

Dream Made Plymouth Air Rifle Capital of World

A "dream" started the air rifle industry in Plymouth. Today, that dream has multiplied into a $10,000,000 annual business directed by Executive Vice-President Cass S. Hough who today made the world-famous company will leave Plymouth.

W. F. (Paii) Markham, one of Plymouth's first industrialists, saw an image of a wooden air rifle in his sleep. The dream came true when he and a partner built "King Factory" opposite the site of today's Plymouth Elevator. The company flourished and 10,000 wooden guns were sold to a Chicago wholesaler.

The air rifle seed was sown and in 1888, about the time when a trip to downtown Detroit took 48 hours over a pine log thoroughfare called Plymouth Road, the board of directors of the floundering Plymouth Iron Windmill Company met to disband their six year venture.

Clarence J. Hamilton, a watch repairman and an enterprising stockholder, walked into the grim meeting with an invention under one arm and a revolution ary idea in his head. It turned out to be the first metal gun with a barrel of zinc and a piece of round wire bent in the shape of a gun stock.

THE BOARD of directors gathered around to look at the new gun and someone, in keeping with a currently popular expression, exclaimed, "It's a DAISY!" and a new company was born.

Hamilton generously gave the directors patent and manufacturing rights and in the spring of 1888 the Daisy air gun went into production.

In 1895, two years after pipes were laid linking Plymouth's first water system with a spring on Beck Road, the old Plymouth Iron Windmill Company became known as Daisy Manufacturing Company. FROM THAT simple beginning the company has grown from 25 people to over 600 employees. The Daisy Air Rifle has been the major item although the company has manufactured products under different names.

Such toys as the Buck Rogers Rocket Pistol and Disintegrator; Buck Rogers Atomic Pistol; Li'l Abner Target Game; Superman Picture Pistols, Red Ryder Carbine and others.

Steel, plastic, lumber, malleable iron and brass are now used in the many products which are sold principally through hardware and sporting goods wholesale houses, who distribute to retail stores. The company advertises in boy's and men's magazines and has put Plymouth before the world.

DAISY HAS maintained a unique organization by employing generations of Plymouth families. For example, the Taylor family has been linked with Daisy since Andrew Taylor took over as engineer there in 1898.

His son, David, succeeded him and Vaughn, who works in the Daisy offices, rounds out three generations at Daisy.

Charles Bennett was Daisy president for 44 years. Given two to three weeks to live when he was born June 26, 1863, he survived to become a widely-known industrialist and philanthropist. Before his death Bennett was unofficially recognized as "Mr. Plymouth."

Edward C. Hough succeeded him as Daisy president in November 1956. He is also company treasurer. His son, Cass S. Hough, is executive vice-president and secretary. Directors are an attorney, Roy Talleon, Jr., of Grosse Pointe, and Miss Pauline Peck of Plymouth.

THE BIGGEST year Daisy ever had was in 1956 when at the annual profit sharing meeting at the high school, employees divided $529,607. Sales for the year were $9,700,000 and gross earnings were set at $1,950,000. Daisy's retirement trust fund at that time contained $1,277,000.

Daisy Manufacturing has always been a leader in the profit sharing plan, being among the first firms to adopt the program.

First associated with Daisy in 1894 when he took charge of their books, Edward Hough's duties increased until he was elected vice-president and treasurer in 1912.

He was a member of the Plymouth City Council in 1901-02 and was president of the Plymouth school board for 10 years. The first president of the Plymouth Telephone Exchange, he still holds Plymouth Telephone number "1."

Long prominent in Masonic affairs, Hough has been a member of the Plymouth Blue Lodge for 64 years and is a member of the Detroit Consistory and Detroit Shrine.

EDWARD HOUGH'S son, Cass, joined the Daisy organization in 1926, following his graduation from Culver Military Academy and the University of Michigan. Except for duty as an Air Corps Colonel in World War II, he has taken an active part in the company's growth since then.

Cass Hough has long been a flying enthusiast and was chairman of the Michigan Aeronautics commission. He also has been a strong advocate of keeping the airlines at Willow Run. He has served on the city commission and was mayor for two years. He is now a resident of Ann Arbor.

UNION STREET has been the home of Daisy Manufacturing since its early days. The brick, vine-covered building has undergone many alterations and has had numerous additions through the years. Today 600 people work there. Daisy hopes to sell the building.

Daisy To Close Plymouth Plant, Move to Arkansas!

Local Voters Help Turn Down Port

Like most of Wayne County's suburban areas, Plymouth city and township voters went to the polls Tuesday and helped defeat two propositions which would have created a $9,500,000 Detroit port and marine terminal.

The two propositions, the only issues on the ballot here, were rejected by Wayne County electors Tuesday with out-county communities leading the opposition.

Plymouth city and township voters did not give the 60 percent majority needed for Proposition 1, but they did support Proposition 2 with a simple majority, thus differing from the county-wide results. These are the results in this area:

	Proposition 1		Proposition 2
	City	Twp.	City	Twp.
Yes	173	106	153	99
No	124	81	148	78

As was expected, only a small percentage of the electors turned out here or anywhere in Wayne County. Plymouth city had but 307; Plymouth Township counted 200; and Canton Township had 186 voters.

Proposition 1, upon which only property-owning taxpayers and their spouses could vote, required a 60 percent majority to win. In Wayne county, the final vote was: Yes, 140,820; No, 98,316. With the proposition scoring only a 59 percent majority, it went down to defeat.

Proposition 2 in the county was less popular. Whereas Proposition 1 asked that $9,500,000 worth of bonds be issued to construct the port facilities, Proposition 2 was seeking a tax rate limitation increase of 16 cents per $1,000 of valuation to finance the bonds. This went down to a clear-cut defeat in the county.

The vote on Proposition 2 was: Yes, 129,935; No, 155,233.

4 More Days Remain For Chest X-Rays

Four more days remain for Plymouthites to receive a free chest X-ray.

Mobile X-ray units will be in the city today and Friday, and next Tuesday and Wednesday. And it will probably be a long time before they return.

Up to three units at one time have been operating in Plymouth. The first moved in Monday morning at the high school. Since then, the mobile units have also been in the parking lots at the Kroger and A & P stores and on Liberty Street at Dickerson's Market. Next Tuesday and Wednesday one will be on Main St.

Free chest X-rays are available to all adults 18 and over.

This is the first survey in Plymouth since 1954. "We want to find all the unknown cases early," says Dr. James Busby, director of the Tuberculosis Control Division at the Wayne County Department of Health. "These people can be sick without knowing it, because TB has no symptoms in its early stages. The chest X-ray is the only practical means of finding TB in an early stage."

Fourteen new cases of tuberculosis were discovered in the

100 Fire Chiefs to See Home Burn Down Here

Over 100 fire chiefs will stand around and watch this afternoon while a house burns to the ground in Plymouth.

The chiefs are members of the Southeastern Michigan Fire Chiefs Association which is holding its monthly meeting here today (Thursday).

The fire which the chiefs will witness will be on Ann Arbor Trail, between Forest avenue and Harvey street. An old frame home on the north side of the street will be ignited at 3 p.m. Donated to firemen by the Atlas Finance Co. of Detroit, the home was scheduled to be torn down.

Six or seven times, firemen will extinguish the blaze and re-ignite it. Firemen from Plymouth city and township and Livonia will do the actual fighting. They will demonstrate the application of water fog, as opposed to the straight stream.

Supervising the burning will be Harry Wolf, official from the Western Actuarial Bureau of Chicago. He will be assisted by Jake Holdman of Bay City; Francis Hartmann, director of the Fire Training Bureau at the

Fund Drive Short of Goal

With the Plymouth Community Fund still $4,782 away from its goal, the Fund's board of directors voted Tuesday night to extend the drive until the $31,549 goal is achieved.

The Plymouth drive was to end today, but due to the great lag in individual pledges, the campaign has still reached only 85 percent of its goal. Total donations and pledges to date are $26,767.

The biggest "shot in the arm" ever received by the Plymouth Community Fund came this week when the National Bank of Detroit turned over a total of $3,500. This is over 10 percent of the goal.

Of the $3,500, the bank itself donated $2,850 while employees gave $650. There was 100 percent participation by employees.

"The drive will continue until the goal is reached," the co-chairmen said yesterday. Chairmen are Richard Daniel and Mrs. L. B. Rice. "We need every individual's dona-

Twin brothers, 23 years old, won the Edsel car in Stop and Shop's contest.

It was a family proposition, really, with their mother buying all the groceries, but the keys to the supermarket's first prize were handed over Tuesday to Ernest and Harry Miller of 13928 Ridgewood Drive, Plymouth.

The magic figure was 2,382, that being the exact number of

Cass Hough's Statement

"After 70 years of operation in Plymouth, the Daisy Manufacturing Company will move all of its operations to Rogers, Arkansas. The move will be completed by early summer 1958.

"Steadily increasing manufacturing costs, coupled with the uncertainty of Michigan's tax structure, and the generally poor economic climate in Michigan for a small business, are the basic forces that dictate the move. Retail prices of Daisy products, now at an all-time high, cannot be raised any more, to take care of further cost increases, without seriously affecting sales. The last five years have seen a steadily increasing part of Daisy's business channeled into highly competitive fields. All of Daisy's competitors in these fields are located in relatively low-cost areas, making the competitive job for Daisy a back-breaking one. Also, many new items, already designed and engineered, cannot be manufactured and marketed advantageously in the Plymouth operation, because of the high costs to manufacture. In addition, the cost would be extremely high compared to some other areas. Thus, future development of the business and its products will be severely handicapped in the present location.

Building a New Plant in the Plymouth Area

"A new plant of approximately 225,000 sq. ft. will be erected by the Rogers Industrial Development Corporation, and turned over to Daisy on a lease-purchase agreement. The new factory site consists of approximately 21 acres of land, lying between a main highway and the Frisco Railroad, one and a half miles south of the center of Rogers, Arkansas.

"With roots of the company and its people so deep in the community, Daisy is loath to make this move. However, ever since resumption of operations following World War II an intense investigation of manufacturing problems has been going on, coupled, of course, with studies for relocation. Thus what appears to be the answer to the dilemma in which Daisy finds itself is one arrived at after mature and sober thought and study."

CASS HOUGH

Daisy Manufacturing will leave Plymouth and move to new quarters in Arkansas.

In quest of lower operating costs—particularly in labor—the company's directors decided late Wednesday to abandon the town where the unique business began 70 years ago, and which has had no other home.

Executive Vice-President Cass Hough announced the move, following a meeting of top company officials.

It was a grim decision for 600-plus employees who earn their living at the old plant on Union Street. Practically all of the workers live in Plymouth or communities close-by.

To the City of Plymouth, it means the departure of the largest industry and biggest taxpayer. Daisy is estimated to pay seven percent of the total taxes collected annually within the city.

"It is a difficult and heart-rending choice we have had to make," said Hough. "But involved is a simple matter of business survival. We have reached a point where we cannot raise the price of our product further and still sell it. Our labor costs continue to climb. We must build new plant capacity."

"There were only two choices: (1) eventually go out of business; or (2) transfer our scene of operations to a place where labor and construction costs were more moderate. We made the second choice."

Daisy's departure will offer substance to the often-heard charges that businessmen are locating their new facilities in states other than Michigan.

The common complaint is that the huge automobile factories set a wage pattern which casts a shadow over the whole state—smaller businesses being forced to pay the same wages in order to compete for good labor.

Rumors of an impending move by the air rifle company have been stirring for months, and actually Daisy has surveyed the possibilities for at least five years. But the problem came to a high boil only about eight weeks ago.

One of The Mail's sources said that the company believes it can save one million dollars a year in labor costs in Arkansas, while hiring the same number of people as now.

The new factory will contain more automation equipment than the old one.

The exact location in Arkansas is near the city of Rogers; population 4,962 at the last census. It is in the northwest part of the state.

Both city and state bodies there wooed Daisy with various inducements, one of them being lower taxes. Hough said, however, that many locations "all over the country" were studied before one was settled upon.

The executive staff, department heads and key personnel will accompany the Company to Arkansas.

Hough stressed that in the next few immediate months production in Plymouth would continue on a normal basis—even "heavier" than normal, he said. The transfer will come gradually, with mid-1958 as a flexible "target date" for the biggest part of the move.

One reason the announcement comes as a shock is that Daisy Manufacturing enjoyed its best year in history in 1956. Last December Hough disclosed that earnings and gross sales for the past year had reached record levels—sales being almost 10 million dollars and earnings before taxes $1,950,000.

However, in 1957 sales have dipped (particularly in the higher priced items in the line) and costs have gone up.

Daisy makes air rifles, BB shot, pop guns, and smaller toy revolvers and holsters. It is virtually unopposed in the air rifle line but has many competitors in the smaller items. The building here will be sold.

Halloween Rather Quiet, Happily Report Police

Halloween vandalism was comparatively light this year in Plymouth, although there was one case which was costly to an auto owner.

