Candidate Blasts Hart During Visit

Visiting in Plymouth last week, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, Mrs. Elizabeth Peterson, said she is disappointed in the results of the election for the U.S. Senate. She said she is disappointed in the results of the election for the U.S. Senate. She said she is disappointed in the results of the election for the U.S. Senate.

Three weeks ago Senator John J. Williams (R., Del.) produced a photostat copy of a cancelled check written by Matthew McCloskey, former Treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, in payment for a performance bond on a multi-million dollar governmental contract.

TO DATE, Senator Williams has announced his resignation from the Senate. He has said that he is disappointed in the results of the election for the U.S. Senate.

Repeatedly criticizing the Democrats for what she termed "keeping the facts under the rug," Mrs. Peterson challenged Hart to offer an explanation.

CAMPAIGN director Charles Bruce of the Plymouth Community Fund, left, discusses details of the upcoming drive with Mrs. Louis J. Norman who will head up the residential portion of the campaign. Mrs. Norman took over from Mrs. Robert Fisher who was forced to relinquish her duties after an illness in the family. The drive will get off the ground Monday with torch lighting ceremonies in Kellogg Park and a kick-off luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel. Bruce, president of Plymouth's Alexander Hamilton Insurance Company, will supervise and coordinate the effort.

Torch Lighting at Kellogg Park to Launch Community Fund Drive

Torch lighting ceremonies and a kick-off luncheon next Monday will highlight the official opening of the annual Plymouth Community Fund Drive, the one concerted effort during the year to raise funds for worthwhile agencies.

The goal of $70,500 for this year's drive was carefully arrived at by the Plymouth Community Fund board in mid-June.

Campaign director Charles Bruce, president of Plymouth's Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company, together with his staff, has planned nearly three weeks of intensive activity, climaxed by a three-day "blitz" on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 20, 21 and 22.

A theme of receiving, rather than giving, will be emphasized this year as PCE workers contact businesses, industries and residences.

Volunteers will provide the answers to such questions as: "Do you know how many were helped by the Plymouth Community Fund last year?" and "Do you know what we get from our donation?"

Bruce emphasized that the Community Fund drive is a separate campaign, that it would exist without it.

"WE ESTIMATE," he said, "that there would be 12 or 13 separate drives in a year if it weren't for the Community Fund." Bruce said the suggested contribution for individuals would be $1 or $2 for each organization, or about $25. He said he will be asked to contribute from $3 to $5, a total of $25 to $50.

Following the 11:50 a.m. torch lighting at Kellogg Park, a luncheon will be held at the Mayflower Hotel at 12:10 Monday for all PCE board members, day or night, on a menu and about 25 percent of the cost.

After the luncheon, the PCE members will meet with the board of the school. On Tuesday, Oct. 20 at 8 a.m. business and professional division, captains and workers will meet with their chairmen James Houk, Plymouth shoe store owner, and Leo Calhoun, automobile dealer. The breakfast meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce offices in Plymouth.

At 12:30, a luncheon will be held at the Chamber of Commerce offices in Plymouth.

Between 100 and 150 persons are expected. A 15-minute film will be shown beginning at 12:30. Both the business and day and night will meet at the Chamber of Commerce offices in Plymouth.

When you make your contribution to this year's Plymouth Community Fund drive, you will get a lot of good things.

The Salvation Army will receive $9,000; boy scouts will get $6,000 for 21 scouting units in the Plymouth area; girl scouts will receive $5,000 for 35 units in the community.

The annual visit of the bloodmobile and first aid classes, provided by the American Red Cross each year, will be financed in part — by $4,500 from PCE.

Much of the $402,000 made for the Michigan Cancer Society will be set aside for the search for a cure to this dread disease.

The Visiting Nurse Association will be given $10,000.

Few Will Find Employment Without Education - Dotseth

"Education will not solve unemployment, but few individuals will find employment without education," said a speaker at the Chamber of Commerce Business Forum luncheon, Oct. 1.

In speaking about Schoolcraft College, Dotseth said its purpose was to make education beyond high school level available to all students interested in it and capable of benefiting from the experiences.

Dotseth said that while automation is changing types of employment at an alarming rate, the non-repetitive operations in development of products are not automated and numerous men are needed as long as there are changes in products.

"It takes so long to educate and train a top notch tool and die maker as it does a doctor. His machines, his metallurgy, his product changes constantly," he said.

In order to meet the need of individuals in the college district its five goals include, according to Dotseth, providing terminal programs for students not going on to four-year college programs, providing transfer programs for those who want to complete a four-year program and providing a technical institute for the community to serve local needs for vocational and semi-professional education.

OPPORTUNITIES for interested persons to advance their vocational and cultural needs through evening classes and cooperation with other departments of the school, civic groups, educational institutions and agencies, outside the community, educational foundations and private individuals and corporations in assisting and resulting in educational advancement to the district are other goals of the school.

He illustrated the extent to which the college tries to meet its "all-time" needs by relating the college's program plan for the addition of a program regarding home care and farm management at the school.

An area businessman approached him with the idea for this training because there are more horses raised in Michigan today than in Kentucky and suggested that the school offer a program to instruct persons in their care, Dotseth explained.

"The plan is to have a school of home care and farm management at the school," he said.

With the cooperation of the area business and educational institutions, the school will offer a program in home care and farm management at the school.

Lengthy City Commission Meeting Bears Little Fruit

It was a long, tedious session of the City Commission Monday night, but little was accomplished. The meeting was held in the City Hall.

Following an extended session on the subject of the city's property, the commission adjourned at 11:30 p.m.

In a Nutshell . . .

In the 1963-64 annual report of the Plymouth Community School District, published last week in The Plymouth Mail, there were three errors. In the superintendent's message, the general fund balance should have been $270,023.89 as of June 30. Recreation and adult education revenues, listed under Revenues, Expenditures and Fund Equity, should have read $42,791.78. And Fund Equity, as of June 30, under the Nichols Trust Fund headings, should have been $7,068.30.

A Plymouth High School student, William J. McLaughlin, 16, of 40555 Palmer Road, was arrested last night for driving after someone threw a firecracker into the crowd at a Plymouth-Bentley football game. School officials said the boy was arrested after somebody apparently threw the firecracker into the crowd. They gave no details to officials to recommend a means of deterring such a repeat offense.

Plymouth JayCees began their annual door-to-door Halloween Candy Sale Monday. A state-approved project, the candy sale provides the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce with funds for local youth programs. Offered are 100-count bags of candy, bearing the JayCee emblem, for $1.

Called out a work-a-day Monday, Sept. 28, at Superior Twp. at a barn fire at 3:40 a.m., Plymouth Township firefighters pumped water for three hours at the site of a fire that gutted a two-bay barn. Three departments fought the blaze. Plymouth Twp. turned out seven men and a pumper truck.

Building continued at a boom pace in Plymouth Township last month as building inspector Matthew McLellan logged 35 building permits for construction valued at $244,215. Nineteen of the permits for homes worth $223,000, were issued for the Township's Salem Square Subdivision at Ann Arbor and Haggerty Roads.

Warning

A warning was issued this week by Superintendent of Public Works Joseph Bida against placing raked leaves in the gutters of streets. Bida pointed out that Fall rains wash the leaves into catch basins, plugging them up.

