

Expert's report says walk to school dangerous . . .

The School Board heard the report on transporting students who must walk in dangerous areas, and it confirmed what parent groups had been saying.

Many young students walk in highly dangerous roadways.

Elsie Wheelock, transportation consultant for the Wayne County Intermediate School District, read her report aloud at the regular meeting of the Plymouth Community School Board

- Fulllest possible employment of available school transportation in critical areas.
 - Purchase of enough new buses to transport all elementary students who must walk on hazardous roads.
 - Frequent studies of critical areas.
 - Long range study of transportation needs.
- The first recommendation from Wheelock is basically

Monday and recommended: what a Lake Pointe group had asked over a month ago.

At that time, spokesman for the group, Robert Tripp, had explained many students were walking with their backs to traffic and thus endangering their lives.

The Board had agreed that evening to turn the matter over to assistant superintendent in charge of business, Melvin Blunk, to see what a change in busing policy would do to the budget.

BLUNK reported a week later, the Board reviewed the report, they decided to seek Wheelock's views.

Wheelock also recommended some temporary answers: deputized crossing guards, more and better warning signs, increased traffic safety education programs, and installation of sidewalks along high-traffic arteries.

Plymouth Township supervisor John McEwen was on hand and explained the Township's plans for sidewalks, and the legal aspects involved.

The board asked Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister to check into deputizing crossing guards, and better sign warnings.

"It's a question of our ability to handle it . . . our capacity to handle it," Board president Gerald Fischer said.

When pressed for clarification on his report, Wheelock noted that there was "no question" about the hazard of children walking along several of Plymouth Township's main roads.

Wheelock also commented on the under-manned crossings, some of which have had no guard yet this year.

WHEELOCK said the policy was "generous" when compared with other schools in the area, but that re-interpretation was always needed.

In other action, curriculum committee head Mrs. Esther Hulsing outlined her plans for a remedial reading program next year.

She called for a remedial reading teacher in every school . . . and estimated the project would cost an additional $60,000 a year.

She reported she had met with the administration of all the schools, and had noted a wide variance in remedial reading practices.

The High School has a full-time remedial reading specialist, and the junior highs each have a part-time teacher, she said.

"We need to start the work in the third grade. And, children don't all learn at the same rate. There is no general reason why we need remedial reading," Mrs. Hulsing said, in answer to Carl Schultheiss's question. "Why do we need remedial reading?"

Torch lights way for 1965 Plymouth Community Fund

The torch in Kellogg Park lights the way.

The annual give-once-for-all Plymouth Community Fund drive began Monday noon with the torch being lit by Plymouth Township supervisor John McEwen.

McEwen headed a delegation that launched the drive with the park ceremony, then adjourned to Lofy's for a luncheon.

City mayor pro-tem James Jabara was a stand-in for Mayor James Houk, who was out of town.

Community Fund president Frank Palmer was on hand for the kickoff dinner, and spoke on the value of The Plymouth Community Fund effort.

"We want this for The Plymouth Community. We have met with the United Foundation any times. But if we join UF then there are a great many services we provide that would not be provided."

PALMER said the Board hopes to continue the independent drive forever.

The Plymouth Community fund has maintained a local slant on matters, and places much of the money raised in the hands of local agencies: Family service, the YMCA, the Symphony, the Plymouth Youth Club, senior citizens, and local Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, and the Salvation Army, among others.

At the luncheon, general drive chairman John Kamego, district manager for Michigan Bell Telephone Co., reviewed key dates in the drive, which will run through all of October.

Both McEwen and Jabara spoke on behalf of their governmental units, and pledged whole-hearted support to the Plymouth Community Fund drive.

Workers will begin knocking on residential doors this week.

Following the residential drives will be the industrial business, government, education and professional drive.

Oct. 15 will be the first report meeting, to be held at Hillside Inn, at noon. Each chairman will report progress.

Similar meetings are set for Oct. 21 and 28.

A victory dinner will be held at the Mayflower Hotel at 6:30 on Nov. 4 for all the volunteers, board members, division chairmen and team captains in the Mayflower Meeting House.

Kamego also noted the following appointments for industrial team captains announced by industrial chairman George Burrows:

James Beauchamp of Western Electric Company; Milton Fetter of Whitman & Barnes; Richard Linde of Anchor Coupling; Harvey Cooper of Evans Products; Howard Lloyd of Burroughs Corp.; Gordon Ramsay of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co.; John Ferguson of Gaylord Container; Robert Stremich of Hillside Inn; Harry Bowers of Consumers Power Company; G. E. Reaume of Michigan Bank.

A SUMMER IN RUSSIA was described Friday to Rotary Club by Mrs. Brigitte Rauer, a German and Russian teacher at the High School.

HARD LIFE

She tells about visit to Russia

"You constantly have the feeling you are being watched in Russia."

These were the words of a Plymouth High School teacher who spoke to the Plymouth Rotary Club last Friday about her five-week crash tour of Russia this summer.

Mrs. Brigitte Rauer teaches German at the High School, and a volunteer Russia class after school to almost forty students.

SHE IS an attractive, lively woman, and a charming speaker. She caught the attention of the Rotary men, and they awarded her speech a standing round of applause.

"I don't like to use big words," she said, about her Summer Institute tour . . . "abstract words, but there is a thing called freedom. Somebody's looking over your shoulder all the time. You are never alone."

"Lenin hangs over the country like a dark cloud. You see Lenin in bronze, marble, plaster, even flowers. I came to hate that face," Mrs. Rauer said.

Mrs. Rauer, who holds a masters degree from Wayne

State University, has a major in both Russian and German. She visited Russia this summer along with many other students.

Describing the life of the Russian people as "gray, somewhat hard," she said: "You can see it in their faces. They don't have it easy."

Living space in Russia is extremely scarce, she said, with two families often sharing an apartment. There is also a gap between earning and buying power, she said. Her speech was often sparked with humor.

"They work a 40-hour week. I saw them, and they work at the tempo of a good U. S. union shop . . . nobody was killing themselves."

THE RUSSIAN women do hard work, she said . . . street cleaning, for example.

"But they don't work long hours. The old system is over," Mrs. Rauer noted.

She also noted that the government provides education, and medical care free. She explained that it was hard to pin down exactly why life in Russia seemed so hard.

Festival business pledges due

The 1965 Fall Festival was an outstanding success in all areas except one . . . financial.

That was the report the Fall Festival Board heard at its last regular meeting Thursday.

All participating organizations reported successful affairs. They also noted to the board that the Festival had continued to create goodwill, throughout the area, for the Plymouth Community.

Service club representatives reported that people from out of town commented on the friendliness of the people, the excellent shopping facilities and the courteous treatment they received from local merchants.

Unfortunately, it appears the Fall Festival Board will wind up its second year of operation with a deficit, according to Board spokesman, John Herb.

PARTICIPATING organizations, through a sharing of profits, do contribute a substantial portion of the Festival's 5,000 budget. The Board is dependent on local business for the balance.

Herb said that contrary to popular belief, all money received by the Fall Festival Board goes to cover operating expenses such as banners, publicity, entertainment and labor.

