Plymouth Township firemen were summoned to the home, owned by Eugene Johanningsmeir, about 5 p.m. by a neighbor, who spotted smoke rolling out of the house.

The Johanningsmeir family was not home at the time, and were reported vacationing in Indiana. They were expected to return late Tuesday.

Their entire home suffered extensive heat and smoke damage.

The fire apparently started in the center of the home beneath a staircase. The flames spread downstairs and upstairs, completely destroying the area around the stairwell. A bedroom, den and dining room also were burned badly.

CAPTAIN Barney Maas, head of the Plymouth Townhead of the Plymouth Town-ship fire department, said the Friday fire must have smoldered several hours inside of the house, tightly closed against the cold

"RIGHT NOW," states Mrs. Charles Wischman, "our main interests are our six children and re-decorating this 95 year old house we have bought." Dr. and Mrs. Wischman moved into their home at 1073 Penniman in August after Dr. Wischman finished his residency in internal medicine in June at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. Having lived in the Dearborn area all her life, Mrs. Wischman has always liked Plymouth and since it is a small town and also close to hospitals, they decided this would be their home. Much done in '65, but much remains

The past year has been a fruitful year for the Plymouth Community, but many problems still face local governments.

As 1966 approaches, rather than pass out accolades, pat heads and write bouquets, it seems wiser to look back at the things that didn't get done.

Plymouthites should give thanks for the kind of progress that has been made in all areas of the community. And the people who worked hard deserve their reward for hard jobs well

But what about things that didn't get done? What about the report of the auditorium committee, which was presented to the Pymouth Community School District Board of Education in early July? What about the recreation site committee, which was formed with members from the City of Plymouth. Plymouth Township and Canton Township, and at the time of its formation, was heralded as a concrete, large scale co-operative move?

What ever happened to the Automobile Club of America's exhaustive study of the City of Plymouth's traffic problems - a survey provided free by AAA?

What ever happened to the request by Township trustee Dick Lauterbach for action on his Township police report, submitted early last spring?

The list goes on. For instance, developer Patrick Finlan petitioned the City of Plymouth for a decision on high-rise apartment units on Sept. 27. As we go to press it has been 105 days since that request, which still stands without a concrete answer or even of

While the accomplishments of 1965 are many, they represent only a small portion of the tasks that re-

Good ideas and plans come forth, but die later because there is either no public pressure and interest, or there is slow and incomplete action by governments.

It's easy for an idea to gather dust, or for a program to stall out.

That's why, if Plymouth's going to be truly different, progress is not going to be made by saying "My, we have a fine community here, without any problems we can't really solve." Rather, it should be said, "We've got a good start, but we've got a long way

The year 1966 should bring continued action on the following prob-

• The issue of co-operation between the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township - an issue which leaves a community united in education, culture commerce and family life dis-united in government.

• The ever increasing enrollment in Plymouth schools - an enrollment that threatens to overtake and engulf present and proposed fa-

• The lack of adequate police protection for the 10,000 residents of Plymouth Township, and the salary differential between City firemen and Township firemen.

• The continued expansion of Plymouth's industrial horizons through the Plymouth Area Planning Commission.

• The ever-increasing problems of the City with downtown traffic, parking and land use.

· The building boom in Plymouth Township, and governmental services needed to handle increased population.

All these problems, and the issues raised surrounding them, constitute a full agenda for the governments of the Plymouth Community - for the year

We've got a good start, but we've got a long way to go.

Plymouth G. I. supports U.S. Viet Nam policies

EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer of the letter below is the 23-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Beach of 674 Auburn St. A graduate of Plymouth High School, he attended Adrian College and the Electronic Institute in Detroit before entering the service in May, 1964. His father, who died five years ago, spent 38 months during World War II fighting in India, south of his son's location in Viet Nam.

Dear Editor:

I don't know what you would call this note I am sending-I guess it's sort of a personal opinion but it seems to be shared by most of the men in my same situation.

It seems that a few minority groups are getting their views broadcast far and wide. I feel that I'd like to express my opinion to someone who knows a few people.

As we were eating in the mess tent the other day, a Pvt. came in slightly drunk and was quite peeved at the Army in general. (Over here in Viet Nam, you can't blame anybody for getting drunk now and then. It's a rough country.) He was cussing out a few sergeants under his breath, then his conversation turned to Viet Nam.

