

Chips from the ROCK

Plymouth's Fall Festival is now history.

Wasn't it magnificent? I know of no other community which in so short a period of time, just a few years, has been able to develop an area-wide festivity which provided so varied a program, both educational and entertaining, as the one offered here last week.

The impact created by this over-all local participation is an impression that will, during the months ahead, make Plymouth a town to be remembered and talked about... a community that other people will reflect on as a wonderful place in which to live and work, and, after all, isn't that the reason the Festival is so important to each of us?

Roberta Steele deserves a special pat on the back for the tremendous help she provided our local merchants in making our store windows one of the most interesting attractions of the week long activity. The unusually interesting window displays, in almost every store in town, were one of the most talked about features of the total undertaking. Visitors will long remember the impressions gained from this project and I am sure many will return throughout the months ahead to sample the merchandise on sale by our aggressive merchants.

There are just too many people to mention them all and too many things to include in a round-up, just as our three photographers found there were just too many things to shoot pictures of in trying to portray the many events of the week. Of course the Festival co-chairmen, Margaret Wilson and James Thornton, must be mentioned for the wonderful job they turned in of coordinating the total project, as must Chamber president John Herb, Chamber secretary Fran Booth, concession committee chairman Douglas Blunk, special events chairman Cecil Sharrard and the countless others working with these leaders.

Recognition also must be given Margaret Dunning, retail merchants committee chairman, who last year instituted the idea of costuming the employees in her store. This year the idea spread among the retail community and the people of the town as well. It's an idea which must be given much more promotion next year.

And, while we are in the special recognition department, we must compliment the local police department and all other City departments and employees who cooperated so wonderfully throughout the whole affair. Without their many hours of toil, and believe me it was work for them, the celebration couldn't have been the success it was. Their help is just one more example of total community participation and cooperation for which we should be most grateful.

The participation of Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Optimists, JayCeers, V.F.W., Theatre Guild, Community Band, Symphony League, Grange, Garden Club, Art Club and all the others indicated the manner in which the interest and participation enveloped our whole community.

The conclusion of the opening night's event, the Lions Club melon, cake and ice cream social, which was a complete sell out, indicated that the total celebration was a success before it actually got under way. The downtown decorations, the windows, the amusements, the 180 trailers parked next to Junior High East and the general air of happiness and fun which permeated the atmosphere gave proof that our efforts were not wasted.

Young and old alike were thrilled by the gaiety and decor effervescing throughout our downtown section. Old timers were reminded of their youth by the costumes displayed by our store personnel and many of our residents who added a colorful flavor to the afternoon and evening scenes.

Youngsters were exposed to an impression of holidaying at its height... reminiscent of my own youth when my dad exposed me to the old Grand Circuit races or the circus at Kalamazoo once each year, or my wife's memories of golden days at the old Northville Fair... things you never forget, exposures which create impressions on children's minds which they shall cherish forever, and, perhaps one day soon, help perpetuate in their own home town. Image builders... gayly colored balloons, popcorn vendors, cotton candy, wagon rides, clowns, a multitude of festive attachments, each contributing its own flavor to the total scene.

Kiwanians and the pet show experienced the only bad weather during the entire event but the slight morning drizzle didn't dampen the spirits of our guests. Fortunately for the Kiwanians they were housed in the Masonic Temple and rain didn't make their pancakes soggy. Some 2,000 enjoyed this Kiwanis specialty and their chefs estimate that they flipped well over 15,000 griddle cakes in the air during their pancake festival.

Rotary again racked up an amazing success with its Sunday chicken barbecue. Sunny skies brought visitors by the thousands to our fair city to enjoy the entertainment in the park, the store windows and the antique cars, as well as the Symphony Women's League Antique Show, which, by the way, was a most popular hit.

At three in the afternoon the loud speaker announced the fact that 6,000 dinners had been served since noon, more than the whole 5,800 served last year. The astounding total of 9,050 dinners had been served by seven p.m. and at this point Rotarians called a halt to their day's activity.

The popularity of this event has been the basis upon which the whole celebration has been built and it is now possible that the capacity of the club has been taxed to its maximum. To serve more people than this amount may well take the project beyond the point where it is fun or

MORE THAN 9,000 barbecued chicken fanciers paraded through Rotary Club's serving line Sunday, nearly doubling the number that turned out a year ago. This scene shows the line that formed moments after the Rotarians started serving at noon-time. Maximum wait in the line was less than 20 minutes.

Offer 80 Courses In Adult Education

Registration for the fall program of recreation and adult education activities here will take place between Sept. 16-20, according to Director Herb Woolweaver, and classes begin Sept. 30.

Conducted as an aspect of the Plymouth public school program, the adult education and recreation department will offer upwards of 80 different activities this fall, Woolweaver said.

A brochure describing the many classes and activities available is being mailed out to residents this week. Copies of the schedule bulletin are also available at the recreation office in the Senior High.

Once again, the schedule of offerings includes all sorts of classes and recreational activities imaginable. There are offerings for young and old, husband-and-wife, athletes, hobbyists and everyone, Woolweaver said.

Registration will take place between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, Sept. 16-20, at the recreation office in the Senior High.

In addition, evening registration will be held from 7-9 p.m. Sept. 16 and 17. Fees are nominal. Registration may also be accomplished by mail. Further information is available by calling the adult education and recreation office at GL 3-5100.

Here is a list of the classes being offered during the fall semester:

- Ballet (beg. & adv.); Basketball (boys); Community Chorus; German; Golf; Oil Painting; Sewing (beg.); Shorthand (beg.); Stock Market; Symphony; Teen-age Psychology; Theatre Guild; Tumbling (beg. & adv.); Typing (adv.); Typing (beg.); Upholstering; Welding.
- Hair Cutting; Knitting; Scuba Diving; The Gifted Child.
- Dancing (Amer.); Dancing (Lat. Amer.); Body Conditioning; Cake Decorating (beg.); Charm & Beauty; Flower Arrangements; Golf; Guitar (beg.); Men's Gym.
- Education of exceptional children.

2nd Open Forum Sept. 18

A second open forum to discuss major problems in Plymouth's future will be held next week and upwards of 200 people are expected to attend.

It will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 18, and will be held at Junior High East. The public is invited.

Foreseeing an attendance perhaps double that of the first open forum last spring, originator Russell Isbister has called for a corresponding increase in the number of discussion leaders, each of whom will serve as individual table moderators.

Isbister himself will moderate the over-all affair. Progress reports will be given on two studies, one concerning the feasibility of building a Community Center and the other on the need for continual industrial and economic growth for the Plymouth area.

30,000 Help Make Festival 'Huge Hit'

Planners, participants and guests alike will be talking about Plymouth's 1963 Fall Festival for months to come.

It was so overwhelmingly successful from every aspect that the overall coordinators were certain of total attendance during the four-day affair exceeding 25,000.

Margaret Wilson, one of the general co-chairmen, said she felt the influx of visitors during the span of Thursday through Sunday was "between 25,000 and 30,000."

Attendance at the various major individual events was greater than had been generally expected. For instance: Rotary Club served 9,050 barbecued chicken dinners and had to turn away about 200 persons who were still in line when the chicken ran out. The decision to let the barbecuing fires burn down had to be made about 75 minutes before the actual conclusion of the serving of meals.

The JayCeers, during their Friday fish-fry, accommodated 1,250 customers, preparing 420 pounds of fish in the process. They had to serve only 550 in order to meet their expenses, explained chairman John Murawski.

Kiwanians served pancakes to "over 2,000," according to chairman Marvin Terry. The most that had ever previously attended the regular Kiwanis pancake feasts was about 970 last spring. Terry said that 530 pounds of sausage, 310 pounds of pancake flour, 600 half-pints of milk, 28 gallons of syrup, 35 pounds of butter and 42

City Hall Bids High By 10%

City officials Friday opened bids on the construction work for new City Hall only to learn that a combination of the lowest bids in the three categories of the project exceeded previous estimates by more than 10 per cent.

Lowest combined total of the bid on architectural, mechanical and electrical work amounted to $459,440, compared to architect Byron Becker's estimate of $417,000.

Although work must begin by Sept. 29, the bids won't be awarded until Commissioners decide whether to accept the low base bids as they stand or to delete certain "alter-nate" items so as to bring the construction cost nearer the previous estimate of $417,000.

Commissioners will meet next Monday evening to discuss the matter. When a decision is finally reached, the federal government's Housing & Home Finance Administration must approve the action, since half of the construction costs and related fees are being met by federal funds.

If the $459,000 figure is agreed upon by Commissioners and the federal authorities, it will push the total cost of the building to about $495,000, including architectural fees.

Land acquisition is not figured in that amount, however. It costs the City nearly $70,000 to purchase a site along Main St.

Burger Construction Co., of Plymouth, was low bidder on the architectural trades. The local firm submitted a bid of $318,000. Next lowest offer was for $340,728. There were eight firms bidding on the architectural trades. Seven various alternates were requested as a hedge against the possibility the base bid

DRESSED IN flashy vests and straw hats, members of Plymouth's Lions Club sold 15 bushels of melons during their melon-and-ice-cream social Thursday, the first day of the Fall Festival. Frank Weller and John Dodge were among the club members who helped serve 1,300 guests.

Dry Northville Homes to Use City Water

Northville Township is expected to notify Plymouth Township this week that it will not continue to seek water from Plymouth Township in order to relieve a distressed residential area in the vicinity of Bradner and Five Mile Rds.

Instead, Northville Township will accept an offer from the City of Plymouth to furnish water to the area involved. Although only about 30 homes there are at present

Study Water Issue Behind Closed Doors

City Commissioners met in closed-door session Monday night to discuss the local water situation in general and give priority consideration to the merits of building a new water reservoir on Beck Rd.