The Board cannot continue to operate at a deficit, Herb said. If the 1965 budget cannot be balanced, next year's expenditures will have to be cut back.

The Board urged all local businesses to contribute to this year's Festival, if they have not already done so.

'We're ready to sell to Plymouth'- Remus

Gerald Remus told the Businessmen's Forum luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel Thursday that he was interested in selling the City of Plymouth Detroit water.

Remus is the head of the Detroit Water Supply department and was speaking before the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Forum.

He also said there were no politics involved in his department.

"Basically, we are a business, financed entirely from revenues. We are out of the business of being a political tool for governments for annexation or diversion of funds."

Remus outlined the plans of the DWS, and pointed to a line that has been sent down Sheldon Road to tie into Plymouth Township water lines . . . a line which could serve the City.

Remus also outlined the conservative finance position of his department.

"And we can't subsidize

City calls Twp., Canton in fire at Packaging

City of Plymouth firemen called for assistance from Plymouth Township and Canton Township Tuesday in a fire in a paper bailer at the Packaging Corporation of America on Sheldon Road.

Township firemen laid lines to aid the City firemen, and Canton's firemen stood by.

Plymouth Fire chief George Schoeneman said that he had not determined the cause, but that there was a possibility of a spark in the vents of the bailer.

It might have been a dangerous fire with the brisk October wind that was blowing Tuesday afternoon.

"We got the fire out pretty fast," Schoeneman said, "but it takes a long time to check it out . . . overhaul it."

Apparently the paper, cardboard, and dust particles in the bailer ignited in vacuum pipes. Smoke poured out of

AAA report urges one way streets

(Editor's Note: The following is the second of two articles devoted to results of the AAA traffic survey report presented to Plymouth city officials on Sept. 30.)

Improvement of obscure pavement markings on City of Plymouth streets was one of four recommendations itemized by a survey of traffic problems taken recently by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The basic step was urged to reduce accidents and obtain maximum effectiveness of Plymouth's major street system.

This was one of four major recommendations for improving city streets outlined in Auto Club's Traffic Survey Report which was presented to city officials following a dinner at the Mayflower Hotel Sept. 30.

The remaining steps, suggested as aids to help reduce car accidents and increase traffic flow on major streets, are:

- Adopt a one-way street system.
- Proper use of traffic control devices.
- Improve street lighting.

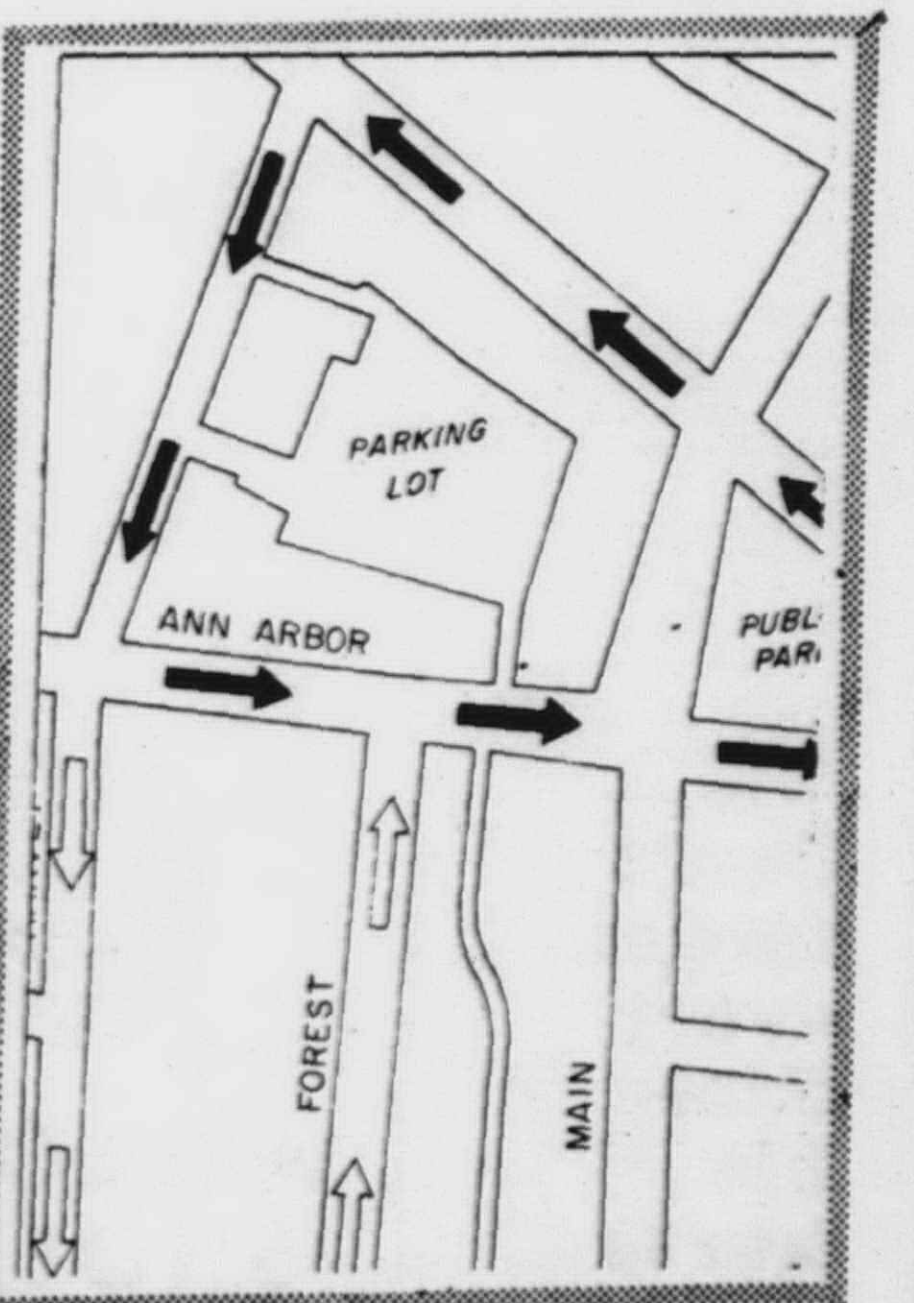

"The condition of the pavement markings when this survey was conducted was very poor, and they provide the motorist with little, if any, guidance at intersection approaches," reads the report.

Plymouth officials were urged by the Auto Club to step up their program for improving street markings as the most immediate and least expensive method for "safe and expeditious flow of traffic."

THE REPORT shows that 28 per cent of Plymouth's 1964 traffic accidents occurred along Main Street from Wing to the Plymouth-Mill junction, and on Harvey at the intersections of Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman.

ONE WAY STREETS were among some of the possible solutions to the City of Plymouth's traffic problems recommended in the recent Automobile Club of America's survey. The black arrows show recommended one way streets, and the white arrows indicate possible extensions, along Harvey and Forest Streets.

Africa and me Cameroun's affluent west African cities

by Lon Dickerson

For two days in Yaounde we slept on straw mattresses and ate rice in a back alley. We did this because we didn't want to confine ourselves to the European quarter of town. But part of our reasoning was that we couldn't afford any other type of accommodations.

The cost of living in the capital of Cameroun is one of the highest in the world. Even the appearance of the city has an air of affluency.

