

City takes steps to solve parking snags in business district

The City Commission took initial steps towards solving downtown parking snags at a special parking hearing Monday night.

The decisions centered around methods of getting employees and merchants to park in lots other than the central parking lot to the rear of Kresge's and the National Bank of Detroit buildings.

Employees will be issued maps with the location of parking lots in the City carefully marked.

The central parking lot will then be closed between 7 and 9 a.m. ostensibly for cleaning. It is hoped the maneuver will force employees to park in other lots that traditionally stand half empty.

Those lots would include the paved lot to the rear of the Penn Theater.

Commissioner George Hudson made the suggestion to close the lot.

"Let's do it and see what happens. We've got to start to solve the problem right now."

"That's not too bad a suggestion," commented Commissioner Arch Vallier. "At least we are going to find out what the problem is."

COMMISSIONER James McKeon disagreed with the method, and said: "I think we're better than that."

Tentative dates for a trial period are Sept. 13, 14 and 15, after the Fall Festival.

The meeting had been called after the parking committee, a longstanding group, asked for a two-hour parking ban in the central lot. The recommendation was a move to get all-day parkers out of the City's most highly used lot.

The lot is popular with customers because it affords a short walk to the rear entrance to many downtown stores.

Superintendent of Public Works Joseph Bida said the matter of chaining off the lot at the two hours when it fills up the fastest would be no problem.

Various reports indicate that up to 90 cars are in the lot before the stores and business offices open.

SEVERAL alternatives were suggested.

Check arson in barn fires

A series of recent barn fires in Plymouth Township has started Wayne County Sheriff's detectives investigating the possibility of arson.

Township firemen report seven barn fires, all at two residences, within the last two weeks.

Involved are barns on the Jesse Tritten property on Ann Arbor Trail, and on the Guy Bunyee property, 50480 Powell Road.

A summary of the fires shows:

Barn fire, Aug. 14, at Tritten's; Re-ignited later that day.

Barn fire, Aug. 15, at Bun-yea's; Re-ignited later that day.

Barn fire, Aug. 15, at Tritten's.

Barn fire, Aug. 17, at Bunyee's, different barn.

Barn fire, Aug. 18, at Bunyee's, still different barn.

Detective Eugene Derengowski is investigating the various fire reports.

ON THE BUNYEA fires, Derengowski said Bunyee reported seeing a 1958 Ford with four men in it ride by; he said he knew one of the occupants.

German night kicks off Festival

By JOHN HERB
Fall Festival Publicity Chairman

The opening night of the Plymouth Fall Festival, Thursday, Sept. 9, has been designated "German Night".

In keeping with this theme, Kellogg Park will be filled with the sound of Eine Kleine Nachtmusic.

While it may not sound like Mozart, the oom-pa-pa of the German Band will create a wave of nostalgia in many a heart. Made up of members of the Plymouth Community Band, the German Band will fill the air with the solid German music of the gay 90's.

To make this "German Night" complete, the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club will serve delicious knockwurst on a bun from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. (Continued on Page 6)

Sewing to scuba diving

Registration for the fall adult education classes will be held on Sept. 13 and 14 at the High School all day, and from 7 to 9 p.m. in the evening.

A wide range of classes are offered: from badminton to ballet, from sewing to scuba diving, from American history to auto maintenance, from boat handling to bridge.

Classes meet in the evening, on weekdays, Monday through Thursday, as scheduled.

Theater Guild and Symphony will meet on Monday nights; several youth programs, including basketball, are scheduled for Saturdays.

Call 453-3100 for information; schedules are available at the recreation office at the High School.

RAIN AND FOG made the job of capping a gas well near Sheldon Road tough last Wednesday night, and Plymouth Township firemen were called in to lend a hand. Ernest Honke, of the Plymouth Township fire department, was one of many treated to coffee and hamburgers by the Powderpuff's, the firemen's wives.

Building boom goes on, Twp. sets 4 hearings

The building boom in Plymouth Township shows no signs of letting up as an apartment development and JAR Corporation's requests for rezoning were listed for public hearing by the planning commission last week.

The action came at the regular meeting of the Township planning commission Wednesday, Aug. 18.

JAR Corporation, represented by Sam Stoller, was back to ask for rezoning of 43 acres adjacent to Woodlark subdivision from R-1-E country estates, acre lots to R-1-H, country homes, half acre lots.

The subdividing would cut the land into 62 lots.

JAR has been in the midst of months of controversy with the Township planners. They had termed the Plymouth Township zoning ordinances illegal, and unduly restrictive, and had gone to court to fight the matter, after the commission had denied their request for 90 foot lots. JAR had turned to the courts to get what they wanted.

THE SUIT is at a standstill, but pending. Chairman Irving Rozian of the planning commission commented on the new JAR application, and its background.

"We had decided to hold our ground. Earl Demel (Township attorney) and I felt we had a good chance of winning. Demel successfully defeated several motions for summary judgements."

"Then a state Supreme Court decision establishing that the burden of proof rests upon the person protesting the rezoning, not the review board. The court decided it would not be a final board of review, and that the boards were doing their jobs."

"That sort of weakened their position," Rozian concluded.

The request of JAR for half-acre lots climaxes almost two years of battle over the rezoning of the land. The matter will be open for discussion at a public hearing in Sept.

In other action, a chorus of objections have already poured into the Township offices, protesting the Fred Garling-Jesse Tritten Hawaiian Village apartment development in the Ann Arbor Trail-Lindsay Drive area.

Gas well blows top, evacuate Shearer Dr.

A gas well in the Sheldon well field blew its top Wednesday evening, spewing gas over a wide area and sending residents of Shearer Drive scurrying.

The well blew at about 3:50 p.m. Wednesday on a well a half-mile in (east) from Sheldon Road; the well was being converted to storage for about 75 wells in the Northville field.

It was capped "live" at about 8:45 Thursday morning, which Consumers Power spokesman John Watters said was quite a feat, especially in such a short period of time. The capping was extremely tricky, and had to be done very carefully.

Firemen from Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Northville Township and Salem Township were summoned, and stood by throughout the rain-soaked night.

WON'T BE THE SAME:

Longtime teacher resigns, others hired

Things won't be quite the same in Plymouth High School government classes from now on.

That's because Miss Gertrude Fiegel, government teacher at PHS for 36 years, will not be returning to school.

Miss Fiegel, who has instilled an appreciation of American Government in countless Plymouth students, submitted her resignation to Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister on Aug. 17.

It was accepted with extreme regret by the Board of Education Monday evening and Superintendent Isbister was instructed to write a letter of appreciation to Miss Fiegel on behalf of the board.

"ANYONE who can put up with Blunk and McLaren deserves a letter," board member J. D. McLaren commented wryly.

McLaren's remark referred to himself and Assistant Superintendent of Schools for Business Melvin Blunk. Both men are former students of Miss Fiegel's.

