

Record 235 To Graduate Here Tonight

Two hundred and thirty-five young people will receive diplomas tonight at Plymouth high school—the highest number ever graduating from the institution.

Commencement exercises will begin at 8 p. m. in the high school gymnasium. Baccalaureate services were held last Sunday night.

Tonight's ceremony will mark the end of a formal education for many and the step toward more education for others. School Board President Harold Fischer will present the diplomas.

The commencement speaker will be Donald M. Currie, associate dean of student affairs at Eastern Michigan College. He is also director of placement and alumni relations.

Currie is serving his 11th year on the Ypsilanti college's faculty. Prior to coming to Eastern Michigan in 1947 he held teaching positions and administrative positions in schools and industry.

Currie has a bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan and a masters degree from the University of Michigan. He holds membership in Phi Delta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi and Kappa Delta Phi honor societies in professional education. He is a life member of the Michigan and National Education associations and is listed in Who's Who in American Education.

The processional and recessional will be played by Berya Adams. The Reverend David L. Bieder, pastor of First Baptist church, will deliver the invocation, followed by Currie's address.

A senior, Marilyn Freyman, will then sing "One Little Candle". Principal Carvel M. Bentley will present the class of '57, followed by presentation of diplomas. The graduates will then sing their class song.

Ushers for the evening will be members of the class of '58.

This will be the largest graduating class since 1948 when 207 received diplomas. That was the last year when Rosedale Gardens students attended Plymouth high school.

Donald M. Currie

In 1952 the class dropped to 135. It jumped to 184 the following year, dropped to 174 in 1954; climbed to 188 in 1955; dropped again to 185 last year.

Principal Bentley states that the graduating class next year will probably drop to about 220. But when the present ninth grade graduates in 1959, it is expected to go over 300 and remain above that figure.

School records go back to 1881 when only seven graduated.

School Site Price Accepted by Board

A price of $46,500 for 10 acres of improved land appears to be the final price of a school site in the Fred E. Greenspan Building company development, according to action taken by the board of education at its regular meeting Monday night.

The board has authorized the superintendent to have the school attorney draw up an offer of purchase which will be examined at next Monday's special meeting. Their acceptance will also be based on two conditions.

Also approved by the board was the authorization of Wheeler & Becker, Architects, to proceed with plans for a new elementary school. The new school will be a replica of the James Gallimore school which Wheeler & Becker designed.

A letter from Joseph Staub, officer in the building firm, was read at Monday's meeting and quoted the $46,500 price. This will include bringing sanitary and storm sewers and water to the site, paving of the street and sidewalk.

The two conditions of purchase will state that the board will pay cash for that portion of the total price which represents the cost of the land (this has been quoted at about $32,200). The builder will then be asked to sign a performance bond which will guarantee that the improvements will be made to the site. The board will agree to pay the remaining amount when the improvements are made and facilities are laid to the site.

Since there were no representatives from the building company present, it is not known if the conditions are acceptable.

In other business before the board, salary increases for the administrative personnel were approved. Salaries are now set as follows: superintendent, $15,000; administrative assistant, $10,000; high school principal, $11,000; assistant high school principal, $7,800; junior high principal, $8,500; director of adult education, $9,050. Elementary school principal salaries are based on what they would receive as a teacher, plus the following increments as a principal: 1 year, $1,400; 2 years, $1,600; 3 years, $1,800; 4 years, $2,000; 5 years, $2,200.

Pledges of Blood Coming in Slow

Sponsors of the Red Cross Bloodmobile which makes a stop in Plymouth on Tuesday, June 25 are still far short of reaching their goal of 300 pledges, it was reported this week.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Masonic Temple from 2 to 8 p. m. and there are hopes of obtaining between 150 and 200 pints of blood during that period. To accomplish this, at least 300 pledges are needed.

The Lions' Club and Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion have joined those organizations which are helping to sponsor the visit. Organizations can build up a "blood bank" within their membership. It is also possible for an individual to deposit blood for himself or his family, give it to a specific individual or to the Red Cross blood bank for defense.

Any individual giving blood can also give through an organization without belonging. It is not necessary to sign a pledge card before visiting the Bloodmobile, but the Red Cross prefers pledge cards in order to anticipate the crowd.

Mrs. Hulsing, Zoet Win School Board Race

Both Proposals Approved By Wide Margins; 946 Go to Polls

A special meeting of the board of education will be called Monday, July 1 at which terms of office of Mrs. Esther Hulsing and Charles J. Zoet will begin.

While it will be the beginning of the second term for Mrs. Hulsing, Zoet will be starting his first term on the five-member board.

Voters also approved two proposals on the ballot, one that will change the school district from a fourth class to a third class status and the other to provide three and a half mills for operating expenses for the next five years.

Results of Monday's voting were as follows:
Mrs. Esther Hulsing	580
Charles J. Zoet	431
Robert R. Soth	387
Warren L. Smith	380
Proposal 1 (reclassification)	616 Yes; 256 No
Proposal 2 (millage)	651 Yes; 247 No

There were 946 voters going to the high school polling place, a figure 29 higher than last year when a record was set for a school board election. There were only 374 voting in 1955 and 382 voting in 1954. Some voters were in line as the 8 o'clock poll closing time arrived Monday night. They were, of course, allowed to vote.

The newcomer to the board, Zoet, is a 36-year-old Bentley High school mathematics teacher. He lives with his wife and three daughters at 380 W. Liberty street. (To clear up the varied pronunciation of his name, it rhymes with 'suit'). Among his platform points were the increase of teacher pay, purchase of school sites years in advance and to obtain teacher expression on the merit pay proposal.

Mrs. Hulsing was elected to the board three years ago and has served as its secretary.

Zoet has 10 days in which to file his acceptance papers. In years past the new members could take office and the board was reorganized within a week after the election. But electors voted Monday to make this a third class district and one of the provisions of this classification is the term of office which cannot be extended from three to four years. With the exception of the seven-member board, all provisions of the third class district are now in effect, according to an opinion received yesterday from the Wayne County board of education.

The board was in meeting Monday night as results were being tallied. Leaving the board is Warren Smith who has served six years (two terms). Smith has been board treasurer during the two terms, a period when the district has undergone great expansion, both in size and facilities. The other losing candidate, Robert Soth, ran third in the field of four.

School officials were both pleased and surprised with the vote on the two proposals. It was a surprise to learn that the millage vote received greater approval than a proposition involving no money. There were 651 approving the millage proposal and 616 favoring the district's reclassification.

Approval of the reclassification proposal means that electors will be voting for two additional school board members next year. The board will be increased from five to seven members and terms extended from three to four years. Since only one board vacancy occurs next year (Harold Fischer), there will be three seats to fill. How terms will be re-arranged for four-year lengths has still not been determined.

Proposal 2, dealing with the millage change, will give the school three and a half mills for operating expenses during the next five years. Two mills of the total is renewed from a five-year levy which expired this year. The other mill and a half will be "transferred" from bond retirement millage. The vote of approval given by electors will make it possible for the school board to reduce the bond millage and apply it to operating millage.

Pleasant weather throughout the day may have been a factor in the increased vote. Women turned out in greater numbers than the men. There were 511 women casting votes and 435 men.

Mass Sewer Tap Project Approved By Commissioners

More than 50 citizens of the city's southern section attended Monday night's special city commission meeting at which the city agreed to have a contractor install all sanitary sewer taps at one time this summer.

Property owners were given a chance to present their views on the sewer tap assessment at Monday's public hearing, but comments from the audience were mainly in the form of questions. There were no objections heard.

There are 425 sewer taps to be made into the new $600,000 sanitary sewer. It was previously agreed to allow property owners a year to make the taps, but the commission has since decided that all taps should be made as soon as possible so that streets will not be torn up over a period of a year.

The George Odien Company, contractors for the sewer, has been given the contract to install the taps. The tapping fee for each lot is $80. Work will start soon. Property owners will be given a year to pay the $80 or quarterly installments with the 6 per cent interest on the unpaid balance.

Drive Chairmen For Community Fund Appointed

Chairmen for the 1957 Plymouth Community Fund campaign were appointed at the regular monthly meeting held Tuesday night at the Veterans Community Center.

Mrs. L. B. Rice and Richard Daniel were appointed co-chairmen for the drive. Others serving on the committee are: Treasurer, John Pint; industrial committee, Thomas Rossettie and Ralph Carter; special gifts, professional and commercial, Mrs. Rice, Donald Rank and Dr. R. R. Barber; publicity, John Gaffield; and residential and school committee, Mrs. Claude Gebhardt, Mrs. Eva Geller and Mrs. Ralph J. Lorenz.

This was the first meeting for Donald Rank, principal of Allen school, who was appointed at the last meeting to fill a vacancy on the board.

Appearing before the board to explain their financial needs for next year were representatives of the Veterans Memorial Foundation, Plymouth Dental Fund and Plymouth Recreation Commission. On the budget committee are Gaffield, Mrs. Rice, Rossettie and Carter.

Foster Awaits Circuit Court Trial in Jail

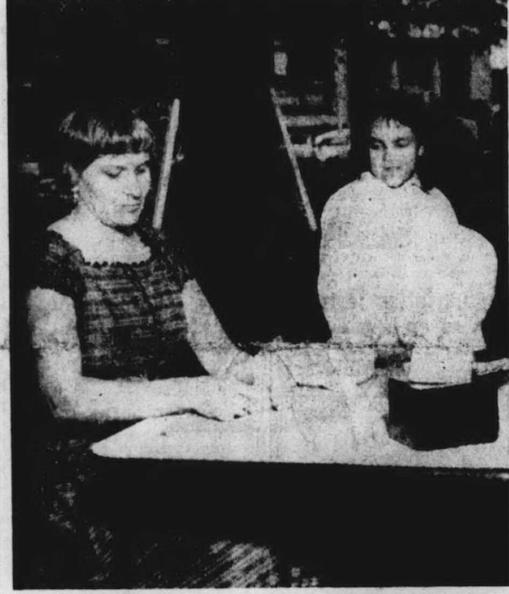

Russell J. Foster, the former Plymouthite who was arrested last week for breaking into a service station and taking $388 in cash and checks, is in county jail awaiting trial in circuit court.

Foster, 22, pleaded guilty in an examination before Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo. He committed the burglary at Kelsey's Gulf Service Station on June 1 and was arrested three days later talking with a friend on Mill street. He has a Wayne address.

Police caught up with Foster when he signed his own name to one of the checks he stole and cashed it at a Northville bank. He had a police record as a juvenile.

YOUNGSTERS AS well as grown-ups enjoyed the open-air art exhibit held in Kellogg Park last Saturday sponsored by the Three Cities Art Group. Paintings, ceramics and mosaics were shown under the trees. Visitors recognized many of the paintings as local buildings and scenes.

KIBITZERS WERE welcome as some members of the Three Cities Art Group performed their work during the outdoor exhibit in Plymouth's Kellogg Park. Here, Hilma Aubert, Livonia school art teacher, is working with clay as a young girl observes. The exhibit will be in Livonia this Saturday and in Northville at a later date.

Plymouth Man Plays Role In Historical Ceremony

A Plymouth man who had a hand in saving what remains of the "Kingdom of St. James" will be present Sunday when the Michigan Historical Commission dedicates a historical site marker on Beaver Island.

Russell P. Hoffman, 760 Burroughs, along with A. J. Roy of Pontiac, will attend the ceremony which marks the spot which had a history as brief as it was bizarre.

The story starts in 1847 when one James Jesse Strang set himself up as absolute monarch of Beaver Island "high up" in Lake Michigan, north of Grand Traverse Bay and 20 miles northwest of Charlevoix.

Claiming to be the recipient of divine revelations, "King Strang" made plans to extend the geographical scope of his sect, an offshoot of the Mormon center at Nauvoo, Illinois. He did manage to settle some of his followers on the mainland near the present-day Charlevoix, despite a brisk skirmish between them and hostile mainlanders. That skirmish is remembered as the "Battle of Pine River".

Strang was assassinated by some of his own followers on June 16, 1856 on the dock at the capital of his kingdom, the hamlet of St. James on the eastern shore of Beaver Island.

The rise and fall of this bizarre kingdom and its fantastic leader will be brought into focus with a ceremony at 5:30 p. m. Sunday at the Charlevoix city dock looking out toward Beaver Island.

The Michigan Historical Commission will dedicate a marker following a tour of the island. Charlevoix city officials, state legislators from the district and representatives of the historical commission will be on hand.

It will be the first site marker to be dedicated in the Upper part of the Lower Peninsula.

Among Strang's accomplishments was the publishing of his newspaper, "The Northern Is-

City Turns Down Property Offer

City Commissioners turned down Monday night an offer to purchase the building owned by First Church of Christ, Scientist, for a price of $45,000.

The church, located next to city hall, has been eyed by city officials for many years as a possible means of expanding city hall in the future. The city would also like to buy the property in order to widen Dodge street on the side of the building from 35 to 60 feet.

An offer of $30,000 was made by the city to the church, but a church committee in a letter to the commission said that an appraisal showed that it was worth at least $45,000. A motion was then made and approved to reject the church's offer.

The congregation is building a new church on Ann Arbor Trail.

Warns of Children Playing in City's New Sewer System

Children are known to be playing in the city's yet unused sanitary sewer and are flirting with injury or death, Police Chief Kenneth Fisher warned this week.

In a special message to the parents, the chief said that the big sewer project has brought many varieties of complaints to the department but the last one concerning entry into the sewer is of special importance to everyone.

The superintendent of the construction company states that many manhole covers and drain covers have been removed and that there is evidence of children playing in the sewers. Chief Fisher declared, "This takes place after construction crews quit for the night."

