

Truck Signs Go Up, Make Many Happy

City commissioners were delighted to learn Monday night that signs prohibiting trucks on certain streets are being erected.

Commissioners aren't bothered by the trucks, but by irate citizens who are wondering what became of the truck route ordinance that prohibits use of most streets by large trucks.

Commissioners learned from Police Chief Kenneth Fisher that the signs have arrived and are being erected this week.

Most of the complaints have been in the city's northwest section. While the ordinance has been in effect since last year, the signs had never been erected because the sign budget had earlier been depleted. But 25 of the signs were ordered when the new budget year started July 1.

Mayor Harold Guenther said that the complaints he has received indicate that the trucks illegally travel down the streets between 5 and 8 a.m. They also complain that the trucks are speeding.

Chief Fisher reported that erection of the signs will give the police department a starting point for enforcement of the ordinance. Regular truck drivers of the companies in the northwest area have been told of the restricted streets, he indicated, but replacement drivers apparently are not given the word. Trucks are permitted to make local deliveries on the streets, however.

In other business before the commission, approval of a new liquor license was approved and so was the transfer of another.

An organization being called the Round Table Club has applied with the State Liquor Commission for a liquor license. The private club will operate in the Mayflower Hotel.

The Liquor Commission always asks for the opinion of the city commission before any licenses are issued or renewed. Commissioners gave their approval and their decision will be returned to the Liquor Commission.

A request from Robert O. Beyer to transfer his liquor license from his drug store on Liberty St. to a new store being built at Main and Mill Streets was approved.

The second and third readings of a change in the zoning ordinance was given approval. The area involved is the 35 acres of city-owned land along Plymouth Rd. which earlier this year was annexed to the city from Plymouth Township. The property is being zoned for light manufacturing and a portion of the land is being purchased by the Wheel Tracing Co. of Detroit for a plant.

Tichy Named Manager Of Whitman & Barnes

Woodrow Tichy, of 1497 Penniman, on Aug. 1 became general manager of Whitman & Barnes, nationally known manufacturers of twist drills and reamers whose plant and main offices are at 4000 Plymouth Road.

Tichy had been factory manager of the plant since 1956. Before that, he had been chief production engineer.

The announcement was made by Edwin W. Zipse, of 1200 Park Place, who was the previous general manager. Zipse is executive vice president of W&B's parent company, United - Greenfield Corporation.

Hartmann complained two weeks ago that the sounding of the fire sirens (the city has two) brings out all the hot rodders to chase the fire trucks.

Many of the volunteer firemen have radio receivers in their homes which give them the alarm several minutes before the siren is sounded. Volunteers not having the radios are telephoned.

At the previous meeting, Chief Fisher said that he would talk over the alarm situation with members of the fire department.

In a report last Monday, the chief admitted that there would be some advantage to silencing the sirens but that there remains some problems. He said that the receivers are only effective when the firemen are within listening range. Often they are outside or downtown, making the siren the only means of alerting them.

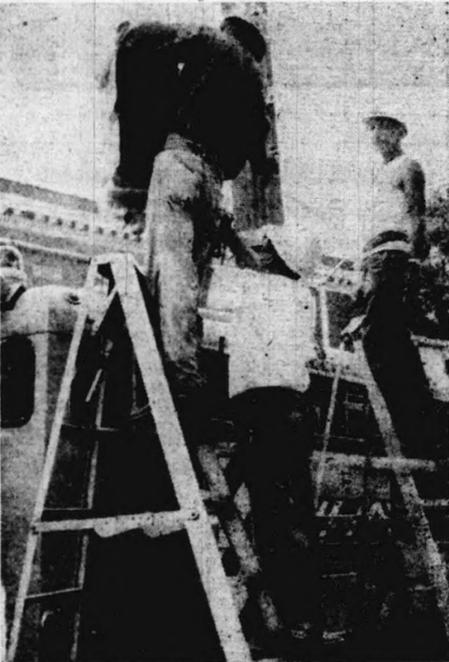

He also said that there still are four or five volunteers without the radios.

The chief and the commissioner agreed that there is a possibility that the siren could be discontinued at night when the firemen are more likely to be home. When the remainder of the firemen receive radios, the night-time elimination of sirens might become a possibility, the two men agreed.

Hartmann had another suggestion which he tossed out for consideration. He recommended that most of the "stop" signs be eliminated in favor of "yield the right-of-way" signs.

The commissioner noted that very few motorists interpret the word "stop" as Mr. Webster does. They glide through the intersections.

SOMETHING NEW for downtown Plymouth this week are the walk-wait signals on Main St. at the Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman Ave. intersections. The County Road Commission erected the signals at a cost to the city of $7,200. Two traffic lights were also installed at each intersection in place of one. The walk-wait signals will tell pedestrians when it is safe to cross the street without being in danger of the light changing before they reach the other side. Police are asking citizens to cross at the corners, use the lights and to teach their children how to use them. Double lights have also been erected at Main St. and Ann Arbor Rd.

Fire Sirens To Keep Blowing

The city of Plymouth's fire sirens will continue to sound off when there's an alarm.

That was the conclusion drawn by City Commissioner William Hartmann, and Police - Fire Chief Kenneth Fisher who at the last two commission meetings have discussed the possibility of doing away with the noise-making devices.

Hartmann complained two weeks ago that the sounding of the fire sirens (the city has two) brings out all the hot rodders to chase the fire trucks.

Many of the volunteer firemen have radio receivers in their homes which give them the alarm several minutes before the siren is sounded. Volunteers not having the radios are telephoned.

School Budget Goes Over Two Million Dollar Mark

Plymouth's Community School District grew into a $2 millions dollar annual business with the approval of the new budget that is some $176,000 more than was spent last year.

The board of education approved the 1959-60 school budget at a special meeting Monday night after a postponement of one week. For the first time, the budget has climbed over the two million dollar mark and places the school district among the bigger businesses in the community.

Approved for the 1959-60 budget Monday was a total of $2,066,195.59. It was trimmed $55,715 during Monday night's meeting.

Last year (1958-59) the budget was $1,870,595. The actual expenditures during the year were $1,889,536.98.

Higher salaries for all school employees caused most of the budget increase. Addition of 11 teachers, the normal increment for teachers plus a $200 a year across-the-board hike caused a budget increase of $133,816.

All but one of the seven budget funds is higher than last year's budget. During Monday night's meeting, the maintenance fund was cut from the original $60,000 to $39,000. Last year maintenance cost $46,204.

The capital outlay fund, originally set at $88,400, was trimmed to $53,685. Last year $44,213 was expended from this fund.

Looking at other funds, administrative costs increased $5,806 over last year. The new budget provides expenditures of $72,150 from this fund. This includes a board of education salaries, superintendent, administrative assistant and clerical salaries, administrative expenses, census expenses and elections.

The instruction fund accounts for the major portion of costs. The new budget provides $1,485,960 for instruction, an increase of $11,487. Operation includes wages of principals, teachers and clerical help, supplies, tuition expenses, text books and library expenses.

The operation fund has been set at $274,900, an increase of $11,487. Operation includes wages of principals, teachers and clerical help, supplies and "other operating expenses".

The $39,000 maintenance fund includes maintenance of buildings and grounds and replacing furniture and equipment.

The board declared Monday night that it would re-examine this fund at a later date with a goal of preparing a long-term maintenance and capital outlay program. The board is interested, for instance, in improving the lawns of the schools.

The fixed charge fund has been budgeted at $14,000, an increase of $6,373 over last year. Fixed charges include insurance and interest on short-term loans.

The auxiliary service fund is $126,500, with the increase being $1,653. This fund includes transportation, health and recreation and adult education.

Capital outlay, which went up $9,472 for a total of $53,685, contains money used for grounds, buildings, furniture and equipment and transportation equipment.

It is estimated that the school district will receive $1,342,308.47 from local sources, and $708,402.94 from state funds. This is a total of $2,050,711.41.

In addition, the general fund contained a balance on July 1 of $175,892.15 and the state aid still due from last year is $67,089.26. This would provide a general fund budget during the year of $2,121,910. At the end of the current fiscal year, the balance is estimated at $171,782.82.

THIS COULD HAVE been a street scene in Plymouth during the 1800's but it was taken last week in Greenfield Village where two former Plymouth buildings stand. This is the "Plymouth House," a former Mill St. home built in the 1830's. It has been used as an office since 1929 by a Plymouthite, Edward Cutler, who supervised construction of the vil-

Two Buildings Reborn 30 Years Ago

Old Plymouth Still Alive

By JIM SPONSELLER

If two pioneer Plymouth merchants, John Gunsolly and Christian Fischer, could return to life today, they would probably be the only businessmen of that era who could find their establishments still in use.

And they would be even further amazed to find that their places of business are not even in Plymouth—but 20 miles away where they are viewed by hundreds of thousands of people each year.

The carding mill operated by John Gunsolly and a home where Christian Fischer made shoes, both once located in the village of Plymouth, were removed piece-by-piece in 1929 and set up on a barren farm in Dearborn—a place they named Greenfield Village.

The two Plymouth structures were among the dozens of buildings selected by Henry Ford for his display of Americana. Although 30 years have now gone by since the buildings were moved from Plymouth, some still recall the event.

Many Plymouthites, however, are surprised as they tour Greenfield Village to find signs in front of two buildings stating: "Moved from Plymouth, Mich." The two buildings are known in the Village as "The Plymouth Carding Mill" and "Plymouth House".

No one knows as much about the two buildings as Edward J. Cutler, 8869 Ridge Rd., who was responsible for moving all the buildings to Greenfield Village along with the two from Plymouth. Cutler, who held the title of Mr. Ford's "personal architect", still works for Greenfield Village one day a week.

It was Cutler's job to sketch the buildings and draw up plans. The buildings would be dismantled piece-by-piece under his supervision, carefully marked and shipped back to the village where he would supervise their reconstruction.

Ever since Greenfield Village was opened in 1929, Cutler has used Plymouth House for his office. Built in 1845 during the Greek architectural revival period, the home was selected because it represented a typical farm home of the period. Cutler has high praise for the workmanship on the house. It was not built on a farm however, but on N. Mill St. three houses south of First Baptist Church. There is still an empty lot there today and the city owns the property.

Peter Trinkhaus built the home for his brother-in-law, Christian Fischer. Fischer made shoes and sold them in the home. He later sold the home to Louis Kenster, also a shoemaker who used one of the rooms for his shop until 1869 when he converted it to a saloon. This was given up in 1871.

It was Cutler who convinced Henry Ford to put the house in Greenfield Village. Ford wanted a "typical farm house," Cutler explained. "One morning he stopped by my office and wanted me to go with him to see a house on Newburg near Ann Arbor Road. So we went out and checked over the place. I then told him I knew of a nicer house in Plymouth. So I took him to Plymouth. A man named Brandt owned it at that time."

"Mr. Ford agreed that it was nicer, so he bought it." The house was torn down and rebuilt in Greenfield Village. But since it was the only building in the village that had a decent heating system, Cutler himself moved in. He has maintained his office inside ever since and the building has never actually been open to the public.

It is expected that sometime the house will be furnished with furniture of the era and opened to the public.

Should John Gunsolly get to revisit his carding mill in Greenfield Village, he would recognize the building right away but some of the things that go on inside might be a little strange—such as the raising of silkworms.

Gunsolly's carding mill was located near the Middle Rouge River close to the Plymouth Rd. overpass in the 1850's. It had been abandoned many years before Ford and Cutler became interested in it in 1929. Ford recalled coming to the carding mill many times with his father to have loads of wood carded. The mill was a very busy place in its time, drawing wood growers from all over southeastern Michigan.

Gunsolly's son, Ike, lived at Joy and Newburg Roads when Cutler approached him about buying the mill. Ike said that all the machinery had been chopped up for firewood but agreed to sell the building. It was moved and today is one of the busiest manufacturing displays in Greenfield Village. It is located across the street from the new refreshment stand that Cutler designed.

Workers, using wool from sheep in the village, card it, spin it and weave it into blankets and other products as visitors pass through.

The building also has the distinction of having the only silk-making facilities in the United States. In the basement of the mill, not open to the public, are silkworms busy spinning their silk. Outside the mill is a grove of around 100 mulberry trees whose leaves are necessary for the life of silkworms.

In the winter when there are no mulberry tree leaves, the silkworms are frozen.

The silk is used to make such items as neckties. All items made in the mill are sold to the visiting public.

Last year there were 925,000 people admitted to Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum. The number grows larger each year. So with interest mounting in the nation's largest display of "Americana", Plymouth can point with some pride to its contribution.

Entries Soon Close For Garden Contest

Judging will start next Monday for the annual Garden Contest sponsored by the Plymouth Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association. This Saturday will be the deadline for getting in entries.

The judging has been delayed one week to allow more residents to get their gardens in shape and submit their entries. Entry can be made by filling out the form below and mailing in or by telephoning one of the committee members.

A $25 Savings Bond awaits the first prize winner. The contest is open only to Plymouth city and township residents. Business establishments will be given special awards for their outstanding garden or flower box displays.

Residents are urged to even enter a neighbor's garden if they like. There is no entry fee.

Only plantings seen from the street will be judged. The association has held the contest during the last three years to encourage the planting of more flowers and to make the community more attractive.

Please enter my garden in the Plymouth Branch of the Woman's National Farm & Garden Contest:

OLYMPIC GAMES were held in Plymouth last Thursday—Junior Olympics, that is. There were 1,285 youngsters from 35 Wayne County communities involved in the Olympics, the second held in the county. All of the young people took part in the opening ceremonies and mass calisthenics (shown here). While Plymouth's representatives did not fare so well in the Olympics, the Recreation Department provided smooth-running facilities for the games. Other communities are now bidding for the games during future years. For a full page of pictures of the event, turn to Section 3, Page 7.

AN UNUSUAL BIRTH announcement is this personalized baby quilt made by Mrs. Doris Wick of 745 Karmada. Mrs. Wick, who has been embroidering these as gifts for her family and close friends for some 25 years, spends about two weeks on each particular quilt, getting pattern designs from children's coloring books. In the upper and lower corners are figures denoting the child's brothers and sisters, with the center design giving the vital statistics. Included are the baby's name, date of birth, place, time and weight. This particular quilt was made for Gene Stiers, newest son of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Stiers. Another of Mrs. Wick's hobbies is making her own Christmas cards.

Degrees, Certificates To Five Plymouth Residents

Among the 400 candidates for degrees in the eighth annual Eastern Michigan University Summer Convocation held Monday, July 27, were five Plymouth residents. The convocation took place in the auditorium of Roosevelt High School in Ypsilanti. President Eugene B. Elliott presided at the ceremonies which granted a B.S. degree and Elementary Provisional Certificate to Margaret Louise Alford and Barbara R. Soth. Receiving a B.S. and Secondary Provisional Certificate was Philip Dundore Barnes. These provisional certificates require a graduate study before a final certificate will be presented. Loanne Jensen received an A.B. degree and Helen Spencer Morin was awarded her Master's Degree in Education. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan College spoke regarding "The Profile of a Great Teacher." Three graduating seniors from the area received commissions in the Army of the United States and an Ann Arbor woman will receive an occupational therapy certificate subsequent to satisfactory completion of post graduate training.

Husband of Resident Takes Life in Ann Arbor Church

The husband of a former Plymouth resident took his life Monday night in the St. Thomas Roman Catholic Church in Ann Arbor. He was Garrit A. Veeder, 26, a U of M graduate student in mineralogy, who on June 20 married the former Ruth Gibson, 20, of Plymouth. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Gibson, 11687 Morgan. The couple had been making their home at 1038 E. Huron St. in Ann Arbor this summer. The body was found Tuesday morning at the center of the communion rail. Two notes indicated that he was despondent. He took his life with a .22 rifle shot that entered his head. Veeder had been collecting 100 percent disability from the government, U of M officials stated. He had been severely injured and received a fractured spine when his parachute failed to open while making a jump while in the armed forces. He was a native of Genesee, N.Y.

CD Surplus Helps Equip Canton Township

By Lee Sechler

Canton Township will save money this year and for some years to come due to planning by the supervisor and Township Board.

From the new warehouse on Geddes Road to the equipment, both large and small, that will be stored in it, Canton Township is saving money for the taxpayers.

Supervisor Louis Stein and the Canton Township Board have put into effect a plan that allows purchasing of equipment and building without additional expense to the residents.

Civil Defense, a word that to some people means wild spending, is responsible for saving money in Canton Township. The equipment is government surplus and priced at less than a fraction of the original cost.

A year of planning was necessary before Canton could meet the requirements that are set up by both federal and state controlling agencies. Even after these were met, Supervisor Stein, responsible for the equipment, must make reports as to its use and location as well as condition.

The idea behind the sale is that if local governments have the equipment, it will be in working condition and manned in case of an emergency. This way two ends are achieved.

First an ordinance had to be established calling for a civil defense program. Then it was necessary to appoint a C.D. director. This was followed by many meetings to inform and organize this newest Canton Township organization.

The government OK then followed.

Next Supervisor Stein and the Township Board sat down and submitted to the state what is called a "wants list." On this list is all the heavy equipment, bulldozers, trucks, etc., that they feel will be needed in the near future.

This is much the same as filling out an order for the pieces of machinery. Then when Canton Township's name comes up on the list they have the right to purchase the item. Small stuff may be bought off the floor.

Once a week Supervisor Stein drives to Jackson to see what is being offered for sale. He would like to make more than one trip but one is all that each area is allowed.

Heavy equipment already purchased by Canton includes a shovel for $235 and a half-track truck for $100. Both were in perfect running condition.

Then came the quarter car load of steel for the new warehouse. This structure was originally to be only 30 by 40. With use of low cost steel and welfare help, the building is to be 40 by 40 and less cost. Only the roof was put on by outside help.

An agreement has been worked out with the Wayne County Welfare Commission, that any unemployed Canton Township worker is referred back to Supervisor Stein and put to work for the Township, if he passes certain qualifications. At the end of each week the worker is given a "time card" that he takes to the welfare department and receives his pay. Here again the township is saving money instead of making two payments for the same service.

Even the Boy Scouts are sharing in the surplus items.

They now have two large Arctic tents, complete with floors and doors, army cots and other items that they wouldn't otherwise have.

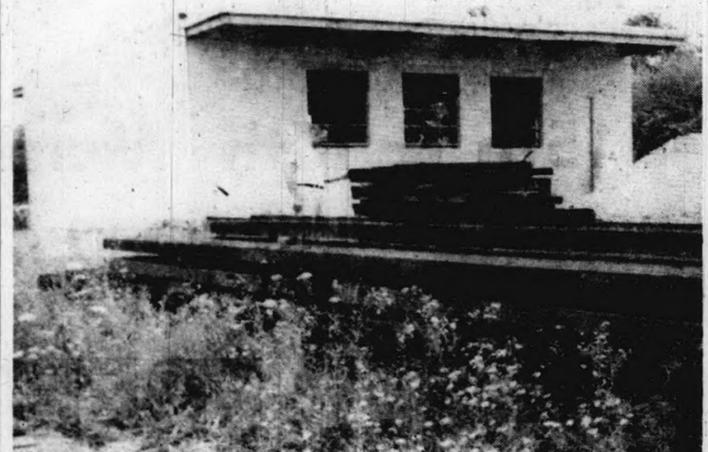

Many small things such as storage huts, paint, nails, cable for the shovel and other similar items have been purchased at prices that are too low to even mention. Some of them sound like TV ads, but these are for real.