Newspapermen were forbidden to attend the meeting, an unofficial one at which no legal action could be taken.

Meanwhile, The Mail learned Monday that City of Detroit is advertising for bids on the construction of a huge water line extension down Eight Mile Rd., from Newburgh Rd. to Meadowbrook Dr., in Northville.

The project constitutes the fore-runner to a water line which is expected eventually to be extended down Eight Mile all the way to Sheldon Rd. and from that point south along Sheldon through Plymouth.

50 More Than Predicted School Enrollment Rockets to 5,651

Student enrollment in Plymouth's public schools reached a new high Monday and in the process abruptly surpassed earlier projections on the number of pupils that would attend classes in the School District this fall.

According to an unofficial head count, the Plymouth School District had 5,651 youngsters enrolled at noon Monday.

Previous estimates had indicated that only 5,600 would be in class at that time.

An "official membership," required by the state, will be taken Sept. 27 and the chances are good that the total enrollment in the District by that time will be still greater. It very possibly could reach 5,700 with the addition of late arrivals during the next two weeks.

The senior high, of course, led the enrollment "parade." It reported 1,227 pupils in attendance. Junior High East had 886 in classrooms and Junior High West reported 544 students.

The elementary schools turned in these figures:

Allen	463
Bird	548
Farrand	510
Callimore	453
Smith	538
Starkweather	408
Truesdell	74

Almost by coincidence, the School Board Monday evening took preliminary steps which will lead to an attempt to renew — or perhaps even increase — the about-to-expire five-mill building and site sinking fund.

The sinking fund, since 1957, has provided the District with essential monies with which to build new classrooms and acquire additional school sites.

School Board President Gerald Fischer reported that Melvin Blunk, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs, has been requested to prepare a new five-year projection on student enrollment.

Armed with this estimate, Blunk will then determine what the District's operating

The evening vocational school begins Sept. 30 with three specific courses, occupational English, occupational shop and business training, being offered. A class in human relations will not get underway this semester, according to Mike Hoben, senior high counselor who for the present is administering the evening program.

Enrollment in any — or all — of the three classes may be accomplished weekdays at the adult education office in the Senior High building. The trio of classes will be open to the public. Tuition rate for residents of the Plymouth School District will be $15 per semester.

For out-of-district students the fee is $25. Hoben stressed the fact that if any young person finds the cost of tuition to be an obstacle, help is at hand. More information on this aspect may be obtained from Hoben at the Youth Employment Service offices in the Plymouth Credit Union.

The evening school program is primarily designed for local young people who have dropped out of high school

Kind Words Always Appreciated

Sterling Eaton
46200 N. Territorial Rd.
Plymouth, Michigan
Mr. Eaton:

It is most difficult for us to find words of appreciation in extending our sincere thanks to you and your entire staff at the Plymouth Mail for so greatly assisting us in our overwhelming success with the "Pageant of Drums." The publicity we received through pictures and news stories for many weeks preceding our pageant was very instrumental in broadcasting our activity to the people of this and adjoining communities.

Our hat is off and we extend our commendations to Jerry O'Neil of your organization. His tireless efforts in working with us on our publicity program will not soon be forgotten. Jerry will always be regarded by our members as "one of the greatest." Please accept our humble gratitude.

Sincerely,

LONG LINES formed Saturday in front of the Masonic Temple attesting to the busy scene inside where Kiwanians were staging a pancake feast. More than 2,000 persons consumed 530 pounds of sausage and some 10,000 pancakes. A club member estimated that if all of the pancakes eaten during the day had been stacked one on top of another, the "pancake tower" would reach as high as a 25-story building. One hungry little guest was three-year-old Vera Ann Sundstrom (at left), the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sundstrom, 317 Ann St.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Beckwell of Adrian were the guests of her mother, Mrs. Maud Anderson on Union St. Saturday and they attended the antique show after they had a pancake breakfast at the festival. On Sunday another daughter, Mrs. James Day of Dearborn spent the day with her.

Mrs. George Wood of Lookout Mountain, Tenn. was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Probeck of Simpson St. over the week-end.

GROCERY SHOPPING carts made the task of dumping ears of corn into boiling tanks a much easier one. It was part of the nine-hour chore undertaken by Rotarians during their chicken barbecue Sunday.

Delay Opening of Local Family Service Agency

The opening of Plymouth's family service agency has been delayed past its Sept. 1 target date, but Community Fund President Russell Isbister is confident it will be underway before too many more weeks pass.

Remodeling of the Veteran's Memorial building, on Main St., is underway and as soon as a qualified case-worker has been found to staff the newly formed agency here the family service program will begin.

Some discussion of the family service agency is expected to arise during Thursday morning's Community Fund board of directors meeting. In other Fund matters Thursday, Robert Stremich, who is general chairman of the 1963-64 allocation to the drive, will appear to report on the organizational structure of the volunteers who will administer the appeal.

The Fund's board of directors will be asked to increase the 1963-64 allocation to the Plymouth YMCA in order to continue the highly-successful Youth Employment Project that was begun by the Y earlier this summer.

The money will be used to reimburse the School District for the "loan" of Mike Hoben who continues to coordinate the Youth Project on a part-time basis. He is a teacher, coach and counselor at the Senior High.

Hulce, Bellmore Capture Junior Tennis Titles

Delayed briefly by rain Saturday, competition in the Plymouth Junior Tennis Tournament continued until Monday afternoon. Winners were decided after nearly two and one-half days of eliminations.

Steve Hulce defeated Robin Wideman, 4-6, 6-1 and 6-2 to take the 14-and-under boys singles championship. Chris Bellmore won the corresponding title in the 12-and-under category by defeating Chuck Wibby, 6-0 and 7-5.

In the 14-and-under doubles competition, Steve Hulce and Steve Mogle paired up to win the championship by defeating Robin Wideman and Bob Stover, 6-3 and 6-3.

Chris Bellmore and Jim Wibby were champs in the 12-and-under doubles competition by defeating Tim Robinson and George Jackson, 5-7, 6-4 and 8-6.

A 16-and-under category was deleted from the tourney for lack of adequate contestants. About 24 local youngsters were entered in the other two divisions at the start of the competition. Tennis coach James Stevens conducted the tournament.

Second Annual Pet Show Draws 131 Eager Entrants, Despite Rain

Saturday morning's rain didn't keep 72 dogs, 30 cats and 29 "unusual" animals and their owners from braving the elements and turning out for Plymouth Fall Festival's second annual pet show, sponsored by the recreation department of Plymouth High School.

Trophy winners in the three classifications were Vance Smith with his sheep dog, Jennifer Camron with her red cat "Omar" and Rick Sabo with his two flying squirrels. Trophies were awarded to entrants who had the best overall dog and cat in the two classifications and to the entrant who had the "most unusual" entry.

Receiving ribbons for owning the best behaved dogs were Carol Stelger, with her dachshund (first); Charles Ober with his beagle (second); and Fronda Grimes with her black and tan mixed breed (third).

In the cat classification Gail Schultheis took first place in the best behaved division with her cat "George." Pam Geams placed second with "SnoBall" and Bill Sonnegap took third place with his four kittens, "Puff," "Blackie," "Tige," and "Stripe."

The best-groomed cat "Cotton Ball" belonged to Margaret Fox. Jennifer Camron's cat "Omar" took second and Susan Griffiths cat "Chalier Babe" placed third in the division.

Alice Perry's cat "Yankee" was judged the cutest and Kathy Veresh with "Mittens" placed second and Kenny and Jimmy Lee's cat "Charcoal" took third place honors.

In the unusual classification, Scott, Steve and Sue Hannah's flying squirrel took first place honors in the most unusual division.

Todd Thrun's tortoise placed second and Tammy Talmadge's crab took third place honors.

Carville May's flying ant was judged the funniest, with Michelle May's grasshopper and Tom Thrun's Macaw placing second and third, respectively.

In the cutest division Stephanie May's rabbit placed first, Rick Sabo's flying squirrels took second place and Lynn Tobin's guinea pig placed third.

DURING LAST Saturday's pet show Vance Smith, left, won first place in the best groomed division with his sheep dog, "Patches" and Carol Stelger, right, took first place honors in the best behaved division with her dachshund "Romell." The second annual event, sponsored by the recreation department of Plymouth High School, attracted 131 entrants in spite of the rain.

How I Earned My First Dollar

Carl Pursell

Seventeen years have passed and a number of significant events have taken place for Carl Pursell since he earned his first dollar in 1946. He received his first dollar in the very place of business where he is now manager — Pursell Office Supply at 637 South Main St.

It was in 1946 and he worked part-time setting type for job printing orders and also repairing typewriters for his father, the late Roy Pursell, who established Pursell Office Supply at the Main St. address in 1932.

Today, Carl manages the business. He recalls that his dad paid him about $8 a week as a part-time helper 17 years ago.

At 30, Carl can look back on a number of significant achievements during his adulthood. As a senior at Eastern Michigan University, he was president of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He majored in economics and graduated in 1956.

He was commissioned simultaneously through the R.O.T.C. program and served two years (1957-59) as a lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

While he was on active duty, he was a supply officer and athletic and recreation officer at Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri. Shortly before his release from active duty in 1959, Carl was awarded the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious service in carrying out his multiple assignments.

Soon after returning to civilian life, he completed his work toward a master's degree while teaching in the Taylor Community School District.

Carl's father died in 1961 about the time that Carl took a teaching post in the Livonia School System. A year later, Pursell assumed the managerial duties of the family-owned firm here.

He held a number of part-time jobs during his school days in Plymouth, but spent most of his spare time working for his father. Carl is a 1951 graduate of Plymouth High.