The buildings are modern and the boulevards wide. The shops contain some of the finest imported articles available. There is a large sports stadium, and lofty church spires are visible from long distances. Gutters are out of sight and lawns are neat.

Many of the homes in the African sections of the city have tin roofs. But nowhere are there any slums.

It is, indeed, a beautiful city.

THE CITY has a large open air market which sells everything from fresh fruits and vegetables to woven baskets and clothing. I found it one of the cleanest and most colorful markets in West Africa.

Not far away is another market which caters to local crafts. Bronze statues, elaborate ivory and wood carvings, and beautiful leather work were only a few of the articles which were available.

Opportunity Center opens doors recently

The Community Opportunity Center, a workshop for the mentally retarded, opened its doors recently under the direction of Plymouthite Ernest Moran, using the old Newburg School on Ann Arbor Rd. and Newburg Rd.

The workshop was organized by the Plymouth Jay-Cees and is currently employing 10 people.

Plans are in the works for a teen age dance to be held to raise funds for the Center. And the possibility of a retail store to be set up in Plymouth to sell toys at Christmas time has been explored. The project would use the mentally retarded workers to give them sales experience.

An election was held recently, and JC Wendell Smith was named president, George Conover, vice-president, Robert Clogg as treasurer and Bill Green, secretary.

A PAINT-UP day has been set for Sept. 25 to help paint the school, which the Livonia School Board agreed to lease yearly at a nominal sum.

The whole plan for the workshop developed rapidly from an early spring Town Hall meeting, culminated in hiring of Moran this summer, and the opening of the workshop in September.

It was designed for trainable mentally retarded young adults. The workers do simple jobs such as making floral stems, or counting and packaging operations.

So far the center has operated without support of the nominal money channels such as the Plymouth Community Fund drive.

The workshop needs tools of all kinds, some kitchen equipment and old chairs and tables.

A speaker bureau has also been formed and will speak on all aspects of the workshop to any interested club.

Salem school library needs more books

Prior to this year, there was no central library at Salem Elementary School. Only a few books were available in each classroom.

This year, over 100 feet of necessary book shelves have been installed.

Unfortunately, Salem School does not have the proper books to fill these shelves.

There are now approximately two proper library books available for each child. This is far short of the recommended minimum of five books per child.

The School Board has allocated $2 per child annually for library books. At this rate, it will be many years before the recommended minimum is even approached.

THIS IS one of the items to be discussed at the Salem Elementary PTA meeting to be held Monday, Oct. 18 at the Salem Elementary School. The meeting will start promptly at 8 p.m.

Take study seriously

The Automobile Club of Michigan's report on the City of Plymouth's traffic problems was extremely well done, and the City fathers and the taxpayers owe the AAA a vote of thanks.

The report contained detailed tabulations of factual information on the problems, but it also contained something else not always found in reports and surveys.

The report had some answers to the problems.

Take the young driver in Plymouth, termed "a problem" by the report. Factually they reported that over 37% of Plymouth's accidents are caused by the young driver.

They also had answers. The report recommends stiffer penalties for flagrant violators, and a special traffic school for those guilty of serious violations.

Among the major recommendations of the report is one urging more policemen for Plymouth. This, of course, re-enforces what the police administration of the City has been saying for months:

"We don't have enough help to do a good job."

The AAA's answer to better enforcement, and thus better traffic safety, was more officers. The report also recommends an officer to work specifically in accident investigation and prevention.

The AAA engineers took a close look at the physical aspects of all of Plymouth streets and determined three things:

Many streets and intersections are poorly marked, with stop signs at the wrong height.

Plymouth someday may have to consider a one-way street system in the downtown area.

Many streets are in need of improved pavement markings.

The report also recommends better lighting, and more re-surfacing for streets.

The AAA men note that even though around the state and nation the traffic accident rate continues to climb, many individual communities, with work, have been able to reverse the national trend. According to the report:

"In such areas a sense of civic pride and responsibility stimulated determined leaders and officials to examine the traffic problem as it existed locally and to organize a comprehensive and continuing action program to overcome it. What has been done in these communities can be done in others. It can be done in Plymouth."

It is important that the City Commissioners take the work of the AAA (which by the way, was free), seriously. It is important that an orderly plan be adopted to implement some of the recommendations for right now, some for next year, and some for two years from now.

Whatever is done, the survey should not set on book shelves gathering dust.

JAMES PIACH, of Plymouth, right, was among several Junior Achievers who recently interviewed George H. Love, chairman of the board, Chrysler Corporation, and Lynn Townsend, president of Chrysler Corporation, at a meeting of the Economic Club of Detroit. Each week several Junior Achievers are hosted by business leaders. Piach, selected the 1965 safety director of the year in a contest sponsored by the greater Detroit Safety Council, asked Love to explain some of the safety improvements in the 1966 Chrysler automobiles. Piach served as safety director of a J.A. company sponsored by Michigan Bell Telephone Company in Plymouth.

Methodists launch drive for new Church building

All systems are "go" in the launching of First Methodist's "Kingdom Building" Crusade.

First Methodist Church is looking toward the future because its present location provides no room for needed expansion.

With this in mind a 15 acre plot of ground, located on North Territorial Road, has been purchased where all new facilities will be built in the near future.

The Building Committee, in cooperation with an architect is working out the plans for these new facilities.

These plans will be presented to the congregation for approval at a later date.

The "Kingdom Building" Crusade plans to raise at least $200,000 in subscriptions payable over a 156 week (three year) period (more if possible) toward the building of the new facilities.

The total cost of these new facilities is not yet known. At the same time, the budget and benevolent program of the church will be underwritten with subscriptions payable over a 52 week (one year period). The budget and benevolent needs have been estimated to be about $86,000 for this period.

THE GENERAL CHAIRMAN of the Crusade is Ray M. Asdit. The chairman of the advance visitation division is James Parshall; the chairman of the general visitation division is Donald Tripp; Vern Schilawski is in charge of publicity.

The pastor of the church is the Reverend Hugh C. White and the associate pastor is Reverend Peter D. Schweitzer and the Minister of Visitation is Reverend Edward D. Pumphrey.

Assisting the local church in the Crusade and furnishing direction for it is the Reverend Charles W. Welch of the Department of Finance and Field Service of the National Division of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, Philadelphia.

Reverend Welch will be bringing the message at the worship services this Sunday morning, Oct. 17.

A training session is scheduled for 2 p.m. this Sunday afternoon for all persons connected with the Crusade. A dinner meeting for the advance visitation committee will take place on Monday evening, Oct. 11, at 6:30 p.m. at the church.

The large dinner meeting for the captains, the enlisted workers in the general calling division, the Executive Committee of the Crusade and staff members of the church is set for 6:30 p.m., Wednesday evening, Oct. 13.

The Plymouth Pilgrim

By Dave Wiley

Recommended reading.

Off to Dunning-Hough the other evening to pick up "The Complete Works of Henrik Ibsen" for the distaff side of the household who had scrounged a ticket to a performance in Ann Arbor and wanted to read the play before seeing it.

