

FACTS and OPINIONS by Paul Chandler

In this tough world of tension, with property taxes falling up and hydrogen ions, or eons, falling down, local voters and others are hard at the task of seeking ease from it all. Many methods are suggested, among them fasting, alcoholic consumption, nature, communal, hypnotism, religion, and wild, wild parties. We pick these at random. There are others.

All humor aside, this is a searching age in America and many who thought they were sure about a great many things on the scale of right-and-wrong recently have become extremely confused and are willing to examine almost any suggested approach to relaxation, peace-of-mind and that will-o'-the-wisp known as "contentment."

One curious development has been a swiftly increasing interest by Occidentals in things Oriental. The process also is true in the reverse, of course, but the trend recently has been most pronouncedly East to West. Japanese and Chinese art, theater, manufactured goods are packed into our local stores and homes.

Oriental philosophy has been dusted off for a new look in the United States. There is Zen Buddhism, of which this reporter doesn't know much, but there also is the ancient art of Yoga.

And to understand Yogis and Swamis the editor has devoted a few hours of reading and has stretched a few of his own personal spinal cords recently. There was this pocket book on the newstand, which for a mere 60 cents in cash made its way to the editor's reading room, ultimately to result in his undertaking some odd muscular experiment and finally, to this written report to an anxious suburban citizenry.

As we read it, Yoga is a philosophy based on the premise of a two-part belief in existence. One's physical body, or material parts, are only a portion of the total. The soul, or the second part, is the real thing with which a Yogi is concerned, more important because it isn't perishable with age or time. And it is disputably the boss, they say, whether we know it or not.

The aim is to get Part (2) in control of Part (1) by conscious use of concentration and thought, which themselves have no material content either, of course. Certain physical exercises help reach the proper state of mental serenity needed for this concentration.

The general idea is basic to most religions, of course, but Yogis have worked out a formal set of rules.

One of the fascinations of Yoga is its extreme age. It developed with the Hindus thousands of years ago, centuries before Christ, for instance, and has captured Oriental minds over the entire span. As a religion, it is non-denominational, being linked only to an abiding belief in God. Christians and many others, including Buddhists, practice Yoga, so our little textbook says.

There are a few random thoughts which help convey the general idea—

"I—the real I—am not this body; hunger, thirst, disease, birth, death, grief, pleasure, pain." One must get rid of the idea that the soul is one with the body. It is separate, outside. A good Yogi looks at himself from the exterior, so as to speak.

"Trust not your body, mind, and senses. Have inner spiritual life."

"Is there not a higher mission in life besides eating, sleeping and talking? Is there not a higher form of bliss than the transitory and illusory pleasures of the world?"

"Without our intellect alone we are only able to grasp the world, to understand in a one-sided sort of way. In contemplation the wisdom of the ages are near; we seize what lies behind the outer appearance."

Part of the fundamental text is that "the battle of life must be won, and not be run away from." Detachment is required, but "not detachment from life, but only detachment from the rewards, thus going above the limits of good and evil."

"Action" is opposed when it is for "selfish, material purposes or simply action for the sake of action."

Among other things, Yogis believe their methods will lengthen the span of human life. They note that of all mammals, man has the shortest period between his reaching mature development and the start of declining age. Compared to a cat, they say, man should have 150 years of mature strength and activity, preceded by 25 years of early development and followed by 25 years of old age.

CHRISTMAS IS HERE already for Plymouthites! The traditional manger scene and other yuletide decorations were up in Kellogg Park this week to get local residents in the holiday spirit. The Livonian's camera caught City Department of Public Works Superintendent Joe Bida and a DPW worker erecting the statues in the park Friday. New decorations have been added to make this year's display even more colorful, Bida said.

Month's Draft Quota Hits 13 For Area

Thirteen youths from this area face induction into the Army during December, local draft board officials reported this week.

The figure—which covers the communities of Plymouth, Livonia, Redford Township, Canton Township and Northville—was announced by local Board 102 in Plymouth Monday.