Many students hold a warm spot in their hearts for the retiring instructor. (Continued on Page 2)

Two named to head Mail's printing plant

Appointment of two Plymouth Mail staffers to the co-superintendency of plant operations was announced this week by Editor and General Manager Dave Wiley.

Herbert Allen of Plymouth will become superintendent of the commercial printing department and Gary L. Cooper of Farmington will assume the post of newspaper production superintendent on Sept. 1.

They replace Walter E. "Walt" Jendrycka, a veteran of 34 years with The Plymouth Mail, who will fulfill a long-term ambition when he moves to Arizona next month.

Walt and his wife, Thelma, have relatives in the west and their annual vacation pilgrimage to Las Vegas has become something of an institution at The Mail.

Commenting on the new appointments, Wiley emphasized that the two men are highly qualified for the posts. Allen has been with The Mail's commercial printing (Continued on Page 6)

Vollbrecht sale like walk into the past

By MARY JANE MINAHAN
Mail Women's Editor

Meandering through the lovely, old Vollbrecht home on Ann Arbor Trail last weekend was like walking into the past. The Louis XIV love seats, ornate vases and huge, gold framed paintings reminded one of an 18th century drawing room.

The contents of the home were on public sale to settle the estate of Mrs. Marguerite Vollbrecht who died about a year ago. Vollbrecht died in 1962.

By the time the doors opened at 10 a.m. on Saturday, there were persons lined up four abreast out to the sidewalk. Cars jammed Ann Arbor Trail and McKinley St. all weekend.

BUILT IN the late 1920's the home was filled with period furnishings. Old bedsteads and dressing tables were sold fast. Oriental rugs were at a premium by Saturday afternoon. Entire sets of china, cut glass dishes and lovely, gold rimmed plates caught the ladies' eye.

The appraisers seemed a bit optimistic with their price tags, but many items were sold the first day and at the invitational sale on August 18. Prices ranged from books for 50 cents, vinegar cruets for $6.50 to a $295.00 gold framed painting.

It seemed irreverent, somehow, that next to the $75.00 ornate vase an inscribed resolution of respect to Mr. Frederick Vollbrecht in appreciation for his work in Junior Achievement was selling for $5.50.

When the furnishings are all removed, the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bruce and their four children of Lakeside Dr., will take possession. Bruce is president of Plymouth's Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co.

Optimists lose thriller to Roseville on errors

The Cinderella team of the Class D league went right down to the wire looking like champs, then lost in an exciting raggedy-andy final game Friday.

It was the finals of the Intercity, and the Plymouth Optimists were playing a team from Roseville at Levagood field in Dearborn Heights. The Optimists lost 4-2 after leading for most of the way. The Optimists drew first blood in the first inning as one of the new members of their team, one they were allowed to add, Mike Stachurski, tapped out a single to knock in Dave Carrol. Stachurski played with the Livonia Giants during the season, Carrol with Inkster.

In the playoffs, scores were: Diponio 7, Ecorse 0; Fisher's 1, Roseville 11; Diponio 5, Wayne 4 (nine innings); Diponio 0, Taylor 10; Unv. Litho 0, Livonia 11; Novi General Filters 0, Livonia 6.

Plymouth threatened in both the second and the third, letting three runners die on base in the second, and two in the third. At this point, Plymouth's Jackie Robertson had three strike-outs.

IN THE BOTTON of the fourth Roseville tied it up as a runner stole second, moved to third on a sacrifice bunt, then was scored as Paul Shafnitz got Roseville's first hit.

For the Optimists in the fifth, John Bida ran a weak hit into a single, went to second on a sacrifice and moved to third on a wild pitch.

Then, with big Mike Stachurski in the batter's box at the plate, Bida attempted a steal of home. The umpire thumbed him out.

In the meantime, Jim Arnold had made it safely to third. Stachurski gave the signal, plopped himself square in the box in front of the plate, and Jim Arnold stole home safely, right in front of Roseville's catcher.

A brief argument ensued, but the run counted.

A great throw by Mike Lockwood to first and a nice play by Arnold retired two Roseville players in the fifth. But then things started to happen, and here's where Plymouth lost the game.

WITH A single from Roseville's Bob Hornberger and a stolen base, Roseville threatened with men on second and third base.

The two runs scored as a ball hit to short stop started the runners moving. One runner danced around the rolling ball, and Arnold protested interference.

In the argument that followed, the home plate umpire turned his back on a play at home and walked out to second where Arnold was arguing with the base umpire.

In the midst of the arguments, two runs scored — leaving the score at 3-2, in favor of Roseville.

Coach Cliff Burpo at this point, decided to put Dave Nunez in place of Robertson on the mound. Nunez opened up by throwing out a runner on a pick-off at second. In the sixth, Roseville capped the game with a center field double, a bunt and a single that scored a runner.

Plymouth failed to rally, and went three up, three down in the seventh.

Plymouth was officially credited with six errors, most of them surrounding that disastrous interference call and argument with the umpire.

Roseville scored four runs on four hits, Plymouth two runs on four hits.

The game had been started on Thursday but had been rained out.

Here's how the Optimists reached the finals of the Intercity.

The Optimists lost the series with the National League championship North Dearborn team two games to one, but qualified for the Intercity.

They went out to beat Lincoln 3-0, then beat Dearborn 3-0 in the semi-finals in two beautiful shut-outs.

Miss Fiegel

(Continued from Page 1) not only because of her teaching, but through the association they enjoyed with her on trips by International Relations classes which she headed.

Miss Fiegel has been a teacher for 40 years.

Also accepted with regret at the Monday evening meeting was the resignation of Miss Ruth Butts, high school English teacher.

Five appointments of new teachers were approved. They are:

(1) Mrs. Sharon Mosavat who will teach Senior High English, replacing Miss Butts. Mrs. Mosavat holds an A.B. degree from Brigham Young University and an M.A. from the University of Michigan. She comes here from the Berkeley, Mich. school system.

(2) Barry W. Sheldon will teach elementary physical education at Allen and Starkweather Schools. He holds a B.S. degree from Eastern Michigan University and served with the Peace Corps in Jamaica. Sheldon will teach half time and work on an advanced degree at EMU.

(3) Mrs. Eva Somers will be assigned to second grade classes at Farrand School. She holds an A.B. degree from Asbury College.

(4) Angelo Plakas will teach senior high American History. His A.B. degree comes from the University of Detroit.

(5) Miss Ann Olson will conduct Kindergarten classes at Farrand School. She is a graduate of Michigan State University with a B.A. Degree.

School notes go to NBD

A successful bid of 1.94 per cent Monday evening by National Bank of Detroit gave the financial institution the contract for purchase of $700,000 worth of tax anticipation notes for The Plymouth Community School District.

NBD was awarded the purchase at a special meeting of the Board of Education held in the school district offices. Detroit Band and Trust was the only other bidder, with an offer of 2.05 per cent.

Tax anticipation notes are notes which are issued for tax funds to be collected next year by the school district.

