

Construction Triples in Wake of Township Building Boom

A $3.3 million construction figure added impressive impact last week to Plymouth Township's building boom as Township Building Inspector Matthew McLellan released a comparative list of building permits issued in the first six months of this year.

Building valuation in the first half of 1964 rocketed to $3,328,404 — nearly double the figure for last year.

In the first six months of 1963, Plymouth Township issued 133 building permits for construction valued at $1,707,108.

The number of permits issued through June 30 this year more than doubled, reaching 287. Building permit revenue jumped from $4,965 in 1963 to $13,973.

And, according to McLellan, the end is nowhere in sight. Asked for an estimate for the remainder of the year, the building inspector told The Plymouth Mail:

"IT ALL depends on how many houses are built in subdivisions currently underway."

He said 54 lots remain to be filled in the Salem Square development at Haggerty and Ann Arbor Roads, 25 lots are still open in Woodlore Subdivision at Ann Arbor and Beck Roads, and a few lots remain at Riverside Subdivision, north of Ann Arbor Trail.

Tonight's (Tuesday) Township Board meeting will see preliminary plats submitted for another addition to Lake Pointe Subdivision and plans for Cambridge Village Subdivision located south of Ann Arbor Trail, adjacent to Livonia.

In addition, McLellan pointed out, lots remain at Parklane Subdivision. Glenview Subdivision, located in western Plymouth Township along North Territorial Road is "starting to move," he said.

He predicted that installation of sewer and water would lend added impetus to development at Glenview.

Residential construction figures show a startling increase in Plymouth Township, accounting for the majority of the rise.

THE NUMBER of residential permits issued in the first six months of 1964 more than tripled, jumping from 71 to 216. Valuation rose from $861,015 to $2,578,518. Residential construction figures for the first half of 1963 and 1964 follow:

In January of '63, one permit was issued for $10,000. During the same period this year, six permits valued at $118,000 were handed out.

February saw one permit issued last year for $11,000. In 1964, 64 permits were authorized for a valuation of $671,000.

In March, 1963, the Township authorized four permits valued at $65,200. 1964 brought the issuance of 46 with a valuation of $531,118. In April of last year 20 permits for $223,800 of residential building went out. This year, in April, 49 authorizations for $586,200 were granted.

May, 1963 saw 24 residential permits for $295,000 issued. 1964's May figure jumped to 30 permits and $406,200. June figures for the two years were not strikingly different. In 1963, 21 permits were issued for $256,015. The same number of permits were issued in June, 1964 for $266,000.

The Salem Square development accounts for much of this year's increase. The building boom coincides with population estimates for the township. Population has risen from 2,270 in 1940 to 8,274 in 1960.

Estimated Township population for 1964 is 10,000.

Statistics for Building Boom

Here are comparative figures for total building permits issued by the Township of Plymouth during the first six months of 1963 and 1964:

IT WAS INSPECTION night at Plymouth's new City Hall Monday evening as the city commission and city manager toured the new facilities and looked things over. Architect Byron Becker, foreground, right, pointed out some blueprint details to commissioners as they stood behind the sweeping, curved desk behind which

YEP, THEY'RE REAL. That was the conclusion of City Manager Albert F. Glassford as he peered out between the bars of one of the jail cells in the new building. Jail facilities are of all masonry construction with terrazzo floors.

Free Room Markers For Invalids Offered

A free, bright red sticker on a white background, bearing a large white letter "I" is available to invalids and bedridden patients in Plymouth Township at the Plymouth Township Fire Department.

The stickers, according to Township Fire Department Captain Barney Mass, were offered some time ago—but a supply still remains. He noted that friends or relatives of invalids could stop in or call at the fire department offices in the Plymouth Township Hall on Ann Arbor Road for the sticker.

At the time the sticker is picked up, fire department officials will request the name and address of the patient for their records.

THE BRIGHT markers are designed to be placed on a door or window of the room occupied by an invalid. Then,

Michigan Bank Seeks Township Building Site

Definite confirmation was given this week to rumors that The Michigan Bank was seeking a site in the Plymouth area.

Plymouth builder-developer Stewart C. Oldford said bank officials had made an offer to purchase property he owns at the northwest corner of Sheldon and Ann Arbor Roads for construction of $250,000 office and drive-in banking facility.

The property is part of a two section parcel that recently underwent stormy rezoning proceedings in the township. Township officials voted to rezone the south 500 feet of the property for R-2A, garden apartments, but denied Oldford's request to have the northern 272 feet of the property rezoned.

THE NORTHERN portion, Township Planning Commissioners ruled, must be reserved for single family dwellings to provide a buffer zone between the apartments and Park Lane Subdivision.

Purchase of the property by the bank would be contingent upon rezoning to commercial classification. Concerning rezoning, Oldford told The Plymouth Mail:

"There's a question in my mind if we can get it rezoned now." Oldford and bank officials will appear tonight (Tuesday) before the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees with plans for the proposed bank. Oldford said a bank vice president would represent the financial institution.

School Board O.K.'s Budget; Lapham District Wants In

Approval of the Plymouth Community School District's $2,964,175 budget for the 1964-65 school year was granted Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Board of Education. Included in the fiscal plan for the coming year are increases of $185,130 which Board President Gerald Fischer termed "built-in."

