New State Ruling Hits Like Bomb

Republican strong Plymouth Township returned its Republican Board of Trustees to office in last week's election and then had a bombshell dropped on it later in the week when Supervisor John McEwen announced a 30 per cent increase in the 1966 tax rate.

It has been known for some time that Township property owners faced a big tax hike. However, few expected it to go as high as 30 per cent even though the City of Plymouth's Supervisor Arch Vallier had predicted as much as a 40 per cent boost several weeks ago.

In making the announcement, McEwen stated that the Township tax rate for 1966 had been established at $74.34 per thousand of assessed valuation — an increase of $18.28 per $1,000 over 1965.

He indicated the tax rate information had been released by the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation a day earlier in a communication to him.

Both McEwen and Township Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes have been warning homeowners that there would be a big increase in the new tax bills but neither was able to tell exactly how high it would go.

Each was a bit amazed by the $18.28 hike and each expects a flood of protests from angry taxpayers from now until the end of the year.

"This increase is due to the use of the state tax multiplier," said McEwen. "In accordance with current sta-

Four Records Set in Fund Drive

Huge Goal Surpassed By $20,000

With record contributions by four groups, Industrial, Business, Educational and Residential, the 1966 Plymouth Community Fund drive went over the top of its $88,543 goal by the greatest margin in its 12 year history — the total soared to $100,427 with more to come before the final figures are known in late December.

The announcement came during the traditional Victory Dinner Thursday when General Chairman Edward Schenning, of the Burroughs Corporation, had the division leaders read off their totals which were carefully disclosed by Miss Sweet Charity, Carol Ann Stephenson, on a huge indicator.

C-C To Pick Three New Directors

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce is holding its annual election of directors this week and there has been a heavy flow of ballots to meet the deadline of Friday, November 18.

Three directors are to be named for terms expiring in November, 1969. The candidates for the three places include A. W. Van Ornum, dentist; Donald Golem, Plymouth Observer; Cecil Sharrard, Sharrard's Shop; Earl Gibson, Plymouth Community Schools; Wallace Loucks, S. S. Kresge Co.; and Wendell Lent, Davis and Lent. Lent and Sharrard are incumbents.

Setting Record Straight

That Wasn't a Centennial That Was Celebrated in 1924

Ever since the Steering Committee was appointed to make preliminary plans for the proposed Centennial in Plymouth next year there has been a question about the date.

What Centennial is to be celebrated? The Village? The Community? What? Researchers have been busy and all sorts of stories have been bandied about regarding events of other years.

It had been recalled that there was an event in 1825. Others said there was an event in 1867 and others had other events and other dates.

So confusion has reigned until this week. Then, into the breach stepped Sidney D. Strong, the veteran official who was City Manager in 1924.

He furnished a booklet put out by the City of Plymouth in which it was reported for posterity that he and Harry S. Lee, the first Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, worked together in designing a seal. The idea of the Log Cabin and the two spruce trees was to typify the pioneer homes of the period of the founding of the village in 1825.

The seal was formally adopted by the Chamber of Commerce and by the Commission of the Village of Plymouth in 1924 and has been in use since.

The first general use of the seal on public occasion was at the time of the celebration of the opening of the Plymouth Road pavement on September 11, 1924.

So, the 1924 event was not a Centennial as had been claimed.

Guide Lines Established For Centennial

The Steering Committee recently appointed by Mayor Houk to make a study and prepare plans for a Centennial in 1967 has swung into action and at its first meeting established these pertinent facts:

1—That the City of Plymouth would be 100 years old on March 5, 1967. This fact was established by the City Charter.

2—That to be successful guide lines would have to be established.

There had been some questions as to the exact date and year when the City of Plymouth was established. And it also was felt that if a Centennial was held it should have an objective—some goal that would make it an event that would live in memory.

It had been decided that the citizens in the Plymouth Community should be invited to submit their ideas and it was here that the Steering Committee felt that guide lines would be necessary to save both time and effort.

As a result these guide lines were adopted:

1—Our endeavor should not be a carnival type affair, nor should it be specifically designed as a retail sales promotion.

2—The project should have lasting value to the entire community and one that could be completed in 1967.

3—This project should involve community participation.

According to J. P. Tarantino, Manager of the Gaylord Container Company, who is chairman of the Steering Committee, the "key" to the guide posts was to reach an agreement on a common and attainable goal as a starting point.

"It is the purpose of our Steering Committee to study carefully all ideas," he said, "and to make a recommendation to the Centennial Committee that best fits the basic guide lines."

"As Chairman, I am inviting all dynamic organizations to participate in the program and hope they will respond."

He asked that all recommendations be sent to him at the Gaylord plant. He also stated that his committee would be willing to meet with any organization to explain the thinking of the Committee. He also has asked that all recommendations be made by December 2, 1966.

"We don't have too much time left," he warned.

It also was announced that Carl Pursell, of the Chamber of Commerce, Bob Sincok, Hudson Realty, and Jerry Hooney, of the Junior Chamber, had been added to the Steering Committee.

No Left Turns Will Be Tried Over Holidays

Temporary plans have been completed to guide the rush of traffic over the holiday season and "No Left Turn—11 a.m. to 8 p.m." signs are going to be erected at the central parking lot behind the main stores.

This temporary agreement was reached in a meeting of the merchants and Acting Police Chief Roger Vanderveen. The merchants were represented by Don Zander, of Fisher's Shoes, and Wallace Loucks, of Kresge's.

It was agreed that a careful watch would be kept for 10 days and if at the expiration of that time it was felt the move was not the answer the signs will be taken down.

Legion Hears Top Optimist

President Donald Helm of the Plymouth Optimist Club will speak on behalf of his organization's aims, goals and purposes on Saturday evening, Nov. 19, when the Optimist Club will be the guests of the Plymouth American Legion at their regular monthly "Why Are We..." programs, designed for the purpose of acquainting the various organizations with their purposes.

City Loses Court Battle Over Apts.

The City of Plymouth has lost a fight in court and as a result there are two more units for rent in the Brynmawr Apartments on Byron Street between McKinley and Harvey.

The defeat came in an opinion from Circuit Judge Lila Neuenfelt which was handed down Monday and it gave Thomas H. Cape and his wife, Phyllis a victory in a feud that has been going on for more than a year.

It all started several years ago when Al Glassford, then the City Manager, instructed the Building Inspector to issue building permits for two single family residences designed the same as the apartments even though there was not sufficient land to meet the requirements of the city ordinance.

Under the ordinance 3000 feet is required for any such apartment building. The Capes had built two eight-unit buildings under this ordinance, but when they made another request to build two more they were told there was not sufficient room.

The Capes then stated they would purchase a sufficient amount of right of way to make it possible. It was then that the permit was issued for the two single residence dwellings.

When these were constructed as 32 unit affairs, the City refused to issue more than 30 occupancy permits. This meant that two units have been laying idle.

The battle, which opened in 1964, then was taken to Court when the Capes start-

Tripp Quits School Post As Director

The resignation from the Plymouth Community Board of Education of Robert C. Tripp was accepted at the Board's meeting Monday.

Tripp, who had been corporate compensation administrator for Burroughs Corporation, resigned because he is accepting a position with Eastern Air Lines in Miami, Fla.

His resignation will not become effective until January 31, when he will move from Plymouth. Until then, he will continue to work on the Board.

Wheel Trueing Feud Rolls On

Like Tennyson's brook, the feud between the Wheel Trueing Tool Company and the City of Plymouth goes on and on.

After more than a year of bickering while the framework of the building on Plymouth Road stands like a ghost against the sun, the City continued it again at a special session of the Commission on Monday night.

The long standing battle that has been marked by offers and counter offers now has been resolved to a struggle over an acre of ground.

Some time ago, it was reported the Wheel Trueing Company offered to donate 2.76 of the 7.76 acres to city in payment for an unfilled obligation. This was rejected. Then, little more than a month ago, City Manager Blodgett, with permission of the City Commission, made a counter proposal calling for a return of 3.76 acres.

This was not acceptable to the company, but Monday evening the City Commission stuck by its guns. It reaffirmed its approval of the City Manager's offer of 3.76 acres and let it stand at that.

Several members of the commission voiced the unofficial opinion that a compromise will be reached someday calling for three acres or three and one quarter acres.

Until that time comes the feud just rolls on, and on.

Harold Fischer, of the Planning Development group, informed the commission that some interest had been shown in the property, but that no firm offer had been made—and couldn't be until the original bickering between the City Commission and Wheel Trueing ceased.

M.S.U. Alumni Forming New Club Representing Suburban Area

GUS GANAKAS

Alumni and friends of Michigan State University will gather at the Livonia Knights Inn, Seven Mile and Middlebelt, on Monday, Nov. 21, to organize a new alumni club to represent Western Wayne County.

The Michigan State Alumni Relations Department is sponsoring the event. Frank Palamara, field secretary, will be the toastmaster.

Included among the feature events of the evening will be an address by Gus Ganakas, assistant basketball coach at MSU and Bevo Nordmann, MSU freshman coach. Honored guests will include Mayor Harvey W. Moelke of Livonia and Mayor Orville L. Hubbard of Dearborn, who will receive special recognition.

A proposal will be made to divide the Western County organization into two districts: The MSU Club of Livonia, which will represent Livonia, Garden City, Redford, Plymouth, Northville and Westland and The MSU Club of Dearborn, which will represent the remaining western and down river communities. Plans call for an additional district to be formed within the Dearborn Club area at a later date.

A committee, appointed by the University, has nominated the following people for the Board of Directors:

Livonia—Dow Tunis, Jim Robbins, Dick Gulau, Rowland Hanson, John Nelming, Fran Tunis.

Dearborn—Sue Binder, Bob Wishart, Bill Breher, Jim Raglan, Marilee Purse, Bev Raglan.

Inkster—Bob Maldegan, Redford—Bob Johnson and Iola Johnson.

The object of the new alumni club is to unite for social purposes those persons, both alumni and friends, who have a common interest in Michigan State. They will act as an agency for the University in the dissemination of information and support the varied MSU activities.

The Nov. 21 meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. There will be no admission charges and reservations are not necessary.