Checks are made by the federal and state agencies and all the items must be accounted for. So far they have made three such checks in Canton.

Future plans call for the purchasing of an $18,000 bulldozer. But don't stay awake at night worrying about paying for it. The asking price is $200 for the dozer blade and for another $200 the tractor comes with it.

Other plans call for the addition of a power-wagon to the fire department to fight grass fires. This would save the heavy trucks that are not worth much on the soft ground. Already purchased are the pumps and hoses that would be needed.

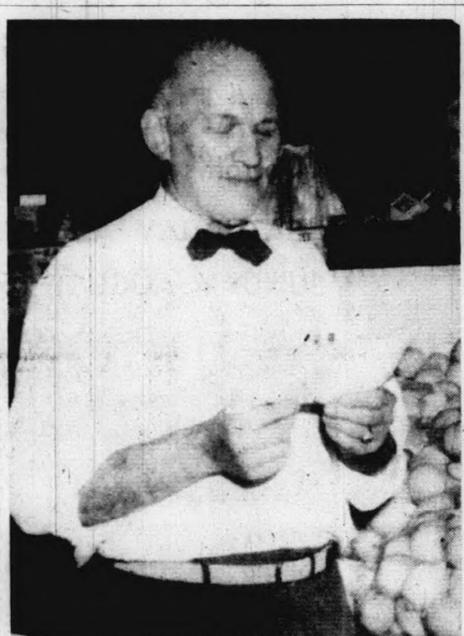

When the warehouse is finished, Supervisor Stein is planning an open house with all the equipment assembled with price tags so that residents can see for themselves just how much it cost and what they are saving.

SUPERVISOR LOUIS Stein inspects what is left of the township's $12.50 pile of steel. The rest of the steel is in the warehouse in the background. The steel is actually one quarter of a railroad car load purchased by Canton and three other townships for $50.00 all through the Civil Defense program. This buy is typical of the prices that Canton is paying for the much needed but, until now, costly equipment that it needs.

In 1946, only 15 states required teachers to have four years of college.

YOU SEE A LOT of things when you're manager of a store, but one of the most weird occurred last Tuesday. Roland Widmayer (above) Manager of the Kroger Store in Plymouth received a letter containing 12 dollars in cash and a note typed in capital letters reading, "Enclosed is restoration for foodstuffs stolen from your store many years ago." Since Mr. Widmayer has been manager of the Forest Avenue Kroger Store for 15 years no doubt he was there when the incident occurred. The letter was opportune in restoring Mr. Widmayer's faith in human honesty because the day before two shoplifters were caught in the act stealing cigarettes.

An immediate attack on weeds is necessary to prepare lawns for fall seeding. Any 24D weed killers, must be used two or three weeks in advance of seeding to avoid interference with germination. Liquid or granulated 24D formulations are equally effective.

Scotts 4XD or Bonus Weed & Feed are easy to apply with a spreader. The Weed and Feed has the additional advantage of helping grass quickly gain the advantage over the dying weeds.

We spent some time on vacation looking for Christmas trees. At the Gordon Tree Farm in Alcona County we located some of the prettiest scotch pines you ever saw. Mr. Gordon has close to 30,000 trees growing on his farm.

Christmas tree growing has become a business involving considerable effort and attention. The trees are sprayed twice a season with DDT and malathion to protect them from insects. A crew of four is used to prune and trim at times during the season.

We selected most of our trees in the 6 foot size with some 5's and 4's. Most of these will sell for $2.75 to $3.75. Some trees are so thick you'll have trouble squeezing ornaments on them.

The scotch pine must be cut by November 1st while it retains its color. Balsam spruce must be cut very late to make sure they keep their needles. We will make two truckloads or more to get them at the right time.

Washtenaw County 4-H Fair, Anniversaries, All Part of Salem Scene

Don't forget the Washtenaw County 4-H Fair, August 12, 13, and 14. On Wednesday, the judging of flower exhibits, and graded crops will be held at five p.m. At 6:30 Junior Leadership interviews are scheduled and later in the evening at 7:30 the 4-H tractor operators contest will begin.

Thursday the judging of beef, fine wool sheep and poultry is planned for 9 a.m. At 9:30 will be the judging of economics exhibits, tractors, conservation and photography. At 1 p.m., the judging of other sheep breeds, the horse show and showmanship will be held. In the evening the judging of rabbits at 7 p.m., followed by the horse show. On Friday the judging of dairy and swine is planned for 9 a.m. The evening show starting at 8 p.m. will be a showmanship contest in dairy beef, sheep and swine. On Saturday all exhibits will be released.

The Worden Farm Bureau will hold its August meeting at the Barshb home, 5783 W. Eight Mile Road, August 7 at 8 p.m. Also meeting will be the Suburban Farm Bureau on Thursday the 14, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele of Chubb Road. The time is 8 p.m. Celebrating their 49th wedding anniversary on Monday, August 3 were Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Ingall of Joy Road. Very best wishes to both of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernice Thomanson and son, of Curtis Road, spent last week at Indian Pines visiting the Henry Proughs family of Joy Road.

Montpelier, Ohio was the destination of the Carlton Hardesty family. Along with Bert Rider and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hardesty, they visited the famous Mystery Hill before returning home.

Mrs. Ernest Evans spent a busy Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Stacy.

The Salem Fire Department answered an unusual call this past week. They were called to Pontiac Trail and Seven Mile to the fire in the car of Wilma Hirschman. Returning home after short vacations were the Raymond Kellys of Seven Mile, Mrs. William Kelly and Lynda, William Kelly and Lynda, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mc-Kinley and sons, Mrs. Gertrude O'Neil and Mrs. Russell Brown. The group spent a week camping at East Ta-

Sunday was a busy day for Salem residents. Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly spent the evening as dinner guests of the Charles Raymors, Mrs. Corwin and children, Mrs. George Tanner and Sharon were callers at the Bennett home. Gale and Linda Bennett are spending a few days with their aunt, Mrs. Corwin.

Mrs. Elmer Bennett and children spent Saturday visiting with the John Thomassons who have been vacationing at the lake. On Pontiac Trail, at the Norval Dyal home, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dyal of Odon, Illinois have been visiting their brother and his wife.

Callers at the Harlow Ingall home were Mr. and Mrs. Girvin V. Bunston of Dexter. Busy on his new home on Joy Road is the Ingall's son. A miscellaneous show was held Thursday evening for Priscilla Hilton, Bonnie Walker of Seven Mile was the hostess to the 25 guests attending. Big people attended.

followed by a luncheon of cream puffs, coffee and punch. Priscilla received many lovely gifts.

On the sick list is Mr. Bert Stanbro, who has been returned to the hospital, and Mrs. Mertie Atchinson, who is in St. Joseph Hospital suffering from a broken hip received in a fall.

Butch Mitchell gave a party for Steve Murray on Friday evening at the home of Mary Dix on Five Mile. Steve is home on leave from the Navy. About 35 young people attended.

Celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary on July 28 were Mr. and Mrs. Norval Dyal. Mrs. William Edmund's birthday was July 29.

A workers' and counselors' meeting for completing plans for Bethel Bible Camp was held Wednesday evening, July 27 at Salem Federated Church. Lesson and handicraft plans were completed. Registrations have been increasing and we now have room for only four more girls. There are still several openings for boys.

Dr. Eiichi Wada and Dr.

Yutaka Hayashi from Japan were visitors at both the Morning Worship and Evening Services of the church.

Dr. Wada is doing research in Chemical Engineering at Wayne State University and Dr. Hayashi is a medical doctor doing cancer research. He will teach Pathology in a medical school upon his return to Japan. Both doctors have wives and families in Japan and expressed appreciation at being entertained in our church family homes.

ON TOP OF MT. MITCHELL, the highest peak in the Eastern United States sit three Plymouth girls enjoying the view. They are Joyce Allen, Barbara Kelley, Dawn Miller, and are a part of a group of 17 of the 1957 Huron Valley Girl Scout Mountain Caravan that traveled through the Blue Ridge and Smoky Mountains.

The group has toured a coal mine; seen five states from Big Walker Tower in Virginia; climbed ridges 13 miles to the top of Grandfather Mountain, N.Y. with an elevation of 6,964; ridden the famous narrow gauge Twaetzie Train and enroute the train was raided by "Indians"; attended two historical outdoor pageants "Horn in the West," and "Unto These Hills"; been the guests of a private girls camp for swimming and ice cream. They will also tour an atomic energy museum at Oak Ridge and visit the Calument Horse Farm in Lexington, Kentucky before they return home.

Salem Town Board Elects Fire Chief

At the August meeting of the Salem Town Board which met on Monday night, the election of a new Fire Chief and Assistant Fire Chief was held. Fifteen firemen attended the meeting and one absentee ballot was presented.

Running for Chief was Charles Raymor for election and Oscar Hirth. Raymor got the vote 11 to 5. Running for the office of assistant chief was Bill Hirth and Louis Sweetman; Sweetman was elected with a 10 to 5 vote.

A special certificate to operate, remove sand and gravel by The Holloway Sand and Gravel Company, from the Brummel and Holloway property has been prepared, signed by all members of the Appeal Board and the Holloway Company, and with proper Bond of $25,000 for each of the properties Brummel and Holloway, together with required fee of $200 for each of the properties.

Beginning July 1st, the Township will pay the Electrical Inspector 90 per cent of the Electrical Fees collected for the inspection of electrical wiring. The Assistant Inspector is to receive 90 percent also. Baline Hicks is the Inspector and Vic Lewis is assistant.

The letter of resignation of R. M. Brengle from the Zoning Board was read and accepted. Mr. Brengle is the newly appointed Justice for Salem Township. A letter commending him for his fine work and service on the Zoning Board will be sent by the Board. This leaves a vacancy 4th.

Need Williams Signature For New Park Tax

A new source of revenue is in sight for Michigan's parks system following the legislature's approval last week of the parks permit bill. If confirmed by Governor G. Mennen Williams, the bill would become effective 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

It would provide a $5,000,000 bond issue for park improvements to be retired from annual and daily parks permit fees. An annual $2.00 or daily 50-cent permit would be required on all motor vehicles entering state parks and recreation areas.

Conservation Department officials anticipate these fees would bring in upwards of 1,000,000.

All funds would be used solely for park improvements; land purchases do not fall into this category. Furthermore, all improvement projects would require approval by the Conservation Commission and legislature before they could be started.

Basically, the sticker system would work much as fishing and hunting licenses do. Responsibility for obtaining stickers would rest with park users.

Similarly, where hunting and fishing license revenue is used for purchasing and developing lands at state game areas and public fishing sites, sticker monies would promote park improvements for people who use and pay for them.

Parks officials have already drawn up improvement plans calling for some $2,500,000.

"We are pointing improvements toward more toilet and campground facilities to reduce the number of people turned away each year," said Harold C. MacSwain, assistant chief of the Department's parks division.

A lack of camping facilities has forced Department parks men to turn away more than 14,000 camping groups in Michigan already this year.

STOP CREATING LITTER, members of the Our Lady of Good Counsel Youth Club are dramatizing as they begin sale of litter bags. The bags are made for use in automobiles and will be sold by club members during the coming weeks as a money-making project. Since there is a stiff fine for tossing litter from a car, a motorist could save himself some money by buying a litter bag.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY STINE PAUL CHANDLER

Two new (yet unverified) reports of things coming:

1. There is planning for a new major bowling lanes on the outskirts of Plymouth.
2. A new radio station is said to be getting ready to serve the Plymouth-Livonia area.

Loud cheers to everyone responsible for the new battery of traffic and pedestrian control lights at Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail.

For a motorist, nothing was much more frustrating than trying to determine when to go, if one was turning right and crowded over to the right side of Main street while headed south. From that angle, a guy just couldn't see the traffic signal.

The new charter for "Plymouth Heights" has been written and forwarded to the Governor for his signature—all according to rules. Williams hasn't acted yet.

Before the Township would be incorporated, another election would be required approving the charter.

Our information is that the sponsors still intend to wait until the last possible hour (in 1961) before bringing the charter to the ballot, and they still insist they aren't going to make a serious attempt to have it approved.

They describe it, yet, as a temporary expedient to forestall any annexation of Township land in the immediate months ahead—and nothing more.

This creaking athlete did most of his bowling 20 years ago, and as with all else, his memories of the nature of a bowling alley are way out of date.

Occasionally we get inside a modern establishment and re-discover what's been going on.

They don't call them bowling alleys at all, of course. The word is "lanes."

The lights aren't shadowy yellow. Everything is blazing, no-glare white.

Smoke doesn't curl lazily up through a haze that obscures, in part, one's view of the distant pins. It is whisked away by conditioning fans.

The bowlers aren't drenched with sweat. All atmosphere is refrigerated by thermostat.

The profanity of the angry split-makers is muffled by stereo, high-fi, three-dimension and otherwise pleasant music.

Small boys don't have their legs dangling down in the pit where one worries about them getting hurt by a flying pin. Machines, with wire brains, do all the pin-culling and pin-setting.

Score cards are flashed on movie screens above the players.

Small children remain where they belong—in a soundproof room behind glass.

Bathrooms are tiled and no poetry is written upon the walls.

When the balls return, it's magic. They now travel underground, out of sight, until they pop up, right at the bowler's elbow.

And now, the athlete needn't even walk three steps to accept his ball. From the underground pop-up place, the ball (in a REALLY new establishment) falls into a lazy susan which turns automatically) around to place the ball in one's (automatically) hand.

Well—as I say—much of this is old stuff to the modern bowler. But not to one whose memories are arrears.

We received our most vivid experiencing of the new look, and left downright awed, this week at the newest "lanes" in the area, a half-million dollar layout at Five Mile and Merriman in Livonia.

It is named Merri-Bowl Lanes. Apparently there just isn't anything new on the market which the builders haven't bought and put into this lavish place.

We recommend a visit to Merri-Bowl for sight-seers. It isn't necessary to bowl to be impressed.

Junior Golfers End Season; Begin Tournament Monday

The Plymouth Junior Golf Association, a unit of the Recreation Department, closed its league season last Monday with all participants looking forward to the two-day tournament next Monday and Tuesday at Hilltop.

Players were reminded today to be on time for their matches if they do not wish to default Monday's match. Monday's match begins at 8:30 a.m. All will play 18 holes Monday with the morning's losers competing for a consolation prize in the afternoon. The winners will continue play Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning until there is a final winner in each flight.

Players are asked to continue playing all nine holes, even after the match is won, to determine the low medalist. If match is tied at the end of nine holes, the players will go sudden death. Spectators are invited to follow the matches. Hot dogs will be furnished free to participants at noon Monday.

Starting times are these: Boys Championship Flight: 8:30 Augustus vs. Otwell, Graham vs. Peck, 8:35, Fletcher vs. Zornow, Ralston vs. by.

Boys First Flight: 8:40, Bender vs. Benz, Griswold vs. Eder; 8:45, Fuelling vs. Corwin, Light vs. by.

Boys Second Flight: 8:50, Fisher vs. Hill, Kreitsch vs. Holt; 8:55, G. Scott vs. Breed, Beck vs. by.

Boys Third Flight: 9, Resch vs. J. Scott, Burleson vs. by; 9:05, Park vs. Richard, Manley vs. by.

Girls Championship Flight: 9:10, Griswold vs. Izett, Pentecost vs. by; 9:15, Zornow vs. by, Newingham vs. by.

Girls First Flight: 9:20, Tichy vs. L. Walker, C. Walker vs. by; 9:25, Fielden vs. by, Bender vs. by.

As an explanation to clarify the byes, the system approved by the U.S. Golf Association is used. League standings are determined by handicap and the lowest five game totals. When there aren't enough to fill the flight, byes must be given.

Awards for both league and tournament play will be made on Presentation Night Tuesday, Aug. 11 at 7:30 p.m. Tournament winners are asked to come at 7:15 to have their pictures taken. The Jaycees will make the awards.

All players in both the Advanced and Beginner's League are expected to attend to receive association emblems purchased by the Jaycees, as well as the awards. Families are also invited.

Point winners for the final day Monday were:

Boys: 3, Augustine, Ralston, Fletcher, G. Scott, Light, Park; 2 points, Fuelling, Otwell, Burleson; 1½ points, J. Griswold, P. Bender, Beck, Holt; 1 point, B. Zornow, Corwin, J. Scott.

Girls: 3 points, K. Zornow, S. Reas, C. Walker, L. Walker, B. Bender; 1½ points, Pentecost, J. Reas, Felden.

Local Boy Wins National Award

In a national report just received on the National Rifle Association Junior Indoor Rifle Championships held at Ann Arbor in February John Olenдорff Jr. placed seventh in the nation for sub-junior, 13 years of age and under, to become the proud possessor of a National Award.

These Junior Sectional Tournaments are held in certain areas all over the country from January 1 to May 1, all the scores being recorded at the National Headquarters of the NRA in Washington D.C. This year approximately 800 sub-juniors fired in this tournament.

Plymouth placed a four-man team in the team match, consisting of John Olenдорff, Keith Evans, Jean Murdock and Sue Weberlein and out of 801 teams entered these youngsters placed 85 in the nation.

Obituaries

Mrs. Louisa Landau
Mrs. Louisa Landau of 592 Harvey Street died July 30 at the age of 90. She had been a patient of Brightview Clinic in Detroit.

Ridford, Michigan was her birthplace and she lived her whole life in this immediate area. The widow of Julius Landau, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Emma Ladzick of Plymouth; a brother, Fred Garchow of Livonia; and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Tuck of Northville and Mrs. Minnie Hart of Owosso.

Mrs. Landau, a pioneer member of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Livonia, had two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services were held August 3 at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church with Pastor Winfred Koelpin officiating, arrangements by Schrader Funeral Home in Plymouth. Interment was in Livonia Cemetery.

Charles F. Rienas
Funeral services were held August 4 for Charles F. Rienas, 62, of 355 W. Ann Arbor Trail who died August 1. He had been ill since April and confined to University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Born in Detroit and moving to Plymouth in 1923, he had been a crane operator for many years. He is survived by his wife, Mildred, and a brother, Edward, of Florida.

Mr. Rienas was a member of the First Methodist Church and the Plymouth Grange.

Services were at Schrader Funeral Home with Rev. Melbourne I. Johnson officiating. Interment was at the West Farmington Cemetery in Farmington.

Recreation Ball

Pairings for the A, B, C and D softball tournaments was held Monday night with action slated to start Monday, August 10, in two of the divisions.

The tournament is run under the direction of the Michigan Softball Association with all the cities involved being allowed to enter four teams, one in each division.

