Manager suggests citizen's study group for CBD

A citizen's study group for the Central Business District has been suggested by Plymouth City Manager Richard Blodgett, and a blue ribbon committee has been appointed to study the suggestion.

Blodgett recommended a thirty-member citizen's group study the CBD at a meeting held Monday night between the City Commission, the City planning commission, and the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce Board.

The three groups voted to appoint a six man group to study the recommendation, with two members each from the City, the planners, and the Chamber.

Appointed were: From the City, George Hudson and Arch Vallier; from the City planning commission, John Wallace and Ron Coosaia; from the Chamber, Harvey Ziel and Margaret Wilson. Ex-officio members will be Blodgett, City Clerk Eugene Slider, and Chamber president Carl Pursell. The group will select the thirty members and set a time table.

BLODGETT suggested six sub-committee with five men each. Areas studied would be: (1.) Parking, taking in the existing parking committee; (2.) open space, parks and beautification; (3.) store front renovation; (4.) traffic circulation; (5.) land development, with the possible formation of a CBD Development Corporation; and (6.) finances, including a self supporting parking authority. Blodgett pledged the City's paid staff would work with citizens who are appointed. Among those Blodgett said would be available were professional planner Jay Eldridge, Area Planning Director Harold Fischer, City Clerk Eugene S. Slider, Kenneth Fisher, City administrator, and Blodgett himself. Harold Fischer spoke strongly in favor of Blodgett's move. "To have a successful business district takes more than a store and shoes. It takes an atmosphere that is attractive to

Mediation next step for PEA

Mediation was sought Friday in the teacher-school board master contract negotiations in Plymouth.

The telegram was sent by the teacher's sole bargaining agent, The Plymouth Education Association, to the State Labor Mediation Board. And, according to Russell Isbister, superintendent of schools, and the School Board's chief negotiator, mediation will be acceptable to them.

"We are favorable to mediation. We recognize it as a provision in the law that boards and organized collective bargaining units should use," Isbister said Monday.

Negotiations will continue this week. "We'll meet one more time before we invoke mediation services," James Doyle, PEA president said. Ray Homer, a member of the PEA team, echoed Doyle's statement.

"We are not afraid to put this on the table before a mediator. We know communities with less valuation behind each child have offered more," Homer said.

AND in a statement from another member of the PEA negotiating team, Ed Brown, the PEA discussed their stand on salary:

"We teach in a community that is above average in available revenues. Plymouth has a higher assessed valuation behind each student than any other school district in this immediate area. Only one is higher and that is South Redford.

"This year Plymouth had $16,348 of assessed valuation behind each student, and this will be increased with the additional revenues from the state equalized valuation this year.

"Our closest neighbors have the following: Livonia has $11,902 behind each child; Wayne $8,112; Garden City $5,321;

Wilcox site not out of housing plan

The Wilcox site for the senior citizen's home is not out of consideration, but the Housing Commission is discussing other sites. The Housing Commission, chaired by its director, City Clerk Eugene Slider, met last Wednesday and reviewed developments in the two-year old struggle to build a senior home in Plymouth.

"The Wilcox site is not completely scuttled," Slider said. "It has not been eliminated, and it is still being considered." Slider also said other sites were under study. The Wilcox site, which the owner, Jack Wilcox, has vowed he will not sell, is located at the corner of Union St. and Penniman Ave. "We looked at preliminary plans on four other sites, and I think at least two more will be studied for a total of six," Slider said.

A problem with the current site developed when the appraiser set a price tag too high to satisfy the Public Housing Administration in Chicago.

City manager Richard Blodgett brought the City's legislative body up to date last Tuesday, prior to the Wednesday meeting of the Housing Commission. Blodgett told the City Commission that three problems faced the senior home: (1.) The PHA ruled the ap-

THREATENS SELLOUT:

Charges City police ignore complaints

Threatening to "sell out to colored", Nicholas Campbell, 9466 Houghton, Livonia, appeared before the City Commission last Tuesday and charged police ignored his complaints about parking near a rental home he owns at 344 Amelia.

Campbell said he had a hard time bucking City Hall. "I talked to Fisher three times (Kenneth Fisher, City administrative aide) and to Johnson six times (assistant police chief), and I still get no action," Campbell told City Commissioners.

When asked by Commissioner James Jabara "why don't you call the police?", Campbell replied he was "tired of beating his head against a wall."

Campbell complained about all day parking in a one hour zone, cars blocking a driveway, and a blocked alley near the home he rents. He said employees of Allison Chevrolet were the offenders.

Commissioner James McKeon, obviously angry, reacted to Campbell "threat" to sell to Negroes.

"I do not think you are fabricating a problem. But colored people buy homes and have cars. Don't you threaten these seven men up here," McKeon said. McKeon urged the matter be turned over to the police, who are to make a full report as soon as possible.

"Oh man, I've been to City Hall so many times my hair is turning grey," said Campbell when questioned last week after the meeting.

Campbell further said the garbage collectors had been unable to enter the alley and get the rubbish because of inadequate police action on parking.

At the meeting Fisher explained he felt the matter was a technical question about the exact boundaries of the alley.

And City Manager Richard Blodgett said Campbell had never been in to see him.

"I've been in your office three times," was Campbell's reply. At this point Campbell also said: "I can't get action. My only alternative will be to sell out to colored."

City attorney Thomas Healy

suggested the Commission should ignore the threat.

"I don't think this Commission should work under pressure on who he may sell to," Healy ruled.

Campbell told the Mail that the problem is an old one.

"I've talked to Ken Fisher, and I got that look: 'Here's that nut again!'"

"And I've seen the City Manager four or five times about the City cutting my land for an alley," Campbell said, continuing. "They took up the concrete markers when the alley was built. I think I've been pretty peaceful."

Campbell explained his remark about selling to Negroes was "not meant as a hammer." "I try to run a nice place, and I don't over charge them. If I keep the place full, it is to the City's benefit."

To widen Harvey to three lanes

Harvey Street will be widened to three 12 foot lanes, between Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman Avenue, to ease traffic snags around the central parking lot.

That was the decision of the City Commission at its first regular meeting of July last week. The City fathers approved drafting of plans for the project, as well as the paving of Hartsough from Main St. to Junior High East, and Sutherland, Harvey to Main.

In other action, the City: * Passed a resolution approving a SDD license for Robert Beyer's Ann Arbor Rd. store.

* Approved the sale of a portion of John Hendry's land for a convalescent home to RCA, for expansion plans.

* Approved a new set of traffic fines after a request for increase came from Judge Edward Druggells.

* Approved the third and final reading of a refrigeration ordinance.

TOURS WESTERN ELECTRIC:

'Won't play politics with Vietnam' - Griffin

U. S. Senator Robert P. Griffin visited Plymouth twice last weekend on part of a whirlwind campaign tour he says will take him into every region of Michigan.

Friday afternoon, Griffin, a candidate for the senate who will oppose ex-governor G. Mennen Williams or Jerome Kavanagh for the seat, toured the Western Electric plant on Sheldon Rd.

Led on the tour by plant manager A. D. Johanson, Griffin took his time, stopped and chatted with several workers. He shook hands and introduced himself as U. S. Senator Bob Griffin.

Griffin then left for a tour of the Livonia and Redford area, capped by a talk before the Livonia Republican Club that night.

Saturday, he was back in Plymouth, being honored at a special breakfast at the Mayflower Meeting House, then traveling next door to open the new Plymouth Republican headquarters.

HOSTED BY Carl Pursell, GOP candidate for the state senate, Griffin took nearly thirty minutes to speak at the breakfast, touching on Vietnam, the Landrum - Griffin labor bill, Federal aid to education and balancing the budget.

"The Great Society is not something a politician can give a people . . . it's not a gift.

I'm not against Federal spending. There are many things the Federal government should spend for. But the laws of mathematics are not repealed at the Federal level," Griffin said.

Griffin said he did not favor the philosophy that we can

Evans walkout ends on Tuesday

Workers at Evans Products Company's Transportation Equipment Division Plymouth plant returned to work Tuesday, after a wildcat strike kept them from their jobs over a week.