"The board had little option over these increases," he commented. They include required cost raises.

costs resulting from increased enrollment, increased transportation costs and cost of operating additional facilities.

Program improvements, salary adjustments and improved maintenance accounted for an additional $116,000 hike in the budget over last year. Fischer said these were thoroughly reviewed by the board.

The board did manage to slash $10,886 from the budget in miscellaneous increases and decreases. Fischer proposed for board action, the approval of the budget and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing moved adoption of the fiscal plan.

Board members granted unanimous approval of the motion.

THE APPARENTLY imminent addition of more area to the Plymouth Community School District came up for discussion after board member Ernest Henry reported that residents voiced unanimous approval of the proposed move at a June 26 meeting at Lapham School in Salem Township, west of Plymouth Township.

Located in Washtenaw County, the district has a population of 94 and would add about 68 students to the Plymouth district. Of these, 22 are now attending Plymouth secondary schools on a tuition basis.

Henry noted that residents of the Lapham district have Plymouth mailing addresses and attend church and shop here. All that's involved in the move, he said, was minor reshaping of the Lapham District and a vote by residents to attach themselves to the Plymouth District.

Reshaping of the Lapham area would simply mean annexing a small portion of it to the Geer School District in Washtenaw Co. leaving the remainder for Plymouth. Under state law, the Plymouth District apparently has no say in the matter. Superintendent Isbister is checking to see if the local district has any option.

Board Secretary Mrs. Ken-

Bids to Clear Way for School Building Projects

Building additions and improvements at Plymouth Community School District will begin as early as Aug. 17 in the wake of action taken Monday evening by the Board of Education at its regular meeting in the administration offices.

Bid date for the seven-room addition to Farrand School, the five-room addition to Allen School and, possibly, the proposed vocational education and shop building at Plymouth High School was set for Thursday, July 23.

Board members will make a final decision on the inclusion of the high school project at a meeting to be held next Monday.

The addition at Farrand School includes six classrooms plus kindergarten facilities. Sited for Allen School are four rooms and a library.

INCLUDED IN the high school addition will be shop areas, drafting rooms and machinery. Cost of the new unit will exceed $200,000.

Bids on the two elementary projects and, if approved, the shop addition, will be opened on Monday, Aug. 10. Construction, dependent upon availability of funds, could start as early as Aug. 17.

In other action on construction and improvement projects, the board set Monday, July 20 at 10 a.m. as the date bids will be opened on the water main for Allen School.

Bids will be opened on the Allen School parking lot and bus turnaround. The project must be completed before school starts in Sept.

HOUSING MEETING

Meeting last Tuesday evening, the City of Plymouth's Housing Commission was brought up to date on routine matters related to the city's application for Federal funds to finance construction of housing for the aged. The application, now on file with the U.S. Government has been stymied and awaits further appropriations from Congress.

Name Change

In order to eliminate the confusion arising from almost identical names for Plymouth's two human relations groups, the Plymouth Community Human Relations Assembly has changed its name to the Plymouth Assembly for Equal Opportunity.

The Assembly membership includes interested persons living within the Plymouth school district who have pledged themselves to inter-racial harmony through word and example. Assembly meetings are open to the public.

The Plymouth Community Human Relations Commission was created by the Plymouth City Commission and its appointed members represent Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township.

HONESTY:

The Clifford Smith Family Discovers It's Still Around

Those who think honesty is a lost cause and a forgotten word in our society, might do well to check with the Clifford ("Tip") Smith family of 977 Dewey St. who had their faith in human nature reaffirmed following a recent tour of Virginia.

The Smiths, celebrating their 25th anniversary, were on a sweeping tour that included Luray Caverns, Monticello, Williamsburg, Yorktown, Norfolk, Petersburg, Appomattox and the Natural Bridge.

During the Fourth of July weekend, as the family stopped for the night, they discovered that a scam on a money belt worn by Smith had broken and money which they were holding for reserve — was missing.

The loss could only have happened, they reasoned, at Yorktown, hundreds of miles back.

A PHONE call, placed the next morning from the Petersburg battlefield back to Yorktown battlefield National Park Headquarters, seemed useless, according to Mrs. Smith. "There was no 'open' report of anyone finding extra money," she explained. But, a pleasant surprise awaited the family when they returned to Plymouth several days later.

A letter from the Yorktown Park headquarters gave the name and address of a California couple who found the money which would be returned upon proper identification.

Could this be the couple, the family wondered, with whom Mrs. Smith, son Larry and daughter, Janellen, had

A Helping Hand on Clearance Shopper

With an assist from Plymouth's Y.M.C.A. and a group of local boys, under the direction of "Y" summer activities supervisor Tom Workman, The Plymouth Mail this week assured early, saturation coverage of The Plymouth Community with its annual July Clearance Shopper.

Workman, together with about 15 lads, began distributing the 12-page, tabloid size shopper from house to house early today (Tuesday). Outlying areas were covered with direct mail distribution.

Featuring advertisements from nearly 20 Plymouth area retail merchants, the shopper details bargains to be found at local stores this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 16 - 18.