A brief cocktail hour will precede the meeting with music by Bob Parpart, noted Livonia band leader. After the meeting, color films of the Michigan State-Notre Dame football game, to be played Nov. 19, will be shown. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

St. Michael Easily Wins Grid Honors

More than 2,500 football fans turned out for the first annual Livonia-Redford CYO Grade School Championship held at Bentley High School.

They viewed a hotly contested game won by St. Michael 20-0. The passing and running of Steve Burton, St. Michael quarterback, who operated out of a halfback position, featured the game.

Working behind a hard charging line, Burton passed 55 yards to end Peter Gresock in the first quarter to the two yard line. Burton then charged through the line for the touchdown and extra point.

The second touchdown drive featured a 40-yard pass from Burton to Charlie Stamford for the score.

The St. Michael defense was responsible for the third score. They repeatedly withheld the running of the St. Robert backfield and recovered a fumble on the 30 yard line. Six plays later Steve Veghy carried over from the three-yard line.

A trophy, replica of a football was presented to the winners in a post game ceremony.

Tragedy Hits Suburban Area With Fire and Fatal Crashes

Six Die in Week-End Accidents

Six persons were killed and 10 seriously injured in the worst week-end of traffic fatalities of the year in this area.

The dead are:

Richard LaBlanc, 18, Windsor, Ontario.

Marjorie Sergeant, 20, Pleasant Ridge.

Kenneth James Settles, 26, Milbourne, Livonia.

Larry Shon, 23, Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia.

Mable King, 74, Detroit.

Delores Mack, Garden City.

LaBlanc and Miss Sergeant met their death shortly after midnight on Saturday when LaBlanc apparently lost control of his car while driving south on Northville Road and veered into the north lane and struck a car driven by Robert Jackson, 38, of Wall Lake, who had Shirley Jackson, 31, Wall Lake as a passenger.

LaBlanc was dead on arrival at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia and Miss Sergeant died shortly after being admitted. A third passenger in the car Richard LaFontaine, 18, also of Windsor was critically injured and confined to St. Mary Hospital. Both of the Jacksons were also badly injured, but their condition was not considered critical.

Kenneth Settles met his death on Ann Arbor Trail just east of Newburg Road at almost the same time as the crash on Northville Road that took the two lives. Settles was dead at the scene and was a passenger in the car driven by Larry Shon, who died a few hours after he was taken to St. Mary Hospital.

Shon's car was completely severed. According to police Shon was driving at excessive speed when he apparently lost control of the car and struck an Edison pole, breaking it. The car then traveled some distance and hit a large tree. Parts of the car were strewn over the entire area with the 1,000 pound motor of the Corvair being tossed about 40 feet from the body of the car.

Sunday afternoon the car driven by Robert Tully, 79, of Detroit made a left turn off Seven Mile to South Farmington into the path of a car driven by William Jones, 22, who was going east on Seven Mile Road.

The passenger in Tully's car, Mable King, 74, was killed and Jones and several passengers in his car were hospitalized. Remaining in St. Mary's in satisfactory condition was Rubenia Walker, 22, Annette 4 and Sandra Jones, 22, all of Detroit.

The accident is under investigation and witnesses are being questioned. According to head of Livonia Traffic Division, Lt. Robert Thorne, there will be possible charges of negligent homicide placed against Tully.

Starting the weekend of tragic accidents Mrs. Delores Mack, of Marquette, Garden City died Friday a victim of injuries she suffered the previous day in a two-car collision at Cherry Hill and Wayne Road in Westland.

Mrs. Mack was a passenger in a car driven by her son Marcus, 18.

Westland police officers reported that the Mack car was struck by an auto driven by David A. Thurmond, 20, of Detroit who witnesses said, ran a red traffic light.

It was the first traffic fatality handled by the new Westland police department which started operations Oct. 24. Previously the Wayne County Sheriff's Department policed the city.

A serious accident involving six people occurred about 2 a.m. Sunday on I-596 expressway just west of Farmington Road. Both cars involved were driving east.

According to police the car driven by James P. Kelly, 17, of Birmingham hit a car in the rear driven by Harry Peyton of Ecorse.

Peyton is in fair condition and Kelly is in the intensive care unit in William Beaumont Hospital. Kelly's car slid 43 feet and hit guard post at Farmington Road exit then bounced 33 feet back onto the road. Peyton's car slid 110 feet and then caught fire. Peyton was pulled from the burning car by Fred Cascio of W. Grand River, Brighton, who helped administer first aid at the scene.

Passengers in Kelly's car were all teenagers and all from Birmingham area. They are Bruce White, in fair condition; Kenneth McLean whose condition is considered critical; Terry Swionek, fair condition, all at Botsford Hospital; and Virginia Rumble taken to Henry Ford Hospital in the intensive care unit.

Farmington Mourns With Family as Seven Children Are Buried

Seven tiny, white coffins lined the front of the Galilean Baptist Church on Seven Mile Rd. in Livonia Monday morning.

They contrasted starkly with the somber clothes of the people who filled the church and the natural wood finish of the choir loft and pulpit.

Nine bouquets of bright flowers—red, yellow and white—contrasted even more with the scene.

Relatives, neighbors, friends and the curious had jammed the church to pay their last respects to seven of the eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Polmateer of 2840 Colgate, Farmington Township.

The seven, Carol, 12; Lisa, 9; Suzanne, 6; David, 5; Randolph, 3; and 2-year-old twins, Dennis and Denise, died early last Thursday morning when fire ravaged their modest home.

Origins of the fire were still not known. Farmington Township Police said that its investigation was just about complete, but that the department was awaiting a report on the samples sent to the Michigan State Police Crime Laboratory for analysis. This report is expected by the end of the week.

The Rev. Herbert Noe, pastor of the church, told those assembled that the children's father wanted the service at the church rather than at the Heeney-Sundquist Funeral Home because "this is what they loved."

Noe added that the father had told him that "maybe the last thing we can do is take them out in the Sunday School bus" in a reference to the many trips to the church and church activities made by the Polmateer children.

The pastor called the children "very sweet" and added that they were loved by their family, friends, school, and church "but also by Jesus." He told the parents that their home contained something far above material wealth because it had love and that "nothing changes real love." He characterized the parents by asserting that he "never knew anyone who loved their children more."

"You still have your love for your children," he told Mr. and Mrs. Polmateer and nine-year-old Cynthia, the only surviving child of the

Army Deaths Told To Relatives Only By U.S. Officers

The U. S. Army reported this week that on several occasions recently, the next-of-kin of soldiers serving in Vietnam have been subjected to cruel hoaxes featuring false casualty reports.

In each case the hoax was revealed when the relative of the supposed casualty sought further details from a nearby military headquarters or the Department of the Army. Lieutenant Colonel Chester P. Davis, commander of recruiting activities for the Army in Michigan, announced this week the procedures used by the army in reporting the next-of-kin of serious casualties:

Col. Davis said that the official notification of an Army member is dead, missing in action, or seriously wounded is never sent by telephone or telegram. It is always delivered in person by an officer or senior non-commissioned officer, who is prepared to present proof of his identity if asked.

Normally, Col. Davis said, the initial notification is made through a military headquarters located near the residence of the next-of-kin. Within a few days thereafter, the next-of-kin will receive written verification and further information from the Adjutant General, Department of the Army, Washington, D.C.

To Be Jailed For 30 Days

Driving on a revoked license has cost a Redford Township motorist $100 plus a sentence of 30 days in jail weekends at the Livonia Jail.

Livonia Municipal Judge James McCann made the ruling last week for Scott F. Clark, 23, of 19728 Poinciana St.

Livonia Police Department Aids in Gambling Raids

Raids and arrests of major importance were conducted last week for violations of the State of Michigan gambling laws.

Undercover Investigators from the Livonia Police Department worked very closely with Federal Agencies and Oakland County Police Departments to provide the Oakland County Grand Jury with evidence for these raids and arrests.

Citizen cooperation was a vital part of these investigations and this cooperation is gratefully acknowledged by Chief James Jordan of the Livonia Division of Police who said, "One of our prime commitments is the suppression of illegal betting and the investigation of these operations are generally detailed, time consuming, and involve many citizens and Police Agencies whose complete cooperation and coordination is essential."

All of the arrests were involving illegal betting and bookmaking at the Hazel Park and Detroit Race Course during the current season.

Plymouth Schools to Sell $5.5 in Bonds

The Plymouth Community Board of Education decided Monday night on how to implement the $5.5 million in bonding authority given it in an Oct. 3 referendum.

The Board will issue $5.5 million in bonds to be paid off over a 15-year period, with an option to call the bonds after 10 years.

Rejected was a plan to issue $2.7 million in 10-year bonds to be followed by $2.8 million in 15-year bonds as soon as the first issue had been sold.

The second plan was rejected because the Board was not sure that the State Department of Education would certify the bonds as "qualified." Payment on qualified bonds is guaranteed by the state, and for that reason, they are sometimes more attractive to investors.

To be sure of qualification on the split (2.7-2.8) issue, the Board would have had to wait for an opinion of the attorney general, and Board members questioned whether the wait would be worth it.

This type of issue was also rejected because of the time required before the money would be available. Because of the time involved in selling the bonds, the first $2.7 million would not be available for about 3½ months, and a similar period would be required for the second issue.

The plan had been considered as a means of saving the school district money by issuing a shorter-term bond issue. Short-term bonding had been suggested by the Citizens' Committee on Facilities and Finances.

To meet legal requirements, however, only $2.7 million could be issued by the district for a 10-year-payment term. This amount would keep the district's debt under 4 per cent of the state equalized tax base—the legal requirement.

A second issue of $2.8 million then would have had to be made. Although the two issues would have met the letter of the law, the Board thought it possible that the bonds might not be qualified.

The option of calling the $5.5 million issue after 10 years also convinced some Board members that the larger issue might not be too far from the savings expected from the split issue.

R. Bruce Scott moved that the Board issue the larger amount for the 15-year term, and the motion was approved unanimously.

Socially Speaking Around Plymouth

By Dorothy Sincok GL 3-0038
(Call to report social events in your family, neighborhood)

With the holidays quickly approaching, one can't help feel anxiety, a sense of urgency which quickens our pace. The thought of Christmas shopping with crowds, packed stores, hasty decisions all too often deprive us of the real meaning of Christmas.

