

City Manager Al Glassford Resigns to Take New Post

In a move that apparently caught Commissioners by surprise, City Manager Albert Glassford submitted his letter of resignation to the Plymouth City Commission Monday evening.

After 16 years of service, Glassford will leave Plymouth December 15 to take over as City Manager of the City of Albion, Mich.

On a motion by Commissioner Robert Smith, the city's ruling body accepted the resignation with regret and pledged that the 53-year-old City Manager would be cited for his years of service to the community.

In his letter of resignation, Glassford noted that he wrote it with mixed feelings of happiness and regret.

"Working for Plymouth," he wrote, "has inspired me to achieve a large fund of knowledge of the arts and techniques of managing a city."

"For this I shall ever be grateful."

The City Manager said he had engaged in nine International City Managers' Association courses in public administration. Earlier this year, Glassford was named President of the Michigan Chapter of ICMA.

"After learning how to do the job," he continued, "I thought Plymouth should have a city manager with a degree in government, and returned to Wayne State to earn it in Public Administration."

"... We have excellent department heads, some of whom have had several ICMA courses and two of whom are presently enrolled in a Finance Administration course."

"I am proud of the staff that has been developed and serves the city well."

In his letter, Glassford spelled out 24 key achievements which the City of Plymouth accomplished during his tenure. Included were a new charter, library construction, paving, integration of fire and police departments, increased water production and urban renewal.

Others included initiation of in-service training and safety programs, checking the spread of Dutch Elm Disease, development of a city-owned industrial site, attraction of industry, development of a central business district plan and construction of the new City Hall, dedicated last Sunday afternoon.

Glassford cited the list of projects as an indication of the progressive spirit of the City of Plymouth.

"I am," he wrote, "and always will be, proud of my association with this fine community."

Commissioners authorized City Clerk Richard Shafer to advertise in the ICMA bulletin for a new manager.

A resident of Plymouth since 1939, Glassford was appointed City Assessor and Deputy Clerk in Jan., 1949. He came to the city from a post as iron and steel buyer for the Kaiser-Frazier Corporation.

Prior to that, Glassford served for 18 years as fiscal agency supervisor with the Federal Reserve Bank of Detroit and Assistant Purchasing Agent for Wall Wire.

What appeared to be another step in the direction of solving Plymouth Township's air pollution problem with local industry came last Tuesday evening when Township Supervisor read two letters to Trustees at the meeting held at the Township Hall.

One was from Evans Products Company and the other came from Burroughs Corporation.

The court handles 11,500 traffic tickets a year, but of 1,800 persons killed in 1963 traffic accidents, 16-year-olds accounted for only 44 of the deaths.

"We're kind of proud of their record," the judge noted.

Of the 44 deaths, only seven were in urban areas and the remainder of the fatalities occurred in the country. The judge noted that the court's traffic policy was "much rougher" than in an adult court.

Licenses, he said, are suspended on the first violation. A one year suspension comes after three moving violations or conviction on a drag racing charge.

Dedication Rites Draw 1,000 People

It was a rainy, dreary day, but more than 1,000 persons turned out Sunday afternoon for dedication ceremonies at Plymouth's new City Hall.

At rites in the Commission Chambers the key to the new building was passed from Architect Byron Becker to Municipal Building Authority Chairman Harold Guenther. Guenther gave the key to Mayor Richard H. Wernette and Wernette passed it to City Manager Albert Glassford.

Noting that completion of the structure had taken teamwork, Becker paid tribute to the contractors on the job. The $469,060 building, he said, cost only $1.81 per cubic foot. The building site, including demolition cost $62,494, while construction of the facility was $406,566, Becker explained.

He said the building contained 20,680 square feet or 225,112 cubic feet.

"THIS youngster (referring to the building) will be with us down the road beyond which any of us can see," Guenther told the audience after accepting the key from Becker.

The building was constructed under a federal law designed to create jobs quickly and providing for a partnership between the federal government and the city, Guenther said. He added the law provided that up to one-half the cost be borne by the federal government.

The law also provides that funds for the building must be committed by a special committee, Guenther continued. The city commission created the Municipal Building Authority (MBA) for this purpose, he said, and entered into an arrangement to rent the building from the MBA for $28,000 a year to pay off bonds.

The plan should be completed in less than 20 years when the building will revert to the city commission, Guenther explained.

"It is an indication of the maturity of this community that it could work together cooperatively and in harmony," Guenther concluded before presenting the key to Wernette.

Wernette thanked the MBA for all its time and noted the efficiency of the new building before introducing Commissioners Robert Smith, Arch Vallier, James Houk and Robert Beyer, who were present at the ceremonies. He then gave the key to Glassford.

Glassford said the key was symbolic of turning over the building in the interest of continuity of good government. Former Mayor Robert Sincock introduced dignitaries present at the dedication. The invocation was given by the Rev. Donald Williams and the benediction by Rev. Huys White.

Twp. Refuses to Reconsider Bowling Alley Liquor Issue

In an action-packed meeting, Plymouth Township Supervisors last Tuesday evening, Nov. 10, pledged financial support to the recently created Plymouth Community Planning Commission, stood their ground in the face of a request to reconsider the question of liquor in the concourse area of a local bowling alley, and approved an amended resolution establishing a Fire Administration Board.

More than 35 persons appeared in the audience, some of whom protested the action of the board last month in denying the request of Plymouth Bowl, Inc. for permission to serve alcoholic beverages in the concourse area of the lanes.

Under a recent ruling of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, bowling establishments must ask for such approval from the local governing unit.

Plymouth Bowl Manager Frank Mocerri told board members a group of bowling proprietors had, in fact, suggested that concourse areas should be separated from the alleys by a partition.

"We feel," he said, "that this is good. It confines the liquor and limits the chance of theft."

A number of persons who said they were bowlers heatedly protested the decision of Township Trustees.

One of them, John Stevenson of 40702 Pinetree, said he represented 207 bowlers from Plymouth Bowl.

"We don't have a bit of trouble," he claimed.

Another, Walter Wilkins of 41901 Schoolcraft Rd., secretary of a league of 70 bowlers, lashed out at the board's action.

"WE'RE HAVING our toes stepped on," he commented. "We're having a privilege taken away." Donald Slee of 684 Deer St. said, in six years of bowling at the lanes, he has yet to see trouble.

Township Clerk John D. McEwen emphasized that Trustees weren't trying to deprive the bowlers, but were concerned about reports of teenagers obtaining liquor left on unattended tables.

"The accusation is not that liquor is being sold to teens," Supervisor Roy R. Lindsay said, "but that they would come along and scoop up the drinks." Lindsay said he had received numerous phone calls on the matter and it appeared that persons were equally disvided for and against the question.

A man who identified himself as Ray Lane said teens, in the past, have been drinking in cars outside Plymouth Bowl and then coming inside.

"I've seen kids drinking and throwing bottles out of cars," he said. Bowlers said they had never seen teens take drinks off one of the concourse tables.

The discussion came to an abrupt halt, however, when Township Trustee Richard Lauterbach commented:

"I WANT to point out that this license was issued with the verbal understanding that liquor would be served and consumed in the bar area."

A period of silence followed Lauterbach's statement.

Then, on a motion from Trustee Ralph Garber and a seconding motion from Lauterbach, the board voted unanimously to go on to the next item on the agenda.

Bell Sets $470,000 Expansion

Michigan Bell Telephone Company has announced plans for expansion of its telephone central office at 1360 Ann Arbor Rd. at a cost of nearly a half million dollars.

Construction on the project is scheduled to begin Thursday with completion set for the mid-summer of 1965, according to John Kamego, manager for Michigan Bell.

Kamego said the expansion is being undertaken to meet continued growth in the Plymouth area and to take care of future demand for residential and business service in the future.

A NEW two-story portion will be added to the Ann Arbor Rd. building to provide an additional 8,240 square feet of space which is to contain more dial switching equipment. The total cost of the addition and the new equipment, Kamego said, will amount to $470,700.

To measure 40 by 103 feet, the addition will be constructed of reinforced concrete faced with brick to match the existing structure. Architectural work for it was performed by Smith, Hinchman, and Grylls Associates, Inc.