In effect, the school system borrows ahead on expected revenues. The funds are used for operation of the schools only and not for construction of facilities.

In other action at the special meeting, the school board came to a mutually satisfactory arrangement with Kaufman and Broad, developers of Arbor Village No. Four subdivision near Allen School, on a sanitary sewer easement.

AT PRESENT, the school system has a sanitary sewer which extends from Allen School across the new subdivision. The sewer extends along an easement granted when Allen School was built.

At Monday evening's meeting, the development firm's regional land planner, John F. Chihan, recommended that the easement be extinguished and that Kaufman and Broad connect the school sewer into lines being built in the new subdivision.

Board members approved a motion on the matter unanimously. Essentially, the arrangement benefits both parties.

Kaufman and Broad will bear full cost of the change, under terms of the agreement.

the 17th; they were taking a lie detector test on the 18th when one of the fires started.

The men were released, with the man Bunyee knew, Alvin Bullman 49485 N. Territorial, passing the test, according to Derengowski.

Two youths saw one of the Bunyee fires, summoned help, and aided in putting out the blaze. They were Floyd and Ronald Doherty.

The pair said they didn't see anybody near the blaze. They said they did see the car.

Information on the Tritten blazes is just as sketchy.

Betty Norman, who lives nearby, said on the evening of one of the fires she saw a young man, clad in a white shirt, run from Tritten's barn, to her home across the street. A car stopped, picked up the youth and turned around in her driveway.

She gave a vague description of the car, Derengowski reports.

"We haven't got much to go on. I don't know who or what is causing the fires," Derengowski said Monday.

"Green hay is dangerous because of the spontaneous combustion of certain gas that forms. But barns will burn a lot more readily with a kitchen match."

DERENGOWSKI said he was in constant contact with the State Police on the matter, and was continuing the investigation. Few known arson suspects are in the area.

Derengowski noted that some 20,000 barn fires across the country are started each year by spontaneous combustion.

IN AIR SHOW:

Plymouthite is aerobatic champ

The Fifth Annual Experimental Aircraft Association's Dawn Patrol will be held Aug. 28 and 29 at Mettetal Airport.

An airshow, featuring Plymouthite Bill Barber, will highlight the two days, beginning each day at 1 p.m.

Sunday, breakfast will be served by the Plymouth Grange.

The show will feature demonstrations of modern military piston engine aerobatic flying, European style contest stunt flying, old fashioned Flying Circus acts and spectacular parachute jumping.

Top ranking aerobatic pilots of the country will appear to demonstrate the many forms of aerobatic stunt maneuvers now being done in the U.S. and Europe.

The roster of professional performers includes nationally known aerobatic pilot Bill Barber, of Plymouth, who was captain of the U.S. aerobatic flying team at a world contest held in Budapest, Hungary, and who has performed before thousands of spectators at airshows all over the U.S.

Barber's several demonstrations include an exhibition of modern military aerobatic flying in a military type piston engine aircraft.

Another leading U.S. pilot appearing at the show will be Bob Lyjak who for several years has been one of the nation's foremost amateur contest aerobatic pilots. Lyjak will pilot a special stunt bi-plane and will demonstrate the European style of contest stunt flying.

DURING THE program Barber will take part in a special exhibition when he goes aloft piloting a tiny eighty-five horse power light plane and attempts to duplicate the maneuvers done by the high powered stunt aircraft.

Barber will also attempt new maneuvers such as the twelve point hesitation slow roll and the eight sided loop.

Bob Lyjak will attempt to force his bi-plane thru such other spectacular maneuvers as the Centrifuge and English Bunt.

Spectators will relive the old fashioned days of the thrilling Flying Circus as the airshow program also includes daring antics on a rope ladder suspended beneath a flying aircraft by well known airshow stunt man Eddy Green.

Later in the program Green will team up with veteran stunt driver Elmo Haynie when he attempts to transfer from Haynie's speeding automobile to a rope ladder suspended from an aircraft in full flight.

During the show a lucky ticket winner will be given a free period of flight instruction after which he or she will be interviewed over the public address system to determine their reaction to actually piloting a plane.

SPECTACULAR parachute jumping will also be a feature of the show. A stunt man will tumble out of an airplane flying two miles above the airport and then hurtle toward the earth without opening his chute for a free fall of almost ten thousand feet.

After opening his chute in full falling view of the spectators the jumper will attempt to make his landing directly before the crowd in a designated area.

The airshow is sponsored by Chapter 113 of the National Experimental Aircraft Association. Proceeds from the show will be donated to the new Air Museum under construction at E.A.A. national headquarters in Milwaukee, Wisc.

Admission for adults is $1. Children under twelve admitted free.

STUNT PILOT Bill Barber, of Plymouth, a championship aerobatic pilot, will be the featured entertainment at a two-day airshow sponsored by the Experimental Aircraft Association at Mettetal Airport this weekend.

Briefly

Doug Johnson

Cliff Burpo's charges surprised everybody after a lack luster season as they went all the way to the finals in Class D Intercity play last Friday.

They lost to a team, that in my opinion, wasn't as good. The umpire turned his back on a play at the plate while Jim Arnold was protesting an interference play, and two runs scored.

In any event, the Optimists went further than any other team this summer.

The University Litho team was outclassed by a much bigger and more experienced team and were whitewashed 11-0.

Sports in The Plymouth Community will be at a standstill for a few weeks until football practice begins on August 30.

This week the publication of the fall adult education program shows several things available for the sports enthusiast — Basketball for all ages, swim club, men's gym, badminton, scuba diving, tumbling, yoga. Call the recreation office at the High School for information.

New among the programs for the adult education program is a class for the Y.M.C.A. in bowling. They will bowl on Saturday, at Plymouth Bowl on Plymouth Road.

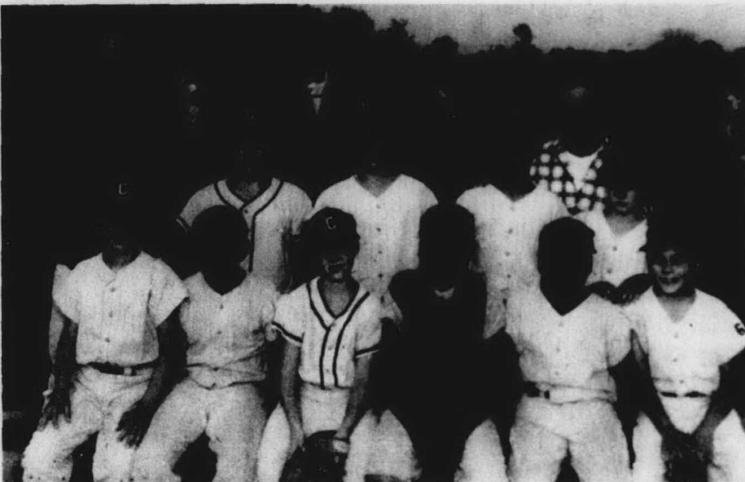

I spent the weekend in Grand Haven at the cottage of friends. It's a great old gray animal of a building that clings and drapes over the top of a dune just south of Grand Haven.