It was called "Cold Duck" or "Wild Duck," or something. At any rate, it wasn't Donald Duck. But I stray afield. During my wanderings between the shelves, a book called "Tiger in the Honeysuckle" cropped up.

Written by Elliott Chaze, a novelist and newsman who has devoted much time to coverage of the racial situation in Mississippi, "Tiger" is a novel that more than a few of us should read.

It combines hilarity and tragedy, entertainment and pungent social comment — all put together with skill, feeling and sensitivity.

The story centers around the efforts of civil rights demonstrators to ensure Negro voter registration in a southern county. It particularly appealed to me, I suppose, because the main character is a newspaperman.

One of the choicest passages comes when Chaze describes a meeting of a service club at which the local Congressman speaks.

"... the guest of honor, U. S. Representative Tom Mangum, bow-tied and lemon-haired, decades of political cunning and Old South charm wrapped in one long sly package. Representative Tom Mangum (D-Miss.) was making his annual appearance prior to the summer primaries. He described the Civil Rights Bill, now before the senate, as a 'vile thing.'

"He said it was the worst assault on the liberties of free Americans that he had witnessed in thirty-four years in Congress.

"His remarks included: 'He was no racist, no Negro-hater. If he must be classified as a Negro-hater or a Negro-lover, he preferred the latter classification.'

"... I want to see the Negro improve his plight, but he must plod the long slow trail the white man trod through the centuries. It can't be done overnight by a Supreme Court decision or an act of Congress."

"When the congressman was finished, there was more singing and laughing. And belching."

Far fetched? You think it's unlikely that a member of the Congress of the United States would voice such sentiments? Guess again.

I refer you to the October 4, 1965 issue of "The Nation," one of this country's oldest and most respected weekly publications — a little magazine, an erudite magazine, a "think" magazine, even an "egghead" magazine, if you wish.

Therein, an article titled "James Eastland: Child of Scorn," a treatise on James O. Eastland, senior Senator of the Sovereign State of Mississippi, "referred to with real affection by the white folks as 'Our Jim.'"

Eastland owns a 5,800 acre plantation in Sunflower County and Robert G. Sherill, author of the article, writes:

"Clyde Rutledge, general manager of Eastland's plantation, would not let me on the premises to interview workers, but I took a sneak tour one night, going in by a back road. There are teen-age children in there who have never been to school because they have never had the clothes to wear; there are children 9 years old who work from sunup to sundown. Some of Eastland's workers have never tasted beef. One woman said she had eaten turkey only twice in her life: once when she got a turkey from comedian Dick Gregory, and the other time, back in the mid 1950s when she bought a turkey on the installment plan ...

"Meanwhile, at Sunflower County's six Rotary clubs, four Lions clubs, four VFW posts and seven garden clubs the life of service and fun goes on about as usual, conscience clear. For in Washington, speaking their true beliefs and desires, assuring them that what they do is right — that they are not to blame for the Negro's condition but the fact that 'our natural resources have been exploited by Eastern capital as an outlet for investments to make huge profits from cheap southern labor' — is the potent voice of Our Jim (who will gross an estimated quarter of a million dollars this year).

"Our Jim says: 'We have no voting qualifications based on race, none at all, and anybody who's qualified can vote.' (NAACP headquarters in Jackson says there are 13,524 Negroes of voting age in Sunflower County and 164 are registered; that's 1.2 per cent.)

"Our Jim says: 'I am against any organization which indulges, which promotes, racial and religious prejudice, hatred and bigotry.' (He has supported the John Birch Society, the Citizens Council and every white-supremacy organization that has popped up in the South in the last twenty years.)"

And so it goes.

Sherill notes that "Eastland ... filled the Washington air during the closing years of the war — when he was not running for office and therefore not being called on for any special theatrics — with statements about the Negro's physical, moral and mental inferiority.

"Speaking about the Negro soldier, he had said: 'He has disgraced the flag of his country. He will not fight. He will not work ...'

We've still got a long way to go, don't we? As a footnote to all this, high schoolers — in spite of the vital message in Elliott Chaze's "Tiger in the Honeysuckle" — needn't bother to borrow it without a note from mommy or daddy.

It's on the "restricted" list.

And that grinds me. Mrs. Warren Worth, Dunning-Hough's librarian, tells me the decision is made at Wayne County Library System headquarters, usually based on comments made by reviewers.

I would not, for a moment, suggest that the library system has a committee of little old tennis-shoed ladies from Dubuque passing judgement on literature; but I find all censorship distasteful, even relatively innocuous designations like "restricted."

"Restricted," for what it's worth, means that you can't borrow the book if you're a high school student. If you are a married dropout, though, you can read it. Which is a thought.

The Institute is located in Los Angeles, with a branch in New York City.

This world-renowned jeweler's training program, which encompasses the entire diamond curriculum offered by the Institute, involves a study of all phases of diamond technology, including evaluation procedures and grading for color, clarity and cutting.

In addition to the study involved, Agnew was required

FILLING HER "3:30 basket" with Nanaima cookies is Mrs. Thomas Choice of Irvin St. Every afternoon Mrs. Choice fills the basket with an after-school treat for her children, hence the name. She suggests these cookies for our readers this week.

Mrs. Thomas Choice of Irvin St. says that one pan of her Nanaima Cookies will go a long way because they are quite rich. They are especially nice for holiday parties served with ice cream or as a special treat for the family.

The Choice family has lived in Plymouth just one year, moving here from Galesburg, Ill. The children, Nancy, 11, Patricia, 9, and Tom, 5, attend Our Lady of Good Counsel school.

Mrs. Choice is a member of the Rosary Society and also plays in a Plymouth Symphony Bridge Group. She lists her hobbies as reading, keeping photo albums up to date and singing. At one time she was a member of the "Sweet Adelines," a national barber shop quartet organization.

The cookie recipe, which she received from a friend, is good for making ahead and freezing to have on hand for company, she said.

NANAIMA COOKIES

(Nanaima means dwarf)
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1/4 cup sugar
 1 square unsweetened chocolate
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1 egg
 2 cups fine graham cracker crumbs
 1/2 cup chopped nuts (walnut or pecan)
 1 cup flaked coconut

Cook first four ingredients in top of double boiler until well blended. Add slightly beaten egg and cook another 5 minutes—stirring continually. Remove from heat and add 2 cups fine graham cracker crumbs, 1/2 cup chopped nuts and 1 cup flaked coconut. Mix and press into buttered pan 9 x 9 x 2. Cool, then chill in refrigerator 15 minutes.

Second Layer

1/2 cup butter
 2 Tbsp. instant vanilla pudding mix
 3 Tbsp. milk
 2 cups confectioners' sugar
 Cream butter until fluffy, beat in pudding mix, milk and gradually add confectioners' sugar. Beat until smooth and spread over first mixture. Chill in refrigerator until firm—another 15 minutes.

Topping

4 squares semi-sweet chocolate (or chips to equal)
 1 Tbsp. butter
 Melt chocolate over low heat. Spread over second layer. Chill until firm. Cut in 1" squares. Refrigerate. May be frozen.

AAA Traffic Survey

In 1964 along Main Street there were nine accidents at Wing Street, eight at Ann Arbor Trail, 13 at Penniman, 14 between Church and Theodore, eight at Starkweather and nine at Mill. At the intersection of Harvey and Ann Arbor Trail there were four accidents last year and five at Harvey and Penniman.