During the course of the walkout, Evans' charged members of Local 2340, United Steel Workers of America International Union, walked off their jobs June 30 to protest the promotion of an employee, according to a Saturday, July 9 Detroit News story.

The union contended the promotion violated seniority rights of another employee.

But last week, two Evans workers told The Plymouth Mail the walkout was prompted by unsafe working conditions.

A mimeographed handout, circulated at the picket line outside the plant, detailed a sweeping series of grievances. Striking workers claimed the union was not backing them up.

The circular claimed unsafe equipment, lighting, fire hazards and unsanitary conditions at the plant.

On Monday, an Evans Products Company management spokesman issued the following statement concerning the strike:

"We have an illegal strike which began initially Thursday, June 30, when a few employees walked out rather than avail themselves of the long established provision of our union contract by means of which grievance matters can be resolved. If the union and the company cannot agree on a solution to the problem, the collective bargaining agreement provides for ultimate disposition by an impartial arbitrator. These employees did not avail themselves of proper negotiated contractual procedures.

"The dispute centers around disciplinary action resulting shoppers. Just take a page out of Russ Isbister's book (school superintendent). He sells bond issues to the public by doing lots of hard work and involving as many citizens as possible," Fischer said, referring to the school's policy of appointing citizen study groups to study facility needs.

CITY COMMISSIONER James McKeon appeared to be the lone holdout at the meeting.

"As I see it, the Chamber of Commerce wants a solidified plan on parking and traffic. We have been at this for eight years, and more committees will drag it out for another eight years. I think it is within our power to get the ball rolling," McKeon said.

Two Chamber officials - Harvey Ziel and Dr. R. R. Barber made and supported the motion to appoint a steering committee to review Blodgett's suggestion.

Prior to Blodgett's plan, discussion was held on various methods of assessing both the CBD and the City as a whole for capital improvements. Blodgett outlined briefly what progress had been made on a current long term capital improvement program.

Blodgett, in offering his plan, noted that both the City Commission and the City planners had plenty to do already.

In other areas, it was noted by Commissioner George Lawton that the mill levy was at about 12 mills, without equalization, and that the cost of government would eat up two more mills of the 15 mill limit, leaving only one mill to work on capital improvements. One mill brings about $33,000 to $35,000 in to the City.

Ziel pushed for a commitment from the City fathers.

"We can't finance this program out of existing funds. We need a theory or policy of accomplishing this program so we can get off dead center," he said.

MAYOR JAMES Houk, who chaired the meeting, explained the City had adopted the CBD concept in 1962, and was in the process of revising it now.

Among the programs suggested for downtown:

- (1.) A one-way traffic loop around the business district.
- (2.) A mall on portions of Penningman Avenue.
- (3.) A parking authority, suggested by the C of C.
- (4.) Formation of a non-profit downtown business development corporation, an idea suggested by the Chamber at a meeting in June.

Action on still another idea was taken several weeks ago when the City killed a proposed urban renewal project in the southeast section of downtown. Both the Chamber, and the people affected opposed the plan.

The entire CBD plan was presented recently at a noon luncheon sponsored by the C of C, with a poll taken on various proposals.

praisal on the Wilcox site was too high.

(2.) The appraiser's figures were being questioned, and he was currently drawing up answers to the questions posed by City and Federal officials.

(3.) The architects, Harley, Ellington, Cowin and Stirton, Inc., report the cost set at $17,000 per unit was too low, and that until the Federal government revised the allowable ceiling, few, if any senior homes would be built in the Detroit area.

According to Slider, however, the architect will meet with his group as the project progresses.

"They are not dropping the project completely. They have suspended some work until a review of the figures from the PHA is made."

Slider and Blodgett both indicated this firm was one of several questioning the feasibility of any senior homes in Detroit under the present financial set up.

In June, the PHA told Plymouth that the appraisal was too high. Estimates placed the appraiser's valuation of the Wilcox site at about $100,000, some $30,000 over what was expected.

Blind alley on September 1

Seven weeks are left between now and the opening of the Plymouth Community School District's schools. And district teachers — some 300 strong this coming year — are still without individual or master contracts.

The see-saw power struggle between the Board of Education and the teacher's sole bargaining agent, the Plymouth Education Association, has been at a deadlock since the end of school, despite several moves on the part of the PEA towards binding arbitration.

Both the Board's and the PEA's salary and fringe benefit proposals remain essentially unchanged. Those two issues, and the PEA's insistence on exact class size terms in the master contract are the disputed areas.

The PEA has acted wisely, despite comparatively little experience with the complicated process of bargaining. They avoided both a so-called demonstration day, and a strike, while other suburban schools were picketing on the streets.

"This is not a lunch bucket town. We have to be a little more sophisticated," were the words of PEA head James Doyle, in explaining the Association's moves.

PEA has also engaged in a vigorous public information campaign. No less than 75 pages of material has come across Mail editorial desks from PEA negotiators.

After the offer of binding arbitration failed, the PEA this week suggested mediation. The latter is provided for in the Hutchinson Act. That same act, as amended in 1965, gave teachers and other public employees the right to bargain collectively.

Should mediation fail after both sides hear from a State Labor Mediation Board member, a fact finding hearing will be held, in which case a trial examiner will come in. Neither the mediator, nor the examiner at the fact finding may offer a binding solution — only a recommendation.

High-horse stances on the part of either the Board or the PEA could force negotiations down to the wire towards the end of August.

The Hutchinson Act amendment, if it is to hold up, must be used wisely and responsibly. Teachers are going to want to bargain not only this year, but the next. And the next.

And the Board is going to want public support for its programs this year, and next year. And the next.

A deadlock, and power plays at the end of the summer can only hurt both the Board's and the teacher's future chances for better schools and better pay.

It is in the interest of the schools, of the future of the Hutchinson Act, of the future of public employees, and of public support for proposed programs, that a standstill on Labor Day be avoided.

Someone has to give, and obviously both sides should make concessions.

Teacher's salaries have been too low, too long. One Board member, R. B. Scott, recently elected, said: "We owe teachers all the budget will stand in the way of remuneration."

The next seven weeks should be used wisely so that, if Scott's statement reflects a Board policy, as it should, a settlement can be reached before school opens.

Nothing can be gained with the Board and the PEA in a blind alley on September 1.

Summer journeys to make-believe

A pixie eight-year-old summer library patron gives her opinion of a book her group is discussing:

"I think fantasy stories are for little kids," says Karen Young of Main St. "I like spooky things."

Karen, and other youngsters like her are taking part in one of the many summer projects sponsored by the Dunning-Hough Library to help harried homemakers with children who say: "Mommy, there's nothing to do."

There is a varied program for children from four to ten years old run by the children's librarian, Miss Gene Gardner.

Tuesday morning at 10:30 is the magic hour for about 25 in the four to six age group who come to story hour every week. Miss Gardner takes them to a land of adventure with books and movies of children's classics.

Since their attention span is limited, she also has a break when they play quiet games.

"The children are so full of enthusiasm they can hardly wait until the end of a story to give their impression of it," says Miss Gardner, explaining why she likes to work with young children.

"They enjoy stories with pictures. They like animals and stories about familiar things."

Part of the fun is the tangents the youngsters go off on. They find some way to relate their own experiences to whatever book is read.

"I don't have a cat, but I have a baby brother," was one boy's comment after listening to "Millions and Millions of Cats."

Sometimes their impression of the story doesn't come out right away. They may dwell on it awhile and later on tell their parents all about it.

This is the first thing a lot of the children have ever done as a group. Miss Gardner feels they have gained a lot working with other children.

For older children there is another program to encourage them to read a few books in the summer.

It is divided into a third and fourth grade group which meets on Thursday at 2 p.m.; and a fifth and sixth grade group meeting on Tuesday at 2 p.m.

The theme for their reading is books on fantasy and imagination. After they read, the groups meet to discuss these books.

There has been a new interest in fantasy, such as the J. R. R. Tolkien books, popular with the college crowd.