Class C and D ball is scheduled to start Monday, with Cloverdale, class C, playing at Allen Park at 9 p.m. and Box Bar, class D, in Dearborn at 7 p.m.

On Tuesday evening the class A contest will be here at Plymouth as Begingers takes on the winner of the Allen Park-Dearborn game. Chevie Spring and Bumper will travel to Trenton, the same evening, to play Wyandotte at 7 p.m.

The tournament is a double elimination contest this year, so as to give the teams more of a chance. This is a change from last season when it was a single game and the team was all through.

Small Crowd On Hand For Tennis Play

A mere handful of people took part in the second annual Plymouth Annual Open Tennis Tournament held last Saturday and Sunday on the tennis courts behind the high school.

This was the first sanctioned tennis meet that has been held in the city of Plymouth. Three of the local people that were entered in the meets failed to show up for the first rounds of play.

Tournament director Jim Stevens was the only Plymouth entry that played.

He teamed with Keith Krause to meet the tournament doubles champs Whitehouse and Perry.

In the singles competition, John Erikson dropped top rated Dean Pinchuff 11-13, 7-5, 6-4.

All in all only thirty contestants took part in the action.

Plymouth Rifle Teams Compete In Ohio Meet

Again this year the Junior Police Rifle teams will participate in the National Rifle Matches and the Junior and Tyro School at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. John Olenford, the instructors, and their daughter, Alice, as a chaperone leave Friday with their son John Jr., Keith Evans, and Jean Murdock, where these youngsters will shoot four days in the National Rifle Matches, beginning Saturday.

Sunday will see Mr. Russell Cunningham, Mr. Elmer Smith, and Mr. Charles Carmichael leave the range with Jeanette Bowman, Alan Waid, Nora Lee Renauer, Jim Westfall and Hal Smith, in time to register these youngsters in the Junior and Tyro School for four days of expert instruction and competition.

tonight. The Merchants and Manufacturers Trot is the richest trotting event of the season. Scene is the Detroit Race Course at Schoolcraft and Middlebelt, Livonia.

There isn't any question about the ability of Emlien Hanover, who won five at Northville and showed amazing speed in the final quarters of all races. That may hold him in the much longer Wolverine stretch for he appears to love to come from behind but needs room to make the move.

Others entered include: Bill Haughton's Blue Cloud, Cloud, Ralph Kroening's Darneau, The Zeinfeld's Edmore, Eskay Farms' Pan Haven, Two Gaits Farm's Philbrick Hanover, Cyrus Bell's Pinchey Hanover, Belle Aire Farm's Pro Mac, Walter Leedom's Rodman, M. Saunders' Scot Butler, Robert Jewell's Silver Dido, Emmar Stable's Spud, Detroit's Ethel Thompson's Tribute and Jack Leonard's Yonder Brooke to mention a few.

The M&M is slated for two dashes of one mile each. Annette Sue, the sensational Ohio-owned mare, completely dominated the stake in 1958, winning both dashes in easy fashion in the fast times of 2:02 3-5 and 2:04 4-5.

Merchants Lose; Last Game Sunday

"Where, Oh where are the baseball pitchers," was the cry Sunday afternoon as the Plymouth Merchants were defeated by Seamless Tube 20-19, in a 10 inning, three and one half hour game.

Almost everyone, including manager John Schwartz made a trip to the mound for Plymouth as they tried to find a strong arm and a steady eye.

Manager Schwartz took to the mound in the sixth inning and remained there for the rest of the game. He followed two other Merchant pitchers, who shared the first six marks.

Errors for both teams were as common as hits. Seamless Tube used four pitchers in the 10 innings, with one of them reaching the pitcher's mound twice in the course of the game.

Two of Plymouth's pitchers were absent from Sunday's activities and this took its toll. Of the two one was on vacation and the other just failed to show.

The finest shotmakers in golf today will parade to the firing line in the seventh annual Motor City Open at Meadowbrook Country Club, 40941 West Eight Mile Road in Northville, on the weekend of August 13-16.

According to present indications, all the top tourists on the PGA tournament circuit will participate in the tourney. Meadowbrook officials are confident that this will be one of the finest fields that has ever appeared in a Michigan meet.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be reserved for practice rounds for the tournament contestants. Whether a qualifying round will be necessary earlier in the week is uncertain at the moment. Tournament competition will begin at 8 a.m. on Thursday and Friday, and at 10 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The Motor City Open purse is $25,000. Since this is a TTT (top ten tournament), Meadowbrook will pay an additional $2,000 which will be distributed among the top ten money winners on the PGA list to assure their appearance.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff is an early favorite because he has done so well in past Motor City Opens, especially when they were held at Meadowbrook. He won the title outright twice and tied for the crown once in the past six

Beginning Leaguers Card Low Scores

Last day of play for the Plymouth Beginner's Golf League is scheduled for Friday morning, August 7. The league, which is headed by Mrs. Howard Beck, plays at Hilltop Golf Club.

In last Friday's play, Jack Riess, Kevin Huntingdon and Ed Riess were among the six beginners who played nine holes. Jack had a 65, Kevin an 80 and Ed a 74. Mike McDonald, who is a fourth grader, dropped his score in the four hole division from 73 to 44. Jeri Taylor led the girls with 43 for four holes, followed up by 44 each for Diane Vloch and Susan Gaios and Nancy Peck. Janet George had a 45.

Twenty-five youngsters from fourth to 11th grade are enrolled in the beginning division. They spent three weeks with Instructor Chris Burghardt, Hilltop pro, and three weeks on the course, playing four, seven or nine holes in their Friday play. All members of the league are invited to attend the Plymouth Junior Golf Association Presentation Night on Tuesday, August 11 at 7:30 p.m. The ceremonies will be held at Hilltop and every member will receive a sleeve emblem.

Township, the city of Plymouth and the Chamber of Commerce to a preview showing of the office Tuesday noon. Inside are two teller's windows and enough machines, desks and equipment to provide normal banking services.

Just about everyone asks the same question: What prevents bank robbers from driving up some night and hauling away the bank? It probably could be done, the bankers explain, but all the robbers would have is a small bank. All money is removed by armed Brinks men after hours and brought back the next morning.

Hours of the new bank will be 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday and reopening on Friday from 5 to 8 p.m.

Attending Tuesday's preview showing from Plymouth were Supervisor Roy Lindsay, Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes and Building Inspector-Fire Chief Howard Holmes, all from Plymouth Township; Mayor Harold Guenther and Mayor Pro-tem Robert Sincok of the city; Chamber President Sy Cooper and Manager Donald Millikin; and Mail Managing Editor Jim Sponseller.

Plymouth's Role in Greenfield Village

HENRY FORD'S personal architect, Edward Cutler of Plymouth, retired when the automaker died in 1947 but Greenfield Village officials called Cutler back three years ago to help complete archives. He still works one day a week, sometimes on the drawing board. He is shown in his Plymouth House office, a 115-year-old home that Cutler states he would stack up against new homes in workmanship quality.

Fire Sirens

Chief Fisher admitted that the yield signs make a lot of drivers honest. He asserted that all but a few intersections in the residential areas have yield signs instead of stop signs. But he said that he would not recommend the yield signs at main thoroughfares.

(Police departments have a much easier time prosecuting offenders involved in accidents where there are yield signs than stop signs. It is difficult to prove that a driver didn't stop for a stop sign but it is easy to prove that he didn't yield the right-of-way if he is involved in an accident.)

Tours Through Plymouth Gardens

"GROW OLD ALONG with me—The best is yet to be" is the appropriate inscription on the accurate sun dial in the Hough garden. This also happens to be the sweetest smelling spot in the garden as each flower bed is bordered by Sweet Alyssum. Early spring, summer, and late fall there is color as the beds contain Michigan's hardest perennials. A bed of gladiolus in coral, pink, yellow and shades of red are about to burst into bloom. There are also beds of variegated petunias, nasturtiums, zinnias, marigolds, iris, astors, salvia, peonies and groups of phlox, poppy and dahlias.

THE BEAUTIFUL formal English gardens of the late E.C. Hough is one of the few such gardens in Plymouth. Covering approximately a half acre of garden the beauty of the flower beds are enhanced by the many evergreens, arborvitae, spreading and upright yews, pines, junipers and hedges. Sitting on the stone bench beneath the shade of one of the many old and graceful trees that seclude the garden, even the unimaginative cannot help but feel the tremendous pride Mr. Hough must have had in seeing a barren spot of 30 years ago develop into one of beauty such as this.

THE QUIANT ENGLISH gate at the rear of the Hough home opens directly to the flower gardens and will no doubt be taken away when the plans to sell the home and subdivide the property are carried through. The present resident, Mrs. Bonnie Mundy, now 76, was nurse and companion to Mr. Hough the last 15 years of his life. An avid gardener herself, Mrs. Mundy often encouraged Mr. Hough to be out in his yard and get after the weeds telling him "working with the earth is good for everyone".

Visits College Campus
Judith C. Theobald, 1051 Roosevelt, and Charles Parton, 46430 Phoenix Rd., were among the freshmen students who visited Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo in order to become acquainted with the campus. Under the direction of the counseling bureau, new students visit the campus for two days. They become acquainted with the mode of living and are tested and counseled.

California Visitors
Mr. and Mrs. James D. Kennedy and Mrs. Martha Denton of 42424 Bradford Court, returned home from California after a two-week vacation. They visited Mrs. Denton's brother whom she had not seen for 20 years and Mr. Kennedy's brother in Oakland. Flying by plane to Bakersfield, they toured Salt Lake City, Denver and the copper mines of California.

Credit Courses Again Offered Here by College

Eastern Michigan University will conduct off-campus extension courses at 26 centers throughout lower Michigan this fall, including Plymouth High School, where two credit courses will be offered.
A course in genetics for two hours of credit will hold its initial meeting at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 17. Another two hour course or America in the Atlantic Community will open at 7:15 p.m. on the same date.
In 1958 there were 1,316 undergraduate students enrolled in the off-campus classes, while an additional 611 graduate students took advantage of the courses. Both Plymouth courses will be for graduate credit.
In addition to the off-campus classes, some 56 undergraduate evening classes will be presented on the Eastern Michigan campus.

Schedule Fox Hills Ladies Tournament

Latest tournament on the Fox Hills calendar is the President's Trophy Handicap Tournament for Ladies. The one-day meet is scheduled for Thursday, August 13.
All ladies who are members of Fox Hills are eligible for the 18-hole tournament, provided they have turned in scores from at least ten games. The registration fee is $2.00.
The winner's trophy will be presented by Jerry Pease, who is president of the Board of Directors of Fox Hills Country Club.

Engaged

Shirley Jean Walker

Shirley Jean Walker and John Michael Breaugh have set an August 29 wedding date. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Neil Walker of Blunk Avenue. She attended Michigan State University and eastern Michigan University. Her fiancé is the son of Mrs. Frank Breaugh of Detroit and the late Mr. Breaugh. He was graduated from Eastern Michigan University where he was affiliated with Alpha Gamma Upsilon fraternity and served as president of that organization.

The bride elect was honored at a shower luncheon recently in the Pine Room of J. L. Hudson's. Hostesses for the gala affair were Mrs. Arthur Moran of St. Clair Shores, and Miss Kay Breaugh, of Detroit. Twenty guests attended and presented the the honoree with many lovely gifts.

To Women It May Concern

By HELEN GILBERT
 I am a pinch hitter on Myra's team—one of four who will bat for her during August. The name is Gilbert, Helen Frances. I am a high school teacher and a former newspaper woman. I have lived in Plymouth between excursions to college and other trips—chiefly genealogical surveys in the East—since 1923. So, although not exactly a native—born in Detroit a stone's throw away—I have been around long enough to feel that this is my own, my native land.

This column is supposed to be "For and About Women," but frankly, gals, I haven't anything very flattering to say about us. So grin and bear it. I am not about to tell you how to bake an astonishing cake, how to slipcover that nightmare of a chair, or how to drive 250 feet straight down the fairway. (The best I could do was a wobbly 170 at Fox Hills the other day.) Maybe its the heat or the humidity, but my thoughts are tuned in, today at least, to a different channel.

REMEMBER? It required 18 months for the Senate to secure the necessary two-thirds majority after the House passed the Woman's Suffrage Amendment in January, 1918. It was a narrow squeak in spite of President Wilson's repeated recommendations. The margin was only 56 to 25. One of the arguments in those days, or so the history books tell us (I won't admit to being around then)—was that once women had the vote, with their natural instinct for safe-guarding the children and the home, "politics would be purified."

Just what have we done toward this purification? Or, is that holy, scented smoke wafting our way? How long will it take our brethren in Lansing to put down the smoke screen and make peace in the family? The day may yet come when some women's votes will instruct them how to put our financial house in order. And, we may also have to spell out for the boys some basic standards in other departments—education, to mention but one thing.

A PHILOSOPHY FOR THE SPAGE AGE
 Henry Ford believed that there was no dividing barrier between the physical world and what he called the "Good Spirit of the Universe."

Mr. Ford once told a news reporter: "I believe that the smallest particle of matter—call it an atom or an ion or what you like—is intelligent. I don't know much about atoms and the like, but I feel sure they know what they are doing—and why."

"They swarm all around us. If a man is working his level best to do what he believes is right, these invisible elements pitch in and help him. If he is doing what he knows is wrong, they will work just as hard against him."

When Henry Ford spoke these words physicists were thinking only in terms of "force and matter." Today Ford's theories are being proven in the scientific laboratory. Mr. Ford knew truth—as many a genius does—intuitively, instinctively; he "felt" it. He believed, as good people everywhere believe, "right must triumph." He felt that the Universe was essentially good, and that it is balanced and ordered throughout by a Superior Intelligence.

Look about you. Just as a blade of grass grows toward the sun; just as a rose blooms in its season; just as the tides have their rhythm, and the day has its night, so we can believe in this basic balance, and IF we do, man may yet be at peace—a creature of the Good Spirit in this the beginning of the Atomic Age.

And now, as one of my grandfathers delighted to say—aping the dialect of his native County Donegal, although he was really a University of Dublin man:

"May ye be in Heaven three days before the divvil finds ye there."

Newest Citizen Austrian

By KARLA HERBOLD
 From a young Austrian girl who gave Adolph Hitler a bouquet of flowers to a newly-naturalized American citizen is a matter of years and miles for Mrs. John Wiltse of 917 Ross. Born Erna Supperl in southern Austria near the Yugoslavian border, Mrs. Wiltse met her husband when he was stationed with the army in her hometown of Graz. That was early in 1959 and by December of that same year the young couple had married. Wiltse, having finished his army days, left for America in January. Three months later, his wife had conquered red tape and was in Plymouth to join him. Now the family, with the additions of son Peter, 2½, and kitten Blackie, are settled in their new home, waiting for two new arrivals—final citizenship papers and a new baby in September. Wiltse, a University of Michigan graduate, is a Plymouth pharmacist. As a child of ten, Mrs. Wiltse had given the pre-war Hitler a bouquet of flowers. "I think he even kissed me on the forehead. That impressed me, but as things went on we got impressed in other ways." Graz is a highly industrialized town and was a favorite target of Nazi bombers. Among the local factories are five breweries, a railway coach plant and two branch factories of the Fiat Auto company. Situated in a valley, the town's 250,000 people make it second only to Vienna in population. The airport, where Wiltse had been stationed, was heavily hit but is now repaired and under the charge of the Austrian government. "It's a beautiful town—if you like mountains, the climate of Mrs. Wiltse. The climate of Austria is cooler and drier." She visited her parents last year and felt "like I'd been placed back 20 years", failing to realize the economic and social differences between Europe and America. The standard of living is, however, improving. Even the workingman can save for a small car or a refrigerator and transportation is now on new, modern roads. After years of washing by hand, washing machines are "wonderful" and much appreciated by the new American. She finds Plymouth "the most delightful town around" with many unusual advantages. The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra is one such advantage Mrs. Wiltse enjoys. Other interests include sewing, reading and bridge which the young mother has just learned to play. She is also active in the Presbyterian Church women's groups. Fond of cooking the food of her homeland, Mrs. Wiltse counts "weinerschmelz" a dapple strudel as family favorites. "What I miss, I can cook," she smiled. Everything, that is, except espresso coffee. That, and the delightful coffee houses that go with it, are one feature of Europe which she misses most.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—Dear Miss Williams: A few days ago I went to a dance with my boyfriend (steady). I am 16 and he is 17. As soon as I stepped onto the dance floor, another boy asked me to dance. My boyfriend wouldn't allow me to dance with him. I was very embarrassed by refusing him. What should I have done?

Ans.—Even married couples dance with other partners, so why shouldn't teenagers? It has become the custom to dance only with the boy who takes you to the dance, but, actually, you have a right to dance with other boys, even if you're going steady, and it is not proper to refuse to dance with someone else who asks you. Dances are for mixing and mingling, dancing with various partners. It is bad manners to dance all the time with one partner. When you are escorted to a dance, you should dance the first, intermediate and last dances with him, but you are free to accept some other dances with other boys. If the other boy asked you for the first dance of the evening, the correct, tactful thing to do would have been to reply, "This is our first dance, but I'd love to have the next one with you." Your boyfriend has no right to tell you to refuse dances with other boys. Even if you're engaged or married it is polite and proper to accept dances with others.

Q.—Dear Elinor: I agree with your recent column that girls should telephone boys when necessary. But my steady boyfriend has a limited telephone and there's a charge every time he calls me. We've been talking every night for 15 minutes to one-and-a-half hours. So he wants me to call him from now on. Is it correct?

Ans.—It would be better for your date - friendship if you space your calls further apart and kept them shorter; your interest in each other will last longer. Try to arrange it so he will keep the initiative in calls. Maybe he can call you a certain number of times per week. On other days, you two can arrange when you see each other in school when and what time you'll call him.

(For help with personal problems, write to Elinor Williams at this paper. As many letters as possible will be answered in this column.)

'HERE COMES ANOTHER wind storm' and the girls of the Huron Valley Council battle the 40 mph wind as it determinedly blows down their tarp. The striped tents were a point of interest for sightseers at the International

Girl Scout Roundup but the girls spent most of their time trying to keep the canvas from taking off across the countryside. An average of one windstorm per day and uncountable dust, hail and rain storms kept scouts busy.

Plymouth Legionaires Now Serve Michigan

Dorothy Koi

Lisle Alexander

Dorothy Koi, 625 Arthur, was re-elected to the office of the Department Historian at the 41st American Legion convention held in Grand Rapids, July 16-19. This will be her third term filling this office. A member of the United States Air Force during World War I, and presently a member of the Passage-Gayde Post 391 of Plymouth, she has served the Post as Adjutant and Junior Vice Commander.

In addition to organizing the 17th District Blood Bank, she has also served the District as Adjutant. She is also a member of the Passage-Gayde Unit 391 and served this past year as Poppy Chairman. Mrs. Koi is also a charter member of Echelon No. 18 of the 20 and 4, an organization created at the 1957 convention for women Legionnaires.

