"The greatest killer of women is breast cancer" this startling statement was made by Dov Ben-Meir, Director General of the Israel Cancer Association. Dov Ben-Meir, is a stocky, humorous man who has had a colorful background in the history of Israel. The occasion was the luncheon for the members of the press, radio and television at the Press Club, Friday, March 25 to launch the Michigan Cancer Foundation 1966 educational crusade. Lung cancer runs second.

With breast cancer so easily detectible and curable, you would wonder why in the world these figures stay so high. Yet people still will make that fatal delay. I came away from the luncheon almost wholly convinced that death by cancer is largely a matter of choice by the victim. People just won't get those all important check-

Sales to the Bell System were up 9.5 percent to $2.8 billion, almost 85 percent of total sales. Sales to the Federal government amounted to $469 million, down from $490 million in 1964. The company earned $168.3 million, or five cents per dollar of sales, compared with $152.8 million (4.9 cents) in 1964.

The most radical change in W. E.'s manufacturing opera- in May. tions during 1965, as for some years past, sprang from the Bell System's commitment to electronic switching. Production of equipment for electronic central offices continued to climb.

Nearly a million telephones for Touch-Tone service and more than 400,000 of the new Trimline model, with the dial in the handset, which went into full production, were among the 9,176,000 sets menufactured during the year.

Production of a limited quantity of special equipment for an industrial trial of Picturephone "see and talk" service was completed. Also introduced was a unique phone that automatically dials a number and transmits a recorded warning of abnormal conditions at unattended industrial locations.

The Universities are strong in the physical, engineering and mathematical sciences, and this is important, especially in the early stages of the project.

When the accelerator is built, the key scientific work in its construction will be done by young physicists who will be sacrificing their own fulltime research for what the committee called "more exciting but as yet unrealized opportunities for research in the future."

While the construction is in progress, these scientists could carry on their personal research projects at the three universities.

The committee was impressed by the nearness to Detroit and its strong industrial basis, including the substantial generating capability of the Detroit Edison system. The power available would be useful for the accelerator's large but flucuating needs, the report said.

State Tourist Spending Is $960 Millions

Figures compiled by the State Department of Revenue, the Conservation Department and the Michigan Tourist Council show that Michigan's total tourist spending has reached about $960 million annually, according to Senator Farrell E. Roberts.

The comprehensive survey resulted from an inquiry by Senator Roberts following a recent meeting by Senate Republicans with the Conservation Department. A survey by Central Michi-

In the fall of the same year, Paul Wagner, who was to become the first conductor, joined Jens Pederson, who has retired the group and this became the nucleus of the first orchestra. Wagner was on the music staff of the Plymouth Community Schools at the time.

The first performance of the newly organized orchestra was on April 20, 1947. Wagner left the Plymouth School system in 1951 and Wayne Dunlap took over as conductor. It has been under the guidance of Dunlap that the symphony has gained a reputation of being one of the foremost community supported orchestras in the midwest.

Three musicians will be honored as charter members of the orchestra who are still active after 20 years. They are: Harold Van Bergen, Mrs. Barbes and Fred Beitner.

William Beitner, trumpet, and and Edith Duranceau, cello, also will receive recognition They joined the group in the fall of 1947 and are still members now.

Officials of the Symphony call attention to the fact that baby sitting services will not be available for this concert. There is no admission charge, following the policy adopted at the first concert 20 years ago.

County Calls

The Oakland County Road Commission has made its report to the Township on possible steps which might be taken to prohibit further flooding in the Kendallwood Subdivision such as occured last Christmas

However, the reports requested by the Township Board from the Township's Engineering firm and the County DPW were not ready and formal action on the County recommedations were delayed until the Board's next regular session April 11 when it was expected to have all the reports.

The County said that unless "drastic action" is taken in the undeveloped land north of the Kendallwoods the situation will steadily worsen.

They called for deepening the culvert under 12 Mile; cleanout the ditches south of 12; lower and clean the culverts under Kendallwood Drive; take the same action with the culverts on the school property; and to country. clean out the ditch between Kendallwood and 12 Mile.

The later two are located on school property and while the Monday night's Board of Education session, but was tabled due to lack of time.

Under new business the Board did pass a directive to the Planning Commission, however, calling attention to the necessity for ponding areas in the northern section of the Town-ship and adding that a legitimate ponding area should be applied to the park require-ments for a Planned Unit Development.

