Vallier Blocks Move to Reconsider

Council Denies Cab Fare Hike, Then Almost Changes

Plymouth's City Commission, performing in the manner which appears to be part of its make-up these days, Monday tried to reconsider action denying a request for a boost in taxi fares and almost succeeded but for a tabling motion by Commissioner Arch Vallier.

Officials of the Checker Cab

Co. made a request for a boost in fares that would have amounted to 33 per cent over the current schedule. M. L. Tucker, representing the company, told the Commission that Detroit had hiked its rates and other suburban communities were falling in line.

"We have the problem of keeping drivers," he told the Council. "With the higher rates in Detroit and more money for the drivers, we are faced with the loss of one or two men daily."

He asked a boost from the current rate of 40 cents for the first third of a mile and 10 cents for each third thereafter to a meter throw of 50 cents including the first quarter mile and 10 cents per quarter for a total of 80 cents for the first mile and 40 cents per mile thereafter.

This contrasts to a charge of 60 cents for the first mile now and 30 cents per mile thereafter.

After considerable discussion, during which John Florence, head of the Mayflower Cab Co. of Plymouth, indicated he was "making more money than he knew what to do with" and that he "didn't want a fare increase" the Commission, on motion of Vallier, voted to deny the request.

"I can't find any justification for an increase," said Vallier, "if one of the two cab companies with licenses to operate in the City feels it doesn't need a hike."

After the denial, both Tucker and Florence left the Commission Chambers—then shortly before adjournment, the matter of a reconsideration of the action came up and received favorable action from the Commissioners.

However, Vallier pointed out that he thought the Council was violating the charter in voting to reconsider after both principals had left, scuttled the move with a motion that the matter be tabled to the next meeting for additional study and consideration.

That ended any additional action even though it was apparent that some of the Commissioners had a change of heart from the earlier action.

It is true that Farmington approved an increase Monday and that Livonia and Northville are in the process of taking similar actions.

Municipal Judge Edward Draugelis, former city attorney who was given the assignment of resolving the matter of the surcharge of $15,860 on the construction of the reservoir, reported he had reached a satisfactory agreement with Pre-Load Inc., who built the reservoir; Johnson and Anderson, the city's consulting engineers, and the city.

Draugelis reported Pre-Load and Johnson and Anderson had agreed to absorb $5,400 each of the costs and the city and federal government would pay the remaining $5,000—$2,500 each. The dispute came after Pre-Load started construction and ran into a quicksand situation that threatened the project. They indicated soil borings, taken by Johnson and Anderson, didn't show any such conditions and demanded the city or J&A pay the surcharge. The matter has been in negotiation for several months.

PLANS FOR AN unusual "Humanities" course at Plymouth High are unveiled by the four-teacher team that will supervise the project beginning with the start of the 1966-67 school year. The group includes: (from left) William Sands, Dudley Barlow, Assistant Principal John Hoben, (standing), Fred Nelson, Principal Carvel Bentley (standing) and Mrs. Jessie Hudson.

Team-Teacher Course Set at High School

Juniors and seniors at Plymouth High will have an opportunity to participate in a unique team teaching course in "Humanities" including Art, Music and English, starting with the fall semester in 1966-67.

That was the announcement Friday by School Principal Carvel Bentley as he told of the unusual four-teacher team project that will be geared for students in the two upper classes with scholastic averages of C or better.

"We feel this course will meet a need in the school's curriculum," he said. "We have secured the cooperation of four teachers—Fred Nelson in Music, Mrs. Jessie Hudson in Art and William Sands and Dudley Barlow in English—to carry on the project."

Although team teaching isn't new to other systems in the area including Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, it is the first venture in the Plymouth school district at the high school level.

The project has the approval of the Board of Education and came out of a recommendation committee, which includes administrators, teachers and board members.

Bentley stated the course would be limited to 90 students and urged all interested to register during the period of April 18 through 29 when plans for the fall term will be made. "We feel this type of program is needed to add to the cultural atmosphere of a cultural-minded community," said Bentley. (Continued on Page 18-B)

East Jr. Musicians Present Annual Show

The band, orchestra and choral groups of Junior High East will join in the presentation of the "Rocket Rendezvous" Friday and Saturday in the school gym — and capacity crowds of more than 600 are expected each evening.

The programs will start promptly at 8 p.m. with a cast of more than 250 under the direction of William Grimmer and Larry Livingston.

It will bring out the popular Rocket Band and the Eastern Airs strings as well as the choir and the 1966 Rockers Stage Band.

For the past several years, the joint program has been one of the highspots of the junior high program and this year's presentation is expected to outdo those of the past.

The program includes: "Liszt Showcase," opening overture, with the Rocket Band and the Eastern Airs strings.

"Sounds of Music" with the choir, band and strings and soloists Jerry Freeman and Debby Wood.

"Free Lance March" featuring majorettes Debbie Dickson and Connie Palmer.

"Roses of Picardy" with the girls ensemble.

"Doll Dance" with a ballet by Jana Hochlowski.

"Tango for Two" starring John Rudloff, accordionist.

"Stardust" with the Eastern Airs strings and featuring Jim Warren.

The Junior High East choir, directed by Grimmer, will present "Wells Fargo Wagon," "Till There Was You," and "The Happy Wanderer."

The Rockers Stage band will play "Muskrat Ramble," "Charlestown," "Stormy Weather" with a trumpet solo by John Rudloff and "Tiger Rag" with a drum solo by Rick Conley.

The choir will follow with "This Land Is Your Land."

The final two numbers will be "The Bremen Town Musicians" narrated by Principal

Carl Taylor and the traditional windup "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

Plymouth Chit-Chat

Builder Thomas Cape has filed action in Circuit Court against the City of Plymouth alleging city officials acted illegally in refusing to grant him an occupancy permit for his apartments on Byron Street.

City and Township firefighters have been busy with more than 20 fires in the past eight days, mostly of the grass variety. Both units, in addition to volunteer departments from adjoining communities, joined in battling a huge grass fire Monday afternoon that stretched more than four miles along the C&O Railroad from Napier Road to Six Mile Road in Salem.

The City of Plymouth faces an additional court action from the Colonial Realty Co. over its failure to award the property next to Snyder's furniture store on Ann Arbor Trail to Edward Lees on his high bid of $5,100. Attorney Earl Demel also plans to have the suit include a request for a restraining order against the recent vacation of Maple Street in favor of Ralph Lorenz.

And there's another matter that may go into the courts. RCA Corporation reportedly plans to expand its facilities in the City's Industrial Park on Plymouth Road. However, the only land available is that purchased from the City by James Hendrie for construction of a convalescent home which already is underway. The question is can Hendrie legally sell property purchased from the City in the Industrial Park for more than his purchase price or does it revert back to the City to make the sale to RCA. This could be rather interesting.

Twp. Plan Board Approves Rezoning for NBD Branch

It took a great deal of doing and involved quite a bit more expense than originally planned, but the National Bank of Detroit succeeded in getting approval of rezoning for its proposed branch at 235 Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township.

Approval was granted by the Township Planning Commission following a lengthy hearing with only Maurice Breen casting a negative vote.

Breen indicated he voted "No" since he felt the Board should go along with the recommendations of Planning Consultant W. C. Johnson, who had given an opinion earlier that the site should remain in the Professional Office zoning.

Although there were numerous complaints from residents of the area—more than 35 were in attendance—practically all dissolved when John Fellrath, representing the bank, told the Board that National Bank had taken an option on the corner lot, adjoining the site, and that it would remain PO and be used for parking.

It was the corner that caused a great deal of the confusion. Earlier members of the Board had urged the bank to purchase it and thus eliminate any possibility of having a request for a service station.

At that time, bank officials protested that the cost was so high that they couldn't think of such action. However, after consulting with officials in the Central offices, the bank did take an option on the corner and did go on record that it would be used only for parking and entrances and exits.

The biggest objections came from homeowners who protested the branch bank would cause traffic tieups, especially in lieu of the fact that Ford Motor already has started construction on a huge facility just north of Western Electric on Sheldon Road.

Fellrath told the Board that banks normally have peaks on Fridays and the 15th and 30th of each month and that there is little traffic into the bank after 3 p.m. each day.

After assurance that the bank would never give up its option on the corner lot, the complaints subsided.

The proposed zoning received approval from Loren Gould, owner of the Professional Office development south of the site, and from Meyer Korchik, developer and builder of the Heritage Apartments now under construction on the adjoining land on North Territorial Road.

"We feel this is an excellent use of the land," said Korchik. "Surely the bank will do everything it can to control the traffic flow in and out of the branch, just as banks have done in practically every other site where they have erected a branch."

Sam Stoller, developer of the Stoller Estates, which adjoin the Woodmere subdivision, received approval of preliminary plat plans after another lengthy hearing.

Stoller agreed to install a green belt of 19 trees along the Road side of the subdivision to eliminate protests from Woodlore residents that they would be looking into the backyards of homes in the Stoller Estates—seeing nothing but garbage cans and rubbish.

Workers to Hear Address From Company Head

Employees of Dunn Steel Products Division of Townsend Company in Plymouth will hear company president, F. R. Dickenson speak on March 24 and 25 in connection with the parent company's sesquicentennial celebration.

Townsend Company, a 150-year-old industrial pioneer and the first wire producing company west of the Allegheny Mountains, is a world leader in the production of fasteners and cold-formed special parts.

With headquarters in Beaver Falls, Pa., Townsend counts eight divisions between New England and California, nine operating locations and over 1,700 employees.

Dunn Steel Products Division, located in Plymouth since 1925, became a Townsend division in 1951. Dunn, a leading producer of critical "safety" parts for the automotive and farm implement industries, is a pioneer in its own right.

It pioneered in developing special techniques to cold-form precision ball studs for automotive type steering and suspension systems and was the first to mass-produce them successfully by this method in the middle 1930's. The car drive probably has Dunn ball studs in the steering and suspension.

Dickenson will speak to the midnight shift employees on March 24 before they report to work and he will address the other two shifts, executives, sales and office personnel on March 25.

... then with that game out of the way, all players, coaches and assistants will go to the Elks Club, 41700 Ann Arbor Road for the afternoon festivities.

McNamara has been assistant coach at U-D since 1951 and starred for three years prior to that. He was captain of the Titans in his senior year.</

Livonia, Wayne, R.U. Join Lobby Group

The Metropolitan Association for Improved Legislation has increased its membership in Wayne County to 18 school districts after the decisions of the Wayne Community School and Redford Union Districts to join the organization.

The Wayne Board of Education voted 6-1 to join the group at an expected annual fee of $1,500. Membership fees is not less than $100 per district nor more than $1,500 per year.

Another recent addition to the Association is the Livonia School District who joined shortly after voters turned down its millage proposal.

Fees are determined by prorating the district evaluation to the total evaluation of all member districts.

Most of the districts belonging to the Metropolitan Association have a state equalized valuation behind each child which is below the state average.

The association has an operating budget of about $8,600 per year, half of which is for the salary of Robert Duhan of Garden City, part-time director, who spends time in Lansing in efforts to win favorable legislation for school districts.

Duhan is also public relations director of Garden City Public Schools.

Other member districts besides Garden City, Livonia and Wayne include: Brownstown No. 1, Carson, Cherry Hill, Crestwood No. 4, Dearborn Heights No. 7, Dearborn Fractional No. 8, Heintzen, Hand, Huron, Inkster, Maple Grove, North Dearborn Heights, Sumpster and Taylor Township.

Trustees Say "Yes" in Joint Meeting

Did Livonia Let Schoolcraft Down on I-96 Plans?

The future of the route of I-96 freeway through the western side of Livonia is still dimmed by inability of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees and the Livonia City Council to agree on a location. This came out in a meeting of the groups at the College last week.

Matter of fact, Mayor Harvey Moeke was told by College Trustees that they had a strong feeling the city had left them down by not telling them of the highway plans when the college started building its campus near Haggerty Road.

The dispute arose when the State Highway Department suggested two routes—one along Haggerty Road and the second along the easterly boundary of the college property.

Mayor Moeke and the Livonia Council immediately took a stand against the second route, indicating that they would veto any such proposals and that they would approve only the route along Haggerty Road.

But, the college board, which had discussed the matter with the Highway Department and received an opinion that they should build as close as possible to Haggerty Road, had constructed the Administration Building and Library in that area.

More than that, a student parking lot has entrance and exit from Haggerty Road, along the northern side of the campus, a faculty and visitors lot have been installed near the Administration and Library buildings.