The general contractor on the project is the R. E. Davis Construction Co., of Ann Arbor.

Another Step Taken Toward Solution of Smoke Problems

What appeared to be another step in the direction of solving Plymouth Township's air pollution problem with local industry came last Tuesday evening when Township Supervisor read two letters to Trustees at the meeting held at the Township Hall.

Manager Herbert E. DeBorde of the Michigan M&E Division, Burroughs Corporation, noted that action is being taken by the firm to conform to the Township's smoke abatement and flyash code, DeBorde wrote.

A contract has been awarded to Cummins and Bernard, Consultants, to implement a smoke abatement and flyash program at Burroughs.

The schedule calls for the installation of a new gas-fired boiler capable of handling the power house requirements seven or eight months of the year.

"Installation should be complete in April, 1965."

The two communications climaxed a sometimes heated battle which some Township residents have been waging against sooty fallout which they claimed was coming from the two industrial plants.

Trustees received and filed the letters.

Judge Predicts Gradual Dropoff In Juvenile Crime

Predicting a gradual decrease in juvenile crime, Juvenile Division Judge James H. Lincoln of Wayne County high lighted the annual dinner meeting of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

After noting a 13 per cent decrease in crime during the month of October, as compared with last year, the Judge said:

"I think it (crime) has peaked and we will have a gradual, but not spectacular decrease." The decrease will come, he said, with the addition of more workers and probation officers.

Lincoln prefaced his remarks by expressing thanks to Plymouth Township Supervisor Roy R. Lindsay and City Supervisor A. E. Vallier for their efforts in securing $800,000 for the probable court budget.

He said the millage issue passed at the September 1 primary election was of vital interest to the court which had seen a 40 per cent turnover in personnel in three years.

He said the millage issue passed at the September 1 primary election was of vital interest to the court which had seen a 40 per cent turnover in personnel in three years.

Picturing the court as an institution, Judge Lincoln pointed out that 30,000 children pass through its doors each year.

DURING a year's time the court handles 1,700 adoptions and places over 3,000 children in boarding homes — 1 child for each 1,000 population in Wayne County.

An active adoption policy he said, has reduced the number of children placed in boarding homes. Judge Lincoln noted that more money would be spent in the area of adoptions and it would pay off financially. More adoption workers are needed, he said.

Humor Marks Lent's Comments

Amid outbreaks of appreciative laughter last Wednesday evening, Chamber of Commerce President Wernell Lent gave both a goodbye address and an inaugural message at the annual Chamber dinner meeting held at Lofy's.

Lent succeeded himself for another term as head of the Chamber.

In his farewell remarks, the outgoing President noted with puckish wit "the days of accomplishment and frustration." He thanked all those who contributed to achievements of the past 12 months.

Then, after turning a full circle, he assumed the role of (Continued on Page 5)

In a Nutshell...

★ By a vote of 48-36, Mayflower Hotel employees last Thursday defeated a proposal to organize under the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders International Union, Detroit Local Joint Executive Board, AFL-CIO. The consented election was conducted by the State Labor Mediation Board, according to Hotel Manager Ralph Lorenz. Had approval been granted, all employees except the manager, assistant manager and confidential employees would have come under jurisdiction of the Union.

★ At their regular meeting held a week ago Monday evening, Plymouth Community School Board members approved the annual United Nations trip for the International Relations Class of Plymouth High School. The request was submitted by class correspondent Judy Olds. The class is taught by Miss Gertrude Fiegel.

★ At least two Plymouth residents bagged deer in the early hours of the 1964 hunting season. Danny Richter, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Richter of 8202 Grace, shot an eight-point buck at 7:10 a.m. Sunday in Livingston County. The .22-caliber rifle was the first gun he had deer hunted with. In the past he has used bow and arrow. Another Plymouth hunter, Steven Linn of 6320 Lotz Road shot a 12-point buck at Fairview, Mich., near Duck Lake. He made the kill during the afternoon of opening day.

★ Although a painful hip is bothering him, members of former Plymouth Mail publisher Sterling Eaton's family said today he was progressing satisfactorily after surgery a week ago. Mrs. Eaton said her husband is responding to treatment well. A new surgical technique, she said, literally saved the ex-publisher's life in his continued battle against cancer.

D.P.W. Activities

 The past week found the Public Works Department picking up leaves and moving a curb on Liberty Street west of Mill Street.
 In removing old curb it was found that the sub base was wet and mushy. Therefore, bad material was dug out and weeping tile was put in. Two new catch basins were installed. This street will be blacktopped next week.
 Work was started on the Christmas Decorations in Kellogg Park. The big grate at S. Harvey was cleaned off. A manhole along the County Drain between Sheridan and Penniman Avenues was cleaned out and a manhole cover was replaced.
 It was discovered that youngsters had removed the cover and built a shelter in the manhole.
 It might be added that this could become very serious as this is a Sanitary Sewer about twenty feet deep, youngsters could be overcome with Sewer Gas, and this could be fatal. The youngsters had built a fire in the manhole and this could have caused a serious explosion.
 So the Public Works Department is urging anyone who sees youngsters playing in this area to please make sure they are not playing in the manholes or call the Public Works Department. The department handled three funerals at Riverside Cemetery.
 Hydrants were flushed in Masserman Springdale Subdivision. Fire hydrants are being pumped out and prepared for winter. Work was done on street signs repairing damaged ones and ones marked with spray paint.

Commission to Question Other Units About Swimming Pool

Letters of inquiry concerning possible interest in a swimming pool will be sent to Plymouth Township and Plymouth Community School Districts by Plymouth Mayor Richard Wernette.

City Commissioners authorized Wernette to send the letters to their Nov. 16 meeting.

Commissioners referred a request by Seventh Day Adventists concerning solicitations to the City Manager for disposition and approved a motion made by Commissioner George Lawton to table the March of Dimes request to conduct its Mother's March on 28 and its peanut sale on Feb. 6 pending a report from the Plymouth Community fund.

Commissioner Robert Smith voted on both the motion concerning Seventh Day Adventists request and March of Dimes, and Commissioner Robert Beyer voted against the motion concerning the March of Dimes drive.

After receiving a request from Dura-Tainer Corporation for approximately 3.2 acres of urban renewal land adjoining their property to expand manufacturing facilities in Plymouth, Commissioner Arch Yallier requested a Dunn and Bradstreet rating on the company to see if they are financially capable.

The city does not own as yet the property in question, according to City Manager Albert Glassford. In a letter to the commission James Van Gieson, of Dura-Tainer, said his company proposes a 20,000 square foot building at the cost of approximately $86,000.

The reservoir change order was returned to Pre-load Company Inc. subject to terms suggested by McNees, Wallace and Nurick, of Harrisburg, Pa., which include:

(1) Change order is not a waiver by the contractor of his right to reimbursement for delay costs, although the owner denies liability for cost of such delay;

(2) No time extension is granted for completion of the reservoir; and

(3) The cost of $11,970 is believed to be at least $3,500 too low.

Commissioners accepted with thanks a donation of $1,000 from Plymouth Insurance Agents Association for use in Kellogg Park and authorized Wernette to appoint a committee to study the best use for the money. The association suggested it might be used for an underground sprinkling system.

City Attorney Edward Drau-gels recommended to commissioners that they change the present ordinance regarding obstruction of streets by trains to permit a maximum fine of $500 and to make it compulsory for the railroad to allow blocked streets to clear before running a second train through town.

In other action Commissioners:

(1) Concurred with the Municipal Building Authority's recommendation for landscaping the new city hall at a $3,000 cost plus matching funds from the Federal government, if possible;

(2) Approved a request for funds for radio equipment for the police and fire departments;

(3) Approved the special assessment roll for Liberty St. reappreciation;

(4) Set a public hearing for Dec. 21 regarding vacating two alleys and part of George Street;

(5) Named Glassford and Commissioner James Houk to represent the city at the regional planning commission conference, Dec. 2; and

(6) Appointed high school student Chris Rowland to serve on the Human Relations Commission.