Lisle Alexander will begin his 18th year as Department Adjutant of the American Legion. In this position he serves as secretary of the state organization, working full-time Legion headquarters in the Veterans Memorial Building in Detroit.

Alexander has been adjutant, the Army term for secretary, on a Post level, also, serving the Lloyd H. Green Post in Northville for 14 years. A charter member of that Post, Alexander was also the chief commander for two years.

A resident of 210 Mill street, Plymouth, Alexander began as a charter member of the Northville post, before the Plymouth post was organized. Other Legion offices held by Alexander are past commander of the 17th District and Department Finance officer which he held for five years. In 1942 he resigned from the Plymouth Savings Bank to assume the adjutant position.

All-State Campers Play In Orchestra

Robert Failing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Failing, and Marianne Shirk, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wesley Shirk, both of Plymouth, are among the 200 high school young people currently attending the July 27-August 9 All-State session at the National Music Camp in Interlochen, Michigan.

Both Plymouthites are sponsored by the Plymouth High School Band and are attending the Orchestra conference. These young people from all over the state of Michigan spend their two-week session in a daily round of rehearsals, practice sessions, private lessons and sports and recreation. In the evenings concerts, operas and plays are presented. Later on during their time there, the All-Staters will present several concerts of their own.

Directing the All-State sessions are Louise Wersen, conductor of the All-State High School Orchestra; Douglas Lee and Margaret Aitchison, All-State piano; and Ervina Boeve and William Hawes, All-State Drama.

The director of the piano session schedule lessons and recitals for their students, while the orchestra conductors are concerned with mass rehearsals and two large Sunday concerts. Putting the drama students through their paces and into a play performance is the job of the drama division heads.

Wersen is director of music for the Philadelphia, Pa. public schools. Mrs. Boeve is director of drama at Calvin College in Grand Rapids. Scholarships and special awards are given to the campers at the end of their particular session.

Approximately 145 Michigan students are enrolled in the orchestra, 20 young people in the drama section and 35 in the piano workshop.

Local Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Thams, Vicki and Vic of Midland, Texas are visiting in the home of Dr. and Mrs. S.N. Thams.

Local Moving Firm Joins Allied Lines

Redford Moving & Storage Co., 640 Starkweather, Plymouth, has been named as a branch of Allied Van Lines, world's largest mover of household and other high value goods.

Announcement of the affiliation of the Plymouth firm with an organization that provides worldwide moving service was made by Richard LaBelle of Minneapolis, president of Allied.

"This is another forward step in service for this company," LaBelle said. "It joins the company with more than 700 leading local moving companies throughout the United States and abroad to provide the ultimate in safe, careful moving and packing services."

Harry L. Ward is manager of the Redford branch in Plymouth. The storage building of the company is approximately 3,000 square feet.

An Open Letter To Our Community

We at Champion Containers are pleased to announce that we're now an integral part of a fine new national corporation . . . Packaging Corporation of America . . . formed by the merger of American Box Board Company, Grand Rapids, Michigan, Central Fibre Products Company, Quincy, Illinois, and The Ohio Boxboard Company, Rittman, Ohio.

This move makes us stronger . . . enables us to furnish a completely integrated packaging service . . . from vast timberlands, through a national network of 8 mills and 41 converting plants.

We're happy, also, that this merger means increased security and greater opportunity for advancement to all our employees. In other ways, too, it should help us to become a better neighbor.

Incidentally, if you've never seen our plant in operation, please consider this a personal invitation to visit us. We look forward to seeing you soon.

Sincerely,
JOHN J. McFALDA
Vice President and General Manager

Who's New in Plymouth

WE ARE PLEASED to introduce to you the Robert D. White family from Oaklawn, Illinois, a subdivision of Chicago. They originally are from Dearborn, Michigan but were moved to Chicago because of Mr. White's work and now back again, feel they are permanently located in Plymouth. Mr. Robert White is in personnel and labor relations for Ford Motor Company, Transmission and Chassis Division on Plymouth Road. When "shopping" for a home they fell in love with the builder, Finch Robert's home on Lakeland Court near Phoenix Lake. The large spacious living room; high beamed ceilings and four bedrooms, complete with family room suited them beautifully. You can tell in a minute they are a family it would be fun to be with, and are (1-r seated) Suzanne, 14; Mrs. White holding five months old Scott; Mr. White, Marilyn, 17; Steven (he smiled the whole time we were there); and Bobby, 11.

New Township Residents Meet Canton's Residents

Esther Sprengel
GL 3-0194

There are folks who wouldn't mind having their social events recorded in the column, but feel it is not important, then we have those who are afraid they might get in the column. For sometime now I have wanted to clear up this point. First we want to know anything you would like to have your friends and neighbors know, second we never put anything in this column, unless we have the permission of the person to whom the event pertains. So stop hiding behind those bushes when you see me coming. I won't tell anything you don't want me to. Well—we do have some things folks want me to tell so here we go.

We have some new residents to the township, coming to us from Inkster, Mr. and Mrs. Jay L. Hoffman of Warren Rd., Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman have three youngsters, Bonnie, Ronnie and a Connie. Welcome folks, we hope you'll like us and will find much happiness in your new home.

The Clayton Kops of Beck Rd. attended an annual picnic last Sunday given by a friend of theirs from Dearborn. Doctor T. Dickieson held a pot luck picnic dinner at Camp Dearborn for approximately 50 of his friends and relatives. Mrs. Kops reports a wonderful time.

Next week we should have some very interesting happenings to report as the result of the Boy Scouts troop No. 298 summer week camp-out. This is the trip of trips and is eagerly looked forward to by the young men. This is one time the boys really get to live with nature by camping and cooking out for one week under adult supervision. The boys are at Bishop Lake and we expect Mr. Leffler, their leader, to let us in on all the facts and experiences for the past week.

Back from a very interesting and educational trip (and a bit hectic due to the extreme hot weather) are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Benoit and children, Ginny and Robby of Canton Center road. The family spent the best part of a week in Washington D.C. and tried to cover most of the historical highlights and points of interest. They went through the White House (and report it just beautiful), the war museum and a guided tour of the capitol. They found the Washington National Airport fabulous and Mrs. Benoit stated that according to reports a plane leaves or arrives at the airport every twenty to twenty-two seconds. They traveled by way of the turnpike, and said after driving on this the other roads seemed like cow paths. While in Washington the Benois visited Mr. Benoit's sister who is a nurse in Providence Hospital there and she conducted them through the new and very modern hospital.

I need news so give us Mrs. Fred Leonard and sons, some.

David and Steve, reported having a great time at Boblo. Although the weather wasn't too promising Wednesday when they started out for their excursion, the weather man took pity and provided them with fair skies and a nice trip.

Fun was had by all the ladies that attended the demonstration held at the home of Mrs. Charles Combs of Beck road. It was one of the new liquid embroidery parties that is becoming so popular. The demonstrator was Mrs. Irene Gribble of Garden City. The ladies attending were, Mrs. Fred Leonard, Mrs. James Johnson and Mrs. Fred Richardson. Refreshments were served following the demonstration. Although the Fred Richardsons are not brand new to the community they are not familiar to many of us. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson come to us from Detroit and now reside on Beck Rd.

We had only one fire call this week and that was a grass fire. Just thought we would let you know in case you heard the whistle.

Another person who plays a very important role in township governing is the Justice of the Peace. Although we jokingly think of this job as a marrying service, where couples rush at the midnight hour to become man and wife, the job of Justice of Peace has a great many other aspects to it. We have three Justices of Peace, Mr. Ralph Foote, a very active judge, located on Marlowe was the gentleman I contacted. I found to my surprise that the township has a court-house located near Mr. Foote's home, where all court sessions are held. Judge Foote explained some of the workings of his position. The court can try criminal cases, civil cases, has sole jurisdiction over misdemeanors and the court can handle settlements up to $300.00.

Judge Foote had a busy day July 30 as he arraigned seven of the reckless drivers that were apprehended by the Sheriff's office. The young men spent the night in jail and were released under cash bond to be tried at a later date. The drivers were some of the young men that had been responsible for the drag races taking part in the township. The particular race was being held on Sheldon Rd. We are glad to report that none of the persons arrested were from our township, but from Dearborn and Detroit. The ages of the drivers ranged from 18 to 21.

Judge Foote who is a very friendly man to talk with, I am sure could be just as strict as he is friendly. The Footes reside on Marlowe, have three married daughters and one daughter still at home. Cases referred to Judge Foote need not necessarily be crimes committed in the township.

I need news so give us Mrs. Fred Leonard and sons, some.

Let's Light a Light in the Window—It's Worth It. Here are some examples:

Women shoppers will walk miles if they are fascinated. A few years ago, a study was made of Fifth Avenue, New York, renowned over the globe as the choice business address. The study established that a woman will walk from 42nd Street to 59th Street, up one side of Fifth Avenue and down the other enchanted by the windows, enchanted enough to spend money. Only when she gets home to remove swollen feet from merciless pumps is she aware of how far she walked. The next month she is at it again "window shopping on Fifth Avenue." Her month-end bills show that she shopped beyond those windows.

Some years ago Marshall Fields in Chicago, I think it was, bought some high priced imported shoes. These shoes were priced beyond the usual market at $100 a pair. The best ads could not lure purchasers to clearing out the stock. A window carefully displayed changed the figures on the ledger. In one full window was hung a single black velvet drape drawn at the corners toward the back of the window to a small white shoe box that held the center of attraction "our exclusive imported slipper-limited supply". The window's only light was shone on that slipper and the slipper in the box was all you could see. Crowds of people stopped at the window and many people bought the $100 import. Simplicity with light in the windows did the trick.

These examples are really keys to any retailing success.

Do people stop amazed at your windows? No? Are they too busy? Is there too much traffic congestion? Are they indifferent? Do they want it cheaper? Ask the wise ones on Fifth Avenue where it is busy from dawn to dusk, where crossing the street is taking death by the hand, where the customer is more confused and indifferent than anywhere else in the world and where the prices are pegged only for the pocketbook of the Maharajah of Siperia. Ask and they'll tell you—it is a simple, dramatic window and often the single item featured in a newspaper ad full of white space that creates the buyer's drool.

Step out some evening and look at the window in your store. Is it dark, cluttered, or does it really catch your eye. Check your last newspaper ad. Is it full of everything or can you pick it right out of the page with your eyes. Reconsider wary ones, is money passing by your door?

How To Eliminate Crabgrass - The Gardener's Enemy

By DOROTHY H. JENKINS
From New Hampshire to New Mexico, there's hardly a lawn right now that doesn't have some crabgrass. There are likely to be other weeds too. Dandelions are common from Holyoke, Mass., to St. Augustine, Fla., and plantain, sorrel, chickweed, five finger, sand spur, euphorbia and others that compete with grass in lawns, North or South.

But it's a brighter green than the true lawn grasses. It's coarser and it just doesn't suit people who want a really fine lawn. August is the month to undertake a program of elimination of crabgrass and other lawn weeds. That's partly because fall is the ideal season of the year for sowing lawn seed. But before that is done, weeds must disappear. And it's partly because it's wise to get rid of crabgrass and other weeds before they go to seed, and thus cause more trouble and work another year. Crabgrass, which is an annual that doesn't sprout until hot weather, now has reached the stage of having seed stalks hidden among its flat green blades. Raking before mowing will help to pull the blades erect so they can be clipped off into a catcher attached to the lawn mower. Chemical treatments will get rid of this year's crabgrass. Chemicals that kill crabgrass are available under various trade names and may be applied in various ways. There is the dry dust type that can be applied evenly by means of a fertilizer spreader, there is the liquid spray and the aerosol bomb. This year chemical killers are also available for application by means of an attachment on the hose so that they can be sprinkled over the crabgrass areas. Not all the weeds in a lawn may be as familiar as dandelions, but a weed is recognizable because it has broad leaves in comparison to the narrow blades of grass. Herbicides and weed killers eradicate these promptly. These are quite different from the crabgrass killers. Weedkillers are based on either 2,4-D or 2,4,5-T and sold under various trade names. Follow directions on the package. Weedkillers may be applied as spot sprays or dusts to only one weed or over a larger area. If the treatment is given on a sunny day, one application usually is enough. On the other hand, the crabgrass chemical may have to be applied two or three times at weekly intervals depending on how fast this weed is sprouting. Good lawn grasses may turn yellow as a result of applying crabgrass killers. This yellowing is only temporary and will disappear in about two weeks. Preferred by many lawn makers is a combination weed and feed treatment. This is a combination of chemicals to kill either crabgrass or broad-leaved weeds and fertilizer to stimulate growth of good lawn grasses. Warning: Don't decide there's so much crabgrass or so many weeds that you might as well dig up the lawn and start over. Seeds, particularly of crabgrass, are long-lived and turning over the soil brings more seed close to the surface to sprout next year. Instead, start eradication by chemicals in August and be ready to fertilize and prepare the weed-free areas in September for sowing fresh lawn seed.

AWAY WITH CRABGRASS: Chemicals can be applied wet or dry to eliminate this weed. It's equally easy to get rid of other lawn weeds by spraying with right kind of herbicide.

wood stunt man, or have a similar hazardous profession. chances are you fall in the second category. So too many Americans do.

In the United States, someone dies every six minutes because of an accident. According to figures released by the National Safety Council, more than a third of these deaths occur in the place we consider the safest of all—the home. And all but a very few could easily be avoided.

Some vitally important facts were brought out by a recent study of work and home accidents. The study showed that the great majority of accidental deaths were due to 15 careless habits. It also pointed out that by changing these habits, the average American could substantially increase his life expectancy and that of his family.

The steps outlined in this survey are simple and the cost is negligible. All it takes are rolled-up sleeves and a little preventive work. For the sake of yourself and your family, it is more than worth it. In very real terms, it may actually save your life.

Make sure that all loose or worn carpeting is tacked down promptly. Throw rugs should be secured with non-skid material. Stairs in particular must be kept in good repair and their coverings fastened.

Don't stumble around in the dark. Have light switches, in working order, near every door.

Unless you have 20-20 vision in the dark, be sure to nail the top and bottom of basement stairs white for visibility.

In case of power failure, keep at least four flashlights in easily accessible places around the house. If you have both basement and attic, make it six.

Prevent bathtub accidents by installing firm grab rails. A non-skid rubber mat makes it safer to stand up in the tub.

Paint all low wires and fences a bright color or mark them with cloth strips. You'll have a chance to see them in time.

You might be a whiz with tools, but don't try to fix everything yourself. Let experts, who know their business check and repair your electrical appliances.

Fuse boxes were not meant to operate properly with pennies. Give the pennies to the kids and install fuses that belong.

Overloaded wiring can make a tinder box out of your house. Get in touch with your local electric company and let them tell you how you stand.

Fires need fuel to burn. Keep oil-soaked rags and paint in sealed metal containers. Just in case, have non-toxic fire extinguishers handy in basement, kitchen, and other danger spots.

Some of the finest accident targets are stalled cars at night. Always carry flares in your trunk and a working flashlight in the glove compartment for signaling purposes.

It might be done in the circus, but chairs and tables were not made for climbing. Use a ladder.

Sandwiches Made With Favorite Foods

Three typically favorite American foods... combine to make an August special... Sandwiches Americana... canned condensed bean with a bacon soup, frankfurters, and canned sauerkraut.

Yes, this sandwich is a mouth watering combination, and is especially welcome during sizzling days when hearty sandwiches are family favorites. It's as simple as opening a can of condensed bean with bacon soup... spreading the contents, right from the can, onto slices of bread. Have a variety of breads on hand. Be certain to spread the soup to the edge of the bread...

Try these Sandwiches Americana made this way. Sandwiches Americana 1 can (11 1/2 ounces) condensed bean with bacon soup 4 slices pumpernickel bread, lightly toasted 1 1/2 cups sauerkraut, drained 4 frankfurters, slit lengthwise 1/4 cup ketchup Spread soup on bread; cover with sauerkraut. Top each sandwich with a frankfurter; spread with ketchup. Broil until sandwiches are hot (about 8 minutes). Makes 4 servings.

Family Life Helps Blues Marriage and the family are like a first aid kit—ready to give emergency scratches and bruises of family members.

That's the view of Dr. J. Joel Moss, professor of family relations at the University of Nebraska. He said that bad moods, irritations, the "blues"—things which trouble any family member—put special pressures upon other members of a family to help the individual so he becomes "livable" again.

He said emotional tensions of individuals often become so great that they demand release. The family is challenged to provide for release of these feelings through ways which will not change an individual's relationships with others.

Different persons find different ways of ridding themselves of tensions, Moss said. "Some need to blow up and get the matter off their chests. Many use movies, sports, movies or other activities as emotional releases. Some people need to talk out their problem, explain their actions and confess wrong doing."

Moss said the family can provide support and assurance for its members in several different ways. He said some individuals feel guilty and need to have these feelings relieved. In this case they need reassurance that they still think objectively and are capable of solving their own problems—even though they have made mistakes.

"In some cases, face-saving devices are needed," Moss continued. "This may call for some covering up on the part of other family members or helping the person find reasonable excuses for their actions."

Expert Explains Pipe-Fed Meals For Space Age

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tomorrow's space travelers probably will have food piped directly to their mouths, the Army's special feeding and nutrition advisor says.

Miss Jane C. Ebbs says that at zero gravity, the problem of getting a square meal is monumental. Everything not fastened down will float. Liquid will not pour and, if left in an open container, will break into particles. Solid foods left in the open will turn into dust.

"Only at the end of the line will the basic engineering problems of eating disappear," said Miss Ebbs. "Once inside the mouth, the food is secured by closing the lips. Chewing and swallowing are no problem."

Unless "synthetic gravity" is created for rocket ships, food supplies will have to be in liquid or semi-liquid form. The space pilot will have these liquids packed in squeeze bottles or in closed containers connected to the mouth by pipes.

Even if "synthetic gravity" becomes available, there is little likelihood the space traveler will be able to eat steak or other traditional foods. Miss Ebbs said that familiar foods and equipment to prepare them will be too bulky for a cramped rocket ship. Dehydrated, precooked foods, requiring only the addition of hot or cold water, may be staple fare.

But the nutritionist noted that a trip to near-by Mars would take 500 days each way. Thus, even dehydrated food may be limited to relatively short hops—to the moon, only three days away.

Water will present similar difficult problems. The space pilot will have to drink a minimum of five pounds of water a day. His requirement for a year would run to almost one ton. A load of that dimension just is not practical for space travel. A partial solution, Miss Ebbs said, would be a means to recover, and make safe, water from expired air, perspiration, and body wastes.

Miss Ebbs is a pretty, brown-haired, Civil Service career woman who served several years with the Army in the Far East after World War II. She started to study medicine but abandoned it to take up nutrition—which she thought was as close as she could come to preventative medicine.

Porpoises outswim most fish, but the sea-going mammals can remain under water no longer than three minutes. Usually porpoises surface for breath every 20 to 45 seconds, even during sleep.