He had been in An Khe when his outfit was ambushed by the Viet Cong. He was wondering just how many people knew what was really happening and going on around here. Some of his buddies are still in hospitals and a few of them were shipped home in boxes.

The talk of him buying a baseball bat and kicking the you-know-what out of the demonstrators when he reached California was just drunken talk, but his views on the policy of the United States in Viet Nam are shared by all of us here. One hundred per cent supporti

Working with the Military Police, I have a lot of contact with the civilian population here. We have received reports of the Viet Cong trying to bribe children and some of the Vietnamese civilian workers to plant bombs or throw grenades in places frequented by the G. T.'s. Instead, they come to us or go to the civilian authorities and give the information to them. Most of the people realize we are here to help and they appreciate our being here. Since the United States has arrived in force, there are now plenty of jobs for the people to work at, and we pay with money instead of promises, the Viet Cong cannot survive without the support of the people. But this is never read or broadcast, only the number killed or the terrorist activities of the Viet Cong. Viet Nam is a beautiful country, and the people in general are hard-working people, contrary to popular beliefs. But disease and death sort of over-ride the beauty

BUT WITH the help of the United States and the soldiers of the U.S., much progress has already been made. The children, which are certainly Viet Nam's future, go to school six days a week and many of them speak very good Eng-lish. They sort of idolize the G.I.'s.

Sure it's going to take a lot of money and, at the present, American lives. The soldiers over here are doing their very best and deserve the support of every free person on this earth. We may not understand why more bombing is not being carried out in North Viet Nam. We have the right to criticize, but still go along with what is being done.

I wish these demonstrators could hear what comes over Radio Peking. When you have to tell lies like that to keep people on your side, something is definitely wrong.

The people that have shown their support through cards, gifts, blood, etc. are greatly respected by the men here. They are certainly helping the United States and our thanks go out to them.

Sincerely, SP/4 David M. Beach and the 504th Military Police Detachment, Phan Rang, ViN.

The other day I was wandering around the area in search of appropriate New Year's material when I stumbled down a dead end hallway in one of the local governmental office buildings and came face to face with a narrow door. The legend "Broom Closet" had been scratched out and beneath it the title "Superintendent of Community Co-operation" was painted in droopy free hand letters. Inside, a little man in ancient colonial-style clothing sat sleeping. His silver buckled shoes were propped up on a battered desk and a three-cornered hat was crammed down over his Romanesque nose. A battered bugle lay next to him on a pile of musty, dusty papers. Atop the heap was a copy of last year's December 29 Plymouth Mail. "See Growth, Cooperation in 1965," the headline blared. "Hey," I said, "hello there!"

The Plymouth Pilgrim

The little man didn't budge.

"Wake up," I cried, "it's late in the year." He didn't stir. I lifted the brim of his Spirit-of-76 hat, causing a cloud of dust and a moth or two to drift out from beneath it.

"Halloooooo!" I hollered.

No response. Picking up the bugle from the desk, I blew a hearty blast into the mouthpiece.

"Brraack!" and the little man sat up, tilted his hat back to a rakish angle and peered at me from beneath

"Good heavens," he mumbled. "Horrible sound. Hasn't been used since September. What do you

"Well, I'm from the Plymouth Mail and I want to know who you are and what your name is and why you're sleeping in this broom closet. - Then after you tell me that, if you've got an idea or two for a New Year's column I'd appreciate hearing them."

"Apparently," he said testily, "what you want is someone to write your beastly paper for you. Tell you what I'll do. I'll give you everything you ask, and then some."

The little fellow sat up, brushed his gnarled hands together in the manner of someone about to tackle a fearsome task, glared at me from beneath his headpiece and began to speak.

"Originally," he said in a voice cracked with age, came to Plymouth as kind of a symbol - someone picked me out to represent this annual four-day thing you call The Plymouth Comunity Fall Festival. Then, over a year ago, the people that run the Plymouth Community Fund Drive thought it would be nice if they could use me in their yearly campaign. And you gotta admit," he continued modestly, "that I dress up the campaign literature quite a bit.

"Well," he said, "I fell in love with the place. "Liked it. Liked it real well."

He fumbled through the debris on the desk and unearthed a long-stemmed clay pipe, stained with use.

After he filled and lit it, he continued. "Well," he said, "thought I'd stick around for a while. Read your paper last year at this time and thought there'd be a place for me - figured you'd need a superintendent to co-ordinate all the co-operation that was comin' up. "Mebbe I was wrong," he commented through a cloud of dense, pungent smoke. "I ain't exactly been worked to death. Got me this office and hardly nobody bothers me except at Fall Festival time.