In and around Plymouth one has the opportunity to enter into the spirit of Thanksgiving by supporting worthwhile activities from the Thanksgiving Holidays on through the Christmas season.

At Our Lady of Providence, the Retarded Children's School on Beck Rd., the doors will open on November 20 from 2-6 p.m. and things will be humming. There will be booths of household items, a Father's Toy spot, arts and crafts, a special bake sale, and of course one can pause for refreshments. Good old Santa will be attending and one will see old friends, Gene and Shirley Harrison, the Herbert Rosins, the Bob Smiths all entering into the activity.

November is Retarded Children's Month so plan to attend and support the school and "Give Thanks by Giving."

And over at St. John's Episcopal Church, on Sheldon Road, December 2 at 10 a.m. the doors will swing open and remain so until 9 p.m. Ladies have been attending and working hard to complete all of the wonderful gift items to be sold at this time. So circle your calendar.

More about that later.

It's togetherness for the Presbyterian and Methodist Couples Club on November 18 at 8 p.m. A costume party with good food, prizes and games is in the making. All are invited says Mrs. Cam Dostie, Methodist representative and Mrs. David Danes, Presbyterian representative.

Making pine cone turkeys for their Thanksgiving table will be members of the Mayflower Garden Club on November 17 at the home of Mrs. Quentin Bolander on 1151 Sutherland. Acting co-hostess is Mrs. Robert Erdelyi; the workshop will begin at 10 a.m. and a holiday idea exchange will take place.

The First Methodist Church of Plymouth will open its doors to the General Membership of the Equal Opportunity on November 16 at 8:30 p.m. The meeting is open to the public and members are urged to attend.

Co-hosting the Plymouth Friends at the home of Mrs. Walter Hancock at 1345 Beech St. was Mrs. Kenneth Lagowski. Plans were in the making for their November party for patients at the Northville State Hospital. Mrs. Eugene Cross and Mrs. William MacCurdy will head the Thanksgiving party and the gala Christmas party for the patients with scheduled workshops in preparation for the event were set. Anyone interested in joining this active group may call Mrs. Hancock at 453-6651.

Ricky The Clown For Kids, Too!

Turkey Shoot, Livonia Mall This Week-End

A solid four days of fun and frolicking for grown-ups as well as children is on tap at Livonia this weekend.

A realistic Turkey Shoot has been set up at the main Mall for all those who think they have enough skill to test it. There are turkeys for the skilled of the fortunate.

The event starts today (Wednesday) and will continue through Saturday from 10 a.m. to closing.

Sharing top billing with the Turkey Shoot will be "Ricky the Clown" of T.V. fame. Ricky will have his nose-art and Zoo Boat with him for the enjoyment of the small fry. The 21-foot long boat is filled with stuffed animals and many other things of interest to children.

In addition to his personal appearances with the boat from noon until 9 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, Ricky will put on four special performances for children. These performances will be Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m. and two shows Saturday at 2:30 and at 7 p.m.

"This is a real family type week-end we have planned for our shoppers in the Livonia Mall this weekend. There is something here for all ages and we hope that parents will make a point of bringing their entire family," says Jerry Silberman, President of Merchants Association.

College Sets Holiday Closing

Schoolcraft President Dr. Eric J. Bradner has announced the annual holiday will begin at the close of classes on Wednesday night, Nov. 23. Classes will resume on Monday morning, Nov. 28.

Apprenticeship program classes scheduled for Friday night and Saturday morning, Nov. 25 and 26 also will be suspended for the holiday.

WHAT THE WELL dressed skiers are wearing this season will be modeled by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mackey and their daughter Cindy at the Livonia Ski Club open house to be held at Riley Jr. High School, Henry Ruff and Rayburn, Thursday, Nov. 17 at 8 p.m. Other members of the club will also be "models" for the evening. A 30-minute color ski movie will also be shown. Guests are welcome and there is no charge.

Says Thanks

Henry R. Sladek, Chairman of 19th District Republican Committee, expressed his profound appreciation and personal thanks to the many Republican volunteers who helped in this election campaign.

Sladek commenting on the Nov. election commented:

"This election saw the successful conclusion of seven months of hard work and dedication on the part of hundreds of volunteer Republican workers in Redford Township, Livonia and Northville.

"Most heart-warming is the fact these people gave freely of themselves with the only reward being the hope of personal satisfaction seeing their candidates elected.

Many thanks to these people."

CHARTER CHAPTER members of the newly formed National Junior Honor Society for Clarenceville pose for their first chapter picture. Only those students who meet the high standards of the National Society in character, scholarship, leadership, citizenship and service are eligible for tragedy, who were seated in the front row. "There are no regrets when you have loved the way these children were loved and they are now in the loving hands of Jesus Christ."

He told the members of the church that "none of us regrets having sought out these people, knocked on their door and invited them to church and having sent a bus to provide transportation because we shared in the biggest part of their life."

"I say to all of you," the pastor concluded, "don't worry about these little children as they are all with Jesus. They are not dead. Their bodies are, but those old enough had been baptized and the little ones Jesus Christ will take care of."

The funeral procession which filled the church's parking lot left then for the burial at the North Farmington Cemetery.

Plots at the cemetery were donated to the family, while the funeral expenses were paid for by an anonymous donor. Contributions continued to arrive at the Farmington Township Police Station ranging from a $50 check to a $1 donation from an 86-year-old woman whose only income is social security payments.

One letter with $1 enclosed arrived at the Farmington City Hall from Charleston, South Carolina. Mrs. Arthur G. Campbell, a nurses aide, enclosed a clipping of the Charleston News & Courier telling of the tragedy apologizing that she could not send more.

The Farmington Goodfellows have made arrangements for the Polmateer's living expenses in a motel during the next few months to be paid. Farmington Township Chief of Police Irving Yakes said Monday that he hoped to turn the funds he had received over to the Goodfellows or a central agency.

There were reports that one of the local banks had been contacted to set up a trust fund, but The Observer could not confirm this at its press time.

School Building Council Pays Honor to Dr. Wells

Plymouth Area Goes Named as G.O.P. All the Way Director

Plymouth and the surrounding area has confirmed that it wants to remain Republican. Voters from Plymouth and Plymouth Township gave majorities to Republicans in every contest.

All but three of the Republican candidates won. Democratic victors were Secretary of State James M. Hare, a long-time champion vote-getter, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, and State Representative James Tierney. Tierney's main support came from Garden City and elsewhere in the district. He lost the Plymouth area to Plymouthite John Tripp 4392-2057.

The local voters gave strong support to Republican Governor Romney, giving him a 5161-1510 margin over challenger Zolton Fereney. The Romney coattails pulled along Republican Congressional candidates in swing districts, including Marvin Esch, a state legislator who defeated the hard-working incumbent in the Second District, Wes Vivian, who won two years ago in the Johnson landslide. Vivian had been the first Democrat elected in the district since 1932.

Other winners were U.S. Senator Robert Griffin; George W. Kuhn, Republican candidate for state senator; and all the Republicans running for township offices.

Township Supervisor James McEwen, who was unopposed, led the township ticket with 2565 votes. For township trustee, Gene Overholt received 2259 votes and Ralph Garber received 2063 votes.

Democratic candidate for trustee David Strang campaigned hard and received 1261 votes, among the highest totals ever received by a Democrat for the office.

Promoted to Airman
James W. Hannah, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hannah of 14156 Brady, Redford Township has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force. The airman is a 1963 graduate of Lee M. Thurston High School.

At the National Council on Schoolhouse Construction's recent convention held at Palo Alto, California, Dr. Charles Wells, Jr., School Planning Consultant of the Wayne County Intermediate School District, who resides in Plymouth, was elected to the Council's nine-member Board of Directors. Dr. Wells, nationally known authority on the writing of educational specifications for new school buildings, has been assisting Wayne County's 43 school districts for the past 10 years.

The National Council on Schoolhouse Construction, organized in 1921, has as its members professional workers in the field of educational facility planning. Members come from all fifty of the United States and are an outstanding group of educational building specialists. Their work extends from the educational planning for elementary schools to that for complete facilities for community colleges, colleges, and universities.

Dr. Wells is currently a member of a Council committee which is writing a handbook on the preparation of educational specifications for school buildings.

At the recent Palo Alto meeting he spoke on the preparation of educational specifications for local school district projects. Dr. Wells has also served on a number of committees of the Council during his nine years of membership.

Dr. Wells has worked with many Wayne County school districts in the preparation of long-term school construction programs and in the writing of educational specifications. Among the many buildings resulting from this work are:

Livonia, Franklin High School ($6,000,000).
Grosse Pointe, North High School ($11,000,000).
Belleville, Belleville Jr. High ($2,500,000).
Wayne, Marshall Jr. High ($2,000,000) and John Glenn Senior High School ($6,000,000).

Taxes Raised

tutes which reduced personal property valuations on business and industrial properties to the level of that of all other property valuations.

The tax structure for the Township is as follows:

Wayne County	$14.35
Township	7.01
School	49.72
Schoolcraft College	3.26

Total $74.34

The higher tax rate is expected to bring numerous complaints from the Township's new subdivisions where the assessments for tax purposes are much higher than in the older sections.

Many of the newer homes are assessed at the state's present requirements of 50 per cent of the purchase price, some are at the 38 per cent level and a great many of the older and vacant properties are assessed at much lower percentages.

Thus, the complaints are expected to come from such sections as Lake Pointe, Pilgrim Hills, Plymouth Colony, Woodlore, Salem Square, Woodbrook — all of the subdivisions that have been constructed and developed in the past five or six years.

McEwen stated that the Township Board is aware of the fact that there are some inequalities and that he has made arrangements to have a team from the County Auditor's office check the situation within a week and make a recommendation as to future actions.

Four Fund Records Set

Roland Bonamici, of the National Bank of Detroit, was the first to report with figures of $13,500 for advanced gifts and $328 for special gifts.

Mrs. Esther Hulsing, secretary of the Plymouth Board of Education and head of the residential division, reported her well-organized group of feminine bellers had rung bells in the community for a record high total of $8,435.

Robert Beyer, owner of the Beyer Drug chain, said the government division, which includes the handful of workers for the City and Township, had a total of $571.