Police Chief Kenneth Fisher said that very few complaints were registered during the evening. There was one instance where a rock was thrown through a window and another where firecrackers were shot off. Regular and special police kept close watch in the city and broke up several groups where something destructive may have been planned.

Hardly classified as a prank was the incident occurring earlier in the week to a car owned by Robert Anderson, 1113 S. Harvey. All four tires were punctured. Anderson is driver education instructor at Plymouth High school. Two dangling bodies from flagpoles were discovered by police. On Halloween night, police found a skeleton hanging from the flagpole in front of the high school. It had disappeared several weeks earlier from the biology classroom.

On the night after Halloween, a dummy was found swinging from the flagpole in Kellogg Park. Its limp body now rests in a corner of the property room at the police station.

No Observance Planned Here for Veterans Day

A parade which in past years has been held in conjunction with Veterans Day will not take place this year.

Neither the Veterans of Foreign Wars nor the American Legion posts plan a public observance of the day. They note that lack of interest by the public, due mainly perhaps to the cold weather this time of year, has brought about cancellation of the march this year.

Veterans Day is next Monday, November 11. Formerly called Armistice Day in observance of the signing of the armistice of World War I, it was changed to Veterans Day three years ago. Veterans organizations, their auxiliaries and the high school band have made the parade an annual event. Although Veterans Day parade will be omitted this year, veterans' groups still ask the public to observe the day by displaying the American flag. The public is also being asked to recall the day as a "remembrance for those who placed their love of God and country and their devotion to liberty and freedom above life itself."

Most public offices will be closed during the day. The Plymouth Post Office will have no delivery of mail. The National Bank of Detroit and First Federal Savings and Loan Association will both be closed.

City hall will close at noon, but Plymouth township hall will remain open during the day. The Employment Security Commission on South Mill Street will be closed the entire day.

Members of the Mayflower Post of the V.F.W. will go to Detroit Monday night to participate in their Veterans Day parade.

All veterans' groups will participate this Sunday afternoon in a flagpole dedication program at the Veterans Memorial Center. A steel pole set in the yard is the Center's first flagpole since it was opened 10 years ago. The ceremony will be at 3 p.m.

The following relatives attended the wedding Saturday evening of their nephew, Julian Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurber Becker and Betty Schwark, both of Three Oaks; Mrs. Nina Blunk, Mrs. Mildred Jewell, Mrs. Merle Rorabacher, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Reamer and Mr. and Mrs. Mamford Becker and family. The ceremony was performed in the St. John Reformed church in Three Oaks and the reception held that evening in the New Buffalo Rod and Gun club.

City Supported in Plea For Scooter Control

There appears to be some widespread support for the city commission's recent resolution calling for new state laws controlling motor scooters.

Copies of the resolution were sent to State Senator John Swainson and State Representative Sterling Eaton, both of whom have pledged support for legislation modifying motor scooter laws. As of now, any child at 14 can obtain a license to operate a scooter.

A copy of the resolution also went to the Michigan Municipal League which has promised to promote legislation. There had been some legislation repealing the motor scooter section, but the bills were never reported out of committee.

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Daisy Manufacturing is leaving Plymouth. It's no longer a rumor. It's final . . . done.

Our community is losing its largest taxpayer and wagepayer. Many of our citizens are losing their jobs. Our merchants are losing trade.

An institution that has been the substance of the tradition of Plymouth since 1888 is departing. An era has ended. It is a depressing moment for everyone. Adverse effects will make themselves felt for months to come.

In any small city which depends heavily on a single industry, it is normally the fashion to knock the "company." Daisy has had its share of such knocks.

Not too often, however, do the citizens face the moment when the "company" suddenly moves away completely. That time has come to Plymouth, and it is one for reassessment.

Even now, grief and remorse about the past serve no purpose. It's too late.

But for the future there is a sermon in the shock. The points of the sermon:

- (1) Industry is dreadfully important to a community, and intelligent citizens must regard it that way.
- (2) Communities over the whole nation are competing to have industry come their way, and that competition must hereafter be met by Plymouth, if it is to have industry of its own.
- (3) The problem of obtaining an adequate industrial tax base to support Plymouth is more urgent than ever.
- (4) There is no status quo in a moving society. An old town either progresses, or crumbles. What we have today, we can lose tomorrow.
- (5) The labor market is competitive and most businessmen will seek out the cheaper source rather than close their business. If he doesn't find it in Arkansas, then there is Puerto Rico, or Japan. But there is a limit on how much business will pay in wages, sooner or later.
- (6) Plymouth must look the problems in the eye and go to work.

Just one post-script. The new Western Electric plant will hire many employees and cushion some of the impact of Daisy's departure.

But anyone who takes console in that is whistling from an empty head. Western Electric decided to come here two years ago. Daisy decided to leave today.

Plymouth has lost an asset of great value.

Canton Achieves 350% of U-F Goal

Canton Township has ended its first United Foundation drive by attaining 350 percent of its goal, according to a final report made this week by Mrs. Carl Cederburg, drive chairman.

The corps of woman volunteers collected $1,681.31. They had a goal of $480.

This was the first time that the township had actively taken part in a United Fund campaign. Their percentage over the goal will probably be the highest in the metropolitan area.

"Of course, this being the first drive," Mrs. Cederburg said, "it was hard to know what goal to set. Next year the job may not be as easy."

Canton township was divided into four solicitation areas. The southeast quarter bordering Wayne turned in the most donations with $700.

Old Joke is No Joke For Masquerader

The oldest of old Halloween jokes came to life last Thursday night—much to the embarrassment of a Plymouth patrolman.

Officer Henry Berghoff was keeping a sharp eye out for pranksters Halloween night when he saw a woman driving down the street while wearing a mask.

Falling her car over to the curb, the officer asked her if she didn't think it was dangerous to wear a mask while driving.

"I'm not wearing a mask!" the lady motorist indignantly declared.

Sure enough, she wasn't. But the mistake was an honest one. She was wearing make-up to disguise herself similar to a mask.

Spotcheck Shows Asian Flu Virus In 6 of 7 Cases

According to the Wayne County Health Department the current epidemic of Asian influenza is causing much absenteeism from school, and work. Among seven cases recently cultured for spot checks to determine the presence of the virus, six were found to be positive. There has also been one death reported which can partially be attributed to the Asian "flu" virus.

The death of an older person who had not been vaccinated against Asian influenza was due to complications including pneumonia and heart failure. Asian "flu" is most dangerous because of these complications which often follow an attack of the disease. The disease tends to lower one's resistance to other infections.

Many relapses among children and adults are being reported. These are probably due to the fact that these persons returned to school or work too soon.

It usually requires from one to three weeks following the "flu" fever, the Health Department recommends for all persons who have had influenza, plenty of rest and an adequate diet including the necessary amount of fruits, meat, fish, eggs and milk. Proper amounts of these foods will help provide the vitamins and other food elements needed to rebuild and maintain strength and vitality.

Above all, follow strictly your doctor's orders during the convalescent period. On the other hand, if you have not had Asian influenza, see your doctor about getting the vaccine as quickly as possible.

Youth Walks Into Side of Truck

A compound fracture of the left leg was suffered last Friday afternoon by 11-year-old Dennis Burden, 601 Sunset, as he walked into the side of a moving truck.

Police said that Dennis walked into the right side of the trailer of a truck going south on South Main street in front of Bejlinger Oldsmobile - Cadillac garage. There were several witnesses to the accident.

The driver, Lyle Hill, 14119 Edmore, Detroit, said he did not now that an accident had happened and he continued his trip to the Continental Can Co. plant here where police later notified him of the incident.

Dennis was taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. The accident occurred at 4:15 p.m.

Silver dollars are rare in most of the United States but still are found in western states.

The CITY MANAGER'S CORNER
BY AL GLASSFORD

The pride and joy of our parks department are its roses. One bed is planted in the Central Park, adjacent to the high school and another at the City Hall. There is also a bed planted at Fire Station No. 2 at Spring and Holbrook Streets. After the first flush of spring flowers, the roses burst with a grand flourish, and then bloom less profusely the rest of the summer.

In late fall, the blossoms bravely unfold to cheer the almost barren landscape until a hard freeze it pleases us to see the pleasure our citizens get out of the roses for often we see them stop and admire them. While on the matter of horticulture, we tried, unsuccessfully, twice to raise a good crop of grass from seed in front of the City Hall. We had a crop of grass, but also a good crop of plantain, pigweed, thistle and crabgrass. In desperation, Hugh McAuley said, "Let's turn it under and lay sod." That we did, and we have a respectable lawn in front of the City Hall.

I hope the nightmare of gapping sewer and water trenches, piles of dirt, rerouted traffic, sunken trenches and torn up pavements, made necessary by installation of water and sewer, is almost forgotten. Our good citizens are to be complimented for their patience and understanding in this objectionable, but most important, operation. Joe Bida and his crew of stalwarts have done a remarkable job in getting the conditions almost back to normal.

Some of the streets which formerly had pavement will be left until next Spring for final paving. The sanitary sewer has been available for use in all sections since July 1. The state law provides that within one year after it is available, all properties adjacent to the sewer must tap into it with their sanitary waste disposal. This means that by July 1 of next year, all sanitary sewer connections should be made. Sewer taps, which have been specially assessed, are now installed. All other connections must be made in the easements.

We are meeting with the contractors, in the next few days, to make final settlement of claims against the city by them for extra work performed, and those which we have against them for work which we performed on their account. If any of our citizens have knowledge of conditions existing which should be remedied by the contractors before final adjustment, please advise my office in order that the city may determine whether or not the adjustment should be made by the contractor or assumed by the city.

Such conditions involve curbs broken by the contractor, sidewalks damaged, damage to private property or any other poor workmanship. We probably have a record of the matter, but we would appreciate your bringing it to our attention again.

by Carl Peterson

The way college football coaches substitute these days, a lot of the lads get more exercise sprinting back and forth to the bench than they do in carrying the ball down the field. For a nation raised on the slogan "Accept no substitutes," this seems odder than a 3-dollar bill. It puts a premium on big squads and ruins a small college outfit that may have a great first team but not enough capable second-stringers to play pracheesi.

At the same time, the customers get dizzy trying to keep track of who's in, who's out and who's warming up. The confusion is getting to a point where there's almost nothing as anonymous as a big college football player. Whatever happened to the 60-minute "iron men"? Getting rusty on the bench?

For the first time, Clyde E. Bish of 41391 Five Mile road, is able to look at pictures of five generations in his family.

Pictures of his new great-grandchild arrived from California to complete the set. It is doubtful if the five generations will get together for a long while for a group picture, however. They are located in Pennsylvania, California and Michigan.

Rocks Face Big Test Against Ypsi Friday

Football fans in the Plymouth area will be treated to a potentially good football game at the high school field tomorrow night when the Rocks play Ypsilanti. Last Friday Ypsilanti held the highly touted Ann Arbor team to a 12-12 tie. Had it not been for two fumbles early in the game Ypsilanti would have pulled the high school upset of the year.

Ypsilanti has a veteran line-up which includes one Howard Smith, who is considered by many to be one of the best backs in the state. In addition to Smith they have a good quarterback, George Beaudet, and three outstanding linemen, Engle, Robinson, and Kennedy.

Against all this Plymouth Coach Mike Hoben will send a well-rested team and a team that some think have not yet shown their full potential. A big crowd is expected to see how the Rocks react to the toughest opposition they have faced to date this season.

Intramural Football Game Won by Blues

Two teams from the Plymouth Junior High School intramural program put on a good display of football last Friday night at the high school field. The team known as the Blues defeated the White team 12-7 for the 1957 intramural football championship. Both teams appeared to be very evenly matched as the score read 0-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Jim Steele opened the scoring for the Blues in the second quarter when he ran 15 yards for a touchdown after his teammates had blocked a kick. Before the half ended this same Jim Steele scored on a brilliantly executed 60 yard run down the sidelines to give his team a 12-0 lead at the intermission.

There was no scoring in the third quarter. In the fourth quarter the White squad scored a converted touchdown. Mardo Menchaca, who was the best ground gainer for the Whites, scored from the 5. Dick Schyer passed to Dewayne Stevenson for the extra point.

Tony Monte Wins League Cross Country, Team Comes in Third

The Cross Country season ended for the Plymouth team with the winning of the Suburban Six league meet at Plymouth last week. Tony Monte, of the Plymouth team, won the race with a time of 8:42.

Other members of the Plymouth team participating in the meet were Otto Bufe, Jeff Yoeman, Al Davies, Dave Mynatt, Ken Jacobus, and Mike Kelley. Redford Union won the meet with 48 points, followed by Allen Park with 62, Plymouth and Trenton tied with 71 points, Bellevue 105 and Bentley 156.

In the state finals at the Washenaw Country Club at Ypsilanti Tony Monte, the only representative from Plymouth, finished eighth in a field of 157 runners in the class "A" division. The first 15 finishers received medals.

At a meeting of the Plymouth Cross Country Team Tony Monte was voted most valuable runner at the school and Mike Kelley was voted next year's captain.