A list of participating retailers may be found in a public service advertisement published by The Plymouth Mail on page four, section one of this issue.

★ In the wake of rumors that he would declare as a candidate for the Michigan House of Representatives from this district, City Commissioner A. E. Vallier told The Plymouth Mail Monday he was definitely not going to run. He said increased responsibility and a heavy work load in his position with Ford Motor Company precluded the possibility of his becoming a candidate.

★ A meeting of Plymouth's Fall Festival Board has been scheduled for Thursday at 7 p.m. in Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce offices. Representatives of clubs participating in the September Festival have been asked to meet with the board, beginning at 8 p.m.

★ Citizen of the day last Friday on Garden City radio station WERB was Plymouth Planning Commission Chairman and former City Manager Sidney Strong. Strong is immediate past president of the Plymouth Historical Society and well known for his unselfish devotion to Boy Scout activities in the Plymouth area.

★ Circulating petitions for a post as Plymouth Township delegate to the Wayne County Republican Convention is Harlan E. Hickerson of 9595 Gold Arbor Road.

A Flint quartet will be featured at services this Sunday, July 19, to be held at the Church of the Nazarene in Plymouth.

The Sons of Harmony Quartet will sing at the Sunday Services, Sunday School will start at 9:45 a.m., morning worship at 10:45 a.m. and the evening evangelistic service at 7 p.m.

The Sons of Harmony, four young men whose ages range from 18 to 21, have been singing together for five years. During that time, they have traveled through six states and have cut three long-play albums.

Their latest record was taped in the latter part of June and will be released July 20 by the Skylite Recording Company, a Blackwoods-Statesmen Enterprise. It was produced by Brock Speer of the Singing Speer Family.

The title song of this album, "Above the Clouds," as well as five of the other selections on their three records, was composed by the second tenor of the group, Ron Roesink.

The first tenor is Dave Thomas; emcee and baritone, Don Brown; and bass, Bob Hammond. Their pianist and arranger is Mrs. Leland Roesink of Flint. Roesink, who will direct congregational singing, is manager of the group.

Their program will include a variety of original hymn arrangements, negro spirituals, patriotic songs, and current Gospel songs, as well as trombone and trumpet duets and piano solos.

Open House Held Last Week at Lake Pointe Village Apartments

At an open house held last week, Plymouth Township officials and other local dignitaries were hosted by builder-developer Fred Greenspan at the opening of the first set of buildings at the newly constructed Lake Pointe Village Apartments.

The $500,000, 119-unit project is being constructed near Greenspan's 1,000-acre Lake Pointe Village Subdivision on the eastern outskirts of Plymouth. Built on a 14-acre site, the apartments are adjacent to Wilcox Lake. The buildings feature colonial architecture and are highlighted by a swimming pool, private balconies and terraces.

THE ONE and two-bedroom units are all air-conditioned and have radiant baseboard heat. All have more than 1,000 square feet of living area. Rental rates range from $135 to $165 monthly.

Three of the seven buildings are now complete. Located on Wilcox Road, south of Schoolcraft, the model apartments will be open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily.

County to Ask Voters For One-Mill Tax Hike

Plymouth area voters will be asked to grant Wayne County a one-mill increase in property taxes for 1965-1969 at the Sept. 1 election, according to A. E. Vallier, Plymouth city commissioner and member of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

One mill represents one dollar in taxes on each $1,000 assessed valuation. The proposed increase would give the county approximately nine million dollars annually to help it out of debt.

There is a drain now on the County's general fund and the increased millage would relieve this fund for other things, according to Vallier. The county has been going into debt continually, Vallier said, and many county employees are working above their classifications but not receiving the appropriate salaries.

"In my opinion, the county operation is being subsidized by employees, because rate scales are not commensurate with industry and other governments," Vallier said. He suggests either raising employee salaries or curtailing services.

Canton Township Supervisor Louis Stein brought the proposal asking for increased millage to the Board of Supervisors.

If the increased millage is approved, Wayne County Training School would receive $300,000 and Wayne County General Hospital $2.2 million. The money would also be used to cover increased county costs for the care of the acutely ill, mentally retarded and tubercular patients, felony appeals to the newly created Court of Appeals, juvenile court, maintenance and operation of the county park system and improved welfare programs.

Vallier suggested that if the people vote down the increased millage, the county will have to start slashing its services, adding that anything not required by state law to visited at the Yorktown battlefield?

The Plymouth family recalled meeting the couple at the battlefield instruction map on a beautiful Chesapeake Bay morning. The Smiths sent a letter of identification describing the amount of money and the way it was folded to the California address.

JULY 8 was a happy day at the Dewey St. home of the Smiths. A letter arrived from the New York World's Fair at Flushing Meadows. With it was a check for the full amount lost 18 days earlier.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Crawford of Pasadena, Calif., refused the reward offered, noting that honesty was its own reward.

"It seems an honor, now, to have talked with these people where the Revolutionary War that marked our country's struggle for liberty ended," Mrs. Smith concluded.

She seemed pleased that honesty, bridging the gap from coast to coast, had traveled from Virginia to California, to New York and back to Plymouth.

Assembly Forum Discusses Civil Rights in Mich.