"We would not have made our plans this way," said Trustee Mrs. Jane Moeke, of Plymouth, "had we been aware of the fact that the City wouldn't consider the easterly route. We could have changed the complex of the campus prior to the start of construction. I feel the city has let us down by not telling us then of their objections."

Harold Fischer, of Plymouth, chairman of the Trustees, echoed Mrs. Moeke's sentiments when he said "It appears to us that the City of Livonia likes Schoolcraft College when it is to its advantage but we are just part of a five-member college district when it is to a disadvantage."

Mayor Moeke, who headed a delegation that included Council President Rudy Kleinert, City Engineer William Strasser and Planner Don Hull, denied the allegations and said the city had already indicated objections to a route east of the college well in advance of the start of construction on the campus.

"It was our feeling all along that the college knew of our objections," he said. "We never hid our feelings and they most certainly were well advertised and publicized at the various hearings by the Highway Department."

"Matter of fact the plans for the proposed highway routes were in the hands of our Planner Dan McCullough, who has left to take a post in Albany, N.Y., and I can't understand why the college didn't have the same plans."

Moeke said the City will not go along with any route other than that along Haggerty Road since an easterly route would cut off a proposed subdivision from the remainder of the city. He had two sets of plans for proposed changes in the Haggerty Road that he thought would eliminate the objections of the college board.

"We have always stood firm on the urban type of highway rather than rural," he said. "We would insist on an urban type in this case and also would insist on service roads on either side with two crossovers into the college property."

"We feel this will give students ingress both from Six and Seven Mile Roads. The crossovers would be at half mile intervals and we would also insist on exits no more than mile intervals."

Study Reflects School Legal Costs

School attorneys in Detroit and 11 suburban communities, who receive retainer fees, are paid annual amounts ranging from $600 to $5,000 per year.

They are paid additional fees upon assignment.

These facts are contained in a report recently compiled by the South Redford School District which is seeking to establish a policy for paying legal fees.

Grosse Pointe retains its legal counsel for $600 yearly while Highland Park pays $5,000. Detroit's board pays a salary to its counsel who serves on the district's staff. The amount was not listed. Almost all of the attorneys have served their districts for at least five years and five of them have been employed by the same board for at least 15 years.

Allen Park pays a retainer fee of $1,800; Redford Union, $4,600; Livonia, $3,500; Plymouth, none; Garden City, $1,000; Farmington, $2,400; Wayne, none; Oak Park, $2,400; Dearborn, none; Grosse Pointe, $600; Detroit, salary (not specified); and Highland Park, $5,000.

Most school districts pay special fees for additional litigation and paper work in connection with issuing bonds.

Livonia recently paid a law firm the sum of $15,000 for assistance in the sale of the 15 million dollar bond issue.

South Redford paid its attorney $800 for advice in preparing for bargaining elections.

Trustee Don Sharp questioned the amount but indicated he felt there was little the board could do about the expenditure.

The board decided to determine how other boards pay their attorneys and the recent study was the result of their investigation.

WHAT TO DO about Highway I-96 has the attention of City of Livonia officials and the Schoolcraft College Board. In background (from left) are: Council President Rudy Kleinert, Mayor Harvey Moeke and City Engineer William Strasser explaining proposals for a Haggerty Road route. In the foreground are members of the College Board.

College Business Manager Kenneth Lindner presented figures to show that the Haggerty Road route would cost Schoolcraft a total of $619,000 for necessary changes in addition to another $100,000 for additional land acquisition.

"More than that," he pointed out, "it would eliminate the faculty and visitors parking lots and cut off almost a third of the present student lot. And it would have the Administration Building in the rear end of the campus instead of the front."

"Added to that, the Board would have to change all of its plans for the location of new buildings—involving additional costs of planning. We don't have that kind of money available."

After considerable more pros and cons, the meeting ended with both groups agreeing to take a hard look at the proposals and to come back to another meeting after the Livonia election.

JERRY BOOTH'S loyal followers turned out in droves Saturday to greet the popular TV star. Police estimates placed the crowds of youngsters and their parents at between 10,000 and 12,000. The conveyor of fun and frantic antics

TV Star Jerry Booth Packs Livonia Mall

Literally thousands of youngsters and their parents jammed the Livonia Mall last Saturday to greet Jerry Booth and his CKLW-TV Fun House.

The appearance of the popular TV star climaxed an action-packed week at the huge Livonia Mall.

Tuesday, 900 women of the area attended "Ladies Day" at the Mall and enjoyed the free Hollywood full length movie which is a regular feature of the weekly "Ladies Day" sponsored by the Livonia Mall Merchants Association.

Thursday, Karen Kernode, Miss Ireland Livonia, was officially crowned in the enclosed Mall area. Approximately 400 persons attended the ceremony. Mayor Harvey Moeke officially crowned the queen and presented her with the key to the city.

The pretty Irish lass, also received a picture album from Oscar Kahan's Livonia Mall Card Shop, a beautiful bouquet of green carnations from

College Plans Debate Between 8 Candidates

Eight of the 10 candidates for City Council in Livonia will participate in a debate in the Forum at Schoolcraft College on April 1.

The Town Hall type program is being sponsored by the Political Science Department of the College to give voters a chance to acquaint themselves with the candidates and also to hear their views on major issues.

The committee in charge is making a list of several major issues and plans to give each candidate a chance to select three—the final three issues up for discussion will come from the list.

The general public is invited to attend the affair which will be the first political meeting staged on the college campus.

McFarland's Flower Shop which is located in the Mall, and a $200 gift certificate from the Livonia Mall Merchants Association. Jerry Silberman, president of the Merchants' Association presented the queen with the gift certificate.

"We expected it to be a big week but the traffic was beyond all our expectations," Silberman said. "Actually we have something planned for practically every week of the current year."

Booth and his Fun House are scheduled to make another appearance at the Livonia Mall next Saturday. Two shows are on tap, one at 12 noon and the other at 2:30 p.m.

Lightening Strikes Home

Three fires broke out in Livonia Monday and one last week in a deserted house on Vasar across from the Livonia Mall.

The deserted house fire was believed to be caused by young children smoking in the attic.

The one house fire late Monday night at 31825 Bretton was caused by lightening striking the house. Bricks from the side of the house, where three young children were sleeping, were tossed 100 feet from the house. The parents were home and rescued their family even though bed covers caught on fire.

Neither Mr. or Mrs. Sam Gruskoff or their children suffered any injury.

Furniture was sent tumbling, and there was extensive damage to the home as a result of the flames.

At the Dehetra home at 20321 Maplewood there were two fires, one in the afternoon, and another blaze six hours later.

The first blaze firemen theorized was caused when a bottle of turpentine on top of an incinerator exploded. According to the firemen, the first fire must have done some damage to wiring causing it to short, and start a blaze. There was considerable damage done to the home as a result of both fires and it is believed two French poodles were killed in the fire. The residents were not at home during the second fire.

Plymouth Symphony Makes Plans for 20th Anniversary

Pianist Barbara Holmquest and Composer Grant Beglarian along with original members of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will be honored on Saturday, April 2, when the symphony celebrates its 20th anniversary at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth High auditorium.

Miss Holmquest, of Ann Arbor, will have a featured role in presenting a solo "Scarlettiana" with the orchestra and Beglarian will be highlighted as the composer of a 20th anniversary composition which he was commissioned to have ready for the celebration but which will be performed at a later concert.

It was hoped to have Paul

Wagner, first conductor of the Symphony, lead in the opening number but he notified officials late last week that he would be unable to appear due to previous commitments.

Wayne Dunlap, conductor of the orchestra, will give a brief history of the organization during the intermission at which time he will recognize the people who were responsible for the beginning of the group.

Still active from the original group and residing in Plymouth are Jeweler Fred Beltner and Lumbermen David Mather.

Those to receive recognition include: Evelyn and Carl Grochka, who now reside in Phoenix, Ariz. Evelyn was a pianist and Carl played the bass.

Violinists were Ardis Curtis Long, a housewife who still resides in Plymouth; Jens Pederson, retired, of Plymouth; Beltner, Roy Purcell, deceased; and Kenneth Greer, a teacher in Ann Arbor.

Violas were: Daisy Barnes, of Livonia; and Leo Kowalcak, of Plymouth.

Cello was Arthur Baker, deceased, and the clarinets were William Bateman, a doctor now residing in Kalamazoo, and Mather, owner of the Plymouth Lumber Co.

Harold Von Bergen will also be recognized. He and Mrs.

Barnes and Beltner played in the first concert on April 20, 1947 and have been active members of the orchestra since.

Following the concert, an After Glow will be held in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. A reception and supper will take place honoring the guest artists and the orchestra. Reservations may be made by calling the Mayflower Hotel, 453-1620.

Symphony officials call attention to the fact that baby sitting services will not be available at this concert. There will not be an admission charge, following the policy adopted when the first concert was presented 20 years ago.

Looking ahead to the Easter Parade were 300 women who attended the "Fashions for You" party sponsored by the Vivians of Plymouth and held at the Elks Lodge on Ann Arbor Rd. Some of the Fashion Notes that Rostow narrated included a double breasted homespun suit by Lilli of California and modeled by Tommy Ready; a washable panty-suit outfit worn by Diane Arnold; Mrs. John Diacono was smartly attired in a modified cape suit with matching carpet bag; Mrs. Donald Zimmer in an unusual ribbonette coat dress ensemble by Saul of California and Mrs. Don Fisher an unusual tone on tone effect one piece swim suit. Lunch and fashions over, the group spent the afternoon at cards. Potted spring plants were prizes. Mrs. William Clark brought home the door prize, an elegant huge copper chaffing dish.

Our Queen of Hearts "Says it with Butter"

By FAITH GILLESPIE

Semantically speaking, there is no satisfactory substitute for the word Butter.

Can you imagine how the language would suffer if we were to say, "The baby is a cute little margarine ball?"

If you set about to flatter someone, could it be said you would margarine him up?

Where would President Johnson's public relations department be if it had to wrestle with the problem of guns or margarine?

How appealing would you find a hot margarine rum?

Gastronomically speaking, there is no substitute for butter either.

There may be many recipes where it doesn't matter. My general guideline is this: if the flavor of another ingredient is going to cover the butter flavor, then there is nothing wrong with using the low-priced spread.

I know well, from years of cooking economically, that you can live a rich and full life and never buy butter. No recipe with find here in the Queen of Hearts, however, will ever say "butter or margarine," because I figure the responsibility for substituting should be left to the cook, who will take into consideration the dish, the pocketbook, the taste buds, and what is on hand.

Some recipes are worth a trip to the supermarket to buy butter. A good butter pastry, delicate butter cookies like spritz, exquisite butter sauces . . . these delightful things shouldn't be fooled around with. Make something else, something that doesn't depend upon the flavor of butter for its special goodness.

The following recipes may be made with either-priced spread. They are designed to add a dimension of taste to your everyday cooking without undue labor or expense. They will brighten company menus too.

The Distaff Point of View

Jerry Wendt
Woman's Editor

Although the luncheon held by the Detroit Edison Co., was to honor the Queen of the Kitchen, every one of the guests were made to feel like queens too.

Faith Gillispie and I attended the luncheon and passed by the immaculate test kitchen where the contestants were concentrating on their entries and entered the auditorium of the Detroit Edison Co., to find it beautifully decorated in the St. Patrick's Day theme.

Pretty, blonde Peg Furlong, Detroit Edison's top notch press-gal, showed us to our places at the tables which were centered in fresh flowers. The avocado and grapefruit salad had been tinted green (no, we did not eat the contest entries for lunch) and we had St. Patrick's creme de mint parfaits for dessert. All of the working women and the contestants had shamrock corsages.

A gasp of envy went up from the audience when the winner went up to select her prize from among the elegant ranges. These are all self-cleaning now—what a boon to save time and your skin. Afterwards we viewed all the entries—frankly they all smelled heavenly and looked delicious to us—and the judges admitted it had been a hard, hard job to pick the winners.

Is there anything more exciting than interesting mail? Last week we entered the office to find several gals around our desk saying, "Open it, Open it, see what it is." The object was a gaily wrapped round container. When we opened it, it was a pink can, filled with rose colored tissue containing pretty sachet bags demonstrating Bon Ton Gift Shoppe's new Gift Can containers.

We couldn't help but think what a marvelous way to send perfume, or jewelry, or anything breakable for that matter. Besides, you can save the dainty container (it's on our desk for pencils.)

Myra Chandler, looking sassy as a spring robin in a navy outfit with matching cloche and parasol of white and navy polka dots breezed in from a luncheon where Helen Gurley Brown had been the speaker. "What did she say?" we asked. "Well," said Myra, she stated that the smaller the bust, the greater the intellect."