Boy, 10, wins First Prize In Football Contest

The Illinois-Purdue and the Notre Dame-Navy games were the big stumbling blocks for the local handicappers this week. Even the number one picker, 10-year-old Steve Hartloff of 674 Sunset, missed on these two but wound up with 100 per cent on the rest.

Second place went to Jim Nester of 8875 Elmhurst who strangely enough picked the winners of the two stumbling block games but missed out on the U of D-Cincinnati and the Stanford-Oregon games.

Third place was wrapped up by Nancy Alford, 655 Ross who only missed two games. The deciding factor between the three winners was the score of the Lions-San Francisco game and although a narrow margin separated the three winners, little Steve came closest to guessing the final score.

Anyway, this is another week, so let's get on the ball and come in with a winner. Match your selections with the Mail "sports expert" who managed to pick all but two games.

This week's selections are: Michigan over Illinois, O.S.U. over Purdue, Michigan State over Notre Dame, Wisconsin over Northwestern, Villanova over U. of D., Penn State over Marquette, Navy over Duke, U.S.C. over Stanford, Indiana over Cincinnati, Oregon over Washington, Plymouth over Ypsilanti, UCLA over Washington State, Philadelphia over Detroit, Cornell over Brown and Dartmouth over Columbia.

East Pakistan's largest port, Chittagong, ships about 25,000 tons of tea annually.

When the Plymouth Country Club opens its fairways next spring, it won't be the Plymouth Country Club and no longer will it be open to the public.

Casey Partridge, general manager, secretary and treasurer of the club, announced this week that the golf course will henceforth be known as the "Fox Hills Country Club."

And after many years of operating on a small membership and a daily green fee basis, the course will be changed to a limited private yearly fee system.

Membership will be limited to 350. Partridge states that the course will look and play differently than the course of 1957. There will be about half the number of players. No leagues will be held there. The fairways will be narrowed and rough will be allowed to grow on both sides. Several new tees are being constructed. Three new additions to the clubhouse are already started. The 2,976 square feet will be enlarged by another 3,672 square feet, or more than double the original size. The additions will include a new kitchen, grill room, dining rooms, pro-shop and golf club and cart storage.

There will be room for 50 dining tables with a capacity of 200 people. Floors will be carpeted throughout, Partridge added, and the old clubhouse renovated. Work is expected to be completed by May.

The pro-shop will be staffed by two professionals and the storage room large enough for 250 members' carts. Caddies will be available, the manager declared, but it will not be mandatory to take a caddy to play.

The ladies' section will be enlarged with new shower rooms, dressing rooms, powder room, and a locker room large enough for 160 lockers. A large men's locker room addition will be started next fall and will be completed by the spring of 1959.

Partridge, who compares his proposed clubhouse and course with some of the other better clubs in the Detroit area, states that the clubhouse will be open 10 months of the year. There will be playing and non-playing membership fees. Further information can be obtained by calling or writing Partridge at Fox Hills Country Club.

With Plymouth Country club becoming private, Plymouth is left with two semi-private courses. They are Brae Burn on Five Mile road and Plymouth Golf Course on Ann Arbor Trail. Both charge a small membership fee.

By Bill Dilworth

Last Friday evening we spent a very enjoyable two hours at the Junior High School intramural football final at the Plymouth high school field. There were several points that impressed us throughout the contest. Perhaps the first was the "spirit" of the kids. At half time one of the smallest players was complaining to his coach "I hit that big guy but he just won't go down." The big guy was the biggest guy on the other team and each time he carried the ball several players were needed to stop him or push him out of bounds. In the second half did this little guy let up? No sir, he just kept tackling any ball carrier who came near him regardless of the size. This demonstration, and it is only one incident, augurs well for the future calibre of Plymouth High School football teams.

understanding official during an actual game than they could learn from several practice sessions.

The next point that impressed us was not so important from an athletic standpoint but rather from a psychological standpoint. This was the presence of so many of the parents who came to see their sons and intently watched each play.

The principals of the schools in the Suburban Six league scheduled a meeting for Wednesday night of this week. The purpose of this meeting is to decide on whether to play or not to play the game between Allen Park and Plymouth that was postponed because of the flu epidemic.

Congratulations are in order for Tony Monte of the Plymouth cross country team who was voted most valuable runner at the school by his team mates.

Elementary Touch Football League Ends Best Season

The Plymouth Recreation Elementary Touch Football League ended a very successful season last week. This year there were 11 teams participating in two divisions. There were six teams in the Fifth Grade division where Allen and Starkweather tied for the championship in a very closely contested schedule. In the Sixth Grade division Auburn won all four of its games for the championship of the five team group.

Three teams in the Fifth grade division came through the season undefeated. Allen and Starkweather won three and tied two while Bird, the third team, won two and tied three to finish one point behind the co-champions. Allen and Starkweather played to a 0-0 tie during the regular season, therefore, it is difficult to decide which is the better team.

Auburn Lions won all four games in the Sixth grade division and scored a total of 67 points against six for the opposition. Smith was second winning three out of four. Catholic had the distinction of scoring the most points in one game—27.

Plymouth for 35 years. Both the winners are tool and die apprentices, Harry at Federal Engineering and Ernest at Central Tool and Die, Birmingham.

Ernest is the winner who wears eyeglasses, and it develops that he will have possession of the car most of the time. Harry bought a new Edsel just five weeks ago.

Ernest also was the one who did most of the calculating that went into the winning entry. He and his brother looked over the pile of boxes early in the contest and decided upon a figure of 2,632. They told their mother their guess.

During the ensuing weeks, the family entered 36 different blanks. They did this by taking the base figure — 2,632 — and making successive jumps of 25 numbers on either side of the base until the 36 blanks were all used.

"I didn't have any system or mathematics in making the estimate," explained Ernest. "I just checked the bottom of the pile and sort of estimated in my head how many boxes would fill the space."

Incidentally, Ernest has a 1957 automobile which he will now sell. Both brothers were educated in Plymouth High School, Central Michigan College and Eastern Michigan College.

Neither has bothered much with contests in the past.

The five who were tied for second place broke the deadlock by guessing the number of "strawberry" Jello boxes in the pile. The correct figure was 246 and the closest guess 236.

Plymouth area last year, according to Dr. Busby.

"Although this number of cases may not seem alarming," Dr. Busby stated, "it is still extremely high when you consider the size of the community."

Dr. Busby estimates that for every known case of tuberculosis, there is approximately one unknown case.

Also, according to Dr. Busby, the earlier a TB case is discovered, the shorter the treatment, the more certain the recovery and the quicker the patient can return to normal work.

Another incentive for the early discovery of TB is that it stops the disease from spreading.

"In spite of this," Dr. Busby says, "most of the cases discovered last year were in an advanced stage. And they had infected an average of four other persons before being discovered."

There are some 5,000 to 8,000 adults in Plymouth eligible for the free chest X-rays. The largest percentage of people will find only reassurance that their health is good. Only about one person out of every thousand X-rayed is found with active TB.

The procedure for an X-ray is quick and simple. There is no undressing and no red tape. The whole process takes less than three minutes.

Carillon Bells Heard Daily Are True Electronic Wonder

Twenty-five tiny brass rods linked with miniature hammers, a 100 watt amplifier and the late Charles Bennett are responsible for a treat Plymouth has enjoyed for two years.

Since September, 1955, the First Presbyterian Church has boasted 25 carillon chimes, a gift from Mr. Bennett. On a clear day the bells, amplified 1,000,000 times, can be heard for two miles.

The hammers are geared to strike the small rods as the 25 keys, operated from a board near the organ, are played. The mechanism and amplifier is installed in the bell tower.

The church's chief chimer, or more properly carillonneur, is Fred Nelson. He has doubled as Presbyterian organist and director of music as well as Plymouth High School's vocal music teacher for 11 years.

A complicated looking timer automatically sets the bells to peal at every hour from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. It also automatically plays the Westminster Chimes before striking the hour and a hymn at noon and 6 p.m.

According to Nelson, any good piano player can learn to operate the chimes. "The melody is like a piano," he said. "But you must play slowly so each chime is a separate sound. The harmony is hard, too. Only certain pieces can be played from the discordant blur."

Nelson has taught Jerry B. Fischer and Karla Herbold, two high school students, to play the bells.

The purchase of the bells was prompted in the spring of 1955 when Charles Bennett read a column by Sterling Eaton, former publisher of "The Plymouth Mail", which referred to the notable absence of church bells in Plymouth. An article in the "Readers Digest" Issue of April, 1955, on the carillon chimes sic written especially for the then prompted Mr. Bennett to contact the Pennsylvania company and purchase a set for the Presbyterian Church.

Arthur Bigelow, organist and carillonneur from Belgium, currently teaching at Princeton University, played at the Dedicatory Recital September 25, 1955.

George Schulmerich, of Sellersville, Pa., invented the bells. Few churches can afford a set of huge 25 cast-bronze bells costing about $17,000, plus a tower capable of holding 75,000 pounds of swinging metal, and the salary of a trained carillonneur.

A daring experiment paid off for Schulmerich shortly after the war when he made public acceptance for his bells lacking. He received permission from an Eastern university to install a set of bells in the same building with one of the finest cast-bell carillons in the world. He then took bell experts and prospective customers to the scene, let them listen to identical music played on both carillons — and they could not tell the difference!

A set of 25 Schulmerich's bells cost $2,500 while the complete installation weighs less than 200 pounds, does not need a tower and takes up less space than an organ console.

Commission Brings Two Ordinances Up to Date, Discusses New Alley

Second and third readings were given by city commissioners Monday night to two ordinances dealing with sidewalks and fire limits. Both are revisions of former ordinances "brought up to date" by City Attorney Harry Deyo.

Commissioners also found themselves involved in a lengthy discussion about an alley west of Main street, between Fralick avenue and the First Presbyterian church property. Although the proposal has been discussed several times before without action, commissioners took another view of the alley again Monday when it was learned that the church wants to sink a well drain system in its parking lot.

Some commissioners thought it better if a storm sewer be laid in the proposed alleyway to handle the job properly. There were no figures available, however, on how much storm sewer or paving in the alley would cost. The manager was instructed to inform the church that the commission is considering the alley project.

In other news of the commission, approval was given to the installation of a hydrant near Hillside Inn. The dining place had asked for the hydrant several months ago and since then a committee has been studying the installation. No charge will be made for the hydrant installation because it is in a public right-of-way.

Richard Myers, who is building a home on Homer road in Northville Township, appeared before the commission with a request for city water. City water had been given to several homes in that area several years ago because the reservoir is located nearby. Myers claims that he had started the home two years ago before the city adopted its policy concerning water taps outside the city limits. He added that several wells have produced no results.

City Manager Albert Glassford will check Myers' building permit to see if it was filed before the city adopted its water policy.

The manager reported that he and the Plymouth officials and those from neighboring communities met with a representative from the State Plumbing Board to see if it is possible to have an inspector for the area communities. They contended that the state board does not have enough help to make all inspections. The state board member declared that a local inspector could be used, but he must reside in the city or governmental unit. It would be, the manager said, too expensive for any small community to hire an inspector who must be a master plumber.

England has developed high altitude rockets called Skylarks which are designed to carry scientific weapons 100 miles into outer space.

Most dangerous period for accidents on farms is from 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturdays, and most mishaps occurred to younger workers and teen-age boys.

Timely Tips

Don't let that urge for doing that comes with crisp weather wear you down. There always are easy ways to do things. Here are a few tips to help make light of your chores:

To loosen tight screws or bolts, put a few drops of peroxide on them and let it soak in for a few moments. They'll come away much easier.

Nail a rubber heel to the bottom of your ladder or stool legs and they won't slip.

Painting your steps? Do every other one, then let them dry so you can walk on them while you paint the remaining half.

To prevent spotting hinges or latches when painting a door, rub a little petroleum jelly on them first. Stray paint will then rub off with a wisp of a cloth.

Al DeBruyne

If you're a known or suspected user of concrete in this area, here's a man you'll be seeing soon — if you haven't already met him. He's Al DeBruyne (rhymes with Bryan); and it's his job and his pleasure to give on-the-spot service to construction projects of all sizes within a ten-mile radius of our Plymouth plant.

Al's been in various branches of the construction industry since 1946 as salesman and job foreman. He's a fast man at figuring estimates and quoting prices; and he can help you with any technical problems regarding the use, placement and finishing of concrete. If he doesn't know the answers himself, he can quickly get them from our headquarters staff of technicians and engineers.

You'll find that Al's a likeable sort. He was born in Saskatchewan; came to Michigan in 1939; served with the U. S. Army in Europe and the Philippines, and came out as an infantry staff sergeant

Al DeBruyne is one more reason why you can DEPEND on us for quality and service in transit-mixed concrete — every time — on jobs of every kind and size.

The regular meeting of chapter A. I. of P.E.O. was held Friday evening at the home of Misses Helen Moore and Emma Hanthorn at 1215 Birk street in Ann Arbor. Dessert was served by the hostesses, Suzan Simons and Dorothy Curtis. The business meeting followed. Plans are being made for the Christmas bazaar. The guest speaker was Mrs. Margaret Cramer of Wayne who gave a demonstration and talk on silk screening. The next meeting will be at the home of Hope Hills.