Bida said leaf crews will start in the next week or so, picking up leaves throughout the city — a service that costs about $3,000 or $4,000 annually. He said no set schedule for pickup will be established.

Before burning any leaves, Bida cautioned, residents are urged to contact the Fire Department.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP firemen launched an ambitious campaign Monday to familiarize local residents with the services they have to offer during National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-10. Township firefighters are going door-to-door to deliver stickers bearing the department phone number and to offer advice or a free fire inspection. Above, Fire Chief Barney Maas, top left, and firemen Gene Leader, top right, Ernest Honke, bottom left, and Bill Weizel, bottom right, prepare to meet the community with their equipment. Plymouth City firemen have scheduled a program of touring schools to explain safety points to youngsters. presentations to Loucks which included a watch. Loucks began his career with the Kresge Company Oct. 2, 1939 in Jackson. He has been at the Plymouth store for two months. A recognition breakfast at the store Oct. 2 honored him and employees with five and ten year service records.

Local Firm Combines With Detroit Company

A firm which began in Plymouth six years ago and has seen its operations skyrocket, tripling in size in the past three years, will become a part of Federal-Mogul-Bower Bearing, Inc., Detroit based parts manufacturer.

The announcement was made jointly last week by John Haller, president and founder of Haller Incorporated, and James O. Wright, president of Federal-Mogul-Bower.

The Northville Road firm will become the Haller Division of Federal-Mogul-Bower. Haller foresees future expansion and increased employment at the plant as a result of the merger. In making the announcement to the company's 100 shop, office and technical personnel, he said: "As a result of an agreement signed today, our company will soon become a part of a large and highly respected Detroit company, Federal-Mogul-Bower Bearings, Inc. Mike Sarnes will be in complete charge of this division with the title of General Manager. No other changes affecting our people are being considered. Your wages, working conditions and employment benefits will certainly not be anything less than they are at this time, and more likely will improve. THERE WILL be other important changes, however, which I'm sure you will approve wholeheartedly. The management of Federal-Mogul-Bower has a very high regard for our know-how in the powder metal parts field, and they intend to do everything possible to help us take full advantage of the skills we have developed. Within a very short time, you will see the arrival of new machinery, equipment and technical facilities that we have needed for a long time. This was the principal reason why the decision was made to join this company with Federal-Mogul-Bower. As a result of the work done by everyone in the Haller organization, the demand for our products has grown far beyond our capacity to produce.

"Other companies are entering this field rapidly, some of them well enough financed to endanger our competitive position."

Haller said Federal-Mogul-Bower has both resources and willingness to build the business. It is one of the country's 300 largest manufacturing concerns.

F-M-B has six manufacturing divisions with 18 plants in the United States, plus an International Group with manufacturing facilities in seven foreign countries and a replacement parts sales division with 121 branches in the U. S. and Canada.

He said Federal-Mogul-Bower management has always shown itself to be most considerate of the people involved in a merger.

"Their progress has come from a policy of maximum assistance and minimum interference with a successful operation like our own," he noted.

JOHN HALLER will assume an active role with Federal-Mogul-Bower, functioning as Technical Director of the Haller Division and providing technical assistance for other divisions of the corporation.

James O. Wright, president of Federal-Mogul-Bower, described the move as "an important diversification of the Federal-Mogul-Bower product line. The Haller personnel are widely known for their technical ingenuity in producing intricate mechanical parts from ferrous metal powders. The Haller division began operation at its Northville Road plant site in 1958 with about 20 employees. The business, founded in Plymouth, was organized in 1954. Mass production began in 1958.

During the campaign, workers will carry the brightly colored red and blue PCF brochures which spell out the program in detail. The theme centers around a little man, dressed in colonial garb, and Plymouth Community residents will be asked to "Give the little man a lift and help him up the steep hill."

During the past year the Plymouth Community Fund provided support to 136 home care and needy, 650 low-income Huron Valley Girl Scouts, 1,583 servicemen and women, 26 cancer victims, 470 persons rehabilitated to health and eight groups of Veterans Memorial users.

Others receiving support through the generosity of last year's supporters include 51 Plymouth Symphony Concert guests, 125 youth club members, 100 senior citizens and over 400 counseled families.

AT MICHIGAN State College, according to a portrait of him published in "Current Biography," he felt hostile toward college aims that he considered conformist, utilitarian, and barely tolerant of humane learning.

"Unlike most students in the great city universities or eastern colleges during the thirties, then," he has written, "I found myself (though a Tory, or at least an Old Whig, by instinct) almost an advanced thinker in the midst of folk convinced that whatever is, is right."

He has taught at Michigan State University and at the New School for Social Research, and since 1956 he has been research professor of politics at C. W. Post College of Long Island University.

Kirk spends much time on lecture tours throughout the United States.

Fine Youth For Speeding

An 18-year-old Plymouth youth who was testing his 1965 car out at high speeds last week pleaded guilty Thursday to a charge of speeding 65 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone, and was ordered to pay a fine of $80 or spend 45 days in jail by Municipal Judge Harry Deyo.

Police Sgt. Frederick G. Jewell, 18, of 39649 Ann Arbor Road, sped through the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street about 11:35 p.m. Wednesday.

Officers said they clocked him at 65 miles per hour at the Mill St. intersection and charged the car at speeds ranging up to 110 before losing it.

Jewell was picked up by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department later. Officers said Jewell had just taken delivery on the new vehicle that afternoon. He paid the $80 fine.

The Ford Motor Company introduces an entirely new kind of Mercury for 1965... now in the Lincoln Continental tradition

We predict that the reaction of many people when they first see a 1965 Mercury drive by will be: "What car is that?" Mercury is that new. The look is new. Completely. Low, sleek, beautifully proportioned. (Notice the long, low proportions of the hood, the full-width grille, the unique pillar lights on the front fenders.) The ride is new. It's solid, quieter. Inside, there's an extensive selection of options for personal customizing—luxury features once reserved only for the most expensive cars. The idea behind all this newness is to bring you the most luxurious, best-riding car in its field... a Mercury that accurately reflects the Lincoln Continental tradition. See how well the idea works—at your Mercury dealer's. No medium-price car has ever come so close in luxury to the high-price class.

Plymouth Insurance Co. Is Breaking All Records

Four agents of the Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company's Plymouth regional office are among the ten top salesmen honored by the company for sales in excess of one million dollars each.

Led by Arthur Rothfuss with over four million in sales, the men all established their records in just 90 days. Hamilton's first quarter of business, the company first offered contracts in May of this year.

Others with Rothfuss in the group are Valgene Younger, Robert Johnson, and Douglas Whiteford. Each of the men was honored with nomination to the Alexander Hamilton Million Dollar Round Table.

Announcement of the awards was made recently by Hamilton President, Charles H. Bruce at a dinner held at Fox Hills Golf Club in honor of the ten with sales records of a million or more.

Plymouth Regional Director, Paul Hamlin extended his congratulations to the four. The Plymouth office led the company in the numbers of "seats" at the Round Table.

Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company has been setting records regularly since it began writing insurance in mid-May of this year. In its first month of existence, the young company had already racked up sales of some fifteen million dollars worth of insurance in force.

NO OTHER Michigan company had ever exceeded this figure in its first full year in Tr.

business. Hamilton's first quarter sales were just short of the $42 million mark. Previous sales record for a Michigan insurance firm was $22 million plus in one year.