"All of these streets are on the major street system of Plymouth, and all of the streets involved carry higher than average traffic volumes."

Major recommendations for improving conditions at each of the intersections were made in the report, as follows:

Main at Wing

This intersection, with its narrow roadways, inadequate curb and poorly designed and located driveways, cannot provide adequate capacity for the safe movement of the traffic volumes found here. It is recommended that the following steps be taken:

A. Widen Main Street four feet on each side to provide four traffic lanes and prohibit all curb parking.
B. Enlarge the curb radii on corners to facilitate turning movements.
C. Modify driveways so that in and out traffic will not interfere with intersection traffic.

D. Prohibit all curb parking on both sides of Wing from Deer to Forest to provide more street space for moving traffic.
E. Resurface Wing Street at the intersection.
F. Install signs directing Main Street traffic to the west municipal parking lot via Wing and Forest.

Main at Ann Arbor Trail
The conflict between turning movements through traffic and pedestrian crossings create congestion and confusion here. The following steps are recommended:

A. The last two parking meters on the west side of Main just north of Ann Arbor Trail should be removed to increase the utility of the right turn lane.
B. The center lane of the southbound approach on Main should be reserved for vehicles turning left into Ann Arbor Trail.
C. Trim shrubs in the park so they do not impair driver visibility.

Main at Penniman
It is recommended that an overhead sign indicating that the center lane is for left turns only be installed between the traffic signal heads facing Penniman traffic.

Main at Church
The presence of the school on the southeast corner of the street creates heavy turns off Main and out of Church. The situation here can be improved by the following:

A. Rebuild the west leg of the intersection in alignment with the newly constructed east leg.
B. Install dual overhead traffic signals to provide more adequate visibility.
C. Install pedestrian signals here to serve students and patrons of the Library and City Hall.
D. Remove the stop signs on the Church Street approaches. These are in conflict with the traffic signal and create confusion.

Main Between Church and Theodore

Rear-end collisions are the most frequent type accident here because many vehicles stop to turn off Main into side streets or commercial driveways. There is no cure for this situation except widening the street to at least 11 feet to provide a center lane reserved for left turns in this area. While this does not appear financially feasible at this time, it must be carefully considered by local officials as they develop long-range plans for a major street system.

Main Street at Starkweather

The accident problem here is created primarily by vehicles turning right out of Starkweather in front of westbound Main traffic and eastbound Main traffic turning left in front of oncoming traffic. The following steps should be taken:

A. Install a traffic signal.
B. Prohibit left turns out of Starkweather into Main.
C. Enlarge the curb radius on the northwest corner to facilitate the right turn movement.

Main-Plymouth-Mill Junction

The changing alignment of Main-Plymouth and the grades on the east and south approaches are major problems. Following steps should be taken:

A. Flare the south side of the intersection to provide space for three traffic lanes.
B. Enlarge the curb radius on the northeast and northwest corners to facilitate right turns.
C. Extend the added lane on the west-side of Mill south to Rose and install curb and gutter.

Harvey at Ann Arbor Trail
Congestion is apparent here on Fridays and Saturdays when peak shopping activity occurs. It is recommended that:

A. The signal controller here be expanded to permit a complete change in cycle splits and lengths during busy periods.
B. Utilize a "No Left Turn" sign to control southbound Harvey traffic during peak hours.

Harvey at Penniman
This corner has been rebuilt to handle the traffic generated by the central business district and the municipal parking lot and functions well except during peak hours. It is recommended that:

A. The curb radius on the southwest corner be enlarged to facilitate right turns.
B. The curb lane on the northwest corner should be reserved for right turns only.
C. Additional signal heads should be installed to provide two overhead indications for all approach traffic.

D. Widen Harvey from Church to Wing. This should be studied as a long-range project.

The most inexpensive method of improving traffic flow in Plymouth next to improved street markings is establishment of a one-way street system, according to the Club. Such a system in the central business district would also avoid the necessity of costly physical improvements.

It is suggested in the report that Penniman become a one-way westbound street from Ann Arbor Trail to Harvey and Ann Arbor Trail one way eastbound from Harvey to Penniman. The establishment of Harvey as a one-way southbound street would complete a loop around the business area.

Club officials also say that southbound Harvey from Ann Arbor Trail could become a one-way street and Forest could become one-way feeding back into Ann Arbor Trail.

The report points out that Plymouth does not make proper use of traffic control signs. Auto Club, which considers stop signs "the most important traffic control sign in general use," made a complete inventory and field study of Plymouth's stop signs.

Results of this research show that many signs are not visible to drivers because of improper height, or they impede rather than aid traffic because of improper location.

Of 28 major streets and 256 intersections analyzed, it was found that only 43 stop signs met all requirements of the Michigan State Highway Department concerning location. Twenty-five signs were too far back from the intersection, and 156 were too low to be seen over parked cars.

Another important traffic control device is the speed limit sign. Currently, most major streets are posted with 25 miles per hour limits and this is unrealistic, says the report.

It is recommended that "The police department make studies on all major streets and develop speed zones that are realistic and enforceable."

Also, the report says that many residential streets now with stop signs should have yield signs for proper traffic control.

Auto Club suggests that Plymouth undertake a program to upgrade street lighting on major roads. "Good street lighting will reduce both the number and severity of traffic accidents. The level of street lighting on most major streets is far below modern requirements," the report adds.

It is recommended that a program to upgrade the street lighting to the level of lighting in the central area should be initiated. The modern mercury-vapor lights mounted on arms which extend over the roadway on Main should be ultimately installed on all major streets, according to the report.

Besides these traffic engineering recommendations, Auto Club points out in its survey that both pedestrians and motorists must become aware of the safety problem which Plymouth faces.

Last year, over 86 per cent of this city's 290 accidents involved local residents.

"It would appear that the task of alerting the community to the traffic problem and educating the individual in those ways in which he can help solve it is a project which should have special appeal to the press, radio and television agencies of the area," says the survey.

IN ADDITION, service clubs and business and professional groups should be encouraged to participate in a community effort that provides every person walking or driving the streets with information on the traffic safety problem.

Auto Club suggests that information which pinpoints high accident areas and specific violations causing accidents should be impressed upon the public.

Public awareness is the only way, states Auto Club, that any city's traffic problem can be checked . . . for motorists must become aware of these problems before they can change driving habits.

VETERANS BENCHED

Bentley rubs Plymouth's face in mud, 32-0 Friday

Bentley rubbed Plymouth's face in the mud of their Livonia field last Friday, handing the Rocks their second shutout of the season, 32-0.

It was the third loss for Plymouth, who have been beaten by Northville, Farmington, and now Bentley. The week before they tied Belleville.

Bentley's Bill Woods had a picnic with Plymouth's defense as the big halfback sauntered all over the field for big gains and two touchdowns all his own.

Coach John McFall's Rocks sputtered and stalled throughout the evening, as few Rock fans were on hand in the cold drizzle. Rain had dampened the field, and a misty dew fell off and on all night.