GENEROUS JAYCEES

After their fish-fry had concluded last Friday, Plymouth Jaycees had 45 gallons of pop and 900 hot dogs left over. They took them out to the Wayne County Training School and made a gift of them to the youngsters there. Training School cooks swiftly fitted them into the day's menu.

Obituaries

Charles Wilson Bruce

Funeral services were held today at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church for Charles Wilson Bruce, of 7859 Five Mile Rd., who died in Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital on Sept. 6.

Born April 28, 1914, in Hickman, Ky., he was the son of Lee and Lonnie Inman Bruce. He married Marabeth Harrington in Fulton, Ky. in 1944.

A foreman for Rodgers Construction Co. and member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church and American Disabled Veterans, he moved to Plymouth from Willis in 1957.

In addition to his widow, Mr. Bruce is survived by two sons, Charles and Douglas, of Northville, and two daughters, Jean and Julia, of Northville.

Rosary was recited at Schrader Funeral Home on Monday and interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Mary Meck

Last week's death notice of Mrs. Mary Meck, of 765 Harding St., incorrectly identified her as Mrs. Mary Mock. Mrs. Meck, daughter of Michael and Pauline Nickle Kapeluch, died at her home on Sept. 2, at the age of 72. Funeral services were held Sept. 5, and interment was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

The Detroit Institute of Arts is the only art institute in any of the world's large cities owned by all the people of the city.

One of the nation's first cloverleaf traffic interchanges was built in 1931 at Eight Mile and Telegraph Roads in Detroit.

KELLOGG PARK was a myriad of fun and activities during the Fall Festival last week. Here, colorful balloons float lightly in the air as an old-fashioned balloon-man helped to make the days for kiddies all the more pleasant. During Sunday's portion of the Festival, the park was jammed with visitors who strolled through an endless series of displays, included among which were those by the historical society, the Three Cities Art Club, the recreation department, PHS art students and many others. All-in-all, the Fall Festival was four days of exceptional fun.

Plymouth High Notes

By Judy Burgett

(Editor's Note: With school underway again, The Mail this week resumes the weekly Plymouth High School news column, a feature that will appear throughout the school year. Our PHS correspondent for 1963-64 is Judy Burgett, a senior and editor of "Pilgrim Prints," the senior high's student newspaper. Judy is the daughter of Floyd Burgett, 14359 Northville Rd.)

Even though only five days of school have elapsed, many students and organizations are busy preparing for the 1963-64 year.

Among the "early starters" is the assembly committee, headed by Tom Wimsatt '64, and consisting of seniors, Julie Lent; Sue Williams; Bill Arnold; and juniors, Sue Niemi, Carol Otwell, and John Hannula. (Three sophomore representatives are to be named later.)

Their first combined effort was the annual Welcoming Assembly, which is designed to acquaint the newer students with school rules and activities.

Handled by Tom Wimsatt, this assembly featured speeches by Mayor Jane Valier '64; Senior Class President, Tom Blank; Principal Carl Bentley; and assistant principals, Gustav Gorguze and Robert Smith.

The annual "Council Kick-off" dance, sponsored by the Student Council, was held last Friday, September 6, to start the social affairs rolling. The next "Council" project, Homecoming, October 11, has been put under the management of Pam Barbour '64.

In the publications department, seniors Donna Hoffman and Judy Burgett were chosen to head the staffs of the Plythean, the school yearbook, and the Pilgrim Prints, the school newspaper, respectively.

Already working the first issue of the "Prints" are senior page editors, Caroline Hepler '64; Senior Class President, Tom Blank; Principal Carl Bentley; and assistant principals, Gustav Gorguze and Robert Smith.

Eager for the approaching "cheering" season are the '63-'64 cheerleaders. The Varsity squad is made up of seniors, Nancy Reed; Roz Juve; Sue Cooper; and juniors, Kathy Smith; Kathy McIntyre, and Sue Ward. "Jvers" are juniors, Carol Otwell; Rosie Battle; Marilyn Wall; and Sophomores, Donna Cook; Ruth Fetner; and Pam McAllister. Nancy Reed and Rosie Battle were chosen as captains of the respective teams.

Sports season also means work for the Pep Club, whose main function is the promotion of "pep" at athletic events. The "peppy" new officers of the Pep Club are president, Sue Robinson '64; vice president, Pat Felbig '65; secretary, Sue Niemi '65; and treasurer, Sue Hudson '65.

Of Michigan's 1,800 school districts, 543 go through high school.

Evening Classes

(Continued from page 1) without receiving a diploma. As a result, many — if not all of them — are unable to compete for permanent, worthwhile jobs.

Hoben described the three classes: The occupational English class will be comprised of 20 hours of business English, another 20 hours of speech and 24 hours of oral expression and spelling. The class runs 14 weeks.

Also 14-weeks in duration, the business training class consists of 20 hours of typing (either beginning or advanced), 20 hours of instruction in office machines, and 24 hours of study in the area of office procedures.

Occupational shop, also 14-weeks long, will be comprised of 20 classroom hours of welding, 20 hours of basic math and 24 hours of electrical repair instruction.

Each class will carry one-half credit per semester. Hoben explained that matching credits will be given for work on a job that is related to the night-time course of study.

The occupational shop and business training classes will meet Monday and Tuesday nights from 7-9 p.m. for 10 weeks and from 7-10 p.m. for an additional four weeks. The English class will be held Wednesday and Thursday evenings during the same time schedule as the other two classes.

80 YEARS YOUNG

Edward Egloff celebrated his 80th birthday last week end during an open house at his home at 957 Palmer. About 35 guests visited him. He was born Sept. 7, 1883, in Mount Clemens, but has lived here nearly 50 years.

JOSEPHINE ASTLE showed up at the Jay-Cees' fish-fry last Friday in this old-time dress and bonnet and also was wearing an antique cameo on a ribbon around her neck. The arm reaching into the picture belongs to JayCee member Bruce Campbell, one of the servers during the fish-fry.

MRS. ALFRED SHREVE and Mrs. Robert Unthank drove over to Plymouth from Dearborn Park. They had "just heard about" Plymouth's Friday to enjoy the JayCees' fish-fry in Kellogg Fall Festival.

DETROIT EDISON'S steam calliope was an added musical hit during much of the Fall Festival last week. It was toured around the business district in a pick-up truck.

FIRING DEMONSTRATION by members of the re-created Company C, 24th Michigan Volunteer Infantry, was an ear-shattering experience as the authentic Civil War muskets let out cannon-like noises. The men were firing blank rounds. The original Company C of the 24th was raised in Kellogg Park in 1862 and fought valiantly at such battles as Gettysburg. Many Plymouth men were members of the original outfit and many gave their lives during the War Between the States. Local hobbyists recently re-created the unit and appear often at community affairs. This appearance (above) took place Sunday afternoon mid-way through the Rotary Club's chicken barbecue.

City Hall

There were six alternates on the mechanical trades. Low base bid came from Norman Nelson, of Dearborn Township, in the amount of $89,600. Next lowest bid among the seven firms that made offers, was for $95,900. Shaw Electric Co., of Livonia, was low bidder on the electrical work, with an offer of $51,840. The next lowest bid was for $52,593. Seven alternates were included in the bid forms concerning the electrical phase. A total of eight firms submitted bids on that portion of the project.

Among various alternates that Commissioners will consider are such items as air-conditioning, a police garage and tile-work.

Between now and the Monday night Commission meeting architect Becker is studying the various bids to assure that they conform with the project requirements.

The building authority was to meet this week to compile the information on the bids and prepare it for the Commission next week.

Mayor Richard Wernette said earlier this week the possibility exists that a special Commission meeting might be called within the next few days to take up the matter. If not, however, it will be included in Monday night's regular business agenda.

The Sept. 29 starting date on the construction of new City Hall is a requirement set down by federal authorities. There was a suggestion that the bids may be awarded the middle of next week.

Youngsters May Register Sept. 16 For Rifle Club

Registration for the fall program of activities of the Plymouth Rifle Club will take place at 7 p.m., Sept. 16, at the Community Building at the corner of Union and Dodge Sts.

Youngsters who wish to enroll must be at least 12 years of age. First class will be Sept. 23.

Registration cards are available now at the police desk in the City Hall. Youngsters must fill out the cards and have their parents sign them. The cards may then be turned in the night of Sept. 16.

John Olendorf supervises the club's activities. He is also the club's coach and instructor.

Addresses JayCees

Perry Richwine, vice president of the Plymouth office of First Federal Savings, was the guest speaker at Monday night's regular meeting of the JayCees at Hillside Inn.

Richwine explained that there are 72 savings and loan associations in Michigan with total savings of over $2.5 billion.

First Federal is the largest in the state with resources of nearly a half-billion dollars. Plymouth leads the nation with over $1,500 in savings for every resident, he said.

COSTUMES during Plymouth's Fall Festival last week drew plenty of attention and favorable comment. Here, pert little Judy Dyer, of Melody House, displays a full skirt, cummerbund and ruffled blouse that dates from the turn of the century. The "topper" that she is tipping actually was worn by another sales-person from Melody House, but she added it as "something extra."

SYL FARMER, of Schrader's Home Furnishings, turned out in a Keystone Cop's uniform and struck this mock serious pose during the Fall Festival last week. His neat set of chin whiskers added much more authenticity to his appearance.

The Mail's Camera Captures the Fun of a Festival

THE YEARS gone by were well-illustrated by this 1890-ish two-wheel bicycle. Young man riding it was a familiar sight around the downtown area all day Sunday.

SOME 850 dozen rolls were baked by Loren Goodale, his son Loren, Jr., and Mrs. Goodale Saturday night in preparation for the thousands of visitors who crowded Plymouth the next day, hungry for barbecued chicken.