The Wayne County Library System has prepared a list of books on the topic. Miss Gardner and the children have added some favorites of their own.

At the first meeting of the third and fourth grade group last Thursday the children showed that they already had some definite ideas.

Mitchell Pearl of Oakview in Canton Township likes fantasy particularly books where kids get lost and live by themselves. He recommends "My side of the Mountain" by Jean George.

"I think it's stupid, though when bugs are life-sized and talk," he adds.

Renee Shilcusky of Parkview likes all kinds of kinds of fantasy and magic stories.

She says: "Even when they are sad they let you know how you would feel if the same thing happened to you."

The young woman who has thought up all these different projects has been the children's librarian since September. Miss Gene Gardner received her master's degree in library science from University of Michigan. Her undergraduate work was done at Michigan State.

Originally from Vicksburg, Mich., she now lives in Ann Arbor.

Miss Gardner is thinking of going into Vista, the domestic peace corp. But she isn't just sure that she wants to leave Plymouth.

Teachers seek mediation

Northville $13,214; Nankin Mills $5,801; Redford Union $7,500; Farmington $8,941; and South Redford $17,045.

"Plymouth is far better off financially than any of the above districts except South Redford.

"Some of these so-called average, or poorer, districts have settled salaries for their teachers next year.

"Livonia settled for an average of over $9,000 as a maximum for a A.B. degree and an average of over $10,000 for an M.A. degree (average for a two year contract.) It takes 11 years to arrive at the maximum for an A.B. degree and 12 years for an M.A. degree with each degree decreasing one step the second year of the contract.

"Most all schools have a beginning salary of $5600 or $5700 for an A.B. degree and $6000 to $6200 for an M.A. degree)

"Garden City, a poor district, settled with $8960 for an A.B. maximum in 11 years and $10,080 in 12 steps for an M.A. degree.

"Redford Union, a poor district went $9147 in 10 years for an A.B. degree maximum and $9955 for an M.A. — also in 10 steps.

"SOUTH REDFORD, which compares to Plymouth, gave a beginning salary of $5750 and a maximum of $9275 to their A.B. teachers, and $6150 to $10,580 to teachers with a M.A. degree — both arrived at in 10 years.

"Plymouth with nearly twice the assessed valuation behind each child as most of the aforementioned schools seems reluctant to pay the teachers the above salaries — the PEA is asking for a beginning salary of $5700 and a maximum of $9075 for a B.A. degree in 10 steps, and a beginning salary of $6250 and a maximum of $10,075 for an M.A. degree in 10 steps.

PEA spokesmen feel the Board can meet everyone of their demands without additional taxes. They cite an increase in equalization factors, higher state aid, additions to the tax base, and a mill the County Allocation Board granted the school's last year as reasons.

"Both sides will have to give," Isbister said, in reaction. "Until we get ourselves in this frame of mind there are some things the Board and I will hold back on."

"I think it is possible for both sides to resolve this, and I think we can do it alone. Our original proposal stands," the superintendent added.

Isbister, commenting on the PEA proposal for exact class size terms, said:

"The Board has certain prerogatives that I must preserve. Class size is one. The teachers want to be equal partners. There are some areas where they cannot be equal partners."

IF MEDIATION fails, the next step would be a fact finding hearing, conducted by a trial examiner from the State Labor Mediation Board.

The first step is mediation, with the mediator making a recommendation. The second is fact finding, with the examiner making a recommendation.

Neither recommendation is binding, and the local Board of Education has the final word, according to the Hutchinson Act.

That act, as amended, gave teachers and other public employees the right to organize and bargain collectively. A vote of the teachers gave the Michigan Education Association

Fischer elected Board president

Gerald Fischer was re-elected School Board president at the annual reorganizational meeting held last Tuesday night.

The short meeting is called once a year to elect officers, name bank depositories, auditors and an attorney.

Fischer, who is a vice-president in charge of overseas credit operations for Ford Motor Co., enters his fourth year at the helm of the Board.

Two new elected Board members were welcomed to the Board for the first time — John Moehle and Robert Tripp. Both won in the June election that unseated popular incumbent Ernest Henry.

R. B. SCOTT, who also won re-election to the Board after being appointed last year to fill out the unexpired term of Robert Jenkins, was named treasurer.

He works for Parke, Davis and Co. in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Esther Hulsing entered her fifth year as secretary to the Board. Mrs. Hulsing is active in Girl Scouts and several women's clubs in addition to her duties on the Board.

Carl Schultheiss was elected vice-president; he is in charge of engineering services for Burroughs.

William Sempliner was named as attorney for legal matters. However, the Board informally agreed to seek other legal advice if necessary in the area of labor relations, due to the recent changes in public employees bargaining rights. Sempliner has handled the -affiliated PEA sole bargaining rights.

Dispute areas are salary and fringe benefits, and exact class size provisions. Estimates place the Board and the PEA between $300 and $600 apart on each teaching levels on the schedule.

Two alternatives offered by the Board at the end of the school year were turned down by the PEA membership. And the PEA's offer of arbitration was turned down by the school superintendent.

"Our position on class size is that in a rapidly growing community we cannot commit the schools, or the community to such terms," Isbister said, in a statement to the School Board at its regular meeting Monday night.

School's legal affairs for several years.

In other action, the Board named several banks to handle various financial matters. The naming of an accounting firm was held up pending a study of rates offered by Plymouth accounting firms.

THE REST of the session was spent in discussing possible dates for a fall millage vote, and action on the recently completed Citizen's Facility Study Committee report.

A millage vote is expected to bond for $17 million in school facilities needed in the next five years. Possible dates in mid September through early October were discussed, with Fischer indicating he felt it would be pushing to get the issue on the ballot that soon.

Committee assignments will be given next week at the regular July meeting.

It is expected various School Board members will be assigned portions of the Citizen's report for study at that time.

New summer prices at Plymouth Art

A new summer admission policy has been established according to management of Plymouth Art Theater. Prices have been set at 75 cents admission for adults and 35 cents for children. Plymouth Art Theater is located on Penniman Avenue between Main St. and Harvey.

Strike hurts projects

The strike of underground workers in the Metropolitan Detroit area has had a definite effect on five projects in Plymouth Township, according to Supervisor John McEwen.

McEwen said the strike has halted three Township jobs and two private projects.

Work has stopped on the storm drain on Sheldon Road, the sewer on Northville Road near the Thunderbird Inn and on the extension of the water mains to St. John's Seminary.

The strike also has temporarily ended work on the underground for the Heritage apartments, Sheldon at North Territorial; and on the Detmore Trailers Park in the Ridge Road area.

Stephens at Kiwanis convene

Harper A. Stephens of 11410 Southworth, and his wife Ruth are attending the fifty-first annual convention of Kiwanis International at Memorial Coliseum in Portland, Oregon.

A total of 15,000 people — Kiwanians and their families — are on hand for the affair, first in Portland since 1920. They represent some 275,000 Kiwanians in 5,400 clubs in 17 countries of the free world.

The fifty-first annual convention of Kiwanis International is emphasizing Kiwanis' entry into its second half century of community service, and its rapid expansion into nations overseas. The last time Kiwanis met in Portland was 1920, at which time the famous motto, "We Build," was adopted.

City acts on refuse bills

With both the refuse collector and many of the downtown merchants unhappy with the present arrangement for fees and pickups, the Plymouth City Commission has recommended the appointment of a committee to study the situation and make recommendations as soon as possible.

A suggestion that a committee be named was made by Commissioner George Hudson, who told his fellow members this has been a problem since he first moved to Plymouth 10 years ago and that the time had arrived for some positive action.

He received support from Commissioner George Lawton who backed the suggestion for a study committee but recommended that half of the group should come from those merchants who have been making supplemental payments for rubbish collections.

The matter came to the attention of the Commission through City Manager Richard Blodgett who said the City's share of the collection fees is based on the number of water meters.