"And you know what, boy? You need co-operation now more'n you ever needed it before. You think you got problems now, wait a few years." He creaked to his feet and extracted a map of Wayne County from a shelf of papers in the corner. "You see this?" he demanded - his face coloring and his voice growing stronger. "Look at it! "Look at the people pourin' out this way, look at the shopping centers growin' up - there's Wonderland and Livonia Mall and Westland and a buncha smaller ones planned right in your back yard. Look at the schools you're gonna need and the governmental services and the tax revenue. "Hoo boy, you got problems! "You got developers that'd build houses on twenty foot lots if you'd let 'em. You got people that'd just as soon see Plymouth be another slam-blam, ticky tacky, crack in the picture window suburb. "Problems you got plenty of - and more on the way - and co-operation you need more of than 1965 produced."

"Yeah," I agreed. "But what do you suggest?" "Well," he said, "I suggest you take a more positive approach. Ya know, you made some mistakes at the Mail this year - not that that's any sin, but you still made 'em.

"But you took some positive steps too. You say your newspaper is where The Plymouth Community Comes First; now it's up to you to prove it.

"Prove to the business people that you've got their best interests at heart because you know they mean a lot to the community. Ask how you can serve them better. Show them how they've gotta work more closely together to survive with the kind of expansion that's coming.

"Prove to the governmental units that you are really constructively concerned for the future. That doesn't mean you put your editorial needle away; but it does mean that you use it judiciously.

"And prove to your readers that you care about

"I guess what you're saying is we'd better try to put out a better newspaper, huh?"

"That's right," he replied. "After all," he pointed out. "You live here. You own a home here. You're raisin' your kids here. You got a stake in this community.

"Now all you gotta do is prove it." "O.K.," I told him. "I'll try." "That's the spirit, sonny," he said. Then, yawning,

Kay Selle is bride of Andrejs Kruklitis

Kay Sandra Selle became the bride of Andrejs Kruklitis in a double ring ceremony Tuesday evening, Dec. 28. The 7:30 rites were performed by the Rev. Norman Berg in St. Peter's Lutheran Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Selle of Roosevelt St. and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Karlis Kruklitis of Burger St.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white silk peau de soie blended with Alencon lace. Pearl tracery frosted the rose patterned lace on the midlength sleeves and bordered the hem of the controlled skirt which flared with backswept fullness to a court train. A matching circlet of jeweled lace caught her bouffant veil of filmy, silk illusion. She carried a cascade of gardenias and ivy.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. James Stander of Cincinnati, Ohio. Bridesmaids were Julie Smith of Franklin, Mrs. Charles Young of Coldwater, and Barbara Kruklitis, sister of the bride-

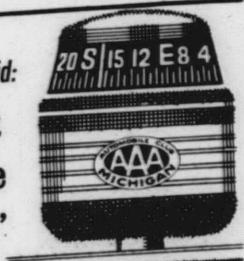

The bridal attendants wore floor length gowns of red velvet with a white brocade bodice. They carried bouquets of white mums and holly and wore matching red velvet Dior bows in their hair.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Selle chose a floor length gown of French blue crepe and brocade with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a floor length gowh of green brocade and matching accessories. They each wore a gardenia

After receiving about 200 guests at the Mayflower Meeting House, Mr. and Mrs. Kruklitis left for a two week wedding trip

The young couple are both graduates of Michigan State University. They will make their home in Plymouth.

EASY-EATING FUDGE

2 C. white sugar 1/3 C. light corn syrup 21/2 Tbl. butter or margarine ½ tsp. almond extract 11/2 tsp. vanilla extract 21/2 sq. unsweetened chocolate ½ C. whole milk 1 C. chopped walnuts

Put sugar, chocolate, corn syrup, milk in pan over medium heat. Stir constantly until all is melted, blended well, and dunked. Increase heat, but don't stir. Keep over heat until the thermometer reads 232 degrees, or the soft ball stage. Remove from heat. Stir in butter. Wait till heat reduces to 110 degrees or luke warm. Beat awhile. Add vanilla, almond, nuts. Mix. When thick pour into 9 x 9 greased pan. Cut when partly cool. Makes about 2 dozen 1 inch squares.