The figures are part of an increased draft call for the entire state of Michigan announced for next month.

Included in the quota of 13 are volunteers from the five communities. The balance will be made up of draftees.

Explaining the workings of the local draft board, Mrs. Bernice McConnell, clerk, told The Livonian this week that youths born in 1938 are now being called into active military service. "Those born in 1939," she said, "will be called for physical examinations."

"Men are selected for physical examinations and inductions according to their birthdates. The state headquarters makes up a call and allocates so many men to be called from each local board," she continued. There has been no distinct pattern in the draft quota for Plymouth, Redford Township, Livonia, Northville and Canton, she said. "The number varies each month."

Determining classifications of men in this area is the duty of a four-man Selective Service Board whose members here include Judge John L. Mokersky of Inkster, Leonard Broquet of Redford Township, E. M. Van Wallaghen of Trenton and Harry L. Hunter of Plymouth.

"These men deserve a tremendous amount of credit," the clerk commented. "They serve on the board gratis—they are not paid for their duties." Judge Mokersky has served on the Board since he now chairs, since 1940; Broquet has been a member since 1950; Van Wallaghen has served since 1958 and Hunter has been a member since 1954. All received indefinite appointments.

Records of the Board are maintained on a day-by-day birthdate basis for each youth in the district so that draft quotas are filled in a chronological manner. "In this way," Mrs. McConnell explained, "a person born on November 29 would be inducted before a person born on November 30, if our selection were narrowed down to this extent. It is the fairest system possible to all."

Mrs. McConnell and the members of the Board are assisted in their work by deputy clerk Phyllis Miller. The local board, who is located at 861 Penniman in Plymouth, has requested that all registrants keep the board informed of any change in address.

Plymouth City Manager Al Glassford is in Florida this week, attending the national convention of the City Managers' Association. He'll be back for next Monday's meeting of the City Commission, secretary Linnea Salow reports.

With the yuletide season drawing near, City Commission has granted permission for use of a vacant lot on Penniman, next to the Penn Theater, for sale of Christmas trees. Requesting the permission was Warren Tillotson.

Governor John B. Swainson has extended his "appreciation" to Plymouth for the city's recent action supporting tax exemption for fallout shelters. The chief executive's commendation came in the form of a letter last week to City Clerk Joseph F. Near.

"One of the quietest weeks we've had this year," is the way Police Chief Ken Fisher describes the past seven days. There were no major crimes or accidents in the city during this period, he said.

And Plymouth still has the problem of the pigeons with it. There's been no workable solution suggested to rid the water tower and nearby buildings of the many birds which are flocking around it these days. Anybody with an idea?

Approximately 3,000 men, women and children poured through Chevrolet's Livonia plant Friday during "Open House." Everyone was impressed with (a) the magnitude and (b) the cleanliness of an operation which is that of shaping and finishing steel into bumpers and springs. The plant itself covers 14 acres. It uses enough electricity to supply a city of 21,000 homes.

College Group Seeks Citizens' Aid

Members of western Wayne County's new Community College Board of Trustees met for a three-hour "brainstorming" session November 18 to exchange views with representatives of the University of Michigan and Henry Ford Community College.

Procedure for establishing a Citizens Advisory Committee for the Board of Trustees and financing for the Board's work were discussed. Guests at the session were William B. Stirtion of U. of M. and Dean Eshelman of Henry Ford Community College.

Chief topic under discussion was the general function of the projected institution.

JUST INSIDE PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP is the "best guess" as to where this area's new Community College will be located. Sources close to the College's Board of Trustees suggest that this site, bounded on the west by Haggerty Rd., on the north by Ann Arbor Rd., on the south by Hix Rd., is the favorite of several available. It would be convenient to Livonia, Plymouth and Garden City. The photo shows the site from Washington School, just inside Livonia.

Crime Rate and Police Tickets Show Big Drop

Is Plymouth becoming a safer town in which to live? Latest reports from the city's Police Department seem to indicate this fact.