"It is my recommendation that we increase the payments on the basis of 150 more meters," he stated. "The contract is based on an increase for every additional 100 meters and we passed that figure some time ago. It is my judgement that the city's water meters have increased as many as 150 since the contract was signed. We passed the 100 mark in March and I feel we should make the payments retroactive to that date."

However, there still is the matter of supplemental payments by downtown merchants for additional collections over and above the amount allowed in the contract. Stanley Denski, operator of the H & N Refuse Collection

City acts on refuse bills

Co., has been billing on the basis of figures turned in by his workers and in some instances it has amounted to as much as $100 in a single month. The average, according to Blodgett who cited figures from Denski, is probably between $15 and $20 but many of the merchants have refused to pay.

Commissioner James Jabara reported receipt of many complaints recently of poor and irregular collection. He mentioned one instance where the trucks missed an entire block in the residential section and said he had received complaints where merchants have been without collections for as many as 10 days.

"We have been kicking this thing around for the three and a half years I have been on this Commission," he emphasized, "It probably was a problem for the three and a half years before that and will be for the next three and a half years unless we do something about it. I feel this is a matter of enforcement and should be handled as such."

Blodgett indicated he felt the City should have a flat rate for collections with a periodic check for revisions up or down. He said the company charges $1 per cubic yard to merchants for collections of more than the allowed 300 gallons.

It was at this point that Hudson suggested the study committee which received support.

Robert Beyer, prominent businessman and former member of the Commission, appeared before the group to complain about his collection bills, telling of one for two months that was close to $200.

Beyer asked the Commission to come up with some kind of a solution, especially relief from such bills.

The good life

Elect God

Doug Johnson

It's campaign time.

For the first time in the history of man, God is running for office. You've seen the red, white and blue bumper stickers which read, "God is Alive."

It was as if there was finally some doubt about the man upstairs — as if someone were questioning his candidacy as supreme ruler, and felt a bumper sticker here and there might help. It is not clear as yet who God is campaigning against. It used to be against sin and bad people, but now it is apparently against those who wonder if he still breathes.

I doubt if God either sought or supports the campaign in his behalf, and the poor fellow spending money for those stickers should know this.

"I do not chose to run," I bet he'd say, if he could.

Of course, the pundits have a play on the sign: "God is not dead. He is alive and hiding in Argentina."

"Time," the weekly newsmagazine, in an article, titled "Toward a hidden God," re-printed a satiric obituary from a Methodist student magazine, "motive," small 'm':

"Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 9 — God, creator of the universe, principal deity of the world's Jews, ultimate reality of Christians, and most eminent of all divinities, died late yesterday during major surgery undertaken to correct a massive diminishing influence.

"Reaction from the world's great and from the man in the street was uniformly incredulous. . . . From Independence, Mo., former President Harry S. Truman, who received the news in his Kansas City barbershop, said 'I'm always sorry to hear somebody is dead. It's a damn shame.'"

The stickers and the satiric obituary do not reflect accurately the caliber of intellectual discussion now going on about God, and his relation to man. There are several good books out on the subject, several popular magazine articles, and endless discussion within theological journals and the clergy itself.

That group, for one, has not accepted the verdict of the sciences. Drugged by overwhelming signs of global distress, and bombarded with every idea and thing science can provide, man is in a valley of doubt.

The clergy is suggesting there is more to life than bombs and the back yard bar-b-que. It is a difficult task, and it's going to take more than red, white and blue bumper stickers.

Science has challenged and won man's mind and heart since its triumph in the seventeenth century.

But all the answers can't be found in a test tube.

Science, while answering the technological needs of man lags on the philosophical questions. The whole idea of science and its responsibility to man is examined in a novel, "The New Men," by C. P. Snow. Snow writes at one point:

The chief virtue of this promising new age, and perhaps the only one so far as I can tell, is that from here on we needn't pretend to be any better than anyone else. For hundreds of years we've told ourselves in the West, with that particular brand of severity that ends up in paying yourself a handsome compliment, that of course we cannot live up to our moral pretensions, that of course we've established ethical standards which are too high for men. We've always assumed, all of the people of whom you and I are the ragtag and bobtail, all the camp followers of Western civilization, we have taken it for granted that, even if we did not live up to those exalted ethical standards, we did a great deal better than anyone else. Well, anyone who says that today isn't a fool, because no one could be so foolish. He isn't a liar because no one could tell such lies. He's just a singer of comic songs."

The people in Snow's novel had worked on the A-bomb, and it had just been dropped on Japan.

The challenge to the clergy is in that paragraph. I hope the challenge is not answered with bumper stickers.

Stonecrest as seen from the outside

INTERESTING OLD HOUSES

Unique house built by lawyer

"Stonecrest", although not one of the oldest houses in the area is certainly one of the most interesting. This house, on Ann Arbor Trail and Beck Road looks like a fairy tale cottage on the outside, and a feudal castle on the inside.

The Ruehr's are the present owners. The house is quite a contrast to the modern design of Heide's fower shop which Mr. Ruehr has just built. Nestled among the shrubbery, Stonecrest is almost invisible from the road. The curving gabled roof adds to its quaint effect. Made of fieldstone, the house stands on the highest point in Wayne County.

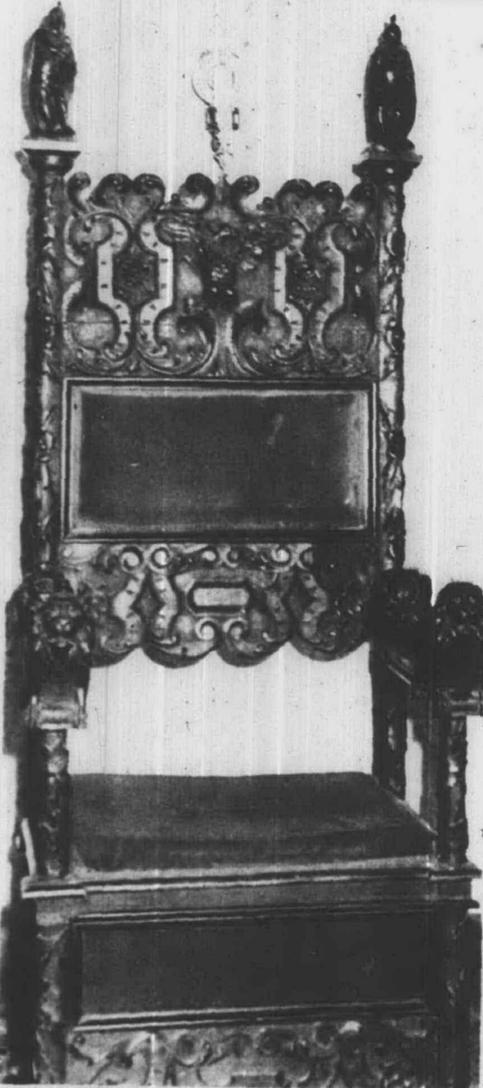

Ruehr has two more of these blocks which he uses in his store to hold flowers.

Mrs. Ruehr is busy decorating the rest of the house. Her most recent project was the dining room. She antiqued the furniture and made matching window shades and chair covers. She has spent a good deal of time and effort looking for the right pieces for the house. As she says:

"I am interested in antiques, not for what they are, but for how they contribute to the total effect."

Mr. Ruehr has lived in Plymouth all his life. Mrs. Ruehr moved here in December of 1965 when they were married. A former school teacher, she taught for seven years in Detroit.

Their household consists of two dogs, a cat and seven brand new puppies.

This dramatic throne chair is right at home in the living room of Stonecrest.

Strictly social

A BRAVE GROUP of Republican women turned out at the early morning breakfast for Senator Griffin last Saturday. Mrs. Roy Lindsay was there in a gaily flowered print dress. Also present was Miss Cynthia Eaton, who is doing the publicity for state senatorial candidate Carl Pursell. Seated across from her was Mrs. Charles Washburn of Sunset Ave. Mrs. John Tripp wife of the candidate for state representative was there along with Mrs. Gene Harrison of Maple St.