To point up the importance of Christian aid to foreign countries in the form of support for missionaries and school, Mrs. Gentile related several instances where she has met UN representatives from foreign nations who were educated and trained in missionary schools and Christian colleges.

Drawstring bags filled with school supplies for children in new African nations and Brazil were gathered and weighed by Mrs. John Walasky from Assembly of God Church. So mothers in these countries might sew clothing for their families, lengths of cotton material were also bought by the UCW.

Also participating in the service were Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. Nellie Simkiss and Mrs. Dorothy Meyer. Participating churches were Assembly of God, First Methodist, Epiphany Lutheran, Latter Day Saints, First Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist Wesleyan, Salvation Army and St. John's Episcopal.

American Legion Hosts Veterans Week

The Ex-Servicemen's Club and their Auxiliary and the Benton Parkway Barracks and their Auxiliary were the guests of the Passage-Gayde Post No. 391, The American Legion at a pot-luck dinner Nov. 8 at the Legion home when they commenced observances of Veterans week.

Veterans Day is a day to remember veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean War. Legion Commander Gilbert Williams stated.

"This occasion today with members of the two organizations who represent World War I membership is but a small token of appreciation to those men who, when they had returned from the conflict in Europe, set about to make provisions or the re-

To Discuss What Makes Prejudice Tick Thursday

"Prejudice - What Makes It Tick" will be the subject of the second of series of informational programs presented this fall by the Plymouth Assembly for Equal Opportunity.

Prof. Martin Gold of the University of Michigan psychology department will be the speaker for the Nov. 19 meeting at 8:30 p.m. in Plymouth High School annex. He will discuss prejudice from the psychologist's point of view - how it begins, what keeps it going and how an individual can overcome it.

The meeting is open to the public without charge. Questions from the audience will be answered.

The next meeting, Dec. 3, will deal with the unique art and culture of the American Negro.

The first covered wagon to leave Massachusetts for the Northwest Territory started from Hamilton in December of 1787.

Plymouth Swim Club to Begin Second Session

The second session of the Plymouth Swim Club will begin Nov. 24 and will close about Feb. 16.

A new family plan has been initiated to help families with more than one child wanting to swim. The fee will be ten dollars for the first child and five dollars for each other child from the same family. These fees must be paid to the recreation office by November 20.

If membership in the club can be increased from the present 50 paid members to 60 or more, the fee for the third session (probably in February) will be lowered to eight dollars for initial membership. Sweatshirts and emblems

The only requirement for membership is the ability to swim the length of the pool.

Youngsters ten-years or older are needed to replace those who leave for varsity teams and the Water Waves. Meets are scheduled with neighboring swim clubs as part of its activities. Let's see some new faces at that first practice, Nov. 24.

"A PLACE FOR US"

Predict More Evans Growth in Plymouth

Noting nearly a tenfold increase in sales during the past 10 years, the vice president and general manager of Evans Products Company's Plymouth-based Transportation Equipment Division predicted further growth of his firm in The Plymouth Community Friday.

In a speech to a local service club at the Mayflower Hotel, Friday noon, James J. Conway pointed to an increase in sales from $25 million in 1954 to between $178 and $180 million this year for Evans Products Company.

He noted the effect on the community of the Evans plant which poured out $5.5 million in local payroll last year and is expected to hit $6.5 million this year.

Employment at the plant, which recently completed a 60,000 square-foot, $1.5 million addition, has risen from an average of 800 employees in 1963 to over 900 this year.

Evans Products Company devotes its efforts in three main fields: Transportation equipment, building materials and mobile homes.

The firm is the world's leading plywood producer and manufactures plywood, hardboard and "plywall," a product on which hardboard graining is printed on other woods.

The Transportation Equipment Division, headquartered in Plymouth, has produced special damage prevention equipment for the transportation industry since 1915, Conway said.

The division's broad line of products, headed by the DF-C coil railway car for shipment of coil steel, is keyed to cutting down on the $125 to $130 million annual freight loss.

The firm also designs and manufactures equipment for the trucking and air transportation industries.

EXPRESSING optimism for the future, Conway told Plymouth Rotarians that Evans has damage prevention equipment for whatever is packaged and shipped. Included is sheet and coil steel and palletized products.

Evans, he said, has pioneered in the development of load restraining, bracing and tie-down devices.

Tested for years, the DF-C coil car was first introduced in Chicago in Oct., 1963. De-luged with orders, Evans broke ground for the plant addition to produce the new cars last May.

In production by September, the first DF-C car was shipped one year after its introduction. The plant addition has raised Evans' factory space here in Plymouth to 560,000 square feet. It includes 10,000 square feet of track capable of accommodating as many as 130 railroad cars.

Orders for the new car have come from the Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Grand Trunk Western and other railroads.

"There is a place for us here," Conway predicted. "If we can train the proper supply of labor." Pointing out that Evans owns 115 acres at its plant site for additional expansion, Conway said:

"We intend to use it." Research, the executive said, is what has put Evans in the forefront of the transportation industry as he detailed how the 60-man engineering department is working to develop and test new equipment.

At the plant site's testing hill, the firm perfected its "hydra-cushion" device which will dissipate two thirds of 750,000 pounds of coupler force when two rail cars come together.

Evans is constantly protecting its patented items and currently has four or five lawsuits in progress aimed at that protection.

Conway ticked off developments over the past 35 years which have given Evans leadership in the transportation equipment field.

In 1932, he said, Evans developed the first automobile loader, the standard method of transporting cars until haulways came into being.

THE ADVENT of modern load restraining devices was marked in 1940 when the firm introduced the DF loader. Other developments over the years include bi-level and tri-level rail cars; cushioning devices; one-man, one-piece bulkheads and other items.

Evans, Conway said, has more than $250,000 invested in five "rolling laboratories," railroad cars equipped with cushioning devices, side fillers, and bulkheads.

Predicting a bright future for the rail industry, Conway said he could see nothing but a continuation of the rising curve of business. There are 1.5 million rail cars, he said, with an average age of 18 years.

Conway noted that Evans earnings have skyrocketed from a loss of $2.04 per share in 1961 to estimated earnings of $3.25 or more this year.

Conway was introduced to his audience of prominent Plymouth business and professional men by Rotary Past President Sam Hudson.

Hudson is advertising and public relations director for Evans Products Company.

Papers charging assault were expected to be filed against a 16-year-old Plymouth youth this week after a local woman said he manhandled her last Tuesday afternoon in downtown Plymouth.

The woman told Plymouth Police she came out of the D & C store Ann Arbor Trail entrance and saw a large German Shepherd dog standing with its feet on the side of her car.

With the dog, she said, were two youths. She told police she feared for the safety of her 10-year-old daughter, seated inside the vehicle with a toy poodle dog.

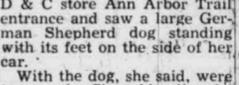

When she told the two boys to get their German Shepherd off the car, they refused, the woman said. At that point, Police said, the woman struck at the large dog with a window shade she had purchased.

The oldest youth grabbed her by the arm, officers said, took the shade away from her and threw it into the street.

Police said the youth has a lengthy record of troublemaking and minor violations.

Trustees Refuse

 Following a lengthy special meeting the week before, Trustees quickly approved the recommendation of the Fire Study Committee and Attorney Earl Demel and approved an amended resolution establishing a Fire Administration Board.
 Supervisor Lindsay recommended two men for appointment to the board, but Trustees agreed to seek prospects out and gain tentative agreement from them to serve before appointments are made.
 Trustees unanimously approved, after an extended discussion, financial support to the recently created Plymouth Community Planning Commission. They pledged $5,000, provided that each of the other two participating communities gives as they have pledged.