Seldom do we allow ourselves the luxury of a catty remark in print, but we can't help but feel that Madame Gurley whose side profile is about as curvy as that of an Indian brave handed herself a bit of a bouquet on that one!

Super Way to Super 8

The fun way to get a first and lasting taste of the new Super 8 movies everyone talks about is to buy one of the new KODAK INSTAMATIC Movie Cameras and Projectors. For a shade over a hundred dollars, you are "in business."

And it's astonishing what you get for your money. The KODAK INSTAMATIC M2 Movie Camera has a lens that lets you shoot good pictures even in dim light. It takes movies with a 50% larger picture area on the film than regular 8mm, which means your movies are brighter and sharper on the screen. The new drop-in cartridge holds 50 feet of film, and you can shoot the whole roll without flipping at mid-point. Loading the camera is as easy as putting a nickel in a parking meter, and it's impossible to load incorrectly.

The KODAK INSTAMATIC M50 Movie Projector has a lot to offer. Automatic threading and power rewind. A 200-foot reel that gives you 15 minutes of program. Fullst enjoyment of home movies with the greatest of ease. It's the simplest home movie outfit you can buy... for taking movies and for showing them.

Why not drop in at the store soon and let me show you how much more enjoyment you can get from home movies with this new movie system: new cameras, new film, new projectors. You'll find them hard to resist.

Justice Removal Requests Given to Court of Appeals

Grand Juror Edward S. Piggins is scheduled to appear before the State Court of Appeals today (Wednesday) to answer questions on his petition to remove Michael W. Bradley as Nankin Justice of the Peace.

Piggins will be asked to show cause why Bradley should be removed by the Governor without concurrent action of the Legislature. While investigating the ticket-fixing scandal in Wayne County, Piggins filed a petition requesting Governor George Romney to remove Bradley from office on charges of misconduct.

Bradley's attorney, Robert E. DeMascio, argues a removal petition must be handled by both the Governor and Legislature basing his contention upon a clause in the 1963 State Constitution which says: "For reasonable cause, which is not sufficient ground for impeachment, the governor shall remove any judge on a concurrent resolution of two-thirds of the members . . . in each house of the Legislature. The cause for removal shall be stated at length in the resolution."

Piggins contends the clause applies only to judges and not justices of the peace. Under state law, JP's and township officers can be removed by the Governor alone if he is convinced removal is warranted says Piggins.

Romney turned over the removal petition to Oakland County Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard to investigate charges and make a recommendation. Barnard turned the matter over to the Court of Appeals asking for a ruling on DeMascio's contentions.

A panel of judges set up to hear the arguments in the Court of Appeals consists of Judge John H. Gillis, Thomas Giles Kavanagh and John D. Watts.

Two other attempts have been made recently to discredit Piggins and delay the Grand Jury proceedings.

John F. Williams, Wayne County AFL-CIO treasurer, unsuccessfully attempted to get the County Board of Supervisors to delay Grand Jury appropriations until Piggins explains what he wants with the additional funds.

Another attempt to discredit Piggins was made by Nankin Justice George Perry who is also on a leave of absence after Piggins filed a request to Romney to have him removed from office.

Perry had requested the Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen to investigate Piggins on alleged violation of the grand jury rule of secrecy. Olsen denied the request.

Perry claimed a story in the Associated Newspapers quoted Piggins as saying if he and Bradley were found guilty of the charges made they should go to jail.

Men who lack faith in their ability accomplish very little.

Bank Sponsors College Booklet

A 32-page booklet, titled "What About College?", designed to answer the questions of high school students and their parents about college is being made available to Livonia area schools as a community service of Livonia National Bank. It was announced Monday by Elvin D. Dougherty, president.

This booklet is divided into two main sections — the first for students and the second to be shared with their parents. It tells students why a college education should be their goal and how this can be accomplished.

The basic questions of students — where to get information, when to take action, how to make decisions — are all answered in this new reference source.

The Special Section aimed at parents is entitled "Guide to College Costs." It gives accurate estimates of the cost of a college education and cites ways to save money. It details how to pay for college, how to apply for scholarships and grants-in-aid and how to obtain loans. It also explains the work-study programs offered by many colleges.

Dougherty stated that, "If Livonia National Bank — through its sponsorship of this than justify our sponsorship." Copies of the booklet are available at any Livonia National Bank office.

New Techniques for Testing Brake, Clutch Lining

Ford Motor Company's Scientific Research Staff has developed a new technique for testing the quality and reliability of brake and clutch linings used in Ford's passenger car and light truck lines.

Called FAST — Friction Assessment and Screening Test — the Ford procedure is the first of its kind in the automotive industry. It provides a quick and highly accurate characterization of friction materials used in brake and clutch linings. The FAST machine can screen and sort a large number of different brake and clutch materials for properties which affect their vehicle performance.

"The FAST machine — a Ford first — represents a major technological breakthrough in ensuring rigid quality control of brake and clutch lining materials used in Ford products," said Michael Ference, Jr., Ford vice president for scientific research.

"The machine can measure friction and wear, and can demonstrate fade and squeal characteristics as well as the effects of environmental problems such as dust and water," Ference added. "It can be programmed to reproduce different load and temperature levels simulating many different kinds of operating conditions that brakes and clutches are subjected to under actual vehicle usage."

FAST machines will be used by Quality Control in the company's final assembly lines and by Ford suppliers to ensure:

1. Totally uniform braking characteristics for Ford's passenger cars and light trucks.
2. Improved vehicle control and greater safety under normal driving conditions and in emergency stops, braking on wet and icy road surfaces and, when cornering.
3. Greater durability of clutch facings.

In conjunction with the FAST test, a chemical analysis process provides a breakdown of the different ingredients present in brake and clutch lining materials to identify and isolate potential problems in material composition.

The chemical test — Pyrolytic Gas Chromatography — converts material samples into gas under intense heat, and separates the gaseous products. The separations are recorded graphically for comparison with established Ford standards for brake and clutch linings.

Ford's Scientific Research Staff also has under development a machine that will be used for basic research in brake and clutch lining materials.

This new machine will make it possible to test and develop new materials for brake and clutch linings. The machine will also have program capabilities ranging from high-speed competition driving at speeds in excess of 150 miles an hour, to interstate thruway, city and rural driving. The Automobile Manufacturers Association currently has the Ford procedure under study for possible adoption on an industry-wide basis to establish uniform standards for brake and clutch lining materials.

Livonia Rotary To Sponsor Carnegie Course

The world-famous Dale Carnegie Course is coming to Livonia under the sponsorship of the Livonia Rotary Club.

"We believe that the Rotary sponsorship of this adult education program is a genuine community service," says Jim McCoy, president of the club. "Businessmen, professional men, sales people, housewives, clubwomen, office personnel — every adult will benefit from this training. It will build a new enthusiasm, develop self-confidence, create a new understanding among the citizens of our town . . ."

McCoy added that the Rotary Club, like other Service Clubs in the Livonia area, has found that the Dale Carnegie Classes have had an important influence on human relations and leadership development in their communities.

The first meeting will be an Executive Lunch at the Mitch House Restaurant on March 23 at 12:00 noon.

Plymouth Elks Win Fourth National Award

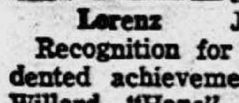

For the fourth consecutive year, the Plymouth Elks Lodge 1780 has won first place in the 1,000 to 1,500 membership category for the best official monthly publication.

That was the word received by Edmund Roginski, Exalted Ruler, from Grand Lodge Activities Chairman James Gunn.

Recognition for the unprecedented achievement is due to Willard "Hans" Lorenz, who took over the monthly publication four years ago after serving as Exalted Ruler.

A plaque will be awarded to Plymouth Lodge at the national convention in Dallas, Texas on July 5. Lorenz will be accompanied by the new Exalted Ruler to Dallas for the presentation.

In past years, he has accepted plaques at San Francisco, New York City and Miami Beach.

ASK YOUR NURSERYMAN FIRST
Wayne Jones says:
If you plan to power rake your lawn, do it before you apply pre-emergence crabgrass killer because the raking will disturb the chemical barrier and result in patches of crabgrass throughout the lawn. Frost is out of the soil and most yards are dry enough to start power raking. Power raking is advisable every 2-3 years, depending on the amount of thatch accumulated.

OUTBOARD TREE—This unusual 18-foot tree with outboard motors hanging from its branches will be a feature of the Chrysler Marine Showboat exhibit and show in the East Court of the Westland Center, Warren and Wayne Roads, March 24-April 2. The complete line of nine 1966 Chrysler outboards, from 3.5 to 105 horsepower, is displayed on the tree. The girl? She's Lesley Langley of London, England, Miss World of 1966, who appeared at the Chrysler exhibits in New York's National Boat Show.

Flower Show Will Open Saturday at Fair Grounds
The show meant for the enjoyment of the home gardener and his—or her—entire family will open Saturday in the Coliseum and Dairy buildings of the Michigan State Fairgrounds.
It's the annual Flower and Garden Show of Michigan, produced by the Michigan State Fair Authority, and it runs through Sunday, April 3.
At least 15 major gardens constructed (and planted) by Detroit area nurseries and garden clubs will be on display. Each will have a different theme.
Shown will be complete background plans, swimming and ornamental pools, patios, various types of walls, small bridges, statuary, artificial waterfalls, arrangements in stone, gardening equipment, and special effects the gardener can get with various materials.
Highlights of these major gardens, though, will be the flowers and plants themselves—all labeled and practically all available in the Detroit market.
These will include rhododendrons, azaleas, new varieties of roses, lilies, tulips, geraniums, and other flowers. There will be trees, too, including evergreens, spruce, birch, dogwood, and Oriental varieties such as flowering peach, wisteria, and tree peonies.
For the children, there'll be an exhibit with a Western theme and a "Funny Farm," with odd-shaped buildings, an egg factory, and small animals.
A garden "theater" will feature films, slides and speakers, with a different subject scheduled each day of the show.
Special stage attractions also are planned.
Area florists will have their own display section, featuring cut flowers and plants of all kinds.
Both professionals and amateurs will compete in various flower arrangement classes, including pedestals, tables, large niches and small niches.
Walter A. Goodman, State Fair general manager, expects that the show will draw record crowds of home gardeners just itching to get started with planting and other spring work.
Hours will be 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Parking space for 10,000 cars is available.
The show, in its third year, is produced by the Michigan State Fair Authority for the first time, co-operation with various flower and garden organizations and other agencies.

Aids Visibility and Ventilation
Want picture window visibility in an operating window? Sliding wood windows are the answer.
These units, which operate like sliding doors, offer a clear expanse of glass for an unobstructed view, and can be opened from either right or left for maximum ventilation.
Available in stock units of ponderosa pine, wood sliders lend themselves easily to a variety of interesting window treatments. They can be installed individually, side by side, or combined with fixed windows. Entire wall sections can be formed by using a series of longer sliding windows and a sliding glass door.

Residential Building Personnel Need Permits
By Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley
(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)
Starting April 1, 1966 all residential builders, residential maintenance and alteration contractors and their salesmen must be licensed to engage in business within Michigan. This statewide requirement is contained in a new law which replaces a previous statute which had provided for licensing in some counties.
The new law covers any form of residential building maintenance, or alteration. Included are combination residential and commercial structures and prefabricated, preassembled, pre-cut, packaged or shell housing. Also included are residential moving, wrecking, and demolition.
Any individual or firm building residential or combination residential and commercial structures for another, or any individual or firm performing maintenance or alteration work on a residential or combination residential and commercial structure for another, and their salesmen must be licensed.
It should also be noted that a maintenance and alteration contractor can contract only in those particular crafts or trades for which he is licensed.
Application for a license must be made to the Department of Licensing and Regulation, Mason Building in Lansing. Each applicant must furnish a credit report, financial statement and a set of fingerprints. In addition, each applicant must furnish a bond.
The bond must be in the amount of $10,000 for each residential builder's license and $2,000 for each trade specified on the license of a residential maintenance and alteration contractor up to a maximum of $10,000.
A license may be revoked or not issued in the first place if any applicant or licensee performs or attempts any one of several improper acts specified in the law.

Kiwanis Film Tells Story Of Brazil

The film story of the great Brazilian experiment of moving its capital city into the vastness of unexplored jungle will be told graphically Sunday in the Franklin High auditorium, when the Central Kiwanis Club of Livonia presents world traveler Romain Wilhelmson and his film "South American Adventure." The showing is slated to start at 7:30 p.m.