Community Comes First"

COMMUNITY SCHOOLS 1024 S. A

The Sporting Life

Why are we ...?

Doug Johnson

New Year's always makes me reflective about everything. I was fortunate to come to the Plymouth Mail right out of college with very little experience in newspapers and only a shirt-tail degree in journalism. I had graduated as a teacher of English, of all things. The past year has been the best of all my 23. Plymouth is an aware and friendly community, with a sense of indentity, and I like it.

I interviewed a prominent industrialist earlier this year, and one of his opening comments to me was:

"I can't see why the Plymouth Mail is always trying to stir things up all the time." The man shall remain nameless, because I've heard similar comments elsewhere.

For instance, we were called Communists because we printed an interview about a community leader who suggested the United Nations consider the admission of Red China.

The name-calling doesn't disturb me because it means two things:

The man involved read our newspaper, and it caused him to think about an issue.

That, friends, is why we are here.

I believe it is to the credit of the management of he Mail that the editorial staff has been allowed to 'stir things up' a bit.

Our paper should have the news of the Grange and he VFW and the Girl Scouts, and even my pet peeve, he PTA's.

But we should also carry stories on the vandalism, the youth problems, the dropout rate, venereal disease, sex education in the schools and boondoggles in local government.

The paper should reflect the desires of the people; believe we should make available a product that adertisers want to buy space in, and people will read.

But selfishly and yes, even egotistically, I think we hould give people what they need, not only what they

In this, again egotistically, we are part of a con-cerned minority hoping to prod the majority into, first The Plymouth Mail needs to be the protector and propagator of the traditions of Plymouth and its insti-utions. But, in addition, it needs to be, and is, I think, he cutting edge of change. And I think our public letterbox columns have alvays been open to opinion, including opinions not at Wayne County General Hospital at the age of 43.

The daughter of Raymond and The daughter of Raymond and The Collins Ratty shall be the second of the collins of the second open.

greeing with those stated editorially by the Mail. Above all, I think we have maintained a fundanental principle of journalism - accuracy, and the acts clearly labeled as news, and opinions either labeld 'editorials' or signed with a byline.

What we can do, and where we can go from here is largely dependent upon public acceptance of this newspaper.

The chief virtue of Plymouth, as was quickly ointed out to me, was that it was unique - different. It is, but not because of the early American atmoshere, the white colonial columns or the grey paint.

Even the Symphony and the Fall Festival shrink in nportance in making Plymouth different. In the end e same problems of education, youth, crime, indusial expansion and taxation that face all American ommunities confront Plymouth.

But Plymouth is different because of an abundance of human resources - combined with good old-fashioned civic spirit, hard work and clear thinking.

And Plymouth may also be different, just in small egree, because it has a hometown newspaper willing "stir things up a bit."

BRIGADIER ERNEST HAMMER, left, is presenting Mrs. Helen Worley of Holbrook St. the doll she chose from the Salvation Army Toy Shop last week while Mrs. Harvey Thomas, right, of Rowe St., a worker, looks on. Each Christmastime donations of toys, food and clothing are made to the Salvation Army which services the needy persons in the Plymouth area through the Toy Shop. Brigadier Hammer states that they took care of the needy throughout Christmas week.

There's a New Year right around the corner . . .

It could be a good one . . . a Happy. New Year . . . as we would all hope to have it . . . if every corner in the world had a corner of Plymouth. There are, however, these vague and ambiguous havens of hatred like Viet Nam . . . suddenly household words recognized by one and all down to the youngest working mind in the family. There are, too, diversified opinions regarding the issues at stake and the strategies in use and all of the helpless feelings that prevail here when we are engaged in war there.

The issue here . . . in wishing all of Plymouth the happiest of New Years . . . is to graphically and sensitively show an awareness of the contrast of things . . . here and there.

An awareness that must prevail . . . for while we have the things they fight to protect and safeguard for us . . . it would really be quite impossible for us to ignore the very fact that they are fighting . . . and protecting . . . and safeguarding.

And so with our warmest feelings, at the end of the year 1965, when the nation prospered and the war went on . . . and as we prepare to enter into 1966 . . . let's take the time somewhere along the line of auld lang syne . . . to be particularly grateful that this year we are here . . . saying a silent thank you to all of those everywhere who make our peace and our prosperity our true and living possibility.

BEST WISHES TO ALL OF YOU IN 1966.