The place is called Castle Craney Crow, and affords a fantastic view of Lake Michigan.

The house itself goes every which way, and when viewed from below looks like it's about to slip back into the lake, like some great monster.

Everybody that comes to the place falls in love with it, and spends time wondering about its history. Old Harper's Magazines from the 1890's fill shelves in the living room, and offer for sale such items as Mosley's canvas folding bath tubs, and plastic ribbed union suits.

May the place live forever.

Pair cheat death as friend dies in crash

One Metamora youth was killed, but two Plymouth teenagers escaped serious injuries last Tuesday night when their car slammed into a tree on Lilley Road.

The high-speed crash demolished the car and threw the car motor several feet from the accident scene, on Lilley, north of Joy Rd.

Dead upon arrival at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia was Donald St. Clair, 19, of Metamora, Mich. Rescue workers at the accident dug his body out of the rear of the car; he was killed instantly.

Rodger Leszcynski, 18, 6345 Haggerty Rd., driver of the car, walked away from the accident with minor injuries, according to Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol officers. Another passenger, Thomas Scadin, 15, 43732 Shearer Dr., was taken to St. Mary's with injuries; he was not hurt seriously.

Sheriff's patrolmen report the car was traveling at speeds up to 80 m.p.h. when it went out of control, hit a tree, then a utility pole.

There were 185 feet of skid marks. Police noted the driver stated he was driving at about 40, but witnesses said it was over 70.

A new course for adult education

A letter received by the School Board praising the adult education program last week read, in part:

"I think it is the most wonderful thing and only wish more people would realize this and use it. I feel the better we parents are educated, the easier your job of educating our children will be."

Basically, the Plymouth adult education program offers adults a chance to complete high school, or learn a language, or a new skill.

Classes for a sound body are offered (yoga, badminton, basketball), for the sound mind (philosophy, great books, investments), for high school credit (English, typing, auto maintenance). Even certain frivolities are offered: oil painting, gun care, boat handling or dog grooming.

The range and depth of the classes vary, as does their quality, in direct relationship to the individual teacher's zeal and knowledge of the subject.

The adult education program is a self-improvement, do-good movement; it's inexpensive; it offers a chance for adults to finish high school, and for others to add to their learning.

But possibly there is another goal. Somehow we feel the adult education program can be a place where average American community problems can be solved, a place where on-going processes of democracy can be furthered, a place where participation in decisions can be widened.

The average man has a real lack of knowledge of the fixed structural elements of the community, the relationships and the ideas that are deeply embedded in people.

We operate more and more in a world where 'no man is an island,' but, yet, the alienation of one individual from another rapidly increases.

Perhaps even more serious is the drawing apart of the individual from his own governments.

There is an infinite and fascinating possibility of using adult education programs to educate for intelligent and democratic action. In a society where king makers pick who will run for president, the challenge is staggering.

If Plymouth adult educators are interested in helping adults affect power decisions about, for example, senior citizen housing, then they might start by taking a close look at the courses they offer that would further that mission.

They may not be interested, afraid for some reason to tackle the cherished watchwords and values of community action, lest, by contagion, they get caught up in areas where educators have always feared to tread.

But, something must be developed which can deal realistically with the barriers to participation in big policy, barriers which so often appear solid and exclusive.

We would suggest the addition of one course to the Plymouth Adult Education program — one which deals with the highly sophisticated power structure in America, and Plymouth.

Not a government class that discusses the mayoralty system, city council government or the court system, but one that probes a little deeper, scientifically, into how things actually get done.

A class of this nature is needed if adult education is going to do what it so often talks about — helping adults solve private and public problems.

Without some attempt by adult educators to examine themselves closely on a 'Why Are We Here?' basis, all the good becomes a coat of whitewash over a deeper, and more, complicated problem.

The Plymouth Pilgrim

By DAVE WILEY

Two things caught my attention last week that, combined with a little thought, left me with feelings of some comfort and a bit of apprehension.

They both pertain to UFO's or unidentified flying objects.

Yeah, I know, At this point you're sure The Plymouth Mail has gotten to me and maybe we'd better send for the little men in the white jackets, huh?

Well it's really not as bad as all that.

The one thing that started me thinking was the NBC Monitor show on Saturday evening.

Featured on a portion of the program was the editor of "Galaxy," the science fiction magazine. He and the moderator were discussing UFO's and fielding questions from the general public over the telephone.

The girl friend and I listened to all this extra-terrestrial jazz on the way out for some Chinese food and a World War II flick at the Penn Theater.

It is not impossible, the editor agreed, that intelligent life could exist elsewhere. Nor is it out of the realm of possibility that the life forms could be more advanced than we are.

While people from all over the country were urged to call, the only ones we heard were from the New York City area. After all, who the heck is going to dial area code 212 just to discuss something kookie like UFO's on a nationwide hookup?

One guy who spoke Brooklynese had this profound comment:

"I ain't sayin' there are flying saucers or nuttin'; but I ain't sayin' there ain't, neither, ya know?"

"But I am sayin' that maybe there are guys flying those things and, when they see bombs goin' off all over the world, they aren't to land."

The announcer agreed that that was reasonable.

Which reminded me of a conversation heard earlier in the week.

I got embroiled in a lunch time discussion with a group of men at Plymouth's Round Table Club.

Somebody brought up the subject of natural balance and the gamut was run from nature's control of population with predators to plagues which have periodically swept the Earth, ridding it of some of its excess human population.

Well, someone asked, who needs plagues anymore? With thermonuclear weapons, we're perfectly capable of pruning ourselves down — even to the point of Genocide or world-wide oblivion.

All it takes it a push of the button.

And then someone relieved me of an awfully sheepish feeling I've been living with for a long time.

"I like to think," he said, "that there is someone keeping an eye on us — someone who won't let things go too far."

It's nice to find out you're not alone.

For a couple of years now, I have been guiltily wondering if such a thing weren't possible.

The thought of it stimulates the imagination.

Picture the United States and the Soviet Union or China about to vaporize each other off the face of the earth.

The first bomb has gone off and we are about to hurl still more, when someone stops the whole thing.

"All right, you knuckleheads," it says, "that's far enough. One more of your little hydrogen fire-crackers and we'll really show you some action."

"Now why don't you sit down like reasonable little children and work your problems out?"

Ah well. A pleasant thought.

You can show your kids this column and cite it as an example of what happens to someone who reads too many Superman comic books.

Culture is wonderful.

Some time ago, we took the kids to a puppet show at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Background for one of the skits was a record by Allen Sherman — a parody of the old "Rag Mop" that was popular a few years back.

"R-A-T-T F-I-N-K, rat fink," he sang.

The other evening, my daughter who was, as usual, enraged at me about something, said, "You are a R-A-T-T F-I-N-K."