The company, presently licensed in Michigan only, has vigorous plans for expansion. Attraction of top dollar volume producers throughout the country is one part of Hamilton's aggressive planning.

Hamilton stock sold for the first time this year, was oversubscribed by two million and a half dollars within a month of its first offering. While company officers make no predictions as to the future of Hamilton stock as an investment, they willingly point to the continuing sales record being made as evidence of the health of the new young company.

ON US, THAT IS

No, Carling Real Estate doesn't expect its prospects to take them out to dinner, it just sounded that way in last week's advertisement in The Plymouth Mail's Want Ad pages.

Actually, they want to take you out. The copy should have read, "Lake Property, one hour from Plymouth. Large lake lots from $1,000 to $5,000. Well planned subdivision. Let's talk about it after dinner (on us) at Baja's on Oct. 14."

Copy last week inadvertently read "on you."

Plymouth Representatives Discuss Educational Television for Area

Significant steps have been taken by representatives of Schoolcraft College and five contiguous school districts, including Plymouth, which may lead the way to the establishing of an educational television station serving all suburban communities. The superintendents and staffs of the five constituent school districts which support Schoolcraft College met last week on the Haggerty Road campus to consider whether a cooperative approach in setting up a cultural television enterprise was feasible.

Plymouthites at the exploratory discussion meeting included Superintendent Russell L. Isbister, Earl Gibson, and Mrs. Esther L. Hulsing of Plymouth Community School District. President Eric Brancer, John H. Brinn, and James H. Dotseth represented Schoolcraft Community College.

In the same manner, Yates pointed out, cooperative planning could result in suburban areas reaping the benefit of having their own regional station with programs geared to the needs of both adults and children in the community.

It was revealed that Michigan schools and cultural institutions are eligible for a generous share of the $25,000,000 in matching funds for educational TV which Congress has authorized.

Superintendent Isbister pointed out that it was apparent that a cooperative exploration of the opportunity for establishing a joint venture for the benefit of all school districts was needed. Clarenceville Superintendent Louis E. Schmidt moved that a committee of three be appointed to write a tentative constitution or by-laws for a non-profit educational television association of the public schools in the Northwest Community College District and Schoolcraft College for the purpose of studying and

Applications at PHS for Naval Reserve Exam

Applications are now available for the Navy's nineteenth annual NROTC qualification test, according to Mr. John Hoben, counselor at the Plymouth High School. The nationwide examination will be given Dec. 12, and all eligible male high school seniors and graduates may apply.

On the basis of this test, personal interviews, physical examinations, and other factors, Hoben explained, over 2,000 young men will be given college educations as midshipmen in NROTC units in 52 well-known colleges and universities throughout the country.

Registrations for the test will close Nov. 20. Informational bulletins and applications are available from Mr. Hoben or the nearest U. S. Navy Recruiting Station.

A successful applicant receives financial aid for four years of college. This includes tuition, books, uniforms, miscellaneous expenses, and a $50.00 per month retainer fee. After successfully completing college degree requirements and naval science training, NROTC midshipmen become commissioned officers in the U. S. Navy or Marine Corps.

Male citizens of the United States who will be over 17 but not yet 21 on June 30, 1965, and who are now high school seniors or graduates, are eligible to apply for the Dec. 12 NROTC qualifying test. Those who attain qualifying scores will be interviewed and given physical examinations next February, Hoben said.

City DPW Activities

By Sup'l. Joseph Bida

The past week found the Department of Public Works cleaning up City Parks, picking up several trees that were cut down on Ann Arbor Trail in the area of Elizabeth St., and cleaning off property on the Urban Renewal Site.

The department also installed a storm sewer at 230 Plymouth Road for the apartment house. Grass was planted in the parks in the area of the skating ponds. The streets in the residential area were cold patched and low spots filled with gravel.

Four taps were installed on Starkweather Avenue to the 12 inch main across from the Mill Street Booster Station, and a tap was put into the Pointe Park for future use. The Mill Street Pump was put back into service or installed by Layne Northern. A test was run on it after it had been cleaned and new screens had been installed and the pumpage was 1,500 gallons per minute. The water table is in good condition.

Streets in the area of Mill Street and Ann Arbor Trail north were patched and, in the south end of the city, all streets were patched.

The sign was removed on the Urban Renewal Property to a new location on Mill St. A one-inch tap was installed at 1000 General Drive.

A report on the water main improvement, replacing four-inch water mains throughout the city by Gay Brothers contractors: As of this date they have better than 5,000 feet completed. They anticipate, without any bad weather or problems, all the water mains should be installed by Oct. 15., and then old mains will be cut out of service as fast as the contractor has connected property owners to the new main.

A sign was made and installed in front of the city hall. The D.P.W. yard was cleaned and weeds were cut around the fence.

Salem to Vote on Millage Nov. 3

On the Salem Township ballot at the Nov. 3 election will be a proposal to increase maximum allocated millage from 15 mills to 18 mills in Washtenaw County.

According to the plan presented to the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors at their September meeting the 18 mills would be spent 5.5 mills to the county, 12 mills to intermediate school district, 11.22 mills to local school districts, and 1.16 mills to the townships.

Approval by the people does not necessarily mean the 18 mills would always be spread as outlined, according to Harlow Ingall, Salem Township Supervisor.

Just Arrived NEW LARGE SHIPMENT

One tabloid bore the headline "MAN EATS DOGS — He hammers' pooches to death, chops them up and boils them." All this and pictures too!

Pleasant? This little gem is on sale in our city. As Caesar said, "I came, I saw", but unlike him, I cannot conquer. Is money really more important than morals? I do not like the word "Censorship". It reeks of do-gooders out to control the reading appetite of the masses, not to mention Article I of the Bill of Rights.

But I strongly advocate the word "discretion". I do not say "burn it, ban it, get rid of it"; I do say restrict it in the interest of youthful morality. Dr. M. L. Frier, a noted Detroit psychiatrist, has some rather interesting points about its effect on youth.

(1) "It fosters theft. Most kids are either ashamed or know it's wrong to buy it, therefore they swipe it."

(2) It stimulates sexual urges that the average teen cannot yet cope with.

(3) It glamorizes crime and places sex in an unnatural light. Both of which are socially unacceptable."

In our public library, the literature not suitable for adolescents is available to adults, placed on a restricted shelf. Is the value of money more important than the values we seek for our youth?

The television industry has set up its own Board of Ethics. You've undoubtedly heard the phrase, "this station subscribes to the Television Broadcasters' Code of Good Practice." This is not done by law, simply by an agreement of the Broadcasters themselves.

Couldn't a community board, or an association of merchants be formed to set the standards of literature sold on open racks in our stores? A citizens' committee, headed by Donald J. Davies, D.D.S. and Martha Davis, wife of a Plymouth attorney, was successful in beginning a campaign of this nature, but out of six drug stores in the city, few actively cooperate without the constant vigilance of the committee.

No one wants to be a watchdog. This is not a linear problem, but a circular one. People are sitting around a circle with a teenager in the center. Each one on the periphery of this circle has to accept a certain amount of responsibility. This includes the publisher, advertiser, distributor, the store owner, the clerk behind the counter, and the public at large.