Others who enjoyed the meal served at the Meeting House were Mrs. James Jabara who was dressed in a striking simple brown outfit, Mrs. Fred Sincok of Betty Hill Rd., and Mrs. Robert Richardson.

THE FRANK ALLISONS had Mr. and Mrs. Hielkema of Holland as their houseguests last weekend. The Allisons were delighted to meet the Hielkemas who had been their son's Dutch parents when he was in Holland four years ago. Jimmy, their son, luckily was at home on leave from the Air Force while the Hielkemas were here. Jimmy has now left for a 15 month stay in Formosa.

NOT TO BE outdone by their Republican counterparts Democratic women turned out with their husbands at cocktail party for Earl Demel. Mrs. Demel, the gracious hostess, greeted Mrs. David Wiley, Mrs. Lester Bassett, and Mrs. Ruth Barnabee. Looking lovely in their summer cocktail dresses were Mrs. Leo Speer, Mrs. Orville Tungate, and Mrs. Robert Dwyer. Also there were Mrs. Harvey Kahalas, wife of the second congressional district treasurer, and Mrs. Lloyd Hughes. Mrs. Gerald Muir of Beck Rd. was there along with Mrs. Irving Rozien, whose husband is on the township zoning board, and Mrs. Maurice Breen.

Mrs. Julia Klix, 88 year old mother of Mrs. Henry Walch, was recently written up in a Rochester, New York paper because of her gardening ability.

Dolls, dolls, dolls

Imagine the excitement of a little girl walking into a roomful of dolls.

A doll seated at an ironing board needs some help.

Some paper dolls from the 1920's have to be picked up and played with. But look at all the others — where to turn first?

These dolls belong to Mrs. Donald Ryder of East Ann Arbor Trail. She is one of at least three women in this area who have become so fascinated with dolls they have started to collect them.

Mrs. Williams Lyons of Adams St., another collector, explained:

"The earliest dolls weren't to play with at all. They were used as idols and have been found in Egyptian tombs."

In the nineteenth century dolls were made up in France and sent to this country to show the latest fashions to seamstresses. These dolls were made of wax and still weren't for play. Dolls from this era are so unusual they are museum pieces.

Later china heads were bought at a store and the bodies were made by hand at home.

As this was before the sewing machine was a popular the dolls took quite a bit of effort to make and were more for a little girl to look at than play with. Their faces were even those of an older person.

Mrs. Seraphia Moore of North Harvey in Plymouth had at one time one of the most extensive collections in the area. However last December much of her collection of 18 years was destroyed by a flood in her basement.

Now a nurse at Wayne County hospital Mrs. Moore thinks that someday she would like to work exclusively with antique dolls.

She took a six month course in doll repair and now enjoys dressing and fixing up old dolls.

"I go to rummage sales to look for old material. Of course they didn't have nylons and other synthetics in those days. Doll clothes were all made of cottons and velvets and silks."

Mrs. Moore has several lovely old dolls left. One of them wears a special designer's hat covered with feathers. Despite its age it is still in excellent condition.

Another of her dolls has a pink kid body. This was given to her by Mrs. H. W. Blomberg.

Mrs. Lyons explains how to start a doll collection by saying: "First you collect a lot of friends and interest them in your hobby. Many of my dolls have been collected by friends in Plymouth."

Her first doll in the collection was given to her by her college roommate. It was brought from Czechoslovakia by her roommate's parents when they left their homeland at the time of Hitler's take over.

Since then Mrs. Lyons has collected over 700 dolls. And as she says:

"Not all of them are good, not all of them are old, but all of them are loved."

Actually Mrs. Lyons has many fascinating dolls in the collection which lines the stairs of her house.

Some of the old dolls have the glazed china heads; others have heads of bisque, which is a duller finish; some have heads of tin, which was the most durable finish.

"The glazed china heads are not as natural and so were the cheapest ones in the old days," says Mrs. Lyons.

As to her collection of foreign dolls: "I asked friends who went on trips to bring back only what truly represented the country. Not things that were just for tourists."

A wood carved doll that was made in a mission school 75 to 80 years ago is part of her foreign dolls.

"Baby dolls became popular when dolls were not so hard to make," explains Mrs. Ryder. In her roomful of dolls there are several Byelo dolls which were designed by Grace Putnam around 1920. These dolls were very popular, and came in all sizes. They had the face of a three day old baby, and so look different from the baby dolls of today.

Mrs. Ryder started her collection with an old doll of her mother's. She has shown her collection to various civic groups, as have the other women.

Probably all the women would agree with Mrs. Lyons that their hobby has been beneficial to them not only for all the fun they have had but for all the friends they have made.

Mrs. Carlton Wyman

Roy - Wyman vows exchanged

Miss Marna Ruth Roy became the bride of Carlton Gene Wyman on June 25 at the First Methodist Church in Plymouth at 7:30 p.m. Reverend Peter Schweitzer officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Potts of Wilcox Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wyman of Southworth.

The bride was given away by her uncle Ralph Roy. Her full skirted gown was trimmed with lace and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, purple orchids and white roses.

The attendants, Miss Barbara Collins, maid of honor, and Miss Mildred Potts, bridesmaid, wore turquoise gowns with lace bodices. They carried yellow and white carnations.

Gary Wyman, brother of the bridegroom served as best man. Seating the guests were Dennis Collins, Bob Bordine, Thomas Bordine and Douglas Cutler. The bride's mother wore a blue sheath with matching lace jacket. Mrs. Wyman, the bridegroom's mother wore a blue crepe sheath accented with crystal necklace and earrings.

The church basement was decorated with white and blue crepe paper streamers and wedding bells for the reception which followed the ceremony. There were 130 guests at the reception.

After a wedding trip to Mackinac Island the couple will be living in Salem Square.

The new Mrs. Wyman goes to Hubbard Wayne Beauty College and her husband attends Eastern Michigan University.

A busy housewife, Mrs. David Strang, tries to figure out which package of hot dogs is more economical, while shopping with her two children, David and Christianne.

Is it a bargain?

by MARGARET MURAWSKI
Which is a better buy — two 11 1/2 ounce jars for 49¢ or three 3 1/4 ounce jars for 24¢? No, I don't know, but if a housewife stops to figure that out during a trip to the supermarket it will only be a beginning. She will then have to go on to decide whether a 12 ounce box of cookies at 39¢ costs less than a 7 3/4 ounce bag at 29¢. This type of decision has to be repeated in almost every section of the store.

At one time packaging of groceries was hailed as the beginning of a new era of cleanliness. Women's magazines in the early part of the century were writing articles such as "the cat in the cracker barrel" deploring the filth found in stores of those days.

Today a furor is being raised about the deceptive use of that packaging.

Every woman knows that ingredients and sizes are generally printed in microscopic print on obscure parts of the package.

Labels are misleading. A can of pork and beans may have a negligible amount of pork. Chicken noodle soup may only contain chicken stock and noodles. A careful and time consuming reading of the list of ingredients is necessary in order to discover this.

Air is another problem. In order to make packages look bigger some manufacturers leave more air space than necessary at the top. It seems a shame when air is free that "I love it," says Mrs. Donald MacKenzie describing how she feels about living in Woodlore. The MacKenzies former residents of Detroit and Livonia have lived in Plymouth for two years. The neighbors and the space are the two reasons Mrs. MacKenzie gives for liking Woodlore. The MacKenzies live in a tri-level with their four boys and one girl. Their house is attractively furnished in shades of blue, olive and gold.

The MacKenzies belong to the Presbyterian church. Mrs. MacKenzie also belongs to Newcomers Club. She enjoys bridge and golf. In the summer she plays golf at least once a week. An excellent cook, Mrs. MacKenzie has chosen a favorite vegetable dish. She found this recipe several years ago. It has been so successful that many of her friends have copied it.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of organza over taffeta, trimmed with lace appliques and seed pearls. Her veil was held in place with a crown of matching lace, pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses, stephanotis and philonopsis.

The maid of honor was Miss Carol Mijal of Westland. Bridesmaids were Misses Maureen Wesley and Elizabeth Dobos of Plymouth.

