Long List of Crimes Admitted by Eight

Round-up of eight Plymouth area boys has solved a long list of crimes that included car and bicycle thefts, breaking and enterings, shoplifting and even setting fire to a barn.

Police Chief Kenneth Fisher said that the eight, who range in age from 13 to 15, have been released to the parents pending the filing of charges in Juvenile Court. None have been arrested before.

None of the boys took part in all of the crimes, but they were involved in various combinations of two or three together.

Six car thefts were among the crimes solved.

And it was perhaps the consciences of two of the two boys driving up in his car. As he phoned police, the boys jumped out and ran.

Police Chief Fisher answered the phone and as he talked, Assistant Chief Loren Johnson ran out the back door of city hall and caught the two boys. The Cranford home is behind city hall.

Under questioning, the two admitted many crimes and named six others.

Admitted were the following acts:

Theft of a car from the Ashland Service Station on Ann Arbor Rd.; theft of a car from Arbor Hill; theft of a car from the S & W Hardware lot which later struck a pole; obtaining gasoline for this car from a Canton Center station and then driving away without paying for it; stealing a truck from Livonia.

Also stealing a car at a football game and returning it before the game ended; one boy stole his aunt's car; breaking into a home on Oakview; breaking into the Girl Scout Lodge Nov. 26; breaking into Olds Grocery.

Also, setting fire to an old barn on Mill St. two weeks ago with a flare pot stolen from the Symar Subdivision; breaking of windows in the subdivision's new homes; lots of shoplifting and stealing money from their own homes.

They told police that all of the vehicles stolen had keys in the ignition.

THE MIDDLE of Gold Arbor Rd. nowadays looks like it has been bombed out but this is the type of work that has been going on in Plymouth Township since March. Workmen are shown building up a manhole in the sanitary sewer system that is expected to be ready in several more months.

NEWS BEAT

Ice forming on the roads Thanksgiving Eve brought out Plymouth Township firemen to help out the Road Patrol. An icy stretch of Ann Arbor Rd. from the city westward to the Ann Arbor Trail point caused numerous pile-ups. Firemen with flares parked a truck with a red flashing light atop the hill west of the point, but many cars ignored the warning signals and went sliding down the hill into ditches. Fortunately, no one was hurt, but firemen were amazed at what little effect red flashing signals and flares have upon most drivers.

RACKET: Some newsboys who distribute the Detroit News claim that after they deliver the color sections and new TV magazine Friday nights, someone has been taking the TV magazines from the doorsteps and trying to re-sell them. One carrier had 10 of them taken last Friday night.

BIG SMASH: A large display window in the Pixie Shop facing the Central Parking lot was broken early Monday morning. Two children's wallets and a slack set, valued at $5, were taken. Replacement of the window will cost much more.

who at the age of 70 retired after 50 years with the C & O. After a month of retirement, he contracted pneumonia and died last Sunday.

EAGER: While students were given half of last week off for Thanksgiving, some youngsters crawled through a coal chute into Starkweather school and apparently used the gym for playing basketball, police reported this week.

TREE TIME: Christmas trees are making their appearance on vacant lots. Again in the business is the Plymouth Firemen's Assn. who will be selling starting this Saturday at Station 2 at Spring and Holbrook. Their profit goes for special projects.

GOODFELLOWS REPORT: Plymouth Goodfellows have started work on their annual charitable mission. Again adopting the slogan "No Kiddie Without a Christmas," they will hold their newspaper sale Dec. 19. Committees have been appointed.

Chamber Launches Membership Drive

An aggressive membership - support program for the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce was kicked off Friday on the heels of the enthusiasm generated by its Annual Dinner last week.

"We are not merely selling memberships, we are presenting a program vital to everyone in this community," announced Robert Barbour of the National Bank in Plymouth and general chairman of the Campaign.

Barbour met with the Chamber Manager and coordinating leaders in the activity. These leaders will be responsible for steering teams of contact representatives who in turn will communicate the 1960 program of the Chamber of Commerce.

The co-ordinating leaders are Robert C. Rice of Gaylord Container who will carry responsibility for calls on industry, Walter Drummond of Beyer Rexall Drugs, whose area will cover retail establishments and George F. Lawton of Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union who will lead a team to contact professional and non-retail businesses.

The time was chosen by the committee so as to present the new year's program as well as to inform business, professions and industry and the community about Chamber of Commerce activity. The campaign would logically follow the Annual Dinner in the minds of the campaign leaders.

Burroughs Renews City Services

Renewal of a contract to furnish the Plymouth plant of the Burroughs Corp. with water and sewer services was approved Monday night by the city commission. Burroughs is expected to sign the contracts by today.

The Burroughs plant, largest industry of the community, has been receiving its sewer and water service through the city ever since the plant opened in 1937. The present contract would continue to be effective, except that the city intends to run larger sewer and water facilities down Plymouth Rd. to service a proposed industry across the road from Burroughs.

The Wheel-Truening Tool Co. of Detroit has selected 12 acres of land owned by the city on the south side of Plymouth Rd. for a plant site. A 12-inch sewer serving Burroughs now meanders across the 12 acres. It is not large enough to serve both industries, so the city intends to lay an 18 inch pipe across other property it owns.

Burroughs will pay two-thirds of the $45,000 sewer cost.

Another contract calls for

Big Township Sewer Job 80% Completed

With eight months of work behind them, contractors for Plymouth Township's sanitary sewer are now 80 percent finished with their big task and hope to have the system working in another few months.

The project, largest ever started by the Township of Plymouth, began last March when a power shovel broke ground in Hines Park where the township system taps into the county's interceptor sewer.

Since then, hundreds of thousands of yards of dirt—most of it sand—have been scooped out of the ground.

All of the trunk lines have been laid now, according to Herald Hamill, local engineer in charge of the project. Lateral lines are now being laid with units now busy in Green Meadows and along Gold Arbor road.

Hamill said that the project is now 80 percent completed and that he foresees final completion in "a couple of months."

He added that unless there is an urgent need, neling work to Armco. But the general contractor was dissatisfied with the Armco work and completed the job itself.

Quicksand has also been a factor in slowing down the job.

Hamill said that as soon as the system receives its final acceptance, homes can start making taps. The sewer will serve around 500 customers immediately. It is large enough to serve a community the size of the city of Plymouth.

A pumping station located north of Joy Rd., between Main St. and Lilley Rd., has been installed and will be activated when the system is ready to operate. This station will pump sewage uphill eastward and northward toward the outlet.

Winter weather is not expected to hold up progress on the sewer unless

At the C & O Railroad near the Ann Arbor Rd. viaduct, the contractors sub-contracted the tunnel

Understand Your Tax Bill?

A Christmas-time greeting from which no property owner can escape—the tax bill—will be making its appearance within the next week. And unless there have been some miraculous revelations since last year, only a handful of taxpayers will be able to understand exactly what their tax bills are all about.

Most of those who own property in conjunction with a mortgage institution will not even see their tax bills. They are sent to the mortgagee who pays the bill from the mortgagee's escrow fund.

But even those who do get the bills at home are usually perplexed and unhappy with their inability to reconcile the tax rates with the amount they must hand over to the treasurer.

The "missing link" in all of this is a term called "equalization." By now, most Michigan taxpayers are aware of the term "equalization" but they aren't sure how it affects their tax bills.

Treasurers who collect tax monies receive a barrage of questions each year concerning the tax bills, and usually the problem goes back to equalization.

In the adjoining box are listed tax rates for the four political subdivisions that are part of the Plymouth Community School District. Each of the townships listed tells what the rate is for Wayne County, their township and the Plymouth School District. City of Plymouth taxpayers pay only county and school tax this time since their city taxes are paid in July.

The taxes that you will be paying are the product of three factors:

1. Local assessed valuation.
2. County and state equalization.
3. Tax rates set by the school board, county board of supervisors and township boards.

The township supervisor or city assessor is responsible for setting the "local assessed valuation" on your property.

But the method at which they arrive at their figures vary between townships, cities and counties. To adjust these varying assessment practices, the Wayne County and State of Michigan tax boards "equalize" these assessments.

Equalization is required by law (although some say it's illegal) and it is done with the intention of providing fair and equitable distribution of county and state tax monies to school districts.

"Equalization" is determined by county and state tax inspectors who make spot checks of comparable properties among taxing districts. If they find that assessments on comparable property are not equal, they produce what is known as the "equalization factor."

Instead of using this factor on each tax bill to adjust the assessed valuation, the factor is applied to the tax rate. This produces the "equalized tax rate" as opposed to the "levied rate."

One can figure up his tax bill by multiplying the equalized total rate by his property's valuation as stated on the tax bill.

This will not result in the total bill, however. Many propertyowners also pay specific assessments that are added to the bill. One percent is also added as a "collection fee" to pay for the printing of the bills, postage, envelopes, plus the cost of transporting the collections to school and county government offices and the maintenance of collection facilities and personnel to record and account for them.

Chief Korte said that in answer to an appeal last week in The Mail, numerous persons have offered tips. He added that people should continue to be on the lookout for fires in barns and other abandoned buildings.

Urban Renewal Program Moves Ahead While Business District Plan Stalls

Whatever happened to the city's Urban Renewal plan and the downtown re-development plans?

These are questions frequently heard as citizens think back to the headlines made a year ago when the city commission was pushing them both at the same time.

The Urban Renewal plan was aimed to clear off 21 homes and other old buildings along S. Mill St. to provide vacant land for new factories.

The business district re-development plan was announced last January after professional planners drew up elaborate maps and sketches of how the downtown could look if completely re-designed with malls and no through streets.

At the moment the situation is this:

1. The Urban Renewal Plan is still much alive despite differences with the federal government over whether or not to include the former Dairy Manufacturing property.
2. The downtown re-development appears dormant, if not dead. No one seems to be advancing this cause.

The Urban Renewal plan is more likely to succeed because the federal government would provide two-thirds of the needed funds and would loan the city the one-third share it needs.

It was last January that a 77-page report was submitted to the city commission by Villcan-Leman & Associates. It told how a shopping center to serve a community of 40,000 could be developed in stages in the downtown area. The city's obligation would be to eliminate through streets running through the present downtown area and provide a four-lane periphery road that would carry traffic around

Christmas Seal Coloring Contest Opens to Kids

The second annual Christmas Seal Coloring Contest opens today and thousands of youngsters throughout Wayne County are expected to try their skill with crayon or paint to win a deluxe bicycle during the Christmas season. Entry blanks have printed outlines of the children, birds, and squirrel that appear on the 1959 Christmas Seals. The four children who color these figures most neatly, skillfully and colorfully will win bicycles. Two winners will be chosen from the 6 to 9 year group and two from the 10 to 12 year group. Entry blanks are available at all Federal Department Stores or by writing or calling the Tuberculosis and Health Society, 153 East Elizabeth, Detroit 1, Mich. Woodward 1-1697. Entries, one to a child, must be post-marked no later than December 16. This is the 53rd year Christmas Seals have given the public a chance to personally take part in the fight against tuberculosis, a contagious disease which anybody can catch. The Christmas Seal campaign continues to the end of the year, and is the only support of the programs of service of the Tuberculosis and Health Society and the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

It will be a bazaar with demonstrations on gift wrapping and decor making. Refreshments will be served also. Dorothy Frank, GL 3-4768, will answer further questions and provide transportation for any who need it.

Friday, Dec. 4 will be Guest Day for the Woman's Club of Plymouth, Michigan. Mrs. W.S. McAllister is the program chairman for the day. "Christmas Favorites" will be sung by their Glee Club. Mrs. Paul Wiedman is tea chairman. The December meeting will be held at 1 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church will meet Dec. 9 with the Executive Committee convening at 10:15 a.m. Lunch will be at 12:15 and the business and program will be at 1 p.m. Mrs. Roger Blood is in charge of the program. "There is a Hush of Expectation." There will be songs and customs of other lands. Rev. Melbourne Johnson will tell the Christmas story, and the group will sing Christmas carols. Mrs. Max Ellison is in charge of the devotion.

The annual meeting of the United Church Women will be held in First United Presbyterian Church on Thursday, Dec. 12 at 12:30 p.m. Two of the foreign students making their homes in Plymouth will be guest speakers. Ursulla Kell from Germany and Anneke Thasing from Amsterdam, Holland. Business meeting and tea will follow.

The Ladies Auxiliary of 781 sponsored by Our Lady of Good Counsel are having a bake sale on Dec. 5 from 12:00 to 6 p.m. The bake sale will be held in the Church Hall. The proceeds will buy baskets for the poor for Christmas.

Don't forget the Lutheran Ladies bake sale on Dec. 4 at 9:30 a.m. at Dunning's. They are making Christmas cookies. Now is the time to pick up an extra cake or two, freeze it, and have it for your holiday company.

It's Time for Christmas Mailing Right NOW!

"Early mailing of Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all mail delivered before Christmas," Postmaster George Timpona pointed out this week as the Post Office braced itself for another record season.

Past Office facilities have been expanded and everything is geared up to handle a record Christmas mail in Plymouth this year.

The postmaster has asked citizens to follow three simple rules to insure prompt and safe delivery of Christmas gift packages.

1. Wrap them securely.
2. Address them correctly.
3. Mail them early.

It is advised that gifts be wrapped carefully by using heavy paper, corrugated cartons and strong cord.

Delivery of Christmas cards can be hurried by securing free labels from the post office indicating "All for Local Delivery" and "All for Out of Town Delivery."

Then sort and tie the cards in two separate bundles with addresses all facing one way.

Remember, says the postmaster, only Christmas cards carrying first class postage may include a personal message.

Always include your name and address on the Christmas card envelopes. This is socially correct and helps both the sender and receiver to keep mailing lists up to date.

Mailing of all Christmas gifts and cards for distant points should be completed before Dec. 10. Christmas cards for Mexico and Canada are four cents sealed or unsealed.

Lyon School District Sets Meetings to Inform Voters

Two general meetings will be held in South Lyon to better inform the voters on the school bond issue.

One meeting will be Tuesday, Dec. 8 in the South Lyon Elementary gym and the other Wednesday, Dec. 9 in the Salem Town Hall. Both meetings will begin at 8 p.m.

Lyon Township School district voters will be asked on December 15 to approve a $615,000 bond issue for a new elementary school. Only property owners are considered eligible as school district voters.

The decision to proceed with the special election was reached at a special board meeting. The proposed new school, while designed as an elementary unit would be used for the next two or three years as an elementary and a junior high school. Long range plans call for construction of a new high school at which time the present high school will be converted to a junior high.

Lyon Township has an enrollment of 1,878 pupils and has 61 teachers and 50 classrooms. Although no action was taken, the board discussed the possibility of adding to the present high school. It was suggested that four additional classrooms be added to the north end of the building as soon as possible.

with 11 classrooms an eventual goal. Classrooms are badly needed and a master plan needed that would be consistent in the future according to junior high principal James Hood. He added the plan should be based on fact in an attempt to make up for lost time.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Many citizens have forgotten that at the minute it is impossible to build any new buildings or dwellings which require sewerage.

Several months ago the State Department of Health froze construction because the Middle Rouge Interceptor (in our area) and a similar drain in the east are over-loaded.

"Enlarge the Interceptor or no more permits will be issued," was the order from Lansing.

(There have been a scattered few subdivision projects underway recently. They had secured their permits before the ban was declared.)

If the Interceptor is to be enlarged, it falls upon County government to do the job, and that is the subject of our narrative for today.

And if the subject seems a little dull, it will freshen it in your mind to note that it will have influence on the size of future taxes. And on the nature of your community in the future; whether it is to grow with new homes and businesses, or remain in status quo.

The Middle Rouge Interceptor carries away storm waters, servicing an area that starts above Northville and slices to the southeast to the Rouge River.

This one big drain actually permitted most of the swift growth of Western Wayne County recently—Redford Township, Nankin Township, Livonia, Dearborn Township, Farmington, and the rest.

Now, says the State, it is jammed to capacity. Nothing new can be added.

Such a statement is greeted by the citizens with varying response, according to the community where one sits.

Redford Township couldn't care less. Its development is virtually 100 percent complete.

Likewise the Dearborn area in general.

Livonia has a split reaction. The southern half of the city is rather fully occupied and the residents there are more or less content with things as they are. But up north and west in Livonia are wide open areas.

Plymouth Township has barely embarked on a building program which has been delayed for want of water, sanitary sewer and storm drainage.

City of Plymouth is fully developed and has hardly more than a passing interest in enlarging the Interceptor—for the City's own immediate requirements, that is.

The reaction is equally mixed throughout the County. "Go build a sewer if you want one," say some, "we've paid for ours and aren't interested."

But, plead others, "sewerage is an overall County responsibility. Our growth has hardly started. On anything like this, we must function as a community, as neighbors sharing mutual problems."

There are some everywhere who cry, "We want no more growth. All it brings is taxes and headaches. And kids."

And others: "Grow we must. Industry demands it. Our people demand it. We either grow or decay. If we don't provide industrial facilities, the jobs will leave Michigan. We either face to our responsibility or disappear like ghosts."

Then there is the City of Detroit. It pays an elephantine amount of total County tax. And when it participates in out-County sewers, in effect it constructs the monster which moves people, industry and things outside of Detroit to other communities.

So much for review and background.

The piece of news in this column today is that there is a brand new plan about to hit the floor of the Board of Supervisors which is aimed at one thing: to enlarge the interceptor sewers and reinvigorate construction in this area.

The new plan calls for a County "Department of Public Works." It would eliminate the two old methods of building sewers: (a) by the County Road Commission, or (b) by the County Drain Commission.

Instead, it is proposed that a new DPW board be formed consisting of 2 members from Detroit, 2 members from outside Detroit, 2 from the Road Commission, and the drain commissioner—a total of seven.

Why a new agency?

Because both the older methods raised so much fuss when it came time to finance that most action was paralyzed.

The normal Road Commission method was to build and then assess everybody from the County on a flat "disposal charge" basis. This brings yowls from those who already have paid for all or part of an interceptor.

When the Drain Commissioner does it, on the other hand, he applies an ancient formula (based on open, rural farmland drainage) where the costs are borne in varying degrees according to the "benefits" received by a parcel of land. This always brings absolute screaming, when applied in metropolitan areas.

Under the "DPW plan" there are four different approaches to financing (revenue bonds, contract bonds, special assessment bonds, direct loans by the County to municipalities).

The advocates say that with these four alternatives, a relatively painless plan of financing should be able to be developed.

This is new, and it's going to stir a lot of excitement in the press in days ahead. We wanted to set the stage if possible so interested citizens could analyze the maneuvers as they arrive.