Wilhelmson, a graduate of Jackson High, is a member of the Los Angeles Adventurer's Club and has appeared before more than 2,000 audiences with his six educational movies. He started his film-lecture career in 1953.

"South American Adventure," is the sixth and final of the series sponsored by the Kiwanians.

It is the story of an adventurous trip through little known regions of South America and is climaxed by the scenes in Brasilia, the new Brazil capital city, which is ranked as the most modern city in the world. Yet it stands alone in the vastness of unexplored jungles.

The story begins in Colombia, tells of Lima, Peru, moves by plane over the Andes at 25,000 feet to the East and into the great Amazon Basin to the jungle city of Iquitos.

Tickets are available from members of the club and will also be sold at the door on the night of the program.

Charter Meetings Open to Public

Continuing to seek advice and to gain from the experience of others the Livonia Charter Commission will have two speakers at its March 29 meeting.

Harry Newblatt, Flint attorney, and chairman of Flint's Charter Commission will be at the Police Department meeting room at 7 p.m., one hour earlier than the commission's established meeting time.

John McInerney, chairman of the charter commission of Wyandotte, will speak at 8 p.m. Both Flint's and Wyandotte's charter revision failed to be approved by the voters on the first referendum.

The public is invited to attend. The commission will continue to meet in the lower level of the Police Department on Tuesdays at 8 p.m.

Medicare Blanks at Post Office

Acting Postmaster John A. Mulligan of Plymouth, announced that application blanks for supplemental Medicare benefits are available at the windows of the Plymouth Post Office.

The application blanks are being made available as the Social Security Administration seeks to contact 3.1 million senior citizens before a March 31 deadline imposed by the Medicare law.

President Johnson has proclaimed March as "National Medicare Enrollment Month." He urged all federal agencies and all citizens to cooperate in enrolling senior citizens in the program.

Initially, some two and one-half million application blanks were distributed to nearly 34,000 main post offices throughout the 50 states. Additional forms are available as needed.

Through direct mailings and other means, the Social Security Administration has had contact with 16 of the 19.1 million citizens who will be 65 or over on July 1. Of the 16 million who replied, less than one million said they did not want to opt for the supplemental program.

The supplemental program costs $3 a month and provides doctor bills and other benefits. Everyone 65 and over is eligible for the basic hospital benefits under Medicare.

A copy of the application blank is displayed on the lobby bulletin board of the Plymouth Post Office.

Senior citizens who reached 65 before 1966 face a two year delay if they do not sign up by March 31. The application forms are preaddressed to the Social Security Administration in Baltimore.

License Suspended

The driving license of James D. Massey, 22, of 19643 Inkster, Livonia, has been suspended by the Michigan Department of State due to an unsatisfactory driving record.

Mr. and Mrs. August Schultz

Area Pair Celebrates 59 Happy Years

It was 59 years ago on March 6 that petite Mary Willkies, of Taylor Township, took August Schultz, of Dearborn for her lawfully wedded husband in a home ceremony in Dearborn—it was 59 years later on March 6 that the couple passed a milestone that few happily married couples ever reach, their 59th wedding anniversary.

They reside on Hanford Road in Plymouth Township and have been residents of the community for 41 years.

More than 50 gathered for the gala celebration including the couple's six children, 20 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

The children include: two daughters, Mrs. Arnold Heidt, of Plymouth, and Mrs. Howard Balko, of Northville; and four sons, Elmer and Roy of Plymouth; Russell of Tecumseh, and Melvin of Wayne.

Among the grandchildren on hand to help their grandparents celebrate the momentous occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Dobrosky, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Swinehart, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schultz.

Mrs. Myrtle Hayes, of Detroit, a sister of Mrs. Schultz, made the trip to help with the festivities.

A partial list of the guests included: from Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schultz and Bob; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schultz; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Heidt; and Ron McLellan and Herman Esch; from Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schultz; from Northville, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Balko.

From Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Schultz; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dobrosky, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright; from Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schultz; from Milan, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schultz; from Sparta, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Eaton; and from Detroit, Mrs. Kenneth Hayes and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Schroder.

Livonian Guest Of Peter, Paul and Mary

Mrs. Doris Wick was the guest of Peter, Paul, and Mary at the Terrace Ballroom in Salt Lake City. Mrs. Wick will continue her travels to Las Vegas, Los Angeles, and Phoenix. She will meet her daughter, Irene, on April 3 in New York City and will leave April 7 for a trip abroad to England, France, Belgium, Germany and Switzerland.

Air Force Specialist

Airman Donald G. Stamper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey G. Stamper, 9113 Brookline, Plymouth, has been selected for training at Amarillo AFB, Tex., as an Air Force supply specialist. The Airman is a 1965 graduate of Plymouth High School.

The Laymen's Fellowship of the Boulevard Congregational Church, 12929 Joy Road will sponsor its annual fish fry on Friday, March 25, from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Orders may be picked up from the church.

Union Praises Leadership Talks

Representatives of Local 4015, Communication Workers of America union which is affiliated with the AFL-CIO, were much pleased with the recent Leadership Conference sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce in Hillsdale.

President Gerald Greer, one of the two representatives for the Local, expressed his appreciation for the work at the conference in a letter to President Carl Pursell of the Chamber.

The Communications Workers and the Plymouth Education Association, the local union for Plymouth school teachers, were the only unions represented.

Greer's letter to Pursell follows:

"I would like to take this opportunity to pass on to you and the members of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce the sincere gratitude of the Communications Workers of America, Local 4015, for allowing us, as an integral part of the Plymouth Community, to participate in the recent Hillsdale Leadership Conference.

"At the time this invitation was extended there was a great concern in our organization as to whether or not we, as members of the labor movement, were acceptable within the structure of the Plymouth Community. But, I can assure you that through your efforts in arranging this conference, and the friendly acceptance of our representatives by all the participants, there has been a great step forward in the lifting of this ominous black shadow. Many, not active in labor circles, fail to realize that the trade union member is first and foremost a citizen and what is good for the community is good for labor.

"We found the agenda to be most informative and constructive, and we personally feel that with the continuance of this type of program many of the "smarting" problems of the Plymouth Community can be brought to amicable resolution. "Also, we would like to extend to the Hillsdale Leadership Development Center, through your organization, our sincere thanks and appreciation for the wonderful facilities and accommodations put at our disposal during our two days in Hillsdale."

Picked for Training

Airman Ronald E. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Klement E. White, 15459 Park Lane, Plymouth, has been selected for training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., as an Air Force aircraft maintenance specialist. The Airman is a 1965 graduate of Plymouth High School.

How to add a room...

without cooling off the rest of the house

consider electric heat

Give your new room its own heating system—a modern flameless electric heating system. Electric heat is clean, comfortable, perfectly controllable. Simply dial the warmth you want and you get it exactly—without stealing heat from the rest of the house. How much will electric heat cost to install and operate? That depends on your particular home. One thing sure, it won't cost you a cent to find out. An Edison Heating Specialist will gladly come out to discuss equipment and cost of operation with you. No obligation for this estimate, of course. Just give us a call.

Wake Up Flock

(A reader, Mrs. John Davies of Livonia, concerned with the small turnout of citizens at the Devon-Aire Woods and Rosedale Gardens Civic Association meetings to hear candidates for the coming April 4 election in Livonia sent the Observer an article out of the "Huntsville, Ontario, Forester." We share an excerpt of the article with you and agree with Mrs. Davies, "it hits the nail on the head.")

"Some of those present sat as if stunned. Some were plainly shocked. But there was noticeable tendency to applaud at the close." This was the observation of a reporter from a local paper upon the prayer delivered by the Rev. Levi M. Powers, D.D. at the inauguration exercises of the Municipal Council of Gloucester, Mass.

Almighty Father, we begin today a new year of civic life. We know that no matter how much you may want to bless this city, You cannot do it unless the citizens are willing to be blessed.

We pray, therefore, first of all for the voters of this city. There are some too lazy to vote but not too lazy to grumble. Bless them.

We pray for the taxpayers who want good streets, good schools, good fire and police protection and good health officers but who wish other people to pay the cost.

We pray for those businessmen whose voters are determined by the expectation of special favors for themselves. Bless them if You can.

We pray for those who believe that all laws should be enforced except the laws they do not like.

We pray for the comfortable who do not care about anything so long as they are left at ease.

We pray for political managers who swap votes and sell out their friends and let bad candidates go unopposed.

We pray for ministers who say what is pleasant to hear rather than what is true.

We pray for all connected with newspapers who openly advocate civic righteousness and secretly promote crooked politics.

We wish, O God, that all these people might be blessed, but perhaps we are asking too much. It may be that the only thing You can do is to let them go to hell where they belong. You know best.

But, O God, before There are those who can be blessed, those who may be a blessing to themselves and to the world. Here today are hundreds of young men who soon will be voters. Bless them with a vision of the world that ought to be and will be when we are wise to our own good. May each one think of this home not merely as the house in which he lives, but as a city of which he is a part. May he see how much finer and better life will be for all when each one works for all and thinks for all and all for each.

On occasion it has been said a minister in our fair community has stirred parishioners to sit up and take notice with a surprise and sage comment on the political climate of the community.

Just Chattin'

Failure Is When You Quit

Like millions of Americans who kept vigil with the tenseness and drama of the emergency landing of the Gemini astronauts, Neil Armstrong and David Scott, the other morning I sat in my living room with eyes glued to the television and my ear cocked to catch every word.

Finally, in the wee hours, came the word that their space craft had made a successful re-entry and was bobbing about in the far reaches of the Pacific Ocean.

Happy in the knowledge that all hands were safe and sound I retired only to be shocked beyond words when I arose some hours later and learned that the nation's air waves were filled with all sorts of commentary on the "failure" of the Gemini flight. The only favorable words were those telling that "at least we 'failed' in full view of the public—and that's something that distinguished us from the Russians."

Was it a failure? Isn't it true that we got two rockets off the pad at Cape Kennedy in perfect synchronization—and that is the first time this ever has been done?

Isn't true that, for the first time, one space ship actually docked with another in orbit?

Isn't it true that this docking maneuver is one of the most important steps that must be mastered on the way to the moon?

Isn't it true that, for the first time, a space-craft was brought down under emergency conditions?

Well, if we succeeded in all of these things, then, by what stretch of the imagination could the flight be called a "failure"?

True, the flight didn't go to its completion simply because of the malfunction of some part of the mechanism. But most of the important tasks and tests had been completed and America had proved to the world that she was the leader in the space race.

Listening to some of the commentators telling of the "failure" I recalled a most amazing visit I had one afternoon with the late Charles F. (Boss) Kettering, outstanding research engineer of the General Motors Corporation, who had given us such things as the self-starter in our automobiles and the diesel engine that "shoved the steam locomotive into antiquity."

We were seated in the grill room of his favorite golf club in Dayton, O., during the luncheon period and the half way point in the match in which Byron Nelson defeated Sam Byrd, then of Detroit's Plum Hollow Club, for the P.G.A. championship.

During our conversation he said, with that favorite drawl of his, "You know, I've never had a failure in my life."

Not a failure? And in his line of work? I couldn't believe it.

"Do you mean to tell me," I asked, "that you got the idea for the self-starter, put the design on paper, went into the shop and built it—put it in an automobile—and it worked the first time you tried it?"

"I didn't say that," Boss answered with his favorite smile. "I tried many times before I got one that worked."

"Well," I shot back, "wouldn't you call it a failure when they didn't work?"

Observing the Scene...

By MYRA CHANDLER

Everyone has his favorite project. So many are worthy, but, time-wise, and money-wise, we cannot spread ourselves too thin thereby defeating their purpose. Like one good lady I know who had to be on hand every time the PTA opened its doors until the day her oldest daughter just walked away from the baby-sitting routine. This brought mama away from lecturing on how to be a good mama and started her demonstrating it again.

There are so many things to do, U.F., March of Dimes, Rotary Anns, B&PW, Youth Groups, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, church groups, all calling for the giving of one's self. There are even a few not so altruistic such as P.O.B.M.B.T. Bet you don't know what that one is? I was sorry not to be able to join them because they sounded like a swinging group—"Prevention Of Bored Mothers at the Bridge Table." They told me they have two rules—they can't say anything bad about their husbands or good about their kids.

It was to my delight to discover this week that recognition is being given one of my favorites. Governor George Romney has proclaimed the week of April 17 to April 23 as "American Field Service Week." This date has been set for the group's annual fund-raising event at the Masonic Temple April 23 at 8:30. The program will feature Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians, Bud and Cece Robinson, dance team, and creative balladeer, Steve DePass. Bud Guest will be master of ceremonies.