In a forum chaired by Chamber of Commerce President Wendell Lent, representatives from the Michigan Republican and Democratic parties discussed the future of civil rights in Michigan.

The program, sponsored by the Plymouth Assembly and Equal Opportunity as part of its continuing program of community education, was presented July 7, in Junior High School East.

Gerald Faye, a political scientist who recently completed a year's internship in the state legislature under the auspices of the Ford Foundation and is currently running for the U.S. House of Representatives, spoke on behalf of the Democratic party. Dan Neusom, deputy campaign director for the Wayne County Republican Committee, represented the GOP.

During the presentation, the question of implementation of the civil rights legislation, both state and federal, focused attention on the leaders of both parties. Asked to comment on Senator Goldwater's stand on civil rights, Neusom stated that Goldwater is really a Southern Democrat, with whom he voted on cloture and the Civil Rights Bill, and as such has made himself a symbol of segregation.

In answer to a question from the audience, Faye responded that Goldwater's success represents the apathy of the Republicans, their unwillingness to take a stand. He added that apathy is nothing new politically, that it is "what permitted the existence of kings in the first place." Neusom's response to the same question was that Goldwater represents a coalition of fears and hatreds, and he went on to say that the rest of the world is "scared to death" that a man like this will "control the atomic destruction of the world."

Faye's evaluation of the federal Civil Rights Bill was that while it is weak, limited in scope and a compromise for the Conservatives, it still has "enormous symbolic significance."

Board O.K.'s

ALSO DISCUSSED was the possibility that three other Washtenaw County districts may be contemplating similar moves.

Terming the Lapham School "substandard," Henry noted that he felt students were entitled to an adequate education.

Fischer pointed out that Lapham residents would assume a share of the Plymouth district's bonded indebtedness. State equalized valuation in the Lapham area is set at $978,825. Fischer said the addition of the area to Plymouth would eliminate tuition revenue from the 22 students now enrolled here, but would also increase the tax base.

"In the end," he said, "it will probably hurt us on a net basis."

He said a statement from the State Department of Public Instruction about the Plymouth District's rights seemed warranted.

DENIAL OF the mediation request from the Union of Operating Engineers, representing Plymouth School maintenance employees, has been issued by the State Mediation Board, according to Employee Relations Committee Chairman Robert Uter.

Uter mentioned the dismissal of the union's request after noting that the group had voiced active opposition to the pay schedule adopted recently.

The board voted to lease 10 acres of school district land near the old Hough School on Warren Road, near Haggerty to an E. Bailey for sod growing.

Facilities Committee Chairman Robert Smith was authorized to tell Bailey the land would be rented to him for a two-year period beginning Aug. 1 for $250 per annum. Board member J. D. McLaren voted against the measure.

Accepted with regret was the resignation of Smith School sixth grade teacher John Donegan. Donegan told the board he hated to leave teaching, but found it financially necessary.

Donegan leaves to become a sales representative for Jam Handy Corp. in Detroit. He will handle instructional materials.

The Grim Pilgrim

By DAVE WILEY

Meals can be lots of fun, but I'm a bit ready to give them up. The only other alternative lies in training good old Mom to automatically plan chow for at least an hour later than my announced arrival.

It never fails. About five minutes to lunch time, I grab the phone, dial home and holler sweetly:

"Hey baby, heat up the porridge. Be there in a few minutes."
"Yeah, uh huh," she says acidly. "Sure. By the way, pick up a loaf of bread on your way. Instant later, I am striding briskly down the aisle of the store, the staff of life tucked under my arm. I am even singing under my breath:

"A loaf of bread, a jug of... uh oh." At this point, someone pushing a grocery cart bearing what looks like the week's ration for Plymouth State Home invariably cruises into the checkout ahead of me.

Seventy-five items, and a sub-total later, I am about to plunk down my 29 cents plus one for the nice people at Lansing; and this gal who has just purchased half of the store's inventory comments that she has been unable to locate Ivanov's Imported Siberian Smelt Tails and would the cashier please help her?

"Well," says the check-out girl after five minutes have passed, "I'll have to call the stock boy," and the stock boy says, gee, he'll have to look in back, and he returns with the manager who proclaims that they are on order and will be in tomorrow.

"Fine," says the lady. "Can you cash a personal check for $332?" Following a fruitless search for her driver's license, she retrieves it from the car outside and, suddenly, my moment of truth has arrived.

The bread paid for (after the cash register operator trips back to the manager's office for a roll of pennies) I limp in the back door to find the children climbing down from their crumb-littered plates with the observation, "You're late again, Daddy."
"Who has borrowed a loaf from a friend over on the next street, sits in triumphant, tight-lipped silence.
"Look," I promise, "I'll be home in time for supper, O.K.?" Supper is better. After I take notes for a last minute story I am only 15 minutes late.

"Hey," I suggest with my most charming smile, "I'll get up in time for breakfast."
Fourth of July parades are fun. The JayCees knocked themselves out, the weather was great, the turnout was the most and everybody seemed to have a good time.

But the politicians — or statesmen, if you will — ground the heck out of me.