Records for the past ten months show that violation tickets issued to motorists have declined by more than 25 per cent over the same period last year.

And the same statistics show that the crime rate has dipped sharply, too—almost by half.

The most recent report from the Police Department, covering the first ten months of 1961, show a drop from 18 to nine in the number of auto thefts reported to Plymouth police and a similar drop, from 122 to 108, in the number of larcenies. Most impressive is a drop in prowler calls—down from 45 last year to only 27 during the first ten months of this year.

Although every other category on the police blotter seems brighter, one stain remains. The number of break-ins and entering complaints rose from 25 to 49. Equally as impressive as the drop in crime reports is the decline in motorists' violation tickets. The number issued so far this year is 1656—a dip of nearly a thousand from 1960's record at this time of 2644.

Although a substantial part of the decline was due to a big drop in parking meter violations, impressive safety gains were noted in the number of reckless driving and drunk driving charges.

Only 29 reckless driving tickets had been issued through the end of last month, Police reported, compared to 50 last year to this time—a drop by nearly half. And the decline in drunk driving in the city was greater. Plymouth officers have issued only five such tickets this year, compared to 14 during the same ten months last year.

A slight rise in the number of speeding tickets—from 252 to 257—was noted in the report, but declines were reported in all other categories. Fifty-nine tickets for stop streets and red lights have been issued compared to 92, 172 prohibited parking tickets have been issued compared to 1763 and 180 miscellaneous tickets have been issued compared to 200.

Plymouth Seeks Help On New Court Rule

The City Commission of Plymouth has asked neighboring communities for support in pressing objections to new laws which require court trials in Detroit if the defendant lives there.

Copies of a resolution passed by the Commission were sent to Livonia City Council this week. "The acts are unfair and unconstitutional," the resolution states, "as they attempt to prevent a party who resides in a municipality or governmental unit other than the City of Detroit from using one of the most important facilities of that municipality or governmental unit—the local court, merely because the party from which he seeks a redress happens to reside in the City of Detroit."

"In effect," states the resolution, "the acts discriminate against those who reside outside the City of Detroit, since, although a resident of Detroit would be allowed to maintain an action in Detroit against a resident of another city or governmental unit in Wayne County and the defendant would be required to defend the action in Detroit, that same defendant could not maintain an action in his own city of residence against the identical Detroit resident."

Christmas Seal Sale in Plymouth, Livonia, Redford

Local postmasters are cooperating with the 55th annual Christmas Seal Drive in Wayne County. The campaign goal is $325,000.

Approximately 77,000 letters will go out to aid in securing this goal.

In Plymouth Mrs. Richard L. Lea and Mrs. M. W. Fletcher will distribute canisters to business places.

In Redford Township and Livonia the canisters will be found in the local post offices.

Coins and currency placed in the canisters, along with the funds derived from Christmas Seals, are used to help support mobile chest X-ray units, tuberculin skin

RECORDING ARTIST Grant Williams will lead his newly-organized virtuoso chorus, Sunday, Dec. 10, in a performance of Berlioz's "The Childhood of Christ" with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and Plymouth Civic Chorus at the High School.

Symphony Friends, Fans Await Starlight Ball

Friends and fans of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra are busy this week planning two special events.

The first is the annual Starlight Ball, planned for this Saturday evening in the Plymouth Junior High School.

And the second is a special Christmas Concert to mark the holiday season and the Orchestra's 16th year of performances.

Saturday's dance, for which tickets are still available at $4.00 per couple, is the third event sponsored annually by the Symphony's Women's League. The other events are a Theatre Night and the Pop Concert.

Tickets for the event, which will begin at 9:30 p.m. and continue until 12:30 a.m., are available at Melody House, the law office of William Sempliner, and Dr. John Robinson's office. Mrs. Ray Hulce is general chairman of the event.

On Sunday, Dec. 10, RCA Victor recording star Grant Williams will lead his newly-organized Chorale in a performance of Berlioz's "The Childhood of Christ" with the Orchestra and the Plymouth

Civic Chorus. "A Carol on Twelfth Night" by Bergsma and Bach's "Magnificat in D Major" will also be heard.

