

No Support On Water Tank Vote

A motion to proceed immediately with plans to build a water reservoir for the City of Plymouth failed Monday night for lack of support, but there were indications the matter may yet be resolved this month.

City Commissioners will gather in committee the week of Aug. 19 to discuss latest developments surrounding the water reservoir proposal.

There is a hint a decision might be reached at that time to proceed later this fall with plans to

City Approves Part Payment To Contractor

Water may have been the main attraction Monday night, but City Commissioners didn't overlook a lengthy list of other matters of business that required action.

Under one item, they finally resolved a problem stemming from an unauthorized change order arising out of work done during the construction of the service drive into the City's industrial park along Plymouth Rd.

Gay Bros. Contractors, the firm that built the service road, had submitted a belated change order asking for an additional $984 above the original contract of $34,000.

The City, for the past two months, has been studying the additional claim and Monday night Commissioners agreed that it was not full liability of the City.

Commissioners authorized payment of $510 of the original contract amount. The City was not bound to pay the full amount of the extra claim since it was not provided for in the original contract.

The Commissioners agreed to vacate a portion of Dodge St. in order to make room for the new City Hall which will be built there.

Festival Planners Ponder $4,500 Budget

Financial Requirement Presents Big Question

Plans for Plymouth's annual Fall Festival have left the drawing boards and are now fast becoming reality.

With only one month left in which to bring to a culmination the organizational detail, pressures are reaching their climax and what will probably be the biggest event of its kind yet staged here, the community awaits its annual early September celebration.

The ambitious program, as outlined by Festival co-chairmen Margaret Wilson and James Thornton, will necessitate the raising of an all-time high budget of some $4,500.

Local business and industry will be asked to share in the budget which will finance decorations, entertainment, advertising and general promotion.

In addition to the Festival program which will again include street entertainment, pet show, square dancing, musical programs, etc., the local Kiwanis, Jaycee and Lions clubs will join the festivities along with Rotary this year. The Rotary chicken barbecue will conclude the celebration on Sunday, Sept. 8.

Thursday, during late afternoon and evening, will see local Lions members in Kellogg Park offering an old-fashioned m e l o n and ice cream social, an unusually attractive addition to this year's program.

Friday evening, members of the Jaycees will conduct a bounteous fish-fry to all comers. It too will be staged in Kellogg Park.

Saturday's feature will be a repeat of the famous Kiwanis pan-cake feast which has attracted hundreds of guests to the city each year.

In addition to the other planned amusements this new participation will make this year's event one long to be remembered.

According to the Festival chairmen, no stone is being left unturned to make these five days interesting to young and old alike.

Efforts are being made to encourage local residents to invite out-of-town members of their family, as well as friends and former residents to visit in Plymouth during

Festival Adds Antique Show To Busy Agenda

Further evidence of the rapidly increasing participation in the 1963 Fall Festival is found in this week's announcement that the Plymouth Symphony Women's League will sponsor an antique show from noon to 10 p.m., Sept. 6-8.

To be held simultaneously in the Grange Hall and the Community Building, both on Union St., the antique show will feature displays by nearly two dozen antique dealers, some from as far away as 30 miles.

Admission will be 50 cents and refreshments will be available. Proceeds from the show will go toward supporting the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Dealers will show a variety of antiques, ranging from furniture and china to stone-ware, jewelry and postal cards. Other displays will feature antique weapons, coins, clocks and jars.

A committee, headed by general chairman Mrs. Ray Hulce, is making plans to have Union St. gaily decorated to add to the flavor of the antique show.

the time to make it an annual time of reunion and fellowship.

Officials point out that no better or more tempting offer could be made to out-of-town visitors than an old-fashioned m e l o n and ice cream s o c i a l, fish fry, pan-cake feast and chicken barbecue, all of course, in addition to a well-planned program of fun and amusement.

Local stores in addition to their decorations are encouraged to follow the pattern set last year by Dunning's in adopting a Gay Nineties costume theme for their employees suitable for the occasion. Windows will be trimmed especially for the Festival, and street decorations will set the theme for the event.

Festival chairmen ask all to remember that the time is short for preparation and they are hopeful of 100 per cent cooperation throughout the business areas.

They further point out that they also would receive, most warmly, any financial contributions from any source which will help them cope with the huge budget they are faced with this year.

The Festival planners will meet Wednesday noon at the Hotel Mayflower to discuss the budget requirements further.

Study Explores Possibilities Of Night School

School authorities here are exploring the possibility of establishing an evening school program which will provide young people who lack a high school diploma with the means of acquiring basic skills for employment purposes.

Board of Education members, together with the administrative staff and members of the YMCA board of directors, are exploring the situation. There is a possibility the evening program will be inaugurated this fall.

Its purpose would be to help non-graduates develop proficiencies in arithmetic, reading and writing and other basic skills which they need in order to acquire worthwhile employment.

The exploratory study is an outgrowth of the local Youth Employment Project, sponsored by YMCA funds and coordinated by Senior High counselor Mike Hoben.

AERIAL VIEW of Sidewalk Sale in Plymouth last Friday and Saturday provided this scene, typical of the bustling activity at all participating stores along Penniman Ave., Main St., West Ann Arbor Tr. and Forest Ave. Shoppers were undisturbed by the light rain that fell and many merchants set new records for retail sales during the two-day annual event. Below, general chairman Bernie Morrison, of Famous Men's Wear, turned out in a snappy straw hat and colorful short-sleeved sweater to help Mrs. William Bartel, Sr., one of the many shoppers who flocked to town for the sidewalk bargains. The two-day event is the conclusion of the annual July clearances.

Will Youth Project Survive?

What will become of Plymouth's highly successful YMCA Youth Employment Project when coordinator Mike Hoben returns to his counseling and football coaching duties at the Senior High this fall?

Will it flounder for lack of a full-time administrator, or is it possible that a part-time coordinator can keep it moving?

These are the thorny questions that already are confronting the local YMCA board of directors and its subordinate, "Young Adult Committee."

Conceived as a means to combat the local high school drop-out rate and to place young people between 16 and 25 in positions of meaningful employment despite their lack of a high school diploma, the Youth Employment Project — under Hoben's direction — has more than lived up to its purpose.

Placed in operation early in July, the program has met with superior success, according to Hoben and George Lawton, who as a member of the YMCA board helped originate the project.

To date, nearly 200 young people have registered with the Youth Employment Project and Hoben estimates that almost 100 of these have been placed in gainful jobs.

Some 40 per cent of those who have found work through Hoben's efforts have obtained "permanent-type" employment. It thus removes them from the "jobless" ranks and provides them with an opportunity to gain a skill and assure themselves of a worthwhile future.

But Hoben, a trained guidance counselor who is working toward a doctorate in clinical psychology, will resume his duties as varsity football coach at Plymouth High late this month.

In fact, with the official arrival of the football season mid-way in September, the former Marine Corps officer will be devoting 10-hour days to his coaching and counseling profession.