"The police department urges that parents talk with their children and explain the dangers of such play," Chief Fisher asserted. "We also believe that children should be warned away from any construction areas."

Manager Writes Column

In order to give citizens of the city an opportunity to read of some of the smaller problems and happenings at city hall, City Manager Albert Glassford has been asked to write a weekly column which appears this week on Page 7, Section 3.

The column is called "City Manager's Corner".

Seek Miss Plymouth Contestants

With bigger prizes than ever before planned, a call for girls to enter the Miss Plymouth contest on Independence Day has gone out this week from the Chamber of Commerce office.

Selection of "Miss Plymouth" has been a tradition of the day with last year's being won by Pat Anderson (Miss Clover Television).

Chamber Manager J. L. Wilcox said that as a result of research and evaluation of previous events, it has been decided to change the general tone of the selection by having the girls appear in dresses at the evening show at the high school athletic field.

The girls will be interviewed privately by judges in the afternoon and will make brief appearances for interviews before the evening microphone.

Mrs. Kenneth Hicks Anita Peterson Becomes Bride Of Kenneth Hicks

At a flower decked altar in a small chapel in Angola, Indiana, Anita Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peterson of Ravine drive, and Kenneth Hicks of Fenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hicks of Troy, Tennessee, were united in marriage by the Reverend G. Cornelius Swart.

The ceremony took place on Saturday, May 25. Franklin E. Nedry and Bernice Kahler were witnesses for the couple.

For the double ring ceremony, Miss Peterson chose a white dotted nylon waltz-length dress with a white nylon flora tiara in her hair. Pinned to her dress was a corsage of red roses. The maid of honor wore waltz-length pink crystalette, with a white, nylon clip band in her hair. Her corsage was of white roses and freesia.

Anita is a 1956 graduate of Plymouth high school and Kenneth is a 1951 graduate from Troy High school. He has served overseas with the Air Force.

Following the ceremony, the couple returned to the bride's parents' home for a reception with 30 relatives from Jackson, Trenton Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth and South Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks are now residing on Eight Mile road in Northville.

At the same time, the rich textured finish of the grain of the wood creates the luxurious atmosphere which was so popular when wood-paneled dining room were a "must" early in the century.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hartmann

William C. Hartmann III Takes Constance F. Kunkel as Bride

St. Michaels church in Livonia, was the scene of a double ring ceremony, uniting Constance F. Kunkel and William C. Hartmann, III, in marriage. The Rev. John O'Connor officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Kunkel of Rosedale Gardens, Livonia, wore a floor-length gown featuring a lace bodice with long sleeves and round neck line trimmed in iridescent sequins and seed pearls, the skirt being bouffant tulle over satin. Her finger-tip veil of illusion, fell from a scalloped crown of sequins and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Attendants were Mrs. John Reid, matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas Sutton, both sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Graham Laible, sister of the bridegroom. The attendant's gowns were blush pink, the bodices of lace with boat necklines and full waltz length skirts of net over taffeta. Their hats were fashioned of tiny rosebuds and starched net and they carried nosegays of sweetheart roses and chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hartmann of Plymouth, chose John Reid as best man, and Graham Laible and Thomas Kunkel as ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a costume suit, of wedgewood blue silks, with brown and white accessories. Her corsage was of white cymbidium orchids.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a costume suit of taupe silk, with accessories of beige and white and she also wore a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

The soloist was Wallace Schon-schack, cousin of the bridegroom.

A breakfast and reception was held at Hillside Inn with 90 guests being served. They came from Detroit, Dearborn, Mt. Clemens, Wyandotte, Battle Creek, Howell, Northville and Plymouth.

For travel, the bride chose a blue sheath dress with duster and matching accessories and the orchid corsage from her bouquet.

The young couple honeymooned in New York City and the New England States.

William graduated from Plymouth high school and from the General Motors Institute in Flint, and is now in the Military Sea Transport Service of the U.S. Navy, assigned to the U.S.S. General W. A. Mann. Constance graduated from Bentley High School and is now employed in a secretarial capacity at Evans Products Company.

The state capital in Raleigh, N. C., was built between 1833 and 1840.

Madonna Sister Gets Her Ph.D

Sister Mary Angelina, CSSF, head of the art department at Madonna College, Livonia, will receive a doctoral degree in the history of fine arts at the University of Michigan, Saturday, June 15.

She received the bachelor of arts degree with a major in fine arts at Siena Heights College, Adrian, in 1956 and the master of fine arts degree at the Catholic University of America in 1948.

Since the latter year he has held the position of head of the art department at Madonna College and has also been instructing in the summer school sessions at the Catholic University as lecturer in the history and philosophy of art.

Her doctoral studies at the University of Michigan in the history of fine arts included a one year study-tour in Italy, where she gathered first-hand material for her dissertation on "The Plans of the Poor Clares' Convents in Central Italy from the Thirteenth Through the Fifteenth Century."

A comparative study of architectural plans, her investigation revealed shows that the convents of the Poor Clares, a cloistered order founded by St. Francis of Assisi, adhere to traditions of the leading medieval orders: the Benedictines, the Cluniacs, and the Cistercians.

Sister Angelina studied the plans of 20 Poor Clare convents located in such cities of Central Italy, as Assisi, Perugia, Viterbo, Naples, Foligno, Lucca, and others. Floor plans and photographs of the architectural details of cloisters, choirs and refectories form a part of the dissertation.

In recognition of her scholarship, achievement and leadership, Sister Angelina was selected by the University of Michigan in 1953 to membership in the Phi Kappa Phi national honor society. She also is a member of the College Art Association, Catholic Arts Association, Liturgical Arts Guild of Detroit, Western Artist and Catholic Fine Arts Society.

Julia Meade at Botsford

Julia Meade, who is seen by an estimated 65 million persons a week, will appear in person at The Music Circle at Botsford Inn, Grand River at 8 Mile Road, for the week beginning June 18. She will have the lead in "Plain and Fancy."

The glamorous star has been able to arrange her weekly TV schedule so that she can star in this production. The quest for her services as an actress is continuous. On Broadway Julia was featured in "The Tender Trap" in which she played a man-hungry, fun-loving dumb blonde. In connection with this show, John Chapman, drama critic of the N.Y. Daily News named her "The best young Broadway actress of 1955."

Last summer she starred in productions of "Tea and Sympathy" and "Oh Men, Oh Women" in several summer stock theatres in the East. She received fine notices when featured in the four character farce-comedy, "Double in Hearts," which premiered on Broadway last fall.

Julia is considered TV's most successful "sales-lady," earning some $150,000 a year. Part of her success can be explained in the fact that she is refreshingly different from other glamour girls in that she does not rely upon appearance tricks. She doesn't like low-cut or tight slinky dresses for her appearances.

Born in Boston of New York parents, Julia lived in New York until she was 10 years old when the family moved to Ridgewood, N.J. Julia leaped straight from high school to Yale Drama school.

She is married to Worsham Rudd, a successful illustrator. They reside in a charming mid-town apartment shared with two cats. She's five feet, six inches, weighs 112 pounds, and wears model-size eight to ten clothes. She's green-eyed and a strawberry blonde.

by MEL OTT

Curious indeed is the change in sources of pitching strength received by the Tigers.

Where last season Detroit relied largely on the prowess of Frank Lary, Bill Hoft and Paul Foytack, this season only Foytack has displayed equal effectiveness.

Hoelt sustained a shoulder injury and has yet to regain form, while Lary has been beset by continued misfortune in the form of batted balls striking various parts of his anatomy, hard-luck and occasionally ineffectiveness.

Pending their return to the form that saw Lary win 21 games last year and Hoelt 20, the Tigers have received stout performances from two rather surprising sources, Jim Bunning and Duke Maas, in addition to Foytack.

Maas, who won seven games without victory here last year, emerged early from the dorms to register half a dozen sparkling triumphs.

Bunning, who seemed destined to head the bullpen corps, following a 5-1 record achieved mostly in relief last year, started later than Maas as a frontline flinger but has thus far attained a more impressive record. After six lean years, Bunning has apparently arrived. At least, Manager Jack Tighe, troubled by the usual mound problems, fervently hopes so.

As was the situation with Maas, Bunning's new ability to win stems from improved control. Where once he attempted to fool batters, pitching away from certain spots for fear of seeing the ball belted out of the park, now he has confidence in the seven men behind him.

Bunning's most effective delivery is a fast slider, made more difficult to hit by coming in low. He employs this pitch more than any other. The 6-foot-3, 185-pounder also has a big, slow curve that he uses only in spots to keep the batter off stride. More than one enemy hitter has swung 'way out in front of this pitch.

"I worked on that slider all winter while pitching winter baseball in Havana," Bunning recalls. "I hardly threw any curves at all, I was so busy developing it."

The young Kentuckian compiled a 13-and-4 record with Havana in his second season of winter ball, the first being with Mexico City in 1955, where he gained nine victories as against four defeats.

Bunning's penchant for south-of-the-border baseball stemmed partly for a desire for added income for a growing family of four children, partly to gain the control necessary for big league pitching.

Further help in the latter came this spring from pitching coach Willis Hudlin, who worked constantly with the slender right-hander to make him a regular on the hurling staff.

But starting assignments for the Tigers were a long time coming for Bunning, who moved slowly up the farm club ladder, stopping at virtually every Bengal farm team on the way. After an initial 3-8 year with Richmond in 1950, he went 8-and-10 with Davenport in 1951 and 5-and-9 with Williamsport the following summer.

"I didn't really care much then," Bunning confessed. "I was going to college and I wasn't sure I wanted to stay in baseball. After I got my B.A. degree from Xavier University in Cincinnati in 1953, I already had three minor league seasons behind me and I decided to go two more to make it an even five and see if I had the stuff for a big leaguer."

Strangely, that year was his worst in baseball. Bunning achieving only a 6-12 record with Little Rock. The next year he was 13-11 with the same team and in 1955, his sixth year in organized ball rather than his fifth, he moved to the Tigers after an 8-and-5 campaign with Buffalo.

He earned only three victories as against five defeats for Detroit the rest of the 1955 season but seemed to find himself in relief work last year. And in that unwanted role he might have stayed forever had not the Tigers found themselves so short of starters this season and Bunning displayed so much on the ball in early brief appearances.

Ordinance No. 224

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE INSTALLATION OF WATER MAINS AND CONNECTIONS THERETO, THE INSTALLATION AND CONTROL OF METERS; TO PROVIDE FOR INSPECTION, REPAIR AND PROTECTION OF WATER SYSTEM INSTALLATIONS, FOR THE COLLECTION OF FEES AND CHARGES AND TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF THE PROVISIONS HEREOF.

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. This ordinance is enacted to supplement existing ordinances of the city relative to its water system and to provide for the administration, regulation and protection thereof.

Section 2. Upon petition of owners of real estate, or upon its own motion, the city commission may, by resolution, direct the building of extensions to existing water mains or the installation of new mains. The costs thereof shall be fixed and collected as heretofore or hereafter provided by the charter or ordinances of the city.

Section 3. No person or persons shall make connection with the waterworks system of the City of Plymouth except upon application duly granted as hereinafter provided.

Section 4. All applications to make connection with said system or waterworks shall be made at the Office of the City Treasurer in writing and upon blanks to be furnished by the city. Such applications shall fully describe the locality where such connection is desired. A tapping fee and such other deposits, payments and charges shall be made at the time of such application as is required by the ordinances of the City of Plymouth.

Section 5. Upon the filing of the above application and the payment of the tapping fee and such other deposits, payments and charges and other costs of water main installations, which have not already been paid in connection with the property to be serviced, such installation charges to be upon a front foot basis, the City Manager shall cause suitable service pipes to be laid from the water main to and including the curb cock, which shall be located between the curb line and the sidewalk line and be provided with a suitable service box. The work of furnishing and laying the pipe up to and including the curb cock shall be done at the expense of the city. In the event that the installation shall be other than as above provided, any extra cost thereof shall be paid by the applicant. The applicant shall furnish and lay the balance of the service pipe at his own expense, subject, however, to the supervision and direction of the City Manager. Said pipes laid by the applicant shall be laid to the depth of the bottom of the water main, unless otherwise permitted by the City Manager. All pipe between the shut-off in the street and the meter shall be extra strong lead pipe or copper pipe. No steel pipe shall be used between the meter and the street. A valve for shutting off the water shall be installed on each service pipe immediately inside the cellar or basement wall. A template to be furnished by the city shall be placed in a horizontal position in the service line immediately after the shut-off. Another shut-off shall be placed in the service line before any branches are taken therefrom. Both valves shall be drainable gate valves, either Scott drainable gate valves or those of equivalent quality. The service pipe must be executed to the point in the basement or cellar where the template is placed before any branches are taken therefrom. The City of Plymouth will furnish the necessary templates at the time of application for a water tap to the City Treasurer. Where, on services now in place, it becomes necessary to replace the inside shut-off valve, the valve shall comply with the specifications for new valves as given above.

Section 6. No person or persons shall use water without permission, or cause willful or needless waste of water by allowing constant flow of faucet or otherwise, or to allow the occupant of any building not paying water rates to use the water from said premises; and in case of violation of any provision of this section in addition to the penalties hereinafter provided, the offender shall be liable to have his supply of water shut off by the city without notice.

Section 7. It shall be unlawful for any owner or occupant of any building in which water is used from said system of waterworks to refuse to the duly authorized employees of the city admission to all parts of said building and the premises on which the same is situated, whenever and wherever it shall be necessary to have water pipes and fixtures, to ascertain whether there is any waste of water, or for the purpose of installing, repairing or testing any meter used on connection with such waterworks, or to count the number of fixtures from which water is used.