BIG ATTRACTION for hundreds of youngsters during the Festival was the "Deadwood Coach." Another horse-drawn wagon attracted similar numbers of youthful fun-seekers. This one was operated by the Tip-Top Ranch. JayCee Marvin Cranford drove the other one, which was actually an old "paddy wagon."

It's A Fact

The state flower of Michigan is the Apple Blossom.
 The state bird of Michigan is the Robin.
 Michigan's state tree is the White Pine.
 Michigan has 15 ports on the Great Lakes that handle a million or more tons of shipping annually, reaching all parts of the world through the St. Lawrence Seaway.

One of the world's largest unions, the United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, AFL-CIO, was founded in Michigan in 1935.

Michigan has a highly diversified skilled-labor force making 365 different types of industry found within the state.

Detroit has more trees than any other city in the nation. Its forest population includes 650,000 trees whose value is $60,000,000.

Tourism is a $680 million annual business in Michigan.

It brings nearly $50 million each year into the state treasury in taxes and license fees.

Michigan was the first state to establish roadside picnic tables and has more than 3,000 charmingly rustic and restful picnic grounds along the state highways.

The University of Michigan law library has the largest collection on law west of the Alleghenies and is one of the foremost in the world.

Several of the world's largest paper mills are located in Kalamazoo.

AN OLD HAYNES automobile glistened in the bright sun during Sunday's display of antique cars along Main St. Countless visitors to Plymouth during Sunday's phase of the 1963 Fall Festival were enthralled by the old-time autos. Late in the day they were paraded down Main St. and drew still further admiring glances.

THIS DRESS, dating from the days when ladies' knees — and even their ankles — were never, ever revealed in public, was worn by Dorothy Hinkle, a saleswoman at Kresge's. She enjoyed her Friday noon-hour feasting at the Jay-Cees' fish-fry in Kellogg Park. She is also wearing a wide-brimmed sun-bonnet that amply shielded women's faces from the sun years ago.

School Enrollment

 costs, anticipated building and projected state equalized valuation will be between now and 1969.

Fischer indicated that the new projection will enable the School Board to determine exactly what its needs will be in terms of building and site sinking fund money.

The balance of the School Board's meeting Monday night was largely routine with the exception of one item.

Board members agreed to lease the new vacant Hough School, at Warren and Haggerty Rds., to the non-profit Plymouth Children's Nursery for one year at a rental fee of $30 per month.

The agreement hinges on several stipulations.

The nursery officials must agree to maintain the building, pay all utility bills and carry liability insurance. In addition, approval must be granted by the state fire marshal's office and the state board of health.

A lease will be drawn up shortly and the nursery presumably will move into the Hough school late this month. The lease will have a renewable option.

School equipment now stored in the building will be transferred to the Eckles building and the cost to the District of renting the new storage space will be offset by the rent paid by the nursery for the use of the Hough School.

The Board also approved three teacher appointments.

Mary F. Downing will teach second grade at Starkweather. She previously taught in Sepulveda, a suburb of Los Angeles.

Ethel M. Perkins, who previously taught for four years here, will return to assume a first grade teaching post at Gallimore School. She has taught for the past year in Ann Arbor.

Gerald Ramsey will teach business education at the Senior High. He has spent the past three years teaching in the Wayne school district.

Board members consulted with William Nelson who will prepare the District's annual report. The report will be distributed about the end of October. Nelson will receive a $400 fee.

The members were reminded that there will be a curriculum on youth employment and vocational training Sept. 30, and that there will be a joint meeting of officers of the public schools in the District and the members of the Board next Monday evening at 6:30 p.m. at Junior High East.

"COME BLOW YOUR HORN"

No state has a better record of success by business firms than Michigan.

30,000 Help Make

 pounds of blueberries were consumed during the 12-hour event Saturday.

The Lions Club had to rely on a "spoon count" in order to determine exactly how many persons attended the melon-and-ice-cream social Thursday. Chairman William Fehlig said 1,300 spoons were used.

Members of the Plymouth VFW Post and its auxiliary reported that 1,405 persons attended the "Pageant of Drums" at the football field Sunday evening. It was the concluding event of the Festival.

All of the numerous other events — and they seemed almost endless — experienced similar turn-outs. Police reported no major problem in controlling Sunday's vast crowd and the entire four-day period went off smoothly and without incident so far as the large numbers of persons were concerned.

"Lost parents" were evidently kept to a minimum by alert children who stayed close at hand through even the busiest moments.

A fire alarm about 5 p.m. Sunday — in the midst of the parade which preceded the "Pageant of Drums" — created its share of excitement, but failed to interrupt the proceedings.

(It was a fire in a basement in town and minor in nature.)

In the area of finances, Festival planners appear confident that the $4,000 goal will be reached before not too long. As of Monday, upwards of $3,000 in pledges had been received.

The matter of meeting the various fixed — or previously agreed-upon — costs of conducting the Festival was a momentary point of concern among planners during the past month.

Planners were scheduled to meet earlier this week to both "critique" the Festival and discuss the possibility of establishing a permanent Fall Festival committee, which will immediately set to work on details and arrangements regarding next year's event.

Meanwhile, everyone else is taking a well-deserved minute or two to catch their breath and congratulate each other. And no one can deny them either pleasure.

Like they say in beats-ville, it was a "gasser."

The brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was founded in Marshall in 1863.

SALEM NEWS

By VERA CLAIR — GL 3-2610

Many of our township young people will be returning to school or going away for the first time this next week.

Maureen Trombley will be going to Eastern Michigan on Sept. 15th and her brother, Robert, is transferring to Eastern from the University of Michigan. They are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Trombley of Napier Rd.

Lauren McKarns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKarns of Six Mile, will be a student at Central in Mount Pleasant.

Irene Engel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Engel, will be going to Alexander Beauty School in Ann Arbor.

Others are Douglas Hamilton who will be returning to the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago. He is the son of the Edwin Hamiltons on Five Mile Road. Elizabeth Biers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Knowles Biers of Salem, and Kathy Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis of Brookville Road, will study at the Grand Rapids School of Bible and Music.

Henry John and Elmer King of N. Territorial Road and Austin Partridge of Tecumseh returned home August 29th from a vacation trip to Wyoming.

Mrs. Mary Jo Hansen and Mrs. Duncan McIntyre and daughter, Dana, of Stanton visited with the Burton Riches last week.

Driving cars in the Labor Day parade at South Lyon were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rich of Six Mile Road with a 1910 Regal. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Whittaker of Brookville Road with a 1922 Dodge roadster and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Rich of Salem Road with a 1937 Cord Sedan.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Hick's daughter, Sue, and son, Frank, visited relatives in Battle Creek over the Labor Day weekend.

Don't forget the Evangelistic meeting at the Salem Federated Church Sept. 8 through 15. The evening meetings will be Monday through Friday, starting at 7:30 p.m., with missionary Jere Brubaker of Lancaster, Pennsylvania as speaker.

Mrs. Alma Johnson of Napier Road returned Thursday, Aug. 28 from a month's vacation in Fresno, Calif. A few points of interest she enjoyed while there was Yosemite National Park, the Muir Woods and a seven and one half hour tour trip around San Francisco, The Golden Gate Bridge, The Roof Garden on the Kaiser Building, Fisherman's Wharf, and Sequoia Park.

Several members of the Go Getters 4-H Club had exhibits at the State Show at the Michigan State University at East Lansing Aug. 26 through 29.

Kathleen and Bill O'Neil both received a B and Martha Lutchka an A for their vegetable exhibits. Bob Bridenstine and Bill O'Neil B's for their First Aid exhibit. Karen O'Neil received an A for her beautiful flower arrangement. Sharon Tomaka and Bob Bridenstine for out door meals received an A. Donna Beardsley a B in ceramics and Karen Moored an A in food.

Bill and Karen O'Neil, Karen Moored, Sharon Tomaka, and Martha Lutchka remained at the State Show the full time. They enjoyed swimming, tennis, the softball finals, a dress review and the judging of the exhibits.

Martha Lutchka gave a demonstration Wednesday on forestry conservation.

Upon leaving the State Show Martha Lutchka went to Detroit as a delegate to the Farm City Youth Exchange through Aug. 31. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes and daughter, Delina who was a city delegate.

Thursday evening they enjoyed the fair and were luncheon guests of the fair officials. On Friday, after lunch they enjoyed a tour of the Civic Center and Ford Motor Rouge plant.

Michigan apples in 1962 were sold as far south as the gulf coast, all the way from San Diego to Nome on the west coast, airlifted into remote mining and lumber camps in northern Canada, and even exported to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ingall of Joy Road have just returned from a vacation in the west.

They were joined by Mr. Ingall's sisters' family, the Ben McGlone's from Portland, Oregon at Grand Lake near Denver, Colorado.

They drove home through the Black Hills of the Dakotas and enjoyed the boat trip from Milwaukee, Wisconsin across Lake Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Ingall and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ingall attended the wedding of Mr. Harlow Ingall's niece, Meredith Clark, at Morenci on Saturday, Aug. 31.

The weekend of Sept. 1 the Harlow Ingalls visited their daughter and son-in-law the Calvin Ellenwoods at Woodland Beach near Monroe.

The Sun Shine Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Opal Carr on Brookville Rd. Wednesday, Sept. 11 with luncheon at one p.m.

Ten members of the Moon Light Club met at the home of Mrs. Opal Carr on Brookville Road, Thursday, Sept. 5 for a social evening and bingo.

Robbie McClelland of Royal Oak visited last week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McClelland on Territorial Road.

Mrs. Harvey Pinney underwent surgery at Ridgewood Hospital Wednesday, Sept. 4. Cards would help to pass the long hours.

Michigan pioneered free chest x-rays for the detection of tuberculosis. The state department of health started use of a mobile x-ray unit in 1940, the first of its kind in the nation and probably the first in the world.