What the future holds for the Youth Employment Project with Hoben working full-time at the High School is a question the YMCA board must answer between now and then.

To add to the complexities, the project will need further financial support in order to assure its continuance.

The YMCA board put up a $2,500 budget for the summer, but this will not sustain the program much beyond the end of August. There are suggestions that a plea for funds will be made to the Plymouth School Board and the Community Fund.

Junior League Players Invited to 'Party It Up'

Major league players in the Plymouth Community Junior League program will have a chance to "party it up" August 14 as sort of a concluding celebration now that the 1963 season has officially ended.

All of the major league players are invited to Plymouth Bowl beginning at 10 a.m. on that date. The boys will be treated to two free games of bowling as well as soft drinks and potato chips, courtesy of manager Frank Mocer.

The youngsters are asked to bring their own bowling shoes, if they have them.

Delay City Hall 30 Days

Start of construction on Plymouth's new City Hall is expected to be postponed until Sept. 28 due to administrative delays that have arisen between the City and the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

A request for a 30-day extension on the start of construction has been made by the Municipal Building Authority, and approval of the extension is expected to be granted shortly.

The delay arose over a new wage scale for workers on accelerated public works projects in Wayne County. The federal government is involved since it is putting up one-half of the construction costs in the form of a public works grant.

An invitation for bids on the construction contract will be published later this month and the bids will be opened Sept. 6. Originally, construction was to get underway Aug. 29.

Meanwhile, the third attempt to hold a condemnation hearing, whereby the City will acquire privately-owned property for the new City Hall's site, got underway this week in Wayne County Circuit Court. A jury was empaneled Monday with the actual hearing to begin immediately.

Two previous hearings ended abruptly in mistrials.

Youngsters Face Busy Days Getting Entries Ready for 4-H Fair at Belleville Aug. 13-18

FAVORED TO win more honors at the 4-H horse show, a feature of the Belleville 4-H Fair, is Bonnie's Boy, a four year old Morgan entered and owned by Sue Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roberts of West Ann Arbor Trail. Already a winner at shows this summer in Davison and Owosso and Bucyrus, Ohio, Miss Robert's horse is expected to bring further honors to Plymouth at the show next week.

CONSISTENT 4-H prize winners over the last seven years are David and Robert McGraw, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Russell McGraw of Warren Road. The boys will enter Domino, a three time grand champion Jersey as well as Zero, a one year old Suffolk sheep, making its first bid for fair honors. In addition to their live stock entries, David will also compete in the tractor driving contest to be held Saturday.

ALREADY FIRST prize winners at the Greenfield Village Country Fair and the Wayne County 4-H Fair, Susan and Barbara Niemi, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Niemi of Joy Road, display evidence of their ability in the field of leather handicraft. The two sisters will enter pocket books, photo albums, tobacco pouches, wallets, etc., in the hopes of winning more blue ribbons at the Belleville event.

ALSO IN FAIR competition are Rande and Lynn Allen, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Allen of Ridge Road. Lynn is entering two fine black Angus, Big Sis and Little Sis, in the beef breeding class at the Fair and hopes to walk off with top honors in this category. His brother Rande is entering a Jersey cow in the dairy category and hopes to do equally well. These boys raise sheep and horses as well as their prize Angus.

Harold Guenther — Man of Many Missions

The 45-minute drive each day to his office in Detroit is a time of reflection and thoughtful solitude for Plymouthite Harold Guenther.

Within the quiet comfort of his new Cadillac, the 53-year-old manufacturer, businessman and civic leader mulls over many things.

Included among them are his weighty responsibilities as a member of a business partnership that encompasses five manufacturing plants, one of which is in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

But more often than not, Guenther's exacting mind dwells on the deep complexities of the Plymouth community — its hopes, problems and future.

His thoughts turn to matters relating to the Chamber of Commerce, community planning, industrial development, the new city hall, the Fair Festival, and an endless string of similar projects and possibilities.

One moment, he may conjecture over the chances of building a Community Center in Plymouth. The next, he's exploring new ways of forming a joint planning authority, which recently hit a legal snag.

In what amounts to a constant game of mental gymnastics, Guenther's far-ranging thoughts might touch upon:

A desire to encourage more industry to locate here; a hope for expanding still further the Plymouth area; a deep colonial theme; an interest in assuring a lasting community image that will not erode away as Plymouth over the years becomes more and more swept up in metropolitan tides.

And not infrequently, he asks himself: "Why do I become involved in these community affairs?" It is a question Guenther finds difficult to answer.

He discounts a search for recognition or praise as being among his motives; in fact, these are luxuries that appear to have long since lost meaning within the framework of Guenther's basic values.

Instead, he explains, his intense civic-mindedness is saying simply: "I enjoy doing things that help the community."

Pressed to enlarge on this, he replies: "I feel that the thing that gives me the most pleasure is being able to serve the Plymouth community in some worthwhile way. I have to work at my business; this is other I do naturally."

And he speaks not out of covert pride, but with a sincere belief that his participation in community activities is "a natural" to him.

"It's satisfying," he adds. "The fact that Harold Guenther does not seek 'recognition' or 'praise' for his efforts and accomplishments was evidenced in his reluctance at first to submit to an exclusive interview with The Plymouth Mail.

"If it can serve the community in some way," he said finally, "I'd be agreeable."

Guenther is undeniably "involved" in Plymouth's affairs, and it has proved to be a satisfying two-way relationship from the moment of its beginning more than 10 years ago.

On the one hand, it has provided the community with additional and essential leadership as well as a precise mind and a business acumen of extraordinary caliber.

Simultaneously, Guenther has managed to meet a compulsive need within himself to "help others."

A partial list of his community "involvement" shows that Guenther:

- Was for six years a member of the City Commission, the last two as mayor.
- Served on the City's personnel appeals board.
- Is the chairman of the municipal building authority, the legal body in charge of new City Hall.
- Is vice-president and one of the founders of the Industrial Development Corp.
- Acts as treasurer for the Plymouth Symphony Society.
- Is immediate past president of Rotary Club.
- Serves on the board of the Plymouth Credit Union.
- Is a member and former officer of the Chamber of Commerce.
- Helped conceive the idea of the community-wide joint planning authority, which at present is stalled for lack of adequate financial support.
- Was a major participant in the Open Forum session last April and will undoubtedly be active in the one scheduled for September.
- None of this work carries any financial remuneration. And far below the surface are other undertakings that touch Harold Guenther in one way or another. Occasionally, people in distress come to him for financial aid.

It was partly through his urging that the Rotary Club's annual chicken barbecue has been effectively converted into a community-wide Fall Festival, embracing all organizations and pointing up Plymouth's many cultural, social and economic aspects.

This past Spring, after being off the City Commission for two years, Guenther turned down repeated invitations to run for re-election.

"I could have run again and perhaps I would have been re-elected," he admitted.

"But I've got a considerable responsibility to my business interests. Beyond that, if I had been elected, it very likely could have meant that another man would have been prevented from lending his knowledge and experience to the community."