Accent By New Belts

By BARBARA SLADE

Belts to match a dress or give it a special accent are a home sewing project that can be carried out with a professional look. With the sewing machine, a fabric belt can be stitched, the buckle attached and eyelets made for fastening it. Or, the woman who isn't adept with a machine will find that hand sewing a belt isn't too much of a chore.

A change of belts is refreshing. Remember, though, that contrasting belts and wide ones aren't figure flattering and make the waistline look larger. Still, a colored belt or one of figured material is a pleasing change for a white dress or separates.

A fabric belt of the same material as the costume needs interlining to make it firm. The rather stiff commercial belting, available by the yard in white, black and navy and in various widths, is satisfactory. If the belt from which this belting is cut doesn't state that it has been preshrunk, shrink it before sewing. For a belt with a buckle, cut material the length of your waist measure plus 6 inches. If you want long ends to fold over or knot, then cut material 12 inches longer than the waist measurement. Cut the fabric 1/2 inch wider than the belting or, if it won't be too bulky, cut it 1/4 inch wider than a double the width of the belting.

Make a light crease through the center down the length of the fabric. To form a perfect point at one end, fold over 1 1/4 inches of fabric. Bring folded edges to meet at center crease, thus forming the point. For covering the belt, fold two long edges of the fabric to the center crease and press sharply. Place this piece of fabric against the inside of the belting. Then machine stitch around edges of the belting.

If the belt is to be sewn by hand, covering both sides of the belting will be easier. Then the fabric can be pressed with a quarter-inch seam allowance, slipped over the belting and stitched by hand on the inside. Paper clips will hold the fabric in place for either hand or machine stitching.

SOME TALK ABOUT THE COMING Motor City Open golf tournament and the unusual plan for staging it was held recently at Meadowbrook Country Club, site of the major tournament Aug. 13-16. Practically all of the nation's top professionals are entered. From left, Glenn Sisler, a past Motor City Open chairman; Jim Sadler, current chairman, and Horton Smith, widely-known professional at Detroit Golf Club.

Companies and individuals this year are contributing to success of the tournament by buying blocks of tickets in advance. As sponsors, they then have tickets to give to friends or customers and they receive use of the clubhouse and on-the-grounds parking for themselves. The customary method of backing a tournament is by sale of advertising space in a tournament program.

Area Holsteins Cited for Records

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced the completion of outstanding official production records by registered Holstein cows owned by Charles J. Rogers of Plymouth and R.M. Bregle, South Lyon.

Rogers' Holstein, Orva Gomar Princess, produced 13,005 pounds of milk and 523 pounds of butterfat in 326 days, or twice daily milking as a three-year-old.

Bregle's Laurel Posch Jema produced 15,072 pounds of milk and 472 pounds of butterfat in 365 days on twice daily milking as a two-year-old.

Michigan State University, working in close cooperation with the national Holstein organization, supervised the weighing and testing of production as a part of the Herd Improvement Registry program.

Newburg Methodist Church Will Hold Annual Corn Roast Aug. 10

By Mrs. Emil LaPointe
GA. 1-2029

Recently a group of women representing the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church attended an annual seminar for officer training for the Ann Arbor district of W.S.C.S. work at Ypsilanti. Attending this very informative meeting were Mrs. Harold Mackinder, Mrs. Donald Hoffman, Mrs. Edward Reid, Mrs. Leonard Ritzler, Mrs. Lester Larrabee, Mrs. Jesse Bennett, Mrs. Warren Fittery and Mrs. Glenn McGhee.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hocking and family of Narise drive, Plymouth have returned home after spending two weeks touring and camping in the upper and lower peninsula of Michigan. Mullett Lake was one point of interest where the Hockings spent some of their time. They found that most State Park facilities were filled to capacity in their travels throughout the entire state.

Mr. LaPointe is home after spending the past four days in Jennerstown, Pennsylvania where he was busy working for the Ford Motor Company on experimental work.

On Saturday, July 25, in celebration of our daughter Nan's seventh birthday, Bruce, David, Mark and Nan and I were picnic guests at the home of my parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Weiss, Sr., of Graham road, Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Flaherty of Narise drive spent a recent two weeks vacation in and around the vicinity of Denver, Colorado. They are home now and report a fine time and lots of fun.

On Saturday, July 25, the Fidelis Class of the Newburg Methodist church Sunday school met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Case on Laurel for swimming and potluck picnic supper. Members of the class attending were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayrew, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Halloran and grandson, Bruce Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mahl, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Norris, Mrs. Mrs. V. E. nor Nyman and Mrs. Dorothy Pringle. This same group will meet again on Saturday, August 8 at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nixon of Wadsworth avenue, Livonia.

The Men's Club of the Newburg Methodist church will have their annual Family "Corn Roast" at the Gun-solly drive in the Edward Hines Parkway on Monday, August 10 at 6:30 p.m. All families planning to attend are advised to bring their own meat, suitable for cooking over an open fire, their own place settings of silver and plates and all vegetables and beverage will be provided by the club. A good attendance for this affair is encouraged.

Cub Pack 271 of St. Michael's Catholic church attended Brig's Stadium on Monday, July 27 to watch the baseball game between the Detroit Tigers and the Baltimore Orioles. Sorry the Tigers had to lose.

On the weekend of July 24, with scout leaders, Robert Bennett, Sr., and Vernon Lynch, 10 Tenderfoot rank scouts representing boy scout troop 271 of St. Michael's Catholic church, took a tenderfoot advancement hike to Bishop Lake. Boys attending this first experience in the big outdoors were Robert Bennett, Jr., Dickie Powell, Brian-Swain, Jack Trombley, Dan Szuba, Peter Lynch, Dale Kessler, William Hurbst, Dave Gamber and Michael Donohue. This hike provided an opportunity for the boys to advance to the second class rank.

Glad we could get together again this week. Call me when you return home from your vacations and let us know where you've been. See you next week?

Governor Appointee Previous Resident

Governor G. Mennen Williams has announced the appointment of Richard A. Huebler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Huebler of Berry Road, to serve on a state executive committee as a consultant to assist the governor in preparing a special report to be presented to the President in Washington. The theme of the report is "Children and Youth in Michigan". The committee, made up of key personnel in labor, management and youth activities will report on what our children have in recreation and what they need.

Richard is a 1953 graduate of Plymouth High School and attended Eastern Michigan College of Education as well as the University of Michigan. He is presently employed as Richard A. Huebler, the Superintendent of Parks and Recreation of Garden City, Michigan. During his work at the University he assisted Herb Woolweaver in Plymouth's Recreation and Adult Education Department. He is living on Henry Ruff Avenue in Garden City with his wife and daughter Karen.

American Legion Auxiliary

A Bon Voyage Party or Open House is being held for Adah Langmaid on Sunday, August 9 at Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Kunz (Maxine), 39065 Koppernick Rd., from 3:30 p.m. until 7 p.m. Let's all be there and wish her lots of luck as she is leaving for California the last of the month. The Post will have a social meeting, Wednesday, August 19, 8 p.m., Veterans Community Center. Circle this date for our Annual Legion Picnic — Sunday, September 13, at the same place as last year — Cass Benton Park, Six Mile Rd. and Northville Rds. All will be notified as to time and details. Commander Donald Kinghorn and Mrs. Kinghorn visited the Briggs Post No. 69 of Ogdensburg, New York while vacationing there last week. The National Convention is a head for Auxiliary and Post. Members of the American Legion Post and Auxiliary throughout the nation will have their eyes on the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota August 24 to 27, when the national convention will be in session there to adopt programs and elect officers for the coming year. Representing the 17th District from this Unit at the convention will be Mrs. Rudy Kunz (Maxine), and several other members are planning to attend this convention in Minneapolis. Convention activities will begin on Saturday and Sunday, August 22 and 23 when pre-convention committee meetings and when the always colorful band, drum and bugle corps, color guard, firing squad and singing contests will be held. The Auxiliary will join the American Legion in Memorial Service Sunday evening, then will review the Legion's parade on Monday. Vice President Richard Nixon will speak at a joint session of the Legion and Auxiliary conventions Tuesday. Some 1,500 leaders of both organizations will attend the Auxiliary's annual States Dinner to be held in the St. Paul auditorium Wednesday night. Both conventions come to a close on Thursday, August 27, with election and installation of national officers.

Serving As We Would Wish to be Served

Human Inflation

The "Chicken-Egg" price-wage spiral that is depicted in a cartoon on this page is one that economists haven't solved yet. It's the easy answer to say the government could solve the problems by fiscal manipulation, as indeed, it could solve most, all of our problems.

It is the hard answer that intrigues us, however, and one more likely to provide a proper answer to our economic problems.

The wage-price issue as we see it simply reflects the altogether too human attitude of "I'll get mine, and to hell with the other guy".

If unions were satisfied with a "fair" wage or if companies would accept a "fair" profit, a good many of our problems would disappear. Alas, the human being is not such a simple, conscientious animal. "Fair" is the key word in the puzzle.

With tenacity similar to a power-bent demagogue, much of our society seems completely dedicated to the collection of money, more money in a never-ending search.

It seems clear then that the answer is in the hearts of men. Union people must come home at night, and be able to think they have earned a day's wage.

And company representatives must be able to face themselves without feeling they have gouged the last spendable nickel from the public.

It may be too late in many areas, but it is clearly time enough for most segments of our society to look within and see if, perhaps, they aren't asking too much in return for what they're contributing.

"No man is an island unto himself," someone said in an earlier day. Intelligent self-interest applied to modern economics will reveal that a minor gain for one segment of society will not long be a benefit, if it is won by shoving someone else down, especially if that someone is a consumer.

How's Business?

Steel Strike Drags Business Downward

By ROGER BABSON'S STAFF

Following the remarkable business performance of the first half of 1959, which saw the nation's economy soar to new record levels, the second half of the year got off to a less auspicious start.

The shutdown of a large segment of the steel industry because of a labor strike resulted in a setback to the rising trend of general business. Therefore, the Babson Composite Business Chart turned down in July, for the first time in fifteen months.

Effects of the steel strike were also felt in the freight-transportation industry, with shipments of finished steel, iron ore, and coke at a virtual standstill. In cities where the 12 major steel producers' plants were idled, retail trade was decidedly slower, in contrast to the record pace of the first six months of the year.

The economy in general weathered the first few weeks of the steel strike in fine fashion, however. Since large steel consumers possessed sufficient inventories to sustain operations anywhere from one to two months, industrial production receded only moderately from the all-time high reached at midyear.

Production of automobiles continued at a reasonably healthy rate. Output of building materials, furniture, and appliances was sustained at high levels by the boom in the construction field and by expansion of consumer purchasing. The textile industry made further headway in its recovery phase.

Despite the more than one-half-million workers idled directly by the steel strike, total employment and personal income were near record levels, though unemployment also rose a seasonal amount.

Should the steel strike drag on much longer, business will suffer to an increasing degree. However, the more prolonged the dispute, the sharper will be the post-strike business rebound. Overall, business prospects are still favorable for the months ahead, and it is possible that fundamental economic strength may enable business to withstand the adverse influence of rising interest rates for a while longer.

Handwriting Analysis

By Lucille Williams

Dear Lucy: Have been reading your column for the last few months and enjoy it very much.

Please analyze my writing and tell me what would be the best vocation for me.

Juanita

Dear Juanita: You are a person of deep feeling but non-expressive. You can feel emotions within you but not show them.

You like attention and have a desire to stand out and be noticed.

There is very little imagination but you are capable of being creative.

You have a certain amount of efficiency, little will-power and try to use self control.

You hold on to what you have, are thrifty-minded and use much caution where generosity is concerned.

Any job requiring patience, creativeness, level-headedness and perseverance would be right for you.

Dear Lucille: I would appreciate it very much if you would analyze my handwriting. I am interested in Graphology and have studied it. Enclosed is a stamped envelope to answer.

Thank you very much Jeanne Q.

Dear Jeanne: All letters are printed free of charge. If personal analysis by mail is desired, there is a fee and further information will be furnished by mail at any time.

Graphology is similar but not comparative to Grapho-Analysis. The latter covers a more complete understanding of a person's thinking, etc.

You feel deeply, like music and have ability with your hands.

You are enthusiastic, very determined and persistent. There is a desire for activity, variation and a desire to be constantly busy.

You are diplomatic in handling others, have a good imagination and like to be noticed. There is complete assurance in making decisions, you're emphatic and stand behind your own ideals.

In answer to your question,—it would be helpful to a marriage if you both felt the same emotionally.

Dear Miss Williams: I would be very interested in having my handwriting analyzed. I read your column and enjoy it very much. I finally got nerve enough to write.

Dear Maggie: You certainly like responsibility and can handle it. You're a good thinker, practical minded and like things to run smoothly.

There is some independent thinking and you act according to the way you feel is best for you, regardless of custom or others' opinions. You are expressive in your feelings but not to any great extent. You have great pride and are inclined to be selective in your choice of close friends.

Some resentment to imposition. There's a limit to your generosity. Your memory is not very good. (If you would like your handwriting analyzed write to Lucille Williams in care of this newspaper. All printed analyses are free of charge.)

"When You Retire"

By JOHN BAY

A day never passes but that some senior citizen writes to this column complaining that he's bored, lonely, or going to seed. My advice to these people isn't very original but it offers an ideal solution. I simply advise them to do a little systematic visiting.

The world has far more shut-ins than it has visitors, so there's never a shortage of opportunity. Of course it may take some doing to find the people who need you most.

You won't run into them at parties or on the street. But they're all around you suffering a quiet, twilight kind of existence because illness in one form or another prevents them from getting out of the house and living a normal, active life.

Some communities are still so backward that they lack a central bureau where responsible people who want to do friendly visiting can sign up and obtain the names of shut-ins who want and need visitors.

Churches are ideally situated to sponsor such bureaus, but few have explored the possibility. Maybe it's because ministers consider visiting their prerogative, or they think shut-ins wouldn't benefit from non-clergy visitors, or they can't conceive that anyone else would be willing to engage in friendly visiting on a systematic basis.

Ministers traditionally run themselves ragged calling on shut-ins among their flock, yet they could lighten their load and contribute to the satisfaction of others if they were to enlist suitable volunteers from their congregations to handle the bulk of these calls.

Among the groups which have discovered the solid-gold values of friendly visiting is the Visiting Nurse Service.

"We can always use more visitors," says Mrs. Albertina Jerome, director of volunteers for this organization in New York. "Most shut-ins are older people who have a great need to talk to someone. And they can often talk just as effectively with a friendly visitor as they can to a registered nurse or a physician whose time is much more valuable."

Our nurses give me the names of shut-ins they feel will benefit from visitors, and it's my job to recruit, train, and assign "visiting friends" to call on these patients once a week or so. Some of our visiting friends call on four or five patients a week. They do a tremendous amount of good for they take the time to listen and show a sincere interest in the patient. In many cases this

And I Quote

Edith Head, well-known dress designer: "Now that I'm an author, I must look intelligent. As a designer, I didn't have to."

Senator Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) on the subject of Senate payroll secrecy: "I feel that the present policy results in unwarranted suspicions."

Konrad Adenauer, Chancellor of West Germany: "One can step out only when one knows that the work will be continued as it was begun."

"I was all thumbs too — until I sold my power tools with 'Want Ad!'"

If Your Name Is 'Ambrose'

"When in Rome do as the Romans do" — who has not heard this saying? It originated with St. Ambrose, 4th century bishop of Milan. His more famous pupil, St. Augustine, was puzzled when he noticed the difference in practices pertaining to fasting that prevailed between the faithful of Rome and of Milan.

He consulted his teacher Ambrose, and the bishop replied, in his Epistle XXXVI, "When I am here (in Milan) I do not fast on Saturday; when in Roma I do fast on Saturday". This was rendered in English by Robert Burton, in his "Anatomy of Melancholy" as "When they are at Rome they do there as they see done".

Another matter St. Augustine recorded about his teacher was that St. Ambrose used to read silently. Today most of us do, but for a long time people articulated every word of their reading matter.

St. Augustine found it very remarkable that Bishop Ambrose read only with his eyes. Not only did he find it noteworthy, but he also puzzled about the possible reasons.

Was it because he did not wish to be interrupted by those who heard him reading, and would wish him to explain something in the text?

Then he would be delayed, and would not be able to cope with as much reading matter as he would wish to. Or, was it merely to spare his vocal cords?

In his Confessions St. Augustine wrote that Bishop Ambrose's eyes glided over the pages, and his heart searched out the meaning but his voice and his tongue were at rest.

Well, maybe it is a good thing that reading with merely their eyes became the habit of most people. Imagine the hum in a library if everyone present would read aloud.

The name "Ambrose" originated in the ancient Greek language. "Ambrosius" meant "pertaining to the immortals". Ambrosia, as we remember from our school days, in classical mythology was the food of the gods.

It is believed that it was supposed to be a sort of honey.

There is also a different view about the word "ambrosia"; according to this it meant "fragrant", and was derived from the Semitic word "ambar". This is, for instance, contained in "amberggris", a wax-like substance of ashy color found floating in tropical seas, formerly used in the manufacture of perfume.

In the Western world the name "Ambrose" became popular for the bishop of Milan already mentioned. One American Ambrose was the journalist and author Ambrose Gwinnett Bierce, famous for his brilliant and biting wit.

Just to give a sample of this, he defines marriage as "a community consisting of a master, a mistress, and two slaves, making in all, two".

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

An Apparent Reason

A week ago, Red Roberts' wife gave birth to a baby boy. Naturally, we went to the hospital to see the new arrival.

We found Red standing (and beaming) in front of the nursery window, saying things like "look—he's got my eyes," and "his chin is shaped exactly like the Missus," and "Yessir, that's my boy."

Just then a nurse whispered, "That Johnson baby is cute, isn't he Mr. Roberts? We'll bring yours out in a minute."

From where I sit, once in a while we all jump to conclusions without knowing the facts. For instance, some people are like that about my favorite beverage—beer. They're quick to say that tea or coffee go best at dinner time... when the fact of the matter is it's simply a question of choice. Intolerance breeds on ignorance—and we ought to know before we "deliver" an opinion on anything.

WHY DO WITHOUT A LITTLE LUXURY LIKE THIS... LET ALONE THESE BIG CHEVY VIRTUES!

greater roominess

Automobile Manufacturers Association records carry the facts on this. In a Chevy sedan, for example, you've got more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars! And Chevy's front seat hip room spreads up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

bigger brakes

Bigger, yes, and built with bonded linings for as much as 66% longer life. And how's this for proof that Chevy's a real stopper: in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds, Chevrolet outstopped both of the "other two" time after time.

bigger savings

Here's solid proof that Chevrolet squeezes more miles out of a gallon: In the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, two Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide took the first two places in their class, averaging 22.38 miles per gallon. And that, friends, won top honors for Chevy from every full-sized car!

award-winning engines

The NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award goes to Chevrolet! Chevy wins for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines... for the establishment of new levels of V8 compactness combined with outstanding smoothness." And you can choose among eight V8's and the Six that won the Mobilgas Economy Run for its class.

full coil ride

You're the expert on ride, so you'll want to try Chevy's easygoing smoothness for yourself. MOTOR TREND magazine can give you a hint of what you're in for: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." And Full Coil springs, of course, never squeak, never need grease.

fresh styling

POPULAR SCIENCE magazine gave Chevy's styling a thoughtful look, then said it this way: "In its price class, Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling..." You'll find your own happy way of saying that Chevy's the only unmistakably modern car in its class.

higher trade-in

N.A.D.A.* Guide Books prove that your Chevrolet will keep its value. Chevy used car prices last year, for example, averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the other two cars in Chevrolet's field.

