1st Polio Clinic Opening Next Thursday Night

Two low-cost polio prevention clinics are being established in Plymouth this month as part of the county-wide program to fight the polio epidemic that has now claimed over 600 victims in Wayne County. Sixteen have died.

Next Thursday, Oct. 9, and Friday, Oct. 17 are the dates set for the two local clinics.

The clinics will be from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., both at the Plymouth Community Junior High School on Mill St. The clinics are for Plymouth city and township residents.

Canton Township residents can obtain their Salk polio vaccine shots at the Canton Township Hall on October 10 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Northville city and township's clinics will be Oct. 9 and Oct. 15, from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at the Northville Community Center.

Cost of each vaccination is $1. If the person feels that he is unable to afford the shot, health authorities will accept any donation. No one will be turned away for lack of ability to pay.

Plymouth's Junior Chamber of Commerce is assisting with the program by offering free transportation to and from the clinics for anyone who cannot provide their own. At the times that the clinics are held, residents can phone GL-3-9766 for transportation.

Cooperating in the effort are the Wayne County Health Department, Wayne County Medical Society and local physicians. Dr. Lee E. Feldkamp is city health officer.

Even if residents have one or two polio shots, they can obtain their second or third at the clinics. There are three shots in the series. Booster shots for those having the complete series are not recommended by the Health Department.

Another clinic will be set up a month from these first two and the third shot will be received at a later date.

Anyone can get polio, according to Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Detroit County Health director. Of the more than 600 cases in the county, Herman Keifer Hospital has a three-week-old infant and a 62-year-old man. There is an alarming number of paralytic cases.

The Wayne County Chapter of the March of Dimes has given 100,000 shots of polio vaccine to get the program started. It is expected to be used up rapidly and the money taken in at the centers will be used to buy additional vaccine.

The county chapter is also spending $6,500 for the purchase of needles, syringes and other supplies.

Nurses who wish to volunteer services for the clinics should phone city hall.

THESE YOUNG and pretty Plymouth High School students are taking part in this Friday's Homecoming Queen festivities. One of the four seniors will be selected as queen. The other three seniors and the three lower classmen will be on the court. The queen will be announced at the football game with Redford Union and she will be crowned at the dance afterward. The girls were selected on the basis of their leadership ability. From left are: Pat Bowly, senior; Mavis Williams, junior; Bette Argo, senior; Michelle Hepler, sophomore; Mary Jane West, senior; Carolyn Scott, freshman; and Mer Palmer, senior.

Four Compete for Queen Title

Something For All at Homecoming

By Gloria Bowles

The red carpet treatment will be extended to townspeople and Plymouth High School alumni tomorrow, October 3—the date scheduled for Homecoming, 1958 at Plymouth High School.

A tea for parents of football players, a bonfire at 6:30 p.m. 7:15 p.m. parade, the 8 o'clock football game pitting Plymouth against Redford Union, and the crowning of the 1958-59 Homecoming Queen are the activities in which Plymouthites may take part.

Co-chairmen for the event are senior Mer Palmer and junior Mavis Williams, both Student Council officers appointed by that group to supervise plans for the celebration. Both girls emphasized the close cooperation between school and community leaders. Committees worked closely with City Manager Al Glassford.

Veiled in secrecy are plans for the selection of Homecoming Queen. (Only two students who counted ballots cast today know the outcome of the voting.) This will provide an element of surprise not only for spectators, but for queen candidates, too. In previous years, the girls knew results of balloting before the crowning.

Four senior girls are vying for the title of Homecoming Queen. They are Bette Argo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Argo of Morrison; Pat Bowly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Craig Bowly of Lakeside Drive; Mer Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theron Palmer of Beck Road; and Mary Jane West, daughter of the Earl C. Wests of Ball.

Principal Carvel Bentley will crown the 1958-59 Homecoming Queen at coronation ceremonies at the dance in the gymnasium following the game.

Elected by their respective classes to the court two weeks ago were freshmen Carolyn Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Scott of Evergreen; sophomore Michelle Hepler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias L. Hepler of Gilbert; and junior Mavis Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Williams of Brookline.

The parade will begin at 7:15. Leading the march through town will be the varsity cheerleaders and majorities and band, followed by the senior float on which the four queen candidates will ride, and three convertibles bearing class representatives.

Local Architect's Plans To Double Work Space

A badly-needed addition to the Plymouth Post Office and other improvements to the present building — all costing an estimated $280,000 — were announced this week in Washington by Senator Charles Potter and in Plymouth by Postmaster George Timpona.

The major part of the project will be an addition to the rear of the present building that will more than double the floor space.

Other projects will include opening of an entrance to the rear of the building from Fralick Ave., redecorating the present building and installing new lighting fixtures and wiring.

The firm of Wheeler and Becker, Architects, has been awarded the contract to draw up plans and specifications for the improvements. Byron Becker of Plymouth was in Chicago last week to receive the contract and other information necessary to proceed with drawings.

Becker said that the addition itself will cost around $200,000. It will be a large room added to the rear of the present work room and will include a new loading dock.

Drawings must be completed by January 14 and bids for construction will be awarded in July. The construction and other improvements are expected to take six months.

The General Service Administration is in charge of making the improvements.

Plymouth's Post Office, built in 1936, has long been in need of additional

City, Township Estimates Of Population Made

Plymouth Township now has a population of 6,900 and the City of Plymouth has 8,700, according to estimates made by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

The Regional Planning Commission makes population estimates each July 1 and this week announced that the greater Detroit area has increased its population by 859,721 since the 1950 census.

In 1950, Plymouth Township's population was 4,945. Today the commission estimates it at 6,900, or a 1.953 increase (39.5 percent). They also say that the township's occupied dwelling units have increased in number from 1,090 in 1950 to 1,780 today.

Plymouth city's population was 6,637 in 1950 and has increased by 2,063 (31.1 percent). This is an increase of 2,063. Dwelling units in the city eight years ago numbered 2,012 while now there are 2,650 (31.7 percent).

Canton Township has an estimated population of 5,100, the report states, while eight years ago it was 3,761. Occupied dwelling units in Canton have increased from 1,051 to 1,430.

Salem Township's population has increased from 1,525 to 2,200; dwelling units from 431 to 600.

Northville Township has increased population from 4,184 to 7,600; dwelling units from 586 to 860.

Northville city population has increased from 3,217 to 3,800; dwelling units from 989 to 1,140.

Parade, Contest Highlighting Fire Prevention Week

National Fire Prevention Week opens this Sunday and another big program that will draw fire-fighting equipment from seven departments will be in town for a parade next Thursday.

Plymouth Township and City fire departments are again cooperating in a program to acquaint adults and children with the dangers of fire by displaying equipment, sponsoring a fire inspection, booth contest, slogan contest and essay contest.

Next Thursday's parade will begin at 7 p.m. with departments from Superior, Canton, Salem and Plymouth Townships, Livonia, Detroit House of Correction, Northville and Plymouth city taking part.

Co-chairmen of the week-long observance are Captain Lawrence Maas of the Plymouth Township and Inspector Paul Sanders of the city.

Besides the parade next Thursday night, firemen will take part in a water contest. Last year high pressure water was squirted at a large ball for a type of polo. This year a barrel strung on a cable will be the target.

Firemen from the Plymouth departments and Canton Township will

NEWS BEAT

Whitewashing of peppy slogans on sidewalks, a traditional prelude to the PHS Homecoming game, is again taking place this week. A year ago The Mail photographed two lovely young girls whitewashing the sidewalk in front of the newspaper office. All we can say is that we wish we had the formula for producing that whitewash — it's still there.

FIRE BUSINESS: City firemen had to run their trucks in the rain and through mud Tuesday behind a fire in a large hollow elm tree. Boys had started the fire. . . Fire Chief Robert McAllister was re-elected director of the Great Lakes Division of the International Fire Chiefs Association at the convention in Los Angeles. Re-election to the office is a rarity. . . Many people were attracted last Thursday night to Mill St. where a huge blaze was seen. Firemen were burning up old timbers from the demolished part of the Markham Building. . .

FIRST AID: An advanced first aid course for anyone in the Plymouth area will be held at City Fire Station No. 2, starting Tuesday, Oct. 14. Those interested should call the fire station before the starting date.

HEARING DELAYED: The law suit involving the Daisy Manufacturing Profit Sharing Fund has had an Oct. 3 hearing postponed until an indefinite date. Former Daisy employees will be notified by letter of the date. About half of the shares have been paid and the rest will come after the case filed by a former employee is settled.

PAY RAISE: One of Plymouth's teachers called us to report that the new $100 pay raise will result in a total "take-home" paycheck increase of $1.15 every two weeks. "I don't know who I'm bitter with," said the teacher, "whether it's the schools or the Income Tax people. . . but isn't that something?"

POLICE BEAT: A Hamilton tent was promptly removed from St. woman saw two boys. . . Larceny of more hub climbing over the Daisy caps was found on the police Manufacturing fence Monday blotter this week and one with boxed air rifles. After resident reports some apple seeing her, they dropped the thieves who butcher hogs ed a watchman who said that the air rifles came from a drive away with the meat small shed and that he didn't even know there was anything stored there. ### $837,000 Urban Renewal Program Offered

An $837,000 plan financed jointly by the federal government and the city of Plymouth to redevelop several blocks of residential property and perhaps the Daisy Manufacturing property for industrial use was presented to the city commission at a special meeting Monday night.

Vilcan-Leman & Associates, Detroit planning consultants hired by the commission several months ago to study an Urban Renewal plan for Plymouth, presented a 21-page report on the city's possible participation in the rehabilitation program sponsored by the federal government.

As a result of the report, the commission authorized the planning consultant to "make a reservation of funds" with the Urban Renewal Administration.

Urban Renewal, an unfamiliar government agency to most people, was established by Congress in 1949 to help cities eliminate and redevelop slum and blighted areas which have little hope of improving by itself.

Because the federal government realized that cities could not finance the program themselves, the federal government will pay two-thirds of the cost of a program while the local government pays one-third. Detroit has been clearing its blighted areas with the aid of Urban Renewal, along with other communities in the metropolitan area. Wayne is now getting a program underway.

Appearing before the commission Monday was George Vilcan who, by using a map, pointed out five areas which could possibly qualify for federal funds. He recommended that one project be investigated first — a strip along the west side of Mill St. from the Baty Manufacturing plant (not included) southward possibly as far as Fairground St.