Humor Marks

 incoming President with the wry comment:
 "I fully realize I am stepping into the shoes of a very capable man."
 Emcee Robert Beyer preceded Lent's remarks with the introduction of guests to the audience. He noted representatives from the Township of Plymouth, the City of Plymouth and the Plymouth Community School District.
GROWING SERIOUS. Lent paid tribute to outgoing board members and saw a certificate of appreciation presented to Arnold D. Johansen. He read the names of past committee chairmen and gave a glowing commendation to Chamber Secretary Mrs. Horton (Fran) Booth.
 Program Committee Chairman Dr. A. E. Van Ornum highlighted some of the accomplishments of the past year for Chamber members. He cited the accomplishments of the Economic Development Committee in attracting industry to the Plymouth Community and noted the successful retail promotions held.
 Dr. Van Ornum noted the success of the recently inaugurated Businessmen's Forum programs and detailed general activities. He, too, cited Mrs. Booth's accomplishments.
 "If it weren't for Fran," he said, "I'm sure the thing would fall apart."

Judge Predicts

 trouble in other areas; and he pointed-out the influence of parents on their offspring.
 "If a boy drives with his father who is getting tickets, what do you think he's going to do?" he asked. One out of three youthful violators have fathers who are chronic offenders.
 "Delinquency," he said, "is a mirror of the adult population."
 Emphasizing that there is no typical delinquent, the Judge complained about some of the misconceptions which have been perpetuated.
 "There is more nonsense written and talked about delinquency," he commented, "than on any other subject."
 Every person, he said, is an individual. Even in the same family, they have to be treated differently. Many families with delinquents, the Judge pointed out, have raised other children successfully.
MOST DELINQUENTS Judge Lincoln said, are failures. They have either dropped out of school or are due to be expelled. Needed, he said, is something at which these children can succeed.
 The problem is further complicated by the fact that, more and more, high school diplomas are required for employment.
 "If we could find something at which these children could succeed," the Judge said, "it would be a big step." Noting that, under present law, a child cannot be confined for less than a year, Judge Lincoln called for short-term rehabilitative programs where they can be trained.
 The Judge answered questions from the floor following his address.

Plymouth Girls Play Football for MSU Sorority

Football at Michigan State University is more than just a game and pigskin when females engage in the annual Powder Puff game.

Two Plymouth coeds played in the feminine rendition of touch football representing Gamma Phi Beta sorority against rival Delta Gamma Nov. 7 on the intramural field at MSU.

Junior Michelle Bender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie J. Bender, of 15657 Fortis, and senior Sheila Lorenz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Lorenz, of 45885 Ann Arbor Tr., joined their sorority in an 8-0 defeat by Delta Gamma.

Two weeks of practice preceded the contest for the girls and their coaches, members of Sigma Chi and Beta Theta Pi fraternities.

Losing comes hard to the Gamma Phis who have lost only two games in the last eight years. Partisan spirit, however, is at low tide and all the girls had breakfast together at the Delta Gamma house before the game.

Though returning to campus for the Powder Puff game, Miss Lorenz is student teaching this term at Arthur Hill in Saginaw.

Miss Bender is also an education major.

Town Cryer Teaching is More Than Just Babysitting

By Jacquie Town

The most important person to a child, next to his parents is his teacher.

From the time a student enters school at age five until he completes his college education, he spends a total of seventeen years under the influence of teachers. I'm sure each of us remembers vividly one particular teacher we had while in school and the things other than education we obtained from that person.

Some of our important attitudes and feelings can be directly associated with our school days and the people who influenced us during that period of time.

I attended a one-room country school through the eighth grade, and had the same teacher for the entire period. She taught us more than the three R's.

She taught us the importance of helping one another; she brought out our individual abilities; made us aware of them, worked with us on them, and encouraged us to develop these abilities in our own way.

We had our Mothers in for Valentines Day, Mother's Day, and other occasions. We learned the importance of manners and respect. We had Christmas programs with each individual reciting, where we learned the art of public speaking.

And when the time came to enter high school, we were better prepared than most other children. I used to feel it was the school.

Now I contribute it solely to the teacher.

If I had been exposed to her for just one year, I'm sure she would have instilled the same principles in that time that she did in eight years.

Recently, a study was conducted by a large midwest university on this subject. They took a sample of 20 boys, all potential juvenile delinquents. The boys came from lower income brackets, broken homes, and, generally, environments conducive to delinquency. After the study was completed, they found that each of these boys had been in contact with the same teacher for at least one year of their education.

Out of the 20 boys, 75 per cent did not become juvenile delinquents, but better than average citizens.

When the teacher was asked about the boys, her reply was "Oh yes, I remember all of them, and I loved all of them. They were really very good boys."

This says something.

It says how important our teachers really are to the end result of children's lives. A teacher, by working with someone who may be considered bad, or slow, or a borderline problem, can change the entire course of that child's life, just by the influence he or she exerts.

In the same respect, one teacher can do irreparable damage to a child if she is not interested in the student, and considers teaching as just a babysitting job rather than a major responsibility.

It is a challenge to work with the unique student, whether he be exceptional in ability, or at the other end of the scale. Each child is an individual, and cannot be grouped.

It is said the war will be won in the classroom.

With as many as 40 students in one room, the task is made even more difficult. To correct this situation it takes more than just schools. It is going to take a re-evaluation of teachers. We must look upon them in the light of their abilities, not simply because they hold a diploma.

We must show our respect within the community, and in their paycheck as well. Perhaps if we gave them the credit the profession deserves, more young people would be willing to enter this extremely important field, and we could become more selective in our choice of who shall influence our children.

We can build all the schools in the world; and if qualified people are not available to staff them, we end up right back where we started.

The United States Government owns or controls 70 per cent of the land in Arizona.

Nanci Eskridge, Walter Smith Speak Vows in Garden Ceremony

In an Oct. 10 garden ceremony at the bride's Dearborn home Nanci Eskridge and Walter D. Smith repeated their wedding vows. The Rev. Richard Hinson officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, a former Plymouthite, is the daughter of Mrs. Loren Naylor, of Dearborn, and James Eskridge, of Tulsa, Okla. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Robert Buckles, of Jackson, and the late Walter A. Smith.

The bride, given in marriage by Leonard Naylor, wore a floor-length poise de soie gown with scooped neckline and long petal point sleeves. Her fingertip illusion veil was held in place by a poise de soie crown. The bride carried a bouquet of cascading baby roses centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Eugene Wise, of Livonia, was matron of honor. She wore a teal blue satin dress with matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of gold-tipped cascading baby mums.

Gregory Descamp, of Ann Arbor, served the bridegroom as best man. Seating guests were Eugene Wise, of Livonia, and Clifford Bolding, of 9271 Elmhurst.

The bride's mother chose a dark green knit dress with brown accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother's dress was navy blue knit with matching accessories.

Following a reception at the bride's home, the couple left for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Canada. She chose a royal blue suit with grey accessories for her going-away outfit.

Mrs. Smith is a 1959 Plymouth High School graduate and attended Arkansas State College. Her husband is a graduate of Jackson High School, Jackson, and is employed by Ford Motor Company, Wixom. They are living in Plymouth.

TREASURES FROM Plymouth Pantries

A quick and easy-to-make recipe for "Cinnamon Coffee Cake" was suggested by Mrs. Ron E. Gange, of 1149 Roosevelt St.

The Ganges have lived in Plymouth for five years moving here from Redford Township. They have two children, two-year-old Stacey and nine-year-old David. David attends Smith School.

Mrs. Gange has worked as a secretary in the Ford Motor Co. central offices in Dearborn and plans to go back to work again in the near future.

She is a member of Eastern Star and lists bridge and knitting among her hobbies.

The addition of sour cream to the recipe keeps the coffee cake moist.

"CINNAMON COFFEE CAKE"

3 eggs
2 C. flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
1/2 pint sour cream

Topping
6 Tbsp. soft butter
1 C. brown sugar packed
2 tsp. cinnamon
1 C. pecans or walnuts
Cream well shortening, sugar and vanilla. Add three eggs separately, beating well after each egg. Sift together flour, baking powder and soda.

Add sour cream and flour mixture alternately with first three ingredients. Beat well. Spread one-half batter in a greased angle food pan; dot with one-half the topping; spread with remaining batter and then topping.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes to one hour. Cool 15 minutes and remove from pan.

How to Choose Thanksgiving Bird

Thanksgiving traditionally means a turkey on the table and in the modern supermarket there are many shapes and sizes to choose from.

When choosing the right size turkey for your dinner allow approximately 1/2 to 3/4 pounds per person.