The proposal has been endorsed by a committee of nine Supervisors, two of whom are close by. Mayor William Brashear was chairman of the special committee and Louis Stein of Canton Township a member.

This writer believes the plan is the most sound one offered yet. Growth is inevitable—we either move ahead or retreat. Let's get going.

Rusty City Water Brings Investigation

Rusty water in the city mains has become such a commonplace complaint in recent months that City Manager Albert Glassford yesterday appointed a committee to investigate the problem.

Between 35 and 40 telephone calls a month have been received at city hall from householders complaining about the rust. The problem has been with the city for many years, but it appears to have become more serious in recent months.

Glassford has named Planning and Engineering Supervisor S.L. Besse, DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida, Plumber George Carr and himself to a committee. Another citizen will also be appointed.

The committee will first have a house-to-house survey made to determine under what conditions most of the complaints arise. Bida said that nearly all of the complaints so far come from those owning automatic washers. Homes with galvanized pipe instead of copper pipe also seem to have more trouble.

Plymouth has more trouble than most communities be-and when water hydrants are flushed.

It takes but a small amount of iron accumulation to turn water brown. This iron can discolor clothes that are being washed. It would have no harmful effect upon drinking, Bida added.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (UPI) — The Department of Social Welfare reported that some Malayan parents punish their children for flunking school examinations by rubbing red pepper in their eyes. Others resort to thrashing the pupils with leather belts.

CLOSE-UP OF the big sewer project in Plymouth Township shows the work involved in building up just one of the many man-holes. The sewer is now around 80 percent completed. Laterals sewers are being laid in Green Meadows and in the Southworth-Gold Arbor area where this picture was taken.

NOW UNDER roof is Plymouth Township's new fire station that is being constructed near the water tower in Lake Pointe Village. The fire hall will be the second fire station in the township. It is scheduled for completion sometime in January.

Urban Renewal Program Moves Ahead

The 60-acre central business district. This road would parallel Main Street, branching at Church St. and re-joining at Wing St. The plan would be developed over a period of years, probably being completed around 1960. Some observers believe that Plymouth citizens are not yet willing to go along with such a drastic change because they are not sold on the benefits. Outside investors would need more positive facts concerning Plymouth's future, since growth so far has been slight compared with many other areas. City Manager Albert Glassford reported this week that the Urban Renewal project still looks healthy. A year ago the city made application with the federal government for the reservation of $638,000 to carry out the program. It is estimated that the entire project will cost $1,045,000. Once the land is cleared, it is believed that it could be re-sold for industrial sites at $400,000. This would leave a net cost of $645,000. Of this, the federal government would make an outright grant of $430,000, leaving the city obligation at $215,000. The object of the entire project, of course, is not only to clear off decaying property, but also to get some tax-rewarding industry on the tax rolls. The taxes collected would eventually write off the city's share, it is figured. Government people, however, have not favored the inclusion of the old Daisy property within the program. The property included not only Daisy, but all property on the west side of Mill St., from the Bathey Co., southward to the railroad.

The government argued that tearing down commercial property to erect other commercial buildings would not be acceptable. The railroad also offered natural barrier to divide the project. But the city administration and their consultants, Villan & Leman, have argued that the Daisy land is worth more vacant than with the buildings. The land has remained unsold ever since Daisy left a year and a half ago, although there have been some interested parties.

At the invitation of the city, an Urban Renewal inspector, Charles LaFontaine, came to Plymouth and looked over the Daisy property. The realtors of the Daisy property admitted to LaFontaine that the land could easily be sold, but that the buildings, some 70 years old, were a liability. Glassford said that unofficial word now from the Urban Renewal office is in agreement with the city's conclusion. Because of a lapse in time, the city must re-certify its application. In doing so, it will submit more evidence that the city is doing much to revitalize itself, such as adopting new ordinances and codes dealing with housing.

Perhaps 1960 will decide the fate of Urban Renewal in Plymouth.

Mysterious Fires

A lighted cigarette may have been the cause of a fire Sunday morning at 2400 Beck Rd. which destroyed the interior of a small home. A neighbor who saw flames at the James Walker home called Canton firemen at 10:30 a.m. The owner had left for Monroe at 8:45 a.m. The house with two rooms downstairs and a single bedroom upstairs was a total loss inside, Chief Korte said. He estimated damage at $3,000. There was no insurance.

Because of heaviest damage in the area of the sofa, it is believed that a cigarette may have been the cause.

SYRACUSE N.Y. (UPI) — William Finnegan, who claimed he never locked the door of his trailer home in 20 years, began to do so after a burglar entered and stole six $10 bills.

Burroughes

supplying Burroughes with a greater water source. Since 1937 the plant has been served by a six-inch main owned by Burroughes. The commission plans to lay a 16-inch main down Plymouth Rd. that they believe will eventually tie into a Detroit water source that will come westward down Plymouth Rd.

The 16-inch main will be more than enough to supply Wheel-Truing and Burroughes. The pipe will cost around $60,000, of which Burroughes will pay $7,500. Like the old contract, the new one is subject to cancellation within a year's notice of either party.

Cancer Group

bers elected were Miss Neva Lovewell, Thomas Adams, and Dr. Karl Van Newkirk. The 15 member board meets four times yearly: the fourth Monday of September, November, February, and May. Mrs. Bartel, who is also Women's Activities chairman for the Western Wayne Unit, reported the meeting in Lansing which she attended along with 15 other members of the Unit. Other Plymouth representatives on the Western Wayne board are Norman Marquis and Dr. Willard Denhauser.

After accepting the resignation of Mrs. H.J. Brisbois as office chairman and board member, the members of the board emphasize the need for volunteers for office and service heads and for daily help in the office. Anyone interested in the volunteer work may call Mrs. Bartel or the local office.

Big Township

the frost goes deep within the next few months, the engineer stated.

Laying of the lateral sewers is taking place mostly in fights-of-way behind homes. It will be laid in the street on Southworth and Gold Arbor, however.

Because of the wide trench needed to lay the sewer without shoring up the sides, there have been some complaints from householders concerning their shrubs and trees outside the right-of-way.

Hamill declared, however, that most people have been quite cooperative.

In Green Meadows, the trenches will be around ten or twelve feet deep when the work reaches the eastern side. The engineer said that lots of underground water has been encountered by the contractor in Green Meadows.

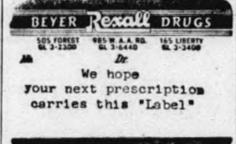

Chamber Launches

The essence of the support campaign is to solicit interest and participation as well as financial support from the broadest membership possible in the community, according to Barbour.

Two keys in the present support campaign are: 1. Direct emphasis on the features of the Chamber program, and 2. A revised method of making financial support possible.

Results of the campaign are also two-fold, namely, of course, enlarge the number of Chamber supporters but also to obtain points of view which will enable Chamber leadership and staff to develop more representative programs for the future. Parting words of the general chairman in Friday's meeting were, "We have the product and material to sell, now let's go to work."

INTERESTING PLYMOUTHITES

On her way "to the store" from her pride and joy, her cozy apartment on West Maple Street, Lucy prefers the second floor because of the view. Converted from a barn into two apartments it is painted bright red with immaculate white shutters and is a showplace of the area. Lucy enjoys her view of the changing seasons, her alcove bedroom, kitchenette and bath, just right for a bachelor girl with a million things to do.

LUCY WILLIAMS shown above studying Peter Hunt's "How-to-do-it" Book. The Pennsylvania Dutch artist attracted Lucy because of the unlimited number of colors and design that are suitable for this type art work.

Anyone who trades at Beyer's Drug Store on Forest Ave. knows Lucy Williams. She has about the highest seniority with Robert Beyer as any of his employees. She went into his Forest Avenue store when he started it about eight years ago.

Having a creative mind Miss Williams is always seeking new outlets to master and absorb. If it is interesting, something to learn, and greater enriches her life and the life of those about her, she is interested.

Her latest challenge is learning the technique of Peter Hunt, the great authority on Pennsylvania Dutch designs, that feature the colorful Dutch figures, hearts, cupids and bright tulips. She has sketch pads covered with experiments, determined to perfect her designs. As soon as she is satisfied (she is a perfectionist) she plans on doing some of the Peter Hunt art work on furniture belonging to her friend, Mrs. Harold Guenther.

Lucy's interests are not all in the art line doing things with her hands. She has become an accomplished grapho analyst, doing a column in the Plymouth Mail. She has letters to answer analyzing several months ahead, and is considered very shrewd at this profession.

She is also a new member of the Wednesday morning study group and this is the sort of thing "she eats up," plus a member of the B&PW. She has two degrees in cosmetology and is presently enrolled in a sketching class in Madonna College.

In her earlier years in her home town of Superior, Wisconsin, she played in an all-girl orchestra and traveled the countryside making music and having fun.

Lucy sets a busy pace, keeping house, working, assisting her many friends whenever she can, keeping up with her art work and her Handwriting Column, plenty of activity to keep anyone going full tilt.

All of these activities, including walking daily to work, must be considered miraculous, because although Lucy has the heart and mind for activity, she suffers a chronic arthritic condition and had her legs badly hurt in an automobile accident in 1955. It was necessary for her to have the will and to learn to walk again as though she were a small baby without a small baby's agile bones. A fall to Lucy could mean months of pain and bed.

Our interesting Plymouthite this week has many attributes, tops among them is brave determination.

Old Neighbors

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamill have returned from a month's trip visiting Mrs. Hamill's sister, Mrs. Stokers of Santa Ana, California, this week. While shopping there they discovered an old acquaintance, Mr. and Mrs. James O'Neal, who moved from Plymouth approximately four years ago. They now live in California.

When you bake sweet potatoes for dinner, double the number you need for one meal. Mary Morr, of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State University, says the extras can be used for dinner the next day. Just peel, slice and brown them in a little fat.

Other meetings this fall have included a dinner on Nov. 6 at the home of Mrs. Dewey Evans, with Mrs. Paul Simmons as dinner chairman. Mrs. Robert Foster of Chapter CD gave her report on the Supreme Convention of the P.E.O. Sisterhood held at Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

On October 16 the Chapter met at the home of Miss Helen Moore in Ann Arbor with Miss Susan Simmons and Mrs. H. Blomberg as co-hostesses. Miss Usha Roy from India, who is a P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship student at the University of Michigan presented an interesting program.

The first meeting this fall was held at the home of Mrs. John Boeve with Mrs. Douglas Hammill and Mrs. Eric Anderson as co-hostesses. An auction of parcel post packages was enjoyed by all.

To Women It May Concern

By MYRA COX

What are you doing for the next 10 days? How about going behind the iron curtain of will power into the pound-a-day, 10 day miracle diet? It's a miracle if we make it, but if I thought I had company well, I just might.

This is one of those high protein diet arrangements and we are not supposed to have the usual reducing "let-down" (it says here). It is not supposed to be followed for more than 10 days and we are advised to nibble on carrot sticks, celery sticks, apples or tomato juice if absolutely starving. The place to be generous is the meat portions, so here goes.

Breakfast is the same on each of the 10 days. It consists of half a grapefruit and clear coffee.

FIRST DAY

LUNCH: Two hard-boiled eggs. Half cup tomatoes. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Two lean hamburgers. Half head lettuce. Fresh or broiled grapefruit. Demitasse (small cup black coffee).

SECOND DAY

LUNCH: Three tablespoons cottage cheese mixed with chopped carrots. One slice rye bread toast. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Broiled half chicken. Half cup spinach. Mixed green salad. Baked apple. Demitasse.

THIRD DAY

LUNCH: Two scrambled eggs. One slice rye bread toast. Large sliced tomato. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Lean steak. Salad bowl with lettuce, celery and cucumber. Fresh or broiled grapefruit. Demitasse.

FOURTH DAY

LUNCH: Broiled round steak. Watercress or lettuce salad. Bran muffin. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Broiled halibut. Half cup stewed tomatoes. Coleslaw. Demitasse.

FIFTH DAY

LUNCH: Two hard-boiled eggs, topped with half cup spinach. Applesauce. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Broiled beef tenderloin or lean steak. Half cup broccoli or cauliflower. Half cup fruit salad. Demitasse.

SIXTH DAY

LUNCH: One slice cheese on rye bread toast. Applesauce. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Two slices broiled liver. Half cup cauliflower. Grapefruit salad. Demitasse.

SEVENTH DAY (SUNDAY)

LUNCH: Half a broiled chicken. Half cup string beans. Half cup fruit salad. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Egg and celery salad (two chopped eggs with chopped celery). One slice rye bread toast. Demitasse.

EIGHTH DAY

LUNCH: Large hamburger on rye bread toast. Sliced orange. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Two slices pot roast. Half cup broccoli. Carrot sticks. Fresh or broiled grapefruit. Demitasse.

NINTH DAY

LUNCH: Waldorf salad (with handful of nuts). One muffin. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Lean Fish. Stewed tomatoes. Cucumber and lettuce salad. Baked apple. Demitasse.

TENTH DAY

LUNCH: Cold beef or lamb. Half head lettuce. Applesauce. Clear beverage.

DINNER: Mushroom omelet. Lettuce and tomato salad. Half cup fruit salad. Demitasse.

What better time than after Thanksgiving and just before Christmas, the most festive time of the year. What a reward it will be for you to buy a new party dress at least one or maybe two sizes smaller. For 10 days, it would be worth it.

If you need further inspiration I can think of a lot of things in the offing during the coming weeks. There is the Christmas Dinner Dance given by the Newcomers Club which will be Friday, Dec. 18 at Fox Hills Country Club with cocktails at 7, dinner at 8 and dancing at 9.

The Plymouth Symphony Ball will be held Saturday, Dec. 26. Shirley Snowden and committee have been working on decorations to transform the junior high gym into a place of fantasy for this annual highlight of the Christmas season.

Fox Hills Country Club also will have their annual Christmas Holiday Dance Dec. 26, and this year will feature two orchestras.

New Year's Eve there will be a gala dance at the VFW Hall for members and their guests. Hal Young is chairman and promises surprises and fun for all who attend.

If you can't go it alone the Northville Eater-Beaters, a Taps group, (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) welcome all in Plymouth to join them on any Monday night at the Amerman School at 7:30. Call FI 9-0731, FI 9-0027 for further information. See you there!

GETTING in the Christmas spirit, wrapping packages and making Christmas bell name tags, Mr. Howard Hill, Mrs. Robert Fisher, Mrs. Ted Tyler and Mrs. Richard Vollick are preparing for the Newcomers' Club Christmas Dinner Dance to be held Friday, Dec. 18 at Fox Hills Country Club, N. Territorial. Guests are welcome and reservations may be placed with Newcomer Social Chairman, Mildred Vollick, GL 3-5131 or President, Gloria Fisher, GL 3-5557. Reservation deadline is Monday, Dec. 14.

Honor List

Mt. Pleasant—During the spring semester 263 Central Michigan University students had "B" averages or higher, making them eligible for the Dean's "Graduation Honors List." On the honors list from Plymouth is sophomore student Mariana Jensen.

Home Care of Sick Occupy Extension Groups in Vicinity

By Mrs. John Adams
GL 3-1562

Thoughts turned to Christmas when the Parkside Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. John Stone of 9324 Morrison on November 16. Items made at the Christmas workshop earlier in the month made a colorful display on living room tables. Included were pink and white feather trees, a Santa Claus puppet, and a green felt Christmas tree skirt.

The group witnessed demonstrations on making a bed with a patient in it, also on bathing a patient in bed, as Mrs. Wilbur Kincaid and Mrs. John Harper gave the lesson, "Home Care of the Sick."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Bowman of 9343 Morrison on December 14.

By Mrs. Alton Frederick
GL 3-0561

Mrs. Walter Outman, 45220 Joy Road was hostess to members of the Allen Extension Club.

A very informative lesson on "Home Care of Sick and Family First Aid" was given by Mrs. John Amrhein.

On December 2 a Christmas Workshop will be held at the home of Mrs. Harvey Vetal, 7098 Sheldon Road. This will be a planned potluck dinner beginning at 6:30.

Eta Psi Chapter To Donate Mitten Tree

By Marcella Fuelling
GL 3-5586

Eta Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their last meeting on Nov. 17 at the new Hartsough residence of Mrs. A. D. Walker. This was the first regular meeting of the new pledges who have already started their pledge training. Mrs. Craig Stover, Vice President, is in charge of pledge work.

Mrs. Forest Byrd was in charge of the program. She secured the services of Fred Beitner of Beitner Jewelry, Ann Arbor Trail, who spoke to the group about jewelry and displayed a tray of diamonds, pearls, and birthstones. He explained the different cuts of stones, the types of gold, and how the color is achieved on gold pieces. He told about some of the mysteries of work behind the story of jewelry and also displayed and discussed watches. It was considered by the members as an enjoyable and informative talk.

Foodstuffs for a Thanksgiving basket are being procured under the leadership of Mrs. Art Walker, Service Chairman. Each member donated articles for the basket which will be given to a local family. This is a yearly service project of the Chapter.

Plans are getting underway for a "Mitten Tree" for the Wayne County Training School children for Christmas. Each member will supply a pair of mittens for the tree. Anyone interested in helping to keep a child's hands warm this winter may do so by calling Mrs. Walker, GL 3-4446, and donating mittens for the tree. Any donation will be greatly appreciated both by the chapter and the children.

Mrs. Walker, the hostess, served refreshments to the group at the close of the business meeting.

Next meeting of the group will be on December 1. Mrs. William Bailey, 1554 Lexington Road, will be the hostess.

O.E.S. Plan Party

The Past Matrons of Plymouth Chapter No. 115 Order of Eastern Star will hold their Annual Christmas party at the home of Junior Past Matron Grace Hunt Dec. 8. A potluck dinner is planned for 6:00 and members are reminded to please bring their own table service. A highlight of the evening will be a gift for the revealing of "Secret Pals"—a secret which has been closely guarded for the past year. "Luncheon is Served" will be held in the Masonic Temple Dec. 8 at 12:00. Members and friends may make reservations with Wanita Hessler, GL 3-7396 or June Hadley, GL 3-4323.

ENGAGED

THE ENGAGEMENT of Nancy Mae Cort to Paul Allen Geiger was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Drayton J. Cort, 6864 West Six Mile Road. The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Geiger, 5300 Five Mile Road, South Lyon. Both are graduates of South Lyon High School. The bride-elect is a senior at Michigan State University, in the College of Home Economics, majoring in Child Development. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

MR. AND Mrs. L. Naylor announce the engagement of Mrs. Naylor's daughter, Nancy Eskridge, to Walter D. Smith. Nancy, formerly of Plymouth, now living in Dearborn, is a '59 graduate of Plymouth High. Walter is the son of the late Walter A. Smith of Plymouth. The couple plan a June wedding.