Section 8. No person or persons not duly authorized shall bore any pipe, open any hydrant or stop-cock or interfere in any part of said waterworks system, or attach to any part of said system a booster pump or other contrivance for the purpose of withdrawing water therefrom without special permit from the city, under penalty of this ordinance and in addition to said penalty, any damages caused by such unlawful interference with said waterworks system may be collected from the offender or offenders.

Section 9. Where owners or occupants of property desire the city to shut off the water from their premises at the curb cock either because the premises are to be vacant or for the purpose of repairs a charge of $1.00 shall be made and collected before the water is turned on again.

Section 10. All new services shall be metered and the city reserves the right to place a meter on any service now in without application from the consumer where such action shall be deemed necessary to prevent waste or to protect the interests of the water department or for the purpose of metering all consumers. The meters shall be furnished by the city and shall remain the property of the city. Where premises have no cellar or basement or where no suitable place for a meter is provided by the property owner, the property owner shall pay the cost of the installation of an outside meter well. The meters will be read and repaired by the water department of the city as often as may be necessary, and no additional charge will be made for such service, except that when a meter is damaged by frost or hot water or otherwise through the fault of the consumer and not of the city, the cost of the repair of such damage shall be paid by the consumer, the bill for same to be included with the next water bill.

Consumers or property owners where meters are located within the building, must not cover the meters or place obstructions that may prevent convenient access to the meter at any time by the employees of the water department for the purpose of reading or making repairs.

The city reserves the right to determine the size and number of meters required for any service.

When water has been used for a period without the meter registering, the water so used shall be estimated by the city, on the basis of past consumption by the user or by similar users. The current meter schedule shall apply to water used through a meter out of order.

Notice shall at once be given the City Manager, when a meter is found by owner, occupant or tenant, to be out of order.

Section 11. Property owners shall be held responsible for the payment of all water rates. Upon written authorization from a property owner water bills may be sent to a tenant provided, however, that such an authorization is accompanied by a written guarantee by the property owner for the payment of such rates.

Section 12. It shall be unlawful for any person to leave open any faucet or hydrant so as to allow water to be discharged through the same, except for the purpose of legitimate use, or to knowingly permit any water pipes upon his premises to remain in a condition where the same shall leak. It shall be the duty of the City Manager to turn off and refuse water to the person or persons violating any of the provisions of this section until such time as such person shall pay the city such amount as the City Manager shall after investigation estimate the amount of wasted or unpaid water to be.

Section 13. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred ($100.00) dollars, or be imprisoned in the Detroit House of Correction for not exceeding ninety (90) days, or both such fine and imprisonment may be imposed, in the discretion of the court.

Section 14. Ordinance No. 82 entitled "An ordinance to regulate the installation of water mains or pipes and to provide for the payment of the cost of same, also the use of water from the waterworks of the Village of Plymouth and establishing rates and providing for the collection thereof" is hereby repealed.

Section 15. This ordinance shall take effect and be operative on the 18th day of May A.D., 1957.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan this 28th day of May A.D., 1957.

STEPHEN NICHOLSON retiring after 50 years with Whitman & Barnes, is shown receiving his certificate for a Florida vacation for himself and his wife from Woodrow Tichy, factory manager.

Whitman-Barnes
Employee Retires
After 50 Years

Long-time friends and associates joined together at the Mayflower Hotel Thursday evening, June 6 to honor 50 years of service of Stephen Nicholson with Whitman & Barnes. Nicholson is a native of Detroit and lives at 7407 Churchill with his wife Mabel.

In the 109 year history of Whitman & Barnes only one other employee has reached the half-century mark of service. The 19 members of the management group who attended the dinner represented 625 years of company service—an average service record of more than 32 years. Whitman & Barnes, which moved to Plymouth in 1949, now employs 700 people. Of this number 14 have more than 40 years of service and 66 others are above the 25-year mark.

Nicholson has been employed in several capacities during his long time with the company, but for the past several years has been doing inspection work on the precision tools manufactured by Whitman & Barnes. He was an active member of the W & B Bowling League and for many years has been active on the company's Sickness and Accident Committee.

The highlight of the anniversary ceremony was reached when Nicholson was presented by Woodrow Tichy, factory manager, certificates for a Florida vacation for both himself and Mrs. Nicholson.

To Receive Ph.D
Degree Saturday

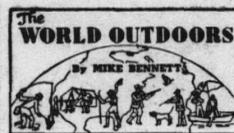

William H. Medlyn

A PH.D degree in school administration will be conferred Saturday at the University of Michigan upon William H. Medlyn, of 42681 Five Mile road, Plymouth. He is superintendent of the Novi schools.

Supt. Medlyn wrote his thesis on "Analysis of School Bus Transportation in Michigan."

He was an undergraduate at Stanford University and Northern Michigan College at Marquette where he graduated in 1949. He served as superintendent of the Stanton Township school in Houghton county for three years and received his master's degree in school administration in 1952 from the U of M. He was elected a member of the Phi Delta Kappa honorary fraternity in 1953. He became Novi superintendent in July 1955.

TWO of our most popular sports—boating and fishing—make an ideal combination for the sportsman who's lucky enough to have a few days to spend in the great outdoors.

Floating a stream with a small boat is an excellent way to relax, enjoy beautiful scenery and the smell of clean, fresh air. It's also the best way to discover new fishing spots quite inaccessible to the angler who travels on foot. Among my fondest memories are the floating trips made on the creeks and rivers of the deep south. The average float took three or four days, and we never hurried. In the heat of the day we would seek the cooling shelter of a cypress or oak. Every stream of water entering the river was investigated and many of them led to seldom-fished lakes, well stocked with hungry, fighting bass.

If you're floating a good stream and water conditions are right, you can often catch more fish than you can eat, or wish to keep. Many veteran floaters work as a trio: the bow man gets the brim and smaller bass with a fly rod; the center man goes after heavy bass with big, floating plug; and the anchor man keeps the boat just the right distance from shore. This type of fishing, however, is not recommended in cases where waters are dangerous or the man in the middle (tossing many-barbed plugs) isn't a highly competent and accurate caster.

If there's a stream near your neighborhood that is deep and safe enough for floating, give it a try. You can drive a second car to the "take-out" point or have someone meet you there to bring you home. But give it a whirl and you'll find new enthusiasm for the world outdoors.

by Carl Peterson

Well, I see by the calendar on the wall that Father's Day is almost on us again. From what I hear around and about, this is about the only day dear old Dad has left when he gets any real recognition. So, naturally, he'll feel as out of place as an Eskimo in Bali . . . because usually when he isn't being ignored he is considered either a clown or a dictator.

About the only writer who had a kind word for Dad was Mark Twain, who said: "When I was 14 I thought my father was the stupidest man in the world, but by the time I was 21 I was surprised at how much the old man had learned." He's called the Head of the Family, but he's often standing on it. Still, Pop's almost human . . . and, chances are, he'd be pleased to be remembered on Father's Day.

What could be better than the latest in step savers for Pop, a TV set with a built-in ice box.

The local philosopher says "Life is like a taxi . . . whether you're standing still or getting somewhere the meter keeps going." Well, a few more ticks of the meter and June 16 will be showing up. Naturally, we stand ready with a lot of exciting ideas for Father's Day gifts, large and small . . . Items in every price bracket. Items bound to please everybody's Pop! Shop now, at

Honors Go to Outstanding Seniors as School Year Comes to Close

AS ANOTHER SCHOOL year ends, awards are going out to the outstanding students. Senior Day held recently recognized the outstanding graduates, while an Honors Convocation sponsored by the National Honor Society Chapter recognized 140 sophomores, juniors and seniors for their scholastic ability. Heading the list of 140 were these three who received an all-A average during the past year and a half. From left are Charles Westover, Jr., a graduate; Mary Jane West and Hale Huber, sophomores.

FOR THEIR OUTSTANDING work in American history, these four eighth graders were presented certificates of merit by the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. W. C. Gemperline, D.A.R. regent, is shown presenting the certificates to (from left) Carol Baker, Janet Mackie, Susanne Smith and Russell Stahl. An award was also given in the senior high.

Over 36 scholarships, honor keys and awards have been presented to outstanding Plymouth high school seniors at the annual Senior Assembly.

The award program is combined with the senior-produced show which provided humorous skits, centered mainly around the teacher staff.

Gathering the most awards during the Wednesday morning assembly was Charles Westover, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Westover, 1405 W. Maple. He was selected as the best boy citizen of the senior high, received honor keys in science (biology, chemistry and physics), and mathematics; was presented the Bausch & Lomb science award; a certificate of merit from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, and a Readers Digest subscription for being the top honor student.

Charles was also among the three who received top honors the week before at the school's first Honors Convocation. He and Mary Jane West and Hale Huber, sophomores, received all-A records during the past three semesters.

Other scholarships awarded last week were these: Regents Alumni Scholarship of the University of Michigan, Ruth Cadogan; Ford Motor Company scholarships, Judith M. Veresh and Robert Kemnitz; Chatham College (Pennsylvania) academic and service scholarship, Sally Williams.

Michigan State University scholarships, Sharon Beyer and Patricia Hauk; Cleary College tuition scholarship, Shirley Austin; Ferris Institute grant-in-aid, David W. Farmer; Michigan College of Mining and Technology, scholarship, James Houk, Jr. Alma College scholarship, Frederick Libbing; University of Michigan Club scholarship, Emily Cutler; Mercy College of Nursing scholarship, given by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Plymouth, Joyce Sackett; Mercy College of Nursing scholarship, Dolores McLennan; the Plymouth and Northville area, Joan Salan; Eastern Michigan College scholarship, Dolores McLennan; Daughters of American Revolution, Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter, history awards, Seneth Thompson; National Farm and Garden Society awards, Sharon Beyer and Sandra Penney.

Honor keys were presented to the following as being outstanding students in the various departments:

Commercial, Barbara Johnson; social studies, Seneth Thompson; journalism (Pilgrim Prints), George Ann Bauer; occupational training program, William Tallman; Best all-around boy athlete, Ken Calhoun; best all-around girl athlete, Dolores McLennan. Debate, Edward Miller; vocational music, Marilyn Freyman; home economics, Sandra Penney and Theota Williams; instrumental music, Eleanor Ekaggs; and best girl citizen award, Sally Williams.

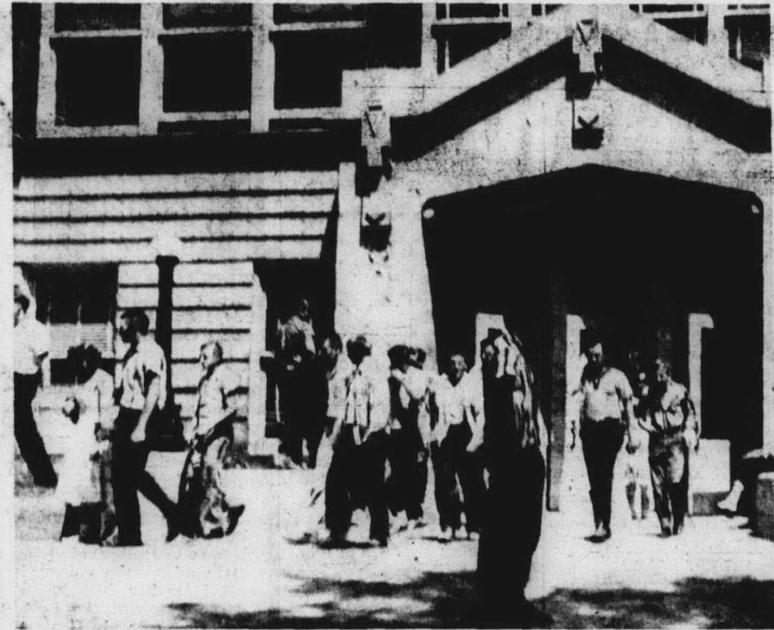

Loren Grievess, as chairman of the senior class faculty advisors committee, was master of ceremonies for the awards program.

Two Plymouthites Graduate from Wayne

Two Plymouth students are among the 1,332 who will receive degrees today at the Wayne State University Commencement exercises.

They are Leonard M. Krause, 230 Plymouth road, and Joanne M. Pursell Smith, 639 South Main. Both will receive bachelor of science degrees.

Commencement exercises will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the State Fair Coliseum. Dr. Clarence B. Hilberry, president of the university, will confer the degrees. A total of 24 candidates will receive doctorates. There will be 270 other graduate school degrees awarded.

CAREFREE DAYS of the summer vacation start tomorrow for Plymouth school youngsters. This scene was taken last Thursday noon when the seniors were dismissed for the last time. For not too strange a reason, they didn't seem quite as anxious as usual to leave the building. They returned Sunday night for baccalaureate services and again tonight for commencement. A record number of about 230 are expected to receive diplomas.

Three in Family Circle Graduate From Colleges

Three members of one family circle are graduating from colleges this week. They are Carl Pursell and his sister, Joanne, and her husband, Clark Smith. The brother and sister are children of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Pursell of S. Main street.

Carl is graduating from Eastern Michigan College Saturday, majoring in history. He received a certificate for high school teaching and has been at Clarence Randall school in Taylor township since January. He was also commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army. His wife, Peggy, is finishing her second year of teaching in Wyandotte and plans to be with Carl during his tour in the service.

Joanne and her husband graduate from Wayne State University today. She has been student teaching this past year. She spent three years at Dennison University, Granville, Ohio and transferred to Wayne for the last year. The Smiths live in Detroit.