The project could also possibly go westward to include the vacant Daisy Manufacturing property. To purchase the land and buildings in this area, level them and prepare the sites for re-sale, Vilcan estimates the cost to be $837,000.

It is estimated that the land could be re-sold for $415,000. This leaves a net cost of $425,000. Of this amount, the federal government would contribute two-thirds and the city would need to contribute a third.

The planning consultant recommended that the property be re-sold for industrial use since there are already industries in the area and because it backs up to the railroad.

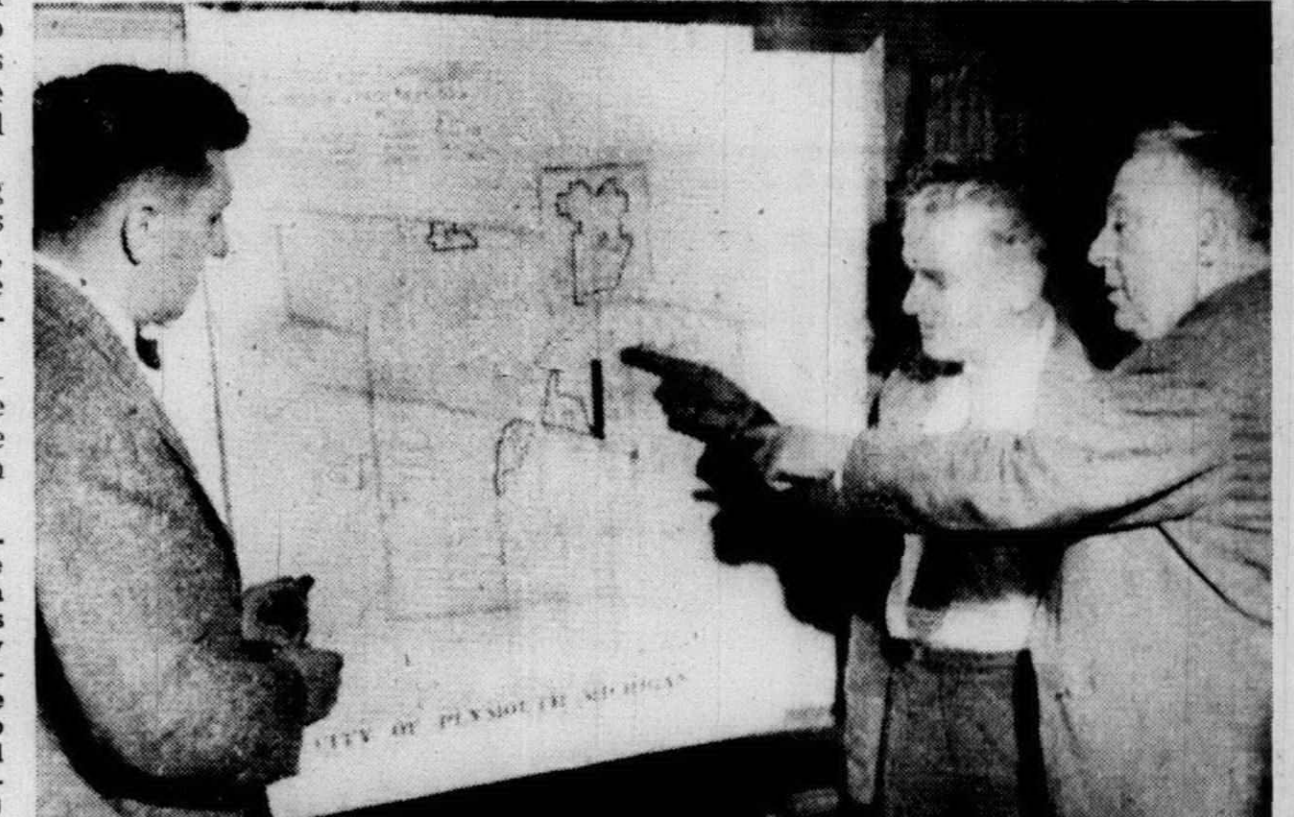

There were many questions from commissioners and visitors concerning the plan.

Commissioner Richard Wernette said that he was concerned about what would happen to the 21 families in the proposed project. He said that law requires the city to find another residence for them and that he was certain that taxpayers would not want to pay rent for these people until they become permanently established.

Vilcan answered that for

Contest for Hula Hoopers Starts at 10 Saturday

This Saturday morning at 10 o'clock is the time — the time, that is, that half of the kids and many of the adults of Plymouth will be in Kellogg Park to take part and watch the Hula Hoop Contest.

Plymouth Merchants are offering merchandise prizes to winners of the age brackets. Winners will be determined on the time that they can keep the hoop around their middle section.

The five age brackets are: Midgets (age 6 and under); Juniors (7-12), Teens (13-18), Seniors (19-60), and Young at Hearts, (61 and up).

The contest is being sponsored by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and The Plymouth Mail.

Oh yes, don't forget to bring your own hoop.

Voter Registration Being Made Easy

In an effort to make it as convenient as possible for eligible citizens to register to vote in the November fourth elections, the Plymouth Democratic Club, with the cooperation of township and city officials, will man temporary voter registration stations in the S. S. Kresge store Friday evening and all day Saturday.

Voters who have not registered by next Monday will be ineligible to participate in the election. The special registration stations will be open from 5 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. Friday, and from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday.

Local Woman Shot in Face But Gun Is Still Missing

A Plymouth woman who was shot in the face last Saturday night is improving in University Hospital in Ann Arbor but the explanation of who shot her remains a mystery.

She is Mrs. Joseph Little, Jr., 555 Starkweather. Her husband who was the only person with her in the car during the shooting, is being held for questioning.

The shooting took place in Northville on Main St. near the Ford Valve Plant. Little, who is a truck driver for a racing stable at Northville, had denied knowledge of the shooting to Northville police and State Police.

A slug from a .38 caliber revolver entered the left cheek of the woman and came out by her right ear. Although Mrs. Little is out of danger, she has been unable to make a statement.

Little emphatically denies that he knows how the shooting took place. He admits struggling with his wife during an argument in the car. Police say that it is possible that the two were grappling with a gun and it accidentally went off. There is the remote possibility that the shot came from a sniper.

Little says that he drove his wife to Atchinson Hospital in Northville right after he saw that she was hit. Hospital authorities immediately summoned an ambulance and a doctor accompanied the woman with her husband to Ann Arbor.

Most baffling is the absence of the gun. Police have not located the gun. They have even searched the nearby streams and are to check sewers.

A Northville tavern owner said that the two had been drinking there earlier but were not drunk.

Little was brought to Plymouth's jail since Northville has no jail. He is still being retained.

Charles Root Elected Democratic Club Head

The Plymouth Democratic Club, in a meeting last Friday night, elected the officers who will serve the club until the 1960 presidential election campaign. Guest speaker for the evening was United States Representative Martha W. Griffiths, who spoke on recent legislative work in Congress.

Elected to club office were the following: Chairman, Charles Root; vice-chairman, Dorothy Frank; treasurer, Orville Tungate; and secretary, Charles Worland.

Executive board appointments which were confirmed by the membership were: Social chairman, Agnes Rollins; membership chairman, Doris Root; political action, Robert Dwyer; sergeant-at-arms, George Onusko; delegate at large, Jack Ruland.

Root and Ruland will be delegates to the 17th district executive board. In addition to the officers named, the four remaining precinct delegates serve on the club executive board.

Announcement of a special pre-election rally on Thursday, October 30th, was made.

Tungate will be special chairman for the rally. Appearing at that time in a place yet to be decided upon will be all of the principal Democrats whose names will appear on the November fourth ballot.

This could conceivably be the last slate of officers to be elected to direct the club within the framework of the seventeenth district. Due to the population growth of the state, Michigan will be entitled to two more congressional districts in 1960. It is generally predicted by political observers that the westernmost portion of the existing seventeenth district will become part of one of the new districts.

Chairman Root pointed out that the club's executive board has been enlarged to broaden the activities of the group, and urged all Democrats residing in Plymouth and the township to support their club to make it more fully representative of the party in this area.

Congresswoman Griffiths spoke on testimony before Congress regarding future space travel activities, on flood control of the Rouge River, on legislation creating Federal scholarships, and on many other matters of interest to the group. She related that certain states have felt the recession much more keenly than Michigan, and that unemployment is still a grave national problem.

Citizens are being urged to participate in this "off-year" election by Mrs. Dorothy Frank, who is in charge of the volunteer workers donating their time.

First Symphony Program In Honor of Late Concertmaster

A man who was the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's concertmaster for 10 years of its 13-year existence will be honored when the orchestra opens its new season on Sunday, Oct. 12.

He is Josef Lazaroff, in whose memory the Plymouth Symphony society has established a Memorial Fund to help further the education of his young son. Lazaroff died a year ago.

The first concert of the season has been designated as the Josef Lazaroff Memorial Concert with all free-will donations received going into the fund. Donations so far total $175. It is hoped that the fund will reach $500.

The late concertmaster's young son, Josef, has already distinguished himself in his chosen field of learning. Proceeds from the fund drive will be presented next month to Mrs. Lazaroff.

Josef Lazaroff, a Detroit, had not touched his violin for 10 years when someone from the Plymouth Symphony contacted him about playing. He had played with many leading orchestras, notably the NBC orchestra under Toscanini.

Lazaroff, encouraged by his wife, showed up at the next rehearsal and sat un-noticed in the back row of the string section. It wasn't long before the sound of his violin was noticed by everyone and he moved up in the string section, chair by chair, until he became concertmaster, a position he occupied 10 years.

OBITUARIES

Fred Fishbeck

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Fred Fishbeck, 85, of 8492 Ann Arbor Rd., who died Sept. 26 at 1:10 p.m. at his home. He died after a short illness of a myocardial infarction.

Mrs. Fishbeck, a retired farmer, was born Sept. 13, 1873 in Portland, Mich. to John and Mary (Murray) Fishbeck. He was married Jan. 22, 1896 to Mabel Anna Fishbeck. She died Nov. 15, 1954.

Surviving are the following: three sons, Howard, Clifford and Murray Fishbeck, all of Superior Township; two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Rockwood of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Winifred Gill of Superior Township; 10 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

Mr. Fishbeck moved to the community in 1896 from Howell. He was a member of the Dixboro Methodist Church.

Services were at 3 p.m. Monday from the Schrader Funeral Home with the Rev. Patrick J. Clifford officiating. Interment was in Pray Cemetery in Superior Township.