MEMBERS OF the re-created Company C, 24th Michigan Volunteer Infantry, put on a firing demonstration Sunday afternoon. Using muzzle-loading muskets, an eight-member squad fired at mock targets, simulating the volley fire used during the Civil War. The company was raised in Kellogg Park in 1862. More recently, local hobbyists have re-created the famed 24th and appear at various community affairs. Here, squad members use ram-rods while loading their authentic muskets.

Resolution Assures Schoolcraft Students Full Transfer Credit

When Schoolcraft College opens Aug. 31, 1964, students will be assured of programs which will prepare them without loss of credit for transfer to all Michigan colleges and to the majority of colleges outside the State. The Board of Trustees, extending its earlier approval of specific curricula lending to upper division work in some Michigan senior colleges and universities, has now approved similar curricula for other senior colleges. The action has great implications to Schoolcraft College students. It will permit them, for example, to enter any business administration, liberal arts, pre-law, or pre-medical program as juniors. Without undue addition of course offerings, Schoolcraft College will be ready to transfer its students to specific colleges and universities and private institutions of higher education, including church-related schools, according to a college spokesman. The college trustees passed a resolution to this effect during the regular meeting last week.

Long Distance Code "1" Proves Itself in Savings

Since telephone users in Plymouth have been dialing the access code "1" before placing a long distance call, there has been a sharp drop in wrong number cases, the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has reported.

Put into use early in April, the code makes it impossible for a customer to mistakenly reach a long distance point as he dials an intended local call.

Prior to the introduction of the long distance access code, Michigan Bell said there were unnecessarily high instances of customers being inconvenienced by reaching a long distance point after dialing what they intended to be a local call.

These intended local calls went to long distance points through a dialing error, but now no call can reach a long distance number unless the user first dials the numeral "1", explained Hazen J. Wilson, manager here for Michigan Bell.

Wilson cited a case as an example. A Plymouth subscriber intends to dial a Superior 8 (788) number in Detroit. By mistake, he dials SU 9 (789). Before use of the code "1", that call would have proceeded on to the Sunset 9 exchange in Flint.

"Long distance calls to wrong numbers have dropped about 75 per cent since the code was put into effect," Wilson said, "and this reduction comes with two benefits to our users. The first is that calls are getting through faster — no loss of time while the called party explains a wrong number has been reached. Secondly, subscribers are not subjected to the inconvenience of having to contact their telephone business office to correct charges for unintended long distance calls."

Wilson said that some customers are still not entirely in the habit of dialing the "1" before a long distance call is attempted.

"When a user now tries a long distance call and forgets to dial the '1' first, that call is blocked and the user hears a recording which reminds him of the omission," Wilson said.

Some users, Wilson pointed out, are not certain of what is a long distance call and what is not. He suggested they refer to page 2 of their telephone directory.

Promotes Democratic Women's Day Meet

Mrs. Anthony M. Frank of 659 Burroughs, has been named local promotion chairman for a state Democratic Women's Day Sept. 14 at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

Plymouth women wishing to attend the day-long affair may contact Mrs. Frank at GL 3-4769. According to a new release, Mrs. James Hughes, Mrs. Charles Root, Miss Neva Lovell and Mrs. Robert Dwyer, all of Plymouth, are planning to attend.

Darling - Pacetti Vows Spoken

BONNIE JO DARLING, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Darling of 750 Arthur St., became the bride of Richard A. Pacetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Veto Pacetti, of 47200 Cherry Hill Rd., in a double ring ceremony in St. Peter's Evangelical Church on Aug. 17.

A double ring ceremony in St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church on Saturday, Aug. 17, was the scene for the marriage of Bonnie Jo Darling to Richard A. Pacetti.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Darling, of 750 Arthur St. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Veto Pacetti, of 47200 Cherry Hill Rd.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Darling chose a gown of white lace trimmed with sequins and fashioned with a chapel train. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and white orchids.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Rosalie Dale, who wore a satin sheath with overskirt and carried a bouquet of red and white carnations. Wearing frocks identical to Mrs. Dale's were bridesmaids Irene Wick, Sandra Dale and Rosalie Schefflar.

Serving his brother as best man was Veto Pacetti, Jr., and Harold Galfano, Don Darling and Ralph Schefflar seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Darling chose a gold lame dress with white accessories. Mrs. Pacetti wore a turquoise chiffon frock with matching accessories.

A reception was held in the VFW Hall immediately following the ceremony for 300 guests from Plymouth, Detroit, Dearborn, Wisconsin, Grand Rapids and Royal Oak.

When the couple left on their wedding trip to Wisconsin, the new Mrs. Pacetti was wearing a chiffon print sheath.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Haines

PEGGY JO ANN McFARLANE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. McFarlane, of Ypsilanti, became the bride of Andrew Arthur Haines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haines, of 1282 S. Harvey St., in an evening ceremony in St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, on Saturday, Aug. 31.

Andrew Haines, Peggy Jo McFarlane Repeat Vows

Double ring rites in St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church on the evening of Saturday, Aug. 31, was the scene for the marriage of Peggy Jo Ann McFarlane and Andrew Arthur Haines.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. McFarlane, of Ypsilanti, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haines, of 1282 S. Harvey St.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss McFarlane wore a white silk organza gown, styled with a chapel train. Her fitted bodice and cummerbund were lavishly beaded with imported crystals over Alencon lace. Her bouffant French illusion veil was accented with a center cluster of seed pearls and staphanotis. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and staphanotis which encircled two detachable white orchids.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her matron of honor, Mrs. Raymond Douglas, of Garden City, maid of honor, Miss Vaunnie McLean, of Northville, and four bridesmaids, Miss Colleen Dennis, of Plymouth; Mrs. Peter Falt, of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Jerry Reams, of Ann Arbor; and Mrs. Demis Baldwin, of Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Douglas wore a floor length gown of yellow taffeta and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow tinted carnations. Wearing gowns identical to the matron of honor's were Miss McLean (apricot), Miss Dennis (pink), Mrs. Falt (mint green), Mrs. Reams (alice blue), and Mrs. Baldwin (turquoise), Miss McLean carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations. Miss Vicki Douglas, of Garden City, niece of the bridegroom and flower girl, wore a floor length dress of yellow taffeta Bryan Wenkel, cousin of the bride from Garden City, served as ring bearer, carrying the rings on a white satin pillow.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was William McFarlane, of Ypsilanti, brother of the bride. William Westfall, of Plymouth, was groomsmen and Raymond Douglas and Duane Syner, of Garden City, and Jack Prystup and Jerry Tacia, of Plymouth seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McFarlane chose a Persian blue silk organza sheath with matching accessories. Mrs. Haines wore a wedge-wed blue lace sheath with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at Hawthorne Valley Country Club for 800 guests.

When the couple left on their wedding trip to Macinac Island, the new Mrs. Haines wore a champagne sheath with orange accessories. They will make their home at 475 N. Harvey St.

Women Help State Hospital Get Ambulance

Members of the Northville State Hospital auxiliary can be proud of themselves this week when hospital officials formally dedicate a new ambulance that is being added to the institution's transportation facilities.

Auxiliary members helped raise the funds with which to purchase the vehicle. Mrs. Matt Powell, of Plymouth, was among the contributors to the project.

In other auxiliary news, members held their first meeting of the 1963-64 year earlier this week. New officers include president Mrs. Dewey Horning, of Northville; vice president Mrs. Robert Land, of Northville; recording secretary Mrs. Chester Teasel, of Plymouth; and treasurer Mrs. Kendal Kaufman, of Farmington.

The auxiliary's immediate past president, Mrs. Louis Pearlman, has been selected to serve on a reactor panel at the annual conference of community relations directors this month.

Women's League Sets Rummage Sale

Listening Post Tickets Going Fast - Act Now

The 1963-64 Listening Post lecture series, sponsored by the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women will begin in October.

The series consists of a trio of eminent scholars, described as "internationally-known" in their respective fields. Lectures held at Plymouth High School, begin at 8:30 p.m.

Proceeds from the AAUW project are used for scholarships for women who are working on their doctorate degree.

Leading off this year's program will be Malcolm Boyd on Oct. 23. His talk will deal with "Art and Morality in the Modern Theater." Reverend Boyd has a varied background which well qualifies him to speak on the topic of art and its relationship to morality.

He is the Episcopal Chaplain at Wayne State University, and previously worked as a playwright, producer and director in legitimate theater and on television before he entered the ministry.

On Jan. 23, Arthur W. Burks, a professor of Philosophy at the University of Michigan, will speak on "The Theory of Artificial and Natural Robots." It is a discussion of symbolic logic in the field of computers.

Dr. Burks is a former faculty member at Princeton University.

The final lecture of the Listening Post's 1963-64 series will be held March 13 and will feature Margaret H. Sterne, an associate professor of history at Wayne State.

College Fashion Show to Highlight Bridge Luncheon

Round Table Ladies Bridge will open its fall season with a bridge luncheon and style show of college fashions at the club on Monday, Sept. 16, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Hostesses and models in the style show will be Sheila Lorenz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Lorenz, of W. Ann Arbor Tr.; Jill Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Clarke, of Burroughs St.; Kay Sells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sells, of Roosevelt St.; Diane Di Ponia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Di Ponia, of Merriman Rd.; Marianne Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagner, of Ridgewood Dr.; Sue Davis, of Dearborn, and Pat Morrow, of Detroit.

Fashions in the "Plymouth Merchants Dress the Girl for College" style show will be loaned from Cassady's, Dunning's, G.A. Hark's and Smith's. Mrs. Beckwell Smith will give the commentary.

Kappa Delta Opens Season Monday

The Northwest Suburban Alumnae Association of Kappa Delta sorority will have its first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Thomas Hofman, 23005 Warners Road, Farmington, September 16, at 8:30 p.m. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Cliff Loreth, also of Farmington.