One of the reasons I am so fond of the AFS program is the ability for the likes of you and me—average citizens, interested in world affairs, but seemingly so remote from them, to have an opportunity to really do something to promote world peace.

It is a tremendous thing to have one of these young people in your home. A special relationship is formed in most cases, that is true, meaningful, and life-long. To think that young people, with their mark yet to be made in some remote corner of the world, know and care about you and your family because they were a part of it. I think is one of the best ways to stop wars.

Build bombs, go to the moon, step up production on fast planes—all of this must be done I suppose, but meanwhile to expose these young people to freedom to live, love, speak and worship, I think is just as important a means of U. S. defense and establishing world leadership.

Another attractive part of this program is the fact that it is not government tax supported—it is done by men and women in communities all over the United States. Not on a begging basis, but with ideas. Town Hall Series, dances, card parties, teas, carnivals, handicraft markets. This is no burden. It is not a charity. It is an educational and cultural project not only for our visitors from abroad, but for those who are their hosts.

Since the program started in 1947 a recent survey revealed the importance of the program. Students were interviewed who had lived here five, 10, 15 years ago. Some were teachers, professional people, home makers, in business and in labor. Results showed a definite influence the United States has had on them. The ideas of this country were definitely being utilized by these people—and contrary to the first rash of feeling—a very small percentage came to the United States to live. Rather they stayed in their own country and brought some of the United States to their people.

The results encouraged AFS program planners to step up their program, work harder and try not just to get the upper class income students from abroad, but also the lower income families, where advanced schooling is still a luxury. This is the new aim of AFS—a good project to take on if you are looking for a change of pace.

Constable's Bid Supported by Duggan

Editor: On April 4, you will be asked re-election is Ronald L. Nisun.

Ron Nisun has been elected Constable of Livonia for the past two years. He is active young man who is a member of the Michigan Constables Association; is on the Board of Directors of the Wayne County Division of the Michigan Constables Association; and is a Small Arms Training Officer of the Michigan Constables Association.

He is a sergeant of the Livonia Auxiliary Police; a former member of the Livonia Special Police and a member (and past Vice-President) of Western Wayne County Conservation Association.

Guns and Law seem to be an important part of the Constables responsibilities.

Ron Nisun knows guns and the Law as it pertains to the Constables job.

Ron Nisun is well qualified to be Constable.

JIM DUGGAN,
Livonia

One of the incumbents seeking re-election is Ronald L. Nisun.

You will be asked to vote for Mayor, a Judge, and five Councilmen. There is much campaigning and talk about these people and the jobs they seek.

However, you will be asked to vote for another office—a little known, oft neglected—but equally important—elective office.

That is the office of Constable.

Constable! What's a Constable?

A Constable is an officer of the Law. He serves subpoenas, "charges" Juries, and makes arrests on warrants.

He works on a "fee" basis, and consequently, there is no cost to the City.

You will be asked to elect two constables from four candidates.

One of the incumbents seeking re-election is Ronald L. Nisun.

Pharmacists Promote POISON PREVENTION

Poison Antidote Kits (PAK) are now available in this area at participating pharmacies. The PAK, a sturdy plastic box, contains two widely recognized antidotes for use in cases of accidental poisoning. Your pharmacist can provide you with a PAK for your home.

LANSING—Pharmacists across Michigan are launching a two-prong attack against accidental poisoning, announced Neal J. Van Haften, president of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association. In outlining the problem, Mr. Van Haften stated that nearly half a million U. S. children under five years of age are accidentally poisoned each year. Approximately 500 of these victims die!

Public Education
The first phase of the program is an educational effort long supported by pharmacists in which the public is made aware of the dangers of accidental poisoning. In fact, National Poison Prevention Week, proclaimed this year by President Johnson for the week of March 20-26, was originally inspired by a pharmacist to draw public attention to the problem.

Two years ago, during Poison Prevention Week, Michigan pharmacists initiated a program whereby snake symbol "warning" labels were distributed to parents of young children. The gummed labels were designed to be attached to containers of hazardous substances by joint parent-child action, thus educating both to the presence of potential poisons. The program met with wide success and received national and international acclaim. The labels are now available nationally through participating pharmacies.

Antidote Kit Now Available
This year, the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association is launching a program, not aimed directly at public education, but designed to reduce the severity of a poisoning incident once it has occurred. A Poison Antidote Kit

Roger's and Hammerstein's musical "The King and I" will be presented in the Garden City West gym on March 25-26 (Friday and Saturday). The curtain time will be 8 p.m. and the cost is $1 for students and $1.50 for adults.

The leading roles will be portrayed by Linda Ball as Anna, and Rudy Lemus as the King of Siam.

Other members of the musical cast are: Linnea Dahlberg, Janice Jones, Roger Guager, Harold Jurkiewicz, Tim Bunge, Warren Dirsch, and Pat Colletta.

There are more than 60 students involved in this production not including the children from the area grade schools.

The musical is centered around the schoolteacher, Anna (Linda Ball) who has been hired by the King of Siam (Rudy Lemus) to teach his son and other members of his family. The problems arising and their consequences will concern the rest of the play. It will be well worth your time and money to see this beautiful presentation of the "King and I."

Vocal and drama direction is by William Ainslie, musical score by Richard Kitzman, and the ballet direction by Mrs. Hamlin. Student directors are Dale Hardin and Jacki Durr.

Students who have purchased school keys may now pay for them after school in the book store.

The Latin I and II classes, were surprised with a special holiday from ordinary classes on the "Ides of March." Sister Mary Alban, read an account of the Roman feast, closing with the story of the French-Italian St. Patrick, in connection with the approach of St. Patrick's day.

The freshmen and sophomore English classes celebrated the Ides of March appropriately by concluding the classroom production of Julius Caesar which they had been dramatizing.

Franklin Slates Scholar Dance

By ANN OPLAND
On Saturday, March 26, the Franklin gym is expected to be packed with teen-agers from all over Livonia for the Dollars for Scholars Dance.

The dance, from 8-11 p.m., will be open to all area high school students and their guests. The affair, Robin Seymour of CKLW as Master of Ceremonies, will feature a well-known singing group, the Mastertones. It has previously appeared with such groups as The Rolling Stones, The Supremes, and The Four Tops.

Tickets cost 75 cents per person and are being sold at the Livonia high schools this week, and also at the door.

The Dollars for Scholars, non-profit organization of Livonia, raises money throughout the city, providing college scholarships to many worthy students.

Each year the students themselves put on a money-making activity to build up the fund, and the dance Saturday night is this year's major activity.

In the past three years, 52 Livonia students have received some kind of aid, totaling about $15,000, from the program.

By LYNN BARNETT
The District band and orchestra festival took place March 13. Thurston received division I rating in class AA, competing with orchestras and bands from Ann Arbor, Grosse Pointe, Wayne Memorial, Franklin and Bentley.

This is the first such rating at Thurston and it makes the school eligible to enter the state festival on April 23.

"Who Was That Lady," was shown during lunch hour last week to Thurston students. The weekly movies which cost 10 cents a day, are sponsored by the student council.

Ladywood

By LOUISE GILLIS

The annual retreat gave Ladywoodians a chance for reflection and spiritual renewal. In the quiet days spent in reading, praying, and listening to the retreat master, Father Cyril, the girls had the opportunity to meditate solely on their religion and its role in their lives.

The gym was converted into a temporary chapel and the Felician Sisters Motherhouse Chapel was open to visitors during the lunch hour when Ladywoodians were allowed to roam the grounds.

On Friday, March 11, Career Day supplied Ladywoodians with an excellent chance to weigh the pros and cons of their ambitions.

Students attended six classes of their choice from law to physical education. Sister Danatha, President of Madonna College, was the keynote speaker at the general assembly at 9 a.m. Sister stressed love of a career and a career of love as part of true womanhood in her address to the students, the faculty, and guests.

North Farmington is proud to claim the state gymnastics champions. The team captured first place in the finals at St. Clair. Special recognition is due to first-place winners Bob Kainz (side horse) and Skip Kirk (still rings) and to Dave Slueter, who placed second in the all-around competition. Congratulations to Coach Richard Shilling and all his performers.

An assembly on March 17 was held in honor of the gymnasts and also served as the official send-off to Michigan's Junior Miss, NF senior Bonnie Britton. She will be participating in the national pageant in Mobile, Ala.

The finals of the pageant will be televised this Saturday, and WWJ radio will broadcast live telephone conversations with Bonnie at 3 and 6 p.m.

Don Looney was guest speaker at an assembly held last Monday. His unique humor was a delight to all.

Stevenson Revises Constitution

By PAUL PENDER

The increasing number of clubs, projects, and extra-curricular programs at Stevenson High has generated a great deal of enthusiasm.

The revised constitution, submitted by the Student Council, was approved recently by the student body. The Council has been working diligently so that students may have an opportunity to purchase school rings before the expiration of this year.

At a meeting on March 17, the Board of Education officially named Stevenson's athletic field as "Lester S. Anders Memorial Field" in honor of the late Athletic Director. For those participating in spring sports, this field now functions as a practice area.

Make Appeal For Two Months Back Pay

Jury Clears Deputies of Assault

Wayne County Sheriff Patrolmen Alex Robertson and David Roberts are back to work after being cleared of charges of assaulting a 17-year-old youth by an all-woman jury in Taylor Township.

George Loving, 17, of Taylor Township, had charged the patrolmen of taking him to a desolate area and beating him with their fists for no apparent reason.

Roberts and Robertson testified they were taking the boy to headquarters for questioning on illegal possession of alcohol when Loving leaped out of the patrol car at Goddard and Middlebelt. A scuffle ensued when they attempted to return him to the car, they said but denied beating the boy.

The jury met for 15 minutes and returned a verdict of innocence after hearing five hours of testimony in Taylor Municipal Judge Anthony Nicita's court.

Assist. Wayne County Prosecutor John W. Mowatt recommended an assault and battery warrant after the deputies and youth were given a lie detector test by the State Police.

Although the deputies have returned to work, they are making an appeal to the County Civil Service Commission to receive back pay during the two months suspension between the time the warrant was issued and the trial verdict reached.

Deputy Inspector Richard Novak told The Observer the patrolmen are also appealing misconduct charges brought against them by the Sheriff's Department.

If Roberts and Robertson are found guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer, the Commission could issue a fine or take away day leaves or vacation days.

A hearing date was set and then adjourned until an unannounced date by the Commission.

Man, 21, Cleared In Woman's Death

Inability of witnesses to identify the driver of a car which killed a Redford Township spinster near her home on Feb. 11 has led to the exoneration of a Plymouth man, charged with fleeing the scene of a fatal injury accident.

Police arrested Joseph P. Handzik, 21, at his home, 646 Kellogg St., 35 minutes after the woman, Cleo R. Brandt, 43, was struck at the intersection of Levee St. and Plymouth Road.

His car license had been obtained by four teenage boys who witnessed the accident and pursued the death vehicle but were unable to keep up the pace and lost sight of it.

Handzik stood mute Feb. 14 when arraigned on the charge before Redford Township Justice John M. Dillon.

When the accused appeared for trial March 8, Dillon dismissed the case "for lack of identity. The witness was unable to identify the defendant in the court room," he declared.

Observer Hails All-Area High School Basketball Stars

Presenting the 1965-66 Observer Newspapers All-high school basketball team.

It truly falls under the category of a "Dream Team."

Picked by the coaches of the area's 14 teams, the quintet boasts everything a coach looks for on a prep squad:

There's size and speed, great shooters and rebounders, playmakers and rebounders.

"Give me five boys like these and I'd win the league and state titles," one coach remarked.

Four of the choices are seniors. The lone exception is Leland Bjerke, who set a new record for points at Redford Union, while only a junior.

Selected with Bjerke were Paul Kightlinger of Garden City East, Fred Matevia of Bentley, Mike Wilson of Farmington and Randy Samelson of Thurston.

The four seniors all plan to go on to college. They will make fine timber for the collegian ranks, according to their coaches — the men who should know them best.

The honored players: FRED MATEVIA, BENTLEY

A three-year varsity performer who stands 6-4 and weighs 185. Played both center and forward for Bentley's district Class A champions. He averaged 16 points per game and nine rebounds.

An excellent shot, Matevia boasted a field-goal percentage of 47 per cent. From the free throw line, he hit on 62 per cent of his attempts.

