Plymouth's ministers, pastors and preachers have issued communitywide invitations, urging residents to attend the church of their choice during the solemn and reverent days of the 1963 Christmas season.

While all sermons will be spoken with a goal of reminding worshipers of the explicit reason for their visit, each church-goer, too, will be seeking within the solace of his thoughts personal reasons for re-dedicating himself to the purpose of Christ.

The ageless reason for worship at this time of the year - and any time, for that matter - was told many generations ago in the provocative writings of St. Luke:

"Behold, I bring you good news of a great joy which will come to all people; for unto you is born this day cludes: 8:30 a.m., the service; 9:45 in the city of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord."

Church-goers in Plymouth and churches are making extensive plans

On Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, at 7 p.m., there will be a Festal Procession and Family Eucharist with a brief Christmas Message. The blessings of the little children will also be a feature of this service. The Christmas Story will be presented to the younger children through the medium of colored slides and the singing of Christmas Carols. The Junior Choir will sing at this service.

At 11 p.m. on Christmas Eve there will be a period of Carol singing by the Senior Choir and the Congregation. Then at 11:30 p.m. the Festal Eucharist will begin with Festal Procession by the Senior Choir with Robert Towne at the organ.

Rev. David T. Davies will be assisted at this service by the Rev. Canon Henry Lewis, D.D., former Rector of St. Andrew's Church, Ann Arbor, and currently the Chaplain to the Medical Community at Ann Arbor.

On Christmas Day there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion conducted at 10 a.m.

Calvary Baptist Church

In addition to its regular Sunday services during the holiday season, the Calvary Baptist Church plans a 9:45 a.m. Bible school on Dec. 22 and a special Christmas Day service at 11 a.m. Rev. Patrick J. Clifford's message during the 11 a.m. service will deal with the subject "The Son of God Received."

The church will hold its traditional Watch Night service at 8:30 p.m. Dec. 31, New Year's Eve.

First Methodist Church

Rev. Hugh White's sermon for Dec. 22 morning services (at 9:30 and 11 a.m.) will be "The Light Still Shines, The Darkness Has Never Put It Out."

Lindsay called a 10-minute recess and the Board and Service commissioners Civil or's office. When the meeting reconven-

Under the Civil Service arrangement, there exists some confusion as to whether the Township even can claim a post of "acting fire chief." Lindsay said that Maas would receive extra compensation for his added duties as "acting head of the department" but exactly how much this additional pay will be was not announced.

It is believed it will amount to a 90-day pro-rated share of the $2,500 annual stipend that Norman was being paid. During the 90-day temporary period, it was understood that the Civil Service Commission will follow through on the matter of permanently filling the fire-fighter vacancy and then will see to the selection of a second captain for the department.

Nearly 600 Apply For Admission To Schoolcraft College

Nearly 600 young people have thus far applied for ad-mission to Schoolcraft College, according to Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president of the community college.

He reported to the college trustees earlier this month that 596 persons have applied for full-time study at the college. He said that 85 others have applied for part-time study.

The college reports that applications are arriving almost daily. Approximately 1,000 full-time students are expected to comprise the initial enrollment when Schoolcraft

College opens next Septem-ber, Bradner reported. The college's board of trustees last week approved final contracts for telephone service with the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and with De-troit Edison Co. for street lighting. The architect was authorized to secure bids on a sound system, and chemis-try, p h y s i c s, biology and New Master Of geology equipment. Family Service Agency Seeks Case Worker

Directors of Plymouth's Community Fund see "some ray of hope" that the muchdelayed Family Service Agency will be in operation here "shortly.

That was the opinion of Fund President Russell Isbister who said that interviews for a qualified caseworker are now taking place. A case-worker must be hired before the agency can officially get underway. The Ann Arbor Family Service Agency, which will eventually supervise the local agency, is conducting the interviews. Defeat never comes to any man until he admits it.