Ambulance Service which services both the City of Farmington and Farmington Township appeared before the Township Board Monday might asking for financial assistance.

They said that about one out of every five police calls answered by their firm re-fused to pay the $22 to $27 bill. After trying to collect both by billing, phone calls and through a collection agen-cy the unpaid bills are turned over to the Township which pays them.

However, the Township has set a budget of $300 for a year on their portion of such services. Superior claims that this is not enough considering the uncollectable bills, plus the standby service provided and the dry runs made by the ambulance where no bill is submitted.

What they want is for the Township to agree to pay about $300 a month in a flat rate for the service.

The Township Board stated that perhaps it had an obligation to assist in providing for this service, but didn't think

Proposed is a new monument located in a city park where it would be properly maintained which would also include the names of Farmington boys killed during the Second World War, in Korea and in Viet Nam.

The veterans organizations have written to the City inquiring if they would be interested in such a project.

Farmington City Manager John Dinan suggested a combined project on the part of the City, the Township, and the veterans organizations. The Council agreed to the general idea and instructed Dinan to contact the Township officials to determine what their feelings were on the proposal.

Girl Scouts Translate Many Promises Into Action

Scouts' national theme for the current three-year period. Millions of girls have made the Girl Scout Promise since Juliette Gordon Low organized the first Girl Scout troop on March 12, 1912 in Savannah, Ga. The Promise Farmington girls make today is the very same promise Daisy Low made to herself when she first brought Girl Scouting to America.

"Promise Projects" have been chosen by Girl Scout troops across the country which, to them, spell out how they will "put their Promise into ACTION." Reports of these promises have been summarized, and show that the vast majority of the girls chose to help other people who are in some way less fortunate than themselves tled then because it wanted -children who are hospitalized, underpriviliged, handicapped, Named to a committee to exorphaned or retarded, aged amine the matter with the reprepeople confined to convalescent sentatives of the ambulance homes, etc. Next came service service and to report back to the to their community and schools. > In the Southern Oakland Council alone, a total of 1,636 girls have promised to spend approximately 1,392 troop hours working on their chosen projects. 110 troops gave formal Promissory Notes to those they will serve, outlining their intentions. These statistics do not include many troops whose reports were not received in time to be included in the summary.

Everybody knows Girl Scouts sell cookies, but we don't always know when a troop plants flowers or trees at their school or church, gives a party at a hospital children's ward, brings gifts and sings carols at a convalescent home, helps register aliens at the Post Office or any number of other useful and helpful things they do. Here are just a few examples conceived and being carried out by Farmington

ASC to Spend Half Million for Expansion

BRISTOL, Conn.-Associated Spring Corporation will spend approximately half a million dollars to provide an expansion at one plant and an additional production line at another, it was announced by Carlyle F. Barnes, chairman, and Wallace Barnes, president. The corporation has a plant in Plymouth, Mich.

At ASC's Ohio Division, in Dayton, the plant will be expanded by approximately 11,000 square feet to provide space for increased production requirements. The division was established in 1947. After leasing the present facilities for a number of years, the plant was purchased in 1964. It was immediately expanded by 40 per-

Current operations are at near-capacity levels and the division is committed to considerably higher volume this fall. Completion of the expansion this summer will bring total floor area to approximately 42,000 square feet of office and manufacturing

The new production line will be installed for the manufacturing of automotive valve springs at the Burlington, Ontario, plant of The Wallace Barnes Company, Ltd., ASC's Canadian springmaking unit. The plant, built in 1964 and expanded in 1965, specializes in the mass production of valve springs.

Associated Spring is the world's leading producer of precision mechanical springs. It also occupies an important position as a parts supplier to the automotive and marine trades and to industry and heavy equipment contractors.

Food Fair Offers Scholarships to Co-op Student Workers

Seventeen-year-old Darlene Omar, of 37478 Schoolcraft in Livonia, is making "A's" and "B's" in one of her high school "B's" in courses—and getting paid for

While it's not unheard of for grateful parents to reward their sons' and daughters' high grades with money, in Darlene's case the money isn't coming from her parents. She's actually earning it in the course of making those high grades.

As a senior at Bentley High School, Darlene is taking a course called Cooperative Training. Her "classroom" is the Food Fair supermarket at 35323 Plymouth at Wayne, where she works as a cashier.