Williams' virtuoso chorus is composed of 30 young musicians from the Detroit area. This will be its first major appearance. With a wide musical background, Williams holds degrees from Julliard School of Music, has performed with operatic companies and symphony orchestras and has been a soloist with the Robert Shaw Chorale.

The concert will begin at 4 p.m. at the Plymouth High School gymnasium.

Teachers Present Plan To Aid Kids' Health

A proposed physical examination and immunization program for all Plymouth school children was discussed this week by the Board of Education.

The proposal—which came from a faculty physical education curriculum committee—apparently met with favorable response from Board members. If it's going to improve the physical well-being of students, said one member, "I don't see why we can't follow this suggestion."

School Superintendent Russell Isbister was asked to draw up a policy statement and submit it to the Board.

Under the suggestion a physical examination would be required for students at Kindergarten, grades four, seven and 10 and a "complete immunization program" would be established.

The proposal was one of several submitted to the Board by faculty members who have been working since last spring on the physical education curriculum. About 15 teachers met with Board members at Monday's session and some parents were also present.

Quoting President Kennedy's call to "school boards, school administrators, teachers and pupils" to "give high priority to a crusade for excellence in health and fitness," the faculty committee proposed changes which would help make Plymouth's present gym program meet the basic program recommended by the President's Council on Youth Fitness.

Points suggested to the Board included:

"Provide laundry service for entire school system—trained personnel to operate this service."

"Require physical examinations at Kindergarten, Grades 4, 7, and 10; establish a complete immunization program."

"Establish a Department of Health and Physical Education; designate leadership to coordinate this department, Kindergarten through Grade 12."

"Increase instruction in elementary physical education."

"Give credit to students for physical education equal to credit given for other classes."

Lutheran Ladies Hear Christmas Cooking Ideas

Getting a head start on Christmas cooking ideas were the members and guests of Faith Lutheran Ladies Guild. On Tuesday evening, 83 ladies were present at the Consumers Power Company on Farmington Rd. to see Mrs. Karen VanHein and Mrs. Irene Cameron of the Home Service Department prepare many holiday dishes. These foods were later won as door prizes by several lucky ladies. Coffee and cookies were served followed by a brief business meeting.

A special thanks was given by President Charlene Kessler to those 72 women who baked cakes and served during the week of November 12-17 for our congregational stewardship meetings; and also to the 13 ladies who sorted and packed 55 boxes of clothing on Monday, Nov. 20; for Lutheran World Relief.

Flowers For Holiday Table Is YWCA Topic

Mrs. Harold F. Brown, Farmington, will display and give instructions on how to make beautiful Holiday arrangements at the special YWCA tea at 1:30 Dec. 4. The annual Holiday Tea is sponsored by the World Fellowship Committee. Mrs. Brown is renowned in Michigan as a flower arrangement instructor. Tickets are available for one dollar at the Branch, 25940 Grand River. Mrs. Brown specializes in giving instructions which are pitched directly to the homemaker and challenges them to create beautiful arrangements from "almost nothing" in way of materials. New stylized Christmas trees will be one of the highlights of her demonstration.

AFTER KNOCKING at the door for two years, Michigan can claim the nation's top homemaker, Mrs. Cleve B. (Lila) Masson of Redford Township. The suburban housewife was named "Mrs. America" in the annual contest in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., on Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. Masson, auburn haired and green eyed, charmed the judges during two weeks of interviews and competitive events to win thousands of dollars in prizes, including a trip with her husband to Europe and a family vacation in Fort Lauderdale.

Before arriving home Wednesday (Nov. 29) Mrs. Masson made television and public appearances in New York and Indianapolis, Ind. Her three children, Diane, 17; Tom, 12 and David, 9, and hundreds of friends from Redford Township were on hand to meet her at Metropolitan Airport when she arrived.

