FACTS and OPINIONS

This newspaper to day wishes to take a strong stand. For a change in football rules, that is.

It has becoming increasingly evident that the field goal, and its three points, has become too cheap in the game. Three points are too easily come by, compared to the six points which are awarded for a touchdown. When a team can pick up three points simply by place-kicking over the last 40 or 50 yards to the goal line, it wrecks the contest as in its traditional sense.

There's little incentive to punt from mid-field today. A field goal involves no risk, and there's always the chance it will sail through for three cheap points.

The rule change we'd suggest it this: When a field goal is missed, the ball goes to the other team at the scrimmage line where the play. started.

Today it is placed automatically on the 20-yard line.

and misses, it still should receive some reward for the drive. commended by Mayor Bra-Rather than having the opponents having the opportunity shear. to move out and start from the 20 yard line. If the kick is missed from the six yard line, the opponents would have to take over on the six.

Our rule change, first proposed to these ears by the 13-year-old son, would cover the situation both ways. -.

Question we have been asked and which we absolutely cannot answer-

How can Councilman John Daugherty, of Livonia, act or vote on any civil service question, without having a conflict of interest, when his wife is on the water department payroll in a civil service post herself?

We're curious. One of the finest natural "fall-out shelters" anywhere would seem to be the cavernous salt mines beneath downriver Detroit. Yet we haven't encountered any serious discussion or plan for utilizing them as such. Why?

And it would have seemed natural that the general issue of shelters and civil defense would have become a campaign issue in the rather rowdy Mayor campaign which ended in Detroit this week between Miriani and Cavanagh. But both stayed away from it.

Detroit water flows through parts of Plymouth Township this week-a milestone and one which Supervisor Roy Lindsay has nursed and dreamed of for years. It heralds the eventual end of wells and hard water over a large section.

It is fair to predict that fresh Detroit water will replace well water in the City of Plymouth system in something like five years. It will come when a huge line is pushed west from Livonia into Northville and then south down Shelden Road to Plymouth.

A recent report by the Detroit water department shows it to be making a substantial profit on its sales, which means there will be more funds than ever anticipated to finance extension of the system, and that will accelerate the time-table.

Chlson, who at 93 looks as if he could have stepped out of a painting of a New England farmer, remembers some stories relating to the cemetery.

Says Mr. Chilson, "Idy Stringer, who used to run a grocery store where the Standard gas station now stands, also had the job of caring for the cemetery. Well, Idy decided that a black iron fence would be mighty nice to have around the burial grounds, so she went collecting money for it .On the list was Markham Briggs, who was a farmer and later a senator, and Idy figured he was good for a sizable amount ,since he was thought pretty well off for them days."

So she went Markham and said what she wanted. "He said, Idy, I'm not going to give you anything."

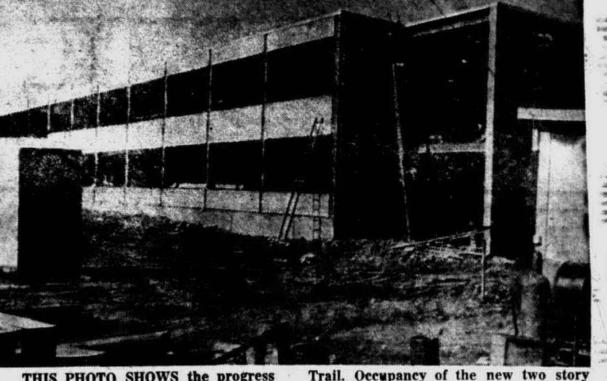

"Markham," she said, very surprised, "Why not?" "Well, Idy," said Mark-ham, "there's a good rail fence around that cemetery he saw this thing creeping toward him he said to himself, "He'll be scared, not me!" and he opened fire with a double barrelled shotgun. and it don't need no better. for them that are in there "Don't shoot, don't shoot anycan't get out and them that more, it's me, it's me, aren't in there don't want "screamed a frightened Bill to get in!" In this age when the airways and byways are filled with talk of "discrim; nation", "deliquency", bombs beyond com prehension and a place to go to get away from 'em, it wa: quite a treat to have our phone ring with interesting new about babies.

Babies-surely this is a subject about which we can agree world over. When even the prospect of self-preserva tion, family shelter vs. community shelter vs. "the heck with it let the bomb fall", is fought over across the nation in the press, and board tables.

Personally I think it is a good idea to get under cove just to show we have enough sense to get in out of the rain, or whatever, but the good Lord made only a few to live alone and these unfortunates are called hermits. W have a built in sociability that is conductive to community living. In my mind even the most well adjusted, swee tempered loving family, shut off by themselves in a 2 x underground shelter for any length of time will surely g ape.

Baby news came three days in a row and about morthan one at a time. Rosemary and Robert Bailey, Denby reported identical twin girls, Joanne and Marianne, eac weighing over five pounds. The Sports Observor

Taking a backward stare at the 1961 high school football season in these parts.

BIGGEST SURPRISE?

Well, we'd say there were two-Plymouth and Redford Township St. Agatha.

Neither team figured too highly in the preseason rankings. Yet Plymouth soared unbeaten and untied to its sixth Suburban Six League championship in nine years while St. Agatha, although outmanned in the numbers' department by most foes, wound up second in the Southwestern Division of the Catholic League.

BEST COMEBACK?

That's easy. Livonia Bentley rates the laurels. After getting off to its poorest start in history-three straight losses-Bentley bounced back to win four of its next five and finish with a very respectable record.

The Bentley flourish proved a point: KIDS DO COME BACK.