Darlene is only one of nearly 1,200 high school students working part-time for Food Fair-a number which, according to the State Employment Service, makes the supermarket chain one of the largest employers of teenagers in the metropolitan area. The boys and girls work after school and on Saturdays as cashiers, packers, carryout boys and stock clerks.

In Darlene's case, she is given grades "just like from a teacher" by store manager Virgil Sims, in addition to her weekly paycheck. She's using the money to help pay for a car she plans to buy soon, and for the beautician's school she plans to attend after she graduates next year.

Unlike Darlene, most of the high-schoolers working for Food Fair get no scholastic credit for their work. What they do get are healthy paychecks (rates range from $1.35 to 2.47 an hour) and what Food Fair personnel director James R. Kelly calls "a lot of good experience working and meeting the publicexperience they'll need when they're ready for full-time

To 17-year-old Glenn Domke, a senior at West Senior High School in Garden City, the experence has been "really worth while." For the past year Glenn has worked at the Garden City Food Fair at 32550 Cherry Hill at Venoy, where he was recently promoted to stock clerk.

Glenn, who lives at 32127 Alvin in Garden City, plans to take a draftman's course at Schoolcraft Community College, and then go into tool and die work "somewhere in the auto industry." The money he earns in his part-time job will help pay his college bills next

To work for a supermarket chain, a youngster must be at least 16 and must pass a basic five-minute intelligence test designed to show whether he (or she) can handle the work. For girls, another two-hour examination, designed especially for wouldbe cashiers, is also required.

Training programs for teenagers who pass the tests are necessarily brief, but highly intensive. Cashiers, like Darlene, are given three full days of instore training before they are allowed to work on their own.

For packers-the starting job for most boys—a special lecture on how to pack a grocery bag, plus further on-the-job training, is required.

Seventeen-year-old Mike Morris, of 33719 Nine Mile Road in Farmington, was amazed at how much he had to learn about packing a bag when he started work nearly two years ago.

Mike, who has since been promoted to stock clerk at the Food Fair at 23385 Farmington at Grand River, in Farmington, is an "A" and "B" student at Our Lady of Sorrows School in Farmington.

Next year he plans to begin studying engineering at Oakland University in Rochester, where he hopes to win a scholarship. The money he earns from the job will go to help pay his college expenses, and to buy clothes and other necessi-

James Barber, of 1651 Ackley in Nankin Township, has been able to keep up his membership in his high school German Club despite working a substantial schedule for the company. Jim, 17, is currently a senior at Wayne Memorial High School; eventually he hopes to become a high-school teacher. "All I have to do is let Mr. Mostoeller (manager of the Nankin Food Fair at 1647 Merriman at Palmer, where Jim works as a stock clerk) know when my club is meeting, and he works my hours around it so I can attend," says Jim.

Jim, like many of the company's teen-age workers, is saving his pay to help take care of college expenses.

So is 17 - year - old Fred Spriggs, of 9117 Mercedes in Redford Township - but Fred has an even more immediate need for the money.

A stock clerk at the Redford Food Fair, 27200 Joy Road at Inkster, Fred is using part of the money to pay his tuition at Catholic Central High School in Detroit, where he's in his

Dunn Steel Celebrates Parent Company's 150th

Dunn Steel Products Division of Townsend Company is celebrating the parent company's 150th anniversary in 1966. Townsend Company, founded in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1816 was the first wire production company west of the Allegheny Mountains and today is a world leader in the production of fasteners and cold-formed special parts. With headquarters in Beaver Falls, Pa., Townsend counts eight divisions between New England and California, nine operating locations and over 1,700 employees.

Dunn Steel Products Division located in Plymouth since 1925, became a Townsend division in 1951. Dunn, a leading producer of critical "safety" parts for the automotive and farm implement industries, is a pioneer in its own right. It developed special techniques to cold-form precision ball studs for automotive type steering and suspension systems, It was the first to mass produce ball studs for steering systems successfully by this method in the middle 1930's.

Development work by Dunn played an important role in the successful adoption of European ball joint front-end suspension systems for American passenger cars. These suspensions have come into use in this country only within the last 12 yearss or so. However, Dunn research on these suspensions started as early as 1948.