The guest speaker for the evening will be Mrs. John Moehle, trustee at large for the newly formed Schoolcraft Community College. She will speak on the function of the community college, what it will offer, and its benefits for this area.

All Kappa Delta Alumnae are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Please call Mrs. Richard Fritz 453-6072.

Art Around Us:

by Mrs. Jessie Hudson

Fall brings a resurgence of interest in learning and doing. Art, which hasn't been exactly dormant all summer is even more fertile in the fall. The Toledo Museum has a splendid collection of classes for all age groups, but I hardly imagine that many area residents will want to go that far. No need to, actually. Classes are available right here in Plymouth. Joy Road Studios are strutting up for their fall adult (daytime) classes and the Adult Education Department of Plymouth High School offers Oil painting at Junior High East with Hal Steval on Monday (evenings). Several galleries, including the Institute in Detroit, are offering classes of all sorts but unfortunately I mislaid the Sunday Freebie which was by Lillian Braun which enumerated them.

Arts of the West is scheduled at the University of Michigan through its Extension Service at the Dearborn Campus at 4901 Evergreen Road. Beginning tomorrow (Sept. 12) Dr. Victor H. Miesel will discuss "The Baroque-Romantic Tradition in Painting". The following week, Sept. 19, Dr. Marvin J. Eisenberg will talk about "The Classical Tradition in Painting" and on Sept. 26 Dr. James E. Snyder will cover "The Realist Tradition in Painting". The series continues through November 21. Anyone interested should call the Dearborn Extension Center office for the schedule of talks. It may be taken for college credit though it is of general enough interest so that others may attend. There is a fee of $10.00 for any six lectures for non-credit. Sounds interesting and very thorough.

In The Galleries:

A series of tongue-twisting names is listed on the card from the FORTYSEVEN GALLERY, 20 Nickels Arcade: Nario Azuma, Rafael Coronel, Christian Kruck, Ricardo Martinez, Guillermo Meza, Rudy Pozzatti, Leonard Baskin, Jose Luis Cuevas, Rico LeBrun, Carlos Merida, Gabor Peterdi, Peter Takal. Original print-makers all. Gallery hours are ten to four every day and a measy ten to one on Saturday.

DUNNING-HOUGH LIBRARY, Plymouth. Exhibit of paintings and sculpture by members of the Three-Cities Art Club. This group tries to encourage serious artists in the area, whether beginning or advanced, to keep growing in their chosen field. The club meets each month for discussions on various aspects of art; techniques, history, philosophy, new trends. They maintain an exhibit in both the Plymouth and the Northville libraries. They also have one lecture a year to which the public is invited. More will be heard about this at a later date. The artists exhibiting in the Plymouth library at this time are, Beverly Shakwiler of Wayne, Dorothy Wood and Mrs. Irene Wood of Livonia, Plymouth residents Mary Engstrom, Gilberta Mitchell and Bill Mandt, and Northville resident Elaine Norlin. Mrs. Norlin also has three water-colors in the Northville Library together with several oils by Mrs. Jessie Hudson of Plymouth. These exhibits will be on view through October 8th.

HARTLEY-POWERS GALLERY, 116 E. Main Street, Northville. Down from the walls and out of the windows came the oils, collages and pots of the exhibit just past, though many of the items still remain in the stacks for latercomers to catch up with. Up on the walls are paintings by the gallery "regulars," good painters all and all part of the local area, that is scene. Prices at this little gallery are extremely reasonable. Few paintings are over $100.00, most are nearer $50.00 which is not much for an original, one-of-a-kind, not a thousandth-print-of-a-kind, painting. Many paintings are even less than this and the ceramics which are delightfully varied are anywhere from $2.00 up. Hours here are from noon each day to six except for Friday when the gallery is open until nine.

Plymouth Theatre Guild Has New Headquarters

The Plymouth Theatre Guild moved into new quarters on Sept. 16 to its monthly meetings on the third Monday of every month — the Veterans Memorial Building, next to the High School. Starting at 8 p.m. with the first meeting of the new 1963-64 season, the Plymouth Theatre Guild will call the Veterans Memorial Building in the heart of town their new meeting home. President Effie Kuseil indicated that years ago the Plymouth Theatre Guild met in the Veterans Memorial Building. "It will be like coming home again to meet at our former place." Special events for the year will be discussed at the September 16 meeting. Effie Kuseil points out that the Plymouth Theatre Guild is open to anyone interested in community theater activity. A special request is being made to all interested Plymouth residents that want to help in future productions, onstage or backstage. Recent participation in the successful Fall Festival

Registration for Madonna College Starts Thursday

Registration for the fall session at Madonna College will take place on Sept. 12 and 16. The Sept. 12 registration is scheduled for the elementary and high school teachers interested in the updating of the content of recent areas of developing in mathematics and science. The courses, beginning Sept. 12, will be taught at St. Andrew high school, Detroit, and may be taken for credit. Methods and Materials in Mathematics will be offered on Thursdays from 4 to 5:45 and Modern Physics on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4 to 5:20. Registration for courses beginning Sept. 19 will take place Monday, Sept. 16 on campus at 4 and 6:30 p.m. Courses in art, biology, business, chemistry, education, language, mathematics, political science, music and social science will be given. SUZANNE MARY STARON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mangler, of Charlotte, became the bride of Jerry Reed Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Steele, of 127 S. Main St., in a candle-light ceremony in Fees Memorial Immanuel Lutheran Church on June 29.

Jerry Steele Marries Suzanne M. Staron

Making their home in Wayne, following their June 29th marriage in Fees Memorial Immanuel Lutheran Church, Grand Lodge, are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Reed Steele. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mangler and the late John Staron, of Charlotte. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Steele, of 127 S. Main St. For her wedding, the former Miss Suzanne Mary Staron chose a floor length gown of pure silk taffeta and re-embroidered Alencon lace. The fitted bodice, encircled at the waist with the lace, featured a deep boat neckline and short cap sleeves. In courtly tradition, a beautifully-contrasted skirt was accented by bands of Alencon lace near the hemline. She carried a cascade bouquet of velvet roses. Mrs. Kathryn Conrad, of Columbus, Ga., was her sister's matron of honor. Mrs. Sally Dunbar, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Barbara Gil-

NEWS BRIEFS

David Bartel flew out to join his family and traveled back with them.

Plymouth State Home Seeks More Volunteers

A concerted effort to enlist the services of 125 new volunteers by October is being made by the Auxiliary at Plymouth State Home & Training School. The first volunteer organization in the country to serve in a state institution for the mentally retarded, the Auxiliary is holding an informal coffee meeting Tuesday morning, September 17, in the auditorium of the Administration Building on Sheldon Road at Five Mile between Plymouth and Northville. Beginning promptly at 9:30 a.m., the two-hour orientation will include a general introduction to the field of mental retardation; the State Home's philosophy, goals, and programs; the Auxiliary's variety of services and a tour of the facilities. Elaborating on the importance of doubling the present membership, William Boyd, Community Relations Director in charge of the volunteer program, stated, "a recently constructed resident building will soon increase the patient population by another 220 which will mean a total bed capacity exceeding 900. With the present ratio of staff to patients being 1:12, many of the children compete with each other for attention. Additional volunteers will alleviate this feeling of loneliness which inhibits their development. Like any other children, the retarded child responds and progresses more rapidly in an atmosphere of personal attention and affection." The various areas of service include patient care, patient education, physical therapy, and recreational therapy. For those volunteers who feel uncomfortable in a direct relationship with the children, they can be of valuable assistance to the Outpatient Department, Medical Records, Dental Clinic, Pharmacy, X-ray Clinic, laboratory, Library, Community Relations Department, and other offices. For those who cannot volunteer on a regular basis, there are opportunities for drivers, personal shoppers, artists, carpenters, music and dance instructors, entertainers and many others who would be on an "on call" basis to serve as the need arises. Various projects that community organizations may undertake include sewing and mending, remembering forgotten children, sponsoring programs and parties, raising funds, horticultural therapy, stamp books for buses, sorting toys at Christmas, etc.

Joy Road Studio Slates Open House

Prior to the beginning of its Fall classes, Joy Road Studio will hold an Open House on Sunday, Sept. 15, from 3-5 p.m. with an exhibit by five local hobbyists. Mrs. Margaret Hough will show her miniature dolls and animals she has created for her Christmas tree decorations. Also for Christmas time, Mrs. Dorothy Wood will display her richly decorated Christmas eggs designed with velvet, braid and sequins. Mrs. Helen Caplin and Mrs. Clara Isbister will exhibit angels, stars and mobiles of straw in the Swedish tradition. An expert in embroidery, Pamela Schultz will show examples of her crewel embroidery. This Open House is for former students and patrons of the studio. To greet the guests will be instructors Johnnie Crosby, John Groot, Mary Littell and Marion E. Sober.

Beta Sigma Phi Plans Rushing

Members of Beta Sigma Phi sorority met at the home of Mrs. Neil Lamphear, of Garden City, on Sept. 4, to formulate plans for their fall rush season and valentine party for children at the Plymouth State Home and Training School. Rushing will be held Sept. 23, according to chairman Mrs. William Parilo. Also, at the meeting a request was made for used masks and Halloween costumes to be donated to children at Plymouth State Home. Earlier this summer a farewell dinner party was held at Fox Hills Country Club for Mrs. Curt Medin and Mrs. Jess Edwards. The Medins are moving to Illinois and the Edwards are moving to Cleveland.

Michigan Bell's Extended Calling Service Gets OK

The Michigan Public Service Commission has approved a petition of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company to offer expanded calling privileges into Detroit on an optional basis for telephone users here.