Earl Gibson, acting in the absence of school Supt. Russell Isbister who was out of town, gave a record total of $4,190 for the educational group.

Dr. Donald Davies, head of the professional division, had $1,764 from his workers.

Earl West, of the West Brothers Mercury agency who had charge of the business group, gave the gathering a pleasant surprise when he reported a record high of $12,871.

The tenseness mounted as Harold Fischer, director of area planning for the Community Planning Commission, walked to the podium to make a report of the Industrial division. Everyone in the audience knew the Industrial team historically decided whether the campaign was a victory or a defeat.

Fischer didn't waste a moment. He had just reached $70,000 when the Mayflower Meeting House went wild with the realization that the drive was over the $100,000 mark. When the excitement settled down, Fischer continued: "The Industrial division wishes to report an all-time high of $72,268, the most ever collected for the Plymouth Community and some $20,000 more than the entire goal of three and four years ago."

It was a tremendous night for all workers and especially for Chairman Schening, who has been on the ailing list for the past 10 days and was far from being in the best health at the meeting. He was back in sick bed the following day but he was a smiling, happy victor at the dinner.

John Kamego, of Michigan Bell, who was chairman of the successful 1965 drive, served as master of ceremonies and introduced representatives of the organizations sponsoring the dinner as well as the principal speaker, Bud Guest, of the "Sunny Side of the Street" program on WJR.

Schening made presentations of special awards from the PCF to his chief aides in the drive, Eber Readman and Barney Hart, and also to Promotion Director Philip Scott, John Dillon and Dick Lee.

He presented appreciation plaques to each division leader as he or she made a final report.

Schening introduced Joyce Caksack and Clare Hallman, members of the court of Miss Sweet Charity, and also called upon Miss Stephenson and Miss Sparkle, Sandra Saeger for short remarks.

Highspot of the ceremonies surrounding the announcements of the various division leaders came when Scott and Dick Lorenz, dressed in the costumes of the tiny men who kept the torch lighted all through the campaign, came rushing out on the balcony of the Mayflower Meeting House to unveil the total of $100,427.

Another high spot came when Chairman Schening introduced youngsters who had played major roles in the campaigns at their schools. The group included: Tracy Ketchman, of Plymouth High; general chairman of students; Anne Wood, of Plymouth High; Donald Ollis of Allen, Patricia Reece of Bird, Donna Conedera of Gallimore, twins Laura and Louise Cassidy of Farrand, David Schmidt, Smith; Brant Eckles, Tanger, where Miss Stephenson is a first grade teacher of Brant; Marvin Holly, Starkweather; Greg Feldkamp, Junior High West; and Robert Gottshall, Junior High East.

Dr. William Covington, president of the Community Fund Board, thanked Schening for the tremendous success of the drive and promised the Board would make sure all funds were used judiciously over and above the budget.

Dr. Covington presented Schening with a plaque of appreciation from the Board and then Kamego, as the immediate past campaign manager, awarded him with the coveted "Go-Go" bird award.

Just to add a bit of zest to the presentation, the bird originated at Burroughs years ago and is made at the Plymouth plant especially for the PCF drive. Schening is only the second Burroughs representative to receive the award.

Denny McLain, the 20-game winning pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, entertained on the organ during the pre-dinner program, throughout the dinner and during the presentation and announcement ceremonies.

City Loses

ed suit and it has been hanging fire until Judge Nuenfelt handed down her decision.

In her opinion the Court stated,

It is impossible for the Court to see how any reasonable person reading these plans could possibly have figured that they would be single family residence homes.

"The Court believes that the City of Plymouth had no right to have issued these permits in the first place if it intended to force Mr. Cape not to use his property.

"It certainly knew all the time that Mr. Cape planned on having two eight-unit buildings from examination of the plans.

"The revised zoning ordinance which the City Planning Commission is still studying would permit Mr. Cape to have 62 apartments on the site—if adopted by the City.

"Of the nine new apartment developments in the City of Plymouth the building occupancy of land varies from as low as 15 per cent to a high of 27 per cent. In Cape's case only 10 per cent is occupied by the building.

"Balancing the equities the court can see no loss to City or its residents or the possibility of a substantial loss to Mr. Cape."

Plymouth Marine Ends Training

Marine Private First Class James L. Johnson, son of Mrs. Doris V. Johnson of 472 N. Holbrook, Plymouth, has completed four weeks of individual combat training.

During the training period, he received more than 200 hours of instruction in guerrilla warfare, the use of infantry weapons, combat patrols, and squad tactics.

His next assignment is four weeks of basic specialist training to prepare him for a specific job in the Marine Corps. Marines to be assigned to infantry units will be taught sub-specialties such as the technical operation of the machine gun, grenade launcher, or mortar. Those entering highly skilled occupational fields will receive advanced training at resident technical schools.

Michigan State's All-American halfback Clint Jones has carried the ball more times than anyone in the school's history.

CHARGING OVER: That's Mike Nye scoring for Clarenceville to help the Trojans finish the season with a record of seven wins and two losses. Note block Nye gets against Crestwood.

7-2 MARK FOR CLARENCEVILLE

Truly a Trojan Year

It was a wonderful, wonderful turnabout.

In 1965, the football team at Clarenceville high school won two games, lost seven.

The 1966 Trojans have now written the final chapter of their season:

Victories—Seven.
Defeats—Two.

There are those who call this the greatest football team in Clarenceville's history. Some may object.

Whatever the opinions, there can be no taking away the fact that Clarenceville proved it could be done—to climb from the lowly depths and record a season which all those connected with the school will want to remember for a long time.

It was just few years back that Clarenceville didn't win a single game all season.

More recently, there were those years with one or two victories.

Now there's the 7-2 mark of the '66 Trojans and the proudest person of all has to be coach Ralph Temby, who also worked the hardest.

It was Temby's job to instill into his players a winning spirit.

This wasn't easy after all the beating Clarenceville had taken over the years in football.

Slowly, Temby got the message across.

"You guys have what it takes to win," Temby would tell his players.

Win the Trojans did in '66, ending up the glorious season last Friday night with a 33-20 victory over Crestwood as the parents came out to see for themselves the difference just one year had made in much the same football team.

"It was a wonderful experience for us all," said Temby as he cast aside his football cleats for the last time until next fall.

"I don't think many around here figured we could do anything like this."

Clarenceville did it with a group of dedicated athletes, players like backs Mike Nye and Dave Wilson, a line-backer like Dave Kaipio who also did some running on offense; John McLooney, a brilliant tackle, and Tom Schlack, an end who thrives more on blocking than anything else.

There were others, of course, but these were the standouts.

In the finale against Crestwood, Nye started the Clarenceville touchdown parade in the first period when he slipped across from four yards out.

In the second quarter Wilson unloaded a 13-yard pass to Schlack for another touchdown and Nye added the conversion to make it 13-0 at halftime.

Kaipio streaked away for 41 yards and a touchdown in the third period and Nye passed to Jim Amich for the extra point.

Fourth period touchdowns by Nye and Larry Martin and another conversion by Nye wound up the scoring and the season for Clarenceville.

In the statistical department, Clarenceville piled up 375 yards—263 on the ground and 112 passing as Wilson hit on five of eight tosses in the muddy going.

Kaipio rolled up 107 yards personally in 16 carries. Nye had 83 in 16 tries and Martin 50 in a half dozen carries.

Judge Warns Youthful Drivers

The first snow fall of the year in the metropolitan area brought forth from Wayne County Juvenile Court James H. Lincoln his annual warning to youthful drivers "speed limits have no significance in winter weather" said the Judge, whose Court is responsible for the handling of cases of all drivers of juvenile age.

Seasonally when the driving conditions are less than ideal there is a sharp increase in the accident rate in which drivers of juvenile age are involved. Observation has indicated that for the most part the basic cause of these accidents is the inexperience on the part of the young driver. Even though we have a better prepared driver today than we have local Boards of Education, Judge Lincoln points out that the young driver fails to realize that they cannot exercise the same control of a motor vehicle when the highways are covered with snow and ice.

"The parents who have signed for their sons and daughters to acquire drivers license should offer a period of supervised driving until such time as these young drivers realize the necessity of exercising extreme caution in inclement weather by driving at substantially reduced speeds," said Judge Lincoln.

All drivers are subject to the point system regardless of age and additional the policy of the Wayne County Juvenile Court dictates periods of restriction and suspension for moving violations.

All traffic violation tickets issued to drivers under 17 years of age require a Court appearance of the child and parents, and for those who are residents of the Western Wayne County communities, the cases are heard at the Branch Office, 3000 Henry Ruff Road, Inkster.

Tragedy Mars Re-election of Rep. Tierney

The re-election of James Tierney of Garden City to the State House of Representatives was marred by the death of his mother on election eve.

Passing on Monday, Nov. 7, was Mrs. Margaret Tierney, five months short of her 94th birthday, in the Desnoyer Nursing Home in Jackson.

Rep. Tierney, a former Garden City mayor in 1956-60, said that his mother went into a coma the previous Friday. Funeral services were held last Wednesday, at St. John's Catholic Church in Jackson.

"She enjoyed life right up to the end and kept up with current events," said the state representative, whose 36th district includes all of Garden City and most of the north half of Westland.

He recalled that during the 1960 presidential election campaign, his mother arranged for 22 absentee ballots for nursing home patients with 18 of those ballots being cast—all for John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Tierney was born Margaret McIntyre in April of 1873 in the Thumb Area community of Ubley. She married Timothy Tierney in 1896. Mr. Tierney died in 1910.

Surviving besides her son, James, are a son and daughter, both in Jackson, and eight grandchildren.

DPW News And Notes

By Supt. Ken Vogras
PLYMOUTH DEPT. OF PUBLIC WORKS

Department of Public Works crews spent the better part of two days cleaning up from the recent unseasonable snowstorm, using plows to get snowbanks away from the street curbs. All major streets were coldpatched.

The Department handled two funerals in Riverside Cemetery. Christmas decorations such as Santa's House, fencing and other articles are being painted and made ready for installation in Kellogg Park in the not too distant future.

Voting machines were installed in the various City precincts for the Nov. 8 election and then were removed and stored after the figures had been tabulated. They will remain locked for 30 days before they can officially be tucked away for the next election.