Woodbrook #1 receives final approval from planners

(Continued from Page 1) Township planners, however, said the letter had never come to their attention, thus revealing an administrative slip-up.

Chairman Irving Rozian said Monday night that the matter of correspondence had been cleared up, and all pertinent letters on any one item would be brought to the Commission's attention immed ately.

OLDFORD agreed to a second western outlet to his subdivision, an outlet that will not endanger what he has already accomplished.

And the Commission also took the opportunity to reaffirm their stand on prelimnary approval not constituting final and unqualified permission to lay streets and put in utilities.

Planning consultant W. C. Johnson cited Section 1.02 of Township Ordinance No. 13, which makes Act 285, Michiga Public Acts, 1931, a part of the local subdivision ordinance, a law that states prel'minary approval does not mean final approval. Oldford agreed to a recommendation from Johnson for the second street outlet, and indicated it would mean the loss of one lot.

904 W. ANN ARBOR TRAIL

Earlier, Oldford had received a letter from the Road Commission urging him to move the one outlet to the south. Johnson felt one was also needed at the north end, and the matter was agreed upon.

In final action on the matter, the planners voted to give final approval to Oldford's plans for the first half of the subdivision, now known as Woodbrook No. 1.

In other action, the Commission discussed the 701 public hearing held at the beginning of the month. The hearing gave the residents of Plymouth Township their first look at the Federally aided 701 master plan for comprehensive development.

Commissioners agreed to delete any mention of the site of a proposed Township administrative and recreational

THE PROPOSED site along Territorial Rd. drew considerable fire from people at the hearing.

The Commission further decided to have Johnson report on the advantages and disadvantages of sites in residential, industrial and commerc'al areas.

COLD FEET ...?

A generation ago some people thought rubbing the soles of the feet with grease would ward off a head cold. Today, we know better. Adequate rest and a :vell-balanced diet go a long way toward preventing colds. But, sometimes even the best precautions aren't good enough. When you are ill-whether you have a cold or something more serious-effective medications are important. They can be the difference between pain or comfort . . . slow or fast recovery. Let your physician decide the remedies you need. Then come to us for the prescribed medication.

When a photographer was not available on the afternoon of December 24, Plymouth Rotarians offered to take their own picture of a television set presentation at Maybury Sanitarium.

The TV set was being given to the institution by Plymouth Rotary.

So The Plymouth Mail provided its normally trusty Rolleiflex camera and Rotary President A. D. Johanson, Executive Secretary Harry Draper and Treasurer Loren (Bud) Gould set off for Maybury.

THERE THE presentation was made and a picture was snapped of Rotary officials and Maybury Superintendent Dr. W. L. Howard, Director of Nurses Miss M. Tiberti and Children's Building Supervisor Mrs. M. Godley.

Unfortunately, a lever on the camera was on the wrong setting when it was turned over to the Rotarians and the picture did not turn out. Neither did shots of local hockey players taken Monday and pictures taken Thursday afternoon by Mail staffers.

Box 346 Plymouth, Michigan

Mid-Week 7:30 p.m. May we extend to the residents of our community a Very Happy New Year. We believe that the person who is really concerned about establishing a more solid relationship with his God has the greatest assurance of happiness. It is our hope and prayer that you are one of those who has already resolved that in the year 1966 you will be more diligent in your search for the TRUTH as it is revealed in the Sacred Scriptures. We, at the Plymouth Church of Christ would count it an honor to assist you in carrying out such a resolution. We extend to you a cordial welcome at all of our services the first Sunday in the year (January 2nd) and to all of the services throughout the year. If you have not attended Sunday School regularly why not bring your children and enroll them in one of our many classes. There is a class for each age group. We'd be very happy to have you and eagerly anticipate your presence.

An Explanation Concerning the Church

It isn't an exclusive or proud church. You find it is very simple. It does not propose to feed vanity with a display of vain things. Its aim is not to amuse or entertain those who attend its services. But it exists in your community as a simple body of Christians pointing all who look its way to Jesus Christ as God's Son, the hope of the world. Its doors are open to those who, from the quiet depths of their hearts, would reach out to God in simple warship and obedient living.