The highlight of Hi-12 Mason Night, scheduled for Wednesday, November 20, will be a talk by Walter "Andy" Anderson, past international president of the Masons. He will speak on "Outstanding Masonry" at the 6:30 p.m. meeting at Arbor-Lill. Each member is expected to bring a brother as a guest.

Kurt Thrun, of the travel bureau, will speak to the Hi-12 group at the November 6th meeting. The November 13th meeting will feature a film on the functions of a newspaper, "Tell the People," prepared by the Detroit News.

New members Charles Palmer and Peter Leemon were presented with Hi-12 pins at the October 30 meeting.

Resident Places In Contest

S. N. Thams, 475 Jener Place, received a $10. prize for his entry in the "Wonderful Michigan" amateur photo contest. Winners of the summer-long contest were announced last week by sponsors, the Leonard Refineries of Alma. Thams was among 220 winners in the $4,000 contest.

Association to Set Up Project For Hawthorne Center Children

Mrs. Robert Fitzner
625 Parkview Drive

Hello again.

I feel that the Association meeting held at the Walter Lakes last Friday night was one of the most worthwhile meetings we've had in a long, long time and from the attitude of those present I'm sure they feel the same way. Here's a rundown of the important items.

Following a very brief discussion it was agreed that there is no longer any reason why we should limit our organization to just property owners. A committee consisting of Lee Ruland, Madeline Kendall, Paul Kaufman, Les Upton and Al Truax will formulate a letter of invitation and explanation to all families living in this subdivision to join our group as full members.

It was decided that the sending of flowers (in the event of a death in a family) be left to the discretion of the flower committee and should not be limited to just Association members.

I couldn't help but notice the quickening of interest and the hearty response which followed the suggestion that we do something for the children of Hawthorne Center for Christmas.

The committee in charge of the project (Dee Upton, Helen Lake, Lorraine Quinlan and myself) will visit the hospital to determine the needs of the children and carry on from there knowing that we will have all of you behind us to do whatever is necessary to make it a success.

Paul Kaufman, who is a doctor of psychology at Hawthorne Center and an active member of our Association, will advise us in this project and will also arrange for small groups of ten to visit the hospital in guided tours. Anyone wishing to go call Helen Lake at 309-W and dates will be arranged after determining how many are interested.

This is a large undertaking for a group as small as ours so we're hoping that all of you living in this subdivision will want to help. Our treasury voted $100.00 toward the effort but good used clothing, toys, books, and other articles will be appreciated.

Many parents felt their own children would be amply cared for over the holidays so voted against our sponsoring a Christmas party for the children this year and doing all we could for those less fortunate who perhaps need it a lot more than those here in the subdivision.

After the business meeting we played bingo with some pretty nice "white elephants" won as prizes. Cream puffs and coffee were served at the close of the evening.

Al Truax is looking forward to spring and golf and interested in starting a golf league so any of you interested call him at 2778-J for particulars. He said it is not restricted to men.

Civil Defense fire fighters from here who successfully passed the written exam and were awarded certificates are Brad Carpenter, Joe Quinlan, Jack Ruland and Bob Fitzner.

Jean Scott, of Parkview Drive was hostess at a rally luncheon last Friday afternoon in honor of an old school chum from Dearborn, Louise Schlaff, who was elected nominee for Dearborn council. Friends attending the luncheon were Mrs. A. Ammerman, Mrs. George Rowe, Mrs. Robert Keller, Mrs. Donald Bradley, Mrs. P. DoMilici, and Mrs. Richard Caldwell from Dearborn. Mrs. D. Gubachy from Chelsea, Mich., Mrs. John Swainson, Mrs. A. Frank and Mrs. Kenneth Ramseyer of Plymouth. Jean used a fall centerpiece of mums and had small election banners for place cards as her table decorations.

Weekend guests at Lee and Jack Rulands were Susie and Guy Kellogg and their two children of Battle Creek, Mich. Sunday noon the Walter Lakes and we joined them down in the park for a weiner roast.

That sky looks pretty wicked today. Guess we'd better get down the tobaggan cause old man winter is nigh here.

Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Cavell of Griswold street will celebrate Dr. Cavell's 80th birthday, Sunday with dinner at the home of their daughter and son-in-law.

Members of Girl Scout Troop 14, traveled to Detroit for their last meeting to see "The Ten Commandments."

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Price and their two-month old son Keith Evans, are newcomers in Northville. They have bought a home on Bloomercrest drive.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Langfield of Fairbrook avenue sailed Monday from San Francisco for Hawaii.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Doeksen of Orchard drive and son Ray spent last weekend at Owen Sound, Ontario visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Mollerna of Wing street spent last weekend at their cottage on Long Lake at Traverse City.

Janice Lyke, a 1957 graduate of Northville high school is now attending Bob Jones University in Greenville, South Carolina. She is a member of Theta Delta Omicron sorority.

Local B & PW Members Attend Conference

The eighth annual Small Business Conference, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club was held in East Lansing at Kellogg Center, November 2 and 3.

The principal speaker was Helen King, graphologist, professional contest judge and magazine writer. She was a pioneer in developing handwriting programs for radio and television.

Attending from Plymouth were Mrs. Lila Humphries, Mrs. Vivian Haar, Mrs. Betty Marquis, Mrs. Margaret Stremich, Mrs. Velma Bartel, Mrs. Roberta Steele and Mrs. Mary Wagenschutz, president of the local group. Members from all over the state attended the two-day session.

Mrs. William Michael of Ann street will entertain members of her Emanon 500 club on Wednesday, Nov. 13, for a luncheon with games afterward.

The doormouse hibernates for almost six months a year.

Vitamins—
-can they give you
MORE years..BETTER years?

How long do YOU expect to live . . . really live? Can nutritional neglect doom you to premature old age? Can vitamins bring you extra years of youth, vigor, enjoyment? Have you checked this with your doctor lately?

A significant and powerful article by one of America's most famous health authorities . . . "How to Prolong the Prime of Life" . . . has interested millions in the promise of a longer middle age.

"Add Years to Life and Life to Years"

What are the facts? Simply this: The deterioration of old age — both physical and mental — may be due, in part, to mild, unrecognized, long-standing vitamin deficiencies.

Modern research has helped to pin-point some vitamins and other nutrients which appear to be especially important during the forties and after.

In our own well-stocked vitamin department, of course, you'll find formulas by respected pharmaceutical houses for every need, every age. Among these are some of the newly developed vitamin compounds designed to help "add years to life, and life to years."

Mr. and Mrs. Bert A. Nelson

Original Wedding Guests Attend Dinner Honoring Bert Nelson

Mr. and Mrs. Bert A. Nelson celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary, Sunday, October 27 with a turkey dinner at the Mayflower Hotel, complete with wedding cake.

Mrs. Nelson wore a dress of light blue lace over light blue taffeta trimmed with the beads and pearls that were on her original wedding dress 60 years ago. It is the same dress she wore for her Golden Anniversary celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson were married October 27, 1897 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ovenshire, in Northfield Township. Rev. Eugene Coffin, minister of the Salem Methodist Church, officiated and 85 persons were in attendance.

Several persons attending the wedding were present Sunday for the celebration. They are Dewey Farley of South Lyon; Mertie Lyke of Plymouth, a sister of Mr. Nelson's; Fred Van Atta and Flora Atchison of Northville. Mrs. Stella Dean of South Lyon, a cousin of Mrs. Nelson's, played the wedding march for the wedding 60 years ago.

The Nelson's have lived on their farm near South Lyon since 1900. They have two children living, Mrs. Velena Freydl of Northville and Millard Nelson of Flint. They also have four grandsons and one granddaughter.

Attending the dinner, were members of the immediate family, relatives and close friends from Lodi, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Plymouth, Northville, South Lyon, Salem, Howell, Dearborn, Detroit and Flint.

An Ann Arbor radio station dedicated "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" to the Nelsons in honor of their anniversary.

Optimists Plan Dance During Youth Appreciation Week

The Plymouth Optimists Club, according to Clarence Wilson, president, have planned some special entertainment at a Saturday night dance to conclude the activities of Youth Appreciation Week. Roger Smithling, chairman for the dance on November 9, has contacted several song and dance acts. . . that will have the high school auditorium rocking and rolling.

Youth Appreciation Week (Nov. 4-10) is sponsored each year by the Optimist club in the hope that the public will be reminded that the youth of Plymouth need a "pat on the back" once in a while. What about the 93 or 97% that are the "kids" we are so proud of? Youth Appreciation Week has been set up to do honor to this large majority.

Sam Stephens, secretary-treasurer of the Optimist Club, checked with High School Principal Carvel Bentley about what he thought about the youth in Plymouth. Bentley had only the highest praise for his turbulent teenagers. He pointed out the large number of students engaged in leadership activities.

"We have over 250 students actively engaged in clubs like the National Honor Society, the Chess Club, Future Nurses, Future Teachers, Student Council, and Junior Achievement," indicated Bentley. Gustav Gorguze, Ass't Principal in charge of Student activities, confirmed Principal Bentley's statements. He added that the Plymouth youth really like school since they have an enviable record of being present 96% of the time.

On Saturday, November 9th a Youth Appreciation Dance is going to honor Plymouth youth. We hope they turn out and smash all attendance records at this dance that is going to feature special entertainment.

Ethel L. Allen

Ethel L. Allen Observes 35th Year with Bell

It was 35 years ago when Ethel L. Allen, 346 Blunk avenue, began her life's work in the telephone business.

With two weeks of training, she was assigned to operate a switchboard in her home town of St. Louis, Mo.

Today, Miss Allen is on special assignment in the Livonia district of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company putting to use her years of experience in the traffic department—as an operator and a chief operator.

Miss Allen worked in St. Louis until she was transferred to Michigan Bell in 1937 to work as an operator in the Pontiac office. Her career at the switchboard came to an end in 1941 when she was named service assistant in that office.

In succeeding years, Miss Allen received management appointments and was named chief operator in Pontiac in 1949. Two years later she took over the same duties in the Plymouth office and remained there until she received the special assignment in Livonia last July.

Miss Allen is an active member of the Telephone Pioneers of America, and a charter member of the Soroptimist Club of Plymouth.

6-Hour Day Seen For Automated Office of 1975

Half-hour coffee breaks and six-hour days will be commonplace in the office routine of 1975, according to Michael Notaro.

Notaro, president of Statistical Tabulating Corp., predicts a new future for the office worker in the age of automation.

Electronic "brains" will relieve office help of many burdens, he said.

Notaro's own firm, the largest independent service bureau in the country, is the first to offer an electronic computer as part of its office service.

Present machines of this type now occupy entire offices by themselves, but Notaro foresees the development of electronic computers the size of typewriters and desk calculators and tabulators operated by remote control.

"These developments and others will end office drudgery and give more leisure time to office workers," he said.

"The typical office of 1975 will look like a modern, uncluttered library with a quiet, well-ordered atmosphere," Notaro said.

"Square desks, tall filing cabinets, piles of paper and clutter will be a thing of the past."

It was a glowing future Notaro painted. He envisioned anti-fatigue chairs to replace upright posture seats for secretaries and special body-massaging vibrator chairs for busy executives.

TV intercom systems will cut down the number of staff conferences and meetings.

Even the water cooler, traditional goofing off spot for millions of office employees, will be replaced by piped ice water within easy reach, Notaro predicted.

In the automated office, electronic "scanners" will take over laborious filing tasks, he said. And automatic typewriters will do the typing, robot-style, producing finished letters and addressed envelopes from dictation.

This, Notaro said, will free secretaries for more productive work. They will become, in effect, executive assistants, he said. And at higher pay.

THERE WAS considerable excitement at Mettetal Airport last Thursday afternoon when a DC-3 made a landing after several passes over the north-south runway. Many cars parked along the road to watch the big plane land. Some thought that it was in trouble. Out of the plane stepped the president and a vice-president of the Koppers Corporation of Pittsburg who flew here to visit a nearby plant for two hours. Although DC-3's are small compared with other commercial liners, small plane pilots at Mettetal praised the job of the pilot who slipped the two-engine ship into the small field and took off with no trouble.

Newburg News

Family Gathering Honors 30th Anniversary

In celebration of their thirtieth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kreger of Gray avenue were honored at a small family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Greenwood on Newburg road, Monday evening, November 4. Present were Jack Horton, Mrs. Kreger's father and Mr. and Mrs. John Kreger and daughter Susan of Horton avenue, Livonia. Cake and ice cream was served and the honored guests were presented with gifts, fitting for the occasion.

Mrs. Fred Labadie of Ann Arbor Trail is confined to St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor and will be there for a few days. Cards of good cheer would be most welcome at this time.

Vernon Muller of Men's club of the Detroit Garden club will give an illustrated talk on fall fashions, their care and culture at the Livonia Home Gardeners meeting, Wednesday, November 13 at the Bentley High school. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. and visitors are cordially invited to attend.