For the next year Mrs. Masson will travel all over the country, representing the homemakers of America at all types of functions. It will not be exactly a new experience for her, since she has made a number of public appearances since she was crowned "Mrs. Michigan" last June in the state competition sponsored by Michigan Consolidated Gas Company.

FACTS and OPINIONS

by Paul Chandler

As noted, the Yogi exercises are a device to lure the material body into repose so that it is tranquil enough to permit the soul, the mind, the "outer I" to look things over and do some important meditating.

These aren't strenuous exercises, like those on TV and in gym classes, and the aim isn't to build muscles.

Mostly they are a diabolic series of stretchings, with deep and varied forms of breathing as an absolute part of the process.

They are recommended to cover 15 minutes "soon after sunrise" and another 15 minutes "at retiring time."

One should be alone, in a cool place, with utterly no distractions. An empty stomach is recommended.

Our 60 cent handbook offers a series of about two-dozen "exercises", all labeled with long Hindu names.

They are to be done slowly, sinuously, all with closed eyes and slow, easy breathing.

Hah.

Try this. Lie on your back, arms at your side. Slowly raise your arms above your head. Inhale. Rise from the waist, leaving knees bent and flat on the floor. Exhale. Slowly lean over until your face touches your thighs. Place elbows and forearms flat on the floor. Contemplate. Breathe easily. Then return to your back, slowly, relaxed.

There is a footnote. "This is more difficult for Occidental males. Women and children find it easier. It will be hard if your spine is stiff."

Hard? It's ridiculous. The editor's face didn't get within 12 inches of touching the thighs while bending over from the waist with the knees flat to the floor.

But swami, our spine is stiff. Stiffer, that is, than before. Not stiff.

And we're not too sure about the soul at this point, either. It seems to be preoccupied with a bended backbone.

Con-Con Comment

(Editor's Note: Our delegate from this senatorial district is Weldon O. Yeager. From time to time, he writes a personal report on how things look through his eyes at the Constitutional Convention.)

By WELDON O. YEAGER
This is a short week for the convention. Because of Thanksgiving the convention adjourned for the week on Wednesday instead of Thursday. After the 1st of December, I expect that the committees will begin reporting to the floor, some of the non-controversial matters for consideration by the convention at large, and by January 1 more controversial measures will be brought out. This, of course, is where most debate will take place. The officers of the convention have tentatively allowed 3½ months for debate. My guess is that this is short by at least 1 month.

Many committees have been having public hearings and the Education Committee is making a trip to the Upper Peninsula to hold a hearing next week. My committee (Legislative Organization) is having a public hearing on Nov. 28 either in Convention Hall or the House Chamber in the Capitol. If you or any group you know wishes to be heard before the committee, write to Dr. John Hannah, Convention Hall, Lansing, Michigan. Incidentally, any delegate can be reached at this address since we have our own mail room. been insinuations and charge Constantly, there have been insinuations and charges made before many committees and particularly the Legislative Organization Committee that cites in general and Detroit in particular have not been getting their share of need satisfaction or have been "discriminated" against because of the way the Legislature is apportioned. Members of the committee have asked for specific examples of this and as yet none have been offered.

As the convention unfolds, I am continually awed by the great ability and efficiency displayed by a large number of the delegates in many areas. As time goes on, I am more convinced than ever that the final product of the convention will be one which anybody will be proud to vote for.

At the request of the Committee on Rights, Suffrages and Elections, I made an appearance on my proposal (1007) relating to the reaffirmation of the rights of private ownership of property. My reception was good and the proposal is receiving favorable consideration. I expect it to be adopted. I have joined with delegate Gust in the introduction of two proposals: 1256 to add several paragraphs to the preamble setting forth a basic approach to government and 1257 prohibiting joint programs with the federal government including state and local levels without approval of the Legislature.

Bentley's Dimitroff Selected As All-State Grid Center

Meet Boris Dimitroff, Livonia Bentley High School's First All-State football player.

The 5-foot, 11-inch, 17-year-old senior center, who scales 215 pounds, was hailed on the Detroit News All-Michigan squad of prep greats last Sunday.