The first ball joint suspension studs ever made were produced at Dunn for Ford Motor Company's use in the Lincoln motor car. Today, every automobile coming off assembly lines has ball joint suspension and steering studs on the front wheels. The smoother riding cars of today are the result of the development work pioneered by Dunn personnel in conjunction with car

Dunn Steel Products Division is an expert in the design and production of many precision parts for the automotive industry. In fact, the division acts as a critical parts design consultant to auto makers. This requires the highest degree of confidence in the division's ability to supply the best possible design as well as its ability to produce the design in production quantities.

When Dunn engineers and designers team up to produce a new part, the first consideration is its function. Regardless of the difficulty involved in producing the part, the design philosophy at Dunn is to make the best part possible. The reason for this attitude is Dunn's record of excellence in its field. Designs recommended by Dunn require the highest degree in technical skill to produce. Only Dunn can qualify in this respect. The introduction of ball joint front-end suspension systems on American cars and trucks is a good example of Dunn's ability to deliver the goods.

The people of Plymouth and Dunn Steel employees can take great pride in being associated with the Dunn Steel Products Division of Townsend Company.

founded the first wire mill west of the Allegheny Mountains and unlocked the front door of the plant on Market Street with the key shown above. This original key, handed down through the generations, has become a symbol of the leadership which Townsend Company gained 150 years ago and has never relinquished.

In 1828 the company expanded and moved its plant to take advantage of the water power made available by a dam built between New Brighton and Fallston on the Beaver River. The office and warehouse remained in Pittsburgh until 1880.

Townsend furnished wire to John A. Robeling for the first wire rope made in America. It was used in the 1830's to pull heavy canal boats over the Portage at Allegheny Mountain. The company also provided wire for the first telegraph rivets from its own wire. It became the second company in America to make such products.

The next hundred years saw the descendants of Robert Townsend build the company into the leading producer of rivets, special nails and other industrial fasteners. By 1947, Townsend could lay claim to being the world's largest manufacturer of rivets and similar items, producing daily more than sixty million pieces. During the years since, modern management has increased sales volume fivefold through product diversification, a nation-wide network of nine modern plants, eight divisions and expansion abroad.

In 1959. Townsend became a member of the Textron Inc. family of companies. Townsend still operates independently, but now has the advantage of access to substantial finances and the counsel of Textron specialists.

Today, Townsend's production is counted in billions of pieces and its products number more than 20,000. It can truly be said that the old key which first unlocked Robert Townsend's front door opened the way to one of America's great industrial success stories.

Bargaining procedures conducted by public agencies differ from those carried on by private

This was pointed out recently by Al Leggatt, official bargainer for the City of Detroit. Cities, school districts, townships, counties and the State, all have established policies, ordinances and laws. They have a maximum Bargainers must keep all of these formulations in mind when they are bargaining.

In conducting negotiating sessions, many unions, which have been granted sole bargaining rights under the new state law, are demanding that utter secrecy be maintained.

This is contrary to public policy which demands that citizens be kept informed of what government officials are doing.

Here is where public negotiations differ from private. Public officials hold a trust and are performing their duties for the public. However, in the school districts of South Redford and Redford Union, school superintendents, with the tact approval of their boards, the education associations. The boards, themselves, hear progress re-ports in closed-door meetings.

In Howell, a school board member who wanted to attend negotiating sessions was barred by his own board from observing

By the way on contracts, respect for the public has been shown in Livingston County where negotiations between the Road Commission and the road employes are wide open to the public.

The new law was adopted to help employes but belligerent attitudes are leading to the kind of recent action that took place in Garden City. City employes want an hourly increase of 35 cents while the city says it will give 10.

The union wanted to negotiate fringe benefits and the city wanted to talk wages first so when the city team walked out the union hollered, "Unfair labor practice."

"We were of the opinion we couldn't negotiate the fringe areas until we knew the cost of the entire package," Councilman Robert

In both South Redford and Redford Union the teachers haven't presented their whole package yet, according to the information

How can negotiations be carried on, if it is not known what the whole package is?

And yet negotiators are spending valuable time and many long hours-and on what? Redford Union is hiring substitute teachers at a cost of $1,000 to date, so the seven-man teacher bargaining team can meet from 1 to o p.m. on Friday afternoons.

South Redford, just starting negotiations, Readers Speak have agreed to seal their lips as requested by 4:30 p.m. on Friday afternoons. will let six teachers off for Tuesday afternoon meetings at a cost of $78 for each meeting.