Michigan Bell Begins Project

Work will begin in August on a $46,739 project to provide additional telephone facilities for subscribers in two subdivisions in the Plymouth area, it was announced today by Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

William Dunn, manager for the company, said the project involves installation of about two miles of aerial cable in the Castle Gardens and St. Felix subdivisions. The project is scheduled for completion in December.

Aerial cable will be installed along Haggerty Road from Schoolcraft Road to Five Mile Road and east on Five Mile to the Castle Gardens development at Newburgh Road.

This project will enable the company to fill new orders for residential service in these subdivisions and also to fill orders for better grades of service from present telephone users in the area," Dunn said.

The project will use cable ranging from 606 to 909 pairs of telephone wires.

GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Local firefighters were on the job at a general alarm blaze in nearby Lackawanna, but Raymond J. Schaefer, 40, decided that Buffalo firemen should also get in the act.

His appeal for a neighbor's help got Schaefer arrested on a charge of sounding a false alarm. But the judge dismissed the case on grounds that Schaefer didn't mean to commit a criminal act.

The township authorities of Plymouth have intervened in the legal fight between John C. Hartz and the D.U.R. over the right of the latter to cross the Phoenix Mill Pond on the Plymouth plank road. Hartz claimed that the company had never gotten a right of way to cross his property and won in both the circuit and the supreme courts. The township intervened on the grounds that they had given the D.U.R. a franchise over the road which has been undisputedly occupied as a road for over 10 years. Ever since the court decision the D.U.R. has been paying Hartz $100 a month rent which the township claims is not even worth $5. Hartz wants $500 for the little piece of land in dispute.

Edison Sales Manager Named For District

Frank J. Quinnan, coordinator for Detroit Edison's Sales Department since 1957, has been named to succeed Edward L. Millis as manager of the company's Wayne Sales District. This includes Plymouth. Millis retired August 1 after 44 years of company service.

Quinnan, a native of Pittston, Pennsylvania, graduated from Ann Arbor High School in Detroit and earned a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Detroit.

Since joining Edison in 1925 as a customer accounts clerk, he has advanced through various staff and supervisory posts and has been active in company sales promotion programs.

On his new assignment he will be in charge of customer service and sales activities in western Wayne County.

He is a member of the Downtown (Detroit) Lions Club, a director of the Camp Fire Girls and a member of the Down River Board of Commerce.

Quinnan and his wife, Marjorie, make their home at 16502 Harlow Avenue, Detroit.

Jr. Olympics Attracts 36 Cities

Cities Work Together For 1285 Youngsters

Story and Photos By Lee Sechler

Plymouth was host for the Second Annual Youth Fitness Day that drew 36 neighboring cities and an estimated 1,285 youngsters between the ages of 10-15.

Thursday's activities provided more than just physical work-out for all involved. It was the realization that the 36 cities represented worked together as a team for the sake of the kids.

Even old man weather did his part, as the sun was on hand for the entire program. Last year a light rain settled over the games at Belle Isle.

Patterned after the World Olympics, Fitness Day gives the youngsters a chance at competitive activities with others of their own age group.

The Youth Fitness Day was started in March 1958, by John Considine, Mr. Considine, member of the current Administration's Youth Fitness Committee, called together 22 area cities and asked their help to start the ball rolling.

Now the Fitness Day has changed only in that it will be a rotating type program instead of being held in one location year after year.

Plymouth, because of the existing athletic plant, held this year's meet. With the number of cities involved it could be another 36 years before the Olympics are here again.

A nine man committee headed by Herbert Woolweaver, director of Adult Education and Recreation in Plymouth, spent nearly one year in working out the many details necessary for the program's smooth running.

The planning paid off Thursday as the entire program moved at a fast pace and was completed three hours after the 10 a.m. starting time. This was only one hour longer than had been expected. The delay was due to the slowness of the youngsters in organizing for the parade that signaled the start.

Every city had a job and was left to see that it was finished. Everything moved forward like clock work. Many little things were learned that will make it easier for the next city that has the Olympic program next summer.

Trenton and Allen Park have both put in bids to have the program held at their respective sites. On Sept. 9, Woolweaver and his committee will meet to name the host city for the games. As early as last fall, Trenton asked for the 1960 Olympics.

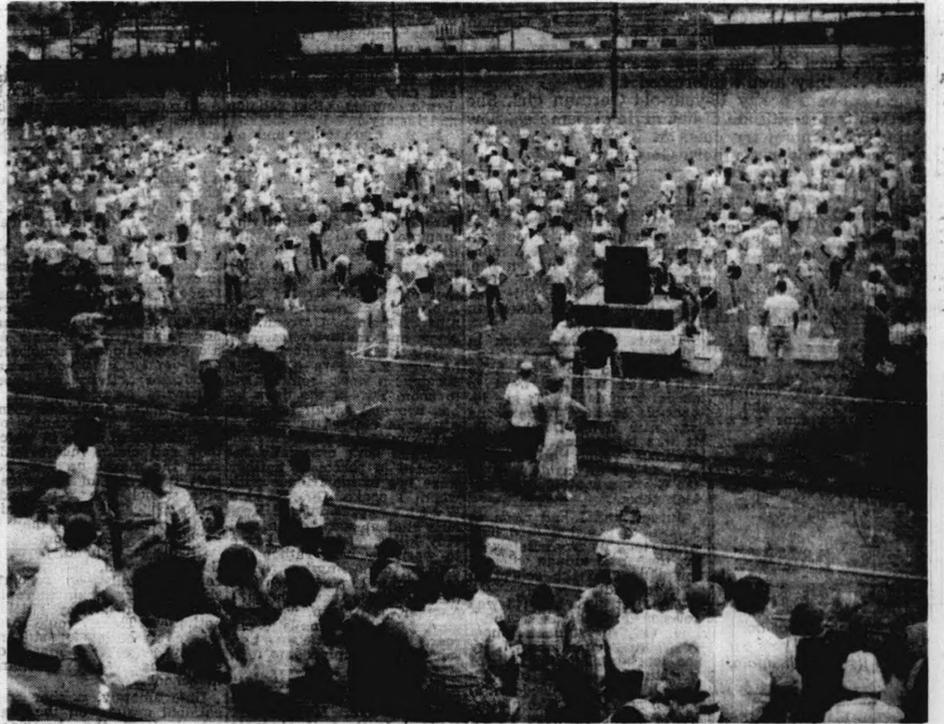

At a luncheon following the morning's activities, Allen Park along with a representative of Trenton made, before the entire group, a bid for the Olympics.

Out of the 126 trophies awarded, Plymouth was able to capture only one. Dick Schryer was the only local youth to carry one home. He placed third in the softball throw.

Many of the cities stopped in the park on the way home and the kids polished off their lunches in picnic fashion. For most of them it was a long day, arriving in Plymouth at 9 a.m. and not starting home until after 1:30 p.m., but one that they will look forward to next summer.

THIS LITTLE Detroit lad is taking a few minutes rest before doing any more chin-ups at the chinning bars. He may look small but he did his share of action.

BEFORE THE PROGRAM could start, the 1285 youths had to be positioned on white markers that were placed on the football field. The markers were so placed to keep the players in straight rows, in front of the bleachers, during mass calisthenics. Then they moved to the individual events in the try for trophies.

THE BEST WAY to view the day's activities was from some uncluttered point. This lad had the entire football field in sight and no one to stand in his way.

Writer Finds German Students About Like Those at Home

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth report written from Germany by Gloria Bowles, The Mail's high school editor. Gloria is spending the summer with a German family under an exchange program.)

"No, most of the boys aren't serious about school... they aren't interested in it." So spoke a pretty 18-year-old German girl. She referred to the attitude of her male classmates, now sitting in a chemistry class at Kepler Gymnasium in Freudenstadt in southern Germany.

The teacher seemed to be talking to himself. He was making very neat diagrams on the blackboard for his sole benefit. Students, busy in conversation with their friends, were oblivious to the words of their teacher. I registered surprise at such a lack of respect. The young girl sitting next to me explained the chatter had two explanations: (1) It was the day before the beginning of the holidays and (2) this teacher did not command much respect... she had had chemistry four years and knew little.

Ute continued, and in answer to a question regarding the comparative interest of boys and girls in school, indicated that girls were more serious about their studies, worked harder. I told her that, on the whole, this was also true at the American school I attended.

It was my third week in Germany as an exchange student, and the one I have enjoyed most. I went to school four days with my 19-year-old brother Jurgen, one day with sister Dorthea, 16. It was interesting to meet German young people my age, to get an inside look at the German equivalent of our high school.

Jurgen and I had risen at 6 a.m. to board a 6:50 bus, which took us from Betzweiler, the small village where I am living, to the school in Freudenstadt.

The first class at 7:45 was religion... it was a small one, only 15 students, most of whom seemed bored by the teacher's lecture. All of the students carried bulky school bags and used small 4 by 5 notebooks. The majority of the boys wore long pants, but several sported short shorts, very common for school boys in Germany. The girls were dressed as Americans, though it was obvious that most of them are not as fashion conscious as their U.S. counterparts.

Physics seemed to hold the students' interest. The teacher, with the use of some of the many modern gadgets and instruments at his disposal, gave several demonstrations, which were fascinating to me, though I couldn't understand a word.

There were 31 boys and five girls in the math class—this is a typical ratio which is due mainly to the fact that most "frauleins" chose to go to a kind of sewing school rather than an academic one like Kepler.

(German girls may either (1) leave school at 14 and go to work, (2) attend a school whose emphasis is on the academic, or (3) attend a school where they have sewing, needlework, the like and only two or three academic courses, often religion and history.)

In the math class and all others, German teens stood up with a chorus of "Guten Morgen" as the teacher entered the room.

In talking with brother Jurgen later, I found out why many of his classmates are tired of school. Jurgen has had (got a load of this) three years of chemistry, four of physics, five of English, eight of geography and nine of French, German, biology and mathematics.

He's been in school since he was six years old, goes six days a week from 7 a.m. to noon. Two of the days he has two and a half hours of afternoon classes in addition to the morning ones.

Jurgen isn't especially interested in school—neither were two of his friends with whom I spoke. One, Mike Werner, president of Kepler's student body and a real lady killer, just didn't like to work—he'd rather be dancing or swimming (how many million Mikes are there in American schools?). Another, Jan Hahn, who was aiming for a journalistic career, said his interest in school had simply come to a standstill.

In Germany, education is compulsory only until 14 years of age. My brother contended that if students weren't interested in studies, they would leave. Peter, who is now at the university in Tubingen, said that those

Last week the directors and producers for the coming Plymouth Theater Guild drama season of 1959-60 were assigned by their Board of Governors. Hal and Loretta Young, director and producer respectively, will open the season with "Mister Roberts."

Second show of the season will be produced by Rosemary Kooiman. Directing "The Diary of Anne Frank" will be Dorothy Smith. Third and last show of the year will introduce an all male team of Bill Moore, producer, and Ray Wisenowski, director. Their play will be "The Rainmaker."

From "Mister Roberts" to the concluding show "The Rainmaker" it looks from this vantage point as though the Plymouth Theater Guild is girding its literary loins for a mighty powerful season. They have selected three all-time theatrical hits. It would pay all of you to send that membership letter right back to the Guild treasurer, Phyllis Kelly, who is working on the membership drive, told me the other weather must be taking its toll as far as getting these three dollar checks in the mail. She has heard from about thirty of you. She mailed out renewal blanks and letters to all 267 faithful members of last year. Let's rummage through all those papers on the desk and mail that membership card into the treasurer. With a top drama season in the offing you'd be most derelict to miss this opportunity for three fine shows. And the membership tab has remained the same in spite of steel strikes, inflation and the Russians—still only a paltry three claps.

Shakespeare is rearing his pedantic head once again this summer. Over on the University of Detroit campus a group entitled the Players Associates has organized an outdoor Shakespearean group for the Detroit folks. Their first production will be "Twelfth Night." Acting will be done on an Elizabethan stage, a reproduction of the original Globe theater of Shakespeare's time.

This stage has been constructed right in the middle of the U of D campus, Six Mile Rd. and Livernois. Performances are scheduled for in his class at Kepler the year before were anxious to learn, interested in their studies.

The observations are, I know, contradictory. But it is difficult to pin it down... one can't say that the students are happy to be in school or unhappy to be there. My impression, however, is that over half of the students are not interested in school. The boys especially must plead guilty to this charge. This is nothing new—student lack of interest is also a weakness in American institutions.

There is something to be gained in comparison of German and American high schools. It is my belief that U.S. educators should follow the example of the Germans, and put more emphasis on academic and scholastic achievement, less on extracurricular activity and socializing.

Too many American teens place more importance on the number of clubs in which they can claim membership than the marks on their report card. In an American high school, one commands more respect if he is captain of the football team than if he has an all-A report card.

On the other hand, perhaps Germans could, just slightly, relax the reins on scholarship, and try to do more in the field of healthy outside activities. These would provide an outlet for student energy, serve as a means of interesting young Germans in school life.

Unfortunately, neither educational system on the high school level—the American or German—has reached a happy medium.

Next week: German high school and university life.

August 7, 8, and 9th at 8:30 p.m. If you get a chance, come 'mon over to see this attempt to bring the Stratford Shakespearean Festival a little closer to home. Who knows, this may be the start to an entire summer of classical drama on the U of D campus.

Other pieces of Shakespearean interest for many of you traveling later this summer might be the Festivals in Oregon, Colorado, or are two cities that fete the Bard in the summer months. Check the local Western papers. I believe that the Ashland, Oregon players are just finishing a complete cycle of Bill Shakespeare's thirty-six plays.

Out East the Bard is represented at Stratford, Conn. and Boston, Mass. In last week's Saturday Evening Post they had a picture story on the Stratford, Connecticut Shakespearean Festival. Seems that during intermission they have wandering madrigal singers to entertain people on the lawn surrounding the theater.

Take time out to go down to the Studio theater on Livernois and Davidson in Detroit to see "Room At the Top". Here is an English picture that pulls no punches. "Room At the Top" has been playing to capacity audiences out on Broadway for over 20 weeks. It is the type of picture that packs a message with a punch. By the time you are through living with Joe Lumpton for two hours you feel mighty sorry for him. And I mean you really feel as though you've been right with Joe for those emotionally exciting two hours. The dialogue in this film fairly crackles it's so true-to-life.

Of course, there is a touch of merry old England in the form of the accent, but after about five minutes your American ears get jelly, well used to the King's English. Let me warn you that the tariff at the box office is 50 cents higher than they normally get at the Studio. Be prepared to shell out a buck and a half, but it's well worth the extra amount.

Over in Ann Arbor at the Campus theater they are playing the best foreign film of the year "My Uncle". Some of you may have seen this when it was in Detroit last year. The French humor in this film didn't set me to roaring as loudly with laughter as the many people on all sides of me. Might be that my Gallic sense of humor is rather dormant these days. Or it could have been that I visited the theater when many of the French professors were attending. I'll have to go to more French comic films. My international sense of humor needs sharpening, especially about the Kruschev-Nixon comedy routine, over the NB network.

Be back in seven with more about the activity on Broadway. Also, a few words about "Ask Any Girl" and "The Nun's Story", two recent movies that prove that movies are making a valiant stand against the in-roads of TV.

To Suburbia, With Love

For every person who elects to leave the suburbs and returns to city living, there are thousands who are overjoyed with their lot—and they have their brilliant spokesmen, too. We present Mr. Peter De Vries, ace satirist for The New Yorker, and author of such books as The Tunnel of Love, Comfort Me With Apples, and The Tents of Wickedness (the Book-Of-The-Month Club midsummer selection), who gives us his case for the suburbs.

Suburbia U.S.A. Goes To Moscow

Ted, Sally, Jeff, Jane, and Chuck Davis, of Short Hills, New Jersey, are now in Moscow, U.S.S.R., representing you at our national exhibition there. Just before they left for Russia we asked Ted Davis to tell us how, in their individual lives and in their life together, they are so well qualified to be named our "typical suburban family."

Our $12,500 Pool Cost Us $90

What began as wishful thinking on a hot summer afternoon has resulted in the realization of a long-cherished dream for the residents of Robindell, a Houston suburb. This month we see how true community spirit and the will to cooperate brought them a swimming center that cost each member under a hundred dollars—but that is priceless in terms of convenience and neighborliness.

Tall, Tasty, Terrific

You may not get around to making all of these frosty sodas and nectars and spicy delights this month, but you can have a wonderful time trying. In fact, just about the best way to give vent to that explorer's urge on a hot August afternoon is to whip up the Raspberry Fruit Punch, Tangy Refresher, or Home style Peach Soda—and then settle back and enjoy your own creation.

Our $12,500 Cooperative

BY DON MCCAULE As Told To Cynthia Hope and Frances Ancker

OUR subdivision—Robindell, outside Houston—was like a thousand others around the country until we all decided to get together and turn it into a summer resort. It all began on a hot afternoon with a Wishful Thinking Session. About six neighbors were standing around talking about how hot it was and how we envied people with swimming pools and what a refreshing dive in a nearby pool would mean to us after a couple of hours of car-washing or gardening.

My wife and I knew quite a bit about community swimming-pool projects around town, because we'd done a lot of investigating on the subject before we bought in Robindell. We knew the drawbacks all too well. We'd wanted to settle in a "pool community," but we'd soon discovered we couldn't afford the hidden pool tariff included in the cost of the lot in most pool communities. We'd also found that a good number of supposedly "free" swimming pools charged an admission fee for each member of the family for every swim of the season. If we multiplied this charge by the number of members of our family who would be paying individual admission, it was more than we could afford.

What we needed, we all agreed, was a pool and recreation center where somebody could watch all the kids, where the wives could sunbathe and where the husbands could go for a swim after work and on week ends.

Though our subdivision had been built on what was prairie land only a few years ago, a building boom had hit the area and land values had increased accordingly. We couldn't afford the land for our project. This was our biggest stumbling block. We have one big advantage in Robindell. Our developer, Bob Kuldell, lives right in our subdivision and whatever problems we have, Bob shares, too.