Said Coach George Fefes of Matevia:

"Fred was one of the best basketball players we've had at Bentley in several years. He was a fine boy with whom to work. He gave everything he had and could do so much so well for us. He's the kind of a player who is not easy to replace."

RANDY SAMELSON, THURSTON

Played on the varsity for two years. In 18 games he chalked up 284 points and 171 rebounds. Fired 'em in at a 42 point clip from the floor.

An excellent student, Samelson ranks in the upper ten per cent of his class. He did a good share of the passing for Thurston. Displayed great jumping ability, frequently beating rivals three and four inches taller, for the ball.

Coach Pasternak, in discussing Samelson, declared:

"Mike was an excellent competitor. It was difficult to top the attitude the kid displayed. Mike always came ready to play. He was a student of the game."

"I'd say that he should make the grade on a college team."

PAUL KIGHTLINGER, GARDEN CITY EAST

Half of the brother act which combined to bring East a very successful season. Paul is a senior, while brother Harvey is a sophomore with two years left to outdo the achievements fashioned by Paul.

Paul is the tallest member of the "Dream Team," standing 6-5½. He's also the heaviest, checking the scales at 205 pounds.

He fired in 355 points during the season for a brilliant 20.9 average. In rebounding, he collected 254 for a 14.9 average.

A great marksman, Paul averaged 49.2 per cent on his field goal tries, making 129 out of 262 attempts.

Declared East coach Billy Joe Young:

"Paul Kightlinger ranks as one of the smartest prep basketball players in the area. He particularly was outstanding on crashing the offensive backboard. He also gave us everything he had all the time."

Paul has been a star pitcher for East the last two years. Last season he turned in a no-hitter against Robichaud.

BENTLEY'S Fred Matevia hailed as area's "best."

THURSTON'S Randy Samuelson also ranks high in studies.

Comes next fall, Paul is set on where he will attend college. He has selected Wheaton in Illinois.

LELAND BJERKE, REDFORD UNION
Just missed hitting the 20-point mark for his final season's average. He scored 359 points to post and average of 19.99999, a school record.

In addition, Bjerke drilled in 40 points in one game for another record. But this 180-pound, 6-1 junior did more than score for Redford Union. According to Coach Milo Karhu, Bjerke was: "Our best passer, averaging six assists per game; our best all-around player and our best leader."

Bjerke spelled the big difference in keeping Redford Union in contention for Suburban Six League honors most of the season. Coach Karhu also had this to say about Bjerke: "Leland did everything well. He was the kind of a boy who brought praise from the referees. That's saying something."

Bjerke was the first junior ever to be named a basketball captain at Redford Union.

MIKE WILSON, FARMINGTON

A three-year varsity performer, Wilson made the Interlakes all-league team both as a junior and senior. He operated at guard for the Falcons, but this didn't affect his scoring.

Mike tossed in points at a 19-point average per game. He led his team as a playmaker and was a sound defensive player.

This is what Farmington coach Jack Quiggle had to say about Wilson:

"Mike was the rare athlete who could quickly make up for a mistake by getting the ball back either with a steal, interception or a good block."

"The boy has had a tremendous desire, plus a lot of heart. He was a co-captain on our team and also captain of the football team on which he was the star quarterback."

"Not too many boys like Mike come along at any high school in any five or even 10-year period. He's bound to be missed."

Sandmann One to Ask About Rule

For the second straight year, one of the two men in the striped shirts handling the Class "A" state championship game in the Michigan High School Association tournament Saturday in East Lansing had a familiar look for area scholastic sports fans.

It was none other than popular John Sandmann, well-known athletic director and coach at Plymouth High, who also has gained recognition as one of the state's most able basketball officials.

John was the varsity basketball coach at Plymouth High some 18 years ago when he first joined the faculty but gave it up after three or four years to become a fulltime athletic director and physical education instructor in addition to golf and crosscountry coach.

Then he joined the basketball officials fraternity and gradually climbed the ladder until he now rates with the best in the state.

This is attested to through his assignment from the State Athletic Association in recent years and more particularly in the past two.

John has been a regular on the tournament officiating schedule for the past several years but last season he was selected as one of the crew that works through the district and regional meets to the quarter finals and then to the semifinals and championship games in East Lansing. A year ago, he was called upon to handle the "A" championship game.

This year, his schedule sent him to Eastern Michigan University for the quarterfinal battle between East Detroit and Mumford—a game that was advertised as between the two top contenders for the title.

Then Sandmann went on to East Lansing where once again he received the assignment to work as one of the two-man team in the finals.

Yes, that was John's striped shirt that helped handle one of the most thrilling championship "A" finals in several years.

And that's quite a boot for Plymouth and the Suburban Six League to have one of its members rated with the top cage officials in the state.

OBSERVING SPORTS

By George Maskin

YOU KNOW SPRING MUST BE HERE—OR AROUND THE CORNER:

When your wife starts yapping to do something about the dirt in the garage, the mess in the dogs' playpen, the lack of a hose to water the new lawn, and about her ever-crying need for some new clothes for the warm weather...

When the high school coeds stand around with their coats or jackets wide open, or maybe with no outer garments to cover their flimsy dresses, blouses and skirts...

When you run into broadcasters like Dave Diles, Ernie Harwell and Ray Lane, all back from Lakeland, Fla., where they've had their first peeks at the Tigers. (None wants to talk pennant, but all agree they liked what they saw in the Tigers' lair.)

When you get calls from various schools not to forget their annual sports banquets. You assure them you won't... and the first thing you goof, like for the Schoolcraft College fete. (Gentlemen, we apologize.)

When Dick Fredericks shows up at the weekly sport-casters' luncheons. He's around to promote the opening this week of the trotting season at Northville. When Northville starts, the horses will be moving to the Detroit Race Course before we know it.

SPRING HAS TO BE IN THE AIR:

When you sit down to work out the final averages of the Detroit Pistons. Anyway you figure the facts and figures, the Pistons still wound up the 1965-66 season last. But there's optimism—spelled Cazzie Russell—in the Pistons' future...

When Ron Cantera of the Red Wings announces the playoff tickets will go on sale this week at Olympia. They may have more seats at Olympia, but unless you line up early, you probably will be disappointed.

When high school coaches of baseball teams start lamenting over the fact they don't have a decent pitcher. Only one star moundsman can make the difference whether a prep team has a great season or a lousy one.

When son Richard, with his co-pilot Doug, begin making weekly trips to the Detroit Dragway and the Motor City Drag strip in their new bombshell sponsored by Barnett Pontiac in Dearborn.

We're not quite sure of anything about drag racing, excepting that thousands are flocking to the strips every week. It was all encouraging to get the word that son Richard has developed "a real runner"—whatever that might mean.

SUMMER HAS TO BE NEAR, NOW THAT:

The high school fraternity has had its yearly fling up at East Lansing for the state basketball finals. This is the big weekend of the year for the coaches, principals, superintendents and their cohorts. Little wonder tickets go so fast for the semifinals and finals. They could televise right in Michigan State's Jenison Field House, and there'd still be a sellout.

Art Institute Announces New Hours

Schedule changes effective Friday, April 1, at The Detroit Institute of Arts are announced by museum director Willis F. Woods.

Beginning on that date, the museum will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. These hours will continue through Labor Day.

The Art reference library of the museum will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and will open on Monday by advance appointment only.

Woods also announced that a special exhibition, "Selections from Institute Collections," will open to the public April 1 and continue through June 30. It will occupy three temporary exhibition galleries adjacent to the Great Hall.

From April 1 to mid-June, all permanent exhibition galleries of the present museum building will be closed to the public while undergoing renovation.

"We regret this temporary curtailment of our displays," Woods explained, "but it is essential to improve all of our facilities in order to provide greater service and prepare for the opening of the 100,000 square foot South Addition during the third week in June."

Throughout the April-June renovation period, the Great Hall, Rivera Court and the Kresge Court Continental Cafe will remain open to the public. Programs scheduled for the lecture hall, auditorium and Court Theatre will be presented as announced. The Museum Shop and Rental Gallery will operate as usual until mid-May.

Musica Sets Comic Opera Performance

"Captain Lovelock," a comic opera in English, will be performed for the March meeting of the Farmington Musicales on Wednesday, March 23, at 1 p.m. in the Nardin Park Methodist Church on 11 Mile, Farmington.

Mrs. Richard Truitt, 33053 Meadowlark, Farmington, will sing one of the starring roles of "Captain Lovelock." The opera, which is set in an 18th century setting, was written by a contemporary American composer, John Duke. Produced by members of the Birmingham Musicales for their observance of "American Music Month" in February, "Captain Lovelock" received enthusiastic acclaim. The Farmington Musicales are proud to present it here in our area.

The opera is under the direction of Mrs. Alice Engram. Members of the cast, in addition to Mrs. Truitt, are: Mrs. Richard Edinger, Mrs. Frederick McKaig, Mrs. Donald Johnson, and Mrs. Dean Murdoch, all of Birmingham. Mrs. Charles Hutton is the accompanist.

Residents of Farmington and adjacent areas are invited to view and hear this comic opera. Reservations may be made by calling the chairman of the hostess committee, Mrs. Paul Basal, GR 6-2028.

For their observance of "American Music Month" in February, the Farmington Musicales heard a program of American songs, sung by Mrs. Faith Rickey. Included in her selections were "This Day Is Mine" and "Joy" by Cadman; "An American Lullaby" by Gould; and "Let My Song Fill Your Heart" by Ernest Charles. Mrs. Rickey was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Shirleyann Strey.

The Farmington Musicales is affiliated with the National and Michigan Federations of Music Clubs. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Arthur Winnie, 476-7844.

1931 Thriller Is Slated at Village

"Public Enemy," a 1931 thriller starring James Cagney and Jean Harlow, will be featured in the Famous Early Movies Series at Greenfield Village next Sunday, March 27. Two showings will be given in the Henry Ford Museum Theater, at 2 and 4 p.m.

Cagney's acting lifts this gangster picture, so popular in the early 1930's, from the commonplace. Modern audiences to this film classic will get more laughs out of the showing than dramatic impact.

Early movies, both silent and sound, are shown at Greenfield Village each Sunday afternoon throughout the winter season. This film program is included in the regular admission charge to the Henry Ford Museum.

China Show Slated

The Michigan China Decorators Guild of Walled Lake has scheduled its annual hand painted china show and sale March 24 and 25 at the American Legion Hall, 13980 Greenfield, just south of Grand River in Detroit. There is no admission charge. Proceeds from the show will benefit the Detroit Society for Crippled Children, Inc.

Dewline

By JOHN DEW

On Tuesday night, March 15, the music industry held its version of the Academy Awards—a fete they call the "Grammy" awards. In case your interest tends to lean that way, here are some of the results:

Record of the Year: "A Taste of Honey"—Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass.

Album of the Year: "September of My Years"—Frank Sinatra

Song of the Year: "The Shadow of Your Smile" (also up for a possible academy award)

Best Female Performance: "My Name Is Barbra"—Barbra Streisand

Best Male Vocal Performance: "It Was a Very Good Year"—Frank Sinatra

Best New Artist: Tom Jones

Best Country and Western Single: "King of the Road"—Roger Miller.

Nowhere in the voting do you find the name "Beatles" but they have little need to be concerned. They are about to receive their ninth straight "gold record"—an award certifying one million or more sales for their latest release, "Nowhere Man."

Terry Knight, former WJBK and CKLW night disc jockey is now entered in the disc derby. He has recorded and released an item called, "Mr. You're a Better Man Than I." The results so far should be somewhat encouraging to Terry. Although you haven't heard of the Detroit stations playing it (which is another story altogether) the song has gone to the number one position on the hit charts in Flint where it is getting air exposure.

Remember Bill Sheenan? Sure—he was the popular morning newsmen with WJR for so long. More recently, Bill has been the London correspondent with the ABC network news team. Last week he was named to the post of ABC TV news director, replacing the late Jesse Zoumer who perished in the March 4 crash of an airliner near Tokyo airport.

And just in case you're anxiously awaiting next fall's new TV season, here is a tentative list of titles for new shows which will debut at that time. The list is subject of course to change at whim or will, whichever is stronger. No information as to the type of show is available at this time although many of the titles are self-explanatory.

CBS has penciled in "Run Buddy Run," "Family Affair," "Jean Arthur," "Jericho," "Friday Night Movies," "Pistols 'N' Petticoats," "Mission Impossible," "It's About Time," and a new "Garry Moore Show."