Unstuffed turkey parts should be almost completely thawed before cooking. Do not thaw commercially frozen stuffed birds before cooking. The refrigerator is the best place to thaw. Unwrap small parts and separate them so air can reach each piece.

To shorten the time, turkeys sealed in watertight wrappers may be thawed in cold water. A large whole bird may take as long as 2 to 3 days to thaw in the refrigerator.

Do not stuff the turkey until time to roast it.

Kiwanians See Prize-Winning Election Film

The marked contrast between the recently concluded election campaign and the 1960 Kennedy-Nixon contest was shown Tuesday evening as Plymouth Kiwanians watched "Battle for the Presidency," a film sponsored by Xerox Corporation.

Given the Grand Prix award after its completion in 1963, the film was withheld from public viewing until recently due to the death of President Kennedy.

The film showed the physical and mental strain the candidates underwent and touched on religious and civil rights issues.

IT WAS presented by Kiwanian Ray Cusato, guest speaker for the evening.

Jay Hanna was received into membership and presented with his Kiwanian pin and bib. The bib must be worn for the next four meetings so that all members will recognize him as a new member.

Gordon Packard of Ann Arbor and young Plymouthite Paul Groth were guests for the evening. Groth is a recipient of the 1964 Plymouth Kiwanian Scholarship Award to Schoolcraft College.

An invitation was extended to the Kiwanians to attend the Schoolcraft Circle-K Club meetings which are held at 11 a.m. each Thursday in Room 150 of the Forum Building.

Second Vice President Bill Lyons reported that sales of fruit cakes are doing well. Orders for Christmas cakes will be taken beginning November 24. Guest speaker at the Nov. 24 club meeting will be Mrs. Napier Shelton who will discuss Thailand.

On Dec. 1, Peter J. Sarris of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. will speak on investments. Nort Lofy will present a family night program on Dec. 22.

Family Service

Inconsistency Seems Dishonest to Teenagers

By Anna Jung

Let us take a further look at the world in which the adolescent finds himself. Actually, we might say he lives in two worlds — the world of his family, and the larger world of his community.

Social and moral values are learned in the community as well as in the home.

In their common concern about the problems of teenagers, adults look for scapegoats whom they can blame for the problems.

The parents, the schools and the churches all have been given their share of blame.

In a sense we — the adults — are all to be blamed to a degree. Most of us at one time or another have contributed to the problems of young people through carelessness, cupidity, or dishonesty.

One of the most flagrant offenses committed by adults against the adolescent is to leave a car unlocked, and to leave the keys in the car. This is an invitation to juvenile crime.

Many young boys have their first, and perhaps their only, contact with juvenile courts as a result of stealing a car to go joy-riding.

While the act of stealing a car is certainly a criminal offense, should we not also place some responsibility on the adult who made the theft possible through carelessness?

Cupidity leads to another kind of problem which, though not as serious as car theft, is nevertheless damaging to the character of the adolescent.

Many merchants extend credit to minors for purchases of items that are not necessities.

Contracts are entered into with minors without the knowledge or permission of their parents.

When teenagers are unable to pay, the merchants sometimes try to collect from parents, or threaten the minor with court action. While such contracts cannot generally be enforced, many parents will pay in order to avoid unpleasantness for themselves and their children.

Such business practices do not instill respect for law; on the contrary, they are more likely to breed contempt for law and for the adults who trade on the adolescents' lack of impulse-control.

In the struggle toward independence, the adolescent chafes against rules, regulations, and restrictions. Yet when the chips are down he wants to know that external controls will save him from his own undisciplined impulses.

Discipline and control are acceptable to the adolescent if meted out fairly; rules and restrictions are respected if they are realistic and consistently enforced.

A common complaint of high school students is that rules of dress and behavior are unrealistic and unenforceable. Inconsistent enforcement of rules seems dishonest to adolescents, who are highly conscious of the values of honesty, integrity, and constancy.

MIXING UP her easy to make "Cinnamon Coffee Cake" is Mrs. Ron E. Gange, of 1149 Roosevelt St. The coffee cake stays moist for several days because of the addition of sour cream to the recipe.

Open Registration for Junior Great Books Leader Program

Registrations for the Junior Great Books Leadership Training program are now being accepted by Mrs. William T. Birge, local parent-secretary of the Junior program.

Only 70 of 140 children registered for the Junior Great Books program which began this fall in Plymouth were able to be enrolled because of lack of leaders.

Children in grades five and up participate in the program which meet monthly for a one-and-a-half hour session to discuss their reading.

The training course which is offered in both daytime and evening sessions will begin the week of Jan. 11, 1965. Classes will meet for two hours once a week for eight weeks.

Staff members from the Great Books Foundation, Chicago, conduct the tuition free course. Trainees learn the Socratic technique of guiding discussions based on asking questions rather than giving answers.

Co-leaders guide discussions to help participants discover their own answers to issues raised by the book. To offset costs of the training program, each trainee subscribes to a one year Junior Great Books membership which includes a subscription to the foundation's monthly publication, "Gadfly."

All materials supplied during the course are retained by the trainees.

To register for the training program mail your name, address and telephone number to Mrs. Birge, 1294 W. Maple Ave.

Mr. Souder, speaking for a group of parents in the Salem Square Subdivision, presented a petition signed by 60 residents requesting the Board of Education to modify the present policy which provides transportation to those secondary school students (grades 7 through 12) who live more than one and one half miles from school. He pointed out that the students in Salem Square who attend Junior High School-East live between 1.2 and 1.5 miles and are not eligible for transportation. He felt that the hazards along Ann Arbor Road and the busy intersection at Haggerty and Lilley Roads justified a change in the policy.

After considerable discussion in which Board members pointed out the difficulties they faced in making an exception to the existing policy, President Fischer appointed Member Schultheiss to evaluate the impact of the request and report his findings at the regular meeting on Monday, November 9, 1964.

Member Henry, Chairman of the Community Relations Committee, reported that the Committee held one exploratory meeting for the purpose of discussing ways and means of interpreting to the public the school program.

Member Hulsing, Chairman of the Curriculum Committee, asked Ass't Supt. Harding to discuss the recommendations proposed by the Committee on Human Growth and Development.

It was moved by Member Utter and seconded by Member Schultheiss that the Report from the Human Growth and Development Committee be accepted and that approval be given for the Administration to proceed with implementation of the recommendations contained therein.

Ayes: Members Fischer, Henry, Hulsing, McLaren, Schultheiss, Soth and Utter.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.
Member Soth, Chairman of the Facilities Committee, discussed the progress reports on the Allen and Farrand School Additions.

Member Schultheiss, Chairman of the Finance Committee, discussed the monthly budget analysis. He called attention to changes in the anticipated receipts for the current year due to the increased enrollment and the increase in the state equalization due to the annexation of the Laphan's Corners District.

It was mutually agreed that the Board of Education would serve as host for the meeting of the Wayne County Association of School Boards on Thursday evening, January 23, 1965, in the Junior High School-West.

Upon the recommendation of Superintendent Ibsister it was moved by Member Schultheiss and seconded by Member Hulsing that the salary for day-to-day substitute teachers be increased from $20 to $22 per day and for permanent substitutes who serve more than 20 days on one assignment the salary be increased from $23 to $25 per day.

Ayes: Members Fischer, Henry, Hulsing, McLaren, Schultheiss, Soth and Utter.
Nays: None.

The motion was carried.
Upon the recommendation of Superintendent Ibsister it was moved by Member McLaren and seconded by Member Utter that the resignation of Miss Mary Ann Gleason be accepted.

Ayes: Members Fischer, Henry, Hulsing, McLaren, Schultheiss, Soth and Utter.

Indeed, why not some icing?

A suggestion that merits attention came up recently when Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce President Joseph R. Fletcher returned from a State JayCee meeting in Sault Ste. Marie.

There, Fletcher and other local JayCeers discovered that the City of Sault Ste. Marie goes just a little bit farther to make visitors feel welcome.

In the event of a convention delegation the Sault Ste. Marie Police Department issues automobile window stickers to visitors which permit free parking in metered areas and zones with time limitations.

