sterling and Ann Jeffreys have decided they'll make no more Topper pictures. In all, they've made 78. The Barry Sullivan started 1956 with a boom. He signed a $1,000,000 TV contract with ZIV and his wife, Marie, who hasn't acted since 1942, has been cast in "The Sixth of June..."

Martha Raye, who soared to film fame with Bing Crosby and Bob Burns in "Rhythm on the Range" declares she'll never return to the movies. She now has an ideal routine - appears on TV every third Tuesday night, does the show in a week and then returns to her Connecticut home for two weeks...

In "The Wedding Clock," which Henry and Phoebe Ephron will write and produce for Twentieth Century, James Cagney and Bob Wagner will be co-stars. Cagney will play a New York cop with five daughters and two sons. One of the daughters is about to marry a junior member of the FBI, played by Bob Wagner, and Cagney learns of a plot to kill Bob before the ceremony. Exciting?

Metro's re-issue of "Gone with the Wind" last year - a picture they didn't even make - netted that studio a profit of over $7,300,000.

Walt Disney recently spent two weeks in the little mountain town of Clayton, Ga., where he supervised the launching of his new Civil War screen drama, "The Great Locomotive Chase." The cast is headed by Fess Parker and Buddy Ebsen. Walt, who has been collecting old railroad engines of every type for years, sent two of his own handsomely renovated vintage locomotives to Clayton for use in the picture.

Bing Crosby will get $200,000, plus 25 per cent of the net profits, from "High Society," which is being produced by Metro.

Vital Statistics - in case you are interested - Jack Benny, radio, screen and TV comedian, will be 62 his next birthday, on February 14th. It's true because he said so himself.

Lillian Gish has signed to play Mrs. Lincoln in "The Day Lincoln Was Shot." The studio would like to get John Wayne for the role of Lincoln, and, if possible, Ty Rome Power to play John Wilkes Booth.

Erskine Caldwell's best seller, "God's Little Acre," is to be filmed, with Caldwell, Phillip Yordan and Anthony Mann cooperating. They would like to have Spencer Tracy in the leading role.

David Selznick goes to Europe early in January to look at locations in both Switzerland and Italy for his production of "Farewell to Arms," which is scheduled to begin in June. Gregory Peck seems to have the inside track to play the role opposite Jennifer Jones in the film.

The Film Daily has announced that Ernest Borgnine and Jennifer Jones have been voted the best actor and actress of 1955 in an annual poll of film critics. Mr. Borgnine took top place in the periodical's Famous Five citations for his portrayal of the title role in "Marty." Miss Jones' citation was for her work in "Love is a Many Splendored Thing."

It is interesting to note that "Marty" also figured in two other classifications - Delbert Mann was rated for the year's best director for his work on "Marty" and Paddy Chayefsky's script of the film got the nod as the best screen play in 1955.

Joan Simons is about to star in RKO's projected remake of "Morning Glory," issued by the studio in 1933 with Katherine Hepburn, starred, Ruth and Augustus Goetz, who wrote the original screen play, will do the same for the revised version.

As his first directing assignment, Don McGuire finished the film end of Frank Sinatra's "Johnny Concho," with only three weeks of shooting. Don has been a writer and has directed shorts and TV but Sinatra gave him the opportunity to direct his first full-length picture.

Two of Nobel prize-winner William Faulkner's stories, "Sound and the Fury," and "Soldier Pay," have been bought by Jerry Wald. John Kerr will probably star in the latter film.

When "The Leather Saint" is made, with John Derek starred, the principal character will be an Episcopalian minister instead of a Catholic priest, who turns to prize fighting to raise money for his poor church. The change was made so that a romantic situation could be developed in the story.

With Clark Gable in mind, R.K.O. beat all other studios to the draw and bought "Cash McCall," a best-seller novel. They hope and pray Gable will play the lead character who is described as a dreamboat to women and a high financier among men. It was written by Cameron Hawley, who also wrote "Executive Suite."