Dave DeCoster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeCoster of Ravine drive was home during the past weekend visiting with his parents. Dave is a freshman at the University of Michigan.

The Dorcas circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church is having a Dutch-Maid clothing demonstration at the home of Mrs. Arthur Remy, Wednesday, November 20 at 7:30 p.m. A prize will be awarded to the person bringing the most guests. All proceeds from this event will go towards this circle's apportionment.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Belanger of Ravine drive are proud to announce the birth of a daughter, Annette Marie, born October 30 at St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor. The young miss tipped the scales at 9 pounds, 9 ounces.

The Men's club of the Newburg Methodist church is planning many activities for the month of November. The first one is scheduled for Monday, November 11, when Dr. Jewel Smoot, pastor of Strathmoor Methodist church, Detroit, will be the special guest at the regular monthly meeting of the club. Six other Men's clubs from the local area have also been invited to this affair. Dinner at 6:30 p.m. will be served by the ladies of the church and promises to be a most fruitful evening. Make your reservations early and join in this fine fellowship.

Another event set by this same group is for Saturday, November 23 when a turkey supper with all the trimmings will be served, family style. The entire dinner will be prepared and served by the men themselves and they are looking for a fine crowd for this event. These ambitious men are also selling potatoes, which are being delivered every Saturday. You may call Ply. 1562-M if you wish to purchase your potatoes from the men.

The Newburg Methodist church is in need of male voices and anyone interested in joining with the adult group is cordially invited to their weekly practice at 7:30 p.m. on every Thursday.

With the tinkle of the sleigh bell and the merry shout of "Merry Christmas", the bazaar at the Newburg Methodist church opened at 9 a.m. on Saturday, November 2. A snack bar was open until four p.m. at which time big preparations began for the serving of a fine turkey dinner to over 300 people. Mrs. Emil LaPointe, general chairman of the event, wishes to thank everyone who helped with their time and talent. Fellowship-wise and financial-wise the undertaking was a big success. There is no doubt in my mind, that the highlight of the whole day for the small fry was the appearance of Santa Claus at various times throughout the day. He gave his time generously to visit with each and every child and presented them with a bank as a small remembrance of his visit. Next year, will be even bigger and better. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Waltz of Richland Avenue attended the football game between Michigan and Iowa at the University of Michigan stadium in Ann Arbor on Saturday, November 2.

I was glad to see that in the Newburg area, the Halloween pranks were few and far between. Except for doorbell ringing and an occasional soaped window, things were all in fine shape. The youngsters of the neighborhood are to be congratulated. At the Hoover residence on Ravine drive, the treat for the evening to the ghosts and goblins was a hot dog and bun cooked out over an open fire. At the Howden home on Joy road, the trick or treaters had to sing for their treat. All in all, it was a very happy Hallowe'en.

STEERING COMMITTEE FOR THE NEW RED CROSS OFFICE on Plymouth Rd. which will serve Livonia, Redford Township, Plymouth and two other communities, hold a first meeting. Back row: Mrs. Olav Barikmo, Garden City; Mrs. John R. Glanville, 14984 Sumner, Redford Township; Mrs. Olson Hensley, 11531 Cavell, Livonia; Mrs. C. C. Winter, Northville; Mrs.

5 Cities Join In Red Cross Office

John M. Sullivan, executive director of Detroit Red Cross chapter, today announced completion of plans for opening the Northwest Regional Red Cross office at 32134 Plymouth Road, Livonia.

"Red Cross volunteers in five communities will share responsibility for staffing the office and have formed a committee composed of the Red Cross chairman of each community and a delegate volunteer.

This group of 10 met last week and elected Mrs. Irving Hancock, 10001 Blackburn, Livonia, chairman; Mrs. Arthur Carlson, 201 Fairbrook, Northville, co-chairman; Mrs. Mowry Arnold, 963 Roosevelt, Plymouth, secretary.

"Other 'steering committee' members are: Mrs. Olav Barikmo, 30920 Hennepin and Arnold Folker, 31542 Barton, Garden City; Mrs. Olson Hensley, 11531 Cavell, Livonia; Mrs. C. C. Winter, 236 N. Rogers, Northville;

Mrs. H. R. Penhale, 985 Roosevelt, Plymouth; Mrs. Romaine C. Rice, 15536 Lexington and Mrs. John R. Glanville, 14984 Sumner, Redford Township.

"The Detroit chapter executive committee believe this area office will prove as convenient as those currently operating in Dearborn and Wyandotte. These two offices are being expanded to include adjacent neighborhoods and will consequently be designated as West and Downriver Regional office, respectively. Formal organization of the other areas is under way," Sullivan concluded.

Mrs. Hancock reports that each participating community has assumed responsibility for providing personnel for the office on regularly scheduled days. Questions or requests for Red Cross services which arise during the hours from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, can be cleared through this office, GA. 4-0220.

NEW YORK — (UP) — More reading matter for the blind. That's the promise held out by the Cycleweld Division of Chrysler Corp. and the Philadelphia Volunteers Service for the Blind. In joint efforts, they have come up with an improved method of preparing Braille pages for printing.

The method involves the use of Chrysler's industrial adhesive, C-14, which can be poured and smoothed on an imprinted Braille page with an ordinary spatula. The adhesive bakes itself on the page to a hardness suitable for use as a mat in a Braille press. In this way, the two organizations say, paper can be used instead of metal plates for short run production. As many as 250 sheets of Braille can be reproduced from a single mat.

Instead of getting smaller and smaller the world gets bigger with an inflatable globe. Brainchild of Ideal Toy Corp. of New York, the globe takes crayon and ball point notations which can be removed readily. It comes equipped with a wrought-iron stand.

A new tool called a "Sky Duster," has come along to clean high ceilings. Extending from five to 100 feet in length, the duster is light enough to operate with one hand, and is made of a series of feather-weight metal poles, according to its producer Parlee Co., Indianapolis, Ind.

No longer do you need to brush your shoes on the doormat because now the doormat does it for you. The job is handled by 15 brushes oscillating in opposite directions in the so-called "Electromat" made by Electromat Co. of River Rouge, Mich. The mechanical doormat is powered by a one-eighth horse-power motor which operates only when stepped on. Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. has come up with what it calls the answer to traffic signs requiring extra brilliance—reflective letters 500 times brighter than white paint. Developed for changeable copy signs with reflective backgrounds, the letters include numerals, arrows, borders, periods, hyphens and diagonals for fractions. They are made of a "Scotchlite" brand of reflective sheeting.

A plastic cup priced to compete with paper cups has been developed by Federal Tool Corp. of Chicago in a further attempt to widen the market for plastic products. The cup holds seven ounces and has a folding handle which locks in slip-proof grooves. It is made of a special heat-resistant polystyrene.

YOUR HANDWRITING TELLS YOUR STORY

With Grapho Analysis

BY JEAN EVANS

Dear Jean: Please analyze my handwriting for me. I am fifteen. Would you please tell me if I will be successful in life and marriage. H. F.

Dear H. F.: You will be successful in life and marriage if you make it your business to succeed. I cannot nor can anyone foretell that by your handwriting. You are a free individual with the privilege of making of yourself what you will.

You are at an age where you change from day to day. In your developing during this period in your life you are likely to change your mind and attitudes many times. Try to discover what you want most out of life, set your mind to accomplish it, and proceed toward that goal. You need to develop your purpose in life and have more confidence in yourself.

Dear Jean: I find your column very interesting. I sure wish you could tell me why I am so easily upset by everything and want to change my life.

TOE

Dear TOE: You have too many fingers in too many pies. You are trying to spread yourself too thin. There are only 24 hours in a day and you probably wish there were 48. You need to take inventory of your affairs, decide once and for all which is the most important, then cast aside everything else. This will help to put order in your affairs and when you find you have time to accomplish everything that needs to be done you will no longer feel this pressure and discouragement.

Dear Jean: What can you tell from my writing? I'd like especially to know what kind of work I'm best fitted for. J.B.

Dear J.B.: Your handwriting indicates that you love variety and change. There is also good organizational ability indicated with the desire to explore and analyze facts. You would be successful where handling people and situations diplomatically is required. Research along engineering or trouble shooting might be to your liking.

Dear Jean:

I find your column very interesting, as I have always been very interested in handwriting. I would like to know some of my good and bad points, also my likes and dislikes or anything that might help me in any way. Should I take up the study of oil painting? N.I.P.E.

Dear N.I.P.E.: There is creative ability with the compliment of manual dexterity indicated in your handwriting. You have originality of thought and expression. You would likely enjoy expressing yourself through oils and you do have the stick-to-itiveness to master this field.

Dear Jean: I would like to have my writing analyzed. I think your profession is one of the most interesting I have ever learned about. M.G.D.

Dear M.G.D.: You are a person who meets situations coolly and with a level head. You will never get into difficulties for having acted hastily or impulsively because that would be contrary to your nature. You will think before you act and consider the consequences carefully. There is a lot of pride indicated here, in fact it even borders on egotism. This should be carefully examined and the vanity should be eliminated as soon as possible.

Dealers Add Used Car 'Guarantee'

A warranty program that will protect used car buyers for a full year against the costs of repair or replacement of major mechanical parts was announced today by two Plymouth dealers, Bob McKanna Mercury and Stadnik and Shekell Motor Sales.

The dealers said the inspection and guaranty program will be administered by The Car Warranty Corporation, a newly-formed company associated with Universal C.I.T. Credit Corporations, independent automobile finance company.

The "warranty," they said, will guarantee that the car, under normal usage, will require no pairs or replacements for a full year to the engine, standard or automatic transmission, rear axle, clutch, steering, brakes, universal joints or water pump. The plan is available for passenger cars of the current year's model or any of the three preceding years.

The value of such a warranty, they said, is illustrated by the average costs of repairs covered.

An average engine overhaul, the dealers pointed out, costs more than $300. The overhaul of an automatic transmission could amount to more than $200, rear axle repairs would average $60 and replacement of steering mechanism parts would average about $40, they said.

Time to get those storm windows on and order some more oil. Old Man Winter is waiting in the wings for his cue line. And he is just likely to come on stage any day now without waiting for his proper entrance in December.

No doubt, the magic TV box is getting a bit more attention since the air is getting nippy. These short days make the nights more TV-able. Case in point was the video presentation of Mark Twain's tale "Prince and the Pauper". Although this was originally intended to be a children's show, the production had real polish and the DuMont people can be proud of the show.

I'm sure that many an adult left the dial alone and was swept into the fairy tale magic of this ancient story. Christopher Plummer playing the part of the swashbuckling hero gave the part the verity it needed. Even the commercials on this show were worth watching. All in all, a production like this re-affirms a person's belief that TV has a great potential and it's too bad that so much of it is a waste of time.

Time has a way of wasting away. Before you know it is 10, 20 years since we saw this picture or went to that play. Old George is counting the gray hairs in his beard again. Why? Well, the TV machine is screening some of those MGM oldies. Spencer Tracy in all his youthful splendor as a man of the cloth (even the cloth looked fresh) was on the other night in "Men of Boy's Town".

Mickey Rooney was there with all his pals that are by now gathering their 30 year endowment policies. But gosh, it takes one back to see some of the old gang. And you know some of those MGM movies were good. I can understand now why L. B. Mayer held out for years before he sold out for a fabulous price. Believe the rights for some 50 movies was something like 12 or 14 million.

Incidentally, L. B. Mayer passed away last week. He, along with Jesse Lasky, were two of the giants of Hollywood.

Noticed in the paper last week that TV station WXYZ was looking for actors. Seems that they are going to do a show called "Night Court" that will utilize actors to simulate the real cases. Even the judge will be an actor. Auditions will be held every Monday night at the Macabees Building on Woodward Avenue from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Here's our chance to emote on Channel 7. Be interesting to go down and get on their list. You could find out what criminal type the directors classified you as. Now in my case the classification might be quite simple—impersonating a column writer.

Most of the women in town are still "ga-ga" over the visit of Liberace at the Riviera Theater. Lee is still a favorite and all the libel suits, "left-hand" jokes, and snide remarks have only made him more popular. Guess all the men are jealous of his famous smile and the strange fascination he has over the opposite sex. Old George is sorry now that he didn't stay with those piano lessons. My music teacher didn't tell me what an effect the 88 keys could have on gals if you just used a candlebra to prop the music up with!

"Separate Tables" is at the Cass Theater. The combination of two one act plays has proven to be a hit on Broadway several different times. "Separate Tables" is such a show. The plays are strong medicine. If you like your theater on the strong, gutsy side, purchase a ticket for this show. London liked it for two years and Broadway for over a year.

The stage manager gave me the high sign that it's time to close shop. Guess we can at that. Would have liked to have told you about the organ recital I attended the other night—the wife and the gal across the street were talking about their various operations!

See you next week with a word about how "The Desk Set" is shaping up for its November 27th opening.

Pancake, Waffle Feed

Members of the Passage-Gayde Post 391, The American Legion have completed plans and preparations for a Pancake and Waffle Feed to be held on this coming Saturday, November 9 between the hours of 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Veterans Community Center on Main Street, next to the Plymouth High School. The affair is in part an observance of Veterans Day, (formerly Armistice Day) November 11 and in part, is the culmination of American Legion Weeks, which has been observed from October 20 through November 11.