If any citizens have feelings pro or con, they should express them, but the plea of this writer to public agencies is: Don't surrender the public trust!

Signals Need Changing

Traffic signals are considered aids in helping to regulate the flow of traffic and not as safety devices by the State Highway Commission.

At least that is what residents of Farmington Township heard last week when they attended a public hearing on the question of installing a traffic signal at the intersection of 13 Mile Road and Middlebelt.

We can't help agreeing with the Farmington Township women who called this idea "old fashioned."

However, we really can't argue with the Oakland County Road Commission due to the fact that if they don't follow the state requirements for installing traffic signals - and the intersection clearly does not meet the requirements according to the latest traffic count—the state gasoline and weight taxes refunded to the county will be cut off.

What's needed then. A change in policy. A test case might be made for the necessity of a signal at this corner in the Oakland County Circuit Court. Many other communities would undoubtedly watch the proceedings carefully. This takes time and money — a great deal of state government. Governor Romney might even be able to bring pressure to bear.

The legislature might be able to do something under the new administrative setup of

However, in the past the residents all signed petitions calling for a traffic signal which were forwarded to the Governor's office. He in turn sent them to the "proper" person at the Oakland County Road Commission for action.

The Road Commission told residents of the motion to another department area at a public hearing last week that they knew of no petitions.

What's the answer? As we said, a change in policy.

Unfortunately the intersection in Farmington Township is not unique. There are many such dangerous spots in the booming suburban

Lobbying is not an intrinsically dirty word. We would like to see the people's views made known through the use of letters, post cards, etc. to state representatives and senators and the governor. A Bouquet for Hard Work

PTA groups in this area might do well to take a good, long look at the accomplishments of the Ten Mile Elementary School PTA in Farmington.

This group, long one of the most active in the Farmington School District, boasts a large, hard-working core of parents who come to PTA not for sociability, coffee and doughnuts-but to work hard at good communication between themselves and school personnel, and at bettering opportunities and horizons for their

Among the latest accomplishments of this group is its Saturday morning French and Spanish classes. They have a total of 125 students-after hoping at best for 56. Two more teachers in addition to the original two had to be hired.

This program is not a school requirement. Parents must pay $8 a child for 10 Saturday morning sessions of 45 minutes each. The venture will be expanded next year to include the beginning classes as well as a more advanced program for children enrolled this year.

Aim of the Ten Mile PTA is two-fold. They don't intend to teach the children grammar but rather "expose" them to a foreign language early in their school years so that it will not be such a fearsome mystery later on." Secondly, they hope the success of the program will continue "to impress upon the Board of Education and Superintendent's office that children and their parents want languages taught in at least the sixth grade." PTA officers say they recognize the pros and cons to such a program but feel the obstacles could be overcome.

The Ten Mile PTA is modest about their program, which President Donald McGregor says was started because it was the best of several projects they had considered for the year. Yet, this is only one of their many

It would be an evening well spent. .

Involvement

Some way must be found to curb the rising number of traffic accidents.

Attempts to blame the rising accident toll on design of automobiles or absence of safety features is a feeble attack on the problem. Better car designs and more safety features may reduce accidents, but not much. The core is reached when you begin discussing the human contributions towards safety and prevention.

The Community Opportunity Center, 9901 Newburg Road, Livonia, which has the job of furnishing employment for mentally retarded and handicapped adults in the four communities of Livonia, Plymouth, Northville, and Redford Township, needs help from industry and businesses.

A plea for contracts, to keep the 15 employes busy, was issued Monday by President Wendell Smith, of Plymouth, who indicated the sheltered workshop has been successful thus far in securing contracts but needs a backlog.

"We are trying desperately to keep our 15 workers busy and would like to build the force to 25 or 30 but we just don't have enough contracts," he pointed out.

The workshop, which has backing of civic and service groups in each of the four communities, has been in operation for a seven months during which it has placed two workers on steady jobs in the area. "We have a waiting list of Kightlinger hurled for the varsity a year ago. He finished with a 4-0 record and his achievements included a no-hit victory over Robichaud.

Huber starred for the East JV team, posting 4-1 record. He also played first base and hit

The way matters appear, it'll be Kightlinger at first and Huber pitching, or the other way around when East is in action this season.

The East varsity is shy on experienced talent as the '66 schedule dawns.

In addition to Kightlinger, there are only Bob Smith, a shortstop-outfielder, and Dave Ventura, a left fielder, who played on the 1965 varsity.