Our first meeting was called in the A&P store parking area on Sunday, July 1, 1956. Officers were elected. I was chosen, with eleven others, to serve on the board. We made one happy discovery. There were experts among us who could help in almost every phase of planning. Scott Stubbs, our first president, was a consulting engineer. R. K. Hutton, an accountant, could help us figure our costs. Secretary of our group, R. E. Lewis, happened to be an attorney. We had the district manager of an electrical supply company who agreed to get our pool lighting at cost. There was even a tax expert among us! This was how we discovered early in the game, that we could save a lot in taxes by chartering our Association as a non-profit corporation "organized for the purpose of operating a swimming pool and social club for the sole benefit of members."

We secured sample charters from almost every state in the union, and from many corporations which employed Robindell residents. We picked the best and most adaptable features from these and included them in the Robindell Recreation Association's charter.

We then needed a pool contractor. How to find the right one? We consulted the yellow pages of the telephone directory, and invited all to submit bids. They varied widely. The low bid saved us $2,000!

Our accountant then sat down and figured the pool would cost us about $12,500. It would accommodate 750 families or 3,000 people. The Gunite-sprayed pool was to be built so it could be expanded into a competition-sized pool for an additional $3,000 to $4,000 when funds became available. Bob Kuldell then donated the land, worth $5,000. We thanked him by giving him 40 memberships which he could offer to new residents in homes then being built. This covered his cost for the land.

Raising The Ante

After many coffee klatches (the coffee tab ran high!) we just went ahead and plunged. If we had it to do over, we'd have got our construction cost in the bank before we started, as a contractor has to be paid in full and if our obligations couldn't be met, a mechanic's lien could be obtained against us. As it was, we just began a house-to-house campaign to collect the balance of the $96.00 from each for initiation fees and first year's dues needed to finance the project. While 250 families had already paid the six dollars indicating they'd go along with the $96.00 tax to finance costs, only 105 came through! Everybody in the entire subdivision seemed suddenly to be expanding his family, and money was tight. Those who weren't, seemed to be buying new carpeting or hi-fi, with no money left over. What to do? We decided to approach the bank for a loan. But we were a non-profit organization, and that made us a bad risk. The only way we could secure the loan, we discovered, was for three of us to sign the note and make ourselves responsible. We did—and it was a decision that none of us has ever regretted.

Swimming Pool For $96

Because of our developer's cooperative spirit, our Association now owns its land in fee and its pool in entirety, with no ties to the developer. Its all ours and its all really quite wonderful!

Use of the pool includes free swimming lessons by American Red Cross instructors. We could have cut corners on paying salaries to instructors, since they range from about $200 to $400 per month. But we got the best, and it has paid off. Some of our kids who were non-swimmers two years ago walked off with ninth place among sixteen veteran teams in the Junior Olympics recently—and there hasn't been a single accident in the pool. We operate it seven days a week during the swimming season and keep it open until 9 p.m. to give late-working residents a chance for a dip before dinner. Wednesday nights, from seven until nine, we restrict the pool to adults to give parents time to themselves.

Our operating cost, during the swimming season runs to about $1000 per month, and we have taken out a $50,000 liability insurance policy which costs the Association only $70 per year. It would be overly modest not to admit that our pool is an unqualified success. We've constructed $800 worth of rest rooms with redwood siding and slab floors. We've bought an $859.76 enclosure and furnished the area with $200.66 worth of outdoor tables and chairs. We have more than 250 memberships and could sell more to surrounding communities if we wished to do so. The pool has increased the resale value of all our houses, and if we care to sell our pool memberships when we sell our property, it's a cinch to do so.

When we need extra funds, the community spirit which the pool has helped to build so successfully, can be used to raise money through dances, raffles, and other activities. The Robindell pool is a good plan for luxury living on a budget income. It offers new friends, new fun, and a ready-made vacation spot right in our own backyard—just about the biggest $96.00 worth we could hope to find!

Pool For $96

He knew that we wanted something better, cheaper, more workable than any pool plan any of us had yet seen. He sat down and thought up an idea that put our plan on the road to becoming a reality. It was unique. Then too, Bob was going to do something for all of us that would cost him money, rather than make a profit.

At any rate, he sent out a letter to all of us, letting us know that he would donate one acre of land in his wooded high-priced section, tree, if we would form an association that would put up the money to build and manage a community pool.

We were on the way! Bob then asked us to call a meeting, whereby we could go into details of cost and obligation. One man was picked from each street to canvass every house on his street and get an indication, by deposit of six dollars down, of just how much genuine interest there was in our pool project. A

New ways to make Italian Dressings no one can buy

...so easy with this GOOD SEASONS MIX

Now—5 different dressings with Italian Mix!

- The basic dressing: Italian Mix makes a savory, garlic dressing. Garden herbs, flecks of onion and sweet red pepper blend their flavors into the golden smoothness. A fresh dressing—in the true Italian tradition—its light texture gently coats, never smothers, salad greens. To make it, just add your own oil, vinegar and a little water to the Mix. (The water, or a substitute liquid, is a continental secret. Makes a smoother blend!) Easy directions are on the Good Seasons envelope. Takes seconds.
- Anchovy Dressing: Prepare basic dressing, substituting a 2-oz. can anchovy fillets (with oil), finely chopped, for the water. Just before final shaking of dressing add 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese. Men love this on green salads! Add toasted croutons for a simple Caesar salad—in seconds.
- Piquant Slaw Dressing: Instead of water, use either mayonnaise or sour cream. Stir dressing into chopped cabbage for an unusually delicious slaw—colorful, full-flavored, quick.
- Olive-Vermouth Dressing: To make this, just substitute dry or sweet vermouth for the water. Just before final shaking, add 2 tablespoons of chopped olives—either the ripe or stuffed-green. A triumph on any tossed salad!
- Vinaigrette Dressing for marinating: Substitute lemon juice for the vinegar. Last touch: add 3 tablespoons finely-chopped pickle. Marinate and chill cooked or canned vegetables in this tangy dressing for several hours. (Try carrots, beets, asparagus, beans, etc.) Serve on lettuce. A hearty, prepared-in-advance salad.

Creating your own fresh dressings is so easy when the base is a Good Seasons Mix—the blend of a continental chef. Choose from 7 Mixes. You can vary each dressing to suit yourself and your salad!

This smart cruet is available in the Good Seasons Salad Dressing Kit. Or, use any screw-top jar for mixing.

hit. Another spectacular of the season, GYPSY, features Eitel Merman. The life of Gypsy Rose Lee set to song is a natural for Merman. The lyrics are brassy and the music is red-hot. (Col.)

I'LL SING YOU A THOUSAND LOVE SONGS—Reg Owen and his big orchestra in an evening of music. "A Kiss in the Dark" and "Secret Love" are two out of a group of new and old melodies. (RCA)

SOME LIKE IT HOT—Smooth West Coast jazz by bass guitarist Barney Kessel and a small but distinguished 7-piece combo. Includes "Sweet Georgia Brown," "Sugar Blues," and "Running Wild." (Contemporary)

MIKADO—A jazz interpretation by Freddie Gambrell. The 19th-century comic operetta in the hands of this competent pianist becomes doubly funny, especially the favorite songs, "Tit Willow," "Flowers That Bloom" and "The Lord High Executioner." (World Pacific)

BLUE SPRING—The Kenny Dorham Septet featuring Cannonball Adderley. Kenny is an imaginative musician, one of the rising stars of the trumpet, and the horns are given a real showing here. (Riverside)

In these albums he has recorded two major sonatas, impromptus, a barcarolle, nocturne, and scherzo, two polonaises, a fantasia and ballade. A wonderful selection making the most of the great master's versatility. First rate. (London)

Remember Jerome Weidman last month on "Why I Am Leaving The Suburbs"?

This month we are happy to present

Mr. Weidman's former neighbor who speaks up for the other side

My Case For The

I sprawl, reading "The Enemy Camp" and drinking Vichyssoise through a straw. Pretty decadent, what? (Sort of an urban sprawl.)

No one need remind me that the physical and financial costs of coming by all these blessings constitute me a fool. But modern man is a fool no matter where he lives. A suburban father eating carrots that, after adding up the soil food, garden tools and rabbit fencing, cost him fifteen cents apiece is a ludicrous figure. So is a man in a taxi proceeding downtown at half the speed of the pedestrians flanking him on either side. The woman in The New Yorker who asked her friend, "Shall we walk or do we have time to take a cab?" was not kidding. And there are millions like her.

Mr. Jerome Weidman, in the thrilling screed with which he brightened these pages recently, reminds us that the historic drive of mankind is toward the city. He is right.

Then why is it that our greatest city has lost almost a hundred thousand in the last decade or so, a decline of over one percent in the population when the population in general is going up?

By now it is clear that this argument is senseless, as well as endlessly protractible. It is time I reminded us of the simple thing it all boils down to—you pay your money and you take your choice. Or to put them in their proper order, you take your choice and pays your money. I too, like Mr. Weidman, have spent sixty bucks going in to the theatre and to Yankee Stadium. But if no dramatic entertainment I have recently seen struck me as worth sixty bucks, neither is it worth sixteen, which is what a pair of Saturday-night tickets will cost him, and which will comprise his total outlay provided he dines at home and lives next door to the playhouse. The theatre has priced itself out of my custom, leaving me where it found me, a movie fan. But there is no film I want to see that doesn't eventually reach the hometown movie theatre. So for me this problem is academic. Others are not, however, and the parts of Mr.

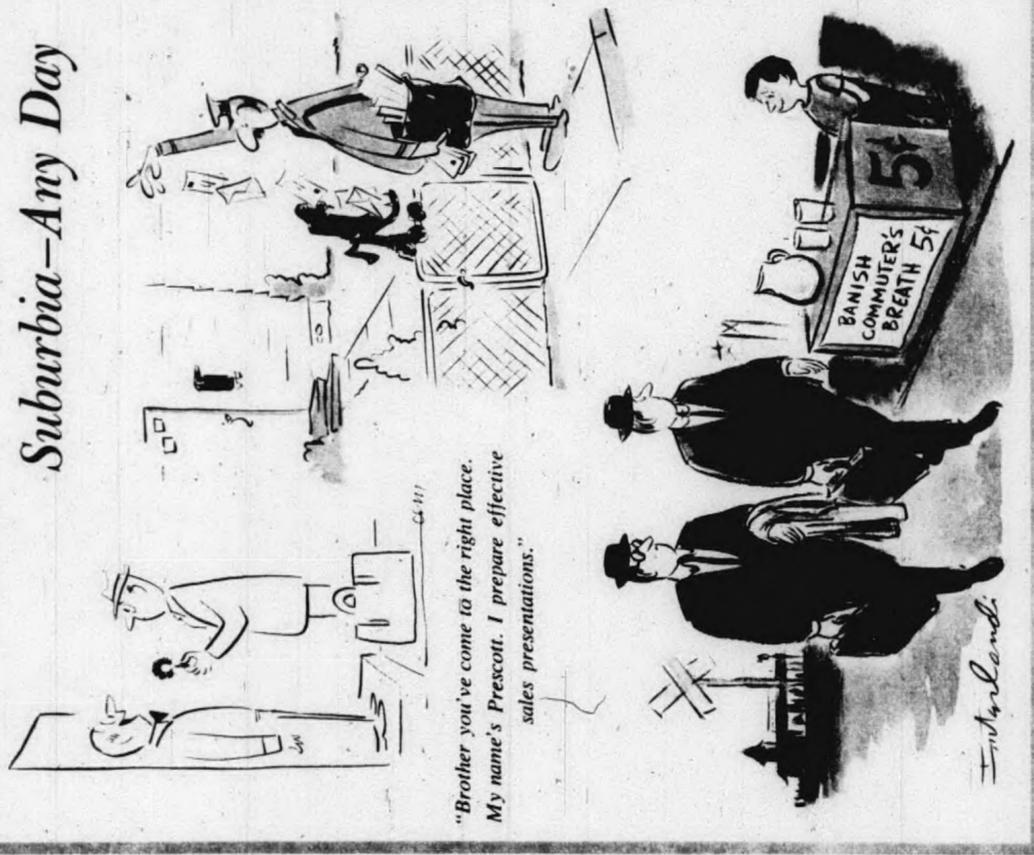

Weidman's remarks I found most telling were those that echoed regrets for the city lodged deep in my own breast. Most of us are not simon-pure country types at all, but hybrids, like the things we grow. If my baseball and ice-skating references leave the impression that I am a simple outdoor type, I must hasten to correct it. I am sedentary and complicated. There are times when the only exercise I get is slapping midgets, and the only exercise I get at all regularly is walking. The bulk of that is done in the city streets during my lunch hour or between business appointments, I freely admit. You cannot walk on country roads—too many cars whizzing by, with, what is worse, every seventh one stopping to ask whether you want a lift. None of this is simple, citizens. Walking is one of the pleasures you give up—not gain—when you move to the country.

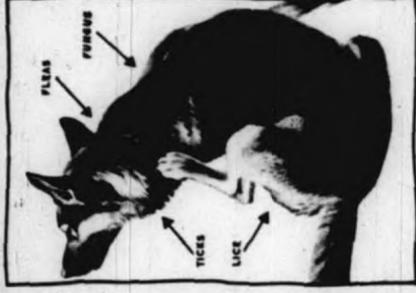

These are a few threads in the tangled skein of pros and cons out of which every man must make his own sense, pursuing his own tastes. That's what it all comes down to in the end—your personal tastes. If you like hollyhocks, come to the country. If what you want is ham hocks, stick close to the Blue Ribbon on 44th Street in Manhattan, or to the Red Star Inn on North Clark Street in Chicago.

I gnash my teeth with Mr. Weidman over what it costs to take my family in for a day of fun and food in the city. And there are times in the morning when, as I lie in bed listening to the song sparrows, thrushes and yellow-bellied sapsuckers that have awakened me, I miss the whistle—sharp, clear, distinct—of the double-breasted doorman.

But if I have city hankers, there is no evidence in Mr. Weidman's valedictory that he has country ones. There is no reason why he should. I know people who hate foliage. I believe it was one of the French novelists who detested nature with its constant leaf-mold reminders of the fertilizer to which he would himself one day be reduced. A counterpart of this would be the melancholy evocations, on urban boulevards, of Nineveh and Tyre. All that any

MOVIES

THE HORSE SOLDIERS—Civil War drama with huge cast headed by John Wayne and Bill Holden as two Union officers. The story concerns a small railroad station inside Rebel territory which had to be captured to open a vital supply line.

BLUE DENIM—Based on the Broadway success about two naive adolescents who get into trouble, but don't know how to get out of it because of their inability to communicate with their parents. Carol Lynley repeats her stage performance, supported by Brandon de Wilde.

A PRIVATE'S AFFAIR—Shows what can happen if an army private is married to the Assistant Secretary of the Army. A fast-moving comedy headed by Barry Coe and Jessie Royce Landis. Also included are Terry Moore and draftees Sal Mineo and Gary Crosby.

IT STARTED WITH A KISS—One of the wackiest comedies of the year, all about a stone-broke master sergeant and an ambitious showgirl who becomes his wife after a 24-hour courtship. Glenn Ford and Debbie Reynolds head the cast and are supported by Eva Gabor.

CRY TOUGH—A new twist to the old gang-warfare theme in New York's Puerto Rican section. Fine performances by John Saxon, Linda Cristal and Harry Townes.

PORGY AND BESS—Our great American opera has reached the wide open spaces of Todd-AO. Catfish Row comes to life again in the screen version of Gershwin's story of the handsome crippled beggar's love for the girl friend of a swaggering stevedore. Sidney Poitier and Dorothy Dandridge star in the title roles, and Sammy Davis, Jr. is the slick crap-shooting Sportin' Life. Music from the sound track released by Columbia Records includes such songs as "Summertime" and "It Ain't Necessarily So."

RECORDS

HIGHLIGHTS of grand operas are now available on single disc albums. Notable are Mozart's THE MAGIC FLUTE and COSI FAN TUTTE. Both are recorded by the Vienna Philharmonic (London). The major arias are chosen from the best of the full length recordings, making a fine short item for all opera lovers.

BRAHMS: VIOLIN CONCERTO—Yehudi Menuhin is the soloist with the Berlin Philharmonic in a brilliant performance of Brahms' challenging work. The optional cadenza of the first movement, in this arrangement, is the one composed by Fritz Kreisler. (Capitol)

MUSIC FOR FRUSTRATED CONDUCTORS—You can be your own maestro, conducting the "Sabre Dance" and "Intermezzo from Carmen." The Fiedler Orchestra is there, and they give you a baton to wave. You need only courage to complete this do-it-yourself kit. (RCA)

PAUL HINDEMITH CONDUCTS HIS OWN WORKS—Two works of the composer, "Concert Music for Strings and Brass" and "Symphony in B Flat," make up this album designed for lovers of modern-classics. Beautifully recorded. (Angel)

Peter De Vries with one of his reasons for enjoying life out of the city—in winter he finds others.

Suburbia's contented champion enjoys an "urban sprawl" on a quiet beach with a cold Vichy-soise, and Jerome Weidman's "The Enemy Camp" propped up in front of him.

Suburbs by Peter De Vries

Author of "Tunnel of Love"; "Comfort Me with Apples"; and "The Tents of Wickedness," a recent selection of the Book-Of-The-Month Club

The author with his six-year-old son who provides him with some of his best arguments for making his case for the suburbs. "In the city," as he observes, "it would have to be stickball in the street. Out here it can be on a lawn or in a pasture. That is one of the reasons why I like living here."

of this proves is that Mr. Weidman would be as big a fool to stay in the country as I would be to leave it. Just now at any rate. I cannot speak for my emotions five or ten years hence.

As of now, I like the trees and grass, as part of a context of living that I will simply call elbow room. I can just idle out of my front or back door, to smell the viburnum or to torment the dog by throwing his ball into the brush. For one used to this indoor-outdoor flexibility, a city apartment would be sheer prison. What a production it is to step outside in the city, on your own behalf or a dog's!

FOR all these advantages I pay the price—commuting. There is no use belittling that. There is no use glossing over the regimented morning: get up, dress, downstairs, gulp and away. And the equally regimented late afternoon: watch the clock, crouch to spring, and away. That is the price and it has to be paid in a kind of small-change tension that is always with you, Monday in and Friday out.

Enough. Between us, Mr. Weidman and I have offered enough data to join the issue, if not settle it. There have honestly been times when I felt as he does, and thought of moving back. One was an afternoon last spring when, on one of those impromptu impulses every married couple should be occasionally permitted, my wife and I decided we'd like to run in to the city and see a certain Off-Broadway opera. We couldn't get in. Or, rather, we couldn't get out—out of the country, I mean. It wasn't expense that balked us this time. It was a traffic jam of cars full of people wearing the same harried "Is it worth it?" expression of innumerable city-bound Weidmans and De Vrieses. It took me a minute to figure out who they were. They were a steady stream of urbanites, grinding along bumper to bumper, inch by inch, to see the dogwood in bloom along the Merritt Parkway. Greenfield Hill, and the road on which I live.

WHEN this copy of your SUBURBIA TODAY reaches you, we, the Davis family of Short Hills, New Jersey, will be in Moscow as part of the American National Exhibition — and all because we are a typical American suburban family.