GREENS SALE

"Prelude to Christmas" will be staged by the Rosedale Garden Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association on December 8 at 1 p.m. at 9611 Hubbard, Livonia. There will be Christmas arrangements and suggestions and Christmas table settings. Christmas greens will be available during the afternoon. Tea will be served and guests are invited. Mrs. Robert Bruce and Mrs. Judson Jarvis are co-chairmen. Mrs. Charles Cook is the tea hostess.

The Plymouth Branch is not having their traditional greens sale this year. In lieu of this they held a green workshop to instruct members in making their own Christmas greenery decorations.

Recently Married Report From POE Sisterhood

In an informal ceremony for the immediate family Mary Stroud and James Robinson were united in marriage, Saturday, Nov. 21. Rev. G.M. Martin officiated in the United Brethren in Christ parsonage on Southwestern Ave. in Redford Township.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Betty Stroud of 653 S. Harvey, Plymouth. Her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Robinson, Norborne, Redford Township.

For her wedding the new Mrs. Robinson chose a street length blue nylon dress and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her maid of honor and sister, Carolyn Stroud, wore a white street length dress with gold trim. Robert Bulmer assisted the groom as best man.

Close friends and family honored the young couple at a reception following the 7:30 ceremony. They are presently at home in Plymouth.

Strassenflor (Road-Flea) Popular Car in Germany

BY URSULA KELL
 (Editor's Note: Another in a series of articles by Plymouth's Exchange student from Northern Germany. Her American parents are Mr. and Mrs. William V. Clarke and her "sisters" are Carol, 20, and Jill, 17, of 693 Burroughs.)

I have heard much talking here in America about the bike-riding Germans. After this talking it seems sometimes as if there are hardly any cars and if everybody, grandfather, grandmother and babies move by bicycle. Bicycles are used a lot, especially among the students, but we have quite a few cars, too.

Our little Volkswagen is even used in America. We have even littler types of cars. Our so-called "Strassenflor," (translated road-flea) is popular. They are about half of the size of the little Volkswagen and have 3 wheels. The door is not at the side but in front of the car. Usually there is no more than one person in the car, and they are squeezed together like herrings. Once in a while you see an American car. Then everybody is looking at this fancy, chrome thing and cannot understand what they do over there with so much room in a car.

Because our cars are so little, the purpose is mainly the necessity of moving rather than for luxury. The doctors have a car, the businessmen and those who really need it for their profession. But, for example, most of the teachers do not have a car and for a simple reason, they don't need one.

My father rides a bicycle to school or walks, which gives him fresh air and a good exercise. If we want to visit friends and they live close, we walk or we take a bus or train for a longer distance. Trains are less expensive than buses. Students and families with more than two children pay only half of the regular price.

There is one disadvantage you have to be there at a certain time. Some friends of mine had a party in another town. Just when we had the most fun, I had to leave, because my train left.

When I came to America, I thought it would be natural that I would see California, Florida or the Niagara Falls. I saw it with the eyes of a European. Since I am here, I realize the vast distances in your country. A trip to California would be the same as a trip from Germany to Africa.

Thanksgiving Activities of Newburgh Neighbors

GL 3-3797
 Mr. and Mrs. James Greenwood of Newburgh Road did some pre-Thanksgiving entertaining on Sunday, Nov. 22, when the following folks were their dinner guests: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Greenwood and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Uher from Painesville Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. James S. Eeles and son Kenneth and Mr. and Mrs. James Snyder all of Wayne and Clyde Greenwood of Detroit. Leonard Ritzler of Plymouth Road is home after spending a week in the beautiful northern woods of Michigan where he hunted deer with many other folks. His luck, however, was not too good and he came home without his game. He reported having a fine time, despite his disappointment in not getting a deer.

The Rhoda Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newburgh Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. James Tomlinson on Newburgh road, Tuesday, Nov. 24 and Lauretta McGhee, Ruth Waltz, Florence Black, Hope Brey Ann Everett, Edna Smith, Marilyn Gray, Martha Smith, Mary Hoffman, Jean Epley, Marie Knapp, Jean Greenwood and Josie Merrell were centered around the group's plans for a square dance to be held on Saturday, Dec. 5. The original plan for the dance to be held, which was the Jefferson school, has now been changed and the dance will be held at the Newburgh Methodist church hall on Ann Arbor Trail and Newburgh Roads. The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. and fine music will be provided as well as a good caller, so let's all be gay and carefree and join the fun. Tickets will be sold at the door for your convenience. This same circle will also have their annual Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 15 and at that time will reveal their silent sisters, to whom they have been giving gifts and sending cards to, all this past year. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold Kanpp on Farmington Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kregger of Gray avenue, Livonia, have had as their Thanksgiving week-end guests, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kregger of Traverse City, Michigan. While in Livonia, the Anthony Kreggers entertained the Arthur Kreggers with a night out, when they attended the Ice Follies at the Olympia in Detroit on Friday, Nov. 20. Also attending with this foursome were Mr. and Mrs. John Kregger of Horton avenue.

Thanksgiving Day guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Desmond of Joy road, were Mr. and Mrs. Gail Leckner and daughters, Gail and Marie of Hoy avenue, Livonia and Fred Nubel of Detroit. Meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Remy on Newburgh road, Monday, Nov. 23, was the Sarah Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newburgh Methodist Church. Members present for the evening were Mrs. Wendell Ellis Mrs. Warren Pittery, Mrs. Carr Lampton, Mrs. Wesley Priebe, Mrs. Henry Mende, Mrs. Paul English, Mrs. Joseph Jenkin, Mrs. Leonard Ritzler, Mrs. James Remy, Jr., Mrs. Jerry Baldwin and Mrs. Roger Merrell. This group is also planning their annual Christmas party which will be held on Monday, Dec. 28 at the home of Mrs. Henry Mende on Newburgh road with a 50 cent gift exchange.

Wayne. The Greenwood's live on Newburgh road in Livonia. Hope you got to help the Boy Scouts of America on their Good Turn Day this past week. Goodwill bags were passed out and then picked up last Saturday. If you didn't receive yours or didn't get a chance to fill it up before the appointed time of pickup, you still may do so by calling the Goodwill Industries and they will provide you with the bag or will pick up your items. Congratulations to all scouts who did such a fine job in covering their individual areas.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS
YOUR 'PRESENTS' ARE REQUESTED

Dear Amy:
 Please try to help settle this question. I'm so tired of hearing the same discussion after each wedding. This is what you hear from the parents of the couple married. "The dinner cost $6.50 per person and so-and-so only gave the children $10 or $15 dollars. Why, that just paid for the dinner."

We see each other every week-end at church and he brings me either to the gate or my girl friend's home which is next door to mine. I love this guy and his parents are real fond of me also. What must I do? Let my parents separate us or not? There are others I could go with, but none that suits me as he does.
 Lonely

Dear Lonely:
 If he suits you as no other, why don't you find out why he doesn't suit your parents? Let my parents separate us or not? There are others I could go with, but none that suits me as he does.
 Lonely

Dear Amy:
 I'm married to a very wonderful woman for 16 years. We're celebrating our anniversary soon and I'd like to give her something different or do something for her to show her how happy I am and how much I love her. I have been thinking about this for quite a while and can't come up with anything really unusual. What would you suggest?
 Still in Love

Dear Mrs. F. M.:
 To me, people that make dinner weddings and expect to recoup their expenses from the guests just about take the cake. A cash gift should be what you feel like giving and certainly no more than you can afford. Attend, and be sure you ear-mark your gift for the newlyweds. If parents continue to be disappointed with the making a financial mockery of one of the most solemn days in their lives!

Dear Amy:
 I am 16 years old and have been going with a 19-year-old boy for 2 years. We have become very intimate and I think that we should get married instead of continuing the way we are. He says he doesn't want to marry yet. My mother is beginning to become suspicious of what is going on between us so what should I do?
 Please answer because I need advice desperately!
 P. B.

Dear Amy:
 I have been going with a boy for 4 years now. His name is John. He is a wonderful boy, very courteous and considerate. He is leaving for college soon. I am still in high school. When he leaves, I want to remain only friends and not serious. How do I tell him without hurting his feelings?
 Bewildered

Dear P. B.:
 What you are doing is immoral and indecent! If you know what is good for you, you will get out of this situation before you get yourself into more trouble than you can handle.

 I am 22 and going with a very nice young man. He's considerate, good company, has a fine personality and is liked by everyone except my parents; and they fuss and growl everytime they know I go with him and I'm afraid to invite him to my home. Afraid they'll say something to hurt his feelings, and I wouldn't have that at all.

Members of Mayflower Post are reminding that the December 2 meeting, the regular business meeting, has been postponed. A joint meeting with the Auxiliary will be scheduled at a later date in lieu of this meeting. Because of the fact there will be no meeting until December 16, membership chairman Luttermoser is afraid the 1960 membership contest will lag. As of this date, the team totals are about equal. All members are urged to make a few visits or phone calls to recruit 1960 dues; remember that eligible veterans who have never belonged to Post 6655 will count three points in the contest, if signed up. We have a long way to go with the contest closing in less than two months, January 15, 1960. The December 16 meeting will be social and free refreshments are provided as is the custom before Christmas. This would be a fine time to renew comradeship in your VFW Post, so plan to attend.

General Motors V-P To Direct Junior Achiever Fund Drive

Anthony G. DeLorenzo, vice president of General Motors in charge of public relations staff, has been appointed general chairman of the 1960 Junior Achievement fund campaign in southeastern Michigan. The announcement was made by the chairman of the JA Fund Raising Committee, H. John Lowry, president of the Michigan Mutual Liability Company. Date of the 1960 Junior Achievement fund campaign is February 1 through February 25.

Mr. DeLorenzo will direct the activities of some 500 campaign solicitors in their efforts to raise funds for the non-profit business educational organization operating in the southeastern Michigan area. Currently there are 7500 teenage after-school business executives operating 357 miniature Junior Achievement companies in southeastern Michigan, the largest JA area in the nation.

Working Mothers Defended
BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (UPI) A U.S. Labor Department official disagrees with the theory that working mothers are a major cause of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Alice K. Leonard, director of the Department's Women's Bureau, said in fact that they are good planners and good organizers, able to take good care of their children.

LEGAL NOTICE

CLIFFORD MANWARING, ATTY. 274 S. MAIN, PLYMOUTH STATE OF MICHIGAN COUNTY OF WAYNE ss. 480,294

At a session of the Probate Court for said County of Wayne, held at the Probate Court Room in the City of Detroit, on the tenth day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifty-nine.

Present Ira G. Kaufman, Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of FLOYD H. ARMSTRONG, also known as FLOYD HENRY ARMSTRONG, Deceased.

An instrument in writing purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased having been delivered into this Court for probate:

It is ordered, That the Fourteenth day of December, next at ten o'clock in the forenoon before Judge Joseph A. Murphy, at said Court Room be appointed for proving said instrument.

And it is further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published once in each week for three weeks consecutively previous to the time of hearing, in the PLYMOUTH MAIL, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Wayne.

IRA G. KAUFMAN, Judge of Probate.

I do hereby certify that I have compared the foregoing copy with the original record thereof and have found the same to be a correct transcript of such original record.

On U of M Honor Roll

ANN ARBOR — University of Michigan students in the College Honors Program of the College of Literature, Science and the Arts total 587 this fall.

There are 216 first and second semester freshmen, 190 sophomores, and 181 juniors.

The three year old program is designed to give challenging educational opportunities to superior students. Special sections of regular courses, honors courses, and counseling by faculty members on the Honors Council are among the opportunities available.

First semester freshmen interested in the program are chosen on the basis of high school records, test scores and other information, says Prof. Robert C. Angell, director of the Honors Council. Usually freshmen visit the U-M during the summer for orientation, testing and interviewing prior to selection.

U-M resident freshmen in their second semester and first semester sophomores are considered if they maintain a 3.5 average and show the potential for further successful scholarship. (An "A" is equal to 4 points, a "B" to 3 points.)

When the program began in 1957, it was designed to progress from a one year course to a full four years. This fall, the junior course began. In September, 1960, a senior class will be added. This will make the U-M one of the few institutions in the U.S. with a full four-year honors program.

Following are honors students in your area: Livonia: Jean A. Pfeffer, 11330 Merriam; Andrew Sabersky, 32210 Myrna; Beverly C. Stone, 37760 Seven Mile Rd.; Plymouth: Joann Nagy, 500 Warren; Mary J. West, 967 Ball St.; Charles J. Westover, 1405 Maple; Robert A. Westover, 1405 Maple.

Don't forget tomorrow night, Dec. 3, is our potluck supper at 6:30. The program will consist of pictures of Africa and the Holy Land by Mr. Stein from Wayne at 7:30, followed by the regular business meeting. Note the change of time for the program.

The various committee chairmen for the ensuing year are: Health, Louise Gillis; Education, Esther Blood; Charity, Molly Tracy; Conservation, Kenneth Lunn; Home Economics, Louise Fritten; Agriculture, Roy Amrhein; Legislative, John Gillis; Youth and Juvenile, Virginia Fehlig; Community Service, Claude Eckles; Executive, Charles McConnell; John Oldenburg and Kenneth Lunn; Publicity, Anna Nash; Reporter, Mary Fillmore.

Our new Health Chairman would like as many as possible that sewed on cancer pads last year to meet tomorrow afternoon to sew; also decide on a time when it is most convenient for the majority to meet for sewing. Anyone willing to lend a hand will be more than welcome. You need not be a Grange member but you will be helping in a Health and Community service that everyone hopes they will never have to use.

Call Mrs. John Gillis for information or come and sew. Help is also needed at the center.

THREE KINGS on their way to see the Christ Child provide the plot for "Amahl and the Night Visitors" being presented here Sunday, Dec. 20. From left are Andrew McKinley as King Kaspar, Leon Lishner as King Balthazar, David Aiken as King Melchior and the Page, who will be played by Nat Sibbold of Plymouth.

Story of Amahl Likely to Become Famous Piece of Christmas Lore

Somewhere in the world lived a little crippled shepherd called Amahl, with his mother, an impoverished widow. Nothing is left to them of the little they ever had, and they are now faced with hunger and cold in their empty house.

Then three Wise Men, on their way to Bethlehem stop at the hut and ask to be taken in for the night. Amahl and his mother welcome them as well as they can.

During the night, the mother steals some of their gold and is caught. This is how "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will open when the famed TV opera company visits Plymouth Sunday, Dec. 20.

The "Amahl" seen in the Plymouth High gymnasium will be the same one as seen for nine seasons on NBC television. The story of Amahl is likely to become America's most enduring contribution to Christmas lore since "A Visit from St. Nicholas."

The opera has been hailed by critics and television viewers ever since it was first shown on Christmas Eve 1951. Four people who sang the principal roles in that first production are still singing them.

They are Rosemary Kuhlman (as the mother) who has appeared on Broadway in "The Consul" "Music in the Air" and "Courtin' Time". The mezzo-soprano has starred on radio and is a member of the New York City Opera Co.

Andrew McKinley (as King Kaspar) has sung opera with La Scala at Milan, and with companies in England, Chicago and New York. Kaspar is the king who is deaf and eccentric.

David Aiken (as King Melchior) acts as producer and general manager for the company. He has appeared on NBC TV Opera Theatre, "Opera Cameos" and the Ed Sullivan Show. On Broadway he sang in "The Consul" "The Girl in Pink Tights" and "The Saint of Bleeker Street". Melchior is the king with the long white beard and oldest of the trio.

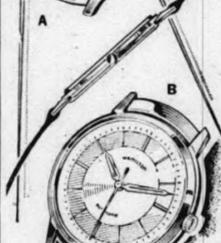

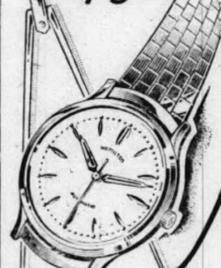

Leon Lishner (as King Balthazar) has been a leading singer with the New York Opera Co. and many other opera organizations in the U.S. and abroad. He was featured in three world premieres of the works of Gian-Carlo Menotti, composer of

Tools Out of Sight

When garden work is finished for this year, tools should be put away with more care than after a few hours work. Use a stick to clean off soil that has dried on any part of any tool. Then cover all metal parts with oil to prevent rust from winter's dampness and hang up each tool or stow it away neatly some place. Set aside any rakes, hoes or hand tools that have broken handles or lack a screw to be repaired on long winter evenings. Sort out fertilizer and spray materials, too. Discard any small amounts, particularly of spray chemicals, that aren't worth saving. Store fertilizers in cans, boxes or barrels and cover them lightly so they will be as good next spring as they were this summer. Sprays and dusts are worth saving if liquids can't be stored where they won't freeze and dusts or dry spray materials so that dampness can't affect them. Cap or cover tightly all spray materials and store on a shelf out of arm's reach, particularly by youngsters. When all this has been attended to, don't forget to return the tool that was borrowed from the Smith's down the street six months or so ago.

Enthusiastic Crowd Hears Chamber Of Commerce Plans for New Year

Filled with enthusiasm and confidence, a packed audience poured out of the Masonic Temple Tuesday night as the 38th Annual Banquet Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in Plymouth adjourned. The affair was a complete sell-out.

Several important items of business were transacted including a name change, by-laws revision and a new program. On motion from the floor, the Chamber adopted the name of Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

By-laws changes included a clause to enable the establishment of separate divisions in the Chamber and a provision to require constant attendance to Board of Directors meeting.

The Program of Work of the Plymouth Chamber was presented by the manager and was drawn from numerous sources including surveys and group opinions from members and the community at large. A three-fold program will treat industrial the Associated Spring Corp. who, in turn, introduced the 1960 Board of Directors.

James E. Gheen Annual Dinner Speaker

An outstanding address was delivered by James E. Gheen who outlined a five point approach to the solution of community problems:

1. Know what you want to do
2. Want to do it hard enough.
3. Expect to be able to do it. HAVE CONFIDENCE
4. Persistently determine to do it. PERSIST
5. Sacrifice

One of his outstanding comments was to the effect that the function of the Chamber of Commerce is to see that the job gets done.

In attendance at the meeting were representative of governments and school board associates, community and Chamber leaders, as well as representatives of the business community. The following members of the executive committee will serve in 1960: President, Charles Stofko; secretary, Paul Chandler; first vice-president, William Dunn; second vice-president, William Sempliner; treasurer, Harry Roberts; Trustees, Earl West, Wendell Lent, Gerald Fitch, Arnold Johanson, Carl Shear, James Thomas and Sy Cooper.