"Hey," she said, "you know where I learned to spell that?"

"No."

"At the art museum."

Culture is wonderful.

Firemen come through

Normally when most of us think of firemen, we envision them sitting around a card table, or in front of a battered television with a cup of coffee.

No matter how untrue the stereotype may be, somehow we don't really appreciate their hard work until an emergency comes along.

Such was the case last Wednesday and Thursday. A gas well in the Sheldon Road well field blew up, spewing gas along Shear Drive and Sheldon Road.

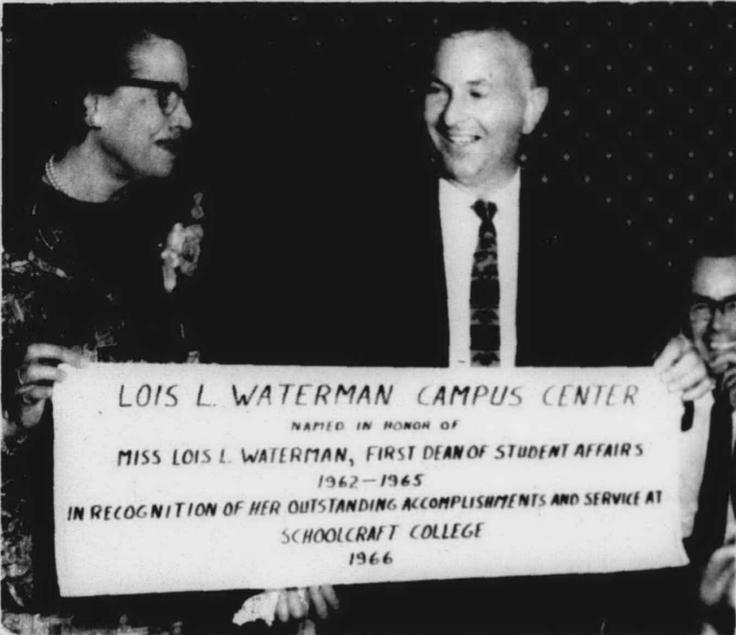

Firemen were summoned from Northville Township, Canton, Salem and Plymouth Township. They, several Wayne County Sheriff's officers, and many Consumers Power workers worked through the night to cap the high pressure stream. It was a tedious, backbreaking and dangerous job.

Plymouth Township and Canton Township firemen worked several hours in the fog and rain hauling the gallons and gallons of water that was pumped into the breach to equalize the pressure.

The Plymouth Township fireman we talked to had worked many hours, and were scheduled for many more. But they seemed to relish their chore, and even the Powderpuffs (firemen's wives) were on hand to serve hot coffee.

We suspect Plymouthites owe the Township firemen and other workers their thanks, not particularly for a job well done Wednesday and Thursday, but for a job well done every day of the year.

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE'S Dean of Student Affairs, Miss Lois Waterman, who will retire soon, was given a special dinner by the Board of Trustees of the College Wednesday evening in the Loft of the Round Table Club at the Mayflower Hotel. She was told that the new Campus Center is to be named after her; Board President Harold Fischer, presented a banner to her announcing the special honor.

To name Campus Center after Lois Waterman

Schoolcraft College's new Campus Center, presently under construction, will be named after soon to retire, Dean of Student Affairs, Mrs. Lois Waterman.

The honor came to Mrs. Waterman as a surprise at a special dinner meeting held in the Loft of the Round Table Club at the Mayflower Hotel Wednesday. The entire Board of Trustees was present.

She was also presented a plaque naming her "Dean Emeritus."

She will retire Sept. 30. The new Campus Center will formally be known as the Lois L. Waterman Campus Center.

Miss Waterman came to the College in May, 1962 from a similar position at Delta College. She had served under Dr. Eric J. Bradner, now President of Schoolcraft College, as Dean of Women and presidential assistant when they both were at Bay City Junior College some years previously.

At Schoolcraft she served first as an Assistant to the President and later to establish the Office of Student Affairs.

Miss Waterman has developed close relationships with the principals, assistant principals, and counselors of the high schools of the College District so that every graduating student might be adequately informed of the advantages at Schoolcraft. She has also been most anxious to have proper relationships with other two and four year colleges in order to make possible easy transfer of Schoolcraft students to other colleges.

According to school officials because of her efforts to develop the first curricula, the College was able to apply early for recognition and accreditation by the Michigan Commission on College Accreditation. Her insistence upon quality and intellectual honesty was a major factor in the granting to the College of its first accreditation, in March of this year.

ALTHOUGH Miss Waterman is retiring from full-time service with the College, she will remain as a consultant, with an office on the campus. Her major assignment will be to guide the College through the necessary steps to reach accreditation by the North Central Association.

The Lois L. Waterman Campus Center is a facility costing approximately a million dollars. In addition to cafeteria, snack bar and dining facilities the building will have study areas, a bookstore and student office facilities.

Instructional areas will include a television studio and a classroom for instruction in culinary arts.

When fully equipped this facility will provide "a home away from home" for the approximately 5,000 students expected by Schoolcraft in the next few years.

Evening College still has room

Students will register for the Schoolcraft Evening College during the week of August 30 and 31 and September 1 and 2, at the first session of classes, according to Dell Reed, Dean of Academic Instruction and Director of the Evening College.

More than five hundred students have been pre-counseled for classes and an additional seven hundred are expected. Classes which meet only one time previous to Labor Day will accept students through Tuesday, September 7, if openings remain. A broad selection of classes, both technical and academic, are available to the evening students. Courses being offered for the first time include Painting, Retail Principles and Practices, Transistor Circuits, Grammar and Usage, Introduction to Law Enforcement, Plane and Solid Geometry, and Developmental Reading.

A large number of classes are open to resident students who have not as yet completed the application for admission. Students may complete the application for admission forms at the first meeting of class, but are strongly encouraged to complete these in advance of registration.

Students are to report directly to the class in which they desire to enroll. Instructions will be given there for the completion of the enrollment procedure which will include the payment of all fees and tuition.

Information pertaining to course offerings can be secured at the college each week day through 9 p.m.

Courses at Schoolcraft College may be taken by those who wish to work toward the completion of a degree, those who want to upgrade their occupational skills, or those who want to continue their education for any reason.

An Armenian dish, "Pilaf," was suggested by Mrs. Anthony Reynolds of Greenbriar Ln., recently.

Come to Church

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Then you will visit a travel agency, study maps, read travel books, and talk with those who have already made the journey.

And what about that far more important (and uncertain) journey... the journey of life?

The Church offers wise counseling from those who have studied life.

The Church presents you with a map formed from the fundamental truths of God and his directives for living.

The Church interprets for you the greatest of all travel books, the Bible.

The Church gives you the companionship of the all-wise Guide, who made this journey without a mistake, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Agency, map, travel book and Guide for life's journey. Come to Church and find them all.