All Plymouthites are cordially invited. The tickets donations are 75c for adults and 50c for children. Tickets will be available at the door or from members of the local post. Those interested in securing a block of tickets for their group may contact any member of the committee composed of Harry Burleson, Robert Wilson, William Langmaid, and Ernest Koi.

Plymouth High School

BY LIZ SARAH

Operating like a well-oiled machine. The well-organized high school curriculum is flowing along very smoothly with the usual progress of annual events. One thing which is particularly noticeable is the similarity between events at this time and the corresponding events of the previous years. For instance, every year at this time the junior class is engaged in preparations for the J-Hop. History certainly has a way of repeating itself!

Make way for the press. The annual Suburban-Six Press Conference was held at Trenton High School on Thursday. Ten delegates from the journalism department of PHS attended the all-day affair which featured a speaker from Wayne University, who is the editor of the "Collegian," the college publication.

Karla Jean Herbold and the writer of this column headed the advertising committee by acting as chairman and recorder, respectively. Other delegates to the conference were Dick Hubert, Sheila Lorenz, Nora Sarah, Merdon Palmer, Carole North, Kathy Whitesell, and Cynthia Couture. On your mark, get set, fire! It seems that the female portion of the student body is getting in on the shooting. Yes, it's true, the girls are going hunting (or, at least target shooting). A Girls' Rifle Club is in the process of organization. There is certainly no reason why girls should not know how to handle a gun (as well as a man). After all, women haven't been emancipated —

Amid the hustle of high school routine, one can't help but notice the industry of the junior class. Every day one hears an announcement concerning the preparations for the J-Hop.

The night of ghosts and goblins prompted a Halloween dance at which there was no admission charged and free refreshments were served. Immediately succeeding the Halloween dance, the November Frolic was held on the following Friday evening, November 1.

The only comment from the cast of the all school play "Around the World in Eighty Days" is, "See it!"

As the month of October ended, so did Senior Christmas card sales. If anyone is curious about the number of students that have been seen about the town with their fingers crossed, here is a hint as to the reasons — They are probably seniors who are hoping that their card sales met the quota necessary to eliminate class dues.

Notes From American Legion

"Get the Pride of Belonging!" is the 1958 American Legion membership slogan, according to Post Commander Harry Burleson and his aide, Senior Vice Commander and membership chairman, William Langmaid, of Passage-Gayde Post 391, Plymouth.

The local Legion Officers pointed out that old timers in the American Legion have a "pride of belonging" which helped build the organization into the world's biggest veterans group. "The younger vets of World War II are in good styles," they said. "They evidence an esprit de corps equal to their World War I founders, who got the show on the road back in Paris, France March 15, 17, 1919," the Officers said.

"Pride of belonging to the American Legion has been the motivation for much of our accomplishments over the years. The American Legion has a hobby horse for every eligible veteran to ride. It's as big as all outdoors — with a variety of appeal in virtually all fields of human endeavor.

"There's a room for the fun-lover as well as the serious minded veteran — the sports enthusiast, the entertainer, the hobbyist, the civic minded and the devout church-goer. Like sports? There's the American Legion Junior Baseball and adults needed to lend the kids a hand. The local Post has hopes of having such a team in the near future. Interested in citizenship? How about helping out on Boys State?

Want to give a boy or girl orator a hand? Take an interest in our national oratorical contest which has 350,000 youngsters participating annually. Just as the talented amateur entertainer can always find a spot on a Legion social, so will the do-it-yourself hobbyist find company with his fellow hobbyists at the Post clubroom. There is no need to point out that The American Legion meeting itself has been a springboard for local leadership," Burleson and Langmaid said.

They further pointed out that "eligible veterans are men and women who served honorably in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard or Air Force of the United States during the prescribed eligibility dates which are set by the United States Congress. Others eligible are citizens of the United States who at the time of war served on active duty with any of the armed forces of governments associated with the U.S. For further information, veterans are advised to contact either Commander Burleson or Chairman Langmaid or any other known Legionnaire.

Important date! Saturday, November 9th — "The Pancake & Waffle Feed." Time - 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Place - Veterans Community Center. Adults, 75 cents and children, 50 cents. The public is cordially invited. All you can eat!

The Toy Party is Wednesday, November 13, 8 p.m. at the Veterans Community Center. Everyone is cordially invited. Refreshments will be served after display of toys, Melva Gardner announces.

Remember the Auxiliary's next business meeting has been changed to the first Thursday, December 5, 8 p.m. due to our meeting in November being on Thanksgiving.

The Juniors next business meeting is Wednesday, November 20th, at Gwen Holcombe's home, 46801 Joy Road. The Juniors have adopted the TB ward at Ann Arbor VA Hospital. There are 33 patients there to which they are sending birthday cards and holiday cards. They made place mats and Halloween favors and delivered them on Wednesday, October 30th after school.

Our delegate, to Girls' State last July, Geraldine Love attended our last business meeting to report on her activities there and also at Washington, as she was also Michigan's delegate to Girls Nation.

A little get-together was held after the meeting to wish Marie Thompson good luck in moving up to Atlanta, Michigan. We wish her well and will miss her very much.

We deeply regret to report the loss of our District Chaplain, Al Kahler of Redford Township Post. A Memorial service was held Monday, November 4th at the Van Baulhber Funeral Home in Detroit by the 17th District, which was attended by several members of this post.

Several members of the post and unit will deliver ice-cream and cookies Sunday, November 10th at Maybury Sanitarium in remembrance of Veterans Day. The 29th annual National Geographic Roll Call will be held at American Legion Headquarters here at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday, November 19 during the conference of department commanders and adjutants. The commanders will pledge the number of advance memberships for 1958 which their department will turn in by December 31, 1957.

Annual observance of American Education Week will take place throughout the nation, November 10 to 16. Through the classrooms of our schools everywhere there will be a parade of parents and others interested in the accomplishments of our public educational system.

The Passage-Gayde Post and Unit will again present books to all the school libraries in Plymouth schools, date of presentation of books will be announced later.

Favorite Recipes From Plymouth's Kitchens

Two Suggestions to Add to Holiday Cookie List

With Thanksgiving and Christmas not so far away, it's a good time to gather cookie recipes for the holiday table. Two favorites in the Harold Lamb family of 4736 Ford road are Date-Filled Oatmeal Cookies and Mexican Wedding Cakes. Appreciative members of the family are Harold, 18, David, 15, and Carol, 12.

Here are Mrs. Lamb's cookie recipes.

Date-Filled Oatmeal Cookies
2 cups flour
2 cups rolled oats
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup butter
pinch of salt
1/2 cup milk
scant teaspoon soda in milk
Mix the dry ingredients together; Rub in shortening as for pie crust. Add enough milk to make stiff dough. Roll very thin on a floured cloth. Cut with cookie cutter. Bake in oven at 350 degrees for about 10 minutes.

The ingredients for the filling are 1 cup water, 1 cup sugar and 1 cup dates. Cut the dates and let them simmer in water and sugar until thick. The filling can be used immediately or spread between the cookies just before serving.

Mexican Wedding Cakes
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 cup flour
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1 teaspoon vanilla
Soften the butter and add the remaining ingredients.

Mix thoroughly and drop half teaspoonful on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for about 20 minutes. Only the bottom of the cookies will brown. Roll in powdered sugar while still warm.

Not strictly festive cookies, either recipe makes good lunch-box, snack and dessert fare.

OVEN-FRESH cookies are lifted onto a platter by Mrs. Harold Lamb, who suggests Date-Filled Oatmeal Cookies or Mexican Wedding Cakes for the holiday seasons coming.

Woman's Eye View by Nancy Rigney

The greeting card industry has been doing a booming business in the past few years, especially since the advent of the 'studio card'. It is custom to send birthday and anniversary cards, but now you can send a card berating a friend for not writing, one confessing your secret admiration or a number of other insulting varieties.

The weird sketchings on the 'studio cards' have inspired new interest in cards for all occasions. American's have been sending everything from get well cards to Valentine cards for years but the Christmas and New Year's card is a tradition of the longest standing.

As the holiday season nears, many of you, following perennial habit, have already ordered your Christmas cards. A myriad of cards are available, either by order or boxed in the stores.

It all began in England, 115 years ago. The first Christmas card emerged in London, in 1842 from a plate designed and engraved by a 16 year-old apprentice. Young William Egley's quaintly cluttered card showed scenes of a formal banquet, a party dance and skaters. Beneath the illustration appeared the greeting, "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You."

The next famous card appeared in 1846, arousing shouts of protest from temperance crusaders. A titled Englishman asked an artist to design a card for him. The card, showing a family toasting Christmas with glasses of wine, was the cause of the furor. He sent out 1000 cards that Christmas.

The "Father of American Christmas Cards" is Louis Prang whose first cards were made in Boston in 1874. He was the first in America, but the one who popularized cards. His fame spread until he was selling his cards all over the U.S. for several dollars each.

Prang's cards appeared in as many as 20 colors. Very few of them used Christmas scenes, but instead were illustrated with designs of spring flowers, harvest scenes and pictures of children playing.

From that small beginning in 1842 grew a demand for cards that is so great today, many large companies work year 'round to turn out billions of cards of every description.

This week news comes from Michigan State and Michigan about students from Plymouth. At U of M, Jerry A. Hearl, 15404 Lakeside, pledged Sigma Nu. The release from the U-M Interfraternity Council, tells how the traditional hazing and paddling of fraternity pledges has been replaced by constructive activities. Formerly, during so-called "Hell Week" pledges underwent physical and mental abuse before they were initiated.

Now, fraternity pledges, along with sorority pledges stage an annual "Help Week" late in the spring to prepare the University's Fresh Air Camp for the summer session. The camp, located near Pinckney is a unit of the Institute for Human Adjustment, and provides supervised camping experience for boys otherwise unable to have this opportunity.

At State three residents have enrolled in the Air-Force Reserve Officer Training Corps. They are Gary Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilson, 492 Arthur; Thomas Carmichael, son of T. F. Carmichael, 208 Blunk; and Carl Holland, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Holland, 635 Harvey.

Social Security Act Offers Retroactive Benefits to Widows

A widow who was 62 years old or over in November 1956 can still get her social security benefits back to that month if she applies before the end of November 1957, according to Harry Baltuck, manager of the Detroit-Northwest social security office at 18260 Grand River Avenue, Detroit 23, Michigan.

Thousands of women in this area have applied for benefits since the Social Security Act was changed to permit women to start drawing their payments at age 62. Mr. Baltuck states, however, that there are undoubtedly many women past age 62 who have not applied. A working woman or the wife of a living retired worker may not want to apply before she is 65 because she would have to take permanently reduced benefits. The reduction does not apply to the widow or dependent mother of a deceased insured worker. She can get the full amount of her payments starting at age 62.

The Social Security Act permits retroactive payments to eligible persons for not more than one year. If the husband died in November 1956 or earlier and the widow was already 62 in that month she would apply by November 30, 1957. If she applies later she cannot receive all the monthly payments she might have received if she had applied earlier.

Mr. Baltuck mentioned that widows who apply for benefits can speed up their payments if they bring proof of age and proof of marriage when they contact their social security office. He pointed out that a birth certificate is not absolutely required for proof of age. Any reasonably reliable document such as an old family Bible record or an old insurance policy showing the widow's date of birth will be useful.

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—(UP)—The tip of a cow's tail is officially worth $35. County officials paid farmer Charles Toth that much when he reported a dog had chewed the "fly swatter" end off his cow's tail. A state law provides that money collected from dog licenses must be used to pay farmers for damage done by dogs to cattle.

Our Own Principles

The motives that strengthen family life are the motives that strengthen personal and social life. Family relationships, because of their intimacy, are more conducive to good and true motives when they have the uppermost place. A person feels the urge to do and be his best when he has the right attitude toward the home and family.

A profound danger for many of us today is that we shall allow our motives and conduct to be determined by what others are doing. Or by what others are failing to do.

In a time when people are called on to make some sacrifices and when a mild self-discipline is demanded from us all, there is danger we may resent others. When we see those who display no spirit of sacrifice, we may resent the fact that they have more or have it "easier" than we.

The motorist who drives a low-price car may be aroused by the fact that his neighbor, whose situation is somewhat the same, can afford a more expensive make. He may be tempted to say, "Why shouldn't I have the same?"

The one who is scrimping and saving while others make large salaries may easily become dissatisfied with his situation.

These are minor illustrations of temptations toward something other than our best. They could be on a large scale.

In the presence of such temptations to let our conduct be influenced by the actions of others, it is a good time to remember the words of Joshua, successor of Moses, who was leading a disgruntled people away from the bondage of Egypt. The Israelites were discontented and almost ready to return to the fleshpots of Egypt. Joshua left the decision up to them, but he said:

"As for me and my house, we will serve Jehovah."