Democrats Plan June 23 Picnic

The Plymouth Democratic Club will hold its annual picnic Sunday, June 23, 2 p.m. at Gunsolly Mill on the parkway between the railroad and the Plymouth Road overpasses, it was learned from Jack Ruland, president of the organization.

He said the picnic would be a bring-enough-for-your-own family affair, and a dish to pass. Games for the kids and grown-ups are planned. In case of rain the picnic will be postponed for one week.

President Ruland emphasized that everybody was welcome to join in the fun and added that anyone desiring further information could call Mrs. Agnes Rollins at Plymouth 3885.

To Honor Women Crossing Guards

Plymouth will be one of 32 Michigan cities honored for their women crossing guard programs during the week of June 23-29. Governor Williams has proclaimed the period as "Michigan Women Crossing Guards' Week" in honor of the almost 500 housewives and mothers who double as traffic policemen at busy street crossings near schools throughout the state.

One of Plymouth's four women crossing guards will be selected to represent the city at a special award luncheon in Detroit planned for that week by Automobile Club of Michigan. Invited guests will include state, school and police officials.

Though technically not policemen, the women crossing guards of Michigan are usually trained by police departments to act as traffic officers during the hours children are going to and from school.

4 from Plymouth Receive Western Michigan Degrees

Four Plymouth young people will this Saturday graduate from Western Michigan University—the first to leave the campus with diplomas bearing the "university" name. Western Michigan became a university on February 26.

Local graduates are: Margaret Amrhein, 46150 Ann Arbor Trail, bachelor of arts and elementary certificate; Roger Corey, 46735 West Ann Arbor road, bachelor of science; Kathleen Dowling, 1316 Sheridan, bachelor of science and secondary certificate; and Robert D. Nulty, 1385 Park Place, bachelor of business administration.

Senator Charles Potter will address the graduates, their families and friends Saturday morning at 9:30 in the Waldo Stadium. The largest class yet to be graduated, it will include more than 900 persons. An audience of 8,000 is expected. President Paul V. Sangren will present the diplomas.

Degrees to be granted include: master of arts, 70; bachelor of arts, 206; bachelor of science, 360; bachelor of business administration, 130; and bachelor of music, 28.

Resident's Work Placed in Archives

A public relations program executed by Cy Lindroth of 9458 Ball street has been placed in the Library of Congress as an "outstanding example of public relations techniques."

The recognition was accorded the "Cooperating Dairy for Civil Defense" program which Lindroth instituted in association with the Pure-Pak Division of Ex-Cell-O Corporation and the Federal Civil Defense Administration. Details of the program were placed in the Archives of Public Relations in Washington by the American Public Relations Association for study by official government agencies, students and professional public relations practitioners. While serving as public relations counsel for the Detroit dairy supply firm, Lindroth organized the nation's dairies to enlist in civil defense and supply drinking water in Pure-Pak milk cartons to disaster communities.

The humanitarian program has been widely acclaimed in recent and current flood areas where co-operating dairies distributed thousands of gallons of safe drinking water to disaster victims.

Grange Cleanings

We were very happy to see so many at the meeting last Thursday evening. A fine crowd. Several new members were received into the order. Two more coming up for next Thursday's meeting.

There will be only the one more meeting now until September. So we hope a good crowd will come to the meeting next Thursday night. Many plans were discussed at last week's meeting for picnics and con-so more definite news regarding said plans will be heard at next week's meeting. It will seem very strange to not be planning on our usual social gatherings.

Roy Amrhein is still at St. Joseph's Hospital and there is no definite prospect of his return home very soon.

It is now coming to Blue Cross time so please be ready. You may pay at the meeting next week or at the home of the Blue Cross Secretary or send checks by mail. Be sure to make the checks payable to the B. C. Secretary. Cards will be sent out to each B.C. member during the next week.

It will be a big help to your Plymouth Mail correspondent if anyone having any items of interest will telephone 1852-R to help make our Grange Cleanings more interesting.

Rosedale Garden News

Tot Lot Awaits Youngsters in Gardens

EARLEEN POMROY
GA. 1-5231
A final planning meeting for the Tot Lot was held Monday evening at 8:30 at the home of Mrs. Florence Davis on Brookfield. The Tot Lot is a cooperative nursery group for children in the 2 to 5 age group and is open to residents of Rosedale Gardens. The group meets at the clubhouse on Hubbard five days a week from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and new members are welcome. For further information call Mrs. Davis at GA. 1-2941 or Mrs. Madison at GA. 2-2689.

Jackie, Dave and little Cindy Seehlin, formerly of Westmore avenue, have moved to their new home over Plymouth way.

Boy Scout troop No. 270, sponsored by Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church, made a canoe trip up the Manistee river for some 60 miles recently. The 37 boys and fathers, left Friday, May 7th and returned Sunday, May 9th. Scoutmaster for this trip is Robert N. Smith, Richmond ave.

Happy belated birthday greetings to Barbara Klenk, Vermont, who celebrated her birthday June 3rd.

Jean and Stan Gizowski, along with Skippy and Lee and their dog and Cass and Bessie Gizowski and their children Nancy, Susan, Mark, Steven, Lynn and Leslie had a grand time on a weiner roast Sunday. Just to keep from getting lonesome, they took along Nancy's girl friend Janet.

Betty and Nick Falzetti and their 3 children who lived on Westmore avenue have moved to their new tri-level home near Joy Road.

Linda and Marsha Ellerholz, W. Chicago, have a new baby brother, Paul Howard, who was born Tuesday, May 2nd at New Grace Hospital and weighed 9 pounds, 1 ounce. Better start studying up on Den Mother duties, Lorraine!

Some of the neighborhood ladies got together over at Celia Heaton's on Vermont Wednesday, to have coffee and cake and with Helen Finhaber a happy birthday. Helen Fortney, whose birthday, on the 30th, was supposed to have been present, too, but was busy at the hospital with her new baby boy!

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Shook, W. Chicago, and their daughters Carol and Marilyn moved to Columbus, Ohio, June 11th. Mrs. Shook says that after having lived in Rosedale Gardens for 15 years they all hate to leave.

Be sure to get your reservations in by June 14th (tomorrow) for the trip and luncheon to Haven Hill sponsored by the Garden Club! Tickets are on sale for $2.00 and the gardeners will leave the clubhouse at 9:00 a.m. June 19. For information call Mrs. Charles Gardner, GA. 2-1848.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McNamara, Ingram, are the parents of a baby boy, Robert Stephen, born May 6th at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor. Robert, who weighed 7 pounds, 1 1/2 ounces has a sister Kathleen 18 months old and a big brother, Ronald who is nine.

The Beagan, Vermont, aren't afraid of tornadoes! Tom, Ruth and children Cheryl and Mickey made a trip to Kansas last week to visit Tom's relatives.

Sandy Mills, Mayfield, recently had her tonsils removed. Sandy is 4 1/2 years old. Speaking of the Mills family, you'll be glad to know that they broke through from the house proper into the addition Memorial Day weekend and now can get into the family room without having to climb through the window.

The James Thompsons, Blackburn, will soon be moving to Clearwater, Florida, where they have purchased the "Southern Comfort" trailer court. Mark, who is a 4th grader at Grant school will be going along too, of course.

Sharon Ryan, Mayfield avenue, who is a ninth grader at Whitman school is a little worse for wear last week, the result of falling off a wagon during a hay ride.

Billy Kumbier, 5, and his sister Mary who is 3 and who missed birthday celebrations because of illness had a joint party last week which featured a carnival cake centerpiece, carnival cupcakes, pink lemonade and strawberry sundaes. Guests included Johnny Tarbuton, Paula Klenk, Steven Fortney, Richard Randall, Joanne Smuk, Kurt Ammerman, Lee Gizowski, Jimmy Davis, and Ronald Carpenter.

Ancient Rome lived again at Whitman Junior High, when the Latin banquet was given by the Latin Club and Mrs. Squires, the teacher. The theme of the banquet was the Olympic games and all the students attended in Roman dress. The dinner consisted of a full course banquet of food such as the Romans ate such as eggs, celery, radishes, fish, rolls, cabbage salad, olives, figs, dates, cookies and vinum falsum, or false wine. While dinner was in progress, Dennis Cedar, Dave Mitchell and Geoff Moore, classmate, strated Greek, athletic and Beverly Kaye read some odes which were written for the Greek games. Dennis Cedar did something amazing when he made a dive over eight boys. Donna Palonen and Sharon Lamb played a horn duet and all the guests sang "Gaudeamus Igitur." Sharon Archbold danced. Act III of Julius Caesar was enacted by Geoff Moore, and Dave Mitchell, Tom Laslo, Craig Robinson and Richard Wirth did a song and dance number "Learning Your Latin." Official trumpeteer was Ed Newlin. Geoff Moore and Craig Robinson received the Latin awards for this year. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Benton Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Churchill, Mr. McMurtrey, Mr. Cogswell, Mrs. Chick, Mrs. Wylie, Miss Freheit, Mrs. Webster and Miss von Glahn.

Did you know that Whitman Junior High had a perfect baseball season, winning every game?

Jennifer Katner, W. Chicago, celebrated her eighth birthday last week with a supper party of hamburgers, potato chips and cake and ice cream. Girls attending were Linda Ellerholz, Mary Sue Williams, Mary Lynn Cartwright, Debby Jenkins and Karen Stanley. The girls had a "hat making" contest, and Mary Sue Williams won first prize for her creation.

Anita and Gene Griffith, and on Gary, visited Gene's parents in Galesburg, Illinois over the Memorial Day weekend.

Beth and Bob Thiede, Louisiana, visited Beth's sister in Port Huron on a recent Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Bentley, residents of Rosedale Gardens for the past 17 years have moved to Gates Road, Gates Mill, Ohio. Mr. Bentley was formerly with G.M. Diesel Division and now is associated with the Euclid Division of G.M. in Cleveland, Ohio.

Let us not forget Civic tonight! The time is 8:30, the place the clubhouse on Hubbard and you can sound off all you want, because tonight is election of officers and nominations from the floor will be most welcome. The Nominating Committee's slate as follows: President, Bob Durivage, 1st Vice president, Bob Page, 2nd vice president, Jack Goodrich, secretary, Rita Seelinger, treasurer, Alan Stanley, directors, Les Core and Bob Bulton. Jack Francis will also give a final report from the Swimming Pool Committee and refreshments will be served.

Several willing souls turned out to clean the clubhouse windows so the new drapes can shine in all their glory tonight, too. Speaking of the clubhouse, we sure hope that all parents in Rosedale Gardens will keep a close check on just where their children play, because a considerable amount of damage has been done to the clubhouse in the past and now that it is all fixed up again, it would be nice to keep it that way! Much of the nursery school playground equipment has been damaged, windows have been broken and even the chain on the gate to the play yard was broken. Seems that the clubhouse property should be declared off limits, what with 3 school grounds to play on!

Jean Arlen, Vermont, had Ginny Klenk and her children to dinner Wednesday, June 5th to celebrate Jean's birthday.

Our boy Don says that this column is a disgrace because it is full of dangling modifiers. If any of your folks notice my modifiers dangling, please let me know at once! Maybe this is why people keep asking me "What kind of English am those?"

Hazel and Donald Pickles, Ingram, recently returned from a trip to Clearwater, Florida and a tour through the Smokies.

More Motor scooter trouble! Not only do these kids disturb the peace with these noisy contraptions, they now ride four abreast down the street, and any small child who happened to dart out surely wouldn't have much of a chance! There is one boy, who rides a really quiet one, so they must have some way of making these things socially acceptable. How about it, boys?

Rosedale Gardens residents must get their applications for Nursery School in before July 1st! After that, nursery school will be open to non-residents. For further information call Lois Goodrich, GA. 2-1046.

There was lots of excitement over in the Dana's back yard Sunday, when they had a dry run with their new summer home, a 9 x 12 tent, complete with screened porch. All the little folks in the neighborhood got to tearing around and in and out of it and Betty says it was like trying to catch monkeys to get them all out again.

Please give me a ring and tell me what you've been up to! See you next week.

Local 4-H Bridle Club Takes State Riding Honors

Plymouth 4-H Bridle Club members took top honors at the Michigan State University's annual Horse Judging Contest held in Lansing on Saturday, May 25. There were 157 4-H club members from lower Michigan counties participating in the event. Judging were Professors Byron Goode, Bob McAllen and Andy McQuerry, the university's top horse judges.

The day-long contest consisted of three categories: the Arabian, Morgan and quarter horses. The Arabian stallion class was used as the "direct reasoning to judge" class, and the remaining classes were "card individuality type" judgments.

On the Plymouth team were April Corey, Jenny Franklin, Bob Kores, June Norman, Toni Shettlerow, Judy Wall, Betty Weberlin and Charlyn Wright.

The team coaches were Bob Franklin and Sue Sempliner. Leader of the 32-member Bridle club is Dorethea Erdelyi.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Troop 6 ended this year's activities by giving a World Gifts party for their parents at the home of Mrs. George Hudson, a very interesting program was given by the troop members and a guest, Gay Shirey introduced the guest, Mrs. Ada Murray, who told a delightful story of her early life and the settlement of this country.

A group of girls sang songs from England, Scotland, Russia, and Germany. Those in the chorus were Hollis Jean Haynes, Lynda Roberts, Gay Shirey, Nancy Richards, Delia Bradley, Kathleen Keller, and Patricia Owens. A hula dance presented by Betty Taylor, Shelia Canine, and Carolyn Heath. They were accompanied by the chorus, Jeanne Swartz, Barbara Troyer, and Carol Hudson pantomimed a Calypso song. An international quiz was then conducted by Janet Graham and Patricia Owens. The contest was won by Mrs. Haynes. Everyone enjoyed an exhibit of dolls from many countries. This was set up by Marcia Randall and Margaret Sue Terry.