Smith and Ventura are a pair of sluggers. Smith pounded the ball at a .400 clip a year ago, while Ventura was a shade behind at .365.

Players up from the JV team who figure to make the varsity this season include Mike Conyer, third base: Dick Saylor, second base; Norb Podwoiski, catcher-infielder; George Dob-ozy, catcher-infielder; Marvin Martin, a catcher; and Mike Sparkman, Bill Painter, Dennis James and Glenn Tapio, all out-

Sophomore Bill Pike has impressed and stands a good chance of breaking into regular action either as a pitcher or infielder.

There's one piece of unfinished basketball in these parts. The Harlem Globetrotters come to Olympia Saturday night and a lot of hearts will be heavy.

Abe Saperstein, a little guy who became very big and very successful, is gone. He passed away from an ailing heart not too many days ago. Not enough can be said about Saperstein. He looked like a midget alongside the athletes he sent forth to amuse folks in all parts of the world, including behind the Iron Curtain.

The Globetrotters mixed great basketball with comedy. That's not easy. But Saperstein found the players who could do both jobs.

J. Walter Kennedy, now the president of the National Basketball Association, recalls how Saperstein made nimself a giant when in some of the 'Trotters' foreign visits, efforts were made to knock the team and the U.S.A.

"After Abe got in his say, there was never a question that the U.S.A. was all mighty," relates Kennedy. "And the foreign folks had to swallow their own words."

The last time we saw the Globies was in Baltimore. It was an exciting evening with Abe Saperstein running Abe won't be in Olympia Saturday night, but those who are carrying on for him will perform in the true Saperstein style. That we're certain.

Looking back on the 1965-66 cage wars, there can year. be no disputing the point Michigan's Cazzie Russell was "the player of the year" in the college basketball wars.

Nor is there any question Cazzie will go No. 1 in the May 11 pro basketball draft. The Pistons want him desperately. So do the New York Knicks.

Who'll get him will depend on a flip of the coin. If you have any idea on the odds of a Kennedy half dollar turning up heads or tales . . . let the Pistons know. This shapes up as the most important coin toss in the history of the Pistons - and the NBA.

Speaking of Russell, he rates a flock of extra orchids a question and answer period along with Oliver Darden, Dorrie Morrey and the others who formed the Ford Mustangs who zoomed out to The RU tracksters, defending Denver last week and brought Michigan the National

"The fact is we lost seven of our starters," says Hartsig. All of which would make most coaches cry. (Maybe Hartsig does a little when nobody is looking).

But, Hartsig knew what was in store for him in 1968. That's where he made preparations. He worked all summer in Livonia's recreation league with boys who would be coming back to Franklin in the fall. The list includes two regulars -shortstop Gary Birkett and catcher Mike Stachurski. Gary batted around .290 last year as a prep and Mike was a powerhouse with a .350 mark. "Both should have great seasons for us this spring," Hartsig already predicts.

Bob Berger and Ron Ross, who shared an outfield spot on a fairly regular basis in 1965, have returned. Berger will remain in the outer pastures, but Ross is due to move up to handle second base.

INDOORS OR OUT PLASTIC PANELS WIDELY USEFUL

Glass-fibered translucent panels, flat or corrugated, have developed into a widely useful material around the home because of the material's excellent screening characteristics, durability and ease of handling.

Utilization of fiberglass panels for fencing and patios because of their strength and adaptability—has been wide-spread from the outset. But in recent years, the product's translucency and color have been gaining added favor with decorators, particularly as room dividers, poolside cabanas, luminous ceilings, skylights, and garage doors, carports and pool enclosures.

FOR GREENHOUSES

Translucent, but not transparent, fiberglass has become a fencing favorite with landscapers since it can transmit light rays necessary for plant growth, yet provide privacy for nome dwellers. For similar reasons, the product has recently become popular for greenhouse

Interior applications for lighting as diffuser panels are another new major use of the material. Providing an even distribution of light, the panels can be imaginatively used in living and entertaining areas as well as the kitchen and bath-

What are some of the qualities that have led to the popularity of this material?

PERMITS LIGHT

First, it is translucent, with the capability of transmitting from 10 to 84 percent of the visible light rays without glare. Second, it has a high weight-to-strength ratio. Weighing 8 to 20 ounces per square foot, it will support loads of 100 pounds per square foot on supports spaced from 21/2 to 4 feet on center.