On ABC the newcomers include "Iron Horse," "Rat Patrol," "Men Against Evil," "The Rounders," "Sedgewick," "Love on a Rooftop," "Them Monroes," "April Savage," "The Invaders," "Phyllis Diller," "That Girl," "The Hawk," "Green Hornet," "Time Tunnel," "Milton Berle," "Shane."

NBC introduces "Monkees," "Roger Miller," "Road West," "Girl from UNCLE," "Occasional Wife," "Star Trek," "The Hero," "Tarzan," "T.H.E. Cat," and "Hey Landlord."

D. Thomas Play Planned at Institute

Combining poetic fireworks and music-hall humor, "Under Milk Wood" by Dylan Thomas will be presented March 23 through 26 by The Detroit Institute of Arts' Court Theatre. The Court Players will bring to life this moving and hilarious account of a spring day in a small Welsh town, beginning with dreams and ghosts before dawn, moving through the brilliant, noisy day of the townspeople and closing as "the rain of dusk brings on the bawdy night."

Dylan Thomas called it "a play for voices" and the entire acting company of the Court Players will be heard: Gail Billo, David Darlow, Tom Darnall, Michael Donofrio, Arthur S. Inman, Patricia King, Martin Molson, Dennis Patella, William Patent, Rozanne Septak, Annette Winkler and Will Young. All are Detroit-area residents and have appeared in previous Court Theatre productions.

"Under Milk Wood" was commissioned by the BBC, but had its first performances in New York, a series of try-outs in "concert" form with Thomas directing and reading several parts. Enthusiastic audiences agreed with the critics who called it "probably the richest and certainly the earliest theatre experience of the season."

This is the fourth presentation of the Court Theatre, produced by the Theatre Arts Dept. of The Detroit Institute of Arts and directed by Clyde M. Vinson. Performances will be at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, March 23-26, in the museum's Kresge Court.

Tickets are available by mail or in person from the Institute of Arts Ticket Office (832-2730); also from all J. L. Hudson Ticket Services.

Local Musicians Appear in Recital

Three local students at Eastern Michigan University participated in a recital featuring wood wind instruments at EMU March 22. They are:

Kenneth Maslak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Maslak of 14205 Lenore, Redford Township; Pamela Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of 28564 Clements Circle North, Livonia; and William Snead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Snead, 15215 Aubrey, Redford Township.

All three are freshmen at Eastern.

Wayne Slates Comedy

The Wayne Civic Players next production "Born Yesterday" is scheduled for April 22, 23, 29 and 30 at the John Glenn Lecture Theater. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. A light comedy, the play will be directed by Bud Ribble.

EMU Schedules Day Long Meet on Children's Theatre

"Theatre: Child's Play" will be the theme of a children's theatre conference workshop to be held on the Eastern Michigan University campus Friday and Saturday, March 25 and 26. This is the first time the conference has been held at Eastern. Co-sponsors of the workshop are the drama department and the department of special education.

Representatives from Region 9 of the Children's Theater Conference, a division of the American Educational Theatre Association, will come from Ohio, Indiana, western Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Viola Spolin, guest artist, will introduce and illustrate the theme through two workshops which she will conduct in Quirk Theatre at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Friday. Both workshops will concern theatre games.

Dance is another activity which exemplifies the theme, "Theatre: Child's Play." Mrs. Jeanne Bostian, visiting lecturer in dance at EMU, will present a dance drama entitled "A Dance Is Something You Like to Do." Danced by Eastern students and choreographed by Mrs. Bostian, the performance will be given at 8 p.m. Friday in Warner Gymnasium.

Two formal theatre productions complete the program Saturday and offer further examples for extending the imaginative experience of children. At 10 a.m. the conference participants will attend a performance of "Pierre Pathelin" presented by the University of Michigan Children's Theatre at Trueblood Auditorium, Frieze Building in Ann Arbor. This original musical version of the French farce is directed by Margaret McKerrrow, assistant professor in the U-M speech department. The play was adapted from the French by Michael Harrah, the book written by Miss McKerrrow and Harrah, the music composed by Roger Wertenberger with lyrics by Harrah.

AT CLASSIC

'Skin' Is a Classic Smash

By WALLY ROBERTS

Thornton Wilder's "Skin of Our Teeth" already seen at Mercy College and University of Detroit slipped and slid successfully into the wide-open spaces of the Hilberry Classic Theatre. Dancing mammoths, sobbing women in the audience, and a burlesque of singing telegrams to end all singing telegrams were wild touches that made this latest version of "Skin" even wilder than Wilder might have ever imagined.

Director Richard Spear chalks up a perfect record with this second hit of the current Classic Season. Four out of the five plays now in repertory are solid successes. Capacity audiences attest to the highly polished third season of the Hilberry Classic season.

The only discouraging note all evening comes when the second act bogs down slightly. Pat Criner's interpretation of the Fortune Teller lacks depth and meaning. Helen Scarlett's Sabina in Act I and III is close to perfection, but Act II demands a sensual quality which was not projected. Her Act II costume did little to suggest a smouldering sex-pot.

Such a slight dip in excellence of "Skin's" fascinating display of pyrotechnical histrionics is easily forgiven. There's too much to admire so Old Wally wisely hid his critical scalpel.

Stephanie Haynes Patton gives a regal polished air to the Mrs. Antrobus role. Her magnificent playing of Everywoman is perfection itself. Ben Andrews as Henry packs the perfect emotional punch into everyone of his speeches. Marilyn Petroff's Gladys was superbly done. K. Lye O'Dell's Mr. Antrobus had depth and power. O'Dell's beard bothered me to the point that I had an urge all evening to whisk out a razor and do the Barber of Seville bit.

The entire Classic Repertory Company once again proved that ensemble playing is possible. Their coordination and co-operation was especially evident in the many crowd scenes that dot the landscape of this merry, satirical comic comment on life.

UP

While the University of Detroit's bubbly, bouncy production of Goldini's "Servant of Two Masters" frolicked its way through three hilarious acts, my thoughts kept shifting occasionally to the thought: "how many masters can a person truly serve?"

Such philosophic pauses in the midst of all the zany, cuckoo concoctions so brilliantly staged by the able U of D actors and their accomplished director, James Rodgers is, indeed, quite unique. Perhaps it was the recent and abrupt removal by Vatican officials of Sister Marie Bernadette from the leading role of U of D's perfectly delightful Italian comic romp.

Having your administrative hands slapped at the zero hour (four days prior to opening) is not a pleasant sensation. Yet Emily Haggerty, who frantically replaced Sister in three days, gave a grand performance. You would never have suspected the agonizing hours of tense, frantic rehearsals by her calm, superb stage presence.

The entire U of D production is a compliment to their professional ability to meet a crisis and open the show without a flaw. The audience warms up quickly to the play and takes it to their hearts.

Dominic Missimi as the comic servant, cavorted, posed, and tickled the audience's funny-bone so expertly that the ancient Italian art of commedia dell'arte lived once again within the stifling confines of the tiny U of D theater. Perry Mallette and Annette Ciarrmitaro added to the evening's gaiety.

With names like "Missimi, Mallette and Ciarrmitaro" how could Director Rodgers go wrong with this revival of Italian comedy? Somewhere in sunny Italy the ancestors of these talented actors must be chortling pleasantly as they nod their approval.

The fast-paced direction was given additional push by the clever painted drops created by Albert Ronke. Scene shifts were instantaneous, as the colorful drops swung in from either stage right or left. An inventive and a perfectly fabulous solution for a multi-scene show.

The opulent wardrobe exhibited in this play fairly makes your eyes pop out. Nancy Dudka and Betty Warner have not spared their needle and thread budget for this production. Each costume blends well with the scenery and is a real joy to behold.

Let's not forget the choreography by Kaye Albert. The bits of dance that are interspersed give the over-all production a real lift. You catch the zest and bounce of life through her choreographic touches.

Well, it's too bad that Sister Marie could not have been out front to enjoy the adulation of the audience. For this production was truly great.

"Servant of Two Masters" is an up tempo, upbeat, go-go show all the way and deserves your patronage.

Call DI 2-1000 for ticket information as the play is being repeated weekends through April 3.

Archbishop Dearden Says Mass at St. Alexander's Parish

Approximately 500 members of St. Alexander's parish in Farmington received the surprise of the week when they attended the 10 a.m. Mass at the church last Sunday.

The celebrant of the Mass was the Most Rev. John F. Dearden, Archbishop of Detroit.

Roman Catholics don't usually see their bishop saying Sunday Mass in their home churches. He is there when a church or building is dedicated and sometimes to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation, but even that is usually taken care of by one of the Auxiliary Bishops in large dioceses like Detroit.

The Rev. Joseph Ryder, pastor of St. Alexander's, told The Observer that the Archbishop hoped to make an occasional excursion to the parishes to meet with the people.

Fr. Ryder said that he did not know until 10 p.m. on Saturday that the Archbishop would be at the church the next morning, but added that since he was seeking a typical situation in which to meet the people this allowed no time to plan anything out of the ordinary.

While at St. Alexander's the Archbishop visited the parish's family education center.

St. Alexander's, located in Farmington Township, has a total of 550 families living within its boundaries.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. John Golden, 647 Thayer, Northville, on Wednesday, April 16, at 8:15 p.m. The topic will be "To See and To Know Happiness."

Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Burley at GL 3-2872.

Lenten Services Intensify At All Saints Lutheran Church

The last two weeks in Lent mark a clearly defined period in the commemoration of the suffering and death of Jesus Christ. In many churches this period is known as Passiontide. It begins this Sunday with Passion Sunday followed by Passion Week, Palm Sunday, and Holy Week. The Lenten observances at All Saints Lutheran Church, at the corner of Newburgh and Joy in Livonia, will intensify during Passiontide as the members prepare for a joyful Easter season.

The Wednesday evening meditations on the suffering and death of Christ which began at All Saints on Ash Wednesday, have focused on the different people in the story of Christ's Passion. Various members of the congregation have been presenting dramatic messages each Wednesday evening in which they represent one of the characters in the Passion History. Since this series of meditations, entitled "The Voices of the Passion," is in the first person, the effect is as if those Passion characters were actually present to tell their story.

So far the congregation has heard the voices of John, Judas, Peter, Pilate, and Simon of Cyrene. At 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday evening during Passion Week, they will hear the Voice of Dismas, the Penitent Thief on the Cross, and on Holy Wednesday during Holy Week, it will be Longinus, the Centurion who will speak to the congregation.

In conjunction with these messages, Elden Zang, an artist in the congregation has been painting large colorful posters each containing a symbol and a verse. These posters, as seen in the picture, are attached to the windows in All Saints Chapel. Since there are eight windows, there will be a poster for each of the seven voices of the Passion. The eighth and final poster will carry home the climatic message of the Christian faith, the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

The community is invited to join the people at All Saints at 7:30 p.m. on the next two Wednesday evenings, on Maundy Thursday, Good Friday, and Holy Saturday. Palm will be distributed at the Palm Sunday services at 8:00 and 10:30 a.m. Easter Sunday services are at 6:30 and 10:30 a.m.

A GROUP OF FARMINGTON'S outstanding citizens made a gift of historical books to the library of the new Nardin Park Methodist Church on 11 Mile Rd. Left to right are: Bruce Duke, representing the Farmington Businessmen; Mrs. Ada Butler, committee chairman; Mr. E. Howard, Christian book stores; Mrs. Frank De Podesta, in memory of her husband; Mrs. Arthur Grosop, in memory of Mrs. Leo Coffman; and Mrs. William Mercer. Seated at his desk is Rev. William Mercer.

Keep Church 'God's House' Urges Methodist Minister

By JERRY WENDT, Church Editor

The spires of the new Nardin Park Methodist Church on Eleven Mile Rd., in Farmington Township are clearly outlined. So, indeed, are the goals and aspiration of its minister, Rev. William Mercer.

A group of outstanding Farmington citizens had just presented Rev. Mercer with some books for the church library and this afforded the Observer with an opportunity to interview him.

Seated in the office of the church, Rev. Mercer recalled the events that led to the well-established Nardin Park Church moving out to the suburbs.

The Ebenezer African Methodist Church had burned down, and searching frantically for a new building, they offered to buy the church. A move to the suburbs had been contemplated, but was not in effect. When consulted, the Community Committee of the Detroit Council of Churches decided that the 20 acres on 11 Mile which had been designated for the site of a Methodist Church would be ideal.

Rev. Mercer's one big worry was that they would lose some of their staunch members due to the distance, but happily, out of 1500 members, not more than 15 families have been unable to make the Sunday trip.