Planning protests

THE DEVELOPMENT will include up to 66 units. Commission member Clayton Koch commented on the request: "Apartments are needed; we've found that out. They provide the next best tax base to industry, and the least amount of liability to the school. Ann Arbor Trail is heavily traveled. I think it has a lot of merit."

The matter will also be heard at the public hearing in Sept.

In other action the commission agreed to list for public hearing the rezoning request from Julia Mangogna. The Mangognas want to build a new restaurant on their present site at Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road west of the City. They have been in a non-conforming land use situation for some time.

The commission also heard a request for rezoning of a parcel of land on the corner of Territorial and Ridge Road near Oak Haven trailer park for use as a convalescent home site. The developer's spokesman, attorney Theodore Brown, said the initial building would cost about $300,000 and house 75 patients. They hold an option on the land.

ROBERT WEDLER, who lost a battle to get C-2, commercial rezoning on a corner of Ann Arbor and Haggerty Roads last month was back with a new request for C-1, commercial. He was told he will have to wait for an opinion from attorney Earl Demel on whether or not he can re-apply on the same piece of land within one year.

Gas well

"I was out in back digging potatoes. I heard what sounded like a jet coming down real low, then a loud bang. I looked around to see if a plane had crashed. I felt the ground shake."

Hornback said he went around the house to look, heard a loud swishing noise and saw the gas gushing up in the air.

"It changed colors about three times. It looked yellow, then black, then white."

Shortly after the well top blew, Consumers Power officials asked that nearby residents shut off all gas appliances, and electricity, and to refrain from lighting any fires. About 30 minutes later, Shearer Dr. was evacuated.

Hornback commented on the damage the escaping gas did. "I had a pretty sick steer, but I guess he'll be all right. But my garden is dying like it had been frosted. All the yellow blooms are turning white."

Other neighbors report grease spots on the siding of their homes, and air bubbles on car finishes. They also report that the gas took the color out of flowers, and that the tops of trees were turning brown and withering.

Hornback said an agriculture expert was due in later this week to examine plants in the immediate area.

German night

(Continued from Page 1) IN ADDITION to the knock-wurst, there will be sauerkraut, home-made German chocolate cake, ice cream, potato chips, coffee and beer — root beer, that is!

An aggressive organization, this club is dedicated to raising the standards of business and professional women. They have worked hard to make this "German Night" an enjoyable evening for everyone.

As an added feature that night, and continuing through out the four day festival, members of the club will have their cookbook available for sale to the general public. Compiled and edited by the club, it contains many varied and tasty recipes of the club members.

To further enhance your dreams of the "good old days", the Detroit Edison Calliope will again be a part of this year's Festival. This musical instrument, which takes its name from one of the nine Muses of Greek mythology, was invented in 1855.

Rarely seen today, you will have an opportunity of hearing this calliope on Friday, Sept. 10, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

CHILDREN, big and small, will enjoy its unusual and enchanting sound. For many, it will bring back the smell of sawdust and the sight of elephants and dancing clowns.

To round out Friday's activities, the Plymouth Lions Club will again hold their old-fashioned melon and ice cream social in the park that evening. Ripe, juicy Michigan melons will be served, filled with a generous scoop of ice cream. Also available, will be fish and meat sandwiches.

Another active civic group, the Plymouth Lions Club and their "social" have become a well known part of the Fall Festival. Again this year, they expect to be kept busy emptying crates of melons for your enjoyment.

A harmonica and banjo group will provide entertainment while you enjoy those delicious melons.

Also opening Friday, and continuing throughout the Festival, will be the Antique Mart sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League. Collectors' items covering a wide range will be available at the Mart. Look for a little tinker's wagon, which will point the way to the Mart.

September 9-10-11-12 are Fall Festival days in Plymouth. They will be days filled with fun, food and frivolity — all in generous amounts.

AREA RESIDENTS said the sound was like a lot of steam under heavy pressure, and that when it first blew the gas was all different colors.

Workers labored through the night to cap the well. Plymouth Township and Canton Township firemen worked tirelessly hauling water which was pumped into the breach to equalize the pressure.

Water, mud and salt water were pumped into the opening. The gas was coming from 2200 feet down under at 1120 pounds of pressure; the pressure dropped to 100 pounds by early Thursday morning.

Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol officers blocked off Sheldon Road at the C & O tracks and at Five Mile Rd. Only workers and pressmen were allowed through.

Robert Lauer of Mt. Pleasant was working on the well when it blew, and was injured slightly. The well blew a gasket as a stripper rubber ruptured.

Watters who is a gas production superintendent, said a rubber plug had to be dropped into the opening, reinforced with steel. The plug in place, the gas bypassed to the side; a valve was placed on top, and the well shut off. Four men were needed for the operation.

Watters issued thanks to the Northville, Canton, Plymouth and Salem Township fire departments for their aid, and particularly to Sgt. Fred Knupp of Plymouth Township fire department, the Salvation Army, the Plymouth Township Firemen's Powder Puffs, and Sgt. Jack Boyd of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

GAS was escaping up to 300 feet in the air, but the danger was minimized by heavy fog and a steady, drizzling rain.

Watters said there was a danger of fire, but that the hazard had not been too great; there was less and less danger as the pressure was minimized.

Watters noted that it was the decision of the Sheriff's Department to evacuate. The noise could be heard and the odor of the gas smelled all over The Plymouth Community.

Township Supervisor John McEwen spent the evening chasing down coffee and hamburgers for the workers, and building inspector Mathew McClellan worked through the night transporting the food.

It was a busy day for Plymouth Township firemen as they have been plagued by barn fires for the past two weeks.

THE JAMES MCGRAW family of Adams St. won a new color television set at Bob Mallory's recent grand opening at Arbor Chrysler-Plymouth on Ann Arbor Road.

Color TV is prize at recent grand opening

A Plymouth family is enjoying a brand new color television set in their home now, thanks to the recent grand opening at Bob Mallory's Arbor Chrysler-Plymouth dealership at the corner of Ann Arbor and Lilley Roads.

Mrs. James E. (Virginia) McGraw of 420 Adams St. was the lucky winner of the color TV, featured prize at the celebration that drew hundreds of persons to see the new cars in the sparkling new dealership.

Free entertainment, a hootenanny, refreshments and a host of prizes highlighted the event.

A distinguished list of guests attended, including W. E. Foraker, general sales manager, Chrysler-Plymouth division; E. R. Bond, manager — field sales force for the division; Byron J. City parking

In general, the merchants present asked that the customer not be asked to pay for solving the problem.

The chairman of the parking committee, Robert Barbour, said:

"We need more parking. It comes down to the dollar sign and it's going to be a slow painful process. Our recommendation was to get an immediate, quick solution."

Commissioners agreed that a way of getting revenue for parking was essential.

"We need income to increase our parking areas," Mayor James Houk said, "and I think we do not have enough parking."

Commissioner Robert Smith said:

"We shouldn't talk about assessing our customers. That's going about it backwards."