Pallbearers were William Geer, Fred Heidt, Clinton Westley, Glen Freeman, Bruce Smith and Derald Jensen.

Mary Wicks

A former Plymouth resident, Mrs. Mary J. Wicks, of Mantua, Ohio, died Sept. 25 in Mantua after a short illness. A cerebral hemorrhage caused her death. She was 89.

Born Feb. 24, 1869 in Hiram, Ohio, she was the daughter of Willard and Lucy (Lime) Gilson.

Mrs. Wicks lived with her daughter, Mrs. Helen Hinton Fucks, in Plymouth from 1948 until she returned to her home in Mantua in 1954. Mrs. Fucks now lives in Franklin, Mich.

Mrs. Wicks, a retired nurse, was a member of Hilltop Christian Church of Mantua, a life member of the Order of Eastern Star, Chapter 32, Mantua.

Funeral services were Monday at 1 p.m. from the Schrader Funeral Home. The Rev. Henry J. Walch, D.D., officiated. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery. Pallbearers were Joseph Keese, Charles Houser, Leslie Martin, Kenneth Champlin, Larry Smith, William Lewandowski, Jim Joseph and John McPhail.

Ella Jane Townsend

Funeral services were held at the Schrader Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Tuesday for Mrs. Ella Jane Townsend, 11325 Arden, Livonia, who

Julian Corey, One of Symphony Founders, Dies

One of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's charter members and organizers, Julian E. Corey, died suddenly Monday evening at Henry Ford Hospital. He was 57.

Although his home was at 45240 North Ave., in Mt. Clemons, Mr. Corey was widely known in the Plymouth area, having been a resident here many years.

He was one of the dozen charter members of the symphony which this month is starting its 13th season. Besides playing the trumpet in the symphony, he helped for many years to set up the stage for concerts and did much work in the background.

During his years with the symphony he accumulated an outstanding attendance record, having missed only a few rehearsals during the 12 years. He was also active in First Presbyterian Church and Scouting.

Born August 22, 1901 in South Haven, Mr. Corey was the son of Alton and Gertrude (Eaton) Corey. He is survived by two sons, Ronald of Ypsilanti and Gerald in the Army; three sisters, Mrs. Ruth Larson of Livonia, Mrs. Maude Laury of Plymouth and Mrs. Beth Seyffardt of Amsterdam, Holland; and one grandchild.

He lived in Plymouth until 1951 when he moved to Ann Arbor and later to Mt. Clemons. He was an engineer at the Chrysler Missile Plant and he worked in numerous aircraft engineering positions, including research at Ann Arbor.

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) at 1 p.m. from the Schrader Funeral Home. Reverend Henry J. Walch, D.D., will officiate. Soloist will be Nat Sibbold. Interment is in Fairview Cemetery, South Haven.

Town Crier: Residents Attend American Airline Festivities

By ALICE OLENDORF GL 3-5019 (Covering the area along Sheldon to Ann Arbor Trail, Harvey and Sutherland, including Plymouth Colony, Parklane, Hough Sub., Plymouth Hills and Ridgewood.)

The residents of the Hough Sub. welcomed into their midst the family of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McCormick who are residing at 530 S. Evergreen with their four children, Suzanne, Gail, Michael and Patty.

Rodger Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson of Amherst Ct., returned to his classes at Michigan State where he is studying business administration.

Mr. and Mrs. John Litzenberg of John Alden returned Saturday after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. William Griesley and daughter Claudia of Toledo, Ohio.

The Litzenbergs and the Griesleys were former college friends at Baldwin Wallace College in Ohio.

Elmer Smith of Amherst Court plans to fly to California and Arizona on Sunday, Oct. 5 after a few days in New Grace Hospital in Detroit for surgery.

There were 1,500 guests attending both on Wednesday and Thursday. Sunday was set aside for families of all employees with lunch and a tour of all points of interest.

Seems as though Mrs. Robertson didn't have enough air life as she and a friend, Mrs. A. Headstrom of Belleville, flew to Chicago Thursday for a couple of days.

Kenneth Stevens of Jéher has just returned from a weekend of fishing at Mullett Lake. Mr. Stevens informed the fishing wasn't much but seeing Northern Michigan in all her fall colors was worth the trip.

On Sept. 15 Joy Kalmbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stout of Jener, was invited to dinner at Hillside Inn to tell the Business and Professional Women's Club, her sponsors, about her ten-day stay at Girls State in Grand Rapids where girls from all over Michigan met to set up and run their own government.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jacobs, newcomers to Plymouth and living on Carol with their lovely family as of August 30, are welcoming Mr. and Mrs. mother, Mrs. P. C. Voland, who flew in from Belleville, Illinois for a month's visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ledinsky of Priscilla Lane have just returned from a 27-day and 7,000 mile trip which took them to Yellowstone National Park; Seattle, Washington where they visited the Donald Sweetens, former residents of Plymouth; Portland, Oregon; Salt Lake City; Denver, Colorado; and a five-day stay at Manitou Springs, Colorado.

Mr. Montgomery's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Montgomery are now residing on Willard St. in Plymouth after spending two years in the Army stationed in Los Angeles, Cal.

The Jack Stephenson of Plymouth Hills have had more than their share of excitement recently. First their daughter Carol celebrated her 14th birthday with a pajama party entertaining Sue Terry, Carolyn Scott, Mary Lou Argo, Mary Hulsing, Clare Wilson, Sally Anthony and Henrietta Janicki.

Mr. and Mrs. Judson Hays and Mr. and Mrs. Earl May of Dearborn; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wagonchutz of Livonia; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shirey, Mr. and Mrs. John Olesendorf and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Kaiser of Plymouth, a Pinochle Club that has been meeting once a month for 20 years, had Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hill of Plymouth and Mr. Ralph Wagonchutz, Jr., and Miss Betty Hendrickson of Livonia as their dinner guests at Botsford Inn Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery of S. Harvey were happy to have Mrs. Montgomery's father, William Smith, return home after recuperating for 14 months in Maybury Sanatorium.

Saxton's Observes 30th Anniversary

One of the area's few remaining feed stores is this week celebrating its 30th anniversary. Saxton's Farm Supply, 587 West Ann Arbor Trail, opened its doors in 1928 in Northville when feed for livestock was the big business. Today, with horses on the decrease, feed is but a small part of the Saxton business.

Dean Saxton started the Northville Feed store at Kade and Center Streets in Northville 30 years ago. In 1932 the Redford Feed Store was opened and two years later came the Plymouth Feed Store, located at the present site of the AAA office on Main St.

The Northville store was sold out in 1943, and Redford in 1946.

In 1937 Saxton's moved into its present building on Ann Arbor Trail and there it plans to stay and grow. According to Saxton and his partner-son Bill, they own additional land on which to expand. In fact, the rear 30 feet of the present building used for storage and repair is now being included in the salesroom.

When Saxton's says that the feed business isn't nearly what it used to be, one is surprised to learn that they still average three tons of feed sales a week. This goes mainly to poultry and riding horses.

When Saxton's moved into the present building, only the front part was used. Finally the wall was knocked out and the store expanded. Replacing feed and equipment as the main stock are hundreds of items, ranging from the modern power lawn mowers to water softeners. "People seem to take more pride in their lawns now than they used to," Dean declared. Hence, they spend lots of money on fertilizers, weed killers, special grasses and all kinds of tools. "It's probably because they have longer weekends and more time on their hands," he added.

While some people like the country store atmosphere of the store, Dean believes that he must make improvements in his place in order to keep up with the times. This he plans to do as money becomes available.

"When I started in business people thought I was too young to be reliable," Dean commented as he stroked his white head of hair, "so I grew a moustache to make me look older. Now I try to keep looking young."

This is what he wants to do with his business.

$837,000 Urban Renewal

the most part people involved are able to find new places with the city setting up an agency to help.

In answer to another question concerning the advantages of Urban Renewal, Villican said that deteriorated areas seldom get better by themselves. Entire sections of a city slowly die. These properties have low assessments and pay relatively low taxes, although they still require public services. The entire community must carry the financial burden.

Villican admitted that there has not been much precedent for re-developing areas for industrial use as he proposes to do with the first program. But, he added, he is sure that such a program would be approved. Villican, Leman & Associates presented the Detroit program for rehabilitating the vast Gratiot project.

The four other areas suggested as renewal areas include much of what is commonly called "Lower Town" (northeast section of the city), a small piece at the northern ends of Auburn, Irving, Blanche and Ann Streets, (north of Junction) another in the Roe and Hamilton Street area, and also a section bounded by Ann Arbor Trail on the north, Main St. on the west, Kellogg on the east and as far south as an extension of Beech St.

Not all homes and buildings in these areas, however, would be considered as being in a deteriorated condition and would not be destroyed. Commissioners, however, are not concerned with the latter four projects at this time. In fact, it will probably take several years to accomplish the Mill St. proposal if it is decided to move ahead further.

Villican recommended that the Daisy plant be included because he said that experience shows that such multi-story buildings (Daisy has three) are not wanted except for warehouses. Warehouses employ few people.

There is one pitfall, as pointed out by several visitors. Should there not be a market for industrial sites if and when the property is ready, the city would be left with a costly white elephant. But Villican believes that because of the water and sewer facilities, railroad and street, industry would waste no time buying the property. He recommended that the vacant land be chopped up into parcels that could be purchased for small industry if they want it, rather than for just a few large ones.

The planner believes that the increased valuation brought by new industry would repay the city's investment between five to 10 years.

Lack of work space has for many years been a problem at the Plymouth Post Office. Each Christmas a building is rented to handle overflow parcels.

Postmaster Timpona, at a Postmasters convention in Cincinnati last month, learned that the post office department has had to face many problems which the public doesn't realize. While population has increased, for instance, the mail transportation problem has been made difficult through curtailment of train service. Once there were 10,000 trains hauling mail, now there are 2,400.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

President LeMay Smith and Dept. Cancer chairman Virginia Bartel will attend a dinner at the Veterans Memorial building in Detroit on Oct. 4 for National President Belle Myers. The National President makes a tour of all states soon after she takes office and all auxiliaries contribute a small amount for a gift for her, but this year's president asked that all money be contributed to the cancer fund.

The Pow-Wow in Kalamazoo, held last week, was attended by President Smith, Virginia Bartel and Lou Archer, Virginia, as department chairman of the Cancer committee, gave her report on Sunday and stressed the education of learning the 7 danger signals.