We all have a responsibility not to exploit them; not to pass on to them unfortunate attitudes in an effort to "sell".

My personal solution to this problem is simply not to trade at these stores. Sadism, lust, crime, and vulgarity do not go hand in hand with good business — unless good business means helping to corrupt an impressionable young public.

If money is more important than morality perhaps loss of business would speak louder than any lecture on morals possibly could.

Pat Reynolds admits she was wrong!

(She was sure electric dryers were more expensive. Then we showed her these money-saving facts.)

- Gas dryers cost a couple of pennies less per load to operate; we'd be the first to admit it. But with electric dryers you still come out ahead. Read on.
- Electric dryers cost less to buy. Model for model, prices run about $20 to $40 lower than gas dryers.
- And now, for a limited time, this lower price includes installation and wiring, if needed. For details, see your dealer.
- Electric dryers cost nothing for electrical repairs or labor. According to manufacturers' service policy premiums, the average dryer requires about $200 worth of repairs over a 10-year period. But, of course, if your dryer is electric, Edison comes out, repairs it, and leaves without leaving you a bill! (It's the only no-charge dryer repair service offered by a utility company in this area.)

Add up ALL the costs and you'll see what Pat Reynolds saw — electric dryers cost less to own.

TREASURES FROM

Plymouth Pantries

One of her children's favorite dishes "Yorkshire Pudding," was suggested by Mrs. Robert Henry, of 600 Irvin St. Residents of Plymouth since 1949, when they moved from Detroit, the Henry's have seven children. Their youngest child is Daniel, age four months. The others are Susan, 22-years-old, Robert, 19, Janet, 17, David, 12, Joann, 10, and Nancy, eight.

When she has a spare moment, Mrs. Henry said, she likes to read. She also enjoys fishing, she added, but doesn't have much time to do it. She is also a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Rosary Society.

Mr. Henry is a final adjuster at Burroughs Corporation. "Yorkshire Pudding" should be served with roast beef and is cooked in the meat drippings, Mrs. Henry suggested. It is easy to make and is a good substitute for potatoes, occasionally.

YORKSHIRE PUDDING
(Serves four)
Beat with rotary beater until smooth:
1 C. sifted flour
1/2 tsp. salt
2 C. milk

Bake in 12 x 7 1/2 inches baking dish in sizzling hot meat drippings at 425 degrees until golden brown. Cut into squares and serve immediately with roast beef and gravy.

The pudding also may be baked in well greased oven-glass cups filled one-half full. Yields eight or nine.

PREPARING "Yorkshire Pudding" for her family is Mrs. Robert Henry, of 600 Irvin St. A favorite of her seven children, Mrs. Henry said, it is a good substitute for potatoes when you are serving roast beef.

When you say "I Am An American Legionnaire," it means - deep in your heart, you have a very real concern for the welfare of disabled veterans, and the dependents of deceased veterans.

Through The American Legion you are one of close to three million veterans who are making sure these folks continue to have the proper care. If you are eligible for membership in The American Legion through active duty in the World Wars, or the Korean War there is a place for you in the ranks of those who care about the rehabilitation of our veterans and wish to do something about it.

The American Legion Post

home is "where a veteran is with friends!" Your membership is a passport to good fellowship in every American Legion post throughout the world. Your local American Legion Post invites You - if you are a veteran.

Looking after the welfare of war veterans in nursing homes is an activity of increasing importance in the work of the American Legion Auxiliary, according to Mrs. Fern Burselen, rehabilitation chairman. This activity has been extensively developed during the past year and has attracted a large number of volunteer workers from the Auxiliary.

The Auxiliary also is working with The American Legion to secure more adequate compensation and pensions for veterans of advanced age, and for their dependents.

A bill authorizing 4,000 additional nursing care beds in the Veterans Administration system, which was strongly urged by the Legion and Auxiliary, has been approved by Congress.

Family Service You And Your Neighbors Are Family Service Clients

By Anna Jung

In a 1962 study of caseloads in eight family agencies in Metropolitan Detroit it was found that their clients were fairly representative of the community's general population with respect to race, education, occupation, employment, and economic status.

While I do not have the statistical information about the Plymouth community to make a valid assessment, it is my impression that clients in this agency also represent a cross-section of the total population.

You and your neighbors are the clients. Someone has asked recently, "Do you have to be sick to go to Family Service?" Another person felt the agency should be a place where a person could "just sit and talk over a cup of coffee."

Well, since there is a weekly fee ranging up to $15, depending on income and size of family, it would be an expensive cup of coffee!

In answer to the above question, you do not have to be sick to come to the agency. However, since the agency offers a professional service we assume that clients who come here are seeking help to resolve problems that cannot be solved by talking to a friend over a cup of coffee.

To illustrate the levels of treatment available in a family agency let us look at some case examples drawn from experience in other communities.

Mr. A called Family Service for help in locating a capable woman who would care for his children until he could decide upon a more permanent plan. His wife had died recently after a long illness; relatives and friends had helped out during the summer to keep the family together while his wife was in and out of the hospital.

With the opening of school in the fall, these relatives and friends had to assume greater responsibility for their own families. Mr. A., a professional man, could pay an adequate salary, but he did not know how to go about the task of locating a woman who would be reliable, responsible, and capable of fulfilling the role of foster-mother in another person's home.

The caseworker assessed Mr. A.'s psychological strengths and his capacity for adjusting to his bereavement. She obtained information about the children in telephone contacts with relatives who had recent and extensive contact with them.

She called an employment office which specializes in providing highly-qualified household help; with the interest and help of the director of the employment office, the caseworker was able to locate a motherly woman who met the needs of this client and his children.

Now, why couldn't Mr. A. have managed to locate a housekeeper without professional help?

Although he was essentially a strong, emotionally healthy person, the strain of his wife's long illness and the shock of her death had drained him emotionally, leaving him confused and uncertain of his own judgement.

He needed to test his judgement in discussion with a professional person, and then was able to make the decisions himself.

The caseworker helped to reduce the external stress caused by the lack of a mother-figure in the home, and she helped to reduce Mr. A.'s internal stress by offering understanding, encouragement, suggestions, and some direct advice. Environmental manipulation and psychological support were the treatment methods used in this case.

Mrs. B. needed the services of an orthodontist for her twelve year old daughter. The child's teeth were essentially healthy, and the repair work was needed primarily for cosmetic purposes. Mrs. B., a widow, was employed and was able to provide for the essential needs of her family.

She was a sensitive woman who recognized the psychological impact on her daughter, caused by the offending dental problem.

The caseworker, through her knowledge of community resources, was able to direct Mrs. B. to a clinic where the services could be obtained at a fraction of the regular cost. The "treatment" in this case consisted of giving information.

The family was functioning adequately and they needed no other service.

(Next week, Mrs. "C")

Africa and Me Flight to Sierra Leone Tests His Adaptability

By Lon Dickerson

One of the chief requirements for a Peace Corps Volunteer is adaptability and my flight to Sierra Leone tested this characteristic beautifully.

With mounting excitement I left Detroit Metropolitan Airport at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 6 with the other six volunteers from Michigan in our group. Our jet arrived in New York City at 5:15 (Detroit time) where we joined the other 63 volunteers in our project.