"Plymouth needs all the talented leadership it can get, and if I were to block off some of this potential I know I'd do the community a disservice."

At 53, Harold Guenther is a trim figure of a man whose wavy thatch of hair belies his years. He looks more like 40. He smokes cigars with the same careful deliberation that he solves profound problems.

His participation in church work in Detroit laid the groundwork for his basic philosophy of "help others."

Interestingly, the minister of the Cass Methodist Church, where Guenther became so active, has retired and now lives in Plymouth. He is William Henry Perkins, of 1440 W. Ann Arbor Tr.

Guenther first met Rev. Perkins in 1929 and later, when the minister was about to retire, Harold encouraged him to move to Plymouth.

"He is very much responsible for a number of values in which I believe," Guenther said.

Guenther's church work also imbued him with a desire to assist in community affairs once he and his family moved to Plymouth.

But the press of business prevented him from taking part in civic matters here until early in the 1950's when former mayor Russell Daane appointed him to the City's personnel appeals board.

Then came an appointment to fill a vacancy on the City Commission. He was eventually elected to a four-year term, and then to a subsequent two-year term. During the latter span he was mayor before retiring from elected office in 1961.

Meanwhile, a constantly growing business empire has brought him to a point of relative wealth, and he often toys with the idea of retiring to devote himself full-time to what he describes as "the many jobs that ought to be done here in Plymouth."

Among his pet projects is a

The two men have plants in Plymouth, Alma, Detroit, Windsor and Puerto Rico. The latter plant is engaged in the production of special building materials.

A resident of Detroit until the mid-1940's, Guenther was active in many phases of church work there. As a side-light, he used to play baseball with a number of neighborhood youngsters who later became members of the infamous Purple Gang.

Letter to the Editor

Plymouth Mail
Dear Editor:
I am grateful to your paper for becoming a means of community discussion about the matter of open occupancy housing. Two earlier letters from Mrs. Dorothy Jewell and Mrs. Margaret Kauffman (June 16 and 28) have stated well and accurately. I believe the situation in Plymouth. I am responding to the letter in your issue of July 30.

The writer states seven principles which he feels should govern any regulation in the field. They are quite similar to some of those published as a "Property Owners Bill of Rights" by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Their theme is that governmental measures proposed to protect the equal rights of minority groups may endanger the property rights which they regard as part of the individual's freedom. I shall comment only on those points made by your correspondent.

The first three of these points having to do with "the right of privacy; the right to choose his own friends; the right to own and enjoy property according to his own dictates" would probably meet with agreement by all although ownership of property other than his own home is certainly of more public interest and subject to more regulation than is later implied and the phrase "according to his own dictate" is ambiguous and subject to question. To the degree that it is applicable it would apply to all citizens.

Point 4 sets up the property owner's "own conscience" as the criterion for disposing of property, to be exercised "without governmental interference."

If its property is publicly offered for sale or rent, this raises the point of the responsibility of local, state and national governments to see that other equally qualified and free citizens are not disadvantaged in their free choice of homes by some arbitrary requirement of owners as to race or color or religion. The owner, we are coming to see is not free to add such a requirement to those generally expected of tenants or buyers.

Point 5 seems to imply that, although all have the right equally to enjoy ownership or use of property, the major freedom the writer would emphasize is freedom "from interference by laws giving special privilege to any group or groups." I would say that government efforts to see that all are free to enjoy homes of their own choice are far from giving special privileges to the excluded group. It is the owners who are claiming a special privilege to deprive some people of their right and freedom.

Point 6 carries this position beyond ownership and disposal of one's own home and into the assumed responsibility of its owner for maintaining what "in his opinion" "are congenial surroundings for tenants." This seems to deal with its owner as a renter. What does this mean for the individual freedom of the tenants, in that the owner's opinion as to his own is to determine his choice? Is it in the public interest that he and other tenants should be so limited?

Point 7 affirms an unqualified "right to freedom to accept, reject, negotiate or not negotiate, with others." As a matter of fact such dubious freedom is seldom exercised by those who have goods, services or houses to sell. Grounds for acceptance or rejection are limited to such considerations as ability to pay, decent behavior, reputation, and reliability as to fulfilling contracts. The present

Written Exams Next For Clerk Applicants

Written examinations for the post of city clerk and another for a water and sewer operator will be given Thursday night in the Senior High by City Manager Albert Glassford.

The two vacancies occurred when Joe Near resigned the clerk's position and Tom Jones resigned the other to become chief of maintenance at Spring Arbor College near Jackson.

Glassford has received more than 70 applications for the clerk's job, which will pay about $7,000 a year. Glassford hopes to fill both vacancies by the middle of this month.

How I Earned My First Dollar

Dale Dauderman

It was in the early years of World II that Dale Dauderman earned his first dollar and where else but in a hardware store.

He was 13 and received "about 75 cents an hour" as a stock-boy at a hardware store in west Detroit where he grew up.

Today — at 34 — Dale is the manager of S & W "Pro" Hardware on Ann Arbor Rd. here. He has managed the store since it opened in February, 1953.

Actually, Dale has held only four jobs during his life-time if you discount the newspaper route he had briefly before he became a hardware stockboy.

He stayed at the hardware store until about a year before he entered the Army. Prior to being drafted in 1951, he drove a semi-trailer and truck rig in order to "put aside some money."

Married shortly before his draft notice arrived, Dale eventually was assigned to Germany as an enlisted man with anti-aircraft units.

Among the various places where he was stationed was Weisbaden. Separated from active duty in 1953, he became the manager of S & W Hardware here within two weeks of returning to civilian life. It came about in an unique way.

A Dearborn man, Frank Wambold, had been a long-time friend of Dale's parents.

During this stay in Germany, Dale was visited by Wambold who was overseas on business.

He told the young man that when he came out of the service "we'll put you into a hardware store."

"Frank is sort of a second father to me, I guess," Dale reflected recently.

The front windows were being installed at S & W the day Dale first saw the store 10 years ago. Wambold is co-owner of the business with Plymouthite Warren L. Smith, of Main St. Smith is a former member of the School Board here.

Since that time, and under Dale's careful hand, S & W Hardware has doubled its original floor space and expanded its retail volume immensely.

"I get a lot of satisfaction out of managing the store and meeting the different people that come in," Dale said.

He is a native Detroit and grew up in the Grand River-Plymouth Rd. area. He graduated from McKenzie High School in 1946, five years before entering the Army.

Dale and his wife, Venith, have two children, Lynn, 9, and Guy, 7. The Daudermans live at 9204 Morrison.

Dale is a member of the Plymouth Elks Lodge and is chairman of the lodge's membership investigating committee.

On hand for the celebration were:

But, because City taxes are due and payable this Saturday, Aug. 10, the treasurer's office will be open until 7:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 9, to accommodate those who would otherwise be unable to pay the tax bills.

Two others are teacher vacancies at Smith School; another two are vacant teacher posts at Starkweather; and the final one is a teacher vacancy at Gallimore.