We asked Rev. Mercer a leading question and he did not evade it. "Is there a split in the Methodist Church," we asked, "as there is in other Bible literatures?" "No," he said, "churches over the taking of the 'most Methodist ministers are modern in their viewpoint and do not take the Bible literally.'"

"However," he said, "there is

Rev. Beynon to speak March 23

a difference of opinion in to what extent the Church should enter into the issues of the day. The modern trend is to voice the Church's opinions on current topics."

Rev. Mercer stated his viewpoint without hesitation. "I believe my relationship is to God, not first to ethical functions. I think my duty is to bring people to God. Modern life is one of extreme tension, and I don't believe people should be harangued in Church."

"I want people to know the serenity that is God's great gift to those who follow him. Peace of mind is religion's greatest benefit. 'I don't mean,' he hastened to say, 'that I won't be glad to help my congregation's problems but basically our relationship is with God, not a political party.'"

Y.W.C.A. Ponders Its Christian Purpose

"How can we say we are a Christian organization and at the same time say that anyone may join?"

"What is the YWCA called to be as a Christian movement today?"

This past month Northwest Branch YWCA has been examining these and other related questions as a part of nationwide study. The results of their meetings will be forwarded to a regional YWCA meeting in Minneapolis in April.

This represents part I of the study to "explore what is involved in being a movement that is both Christian and open to all women and girls in communities with widespread religious pluralism and many persons of no religious faith."

The question was posed at the YWCA National Convention in Cleveland, 1964. It was brought to the attention of the convention by YWCA's from areas where a large percentage of the population is non-Christian, namely in California where many who are Buddhists are actively participating in YWCA. The point in question is the written purpose of the YWCA, present not only in its constitution, but written on the back of every membership card. Included in this purpose is the phrase "... to which we are committed by our faith as Christians."

The study group at Northwest Branch entered into four lively sessions in which members freely examined their own and each other's attitudes as they sought answers to:

- What is the Nature of Today's Religious Pluralism?
- What is It to be Open?
- What is It to be Christian?

Spring Conference To Be March 26

Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church, of Livonia, announces the Detroit Council of Presbyterian Men-Spring Conference on Saturday, March 26 from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Calvin East Church.

The theme will be "How Tough Is It to be a Christian?" Registration fee is $2, which includes continental breakfast and luncheon. For reservations call the church office or see Bruce Boore.

D. What is It to be Part of a World Christian Movement?

According to Sophia Lindgren, director of adult program at Northwest Branch, a recent survey showed that among participants in the Ladies' Day Out Program 30% were Roman Catholic, 30% Jewish and 40% Protestant. Northwest branch is the fastest growing YWCA in the Metropolitan system, having 7,067 members in 1965.

From New York, Mrs. Lilace Reid Barnes, Chairman of the National Commission for the study said, "We are caught up in an extraordinary period of human history, characterized by massive, rapid and unceasing social change, affecting all the political, social, economic and religious institutions of the world."

Among these changes are urbanization, technological development, the population explosion, atomic power, and the exploration of outer space. In the midst of these changes there is the conflict between the new and the old orders of society, secularization and de-personalization, and the radical questioning of all values.

In every part of the world there is the search for a more meaningful basis on which all persons may live with integrity, freedom and purpose.

"The religious situation in the world has also been deeply affected by these changes. The movements within the Christian churches to rethink the Church's mission in the world as well as the development of a truly secular concept of human life are among the factors that are changing the setting in which the YWCA works."

Concluding her remarks Mrs. Barnes stated, "The YWCA, as it seeks to respond in this day to God's call for involvement in the world, must have a new clarity about its goals and priorities. It must discern where the structures of society are being challenged or reshaped and where the lives of women and

Concert to Be Sung Sunday, March 27

The choir of the Wheaton Academy will be the guests of the Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church for a sacred concert on Sunday, March 27 at 7 p.m. The theme will be "Till the Whole World Knows," and will consist of familiar hymns, classical sacred anthems, and oratorio numbers.

spiritual discovery

It may well be man's most important challenge: to search and probe his intuitions about religion until he discovers that point in his consciousness where spiritual reality breaks through, the divine touches the human, and God transforms the world with His image. You are invited to hear this public lecture titled "The Demand of Spiritual Discovery" by OTTO BERTSCH, C.S.B., a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

CANISTERS for the annual Easter Lily sale, conducted by Plymouth's Rotary-Ann's, are handed to Adnan and Lila Hegazi by chairman Mrs. Mable Hopkins. She and Mrs. David Wiley will have charge of the two-day sale on the streets of Plymouth on April 1 and 2.

and Draugelis indicated all parties concerned were in accord with the agreement. The Commission approved settlement on the basis proposed. City Manager Richard Blodgett reported a meeting with School Supt. Russell Isbister and High School Principal Carvel Bentley in regard to traffic congestion on Main Street during the morning hours. Commissioner James McKeon also attended.

"However, the meeting was far from satisfactory," said Blodgett. "It was a bright sunny morning and there weren't any problems. We plan to wait for a rainy morning for a second study and then will make recommendations to the Commission."

The matter of parking facilities for tenants of the Colonial Professional Building and an occupancy permit had the attention of the Commissioners for quite a spell.

Commissioner Vallier, who has been adamant that the owners of the building—Attorney Earl Demel—should provide parking on the same basis as merchants, $600 a lot in the city parking lots, demanded to know why this shouldn't be the situation if a new use is being made of the second floor of the building.

Demel told the Commission at an earlier meeting, when his Business Manager Edward Lee made a high bid of $5,100 for a lot adjacent to the Snyder Furniture store on the opposite side of Ann Arbor Trail, that he had leased the second floor to Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. for office space.

"We have a problem here and I feel we should change the ordinance to take care of it," said Vallier.

City Attorney Thomas Healy pointed out that he didn't believe any action the Commission took now could be made retroactive to the building which was constructed more than 20 years ago.

On query of Commissioner McKeon, Building Inspector Charles Thompson told the Council that the building had been used as an operators room when owned by Michigan Bell.

On a motion of Commissioner George Lawton, the Board approved a study and a report back for suggested actions that would eliminate parking problems like this in the future.

The matter of a proposed ice hockey rink in the city to be built with federal funds was discussed and finally turned over to the Community Recreation Committee, headed by Township Trustee Louis Norman, for a decision.

It was suggested that this would be the first effort for a joint project in which all governmental units could join in a communitywide move in keeping with the proposals from the recent Leadership Conference in Hillsdale.

Stewart Dodge, of S. Main, complained to the Commission about the litter and debris from the Burger Chef drive-in adjacent to his home.

City Manager Blodgett indicated he thought this was a matter for the administration to resolve and that the police department was in the process of making a general survey to eliminate these types of problems.

Commissioner Vallier asked the City Manager, on behalf of the Commission, to report back at the next meeting and asked his fellow members to consider an amendment to the existing ordinance requiring a fence around such businesses.

Blodgett received permission from the Commission to proceed with exploring the possibility of joining with area communities in an incinerator authority. Present plans call for the incinerator to be erected in Livonia and other communities joining in the operation.

DPW News And Notes

By ACTING SUPT. KEN VOGRAS

Plymouth Dept. Public Works
Department of Public Works crews were busy handling three funerals at Riverside Cemetery. Workers cleaned up and picked up papers and debris around the City Hall.

A total of 62 catch basins were cleaned in the northwest section. A dead end post was replaced at the south end of Hamilton. Cold-patching was done throughout the city where needed.

A water leak was repaired on W. Ann Arbor Trail and water taps installed at 186 Caster and 1225 S. Main. A broken water service had the attention of workers on N. Holbrook and was repaired in quick order.

The business section was swept and the southeast and southwest sections of the city.

City trees are being sprayed early in the mornings when weather permits to guard against Dutch elm disease. The work will be continued until all city owned Elm trees have been sprayed. The spraying can be done only under the most favorable conditions without wind, rain or heavy dew.

Area Dems to Hear Rep. James Tierney In Meeting Friday

State Representative James Tierney, (D), who represents Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Northville Township in the Legislature, will be the featured speaker, Friday at 8 p.m., in the library of Junior High East.

Rep. Tierney, vice chairman of the Economic Development Committee and a member of Committees on Education, Towns and Counties and State Library, will discuss the important questions of County Home Rule and Education. Other items on the agenda of the Regular Wayne II Democratic Membership meeting include the Wes Vivian Testimonial Dinner Dance, planned for May 20 in the Thunderbird Inn, and action on the recommendation of the Executive Board of Endorsement of former Governor, G. Mennen Williams for United States Senate.

A question and answer session will follow the Representative's remarks. The public is welcome to participate in it.

Longest pass play in Wayne State University football history is an 81 yarder from Dick Lisabeth to Hank Lukowski vs. Drake in 1954.

Plan Unusual Course

"We urge all parents to look into it and make sure their sons and daughters are registered. The course is limited to 90 and we hope to have it filled within a few days after the registration period opens."

The program is geared to seniors but juniors are welcome. It will be a specialized course, not involved in performance but more in appreciation of the three fields of study.

"For, we, at the administration level at Plymouth High, this is the realization of a longtime dream," the principal said, "we waited for the proper time to get a team interested and now we plan on seeing just how far we can go."

The four teachers were contacted some time ago as to their interest and all expressed a keen desire to get involved in such a project.

Nelson, a teacher in the system for 19 years, was named chairman of the team.

The course will consist of an appreciation of Art, Music and Literature and each step will involve all three. Each will start with the same time and period and the work will be coordinated so that each will be interrelated.

Plans call for the use of visual-radio-television with lecturers called in several times during the year to present special phases of the time and period under discussion.

The four-teacher team will have a conference hour at the same time, presumably in the hour before the course, to confer with students and also to coordinate plans for the studies. "With the tremendous interest in the community in music, arts and great books, we feel there will be equally as much interest in this project," said Bentley. "We hope parents and students discuss the matter now and make arrangements to register. But remember, it will be the first 90 registered who will become classmates. We can't accept any more than that."

which time he had once started court action to have the zoning ordinances of the Township declared illegal.

He dropped this action after the Supreme Court ruled in favor of the ordinance in a suit involving the City of Farmington.

In other action the Board: Tabled a request from Gerald Jennings for rezoning of 3.87 acres on Schoolcraft Road near Bradner for a proposed apartment which would include three buildings of 16 units each and a total of 96 parking spaces. The tabling action was taken pending receipt of a request bearing the signature of the owner in addition to that of Jennings.

Approved preliminary plat plans for the Pleasant Ridge subdivision planned by Richard Fritz on Beck Road near the intersection of Ann Arbor Road. Tabled a request from Richard Kirchoff for rezoning for an apartment complex on Northville Road near Clemons.

Tabled a request from Dr. Leo Speer for rezoning land near the Detroit House of Correction and the Western Wayne County Conservation Club for a mobile home park.

Mail Rate Increases Effective on March 26

Increases in money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and C.O.D. rates will become effective March 26, Acting Postmaster John A. Mulligan said Monday.

The cost of operating these five special services now exceeds revenues by $60 million annually. The fee increases will narrow the cost-revenue gap by $36 million, based on business handled in Fiscal Year 1965.

Fees for money orders, registry and C.O.D. were last changed in 1961; insurance and certified mail in 1957.

The fee changes, announced in the January 11 Federal Register and confirmed in the register on February 25, are put into effect under the existing administrative authority of the Postmaster General.

The increases include: Money Order Fees: Domestic and international money order fees will be increased by 5 cents. Insurance Fees: The minimum fee bracket will be increased from $10 to $15 and the minimum fee will be 20 cents instead of 10 cents.

The revised insurance fees will be as follows:

$ 0.01-$ 15	20 cents
15.01- 50	30 cents
50.01- 100	40 cents
100.01- 150	50 cents
150.01- 200	60 cents

Registry Fees: The present 60 cents and 75 cents fees will be combined into a single fee of 75 cents for values up to $100. Registry fees for articles valued in excess of $100 will remain unchanged.

C.O.D. Fees: The present 40 cents and 50 cents fee brackets will be combined into one fee bracket at 60 cents for amounts up to $10. There will be no change in the fees covering items valued above $10.

Certified Mail: The fee will be increased 10 cents from the present 20 cents per item to 30 cents.

Thomasina McAn?

Actually this butter yellow slipper is by Thom McAn. But, like all of our women's shoes, it's so pretty. Its leather is so soft. Its lines are so delicate. It looks so cute in other colors, like ice cream pink, pale beige, lilac white, newport navy and licorice black patent. We just couldn't call it Thom McAn. Thomasina is really more like it. And she only costs $5.99.