At that time none of us knew our flight schedule except that we were to leave Kennedy International Airport at 8:15 p.m. on a Pan American plane, and arrive sometime soon in Freetown, the capital of Sierra Leone.

Our jet left New York 30 minutes late, and consequently our hour stay in Boston was reduced to 30 minutes. As we departed from President Kennedy's home town, we said goodbye to America for two years.

A rather smooth flight brought us to Santa Maria in the Portuguese Overseas territory of the Azores at 6:45 a.m. (2:45 a.m. Detroit time). After a brief stay there we took off for Lisbon, Portugal. Because of the difference we ate breakfast at 3:45 a.m. Detroit time.

A few minutes before landing in Lisbon we were told that we would have a six-hour layover and a bus tour of the city. As we landed, however, the pilot announced that the landing strip at Rabat, Morocco was unexpectedly open; and that we would instead have a 40-minute stop. So we got only as far as the airport lounge on our tour of Europe.

An hour and a half after leaving Lisbon we landed at Rabat where we stayed only a few minutes. For the next two and a half hours we flew over the Sahara Desert and then landed at Conakry, Guinea.

At the airport we were greeted by a brass band. Unfortunately we soon learned that the reception was for a governmental official on another plane. We had expected to stay overnight there.

But, knowing that the airport at Rabat was open, the officials at Conakry had ready for us a chartered Air Guinea plane.

The flight to Lungi Airport outside of Freetown would be only 15 minutes. The ferry service from Lungi to Freetown is discontinued at dusk, however, so time was running short.

The new plane was Russian-built and piloted by a Czechoslovakian crew. We thought it ironic that such a plane would be transporting Americans on a goodwill mission. During our flight it shook like a World War II bomber, and lacked air-conditioning and safety features. But we relaxed by filling out customs reports, knowing that in 15 minutes we would be in Sierra Leone.

Unbeknown to us a group of Sierra Leonean dancers and a large reception awaited us at Lungi Airport. But a tropical storm prevented our landing there despite the fact that we circled the airport for several minutes.

So we went back to Conakry where the same storm prevented us from landing there too.

As lightning streaked across the sky, the pilots locked the door to the control room. Not knowing how much fuel we had or what our destination was (some suspected Moscow) we flew on into the night.

The Guinean stewardess frequently employed an aerosol bomb to cover up the aroma of the plane's modern toilet facilities. Finally, we landed in Dakar, Senegal.

There, Air Guinea arranged for supper and hotels where we spent the night. We got to bed about 1:30 a.m. and were up again by 4:45 a.m. After a Continental breakfast we left Dakar for Freetown at 7 a.m. Tuesday. Another storm made a detour over Mali necessary and our hour and a half flight was extended to two hours.

As we began to descend over Lungi Airport we could at least see Sierra Leone — and what a beautiful sight it was.

I had spent the past 41 hours travelling. Because of our long delay, no elaborate reception greeted us.

Soon, though, we would find soft beds and badly-needed sleep.

After that, a new house, new friends, new job and a new life awaited us.

Former Plymouth Doctor, Family Enjoying Cadillac

EDITORS NOTE: Dr. David Johnson practiced medicine in Plymouth for two years with Dr. Barry Alford, leaving here last spring. He and his wife grew up in Plymouth and are widely known here. Dr. Alford's wife, Ruth, brings Plymouth Mail readers up to date on the activities of Dr. Johnson and his family.

By Ruth B. Alford
Friends of the Dr. David Johnson family will be pleased to hear first-hand account of their present situation. We drove up to Cadillac, my children and I, on a rainy late September weekend.

The countryside was beginning the annual fall display of color — scarlet sumac and orange and red maples and maroon oaks set against the dark green pines.

In Cadillac we followed a winding road along the lakeshore through the beautiful state park to their home, situated a block from Lake Cadillac at 203 Selma.

We found them full of enthusiasm for their new home. They have joined in the life of the north country. The children have had swimming lessons and gone boating. Jackie teaches Sunday school class. Dr. Dave has a busy practice.

This particular weekend he was on emergency call at the hospital which is only a few minutes from home. An ambitious family project is to get the whole family equipped with skis and boots before the ski season.

Jackie is about to embark on a new job as an area homemaking consultant for Consumers Power Company, a position for which her degree in home economics uniquely prepares her.

At present they are renting a house but are investing in a 115-acre tract of land, including thirty-five acres of woods, not far from town, where they hope to build a home.

All the family seem unanimous in their enjoyment of their new life. We left regretfully after our too short visit, happy, however, to have found them so contented.

Pressure in the community

The past few days have seen a few instances of pressure in the Plymouth Community, events that might merit a closer look and a little commentary. One pertains to our political parties and the others affect this newspaper.

In the first instance, Plymouth city officials are having pressure brought to bear against them because of the location of a trailer on Main St., kitty-corner from The Plymouth Mail.

The mobile unit is being used as headquarters for the Republican campaign. Donated by a local citizen, the trailer was placed on the corner of Main and Fralick with the full knowledge and consent of the property owner.

The chief complaint in the matter appears to be an individual active in Plymouth Democratic circles. We strongly suspect that the sudden concern with a possible zoning violation is less than objectively motivated.

Presidential election years happen only once in every four and it is part and parcel of the American way of life for political parties to set up temporary headquarters as a focal point for their activities. We see nothing wrong with the location of Republican headquarters at this particular site.

It would appear that a few members of the opposition party should put down their crying towel and hunt for a place of their own. We suggest that they hit the campaign trail and forget about harassing the other side.

The other sort of pressure, leveled at The Plymouth Mail, is as old as newspapers themselves. On two occasions, last week, this publication was threatened with loss of advertising revenue because persons disagreed with handling of news.

In one case, an individual called to object bitterly to the treatment of a non-political story and threatened discontinuance of his advertising if a retraction was not made.

A note about police equipment

Last week's editorial comment about the Plymouth Police Department must necessarily be followed this week with a note about equipment.

Twice in recent days the department has been confronted with the unhappy scene of patrolmen being outrun by speeders. The first occasion was a motorcyclist who out-distanced officers after a high-speed chase.

Last Thursday, patrolmen pursued — and lost — a youth driving a 1965 automobile. The youngster had gotten the car that afternoon and was breaking it in the hard way when officers saw him shoot through the Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street intersection.

At Mill Street they clocked him at 65 miles per hour and speeds ranged up to 110 before the driver finally escaped. He was picked up later by Wayne County Sheriff's Officers. On both occasions, local police were driving one of the department's two remaining full-size patrol cars.

Had they been piloting one of the compacts owned by the city, the story would have been the same — only more so.

Temptation should be stopped

At their meeting a week from Tuesday, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees is expected to take action on a request by a local bowling establishment for permission to serve alcoholic beverages in the concourse area behind the bowling lanes.

The request was dictated by a recently-enacted state law which requires that local governmental units grant permission before liquor can be served in this area.

When the question first came up, trustees expressed some reservations, noting that the lanes were patronized by local teen-agers who go out to bowl or play billiards. Since that time, some members of the township board have gone out to look over the situation.

They have found, in back of the lanes, and concourse, a separate bar for those who would wet their whistle with something a bit more vigorous than soda pop. The barroom opens onto the concourse, directly in back of the alleys, and is furnished with a

The other instance, purely partisan in nature, grew out of The Mail's coverage of Congressman-at-Large Neil Staebler's remarks in Plymouth, to a Plymouth audience. Without explaining himself, the party also complained about the inside-page placement of a story concerning a group of Plymouth residents who attended Senator Goldwater's campaign appearance in Detroit. He, too, said he would withhold advertising.