The attendants wore identical aqua taffeta sheath gowns with empire waists trimmed with white lace. The gowns had matching coats with lace three-quarter length sleeves. They carried bouquets of pink rubrum lillies. The bridegroom's brother, Ronald Garchow, served as best man. Ushers were Michael and Gordon Kisabeth of Plymouth.

The mother of the bride wore an off-white sheath dress with pink accessories. Mrs. Garchow wore a powder blue sheath dress with matching accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall for 200 guests.

For her wedding trip to the Smokey Mountains the new Mrs. Garchow wore a melon linen dress with white accessories.

Mrs. Garchow is a 1964 graduate of Plymouth High School. Her husband is a senior at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

A bargain?

housewives have to pay for it in a box.

I found a can of fruit put in a cart for quick sale one day. I wanted to compare it with a can on the shelves to find out if it was a bargain.

As I was searching for a similar can the store manager came by. He stopped to explain the manufacturer wasn't making that size can any more. One of the same apparent size and shape was being made, only it contained two ounces less. Of course it sold for the same price the larger one had sold for.

One solution to all this is a slide rule type of instrument that is supposed to help the housewife figure out her best buys. I consider this adding insult to injury.

It is hard to imagine a busy woman, perhaps a couple of children with her checking her slide rule before every purchase. Nor should she have to.

A better solution would be to write to the manufacturer.

Another solution to some of these problems is the truth in packaging bill which has passed the U.S. Senate and is now in committee in the House of Representatives.

As the bill reads now its main purpose is to help customers obtain accurate information as to the quantity of the contents of packages and facilitate price comparisons.

It states that the net quantity of contents shall be stated in a specified size on the principal display panel of the package. It states that any product containing less than four pounds or one gallon, have its weight expressed in whole units. No more fractions of ounces to struggle with.

The bill also requires that manufacturers list more complete information about ingredients. Today a bottle of maple syrup can simply list maple and cane sugar as ingredients. It would be more helpful for a shopper to know the exact percentage of maple and cane sugars.

Another point mentioned in the bill is a more accurate guide to the number of servings in a package.

All too often it is barely possible to get two servings from a package that says "serves six".

And the bill eliminates qualifying words with the size, such as "giant half quart".

Michigan Senator Philip Hart a sponsor of this bill, estimates it can save the average shopper $200 a year simply by helping her find the best buy for her money.

Welsher resigns in Twp.

John Welsher, veteran member of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission and one of the township's representatives on the Plymouth Area Planning Commission, has resigned from both boards.

In a letter of resignation to Supervisor John McEwen, Welsher stated he had moved into the City of Plymouth and thus wasn't eligible to serve.

Welsher's departure from the Township Planning Board leaves two vacancies for Supervisor McEwen to fill. Chairman Tsvador Balogh resigned a month ago after differences with the Board over zoning of a property adjacent to his home.

McEwen indicated both posts will be filled in the July meeting of the Township Board of Trustees.

Pick Board committees

Heads of key school board committees for the 1966-67 school year were appointed Monday evening by Plymouth Community School District Board of Education President Gerald Fischer.

Fischer made the appointments at the regular meeting of the board, held at school district offices on Lilley Road.

Employee Relations, a critical committee, in light of increased bargaining activity by all school district employees, will continue to be headed by Carl Schulteiss. The group is a committee-of-the-whole and includes all board members.

R. Bruce Scott, recently re-elected to the board, will assume chairmanship of the curriculum planning committee - headed last year by Mrs. Esther Hulsing. The group includes Mrs. Hulsing, new board member John Moehle and Schultheiss.

Facilities Planning, also a key group because of expected heavy facilities expansion in the near future, will be chaired by newly elected board member Robert Tripp. Moehle will act as vice chairman. Other members are Schultheiss and J.D. McLaren.

McLaren will chair the Finance Committee. Members include Scott, Tripp and President Fischer.

Mrs. Hulsing will chair the Community Relations Committee.

After making the appointments, Fischer noted key areas in which he felt the committees should be working.

Community Relations, he said - in addition to newsletters, brochures and PTA relations, should be thinking in terms of ideas for recognition of outstanding teachers and staff.

Curriculum Planning, Fischer pointed out, should attempt to stimulate curriculum research and development and try to formulate reports that are farther advanced than the group has had time for in the past.

The Finance Committee has facing it finalization of the 1966-67 school budget.

"Of course," Fischer said, "there will be the all-important review of alternate plans presented by the citizens' committee." The Facilities Committee must also review the citizens' report and act upon it.

Fischer also said the Facilities group should stimulate cost studies to promote lower cost facilities.

"I don't think we should accept those kinds of unit costs (specified out in the citizens' committee report) as inevitable," Fischer commented.

A look at the administrative structure, together with school administrators, should be taken by the Employee Relations Committee, Fischer said. He said the group should determine whether the district has the right kinds of administrative positions and should seek to set up methods of evaluating staff performance.

In other action, the board re-appointed the firm of Sutherland and Robson as school district auditor, appointed Mrs. Esther Hulsing to represent the board as local legislative representative to the Michigan Association of School Boards, and approved one leave of absence and the appointment of 11 new teachers for next year.

Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister released to the board requirements for a newly created post, administrative assistant in the school district central office.

The unaudited financial report showed that the school district finished the current fiscal year with a cash balance of $263,248.14. The district finished the year slightly more than $19,000 under budget.

June sets record in Twp. building

Topped by two industrial building permits for a total valuation of $5,570,000, Plymouth Township's building department Monday issued figures for the month of June that make it the greatest in history.

For months folks have been talking about the anticipated growth and building boom expected in Plymouth Township - they don't have to talk any longer, the figures for June indicate the Township is on its way.

Bigger and better figures for valuation and total building permits are expected monthly and what the high will be, none can predict at this moment.

The Township officials anticipate a boom. So does the Board of Education and the business community as indicated by the fact that no less than five banks have expressed an interest in locating branches in the Township:

National Bank of Detroit on Sheldon Road at the intersection of N. Territorial, Detroit Bank and Trust on Ann Arbor Road directly across the road from the Township Hall, Commonwealth on the edge of Salem Square and now word has reached the Township Hall that Manufacturers Bank has a site in mind and plans to request rezoning and a building permit within a short time.

A fifth, and as yet unidentified bank, is permitted to request permission to erect a branch as soon as officials definitely have an option on the land desired. It is reported that negotiations are underway.

The record making report of Matt McLellan, Director of Buildings and Department of Public Works, which shows a total of 56 permits issued in June with a total valuation of $6,653,775 and $8,190 to the Township in fees.

"This is the greatest total valuation of any month in the years I have been at the Township Hall," said McLellan, "I have checked back over the past few years when the mushrooming growth started and find none that come close."

The two industrial permits were for the huge Ford Motor Co. plant on Sheldon Road for the new office facilities of the Evans Products Co. Each is well underway.

The June report shows 25 permits for single dwellings for a total of $459,500 and $1,585 in fees. McLellan handed out 56 permits for multi-family dwellings with a total valuation of $500,000 and fees of $545.

College gears for fall semester

Schoolcraft College has announced plans for the fall semester, which begins August 29, and runs until December 31. Courses may be taken by those seeking a degree, those who want to upgrade their occupational skills, those who seek a two-year terminal program and those who want to continue their education in any way, according to the director of the evening college, Fred Stefanski.

WHO MAY ATTEND? All bona fide residents of the College District are eligible. The School District includes the Village, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth. Non-residents may enroll at schoolcraft College only after they have completed all parts of the matriculation procedure.

This includes completion and return of the admission form, payment of the $10 application fee, completion of all sections of the counseling examinations, and filing of high school transcripts, and transcripts for any college work completed previous to enrollment at Schoolcraft College.

This must be done several weeks previous to registration at Schoolcraft College. Non-residents who are employed by industries or businesses which have branches in the College District whose employers are paying all or part of the tuition, are charged resident fees and may enroll as non-matriculated students. It is to the advantage of all students to be enrolled as fully matriculated students.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST? Resident tuition is $8. per semester hour plus a 50¢ per semester hour student service fee. The total non-resident tuition and fee is $12.50 per semester hour. All students entering the College for the first time must pay a $10, non-refundable application fee in addition to the tuition and student service fee.