Workers are busy picking up leaves again after the big snow and will continue the operation until all have been removed.

Manholes were checked in the vicinity of Hartsough and Sutherland and a catch basin was repaired at S. Harvey and Byron Streets.

A six-inch sanitary sewer tap was installed on Virginia Street and a main sewer was plugged on Park View Drive.

One stop box was replaced on Palmer Street, a water line replaced on Virginia Street and water turned off in the city parks for the winter.

Sorrows Beaten For Title

Three quick strikes through the air!

Thanks to them Wayne St. Mary's beat Farmington's Our Lady of Sorrows for the Catholic League's Second Division title.

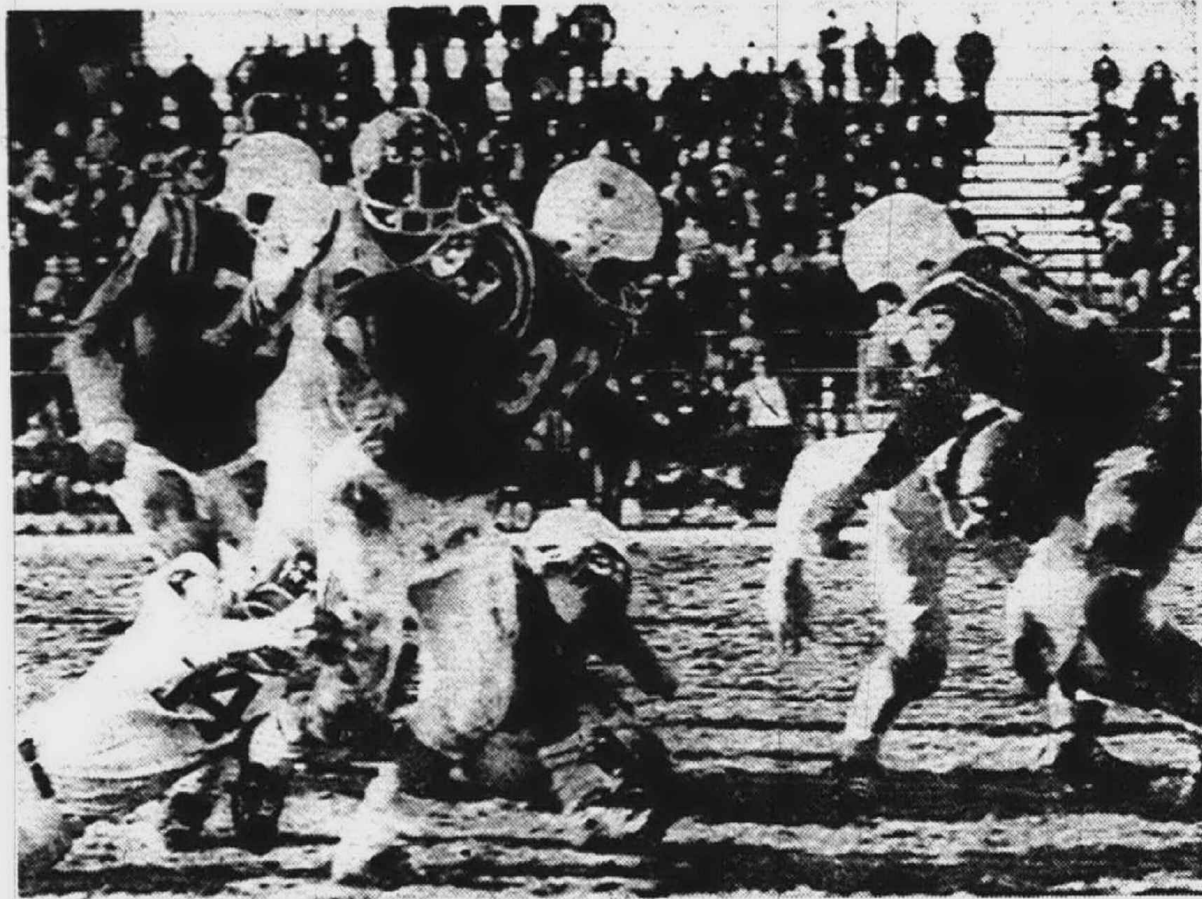

It was an upset finish, since Sorrows had been favored in last Sunday's battle at Notre Dame High's field in Harper Woods.

But a 19-0 deficit proved too much for the young men from Farmington who were to succumb by a 19-13 score and thus have their two-year winning streak snapped and their dreams for a perfect '66 season and their first league title crushed.

St. Mary's, in hanging on to victory, wound up 9-0 on the season and with its second loop flag in the last four years.

Sorrows had its chances, even after falling behind by three touchdowns. But the Farmington team couldn't capitalize in its first appearance in a championship encounter.

Mike Krzesinski proved the BIG GAINER: Halfback star Cliff LaFond Mary's won the game to capture the Catholic League's Second Division title. Sorrows against Wayne St. Mary's. But St.

man who broke the hearts of the Sorrows team.

He caught three passes—each for a touchdown.

Mike's first grab was from Bob Jaskolski for 42 yards and a six pointer.

Minutes later, following a pass interception, Krzesinski hauled one in for 19 yards from Jaskolski to make the score 13-0.

The third St. Mary TD came with 3:40 gone in the second period. This time Al Berard flipped 35 yards to Krzesinski.

From then on it was all Sorrows. However, the damage had been done.

Sorrows took the following kickoff and swept 68 yards in nine plays—all on the ground. Cliff LaFond carried five times and Dave Hickey and Jim McGrath twice each. Hickey went the last ten for the score and LaFond ran the point.

Just before halftime, a pair of McGrath to Tim Audette passes helped Sorrows reach the St. Mary one. But a penalty and two running plays that failed shoved Sorrows back to the six as the half ended.

In the third period, Frank Walsh made his second recovery of a St. Mary fumble for Sorrows. This time it was on the Wayne 44.

A McGrath to LaFond pass was good for 17 yards. So was a Hickey run. Then LaFond ran the remaining distance for his 16th touchdown of the season.

Later Sorrows moved on two more McGrath to Audette passes to the St. Mary eight, where its lost the ball. In the fading moments, a pair of interceptions spiked any further chances Sorrows had of pulling out the game.

Statistically, Sorrows had 17 first downs to Wayne's six. Sorrows rushed for 182 yards with LaFond picking up 125.

In the air, it was 96-76 for the winners.

LaFond finished the season with 120 points and his prep career with upwards of 3,000 yards, one of the few preps to attain such a figure.

It's Defense That Wins For Glenn

Hail to the defense! So went the chant after Glenn high's football team ended its 1966 season with a 28-21 victory over Carlson.

"Our defense won this one for us," declared Coach Bob Luck, whose charges arose in the right spots with the big plays.

Especially the defense. Consider touchdown No. 1 for Glenn.

This was strictly a Hill attack. Mike and Craig Hill, although they're not related.

Mike broke through to block a Carlson kick and Craig recovered the ball and ran it 45 yards to the Carlson two.

From there it was Mark Straika who drilled over for the touchdown.

Moments later, Carlson tried to kick again. Mike Hill was there again to block the punt.

This one rolled out of the end zone for a safety to make the score 8-0 in favor of Glenn.

Glenn added to its lead when John Jarnbeck recovered a fumbled Carlson pass and ran 30 yards to the Carlson eight.

Two plays later, Ron Gainer went off left tackle for the touchdown.

To start the second half, Chuck Moss took the kickoff and scooted some 80 yards and with Straika's conversion, Glenn had built its lead to 21-0.

On the following kickoff by Glenn, the ball went to Carlson's Steve Bates who dashed 77 yards for a touchdown.

Observing SPORTS

By George Maskin

Rush, Rush, rush! That's the way our modern lives seem to be.

One remembers the time that you figured you were getting places in a hurry when your train made it from Detroit to New York in 12 hours.

Now, unless your jet airliner covers the distance from Detroit Metro to New York LaGuardia in 90 minutes, the folks start complaining.

There are beefs because freshman or rookie candidates in sports don't break into starting lineups fast enough. Like all the chatter we heard in New York the other day when the name of Cazzie Russell popped up.

And, believe us, it popped up in a lot of places in the big city.

Just about everybody, who follows sports and basketball in particular, figures that Cazzie should already be a great with the New York Knicks because he was the 1966 College Player-of-the-Year at the University of Michigan. It complicates matters worse . . . for New Yorkers . . . that a chap by the name of Dave Bing, now with the Detroit Pistons, has blossomed out so quickly as a pro . . . and Russell hasn't.

But, it's stupid to count Cazzie out. Wilt Chamberlain remarked to a group at lunch:

"Russell is going to become a great one. Just give him some time."

"Give him some time . . ."

Those are some very sound and encouraging words from the greatest scoring machine in the history of basketball.

We get upset when our 14-year-old daughters don't get calls from boys for possible dates. (And when the calls come and the girls go out, we become more upset).

We express impatience if our teenage son, as a first-year player must spend most of his time on the bench. We labor under the impression our boy should be a starter right away.

Nothing comes easy.

Nothing.

Past reputations mean very little either. What they pay off on—is the present.

Six-Year Famine Ends; Falcons Score and Win

It took six years before Farmington high's football team could score a point against arch rival North Farmington.

The "happy" occasion came last Saturday and it led to the Falcons posting a 20-7 victory. It was the first time since the series began a half dozen campaigns back that the Falcons had emerged on top.

Four times before North Farmington walked off the field a winner. On the other occasion, the teams fought to a scoreless deadlock.

In winding up the season with a record of six wins against three losses, Farmington struck twice in the second period and then once more in the fourth stanza.

North Farmington, meantime, had to wait until the final play of the game to avoid being shutout in this bitter duel which closed the grid campaign for both teams.

Besides matching the two Farmington public school teams, the game also produced a father-son aspect, as Bob Misteled coached the winners while son, Britt, played for North Farmington.

"I was proud of my players and my own boy, too," said Misteled. "Britt was tough on defense. We had to keep away from him."

The teams were scoreless until Farmington cut loose in the second period with Ed Snyder pegging a bear pass to Jerry Tinkle for 27 yards to carry the Falcons to the North Farmington 15.