Interviews with prospective teachers are currently being conducted. Meanwhile, plans are being made for the annual pre-school teacher conference which begins Sept. 3, the day after Labor Day.

Natural Resource Wealth Bubbles Under Plymouth

While few residents are aware of the fact, Plymouth sits almost smack dab on top of a wealth of natural resources.

In the past three years, the Peake Petroleum Co., of Cleveland, has had eight combination oil and natural gas wells drilled on the outskirts of Plymouth.

gun recently by the Hilliard Drilling Co., from Mt. Pleasant. It's situated next door to Dunn Steel Div., just off Northville Rd. near Edward Hines Dr.

Over the course of the next 25 days, the well will have reached down some 4,600 feet into the ground. Assuming it turns out successful, by the time it's producing the well will have cost approximately $80,000, the average cost of each well sunk here.

Two wells are located on C & O railroad property, a third in on private land, and the balance on property owned by Wayne County. The well sites are leased by Peake Petroleum Co. and if the wells "come in" royalties are paid the land owners.

Six of the eight wells are currently producing.

Youngest of the lot is located only a stone's throw from the new drilling site. It's producing oil and gas at a rate of about 750,000 cubic feet every 24 hours. It was only recently placed in full operation.

A gigantic natural pressure deep within the earth is so great that it could force the combined oil-and-gas liquid which also contains some quantities of water, out of the ground at a rate of about four million cubic feet every 24 hours.

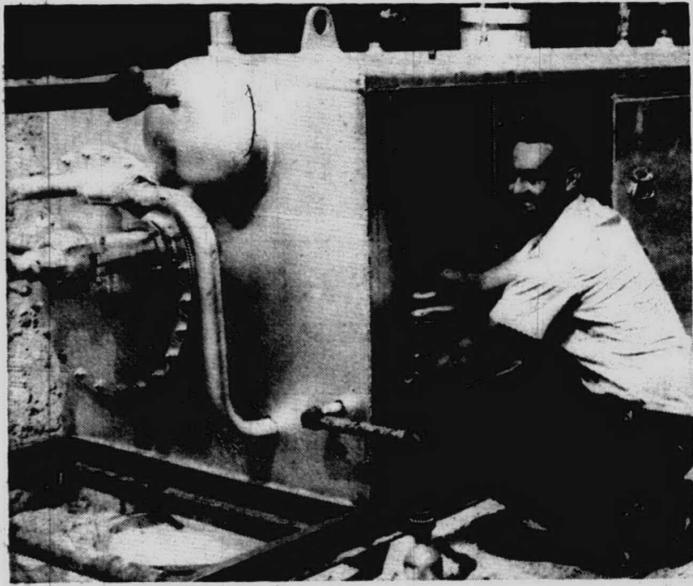

Heavy control valves limit the daily production to far less than that potential, however, in order to avoid any risk of the well collapsing down deep and thus halting further production.

Once a well has been brought in, special equipment is installed to produce the gas and oil. A separator removes the gas from the oil. Consumers Power Co. buys the gas right at the well site where it is metered to determine the actual volume of gas acquired by the utility.

The oil, on the other hand, is piped into a storage tank, eventually to be wholesaled. The water that accompanies the natural resource as it comes up from the ground is drained away.

The drilling rig was erected about three weeks ago and preliminary drilling began the end of July. A drilling crew foreman estimated the 4,600-foot level, where oil and gas are expected to be found, will be reached about Sept. 1.

Then the well will be capped, production equipment installed, and the oil and gas taken off for as long as possible, which conceivably will be many decades.

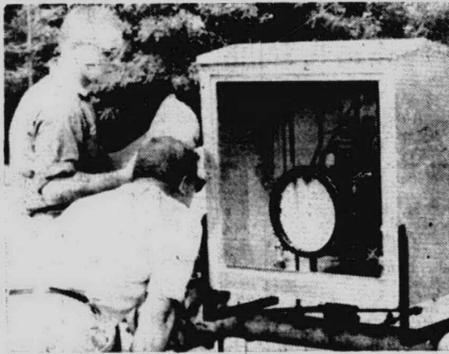

SEPARATOR sends natural gas into Consumers Power Co. lines, oil into storage tank. Reggie LaPorte, employed by Peake Petroleum Co. as a "lease man" here, is shown adjusting the controls of the separator. He lives at 15875 Park Lane.

NEARBY STORAGE tank takes the separated oil until it can be wholesaled. There are actually two tanks sitting side-by-side, but one is hidden from the camera.

AT PRODUCING well, crewman checks pressure of well as oil and gas come to surface.

METERING DEVICE measures amount of natural gas being pumped into Consumers Power Co. line. Inspecting the meter are Jerry Bonney, of Consumers, and Engineer Don Supcoe.

WORKERS AT new drilling site get set to sink well some 4,600 feet into the ground.

City Approves

retired official of the federal government's Housing & Home Finance Administration, was retained as a consultant on the City's Urban Renewal project along Mill St.

He will assist City Manager Albert Glassford in completing the project as swiftly as possible. Stamm will be paid a maximum of $1,600 for his consultation during the balance of the year. It is expected the government will share a portion of this fee.

Glassford also reported on the status of the proposed sale of the City's inoperative Byron St. water tank. He told Commissioners that Summit Township, the village of Hudson, Adrian and Lake Odessa have all indicated a recent interest in acquiring the tank. Earlier, the village of Cedar Springs showed an interest and even sent down an engineer to inspect the structure.

Commissioner James Jabara was appointed the City's official voting delegate to the Michigan Municipal League annual meeting at Mackinac Island, Sept. 5-7. City attorney Edward Draugelis was named the alternate voting delegate.

The City will share in the cost of a $500 water survey by the University of Michigan, on the strength of Commission action Monday night. The survey, sought by the Chamber of Commerce, will be jointly financed by the City, Township and the Chamber.

The City's cost will not exceed one-third of the total. The first reading of a zoning ordinance amendment was approved whereby two residential lots on Cherry St. will ultimately be re-zoned to light industrial use.

Public Safety Director Kenneth Fisher's report on the recent Chief of Police conviction in St. Joseph was accepted.

Commissioners indicated their approval permitting City of Hope medical center to place solicitation canisters at various points throughout the City. Manager Albert Glassford was instructed to so inform City of Hope officials.

Joseph Near, former City Clerk, was appointed as a member of the municipal building authority and Ernest Henry was named to the planning commission. Clifford Smith, Kenneth Fisher, Ernest Henry, Roland Lutz, Albert Glassford and Marvin Terry were appointed to the Police Youth Club board of directors.

Harry Mumby was re-appointed to the City's cemetery board.

Glassford reported on the status of pledge for the partial financing of the portable bandstand. Rotary Club and the Chamber have each pledged $1,000, Kiwanis Club, Lions Club and the Community Fund have each pledged $500, and the VFW Post has pledged $100.

Total cost is about $9,000. The City has agreed to pay half and the balance must be met by service clubs and organizations.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Municipal Judge Harry N. Devo, of Plymouth, has accepted an invitation to participate in the third annual meeting of the National Association of Municipal Judges to be held in Chicago from Aug. 7 to 10.