Successful Investing

Stocks to Buy at Bottom

Q. D.S.R. writes from New York. "I have been holding a few thousand dollars in cash for two years, waiting to buy into some really good stocks when prices come down enough. I would appreciate your giving me a list of high quality issues that I might buy when the price seems right."

A. I congratulate you on your foresight and list below a dozen stocks that should ultimately prove very profitable to you if bought at or near the lower limits of a severe decline. These are quality stocks that have already been deflated a good deal from the high valuations that the market in July placed on future growth.

In this category, I very definitely like Amerada, one of the strongest of the crude producers with big reserves and an outstanding record of new discoveries. Babcock & Wilcox and Combustion Engineering should be included. These companies are the two largest suppliers of steam generating equipment to the electric utilities. Black & Decker, a major manufacturer of portable electric tools, is already down about 40% from its recent high and is well worth your consideration.

Among research stocks I like Corning Glass. Recently announced discovery of a new lightweight basic material, Pyroceram, gives Corning added possibilities for future growth. Dresser Industries, a leader in oil drilling equipment, would be a good candidate. In the chemical group, Dow is a sound holding, strengthened by its recent merger with Dobeckman.

Among other blue chip issues worth buying when you feel the time is right, I would certainly include Eastman Kodak, leader in photographic supplies and candidate for a stock-split before year-end. Normally a high-priced issue, I. B. M. has dropped 100 points from its high and may go lower. Minneapolis-Honeywell, No. 1 company in automatic heat regulation and temperature controls, is a very desirable growth holding. National Lead, major producer of paints and other lead products, has come down from a high of 136 to a low of 86% and will certainly bear watching. Lastly among the entire oil group, I continue to favor Standard of New Jersey and consider it a prime growth stock, now selling on a pretty good yield basis.

Q. Mrs. M. Florida writes. "I have never owned stocks but am considering buying American Telephone as a starter. Would you kindly tell me how to figure the yield on the amount of capital invested?"

A. To figure the yield on a stock, you divide the annual dividend by the market price. In the case of American Telephone, the dividend rate is $9 a year and the stock recently sold at 166. Divide 9 by 166 and you get 5.42 which is the percentage return on the stock. Incidentally, I like your purchase of Telephone as an initial purchase, particularly under present market uncertainty.

TRUE OR FALSE?
As steel goes so goes the market?

TRUE. This old Street adage simply acknowledges the fundamental nature of the metal, used in a hundred thousand products from tin cans to oil tankers. It is probably impossible for us to have a continued high level of prosperity and stock prices without a correspondingly high output of steel tonnage. An important factor in the recent market decline, in my opinion, has been a worsening picture of steel production since last August's high level. This can and perhaps will change very rapidly because of the tremendous importance of steel orders from the automobile industry, now about to launch its 1958 models.

Popular Records

NEW YORK—(UP)—Dave Garroway of TV fame was asked by RCA-Victor about jazz music he liked best. The result is "Some of My Favorites," a collection of 12 pieces by Matt Dennis and Red Norvo. Garroway writes in an introduction to the album.

"Have you been looking for the ideal record for that friend who 'just doesn't understand jazz?' If that's your problem I suggest you search no further, for here is the album that reveals what jazz is all about..." He describes Dennis as a man who "sings with a great beat and tremendous feeling" and recommends "There's a Small Hotel" and "Hi-Fi Baby" especially as worthy of Dennis' voice. On "Hi-Fi Baby," Dennis gives an example of the scat singing that has made him newly popular.

The Dennis' songs are interspersed with a series of blues numbers by Red Norvo's sextet. Garroway describes Norvo as a "traditional jazz musician of the highest caliber, and for these records, has surrounded himself with some of the most competent sidemen of our time."

The result is a pleasing album with some of the best blues—in the free-swinging style of the 1940's—in a long time.

Tops in Pops—"Search for Paradise" by Les Baxter (Capitol), "Deep Purple" by Billy Ward (Liberty), "The Man Who Made an Angel Cry" by Sanford Clark (Dot).

Record of the Week—"A Pops Concert in Hi-Fi" (Decca). . . . An enjoyable hour of light classics by Michel Piastro, a noted conductor who will be remembered by those who listened to Longines Symphonette programs on radio. Concert includes "Hora Staccato," Ravel's "Pavanne" and Tchaikovsky's "Valse."

For Dancers Only—"America's Favorites Waltzes" by Harry Horlick and his orchestra (M-G-M). . . . This is a great LP for those who are weary of rock 'n' roll. Among Horlick's selections are "Girl of My Dreams," "Ramona" and "Alice Blue Gown."

Madonna College Sets Exam Dates

Competitive examinations for tuition scholarships at Madonna College, Livonia, will be open to all senior high school girls ranking in the upper third of their class. Applications for the tests must be received by the College not later than Nov. 18.

The scholarships, open for one year in any field, are renewable annually upon maintenance of high scholastic standards and good conduct.

The examinations will be administered to all applicants at the following centers: Friday, Dec. 6, from 1 to 3 p.m. at Felician academy, Detroit, and Our

Students who have previously taken the National Qualifying Scholarship examination in October will not be required to take the competitive examination. However, high school principals should be requested to submit a transcript of the scores, since these must meet the College requirements.

Further information may be received upon request from the Registrar, Madonna College, Livonia, Mich.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

Elverton Clark, 48, is one of those rare birds who retired early to his hobbies. I ran into him at Lake Placid, N. Y. last summer when I was looking for a guide who knew something about trout. After getting acquainted with Elverton I became more interested in his retirement story than in fishing.

Elvertin is a ruddy, cheerful character known as one of the best guides in the area. But he's a college graduate and holds an engineering degree. Following graduation from M.I.T. he embarked on a well-paying career and his future in engineering looked unusually bright.

But 12 years ago, while employed in Rochester, N. Y., he began analyzing certain misgivings which gnawed at him each morning when he donned his gray flannel suit and went to work. His misgivings stemmed from the fact that while he liked his job he liked his hobbies even more. And there was no doubt in his mind but that his real interests were fishing and wood-working.

So at 36 he decided to chuck his engineering career and retire to his hobbies. Within a few weeks, and with the full cooperation of his wife, he bid the boss good-bye and moved his family to the town of Lake Placid—an idyllic, mountain-rimmed retreat thick with trees and spotted with blue lakes and ponds. He had spent many vacations there and years before had decided this would be his retirement home.

Here Elverton embarked on a triple-headed retirement career. He set up a small sports shop on busy Saranac Avenue stocked with fishing gear. He made a boat, bought an outboard motor, and set himself up as a fishing guide. And he served notice on the town that he was available to do expert cabinet work when he could fit it into his schedule.

"Naturally," he told me, "a lot of people thought I was off my rocker. They didn't think I was very bright to give up a solid engineering career for a life as indefinite as this. But I have no regrets. I'm making a good living for my family and I'm doing exactly what I want. I get my pleasure in outdoor life and in working with my hands."

As a sports shop owner he enjoys keeping abreast of the latest in sports equipment and comparing notes on fishing with the sportsmen who stop at his shop. As a guide he gets to know many important and interesting people, such as former Defense Secretary Charles Wilson who was a recent client of his on a fishing expedition. And he derives real pleasure from his wood-working chores.

"Another thing I like about my set up," says Elverton, "is that my wife and I can spend January and February in Florida. There's not much doing up here in mid-winter so when the big snows set in we head South and treat ourselves to a few weeks of sun and relaxation."

He made it sound so appealing that I asked what advice he had for others who might want to retire early. "Just make sure you've got something specific to retire to—something you enjoy better than your present work," he replied. "If you've got some substantial hobbies and are sure you can earn a living at them, I think you're smart to retire—and the earlier the better."

RICH MAN, POOR MAN...

In today's complex scheme of things, virtually everybody needs insurance — rich man or poor man — on a car, a home, personal liability. In buying insurance, it is wise to remember that its purpose is to MAKE SURE that you KEEP what you own.

That's a big and important job and insurance is one of the most complex business services of our time. Since most of us have little knowledge of the field, our best course is to turn to the professional insurance counselor, the qualified independent insurance agent with years of experience in the field and the backing of the world's leading insuring companies with assets in the billions.

The qualified agent is nobody's "employee". He is, therefore, obligated primarily to his client. It is this client whom he ETHICALLY insures at a FAIR PRICE — it is this client whom he represents when a loss is suffered. He will be there when you need him.

The importance of your insurance in your security plan makes it imperative to know that you are properly insured. We regularly analyze folks' insurance position without obligation. DULUTH, Minn.—(UP)—The iron ore mining industry of Minnesota is observing the 50th anniversary of beneficiation this year. Beneficiation is the method by which low grade ores are treated to upgrade them. The anniversary is significant because 50 years ago the industry foresaw the time when the future of Minnesota iron mining would depend on the processing of low grade ores.

TIPS for TEENS

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

This high school boy is worried about a "triangle — two boys and a girl.

"Dear Elinor: I am a boy of 15. I have just met a girl I like very much, but to my surprise, my boy-friend has known her as long as I have and he likes her, too. I tried to tell him that I was going to date her, but I couldn't because he is my best friend and I don't want to spoil our friendship. I think I love this girl, but I haven't known her long enough to ask her if she likes me or him. Please help me if you can."

Ans. — You and your boy-friend have known this girl for the same length of time, so neither of you has first or special claim on her date-time.

Besides, you and your friend aren't the ones to decide whom she'll date. It won't help matters for one of you to refuse to date her because the other likes her, too.

The girl is the one to decide which one she prefers to date—and she won't know which she likes best unless she dates both of you.

So why not take it easy for a while and be fair to the girl, to your friend and to yourself? Give her time to get acquainted with both of you without jumping to hasty conclusions about "loving" her or "spoiling your friendship" with him.

Have a talk with your boy-friend, pointing out that you've both known her the same length of time and you both like her. Give the situation time to work out before you get upset, because she might like somebody else better than either of you! Or one of you might meet a girl you'll like more than her.

(For help with personal problems, write to Elinor Williams at this paper. As many letters as possible will be answered in this column.)

Key to Cook's Heart:

Kitchen She'll Hate to Leave

Boosting the housewife's morale must have been the prime objective of the architect who planned this kitchen. He solved the problem of waste space behind the corner sink with a planter full of cheering blooms, and installed kitchen cabinets which add the charm of natural wood to the kitchen as well as provide ample counter and storage space. These are stock kitchen cabinets of ponderosa pine, available from building material dealers. Other arrangement for light and view, and the colorful textured wall-paper.

For Clean Windows:

Lift-out Sash Beats Gadgets

Inventors are constantly racking their brains to think up new gadgets to make household chores easier. One of their pet projects is window washing.

The latest gadget to make window cleaning easier is a combination sponge and squeegee attached to an extendable rod bent in the shape of a lop-sided U. With this the housewife can stand inside and swipe at the outside of her windows by opening them slightly and extending the thing out and upward.

Gadgets like this will come and go, but most housewives agree that until a type of glass is invented that won't get dirty, the lift-out window is the best invention yet to make window washing easier.

Double-hung and sliding windows of ponderosa pine are designed so that the entire sash can be lifted out of the frame, from inside the house, cleaned on both sides, and replaced. This makes window washing not only easier but danger-free, since it eliminates precarious window-sill perching.

Other window styles available in ponderosa pine also are designed to simplify washing. Among them are the awning style, the hopper window and the casement type. Both sides of the glass in these windows can be reached for cleaning from inside the house.

House Has Comfort Built In

The workman installing thick, six-inch batts of mineral wool insulation in the ceiling of this new home is paving the way for comfort for its future owners. Since the house is to be air conditioned, six inches of mineral wool were specified for the ceilings, four inches for the walls, and two inches around the edges of the concrete slab on which the house rests. Research has shown that these thicknesses of insulation can make it possible for smaller, less costly equipment to cool a house. The money saved usually is more than enough to pay for the added insulation. In addition, operating costs are lowered by as much as half.

Before Insulating

'Dream' Home Cold Nightmare, Says Housewife

Take it from Mrs. Michael J. Walsh, Jr., a White Plains, N.Y., housewife, comparing successive winters spent in a house with and without insulation "is like comparing a sweet dream and a nightmare."

Mrs. Walsh's family and about 130 others bought new homes in a development of ranch-style houses three years ago, but they forgot to ask an important question: "How well are the houses insulated?"

The winter that followed gave them their answer. Inadequate insulation in the ceilings and none in the walls and floors over crawl spaces made it impossible to heat the houses comfortably or economically.

"It really was a nightmare," says Mrs. Walsh. "Even with our thermostats pushed up to 80, my neighbors and I had to go around with wool socks on. The children couldn't sit on the floor to watch TV. The wind on the floor would practically blow out a match. We always sat on our feet to keep them warm, and our fuel bills were so high we were frantic."

One by one, the home-owners, including the Walshs, called in an insulation contractor to have thick mineral wool blown into walls and ceilings, and thick blankets of insulation installed between floor joists in crawl spaces.