Plymouth High School
By Gloria Bowles

TGIW (Thank Goodness It's Wednesday ... and Thanksgiving is tomorrow, and we have Friday off, and that means four days without any school) was the cry of PHS'ers a week ago today. They are now back at their desks hard at work.

Thanksgiving vacation saw the return of '59 graduates to the hallowed halls of PHS ... saw Bob Westover, now of U of M, talking with the teacher he had for senior English, Miss Elizabeth McDonald. Was told that Carin Stofko, who is also at Michigan and who was a four pointer in high school, was back speaking to her Latin teacher, Miss Alita Hearn.

The play party, held recently saw several alumni of the Thespian Club coming home from college to see the premier play of this year's crop of actors and actresses. Bob (Westover) was there, full of news about his classes ... he was the recipient of the English key at the high school, but was still getting theme criticism from his Michigan professors.

Pete Signorelli, in a bright furry red vest, talked about his roommate, Plymouth '59'er Tom Schomberger, who wouldn't turn off the light late at night (or was it early in the morning!); Italian Pete says the room is now minus a lovely chandelier ... is your shoe still in good condition, Pete? Pete's not a lily shenanigans, though ... he's studying like mad ... is a pre-law student ... loves every minute of it ... he's been waiting for this challenge for a long time.

Jolly Henry Nascoe, also from Michigan, was there in Steve Johnson, who appeared in "Our Town," last year; best form; also present was Cara Munshaw, now at Michigan State, joined the crowd at Alice Olendorf's house.

Wednesday was a big day in the high school last week. The library was the setting on that day for the radio debut of four Plymouth High seniors, whose ideas on "Does Discipline Develop Moral Character?" were taped for a WJR program, Junior Town Meeting of the Air, heard at 7:30 last Saturday night. Sociology students who participated were John Stephenson, Bob Wall, Barb Browne, and April Corey. WJR's Jim Garrett was the moderator.

Three University of Michigan debaters fascinated students Wednesday as they discussed union power in the United States. Plymouth debaters — Jim Kroff, Chuck Ellis were seen by this reporter—listened especially intently.

There was only one affirmative speaker, pitted against two negatives. At any rate a show of hands at the close of the arguments indicated that a majority of students were convinced by the one affirmative that union power should be curbed.

Friday is a fateful day; it signals the end of the second marking period. PHS'ers get report cards a week from today.

Senior card sales are over ... sigh of relief. The big question: Did we make $600 for '60? Can't tell now, for book totals weren't tallied by press time.

Incidentally, guess who was on the sick list last week, cause she was just plain run down? You're right—Sandy Bailey, card sales chairman.

Local Civil Air Patrol Helps Celebrate National Organization's 18th Birthday

Plymouth members of the Civil Air Patrol are this week joining in the organization's week-long observance of its 18th anniversary.

The Civil Air Patrol, civilian auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force, now has 70,000 members — 35,000 of them are male and female cadets, 14 to 18 years of age.

One of these cadet groups is in Plymouth. It is Group 21 of Michigan Wing 63, organized since December 1957. Heading the local group is Senior Captain Emerson Robinson of Plymouth. In charge of cadets is Cadet Second Lt. Tim Graves, a Plymouth High senior.

Li. Graves said this week that more members are desired and that those interested can phone him at GL 3-6541. The group meets each Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in the High School Annex auditorium.

Young people who make up the cadet population of the CAP are afforded opportunities designed to whet a teenager's appetite for adventure, excitement and education.

Intensive programs open to cadet members are integral elements of the CAP's continuing effort to provide America's youth with timely aviation education.

Outstanding among the activities are the International Air Cadet Exchange, the National Drill Competition, the Jet Orientation courses, the summer encampments and the International Drill Exhibition.

Participation in most of these activities is determined by merit. This past summer, for example, 145 teenage male cadets were selected to represent this country in the annual International Air Cadet Exchange throughout Europe. The costs of this program are borne by the CAP Incorporated, not by taxpayers.

The Drill Competition contest drew 220 male cadets to the national contest in New York. Last summer 52 male cadets had flown five hours of actual jet time on cross-country flights they charted themselves. Fifty-two girl cadets received ground orientation in jet flying.

The Cadets can spend 10 days to two weeks each summer at various USAF installations, after which they receive their Certificate of Proficiency.

Music Camp's Dr. Maddy Talks Before Rotarians

Dr. Joseph Maddy, president of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, was the guest speaker at the Plymouth Rotary Club last Friday.

The internationally-known man who founded the Music Camp told Rotarians about the history of the camp and how he came to found it. He also related some details about the camp's future.

Dr. Maddy had conducted young peoples' orchestras for many years in various schools before he was convinced that there were many serious boy and girl musicians willing to devote their summers to study music.

So 33 years ago he opened the Music Camp at Interlochen and went heavily into debt for many seasons until the camp began operating in the black. The non-profit camp is affiliated with the University of Michigan.

In September 1961, Dr. Maddy hopes to establish a National Arts Academy at Interlochen. The academy would offer a secondary school and college preparatory program in the arts during the regular school years.

It would be for students of high school age who have exceptional talent and skill. It is planned to enroll 200 in grades 9 through 11 the first year and to add the 12th grade in the second year of operation.

Dr. Maddy, whose home is in Ann Arbor, was introduced to Rotarians by Wayne Dunlap, conductor of the Plymouth Symphony.

License Report

Three Plymouth drivers were among the 420 Michigan motorists who had their driving licenses revoked or suspended during the past week, Secretary of State James Hare announced.

The three local people were: Edward Lee Duty, 1344 Sheldon Rd.; Doyle Alfred Rowland, 13909 Gottschalk; and Robert A. Smith, Jr., 8889 Brookline.

Michigan Bell Begins Project For Subdivision

Work will begin next month on a $13,973 project to provide new telephone facilities for subscribers in the Pilgrim Hills subdivision and additional facilities in the Ridge Road and Hanford Road areas, it was announced today by Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

William Dunn, manager for Michigan Bell Telephone Company, said the project will enable the company to fill new orders for homes in the subdivision as well as upgrading old service along Ridge Road from Ann Arbor Trail to Hanford Road.

Nearly two miles of aerial cable will be installed along Ridge Road north from Hanford to Joy Road, and along Warren Road west from Ridge Road to Napier.

Scheduled for completion in February 1960, the project will use cable ranging in size from 25 to 150 pairs of telephone wires.

Library Gets Ancient Bible
 HANOVER, N.H. (UPI) — The Baker Library at Dartmouth College has been given a copy of a "Breeches Bible" once owned by John Alden of the Plymouth Colony. The pages of the 324-year-old book have yellowed somewhat, but it is otherwise intact.

Sewing Machine Saves Time In Busy Season

When preparations for the holidays make every day busier than the one before, the sewing machine is a timesaver if it's used for some of the usual hand sewing. Handwork that can be done without attachments includes darning, basting and gathering.

Certain attachments not only lengthen the list of handwork to be done by machine but also help to shorten the Christmas list. Of course, such useful attachments as the zipper foot or cloth guide make good Christmas presents for the woman who sews.

The quilter attachment makes it possible to stitch by machine through several layers of material and to make rows of stitching in a quilted design. It's possible to quilt by machine several layers of cotton material or wadding between top and bottom layers of satin, taffeta or chintz.

Quilting by machine, which can be done in a fraction of the time it would take by hand, opens up great possibilities for Christmas gifts. On the personal side, it isn't too late to start a skirt, jacket or dressing gown. For the house, it might be a quilted coverlet, bedspread, bed or dressing table skirt, lingerie cases or pillows or satin for a living room.

The ruffler attachment, which shortened working time for making curtains, also simplifies making the full-skirted petticoats beloved by the younger set. For apron making, the ruffler can be adjusted to produce either ruffles or pleats.

The multiple stitted binder is a device that stitches bias binding neatly and evenly along both edges in one operation. And bias binding is almost as generally used for decoration of aprons and cottons as ruffles or pleats.

To be sure that a gift won't have bias binding sewed on in a wavy line, that the quilting design is even, and a ruffle is a ruffle and a pleat is a pleat, practice on scraps of material if one of these attachments is new to you. Of course, before doing any practice handwork on the machine, read the instructions that came with the attachment.

Ralph Jaffee, 18-year-old senior, has resumed studies at Brookline High School after thumbing his way 9,000 miles around the country at a total cost of $139.74.

SINCERE PILGRIMS of Mrs. Ethel Perkins' first grade, Farrand School, spoke out loud and clear and knew their part perfectly, bringing a Thanksgiving message to all the pupils of the school during a pre-holiday program. The entire class sang a Thanksgiving song and the

THE BRAVE INDIANS, Christopher Billmore and Donald Allen with John Bartons (rear) carrying their Thanksgiving dinner looked a little more authentic when they were "on stage." They are members of Mrs. Adina Rice's fourth grade that participated in the Farrand School program last week. The fourth grade "Story of Thanksgiving" was told in silhouette and showed Indians, Pilgrims, fathers, mothers, and children gathering their food for the first feast.

ANOTHER DOG TICK

The brown dog tick can be a troublesome household pest. Unlike the American dog tick which may have attached itself to your pet this summer and stays outdoors in winter, the brown dog tick lives indoors. It won't bite man, but it will attach itself to a dog at any stage of its life. When the tick has gorged itself, it falls off the animal and the female tick may lay 2,000 or more eggs in a crack or crevice. They'll crawl under baseboards, radios, clocks, furniture or curtains but are most likely to be found in places where the dog likes to sleep or lie.

To get rid of infestations of brown dog tick, clean thoroughly the areas indoors frequented by the dog. The dog also must be protected from these pests.

PHS Alumni To Swim At Central Michigan

Bruce Curtis, sophomore at Central Michigan University is a member of the 1959-60 Chippewa swimming team which opens its season against Albion on December 31.

Bruce, who attended high school at Plymouth, is expected to compete in the backstroke event with the Chippewa squad.

Eight returning lettermen will lead the CMU team this season, after the Chippewa squad dipped to a 2-7 record last year, the first losing season since 1953 at Central.

Coach Leo Wisneski expects this year's swimmers to be a considerable improvement over last winter's tank team which was composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores.

Despite its losing dual season, Central finished in third place in the Inter-state Conference meet last year, only two points behind second place Western Illinois.

Traditionally a small-college swimming powerhouse, Central has a 43-18 dual meet record in its six-year tank history. Included in the record are two IAC championships.

State Has Jobs For Foresters

The Michigan Civil Service is presently recruiting men for seasonal employment in state parks and forests. The work offers an opportunity for a summer of outdoor activity next year.

Two types of jobs will be available.

The first group of employees will be responsible for detecting forest fires and organizing facilities in an area for the prevention and suppression of forest fires. For this work, applicants must be not under 18 or over 46 years of age.

The second group of employees work in state parks as rangers who issue camp permits, enforce park rules, and help maintain the grounds and buildings. These parks are located in every section of the state. For these positions applicants must be not under 18 years of age and a high school graduate.

The jobs usually run from May until October and have a salary beginning at $72.20 a week.

Applications for these examinations can be obtained through your local Michigan Employment Security Commission or by writing the Michigan Civil Service, Lansing 13, Michigan. Applications must be in the Civil Service office no later than December 2, 1959.

Some Tips For The Holidays

Holiday fatigue is a common affliction among children and grown-ups alike. Fortunately, most persons recover with no ill effects, but, according to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, fatigue also is a great accident producer, and is the underlying cause of many disabling injuries. Family members should plan leisurely Christmas shopping well ahead of last minute rushes. Plan parties and social activities so that there is also time for rest. Don't drive when tired or drained of energy.

Colds and grippe are especially prevalent during the Christmas season. The Institute for Safer Living advises sufferers who drive to carefully check the directions on any cold medicant used to make sure that it will not produce drowsiness. Remember, if you are sleepy, don't drive.

Even the family trash can merits a gay Christmas decoration, for it should be kept handy and busy after the gifts are unwrapped. The Institute for Safer Living says you should dispose of flammable wrappings and other household trash without delay. The flicker of a candle, a lighted match, or glowing cigarette in a littered room may quickly turn joy into grief.

Little tots cannot select safe toys for themselves. Parents must choose for them. The Institute for Safer Living poses these questions for parents about to purchase Christmas toys: Will the toy ignite or burn? Will it break into small pieces? Can it cause cuts or punctures? Can it cause chafing or peeling? Was lead paint used to finish the toy? Is the toy likely to cause injury if thrown by a child? For maximum safety your answer should be "no" to each question.

Coach John McFall's swimmers open at Ypsilanti on December 4th, and return home the following day for the home opener against Northville on December 5th.

Fast Start Of Rocks Is Goal

Plymouth's 1959-60 basketball team may find answers to a number of questions this week when they open at Ypsilanti Friday, December 4, and return to Plymouth the following evening for the home opener against Northville, Saturday, December 5.

After weeks of spirited practice sessions, Rock Coach Jim Doyle hopes to find out in the two non-league games just how good his team is.

"We'll have to outscrap, outrun and outfight our opposition," Doyle says, "because it's no secret that we're small." The two tallest members of the team are Captain Randy Egloff and center Dan Stromick, who hits the tape at six feet.

The smallest member of the team is guard John Salan at five feet four. Fully recovered from his football injury, Salan will see a lot of action at guard.

How this size team will perform against some opponents that feature six feet five inch lads is one of the questions that may be resolved this weekend. Bentley has two such youngsters.

A couple of wins over the weekend would settle matters for last season's losses to Ypsilanti and Northville and would do much to give this year's team the confidence and momentum needed for a successful 1959-60 season.

The cagers took only a day off during the recent Thanksgiving vacation practicing on Friday and Saturday. Everyone is reported in excellent shape with the exception of forward Don Argo, who suffered a sprained left ankle in practice last week. It is doubtful if he will see much action.

"He's one of our best scorers," Doyle says, "and one of our best jumpers."

Eleven players will don game uniforms for the Rocks this season. In addition to Egloff, Stromick, Argo and Salan they are: Jim Thompson, forward; Wayne Sparkman, forward; Jim Ralston, guard; Dave Mynatt, guard; Dave Palmer, guard; Dick Hubert, guard, and Dale Gulbransen, forward.

The varsity games start at 8:30 p.m. JVs play at 7 p.m.

SEASON STRATEGY could be the topic of discussion here, as Coach Jim Doyle assembles his 1959-60 varsity basketball team.

Egloff, center-forward, who is also the team captain.

Second row: Art Nelson, guard; Dave Palmer, guard; Jim Ralston, guard; Wayne Sparkman, forward; Dick Hubert, guard; John Salan, guard, and Gary Fillmore, manager.

Doyle's team opens the season December 3rd at Lincoln Park. The home opener is December 10th with Bentley.

Physician Becomes Lawyer

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Dr. Ralph J. Gambrell has mastered two professions. After building up a successful practice as a physician, he decided to become an attorney.

"Medicine pays me a good living," he said, "but the law gives me a chance to match my wits against others. I like them both." He recently won his first case.

GOOD EGLOFFS greet the announcement of Randy Egloff's (right) selection as the All-State quarterback in Michigan for 1959. Doug (Orlan) Egloff, Randy's father, earned All-State recognition for Plymouth in basketball in 1938.

Awards Heaped On Plymouth QB

Honors were delivered to Randy Egloff's doorstep with the daily papers last weekend. The six foot, 180 pound quarterback was named to two All-State teams and three All-Suburban Teams by Detroit's daily newspapers.

The Times and Free Press named him their number one All-State and All-Suburban League quarterback, while the News gave him statewide honorable mention after naming him their All-Suburban Quarterback.

news in stride, while concentrating on the opening of the basketball season this week. He is captain of the basketball team.

He also pitches on the baseball team and it is reported that a number of baseball teams have been interested in his pitching arm.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug (Orlan) Egloff of 336 Adams street, Plymouth. His father was a three letter athlete for Plymouth in 1938 and earned All-State Honorable mention in basketball.

SPORTSEEN

By BILL NELSON

Plymouth Rocks keep floating home at vacation time. Swimming Coach John McFall had no less than eight ex-swimmers splashing around the pool during his practice sessions last week.

"Ex" actually is something of a misnomer since all of them have gone on to colleges where they are still swimming. John Walker reported in from Michigan State, where he's a sophomore diver on the Spartan team.

Bruce Curtiss represented Central Michigan. He's a sophomore backstroke, who earned a letter at Central in his first year. Carl Melow was back from Henry Ford Junior College.

Far and away the biggest delegation, however, was from McFall's old alma mater, Western Michigan. Gary Wright, Bob Isbister, Byron Williams, Don Cash and Jack Vincent were all home for the turkey and turned up to talk and workout.

All Plymouth high school fans join in the tribute to Randy Egloff. He was picked as the All-State Quarterback by the Detroit Times and the Detroit Free Press. He was the number one quarterback on the Detroit News All-Suburban Team and since honorable mention on their All State.

No one could be prouder than Doug Egloff, who used to play basketball, baseball and football for Plymouth. He was good enough to earn honorable mention as an all-stater in basketball in 1938. Some of his sports ability rubbed off on the boy apparently.

The odd part of the selection process is that it usually leaves room for only one man per school. The honor allows only eleven players per Detroit paper and most of them are duplicates.

With the vast number of excellent high school players in the state, then, it is no surprise that the papers consciously, or unconsciously, spread the honor around to different schools.

With a fellow like Egloff on your team, it is tough for another candidate, like fullback Wayne Sparkman or guard Carey Black.

Both were hindered in the selection process by the plethora of good players available combined with the fact that no paper could overlook Egloff's poise, ability and general leadership.

Each Rock fan will have his own recollection, but our favorite is the Trenton game where Egloff took the team 60 yards in less than two minutes. Some will prefer his 98 yard kickoff return that harnessed Bentley's Bulldogs. No one will quarrel with his selection.

We do think, however, that one of the dailies could have added Sparkman. It wouldn't have weakened their all-state teams.

Plymouth coaches, who may have fears about the departure of Egloff with next June's graduating class, can take heart. There are three younger male Egloff's in the family. Dick, 13, David, 6, and Ronnie, 4, promise to provide Plymouth with football talent for years to come.

Scholars might ponder their opportunities too. Randy is fourth in his class.

Swimmers Open At Lincoln Park

Coach John McFall's "improved" swimming team plunges into the 1959-60 season, seeking immediately to settle one of the few debits in last year's account.

Tomorrow evening they travel to Lincoln Park to meet a team that last season sunk the Rocks 49-47. That meet wasn't decided until the final event.

Overall last season the Rocks posted a 10-3 record, including 10 league wins and three non-league losses.