Will Youth Project Survive?

comprised of Hoben, Lawton, Donald Sutherland, Edward Draugelis and Russell Isbister — must make plans to assure the future of the employment project.

Hoben has indicated he would be willing to remain as a part-time coordinator of the project, once the football season has ended. Lawton feels that such an arrangement would satisfy the needs of "administering" the program, but "further implementation" of its purposes would be curtailed.

"The type of program we conduct and its overall effectiveness is dependent on when and where we can raise additional funds," Lawton said last week.

"I don't see how — as a community — we can afford to let the YMCA Youth Employment Project slip away," he added.

Hoben estimated that the 100 youngsters who already have found work through the help of the project have earned a total of $15,000 thus far this summer.

Most of the jobs have been local ones, he said. He compared the $15,000 total earnings thus far to the project's $2,500 summer budget, of which about half has been consumed. "The return to the community is significant," Lawton added.

Hoben said the jobs pay on the average of $1.25 an hour. One position had a $96-a-week potential.

Started solely as a method to aid unskilled young people find a job, the youth employment project has branched out into numerous other fields as well.

Simultaneously, the project has given quiet assistance to needy older persons. It has also counseled unwed mothers and accomplished a number of related missions. Plans are afoot to form a "youth commission" here. It probably will consist of about 11 members who meet periodically to discuss the local vocational climate in terms of Plymouth's young people. Youth problems will be another topic for discussion by members of the commission.

There was a suggestion that through his studies of the drop-out situation here, a need for greater vocational training in the schools has been uncovered.

Did you know Meerschbaum is really a mineral? Perhaps you'll find a Meerschbaum pipe at the Plymouth Antique Show, Sept. 6, 7, 8.

But, first of all, the organizers of the youth employment project must find a way to sustain the program when Hoben resumes his professional duties at the Senior High this fall.

The employment project has offices in the basement of the Credit Union on Harvey St.

tie-in to Detroit water could be accomplished at some later date if the City so desired.

The City has made no move to accept Detroit water as yet, although the thought has been touched upon repeatedly over the past 10 months.

In reply to a question over the size of the tank, Hampton said that a two-million-gallon facility would be "adequate" for the City's needs.

Hampton said that a two-million-gallon tank would be wisest at the Beck and Six Mile site. It would cost about $185,000 and could be constructed right at ground level.

He explained that the City would require only a million-gallon facility at the Five Mile and Sheldon site but it would have to be an elevated structure, built on about 90-foot legs. It would cost approximately $240,000.

The engineer also mentioned that his firm has studied the cost of iron-removal facilities and a softening unit. This would cost about $350,000 and would remove the iron, thus reducing the rust content, and also cut in half the degree of hardness in the City water.

City Manager Albert Glassford submitted a report on the various means of financing a new reservoir. A bond issue for the full amount is among the possibilities, Glassford's report indicated.

While City Commissioners may conceivably reach a decision during their committee meeting the week of Aug. 19, no official action will be taken until the first regular meeting in September.

PERFECT FOR THE hostess is this week's recipe idea for a "Cheese Ball," suggested by Mrs. Ted Thrasher, of 13980 Ridgewood Dr.

Appetizer ideas are always welcome and this week's recipe for a "Cheese Ball," suggested by Mrs. Ted Thrasher, of 13980 Ridgewood Dr., is sure to delight hostesses and guests alike.

CHEESE BALL
12 oz. pkg. cream cheese
12 oz. Old English cheese spread
6 oz. blue cheese
1/4 tsp. tabasco sauce
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
3 Tbl. dry sherry or brandy
1 large clove of garlic (grated)
Mix thoroughly above ingredients, mold into ball and garnish with chopped parsley and nuts. Refrigerate. This can be made days ahead of time and frozen.

Mrs. Thrasher, the former Margie Tait, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tait, originally got the recipe from her mother and since then has served it many times when entertaining, because it is always well-received by her guests, plus being extremely easy to make.

When not caring for her two children, Jeff, a first grader at Bird Elementary School, and Mark, 19 months, Mrs. Thrasher likes to play bridge, read, garden, and in particular, play the piano.

Something New

Something new is going to be added at the House of Glamour, 630 Starkweather, in the near future—a facial room. House of Glamour operators are experts at giving relaxing facials so Pat Hann, owner, is enlarging the shop to provide more comfort and convenience for her customers.

Going from one year to another is like changing trains for the same destination, but the years will slide away if you let House of Glamour take care of all your beauty needs.

Operators there are experienced in all phases of hair coloring and conditioning. A new permanent at House of Glamour will be your crowning glory because it will look cared for but casual and natural. And hair styling is another specialty—from tiny tots to great grandmothers.

If you feel as down trodden and uncomfortable as a hippo with sinus trouble, go to the House of Glamour. Mondays are "Pamper You Day" and a gift manicure is yours if you have a permanent then.

Children will love the House of Glamour and budget-balancer Mom will love the special prices Monday and Tuesday—children's hair cuts and styling for only $1.50.

Your time and money can be spent as uselessly as buying suntan lotion to use in a coal mine, but it will be profitable for you and your appearance if you call House of Glamour, 453-5254 today.

One Stop

When it comes to parking a car some women do a bang up job, but if you drive to Bill's Market, 584 Starkweather, you'll find one stop for the family's taste buds.

Milt Orr, owner, has a complete stock of frozen foods. We tried the turkey dinners last night and they were delicious.

Last weekend we picked up some barbecued chicken and ribs, home made potato salad and baked beans and took off for the lakes—a five minute stop at Bill's Market was all it took and that's as hard to find as a cactus powder puff.

Milt also has everything for outdoor cooking—briquettes, hot dogs, home-ground and home-mixed sausage and hamburger. And if you need ice for the cooler, he has that, too.

Every year it takes less time to fly across the ocean and more time to drive to work, but a short drive to Bill's Market will end up with long savings for you.

Second Thought

The trouble with trouble is that it always starts out just like fun.

Sharon Roberts, Ronald Small Repeat Vows

Sharon Irene Roberts became the bride of Ronald Jerome Small in a double ring evening candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church on July 27.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Roberts, of 585 McKinley St., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Small, of 1125 Canton Center Rd.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Roberts wore a Burschell original floor length gown of white silk organza. Appliques of Alencon lace and seed pearls trimmed the neckline and skirt. Her head was covered with a mantilla veil of imported Alencon lace. She carried a prayer book covered with white orchids, roses and stephanotis.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Geraldine L. Fritag, of St. Joseph. She wore a frock of turquoise silk organza, styled with a bell skirt. Her headpiece was a single turquoise rose with matching veil. She carried a colonial nosegay. Bridesmaid Mrs. David M. Roberts, of Plymouth, wore a light turquoise silk organza gown, styled with a bell skirt. Her headpiece was identical to the maid of honor's and she also carried a colonial nosegay.