A plaque will be given to any auxiliary showing the greatest number of members and non-members of the various cancer films that are available. She urges each auxiliary to invite other groups to participate.

Mary Schwartz, as chairman of the rummage sale, would like to thank the residents of Plymouth for making this sale so successful. Also, her thanks go to the girls who so generously gave of their time in working.

The "Recession" dance is Oct. 4, at the hall, 9 p.m. Let's make this a big success. It sounds like it will be fun, so bring all your friends. The committee will serve refreshments later in the evening. Don't forget to bring the white elephant gift of over a $1 value.

The various Smorgasbord committees are hard at work to make this dinner as much a success as past dinners. Chairman Milly Dely with her co-chairmen, Lou Archer and Kay Coolman are urging all members to sell their tickets early. The menu is planned and will be printed at a later date. This column mentioned one time that our dinners were the first Smorgasbord to be served in Plymouth and we now believe that we are the only ones that serve a true Smorgasbord.

President Smith again asks that all chairmen get their notebooks up to date and bring them to each meeting. Dues are payable October 1. Get your dues in early and be eligible to draw for the grand prize in December.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars was officially formed at the 1914 National Encampment in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. The purposes of the Auxiliary are patriotic and the support of veteran welfare. The auxiliary members sponsor many community service activities, have a wide program of hospital work and assist the Post in many of their projects.

Penn Theatre Re-affirms Pledge

The Penn Theatre's pledge to the public to bring the finest film entertainment in an atmosphere of comfort, at prices the family can afford, was reaffirmed this week by Manager Margaret Wilson.

An error in last week's advertisement stated that the theatre was once again "re-offering" that pledge. "We cannot re-offer what we have never retracted," Miss Wilson said.

"With the announcement of the re-seating of the auditorium we wish only to verbally re-affirm our pledge to you which we keep always in mind day-by-day."

Green Meadows: Shoes Bring Woe to Owner

(Covering the Green Meadows neighborhood and South East Plymouth Twp. Area, bounded by South Main St., Joy Rd., Ann Arbor and Beck Rd.)

BY MARTHA STACE
GL. 3-1929

Mrs. Jack Young of Main St. called to tell me that the recently reported open house held in honor of her husband's parents should have read as follows: Garnet and Donly Young of Pacific ave., were honored guests in their son's home, Jack and Wanda Young on Main St. Sunday, Sept. 14. The occasion was the celebration of Garnet and Donly's 30th wedding anniversary. Several friends and relatives were present. Wanda made the anniversary cake and decorated it herself. Little six-year-old Craig Young, son of Jack and Wanda Young, has been confined to his home for several days. He developed a blister on his foot from a new pair of shoes, which very suddenly turned into blood poisoning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fredericks had their five-week-old daughter, Gayle Lyn, baptized on Sept. 14 in St. Peter's Lutheran Church of Plymouth. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hanley of Madison Heights. The Hanleys were then dinner guests in the Fredericks' home.

Another new arrival is a young man by the name of Mark Thomas, third child born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Boatright of Marlowe. They have two girls and this baby being their first boy, we know they are mighty proud of him. He was born Sept. 5 in St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor, weighing in at 9 pounds, 13 1/2 ounces.

We are expressing our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Basil Coll of Northern, who was called to New York due to the death of her brother Arthur Karker of Houghton, N. Y. Accompanying her on the trip were her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Karker of Robinson Sub.

A visitor recently in the Coll home was Harry Hunt of Vicksburg. A very enjoyable evening was had viewing motion pictures taken by Mr. Hunt on a tour of the states west of the Mississippi. Mrs. Coll mentioned some very interesting scenes which were taken of the Yellowstone National Park and Dead Man's Gulch.

We are very glad to report that Mrs. Kenneth Felt of Brookline has returned to her home after confinement in the hospital following surgery. She is convalescing very nicely.

Stanley Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown of Oakview, left Monday for Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., where he will be with the Armed Forces. Stanley is a former graduate of Plymouth High.

Visitors in the John Cockrum Home on Canton Center Rd., were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stone of Grand Junction, Cal. After leaving the Cockrum home, they were to visit a son in New York, and a brother in Tacoma, Wash., returning home around the middle of October.

Douglas Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Calhoun of Oakview is spending a 12-day leave with his parents after completing his basic training at the Great Lakes Naval training center. He will then go to Washington, D.C., for further assignment.

Mrs. Elmer Slater of Northern is visiting in the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Nellie Slater of Sturgis, who is confined to her bed in critical condition following a recent stroke.

Mrs. James Page entertained her friends at a Pinochle club last Wednesday evening. Present were Mildred Smith of Plymouth Heights, Dolly Mairum of Livonia, Margaret O'Brien, Lou Garner, Clara Scherer, Ruth Savage, Erma Johnson of Wayne. A light lunch was served later in the evening. This is a club which the girls started about five years ago.

Last Thursday Mrs. Page modeled a mink coat in the Dearborn Fashion Show at Dearborn High School for the St. Linus Church of Dearborn.

New Neighbors Welcomed In Robinson Sub

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kranz of Gilbert St. celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary on Saturday, Sept. 27, and on Sunday attended the Fall Festival at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

Mark Carson is recuperating very nicely, after having his tonsils removed last Friday.

We of Robinson Sub would like to say welcome to our new neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cox. The Coxes moved into the home of Earl Hedgeon, Gilbert St. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dew who lived in the house previous to them are now living in their apartment on Amelia St.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Burkhardt of Gilbert St. are the proud parents of a new baby boy. The little man was born on Wednesday, September 17. He weighed 9 lbs. and 8 1/2 oz. and has been named Kirk Douglas.

Little Kathy Jo Michaels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Michaels of Russell St., celebrated her second birthday on Saturday. Her Grandfather Michaels and several of her aunts and uncles came over on Sunday to honor Kathy and wish her a happy birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Liimakkala of Butternut St. spent the weekend in Lexington, Kentucky where they plan to see the Lexington Trolis race.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overholt had visiting in their home over the weekend, Mr. Overholt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Overholt of Huntington, Ind.

Mrs. Robert Suda of Russell St. has started teaching advanced sewing classes in Dearborn on Monday and Wednesday and in Plymouth on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Maxine Carson was hostess to a toy party in her home on Tuesday evening. There were 18 attending with several out of town guests from Wyandotte, Detroit, Garden City, Northville and Livonia.

Pumpkins peep prematurely through the weeds in many fields that surround Plymouth. That killing first frost hasn't hit our area as yet, but it could happen any day now. If and when the chill winds of fall hit those fields, the pumpkins will balloon into view even more so.

On Broadway, the winds have already been quite cool toward one of the first shows to brave the hurricane-like invective of the newspaper critics. "Howie" is the short, simple name of the production. Four of the seven critics that guide the destiny of Broadway shows have turned thumbs down on "Howie". The other three wrote neutral reviews. In a sense, this is almost the same as saying "No."

"Howie" might end up as a movie. Its storyline concerns the adventures of a gifted adult that acts like an adolescent. Naturally, he ends up on quiz shows. Somewhere among all the lines there were some gay moments, but not enough to make the grade.

One report stated that the troupe performances out-of-town over 200 laughs were recorded. Force comedy to be successful has to hit in the 300 to 400 class. So "Howie" will, no doubt, be one of the first casualties of the 1958-59 season. Diagnosis: acute lack of "yak" lines.

"The World of Susie Wong" opened in Boston for a tryout and about had the censors running for cover. A house may not be a home, but in Boston you'd better present such thoughts. Josh Logan and Dave Merrick must have felt that if this show lasted in Boston, it could play anywhere. For details on this show I recommend last week's issue of Time magazine. The director, Josh Logan, claims no one will worry about how ineffective the second act is since the play has definitely controversial aspects.

Seems that Susie can do no wrong, or is it that Susie is such a sport that she does everything wrong? Well, the best way to resolve the dilemma would be to count on seeing the show if you are in New York this fall. Technically, it is a scene designer's dream. There are some 17 scenes with a full rain storm in a couple of them.

The month of October means that Halloween is coming and along with that traditional day replete with its witches and hobgoblins will come the first Theater Guild production of the year, "Bell, Book, and Candle." Miss Jackie Gagnon has cast the play and rehearsals are underway.

Loretta Young, seen last year in "Desk Set", will interpret the meaty part of Gillian, the beguiling, bewitching romantic lead. Ray Winstone, a newcomer to the Guild has the happy job of playing opposite Loretta as the young gentleman upstairs that falls under her spell and becomes a frequent downstairs visitor.

Marie Bowers and Bob Lucchetti, two more new Guild members have snagged supporting parts. Sam Davis, last seen in "My Sister Eileen," rounds out the cast of five.

Some quick arithmetic indicates that newcomers three

White Collar 'Farmers'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A boom in rural real estate is reported in the west with white collar workers far outnumbering farmers as buyers.

Robert M. Chamberlain, president of the United Farm Agency which deals in rural real estate in 15 states, said a survey of buyers in California and Oregon for the first six months this year showed that only 11 per cent of all purchases were made by farmers or ranchers.

Of the remainder, 42 per cent were professional men and women, business executives and white collar workers. Another 42 per cent were wage-earners such as factory workers, and five per cent were in the military.

CHAIRS!

New Chairs arriving by the Truck Load for Installation

At The PENN Theatre

The PENN Theatre will be closed Mon., Tues., Wed., October 6, 7, and 8th, for complete Re-seating of the auditorium.

We carefully chose the new chairs with your comfort in mind. They will feature the "Comfort Cushion," a wider, deeper seat using the heaviest, most resilient coil spring in the seating industry. Also we will have a new staggered seating plan that has been engineered for a clear view of the screen for even the smallest child. The person sitting in front of you, no matter how tall, will not block your view.

Increasing Home Value By Additions, Repairs Smart

Suburban Living

Oh, These Men . . . and What Styles They Pick at Saks Fifth Avenue

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fitting rooms of Saks Fifth Avenue men's department look like an international edition of "Who's Who" come to life.

The store's tape measures have recorded girths of such men as Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Walter Bedell Smith, V. M. Molotov, Ali Khan, Gregory Peck.

When MacArthur returned to civilian status, he called the store with an SOS for suits — he had only "some ties and undershirts."

When military VIP's met with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower in Bermuda, Saks flew fitters to the scene and put the finishing touches on one admiral's uniform after waking him up in the Governor's mansion at 3 a.m.