Fortunately or unfortunately, depending on how you look at it, we feel the appearance of a prominent political candidate in Plymouth, regardless of party affiliation, is front page news. And so is what he says.

We didn't put words in Neil Staebler's mouth. He had plenty of his own and we reported them. We would devote the same sort of coverage to Governor Romney if he appeared here and spoke to an audience. The same thing goes for Elly Peterson or Phil Hart.

If the Republicans have held one formal meeting where a candidate delivered himself of remarks to those present, we don't know about it. If any of the G.O.P. candidates have spoken here, we haven't been asked to cover the event.

In contrast, the Democrats have actively solicited coverage of two meetings featuring Congressman Staebler.

Needless to say, as a Plymouth newspaper, we are more than happy to provide coverage of candidate speeches and appearances in the community.

But we are not inclined to modify or slant our news coverage because of economic pressure, no matter which side of the political spectrum attempts to apply it.

This newspaper cheerfully accepts pressure from advertisers for better service, better ad layouts, better results. These things are for sale at The Plymouth Mail.

So-called managed news is not.

They wouldn't even have come close.

In the past, Plymouth Mail staffers have talked to officials, including Michigan State Police officers, who have used compact cars on a test basis. They all reached the same conclusion:

Compacts are no good for police work.

They aren't large enough, they aren't heavy enough, they aren't fast enough and they don't take the beating that a larger vehicle does.

Before too many moons go by, the city's two remaining large patrol cars will come up for replacement. The new vehicles should be full-size, with adequate power plants for law enforcement work.

Failure to buy proper equipment will simply further the impression with the racing set that Plymouth Police are a pushover, and incidents will increase.

This newspaper, for one, doesn't want to see Plymouth become a drag strip for Western Wayne County.

long line of tables for the convenience of drinkers. The argument against granting permission is this:

An adult drinking beer or liquor at one of the concourse tables is apt to leave it unattended while he goes to bowl. When he does so, his unwatched glass is easily available to a passing minor. Police officials note that, in the past, there have been complaints of underage drinking at the lanes. They do, however, point out that no complaints have been received recently.

Nevertheless, we would urge the board of trustees to deny the request. We can't see that denial would hurt the business place financially. The bar provides ample space and opportunity for those interested in a drink. Permitting liquor in the concourse area only makes it accessible to minors and provides an unnecessary temptation.

It's a temptation The Plymouth Mail would like to see eliminated.

JUST PRIOR to their departure last week for the Seventh Annual Citizenship Conference and meeting of Division I of the Michigan Association of Student Councils, these Junior High School East students checked out information on the conclave held last Tuesday at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Standing, left to right, are Terry Ward, president of the Junior High East Student Council executive board; George Jackson, treasurer; Sue Van Antwerp, recording secretary; and Pat Gallagher, historian. Seated is Linda Arnold, vice president. The conference concentrated on two areas: The relationship of values to leadership, and techniques of effective student council leadership.

LETTERS:

Doesn't Understand Senator Goldwater

Dear Editor:

Have you heard Barry's latest? He called Mr. Johnson "Lyndon come lately" and went on to add "I hope this will replace Johnny come lately." Now honestly, have you ever heard anything so subtly perceptive in your whole life?

He continued his beautiful speech and said a lot of things I didn't understand but he is so intelligent all he really needs is our trust. A few weeks ago he said he wanted to get our country back to what it was 200 years ago.

I'm not sure if he wants to give it back to England or just re-establish a Republic form of government. That would do away with the Democracy and then we wouldn't have to vote so often. But on the other hand I'm not sure if Mr. Goldwater retracted his statement.

Or maybe he was misquoted again. I'm really not very sure how he feels about it today. Oh well, he has so many other things on his mind.

Won't Set Well And May Hurt

Dear Editor:

I said Amen to Bidwell's letter in The Mail. How could we keep jumping up as we were loaded with blankets? It was so cold.

The "Pageant of Drums" was wonderful and as far as you saying the "super-patriots" had soured us on honoring our flag, that's mostly what they talk about on their program.

Another thing, you better slow up on jobs at G.O.P. if you know this town. It sure won't set well and may hurt your paper.

Yours Truly,
E. Gould

It is wonderful to live in a country where we can see and hear our candidates and make a choice. And ain't it grand to be able to choose between Mr. Goldwater and someone else?

There was another film of a Goldwater speech on television. He was talking to a rather large audience. He told them in halting English "The people of America know something is wrong... You know something is wrong... This is why you are here tonight..."

He seemed to stumble, maybe he lost his place. But anyway he is right. Something is wrong. I hope he will let us in on the secret before election day.

Boys names are conspicuously absent from the list of the ten-top students in this year's senior class at Plymouth High School — all ten students are girls.

Michigan established the state department of health in 1873, and it is one of the oldest and best recognized public health agencies in the world.

The Michigan Crippled Children Commission was the first state agency of its kind to conduct, in cooperation with the State Department of Public Instruction, a therapy workshop for persons serving physically handicapped children at hospitals and schools, and these workshops have won national acclaim.

Out of the class of 423 students, Nancy Miller ranks first academically, according to the list released by Plymouth High. Others in numerical order are Lydia Innes, Cathleen McIntyre, Carol Otwell, Cathleen Burke, Janice Williams, Janice Mattison, Susan Niemi, Susan Rybka and Linda Baughman. The order is based on their marks from ninth through 11th grades and will be revised at the close of this semester.

The Grim Pilgrim

By DAVE WILEY

A friend, in Detroit last week, sat around a table with a group of men and listened as a tale was told — a story I had heard previously, here in The Plymouth Community.

It bears another repetition because of its nature and because it has been disseminated as gospel truth.

Implicit in it is a senseless terror and fear based on ignorance and a tendency to expect and revel in man's worst as opposed to his best. The story, as told, was this:

A baby-sitter on Detroit's east side had taken her small-boy charge out for a walk in the Jefferson Avenue area. As they strolled, the child said he had to go to the bathroom.

So the babysitter took him to a service station.

As she waited outside the men's room door, according to the tale, three Negro men came out. When the child failed to reappear, the worried baby sitter sent the attendant in after him.

According to the tale, the child was found dead — physically mutilated and emasculated.

The Plymouth version is essentially the same with the location changed to become Hines Park.

The Detroitier who told the story claimed first hand knowledge. The individual who told it to him, he said attended the child's funeral.

The event had not been reported to police, he said, because "we all know that Girardin and Cavanaugh are under the thumb of Communists and Negro leaders." In addition, he commented:

"The newspapers wouldn't print it anyway."

Detroit human rights leaders have received questioning calls on the story, and according to reports, it has made its way as far as the Washington office of Michigan Senator, Philip Hart.

One person, high in the human relations field, has noted that large city homicide squads throughout the nation have been checking to establish whether or not such an incident did, in fact, occur in their area.

There is no indication the story is factual. Its telling and re-telling as truth is a bitter commentary on human capacity for hate and fear. The story deserves to be squelched.

Its repeaters deserve far worse.

The Plymouth Mail took its knocks last week.