Our mission in Moscow is to be ourselves. Three or four times a day we will make our appearance under the enormous translucent plastic umbrellas of the Exhibition building in Sokolniki Park, showing off business clothes and play clothes and party clothes and blue jeans (the kind of clothes we wear every day, in other words) in the U.S. Fashion Industries' presentation of how Americans dress. We have learned enough Russian to be able to tell our audiences who we are in their equivalent of words of one syllable, and from there, Russian-speaking fashion expert Vera Bacal goes on to describe how we live and what we do in our sensational — to their eyes — blue jeans and drip-dry business suits and happy-go-lucky sun dresses.

How It All Started

This assignment had its beginning in Short Hills on a typical week-day morning last April. The kids, one by one, had banged their way down the stairs, clattered through breakfast, grabbed their books, and started for school. With less uproar I had also breakfasted, kissed my wife, Sally, good-bye, and gone off to work in the city. When the front door closed for the last time Sally looked about her. Laundry day, and five beds to strip and make up. Marketing. My suits to go to the cleaner's. Our daughter had a music lesson at three; one boy would have to be chauffeured to the dentist at four; the other had a Little League game at 5:30; Sally's report was due for the P.T.A.; there was fertilizer to be picked up for the roses; we had people coming for dinner; and when in the middle of this day was anything going to be done about touching up the house or getting the winter clothes ready to put away?

"It all looked so impossible," Sally told me later, "I just sat down on the sofa and had another cup of coffee and started reading the paper."

Such moments of defiance, I believe, are known once in a while to most suburban wives on days when the load, as the electricians say, gets too heavy for the circuit.

As Sally went through the paper, she noticed a story on the Fashion Industries' plans for the exhibition in Moscow. To show the Russians how Americans dress, they were going to send over some professional models, and some glamorous fashions from the big designers, but they were also going to select three typical families who would show the clothes that average Americans wear every day.

All her life Sally has been interested in fashion — she graduated from the Tobe-Coburn School of Fashion — and she read the whole story with care. The Fashion Industries had decided to pick, for their three typical families, a workingman's family, a family with a working mother, and a suburban family.

The typical suburban family was defined in very general terms — "a certain income bracket, more than one child, a commuting husband, and, of course, a home in the suburbs."

The Committee Says Yes

That more or less describes us all, doesn't it? As she read the paper at home on that April morning Sally suddenly asked herself, "Why aren't we the typical suburban family?" And the next minute she was on the telephone asking to speak to the reporter who had written the column. The reporter suggested she get in touch with Eleanor Lambert, Fashion Publicist. Miss Lambert's office told her she could get an appointment in the city with the selections committee at three o'clock that same afternoon, and from that point on, Sally picked up speed. Laundry was rushed into a bundle—with no list, she reported later—a "sitter" was engaged for the afternoon's chauffeuring, a sandwich was made for Chuck, our youngest, and left on the kitchen table with a note saying "Have gone to the city—see you after school," marketing was done by telephone, and Sally left for New York and her three-o'clock interview. While she was with the selections committee she saw Leonard Hankin, vice-president of Bergdorf Goodman, who had been appointed by the White House to head the Fashion Industries' part of the Exhibition. She showed him snapshots of all of us, and the house in Short Hills, and told him why she felt we qualified; and when she left she had an application blank for us to fill out.

Before she started for home, she called me at the office. The conversation went like this:

Sally: Could you get six weeks off to go to Moscow?

Me: Where ARE you?

Sally: In New York.

Me: What about the kids?

Sally: We'll take them along.

Me: Are you all right?

We went ahead and filled out the applications and the next week the committee asked the whole family to come into the city and be interviewed, and in we went, five strong. They had many other candidates, of course, but to our complete joy they finally chose us, because, I guess, we are so typical.

To begin with, we own our own house—at least, we and the bank do. But the time is coming when we will nose the bank out, just as the time is coming when we will root the last clump of crab grass out of the front lawn. We are not one bit worried about what is happening to the lawn this summer, incidentally. I put so much weed killer on it last spring that nothing can struggle through the scorched earth this season. No lawn-mowing problem.

Our Typical Features

We have three children. The statistics for the typical suburban family call for 3.4, but we are very pleased with the round number we have. First there is Jeff, age 15, a sophomore at Millburn High School, and an Explorer Scout. He plays the drums in the school band, baseball on the Junior Varsity, and is working toward his senior life-saver's badge at the "Y". If we weren't in Moscow this summer Jeff, hopefully, would have had a paid job, taking care of the neighbors' lawns or helping out at one of the stores.

Jane comes next, three years younger than Jeff. She is in the seventh grade at Junior High and is a Girl Scout. She asked to have piano lessons and practices of her own accord and, this we have to admit, is not very typical of most twelve-year-olds we know. She Sally Davis keeps house, cooks, chauffeurs, plans, manages, and finds time for P.T.A. courses, and Jun.

Jeff is 15 and very busy—scout, drummer, ball player and, in his spare time, odd-job man.

Jane is in the seventh grade at Millburn Junior High, sings in the choir and the girls' chorus, loves music enough to practice of her own accord.

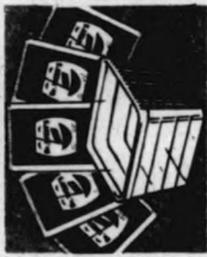

Chuck, at 10, had some reservations about the Russian trip if it was going to mean being dressed up all the time—but now he feels it is worth it.

Ted Davis is an advertising salesman. He works in the city during the week, likes to swim, skate and garden over week ends.

TYPICAL SUBURBAN FAMILY

is crazy about music and sings in the choir of Christ Episcopal Church and in the seventh grade girls' chorus. Chuck, at 10, is our youngest, a fourth grader, Cub Scout, and third baseman in the Little League. It was Chuck who consoled his grandmother when she started worrying about all of us going so far away. "It's not so far, Grandma," he said. "Just think, some day we'll be going to the moon."

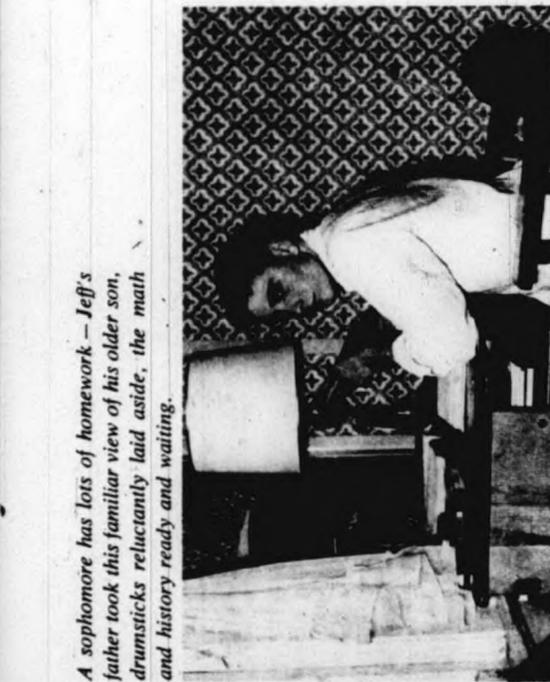

All our children were born while Sally was still under thirty—that's according to the statistics, too.

Sally and I were both born and brought up in the suburbs outside Cleveland, Sally in Painesville, and I in Shaker Heights. Typically, again, we have made three moves in our married life, from Shaker Heights to Smoke Rise in New Jersey, and from there to Short Hills. We have only been in Short Hills for three years, but we feel more settled than we could have expected in that short period of time. The kids are busy—oh, how busy—with school and homework and baseball and the scouts and choir practice. Sally is active in P.T.A., teaches Sunday School, is beginning golf, and last winter joined the Gourmet cooking class in Millburn's adult education program—from which we've all derived great benefit. I commute to the city five days a week where I am an advertising salesman for "Architectural Forum". Outside office hours I've been a leader in the Explorer Scouts, and an usher at Christ Church where Jane sings. I'm a diligent, but not brilliant gardener and an amateur photographer, and I am still trying to break 100 in golf.

On week ends our great fun is doing things together. We all love skating and swimming and we're all devoted hi-fi fans.

The pattern, we know, is familiar. If the Russians want to know what typical suburban Americans are like, they have only to look about them now. We hope they are going to like what they see and we need hardly say that we feel greatly privileged to be able to do our part in showing "the true image of America," as President Eisenhower said, "to the people of the Soviet Union."

But it's an even greater privilege, we think, to be so typical of the way of life 47,000,000 Americans have chosen for themselves. And we will all five be glad when September comes, and we can take up where we left off in Short Hills, New Jersey.

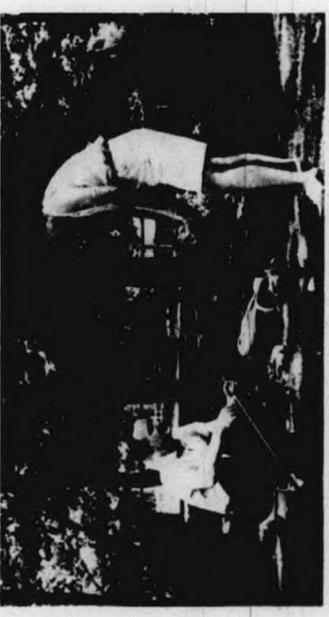

A sophomore has lots of homework—Jeff's father took this familiar view of his older son, drumsticks reluctantly laid aside, the math and history ready and waiting.

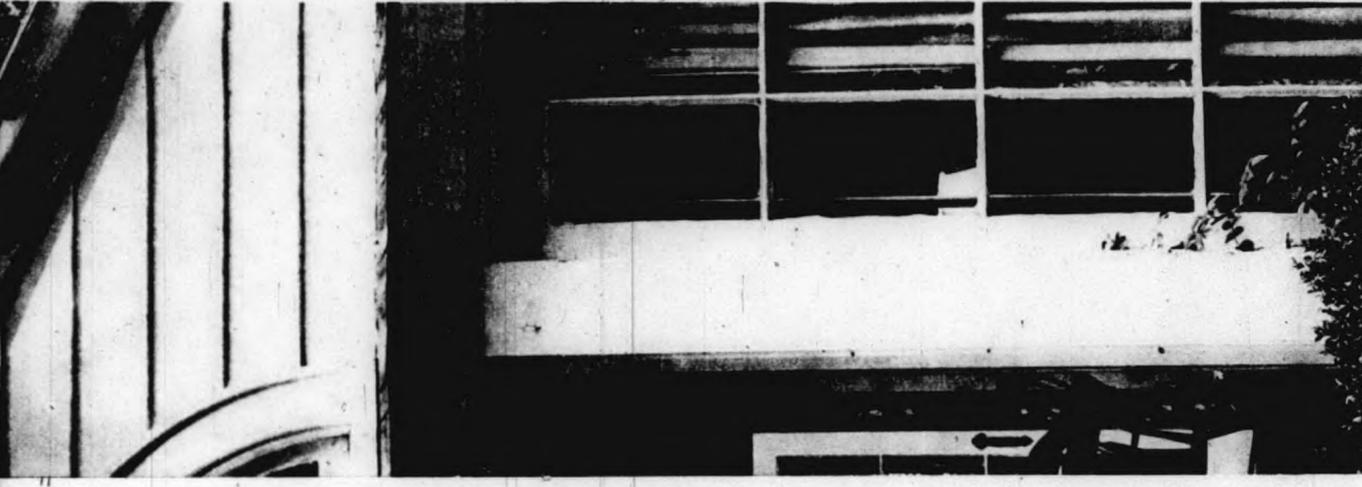

Sally Davis loves to garden—her specialties are roses and lilies and delphinium, and later in the summer begonias, which she raises in a border bed in their small lot.

Here's a man who thinks about the game—Chuck Davis, third baseman in local Little League.

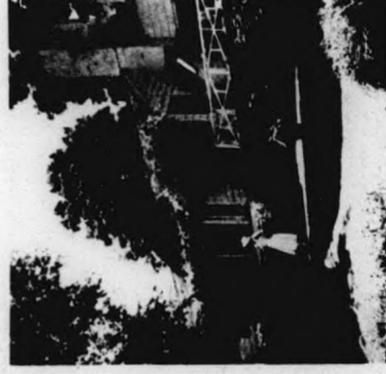

Practice, practice, practice—Sally Davis is beginning golf, and the head of the house says, "I'm still trying to break 100."

Left: You enter the blue and lilac sitting room at ground level, look out through the opposite window into the tops of the trees below.

The original house—like the venerable maple overhead, it has gone far since the wilderness was cleared in 1784, but all the additions have been carefully planned and keyed to its dignity and simple charm.

One of the new wings—note the treatment of the picture window, to make it suit the style of the house.

Above, the front facade. "Topline Farm" had six small rooms when Mrs. Wheelan bought it—now there are twenty, filled with air and light and flowers, and beautiful views into her gardens and over the distant hills.

Now! Easier, surer protection for your most intimate marriage problems

1. Germs/odor/irritation! Norforms are safer and surer than ever! A highly perfected new formula releases anti-septic and germicidal ingredients right in the vaginal tract. The exclusive new base melts at body temperature, forming a powerful protective film that permits long-lasting action. Will not harm delicate tissues.

2. Deodorant protection! Norforms were tested in a hospital clinic and found to be more effective than anything it had ever used. Norforms are deodorant—they eliminate (rather than cover up) embarrassing odors, yet have no "medicine" or "disinfectant" odor themselves.

3. Convenience! These small vaginal suppositories are so easy and convenient to use. Just insert—no apparatus, mixing or measuring. They're greaseless—keep in any climate.

Your druggist has them in boxes of 12 and 24. Also available in Canada.

UNUSUAL SUBURBAN HOME

The United States of America was three years old and George Washington was president when a Connecticut Yankee built

"Topline Farm"

Fifteen miles outside the industrial town of Danbury, Connecticut, Katherine Wheelen's "Topline Farm" is still a working farm where a herd of registered Brown Swiss cattle graze on the steep slopes that run into the Litchfield Hills. The character of the stern little original house has been lovingly preserved—wide floor boards, thick walls, plain fireplaces that stretch the width of the rooms, and at the same time the place has been opened up with wings and galleries and big graceful windows for a joyous communication with the out of doors. Here truly are "improvements," where new life and new ideas have served to make the old more beautiful.

The house is set in a series of gardens—in this one the pool is the main feature, framed in the green of lawn and hedges.

The Dreamy Age Has Come

A tranquilizer for plants that helps them stand up to such weather strains as light frost, drought, heavy rain and long periods of heat was reported Monday. . . . (News item)

The dreamy age has come when plants of low and lofty rank will stand up to weather strains and other woes, relaxed and tranquil.

From radish to sequoia and from crocus to banana
The architects of chlorophyll receive the chemist's manna.

No more will frost or drought or rain or heat or gloom of night
Give beans and berries complexes, see sumac shake with fright,

Find pansies and petunias tense and restless in their beds
Or cabbages and Brussels sprouts with maladjusted heads.

Potatoes will go underground without a guilt fixation
And eye their salad days with only minor trepidation.

The cherry tree will cease to chafe when robins rob its bough.

The high-strung grape will face its pressing problems calmly now.

In new docility the thistle, rose and desert cactus

Will sheathe the thorns with which they once so pointedly attacked us.

The corn will be resigned to shock; the willow won't be weepy.

My luncheon greens were sedative. Adieu, adieu—I'm sleepy.

The cars that are sold off trucks

Since the new SIMCA Elysee sedan and Grand Large hardtop were introduced, it's been hard to keep enough of them around for display.

Time after time, new SIMCAs are sold before they're off the truck.

But why not? Obviously, no imported economy car is as tastefully designed. It's well known that SIMCA is the longest, widest, heaviest, and most powerful of all leading imports. And as for value, there's no contest at all. Heater, defroster, luxurious reclining seats, automatic choke, and automatic turn signals are standard equipment.

And SIMCA's front engine design provides a degree of driving stability that's absolutely uncanny. Speed Age magazine said: "SIMCA's fantastic road-holding ability is second to none." What do you say? Have you tested the new SIMCA yet? How about today?

DOUBLE COFFEE COOLER

To Prepare: 15 MIN.

- 1 cup chocolate-flavored nonfat dry milk
- 2 teaspoons instant coffee
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 2 cups cold water
- 2 ripe bananas, sliced
- 1 cup cream
- 4 teaspoons vanilla extract

1. Blend together thoroughly all ingredients. Chill.

2. Pour over Frozen Coffee Cubes in glasses and allow cubes to partially melt before serving. Top each serving with your favorite topping and garnish with chocolate shavings.

For Frozen Coffee Cubes — Blend thoroughly: 1½ cups chocolate-flavored nonfat dry milk, 1 tablespoon instant coffee, 2¼ cups water. Pour into refrigerator tray with dividers. Freeze until firm. (Extra coffee cubes may be stored in freezer for future use.)

Chill the tall glasses, follow the easy directions, for shining fruit drinks, for a double coffee cooler that will lift the August commuter right off his feet, for the best ice-cream soda that was ever made at home

TANGY REFRESHER

To Prepare: 20 MIN.

- 1½ cups water
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 1-in. piece crystallized ginger
- 1 3-in. piece stick cinnamon
- 6 whole cloves

Peel from 1 lemon, rinsed and quartered

¼ cup orange granules for instant breakfast drink

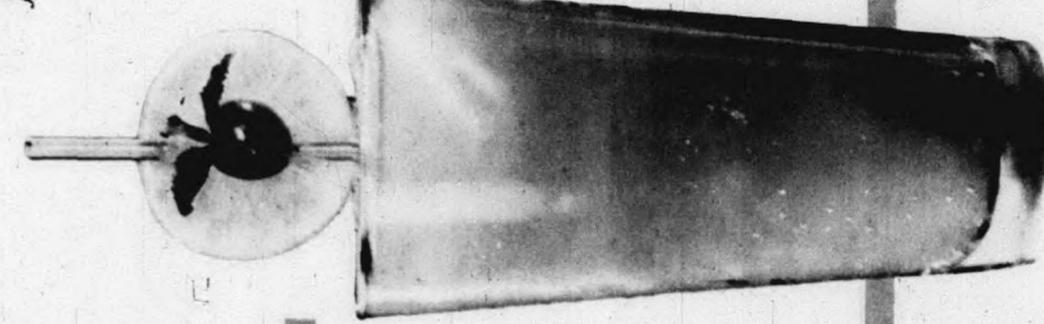

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 12-oz. bottle sparkling water, chilled

1. Combine first five ingredients in a saucepan. Set over low heat and stir until sugar is dissolved. Bring to boiling. Reduce heat, cover, and simmer 15 min. Remove from heat and add lemon peel, cool. Chill thoroughly. Strain.

2. Blend together thoroughly the orange granules, lemon juice, and sirup. Add the sparkling water and blend. Pour over ice cubes or crushed ice in glasses. Or pour into a punch bowl and float a decorative ice block. About 3½ cups

Note: If desired, freeze refresher until mushy. Spoon into chilled glasses and serve with straws.