The sticker says simply, "Welcome to Sault Ste. Marie. We are glad you are here." (See picture at right).

In a letter written to Plymouth Superintendent of Public Safety Kenneth Fisher, Fletcher enclosed a copy of the Sault sticker and suggested a similar course of action for Plymouth. He wrote:

"... I think it shows that the city was going one step further to make your visit that much warmer than usual. Almost everyone who has ever received a violation ticket remembers that town well.

Need proper signals on M-14

At last Tuesday's Plymouth Township board meeting, trustees pledged to throw their weight — together with the City of Plymouth — behind an effort to secure three phase traffic lights for intersections at Ann Arbor Road and Lilley Road and Ann Arbor and Sheldon Roads.

The move marks an intensification of efforts which have been going on for some time by both governmental units.

Installation of the lights is a measure which, frankly, is long overdue.

Michigan State Police Captain Fred Davids, a Plymouth Township resident, pointed out at Tuesday's meeting that opening of a freeway link west of Plymouth will add to the already heavy traffic load on M-14 (Ann Arbor Road).

The increased automotive volume will be added to an artery which has seen too many tragic and gory accidents.

Early this year, a young woman was killed at one of the intersections. Near misses are commonplace.

In addition, Plymouth Community School District students living far-

"Not because of the good time they had, but because they were inconvenienced with something none of us like to receive."

Pointing out that Plymouth, last year, hosted the State JayCee bowling tournament which brought over 200 extra cars into town and that, next June, more than 100 cars are expected to flow in for the Michigan JayCee Tennis Tournament, Fletcher noted a similar gesture here "could be the extra step."

"I would like to see the City of Plymouth adopt a sticker of this type, not only for JayCee functions, but for any special visitor or function Plymouth might have," Fletcher concluded.

We like the idea.

While Plymouth, like most towns, may not go out of its way to ticket out-of-town vehicles parked by an expired meter, there is a difference between overlooking something and overtly extending a welcoming hand.

A similar sticker could do much to expand the feeling that Plymouth is a warm, friendly city.

As Fletcher noted, "Plymouth already has a good name, why not some icing?"

Why not, indeed?

ther than 1.5 miles away from school must walk the M-14 route on their way to classes, — a route where cars often exceed the posted speed limits and sidewalks are non-existent.

Just recently, for instance, a group of parents from Salem Square, a newly-built subdivision on Ann Arbor Road, have objected heatedly to the fact that their offspring must walk M-14 on their way to Junior High East.

Cars coming from the east, parents contend, often travel in excess of the 45-mile-per-hour speed limit.

The Plymouth Mail endorses and supports the efforts of both Plymouth Township and the City of Plymouth to secure proper signals at these two intersections.

State Highway officials should be cognizant of the fact that a dangerous situation exists — one which, in the future, can only lead to tragedy in the form of serious injury or death.

Three phase lights must be installed at both intersections before a needless accident renders the action anti-climactic.

A WELCOME to Sault Ste. Marie is extended to visitors to the northern Michigan city in this fashion and Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce President Joseph R. Fletcher has suggested that Plymouth might well do to emulate the lakeport city's practice. Fletcher recently attended a Michigan JayCee get-together at the Sault. (See editorial at left.)

Plymouth Community School District Plymouth, Michigan November 13, 1964 The Plymouth Mail 271 Main Street Plymouth, Michigan Dear Editor:

Bill Nelson's recent article in the November 10, 1964 issue of The Plymouth Mail deserves the highest of praise. It was a most appropriate tribute to Mike Hoben, a great guy — an article which touched me deeply because of the frankness and truth of its statements.

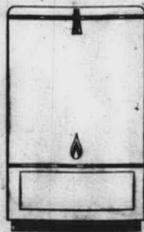

It would be possible to analyze the article and make numerous comments but I shall just congratulate him for writing one of the finest articles of this season — or any season — regarding sports personalities.

The Grim Pilgrim

By DAVE WILEY

The undisputable highlight of last Wednesday evening's annual Chamber of Commerce meeting came when a tall, gruff-voiced man spoke to the audience about one of society's most pressing problems.

He is James H. Lincoln, judge of probate, juvenile division, Wayne County. A towering man, Judge Lincoln brings to one's mind the image of an earlier Lincoln, also an attorney.

The comparison may indicate naivete on my part, but I mention it in passing simply because it presented itself. Maybe it was his directness.

"There is more nonsense," he said at one point, "written and talked about delinquency than any other subject," and I hesitate to continue here lest I add to the cross which has been perpetrated about juvenile offenders.

With their proclivities for classification, rationalization and compartmentalization, human beings have distinguished themselves by complicating a subject which, apparently, needs a more honest approach.

For, if I were forced to distill any causative factor from the Judge's remarks it would be the chronic, bleeding sore of adult hypocrisy.

The jurist emphasized that there is no such thing as a "typical delinquent," no one environmental characteristic at the feet of which blame can be laid.

But, he noted that teenage traffic violators are, in a third of the cases, apt to have fathers who are chronic offenders.

"If a boy drives with his father who is getting tickets," he said, "what do you think he's going to do?"

And therein, I suppose, lies much of the problem.

How are we to expect our children to aspire to greatness when the grownups they see about them are content with mediocrity?

How, pray tell, can we hope they will pursue a course of physical morality when those who preach it are, themselves, tragic victims of emotional childishness and an inability to solve problems except by breaking the ties which bind a family together and provide a stable atmosphere for youngsters in a complex world.

Failure, the Judge said, is apparent in the majority of juvenile cases. Many of the offenders are either failing in school or have done so and been expelled.

So many kids see it all about them. They see it in mothers all wrapped up in a feverish whirl of meaningless activity, — from club to club, organization to organization. American womanhood, obsessed with the fear she is doing nothing important in life, is ignoring the most meaningful activity of all: Her family.

Fathers are concerned because they are told they have surrendered much of their responsibility to Mom. Caught up in the rat race at the office, they drop home and lose themselves in a make-believe video world where all wives are beautiful, gay and intellectually perceptive, and all men are bumbling idiots.

Unable to cope, he surrenders himself to the anesthesia of the martini and counsels Junior to be careful with the car, careful with the girls and careful with life — seeking above all, security instead of challenge. No wonder kids don't give a damn.

I have strayed far afield from Judge Lincoln's remarks.

Most of all, he said, we need programs where failing youngsters can gain some measure of success. Short-term rehabilitative projects are needed where kids can be taught, if nothing else, how to clean a windshield and pump gas.

He's right. This weekend I read through an article in the October issue of the Michigan State Bar Journal on Juveniles and the Police. The magazine was given to Police Chief Ken Fisher by Municipal Judge Harry Deyo. Fisher generously let me borrow it.

In my legally uneducated opinion, juvenile law is, buntly, all screwed up.

Judge Lincoln appears to have some definite views on how it could be untangled.

He should be listened to.

Some time ago, I eyed this week wistfully with the idea of attempting some sort of tribute to John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

But the newsstands are full of memorial editions and what little I could add has probably been better said.

One item. On election eve, I watched as a gang of reporters intercepted President Johnson when he stepped from his helicopter in Texas.

"What are your plans for tomorrow, Mr. President?" they asked.

"Well," Johnson answered, "Ah thought we'd all get together at the LBJ Ranch for a barbecue." The wife and I exchanged glances.

"Egad," she said, "I don't know if I can stand another four years of corn like that."

Me too.

JFK gave to the presidency things it had lacked for many a moon.

Polish, erudition and intellect. In a word, class. I miss it.

McFall, Workman Lead Rocks In 1965 Jay Cees Offer Sports-a-Rama

John Henry McFall's appointment as Plymouth's new head football coach has met with enthusiastic approval by the Plymouth Community. The fact that the Plymouth School system had only to look among its own before selecting the new coach is something of a tribute to the staff that has been gathered here in Plymouth. According to the best information available Plymouth High School principal Carvel Bentley and Athletic Director John Sandmann considered only among the Plymouth staff when selecting a recommendation to Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister.