Third, it is a material that can be worked easily, requiring no special tools or skills for cutting or drilling. It can be battened down with either nails

Saturday when more than 350 youngsters, parents and coaches joined in the annual awards banquet at the Plymouth Elks Club on Ann Arbor Road.

The banquet followed the annual all-star games in the Plymouth High gym and President John Van Wagoner served as master of ceremonies for the program at which awards were presented to the members of all championship teams.

Honored guests included: Mayor James Houk, Township Supervisor John McEwen, Mayor Pro-Tem James Jabara, John Sandmann, director of athletics at Plymouth High; Neal 'Doc' Fenkell of the Detroit Tigers, Cal Strom, president of the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce; and Assistant Coach Brendan McNamara, of University of Detroit, who gave the principal address.

Assisting Van Wagoner were members of the Board including: Joe Bida, Howard Oldford, Tom Lewis and Hank Wassman. In addition to the awards, lucky youngsters received gifts donated by the Detroit Pistons and George Maskin, sports editor of the Observer Newspapers; Fenkell and the Detroit Tigers; the Detroit Lions and the Alex-Company.

Planning Is Important To Women in Home

What do women want in a ins and wood paneled walls. home? A national survey brings out some mighty interesting facts which should be a guide line for house builders and ar-

First, they want homes with basements. You should hear the complaints of the ladies who cuss out the slab floors as hard on their feet. They want good neighborhood planning with curved streets, distance between homes, better landscaping. They want three entrances: front, back and from garage. They want a full garage with plenty of storage space, not a room in the house. designed with concealed built- through April 3.

They want a pantry, showing the need for additional storage. They want bigger bedrooms with extra emphasis on size in the master bedroom. They want lots of windows all over the house.

High on the list of wants is outdoor living space, with a majority favoring decks. Wood deck seems to be in the most popular because they are inexpensive, easy to keep clean, cool in the summer and a handsome addition to most homes.

These are what the ladies are demanding and the little woman generally gets her way.

An oriental garden with rare tree peonies will be on display at the Michigan State Fair-They want a separate dining grounds during the Flower and room which could seat 12 or Garden Show of Michigan. The more. And they want this room show opens March 26 and runs

After viewing so many fine productions lately by Wayne State's Classic Theater, the U of D Players, the U of M Players, it was inevitable that the unbroken string of successes would cease. Eastern Michigan's "Midsummer's Night Dream" opened on a chilly March night. Perhaps the actors were unduly affected by the chill winds and were reluctant to thaw out and give the Bard's lines some needed fiery projection.

Seaweed-green make-up completely obliterated the faces and bodies of the wood nymphs and fairies and gave this production a ludicrous beginning. Is there something more to life

Perhaps you feel there is. If you want a wholeness and richness to life beyond the ordinary - more happiness, a more expansive love, even more life to live, then what you really need is an understanding that God is Life. Hear this public lecture "The Way of Abundant Life" by PAUL K. WAVRO, C.S.B., a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

WONDERLAND'S COMPLETE PET HEADQUARTERS PLYMOUTH ROAD at MIDDLEBELT

Actually this butter yellow slipper is by Thom McAn. But, like all of our women's shoes, it's so pretty. Its feather is so soft. Its lines are so delicate. It looks so cute in other colors, like ice cream pink, pale beige, lily white, newport navy and licorice black patent. We just couldn't call it Thom McAn. Thomasina is really more like it. And she only costs $5.99.

Keep his eyes on you in wickedly wild, madly flattering Flings. Shoes in spanking white, pastel leathers and jet-black Pattinas. Flings with devil-may-care airs and bare new dare. Straps that dip and swoop. Floppy bows in pretty poses. Heels that swerve in and curve out. Spring Flings shoes so beguiling that you'll be his for keeps.

Want them

Then take 'em to Kinney's!

Choose from the grandest array of spring dress-ups ever! For girls... pert straps 'n pumps all whipped up in frothy pastels and shiny Pattinas. For boys ... grown-up looking oxfords and side-gored slip-ons in rich new colorings. So take 'em to Kinney ... and they'll be the grandest looking little lads and lassies in the Easter Parade.

We measure both your child's feet, then check and re-check the fit... just to make doubly sure that your child's shoe fits perfectly from heel to toe!