The history of music was given by Betty Taylor. She played on the piano examples of different types of music, as, polka, tango, opera, and lullaby. Hollis Jean Haynes did the vocals for some of the selections. A ballet dance was presented by Gay Shirey accompanied by Betty Taylor on the piano.

Tea was served from a beautifully set international table. A committee consisting of Janet Graham, Delia Bradley, and Kathleen Keller, prepared the table using articles made in other countries.

Leaders of Troop 6 are Mrs. Donald Graham and Mrs. George Hudson.

The MAIL Attitude

by PAUL CHANDLER

George Witkowski, Plymouth's delegate to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, wants to broaden the meaning of a story carried in The Mail last week.

The story said he urged that the local Supervisor in the future be selected from a member of the city commission, rather than picked at large from the community in a general election. This would require a change in the city charter.

Witkowski wants it known that he is not discouraged with his new post; on the contrary, he has a pleasant sense of being able to render important public service. His remarks on the change in the system are only part of his bigger impression that there should be better communication between the County Supervisor and the city hall.

Specifically, he believes, the Supervisor should be given advance copies of the agenda of every city commission meeting and that there should be an effort on the part of the city hall to keep him intimately informed on all business at all times.

"Sometimes it has been difficult for our Supervisor to get even simple matters of record from the city," he said.

"As I grow into this job, I realize more just how important it is in terms of our hope for community progress. I really feel like I can contribute valuable public service, but it takes all the cooperation I can get."

His ideas about a change in the system of picking the supervisor were intended for long range consideration—maybe in four years, when another election will be held. In the meantime, he says, he's enjoying the job too much to think of letting it go to anyone else.

Not too far removed from Witkowski's point of concern was an informal session of the city commission which consumed an hour and a half recently.

The entire subject on the floor was the improving of communications between local citizens and the city government. The new mayor and commission are intent on injecting new warmth into "public relations", the term being narrowed to its strict sense to mean "relations with the general public."

The policy, now and henceforth, will be to listen to complaints with sympathy, to report fully and regularly of every development in which the public might be interested, to train every employe in courtesy and goodwill, to have cheerful voices on the city hall telephones, and, generally, to "personalize" the city hall operations.

Many specific suggestions were developed. They are little things, but they're important, and nothing but good can come from the desire of the commission and the manager to get on a friendly basis with their supporters.

One touch I know you'll enjoy is a new column, "The City Manager's Corner," which starts in The Mail today and will continue weekly hereafter. In it the manager will write, quite informally and briefly, of the big and little matters which are on the city's mind from time to time.

Little more than two weeks away is the first Plymouth Colony Concert on the Dr. Pino estate at the intersection of Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail. The date of the opener is Sunday afternoon, June 30.

It's possible that some readers haven't captured the full breadth of the ambitions which are harbored for this new project. In a sentence, it's hoped to make Plymouth a summer-time mecca for those, far and wide, who enjoy so-called "serious music."

And if that goal can be achieved, then the dream is to add opera, drama, dance and other arts so that a full-fledged "art festival" would be an annual affair that would call thousands of pilgrims from distant points to Plymouth.

The setting for the concerts is a natural amphitheater on the shores of a jewel lake. Patrons will park their cars, make a 5 or 10 minute stroll through the woods to the site, drop their blankets or portable chairs, and under the summer skies listen to symphony. For those who wish to forego the stroll, there will be a hansom carriage and a hitch of horses to draw them to the hillside.

The sponsors are counting on a nation-wide swelling interest in classical music and on the grace of the natural setting to attract crowds. The ticket price is $5 for the season (one ticket covers one family or one individual) and $2 for individual concerts. "You can't take the family to a movie for that," it is argued.

They anticipate response from all of Wayne County and from the musical crowd in Ann Arbor. They point out that "serious" music is played nowhere else in this area during the summer, though the Detroit Symphony does offer "pops" concerts at the State Fair Ground and Belle Isle.

Guest stars will be added ultimately—such as Rise Stevens, Patrice Munsel. The first concert will feature the normal Plymouth Symphony complement, however.

Speaking of guest stars, and getting crowds out in great numbers, I wonder if the sponsors have considered Jayne Mansfield playing her violin? We're only kidding, of course. Of course.

Why not fill a galvanized steel pail with cleaning supplies—scrub brushes, sponges, steel wool, scouring pads, cleanser, dust cloths, soap flakes, mops, squeegees, bottles of polish and wax. It's not an elegant gift, but its practicality will endure it to the bride. If the girls are feeling extra flush, several could go together and buy a vacuum cleaner or floor waxer.

Local Delegates Attend K of C State Convention

Grand Knight Larry Zielasko and Past Grand Knight John Gilles, Jr., were delegates representing the Plymouth Council No. 3292 of Plymouth at the 37th Annual State Convention of the Knights of Columbus on June 6, 7 & 8 held on Mackinac Island.

State Deputy Wilfred T. Connelly of Detroit presided at the convention sessions while State Secretary Joseph J. Mairolf of Saginaw was general chairman of convention arrangements and of the K of C, representing the Order's executive officers. W. H. Graveline, May City, served as toastmaster. Supreme Director C. T. Murphy, Calumet, also spoke. Of outstanding importance to Michigan, the convention reaffirmed the Wolverine knights' annual voluntary donations totaling some $125,000 toward the maintenance cost of Boysville, a boarding school for boys with a home problem.

All state officers were re-elected to serve a second term for the ensuing year. Next year's convention will again be held on Mackinac Island. The order has grown so large that the delegates acted to have a full time paid secretary the order for the future.

"Give me 'horse op'ty' every time. When they get stabled, they bleed, instead of sing!"

MEL LARSON, a native of Plymouth who has recently been living in Phoenix, Arizona, is promoting two auto races at Northville Downs this year. They include one on July 4th and a convertible race in August or September.

Resident Returns for Auto Race Promotion at Northville Downs

More than six years ago Mel Larson left his home in Plymouth for Air Force service at Phoenix, Arizona. Upon his discharge Larson maintained residence there and became interested in the field of auto racing.

He began driving in the jalopy races, but that wasn't enough, so he ventured further into the modifieds, midgets, and the late model cars, both sedans and convertibles.

During this time Mel also published and edited his own magazine, produced, directed, and M. C.'d his own TV show, represented racing associations, performed promotion and publicity for 4 race tracks, as well as writing for national race papers.

Recently Mel returned to Plymouth and he brought with him his knowledge of auto racing promotion and publicity. He is going to make good use of it as he now holds a lease on the nearby Northville Downs and will present two large races this year. The first will be held July 4th and will consist of 1956 and 1957 sedans of the MARC racing association.

The other will be a convertible race scheduled for late in August or early September.

The Northville Downs each year presents harness racing under the lights and the addition of new cars to the schedule will help build a busy calendar of events for the city of Northville.

Known as the Northville "100", the first auto racing program will call for time trials at 7 until 8 p.m. A 3 lap trophy dash will take place at 8:30 followed by two 10 lap heat races and a 100 lap feature event over the half-mile oval.

The members of the Thursday evening sewing club enjoyed dinner at the Farm cupboard on Ann Arbor road last week and afterward were guests of Mrs. Clifford Manwaring on Auburn.

Mrs. Mildred Fritz of Pontiac spent on Monday until Wednesday with her sister, Mrs. Walter Anderson on Dewey street.

Sara Wesley has completed her sophomore year at Miami University, Ohio, and is home for the summer months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Wesley on McKinley.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Markham will entertain relatives and friends Thursday evening following the graduation of their son, Ronald from Plymouth high, with guests numbering 25 from Holly, Davisburg and Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tremain will visit their niece, Mrs. Edward Tremain, in the Osteopathic hospital in Jackson today (Thursday).

One Belgian franc is worth two cents American under the present fixed rate.

Merchants Lead League, Elks Stay In Celler Spot

The Michigan Inter-County Baseball League is off and running for this season of 1957. And, with five games completed (some teams have played six), the battle for league leadership is warming considerably.

Plymouth is twice represented in the league, being home of both the Plymouth Merchants and the Plymouth Elks. Other league members include Northville Merchants, Redford Merchant, River Rouge, Chelsea, Romulus Jay Cee, and Detroit Control. At this point of the season, the local Merchants share league supremacy with River Rouge, each with a 5-0 record. The Plymouth Elks, on the other hand, have failed to win a game.

Results of contests played Sunday, June 9, are: Plymouth Merchants 11, Detroit Control 2; Romulus Jay Cee 4, Plymouth Elks 3 (11 innings); River Rouge 7, Northville Merchants 6 (11 innings); and Redford Merchants 5, Chelsea 3.

Unofficial standings at this time are: Plymouth Merchants River Rouge Northville Merchants Romulus Jay Cee Redford Merchants Detroit Control Chelsea Plymouth Elks

Next week the exact standings, along with more detailed results of games. On Sunday, June 16, the Elks will play host to Redford at Riverside Park at 3:30, while the home town Merchants travel to Romulus for a game the same day.

Maple Wilt Apt To By-pass Tree That's Vigorous

Landscaping kept fit and its good growing vigor is likely to take the starch out of maple wilt deadly tree enemy. The halest trees seemingly have the best immunity against this fungus scourge that infects sapwood.

This disease is not difficult to identify. Sudden foliage "collapse" on one side of the tree is one of the earliest symptoms. This wilting frequently involves leaves of individual branches, usually one over another. Most significant sign, however, is a distinct green discoloration of the sapwood.

The disease organism, a soil-borne fungus, clogs up the water conducting tissues and pours toxins into the sap stream. There is considerable speculation about the spread of the disease. Authorities have been unable to track down the agents - insects or infected pruning tools.

One thing is fairly certain. Good tree practices not only help woody parts fight off the infection, but actually help recovery of evidently doomed maple wilt victims. Pruning diseased branches is necessary to contain the malady. Feeding is invariably recommended, as well. In many cases recovery is almost phenomenal after the vitamins are made available. In others, feeding fails to stem the fungus tide.

Amateur tree doers doing their own surgery should carefully sterilize saws, pruners or bits in a standard disinfectant. Felled maple wilt victims should be replaced by other kinds of trees. The disease-producing organisms still may lurk in the ground to infect maple transplants.

The CITY MANAGER'S CORNER

BY AL GLASSFORD

As a public service, Paul Chandler, publisher of the Plymouth Mail, has offered to furnish space for a column for the City of Plymouth which will report city hall news items and which will reflect some of the thinking of the elected officials and the city administrators. We appreciate the opportunity to use this valuable means of communication.

And the City Commission has requested that I act as the columnist, so here goes.

Our sewer contractor, George S. Odien Company, reports that he will be finished with the installation of the $600,000 sanitary sewer for the south end of the city this week. However, there is still the clean-up to do, such as relaying pavements, repair of sidewalks and the like.

The Odien firm was successful bidder for installation of the proposed sanitary sewer tap project.

As soon as these sewer taps are installed, we will be able to grade the streets and to apply a coating of gravel where necessary. Gravel better absorbs the dust palliative oil which we are presently applying and the roadway finally becomes firmly packed and dust free. There are certain streets which have clay lying on top because of the sewer installation. This, being rather impervious material, provides a poor base for dust laying treatment, and a good job cannot be done at the moment. The standard width for applying a dust layer is two ten foot strips. Some neighbors feel that a wider area should be provided. However, budget limitations make it necessary to provide for only twenty feet. This is sufficient for two lanes of traffic. Should anyone desire a wider width, the same can be provided at approximately 20 cents per linear foot, 8 feet wide.

The ceiling literally fell in on us at the City Hall. The area underneath the stairway to the second floor gave way and about 10 square feet of lath is exposed. We've had some lively commission meetings upstairs, but we didn't think they were as earth shaking as to make the plaster fall.

It will take about $10,000 to pave the East Central Parking Lot behind the Penn Theatre, according to the estimates of our Mr. Besse. Inasmuch as only $5,600 is available in the parking fund to do the job, I authorized the D.P.W. Superintendent, Joe Bida, to apply a coat of the dust palliative oil. He recommended that in addition, we apply a "blotter" of pea pebbles. The pebbles soak up part of the excess oil and eventually are pushed into the ground by traffic. It will take about another six or eight months before we have sufficient funds to construct the two inch bituminous concrete surface in the lot.

Citizens in meters and contributions from merchants have provided off-street parking, such as this lot, the Central Lot and several rented lots. The income from the parking meters amounts to $24,000 each year. So far the General Fund has loaned the Parking Fund $21,000, to promote acquisition of land and construction of the parking lots. During the next fiscal year the General Fund hopes to recover about $7,000 of this loan.

SHOWERING THE BRIDE
Bridal showers probably originated in the 1890's when a guest had to bring all the little packages for the bride in a parasol. When the bride opened the parasol she was literally showered with gifts.

Planners Approve 49-Home Plat

The Plymouth City commission is soon expected to consider the approval of a plat for a 49-home development on the former Roderick Cassidy farm, west of Sheldon road.

To be known as the Masserman Springdale Subdivision, the development is being made by the Madison Construction Corp. of Detroit.

City planning commissioners have already approved the plat and it will be up to the city commission to make it final. The plat submitted by the builders is for just part of the 42 acres in the area on which they eventually expect to build a total of 180 homes.

Average size of the lots is 62 feet wide by 110 feet deep. Blanche street is the only present street which is found in the plat. Names of new streets being planned include Jamie, Roberta, Dorothy, and Sally.