Coach McFall has been pleased with the practice sessions to date, but this first meet will provide the first test of the season under competition.

Holding Rally
Here Dec. 7

Rev. Ernest Eades

Several hundred people will be in Plymouth Monday, Dec. 7 for the Ann Arbor Zone Foreign Missionary Rally at the Church of the Nazarene on Ann Arbor Trail.

Honored guests at the rally will be Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Eades, Nazarene missionaries to the Cape Verde Islands. British born and educated, Mr. Eades and his wife have had 11 years experience among the Cape Verdeans who are Portuguese nationals. Mr. Eades will illustrate his talk with slides.

There will be both afternoon and evening services during the rally. The Rev. R.N. Raycroft, pastor of the Plymouth church, will give the welcome during the afternoon. The afternoon program will also include the sending off of a mock "mission for missions" led by Mrs. Twyla Williams of Plymouth. Mrs. Eades will deliver the afternoon message.

At the 7:30 p.m. service, Rev. Eades will give the message. A basket supper will be provided in the parsonage basement between services.

Men In Service

Tommy Ebersole

Tommy Charles Ebersole, Seaman Apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber H. Ebersole of 615 Starkweather Ave., Plymouth, has been chosen honor man of his Navy Recruit Company now in training at the United States Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

The members of each recruit company designate one man from their group as honor man. The honor man is selected on the basis of leadership, sportsmanship, military bearing, initiative, response to orders, qualifications of a good shipmate, and application to Recruit Training instruction.

Before entering the Navy in September of 1959, Ebersole was graduated from Plymouth High School and was employed by Burroughs Corporation in Plymouth. He was a member of the Explorer Scouts. The young blue-jacket plans to be either a Navy yeoman or discharging clerk.

CITY MANAGERS CORNER

In order to have an orderly and healthful community, it is necessary to construct fine streets and extensive sewer systems and to provide for an adequate supply of water. Usually, such projects are so large that they cost more money than the city budget alone can afford.

Consequently, on many of these projects, such as street paving, street widening or curb and gutter work, the city can pay only a part of the total cost from the general funds of the city.

The remainder must be paid by the people of the city in some way other than by general taxes. One method for providing these funds is through special assessments, which are charged to those properties which are benefited by the construction project.

Another method is through a benefit charge under a revenue bond financing program for a utility, such as water or sewer.

A special assessment is very different from a revenue bond financing program. Under a revenue bond financing program, the property owner does not have to pay anything until he makes use of the utility that has been installed. For example, if a sewer line which is being financed by a revenue bond program is laid past a vacant lot, the lot owner does not have to pay his portion of the improvement until he builds on the lot and ties into the sewer line.

A special assessment, on the other hand, is deemed to benefit property immediately and thus it becomes due immediately. Therefore, if a street paving project being financed by a special assessment program runs past a vacant lot, the property owner must pay the assessment charge at once, even though there is no building on the lot. At the time the assessment roll is confirmed by the City Commission, or at the completion of the project, an assessment charge begins to gather interest at the rate of 6 percent per year on the unpaid balance of the assessment. Failure to pay such an assessment when due would result eventually in a tax delinquency, and if the assessment is not paid, the property would have to be sold at a tax sale.

Because the consequences for failure to pay a special assessment are so serious, there is a detailed procedure the city must follow to create an assessment roll. This procedure is designed to protect the citizens from having the city enter into a large project of this nature too rapidly. These safeguards are specifically written into our charter, and failure to follow them will void the assessment roll.

The city pays for these projects from its own funds, and the special assessment charges, which may be paid over a period of time, usually in 10 payments (9 years), are used to repay the city for a part of the money it has spent. This enables property owners to get the work done at a cost far less than they would pay if they did the work on their own.

Next time we will begin to follow through the procedures required by our charter to create special assessment rolls. This actually is the way we provide for improving the appearance of our city and provide for the necessary construction projects which make Plymouth one of the most desirable communities in which to live in southeastern Michigan.

Send Leader, Wife to Holy Land

A trip through the Holy Land for the regional head of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints began last Sunday, thanks to the leadership of a Plymouth couple.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. Blair McClain left Metropolitan Airport Sunday afternoon for the trip that is a continuing program of education for full-time ministers.

Mr. McClain is president of the Detroit International Stake which is a regional part of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints with world headquarters in Independence, Mo.

A Stake in the church is a coordinated unit of integrated congregations of its members within a stipulated area.

Mr. McClain has been assigned to this area since July 1946 and presides over 25 congregations and 5,000 adherents, including the Plymouth church on Schoolcraft Rd.

Rev. Blair McClain

It was Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Fitch of Plymouth, who began promoting the trip for Rev. McClain. It was their desire that such projects be undertaken as a special and extra contribution by certain members throughout the church. At first it was planned that only Rev. McClain should go, but so great was the desire on the part of other members and friends that funds were sent to Dr. Fitch to hold especially for Mrs. McClain. Contributions arrived in various amounts from $1 to $500 per person.

Rev. and Mrs. McClain will record their travels through photography. They will take slides and movies throughout their three weeks of touring which will include London, Lebanon, Jordan, Syria, Israel, Athens, and Rome. They will give lectures throughout their own church area and invitations have been extended in many other places to show the pictures and tell about their travels.

Contacts have been made for personal greetings and welcomes in some of the stops. One of the biggest returns of the trip will be the enrichment of ministry for a caravan of cars with friends will travel to the airport to see them off.

Mrs. McClain has just ended a two-year project of making the entire Christmas scene from plaster of paris, paper and paste. She hopes to find carved animals abroad to complete the scene.

Christmas Gift for the Whole Family

THERE ARE lots of presents waiting to be unwrapped but the gift the family will always remember is the one they gave themselves, new furniture for their family room. The style is Early American, prized for its informality and warmth by families all across the country. The love seat, left, has a wing back and spindle arms. It is balanced by another love seat on the opposite side of the fireplace, a classic form of room arrangement. The ladder-backed arm chair is a design favored since the time of the Pilgrims. A five-sided apothecary chest, with drawers and open shelves, tops a console, although it could be used equally well on a desk. The console base has both drawers and see-through grilled cabinet doors — plenty of storage space here. The wood is maple.

Suburban Living

Protection for Wood Furniture

The high temperatures and dry atmosphere of rooms during winter is hard on wood furniture. To protect the finish and also bring out the beauty of the wood, there's a simple treatment. For the treatment, fill a bottle 1/4 full of gum turpentine and 3/4 full of boiled linseed oil. The turpentine should be gum, not distilled, and the linseed oil purchased boiled. Shake the bottle, then pour enough of the mixture into a cup of hot water to cover the surface. Dip a soft cloth into the oily top layer and rub on the furniture. Wipe with another cloth wrung out in hot water, then with a dry cloth. When the mixture in the cup cools, throw it away. Do not ever attempt to re-heat this mixture.

Shining Silver

Whether the family silver is sterling or plated, it should be bright and shining for the holidays if not all the year around. Use a soft cloth and a good silver polish for cleaning silver. Then wash in warm, soapy water and dry thoroughly. Always remove tarnish, particularly that caused by eggs, immediately after washing. To prevent tarnishing, never place silver on rubber mats or leave rubber bands in the drawer where silver is stored.

Before teaspoons or serving dishes are used, fill them with hot water for ten minutes. Silver dishes may be kept warm in a hot oven but should never be placed directly on stove or burner.

Natural GAS

YOUR SILENT SERVANT

Your Natural Gas Comes A Long Way

The natural gas you get at the turn of a valve has traveled hundreds of miles. Laying pipelines to carry it to you presents many engineering problems.

Rivers are only one of the hazards which must be overcome on the pipeline's cross country journey. Since gas is lighter than air, 30 pounds of ballast are used for each foot of 30-inch pipe in a water crossing.

Corrosion is another headache engineers have minimized by coating and wrapping the pipe before it goes into the ground.

Millions of dollars in equipment join with labor and know-how to keep natural gas flowing to your home or place of business. Natural gas is your dependable low-cost servant.

Lasting Gift of Furniture Will Make Your Home More Beautiful For Christmas, Days to Come

Choose Units for Comfort From Variety of New Designs

You may never be able to convince your youngsters that Santa climbed down the chimney with that new sofa or arm chair or chest. Yet long after all the other presents are broken or worn out, the youngsters—and their parents too—will connect memories of Christmas with the piece of furniture that suddenly made your home so much more beautiful.

Many Americans, probably most, give their house a present at Christmastime. Furniture is a gift of utility... of comfort... of lasting pleasure. It is a gift that becomes part of the family's "experience" and sometimes attains great emotional significance as time goes by, the Home Furnishings Industry Committee declares.

This Christmas a family of five, who lives in a Chicago suburb until a few months ago, will be decorating a tree in their new home in North Carolina.

They Took it Along

Last year they bought something for their home that they wanted a long time; a many-drawered apothecary chest. They dispensed of a lot of their furniture when they moved, deciding that it might be more economical to refurnish than to transport it a thousand miles, but they took the chest with them.

It stands in the new family room, each of its drawers cataloging a different type of small clutter — spools of thread, stationary, drawing instruments. As long as it is there it will remind five new southerners of a Christmas up north with the snow deep outside when Bobby was nine, Lise was five and Mary was just learning to walk.

A Treasure to See

A Yuletide gift of furniture for your home will hold a happy memory in the future, too. Perhaps you will decide on a "treasure piece," an outstandingly beautiful chest or desk or chair that will compel attention of any one entering your home.

Or perhaps your family has grown so that there are not enough comfortable places for the whole family to sit together at television.

Sometimes one member of a family may need special attention. A teen-ager might be delighted by a desk.

Whatever you decide upon, you will find a variety of models in any style and in any price range.

Food Facts For The Pre-Winter Season

Turkey loaf, and why not—now it might taste good again and it is still reasonable on the market.

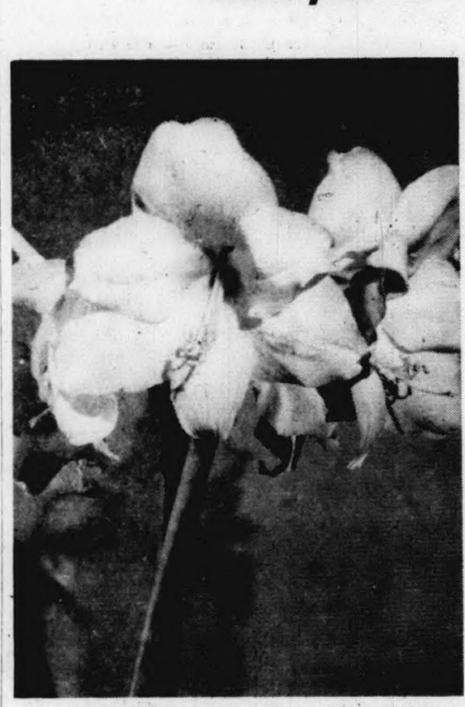

TURKEY LOAF

2 cups cooked turkey, diced small
1/4 cup fat
1 cup hot milk
1 cup soft bread cubes, packed firmly
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 eggs beaten
1/4 cup celery, chopped
2 tablespoons green pepper, minced
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped

Melt fat in milk. Combine milk with remaining ingredients. Pour into a well-greased loaf pan approximately 8x4x3 1/2. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. for 35-40 minutes. Let stand for 5 minutes before unmolding. Serve with creamed mushrooms if desired. Cut in about 1-inch slices. Serves 8.

Amaryllis for Indoor Gardens

AMARYLLIS, variety Joan of Arc, displays four enormous white flowers indoors in early March from December planting.

By Dorothy H. Jenkins

The most spectacular indoor flower of the winter is amaryllis. It's spectacularly easy, too, since it grows from a bulb which will certainly bloom if it has been allowed to mature properly and so form a flower bud.

Fresh bulbs can be purchased by December. Pick out a good, firm bulb. It needn't be the most expensive amaryllis (price differs somewhat with varieties) but if it's too cheap, it's likely not to be flowering size. Look also for a bulb with a swelling close to the neck, for this indicates a flower bud.

Selecting a pot in which to plant is almost as important as selecting the amaryllis bulb. The pot should be at least an inch wider all around than the bulb. Plant with two-thirds of the bulb above soil level, which should be about an inch below the rim. An inch of broken crock or pebbles in the bottom takes care of drainage. Then fill with a mixture of soil, compost or humus and sand in about equal parts plus a teaspoon of bonemeal for each pot.

Water well and then set the potted bulb aside, not necessarily in the dark but in a dim place, neither too hot nor too cool. Here it stays to grow roots and until a green tip pushes out of the bulb. Water occasionally if the soil has become very dry.

It may take only three or four weeks or as long as three months before there is any sign of green growth. If the first green tips are thin and from the center of the bulb, these are leaves. And when leaves appear first, it's more than likely that the amaryllis bulb won't bloom this winter.

How the amaryllis is treated after flowers fade determines whether or not the bulb will bloom next winter. Cut off the flower stem, but continue to water regularly to encourage foliage growth. Liquid fertilizer once a fortnight is beneficial.

When warm spring weather comes, the amaryllis in its pot can be moved outdoors. Sometime during summer the foliage will start to turn yellow and can be pulled from the bulb. After this, keep the bulb and soil in which it's been planted dry until November. Then the cycle of new growth and bloom starts again.

Amaryllis grow and flower outdoors in Florida and the warm areas of the Southwest. Particularly in Florida hybridizing has been done to obtain purer colors and different shades of flowers. Other new varieties have enormous blooms on shorter stems and there are even some delightful small-flowering varieties such as the red Christmas Joy.

Potato Facts

Yes, white potatoes occasionally do burst in the oven. Mary Morr, of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State University, explains that moisture in the potato creates steam which expands inside the potato. New crop potatoes are much higher in moisture than storage potatoes. Trick is to prick or slit the skin before the potato goes into the oven. Then steam has a way to escape.

Leather For Clothing, High-Fashion

By Barbara Slade

Leather has been made into more high-style garments this year than ever before. The sturdy, hard wearing jacket that has long been a favorite with youngsters and grown-ups hasn't disappeared, but leather now is displayed in cardigans, boleros, pull-overs, vests, coats, hats and other accessories. The high style often is emphasized by fur trimming.

Suede, whether it's colorful or a delicate white or pastel, is velvety in texture. Yet there's no reason why it shouldn't wear as well as a garment of smooth leather.

Improved tanning techniques and special chemical treatments now make leather garments look better longer. Techniques of preparation give leather some resistance to stains and provide a surface that dries quickly with less fuss.

The label will state whether or not your new leather garment can be wiped clean of smudges with a damp cloth. Many suedes as well as smooth leathers now can be cleaned with a damp cloth.

These improvements in the surface of leather don't mean it can be handled carelessly. A scratch or a tear is not a home repair. But gloves in seams, whether of ripres or coat, are easily stitched up again. Use heavy duty thread and a leather needle which is shaped differently and is longer than ordinary needles.

Heart Assn. Warns of Cold Weather Dangers

A warning against strenuous exercise while out in cold weather was made by Donald S. Smith, M.D., Pontiac, President of the Michigan Heart Association, at a recent hunting, shoveling snow and pushing cars as three activities among others which may tempt a person to do more than he is in physical condition to do.

The combination of cold weather, heavy clothing and vigorous exercise was pointed out by Dr. Smith as potentially dangerous for some people. The body must work more in low temperature to maintain body heat. The heavier weight of winter clothing also adds to the work of the heart. Ten pounds of winter clothing is like carrying ten extra pounds of body weight and this extra weight may be especially hard on a person who is already overweight. Vigorous exercise after a big meal, particularly for those over 40, can overload the heart.

Hunting gives a lot of pleasure but at the same time it can be hard work. Tramping through snow, wearing heavy clothing and carrying a rifle can add up to heart strain for those hunters who are not in good physical shape, Dr. Smith said. The same is true when shoveling off the drive and sidewalk or pushing a car which has stalled or slid off the pavement, he added.

Dr. Smith made the following recommendations for protecting the heart: Get in shape and stay fit by regular exercise, BUT build up gradually and lose weight slowly under your doctor's supervision. Work easily and take frequent rests.

Minutes of the City Council

Monday, November 2, 1959
A regular meeting of the City Commission was held in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall on Monday, November 2, 1959 at 7:30 P.M.

PRESENT: Comms. Cutler, Shear, Sincok, Terry, Wernette and Mayor Guenther.

ABSENT: Comm. Hartmann.

Since Comm. Hartmann was out of town, his absence was excused by the Commission.

Moved by Comm. Cutler and supported by Comm. Sincok that the minutes of the regular meeting of October 19, 1959 be approved as written.

Carried unanimously.

The Mayor opened the hearing on the following special assessment rolls: No. 235, N. Harvey Street 2' bituminous recapping, Church to Junction; No. 236, S. Harvey Street 2' recapping, Church to Ann Arbor Trail; and No. 237, Blunk 2' bituminous recapping, Church to Farmer. After all persons had an opportunity to be heard, the Mayor declared the hearing closed.

The following resolution was offered by Comm. Wernette and supported by Comm. Sincok.

WHEREAS, the Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, has reviewed the special assessment rolls covering improvements and given all interested parties an opportunity to be heard and has found the same to be correct, as follows:

NO. IMPROVEMENT AMOUNT

235 N. Harvey, Church to Junction, 2' bituminous recap	$4,303.57
236 S. Harvey, Church to Ann Arbor Tr., 2' bituminous recap	1,591.03
237 Blunk, Church to Farmer, 2' bituminous recap,	2,641.68

and

WHEREAS, work on the aforementioned projects has been completed,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the City Commission does hereby approve and confirm said special assessment rolls.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the City Treasurer be, and he is hereby commanded to collect the various amounts shown on special assessment rolls numbered 235, 236, and 237 in 2 equal installments, the first installment upon the aforesaid rolls to be due upon confirmation hereby, and like installments due annually thereafter until the assessments are fully paid with interest on all installments from and after 30 days after this confirmation of the assessment roll, at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

Carried unanimously.

The City Manager presented a communication from the U.S. Department of Commerce, indicating that the sum of $650.00 will be due by January 1, 1960, in order to obtain the block statistics survey from the 1950 Housing Census for Plymouth, said information to be used in connection with the Urban Renewal projects.

Moved by Comm. Terry and supported by Comm. Cutler that the City Manager be authorized to transfer $650.00 from Unappropriated Reserve to the Engineering & Planning account of the General Fund for the purpose of obtaining the block statistics survey from the 1950 Housing Census for Plymouth.

Carried unanimously.