But the store does not cater strictly to the famous. It claims to have the largest selection of men's apparel in the country. It offers both ready-mades and custom tailoring, orders labels by the hundreds, stocks 200 robes including a $400 vicuna dressing gown, 20 styles of shirt collars for daytime wear alone, and uses hundreds of fabrics just for shirts. It also holds that it is the country's biggest importer of woolens.

The power behind the pants is Arthur Gustafson, men's clothing merchandise manager and a veteran of 28 years with the store. His counterpart in the men's furnishings department is Irving Goldwasser, known as "Mr. Irving," who admits to being around 34 years.

The men dream up ideas, hunt up new fabrics, test styles and "occasionally go out on a limb." Such limbs include the first white dinner jacket, the battle jacket, and the black silk suit.

"That black suit idea really started with Ali Khan. He ordered a silk suit in black and I thought it would sell generally," said Gustafson, who started as a model in the days when salesmen took along someone to show the clothes.

About half the department's customers are women, who buy for their husbands and sons. A few women also buy for them-

Family Huddle Helps

Increasing the value of your home makes good business sense. After all, a home represents the largest investment a family will ever make. Just how this value increase should take shape depends on many things.

First and most important step is for a family to have a set budget plan based on present and future income. Once a certain amount of money has been set aside comfortably for projects that will increase a home's value, a family can decide what must be done.

Nothing adds more to a happy daily routine than adequate and comfortable bathroom facilities.

Should a homeowner decide to sell his home, this feature plays an important role in getting the amount of money wanted for selling. A second bathroom is almost compulsory for any family of more than two people.

The cost of adding a second bathroom averages about $1200. This figure is based on sufficient plumbing, space and other factors that make it practical for adding a second bathroom. Some families may get along by adding only half a bathroom, water closet, lavatory and stall shower.

Such a bathroom could be a few hundred dollars cheaper.

Increasing a home's living space will increase a home's value. Where and how this can be done may take the knowledge of a competent home remodeler. It can begin by looking over the attic or basement. It's amazing the amount of wasted living space there is in many homes that are 15 years old or more.

One family of four found it more practical to

Arbor Adds Comfort To Terrace

Charm and comfort offered by an arbor, whether it's on the property or over a terrace, is enjoyed by family and guests. It's ideally suited to those homeowners who want some sunlight on a terrace from overhead and all possible breezes when sitting outdoors.

The photograph illustrates the beauty of an arbor-terrace united to a house. An arbor from a home to garage to simulate an open breezeway is a practical and useful project, too.

Outdoor wood must be used for an arbor. A good selection is cypress for the uprights (4x4 inches square and 10 to 12 feet high), and cedar or redwood for the side and crosspieces. Thickness and width measurements for these parts should be 1x3 inches for the side pieces and 1x5 inches for the crosspieces; length can vary according to requirements.

Building an arbor over an existing terrace calls for a little more work than installing one over earth or lawn. For example, once the height of the arbor is determined, a piece of lumber will have to be attached to house at the specified height. This will have to be bolted.

Next is installing the uprights in cement or flagstone terrace floor. This is done by marking the upright locations and drilling a hole on center into the terrace floor. This is done with a star drill to a depth of at least 6 inches. Then, the same size hole is drilled on center into the bottom of each upright to a depth of 6 inches. Anchor pins, that fit snugly into the holes, are inserted into the terrace floor and then the uprights are fitted into the protruding pins.

Each upright must be plumb, and they can be held in position with lumber braces. Side pieces nailed across the tops of the uprights, and a crossbar at each end of the arbor will hold the frame in position so the remaining crosspieces and side pieces can be nailed in position.

An arbor to be installed in earth is not as difficult as one over a terrace. The uprights must be installed first, the below-ground position extending at least 2 feet in the ground. Although cypress uprights should withstand deterioration,

What About A Real Plant Exchange?

Anyone who moves into a brand-new house expects to have slips and pieces of perennial plants contributed by family and old friends to start the new garden. And, in the first few years, a birthday or Christmas gift takes the form of a certificate for rosebushes, three rhubarb plants or a badly needed shade tree, that too is welcomed.

In a new housing section, the properties usually show which family has been given plants from long-established gardens. Neighbors around them plant haphazardly as the budget can be stretched to permit a couple of shrubs, a climbing rose or some boxes of perennials to be purchased. A real neighborhood plant exchange would help all of the new homeowners.

Here's the way a neighborhood plant exchange was established in a New York State town three years ago. Several new families moved into houses on a block where one family had lived for about fifteen years. The older family had a nice lawn, some evergreen and flowering shrubs, a few rosebushes and a flower border where bloom continued from spring through fall.

George, the head of the older family, had about a dozen different varieties of chrysanthemums. He knew that the new family across the street had inherited three or four varieties with their house. So George suggested that spring that the old and the new family exchange cuttings of each variety on each property so that both families would have more fall flowers.

A cutting, incidentally, is a 3 or 4-inch piece of stem with leaves, which is in a state of soft green growth. After stripping off all leaves except those at the tip, the cutting is inserted in a pot of sharp builder's sand to form roots. Chrysanthemum cuttings root quickly in spring.

The exchange of 'mum cuttings three years ago worked so well that other families on the block became interested. The second year three or four families were exchanging not only cuttings of perennials that would root easily but also sections of big clumps of daylilies, iris and other perennial that has become overgrown (unless overgrown perennials are divided and replanted, bloom decreases.)

Soon word of this plant exchange spread farther than the block on which these garden-minded families live. For about a month now, George, the originator of the idea, has

Mums Bloom Everywhere

Chrysanthemums in every color, shape and size are the autumn flower. They bloom in gardens everywhere in the country.

As a matter of fact, they need not have been growing all summer in order to put on a fall display, for 'mum plants can be moved successfully in bud or flower. All that is needed is ample moisture — watering to soak the ground before the clump is dug up, watering when it is transplanted and watering every day afterward until there is no question of wilting.

This fall flower is fine for bouquets too and stays fresh for a long time. Don't cut, instead snap or break off the stems. If they are thick and woody, slit the stem for about two inches from its base, so that adequate water can be absorbed from the vase.

Offer Freezer Tips When Power Fails

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Know what to do when a power failure causes the home freezer to stop?

The Agriculture Department gives these tips on how to keep food from spoiling:

Don't open the freezer door unnecessarily because warm air raises the inside temperature.

Try to find out how long the electricity will be off in the area. If only for a few hours, food will not spoil. Food in a full freezer generally does not thaw for two days. In a freezer only half full, the food should keep well for one day. The larger the freezer, the better the insulation.

Gals - Drop Those Tranquilizers, Take a Walk or Swim to Relax!

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Too many American women reach for a tranquilizer instead of taking a walk or a swim.

So says Naomi L. Leyhe, new chairman of the department of physical education for women at Indiana University. She heads a faculty of 10 responsible for the physical education instruction of some 1,450 coeds each semester at this major Midwestern University at Bloomington, south of Indianapolis.

Miss Leyhe's experience has given her a varied geographical acquaintance with American women. She is a former staff member of Georgia State College for Women, Pacific University in Oregon, Boston Hospital, and Camp Wenoah in Maine. She also is author of two widely used sports manuals in basketball and volleyball.

She said "To my mind, the major problem among women is the build-up of unrelieved tensions — caused by the tempo of modern living, with the resultant reliance upon tranquilizers and sleeping pills. A balance among work, rest and play would make pills passe."

She has found that female interest in good health varies little from one section of the United States to the other. Once a girl is trained in the importance of good health as a component of beauty she tends to continue a healthful routine, the physical education expert believes. She discounted the idea that a serious lapse of interest in good health occurs when a girl leaves supervised school routine.

"Rather, the neglect of earlier years results in poor health in later years."

This college administrator thinks school training in physical education should begin at the elementary or grade school level "with a diversified, balanced program of rhythms, games and physical conditioning activities."

"At the high school level the same holds true except that where feasible, greater emphasis should be placed upon the learning of the individual and dual sports."

"At the college level, the emphasis should be placed upon the individual and dual sports with an eye to usefulness in adult life."

Miss Leyhe, at 44, says that "my vocation, avocation, and favorite form of recreation will always be swimming. Camping comes as a close second."

On one camping trip she went into the new "49th state" on a 77-day jaunt to the Yukon and above the Arctic Circle. Her travel has taken her into all 48 states.

NEW! TRAPEZE-LIKE COAT is of Italian lacey wool . . . fashioned with a streamer tie and three buttons to fasten the narrowed top. Completed with new-look bracelet-length sleeves.

NEW! LUSH FUR TRIM: The "stack collar" of luxury fur enhances the chemise line of this Linton-wool coat. The to-the-elbow sleeves are shaped-in with an up-curving yoke for a very new look this fall.

NEW! TAPERED-LOOK COAT in imported textured Scotch tweed is topped with a standaway, deep cowl-type collar. Rustling silk taffeta lines this handsome coat.

Coats, Above All Else, Look New; So Unmistakingly Smart For Fall

"Something new" definitely keynotes the coat fashions for fall. This season a fresh, more exciting look to styling, color, and fabric makes everything of previous seasons seem out-of-date!

Variations on three silhouette themes give play to this new appeal!

The trapeze . . . swinging full from under arm to the spreading hem, is destined for real popularity.

The Empire . . . high-waisted fall '58 version of the chemise coat. It is relaxed, slim, and conveys an at-ease elegance.

Eyes focus on the back in coats that carry an elliptical look in drapes, blousons, soft folds or blow-out. It is variously referred to as the "balloon" . . . "sickle" . . . or "oval."

Handsome additions to this top trio are the slim coats that show the lowest "waistline" ever . . . a belt, band, or bow just above the knee, or else a very low-placed knee flounce.

Fur trims are a banner bonus to these new coats and are flat, full, or "bouffant" — as in fox, lynx, and real racoon for more casual styles.

Fabrics are causing a great deal of excitement! The accent is on deep texture — soft, silky smoothies, and lacy loops.

Many imported fabrics are used for their sumptuous luxury, but rivaled by domestic wools — never more elegant!

Mohair is the most important of the wools. It is loopy, curled, or brushed, and lends itself to magnificent colors.

Woolens also appear as bold plaids, dapper checks, refined tweeds, and in novelty weaves.

For color, there is a choice of everything imaginable.

Blues: from olive to forest.

Browns: from mocha to coffee bean.

Purples: lilac to violet.

Blues: sapphire to royal.

Reds: from candy pink to brick. Sometimes two hues are used together!