The village of Tavistock near Startford, Ont., was named after Tavistock in Devonshire, England.

Value of products of commercial bakers in Canada in 1956 is estimated at a record $315,737,000.

Parkview Circle News

Mrs. Robert Fitzer

Circle-ites On the Move During Vacations, Graduations, Etc.

Heartly congratulations to Ron Darga of Parkview Drive who will be among those graduating from Plymouth High school tonight. Ron accompanied his fellow classmates last weekend on their trip to Mackinac Island. His parents will hold "open house" tonight in Ron's honor for their family and friends.

Mrs. Charlotte Walker and sons, Tommy and Mikey, are here from Janesville, Wis. visiting her parents, Esther and Earl Atkinson of Parkview Drive. DuWayne, Charlotte's husband, will arrive this weekend to join the family.

The Bill Stangs had a weekend of cruising along the Canadian shore where they made stopovers at Colchester and Amherstburg. Their guests were Dee and Gus Carlson of Wyandotte and Diane's parents Dr. and Mrs. Wilson and her brother and his wife Jack and Jill Wilson.

I reported that Ethel Cameron and her children were flying to Buffalo on Monday to visit her parents. Unfortunately Ethel and Jim were called home earlier on Friday due to the sudden illness of her father. At this writing (Sunday) I understand that he is still in an oxygen tent and suffering severe heart damage due to a coronary attack. The Camerons will stay on in Buffalo indefinitely.

Lila and Doug Vincent of Parkview Drive practically flew to Cleveland and back on Thursday to attend the graduation ceremonies at Lakewood High school. Lila's brother, John Lepperd, was graduated with high honors. Of the six scholarships offered he accepted the Alfred Sloane Scholarship to Carnegie Tech.

Bobby Rulands frantic antics in a tree resulted in a fall and a slightly sprained ankle. The accident happened last Thursday during recess at school.

Dorothy Curok of Parkview Drive went to the Elmwood Casino in Windsor Saturday night where she and 27 other nurses held their annual get-together. All the girls were graduated in the class of 1947 from Grace Hospital in Detroit.

My mother, Mrs. Jay Holland of Wellington, Ohio, drove up last Friday to spend several days with us. I'm sure she is enjoying her "busman's holiday" from her duties as manager of the high school cafeteria. On Saturday evening we were guests of the Walker Lakes and on Sunday evening guests of the Jack Rulands.

How's about that entrance into our subdivision? Sure is going to be pretty when it's finished. Some of us walked down the other day to talk to the men working on it and they said they will top dress and sow grass seed. Many thanks to Wayne County for answering our appeal so promptly.

June 7th was Jean and Jack Scott's 16th wedding anniversary and they celebrated the occasion by spending the weekend at Torch Lake in northern Michigan. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ramsyer, Robert Millies and Esther Schrage of Detroit. A new Chris-Craft tagged along behind them for a launching with Bob Millies taking over as "captain". Jean tells me she will visit her mother, Mrs. T. A. Sherman, who recently opened her summer home at Central Lake, Mich.

Harold Kendall of Parkview Drive has held some interesting positions during his 19 years of service with the Bell Telephone Company. He started as a local testman in Cadillac, Mich. in February of 1938 where he stayed until July of 1941 when he entered the armed forces. After his discharge in January of 1946 he went to Reed City as a toll testman. Then to Standish, Michigan as exchange repair foreman and in March of 1954 was located in Detroit as plant methods supervisor in the general plant toll supervisors office. As of last month he has been transferred to Plymouth where he is in charge of the installation crew on the dial conversion of Northville and Plymouth.

Harold Kendall took his son and nephew fishing at Cadillac, Mich. on Thursday and Friday. Saturday and Sunday they fished at Lower Haring Lake at Elberta, Michigan where his parents live. He reports a good catch of wall-eyes and says his new outboard motor purred like a kitten.

Personally I think it's a crying shame that only about 125 people turned out for the Town Hall Meeting which dealt with the school board election. Can't understand parents not being interested in the future of their children. The school board personnel is a determining factor in that future. Glad I went because now I know beyond a doubt how I'll vote when I go to the polls.

Dot and Bud Wilson of Garling Drive attended the Couples Club of the Methodist Church pot-luck dinner in the park last Saturday evening. The Wilsons take care of the secretarial duties of the club.

The choir members of the Methodist church, and their better halves, dined at Black's "White House" in Northville Saturday night. Doris (choir member) and Ted Kuhns were among those who attended.

Mother and I are off for a day of shopping at Northland.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Apple Pie Without Apples Tastes Like Real Thing

Apple Pie

Gerald Fischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Fischer of 396 Arthur, has his own special recipe which he likes to make for fooling friends. It's a dish that people will look at carefully, taste, then swear it's apple pie.

But whoever makes this pie can gleefully tell friends that it hasn't an apple in it.

A Detroit friend of Gerry's first pulled the trick on him. Gerry learned the recipe for it, and tried it out on his grandmother whose reaction was: "It's apple pie, without a doubt!" Victims of the trick usually suspect the cook "snuck an apple in."

Advantages of the pie, listed by Gerry and his mother, are that you can make it when apples are out of season and it's cheaper.

Here's how to make this unusual dish:

Fake Apple Pie

- 3 cups water
- 1 1/4 cups granulated sugar
- 3 teaspoons cream of tartar
- 30 Ritz crackers
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Boil sugar and water for five minutes. Add cream of tartar and crackers, one at a time. Do not stir again after adding crackers.

Let mixture cool and add cinnamon and nutmeg. Pour into unbaked nine-inch pie shell, without stirring. Dot with butter and a little brown sugar. Add top pie crust. Bake at 450° F. 20 to 30 minutes.

The important British port of Hong Kong on the southeast coast of China is 10 square miles in area and has both an east and west entrance.

One-fifth of the American food dollar, or about $12 billion is spent in restaurants every year. There is one restaurant for every 704 persons.

CRACKERS MUST BE ADDED one at a time for Gerry Fischer's fake apple pie. Do not stir after adding crackers or the "apple" texture will be lost. Gerry is in the 10th grade of the high school.

Record Sales Tax in May

Taxpayers are people who turn over part of their income to finance the services they demand from their government. They elect the officials who write the tax laws and in some instances determine directly how the millions collected will be spent.

The conveyor belt of Michigan's tax structure, from assessment to collection to spending sometimes gets a jolt, like it did this spring. For months running automobile sales were below average, families were purchasing less from the butcher, the baker and the power lawnmower maker. Income from the three percent salestax was less than expected.

Then, in May, the tax revenue—like the spring rains—started pouring in.

"We're going around that corner now and things are starting to look better, especially in sales tax collections," said Clarence W. Lock, deputy revenue commissioner.

The sales tax, which created a financial crisis for schools when collections fell short of forecasts, climbed $2,487,311 over its record for May. Automobile sales taxes jumped $1,267,319; and the taxes on other businesses soared. Cigaret taxes were up $165,000; and the business activities tax increased its yield.

Fiscal experts call this the "growth factor," the automatic gain in yield from the same rate of tax because of an increase in business.

This means that existing taxes are now producing more money to help meet the increasing demands on government and is helping ease the need for more and new taxes. Republicans who control the legislature which enacts the tax laws claim they successfully held the line against new taxes in 1957 for general purposes. Increases were voted in the cigarette and liquor taxes, $24,000,000 for schools.

They may not be able to hold the line next year or in years to come because, as elected representatives, they reflect the views of the people who send them to Lansing.

The voters, if they want more and expanded services, will face higher taxes to pay for them. If present services are enough, lawmakers will be able to hold the line.

In effect, that's the entire story of government and politics—and it starts at the polls.

INDUSTRY AND ITS FATE in Michigan has undergone searching analysis by both political parties. Republicans assert another tax on business will drive factories to other states. Gov. Williams claims state taxes are minor influences in settling industries in a state.

The latest attempt to determine the real reasons for the inflow and outflow of business in Michigan will be a five-year survey by the Department of Economic Development. While it will take years to complete, a pilot study will be started this summer.

It will be done in cooperation with the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, the University of Detroit, Wayne State University and the Upjohn Foundation of Kalamazoo.

THE LEGISLATURE will be back in Lansing June 27-28 for final adjournment and they already have some work cut out for them.

Gov. Williams started a series of veto messages rolling back to legislative halls before stragglers were out of town last month. Two of the bills vetoed would create new circuit judgeships in Saginaw and Oakland counties.

Williams said he vetoed them because they required the judges to be elected in November, 1958 and to take office Jan. 1, 1959. The governor, who would otherwise appoint them, said the delay was "unnecessary" and that if Republicans insisted on election in 1958, "the situation isn't so desperate as it seems."

Another veto was slapped on a bill expanding the five-member mental health commission to six and requiring that three be Republicans and three Democrats. Williams said it would put mental health in Michigan on a political basis. Then he said the 3-3 division would produce a stalemate. Another factor, he said, is that some present members would have to be replaced.

Republicans feel overriding the vetoes will be impossible.

What's Your Question On World Affairs

BY EDGAR ANSEL MOWRER

"Did Roosevelt ever criticize Communists in any public speech? If so, what did he say?" (Bartlett Cole, Sr., Portland, Ore.)

Roosevelt made several public criticisms of communism and of the USSR. One was his speech to the American Youth Congress in February, 1940. Then, among other things, the President said: "I hoped . . . that Russia would eventually become . . . a peace-loving government with a free ballot which would not interfere with the integrity of its neighbors . . . That hope today is either shattered or put away in storage against a better day. The Soviet Union, as everybody who has the courage to face the facts knows, is run by a dictatorship as absolute as any other dictatorship in the world." (Roosevelt and Hopkins, p. 198)

Whether Mr. Roosevelt ever measured the full evil of the Communist regime or of its rulers is open to some doubt. Otherwise he could hardly have been so optimistic of converting Stalin to peaceful cooperation.

"Can you explain why our President is so eager to reach a disarmament agreement with treacherous Communist Russians?" (R. A. Dunn, Chicago, Ill.)

Yes. His military advisers have informed him that the Soviets might wipe out over 80 million Americans in a first sneak attack. Therefore he puts an agreement on mutual inspection intended to forestall such an attack at the head of his list. "What kind of an ally is England—to go ahead and trade with Red China while the United Nations is still at war with that country?" (Mrs. A. W. F., Oklahoma City)

An ally is not a subordinate. So long as the United States maintains the right of independent action in any part of the world, Britain and our other allies will do the same—whether we like it or not. This is a very unsatisfactory situation, but Washington has done nothing to remedy it—has not transformed the North Atlantic Treaty Organization into a full political and military alliance with a common policy valid all over the world.

"One of your best known American colleagues says that in case of Soviet threat our European allies would rat. What do you think of this?" (R.R.N., Brooklyn)

My distinguished colleague, Raymond Aron, of the Paris Figaro, writes in the current number of Western World Magazine that in case of a Soviet threat against Europe by Russia, the United States would probably rat. I know Aron is wrong and I think my American colleague is equally mistaken.

"What are we to make of the Khrushchev answers in the radio interview with CBS?" (A. B., Washington, D.C.)

I fear that many will take them at face value as a sign of a real desire for peace and co-existence and all that stuff, during which the Kremlin will divide us further from our allies, create in us a feeling of false security, encourage unilateral disarmament by the free nations, take their attention off the real task which is the restoration of freedom. To me the Khrushchev answers were a masterly example of Machiavellism—a mixture of brass lies and bravado, washed in sentimentality.

THESE HARMLESS-LOOKING cabinets house an electronic "brain" capable of supplying anti-airborne defense units in an integrated anti-aircraft defense system with information in split-seconds vital in defense against attacking aircraft. Developed and built by the Burroughs Corporation's Research Center, Paoli, Pa., for the U.S. Army Signal Engineering Laboratory, Fort Monmouth, N. J., it can perform 136,000 mathematical steps in less than a second. It was demonstrated recently for military leaders and scientists.

Math 'Brain' for Defense

(Burroughs Corporation, one of the mighty industries with plants in our area, is up to its neck these days in production of amazing electronic things. This story describes one of the newest fantasies. The particular item isn't made at the Burroughs Plymouth plant at the present time.)

The Burroughs Corporation has unveiled an electronic control system capable of performing 136,000 mathematical steps in less than a second in assisting anti-aircraft operations center officers to organize a defense against approaching enemy aircraft.

The equipment, known as "Matabe", short for its official military title of Multi-weapon Automatic Target and Battery Evaluator, was demonstrated for a select group of high ranking U. S. Army and Air Force officers and some of the nation's leading engineers and scientists, by the U. S. Army Signal Engineering Laboratory and the Burroughs Corporation at the latter's Research Center, Paoli, Pa.

Military leaders and engineers expect the machine to play a vital role in this country's ground-to-air defense.

"Matabe" is an outgrowth of an idea conceived by the U.S. Army Signal Engineering Laboratory, Fort Monmouth, N. J., to aid anti-aircraft officers to calculate in milliseconds the information needed to make the most favorable use of anti-aircraft weapons in the destruction of approaching enemy aircraft.

The machine is 29 feet long, over 7 feet high, consists of seven cabinets housing more than 20 miles of intricate wiring and thousands of electronic tubes, relays, resistors and other components. It has two control panels and is equipped with a 9 ton air-conditioning unit.

Dr. Irven Travis, vice president in charge of research and engineering for the world-wide Burroughs Corporation and head of the Paoli Center, pointed out that the heart of the system is a high-speed "real time" electronic digital computer that solves mathematical equations almost instantaneously. "A machine operating at 'real time' speed provides information the instant it is needed, a vitally important factor in anti-aircraft operation," he said.