Overnight the houses became more comfortable. Thermostats could safely be pushed down to 70 or 72, and fuel costs dropped 40 to 50 percent. Children got over their colds and stayed healthy. Floors, free of drafts caused by chilled air dropping from cold walls and scudding across the room, became safe play havens.

"Our fuel bills now are $8 to $11 less per month than they were that first winter," says Mrs. Walsh. "No more wool socks, and we have fewer doctor bills. My mother, who refused to visit us in our 'barn,' comes regularly, and our friends, who stayed away in droves that first winter, are dropping in often again."

The mineral wool installed in these White Plains homes was blown into place under air pressure which forces it into wall spaces and between ceiling joists, packing it tightly around wires, pipes and braces for an efficient insulation seal.

Contractors who do this work remove small pieces of siding and drill holes in sheathing to get at the wall spaces. When the wall is insulated, the hole is sealed, and the siding is neatly replaced.

Carpets Geared to Individual Tastes

Today's carpets are matching today's pace for self-improvement and self-expression. Never before has there been such a wide range of color and original design to suit the taste of any home-maker.

Never before has so much performance been built-in, with improved fibers and new ones engineered especially for carpet use. And never before has carpet been so easy to select and own in every price range.

The reason is clear. Carpet is a desirable floor-covering. At first glance, it provides color and pattern and texture — elements necessary to home decoration. But beyond its sheer looks, carpet contributes a background for good living, with quiet and warmth and safety underfoot.

So, designers, loom technicians, fiber and dye scientists, manufacturers and many others have joined to create the best possible carpet that will please the homemaker.

Shopping for a carpet or rug with the wealth of variety available today might seem confusing at first, but it need not be. Here are some tips for arriving at the right choice for your needs, tastes and pocketbook.

First, analyze your basic requirements and make a list. Do you want the carpet for an area with light or heavy traffic? How big is the area? Measure the width and length in feet. Does the room have a dominant decorating style? Is it a formal or casual room? What is the color in mind? Do you prefer a plain carpet, a gentle or bold pattern?

Keep an open mind on answers to the decorating step—visit a dealer to see the carpet variety available.

There are new colors and designs that may spark new thoughts on the way the room should look. A colorful carpet can be the foundation for the whole room color scheme.

Tell the dealer your practical needs and room measurements. He can best estimate the quality required for long-lasting service, advise you on construction and type of fiber, and figure the best value for your needs.

It is only good shopping to take advantage of a bargain. But there is no "bargain" if the carpet is of poor construction. A quality carpet or rug is a durable product and is built to serve a long time. Rely on a recognized brand name, and visit a responsible local dealer.

He offers many extra services. You may purchase the carpet over a period of time on an accredited payment plan, thereby allowing you to own a better quality. You may select the carpet right in your own home, and be sure that the color and texture blends with other furnishings — and be sure the whole family likes it too!

There is one way to combine the full benefits of carpet with ease of portability, and that is with a room-size rug. It is big enough to provide the warmth, comfort and quiet of wall-to-wall carpet, but also can be moved conveniently to a new home location, or to another room in the house as the family expands.

Such a rug is an ideal gift for

As any Mother knows, there is no place for young children to play quite like the floor. It leaves plenty of room for roaming. Keep it warm and safe—and quiet, too, with carpet. This new stripe is made of solution-dyed rayon that spilled foods won't harm. (Bigelow) newly-weds, who may not know their exact home plans, but want their first months together in a pleasant home-like atmosphere.

A rug on the floor will make their first furnishings look like more, and pieces can be added as the budget permits.

Today's architecture is more flowing in plan and the rooms run together, open out of each other, and sometimes seem to go every which way.

Because of this, wall-to-wall carpeting is popular as a floor covering, as it tends to unify irregular spaces and make small rooms look larger. Rugs serve a different purpose. They isolate an area, and for many houses this is desirable when the plan is extremely open. A rug will define a conversation group around a fireplace, or outline a dining or TV area.

Today, rugs can be any length, since carpet goods comes in standard rolls of 100 feet. It is most economical to choose a width in the multiple of three—such as 9 feet, 12 feet, 15 or 18 feet.

Best proportions in a rectangular room leave a border no more than 8 inches in a small room. Best proportions for a rug in an open plan allow the furniture group to be underscored completely, so that it is held together visually and forms a unit.

Bleach may Harm 'Drip-Dry' Fabrics

Bleaching isn't always the answer for homemakers who want sparkling white clothes. In the case of fabrics advertised as being "wrinkle-resistant" and "drip dry," bleaching can cause more harm than good, according to American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center for the professional laundry industry.

To give garments wrinkle-resistant and drip-dry properties, the fabrics are treated with resin finishes. Many types of resin finishes chemically unite with the chlorine in the bleach. The chlorine cannot be removed by washing and rinsing and builds up in the fabric. When the amount of chlorine held by the resin finish is great enough, the heat of ironing will release it as hydrochloric acid. This acid often causes browning and weakening of the fabric, thus shortening its wear-life.

However, when white or predominantly white cottons become badly soiled or stained, bleach must be used to return their sparkling whiteness. Further, laboratory technicians at American Institute of Laundering find that despite manufacturers' claims, most "drip-dry" garments require some ironing for best appearance. But most of these resin-treated cottons cannot be safely ironed after bleaching with the antiseptic, chlorine-type bleach used by most housewives and professional laundries.

Textile experts at A.I.L. caution housewives buying white, wrinkle-resistant cottons to make sure they can be bleached. The best guarantee that wrinkle-resistant white cotton blouses, shirts and uniforms can be safely ironed after bleaching is to look for the Certified Washable Seal of American Institute of Laundering. A fabric bearing this Seal has been laboratory tested and approved for normal washing procedures.

SERVE YOURSELF SANDWICH SKYSCRAPERS

Easy to make sandwiches on yeast-raised bread with assorted salads, relishes and long cold drinks make admirable fare for informal gatherings.

Here's a new and imposing way to serve a sandwich smorgasbord for your guests. It's the Skyscraper Sandwich containing a fabulous assortment of fillings in just one many-decker structure.

To assemble a Skyscraper: Select a variety of thinly sliced yeast-raised breads (they should all be the same shape) and a variety of popular fillings such as ham, salami, Swiss cheese, Cheddar cheese, chicken, corned beef.

Spread the bread with margarine or butter and, if you like, a little mustard or mayonnaise. Place a generous portion of one of the fillings on each piece of bread. Pile up the prepared bread to make an 8-story sandwich. One Skyscraper should serve about three people. Guests help themselves to one, two or more layers as appetites dictate.

These sandwiches are appropriate for a picnic as well as an at-home gathering. Wrap them in aluminum foil or waxed paper to keep them fresh, and carry in insulated containers.

Carrots — Low Cost, High Value; Top Quality Crop Now Available

Shoppers with an eye for high value and low cost foods will welcome news about a popular vegetable friend — carrots. Consumer Marketing Information agents remind us that one of the best sources of vitamin A is found in this fresh yellow vegetable, in abundant supply now.

A serving of ½ cup of grated raw or ½ cup of cooked diced carrots gives more than the amount of vitamin A needed for one day. Vitamin A is famous for aiding eyesight — it helps the eyes adjust from bright to dim light; it is essential for good growth; and it keeps the mucous membranes of the nose, throat, and other parts of the body in tip-top shape.

Carrots are probably one of the oldest vegetables recorded in history, but they still remain one of America's favorites. This fall the consumer will find an ample supply of Michigan-grown carrots as well as those from California which are shipped to this area.

Most stores are selling both bunches and 1 lb. of topped carrots in plastic bags. Homemakers can expect 5 to 8 servings from a pound of carrots.

Tops left on carrots draw moisture from the roots, and tend to leave the carrot tough. If buying carrots with tops, check to see that they are fresh and green. Additional care must be taken by food handlers to keep them fresh. Before shipping, crates of untopped carrots are packed with crushed ice — and the grocer must keep them iced or cooled at the store.

Fortunately, most carrots now in the stores are excellent in quality. Good quality is indicated if the carrots are firm, clear, fresh in appearance, well-shaped, and of good color. Deep storing, carrots should be washed and wrapped with a damp cloth or paper before storing in the hydrator of the refrigerator. If carrots have tops, these should be removed.

To keep the most food value, cook carrots in a small amount of water with the lid on. Children as well as adults like crisp raw carrot sticks as a relish or in-between snack. A ½ cup of carrots, about the normal serving, gives only 23 calories.

Include carrots in the week's food plan. Shredded carrots can be combined with other vegetables or nuts for crunchy salads. Cooked plain or buttered, they can be combined with a cream sauce for soup, or added to a pot roast or stew.

Honey Glazed Carrots With Mint
6 medium carrots
3 tablespoons honey
¼ teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon mint extract

Scrape carrots, cook in small amount of boiling salted water until carrots are tender and most of the water has boiled away. Combine honey, orange rind, salt and mint extract and any remaining carrot stock in a skillet. Bring to boil; add carrots. Simmer 10 minutes. Serves 4.

Apple Appetizers

Cut cored unpeeled red apples into bite-sized chunks; dip in lemon juice; spear on wooden toothpicks; insert picks in whole red apples. Serve with a cheese dip. For the cheese dip, use pimiento cheese spread blended with a little mayonnaise; or a cream cheese softened with cream plus crumbled blue cheese. Whip to "dipping" consistency.

The influence of modern design on crochet can be seen in these two doilies. At the top is an 11½" gossamer-fine doily with a center swirl of solid crochet. At the bottom is a cotton doily with a rich, embossed appearance. Instructions may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Plymouth Mail Needlework Department.

It's always a satisfaction to get double duty from your belongings. For example, a shower cap can also serve as an ice bag in an emergency. Just wash it well with warm soapsuds, rinse, fill it with crushed ice, and tie it shut with a soft cord.

25 Years Ago

November 4, 1932

The Congressional battle between George Dondero and Honorable Earl Michener is of great interest to Plymouth voters.

It took 13 years for a Michigan automobile certificate such as the state issued under administrator Coleman Vaughn to reach Plymouth from Lansing.

Tuesday morning when Postmaster B. E. Giles was sorting the mail a card fell out of one of the sacks that was brought out from Detroit. The card looked so different from any he had ever seen before that he just had to check it. It was addressed to a Herbert Fizzell, R.F.D. Elm, Michigan. On checking it was found that Mr. Fizzell had bought a new Overland car and the number issued him was 8724.

No one has ever heard or been able to find anyone who knew the mentioned Mr. Fizzell. Mr. Giles still has the card which was mailed on April 30, 1919 and reached Plymouth on November 1, 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rattenbury have left Plymouth to make their home in Texas. Wyman Bartlett and William Keiser who have taken over the store are busy making new alterations.

Central P.T.A. will present comedy. Listed on the program with important parts are: Dr. Thams, Mrs. Russell Roe, F. R. Hoheisel, E. H. Scully, and Harry Barnes. The comedy is entitled: His Blue Serge Suit.

Fellow Members of the Plymouth Kiwanis club honored Dr. Harold Brisbois by electing him as their president for the ensuing year.

Red Raspberry picking in November. Unheard of, you say. Well Mr. Ben Havershaw of North Harvey street picked a nice bunch of them last week from his garden.

Tonight is the night for that delicious chop suey supper to be served at the Episcopal church. Tickets 35 cents.

Arthur Blunk, who for the past five months has been serving as juror in the United States Federal Courts has completed his term and will return to Plymouth on November 1 and will resume his duties at the Blunk Brothers store.

Hallowe'en night in Plymouth turned out to be a very successful, peaceful night thanks to Supt. George A. Smith and the management of the Penniman-Allyn theatre who entertained some 200 boys and girls.

Mary Jane Olsaver entertained five little girls at a Hallowe'en party at her home on Maple street Saturday night.

50 Years Ago

November 8, 1907

They all gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shattuck who had the party for the little ones. Everyone reported a spooky good time.

A party of hunters composed of George Springer, Jess McLeod, Albert Gayde, William Pettingill, Doc Passage, G. A. Kelley, Will Henry, Ben Sprague and Will Markham leave today from Detroit by boat. Another party composed of George and Earl VanDe Car, Orr Passage, Dan Adams, Fred Reiman, Matt Powell and Nelson Schraeder leave on Monday and will have headquarters in Oscoda County.

Mrs. Will Garchow of Livonia Center entertained some of her former Mt. Pleasant friends at her home Saturday.

At a stockholders meeting of the Buick Motor Car Company in Flint last week, W. O. Allen of this place was named one of the directors. The company is capitalized at $2,600,000. Wish they were in Plymouth.

Charles Rengert, employed in one of our factories, was married to Miss Anna Smith, Wednesday, at the home of the bride in Farmington.

The teachers of the school gave Miss Anna Smith a complete surprise last Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Roe. The evening was pleasantly spent with the making of home made candy of which this editor received a sample. Surely both editor and teachers could not be called sour on Wednesday morning after all the sweets they consumed.

Married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hillmer, Wednesday afternoon were Mrs. Ella Smye and Charles W. Olds of Plymouth. The Reverend C. T. Jack of the First Baptist church officiated. The happy couple left on the 2:30 train for a short honeymoon.