Black, of course, is a classic in its own right, and always important in fashion.

The average woman gives a great deal of thoughtful care to the selection of her new coat. It receives more constant wear than perhaps any other item in her wardrobe.

This fall — there's variety — unlimited! A "seventh heavenful" of coats from which to make a wise and wonderful selection!

Psychology Decides Colors For China, Glass, Giftwares

CHICAGO — (UPI) — Psychology now decides colors for china, glassware and giftwares.

Designers armed with surveys, statistics, and emotional studies come up with color styles and trends before the average woman even is aware of what she likes or wants.

Psychologists and designers at the recent China, Glass, and Gift Market at the Merchandise Mart said the "emotional climate" of the country has a definite influence on the popularity of certain colors. The more nervous the times, the brighter the colors in fashion.

Popularity of loud color combinations reached its peak during the Korean War, said the designers. Today, they added, colors are toned down, but bright pastels still are the leaders in apparel, home decorations, automobiles, and giftware.

This year's top colors are persimmon and warm yellow, said designer Ruth Sloan of California. Next year's may be pink and orange, or aqua blue and green.

How do designers determine which color will be popular at a certain time?

Miss Sloan said home decoration colors once followed the fashionable colors of apparel. "We used to be several years behind apparel," she said. "Now we go hand in hand with them."

National household magazines, advertising agencies, and the designers, themselves, conduct surveys, among the nation's women to find their color preferences. They also make studies of the women's family and economic status and of the world situation.

"It's fascinating," Miss Sloan said. "I will show a woman a chart with dozens of color variations.

Small-Medium Size Eggs Are Best Buys Now

What size eggs should you buy? If you want to get the most for your money, buy small and medium eggs at this time of year, advises Mrs. Marjorie Gibbs, Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agent.

Young chickens on the many large poultry farms are beginning to lay for the first time which accounts for an abundance of small eggs. At the same time, large eggs are not so plentiful. As a result, there's a bigger difference than usual in price between small and medium eggs and large eggs. When large eggs sell for more than a third more than small eggs do, the small ones are the better buy, ounce for ounce.

"Are small and medium-size eggs as good in quality as the large egg?" That's a question which homemakers often ask. Mrs. Gibbs points out that all eggs, regardless of size, are graded by the same set of standards. Therefore, any size of eggs you buy, of the same grade, will be of equal quality.

These "good buy" eggs may be smaller in size but they are just as perfect and nutritionally complete as the larger ones. They are an excellent source of high quality protein, vitamins and minerals.

It pays to be a choosy egg buyer. Buy only these eggs that have been kept under refrigeration and protected from the strong odors of other foods. And when you get the eggs home, store them in a large end up in a covered container in the refrigerator. Heat, even room temperature, lowers the quality of eggs in a very short period of time.

Low temperature is the key to successful egg cooking. As with all other protein foods, eggs cooked at too high a temperature get tough and leathery. So cook your eggs at low to moderate even heat whether you are poaching, soft or hard-cooking, frying or baking them.

Eggs are much more than just a breakfast food. When you serve eggs as a main course, you are serving a savory food that combines well with other foods and adds colorful interest to a meal.

Make it a dinner to remember by serving Tongue Supreme. This delightful variation is simply slices of cooked tongue topped with a sauce highlighting minced onion, dairy sour cream, vinegar and

Hubby Can Get You Off All Fours

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (UPI) — If you have to get down on your hands and knees to hunt for pots and pans at the back of low cabinets, get your husband to build drawers.

So says Coral Morris, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State University.

Miss Morris said drawers make below-counter storage space convenient and can be built into almost any kitchen. Shallow drawers are ideal for items that lie flat, and deeper drawers will hold pans, casseroles, strainers and lids.

To hold things in place at an angle for easy reaching, use plywood space dividers in deep drawers. Put dividers in at a slant — about a 60 to 65 angle. Slots on the inside of the drawer sides will hold dividers in place and allow them to slip in and out for cleaning and adjusting. Space the dividers according to the items stored.

Nylon glides make the drawers roll out at the touch of a fingertip. A ready-made assembly for glides is available in most building supply stores.

Ouch - - Aching 'Teens Toes! Style Chosen Before Comfort

CHICAGO — (UPI) — Teenagers put their foot down when it comes to choosing proper shoes, says an expert.

"Getting teen-agers to wear proper shoes requires more psychology than logic," said Dr. William M. Scholl. "The teen-aged girl who wants to be stylish in high heels and pointed toes won't listen to reason why she shouldn't wear them. But wearing proper shoes today will protect her feet for tomorrow's fashions."

Children may need to be refitted every two or six months for 15 years or longer, he said. Shoes should have "growing space" at the tip of the shoe — allow about 3/8 to 1/2 inches — and should be discarded before toe-crowding begins.

Children from 6 to 10 years may need new shoes every 8 to 12 weeks; the 10 to 12 bracket may change every 12 to 16 weeks; and the 12 to 15-year age group every 16 to 20 weeks.

Seven to 10-year-olds need sturdy shoes to protect their feet from sharp stones and nails, and to give strong arch support, Dr. Scholl said.

Widow Says 'Work For Happiness'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — If anyone approaching middle age needs a recipe for living those older years usefully and successfully, Mrs. Raymond Clapper has the answer — "W-O-R-K."

This charming and vivacious lady of 62 said she's having the time of her life doing what she has always wanted to do — helping people.

"So many," said she, "lock themselves in their little apartments and get lost from the world."

But for Mrs. Clapper there is not enough time.

Mrs. Clapper circles the globe at the drop of a CARE package. She is assistant executive director of CARE around the world, a position she accepted five years ago.

Between trips abroad, she is the official "platform" speaker for the agency and criss-crosses the nation several times a year for appearances.

Mrs. Clapper first took her turn at the lectern in 144 after her famous reporter husband, Raymond Clapper of the United Press, was killed in a bomber crash in the Pacific while on a special war assignment at the request of President Roosevelt.

She took over his lecture duties and completed two books he had begun, although she said, "I'm not a writer."

Both Mrs. Clapper and her late husband were born in Kansas City, Mo.

"We worked our way through college," she said, "and in those early days, I was a social case worker and my husband had to be a reporter. That's all he ever wanted to be."

During the years in Washington with her husband covering the capital as a political reporter, Mrs. Clapper met Presidents and members of Congress.

Dreaming of a brand new kitchen . . . without moving into a brand new home to get it?

Re-doing a kitchen is not such a mammoth job with face-lifting units like built-in ovens and surface cooking tops available to match your dreams.

One good idea to remember is that cooking units placed near the doorway are more convenient to a terrace or patio. Once cooking is done, guests can serve themselves from food set on the oven door.

Remember, whether you plan to have one oven unit, two stack units, or two side by side, see that the men set the units at a comfortable, convenient height for you.

One housewife discovered workmen had installed her kitchen wall units at a height for the average woman, but she wasn't the average height! So alas, the units had to be rehuing!

Pair of 'Yes' Votes

Somewhat lost in the shuffle of other election matters have been two County proposals which will appear on the ballot on Nov. 4 — and in both cases this newspaper urges a "Yes" vote.

Most controversial of the pair (the other is hardly controversial at all) is a proposal to use public funds to build docks on the Detroit waterfront.

These docks would be the first stage of what sound economists believe ultimately will be the building of a great, modern, port to handle St. Lawrence Seaway traffic.

This proposition was on the ballot once before, losing by a narrow margin. The subject has been argued exhaustively in downtown Detroit. On one side says that this is not a proper project for government funds; instead, they argue, it should be handled entirely by private capital.

But the proponents contend that private capital never could get the project started correctly, that an assortment of interests will provide a sloppy, slipshod port at best, and that a seaport is basically a public facility, leased by private interests, and should be planned and conducted with the same philosophy as a highway system or a metropolitan airport.

We accept the second view. Mayor Miriani of Detroit is responsible for the big waterfront development now underway in Detroit, and he wants the port planned and pushed by a public agency. As his neighbors in the suburbs, we believe his desires should be given great weight.

Further, the economic welfare of all us in this Wayne County area will depend in future years on just how big a slice of the foreign ship commerce we are able to handle, once the Seaway is functioning. Our rivals all over the Great Lakes — Chicago, Toledo, Cleveland — are hard at work on making their port facilities big, slick and new. We don't much want to depend merely on whatever catch-as-catch-can development which might happen to seem opportune to private speculators here.

The second proposal involves authorizing "the payment of County taxes levied in the City of Detroit at banks designated by the County Treasurer."

This has virtually no practical meaning to us in the suburbs, but our permission is needed (because we are County taxpayers) to permit Detroiters to pay their County taxes in the same way as they pay their City ones.

By allowing the citizens to go to neighborhood banks, it makes the collection problems at the County offices less expensive and cumbersome. This would save us a certain amount of expense every year. It also would make life somewhat less complicated for our Detroit neighbors.

Other proposals are on ballot on which our advice will be to vote "No." But on these two — port development and payment of County taxes at local banks — we flatly recommend "Yes."

Bird of Another Feather

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

"Why in the world can't we earn more than $1,200 and still collect our social security?" ask hundreds of retired women past 62 and men past 65. Under the law, until a person passes age 72, any earnings above $1,200 cause the loss of one or more social security checks.

As a result of this law it's not uncommon to find older people — who could easily earn more than $1,200 a year — spending their days in idleness rather than forfeit any of the social security to which they are entitled. They also spend a lot of time condemning this law which, in effect, promotes idleness by discouraging older people from engaging in regular employment.

On the surface the law seems very unfair. I used to boil every time I thought about the stupidity which must have spawned such a law. It was difficult to believe that intelligent legislators could have dreamed up such a demagogic restraint on senior citizens. A few weeks ago I resolved to calm down and familiarize myself with the philosophy behind this law. After studying the situation and talking with legislators and social security officials, I find there's a fairly sound reason for placing a limitation on the earnings of those who wish to receive benefits. Here's the way one official put it:

"The whole purpose of the social security program," he explained, "is to help older people replace, in part, lost income due to the retirement or death of the worker."

"Right now about two million older people — eligible by age to receive social security benefits — are still working and earning normal incomes. If we opened the gates and began paying these people full benefits, the social security program, which is barely paying its way now, would have to ante up from somewhere an extra 1.7 billion a year in benefits.

"Many older people criticize this limitation," he concluded, "yet most of these same people agree that it would be unfair and extravagant for the government to pay benefits to people who are still able to earn substantial work income."