THE PLYMOUTH offense launched one successful drive late in the fourth quarter. By this time McFall had benched many of his veterans. With several rookie gridders in the lineup, quarterback Jim Arnold moved the team the full length of the field in the last few minutes of the game. The clock ran out with the Rocks inside the Bentley ten yard line.

McFall apparently wasn't pleased with the work of his senior lettermen. The score was 19-0 at the half and when the team took the field for the kickoff, McFall had sent in several inexperienced juniors.

The lack of consistent performance from Rock lettermen has hurt the team all season. Normally a coach can rely on a handful of veterans to help guide the team. Not so this year for Plymouth.

Bentley scored in the first three quarters, and they had the Rocks reeling at 0-7 at the quarter, 0-19 at the half, and 32-0 at the end of the third quarter.

Here are some of the grisly details:

Bill Woods of Bentley had little trouble rambling 32 yards around left end for the first TD. No Plymouth defender was nearby, and he fairly walked in.

Earlier, Woods had set the Bentley squad up with a nifty mid-field run of 17 yards.

Plymouth's first crack at the ball gave an indication of trouble as a fourth down and two yard situation saw Plymouth gamble on a quarterback sneak, and lose.

BENTLEY retaliated with a double reverse in the backfield as Jim Matevia ripped up the sidelines for 13 yards. For the next few plays Bentley slammed into the Rock. The next few plays Bentley had changed, and with good field position, Matevia ran for 15 yards and Bentley's second touchdown.

A few plays later it was Bentley's fullback's turn. Bob Elsner tiptoed up the middle for seven yards and a Bentley TD. Woods and Matevia had set the play up earlier with nice runs.

Plymouth came back, stood on Bentley's 40 yard line with a 4th down and 1 yard to go situation. Arnold's play failed to dent the line.

Bentley tried their double reverse again, got nowhere, then passed to get out of trouble only to have Plymouth intercept the pass. The half ended with Plymouth trying for a TD pass.

Because of a penalty, Bentley kicked off to Plymouth. But the Rocks could do nothing with the advantage, as they fumbled, and Bentley took over on the 19. Bentley end Ken Bauman snagged a pass, Jim Matevia ran a few yards, and then Woods took the ball, and slanted 7 yards off tackle for the Bentley TD... score 25-0.

At this point Coach McFall sent in quarterback Dave Prochaska, who promptly had his pass intercepted by Bentley's Brian Lucas. Lucas turned around and ran down the field like it was empty for a Bentley TD... score 32-0, after PAT.

The remainder of the third and all the fourth quarter saw quarterback Jim Arnold trying everything to get the Rocks into the scoring column.

In several drives Arnold passed successfully, but never could quite put together a score for Plymouth.

STATISTICS - WISE the game doesn't look much better. Bill Woods ran for 104 yards rushing and two TD's. Bentley rushed for a total of 230 yards, Plymouth for 160.

PLYMOUTH JAYCEES received a trophy for having the best girl's tennis team at the Fifth International JayCee tennis tournament last summer in Houston. Howard Oldford, left, received the trophy from Ron Rodgers, of Waterford. The Plymouth club this year sponsored the state JayCee tennis tournament; they will have the honor again next year.

Next week

Friday night, with homecoming plans well underway, Plymouth's football foe will be Trenton.

Plymouth may not be a match for the powerful Trenton team. Last week they trounced Allen Park 27-7, with big fullback Eric Frederico running for one TD.

Belleville topped Redford Union 12-6, Friday in the other Suburban Six game. Game time for Plymouth is 8 p.m., here.

The traditional homecoming parade, and queen contest are planned.

JV'S lose 12-6

The Junior Varsity football team lost 12-6 to Belleville here last Thursday.

Jim Ruby scored the Plymouth TD on a pass from Mike Cederberg.

Plymouth's JV football team was shutout 18-0 by Farmington Sept. 30.

Paul Cummings, who coaches the JV team, said they couldn't move the ball, committed several mistakes, and fumbled the ball. Cummings cited the work of right halfback Mike Stackus.

Buffalo for raffle

Doug Johnson

The Plymouth JayCees recently hosted a district meeting at the Wayne County Conservation Club on Napier Road.

The meeting ran the gamut . . . from the ridiculous to the sublime.

Wendell Smith, a national director for the club, reported on the upcoming national JayCee convention in Detroit. He noted that the president of the Wyoming clubs was bringing 12 buffaloes to the convention.

"If anybody wants to raffle off a buffalo, see me personally," Smith urged.

It was not immediately clear how the buffaloes were getting here . . . by train, or truck, or driven along the road by the JayCee prexy on a cow pony.

As you can see, the JayCee convention in Detroit promises to be interesting.

JayCee state president Jack Skriden gave the keynote address of the evening.

It was one of those the-enemy-is-at-the-gates, I-am-concerned-why-aren't-you? kind of speeches.

The kind of reception the speech got leaves me saddened. I got the distinct impression that patriotic talks are scorned as being phony, and not too meaningful.

It's just not 'in' to feel a twinge of emotion when God, country, freedom and duty are mentioned in the same breath.

That's a shame because I think there is a place for this kind of speech. Not because the enemy is at the gates, but because the enemy is within, and threatens to bog us down in its sheer administrative weight and unimaginative governmental functions.

On the more important side of the agenda, Bill Green reported on the progress of the community sheltered workshop for the mentally retarded. He said the workshop, under the direction of Ernest Moran, had ten people working and that it was well on the way.

The Plymouth JayCees deserve a note of credit for their pushing the thing along. They did much of the leg work on the project.

Green, who is a special education teacher, said he would help any other JayCee chapter get started on a similar project.

"Seeing these young adults there doing something productive stopped me for a moment," Green said in conclusion.

This is undoubtedly one of the least known, and most valuable projects of the Plymouth JayCees.

John Murawski reported on a JayCee project called "Wake the town and tell the people," a program designed to fight public apathy to community problems.

I would suspect, considering the attendance at local governmental meetings, Plymouth would be a good place to start.

Set registration for Jr. basketball season

Basketball in October? It's getting later than you think, report Plymouth Community Junior Basketball officials.

Registration for the basketball program will be held on Nov. 6 and Nov. 13, at Junior High West from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

Three class groups have been organized, instead of two, as last year. Class 'A' and 'B' still stand, but a 'AA' class has been added for boys 13 through 15.

This will give Plymouth a junior basketball program that reaches from eight to fifteen years old.

The registration fee will be $7.50 for the season for any new boys. Those who played last year will be charged only $5 for registration.

League spokesman John Van Wagoner said last week that those boys who could not pay the registration fee would still be given an opportunity to play. Money does not need to stop him from registering.

THE LEAGUE was formed last year by several interested citizens, notably John Van Wagoner, Hank Wassman, Tony Monte, Howard Oldford, and Joe Bida.

It was rated a first year success with over 150 boys participating in 12 teams, with 20 coaches and many parents helping out.

Games are played on Saturday mornings beginning Dec. 4.

Van Wagoner outlined the steps needed for registration:

- A parent must accom-

Trenton powers by runners

Powerhouse Trenton ran roughshod over Plymouth's cross country team last week 19-40.

Bill Singfield of Trenton paced the run with a 10:12 time.