Dimitroff's selection to the dream roster followed a day after he was named on the News' All-Suburban team along with Tackle Jim Gavigan from Plymouth High.

"We never have had such an honor come to a Bentley football player," said Jack Hudnut, who coached the Livonia gridders.

Hudnut called Dimitroff the finest football player ever to play for Bentley, adding: "This isn't just my opinion, but that of all the veteran followers of high school football around here."

In talking about Dimitroff, Hudnut explained that the huskie youngster came to Bentley as a fullback, having played in the backfield as an eighth grader at Whitman Junior High and then as a ninth grader at Emerson Junior High.

"When I first saw him, I figured he could do a better job for us in the line," said Hudnut. "I became doubly sure of that point when I realized that we needed somebody to take over at center."

"So we put Boris up front and I never have had a boy who could learn or adapt himself to a situation in football more quickly."

"It took Boris only five minutes of coaching to learn how to snap the ball through his legs. That's the way he always reacted. If you told him something, he went right out and do what you instructed."

Hudnut said Dimitroff had all the equipment a coaches looks for in a great athlete. "Besides," added the coach, "few kids like to play football the way Boris did for us. He gave everything he had."

"He always displayed a knack of knowing what to do. His understanding of the game was something you don't find very often in a schoolboy player."

Concluding his remarks about Dimitroff, Hudnut said: "He has been a boy's boy, yet a man's man here at Bentley. He's the type of boy a coach would like to have for his own son."

Dimitroff was a repeated on the News All Suburban Team. He made the first-squad selections first as a junior. He also was picked two years running on the Suburban Six League's All Stars.

Boris plans to attend college. Just where remains to be seen.

The News All-State and All-Suburban selections were supervised by Harvey Barcus, the dean of all Michigan prep writers, and Jim Higginbottom.

RU, Thurston To Swim In Season's Opener

A better team versus a young combination.

That will be the story Thursday evening when the Thurston and Redford Union high school swimmers open their season in a triangular meet at Redford Union in which Dearborn will be the third entry.

As for Thurston and Redford Union, Thurston figures to have the stronger team, according to Coach Joe Mrana, while mentor Larry Deetz at RU says he'll have to rebuild after last year's fine season.

Thurston, which captured honors in the special North Suburban League set up for the Jays and five other schools for swimming only, is well stocked with returning veterans.

"We'll be improved over a year ago," said Mrana, "but then so will everybody else we have to go against."

Mrana indicated that Thurston had booked its toughest schedule of all time in swimming with such foes as Dearborn, Redford Union and Birmingham Seaholm on the list. The latter was third in the state meet won by Plymouth last year.

Back for Thurston are such performers as Rick Barringer, an outstanding free style distance performer; Dennis Adams, who vies in the back stroke and Tom Robison, a breast stroker.

Bill Lambert and John Kostrick have returned to handle the butterfly honors while David O'Grady is a student diver, and Bill Dickie, a good distance tanker.

Two impressive sophomores are Pat Duthrie and Ken Wiebeck, who can perform at anything, according to their coach.

Mrana also announced that the combination of Wiebeck, Duthrie, Robison and Barringer will make a bid within a few weeks at the National AAU record for the 400-yard medley event for boys 15 and 16 years old. The time is 4:02.3 at present.

Over at Redford Union, there are only six lettermen available for the swimming team.

Bill Truesdell, the captain, is a senior breast stroker. Bob Haltom should fashion points in the butterfly, while Dan Shoemaker, breast stroke, Eugene Templem and Ken Bracken, free style, and Dean Schechter, back stroke, round out the experienced talent.

"We were second in the league last year," said Larry Deetz, the RU tank coach, but we'll be lucky to make the first division this season. "We must rebuild. . . and I think it will take a couple of years before we threaten again in the league."

"Naturally, I hope that I am wrong."

New faces at RU include Bob Kerr, free style; Laird Kelly, free style; Jim James, free style; Bruce Nordstrom, back stroke, and Bob Truesdell, a free styler. Bob is the brother of team captain, Bill.