Some critics of the present law contend that it is their "right" to receive social security benefits and still earn as much as they want. But this is hardly true because this is a social insurance plan designed to benefit large numbers of retired people. In most cases only a part of what a social security recipient (or his survivor) receives was actually contributed by the worker himself.

Before criticizing this $1,200 limitation on earnings, let's bear in mind that the basic aim of social security is to provide some income to people who need it because the breadwinner has retired or died. In other words, if you're past 65 and still earn more than $1,200, they figure you really aren't in dire need and it's only fair that your benefits should be reduced accordingly.

If Your Name Is 'Brian'

By ANN REYNOLDS, Ph.D.

The homeland of this name is Ireland. Brian is a name of Celtic origin, and its meaning has never been explained.

Although it is often looked upon as confined to use by the Irish, it was at one time widespread among English speaking men, and could again become popular as a first name among those, too, who have no Irish connections.

An Irish king named Brian Boromhe was the most famous man by the name "Brian." He is regarded not only as the greatest Irish king but as the symbol of Irish freedom. His long life extended from 926 to 1014 A.D. He was a native of the northern part of Munster, an Irish province that is now part of the Irish Free State.

During his youth the region was constantly harassed by the Danes, and in 968 he defeated the Danes for the first time. Later he became King of Ireland (which then meant only a small part of what later was comprised in Ireland).

Although Brian Boromhe fought 25 battles with the Danes, there was not only war. In peacetime the great king lived in a house not very much different from peasant houses today in that region. It had an earthen floor, a thatched roof, and a hearth. In the king's house that hearth was large enough to hold a huge cauldron, one in which 12 sheep could be cooked at one time.

When Brian had guests, and he often had, they sat around the cauldron at mealtime and drew lumps of meat from it with their hands. They drank the beer they had learned to brew from the Danes, or the more ancient beverage made of honey. Stories would be told by the "Senachies," historians who feasted with the king and his warriors, and praised their heroic deeds, embellishing them.

It is believed that one of these historian-poets attached the surname "Boromhe" to King Brian; "boromhe" is the Irish word for "tribute."

Maybe Brian was good at levying tribute. What sort of payments were asked as tribute? For instance, 15,000 cows, the same number of pigs, as many linen cloths, silver chains, copper kettles, and one huge cauldron, for the king's own use. When payment was refused, a new war broke out.

Brian Boromhe was 88 when he prepared for the momentous Battle of Clontarf that broke the Norse power in Ireland forever. It was on Good Friday, 1014 A.D. This victory, on Dublin Bay, would be achieved at the price of his life, Brian was warned in a vision. He was ready to be sacrificed. Too old to fight, he knelt in his tent, singing psalms and saying prayers, and was slain by a Danish nobleman.

Tips for Teen-Agers

Q.—"Dear Elinor: I am a 14-year-old girl. My best friend is always telling me lies about my boy-friend. I know they are lies, because I have ways of finding out. How can I stop this?"

Ans. — If she were a real friend, she wouldn't talk about your boy-friend even if she knew things that were true, because she would know it is no concern of hers... and she wouldn't want to cause trouble for you. So one way to put a stop to it is to end this so-called friendship. It's sometimes hopeless and futile to try to change the ways of a person who doesn't tell the truth or continually tries to cause trouble; if a girl will lie about one thing, she's likely to do it about others. So it's better not to try to be friendly with her. Some girls believe, however, that a direct approach is the best in a case like this... if the friendship is worth it. Simply tell the girl frankly that you know the things she tells you about your boyfriend aren't true; you have ways of finding out the facts. So she might as well cut her age and stop doing it or she'll find herself without friends.

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams: A boy came to visit next door to us recently and we had fun going places together. When he left, he gave me his address so I could write to him and he said he would write to me. Should I wait until I hear from him or could I write to him first?"

Ans.—It's proper for a girl to write to a boy first if he has already agreed to write to her. Perhaps he's waiting to hear from you.

HANDWRITING Tells About Yourself

By LUCILLE WILLIAMS

(Letters printed in this paper are free of charge, if a personal analysis is requested by mail there is a routine fee.)

Dear Lucille: I am a housewife and mother of three. I enjoy your column each week. D.J.T.

Dear D.J.T.: You think more about every day matters than you do in a spiritual sense. This does not mean you do not feel any type of philosophy. There is deep feeling in your writing and a friendly quality.

There is resentment here and at times you feel as though you lack faith in yourself and feel self-conscious. You try to be practical and conservative and make a through effort at hanging on to what you have. You're not sensitive to criticism and show a certain amount of pride in whatever you do accomplish.

D. Wick: Thank you for the verse, it was nice. You are a person of many moods and emotions. Sometimes being very emotional and at times being in complete control of yourself. You will hold back in expressing your thoughts, becoming tense and sensitive while on the other hand being of a variable nature you will be able to think clearly, make your decisions and look ahead with assurance. Your will to do right and a purpose in mind will help you see your way clear and a better future ahead.

IRENE: You are one who will show their feelings very outwardly. Today you are up in the clouds and tomorrow you're down in the dumps. There is a tendency towards lack of self-confidence, you seem to have no faith in yourself. Your thinking is spiritual much of the time and with an effort you could have a good memory and express yourself creatively.

Wm. Ineson: You like to think in terms of how every thing will affect you. You're quite diplomatic in handling others, you believe in efficiency and tending to minor details, expecting the same in others. There's a little jealousy streak in you and you don't forget very easily. You like to fool others but be sure you're not kidding yourself. Dulles.

PAMELA: Two words is hardly enough to form an analysis from and the writing was barely visible. You seem to be a very careful thinker and use good logic - slow but sure. You're efficient.

Dear Lucille: Your column has fascinated me for quite some time. Would appreciate having you analyse my handwriting in your column.

Mrs. F. I. Graham: Dear Mrs. Graham: You are an expressive person with deep feelings, showing kindness to others and being generally friendly towards everyone. A fondness for variety and activity keeps you interested in many things. You are capable of handling responsibility but your self-conscious attitude takes away some of the natural ability.

You think in practical terms in an every day way of accomplishing what can be done and never going over your head. You're sensitive to criticism but keep things to yourself.

A STRANGER IS IN TOWN

He is representing a company considering your town and several other towns as a place to put a manufacturing plant. But he isn't talking about that. He isn't even calling on the chamber of commerce or the town officials; not today, maybe never. They may never know he was here.

He came just to talk to people along the street and get an impression of the town. It may be a good impression or it may not be. That depends on the people he meets. At least he will know what they think of their town.

He will be influenced perhaps by a merchant, a cab driver, a barber, a service station attendant, a banker — perhaps by you.

Every citizen is a spokesman for his community, a good spokesman or a poor one. Your enthusiasm for your town can attract industry and put money in your pocket. Your lack of enthusiasm will send industry searching elsewhere.

It's just plain good sense to talk up your town, always.

Lake Pointer's Son Visits World's Fair

BY MARCY BARTSON
GL. 3-5729

The other day, Jewell Bretz received a very interesting letter from her son James S. Keith who is in the United States Navy. James is with the Navy Security Group Activities. He has been stationed in Bremerhaven, Germany and recently had a two weeks leave. In his letter James tells of all the wonderful things he saw and did while touring five countries. He and a friend travelled in Jim's Volkswagen covering over 2,125 miles in two weeks. They toured the Netherlands and crossed the dykes on the Zuider Zee. While in Belgium they saw the fabulous Brussels World's Fair. In Paris it was a look at the Eiffel Tower, a ride on the River Seine, and a visit to Notre Dame Cathedral. Traffic in Paris was very congested so they left there in a hurry. They went into the mountainous Black Forest region. One night they slept in an Army base at the Olympic Ski Tournament in the mountains of Garmisch, Germany. The great port of Antwerp, Belgium was another interesting city on the list. In nearby Holland they saw Rotterdam.

Jim has been in the Navy almost three years and is expected to get his discharge in May or June of next year. He enlisted into the Navy a week after his graduation from Plymouth High School. We hope that the people in Lake Pointe new to Plymouth take the opportunity currently available to become members of the Plymouth Symphony Society. Membership is available for as little as $7.50 a year.

For the most part the orchestra is made up of volunteer musicians who have been playing together for up to ten years. Of more importance though to non-instrument playing members of the community, all the concerts are free. In order to carry on the work of presenting the concerts, paying for music, hiring auditorium cleanup help, sending children to Music camp and encouraging the Youth Symphony, the Society relies for its expenses on the yearly memberships. (The Women's Committee also holds one fund raising event each year and participates in the presentation of the immensely popular "Pops Concert.")

One of our own Lake Pointers, Art Haeske, finds continuing enjoyment in playing in the Symphony and we hope that all those who have a real sense of community pride can become members of the Symphony Society. The best part of the membership might be considered the fact that there are no "meetings" to attend, only the concerts.

We have heard a round town that many families invite friends to go with them to concerts and then have a post-concert supper. Are there any couples in Lake Pointe to spend fall and winter Sundays in this way?

Jane and Al Bowman recently returned from a week's stay in Loudonville, O. They have many friends and relatives there and really had a good time. Jane says that they love to go squirrel hunting but the weather was so bad that they didn't do any this year. They left the children in the care of a wonderful lady, and things went along just beautifully at home. Alan is now a member of the Plymouth High School Band. He plays the trombone - the same instrument his father played when he was in a school band. Jane says it turns time back when she sees Alan in his uniform - he looks so much like Al did when he wore his.

Dorothy Edwards finds herself really busy these days, having gone back to night nursing at Providence Hospital. She commutes by train or bus. Her husband, John commutes to downtown Detroit every day by train and loves it. He purposely wanted to live in the suburbs because he had grown tired of driving in that heavy traffic day-in-and-day-out. Now he sits back and relaxes as the train carries him to his downtown office in the National Bank Building. John is with the National Bank of Detroit. His new office will be relocated in the magnificent new building under construction across from the older bank building.

Their son Bruce has a case of poison ivy which he and his friend Larry Dushiber acquired while playing in the field directly behind their homes on Shadywood Drive - that's the field with the water tower in it. So if any of the children decide that they want to play there we have a warning for them - the field is loaded with poison ivy.

Dorothy's nursing came in real handy a few weeks ago. She gave the whole family their booster shots for polio. I'd like to mention here - any persons not having had their polio shots, please get them as soon as possible. The situation has become steadily worse, and even one inoculation will help you if you should contact polio.