McFALL had been line coach (and early in his career at Plymouth an end coach) for the past ten seasons under departing head coach John M. Hoben. For the past five years, Hoben had also been assisted by backfield coach Tom Workman, a young knowledgeable coach who has trained the great Plymouth backs for the past few years. Workman is certain to stay on as backfield coach, and Plymouth will still be assured of two-thirds of the trio that provided Plymouth with great teams during Hoben's tenure.

of course, is anything but new to Plymouth people. For the past nine years he has coached Plymouth Swimming teams with much success that youngsters in the community almost want to learn to swim as soon as they can walk.

In his nine years as swimming coach, McFall has led the Rock tankers to eight Suburban League championships in nine seasons. In addition, his 1962-63 won the state swimming championship in a great team effort at the state finals in Ann Arbor.

Among other activities at Plymouth, McFall has coached basketball, tennis and JV and Freshman football teams during his 14 years here. Thirty-seven years old, McFall has spent his entire career in the Plymouth School system, since graduating from Western Michigan University with a bachelor's degree in Physical Education.

NEW HEAD coach McFall,

McFalls recently moved into a home on Simpson street in Plymouth. The two charming young girls consented to be photographed just prior to bedtime and still managed to look amazingly bright.

AT WESTERN Michigan, McFall played guard for three years on Bronco football teams. Prior to that he attended Pontiac Central high school in Pontiac, Michigan where he was born. McFall served for 14 months during 1945-46 in the U.S. Navy aboard the aircraft carrier Shangri-la, which sailed both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans during that period. McFall and his family moved to Plymouth late last summer. He and his wife, Pat, have two daughters, Karen, 6, and Sarah, 4.

The Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce (better known as JayCees) today announced a film Sports-A-Rama Series for the Plymouth Community. Included are five outstanding sports films for sports enthusiasts to revel in from December 3rd to March 18th, a period that encompasses the traditional hot-stove season. All films will be shown at 8:15 p.m. on Thursday evenings at Junior High West.

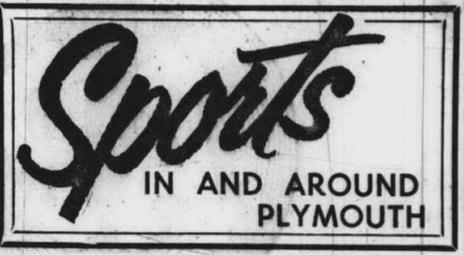

ON FEB. 18, Larry Helin will feature Fishing Holiday in the Northwest Territory. Underwater films of Bass and Pike in Northern Ontario actually striking and fighting the lures are included. Kennedy On Fitness

(Editor's Note: The following is a message by the late President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, written as an introduction to the Adult Physical Fitness program for men and women. It appears on the inside of the pamphlet that can be obtained by writing the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Office, Washington D.C., 20402. The cost is 35 cents.)

A PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE
"Ours is not a regimented society where men are forced to live their lives in the interest of the state. We are, all of us, as free to direct the activities of our bodies as we are to pursue the objects of our thought. But if we are to retain this freedom, for ourselves and for generations yet to come, then we must be willing to work for those physical qualities upon which the courage and intelligence and skill of man so largely depend.

"In the past, on many occasions, I have stressed the importance of vigorous physical activity for our children. I have asked parents to support physical fitness programs in their schools and to provide additional opportunities for developing strength and stamina in their homes and in their communities. We must do still more.

"We must illustrate by deed and example, as well as by words, the importance of physical vitality and health. We must live our lives in such a way that our children, and their children after them, will form a natural and lasting commitment to the vigorous life. Only in this way can we be assured that the spirit and strength of America will be constantly replenished.

"This booklet contains the recommendations of my Council for improving the physical fitness of adults. I urge each of you to follow these recommendations — to have frequent medical checkups, to get sufficient rest and nourishment and above all, to exercise regularly and vigorously.

"The need for increased attention to physical fitness is clearly established. The Government cannot compel us to act, but freedom demands it. A nation is merely the sum of all its citizens, and its strength, energy and resourcefulness can be no greater than theirs."

JOHN F. KENNEDY

The Sporting Thing

By Bill Nelson

In John H. (Henry) McFall Plymouth football is getting a head coach who views the world whimsically.

He played guard for three years at Western Michigan University during his college days and has been line coach at Plymouth during John M. Hoben's decade of victory.

A guard's spot is not a lofty position from which to view the world, but it gives thorough knowledge of where the manly work is done on a football field.

In a sense, McFall is from the same cloth that produced Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty. They both have that puckish sense of humor which serves well in defeat and makes victory have a wonderful touch of fun.

That he is serious and dedicated is undisputed by anyone who has witnessed the emotion-packed post season banquets where McFall and his swimming teams have gotten together for final celebrations. (He has won eight Suburban Six League swim championships and one state title with his nine swimming teams.

But it is his humor that has always stood out. When it became apparent that he was to be the new head coach and no announcement had been made, this writer tried to get some personal background from him so that he would be ready with all the information when the official announcement was made.

"You went to Western Michigan didn't you?"
McFall: "What makes you think I ever went to school?"

Another try: "Were you in service?"
McFall: "Yes, — The Russian Air Force."

That's enough to give you the idea. The thought is not to embarrass a great coach, but to capture that spirit of whimsy that promises to make the immediate ensuing seasons fun for all at Plymouth.

Poet Bobby Burns came close:
"The social, friendly, Honest man,
Whate'er be,
'Tis he fulfills great Nature's plan,
And none but he."

Another man, who possessed an engaging wit, was struck down a year ago November 22. John Fitzgerald Kennedy pursued excellence.

Who can forget how he charged a nation's populace with renewed vigor, to use his words.

In the area of physical fitness, he was the nation's active head, as well as its titular leader.

How long will it be until another President-elect is photographed playing touch football? How long before 50 mile hikes again spread through the nation like a dance fad?

A friend, recently back from Japan, reports that this fad even swept Japan. Business men throughout the country organized hiking expeditions.

President Kennedy was a living example of physical fitness and his energy truly set the world conscious, as individuals, of the need for physical strength as a prerequisite to intellectual greatness. For him physical conditioning and superior intelligence were not anathema to each other.

His press conference revealed his spontaneous wit for all to see on live television. One doesn't quickly forget such exchanges as this:

Reporter: (Asking about a prediction of his) Some people are saying — there is a rumor Mr. President that you are prepared to eat crow on this (matter)?
Kennedy: I'm going to have a dinner shortly when this is finished, and we'll see who eats what?

Or this, after May Craig asked a lengthy question about a public accommodations law and how it would affect small establishments like "Mrs. Murphy's Rooming House."

Kennedy: That depends, Miss Craig, on whether Mrs. Murphy's rooming house would have a substantial impact on interstate commerce.

The man was fun and lively and he, too, had a twinkle in his eye, a kind of charismatic light. — That wit accounts greatly for our feeling of loss.

Recreation Registration Soon; Fitness Program Available

The Plymouth Recreation and Adult Education winter program pamphlets were delivered to mail boxes last week.

This week is the first anniversary of the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

The two events combine to focus attention on a subject close to the late President's heart — namely the pursuit of physical, as well as intellectual, excellence.

One does not really forget the picture of this robust man, as president-elect, playing touch football on the beach at Hyannisport, Massachusetts, although one does sometimes forget the need for physical activity.

PRINTED elsewhere on this page is a message from our late president, stressing the need for physical fitness in a forward to a colorful 64 page pamphlet entitled "Adult Physical Fitness. A Program for Men and Women."

If possible, citizens ought to look closely at the many offerings of the Plymouth Recreation and Adult Education program. There is a fascinating variety of classes which appeal to almost every area of interest.

If there is not the time to partake of a regular course program, then one certainly ought to get the government pamphlet. It proves almost conclusively that everyone can be in better physical shape no matter what his level of current activity or length of time since last engaging in physical pursuits.

A FEW quotes will give you the idea. "The programs are designed so that: You will know exactly how and where to begin — and what to do every step of the way. You will begin easily — without strain or upset — no matter how long since you engaged in vigorous physical activity."

"You will make steady progress toward a level of fitness that you will be able to determine is most suitable for you — and that you will be able to maintain. You will have the satisfaction of being able to measure your progress as you proceed."