Rebecca Ann Roberts, of Plymouth, and Kathryn Susan Herclira of Willow Grove, Pa., nieces of the bride, attended as flower girls, wearing frocks of pale turquoise silk organza, styled with bouffant skirts. They carried miniature colonial nosegays.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was James A. Smith, of Plymouth. John J. Small, Richard A. Small, George G. Roberts, and David M. Roberts, all of Plymouth seated the guests.

A buffet-dinner reception was held following the ceremony at Loty's for immediate families and relatives from Charleston, W. Va., Willow Grove, Pa., Wayne, Farmington, Detroit, Lincoln Park, Warren, St. Clair Shores, Dearborn, and Jackson.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Roberts chose a pink and beige silk jersey dress with white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Small wore a brown and beige silk dress with matching accessories and a corsage of tea roses.

When the couple left on their wedding trip to Chicago, the new Mrs. Small wore a white linen dress with white accessories.

SHARON IRENE ROBERTS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Roberts, of 585 McKinley St., and Ronald Jerome Small, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Small, of 1125 Canton Center Rd., exchanged vows in a candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church, July 27.

Art Around Us:

by Mrs. Jessie Hudson

There is a new art exhibit at the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth and it is a winner on many counts. It is varied, colorful and the work of eight obviously individual artists, with quite different approaches to the eternal problems of composition and color. The eight, all members of the Three-Cities Art Club, are from Northville, Plymouth, Livonia and Wayne, the original three cities having long since been expanded to include members of talent from adjacent communities.

Mrs. Beverly Shankwiler of Wayne, a versatile and talented artist, has three oils on view: a landscape in blues and soft greens. (This painting was accepted for exhibit at the Birmingham Art Festival last year); "Bubble Blowing", a sensitive study of Mrs. Shankwiler's daughter; and a colorful pair of pheasants.

Mrs. Dorothy Wood of Livonia has three quite different paintings, a Christmasy Madonna, a predominantly dark green painting of a Greek bust, and one bright clown, hung, appropriately in the children's section.

Mrs. Mary Engstrom of Plymouth has chosen to show three conventional paintings, all studies done in classes at Joy Road studios for particular problems. Perhaps it is a mistake to present these as finished works. This painter can do better things with color than is shown in these particular studies.

Mrs. Gilberta Mitchell, another Plymouth painter of traditional bent has one floral still life technically excellent but a bit hackneyed in subject and composition. Equally conventional but somehow more satisfying pictorially is a finely colored beanpot and corn painting also by Mrs. Mitchell. Exhibiting a bit more imaginative approach is a study of two ducks, also hung, appropriately in the children's section.

Mrs. Elaine Norlin of Northville has some spare, controlled, matted water-colors on view, rather restful and clean in their simplicity. The winner of the show, for my money, is the work of Irene Wood of Livonia. Here is an artist working in a cubistic manner who can take such tired old subjects as sailing ships, geraniums, still-life with fruit, a wagon and trees and by compositional treatment and color control wonders. There is a great deal of visual excitement in all of her paintings.

The show case in the entrance-way holds some smaller paintings; water colors by Elaine Norlin, an oil by Irene Wood, a little old-master in a gorgeous antique frame and a dried flower and weed arrangement on white satin in a gilt Baroque frame both by Gilberta Mitchell. Also in the showcase are three mosaic tile trays by Lenora Richards of Livonia. Someone should tell Mrs. Richards about the exciting adventures in design possible in mosaics, especially with broken tile pieces. They should also point out the antiseptic, unesthetic effect of white grout. Concrete is a much more effective and exciting material to use as a grout.

Causing a great deal of comment and puzzlement are three pieces of sculpture by Plymouth's Bill Mandt. Each piece is abstract in approach, evocative of the essential female. All are good in positive and negative elements, in combination of large and small shapes, in pleasing curves and in a feeling of dancing motion. One library patron remarked "I've taken clinkers out of my furnace that looked better than that!" If it had all the sculptural elements that are present in Mr. Mandt's pieces it's too bad he didn't mount it. He'd have a winner.

Tell Rotarians Of Experiences

Guest speakers at last Friday's Rotary Club meeting were Kevin Huntington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Huntington, 302 Sunset, and Tom Blunk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Blunk, 8815 South Main.

The two teen-agers were sponsored by Rotary Club last June as representatives of Plymouth at the annual Boy's State convention at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

During Boy's State, Kevin was elected a senator and health commissioner for the City of McKinley. As a senator his duties were to revise and modernize the constitution.

Tom was appointed City Clerk for Garfield, Mich., and part of his duties required that he record marriages and organize the City's government book of 100 pages.

The conference lasted eight days, concluding June 20. All told, some 1,150 young men attended the session and lived in Michigan State's B road dormitory unit.

They were guests of Ken Fisher at Friday's Rotary Club meeting.

Plymouthite Leads Insurance Company In Sales in June

Charles E. Ketterer, of Plymouth, a general agent for the Franklin Life Insurance Co., led the company's "Motor City Division" in sales for June with a submitted business volume of $280,114.

He was named the division's man-of-the-month and was cited for having ranked among the nation's top sales leaders.

A native of Detroit, Ketterer lives at 1451 Sheridan. He holds a master's degree in education from the University of Michigan and is a coach and physical education instructor in the Plymouth school system.

He joined Franklin Life in 1955, was named a district manager in 1960 and became a general agent this year.

KIWANIS NOTES

By Ken Way

A film depicting the 1963 Memorial Day 500-mile race at Indianapolis provided Kiwanians with a particularly interesting program last Tuesday evening during their regular meeting.

The film, shown by program chairman Chet Haynes, included all of the excitement of the speed trials, the marching band, a parade and the thrills of the race itself.

Scenes of the action in the pits during the race added to the appeal of the film. Guests during the meeting were Matt Fortney, Dick Warga, Harold Fischer, Jr., and Roger Corey.

Norm Lofy presented the club with a new speaker's podium finished in a rich walnut. President Walter Gemperline accepted the new podium on behalf of the club and conveyed the club's sincere thanks and appreciation.

A/IC RONALD L. COOSAIA, of 1382 Carol St., is presently engaged in the field training exercises of the Michigan Air National Guard. A 3 1/2-year member of the Air Guard, Coosia is with the 127th combat support squadron. As a civilian he works for the Detroit Transmission Division of General Motors Corp.

Donn Kevin Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kelly 1103 Penniman Ave., is among 772 students named to the Dean's List for academic achievement at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y. during the spring semester of 1963, according to Ira E. Harrod, dean of students.

To be named to the list, a student must have maintained a three point average during the semester.

ALL THAT MILK

A two-year-old Holstein cow owned by Angelo DiPonio, of Plymouth, established a new record recently by producing 14,873 pounds of milk and 559 pounds of butterfat in 365 days. The totals compare to the average production figures of 7,200 pounds of milk and 270 pounds of butterfat.

Did you know that the last Indian Head penny minted was in 1909. Perhaps you'll find one at the Plymouth Antique Show, Sept. 6, 7, 8.