Plymouth's Howard Stuedeman ran second (10:27), Doug Bates ran eighth, Dave Dirlam 10th and Bob Kreitsch, 11th.

pany each boy at registration.

• Each boy must have available the following information: name, address, age, date of birth, telephone, school attended, grade.

• If he played last year he should know the name of his team.

Schoolcraft starts series of concerts

Schoolcraft College inaugurated a series of day-time concerts Oct. 14 in the College Library. These will be designed primarily for the students and will attempt to give a broad perspective of musical styles, performance mediums and trends in music today.

These concerts will be given at 11 on Thursday mornings and will be open to all students of Schoolcraft College without charge.

Arrangements will also be made to accommodate a limited number of guests living in the College district. Music students from the High Schools in particular will be invited to attend.

THE FIRST concert to be given on October 14 will be presented by the Puerto Rican String Orchestra. They will play a program of classic string quartets. All members of the Puerto Rican String Quartet are natives of Puerto Rico and are making their first tour of the United States.

The second concert, Nov. 16 will present two members of the Schoolcraft College Music Faculty in recital. Mrs. Leslie Eitzen has done a considerable amount of professional singing in this area, including leading roles in Faust, Madame Butterfly and Carmen.

On several occasions she has been a soloist with the Plymouth Symphony.

Her teaching experience includes the University of Michigan, University of Iowa, Detroit Institute of Art and other important Colleges and Universities.

Allen Shaffer is a graduate of Oberlin College and Syracuse University. At present he is working on his Ph.D. at the University of Michigan. He is organist and choir director of the First Methodist Church in Garden City.

The Ann Arbor Recorder Society will present a program of early Christmas music, performing on the recorder and other instruments of the 16th and 17th century. This program will be Dec. 9.

AN UNUSUAL concert by the University of Michigan Trombone Choir will be presented on Jan. 10. There is a surprising amount of good music for a group of this kind, drawn from the 15th century to the present day.

This group, under the direction of Prof. Glen Smith, has received much favorable publicity from their appearances in an around Ann Arbor.

Dr. Edward Chudacoff from the School of Music of the University of Michigan will give a lecture-demonstration on Feb. 17 which he is calling "The New Music".

In this presentation he will describe and demonstrate by means of recordings and slides, some of the important movements taking place in serious music today.

On March 17, the Library Concert series will present the best-known woman violinist in this area, Emily Mutter Austin. Mrs. Austin has done extensive concertizing around Detroit and throughout the country. She was the first woman member of the Detroit Symphony. She is the concertmaster of the Plymouth Symphony and has been soloist with this group on numerous occasions.

THE UNIVERSITY of Michigan Baroque Trio will complete the first Library Concert series on April 7, 1966. The members of this group, all of the music faculty of the University of Michigan, are Nelson Hauenstein, flute, Florian Mueller, oboist, Dr. John Flowers, harpsichord, and in certain parts of their program, Dr. Clyde Thompson, bass.

The Baroque Trio has made numerous concert appearances around the state of Michigan, playing particularly the music of the Baroque period (1600-1750).

Farsighted People Look Beyond Tomorrow

There's a lot to see. And a lot of ways to get your perspective. One way is to look back. If we're going to improve and progress we can take a backward glance to see where we start building and what to build on and for. There are always more places to put money than the money can accommodate. That's where the farsighted people come in. They can know that intelligent participation and careful planning can make a buck do tricks. Your buck. Your dollar or dollars . . . (as far as the budget can stretch) . . . work beyond tomorrow for a new perspective for Plymouth. For its people, its places, its potential, and you.

The future is just around the corner. And whether you're farsighted or not you're part of it. Make it better. Be farsighted.

WHO BANKS AT NBD-PLYMOUTH? People Just Like You!

Dee Chapel lives here in Plymouth, but she works over in Dearborn. Commuting, however, isn't a problem. Thanks to an NBD Installoan, she owns her own car.

As Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Melvin Blunk visits NBD-PLYMOUTH quite regularly to handle the school accounts. He has also been handling his personal banking here for many years.

Van C. Ping is pleased with his newly rented safe deposit box at NBD-PLYMOUTH. He knows his valuables have bank-vault security.

Bonnie Kirkwood got a head start on her vacation by stopping in at NBD-PLYMOUTH during her lunch hour one day. She converted her vacation cash into safe-to-carry Travelers Checks.

Russia

Part of it were the prices, which she said were high. Also, consumer "luxury goods" such as televisions, were of poor quality, with much "buck-passing" among Russian industrialists.

Clothing, she decided, was also extremely poor in quality.

"Shopping in Russia is a nightmare," Mrs. Rauer remarked. "There is always a line for everything and an absence of service."

What about fun for the Russians?

They go to the ballet, the museum; they walk, and engage in sports.

And they drink, said Mrs. Rauer.

"Alcohol is a problem. But the funny thing is they didn't get happy. They were very glum drunks . . . very silent and very gloomy."

Mrs. Rauer also commented on how the Russians raise their children. Much of a young child's life is spent in nursery school, where he has everything he wants, "even a picture of Lenin," Mrs. Rauer said wryly.

"He learns early to get along with whatever he is told. They have got to learn in order to make communism work."

"They succeed in getting a consistent quality of children," Mrs. Rauer noted.

Speaking of life in Russia, in general, she noted that life was still cold, and gray.

She concluded her speech with these comments:

"They have a love for peace. The people have suffered during the last war. You cannot meet a woman in Russia who has not lost a son, or a brother, or a husband. They don't want war in Russia."

"These people are extremely worthy of our friendship and our help. We have to count the Russian people in our future life, either as an enemy or as a friend. I hope it is as a friend."

Fire

the vents along the roof of the building.

No estimate of the damage was available as the Mail deadline approached late Tuesday.

The bailers have a vent with pipes that suck cardboard pieces into the hopper. These pipes were all searched for signs of fire.

The fire did not force many workers out of the plant, and the office workers up front continued at work.

Shootin' Spree

Night-riding vandals shot holes in several cars along Adams St. Oct. 10 with an air rifle.

City police report seven or eight car windows were damaged.

Police also report complaints prior to the Adams destruction, including several store windows.

Assistant police chief Loren Johnson said he thought they were shooting from a car. No witnesses are available at this point, he said.

The crime is malicious destruction of property.

Post 6695 marchers win honor

After almost a year's absence from the competition scene, the newly reorganized color guard from Mayflower Post 6695 of Plymouth, Veterans of Foreign Wars, once again proved that they still have the style of champions.

At the Annual Torchlight Parade held in London, Ontario on Saturday, Oct. 2, 1965, the color guard won two coveted awards. They were: City of London Shield for "Best American Marching Group" and Strathcraft Shield for "Best American Color Guard (open class)."

This is the second year that this group has won both of these awards.

According to Hal Young, Sergeant of the group, the color guard expects to enter the State and National VFW competition next season.

Remus

the central city at the expense of the suburbs," Remus said.

Detailing plans for the Flint-Huron line, Remus commented that his department was able to save Flint $3.7 million.

Remus said that the rates for water were not negotiable.

"And we won't sell less than a 30 year contract," Remus added.