Referred to as SEAS, super extended area service, the service is being offered on a trial basis to determine customer acceptance.

Under the plan, residence telephone users in Plymouth, Livonia, Farmington and Garden City who subscribe to SEAS would be able to call up to half a million telephones in an area including downtown and midtown Detroit on an unlimited basis, without toll or message unit charges.

Business customers will receive the same service except that one message unit (4.2 cents) would be charged for each call, regardless of length, to the portion of the super extended area that is in the Detroit zone.

Today, business subscribers pay either toll charges or multi-message units for these calls.

A spokesman here for Michigan Bell said that

Lutherans Plan 28th Annual Harvest Service

The 28th annual Harvest Home Service of St. Peter's Lutheran Church will be held Sunday at 10 a.m.

In keeping with the Old Testament custom of bringing the "fruits of the field" to the altar of the Lord in gratitude for another fruitful harvest, the members of St. Peter's Church will bring foodstuffs and produce to the church and to the altar.

A reading of the Old Testament lesson describing the ancient custom will accompany the placing of a portion of the gifts on the altar as they are brought forward by two of the Elders of the church, Lawrence Blunk and Jacob Brinks.

Charter Banquet Set

The charter banquet of the West Wayne County Christian Businessmen's Committee will be held at 7 p.m., Monday, Sept. 16, at Lofy's. Guest speaker will be Theo McCully, executive secretary of Christian Businessmen's Committee International. Reservations may be obtained by calling KE 4-8260.

Episcopalians to Hear

Miss Priobala Mangat-Rai, Principal of Kinnaird College, Lahore, Pakistan, will be the guest speaker at St. John's Episcopal Church, 574 Sheldon Road, Plymouth, on Wednesday, Sept. 18, following a pot luck supper at 6:30 p.m. Miss Mangat-Rai is a Pakistani Anglican and has been Principal and Lecturer in history at Kinnaird College since 1942.

Her greatest achievement was holding the college together at the time of the partition of India and Pakistan.

With the help of teachers from England and America, the enrollment was rebuilt. Today it consists of about 300 upper class Muslim girls and some 65 Christian girls from poor homes who receive scholarship help from sponsoring churches.

In addition to her MA from the University of the Punjab, Miss Mangat-Rai has a master's degree from Harvard.

Cavell Named Sports Editor

A life-long Plymouthite and former star athlete at Plymouth High, Casey Cavell, 28, of 540 Blunk St., has joined The Mail's sports department reporting staff on a part-time basis.

He will assume the duties of sports editor and will cover Plymouth High's athletic contests as well as general sports activities in the Plymouth community.

He joined The Mail's staff last week.

A science and math teacher and football, basketball and track coach at Junior High East, Cavell is a 1953 graduate of PHS where he earned six varsity sports letters during his junior and senior years.

He was an infielder on the Rocks' baseball team, a guard on the basketball squad and alternated between center and linebacker on the football teams of the early 1950's.

A 1959 graduate of Michigan State University where he majored in biological and physical science, Cavell has taught in the Plymouth system since September, 1962. For three years prior to that he was a teacher in the Waterford Township school system.

He and his wife, the former Gail Blanchard, of Pontiac, have three children, Leslie, 6, Mike, 4, and Dawn, 2.

Cavell and The Mail's managing editor, Jerome O'Neil, will alternate writing the popular "Sportseen" column which appears regularly in the sports pages and reflects the inside story and personal touch of the athletic picture in Plymouth.

The addition of Cavell to the sports staff will assure still wider coverage of sports events in — and around — the Plymouth community.

Casey Cavell

SPORTSEEN

By Jerome O'Neil

The addition of Casey Cavell to the sports reporting staff at The Plymouth Mail has been recorded elsewhere on this page, and in all good taste it is not necessarily the sort of event that requires belaboring.

Suffice it to say, we here at The Mail are delighted, and we're certain the feeling will be mutual all down the line.

The instance does bring to mind some names of years past with regard to The Mail's sports department.

Among the erstwhile sports chroniclers for The Mail at one time or another was Jack Van Coevering who today is a widely-read Detroit Free Press columnist and well-known as a naturalist and sportsman.

During World War II Fred Van de Vanter held down the sports desk here. He went on to become a newscaster for WJR and was the originator and long-time moderator of "Twenty Questions" on both radio and television.

An Associated Press reporter, James Haskins, wrote The Mail's sports pages for a span just before the war. He is an uncle of photographer John Gaffield. Haskins is now a thriving public relations man in the east.

Gaffield himself took a turn or two at sports reporting more than two decades ago, although he was primarily a news writer for The Mail in those days gone by.

After the war, the sports pages blossomed out under the talents and efforts of Keith Miller, who was still in high school here. Somehow, in college, Keith became "Joe" but he continued his interests in journalism and drew acclaim as a sports writer at the University of Michigan and Michigan State.

Keith was killed in an air crash several years ago and the tragedy abruptly ended a career that showed great promise. His wife of only a brief time died with him.

A contributor to The Mail's sports pages a decade or more ago was "The Professor" — Ed Brown. Ed still writes his "Professor Sez" column periodically.

At one time in there a starry-eyed PHS journalism student named Jerry O'Neil made a stab at the job of writing sports for The Mail. He fast-faded from the scene and became a library page, a college student, a soldier and — lo — an editor.

More recently, Bill Nelson sojourned as sports writer for The Mail until his duties with the Automotive Manufacturer's Association pre-empted all his time.

Regular staffers have handled the sports pages as an added responsibility these past two years.

And now Casey's at bat...

Traditional Grid Rivals Clash Friday

Like its previous counterparts over the years, the Plymouth varsity football team opens the season with its traditional rivals, the Northville Mustangs.

This contest is one of the oldest rivalries in the suburban area and, as always, both teams will be fighting for their opening victories as well as a chance to establish a hold as traditional victors.

No matter what talents are available on either team, this usually turns out to be one of the best games of the season, if not to both teams, at least to the spectators.

This year Mike Hoben's charges seem to have an advantage because of their experience. Northville should have some good ball players moving up from last year's J. V. squad but lacks the number of returning lettermen in comparison to Plymouth.

According to Hoben, the staff and team want to regard the game as only the first of the season and simply "take it in stride." He believes they have "everything to lose and nothing to gain" because of the fact that the Rocks are expected to win.

Coach Hoben has some doubts because of the number of regulars that have been injured in the past week, as of the scrimmage Saturday with Taylor Center and Berkeley there were six regular members unable to play because of injuries.

Hoben hopes that the attitude of his players, which he described as very good, might compensate for the injuries that have occurred.

Of the Northville team, Hoben commented his reports say that the Mustangs should have a good ball club if their untried players come through in expected fashion.

The Plymouth mentor stated that Northville's Ron Horvath, is a very capable coach and realizes that this is a year of building and rebuilding for the Mustangs.

Whatever the outcome, you can be sure you won't be disappointed at the action that will take place on the new Northville field on Friday.

Plymouth Athletic Director John Sandmann stated that the game will take place on Northville's new lighted athletic field at Northville High School, rather than at Ford Field.

Bowlers: Here's News

With the 1963-64 league bowling season fast approaching, The Plymouth Mail invites all secretaries of local leagues to submit weekly reports of their bowling standings.

The Mail, as in the past, will publish the league standings. Deadline for submitting the standings is Friday noon in order that they may appear in the following issue. For further information, call The Mail's sports department at GL 3-5500.

Boost PHS Student Ticket Prices to 50 Cents

GUSTAVE GORGUZE, Plymouth High's assistant principal in charge of student activities, and Athletic Director John Sandmann have announced the first student ticket price increase at PHS in more than 12 years. New student admission to all athletic contests at Plymouth High will be 50 cents from now on.

Ticket prices to athletic contests at Plymouth High are undergoing their first change in more than a dozen years this fall, according to Assistant Principal Gustave Gorguze and Athletic Director John Sandmann.

At the same time, a policy governing the pre-game sale of student tickets has been modified.

Gorguze and Sandmann announced that the pre-game sale of student tickets from now on will be conducted only at the Senior High on the day of the game.

Previously, the pre-game sale of student admission tickets was held at the elementary and junior high schools as well as at the two parochial schools here.

Student ticket prices are being boosted to 50 cents. In recent years, students in kindergarten through sixth grade were admitted to athletic contests at Plymouth High for 25 cents and pupils in grades 7-12 paid 40 cents.

Sandmann said it is the first change in the price of athletic contest admission tickets in the 14 years he has been a member of the Plymouth faculty.

Adult admission for varsity football games will remain at $1. However, adult tickets to varsity basketball and swimming contests are each being increased 25 cents. Henceforth, adult tickets to basketball games will be $1 and to swimming meets 75 cents.

There will be no pre-game sale of adult tickets.

Sandmann attributed the ticket price increase to rising costs of maintaining the athletic facilities at spectator games and to conform with the admission prices at other member schools within the Suburban Six conference.

Gorguze, who administers the sale of tickets to high school athletic contests at Plymouth, said that a change has been made in the sale of tickets at the gate for football games.

Instead of the single ticket sales line, there will be two lines. Each will be selling both student and adult football game tickets, he said.

Sandmann pointed out that all of Plymouth High's varsity athletic alumni are entitled to purchase a season ticket to the Rocks' home games for $3.

Tennis Meet to Draw Top Amateurs

A two-day Plymouth Invitational Men's Tennis Tournament this weekend on the courts behind the senior high school is expected to draw some of the most outstanding names in the world of amateur tennis, according to James Stevens who is arranging the event.

He is confident that the top-flight players, many from foreign countries, will attract large crowds during the Saturday and Sunday competition.

"If local sports enthusiasts don't turn out in good numbers," he said, "they'll be missing an event that is going to prove exceptionally spectacular and competitive."