OTHER ideas were hashed over, including the employee paying a fee to park downtown, (which Commissioner James Jabara favored), annual permits, and the construction of a parking ramp, or second level to the central parking lot.

Ralph Lorenz, who has been as close to the program as anybody over the years, said some method of control was needed in the lot.

Believe it or not, school for Plymouth's summer sun-tanned youngsters begins in a few short weeks. And for Mom, no matter how much she prepares for S-Day (school day), it's always hectic. Now's the chance in late August, to buy that new pair of pants, or that skirt, or even that box of crayons, or pencils. Back-to-school sale time in Plymouth is designed to make that day in September, when the bright yellow bus looms down the street, just a little less frantic.

New Vistas for Art Students Seen

The apologetic art student, who felt constrained to belittle his own leanings toward beauty and color, is fast fading into the scholastic background as vigorous new programs, developing talents in fine art and design, are adopted in the nation's schools.

Too often deafened by the clamor for disciples of technology, students in the recent past have been persuaded to forego the benefits offered by studies in humanities and the arts.

Today the country's top industrial designers and art-aware educators are anxious to alert students to the many lucrative careers awaiting those whose appreciation of art may be channeled into successful professions in the art, architectural, interior design and decorating fields. Jack Denst, Chicago artist and wallcovering designer whose efforts have won him world-wide acclaim, believes the pendulum of professions is due to swing back to the arts to relieve society of the totally grim attitude, and he urges consideration of art and allied fields for a solid future.

Denst, who has pioneered in special projects to illustrate to students the advantages in home interior careers, and has lectured at universities and high schools, suggests art training in high school, with special emphasis on mechanical drawing as an aid to every phase of fine art or design. Whether the student plans to devote his future to fine art, sculpture, industrial design, interior decorating, or architecture, all types of early training will be useful, as well as the study of allied subjects of biology, anatomy, zoology, botany and history.

The fine art student, who luckily faces an era of growing regard for the American artist, will reap the rewards of a "cultural explosion" which has focused attention on the merits of new painters and sculptors. But even talented hands must be finely trained,

CAVE AGE TO SPACE AGE . . . A boy and girl stand behind a reproduction of primitive man, but focus their attention on an astronaut at the entrance to the lower level of the Borg-Warner Science Hall in Chicago. The exhibit symbolizes man's progress in harnessing energy and putting it to work, transforming matter into useful forms, and controlling his environment. Such exhibits augment the modern school science program with dramatic emphasis.

ELECTRONICS IS PUTTING SCHOOLS ON SOUND BASIS

"Ou est la maison?" asked the boy.

"La maison est dans la ville," replied the girl.

Whir! Blip! Click! "Ou est la maison? La maison est dans la ville," said the machine right back to them.

The machine? Yes, as a matter of fact schools throughout the country abound with machines today — machines to help teach — and occurrences such as the above are already becoming commonplace.

In California, for example, where schools burgeon with as much electronics gear as anywhere else in the nation, a new piece of legislation — "the Casey Bill," which goes into effect this fall — will require the statewide instruction of at least one foreign language to every public school pupil from the twelfth down through the sixth grades.

But despite the wide range of audio-visual educational aids, it is still the tape recorder that is the workhorse. Almost anything can be taught with it. According to the 3M Company which manufactures a whole line of tape recorders (by Wollensak) for school and student use, tape recorders are even being used to teach mathematics! Teachers are setting multiplications tables to music and rhythm and putting them on tape. They report that the children play these tapes in the classroom, listen more attentively (even dance to them), and learn their multiplication tables in three or four days.

Hints on Making Start in School Easy

The story goes that a neighbor told an apprehensive young mother whose daughter was entering the first grade, "Don't worry, dear, you're not losing your child; you're gaining a PTA."

Be that as it may, starting to school can be a trying experience, for mother and child. But experts advise that by following certain rules the transition for both can be made easier, and even enjoyable.

The burden of preparing for school and helping the first-grader over unfamiliar hurdles naturally falls on mother. To help make her task easier, here is a compilation of helpful hints.

Long before school starts, take your daughter (or son) shopping for new clothes, school bag and other supplies. Let her help in the choices — it will give her confidence in making decisions. If she is not familiar with the school, take her there for a visit before opening day. Refer to it as "her school." In every way possible, build excitement and anticipation in the child.

If you accompany her the first day, be casual and confident.

Plan Early to Finance College Years

Food, clothing and shelter are being replaced as the largest items in many family budgets by a new trio — books, board and tuition.

On average, it costs $2,000 to keep a boy or girl in college for a year, and costs are going up.

Planning to meet this need should begin as early as possible, according to a panel of State Farm Life Insurance Company's top ten agents.

Insurance traditionally has played an important role in family planning to meet college costs. Insurance on the breadwinner is a key element in college planning, these top insurance men say. If it's a choice between a traditional college endowment policy on the child and adequate life insurance on the father, insurance for Dad is a wiser buy.

Here's the reason: if the breadwinner dies, his life insurance benefits can be used to put Sis or Junior through school; if he lives, the children will be going to school during what is probably his peak earning period when more money is available. Further, his life insurance can be cashed in, or used to secure a low-cost loan.

Favorite Games Now Keyed to School

Games oriented to aid mastery of primary grade curriculum are broadening their scope this fall to include new math and new approaches to learning to read and spell.

The magic of game playing as a stimulus to interest is playing a larger role in the classroom as well as the home, according to James J. Shea, an executive of a company which has pioneered in adapting education to games children enjoy. The Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 is making it possible for many schools to broaden their use of games keyed to reading, spelling, math and social studies.

Keeping pace with the stepped up variety of contemporary games for school use, a wider variety of learn by playing competitions also are available for home use this fall.

Shea, president of Milton Bradley, points with pride to New Math Flash cards. In tune with the latest educational trends the cards offer opportunity for competitive play. Equations are shown on one side with a symbol in place of the answer. On the other side the complete equation is shown.

Among the latest recruits to learning through play is Educational Concentration. Four basic areas of knowledge are covered in this game derived from the TV show. Cards are combined in pairs to match. Meanwhile young participants strengthen their knowledge of such things as matching colors, matching words, states, capitals and historical events.

Educational Password is another favorite which spurs children's interest in synonyms and antonyms and word association. All the words are selected from elementary and primary grade readers currently in use.

Newest recruit to learning history through games of strategy is Hit the Beach keyed to realistic replay of strategic efforts to capture Pacific Islands during World War II. Hit the Beach does for the South Sea battle area what Dog Fight does to dramatize World War I's aerial battles over France. Included also in a series of American Heritage games are Battlecry, keyed to Civil War conflicts and Broadside, based on naval battles of the War of 1812. Each game in this group includes a booklet reporting on the history of the conflicts covered in the game competition.