By Harold Guenther Former Mayor and one of Plymouth's Best-Known Civic Leaders

We often hear our Citizens remark our Plymouth Community is a fine place in which to live. It retains much of the past that is socially, culturally and religiously good.

Most of these are our heritage created by strong leaders of the past. It would seem an era of strong leadership came to an end a few years back and we are now painfully but surely developing a type or form of leadership that is logically and entirely different.

In effect, it is no longer possible for a strong leader to unilaterally build unless he submits to government and the citizens at large in his quest for needed funds.

However, we are continuing to build and preserve. A number of leaders are evolving. We find them in government, in education, in service clubs and in laymen.

Many sincere and dedicated, but highly individualistic, citizens become impatient with our lack of accomplishment. The problems of communications and numbers are real and complex ones.

These are difficult decisions for a few people to make, yet if the idea were opened to the public generally in its initial stage it may very well flounder because of the problem of numbers and divergent and selfish reactions.

The foregoing example involves only laymen. Any significant community need today requires not only government, its influence and power to tax, but a combination of governments which indicates the scope and complexity of any project.

Our problem is not one of lack of awareness and Citizen desire, of tools, of enlightened leadership. It is simply one of time and lack of citizen interest and involvement.

Plymouth will continue to build and preserve, but its tempo will be directly related to your individual reaction as you read your newspaper, as you promote our Community's welfare in social and formal conversations, as you develop a studied opinion and make it known by letter to your newspaper for others to share.

Letter to the Editor

Plymouth Mail Plymouth, Michigan Dear Editor:

Permit me to offer this brief comment on the influence of a community minded newspaper, namely yours.

Incidental to having the pleasure of working with Harry Rosenfield, a confirmed Plymouth booster, I chanced upon a remark Mr. Chester Buckosky, our Chairman, made concerning our desire in Riverview to endow our City with some of the quiet village charm characteristic of a New England village.

That started it all and since then we've never been without The Plymouth Mail and neither have the people of the Citizen's Advisory Commission on Civic Progress.

The wonderful thing about it is that we didn't have to go very far to find the material we were looking for and we unashamedly began to be inspired by your tradition of graciousness and better way of life.

We are sure that others like ourselves have taken a part or two out of your newspaper and embodied it in a community dedication.

Very truly yours, Charlotte B. Ellis Corresponding Secretary Citizen's Advisory Commission on Civic Progress City of Riverview

The Plymouth Mail Plymouth, Mich. Dear Editor:

Thanks to all of those people who have helped in any way to make Friday evenings a "family" affair because of a Community Band in Plymouth's Kellogg Park. Where can one see so many children of all ages out with Mom and Dad? Where can so many strangers from several cities feel welcome with their lawn chairs and blankets?

May this affair become a part of Plymouth's fame and each participant have an inner feeling of having helped to bring beauty, peace and joy to such a varied age group for a short time!!! Thank you, Several listeners

Evangelist Couple to Appear At Calvary Baptist Crusade

An evangelist and his consort soloist wife will be special guests at the Calvary Baptist Church "New Life Crusade" Aug. 11 through Sept. 1 at the Gospel Tent, 43065 Joy Rd. just east of Main St.

Week night services during the Crusade will be held at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday services are at 7 p.m. There will be no service Monday nights, explained Rev. Patrick Clifford.

The visiting evangelist is Reinhold A. Barth, who combines his evangelist career with that of pastor and youth speaker. His wife, Helen, is a radio personality and gospel recording artist.

Mr. Barth, who began his study of theology at 15, was ordained before his 21st birthday and has served as pastor of two Baptist churches in Michigan. He organized and promoted Billy Graham's visit to Germany in 1954.

Mrs. Barth is a former "gospel" singer who turned to blues work. For a number of years she has been a staff soloist at radio station WMBL, the radio voice of the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago.

The public is invited, Rev. Clifford explained. Mrs. Worth, presently head librarian at the Garden City branch, was an assistant librarian here for seven years and left to become head librarian in Belleville in 1959.

She has a master's degree in library science from the University of Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Worth, long-time Plymouth residents, have three children. The oldest is Nancy, now Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, of Rochester, Mich.

A son, Anthony, lives in Detroit, and another daughter is Elizabeth, who is presently in training with the U.S. Information Agency in Washington, D.C. In September, Elizabeth will be assigned as a foreign service officer to Bangkok, Thailand.

The low cost incubator for premature infants, now in use in all states of the nation and in 44 foreign lands, was developed in the Michigan Department of Health.

DIRECTOR since 1948 of Plymouth's adult education and recreation department is Herb Woolweaver. He is shown here conferring with assistant program director Irene Graham (right) and student secretary Nancy Reed.

Adults, Youngsters Testify To Popularity of A.E. & R.

On a budget of less than $42,000 a year, the Plymouth adult education and recreation department could easily be described as "providing

To Establish Exchange Basis For Paperbacks

The Dunning-Hough library hopes to establish the use of its paperback books on an exchange basis," according to acting head librarian Mrs. Verma Wilmeth.

She said that patrons who wish to take out paperback books are asked to bring in other paperbacks so as to get a new one.

Mrs. Wilmeth said the library in recent months has found its total number of paperbacks gradually being depleted as patrons neglect to return the small books.

Although the present selection leans heavily toward fiction, the staff hopes to gradually expand its paperbacks to include all sorts of literature.

Mrs. Wilmeth said the library may discontinue purchasing any more paperbacks. It has been buying paperback books at a rate of $200 to $300 worth per year dollar-for-dollar services to the Plymouth community."

Testimony to the popularity of the department are two statistics, one a precise fact and the other never better than an estimate:

1. During 1962-63, some 1,400 adults took part in the local adult education program which offered a total of 80 different courses of study and activity during the fall, winter and spring.

2. During the same period, untold thousands of Plymouth youngsters participated in the many facets of the recreation program, where exact enrollment is an impossibility since many of the young people take part in more than one of the various activities.

The vastness of the adult education and recreation programs are illustrated by two other points.

More than 50 instructors are required to teach the numerous adult education classes during the year, and 15 adults administer the summer recreation program and 5 more head it up during the school months.

Lerb Woolweaver, a former coach in Ohio and later in Flint, is the director of the adult education and recreation complex.

He described the $42,000 annual budget. Slightly more than half of the amount ($23,500) comes in the form of a direct grant from the school system, under which the department operates.

The balance is derived from fees paid by those who enroll in the various activities. The recreation swimming program alone returns about $5,500 to the department, but nearly an equal amount is spent in order to sustain the swim activities.

Woolweaver's right-hand man — uh, woman — is Irene Graham, a familiar face to those who visit the recreation office in the Senior High building. Mrs. Graham is assistant program director.

At the moment, the department is between seasons, and Woolweaver and Mrs. Graham are busy readying the fall program for both adult education and recreation.

Plymouth's recreation program for youngsters was begun many years ago, Woolweaver explained, but it was a loosely-knit operation that didn't really find firm footing until 1949 when the combined adult education and recreation department was established.