Independence Day is an occasion when we should pause for a moment at least, those words of genius, power and spirit created by a small band of men whose courage has become legendary.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident. That all men are created equal; that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

But on Saturday, we hear nothing about this. We got O'Neil for Senate buttons and Meader for Congress buttons and Thayer for Congress buttons and, undoubtedly, though I didn't see any, Romney for Governor buttons.

Plymouthites, I think, are the kind of people who resent a 19th-century slam, bang, circus approach to government.

For men who claim a certain amount of sensitivity for the Plymouth Community, the politics in general didn't show a heck of a lot on one of this nation's most sacred days.

Fortunately, and they deserve resounding huzzahs for this, the JayCees were able to stymie any outrageous blatancy on the part of office seekers.

A tip of the hat to the Junior Chamber. They did a bang-up job on Plymouth's biggest Fourth.

There are times when you'd almost prefer to sever your affiliation with the human race. Take an occurrence that happened locally.

A couple of children, as kids will do, engaged in one of those brief, heated spats that grow out of everything in general and pertain to nothing in particular.

The parent of one mopey stomped over to the home of the other and, in loud and beery tones, challenged the second parent to "step out in the street and settle this."

Egad!
Makes one put more stock in charges of adult delinquency than in accusations of the juvenile variety. On the other hand, some people are just perpetual juveniles.

Senate Leader Lists State's Record for Plymouth Kiwanis

Letter to the Editor

WHERE WERE BANDS?
Plymouth Mail Editor:
What a nice parade Plymouth had on the 4th of July — where were the bands? I wanted, our Plymouth Community Band was there — bands from out of town — from Coldwater, Michigan at Amherstburg, Ontario — what about the three Plymouth high school bands? Surely Plymouth should be all their bands participating in 4th of July parades. "The more bands, the better!"
Very truly yours,
Mrs. Ray Birtles

Michigan's state motto: "If you seek a beautiful peninsula, look about you," could easily describe the state's pride in accomplishments. too, State Senate Majority Leader Stanley Thayer, of Ann Arbor, told Plymouth Kiwanians at their meeting, July 7.
Thayer said Michigan's legislative program during the past year and a half has included turning the state's $85 million deficit into a $40 million surplus, increasing aid to education by $21 million, passing an Aid to Dependent Children bill and minimum wage law and creating an appellate court of nine judges. He pointed out this has been accomplished with a balanced budget.
He said he felt bi-partisan cooperation to implement the new State Constitution has been excellent. The quality of Michigan as a state depends on economic level and each community desires to develop a better tax base, creating better business opportunities and a place to live, he said.

Boom Should Create Awareness

In the wake of comparative building statistics released last week by Plymouth Township Building Inspector Matthew McLellan, there is only one word to describe this year in township history.

That word is boom.
The number of building permits in the township has more than doubled, in comparison with those issued in the first six months of 1963; and valuation of permits issued has skyrocketed from $1,707,108 to $3,328,404. Indications are that the second half of 1964 will also be a record breaker.

Together with this geometric expansion rate, Plymouth Township is naturally experiencing growing pains. Board of trustees meetings and planning commission sessions are more than well attended. In the case of the latter group, public hearings are becoming standing room only situations. Voices have been raised in the audience, tempers have flared and now, one developer has inaugurated legal proceedings against the Township.

All of these, and hundreds of other incidents yet to come, are part of the inevitable growth pangs that plague any area when things begin mushrooming. In months and years ahead, Plymouth Township officials can look forward to increasing problems, deriving from increasing expansion.

As the veins and arteries of sewer and water begin their reach to the western portion of Plymouth Township, the number of requests for rezoning will rise. Included will be developers seeking permission to build homes, apartments, shopping facilities, industrial plants and office buildings. All of these are potentially explosive and highly emotion-ridden questions.

We trust reason will rule then as now.

This newspaper takes pride in the progress manifesting itself in Plymouth Township. We hope the future will bring continued thoughtful, and well-planned expansion. And we trust that expansion will be earmarked by increasing awareness of the vital relationship of Plymouth Township to the Plymouth Community as a whole.

Proper Perspective Takes Priority

Last week a Plymouth woman called The Plymouth Mail to ask if we'd be interested in a human interest story. In the course of the conversation, she noted that she enjoys seeing the "good" things emphasized over the "bad."

The nature of weekly journalism being what it is and the mission of the community newspaper as we see it, dictates agreement with this viewpoint.

Far too often, the daily press devotes itself to sizzling headlines about crime, corruption and perversion. This morbid preoccupation of metropolitan newspapers with detailed accounts of sordidness add little or nothing to stories of violence or tragedy.

Their obsession with prying into the private lives of families, and with tragedy irritates us. More than that, it makes us see "red." The purpose served by this flaunting of ghoulish detail and parading of prurience is to tease and tantalize a small minority of eager, drooling readers.

We will have none of it.

Of course, The Plymouth Mail is obligated to report tragic events and crime if and when they occur within the confines of the Plymouth Community. The days of hear-no-evil, see-no-evil, speak-no-evil weekly newspapering are gone forever.

But, such stories will be reported with taste and placed in their proper perspective. The Plymouth Mail refuses to sensationalize, to warp events out of position.

This newspaper will continue to be interested in the things that reflect, with taste and placed in their proper perspective, the Plymouth Community. The days of hear-no-evil, see-no-evil, speak-no-evil weekly newspapering are gone forever. We will take priority over the darker side of human nature.