HOW DO I APPLY? Evening

College students wishing to accumulate college credit must complete all parts of the application and take the counseling tests. Applications may be obtained at the Admissions Office. This should be done immediately. Students who have not applied at the College should call or visit the Admissions Office to obtain application materials and arrange to take the counseling tests. The last three testing dates are 20 July, 21 July, and 6 August, 1966.

An intensive public information campaign began this week in preparation for the annual fall drive for money for the Plymouth Community Fund. (Phase see page B-3)

While most organization slow down in the summer, the PCF and its leaders have been meeting regularly under the watchful eye of general drive chairman for the year, Edward Schenning, general manager of the Burroughs plant.

Schenning, who several weeks ago announced division chairman and the total budget for this year, has drafted the services of Plymouthite Dick Lee, a retired tip Foundation executive, to work with the Plymouth press on articles about each of the organizations supported by the PCF.

And, William P. Scott, DSI group chairman reported at a meeting Wednesday noon last week, and the promotion committee met Thursday.

Eber, Readman and Barney Hart, also of Burroughs, round out the top leaders in the campaign.

GOAL IS $88,543.

Dems battle Dems in hot battle in Superior

A hot battle is shaping up in Superior Township's August Democratic primary between long-time incumbents and several challengers, led by a nursery school operator.

William A. Papineau, former school teacher, and holder of a B.S. from Hillsdale College and a Masters degree from Eastern Michigan University, heads a slate of candidates challenging those in office.

The incumbents are supervisor Emory Mulholland, who has been supervisor since 1935; Mrs. Ruth G. Eckert, in her fourth term as clerk; Barbara A. Lark, treasurer since 1959; and two trustees - William McFarlane, on the Board for four terms, and Percy Carter, finishing his fifth year.

THEY TOO are all Democrats. There are no Republicans in office. Superior is adjacent to Canton Township, but in Washtenaw County.

Mulholland, who is in his mid-sixties, has held a Superior Township elected office since he was twenty-one years old.

The primary battle will virtually determine the election, and intensive campaigning by the Papineau slate is already underway.

Reaction to the campaign literature now being circulated is expected to come soon from the incumbents, according to Mrs. Eckert.

Running for township clerk on the Papineau slate will be

ROBERT J. MEYER

Mrs. Lewis W. (Mildred W.) Craig of 170 Clark Rd.

Seeking the treasurer's nomination on the Democratic ticket will be Robert J. Meyer of Cherry Hill Rd.

William F. Dusterhoff of 8383 Geddes Rd. will run for one of the two trustee posts. Robert E. Allen of 919 E. Clark Rd. for the other post.

Mrs. Craig, who is 63, has been a Superior resident for 16 yrs. She received a bachelor of arts degree from Wayne State University and a master of arts in vocational guidance from the University of Michigan.

She was assistant principal of Cleveland Junior High School for 10 years and has been a teacher, counselor and librarian. She is a member of the Michigan and National Education Associations and a past president of the administrative division of the Detroit Education Association.

MRS. CRAIG is a past noble grand of Premier Rebekah Lodge 348, member of the Michigan Week Education Board, member of the First Congregational Church of Ypsilanti, the Spanish American War Veterans Auxiliary and the Women's City Club of Detroit. She is a past counselor of Daughters of America Detroit Council No. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig have one married daughter.

Meyer, 32, an industrial electrician, is a lifelong Superior resident and president of the Kimmel Board of Education.

He is a graduate of Ypsilanti High School and attended Eastern Michigan Univ.

He is a former 4-H Club member and president of the 4-H dairy judging team which toured Europe for the 1953 international dairy judging contest.

He and his wife, Carol, have two children.

Meyer received the 4-H citizenship award for the state of Michigan in 1952.

Dusterhoff, 32, has lived in Superior 18 years and is a lifelong Michigan resident. A veteran, he studied industrial management at Cleary College and has been employed for 10 years with the Mich. Bell Telephone Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Dusterhoff have two children.

Allen, 38, the trustee candidate, is seeking his first public office. He has lived in the area for 37 years. He is owner of the R. E. Allen Trenching and excavating service.

MRS. LEWIS W. CRAIG

He is a member of Phoenix Lodge 13, F & AM, member of the Ypsilanti chapter of the DeMolay advisory council, a 32nd Degree Mason, member Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, the Washtenaw Scottish Rite Club and the Washtenaw Shrine Club.

Allen is a Korean war veteran. He and his wife, Jean, have six children.

The constable candidates are James H. Black, of 3362 Beaumont Ave., Dixboro, William Downing of 8253 Geddes Rd., Charles G. Friedrich of 8724 Heather Dr. and Phillip C. Coniam of 8674 Heather Ct.

No Republicans filed for any office in the Superior primary August 2.

PCF money supports over 700 in Girl Scouting

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles on the agencies supported by the Plymouth Community Fund. The drive, not held until October and early November, nonetheless is in the planning stages. These articles are designed to tell the PCF story: Where does your money go?)

Plymouth's Community Fund will raise $7,000 for a principal youth organization - Girl Scouting - in the 1966 campaign scheduled for October 10-November 4.

Edward W. Schening, general manager of the Burroughs Corporation in Plymouth made the announcement today as general chairman of the traditional unit-giving fund campaign.

Thirteen agencies serving youth, medical indigents, senior citizens, numerous disease victims and many families with health and social welfare problems will share in the $88,543 fund for their 1967 operating programs. The territory served by these agencies includes the City of Plymouth and burgeoning Plymouth Township.

THE SUCCESS of Girl Scouting in Plymouth has followed strong recruitment and training of volunteer adult leaders. At 1965 year-end the Plymouth program embraced 136 adult leaders under the direction of Mrs. George Bauer, 254 Irvin street, while 717 girls ranging from eight to 18 years were enrolled.

Suitable activity programs are geared to the following age groups: Brownies, grades 2 and 3 Junior, grades 4, 5, and 6 Cadettes, grades 7, 8 and 9 Seniors, grades 10, 11 and 12.

Plymouth Girl Scouting membership this fall is planned for 48 in Senior troops, with hundreds of other girls to be enrolled in seven Cadette, 17 Junior and 19 Brownie troops.

GIRL SCOUT activities run the gamut from home and art crafts to primitive camp life; from international friendship exchanges to domestic Pen Pal programs.

Tours are popular with the older girls, while a half-dozen camps available to the Huron Valley Council attract Scouts of all ages. Some prefer the resident two-week camping experience, where water safety instruction, open-fire meal preparation, tent living and canoeing and swimming are daily challenges. Others, by the hundreds, participate in the day camps such as Happy Valley in the Edward Hines Parkway.

Service to the community is stressed, and in 1965 the Plymouth girls performed such as baby sitting at the Symphony concerts, making favors and providing entertainment for the State Home and Training School and for nursing homes.

Some troops maintained bird feeding stations, while others wrote about Plymouth, Michigan to all other cities bearing the name Plymouth.

Troops of the Plymouth area are sponsored by such organizations as P. T. A., A.A.U.W., Lions club, V.F.W., American Legion Auxiliary, D. A. R., American Airlines, Rotary Anns, New-comers club, and women's groups from several churches.

WHAT DO Girl Scouts do at a Day Camp? Edward W. Schening, general chairman of the Plymouth Community Fund campaign, satisfied his curiosity on that score one day last week when he observed groups of Plymouth area girls at Happy Valley camp in the Edward Hines Parkway. This group, supervised by Mrs. Grace Krause and Mrs. Clara Baumann, was working on Indianlore, the care of kitchen utensils, and making tripod wash stands. Plymouth Girl Scouting is supported by the Plymouth Community Fund's drive.

VFW Auxiliary wins awards; appoints committees

At the Department convention in Grand Rapids the VFW Auxiliary was presented with several awards.