"Matabe" calculates such information as: Time it will take a missile to get from the battery to its burst point; how much time a battery needs to carry out its assignment (firing on attacking planes); at which point a missile will intercept a target; whether a target is within effective range of a battery; the "kill probability" of a battery-target assignment; the percentage of total bomb damage attacking planes are capable of inflicting; and the military worth of a target according to strategic goals, or in other words which plane or group of planes should first be singled out for destruction.

The machine, according to engineers, keeps a running account of the history of fire on each target, and as assignments are made the survival probability of attacking aircraft is reduced by an amount equal to the predicted kill.

As the machine is informed by the operations center controllers of a kill, it automatically drops that target from the system before making its next assignment.

It also records on punched paper tape the results of any type of raid for reference in mapping defense against future attacks.

To illustrate further the machine's tremendous speed, Eisenberg said it is capable of performing in one second 200,000 additions using 7 digit numbers.

It can handle 720 multiplications, 714 additions and 5 divisions in less time than it takes the fastest mechanical adding machine or desk calculator to do one simple addition problem, the engineer said.

It is capable of analyzing both air attack and defense plans. Its evaluations can lead to major tactical changes in specific attack or defense plans, in minor alterations in the position or type of batteries in a defense system, and aircraft in an attack pattern, he said.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

Henry R. Schmidt, 69, is an ex-electrician from Milwaukee. He heartily recommends small towns for retired people who want to keep productively engaged. When he retired three years ago he and his wife continued on for awhile in the city apartment that had been their home for many years. But he wasn't happy.

"I was confused," Mr. Schmidt told me when I visited him recently. "When I was young I used to dream about retirement. I'd think how wonderful it would be to sleep late every morning and then putter around the house and take little trips. But a few months after retiring I was rattling around the apartment bored to the bone. I felt like a worthless old man!"

"He tried to find a job," said Mrs. Schmidt, "but after pounding the pavements a few days his morale was shot by people who kept telling him he was too old to work."

One day as he was repairing a light switch in his living room a friend dropped in from the Schmidts' tiny hometown a hundred miles away. The friend remarked that there was no electrical repairman back home. Mr. Schmidt glanced at his wife and later, after the friend had departed, asked what she thought of going back. She said she was game to give it a try so they rented their apartment and moved back to the village of 900 where they had grown up and where they now rented a snug bungalow near the center of town.

Mr. Schmidt quickly set himself up as the village electrical repairman and found he could easily make $60 or $70 a month which, added to his savings and pension, gave them a very pleasant sense of security.

"Most small towns lack shops and services that are needed but they are not profitable enough to support a young couple with a growing family," Mr. Schmidt related. "As a result, a retired person who has a useful skill and who requires less money can be of real service."

"I fill a real need here" he told me proudly, "but there's lots of other needs. For instance there's no shoemaker in town, no dry cleaner, no plumber, no dentist, no practical nurse, and no hairdresser for the ladies. People have to go to the next town to get these services. Of course you won't get rich at these occupations but you could make a little. The missus and I were skeptical when we moved here but things have worked out just fine. We wouldn't move back to the city now if they gave it to us!"

'Live Lean and Like It' Concluded Porterhouse Steak Dinner

(Editor's Note: This is the last in a special series of three articles, exclusive to The Plymouth Mail, on dieting. America's national pastime. Entitled "Live Lean and Like It," they were submitted by Nina Lou Baird, Wayne county home demonstration agent from the cooperative extension service.)

You must consider two basic factors in planning a diet. First, your body must be supplied with the materials for maintaining bones, muscles, glands and other structures. You need proteins, minerals, vitamins and a minimum amount of energy food, regardless of your weight status.

The table below shows one way of meeting these needs with food.

Daily foods for adults	Calories
1 pint skim milk or buttermilk	170
3 servings high protein food
3½ ounces lean meat or fish	200
1 ounce yellow cheese	120
1 egg	70
3 servings cereal
¾ cup cooked oatmeal	100
2 slices plain bread or 1 large plain roll	120
2 servings green vegetable
1 serving salad type	25
1 serving cooked cabbage	30
2 servings fruit
1 whole orange or ½ grapefruit	50
¾ cup strawberries	40
3 small pats butter or margarine, or 3 tablespoons salad oil or shortening	300
Total	1,225

Be Careful With Substitutions
Consult "Counting Calories" (available from Cooperative Extension Office, Box 552, Wayne, Mich.) for suitable substitutions to this food list. Always make substitutions from within the same food group.

If the substitute you want has twice as many calories, you may eat a half portion. Do not substitute for milk anything but another form of milk. If whole milk or evaporated milk is used, add 160 calories to the day's total.

Weakness, lack of pep and energy, a tendency to catch colds and a generally miserable feeling can usually be traced to a diet which does not give the needed nourishment.

Furthermore, the body needs nutrients every day. Fasting today because you overindulged yesterday may equalize the energy balance, but it will destroy the balance of required foods. This may even result in a temporary weight gain because of unequal and rapid changes in the water content of the body.

Basic foods should be fairly equally distributed over the hours you are awake. The first problem of either the reducer or the adult who wished to maintain weight is to learn to eat this basic minimum of food.

The second aspect of weight reduction—or weight control—is total energy balance. In the normal course of living, a healthy adult may use up from 1,500 to 6,000 energy units (calories) per day dependign on ize, sex, age and the amount of work done.

Any physical work, no matter how meager, uses energy, and physical work is the largest single factor in total energy needs. This is shown by the fact that a bed patient uses from 1,000 to 1,800 calories per day—a much smaller range than that required for full activity.

Age is also a factor in the amount of energy used. Energy needs reach a peak during adolescence and decrease progressively from then through middle age for the same activity. In other words, 18-year-old Johnny who is six feet tall and weighs 170 pounds will burn more energy mowing the lawn than will his 40-year-old father of the same height and weight, simply because Johnny is 22 years younger. Therefore, Johnny will need more food to maintain his weight than will his father.

The next step, then, is to add to the basic diet just enough food to produce the weight desired. If weight is to be maintained, a certain amount of food is needed (see chart above for average amounts). If weight is to be gained, add about 500 calories per day more than those required for maintenance.

If weight is to be lost, subtract 500 to 1,000 calories per day from the maintenance figure, depending on how fast the weight should be lost. A deficit of more than 1,000 calories to produce more rapid weight loss is seldom desirable because foods needed for basic body structures are usually sacrificed.

Whether you are maintaining, losing or gaining weight, the choice of food to be added is unimportant from a nutritional standpoint.

The extra foods you add to the basic diet may mean a lot in terms of satisfying your appetite. A potato per day can be an excellent investment in morale; so can an occasional cookie eaten at the church tea. A larger serving

Eat Breakfast, You'll Have a Much Better Day

Don't leave that breakfast table with only a glass of juice and a cup of coffee.

You may have ten reasons why you're not eating a good breakfast; you got up too late or you're never hungry in the morning. But, for every reason you offer, Roberta Harshey, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at Michigan State University, will do you one better in favor of a better breakfast for you.

You need a good breakfast. Research proves that people who eat poor breakfasts often tend to be irritable and cranky during the morning. Or, they may have headaches and suffer from fatigue later in the day. Most folks who skip breakfast more than make up for it calorie-wise by snacking or over-eating at lunch or dinner.

It may be true that you just can't face food first thing in the morning. If this is the case, here are some suggestions that will help: Get enough sleep to feel refreshed. Get some sniffs of fresh air first; take a look at the garden or just survey the neighborhood from the porch.

Do some active work before sitting down to eat. Gradually work up to a good breakfast. What is a good breakfast? Miss Harshey declares that it contains fruit, protein, breadstuff, and beverage. It is the quality not the quantity of the breakfast that counts.

Protein in the form of milk, eggs, meat or peanut butter puts staying power in the breakfast so you won't get hungry before lunch. Many enjoy cheese or cottage cheese for breakfast.

A bread or cereals give you vitamins and minerals as well as carbohydrates. Go easy on the sweet dessert and doughnut type rolls; they give calories, but not much else.

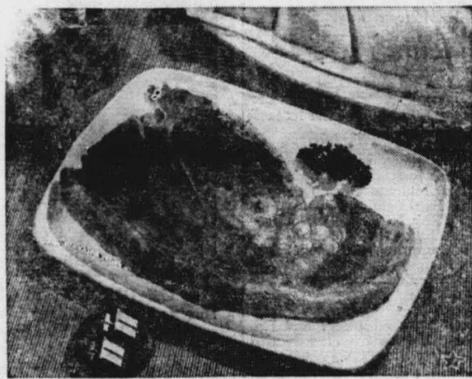

Vitamin C must be supplied every day because your body cannot store it. This is one of the main reasons for including a fruit, especially oranges, grapefruit or tomatoes in a good breakfast. Aside from providing vitamin C, these fruits start digestive juices flowing.

Your morning beverage can be milk or coffee if you use a generous amount of milk on your cereal. Even if you do drink coffee, it's a good idea to have a glass of milk because of its "stick to your ribs" quality in the protein. Skimmed milk furnishes only half the calories of whole milk, but does contain the protein.

of meat with a little more fat, or the choice of whole milk instead of skim milk, may mean the difference in being satisfied or really hungry before the next meal.

In contrast, the thin man may do better to eat less fat and more sugar and starch, since his appetite tends to be too easily satisfied and he needs more food.

In any case there is one main principle in weight control: IT IS A LIFETIME JOB. Unless adjustments in food habits are permanent, the "battle of the bulge" will be lost!

Flatter Dad on Father's Day with this deliciously broiled porterhouse steak. Broil at a low temperature to just the right degree of doneness.

Family traditions are an integral part of many homes. Certainly for the Dad in the home, special consideration is given him on Father's Day, June 16th.

One of these considerations is a specially planned menu for the family dinner. What could be more appropriate than a juicy, broiled-to-perfection porterhouse steak?

One of the greatest advantages of beef steaks is that they're easy to prepare. For some handy tips on broiling meat, Reba Staggs, well known meat expert, mentions these few simple suggestions.

Simply set the regulator of your range for broiling. Place the steak on a broiler rack; insert the rack and pan so the top surface of a 1-inch steak is 2 inches from the heat and a 2-inch steak 3 inches from the heat. The temperature at which you broil is regulated by the distance between the heat and the meat.

When one side is browned, season, turn and finishing cooking on the second side. Season second side. Serve piping hot from the broiler.

Accompaniments chosen to complement this perfect Dad's Day meat choice are french fried potatoes, buttered carrot strips, mixed green salad, sour cream dressing, French bread and apple pie. This meal is one just made for a man's appetite and just watch him when it is placed before him.

A Few Tips for Giving Bridal Showers

Showering the bride with gifts of lasting usefulness is a charming institution. And it's fun for everybody.

In fact, the bride is rare who would feel quite properly married without at least one shower in her honor.

The party itself is all frothy gaiety. But the gifts are practical as practical can be. As Vogue puts it "The practical wedding present—for the bride."

The shower—which is given by friends, never relatives of the bride or groom—may center around a luncheon, bride party, tea or supper.

Usually the mothers of the bride and groom and girl friends of the bride's age are invited. No one should be asked who isn't on the wedding list.

Purpose of Shower
Invitations may be given by telephone or informal note. The theme and color scheme, if any, are included in the invitations.

The main purpose of a shower is to give the bride gifts she needs to start housekeeping. Since the same persons will have to give wedding presents later on, shower gifts are usually not too expensive.

But this doesn't rule out giving larger gifts. Often two or more girls—or the whole group—will pool their money to buy a toaster or electric coffee maker or roto-seric. These gifts make more sense than the cute but useless contributions that clutter an attic later on.

The most successful showers carry the theme through gifts and decorations.

Decorations, of course, don't have to be elaborate to be effective. Ingenuity and good taste are what count.

One good basic decoration—which can be varied to suit—is the opened umbrella, standing at an angle on table or floor, serving as a sort of cornucopia from which the gaily wrapped gifts spill.

Here are some suggestions for kinds of showers to give:

THE STEEL SHOWER

The latest—and most practical—kind of bridal shower features the many wonderful gifts of steel to make the bride's home more beautiful and her housekeeping easier. These include pots, mixing bowls, egg beaters, ladles, stainless steel flatware, trays and chafing dishes, pitcher, ice bucket, ashtrays, candelabra, fireplace screen and the various electric appliances.

For decorations a perfect note is a pretty umbrella—which can be one of the bride's gifts because it has steel ribs—placed open in the center of the table to frame the gifts. Around the edge of the umbrella, at the tip of each steel rib, attach a small steel cooking utensil—children's sets are ideal for this purpose—such as a small coffee pot, egg beater, spoon, etc.

A steel shower centerpiece may be made using a flower-trimmed steel umbrella frame, inserted partially open, into an inverted

KITCHEN SHOWER

Among gifts to delight a bride's homemaking heart are the practical items to stock a well-equipped kitchen: Steel pots and pans in a wide range of sizes and at least two sturdy steel can openers. Cutlery is ever welcome: paring knives, potato peelers, bread knives, carving set, set of steak knives and butcher knives. The quality of the knives is important if they are to last. For this reason be sure they are made of stainless steel.

Steel canister sets are attractive necessities. Other handy items are sieves, graters, funnels, spatulas, scrapers, measuring spoons and cups, and steel cake and pie pans.

To personalize the gifts, each girl could include her favorite recipe.

For decorations, a gaily decorated garbage pail is novel.