Twentieth Century-Fox has signed Geoffrey Toone, British actor, to play the role of Deborah Kerr's savior in "The King and I." Toone has appeared on the screen in "Sword of Honor," made in England, and in "Captain Lightfoot," which Universal filmed in Ireland.

If you think Spring Byington is a "natural" as the delightful mother-in-law in her comedy series, "December Bride," you're right. The part she plays is almost like her role in everyday life. Movie fans will remember Spring's motion picture debut in the 1930's as "Marmie" in "Little Women." Then, as now, she was so convincing, it hardly seemed she was acting at all. She really is a well-loved mother-in-law and a real-life grandmother of three, and she has brought her charming naturalness to each role she's played in her long and successful career in radio and on the stage, motion pictures and television.

Credit Union Adds Buford Spots To List of Officers

With the exception of one officer elected last week at the annual meeting of the Daisy Credit Union, the organization will be headed during the coming year by its entire slate of 1955 officers.

Elected was Buford Spots who will take his first term of office as vice president of Daisy Credit Union. Others elected at last year's meeting are serving two-year terms of office.

The present slate is composed of Frank Heike, president; Edgar Peck, treasurer; Alexander Susky, chairman of the educational committee; and Fred Hadley, clerk.

Wallace Osgood, Harold Williams and Robert Smith will continue in their former capacity as members of the credit committee. One new member, Marion Daincy, was added to the supervisory committee, composed of Doris Marshall and Lewis Wells who served during 1955 and will continue in 1956.

The meeting was held in the VFW hall, where approximately 200 heard Albert W. Marble, managing director of the Michigan Credit Union league, as guest speaker for the evening. Marble spoke on the advantages of the credit union and complimented the local organization on its growth to a total membership of 400 among a potential of 500 employees.

Dinner was served by the VFW Auxiliary and followed by an entertainment program.

OUTDOOR NOTES

From The MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Fall migration flights brought an uncommon visitor to Michigan—a small goose that looks like a miniature version of the well-known Canada goose.

The little white-cheeked geese, commonly called Richardson or Hutchins geese, weigh about four pounds when full-grown—less than half the size of an average Canada. The birds have markings and coloring similar to Canadas, but a much sharper and distinctly different voice.

A few of these diminutive birds were sighted in Michigan in 1953 and 1954, but numbers of them made their appearance last fall at all major goose concentration areas.

At least 24 of the birds were bagged by hunters and three were live-trapped and banded by game workers at Kellogg biological station in Kalamazoo county.

Naturalists are not in agreement as to the classification of the little geese and taxonomists at the University of Michigan are studying several birds contributed by hunters last fall.

V. V. Lusardi of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, wrote Michigan's Conservation Department on May 17, 1944, asking for topographic maps of certain areas of Delta county.

The Department's geological survey division answered that such mapping did not yet extend to those areas. The answer, like countless others in those war years, was typed on a penny postcard.

Last week, after a determined 12 years' show of patience, Lusardi mailed the same time-yellowed card back to Michigan.

"Are the maps available now?" he asked.

"Sorry, Mr. Lusardi," the Department answered, "they aren't. The service was discontinued after the war."

Owners of property on most Michigan lakes can protect their beaches and cottages against high and low water troubles by using a state law passed in 1939.

The law, Act 194 of 1939, has been frequent use since its passage during a time when much shore property throughout the state is being developed.

The act was set up to help people whose beach is occasionally turned into a five-acre mudbank by low water, or whose cottage has to be calked up and made floatable in high-tide summers.

Government agencies, including county boards of supervisors, the U.S. government and the state Conservation Department, will act on proper public requests for aid in setting legal high and low lake water levels on defined "public" lakes.

Property owners must convince boards of supervisors that a controllable dam is needed at their lake's outlet and they must be willing to stand at least part of the cost of building and maintaining such a structure. Property owners can petition their local boards for action or the board can institute direct action without a property owners' petition.

The Conservation Department provides preliminary engineering advice, including such necessary answers as beach profiles, cost estimate, dam recommendations and sea level data that establish the lake's elevation.

Department field workers also canvass property owners for their opinions of an ideal level for the lake and study flood flowage capacity for the dam.