Two plays later, sophomore Doug Root of Farmington slammed the middle on a straight dive—and he was off to the races. He also booted the extra point to make it 7-0 for Farmington.

A few minutes before the half ended, Farmington began another scoring drive on its own 45.

A spectacular pass from Dan Wolfman to Paul Misch covered 39 yards and sent Misch sailing into the end zone to put the Falcons in front, 13-0, at the intermission.

The highlight of the third period was a long march by North Farmington that was paced by the running of Roger Schamanek. The Raiders charged down the field and with Norm DeCoursey also connecting on a couple of passes, the Raiders finally got themselves a first down on the Farmington five.

Three plays moved the Raiders to the one-foot line. But the Farmington defense, paced by linebackers John Sewel and Fritz Simons, arose to push back the fourth-down bid by North Farmington to gain the scoreboard.

Sparked by this brilliant defensive maneuver, Farmington bounced back to score again and put the game out of reach. A Wolfman to Misch pass was the key to the drive as it covered 16 yards and paved the way for Misch to slam across from the four.

In the fading moments of action, DeCoursey went to the air, hit Mark Faller for 15 and 24 yards and finally with time running out, DeCoursey ran the last nine yards to score. Faller made the point after the game actually had ended, but it had no bearing on the final result.

In the statistical department, Farmington hit on four of seven passes for 63 yards, the losers eight out of 21 for 128 yards. Farmington rushed for 139 yards in 36 attempts, North 128 in 46 tries.

Wolfman topped the winners with 60 yards in 12 runs while Misch carried 50 yards in 14 tries. Schamanek went 58 yards in 15 tries to head the losers.

Coach Ron Holland of North Farmington praised both teams.

"It was a fine game, hard fought all the way," he declared.

Shepherd was timed in 10:04 for his two-mile effort.

Team honors went to Hazel Park with 82 points while Royal Oak Kimball was second with 115. Redford Union placed 13th in the 18-team field with 294 points.

Mike Borg, running 58th; Joe Taylor, 63rd; Bob Junk, 82nd, and Ron Mazurek, 84th, rounded out the Redford Union team.

Glen Dusek of Thurston placed 20th and Tom McGhie of Bentley 29th in individual action. Their respective teams didn't qualify for the state finals.

The Falcons finally beat North Farmington for the first time in six years.

Team honors went to Hazel Park with 82 points while Royal Oak Kimball was second with 115. Redford Union placed 13th in the 18-team field with 294 points.

Mike Borg, running 58th; Joe Taylor, 63rd; Bob Junk, 82nd, and Ron Mazurek, 84th, rounded out the Redford Union team.

Glen Dusek of Thurston placed 20th and Tom McGhie of Bentley 29th in individual action. Their respective teams didn't qualify for the state finals.

The Bulldog Aquatic Club will host its third annual AAU age-group swimming meet at Bentley High School Pool on Saturday, Nov. 19.

The meet, which is expected to draw 1,200 entries from 60 Michigan clubs, will start at 9 a.m. and is open to the public.

A couple of nights later at Olympia, it was exciting to see Livonia's Alex Delvecchio slip into the clear and drill in the shot that put the Red Wings ahead of Chicago, 1-0. Before the night was over Alex had another goal and the Wings a 3-0 victory. The next game, Alex scored two more.

The Wings, after a slow start, appear to have found themselves and right now look like one of the classiest teams in the National Hockey League.

Old Methods Still Best When Building Home

Houses are still being built the same way as they were a hundred years ago. Why?

A recent housing technology issue of "House & Home" magazine, read widely by home builders and building products people, posed this question.

Its answer is of equal interest to home owners and home buyers.

"We're still building houses in the same old way," says House & Home, "because under today's conditions, there's no better way."

The wealth of new materials and wealth of engineering talent now working to create new building systems have not yet drastically changed home building, the magazine added.

"It's time for the engineers and theorists to wake up to what builders have known all along: the time-honored system of a wood frame faced with skins and sitting on a masonry foundation is a good system indeed."

"This is not to say that the old way can't be improved," the editors opined, "but home builders aren't sticking to the old ways out of sheer obstinacy. They're doing it because the old way offers advantages that no new system has yet come close to equaling."

"The old way of building is still the cheapest way of building."

Analyzing the operations of two representative home builders, the magazine showed that exterior wall costs, from inside finish to outside finish, ranged from 60 cents to 80 cents a square foot in a wood frame system. Partition costs varied from 40 cents to 50 cents a square foot.

"These are hard figures to beat," the magazine stated.

"The old way of building is still the easiest and most flexible way," the magazine continued.

"The basic reason is that the traditional building material—wood—is an extraordinarily versatile material."

"Shaped to standard dimension in the mill, it can be cut almost as quickly and accurately by a man in the field as by a piece of heavy machinery in a factory."

"It can be fastened by the simplest method ever devised—nailing. It is cheap, relatively light, easy to finish, and if properly cared for, good for several lifetimes."

"These properties give the conventional building system an all-important asset: flexibility. There is virtually no limit to the variety of design that can be easily created with wood framing and skins."

"Last-minute changes by the buyer, such as resized windows or shifted partitions, can be made on the job without extensive re-engineering."

The magazine's analysis of building systems went on to point out that traditional wood framing meets the demands of most home buyers by permitting individuality in design and floor plans.

Buyers, it declared, "no longer want the most space for the least money, as they did 10 years ago. The want individuality—design and plans tailored to their personal wants."

"And the old way of building, with its great flexibility, is the cheapest and easiest way to provide this individuality."

Walk on Wood

Women whose laundries are located on concrete floors often complain of tired feet and backache. The cure is to make a low platform or pallet of wood, such as those professional cooks use in restaurants. It can be built from Douglas fir 2x4 lumber in any size needed and topped with a scrap of colorful linoleum if desired.

Proper Insulation Can Keep Fuel Costs Down

Homeowners and prospective home buyers who are interested in the lowest possible household operating costs are missing a bet if they skip on insulation.

Tests conducted by Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corporation show that a fully insulated home not only will insure comfortable living but the savings in fuel costs will enable the home owner to pay for the full insulation's additional cost in a few years.

Take a typical ranch house, for example. Assume that it contains 1500 square feet of floor space, is built on a concrete slab and has windows taking up 15 per cent of the exterior walls.

The home can be heated and cooled in the northern climate zone of the United States for up to $100 less per year if it's fully insulated as compared to FHA minimum insulation standards.

The annual saving in the central climate zone is approximately $85, in the southern zone, $58. Reduced cooling costs for air conditioning in the southern zone alone amount to $33.

The amount of annual savings you will experience depends on the size of your home, the fuel costs in your area and your family's living habits.

Full insulation, as defined by Owens-Corning, means six inches of insulation in the ceiling and three inches in wall. FHA Minimum Standards may be met in our "typical" ranch house with one and one-half inches in the ceiling and no insulation in the walls.

The six and three formula provides the best return on the investment with maximum comfort at minimum cost.

The benefits of properly insulating a home are added comfort, greater relief from cold drafts and warmer exterior walls. Fully insulated homes can be from 8 to 15 degrees cooler in the summer too, even without air conditioning.

A homeowner using a ruler can check his attic insulation to determine if it measures up. If additional insulation is required, he can install insulation batts.

BENTLEY NIPS FRANKLIN:

Thanks to France

Football had to be the last thing Jac Albaret had on his mind when he left his home in France in early September to come to the United States and attend Bentley High school in Livonia as an exchange student.

If some of his pals in Paris had mentioned the subject of football, Jac easily might retaliate:

"Do you mean soccer football?"

Like most others in France or England or Germany or Sweden or Russia, few European students know much—if anything—about football as it is played in the U. S.

Over there, soccer is the big game... and that's what Jac played.

But Bentley did not have a soccer team to offer Jac when he enrolled at the Five Mile Road school—only that strange game, of football.

Since Jac could kick the ball, Coach Larry Joiner had an idea.

"Why not see what he could do with making Jac into a field-goal or place-kicker?"

Hadn't North Farmington done that and with success a year before with a chap named Bengt Hansen from Sweden?

Joiner spent some time working with Jac and now Joiner is happy that he did.

For it was Jac's magic toe that provided the difference last Thursday when Bentley beat Franklin, 14-13, in their snow-delayed battle to cap the 1966 season for both rivals.

Twice Jac was called into the game to boot conversions. Each time his kick was perfect to give him a total of 11 successes in 18 tries for the season.

But these were his two big boots. None of the others figured in the winning or losing of a game.

"I guess this has to be the greatest thing that has happened to me in the states," said a happy Albaret. "How will I ever explain this?"

"The folks back home won't believe me when I tell them I won a football game with my kicking. Some probably will kid me.

"But this is wonderful how they have treated me and accepted me."

Of course, Bentley coach Joiner must be wondering if Jac can keep sending him more place-kickers.

"It would be a good idea if my principal would let me go to Paris and scout some future talent," laughed Joiner.

The game itself was naturally no laughing matter. It never is when Bentley and Franklin collide.

This was the third time since the series originated that one point decided a game.

Each team now has a 2-2 record. Franklin won the first two from Bentley. Bentley the last two by counts of 7-6 and 14-13, and squared its season record at 4-4 while Franklin finished 5-3.

Bentley took the lead in the first quarter when Kevin Hooker slammed over from a yard out to climax a 62-yard ground march in which Hooker, Larry Good and Ken Jackson carried the ball.

Albaret's first conversion followed and Bentley led, 7-0. Franklin retaliated quickly to get even. Center Jeff Trick recovered a fumble on the Bentley two and walked the remaining distance. The extra-point try by Kugler was good and the teams reached halftime deadlocked at 7-7.

Alert defensive plays produced a touchdown for each team in the second half.

Bentley picked off a Franklin pass with Leroy Watson the hero as he ran 22 yards to the Franklin 20. Two plays later Jim Matera rolled over from 17 yards out and Albaret made the kick that was to reverberate around Livonia for the rest of the day and week.

Another Bentley fumble set up Franklin's second touchdown. Dave Stott bounced on the ball on the Bentley 24 and six plays later Stott himself charged into the end zone.

Kugler dropped back to try to tie the game. But Al Vassaros roared through, blocked what looked a perfect boot... and Bentley held on to win... with an international twist.