Mrs. Rutenbar and her husband plan to spend the winners in their home in Venice, Fla. Although she has no definite plans for the future, she says she wants to do the many things she was unable to do while working.

A retirement tea was given in her honor by the Employees Association on June 18. The group presented her with a champagne mantel clock.

At her retirement dinner at Thunderbird Inn, on June 30, she received a string of cultured pearls. Guests included her son and his wife.

Urge Plymouth Area Exhibitors To Enter Early for State Fair

Plymouth area exhibitors should submit entries early as possible this year for the Michigan State Fair which will run from Friday, August 23, through Labor Day, September 7.

That's the advice of Charles Figy of Morenci, chairman of the Michigan State Fair Authority, who said all indications point to a record number of livestock, agricultural and home arts entries.

Here are the entry deadlines: July 31, Home Arts; August 7, Livestock, horses and agriculture; and August 14, Junior Show.

The premium book — the handbook of information for all exhibitors — has been split into three sections this year: livestock and agriculture, horse shows, and home arts. Prospective exhibitors should indicate which section is desired when requesting a premium book from the Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3, Michigan.

HOME ARTS exhibits will be in the new building this year which should be completed except for the auditorium area. Livestock judging and horse shows again will occupy the Coliseum day and night for the entire State Fair.

And again this year barn and stall facilities will not be able to handle all entries for the entire ten days. A split schedule of cattle and horse exhibits will be in effect. Beef cattle will be in for the entire ten days.

The horse exhibit is split into four sections: Friday, August 28, through Wednesday, September 2; Quarter horses, Palomino, Parade and Michigan Girls' Barrel Racing horses, Noon Monday, August 31, through Wednesday, September 2; Arabian and Morgan.

Thursday, September 3, through Friday, September 4; Clydesdale, Belgian, Friesian, Appaloosa and Pony of the Americas, Saturday, September 5, through Monday, September 7; Welsh, Hackney, Americana, Shetland, and Harness Ponies as well as Saddlebred and Tennessee Walking Horses.

Marilyn J. Holst Weds Gary J. Hondorp in June 13 Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Gary James Hondorp are living in Livonia following their marriage on June 13, in Plymouth's First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Hondorp is the former Marilyn Joan Holst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Holst, of Coldwater and formerly of Plymouth. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hondorp, of Park Pl.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza over taffeta. The fitted bodice of Chantilly lace was styled with a sabrina neckline with sequin trim and long-tapered sleeves. A pleated cummerbund was featured at the fitted waistline. The front of the bouffant skirt was fashioned with scissor pleats on each side over an insert of tiers of chantilly lace. Unpressed pleats furnished back fullness of the skirt which terminated in a chapel train. A self bow and streamers furnished the back detail.

Her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a scalloped pearl and crystal crown trimmed with crystal teardrops. She carried a cascade of stephanotis and white orchids.

Mrs. Michael Stanfill, of Coldwater, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a floor length gown of cotton blue brocade taffeta. The fitted bodice was styled with a scoop neckline and three-quarter sleeves. The gown featured a controlled skirt with wateau back attached at the shoulder furnishing the back detail. She wore a matching headpiece.

Bridesmaids were Patricia Brunner and Kathleen Morrison, of Kalamazoo, Donna Felthouse, of Detroit, Carol Fromm, of Saginaw, and Karen West, of Plymouth. They wore dresses identical to the matron of honor's in a lighter shade of blue. The matron of honor carried yellow daisies and the bridesmaids carried white daisies.

Seven Tips on Complexion Care

Your complexion tells more about your health, your mood, and your feelings than you may realize.

Dr. Irwin I. Lubowe, a specialist noted for his research work in care of skin and hair, calls your skin "the fabulous house you live in," and says that few of us realize how well our skin performs many vital functions.

Here are seven tips on complexion care, compiled by researchers at Schieffelin & Co. in New York City:

Make sure your skin has enough moisture. Overheated rooms, too much bathing with a harsh alkali soap, other causes, make skin dry out and appear to age. Hypo-allergenic body lotions relieve all-over body dryness caused by weather, water, heating systems—and is recommended by physicians for head-to-toe application after bathing, before rearing. If your skin is still dry after using a body lotion regularly, there's a remote chance that our condition is caused by a hormone deficiency—see your doctor.

Don't overdo the sun-goddess bit. Some doctors feel that exposure to sunlight is the major factor responsible for the aging appearance of the skin. Tests made on tissue which was seldom exposed (on the buttocks) compared with that from the face and arms were made by Dr. John M. Knox of Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston, Texas. Dr. Knox said that while further studies would be helpful, he felt that the visible changes in skin we interpret as aging are due largely to sun exposure.

Avoid cosmetics you may be allergic to. A surprising number of women have skin which is sensitive to materials or ingredients found in ordinarily harmless cosmetics. Dr. Martin Barr, head of the Department of Pharmacology at Wayne State University, said that a study of 416 cases of cosmetic allergies revealed that 48 per cent of the patients were allergic to lipstick, 15 per cent to nail lacquer, and 19 per cent to creams and lotions.