Plymouth Tankers Picked

The word is out again: Watch Plymouth in swimming.

Little wonder why Plymouth High been made the target of so many in prep circles so quickly.

The Rocks have dominated the Suburban Six League for the last four years. They swept everything a year ago, including the State Class A title - walking into the throne room for the school's first state crown.

With 11 veterans back, Coach John McFall has the nucleus for another successful campaign which will start Thursday night when the Rocks travel to Lincoln Park for their opener.

Plymouth will make its home debut the following Thursday against Birmingham Seaholm, then start its Suburban Six League grind on Dec. 14 by hosting Allen Park.

Two members of the 1961 All American High School team head the Plymouth roster.

SOUTH LYON TRIUMPHS:

Clarenceville Falls With Young Quintet

As was the case in football, Clarenceville High School finds itself with a young team in basketball for the 1961-62 campaign.

Coach Dave Schafer has only two veterans available in Captain Bill Wheeler, a 6-2 forward, and Ron Ridling, a 5-11 guard who is fresh from starring in the football wars.

Juniors and sophomores make up the rest of the Clarenceville varsity. Notwithstanding, the team gave South Lyon an all-out battle before succumbing, 70-65, on the victors' court last Tuesday in the season's opener.

"We hung in close all the way," Schafer declared. "Our inexperience hurt us in spots, but from what I saw I think we can cause some problems in the Wayne-Oakland League race." Clarenceville won't have any more chance to tune up before embarking on the title chase. The loop's curtain will rise this Friday night with Clarenceville hosting Clarkson, annually one of the league's stronger cage forces.

Against South Lyon, Clarenceville fought on even terms during the first half which ended with the score tied at 29-29.

Both sides hit the hoop with greater regularity in the third and fourth quarters. South Lyon jumped ahead right after the second half began, but never held what could be called a cozy advantage.

Wheeler clicked for 18 points to pace Clarenceville while sophomore Center Dave Graves (6-2) hit 13 points. Ridling tossed in seven.

Gary Gearhart, a 5-11 sophomore guard; Jerry Clark, 6-2, junior forward; Bob Reed, 6-2, forward, and Ed Hanaford, 5-11, guard, all saw considerable service for Clarenceville and figure to carry the load the rest of the way according to Schafer.

Clarenceville's reserves are so lost at South Lyons, bowing by a 38-36 count. Ridling, brother, Dave, starred for the losers.

Recreation Round Up

Managers for the Department of Parks and Recreation senior men's basketball league must enter their team no later than 9 p.m. Wednesday (today), Nov. 29th at the department office, 14305 Farmington Road.

A meeting for all managers for the purpose of scheduling league games is set for that time. League competition will begin in January following scheduled practices in December.

Sports Observer—By George Maskin

A Break Coming For 9th Grades

The day may be too far distant when the discrimination will end toward ninth-grade athletes performing on junior high school teams throughout Michigan.

If you'll recall, the Sports Observer pointed out a few weeks back that some glaring discrepancies appear in the schoolboy sports code when it comes to boys who are ninth graders.

Take the boy, who's a ninth grader, in a four-year high school. He may engage in nine varsity football games, from 15 to 20 basketball games, any number of baseball, swimming and track meets, etc.

What's more he can participate with a football team which plays 12-minute quarters and on basketball teams which follow the eight-minute varsity period.

Now the ninth grader who plays for any of the junior highs in Livonia, Plymouth, Redford Township or any other community in the state.

This boy is limited to six football games and eight-minute quarters. . . to 10 basketball games of six-minute quarter duration. . . to a set number of baseball, track, etc. competition.

Yet the ninth grader at Livonia Riley or in the Township is just as old as the ninth grader who plays on a senior high team in Detroit's Catholic League. The Livonia or Township ninth grader even may be more physically qualified for athletics.

But the one ninth grader comes under the high school regulations. . . the other under the junior high standard.