Personal citations, as well as citations to the Auxiliary, were awarded to the following: Claudette Krumm, publicity; Mildred Drake, civil defense; Rosemary Koolman, legislative.

A first place award was also received for our Legislative scrapbook along with a second place award for a very good all-over legislative program. President Cadaret also achieved the honor roll for having attained over one hundred points for her program of the past year.

President Ann Smith announced the following chairmen for the year: rehabilitation, Geraldine Olson; hospital, Virginia Bartel; membership, Helen Lutermoser; national home, Loretta Olson; legislative, Marion Skoglund; Americanism, Shirley Kubik; youth activities, Patricia Dunlap; community service, Dolly Bouterse. Cancer, Mary Schwartz; civil defense, Rosemary Koolman; publicity, Eileen Williams; poppy, Delores Olsaver; delinquent and housing, Joan Barber; booking, Norma McKindles; investigating, Bernice Kopski.

Each member has been assigned to one of these committees. During the year every chairman, with her committee, is expected to promote a money making project to help carry on the work done by the Auxiliary.

Hospital work is one of the very important phases of VFW programming as help is given to the many veterans in Veterans' Administration and State

Hospitals by personal visits, personal services and donations with which to buy items the patients might otherwise have to do without.

Some of these items are radios, TV sets, typewriters and many smaller and more personal items.

With the situation overseas it is apparent that this need will be increased. In June, cakes, magazines, razor blades etc. were taken to the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor in observance of Fathers Day.

Each month this year our committee will try to do something to aid these men. For July, Virginia Bartel has planned a coffee party in Ann Arbor VA hospital.

The next rummage sale is September 21. Call Marion Skoglund for a pick-up at 427-9491.

What will the others be worth a year from now?

The Cadillac car holds its value far beyond any other automobile at or near its price. Let your Cadillac dealer explain today why now, more than ever, it's great . . . going Cadillac!

There is one simple way to measure the worth of any other luxury car: compare it to the way a Cadillac keeps its value. For Cadillac is the grand champion in this most telling of all motor car tests—and at resale returns a higher percentage of its original cost than any other car built in the land. There are many reasons. The first is Cadillac quality—recognized wherever automobiles are known. Then there is Cadillac beauty and luxury—so advanced that the car retains its desirability long after others have lost their appeal. And there is Cadillac safety, performance, dependability and operating economy. What will your car be worth a year—or even three years—from now? If it's a Cadillac, the answer is predictably pleasant. Get the facts today from your authorized dealer. He's an expert in serving the world's most demanding motorists—and his interest in your complete satisfaction will continue throughout your ownership. Isn't it time you put a Cadillac in your life?

Fishers' scores over 100 runs in 5 games

Fisher's Shoes dumped Spagy's T-Birds 7-4 last week to hang on to the lead in Class 'E' ball, and continued to add to any already impressive list of statistics.

Like a team batting average of .461 going into last week's game.

Like a player — Walter Lee — with a homerun each game and a .739 batting average going into last week's game.

Like two backup batters — Bruce Bauman and Jeff Adams, who are batting .706 and .611 respectively.

Eight homeruns have been hit between Lee and Adams.

A fluke? NOT SO says coach Charles Lee who has seen his squad score over 100 runs in five games. The team has been together as a unit for three years, and last year went to the Inter City Finals.

Lee's pitchers are 6-0, with only 12 runs having scored against them. The group's age range is 14 to 16 years.

IN OTHER action last week, General Filters trimmed Plymouth 6-4, and DiPonio beat University Litho 6-3.

In 'F' League games, Ely Oiler's beat Bill's Market 7-6; University Litho whipped the Casterline Braves 5-2, and the Jaycees slipped past the Northville Orioles, 3-2.

Adams, Bob Kellman, Mike Gooch, Brad Maxey, Lee McMann, Curt Peterson (batboy), and coaches Carl Lee, Al Adams and Whitey Peterson. Absent was Carl Lee.

Robertson hurls shutout for Optimists; Elks win

Now is the time to be Optimistic, with a capital 'O'.

The results of Tuesday's game (yesterday, coming to late to make this week's edition) may tell the story for the Optimists as they boast a 5-2 record.

In their only game last week, they topped the Livonia Elks, 4-0, behind the no-hit pitching of Jack Robertson. Robertson struck out 15 batters, walked only three and added to the cause with a hit.

Only one ball made it to the outfield against Robertson. He had some help at the plate as almost the entire batting order got a hit: Mike Clinkhammer, Ron Ross, Rick Dyer, Pat Williams, Danny Camp, Mike Lockwood and Jon Adams. Each had a single.

The Optimists scored three big runs in the third stanza on four hits.

Robertson left no doubt on the plate as the game reached its conclusion, squelching any rally with five straight strikeouts.

Cliff Burbo's club also played in the July 4 tourney, and won one game, 4-2, over the Livonia Lakers.

Joe Bida figures he's set to win a few games after reorganizing the Plymouth Elks. Last week he proved he may, as his charges beat the Lakers 10-6. Rick Filmore, a hurler, stole the day's honors with a grand slam home run. He, on relief, was the winning pitcher. Kenney Olds started on the mound.

Specialty

Downtown Plymouth merchants are specialists in their fields.

Like Cecil Sharrard and his impeccable taste when it comes to everything that is new and beautiful and elegant for your most personal of rooms.

Sharrard's Bath and Boudoir Shoppe specializes in coordinated, color-keyed accessories that give your bathroom that look only seen in home magazines.

Specializing is a way of life for Plymouth merchants. Stores are a haven from the all too impersonal shopping found elsewhere.

Clerks know your name. Store owners remember what you bought your mother-in-law two years ago.

They specialize. First in service, second in quality and a wide choice of merchandise, third in reasonable prices.

Plymouth merchants, like Mr. Sharrard, instinctively know specializing suits you, and what you seek.

They know because

Junior League Sox stop Yankee streak

Park record

Bob Miller's American League Red Sox stopped the Yankee's 10 game winning streak last week in a Plymouth Junior Baseball thriller 3-2. With 4 games remaining, the Yanks lead the Orioles by 2. Charlie Dudley's Dodgers opened up a 3 game lead in the National League with 5 games to go. The Red Legs and Pirates, in a battle to get out of the N.L. cellar, played to a 3-3 deadlock.

The four major parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority had a combined visitor total of over 1,318,200 persons who came to its parks during the month of June.

This was the biggest June on record according to Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Authority, a five-county agency serving the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

Jr. Leaguers to see

Members of the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League will be the guests of the Detroit Tigers this Saturday, July 16, as the Tigers take on the Baltimore Orioles.

Once again Plymouth's "Doc" Fenkel made the necessary arrangements with the Tigers. Buses will leave from the League's field at 11 a.m. All boys must have a permission slip signed by parent or guardian and 50¢ to cover transportation.

Minor Leagues

Standing in the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball Minor Leagues were released this week by the director of the program, Max Sommerville:

American League

4-1	Marine Lance Corporal William C. Stace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin W. Stace, 9205 Marlowe is serving with Headquarters Battalion of the 3rd Marine Division operating near Da-Nang, Vietnam.
3-2	The battalion is primarily responsible for the administrative and operational control of the division, but often engages in search and destroy patrols against the Viet Cong. The battalion also assists in maintaining the defense perimeter around the large air base near DaNang.

McEwen says Sheldon will have five lanes

Plymouth Township Supervisor John D. McEwen and the Wayne County Road Commission have announced plans for the reconstruction of about a mile of Sheldon Road between Five Mile Road and the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway tracks. The present two-lane, 20-foot-wide stone-base road will be replaced with a five-lane reinforced concrete pavement with the center lane for left turn traffic.

McEwen pointed out that present traffic is approximately 8,000 vehicles a day and that this will increase when Ford Motor Company opens its Heater and Air Conditioner Plant immediately north of C. & O. tracks in the spring of 1967. The plant, now under construction, will employ 1,000 persons. The road project, estimated to cost $686,000, will be started this fall with completion set for early 1967.