While most of the community's sports fans were snarling at us, (see this week's sports page), I was taking my lumps from local Republicans who, first of all apparently disliked the front page report of gubernatorial hopeful Neil Staebler's remarks and, secondly, took vigorous exception to the aside about Senator Goldwater carried in this column.

In addition, Plymouth Community School District officials were understandably miffed about our publication of the annual report. In three horrible errors, (See Page One), we managed to short-change the annual fund by nearly $250,000, generously added an extra $400,000 to recreation and adult education revenues and, for good measure, threw ten bucks more into fund equity.

Our proofreader of longest standing left last week to tend the path of holy matrimony and the mistakes slipped past unnoticed.

There must be an easier way to make a living.

While Plymouth Grand Old Party members were preparing fire and brimstone for me, I was — to show impartiality — home cooking up a Johnson omelet. The recipe begins:

"First, STEAL 12 eggs."

You know who Johnson is. He's the first President to put the country in his wife's name.

Russell Kirk, Plymouth's learned prodigal, will take the podium here Wednesday evening to speak on "Goldwater and the Issues."

A brief account of his life in the Sept. 1962 issue of "Current Biography" indicates that he is an articulate, erudite man who has no compunctions about expressing disenchantment with the status-quo.

I would expect that Kirk will have more to offer than a blanket defense of the Republican political situation as it now stands. He should be worth listening to.

That's Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Rocks Win Again, 7-0; Meet Trenton Friday

Frosh Tie 6-6

Plymouth's freshmen (9th grade) football team opened its season last week with a 6-6 tie against John Glenn high school in Wayne.

Plymouth's score came in the second quarter on a flat pass from quarterback Mike Cederberg to halfback Dale Theeke. Theeke took the pass at midfield and ran 47 yards to score.

An 80 yard end run tied the score for John Glenn high school late in the third quarter.

"This was a pretty good team effort," Coach Dick Hill said. He particularly mentioned the play of interior linemen Nick Darmogray, John Campbell, Rick Neal and Brent McLaughlin.

The ninth graders will play Northville, at 4 p.m. Thursday at Junior High East.

Outstanding defensive play, tremendous kicking and a spirited offense contributed to an important victory for the Rock football team last week.

Plymouth nailed down its Suburban Six League opener with a 7-0 win over Livonia Bentley. It was the second victory in three tries for the spirited Rocks, who Friday travel to Trenton for an 8 p.m. encounter with powerful Trenton.

Bouncing back on the victory road, the Rocks piled to victory in the second quarter when its tight defensive unit recovered a fumble by Livonia on the Bentley 23 yard line. A whole pile of Plymouth jerseys pounced on the ball.

ON THE first play from scrimmage halfback Gary Grady tried left end and lost two yards. On the next play quarterback John Daniels tossed a flat pass on the right to Grady on the 17 yard line. On the next play, Bentley was penalized to the nine yard line for a personal foul.

With a first down on the nine, Plymouth sent Grady around end, where he eluded three close tackles to drive six yards to the three yard line. Quarterback Daniels plowed to the one on the next play on a quarterback sneak. A pass was incomplete and on fourth down Grady dove over guard to score.

Daniels then passed to Lake for the extra point and Plymouth led 7-0 with 5:41 in the second quarter. That concluded the scoring for the evening, but not a splendid display of defensive play by the entire Rock team.

PLYMOUTH had gone into the game without the services of two of its best players, fullback Curt Irish and tackle Steve Stribley.

In addition to his rugged running ability, Irish is also the team kicker.

So the Rocks had to go with another kicker on punting situations and he turned out to be the surprise of the evening.

On his first effort, end Gary Fuelling boomed one 50 yards from the line of scrimmage. This was nullified by a five yard penalty, so he kicked the next one 47 yards — a huge distance for high school punters.

COACH MIKE Hoben introduced a two quarterback system during this game, making liberal use of Terry Cosgrove and John Daniels. It seemed to pay off handsomely as Plymouth improved its passing game.

The Rocks completed six of 16 passes for 40 yards, while Bentley only connected on two of 15 for 19 yards. Plymouth's alert defense also picked off four errant Bentley passes, while the Bulldogs were unable to get any from the Rocks.

Plymouth outrushed Bentley 97 to 92 yards on the ground for a total offense of 137 yards against 111 for Bentley.

Hoben had special praise for the play of end Dave Tidwell, tackle Rick Baron, guard Paul Densmore, end Dave Eisenlord and end Jim Lake on defense.

JVs Tie Farmington 7-7

Plymouth's Junior Varsity football team overcame early misfortune to come fighting back and tie Farmington 7-7 last week.

The game had hardly gotten underway when a fumble on the Plymouth 20 was recovered by Farmington. Farmington went into score on a fourth down play, scored the extra point and led 7-0.

But they didn't count on Plymouth's fighting spirit. The Rocks came bounding back midway in the second quarter after Steve Hulce intercepted a pass on Plymouth's 11 and returned it to the 15 yard line. He halted the first lengthy Farmington drive to score.

The Rocks went to work and moved 85 yards in a sustained drive to score. The scoring play came on a pass from quarterback Dave Prochazka to halfback Ron Lowe on a deep pattern from the Farmington 20 yard line. Lowe gathered the pass in on the one and stepped over to score. The Rocks then faked a kick attempt and Prochazka again passed to Lowe for the extra point. This tied the score at 7-7.

IN THE second half both teams threatened again. The Rocks' big play was a 40 yard pass from Prochazka to Lowe. Late in the fourth quarter Plymouth's defense turned in an outstanding performance, holding Farmington inside the 11 yard line.

Coach Dick Bearup said, "Things look much better; everyone showed lots of improvement. It was very encouraging. They got a couple of early bad breaks, but the kids all stayed with it."

This week the Rocks play at Bentley.

Record Set In Fast Meet

Every Plymouth cross-country team member, except one with a charley-horse, improved his running performance this week, but the Rocks ran into a course-record-breaking performance by Trenton.

Trenton won 22-36, but not before each Plymouth runner had given his very best effort to date. Trenton's John Daniels won the meet, but had to break the Riverside course record to do it. Daniels turned in a hot 10:24 for the two mile-plus course to break the old record of 10:36, which is held by Ypsilanti.

Second was his brother Steve Daniels at 10:45. For Plymouth, Mike Bentley was first with a 10:55 and John Bates was right behind him with 10:58. "It's the first time both boys have broken 11 minutes this fall," Coach John Sandmann said, indicating he was pleased with their performance. Bentley and Bates placed third and fourth in the meet.

Bob Kreitsch was third for Plymouth and seventh in the meet. He chopped about 15 seconds off his time, turning in a speedy 11:18. Dave Dirum, a junior, was next for Plymouth with a 11:41, which knocked a full 30 seconds off his previous best time.

DAVE ALLEN placed 12th (11:44) and Frank Dorsett was 13th. Dorsett, one of the Rock co-captains, ran the whole meet with a charley horse received earlier in the week in a touch football game. It gives you some idea of the spirit of these Plymouth lads.