It's apparent that State Director Charles E. Forsyth realizes that the standard doesn't make sense. So, we understand, he has started to do something.

We're told that Forsyth has polled various school systems on what they think they should do.

"It's a tough question," Athletic Director Howard Kraft at Redford Union told the Sports Observer.

"As I see it, I think they should write a special rule for all ninth graders, regardless of whether they are in high school or junior high.

"These boys are in what I term 'no-man's land.' The rate more competition than the junior high boys who are in the seventh and eighth grades. Yet, the ninth grader shouldn't be performing on the same scale as the boys in the tenth grade up.

"At least, that's the way I see the matter."

What does Kraft, who's a veteran on the schoolboy scene having worked with teenage athletes for more than two decades, advocate?

"Well, I would okay about seven football games for ninth graders," Kraft declared. "I'd let them play 12 minute quarters. This would provide a happy medium, the rule which now exists in junior high football.

"In basketball, I'd up the total of games to maybe 10. The quarters would be seven minutes in duration."

"I'd favor a little more leeway for ninth graders track and baseball and swimming. But I wouldn't permit them to go all the way on high school standards."

It strikes us that Kraft has a point. What he proposes would make everybody happier.

Kraft realizes, as do other prep athletic administrators, that it might be difficult to legislate in some instances where ninth-graders are playing on varsity high school teams.

"You could run into some problems," the RU sports chief pointed out. "There are many small high schools which need the services of ninth graders."

"The coaches of these teams would not be able to turn to a boy and say to him: 'Son, you're a ninth grader. I've got to watch that you play only so long.'"

By and large, however, Kraft feels his suggestion would work for the greatest number of boys in the ninth-grade category in Michigan.

It's certainly an interesting subject in these par where the junior high athletic setup grows by leaps and bound every year.

We have more and more boys every year "caught in the trap" by a rule which hardly is fair.

It'll take time before any chance can be written in the prep regulations. When and if the State Association Representative Council acts and approves such an item, the rule would have to wait for a year before going into effect.

That's because all prep rules come under the official state code. . . and for there to be a change a 12-month waiting period is necessary so that every objector, if there are any, can't get in a word.

In this case, we doubt that anybody would kick. . . least of all the boys involved. They want more chances play. And they deserve them.

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba Fredrick M. Bauman, boatswain's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Baumann of 638 S. Harvey st., Plymouth, Mich., is serving at the Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

New Consumers Division Headed by James Thomas

In a move to serve customers better by bringing management closer to them, Consumers Powers Company will reorganize its Southeast Division as four separate divisions, effective Jan. 1, with one of the divisions headquartered in Livonia.

Each of the four districts now making up the Southeast Division will become a new division headed by the present district manager as division manager. Charles F. Brown will be division manager of the Pontiac Division, with headquarters in Pontiac; Wilfred L. Whitfield, division manager of the South Oakland Division, with headquarters in Royal Oak;

George L. Mayhew, division manager of the Macomb Division, with headquarters in East Detroit.

And James P. Thomas, Jr., is division manager of the West Wayne Division, with headquarters in Livonia.

Mulligan said the reorganization of the Southeast Division as four separate divisions will bring management closer to the customer and promote improved standards of service.

The West Wayne Division will embrace 254 square miles, including the cities of Livonia, Wayne, Plymouth, Farmington, Novi, Northville, South Lyon, Wixom, Woodcreek Farms, and Quakertown, Romulus and Salem.

Jim Thomas received a degree in chemical engineering at Michigan State University in 1947. He joined Consumers at Jackson the same year and later worked for the Company in Flint and Plymouth. He was assistant gas distribution superintendent of the Lansing Division from 1955 to 1959, when he was appointed manager of the West Wayne District.

James P. Thomas, Jr., district manager at Livonia in Consumers Power Company's Southeast division, will become division manager of the new West Wayne division, with headquarters in Livonia, January 1. Three other new divisions will be formed of districts in the Southeast division, with division managers in Pontiac, Royal Oak, and East Detroit.