City Manager Glassford and Chamber of Commerce Director Millikin orally reported on the progress being made relative to improving the proposed gift of a park from Perry Richwine and a sign to be erected thereon, and were requested to continue with their investigations and report any progress.

Donald Sutherland and Roland Lutz of Sutherland & Robson, Public Accountants, presented the annual audit for the year ending June 30, 1959.

Donated by Comm. Shear and supported by Comm. Sincok that the annual audit be accepted for study and that the matter be placed on the agenda for November 16, 1959 for discussion.

Carried unanimously.

The Clerk read a proposed ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 233, Sidewalk Ordinance, calling for a $2.00 permit for inspection of construction of all sidewalks.

Moved by Comm. Shear that Ordinance No. 233, Sidewalk Ordinance, be passed its third and final reading, in full, and become operative and effective on November 24, 1959.

Carried unanimously.

The Clerk presented a proposed ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 182, Zoning Ordinance, to zone annexed cemetery property, change the zoning of lots at the westerly end of Pearl Street, and change the zoning of two lots on Goldsmith Street.

Moved by Comm. Terry and supported by Comm. Wernette that the proposed ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 182, Zoning Ordinance, be passed its second reading, by title only.

Carried unanimously.

Moved by Comm. Wernette and supported by Comm. Shear that Ordinance No. 238, an ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 182, Zoning Ordinance, be passed its third and final reading, by title only, and become operative and effective on November 24, 1959.

Carried unanimously.

The Clerk read a proposed ordinance creating a Public Safety Department.

Moved by Comm. Shear and supported by Comm. Terry that the proposed Public Safety Department ordinance be passed its first reading.

Carried unanimously.

The Clerk read a proposed ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 180, Heating Code, designating the persons who shall comprise the hearing board of examiners and limiting the expiration date of licenses.

Moved by Comm. Cutler and supported by Comm. Sincok that the proposed ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 180, Heating Code, be passed its first reading.

Carried unanimously.

The Mayor appointed the following persons to a Water Policy Study Committee: Comm. Cutler, Chairman, Comms. Terry and Sincok and City Manager Glassford.

Moved by Comm. Shear and supported by Comm. Wernette that the appointments of the Mayor to the Water Policy Study Committee be approved.

The committee to consider a n y possible Detroit Edison offers was set up on Oct. 22. Officials of the Detroit Edison Company plan to sell the company's water rights on Barton, Argo and Superior ponds in Washtenaw County.

STRICTLY FRESH

Main ingredient of a "secret" recipe is the ability to keep your mouth shut about its makings.

An old-timer is a fellow who remembers when a chap needed mistletoe to steal a kiss.

Fellow we know bought all his Christmas lights on the pay-as-you-glow plan.

Have you ever noticed how much noise Christmas tree needles make as they drop to the floor on New Year's morning?

Ideal boss is one who can put his foot down without stepping on someone else's.

Bouncing Baby
Anthony Scarrott, 22 months old, tumbled out of his carriage in Bath, England, walked through a door into a coal chute, fell 11 feet into the cellar, got up and tottered through another door into the Avon River. He was pulled out by a neighbor—with only minor bruises for the trouble.

Letter of the Law
Juvenile Judge John J. Grossi of Jersey City, N.J., threw the book at a teen-ager convicted of driving a motorcycle without a license. He ordered that the youth pay a $25 fine and write a 2,500-word essay on the meaning of motor vehicle laws.

Cold Turkey
Jefferson, Iowa, residents, their minds apparently on Thanksgiving Day, cheerfully joined in picking up a cargo spilled when a trailer truck crashed. The truck was loaded with turkeys.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Junior's Name was "MUD"

Red Jackson's seven-year-old, Junior, was passing by the local beauty parlor the other day. He looked in the window and saw a lady with one of those mud packs on her face.

Busting with curiosity, he walked in and asked her why she had all that stuff on. The lady was taken back for a moment but politely answered, "It's to make me look pretty."

When the beautician removed the mud pack, Junior took a close look at the lady and commented, "It didn't really work, did it?"

From where I sit, count on children to tell the truth—sometimes, the embarrassing truth. Maybe we adults could use more of that. For instance, maybe we ought to admit that tolerance "doesn't really work" until we eliminate all our intolerances—even to respecting a neighbor's right to enjoy a quiet glass of beer. Good neighborliness begins when intolerance ends...and, in truth, we all ought to work towards that end.

Cherry Relish

A cherry relish adds color and zest to a holiday or family dinner. Combine 1/2 cup sugar, 4 teaspoons cornstarch, 3/4 teaspoon salt, a generous pinch of ginger (about 1-16 teaspoon) in a saucepan. Drain and save liquid from 1 can (1 pound) water-packed, pitted, tart red cherries. Stir cherry liquid and 1/2 cup water into dry ingredients. Add 1/4 cup raisins. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Boil 1/2 minute. Remove from heat, add cherries, 1 teaspoon lemon rind, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, and 1/4 teaspoon red food coloring. Serve hot or cold. Yield: about 2 1/2 cups.

Outdoor Boxes in Winter Dress

Window or planter boxes are getting dull looking now that geraniums and other summer-flowering plants have either been removed or been frost-bitten. Cut branches of evergreens an excellent filler without any necessity for pruning or spraying. Spruce, balsam, hemlock or any evergreen that can be obtained conveniently will look fine for months. Thrust the branches into the soil deep enough so that they won't be blown away. Branches of red barberry, winterberry or any of the hollies, the gray bayberry or silvered twigs placed here and there among the evergreens will add a festive note for the holidays.

PLYMOUTH'S NEWEST business and a unusual one too — the selling of lapidary supplies, opened two weeks ago at 412 N. Main St. (near Amelia St.). Called the Hobby Novelty Shop, it specializes in the selling of stones to hobbists, making of jewelry and other supplies to hobbists. Shown at left is Mrs. Roy Pursell receiving one of the two grand opening awards from the owners, Helen Holtzlander, center, and Marian Antle. The owners make their own jewelry by sawing up large rocks and minerals. Over 600 specimens are carried.

BY GEORGE SPELVIN

For the past two weeks I've been advising you to see "Mary Stuart," the Schiller drama that concerns the volatile personalities of two English Queens, Mary and Elizabeth. Hope you enjoyed the show as much as I did. Eva LeGallienne projected every shade and nuance of Queen Elizabeth until you could have sworn history had turned back its pages and you were present at her court, not at the Cass Theater. The entire evening had this breathless quality with the marvelous acting of Signe Hasso, Staats Cotsworth, Bruno Gerussi, and Robert Goddier contributing so effectively to the feeling of reality.

Mrs. LeGallienne's scene where she debates the signing of the death warrant for Mary was a masterpiece. Tears came to her eyes, as she struggled inwardly in this highly dramatic scene. Dr. Tyrone Guthrie did the directing and deserves much of the credit as this drama speeds along with a taut sense of suspense. Not once during the evening does a person find his interest lagging.

My only regret is that a production of this caliber is only going to stay in town for a mere week. Three weeks would have been too short a stay. Here was drama of the highest order with some of the most competent actors yet seen this year in Detroit. Let's hope Mr. Ken Swartz can huddle with Sol Hurok in New York and have this wonderful play back in town after its spring stint in the New York cement jungles. "The Pink Jungle" with its weak first act could take a lesson from Herr Schiller and Dr. Guthrie. Of course, it's not too fair to compare comedy with so intense and classic a drama as "Mary Stuart."

Signe Hasso in the lead role of Mary, Queen of Scots, delivered her death scene in an electrifying manner. Her last plea to her Heavenly Father had old George's spine tingling. It isn't too long to hear "Bravo's" being shouted.

ed in the Cass Theater, but I heard them during the ten curtain calls the other evening for Schiller and Guthrie's "Mary Stuart." Let's hope to see more action packed historical dramas of this nature in the seasons to come.

Rogers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" opens at Lydia Mendelsohn Theatre in Ann Arbor tonight (Wednesday) and will continue through Saturday. You might want to see Judith Heric daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Heric, 9317 Southworth, sing and dance in the role of Carrie. She has the delightful song, "When I Marry Mr. Snow." This song has always been one of my favorites. "Carousel" is being produced by MUSKET, the University of Michigan all-campus student musical organization. Another lead role, that of Julie Jordan, is being sung by Diane S. Franjac. Miss Franjac is the daughter of Dr. Marion Franjac, 37355 Eight Mile, Livonia. If you have always enjoyed the songs "If I Loved You" and "You'll Never Walk Alone," drive over to Ann Arbor and see this musical. I'm sure our local ladies will provide top flight entertainment.

Masonic Temple in Detroit has booked some stellar attractions for the first two weeks of December. First on the list is the Ballet Russe. Alicia Alonso and Igor Youskevitch, two great ballet stars, will appear as guest artists. "Swan Lake" will be done on Friday, December 4th and Saturday the 5th. There will be matinees on Saturday and Sunday at 2:20 p.m. A second ballet company will come to Detroit and the Masonic Temple on December 8th for six exciting days — The Polish State Folk Ballet.

The "Slask" company is notable in that each member possesses an outstanding voice as well as outstanding choreographic skill. This different type ballet company augments their efforts with a full symphonic orchestra. All sounds to old George like a tremendous show and might warrant your theatrical attention.

The TV spectacular seen on the home tube takes hours of work and cost sponsors hundreds of thousands of dollars. Locally, during the football season we had our own version of a spectacular TV presentation when the Plymouth High School marching band would take over the field for the pre-band show and at half-time. Watching the half-time ceremonies on Thanksgiving Day over TV, I let my mind wander (as it often does) back to those crisp Friday nights as I walked up to the games.

I could hear the band coming a way with its oomph-paahs and clear cut melodies while still a couple of blocks away from the field. Stout hearted music played with gusto warms my heart. I love a band; more than that, I love a band that blows hard with the music still sweet and recognizable. Band director James Griffith has that kind of band with his Plymouth horn tooters. Their formations have been well-created and tell the story well. Mr. Griffith informed that in the coming weeks several events similar to the Chow Mein Banquet have been planned to raise money for the band. Incidentally, the Chinese Chow idea netted close to $250 for the Band Club. The Club needs some two thousand more American dollars before they will have enough cash for their quota. They hope to send all band members to Interlochen for advanced musical work this summer. Good idea.

You know those half-time productions looked easy, but the band members practiced long hours. In fact, long years to be able to clip off those routines with such ease. And without that big baton that Jim swings so studiously, I'm sure the results wouldn't have been as effective. We're looking forward to next year's productions and hoping that occasionally a half-time show during the basketball season would be pleasant relief.

Boxscore on Broadway: "The Highest Tree" by Dore Schary can be cut up for firewood and hauled away. Audiences found the show too talky and no action. "The Girls Against the Boys" closed last week. Even the fine wit and comic capers of Bert Lahr couldn't keep audiences coming. Producers might have tried "pavola." "The Tenth Man" by Paddy Chayefsky won the approval of all critics; another hit for Dr. Guthrie, our versatile director mentioned earlier. "Sound of Music", latest Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, drew only four raves, two mild approvals, and a rejection from Walter Kerr who thought the whole show was too sweet for words and even for music, too. Well, you can't please them all. Boxoffice boys have already invested $500,000 of that 2 million dollar advance sale on the "Sound of Music."

One of the pleasing trends in stereo amplifiers is toward more weight. Before stereo records started the boom in stereo equipment, left was regarded as an indication of quality in amplifiers. It took a good man to lift the best monophonic amplifiers without grunting. The reason was the weight of the power and output transformers. In contrast, the first stereo amplifier could be lifted easily in one hand. Now the swing in quality stereo amplifiers is the other way, such as in Altec's new model 353A. It weighs 35 pounds. This is not the only example of increased weight — and better transformers — in new stereo amplifiers. Bell's Carillon, with 30 watts on each of its two channels, is heavy. So is Leank's Stereo 50, with 25 watts on each channel. Altec's 353A has a "cruising" output of 25 watts on each channel and costs about $200. There is not much point in going over the specifications here, except to say that they are what you should expect of an amplifier in this class. One feature that should be mentioned is an attachment back of the chassis. The center channel is provided by an extra, secondary winding on each transformer. This channel borrows sound from the right and left channels on records or tape. A center channel prevents a "hole in the middle" effect, even when the outside speakers are a considerable distance apart. Another use of the middle channel is to provide monophonic sound that may be another part of the house, or on the patio. An easy way to determine how far the speakers should be apart is a stereo system is to put them on either side of a television receiver. Move them out or in until the sound from the two speakers seems to be coming from the TV set. Then they are correctly spaced. Long before stereo records of the 45-45 type were being issued, Rudy Bozak had perfected an outfit with two speaker systems on one frame. It was his B-304, and it is now available in a somewhat wider range of cabinet styles, since the stereo boom has widened the market for it. It is a fairly expensive speaker system for stereo, running up to the $850 range for provincial cabinetry. The speaker systems are the same in both provincial and contemporary cabinetry, but the contemporary cabinetry costs about $200 less and does not affect the sound. The two speaker systems in the B-304 are the systems from the monophonic 302's, put back-to-back on the infinite baffles Bozak uses for all his speakers. Doors that cover the front of each system project the sound outward and the angle at which the doors are opened can be varied according to the placement of the stereo system. Each of the two speaker systems in the B-304 includes a 12-inch bass driver, with two high-range speakers on a strap across them and a mid-range speaker above the bass driver. Bozak rates the range of the B-304 between 40 and 16,000 cycles per second. The crossover is at 800 and 2,500 cps and Bozak says the B-304 provides an effective separation of about six feet. The B-304 is excellent for persons with limited space and for persons who do not want to be bothered with phasing or spacing individual speaker systems and who want a built-in stereo effect. There is one thing: it takes an honest 30 watts — continuous watts — or more to operate each of the two speaker systems in the B-304. If you use less, the speaker simply does not live up to its full possibilities.

Winter Dangerous For Stupid Drivers

Winter's recent snowfall was a rather pleasant sight, but Livonia Chief of Police James N. Jordan, speaking what is in most everybody's mind, today reminded drivers that it's a long time between the first pretty snowflake in the fall and the last stormy one in the spring.

And in between, probably a long, tough winter — from the standpoint of moving traffic smoothly and safely on local streets and surrounding highways, particularly during blizzards, sleet storms, or after deep snowfalls.

Chief Jordan, who recently warned drivers to be prepared for the coming of difficult driving weather, sees the recent light snowfall as a timely warning for car owners who have been "letting things slide."

"Nobody wants to get stalled or hurt in an accident this winter,"

Chief Jordan said, "and our officers and the snow-clearing crews will do their best to keep traffic moving. But sometimes Old Man Winter wins a round. When that happens there are two kinds of drivers — those who get ready for winter and those who didn't. The 'didn't ones' are the ones who have to be towed out of traffic snarls and accidents."

What does the chief ask of local drivers?

"I'm asking every driver to check his winter driving safety equipment such as defroster-wipers, tires, tire chains, etc. But, above all, I'm asking him to check and change his driving habits. Drivers who depend on quick stops when streets are slippery are behind the times. Winter is here, and it's time to substitute winter driving practices and schedules for out-of-date summer habits."

Democratic Primary Bout Appears Cinch

By ELMER E. WHITE (Michigan Press Association)
LANSING — One jumped in—another jumped out. Secretary of State James M. Hare although denying a report that he is off and running for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1960, has left little doubt he considers himself in the race.

State Treasurer Sanford has just about counted himself out. Brown, like Hare, is a three-time winner on Gov. G. Mennen Williams' team.

A year ago, Brown was among those mentioned as possible contenders for Williams' job when the Governor steps down. He ran strong in the 1958 election, displayed an earthy touch, and cultivated backing in rural areas, where he was known as "Farmer Brown."

But Brown indicated he has no interest in a primary struggle.

There are those in party leadership who say it would be just as well if Brown did not run. They say it would be easy for opponents to pick on the man who held the state's purse strings during the period of fiscal crisis, however removed he may be from the cause of the crisis.

A primary race is expected among Democrats when Williams calls it quits.

Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson is gaining a little support but is not himself convinced he is ready for the big leap.

Supreme Court Justice George Edwards, a former union organizer has strong backing in labor circles and among party leaders. But he has offered no encouragement to those who think it is about time to groom an heir to Williams' throne.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams lurks as a dark horse, as does Detroit City Councilman Ed Carey, former House minority leader.

Democratic State Chairman Neil Stabeler appears content to stay behind the scenes and denies he will make the race himself.

Small wonder Michigan's Secretary of State is a front-runner in the 1960 election sweepstakes. The name of James M. Hare is carried around by every Michigan motorist who has kept his driver's license up-to-date. Motorists filling out forms for the 1960 car license tabs will find it's not hard to find the name on the forms.

Sale of the green on golden yellow tabs lagged more than 25 percent below purchases during the first 17 days of 1958 sales.

How do we know? From one of the almost daily press releases mimeographed by Hare, a leader in the fight for the public's right-to-know who is fast becoming the best known Michigan Democratic officeholder outside of the Governor's office.

The 1960 legislature can expect to hear from Jim Hare on his proposal to create a Michigan consumer protection office.

Hare, capitalizing on early November news developments, said there was an urgent need for a coordinating consumers' protection agency in Michigan.

"The cranberry scare, the stories on hunters asphyxiated by defective gas heaters, the expose of false and misleading television commercials... all point up the growing concern of the public and governmental agencies regarding the lack of protection enjoyed by the American consumer," Hare said.

ISSUES ARE SHAPING up for the 1960 election campaign.

House Speaker Don R. Pears (R-Buchanan) told a Grand Rapids Republican rally efforts to get a sales tax and a constitutional convention will be major issues.

Republicans are apt to have a candidate who will make sure a constitutional convention is an issue. Paul D. Bagwell, GOP candidate for governor in 1958, has been keeping the issue—and himself—before the public.

Bagwell has several suggestions for revising the constitution, including a recommendation that governors get four-year terms, with a limitation of two terms.

Bagwell insists the constitution should not be changed in piecemeal fashion. He said the 51-year-old constitution has been amended 69 times, 47 more times than the Federal Constitution.

"Michigan is like a huge Gulliver bound by Lilliputian ropes, struggling to get to her feet against these countless knots," Bagwell said.

ST. CATHERINES, Ont. (UPI) — Cabbies in St. Catharines will have that well-scrubbed look from now on or else.

City police were ordered to see to it that the city's 55 taxi drivers report to work clean-shaven, wear chauffeur's caps with badges prominently displayed, have shoes shined and wear pants that are pressed and shirts buttoned at least to within one button from the neck.

Hospital costs in the United States have risen more than 50 per cent in the past 10 years.