Saturday's competition will begin at 9 a.m. in both the singles and doubles events. On Sunday, the semi-final rounds will start at 10:30 a.m. and the finals will be at 1 p.m.

Between 20 and 25 highly-regarded amateur tennis players will be on hand for the tournament. An entry fee of $5 is being charged in order to cover the cost of conducting the affair.

Among the competitors will be a Canadian Davis Cup team member who now attends the U-M; two young men who last week-end competed in the U.S. National tennis championships at Forest Hills, N.Y.; and Carl Hedrick, who won the club championship at Forest Hills this year and was the New York state junior champ two years ago.

One other competitor will be an Australian who once toured with Ken Rosewell, when the latter was still an amateur.

Auto Club's L. B. Rice To Retire

Leiter B. Rice, manager of Automobile Club of Michigan's Livonia division office for the past two years, is retiring this month after 27 years of customer and civic service in northwestern Wayne County. His successor will be named in the near future.

Rice is well known to Auto Club members in Plymouth and Northville. He served as manager of the Plymouth division from 1936 until a Livonia Auto Club office was established in May, 1961. His present territory also takes in a portion of Redford Township.

A native of Michigan, Rice attended school near Hamburg, Michigan, and also at Des Moines, Iowa. Before joining Auto Club as a membership counselor in April, 1936, he was employed in the sales department of Frigidaire Division. His retirement is effective Sept. 30.

Rice lived at 936 Harding St. and has been active in several civic and social organizations here. He is a former secretary and board member of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and is presently a member of the Plymouth Symphony Society, Plymouth Theatre Guild and Michigan Humane Society.

As manager of the Livonia office, Rice has directed the growth of that branch from 9,200 Auto Club members when it opened to over 11,000 today. He is a member of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce.

Upon retirement, he and his wife, Jean, plan to move to Punta Gorda, Fla.

TO BE LISTED ON BIG BOARD

New York Stock Exchange governors have approved an application for listing the stock of Association Spring Corp. on the "big board." Trading is expected to begin Oct. 14.

ANCHOR COUPLING SALES SET RECORD

Anchor Coupling Co., Inc. has announced sales of more than $21 million during the fiscal year ended June 30. It is an all-time high for the firm, which has a plant here.

The University of Detroit Repertory Theatre, became, in 1959, the first to offer year-around theatrical repertory on an American college campus.

Young and Old - They All Enjoyed the Fall Festival

SERVING LINE during Rotary Club's chicken barbecue Sunday featured speedy service as the wait seldom exceeded 20 minutes during peak times. Here, Rotarians swiftly fill plates of hungry Fall Festival visitors. More than 9,000 trekked through the serving line in six and one-half hours.

FORMER PLYMOUTHITES Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker stopped by the Grange's cookie sale booth. Grange members estimated they sold nearly 600 dozen cookies during Saturday and Sunday.

THE WALLY BYAM "Airstream" trailer club was in town for the duration of the 1963 Fall Festival, and approximately 200 trailers were parked behind Junior High East at one time. Official ceremonies, featuring Mayor Richard Wernette and Supervisor Roy Lindsay, formally welcomed the "Airstreamers" to Plymouth.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sterling,
It's good to have you back, chipping away at the rock again. For years I have read, appreciated, smugly agreed with and violently disagreed with your column; all in complete silence insofar as communicating any of my ideas to you.

In July your clipper in absentia, John Herb, made me think that just perhaps you would like to hear from one of your devotees on "Shoes and ships, and sealing wax, of cabbages and kings."

Again, "us rnie to read your words once more. Many, but not all of your replacements, sounded in their column somewhat like forming or reporting to a committee. Now, Sterling, I think of most committee performances as being like two elephants making love. Everything is carried on at a very high level with much mumbling and bumbling going on. Then when the work is completed, the long gestation period in each case obscures the fruition of the labors with forgetfulness as to what really started all of it in the first place.

The one startling exception amongst your subs was, however, John Herb. I have never met Mr. Herb but he must be quite a man.

Let's listen to John and seek out good people to laugh with (belly-laughs, not self-conscious chuckles, I think he said), to discuss the problems of this city, this state and this country with. Let's visit with the Walrus of many things; thank you John Herb.

Sterling, I would like to tell you of a few of my own experiences in our bonny Upper Peninsula. Your love for this part of our state has been evident in many of your columns as when not so long ago you described your circumnavigation of Lake Superior. My cousin, Goodwin Crumie, has told me of days long ago when you as a lusty nymrod would pursue the crafty quarry in Alcona County.

Early this morning I pointed the nose of my faithful Rocinante (this car DOES remind me of Don Quixote's steed for his high spirits, faithfulness and personality) up a precipitous sand-trail which many miles later led to the banks of my favorite trout stream. This tiny trail was created by the Conservation Dept. doing stream improvement work years ago. In the years that I have been using this pathway, I have not encountered another fisherman.

In going through the usual ritual of slipping on waders, untangling landing net, creel and lures, I am struck by one amazing fact: in trying to thread the line through the guides and tie on the leader I find that each hand has six thumbs. It is usually fifteen or twenty minutes later after slipping into the icy water and laying out the first cast before my heart stops thumping like a one cylinder diesel. Isn't it wonderful that after years of fishing this same gripping, breath-snatching excitement is still there?

I believe it is in Michigan. On a sand bar I found fresh bear tracks mixed with the multitude of deer, coon, muskrat, beaver and other tracks usually found along this stream. It is getting quite unusual to find bear tracks on the sand bars. It seems that most of the bear in our locale are finding it easier to congregate at the local dump and seek out the large bags of garbage dumpers. It did seem good to see the sign of one lusty individual bear who said to heck with the hand-outs and searched out his own food. I'm wondering if this trend amongst bears can be labeled after the trend of the human race as ADBC? That, of course, would be Aid to Dependent Bear Cubs and I am sure that they, even as their human counterparts, will be ready and willing to fight for their "right" to continue receiving this patronage. It strikes me that in many cases if both bears and humans were as aggressive in searching out a good living for their young and for themselves as they are aggressive in protecting their largesse, they would both be living better and with more self-respect and honor.

The Walrus reminded me with humour, too, that the local people are somewhat "bear-timid" this year. The dreary resulted in a poorer berry crop than usual so the bears are seen out of their habitual haunts more often. As I wander about the woods a great one citizen suggested I carry a police whistle and I took this with great gusto should I be accosted by one of our furry friends. Now, how in tarnation can you tout a whistle while running full tilt?

Another chap suggested singing loudly while following my piscatorial pastime. Now, Sterling, just suppose by accident that one hit the love call of old Ursus and a mama bear came over with starlight in her big brown eyes. Wow! Or worse still if one got a little tremulous in his singing and hit the lady bears come-hither note. Here comes old daddy bear on the run. Ouch!!

Anyway, there's so much more to fishing than catching fish. 'Tis good to sit down on a partially submerged log from time to time and just watch and listen. Fish will soon start to rise in the pool in back of you where you couldn't get a hit. Four green-wing teal settled swiftly but gently just below me for a few minutes rest. Then startled by the movement of my hand took off with tremendous speed saving me a ripple on the water. I see why they are so easy to miss. One doesn't see many teal in the hunting season so it must be that they are one of the early migrants.

Then it's time to climb back up the steep sand bank and return to gallant Rocinante. One has another mental file-drawer full of happy experiences far from any man-made sound. Now comes a part which you could share with me. Delicate pink brook trout, fresh from a spring-fed stream!! Then tuck a half slice of our mutual friend's bacon in the body cavity and cook as slowly as your gastronomic processes will allow in a heavy iron skillet. This, Sterling, is my "brook trout a la Koch". Authorative coffee (a New Orleans blend with just a trace of chicory), garlic bread and a crisp tossed salad with my own secret dressing. Don't you know that the Gods must look down and marvel, yes and envy?

With you today are my thoughts and good wishes. These are from a guy who, too, has been there and back and told the old guy with a scyth that he wasn't ready yet either. I read your last column prior to your hospitalization with great interest. I doubt very much if all who read it put the same connotation as this writer. You are a brave man, one whom I hope I shall be able to call friend. God speed in your recovery.

The Plymouth Mail
Plymouth, Mich.
Dear Editor:
Today I received a special Plymouth Mail Fall Festival and back-to-school shopping section. On looking through it, I came across a small advertisement on the inside of the very last page. The verse I am sending you immediately popped into my mind.

The verse is:
"Even small ads,
That do not shout
Are something
To write home about;
They bring results
That do not fail.
When you place them
In The Plymouth Mail."
Sincerely,
Grace Miller
(We subscribe to the philosophy of your verse, Mrs. Miller, and we appreciate your words of encouragement. For other readers, the advertisement to which Mrs. Miller referred read like this: "Even small ads that don't shout bring results in The Plymouth Mail." The ad was tiny and the type was still tinier, but we were right and proud of it. — Ed.)

The Plymouth Mail
Plymouth, Mich.
Dear Editor:
After reading a recent "Chips" column in The Plymouth Mail about changing the name of Ann Arbor Rd. to Plymouth Rd., I wish to say this about it.
How would the poor postman know which "Plymouth Road" to deliver mail to, unless you changed the name of Plymouth Rd. from Mill St. to M-14 to something else. Do you remember when the Ann Arbor Rd. in question was named "Golden Road"? Would this name change be a solution? Personally, Golden Rd. has a nice sound. After all, isn't Plymouth a "Golden Town"?

Willo Shirey
Sincerely,
("We remember the old "Golden Road," Mrs. Shirey, and the name change of Ann Arbor Rd., we think we'd be on safer ground here at The Plymouth Mail to leave the whole business to the county or state. But won't you agree that we got a lot of interesting "mileage" out of the discussion of N. Territorial and Ann Arbor Road? — Ed.)