Eat a balanced diet. The old belief that fat people have better complexions than thin ones is not justified by a doctor's experience. Dr. Lubowe recommends that if you're overweight, you should shed the excess pounds slowly, eat small portions of a balanced variety of foods. Both skin and hair require adequate nutrition. It may help prevent "break-outs."

Don't let your emotions take command. Itching, "break-outs" and other troubles, are sometimes thought to be caused by the emotions. While it's difficult to get at the root of things, a persistent bout of skin troubles may yield to a talk with, as well as a physical check-up, by your family doctor. Some doctors have found that once the trouble is out in the open, the pressure is off, and the skin begins to show improvement.

Take care of our hair. The scalp is part of the skin—although it's more easily neglected. Dermatologists point out many skin disorders start with the scalp. Facials and massages seem to do more good if you also give yourself a shampoo and massage your scalp. Watch out for cases of dandruff which may cause skin irritation. If you dye your own hair, always give yourself a patch test first.

Get some fresh air exercises every day. A healthy all-over glow results from good health, good circulation, and daily exercise helps. In a day your skin dissipates enough heat to boil 25 quarts of water—thus protecting you from overheating. It also protects you from chill and from herpes of bacteria. Your skin is your largest organ—it's important. Take care of it.

In Michigan... after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another beverage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Michigan... beer goes with fun, with relaxation

DISHING UP her favorite, "Lobster Delight" is Mrs. Howard Oldford, of 8871 Morrison St. She says this is a nice dish to serve guests because it can be prepared in advance and then warmed before it is served.

An easy-to-make, main dish which is perfect for serving guests, "Lobster Delight," was suggested by Mrs. Howard Oldford, of 8871 Morrison St.

Mrs. Oldford is trying to develop her own style of painting she says, in addition to organizing her home and swimming and reading. This past year she taught fifth grade in Northville and plans to substitute in the Plymouth school system this fall.

A native of New York City, Mrs. Oldford met her husband, a Plymouth native, while they were students at Michigan State University. She says she enjoys the wide open spaces of Plymouth in contrast to the hurried life of New York.

Mrs. Oldford experiments with ingredients in recipes and tries all kinds from Japanese to Italian to American.

She suggests preparing "Lobster Delight" several hours before guests arrive and then popping it in the oven to warm it and melt the cheese.

LOBSTER DELIGHT

1 1/2 C. shredded cheddar cheese
1/4 C. butter
1/4 C. flour
2 C. tomato juice
1/2 tsp. celery salt
1 tsp. paprika
1/4 tsp. thyme
1/4 C. chopped onion
1/4 C. chopped green pepper
1 C. lobster meat (canned or 3-4 sliced)
1/2 C. sliced mushrooms (fresh or canned)
4 hard-boiled eggs, sliced

Melt butter in saucepan, blend in flour. Gradually add tomato juice; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Remove from heat; add 1 C. cheddar cheese (save 1/2 C. for top of biscuits). Stir until melted. Add celery salt, paprika, thyme, onion, green pepper, lobster, mushrooms and eggs; blend thoroughly.

Beat the Heat

Air Conditioned Living Can Change Your Way of Life

It was Charles Dudley Warner, not Mark Twain, who said, "Everybody talks about the weather but no one does anything about it." And it was a young engineer named Willis Carrier who, in 1902, decided to do something about the weather and invented what we now know as mechanical air conditioning.

Nowhere are people doing more about the weather today than in the American home, where more than 2 million families already enjoy the many benefits of modern central air conditioning and another 400,000 families are expected to step into the world of air-conditioned living this summer.

Their reasons for buying home air conditioning will be quite varied but will doubtless include these oft-repeated ones:

- More sleep
- More restful sleep
- Better appetites
- Less housework
- Relief from allergy problems
- Reduced housework and redecorating
- More family "togetherness"
- Less noise from outdoors
- Less money spent on outside entertainment in the summer

For all these reasons (and more), you may be among the large number of families who already enjoy home air conditioning or are seriously considering adding it.

In either case, there are a number of tested and relatively simple things you can do to assure your maximum comfort and the optimum efficiency of your unit during the sweltering months ahead.

First, the more you operate your air conditioning as you use your heating system, the more efficient it will be. Ideally, it should be operated full-time. Since the time lag in a system's response to a thermostat change is at least an hour, jiggling it will simply cost you more money. Recognize that it will cost you money in the long run by turning on the system only when the day has reached its hottest.

By late afternoon, your house has soaked up heat like a sponge. If you waited until then to turn on the system, the accumulated load would be more than your system could efficiently cope with, and it would labor for hours to catch up. If your system were big enough to be operated in this way, it would be too big to be efficient. It would catch up quickly, then cycle off and on, producing

Cubs and Pirates Take Pennants, Meet in Series

It was nip and tuck right down to the wire, but the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League Cubs edged the Pirates 5-2 last week to win themselves the National League Flag.

Fighting all the way, the second-place Dodgers surprised the Cubs earlier in the week 9-1, ending the season only one game off the pace.

Tied for third were the Red Legs and Pirates.

Cellar dwelling honors were shared by the Braves and Giants.

AMERICAN League honors went to the Indians who, after a slow start, nosed out the Yankees on the strength of an eight-game winning streak. After clinching the pennant Tuesday, the Indians were finally stopped by the Orioles 4-1.