Bentley ran up 11 first downs to Franklin's eight. The winners rushed for 152 yards and gained 49 more passing. Franklin, co-champs in the Northwest Suburban League with Thurston, netted 63 yards on the ground and 104 more passing.

White Ceiling Considered Out of Style

The days of the plain white ceiling may be numbered according to the Insulation Board Institute. There's growing interest in ceilings that are textured or with subtle pattern designs, often in colors.

The ceiling now being offered by manufacturers place stress on both texture and color.

Texture is achieved by the natural fibers of the product itself and accentuated further, on some designs, by embossing to achieve a three-dimensional effect.

Color now being used for insulation board ceilings is largely pastel—blues, greens and beiges, which harmonize well with wall colors and overall interiors.

Insulation board ceilings are manufactured in the popular 12"x12" or 12"x24" tile or in 2'x2' and 2'x4 lay-in panels for suspended ceilings.

In addition to patterns, colors and textures, insulation board ceilings are also available as acoustical products to reduce irritating noise within the room.

Here's a Tip: Spray Paint Book Covers

Here's a handy tip for book owners: To eliminate the need for keeping ragged paper jackets on your books, spray the book cover with a coat of clear enamel.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association suggests that you practice on an old book until you get the hang of it.

Stand the book on end with the covers parallel and protect the pages with a cloth or paper. Be sure to read the instructions on the can before you begin.

Have the can in motion when you push the button, keep it in motion, and release the button before you finish the stroke.

This prevents the paint from building up and running.

Several light coats are more effective than one heavy coat. Let dry approximately ten minutes. Presto—a protective transparent covering!

Two-Way Room

Large dining room can do double duty as a library. Line walls with book shelving, add a Franklin stove and a pair of lounge chairs. Use Douglas fir, pine or hemlock for shelving.

No Stopping Reign of West High

"Go West, young man, go west!"

How true when it comes to the football series between Garden City West and Garden City East high schools.

The schools now have met three times since the doors at West first were opened.

West won each time to haul home the beautiful trophy placed at stake in the series.

Last Friday's annual renewal of the city series ended with West on top, 21-0. It was kind of an upset.

East had finished second in its league. West fifth.

But, West was a powerful in-the-stretch drive team, winning four of its last five to end the year with a 4-4-1 record while East broke even in its eight starts.

"Early season injuries hurt us in a big way," said Coach Harold Burkholder of West.

"Once we got our boys back and got straightened out, we sure played very well."

"Very well," certainly described the performance

West turned in offensively and defensively against the boys from across the town.

The game was much closer than the score might indicate.

West lowered the boom, as it were, before the game even started.

The Westsiders stunned everybody by dropping down their mascot "Faro" in a helicopter in midfield five minutes before the festivities began.

Then when the game started, West wasted no time delivering another bomb. This one was a 35-yard pass from Chuck Dodds to George Domanske for a first down inside the East five.

Two plays later Matt Gillespie drilled across from the four and when Mike Alexander converted, West had a 7-0 edge which held up through halftime.

However, East put on a long drive of its own in the second period, getting down to the West before time ran out as the West defense arose with a gallant job.

To start the second half, East again marched. This time the East drive carried to the ten and used up most of the time in the third period. Dave Jose and Marvin Martin took turns carrying the ball.

But when the chips counted, West again had what it took to keep East from crossing the goal line.

Statistically... well, this is where East won with 174 yards to 165 for West.

But, as everybody knows, statistics mean nothing.

Wally Roberts UP' GOING 'CURTAIN'

Electronically, election night was a gruesome conglomeration on the tube. Politically, it was a Republican come back affair. The three major networks concentrated on the elections for a seven-hour marathon. Glowing color did little to relieve the massive boredom.

A quick switch to Channel 9 for a "Z" class movie that surely was never released by Hollywood (it must have escaped when no one was looking) convinced old Wally that it was truly going to be a dismal evening.

The Spencer Tracy-Frank

Sinatra celluloid "dog" gave early signs that it was going to be a stereotyped affair. The locale was a South Seas island replete with smoking volcano, boozey priest, lurid gals, and a spunky convict.

Guess we all feel important and want to be unique. To be lumped indiscriminately with the common herd and stuck with the status quo irks and produces protests immediately.

The play "The Tiger" coming to the Northville High Auditorium Nov. 22 explores this situation. Mr. Schisgal poses some happy solutions to the problem. Program starts at 8 p.m. Admission charge is a mere dollar or fifty cents if you are a student. The EMU Studio players come highly recommended and will provide a provocative evening.

Locally, "Oliver" is more than ready for public viewing. Jim Gotch, Livonia-Redford Players Guild flack artist, informs me that Mark Savage in the lead role of Oliver is fantastic. "Oliver" opens on Nov. 25. Call 538-3135 for tickets.

Another local musical comedy entry, "Damn Yankees" will open also on Nov. 25 at the Wayne Memorial High School for a two weekend run. Director Bob Gregory indicates that his Lola has completely hypnotized the cast and will do the same for the audience.

The Farmington Players are not doing a musical comedy, but a long-running Broadway farce, "Never Too Late." You'll find the play is far more enjoyable than the movie.

Casting Call

Open casting for "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" will be held by the Nankin Mills Players Nov. 17 at 8:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the Nankin Mills School, 8100 Hubbard at Ann Arbor Trail in Westland.

The play, an old-fashioned, villain-hissing melodrama, will be directed by Kingsley Page. The production is tentatively set for the second week in January. For further information call 427-4297.

THIS SMALL ACT is one featured in the Kendallark Fall Festival which will be presented at Bentley High School in Livonia Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. From left, are, Mary Kritzman, Faye Williams, Margaret Marlowe, Marion Spencer, Mary Martin and Bea Saglione. Tickets to the Festival may be purchased at the door or at Demery's.

'Oliver' Is Play For Family

It may be a glittering generality to say that everyone likes a good musical, but it's hard to prove the contrary to The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford. Their past experience with good musicals has given self-out credence to this statement.

Previous productions such as "Stop the World," "Bye Bye Birdie," "Guys and Dolls," "Bells are Ringing" have shown The Theatre Guild that full house audiences can be expected with a show that has a fresh story, memorable music, and good lyrics.

Who would think that they would open their '66-'67 season with a musical based on a story written in 1838 with music composed by a one-finger type piano player and lyrics talked into a tape recorder? Anyone who has seen the big blockbuster hit musical "Oliver" will agree that the choice of this adaptation of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," by Lionel Bart (who plays the piano with one finger) will be hard to top in future years. If ever there was a musical to please everybody, this is it. "Oliver," one of the most resounding musical comedy successes of the Sixties is scheduled to come singing, bouncing and bubbling its way into the Bentley High Auditorium Nov. 25, 26 and Dec. 2, 3, and 4.

Mark Savage will be seen in the musical's appealing title role of the fate-buffed orphan boy, Howard Egan as Fagin, the droll professor of pickpocketery who tells his urchin pupils to "Shut up and rinky yer gin," Peggy Udman as the spirited and sultry Nancy (who has the opportunity to sing the show's famous torch song "As Long As He Needs Me"), and Robert E. Lee as the evil Bill Sikes.

Tickets for "Oliver" may be purchased at the door, but to assure a seat call for advance tickets at 538-3135 or GA 2-8038.

Early Patriotism Was Displayed in the Home

There is a growing feeling that patriotism, love of country and flag-waving often go unappreciated or is just ignored in the United States today. But patriotism used to command a very important role in the everyday lives of Americans, humble and rich.

In addition to the more obvious means of displaying allegiance and affection for our country, such Fourth of July festivals, the 19th Century American surrounded himself with symbols of his nation.

Pottery, china, bottles, quilts, paperweights, even salt bowls were decorated with busts of presidents, the American eagle or famous quotations. A display of these and other articles used by our forefathers, to exhibit their love of country, is currently being shown at the Henry Ford Museum.

The special exhibit entitled "American History as Reflected in the Arts" uses everyday household items such as china, furniture and textiles along with commemorative flasks, medals and powder horns to tell the story of America through their decorations.

Seemingly, every major event in the history of the United States was commemorated by using the profile of the person, a drawing of the event itself or some other recognizable sign as a decoration for items used in the home.

American eagles, a favorite decoration symbol, appear on many forms of art exhibited in the display. Special sections commemorating the life and times of men such as Washington and Lafayette, clearly demonstrate the importance of these men to the average American in the 1800's.

In all, over 200 antique objects combine to tell America's story—a time when patriotism was a thing to be proud of and to be displayed.

Severo Ballet Opens Scandinavian Group Season

On Saturday, Nov. 19 at 8:30 p.m. the Scandinavian Symphony Orchestra will start its 37th consecutive concert season. This year again the concerts will be performed at the Scottish Rite Cathedral of the Masonic Temple.

The opening concert will feature the Detroit Severo Ballet Company. The Severo Ballet performed last season with the Detroit Symphony with a great deal of critical acclaim. Sandra Severo, artistic director of the company, has maintained high technical standards for her students and built a repertoire which includes many imaginative and challenging choreographic works.

Former students of the Severo Ballet now perform with such well known companies as the American Ballet Theatre and Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

The Severo Ballet will perform with the orchestra the Madeline Ballet to music by Shostakovich and Ibert.

The orchestral numbers will include Mignon Overture by Thomas and Rustic Wedding Symphony by Goldmark.

Tickets are available at the four Hudson stores and at Grinnell's as well as at the box office on the night of the concert.

We, The People

In a few more days we will be celebrating Thanksgiving Day and, like the Pilgrims who originated the custom, we, too, have a great deal for which to be thankful.

In their first Thanksgiving they offered their prayerful thanks for a bountiful crop that served as the inspiration to keep them going in the new land of their adoption.

Measured in worldly things we have a great deal for which we can offer thanks. First, there is unprecedented economy that not only makes us the richest country on the globe, but enables us to have a higher standard of living than any other people.

Second, there is the work of the medical scientists who have developed medicines that have brought about the curtailing of many illnesses that not long ago were considered beyond cure. And with this increased longevity we have come to be the healthier nation in the world.

We are well on the way to conquering space and the waters under the sea, all of which adds more and more to our higher standards of living and our battles against disease.

Much of the drudgery has been taken out of labor by the use of automation in which America has taken the lead. And with the introduction of each new product we have more cause for which to be thankful.