Give Impression Someone's Home While On Your Vacation

Chief Kenneth Fisher pointed out this week that experienced burglars know when to invade a house and it's up to the home owner to fool him by creating the impression someone is home, though the house may be empty. Many people leave their homes for an evening, weekend, or vacation, and fail to take the simple precautions dictated by good common sense, Chief Fisher reported. These citizens wouldn't think of leaving the front door open or hanging up a sign reading "Burglars Welcome—Nobody Home Here." Yet, they give all the indication necessary, such as newspapers piled at the front door, a totally dark house, or even worse, lights burning 24 hours a day.

The Plymouth police officers know the results of such action—crime and more crime. Last year, there was a burglary about every 1-1/2 minutes in this country. It's an alarming figure, but many can be prevented by following the simple precautions suggested by your police department when leaving for several days or longer.

- DO leave a lamp or two connected to an automatic timer to turn lights on and off regularly each evening. This makes the home "lived-in" and is your best protective measure.
- DO cancel all deliveries including milk, newspapers, etc. Have a neighbor hold your mail until you return.
- DO close and lock all windows and doors, including basement, porch and garage. Use pin tumbler cylinder locks on all outside doors, still the most secure key-operated locking device known to man.
- DO have your lawn mowed and sidewalk swept by someone at least once a week.
- DO tell one neighbor you are leaving. Have them check your house periodically and notify the police if they see anyone prowling around.
- DO notify your local police officials as to the date you are leaving and when you will return.
- DON'T close blinds or draw shades, leave them as you

- normally do when you're home.
 - DON'T leave valuables laying around the house. Place them in a safety deposit box.
 - DON'T tell friends, neighbors, or work associates of the valuable possessions you have around the house.
 - DON'T advertise your departure to your whole neighborhood.
- Nobel Prizes were first awarded in 1901.

WHY re-enlist in the small-car army?

READ THIS STARTLING FACT

5 out of 10 Smaller Cars wear a Pontiac Price Tag —yet none gives you Any of Pontiac's Advantages

PONTIAC GIVES YOU UP TO 8.9% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR!

Not one of the smaller cars can give you the heavy-duty construction, the road-hugging feet and solid security that surround you in every Pontiac. Yet Pontiac's the nimblest heavy-weight you ever managed—and your Pontiac dealer can show you more than six dozen advanced-engineering reasons why! Pontiac has gone all out to make this genuine big car the best behaved beauty that you ever had the pleasure of bossing. You'll find Pontiac's exclusive Precision-Touch Controls make steering and braking the surest, easiest you've ever experienced! Park it, cruise it, try it in stop-and-go traffic... this is driving the smaller jobs can't duplicate!

PONTIAC GIVES YOU 4 TO 7 INCHES MORE WHEELBASE!

The small cars extend bumpers and fenders to look big—but Pontiac puts the extra length where it counts—between the wheels! Pontiac's longer stride brackets the bumps instead of riding on them. And this extra length shows up inside, too, in stretch-out space for six footers. Add to Pontiac's bonus in length its all-new suspension system and you have an exclusive Level-Line Ride no car at any price can surpass... and a built-in sense of direction and security that will spoil you for the smaller cars forever!

PONTIAC'S PERFORMANCE TOPS THE BEST THE SMALL CARS CAN OFFER—BY A WIDE MARGIN!

Not one of the smaller cars can measure up to Pontiac Performance. Whether you judge a power plant by engineering statistics or on-the-road performance, Pontiac's Strato-Streak V-8 stands head and shoulders above anything in the low-price field. Your Pontiac dealer will be happy to show you a complete facts-and-figures comparison—then an eye-opening test drive in traffic or out on the highway will supply all the heart-lifting proof you need that Pontiac has separated the men from the boys when it comes to performance!

-AND PONTIAC HAS ALWAYS BEEN FAMOUS AS ONE OF AMERICA'S TOP TRADE-INS!

Maybe it comes as a surprise to you that so much more car can be yours at the same price you've seen on the smaller cars. But there's the fact! And Pontiac is a wonderful investment, too! As you know, it has always commanded a top trade-in. So why not step out of the small-car class and into a Pontiac... there's nothing in your way. Your Pontiac dealer has the keys and an eye-opening offer waiting for you right now! So why not look and feel like a million—instead of a million others?

BOW! If you want the ultimate in both economy and extraordinary performance, new Tri-Power Carburetion is available at extra cost on even the lowest priced Pontiac model! It's America's newest power advance and exclusively Pontiac's at so low a cost!

New Homes Guide Plan With Oriental Influence

Architect Bertram A. Weber might have had a Japanese teahouse in mind when he designed this house, featured in NEW HOMES GUIDE magazine. But a good plan is a good plan, regardless of the touches that give it flavor. As a matter of fact, in some sections of the country these unusual doors and windows might be very expensive; in others not. The house is wholly American in interior planning, with an exceptionally well executed living-family-kitchen arrangement and a two-way fireplace that extends out to provide a barbecue for the terrace. Eastern charm of the home can be magnified by using bubble light fixtures, oriental wallpaper and the like. Area is 1,663 sq. ft. Regarding blueprints, write NEW HOMES GUIDE, Dept. 1906, 621 N. Dearborn, Chicago 10, Ill.

New Walls in Color "Sprayed" on Old Homes

One of the biggest advances made in the present nationwide home improvement boom, according to editors of Home Modernizing magazine, is the fast, economical resurfacing of old masonry walls with machines. The trowel has given way to a spray gun attached to a hose, and a new cementitious mixture—practically immune to weathering and available in a wide range of colors—is spread over the wall under air pressure. Significance of this, say the editors, is tremendous. It puts "facelifting" of brick, concrete block, stucco or other masonry homes on a par cost-wise, with frame houses. This area was previously virtually untouched, because of the high cost of hand-troweling. The machine used to apply the "Colorcrete," as the material is called, is small and portable, and is used for modernizing basement and other interior walls, too. Many areas of the country now have this method available, with applicators working under a unique dealership plan. For free literature or additional information, write to Colorcrete, 323 Ottawa Ave., Holland, Mich.

Old stucco home is transformed with "Colorcrete" method. Wood can be covered, too, with wire mesh base for material.

Trend Is Back to Dining Room

The formal dining room is returning to favor. Decorators and architects report that most buyers of new homes are no longer interested in a mere dining "area." At the same time, the prospective home owner likes the open plan which is achieved by eliminating solid partitions and doors between dining room and living room. To meet this demand for a dining room which preserves its identity, and yet maintains the spacious effect of open planning, architects have attacked the problem in a number of ways.

The first move was to build a short tier of waist-high shelves or cabinets to partially divide the living and dining areas. But this was not enough. So the architects added a false beam dropped one foot from the ceiling on a line where the room division would normally be. This beam, and the space-dividing cabinets proved popular for awhile. However, builders began to meet sales resistance because the public wanted still greater separation, but with the open plan retained.

There are so many sizes and types of fans today that you can find the ones that exactly fit your needs. Then you can do your cooling naturally—because summer comfort is the result of cool air and a soft breeze. That's what you enjoy when on vacation in the mountains or at the seashore. And that's what you can have in your home with fans.

Everybody wants to keep cool in summer. It's important to do just that . . . not only from the standpoint of comfort, but for health and efficiency. You can work better and sleep better if your body isn't excessively overheated. Everyone realizes that instinctively.

People try to stay in the shade, on hot, sunny days, and they get out where there's a breeze. For the same purpose indoors, people buy fans.

Basically, all fans do one of two things . . . they either circulate air inside a room or rooms, or they provide ventilation. They do this in various ways, and must be of the proper size to do their job well.

It pays to have a fan big enough to do its job properly. The larger the room or rooms to be cooled or ventilated, the larger the fan you need for efficient service.

In other words, the more air there is to move, the bigger the fan should be. You can find out from your fan retailer what size fan you'll need.

If you have the right sizes and types of fans, here's what happens: During the day, when your home is filled with cool air from the night before, you merely want to circulate it for comfort.

A circulating fan provides the cooling breeze which evaporates perspiration from your skin. If it evaporates quickly, you feel cooler. And that's one thing fans help you do—feel cooler! At night, when the outdoor air is cool and the indoor air is hot, you want to reverse the situation. You want to remove the hot, muggy air and bring in the cool air. That makes you feel cooler, too.

Fans can do a wonderful job of providing you with summer comfort. You needn't wait for breezes. Just make your own with fans that change stagnant indoor air into fresh lively air during the day, and replace overheated indoor air with cool outdoor air at night. With fans, life during the summer can be a lot more pleasant!

Versatile Enamel

Porch and Floor Enamel is a tough, hard-wearing covering for interior and exterior surfaces such as porches, stairs, floors, dadoes, boat decks—of wood or metal. Spreading capacity is about 500 square feet per gallon, one coat. It's easy to apply, needs no primer or sealer. One coat hides all but the most badly worn surfaces. Bare wood or metal, however, needs two coats. Use a 3-inch brush and work with the length of the board.

Preserve Lamp Shades

A thin coat of shellac makes parchment lamp shades spot proof; readily cleaned and durable.

BENTLEY HIGH SCHOOL sophomore Ruth Durham, 3404 LaMoyné, won a set of silver in a contest sponsored by the Plymouth Association of Insurance Agents at the Western Wayne County Builders Show. A. K. Brocklehurst, president of the association, is shown presenting the silver. Ruth said that she'll not store it away in her hope chest, but will use the silver.

Drainage Tests May Save Trees

Inadequate drainage can make your new planting projects a washout. That's because water-logged trees are more prone to disaster than thirsty ones.

So warns R. M. Smith, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., who says week-end gardeners will lose many of the trees and shrubs they plant this spring. Plants can drown even on a hilltop in clay soils.

There's a simple way to find out whether the new planting site has naturally good drainage. Dig a hole as deep as the pit that will be required for the plant in point. Then fill the hole with water. If the water doesn't dissipate into the soil in 24 hours, chances are you'll need artificial drainage. This will entail the use of field tile to run off the excess moisture that threatens your tree.

Planting too deep is a common error that often leads to failure. The most carefully prepared drainage tile will be ineffectual if the tree or other plant is set too deeply in the soil. It will smother to death, anyway, if the air supply to the roots is cut off.

Take your cue from Dame Nature. She knows precisely how deeply she wants plants to grow. It's easy to spot the ground-line on any tree or shrub about to be planted. Simply make sure you set the plant at just that soil level.

Deep-planting may hold the tree more securely in the ground, but staking for support is good practice when the shallower pit is made to accommodate the new arboreal pet.

Care Needed In Handling Power Lawn Mowers

Power lawn mowers are not dangerous tools but they can be handled dangerously, says Dick Pfister, extension safety specialist at Michigan State University.

Because these mowers are power operated, they present more natural hazards than hand mowers. But Pfister points out that sensible handling can keep these hazards under control.

The safety specialist suggests these practices in power mower operation: Always disconnect the spark plug wire before making adjustments on any part of the cutter bar housing. Do not make any adjustments, remove clogging grass or sticks or reach in front of the mower while the engine is running.

Start the mower on level ground, making sure your feet are away from the cutter bar or blade. Go over the lawn before mowing to remove rocks, sticks, wire and other possible obstructions.

Insist that children and pets stay away from the machine when you're mowing.

Don't leave a mower running unattended where it might be a temptation for children and others who don't know how to handle it.

Keep a steady footing and balance when mowing on inclines. Remove the spark plug or spark plug wire when you store the machine to prevent inquisitive youngsters from starting the machine.

When buying power mowers, Pfister urges that you check the safety devices available. Safety clutches and similar features can help cut chances of accidents.

Here for Century, 2 Oriental Trees Are Rediscovered

Even trees can be a century ahead of their time.

Such is the case with two oriental immigrants, the Amur cork tree and the Katsuratree. Both were brought to the U.S. about a hundred years ago and are still relatively unknown outside a small group of admirers of exotic plantings.

Today they are being heralded as trees ideal for the setting of the modern low-slung home. The Amur cork tree is wide-spreading but not tall at maturity and can be used to frame the one-story and split-level residences. Importantly, it is relatively free of insect enemies. Sexes are separate and only pistillate plants will bear the cluster of black berries.

This purely decorative species originally came from northern China. It produces a light shade not injurious to lawns. With an amazing ability to thrive under city conditions, it blooms in early June and has a deeply furrowed bark especially desirable for winter interest.

The Katsuratree, a Japanese native with heart-shaped leaves nearly four inches long, also is tolerant of adverse growing conditions. Sexes are on separate trees. Females are likely to be wide-branched and the males, narrow. Unlike the ginkgo, the Katsuratree soon reveals its sex. It bears fruit when relatively young as opposed to the ginkgo, which does so only after 30 years or so. Its handsome foliage takes on yellow to scarlet hues in autumn.

Both the Amur cork tree and the Katsuratree also make good street plantings in certain locations and both require a minimum of maintenance and care. While not exactly rare they may be hard to come by, but diligent inquiry usually will turn them up.

Plymouthite Appearing In Will-O-Way Opener

Plymouthite Effie Kuisel, is appearing in the Will-O-Way Playhouse season's opener which ends this Sunday.

Mrs. Kuisel, who lives at 656 S. Harvey, plays the maid in the first scene of the play, "Mrs. McThing" by Mary Chase, the author of "Harvey". Mrs. Kuisel is the mother of four children.

She got the acting bug in high school doing dramatic and forensic work. She later acted with the Plymouth Theatre Guild in "Two Blind Mice", "Mrs. Berry's Etchings" and had special fun with the Mrs. Windrow role in "Here Today".

William Merrill is directing the play as Will-O-Way opens its 17th consecutive season. It is located in a re-converted apple storage house in front of the barn and orchard of what was until two years ago a typical Michigan apple farm. Curtain time is 8:40.