Joanne Cooksey has had the charming company of her grandmother Mrs. Clyde Woodworth this past week.

Mrs. Woodworth arrived here by plane all the way from her home in Long Beach, Cal. When her plane was to land at Chicago, it had to circle the field three times before it could make a successful landing. But it didn't bother her in the least as was apparent when she pleasantly told the nervous passenger next to her "Now just what are you going to do?" Joanne's sister, Mrs. John Burgess of Chicago, also paid her a visit this week.

Maxine and Don Malihan entertained Don's father who came to visit with them all the way from Rockford, Ill. Mr. Malihan is on a strict diet, so he gave Maxine a menu which she faithfully followed. It was his birthday that day and Maxine had planned on baking a big birthday cake for him. Instead she prepared a gelatin salad for him. Robert, their little three month old son, is getting bigger by the day, and keeps Maxine busy with formulas, bottles, and you know what! The beautiful white drapes in their living and dining area are all hand made by Maxine. She has done a beautiful job on them, pinch-pleating them without pleater tape.

Speaking of sewing, Dale Evans and Marion Cosgrove are busy these days. They went to Plymouth last week and came home with yards and yards of material. Marion is sewing shirts for her two boys - Terry and Pat - while Dale is making dresses and skirts for herself. She just finished sewing the new school dresses for her two daughters. Dale Ann is going to celebrate her birthday this week with a party-doll cake and all.

Doris and Jack Ryder returned from a week in Whitings, Ind., where Doris stayed with her mother while Jack was away on business.

Helen Laffey keeps herself busy with her nice family of five boys. The other day she was getting ready to help Bob put in some new shrubs. Young Stephen spent all of the summer with his grandmother in Indiana. He loved the plane ride that took him down there.

Well, ladies, see you at the Newcomer's Club luncheon this Thursday, October 2. The next function will be a hayride on Saturday, October 4. See you there too!

Chamber Group To Attend Conference

Fred Van Dyke, president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, announced today that he is organizing a delegation from here to attend a Regional Indoctration Conference for local chamber officers and members which will be held in Ann Arbor on Oct. 15, at the Michigan Union, from 4 until 9 p.m.

Frank Mueller, nationally recognized authority on chamber of commerce programming and director of Workshops for the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be the featured speaker and discussion leader. He and other staff officials of the National Chamber will discuss chamber programming and financing, committee organization, duties and responsibilities of officers and directors, and other related subjects.

According to Mr. Van Dyke, this is an excellent opportunity for local chamber members to discuss chamber problems with national experts. He is urging all members to reserve Oct. 15, 1958 and make plans to join the large delegation, which he will head, in attending the Ann Arbor Conference.

Dunning-Hough Library Offers Travel Books

Nearly 1,500,000 Americans packed up and went to foreign places last year, according to the passport office of the State Department. This record amount of overseas travel, a boost of 8 per cent over 1956, brought increased interest at the Dunning-Hough Library and other libraries throughout the country in books about Europe, South America, the Far East and other foreign spots, according to Librarian Mrs. Agnes Pauline.

More and more would-be travelers abroad are turning to the library for background information about the places they plan to visit," she said. A number of general handbooks at the library present helpful information and information for the first-time traveler. Among the recent titles are Alice-Leone Moats "At Home Abroad," which includes tips on all aspects of travel; "Around the World in 1,000 Pictures," edited by Milton Runyan, a unique book of photographs covering the entire free world; and Horace Coon's "150 Budget Vacations."

Report 4 Tuberculosis Cases in Area Last Year

Tuberculosis hit 24 residents in Plymouth city and township last year according to statistics just released by the Tuberculosis and Health Society. This was an increase of 10 over the 1956 figure. No deaths from TB occurred in the area, but the disease still ranks 10th among the leading causes of death in the United States.

In the city of Plymouth, 10 new cases were found, the same number that were discovered in 1956. Plymouth Township reported 14 new cases, 10 more than in the previous year. Canton Township had four cases, Northville two cases, Livonia reported 4 and one death, Redford Township had 30 cases and one death and Nankin Township, 13 cases and one death.

Detour (UPI)—The state highway department decided to bypass "Prayer Rock" in its latest road-building plans. The Lord's Prayer was engraved on the stone in 1891 for Dr. Joseph Green who was annoyed by the swearing of loggers as they passed his house.

To Observe Letter Writing Week Oct. 5-11 International Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in Plymouth during the week of October 5 to 11. Postmaster George Timpona announced today.

BEETLES BANISHED PAINESVILLE, Ohio (UPI)—When Japanese beetles threatened her father's vineyard, Elaine Hakola, 12, lost no time. With the aid of a neighborhood pal, Sylvia Erickson, also 12, Elaine launched a "Save Dad's Vineyard" drive. In two days the girls collected 1,222 of the beetles and put them out of commission.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The two neighborhoods in Plymouth are comprised of the Plymouth Community School District which was formerly under the Girl Scout Council of Plymouth, now a part of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. Neighborhood No. 1 occupies the northwest corner of the school district and its boundaries are: North, Phoenix Road; East, Northville Road, Mill Street and Main Street; South, Ann Arbor Trail; West, Napier Road.

Membership in the neighborhoods depends on two factors. Location of the meeting place for the troop determines the neighborhood affiliation of all girls and those adults (leaders and troop committee members) concerned with each troop. Those persons serving in a capacity not related to a specific troop, such as members of the neighborhood service team or have positions in the district or council organization, are members of the neighborhood in which they reside.

Mrs. Walter Beglinger and Mrs. John Lodge attended the first district committee meeting last Thursday at the home of the District Chairman, Mrs. Norman Stockman. Training for neighborhood team members will begin at Hilltop in Ann Arbor on Wednesday, Oct. 15, from 9:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. The kits for all troop leaders will be given to the neighborhood teams at that meeting.

Mrs. Rozella Rubey obtained fourteen volunteers from the two neighborhoods to assist with the "inside traffic" at the Regional Girl Scout Conference in Detroit, Oct. 21, from 1 to 3 p.m.

Edward T. Miller, Jr. (Editor's Note: We have no quarrel whatever with the assumptions in this letter. The self-evident truth to which we referred was that a group of people shall have the right to pass their own laws, and live under those laws, not under judgement imposed from outside authority, the Church. If the people of the City of Plymouth decide that it is proper to serve beer and wine in public places, and if they decide it is improper to serve mixed drinks, and if they do this in the light of the fact that a portion of the "community" (the Township) has a different code, and if they can reconcile all this as being entirely fair and reasonable to the merchants and citizens of the City, then Mr. Miller is exactly correct. We don't believe, however, that all those elements can be reconciled.)

Letters to The Editor

I recently have read the "Mail Attitude" article of September 2, 1958 on the pending question in Plymouth of sale of liquor by the glass. Since you seem to feel that the Plymouth Ministerial Association is the only opposition to your views, I should like to disabuse you on that point, and also to take issue with several of the points raised in your article.

First, however, let me say that I am entirely in agreement with you concerning the impossibility of achieving any moral standard by civil legislation. Further, I am perfectly willing to concede the right of anyone to drink alcoholic liquor in his own home, or in some establishment devoted primarily to that purpose, so long as he does not infringe on my own rights in so doing.

However, I can see a world of difference between the right to drink what one pleases privately, and the right to operate a public drinking place. I was under the impression that we were voting on the latter question. So far, I have been unable to find among the "self evident truths" of the Declaration of Independence, to which you allude any reference to the right to operate a public drinking place.

I note that you feel that it is a barren hypocrisy to ban the sale of alcoholic liquor in Plymouth when it can be had just outside the city limits. Assuming that enough voters in the city of Plymouth do not want liquor served in the dining places of Plymouth, then that same provision which preserves the right of a man to drink in his own home should also preserve the right to so legislate. Is this hypocrisy, or merely a different standard of taste?

I recently was the recipient of a letter from another prominent local institution on this same matter. From this I gleaned the general impression that its business was in a very bad way, and before long Arkansas would gain another Plymouth institution. You can imagine my amazement, a few days later, when my family dined at this establishment, and I learned that one had to undergo a very appreciable wait to be served. A business which cannot survive when the customers stand in line to buy is indeed in bad shape.

We both know that this election is a question which has nothing to do with the Declaration of Independence, the Holy Bible, or Church dogma. There are certain prominent businessmen in Plymouth who would like some of the profit to be gleaned from the sale of liquor by the glass. And there are some of us who like to live in a community where public drinking is kept at a distance, even if the distance is only a few thousand feet. The sole question at this election is whether there are enough of us to keep it that way.

Statistics prove that taxes received from the sale of legal liquor, beer and wine can never pay for the misery caused by the use of beverage alcohol. Solely as a dollars and cents proposition, source of crime, corruption, juvenile delinquency, corruption in government, broken homes, want and suffering. The WCTU is accused of trying to empty the ocean with a teaspoon. We need not pause to deny the charge. Victories already won are sufficient retribution. This question, however, arises: IF a group of earnest, intelligent women, armed with teaspoons (their only available tools) is seen determinedly striving to stay a flood that is about to destroy the youth of a community, body and soul, is there not hope that the community may be influenced to erect a sea wall?

The local WCTU is supporting the position taken by the Plymouth Ministerial Association regarding the "vote on liquor by the glass" proposal which will be offered the City of Plymouth voters in November. Mrs. Laura M. Jensen, President Mrs. Lorena T. Friday, Secretary

Magazine Poem Dedicated To Plymouth Symphony

A poem dedicated to the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra is appearing in the autumn issue of "Artesian," a national magazine devoted to short stories, poetry and the arts. Author of the poem is Harold S. Hartley, 602 Randolph St., Northville, who is a previous contributor to the magazine. Hartley's poem describes a summer concert of the Symphony at Plymouth Colony Farms.

This is the poem: SUMMER CONCERT On water-parted, wind-kissed grass The moving trains of people pass Where willows green and streaming hair Flows down the deep, blue-bannered air; Then high the heart of Mozart sighs; From Flutes and violins it flies, And burning, smiling, never dies.

With drums' thrill thunder sudden looms A memory of hates and dooms, Where love's sweet blood and children's woe In war's tornadored torrents flow; And grief's pale meadow, weapon mown, Has birdless, bloomless, bared its stone To all, and cries: "Atone, atone!" O thoughts that soar in sound-lit hours, Breathless from Beethoven's towers, And skyward sail with melodies; That dare mosaic mankind's dream, Release the soul's imprisoned steam, And earth's adagios redeem.