You may be surprised to find that there isn't much ready-made for you in this church. There is no ready-made creed such as you find in many places. You take the word of God and make it your guide as you believe everything it teaches. There are no ready-made prayers. Every believer expresses his own earnest longing for the presence of God and for His sustenance and guidance. There is no ready-made order of worship. Each church (congregation) of our Lord arranges its own order in harmony with the items of worship described in the New Testa-

You may be surprised to find that this church-is a free church under Christ as its only head. It has no organic connection with any other congregation, but is bound by a unity of faith with all those everywhere who "speak where the Bible speaks and are silent where the Bible is silent."

In this church every Christian is a priest. There is no distinction between "clergy and laity". We believe that all Christians are called "to be saints." Their gifts and functions may differ but their status before the Lord is the same. Jesus Christ is our High Priest.

This church is the outward manifestation of the deep conviction in many hearts that simple apostolic Christianity can be produced today by the same living word which produced it in the first century. We do not claim perfection as human beings. We were all sinners who were saved by the grace of God upon our trusting obedience to the gospel. We seek humbly to serve Jesus and to urge all others to do so. Our aim is to glorify God and honor Christ in our lives and in our teaching. Truly to be a free New Testament Christian, without dictation from man, is a glorious privilege.

A GIGANTIC WINDOW mural was prepared by the members of the Junior High East art classes last week, under the direction of Penny Wise, who created the overall design, and Ann Wehmeyer, Rita Foege and Kathy Bostedor. Absent when the picture was taken was Debbie Bierman. The painted winter wonderland mural covers all the four sections of the huge library windows on the east side of the school. The Christmas mural has become sort of a tradition, according to art teacher H. Dittmar.

To offer grad class on community college

BIG JIM SCHARMEN has been a key in the hopeful resurgance of Plymouth Rock basketball. Here he goes up for a shot with a defender's hand in his face.

The Rock swimmers and cagers will have a three-week rest over the holidays.

The PHS basketball team will practice this week, and head coach Richard Bearup has scheduled a scrimmage with Clarenceville.

They will resume their bid for a place in the Suburban Six standings against a powerful Trenton team on Jan. 7, at Trenton.

The Rocks will be well rested; in many of the past years they have participated in holiday tournaments.

THE SWIMMERS will be looking for their first win of an already disappointing season. John McFall's swimmers have come close in several taste of what to expect.

The ninth grade team is under Casey Cavell; the eighth grade team is under Wayne Weimer.

The schedule for January includes:

Both teams play on the same day. Games begin at 4 p.m. at Junior High East.

The Trenton meet is here, Friday evening, beginning at 4 p.m. Jan. 7.

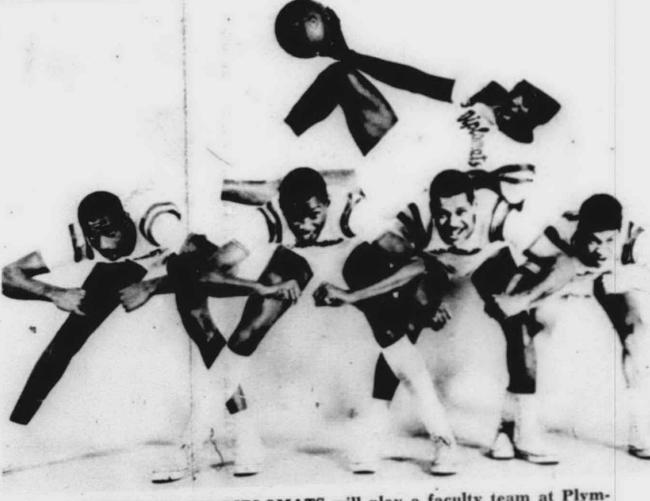

Both the swimmers and the basketball team practiced meets, losing many events by over vacation.

About 40 eighth and ninth grade basketball players have been practicing the past few weeks for their opening game, Jan. 6, with Farmington East.

THE HARLEM DIPLOMATS will play a faculty team at Plymouth High School Jan. 4 at 8 p.m. The faculty-Diplomat game will be kicked out with a ball handling display done in darkness with the only visible objects being shoes, hands and a basketball. Admission to the game is $1, with money going to the Pep Club and Varsity Club. The Diplomats have played extensively in South and Central America. The game promises to be a fine mixture of comedy and basketball.

DENNY SHELLY set a record two weeks ago in the Plymouth Hockey Association when he scored five goals in a single game, in a 6-3 rout of Inkster. Randy Sharland held the old record with four goals in a 1960-61 game with Wayne. Shelly, a junior at PHS, plays on the Trading Post team. Sharland is now a freshman at Michigan State University, with a nonpreference major.