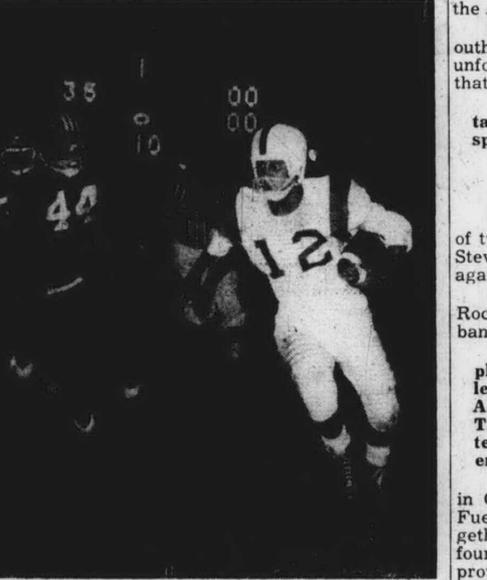

Bruce Sprattling was 15th with an 11:58 for his season's best performance. Joe Smith with 12:01 bested his previous times by 16 seconds and was 16th in the meet. Jeff Scott was 18th and bettered his earlier efforts by a full 24 seconds, turning in a 12:08. Robert Wideman was 19th and also improved considerably by cutting 19 seconds off his time. He was clocked at 12:10.

Coach John Sandmann said, "The kids did much better — and all had real good times. They are coming along real good for this time of year."

The improved times were particularly impressive in view of the fact that the meet was run in the chilly, soggy turf caused by rain last Friday.

Today the Rocks meet Walled Lake at Riverside and on Friday will travel to Redford Union for another Suburban Six League meet.

Michigan's program for screening children for defective vision and for improving visual environment was the first of its kind in the country to be undertaken on a statewide basis.

SHOOTING around to carry the ball to the one yard line, setting up the evening's touchdown for the Plymouth Rocks Friday was quarterback John Daniel, 12.

PAUL DENSMORE, Rock guard, 60, together with other team mates took the Bentleyites out of the way Friday evening as halfback Gary Grady, 30, carried the ball on a play in the game that saw Plymouth down the Livonia team 7-0. Bentley end Harrison, 44, gets a straight-arm from the ball carrier on the play.

The Sporting Thing
By Bill Nelson

I haven't been in so much trouble since I spelled the Admiral's name wrong.

Last week, in the usual course of covering Plymouth's spirited football team, I wrote a catchy, but unfortunate headline. (I won't repeat it here, because that would only give it more circulation).

Like the misspelled Navy name, it was a mistake. I was wrong. In fact, it wasn't even the sporting thing.

Meanwhile back on the gridiron.

The Plymouth team, playing without the services of two first stringers, fullback Curt Irish and tackle Steve Stribley; put together a good, tight ball game against Bentley last Friday.

This second victory in three games provided the Rocks with a win in the opening game of the Suburban Six League race.

Friday, Plymouth will travel to Trenton to play what may be the most powerful team in the league. However, Trenton had trouble against Allen Park in the league opener, winning only 9-6. Trenton was trailing 6-2 as late as the final quarter. Trenton had breezed by its first two opponents.

Plymouth, meanwhile, discovered a fine punter in Gary Fuelling as a backstop to fullback Irish. Fuelling boomed terrific kicks against Bentley. Together with the tight Rock defense (which picked off four Bentley passes Friday night), the kicking may provide the extra needed to give Plymouth a boost in the Trenton game.

The Rocks have also improved their passing game somewhat and this should help the running game of halfback Roger Tobey and co-captain Gary Grady.

The Plymouth band will travel to Trenton for the game and plans are afoot in the community to bus some student fans to the game.

Every Plymouth fan that can make it to Trenton should do so, as this game is one of the big ones. A high school team needs vocal support, particularly on an opposing field with a tough team.

A visit to Ann Arbor last Saturday for the U of M-Navy game produced the enjoyment of watching what surely must be the best team in the nation against the best player in the nation.

The University of Michigan this year is loaded with big, hefty linemen, powerful runners, good blockers and forceful tacklers. In addition, they have a couple of fine quarterbacks.

Navy, on the other hand, possesses quarterback "Jolly" Roger Staughbach, the Heisman trophy winner last year as the best player in the nation. He is exciting. His throwing ability kept Navy in the game for three quarters before Michigan moved away through sheer power to win 21-0.

It ought to be quite a game in East Lansing this Saturday, when Michigan invades Michigan State. The Spartans too have done well and are always powerful.

It's hard to believe, however, that there is a better college team than Michigan was last Saturday. One side of the U of M defensive backfield looked a little weak on pass defense.

It was the only apparent weak spot.

Series is Heartbreak, Comedy, Courage

Regardless of what other great sports events occur, the World Series is the big sports event every year. Last Fall, for example, 27 million American homes were tuned in for just one Sunday game as the Dodgers ran off their four-game sweep of the Yankees.

No program ever had a larger audience. Nevertheless, few fans really know the exciting panorama of World Series history — the heartbreaks, the comedy, the moments of high courage.

In the 1920 series, there was an incident in the fifth game that old-timers still talk about. It was the Dodgers against the Cleveland Indians and "Dem Bums" from Brooklyn were also the victims of another freak play in the 1941 series, this time against the Yankees. The games apiece and the Dodgers were nursing a 1-0 lead in the top of the ninth, with the Yankees batting. There were two outs and Pitcher Hugh Casey had run to a full count — three-and-two — on Yankee "Old Reliable," Tom Henrich. The Dodgers were only one strike away from a third victory. Casey pitched, Henrich swung and missed. The ball game was over — or was it?

A circle of policemen formed quickly to keep fans from mobbing the players; the Ebbets Field stands erupted in victory yells. Then, suddenly, spectators saw Catcher

Mickey Owen break through the ring of police, scrambling after the baseball, while Henrich steamed toward first.

Owens had dropped the third strike! Unless he could tag Henrich or toss the ball to first before Henrich got there, the Yankees would have a man on base and the issue of the ball game would still be in the balance. By this time Owens got his hand on the ball, Henrich was safely on first.

The Dodgers were demoralized and the jubilant Yankees proceeded to pour over four runs, win that game and the next to take the series.

In the 1955 epic, the Yankees and Dodgers produced a record bumper crop of 17 homers. The highlight of the series, however, was an amazing play made because of an "accident of birth." Manager Walt Alton had sent up a pinch hitter for Dodger second baseman Don Zimmer. Then, he was forced to move Junior Gilliam from left field to second base. Sandy Amoros, considered a weak fielder, was sent to left field to replace Gilliam.

In their half of the inning, the Yanks got a walk and a bunt single, which brought up shot the ball to first for the game-saving double play. If Amoros hadn't been a left-handed thrower, wearing the glove on the right hand, all experts agreed he would never have caught the ball!

Some early Hall-of-Fame members still talk about the 1912 battle between the Boston Red Sox and the New York Giants. Some of the most decisive plays were of a kind the New York Mets seem to have exclusive right to today. Boston's Clyde Engle started his team's half inning with a simple fly ball to Fred Snodgrass in center — which Snodgrass let trickle through his hands for a two-base error. To make up for it, he then made a spectacular grab of Harry Hooper's long liner. A play later, Tris Speaker raised a pop foul between first and home. Either catcher Myers or first baseman Merkle could have made the catch — but neither did! A single after that tied the game, and a homer cinched it for the Sox.

For the first Series played between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Boston Pilgrims in 1903, right down to this Fall's final innings, World Series play has always been great sport.