NEW GAME HELPS YOUNGSTERS WITH THEIR SOCIAL STUDIES... Buying and selling products from coast to coast is basis of entertaining game of the States. Players begin with a truck a piece and discs representing 4 different products. Products grown in a particular state are trucked to another location for advantageous sale, thus encouraging youngsters to learn the principal products of each state, the location of each state, its principal cities and other valuable information. Action-Knits For ABC Crowd Kindergartners borrow fashioner — making knits a great new look for the Crayon Set this fall.

Knits are ideal for young children because they are lightweight. They are porous, they allow for freedom of movement.

Their soft wool-like texture makes them especially kind to tender skin.

Add to this the advantages that they are easily washable, don't wrinkle and hold their shape.

Young Styles Have "Zing"!

The silhouette for young fashionables, Fall '65, is free and easy . . . the new Smock Look predominating. It swings, high at the yoke, and is gathered, pleated or straight. Cluny collars, pockets, stripes and ruffles add a charming note to many of these "little swingers." But to give you an idea of the variety of new fall looks, waistlines are also shooting from the hips with a flare of low pleats.

The adult enthusiasm for Op Art fashions is reflected in young designs too, as wiggly stripes, dizzy dots and wild checks run rampant on the back-to-school scene. Everything goes, with patterns literally out on a spree, vibrating, reverberating, oscillating and Op-erating in a crazy mixed-up way that youngsters will love. Plaids are creating their own excitement too, they're bigger, brighter and better than ever.

Young coats take on new shape this season with welt-seaming that gives them a really grown-up look. Fabrics are grown-up too . . . Shetlands, bulkier tweeds, worsteds, fleecy mohairs and funny, faky furs, plus little touch-

Lively Colors, Shoe Textures

The latest junior footwear, in lively colors and leathers, is styled to meet the demands of all roles a child plays while busy back-to-school schedules are pursued.

Your little girl will stand tall in her sturdy new leather shoes, as pupil, playmate or party-goer.

The choice of textures in young-set shoes has increased greatly with the continuing development of new tanning finishes. Along with smooth, patent, glove, light grained and heavy grained textures, little ladies will be wearing shoes of brushed, crushed, waxed, embossed, antiqued and printed leathers.

These lightweights crafted into foot-wear combining good fit and good fashion, make this fall's children's shoes a pleasure to put on for all occasions.

Stylish Sallies and Susies will attend classes in a wide variety of colorful slippers, boot shoes and zingy oxfords. The slip-on may be a simple skimmer — with or without strap —

PARENTS WHO PROVIDE GOOD HOME-STUDY FACILITIES will find that their children will develop eye, posture and mental habits that will probably have a lifetime influence. The study area shown above consists of three expandable shelf units containing drawer space, book shelves and a built-in desk. Here there is ample room for all the student's reference books including a library size dictionary. The typewriter has changeable type which facilitates the typing of foreign languages, engineering and mathematical formulas. Photo by Smith-Corona.

Kick Off Fall Season with New "Pro-Rated" Fashions

This season will usher in a new influence in men's fashions, that of the professional football player.

To take advantage of this trend, a leading manufacturer of fibers has created its "Pro-Rated" merchandising program. And it has retained the rights to the American Football League to help present slacks and knit shirts of Acrilan acrylic fiber. They are as "at home" on the sidelines as on the field.

Today's professional football players demand as much attention to detail in dress off the field as well as on.

On the field, the proper fit, the right protection, the right fabric can mean a winning team. Off the field, a professional player wants to look the part. He knows what he wears sets him apart as a man of ability, drive and action. At the same time he wants easy-care garments that give him comfort and style without extensive upkeep.

This is the basis for the "Pro-Rated" campaign. It brings together the world of professional football and the world of fashion in one dynamic concept that fits right into the college-man's plans.

Home Hair Dryer a Boon

With much less time for wearing rollers than you usually have in summertime, you'll quickly discover that a home hair dryer can be your most important hairdo helper. A portable model, such as the Lady Vanity is a wise investment for busy schoolgirls. With it, both hands are free for doing homework or fingernails once you've put on the perky floral bouffant bonnet. It's double-lined for effectiveness and extra-large to cover even jumbo rollers comfortably.

A visit with a legend - Schweitzer

by Lon Dickerson

Gabon's best known personality is Dr. Albert Schweitzer. After a couple of days in Lebréville we hitchhiked the 154 miles inland to Lambarene where his world famous hospital is located. We arrived there late in the afternoon so we were not able to see the doctor until suppertime. The doctor, his staff, which presently includes six doctors and twenty nurses, plus any visitors such as us, all ate together. Supper the night we were at the hospital included Garman borsh (soup) and pancakes. Once the dishes had been cleared away Dr. Schweitzer went to the piano and played the accompaniment for a hymn which we sang in German. Then he read a passage from the Bible in both German and French. When the people started to leave, the doctor asked us to come and sit with him. With the assistance of a nurse who acted as an interpreter we had a very delightful conversation with him. Had we not known, we could never have guessed he is 80 years old.

After our conversation with Dr. Schweitzer an American doctor invited us to his room where we had a chance to talk to several staff members. The hospital has attracted volunteer workers from around the world. That night I met people from America, Czechoslovakia, England, Germany, India, Indonesia, Sweden, and Switzerland among others.

We got up early the next morning so we could walk around the hospital. He had been given very comfortable accommodations for our stay. At Lambarene Dr. Schweitzer has established a different kind of hospital. It isn't a modern building containing ward after ward of patients. There isn't even running water, indoor toilets, or electricity. It's rather a miniature Gabonese village.

PATIENTS and their families live in a small house provided by the hospital, the family meal is cooked over a wood fire, and chickens and goats are everywhere. In fact it doesn't look like a hospital at all.

The doctor feels, however, that this type of environment attracts patients and helps them in their recovery. There are also special rooms set aside for surgery, first aid, and other hospital procedures.

The patient's family works for the hospital by doing janitorial jobs, carrying water, working in the field, doing laundry, etc.

After our tour of the main section of the hospital Dr. Schweitzer, then he fed his pet subalopes and chickens.

Dr. Schweitzer established this hospital at Lambarene over 50 years ago. In the years since then he had become a legend.

Seeing the work being done, talking with the "grand doctor," and sensing the dedication of the hospital staff gave me a better understanding of why the hospital has been such a success. No one can ever forget such a visit.

Some of the 2,061,223 reasons people came to us for INSTALOANS during the past twenty years.

This is a special year for us at the National Bank of Detroit. It marks the 20th anniversary of our Instaloan Department—20 years of helping people get the things they need and want.
 We've enjoyed every minute of it.
 Originally, the department had 11 employees. Today we have more than 250 people in the Instaloan Department in our Main Office alone and nearly as many more in our branch offices.
 During our first 20 years, the National Bank of Detroit Instaloan Department has become the largest of its kind in the state. As of June 30 we had loaned $2,864,238,759 for 2,061,223 good reasons. Some of these reasons are shown above.
 As we start our 21st year, we look forward to hearing about many more ways we can help people get the things they want. We'd like to hear from you.