"Pontiac took Detroit water, and had to raise their rates two and one-half times. But they saved on the softening service," Remus pointed out.

He said that Detroit water's quality rating from the American Water Works Association was 96.5% perfect. The City of Plymouth, on the other hand, rated 0, said Remus, mainly because of the iron content.

REMUS further said that the rate for the City would be $1.46 per thousand, that the water is available, that the loop can be made around the City, and that his department would sign a long-term contract.

Rates are set at cost plus a reasonable return for life time debt service, Remus said.

"The big sin in the water business is issuing 35-year bonds and getting a 10-year answer."

Water Board records show, Remus said, that the ground water in the Northville well area is unsatisfactory.

Remus fielded questions from the audience, including one on pollution:

"The U.S. Public Health service report on pollution was not realistic. There isn't enough money in the world to finance what they recommend."

"We recommended what we could finance."

PCF drive

Last year, the money was used for: nearly 700 home visits by nurse associations, support for over 100 needy families, support for the area's 633 Boy Scouts and 658 Huron Valley Girl Scouts and aid to about 1600 servicemen and distress victims.

In addition, the money went to help cancer victims, for rehabilitation to health for 679 people, Veterans Memorial use, aid to indigent dental patients, and enjoyment of music for thousands of Symphonic goers.

Funds for youth programs, including the YMCA Youth Employment Service, for senior citizen activities, and for family service counseling for over 400 families also came from PCF.

This year's campaign is the Fund's 20th. It is conducted in just the City of Plymouth and the Township of Plymouth.

Twelve elected board members run the Fund. They are not professional fund raisers, and they serve without pay.

They include: Frank Palmer, president; Dr. William Covington, vice-president; Betty Korte, treasurer; Reva Barber, John Herb, John Bloxson, Rev. Alfred Renaud, Rev. David T. Davies, Elizabeth Holmes, Russell Isbister and Margaret Murawski.

DBT operating earnings up $300,000 for '65

Detroit Bank & Trust announced today an increase in year-to-date net operating earnings of $300,413 and 15 cents a share over the same period for 1964.

The announcement was made jointly by Chairman Raymond T. Perring and President Charles H. Hewitt.

Net operating earnings for the first three quarters of 1965 were $7,846,375 and $3.70 a share versus $7,545,962 and $3.55 a share for 1964.

HICKORY CURED . . . ?

Folks used to think rheumatism could be cured by carrying a hickory nut. Today, we laugh at these old wives' remedies. We have so many reliable, quick-acting medications now. Medical discoveries in recent years have eliminated or greatly eased untold pain and suffering. But, remember—most medicines should be used only upon the advice of your physician. When you or a member of your family become ill, see your doctor first. Then come to us for the medicine he prescribes.

Introducing the tuned car. 1966 Buick.

What makes a car a car is styling, performance, ride and handling. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick. Like this 1966 Riviera Gran Sport.

Do electric dryers really cost less to buy?
Do you really get no-charge service?

Do kids like ice cream?

The answer, of course, is a rousing YES! Model for model, electric dryers cost from $20 to $40 less than gas dryers. And every electric dryer is backed by Edison's No-Charge repair service. No charge for any electrical parts. No charge for labor. Edison is the only utility company in this area that offers no-charge repair service.

Can you get this kind of worry-free assurance with a gas dryer? Sure—with a manufacturer's repair service policy. But it will cost you up to $120 over the first five years of operation alone!

One thing more. Edison's No-Charge repair service applies even if you don't buy your dryer from Edison—so long as the dryer is electric and you get your electricity from Edison. And if you buy now from a participating dealer, the low price you pay includes the cost of wiring, if any's needed. So when you add it up, an electric dryer can save you up to $160 in just a few years. That can keep the kids in ice cream a good long time.

EDISON

You know how well your car's engine runs after a tuneup? Buick tuning has the same effect on the whole car. Not just the engine. The whole Buick. Everything blends with everything else. Styling. Performance. Ride. Handling. All tuned to work together in harmony. That's what the tuned car is. A Buick. Only Buick is the tuned car. (And every Buick is the tuned car.) What the tuned car is is a masterful blending of all the things that make a great car greater. The Riviera for 1966 is the tuned car. It features six-passenger seating, disappearing headlights, a silently efficient new ventilating system and the kind of roadworthiness you'd expect in a car that costs twice as much. (You can get a Riviera for your desk as well as your garage. Send $1 in check or money order to Riviera, P.O. Box 68, Troy, Mich., for an accurate 1/25 scale model '66 Riviera.) But Riviera's not the only tuned car. LeSabre is, too. And Wildcat. Electra 225. Special Skylark. Sportwagon. See them all at your Buick dealer's. The tuned car may not mean much to you now. But then you haven't had a chance to drive one yet.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.

Isbister, McEwen on key committee

Both Russell Isbister, Superintendent of Schools, and John McEwen, Plymouth Township Supervisor, have been named to the recently formed Committee of One Hundred, consisting of key governmental leaders of the six counties that form southeastern Michigan.

The membership of the Committee consists of local leaders from the counties of Macomb, Monroe, Oakland,
St. Clair, Washtenaw, and Wayne. The appointments have been made by Metropolitan Fund in cooperation with the supervisors of Inter-County Committee and civic leaders.

The purpose of the Committee of One Hundred is to review and develop definite proposals for implementation, based on the recent MF report on Governmental Organization in Metropolitan Southeast Michigan.

The primary recommendation suggested that local government leaders establish a voluntary council of governments to serve as a forum to expand cooperation among the 404 taxing jurisdictions in this area.

Because of the size of the Committee and complexity of its discussions, four subcommittees are being set up to do most of the Committee's work. The three chairmen of each subcommittee will serve on a coordinating group for the entire committee.

Three subcommittees will concern themselves with the council of governments proposal.

A subcommittee on representation will have responsibility in reviewing and discussing the composition of and the selection process for representation on a voluntary council. Mc-Ewen and Isbister are members.

It's that time again. Flower-making, streamer-cutting, float-building time. Car-decorating, sidewalk-painting, Queen-choosing time.

All three classes have set up their Klensch-folding assembly lines while the seniors pray they'll get their wagon done as scheduled and the sophomores and juniors vie for the snazziest car in town. Clubs, teachers, and students are pitching in to help with the parade, bonfire, game, and dance.

Friday morning, the entire student body will vote to choose their Queen from among the four senior representatives—Donna Cook, Pam McAllister, Sue Hulce, and Kay Wall. Also members of the court are junior representative Jane Emerson and sophomore representative Linda Arnold.

"Through the Looking Glass," based on Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" tales, has been chosen by the juniors as the theme for this year's J-Hop. The prom will feature decorations depicting Alice's adventures. The J-Hop will be held on November 13.

Subscriptions are now being taken for the 1966 Plymouth yearbook. Students may purchase their books from any Annual Staff member for $4. Editor Mary Ann Sincovec has announced that the theme of this year's book will be "Accomplishment," with a very unique layout.

You meet the nicest people on a Honda

Maybe it's the incredibly low price. Or the fact that it's so easy to ride. Or the safety and convenience features. But most likely it's the fun. Honda motorcycles are fun to ride. And they're a demonstration ride. Why not today?