Handwriting Is Clue About You

Dear Miss Williams:

I am a teenager in school and seem to study hard but don't get very good marks. Does anything in my handwriting show what my trouble is?

M.H.G.

Dear M.H.G.:

In the first place you think only on the surface. You do not penetrate a subject of anything you're studying. You do not go deep enough into your studies to grasp what you're reading.

You are easily irritated at interruptions and probably can not get back to what you were doing beforehand. There is a tendency to day-dream. This coupled with a poor memory is of no great help to you.

You love variation, sports and activities. The ability to concentrate is not easy but it's worth a try.

Dear Miss Williams:

Here is a sample of my handwriting. Please tell me what kind of person I am and what kind of things in my character should be corrected.

Thank you,
Lela R.

Dear Lila R.:

You are often self-conscious in what you do, but you do not lack faith in yourself. This will help you along with the persistence you have, not much but enough to try again and try to overcome that feeling of self-consciousness.

Your memory is better than average and you like small responsibilities.

You have a great deal of pride and some creativeness. You are thrifty and cautious but still have a kind heart for giving.

There is a little resentment in your writing and you do not care to be "pushed into things or activities." Your thinking is good; slow, careful logic but the ability to act quickly when necessary.

Dear Miss Williams:

I can't for the life of me see how you can tell anything from handwriting. I don't know anyone who has written you, so for my satisfaction what do you think of me?

Doubting Thomas

Dear Doubting Thomas:

After studying your letter for awhile it is very logical for you to feel as you do. First of all, you're definitely not philosophical-minded and you don't show very much in a material thinking way either. There is a definite stubborn strain and complete feeling of wanting to be left alone.

You don't particularly care to believe in anything, feel obstinate about most things and have an emphatic way of deciding for yourself.

However, you like music and enjoy listening to it. You have ability with your hands and can construct. You're an independent thinker and do as you please whether it conforms with public opinion or not. You're very determined.

What do you think of Grapho-Analysis now?

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UPI) — Central Junior High School ninth-grade class has two 14-year-old pupils named Margaret Mary Griffin, who were born five days apart in the same hospital. They are not related.

Classmates call one Margo and the other Peggy or simply "one" and "two."

How's Business?

Market Hangs on Labor

BY ROGER W. BABSON'S STAFF

The steel strike which began last summer halted the strong up-trend in stock prices in progress since early 1958. In the opening weeks of the strike, hopes for a quick settlement sustained the market near its all-time high.

Investor sentiment was also bolstered by the unexpected vigor of general business, and by near-record corporate profits.

When it became evident that the battle was stalemated, unfavorable implications of a protracted tie-up precipitated a sell-off which carried the stock market to a point 9 percent below its early August peak. Since then, it has followed an irregularly sidewise trend.

The return of steel workers to their jobs under the Taft-Hartley injunction is a favorable factor for business and the stock market. Current steel shortages, however, will still take some weeks to cure. Hence, hopes for a sharply rising trend of business in the fourth quarter of 1959 have been smothered.

An added deterrent to the rekindling of investor optimism is the deadlock in both steel and railroad labor negotiations. This suggests a further period of erratic stock market movements during the weeks ahead.

Labor conditions hold the key also to the longer-term outlook for the stock market. Unless the steel and railroad industries settle within the next two months, the spectre of another paralyzing crisis may keep investors in a cautious frame of mind and induce them to channel their investment funds into the safer and more attractive-yield bond market.

If the labor deadlocks are broken, however, business can look forward to a period of brisk activity. Because of shortages created by the steel strike, the business uptrend would be given a new lease on life. This should boost profits and permit many corporations to increase dividend payments in the first half of 1960, thus encouraging a resurgence of investor buying impatience, the extent of which would be determined by the degree of credit stringency next winter.

SWEET REVENGE

SPRINGVILLE, N.Y. (UPI)—Police chief John Barbus tells how one farmer cured a sneak thief of helping himself to motor fuel from a barnyard gas pump. The farmer poured a cupful of granulated sugar into the nozzle of the pump hose. The next day it was learned that a youth's car "mysteriously" developed engine trouble and needed an expensive overhaul.

Weasels hunt rodents and birds. In winter their fur turns white and they are called ermine.

COMBATING SENILE DELINQUENCY

Folks, I'm gettin' older, as anyone can see. And, somehow, my income ain't what it use'ter be. Oh, Yes Indeed, there was a day when I had much more take-home pay. Now, you take the grave, I ain't nudgin' its edge. And I still make payments on my Church Pledge. Some other dues may occasionally slide. But my cardinal sin, no doubt, is pride; And I take pride in Kickin' in, (Come what may, through thick or thin) By payin' along on my Church Dues — Selfish perhaps, but I like warm pews. No, a Minister cannot live on hope. I've tried that. Results? No Soap. My Buildin' Fund pledge is way in arrears. But I'll catch up if it takes ten years. This might be caterin' to my selfish pride. But each time I kick in I feel better inside. Now, the older I get, the more out I find That supportin' my Church helps Peace of Mind. This, alone, is not my ultimate goal. But the Mind, in a way, is Home of the Soul. What you give to your Church is not a donation — No money, no church, no congregation. P.S. The only thing that ever comes to me free 'is verse, such as the above. G.L.I.

Cup for cup kibblesized Ken-L-Biskit provides more nutrition than most other dry dog foods—so you can feed less because this food does more. Goodness? That's important too. Dogs get more out of Ken-L-Biskit. Rich in meat protein. More digestible because it's baked. There's less waste. But the real appeal is the fact that dogs eat it up. They like it. They love it! The Christmas

"After the gifts, I want some fun. Yes, and some feasting... but not extravagant, not artificial."

WHAT do you want for Christmas? Suppose each member of the family made out a list of gifts desired. And then on Christmas morning each found all the items asked for. Would not that make a perfect Christmas? Or would it?

Instead of asking what do we want for Christmas, I am going to consider the Christmas we want. And I shall write frankly in the first person.

To be really honest I should have to confess that I want the kind of Christmas "that Mother used to make." I do not expect to ride in a bobsled through the snow to the little country church with its community Christmas tree, but I have not outgrown the nostalgia for the holiday season of my boyhood. And despite the change of trimmings, I desire to keep the Christmas spirit in such a way that my children and grandchildren will not lose the longing for it when they grow up.

I want a Christmas that begins the evening before. The thrill of expectancy is in the air. Little children are preparing surprises for their parents. Mothers are adding those touches which make sons and daughters back from school or college feel how good it is to come home. The tree is lighted—yes, I should want a

Books, Movies & Records

Eugene Ormandy directs THE MESSIAH for Columbia.

HANDEL: MESSIAH—A brilliant edition of the great oratorio, Eugene Ormandy directs the Philadelphia Orchestra, with Eileen Farrell, William Warfield, Martha Linton, and Davis Cunningham as soloists. The chorus is sung by the great Mormon Tabernacle Choir of 375 voices, which is one of the oldest and largest choral groups in the world. (Columbia)

THE YEOMEN OF THE GUARD—This seldom-performed Gilbert and Sullivan opera, unlike their others, is not a social satire, but rather a melodrama set to music. The story tells of a young man saved from execution by some strange twist of fate. The songs are delightful and sound refreshingly new. (Angel)

CILLAS SINGS VERDI AT LA SCALA—This prima donna, at the pinnacle of her success and vocal achievement, has given some of the finest performances ever heard at La Scala opera house. Her power and range are ideal for Verdi. On this disc of highlights, she sings arias from "Rigoletto," "The Force of Destiny," "A Masked Ball," and "Aida." (Angel)

HAYDN: WATER MUSIC SUITE—This fine recording shows how William Steinberg has added stature to the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, which has become one of our finest orchestral groups. Both pieces are handled with the deftness and delicacy needed for these beautiful 18th-century works, and both are witness to a wonderfully developed string section. One of the gems of the season—bravo Mr. Steinberg! (Capitol)

BARTOK CONCERTO FOR ORCHESTRA—Composed after Bartók came to this country, this work reveals a very sober and sometimes somber intensity. Ansermet and L'Orchestre Suisse Romande perform wonderfully. (London)

BACH - BRANDENBURG CONCERTOS—These six famous pieces have been recorded by Karl Munchinger and the Stuttgart Chamber Orchestra. Although no two concertos are alike, the high quality of performance is consistent. (London)

MOZART-SCHUMANN-HAYDN—A fascinating record of wind-instrument virtuosity contrasting the Baroque and Romantic periods. Andre Pepin, flutist, plays Mozart, "Flute Concerto No. 2"; Edmond Leclair plays Schumann's "Adagio and Allegro for Horn"; and Paolo Longinotti plays Haydn's "Trumpet Concerto." (London)

What's New In MOVIES

LIL' ABNER—Al Capp's whole menagerie of wacky comic-strip characters is brought almost intact from Broadway to the screen. A colorful, carefree musical with lots of laughs, good production numbers, curvaceous girls, and hillbilly charm.

THE LAST ANGRY MAN—Taken from Gerald Green's novel about a doctor in Brooklyn, outraged by a TV program which attempts to exploit his lifetime of selfless service for a sponsor's benefit. The doctor, magnificently played by Paul Muni, gets strong support from David Wayne as the TV producer.

ON THE BEACH—Deals with the last survivors of an atomic war that has wiped out all civilization except in southern Australia. The cast is headed by Gregory Peck as an American submarine commander and Ava Gardner as the Australian girl in love with him. Others are Fred Astaire in his first dramatic role, as an atomic scientist, and Anthony Perkins and Donna Anderson as an Australian couple.

BELOVED INFIDEL—Based on Sheila Graham's best seller about her love affair with F. Scott Fitzgerald, with Deborah Kerr and Gregory Peck in the leading roles. The film is built primarily on their romance rather than on any characterization of its famous hero, but it has its own appeal.

OPERATION PETICOAT—A nonsensical farce about a patched-up submarine trying to get back from Manila to Hawaii at the outbreak of World War II. Skipper Cary Grant's efforts are hampered by the admiral's aide, Tony Curtis, and five Navy nurses. After dozens of hair-raising experiences, the submarine is finally saved by the resourcefulness of the nurses. Funny from beginning to end.

BOOKS

HAWAII—James A. Michener begins this chronicle with the birth of the volcanic islands. About a thousand years ago, the adventurous Polynesians came and, centuries later, well-meaning missionaries, who brought new and strange ways of living to a Stone Age society. Other groups came, the Chinese, the Japanese, and the Filipinos, each with different national customs. Ultimately, through association, education, and intermarriage, a new type of people was formed. Michener's novel emphasizes the triumphs and failures, the passions and hatreds, and the struggle for identity by the men and women of various countries who chose the islands for their new home. (Random House, $6.95)

THE HERO: CHARLES A. LINDBERGH AND THE AMERICAN DREAM—Kenneth S. Davis in his exciting biography reveals the amazing social phenomenon of mass adulation. After his solo flight, Lindbergh was transformed from a young pilot into a legendary god, and the public's thirst for hero-worship seemed insatiable. Lindbergh's private life is recounted with awareness and an understanding of the man and his time. (Doubleday, $4.95)

THE GESELL INSTITUTE PARTY BOOK—A very helpful handbook on how to give parties for all ages, from three to fifteen years. This guide, based on series of parties given by the Institute, describes and explains what works and what doesn't work. It concentrates on an important fact—the tremendous difference in the things that make successful parties for the various age groups. Types of entertainment and refreshment, number of guests, and the duration of the party all vary greatly from one age group to the next. By Ilig, Ames, Goodenough, Anderson. (Harper, $2.95)

EXODUS—Here in paperback is one of today's best sellers: the story of an American nurse and an Israeli freedom fighter caught in the most dramatic event of our century—the birth of a nation.—Leon Uris. (Bantam, 75¢)

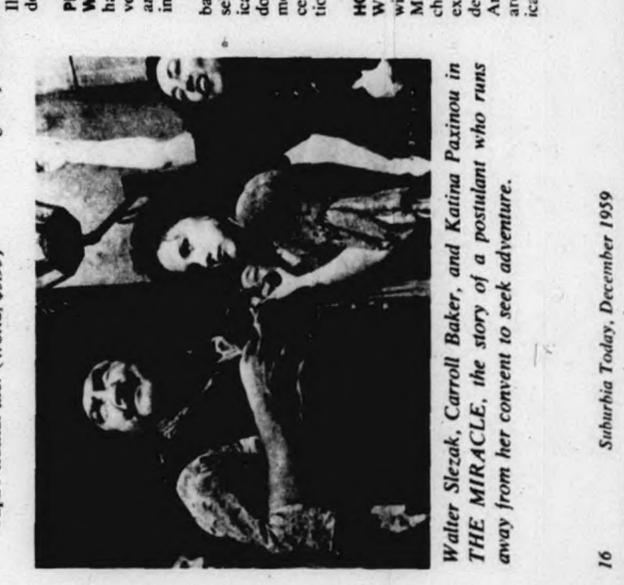

YOUR ADOLESCENT AT HOME AND IN SCHOOL—Written by a husband and wife team, Lawrence K. and Mary Frank, parents of six children. This book contains expert advice on how to understand and help teen-agers. Among the topics discussed are: homework, dating, physical changes. (Signet, 50¢)

PEANUTS and Hazel are with us—'tis the season to be jolly. THE HAZEL JUBILEE contains 350 cartoons (selected from her 16 years' association with artist Ted Key). Hazel reigns supreme over the Baxter household. Voice of authority on any subject from kite flying to baseball to politics, friend of all pets and children, spontaneous and irrepressible, Hazel is at her all-time best. (Dutton, $3.95)

PEANUTS REVISITED—Old and new favorites by Charles A. Schulz. Here is Charlie Brown pondering over life's vast problems; Schroeder, ever the artist at heart; Linus, lost and afraid without his favorite blanket; Lucy, her philosophical comments that sting with truth; and Snoopy, so human in every way—well, almost. (Kneibart, $2.95)

WITH POWDER ON MY NOSE—Billie Burke chats happily and frankly to women of all ages on several subjects close to their hearts—clothes and appearance, diet and exercise, the mother-in-law, and the younger generation. Of special interest to your daughter or mother are these chapters: "The Trouble with Women," "With a Poissom on My Head," and "Clothes—and the Shape You're In." (Coward-McCann, $3.95)

PREPOSTEROUS PAPA—An affectionate portrait by Lewis Meyer of his father, who settled in Oklahoma. Papa started out in the dry goods business, but before long the land bug bit him hard. He bought acres upon acres, boasted that he was the "only Jewish farmer in Oklahoma," tried to raise onions, run a chicken farm, and start a nursery—all without success—until one day black geysers burst everywhere. The discovery of oil is only one of the many happy chapters in Papa's fruitful life. (World, $3.95)

What's New In MOVIES

LIL' ABNER—Al Capp's whole menagerie of wacky comic-strip characters is brought almost intact from Broadway to the screen. A colorful, carefree musical with lots of laughs, good production numbers, curvaceous girls, and hillbilly charm.

THE LAST ANGRY MAN—Taken from Gerald Green's novel about a doctor in Brooklyn, outraged by a TV program which attempts to exploit his lifetime of selfless service for a sponsor's benefit. The doctor, magnificently played by Paul Muni, gets strong support from David Wayne as the TV producer.

ON THE BEACH—Deals with the last survivors of an atomic war that has wiped out all civilization except in southern Australia. The cast is headed by Gregory Peck as an American submarine commander and Ava Gardner as the Australian girl in love with him. Others are Fred Astaire in his first dramatic role, as an atomic scientist, and Anthony Perkins and Donna Anderson as an Australian couple.

BELOVED INFIDEL—Based on Sheila Graham's best seller about her love affair with F. Scott Fitzgerald, with Deborah Kerr and Gregory Peck in the leading roles. The film is built primarily on their romance rather than on any characterization of its famous hero, but it has its own appeal.

OPERATION PETICOAT—A nonsensical farce about a patched-up submarine trying to get back from Manila to Hawaii at the outbreak of World War II. Skipper Cary Grant's efforts are hampered by the admiral's aide, Tony Curtis, and five Navy nurses. After dozens of hair-raising experiences, the submarine is finally saved by the resourcefulness of the nurses. Funny from beginning to end.

RECORDS

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU—An all-around Christmas record of a dozen vocals by leading pop artists: Frank Sinatra, Nat "King" Cole, Dean Martin, Les Baxter, and others. Potpourri of Yuletide spirit with something for everyone. (Capitol)

BURL IVES—CHEERS—A new group of songs by one of our greatest folk singers. Besides some of the old favorites, Ives turns his talents to madcap numbers such as "Lydia, The Tattooed Lady," "The King King Bird," and "Rebecca Came Back From Mecca." Hitlist: a funny record. (Decca)

CHRISTMAS SING ALONG WITH MITCH—You just can't help adding your own voice to these carols. Even if you don't remember all of the words, you can flex your vocal cords, since eight copies of the lyrics are included. (Columbia)

THE BANJO KINGS GO WEST—The Kings, Roberts and Roundtree, have pushed for the revival of the banjo. On this platter they ring out with "Home on the Range," "Texas Stomp," "Don't Fence Me In," and other western ditties. (Good Time Jazz)

BILLY TAYLOR—A piano and four flutes! This unusual ensemble of instruments shows without a doubt that the flute is a natural for small pop combos. It is light and airy, can be played with ease, and can express a variety of moods. The spinner includes "Lady Be Good," "The Day is Ended," "How About You?" and some of Taylor's own compositions. HAWAII—James A. Michener begins this chronicle with the birth of the volcanic islands. About a thousand years ago, the adventurous Polynesians came and, centuries later, well-meaning missionaries, who brought new and strange ways of living to a Stone Age society. Other groups came, the Chinese, the Japanese, and the Filipinos, each with different national customs. Ultimately, through association, education, and intermarriage, a new type of people was formed. Michener's novel emphasizes the triumphs and failures, the passions and hatreds, and the struggle for identity by the men and women of various countries who chose the islands for their new home. (Random House, $6.95)

THE HERO: CHARLES A. LINDBERGH AND THE AMERICAN DREAM—Kenneth S. Davis in his exciting biography reveals the amazing social phenomenon of mass adulation. After his solo flight, Lindbergh was transformed from a young pilot into a legendary god, and the public's thirst for hero-worship seemed insatiable. Lindbergh's private life is recounted with awareness and an understanding of the man and his time. (Doubleday, $4.95)

THE GESELL INSTITUTE PARTY BOOK—A very helpful handbook on how to give parties for all ages, from three to fifteen years. This guide, based on series of parties given by the Institute, describes and explains what works and what doesn't work. It concentrates on an important fact—the tremendous difference in the things that make successful parties for the various age groups. NEW FORMULA ELECTRASOL RESTORES DISHWASHERS TO 100% EFFICIENCY

Eliminates FOOD PROTEIN FOAM that Reduces Dishwasher Action As Much As 90%... to Cause Spots, Streaks, Film.