All the information goes into an engineering report later given to local officials for their use.

Then the circuit court holds a public hearing to decide whether a dam should be built and if so, to set a legal level or levels. The law provides for a maximum and minimum at the court's discretion.

Detailed information, including sample petitions for shore-owners, is available from the Department's geological survey division at Lansing, 26.

About 40 state leaders in the field of natural resources met here last week to organize, pass bylaws and elect officers to the newly-formed Michigan Natural Resources Council.

Gleason E. Halliwell of Gladwin, a Michigan Farm Bureau director, was elected first chairman of the fledgling organization.

Paul A. Herberot, Michigan State university, was elected secretary and Farley F. Tubbs, Conservation Department, was elected treasurer.

The executive committee consists of the four officers, plus Hereford Garland of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, William Palmer of the Michigan Oil and Gas association and Stanley G. Fontana, of the University of Michigan School of Natural Resources.

Twenty timber wolves were bountied in Michigan in 1955, all in the upper peninsula.

Also, 3069 coyotes and 24,428 foxes were bountied in 1955. The state paid $176,280 in bounty fees for wolves, coyotes and foxes and an undetermined amount for bobcats in the upper peninsula. Bobcats can be bountied through county sheriffs' offices and the Conservation Department has not yet received a total 1955 figure from these officials.

December also saw 81 coyotes and 1183 foxes bountied.

The wolves were 10 males and 10 females. Two males, one each from Alger and Delta counties, were bountied in December to close out the year.

In 1954, trappers bountied 23 wolves, 3186 coyotes and 26,964 foxes.

Almanac Offered By Michigan Bell

Copies of the 1956 edition—the 34th printing—of the Telephone Almanac are now available in the local business offices of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

On the cover of the new edition is an engraving of the British cable ship Monarch, and a map showing the course of the submarine cable it laid from Clarenceville, Newfoundland, to Oban, Scotland, the first of two cables that will link the U.S. and Europe together by telephone cable for the first time in history. Present telephone conversations are carried across the ocean by radio.

Making a new appearance is a four-page color insert showing new facilities and devices for the convenience of telephone users.

The inside back cover of the almanac contains astronomical data for 1956, and on a facing page is the ever-popular rebus for younger readers of the book. The translation of the rebus appears in another place in the publication.

Besides the monthly timetables for the sun and moon, the pages of the book record historical happenings and events for each day of the year.

Cadillac, Michigan automobile Distributor, a 15-year customer, writes: "Just about out of Breakfast Sausage; please ship the usual 25 lbs. cut in about 2-pound pieces for my freezer. My family will eat no other sausage."

Well known Kalamazoo industrialist and sportsman, a 7-year customer, drives to Plymouth to pick up 80 pounds of Koch's Sausage for a special sportsman's breakfast. Said he, "This crowd demands the best."

Breakfast - Lunch Dinner - Supper

Around the Clock It's Time for Koch's Sausage

Detroit Dietician made this comment to a first-time customer in our Sales Room: "What you say is true about ordinary sausage but I don't think you will have any stomach distress or indigestion after eating this sausage. There's something about it—Koch's Sausage really digests."

Automobile Executive from Bloomfield Hills tells us: "I have eaten sausage, bacon and ham in some of the famous eating establishments in this country and Europe and I have found that Koch's products are seldom equalled and never excelled."

A Detroit Physician who has used Koch's Sausage for over 12 years says: "My own experience with Koch's Sausage has induced me to recommend it to many of my friends."

Ann Arbor pharmacist remarks: "I gave up eating sausage years ago, until I found Koch's—most digestible sausage I've eaten. No greasy after-taste and no belching—and besides it's delicious."

And this Nationally-known Sausage is made and sold, exclusively, right here in Plymouth Township — not more than 5 or 10 minutes away from you! Equally famous are our Bacon, Hams, Canadian Bacon, Corned Beef, etc., etc.

We are open until 7 o'clock every evening and until 8 o'clock on Saturdays and Sundays. DRIVE IN. Ample space in paved parking area.