Woolweaver arrived on the scene in 1948 after a three-year coaching stint at Flint Northern.

While 80 adult education classes were offered during 1962-63, only 55 of them were actually held. The remainder didn't receive sufficient response to make it economically feasible to go through with them.

The adult education program consists of a 10-12 week semester in the fall and winter and a six to 10-week session in the spring. There are no adult education classes during the summer months.

The recreation portion of the department consists of a mile-long list of activities. Among them:

Baseball, softball, tennis, summer playgrounds, physical fitness classes, swimming, arts and crafts, basketball, tumbling, dancing, character classes for teen-agers, badminton and endless more.

Experienced teachers are retained as adult education instructors, several of them members of the Senior High faculty. The recreation activities are generally administered and supervised by coaches or physical education majors.

Curtain Ready to Drop On '63 Softball Season

Men's Lutheran assured itself of at least a share of third place in the men's recreation softball league final standings last week with one victory in two games.

The Lutheran team concluded the 1963 season with an 8-6 record after beating Plymouth Plating, 7-3, and losing a 6-3 decision to Tait's Cleaners.

With final games scheduled to be played early this week, these are the standings as the season fast draws to a close:

Tait's	13-0
Vico Products	10-3
Men's Luth.	8-6
McAllister's	7-6
Ply. Plating	7-6
Box Bar	7-6
Evans Products	5-8
Paragon	2-11
Local 102	0-13

As the standings indicate, Tait's will emerge an easy winner of the 1963 softball crown here in the men's conference and Vico Products is guaranteed a second-place finish.

In the final games of the campaign, Tait's Cleaners was slated to take on Evans Products this past Monday night.

On the strength of the comparative records of the two teams, Tait's was given heavy odds of finishing its season unbeaten.

During action last week, these scores resulted:

McAllister Bros. slipped back a notch in the ladder of standings by losing an 8-2 battle to Vico Products; Evans Products picked up its fifth win of the year by an 8-2 margin over Box Bar but promptly dropped a 12-9 clash with Plymouth Plating;

Paragon Steel, of Novi, handed Local No. 102 its 13th straight defeat, 18-6; and Box Bar remained tied for fourth place on the strength of a 15-10 win over Paragon.

With the exception of Men's Lutheran, which has finished its 14-game schedule, the teams in the league each will play one more game.

The Tait's players were to receive individual trophies Monday night as well as their team championship award. League supervisor Earl Gray was to make the presentations.

DESPITE ITS record of 12 wins, two losses and one tie, Loper Firestone still appears destined to gain only a second-place finish in the Class E recreation baseball league here this summer. Top honors will go to the Northville Plumbers who presently boast a 12-0-3 mark. Midway in the season, Loper tied the Plumbers, 2-2, and more recently the Plymouth team dropped a 4-2 decision to the Novi Flyers and a 10-4 loss to Fishers Shoes. The Loper players and their coaches are shown here. Front row, from left: Joe Whitman, John Sutherland, Mike Klinkhamer and Jim Ennis. Middle row, from left: Jack Kepenski, Mike Lockwood, Ron Boyne, Jim Geary and Bob Resch. In the back row, from left: coach John Ennis, John Gilles, Glen Solean, Steve McMahon, manager Fred Crissey and Dan Camp.

PLYMOUTH BOWL PARKING ENLARGED
The Plymouth Bowl parking lot was enlarged last week to accommodate 75 more automobiles in anticipation of an increase in league play which starts Sept. 3. Frank Mocerri, manager, said today. The 32-lane establishment will observe its first anniversary Sept. 4.

WITH 11 VICTORIES in 13 games as of the end of last week, Party Pantry is assured of a championship in the Class F recreation baseball league here. Only one week of action remains to be played, and all challengers in the conference are too far back to pose any remaining threat to Party Pantry's title ambitions. The players and their coaches are shown here. Front row, from left: Nick Darmogray, Jerry Latham, Bobby Walton, D. J. Catton, Ken Bellanger, Jim Fisher, Jack Carpenter and coach Bob Curvin. Back row: Charlie Moore, Jim Beachum, Kenny Olds, Larry Olson, Ed Caksackkar, manager J. A. Walton and coach Jerry Sadler.

Loper Bows, 10-4; Title Chances Fade

Loper Firestone, a leader much of the season in the Class E recreation baseball league here, slipped from its first-place position last week after dropping a 10-4 loss to Fisher's Shoes.

It is as good as assured the Northville Plumbers of a Class E championship, despite the fact that the Plumbers were embarrassed by a 3-3 tie engineered by the Plymouth Kiwanis team. It was termed an upset for the Kiwanians.

Consequently, the Plumbers are in first with a 12-0-3 record and Loper is running second on the strength of a 12-2-1 achievement. The season ends this week.

In other Class E games last week, Gary Robinson fashioned a two-hitter as his Bill's Market team-mates slugged out a 16-0 win over General Filters.

Tom Varner hurled a sparkling no-hitter for Wayne County Training School in a 9-2 victory over General Filters.

The training school also defeated Spagy T-Birds, 19-4, and Novi Flyers dumped Northville Recreation, 5-1.

These are the current Class E standings:

Northville Plumbers	12-0-3
Loper Firestone	12-2-1
W.C.T.S.	8-6-1
Novi Flyers	8-7-0
Spagy T-Birds	7-7-1
Fisher's Shoes	7-8-0
Ply. Kiwanis	6-8-1
N'ville Recreation	3-11-1
General Filters	3-12-0

There was less action in the Class F recreation baseball league last week as Party Pantry won its 11th game, a 10-2 decision over Finlan Realty, and clinched the Class F championship.

In other games, Ely Oilers nipped DiPonio Builders, 5-4; Plymouth Recreation dumped Northville Orioles, 11-0; and Casterline Braves handed W.C.T.S. its 11th defeat, 16-8.

These are the Class F standings:

Party Pantry	11-2-0
Ply. Recreation	9-4-0
N'ville Orioles	8-5-0
Ely Oilers	7-5-1
Finlan Realty	6-6-1
Casterline	5-8-0
DiPonio	4-9-1

What Goes Into the Price of Your Prescription?

Most people will agree that the price paid for any product rightly includes the cost of materials and the cost of labor.

This is true of prescriptions. The price you pay for your medicine includes the cost of the "materials" (the drugs) and the cost of "labor" (the pharmacist's service). The latter reflects the fact that the pharmacist's expert knowledge and professional training are essential in transforming your physician's prescription into a health-giving medicine.

Today, a pharmacist attends pharmacy college for a minimum of 5 years. It has been estimated that he spends more than 10,000 hours receiving his professional training, not to mention a long period of apprenticeship following graduation. Finally, he must pass a rigorous state examination before he is licensed. With this superior professional background, the modern pharmacist is uniquely qualified to protect your health through his professional knowledge.

Your prescription means much more to the pharmacist than a piece of paper. He has studied many years to provide you with the best pharmaceutical service, and you can be certain that, when you hand him a prescription, he focuses all his professional knowledge on it.