MAKE SIMPLE EGG FOAM TEST! COMPARE YOUR PRESENT DETERGENT WITH NEW FOAM-CONTROL ELECTRASOL

OLD-STYLE DETERGENTS CAN'T CONTROL PROTEIN FOAM
 Drop pinch of your dishwasher detergent into glass of water. Add egg. Stir with hot water. Stir vigorously. Note protein foam that can reduce dishwasher action almost to zero.

NEW FORMULA ELECTRASOL STOPS FOAM FORMATION
 Drop pinch of new Electrasol into glass of water. Add egg. Stir with hot water. Stir vigorously. Note protein foam that can reduce dishwasher action almost to zero.

Foam Control Means Spot-Free Glasses

Economics Laboratory, leader in dishwasher detergent research, proved what scientists long suspected; that food proteins (egg yolk, milk, grease, gravy, meat, potatoes, etc.) create foam that slows down washing action almost to zero; that ordinary detergents can't control foam; that spots, streaks and film result; that new formula Electrasol eliminates foam, restores washing action to 100% efficiency. Result? Spotless glassware, dishes, silver!

Get foam-control Electrasol, most economical dishwasher detergent. Enthusiastically endorsed by dishwasher manufacturers!

CHRISTMAS TREE DESSERT

Using one stick from a package of cream puff mix, prepare 32 miniature puffs. Bake according to directions on package. Cool and cut off tops. Fill each shell with about 1 tablespoon of Lemon Whipped Cream, Cocoa Whipped Cream, or Mocha-Cocoa Whipped Cream. Replace tops. To form tree, arrange filled cream puffs in a tree shape on a serving dish. For the "lights" nestle candied cherries decoratively on the tree. (See photo.)

LEMON WHIPPED CREAM

To Prepare: 10 min.
1 cup chilled whipping cream
½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
Few grains salt
Few grains nutmeg
2 teaspoons lemon juice

1. Using a chilled bowl and beater, beat whipping cream until cream stands in peaks when beater is slowly lifted upright.
2. With final few strokes, beat in the sugar, lemon peel, salt, and nutmeg. Blend in the lemon juice one teaspoon at a time. Use as a filling for miniature cream puffs. Serve filled puffs with frozen sliced strawberries, thawed.
About 2 cups whipped cream

COCOA WHIPPED CREAM

To Prepare: 10 min. To Chill: 2 hrs.
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons Dutch process cocoa
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream
2 teaspoons vanilla extract

1. Mix all ingredients together in a bowl in order listed. Chill 2 hrs. or longer. Chill a rotary beater.
2. Beat chilled mixture with chilled rotary beater until cream stands in peaks when beater is slowly lifted upright. Use as a filling for miniature cream puffs. Serve filled puffs with chocolate sauce.
About 2 cups whipped cream

MOCHA-COCOA WHIPPED CREAM

Follow recipe for Cocoa Whipped Cream. Add 2 teaspoons instant coffee to the bowl after adding cocoa. Decrease vanilla extract to 1½ teaspoons.

FABULOUS CHEESE MOUSSE

A cool and smooth appetizer—this mousse is a subtle combination of the noble flavors of Roquefort and Camembert cheeses.

To Prepare: 25 min. To Chill: 3 hrs.
¼ cup cold water
1 tablespoon (1 env.) unflavored gelatin
3¼ oz. (3 1¼-oz. pkgs.) Roquefort cheese
2½ oz. (2 1¼-oz. pkgs.) Camembert cheese
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon sherry
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
½ cup chilled whipping cream
1 egg white

1. Lightly oil a fancy 1-pt. mold with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil); set aside to drain. Chill a small bowl and rotary beater.
2. Pour the cold water into a small cup or custard cup. Sprinkle the gelatin evenly over the water. Let stand about 5 min. to soften. Dissolve completely by placing cup over very hot water.
3. Force the Roquefort and Camembert cheeses through a fine sieve. Blend in the egg yolk, sherry, and Worcestershire sauce. Stir the dissolved gelatin and add to the cheese mixture, blending thoroughly.
4. Using the chilled bowl and beater, beat whipping cream until it is of medium consistency (piles softly).
5. Using clean beater, beat egg white until rounded peaks are formed. Fold whipped cream and egg white into the cheese mixture. Turn into the mold. Chill until firm.
6. Unmold onto chilled plate and garnish with sliced pimiento-stuffed olives. Serve with crackers.

These twin turkeys weigh 6 to 8 lbs. each. Roast stuffed turkeys of this size, uncovered, on a rack in a shallow pan in a 325° oven, 3½ to 4 hrs., or until tender.

LINGONBERRY ICE

The flavors of meat and poultry are pleasantly accentuated by this refreshing ruby-red ice.

To Prepare: 10 min. To Freeze: 2-3 hrs.

- ¼ cup cold water
- 2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
- 1½ cups very hot water
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 14-oz. jar lingonberries
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

1. Pour the cold water into a small cup or custard cup. Sprinkle the gelatin evenly over the water. Let stand about 5 min. to soften.

2. Add softened gelatin to very hot water; stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Add sugar and stir until dissolved cool. Blend in lingonberries (sieved, if desired) and lemon juice.

3. Pour mixture into a refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm (2 to 3 hrs.), stirring two or three times. To serve, cut into squares.

1½ pts. ice

SWEET POTATO-RICE STUFFING

For additional servings, prepare a casserole of this stuffing. Heat uncovered in a 325°F oven 20 to 25 min. To Prepare: 35 min.

- 1½ cup butter
- 1½ cups coarsely chopped celery
- 1½ cups chopped onion
- 2 cups packaged precooked rice
- 2½ cups quick chicken broth (dissolve 3 chicken bouillon cubes in 2½ cups hot water)
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1½ teaspoon black pepper
- ¾ teaspoon ground coriander
- ¾ teaspoon crushed rosemary
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten

1. Heat butter in a large heavy skillet having a tight-fitting cover. Stir in celery, onion, and rice. Cook over low heat until rice is golden yellow; stir occasionally with a spoon.

2. Stir in 2 cups of the chicken broth and a mixture of the brown sugar, salt, pepper, coriander, rosemary, and ginger. Cover skillet. Bring mixture to boiling and cook over low heat 15 min., or until rice is tender. Set aside to cool.

3. Mix the eggs with remaining ½ cup chicken broth. Blend into the rice mixture. Add sweet potatoes; toss gently. Lightly spoon into body and neck cavities of turkey (do not pack).

Stuffing for two 6- to 8-lb. turkeys

SWEDISH GINGERSNAPS (Pepparkakor)

The spicy fragrance of these cookies is part of the wonderful aroma of a Swedish Christmas. Roll the cookies as thin as parchment. To Prepare: 25 min. To Bake: 6-8 min.

- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking soda
- 1½ teaspoons ground ginger
- 1½ teaspoons ground cinnamon
- ½ cup butter
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1½ teaspoons dark corn sirup
- Whole blanched almonds (about 10), cut in small pieces

1. Sift together the first 5 ingredients. Set aside.

2. Cream butter until softened. Add sugar gradually, creaming until fluffy after each addition. Add egg and corn sirup gradually, beating thoroughly after each addition.

3. Mixing only until blended after each addition, add dry ingredients in thirds. Chill in refrigerator several hours.

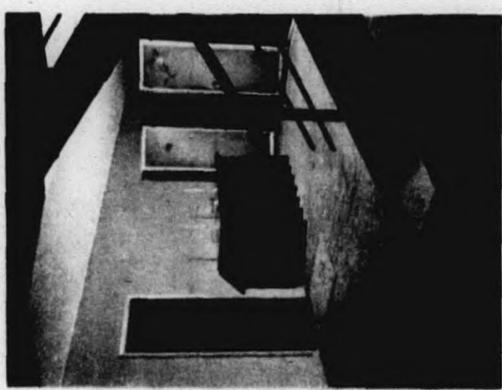

4. Remove a portion of the chilled dough at a time and place on a lightly floured surface. Roll about 1/16 in. thick. Cut with lightly floured cookie cutters into various shapes. Press one piece of almond onto the center of each cookie. Transfer cookies to ungreased cookie sheets.

5. Bake at 375°F 6 to 8 min. Carefully remove cookies to cooling racks to cool completely. About 7 doz. cookies

IN ONE BAY of the living room, which is still big enough to drive a horse and carriage through, the Monaghams put up the staircase above, which ascends with broad open treads to the bedrooms on the second floor. Designed by Mr. Monaghan, who is an architect, the stairway caused much head-shaking (it is attached to the floor at only one point), but he built it anyway and today it not only "works" but also serves to underline the spaciousness and freedom of the room that contains it.

Set against a glowing red wall, a massive XVIIIth-century chest is a featured piece in the carriage-house living room.

I Brought An Apple Home Last Night...

BY CHRISTINA PAPPAS

I brought an apple home last night.

It wasn't on my list, but they were carolling in town, the snow was falling, and my glasses fogged as I pushed through the light and glitter of the market.

I reached out for a cart, and blinked, and closed my eyes and opened them again, and there was Santa.

There, among the lettuce and the plums, the oranges and grapes, was Santa.

Suddenly I was a little girl again and we were making Santas from the big red plump delicious apples and it was before Christmas and there was nothing too little or too large to think of to do but that we had to do it and there was never time for everything.

I caught my breath and took the apple, the big red juicy apple,

And flew along the aisles, past the pastries, past the teas to the spices for the cloves . . . cloves for eyes . . . marshmallows and almonds—head and feet—then quickly quickly to the raisins . . . cotton, glue, and toothpicks are at home and certainly enough red paper to make a hundred little hats.

I held the apple in my hand and wouldn't let them wrap it with the rest.

Glasses fogged now, not with cold but with remembering, I took the car-keys out and started home, with Santa safe and smiling on the dash.

A Garland

WE ARE old-fashioned in our village. I tell you this in the strictest confidence; we do not admit it to ourselves. Do our roofs not blossom with television aerials, our kitchens with mechanical dishwashers? Do we not read the most recent books, even when we dislike them, and in our medicine cabinet store the stylish panaceas of the season? Our addiction to large families and infrequent divorcees we consider merely tokens that we are ahead of, not behind, the fashion. We discuss the current ideologies, we speak knowingly of child psychology, we have seen the newest oddity by Samuel Beckett and the latest show of Toulouse-Lautrec. Our attitudes are modern, and we share the modern faults of haste and sentimentality. It is our virtues that are old-fashioned.

For here we love our neighbor. What is more, we are reactionary enough not to love him impersonally. To us he is not mankind, but man; and our affection warms us both.

Now kindness is a virtue neither modern nor urban. One almost unlearns it in a city. Towns have their own beauty; they are not unfriendly; they offer a vast and solacing anonymity or an equally vast and solacing gregariousness. But one needs a neighbor on whom to practice compassion. It has taken me many years to emerge from the self-centered cocoon which the city had wound about me, and even now I offer small benefactions with a sort of shyness and am as shy to accept them. So I am constantly being surprised by the matter-of-fact, everyday kindness with which my friends seem overflowing.

Is it the same in other villages? Does this flower blossom in any suburb where the economic soil is neither very rich nor very poor and where one knows the names of at least half the population? I know it does not flourish well in country places, there being withered by the twin blights of spite and curiosity.

of Kindness

BY PHYLLIS MCGINLEY

TODAY has been one of the days for counting blessings. Yesterday our village shared with the rest of the Eastern seaboard a storm of spectacular fury. Other communities were treated worse, by newspaper accounts, but we did not escape. We all lost a tree or two (and we are proud of our trees), the shingles of our roofs went flying; worse, the electricity failed and that meant, of course, no light, no heat, no current for the freezer or the laundry or the radio, or, in many cases, the important stove. There were floods in cellars, lost gardens. But nobody was hurt, nobody minded very much, and nobody I know of went to hotels or Red Cross centers to sit out the debacle. They went to one another's houses, quite as a matter of course. Those of us who had heat took in those without and did not expect gratitude. We helped one another push fallen maples away from walls and hedges. We made enormous quantities of coffee and sandwiches, and we tucked other people's babies away in the nursery with our own. I have just returned from a walk down the street. My neighbor to the left, whose current had returned, was giving lunch to seven children besides her own, all of different ages and degrees of overstimulation. She planned on keeping them for a day or two since at their respective homes there would be no furnaces running for another twenty-four hours. The neighbor to my right was storing in her deep-freeze container the contents of someone else's freezer and inviting everybody to stay for dinner. Farther down three male neighbors were helping a householder

I HAVE nearly forgotten the city ways. Tell me, you people in towns, when your neighbors go shopping of a morning, do they call you first to see if you have an errand that needs doing? If they find a bargain of unusual brilliance, do they fetch it home for you, offering to return the trophy if you have no use for it? When you are ill and maidless, do they send a dinner for the family, complete to chicken and lemon pie? Mine do. The one beneficence they withhold is advice. Our charity encompasses minding our own business. Continued on next page

"There must be thousands of villages as old-fashioned as ours, warmed by the hearth-fires of compassion. Surely a flame so kindled and so fed can never be altogether extinguished."

"I am astonished at the kindness of policemen stationed at school crossings... I marvel at the patience of firemen rescuing kittens from trees... I enjoy the fact that one can never walk to the business section without being offered a lift by every passing driver."

"We love our neighbor on small occasions as well as large... admire one another's gardens without malice... tend one another's children, run one another's errands."

I know a charming lady who after a number of years of married life here is now separated from her husband. She is still part of the circle as she always was, for we do not believe we must go in pairs, like the animals in the Ark. But we do not know why the separation occurred, and we have never inquired, considering that the simplest sort of kindness.

When you go away on a short holiday, what do you do with your children? Hire a strange nursemaid if the ménage does not already include one? We are apt to drop them off casually with friends—there is always room. I know a couple with five descendants all under twelve who went to Key West for three weeks on their first vacation together in years. For this event they did engage a supposedly capable woman, paying her a king's ransom. Some days before they were expected back, the woman announced to the family across the street that she wasn't feeling so well and thought she'd have to leave. Did the family across the street—youth, with four children of their own packed away in eight rooms—have the kindness to wire the couple at once? Certainly not. They invited the entire tribe of five to stay with them so that the vacation could proceed.

WE EXPECT mercies here, not only from ourselves but from others. We make friends with those who are only part-time villagers. We expect the bus-driver to back up for us if we are late at the stop. We expect him to deal justly with the children he takes to and from school and feel we need give him nothing in return except our admiration. Once when my husband was delayed on a rainy night and I could not meet him, the driver carried him to our door, two blocks off the route. And who in the city has for friend and ally the red-haired man who delivers parcels from the great stores in town? We have. We meet him in the village drugstore, drinking coffee, and he obligingly burrows into the back of his truck for the C.O.D. package we would not have been home to receive. We entrust him with messages for other friends. Once he sat for half an hour with a baby when the baby's mother was called suddenly uptown. If we know him by no other name except "Red," that is not a mark of disrespect. We simply began on a first-name basis. I find ours a difficult village to live up to. Because I am not so busy as most householders here, I guard my free time more jealously. I shudder, for instance, to think of what it would have cost me to be as generous as another neighbor down the block. She shares with me Jessie, a "cleaning woman" of surpassing talent. Jessie has two daughters, both of whom take piano lessons at public school. They own a childish aptitude but no piano, so my friend permits them to practice an hour a day each on her own generosity more than natural.

instrument. "Tum-tum-tum, diddle-diddle," it goes every afternoon for two horrendous hours. I, who love Jessie more dearly than a sister, would sooner part with her forever than suffer such an ordeal. Yet I have never heard my friend mention that she considers her

OF COURSE, I betray myself when I dwell on such simple instances. The cocoon is still around me, so I peer from it, astonished at what others take for granted. I am astonished at the kindness of policemen stationed at school crossings without being offered a lift by every passing driver, stranger or no. I grow more accustomed, as the years pass, to accepting kindness. But I have never ceased to cherish with affection and with pride an incident that happened soon after we had moved here. I think it was then I began to collect the flowers for my garland, as children collect chestnuts in the fall, valuing them for their number rather than their use.

As the world grows colder and darker, we need to remember these things. There must be thousands of villages as old-fashioned as ours, warmed by the hearth-fires of compassion. Surely a flame so kindled and so fed can never be altogether extinguished.

The war—one of the wars—was in progress then, and the affair revolved about a Japanese family living not far from us. I shall call them the Yamotos. They were pleasant people who spoke English well and were interested in politics only to the extent that they had left Japan because they preferred democratic ways. Mr. Yamoto commuted with the other husbands, and Mrs. Yamoto attended sessions of the P.T.A. and compared notes with the other wives on report cards and pressure cookers. Then an ugly thing occurred. The Yamotos cultivated, like all of us, a vegetable garden where the back lawn used to spread, and one sweet spring night it was broken into and uprooted. Who the vandals were it was never discovered. I think we all prayed that it was children's work. Surely we did not harbor here an adult mind so twisted and vindictive as to consider the outrage a patriotic act! The news shocked me into nausea. Hate, the kind of hate that darkened Europe, seemed to be casting its shadow on our own people. But, true to my city training, shock merely numbed me. I thought of atonement in terms of letters to the papers; my neighbors protested less and did more. By evening the garden had been replanted. There were no public statements, no petitions, no paid protests. Simply, people with gardens of their own came hurrying spontaneously to the rescue with plants, with seedlings, with spades for digging and stakes to drive into the ground. By an act of common love we wiped out our uncommon shame.

Oh, this is no Eden. We have our bores and our braggarts, our snobs and our slanderers. But I believe the scales, if there were scales to measure human nature, would tip heavily in the right direction. Kindness has become a way of life most of us attempt. We do not try to legislate our neighbor. And when we cannot love him, we at least can like him well enough.

I sat three summers before last in a church crowded to the final aisles. It was seven-thirty of a weekday morning, but a third of the village was there. The polio epidemic had struck at a young neighbor of ours and her three-month-old baby; we had come to pray for them. I still recall the emotion of the moment. A few phone calls had been made the night before, a few messages passed. And here we were—the lazy, the beset, the late risers—the men on the way to the 8:02, the women with children still asleep at home. I doubt that we were all stout believers in the power of prayer. But it was the only gift left to offer.

As the world grows colder and darker, we need to remember these things. There must be thousands of villages as old-fashioned as ours, warmed by the hearth-fires of compassion. Surely a flame so kindled and so fed can never be altogether extinguished.