Eddie Reeds hurled a no-hitter as the Yanks wrapped up second place by hammering the White Sox 9-1. The Red Sox took third, the Orioles fourth, the White Sox fifth and the Tigers finished at the bottom.

A best-of-three World Series will be held Monday, Wednesday, and, if necessary, Friday. Games start at 6 p.m. at the junior league diamond on Plymouth Road across from Burroughs Corp. Minor league activity will continue through July 24.

Declaring this the most successful year in league history, Junior League President Joseph Bida said the only disaster of the season occurred during a recent storm which permanently disabled the league's out-house. He said:

"WE WANT to express our appreciation for the support of the business community and general public. We are also grateful for the time and effort donated by managers, coaches, umpires and league officials."

Bida said plans are already underway to improve the program for next year.

With the end of the season approaching, Esther and Russell Powell announced they will again host a picnic for both major and minor leaguers. The time and place will be announced later. More than 400 hungry, thirsty boys are expected for the event. Final league standings are:

Cadillac

YOU MAY BE LOSING MONEY BY PAYING LESS

There are many cars that cost almost as much as a Cadillac. But it is a matter of fact that the decision to buy one of them could be a false economy.

Consider the major items included in the basic price of a Cadillac that are usually extra on other cars: automatic transmission, high-performance engine, power steering, power brakes, automatic cornering lights, and power windows on most models.

Then think of what a new Cadillac can save you on operation and maintenance. Cadillac is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in gasoline efficiency —and it is so soundly built that it has reduced upkeep expense to the practical minimum.

You're ahead again—every mile you drive.

Finally, reflect on Cadillac's historically high trade-in value. No car at or near its price preserves so much of its owner's original investment through the years.

So add it all up. You'll see what most owners mean when they say you don't spend more for a Cadillac. You just invest a little more—and get a lot more back.

If a Cadillac has long been in your plans, visit your dealer and get all the dollars-and-cents facts.

Tait's Still Leads In Softball Play

Maintaining their tight grip on first place in the Plymouth Softball League, Tait's Cleaners last week breezed to an 11-4 decision over DeHoCo in a Thursday game played at the House of Correction.

Another key game in the league saw Carlings rumble to an impressive 30-4 victory over Evans Products in a game called after five innings Thursday evening.

Carlings exploded in the second inning, blasting out seven well-hit home runs. Leading the hitting attack in the game was Carlings player Eric Goodwell who hammered out four round trippers in four times at bat.

WINNING hurler for Carlings was Mel Balkey. Evans started with one pitcher, relieved him, and then brought him back later in the game.

In other softball league action during the week, Paragon Steel took a 9-0 shellacking at the hands of Plymouth Plating on Monday and McAllisters edged St. Peter's Lutheran 5-4 in a Monday game that went eight innings.

List Plymouth's Industrial Sites

Plymouth has received a listing in the Michigan Directory of Industrial Location Operations, summer 1964, published by Michigan Department of Economic Expansion.

The directory, replaces the Department's Available Plan Summary which listed only buildings. It includes buildings suitable for manufacturing, warehousing or distribution. Industrial Development Corporations, and multiple occupancy sites under management.

Plymouth's listing includes: "Plymouth Community Industrial Development Corp., 155 S. Main St. . . . 30 acres of Urban Renewal land with all utilities installed . . . and eight acres of land available in Plymouth Industrial District, a community development with all utilities installed."

The directory has been distributed to 8,000 officials of manufacturing concerns, industrial realtors and organizations active in plant locations, according to Bernard M. Conboy, department director.

Ten Tanning Tips to Try

- "Was my face red!" You won't have to say it this summer if you learn how to shun sunburn while courting a glowing, even tan. Here's what the experts recommend.
- Start off slowly. If your skin is untanned, doctors recommend a 20-minute maximum for your first sun session of the season.
- Be extra-careful at the beach. Sand and water reflect sunlight; you can burn even under the shade of an umbrella!
- Pick the right time of day. Go easy on sunbathing between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., when sunburn danger is greatest. Before 8 a.m. or after 4 p.m., there's little danger.
- Use the suntan lotion that's best for you. Skin dry? Try a suntan cream or cream lotion.
- Watch your eyes. Always wear sunglasses at the beach; even when sunbathing, it's wise to protect your eyes with a hat brim or towel. Ultraviolet rays can penetrate your eyelids and impair vision.
- Know when to reapply lotion. A good rule of thumb is to reapply every two hours.
- Double your dose of suntan lotion—or use a sun-blocking preparation — for thin-skinned areas like the nose, lips, ears, shoulders and knees. To speak baldly, this also applies to bare spots on the scalp!
- Be suited to a tan. This one's for the gals: To prevent those odd suntans caused by the cut of some high-fashion bathing suits, alternate with a suit that exposes any areas covered up by the other.
- Watch out for the weather. Many people get careless about the sun on an overcast day—but these "burning" ultraviolet rays can penetrate mist and clouds!
- Use your head by wearing a hat when you're in the sun for any length of time. It protects hair from becoming dry and brittle; in the noonday sun, it may even save you from sunstroke!