"You will be able to proceed at home — without special equipment — and at a convenient time. And the time required will not be excessive. Physical fitness can be achieved at any age. You do not achieve it overnight. It does take effort.

"BUT THE resulting feelings of well-being, renewed strength and vitality are well worth the effort . . ."

That is the message in brief, and the 64 pages of the pamphlet prove its facility in detail that is easy reading.

Registration in the program of Plymouth's Adult Education and Recreation is beginning November 30th

Pistol Club Draws Men From All Walks of Life

Almost every Friday evening, a group of men with a common interest gather together in the old K of C building behind Plymouth's City Hall.

There, they spend a few hours perfecting techniques which, 100 years ago on the western frontier, might have made them men to be feared.

They are members of the Plymouth Pistol Club.

In this day and age, however, their goals are far from sinister as they meet in a spirit of friendly competition to polish marksmanship techniques.

The weekly meeting provides what, in some cases, are the only occasions when fathers and sons can get together and share a common experience.

A CASE in point is Plymouth realtor J. L. Hudson and his son, Richard, who find the pistol club a place where they can meet and get out together.

The club, now in its third year, is composed of men from all walks of life. Included are Hudson, a realtor, and men who work in the auto industry, steel work; a fireman, a design engineer, a sales and estimating man and others.

Headed by George Collier of Detroit, president, the club has about 35 to 40 members.

Competitive shooting is done in the 16-team Southeastern Michigan Pistol League, composed of teams from all over the southeastern portion of the state.

Other club officers include Harry Bartel of Dunn Court, vice president; Al Ambler of Livonia, secretary; Curtis Powell, executive officer and Charles M. Carmichael of Livonia, range officer.

Carmichael is a native Plymouthite, born and raised here.

The purposes of the club, affiliated with the National Rifle Association, are to train citizens of good repute in the safe and efficient handling of firearms; to foster a knowledge of small arms and the ability to use them among members of law enforcement agencies and the Armed Services, and all other citizens who would be subject to service in the event of war.

A related purpose is to promote social welfare and public safety, law and order and National Defense.

Essentially, however, the main role of the club is to provide good, competitive fun for its members. In actual competition with other clubs, the Plymouth Pistol Club has won one and lost four so far this season.

In handicap standings, they stand tenth in the 16-team league with a two and three record.

Annual dues are $2 per year with a $7.50 fee at the time of joining. Guests must pay a 75-cent range fee.

Persons interested in joining the club may contact Hudson at GL 3-2210.

THESE ARE a few of the members of the Plymouth Pistol Club which meets each Friday evening in the old K of C building behind the City Hall. Left to right, they are Jasper Peters of Redford Twp., J. L. Hudson of 1217 Kehrl St.; Richard Hudson of 713 Ann St.; John Q. Groot of 14205 Eckles Road; Charles M. Carmichael of Livonia; Dave Neil of Detroit and Stanley Neal of Detroit.

GUN CASES, many of which contain as much as $500 worth of equipment, are used by marksmen to protect their pistols, tools and ammunition. Here, J. L. Hudson, left, and range officer Charles Carmichael look over two of the cases.

School Spirit, Has it Disappeared Entirely?

By Mike Ross

School spirit? Where? This is precisely the question that is being asked by many P.H.S. students. A review of the recent football season shows an appalling lack of any school spirit. A typical home game was one sparsely dotted with little outbursts of emotion and little there were.

Usually the cheerleaders were drowning out the crowd.

A typical away game was earmarked by the Plymouth band being larger than the crowd of spectators, each of whom had a paralyzed voice box.

When people were asked why they weren't yelling, the excuse that came from stagnant vocal chords were remarkably the same. After 28 people had been asked, three specific "reasons" had been worn as thin as a ten-year-old doormat.

They were, "I have a sore throat," "I can't hear the cheerleaders," and this handy one, "I'm too cold." One person had nerve enough to give an answer approaching the truth. From beneath an avalanche of blankets, hats, coats and scarves came, simply: "I don't want to."

I don't think he could have if he wanted to.

Football games aren't the only sport at Plymouth devoid of spectator spirit. Another, and perhaps the worst "sore thumb", is the track meets.

The track team is lucky if they get one person to come and cheer them on at home meets.

At away meets the same situation exists. The cheerleaders, then, back out, too, because there just is no one to lead in cheers. The upcoming basketball season is destined to a doom similar to the football season.

But sports comprise just one facet where school spirit can be, but isn't shown. Clothing drives, red feather drives, and Christmas cards are just three of the many examples.

It seems the only spirit is put behind egg fights and painting our town red.

School spirit isn't something manufactured and then marketed for a certain price; but it is, rather, a mutual feeling among a student body that comes from their hearts.

Where is our school spirit? No one seems to know.

Peace Can be Found On Lumley Beach

By Lon Dickerson

The wind rushes through your hair as you round a bend in the road, and the aroma of salt fills your nostrils. Then, suddenly, before your eyes lies the vast stretch of sand and ocean known as Lumley Beach.

Located about five miles west of Freetown, it is one of several beaches along the peninsula upon which the capital city is situated. They are thought by many to be the finest beaches in West Africa.

Extending for several miles Lumley offers to many Peace Corps Volunteers a moment of relaxation from the hectic schedule which their jobs require.

I had never even seen a body of salt water before stopping in New York City while enroute to Sierra Leone. Consequently my first visit to the fabled white sands of Lumley opened still another new world for me.

The temperature of the water is always ideal for swimming; and an offshore reef prevents the sand from shifting back into the vast Atlantic, providing a large area for wading and a larger area for safe swimming.

High tide produces an abundance of large breakers.

...I had to the art of body surfing. As a wave crashes over your head you throw yourself into the water and are carried onto the beach by its force. Occasionally as you swim in the shallow water a school of small, colorful fish will follow your progress as you, in turn, marvel at their beauty.

Once in a while a shark, barracuda, or moray eel will be spotted in the deep water, but these instances are rare. More common are jelly fish and sting rays. Swimmers, however, are usually not bothered by them. Once in a great while a swimmer will be caught in the undertow and carried out to sea. Policemen patrol the area regularly to remind people to lock their cars and watch their possessions carefully since thieves are a problem on the beach as everywhere in the country.

But, these encounters with danger are unusual and the advantages of a day at the beach far outnumber them.

The beach itself is dotted with people basking in the sun. Amidst them a soccer game can usually be seen. At the same time watching children build castles in the sand is as great a treat here as anywhere.

If all of this doesn't satisfy a person, a walk along the beach will provide even more rewarding sights. The sand crabs scramble for their holes as you intrude on their domain. Shells of cuttle fish line the beach in large numbers. And as I pass them I often think what a paradise this would be for parrots and parakeets. But for some reason they still prefer the jungle life. Sea shells of all colors and sizes are in abundance.

As I pass a deserted shellbox I am reminded that Freetown Harbor played an important role in World War II. This drab concrete structure remains today as a monument to the numerous Allied warships that used this superb natural harbor as their base of operation when the Axis powers controlled the continent of Europe.

At the far end of the beach a lighthouse majestically stands atop a rocky point. And off that point can be seen the rusting hulls of those ships which failed to heed its beacon light.

From the rocks, fishermen throw out their lines in an attempt to lure small rock fish.

Once you round this spot you come upon a quiet, secluded cove. Nestled at its far end amid the palm trees is the Cape Club. There you can get a hamburger for 35 cents to appease your hunger and a cool drink to quench your thirst.

From any of the small tables on the patio you get a magnificent view. Behind you the fluffy rain clouds appear to be snagged on the mountain peaks. As you look toward the water you can see an ocean liner on the horizon.

And when the sun begins to set, the sky is filled with a blaze of color. As it dips into the sea it ignites the placid waters with a glowing radiance. With dusk comes a gentle ocean breeze. Before departing for home the sea entices you to have one final plunge.

At night the water takes on a fluorescent brilliance. And as you emerge from its depths millions of microscopic particles cling to your body so that for a few minutes your skin too glimmers with fluorescence.

In such a moment of earthly bliss you sense that the world is at peace.