And just a week ago the election, that will have a great effect on our future through the turnover of many positions, gave us something even greater for which to be thankful.

The turnover in government was brought about because the people in America have the right to be heard. In many countries the people are little more than numbers under the various dictatorships and monarchies. They do as they are told—or else. They have no voice in government or the conduct of their lives.

To be sure many of these countries have elections—but they are of the mock variety. There is only one party or one slate of candidates.

But in America we have right to choose our leader and the right to dissent is one of our most precious privileges.

In the most recent election the people spoke—in no uncertain terms.

Because the people in America have a right to dissent, they spoke, and when they did, their voices were heard.

For this we should be doubly thankful.

So, on this Thanksgiving Day, let us emulate the Pilgrims of the early days. Let us offer our thanks for the right to dissent. This tops all the other things for which we should be thankful.

It is the richest right we have.

Time For Reflection

Since the Farmington community is in an unusual period of lag between hot campaigns on local issues it might be a good time for the residents of both the City of Farmington and Farmington Township to reflect on just where their communities are headed and how they will get there.

Both communities have master plans and both pride themselves on their long range goals and planning. This applies only to the governmental units, however.

Do the residents really want two separate governmental units who by pressure of the local politics will be somewhat at loggerheads with each other all the time?

Quite frankly we don't know. We don't even think that the residents have thought about it much. We think that it's about time they did.

Needless to say this comment raises that hot question of consolidation or unification if you like that term better.

Never in the history of the State of Michigan have two separate incorporated cities incorporated. Cities and Townships don't incorporate either as cities will take the annexation route for areas which it desires.

Annexation might be the most feasible route for cities, but it certainly can carve up a Township and leave isolated spots left to fend for themselves.

Farmington Township Supervisor Curt Hall stated at a public meeting one night that there was no question about the fact that the most efficient manner for the entire Farmington community to develop would be through consolidation.

Hall added, however, that it was not feasible at this time.

We agree that it's not immediately probable. The different level of services and the consequent different tax levy between the two communities is the most obvious problem.

There is another problem though. Residents of the City of Farmington could stop being so smug about all the services they receive and stop asserting that they would never "get mixed up with the Township."

The Township resident, on the other hand, could stop considering himself as just a cut or two above the City dweller and could stop to figure out that they are currently paying for many of the same services in the form of private contracts rather than in the tax bill.

In other words both sides have some soul searching to do.

The Observer is not so naive to believe that such a momentous move as consolidation could happen overnight. It does believe, however, that the groundwork must be laid for such an action.

An impartial committee composed of members of the Greater Farmington Board of Commerce, The Jaycees and the League of Women Voters is currently exploring various avenues open to the community at large. We hope that with the hiatus of local campaigns this group will find the right atmosphere and will perform its function.

We also hope that the individual residents take time to analyze where their community will be in 20 years and how is the best means to arrive there.

Did They Die In Vain?

A small boy meandered by the scene on his bicycle. Another youngster stood near the monument probably wondering what the adults were doing on a Saturday morning and why a newspaper photographer was on hand for the event. Autos drove by the Garden City Civic Center and the drivers continued on their business in a free country.

But that was about the gist of the "crowd" for the event which was scheduled to mark the annual observance of Veterans Day, originally known as Armistice Day, to celebrate the end of The War to End All Wars.

In these days of patriotic cynicism, people are not expected to get excited about the American Flag or conflicts in the past which their neighbors had to shed blood or die to defend their country.

But the situation was epitomized Friday (which was actually Veterans' Day) when a plant worker walked into a Garden City office and said that he received a day off that day but didn't know what the holiday was.

It's hard to believe that an adult in this day and age, with the newspapers and magazines and television networks full of war scenes from the previous day's battles in South Vietnam, have to be reminded that Nov. 11 is a national holiday.

It's hard to believe that American citizens could forget the event which triggered a day set aside to honor veterans of wars who donned their country's uniform, went off to foreign lands, and fought to defend their nation.

But when the Garden City Veterans Day observance was held without a single adult present (other than the newspaper photographer and those taking part in the ceremony itself), it's not hard to believe.

This lack of participation and interest in one of our most important patriotic holidays is even more painful since it reflects the general public's poor attitude toward its fellow citizens—especially veterans.

Letters to the Editor:

Westland Needs Zip Code

Editor:

At the present time many of our citizens are in the process of changing addresses from Garden City, Wayne or Livonia to Westland. We are in dire need of a Westland Zip Code for the Zip Code authorized by the Post Office Department for use in Westland is the Wayne Zip Code. It is inevitable that the City of Westland with its population of over 73,000 will have its own post office and will no longer use the Wayne Zip Code.

To prevent the costly and time-consuming process of changing addresses a second time it is essential that immediate action be taken to assign to Westland a Zip Code of its own. Until such time as a Westland post office is established all such Zip Coded mail would go to the Wayne post office. With the establishment of a Westland post office, however far into the future that might be, no further time, trouble, nor expense would be necessary to correct the addresses of the residents of Westland.

Letters from Westland citizens to Mr. L. F. O'Brien, Postmaster General, U. S. Post Office Dept., Washington, D. C. and to Congressman William D. Ford, Wayne Post Office Bldg., 3716 Newberry, Wayne, Michigan 48184, would be helpful in obtaining action from the postal authorities.

"Superlative, an adjective. 1. Surpassing all others; supreme. 2. excessive. 3. expressing the highest degree by being, or as though, modified by most." (Quote from Webster's Dictionary).

When Webster included this adjective in the Dictionary, he must have been thinking of a word to describe the "4th Annual City of Westland Firefighters Ball."

The extreme generosity of so many people who helped us by their donations, time, effort, and energy, made the Ball remain the "Social Event of the Year," here in the City of Westland.

A book could be written with the names of the many businessmen, the people of the metropolitan area, and the fine people here within the City of Westland, and we sincerely wish that space would permit us to name all our friends.

From those who attended the Ball, at the Wayne-Ford Civic League hall on Oct. 8, the reaction thus far, is that everyone had an enjoyable evening, which was our goal as well as our Benevolent Fund.

We of the Firefighters Association would like to personally say, thank you, and we'll see you at our 5th Annual Firefighters Ball" on Oct. 7, 1967 at the Wayne-Ford Civic League Hall.

THANKS LIVONIA!

Editor:

Due to the generous acceptance of charitable activities by the people of our community, the Livonia Kiwanis Club's annual Peanut Sale was a smashing success. Total donations to date, far exceed any previous year.

Livonia Kiwanis Club mailed out some 1,400 "packages" to business and professional people in Livonia, and then hit the streets "en masse" on Saturday, Sept. 24, to raise additional funds for needy and deserving children in our community.

Committee co-chairmen Dow Tunis, and Walter Green who emphasized the entire club's appreciation and enthusiasm, reported that the funds will be used primarily to further the Kiwanis activities in the Livonia high schools, Schoolcraft College, and in individual local cases referred to the club. Additional funds will be used to increase the Kiwanis activities at Northville State Hospital.

Pledge from Candidate

Editor:

Garden City citizens and friends, I am most grateful to those of you who voted for me and supported me in my campaign. Without your faithful service and believing trust I could not have carried this campaign to the people.

I have lost this election, but I have gained in many new and wonderful friendships and this is a victory for which I am grateful.

I cannot personally thank all the wonderful people who supported me. But I feel you, the citizens, have made your choice and we shall trust this will be for better government.

Since Garden City is my home and I am concerned about its government I will watch over it very closely.

OBSERVING the Scene ...

By MYRA CHANDLER

"No, there is no truth to the rumor, that district Democratic chairmen have all been taken to the wall and eliminated."

True, they are at the wall—but it is the wailing wall, from which some have since returned with their eyes still moist and their voices humble.

A re-hash of a campaign makes one so-wise—and certainly there are lessons to be learned for both party leaders, their followers, and independents as well.

My arm chair analysis is voters were not protesting Vietnam, although no one relishes the thought of the conflict. Still, few people you talk to think it wise to back away.

But to deny there was a protest vote would be foolhardy on the part of the Republicans who won (with or without evidence of talent) or unnecessarily cruel for those Democrats who were good legislators and did contribute.

Is it not possible the protest was more immediate?

During the depression days, when most people were affected, the Democrats were welcomed with open arms. So were their social-conscious laws—the UNRA, CCC camps, WPA, and many forms of relief to depressed people.

My feeling is voters resisted the social reforms of today's government. They didn't want any more Big Daddy wiping their noses, putting on the band aids, and taking care of them. THEY WANT TO DO IT THEMSELVES.

Selfishly perhaps, it can be directly attributed to the fact there is a much smaller segment that needs taking care of in today's affluent society.

Many, many Republicans think along the lines, "If you don't work—or can't be self-sustaining today—it is because you are lazy and don't want to work."

Unfortunately this is not always true. There are many factors involved.

But because real poverty touches so few of us I think there is real resentment against sharing. There is little realization of what it means to be really poor. "Wolf from the door" has no meaning in today's society.

In a way it is sad. Because probably if the truth were known those of us with the most security will never be completely secure until those of us with the least security are assured of it too.

If only there could be laws that could provide for those that need it without forcing it down the throats of those who do not want it.

This can be a problem for the new law-makers and many of them Republican, first-timers. The Observer wishes them success in seeking wise guidance, peppered with plenty of good luck.

To the losers who did their best in office as well as campaigning, remember two years ago the victors of today were in your shoes. And to lose with grace is the mark of the man often the making of the politician.

Disagrees with Editorial

Editor:

I am shocked at the stand the "Observer" has taken in an editorial by Richard T. Thompson on Nov. 2, 1966, entitled "Wake Up Plymouth."

I would like to commend the City of Plymouth rather than make fun of them (as Mr. Thompson did in his editorial) for being "the only city in Wayne County and one of a very few in the state to prohibit the sale of liquor-by-the-glass."

Approval of this proposal would definitely increase the number of people driving while under the influence of alcohol and thus endanger innocent citizen's lives. Would the amount of "extra business" he claims to obtain upon passage of this proposal be worth even one life lost because of it?

In response to his claim that passage of this proposal will aid the tax situation, I would remind him that studies have shown that more than twice as much money is spent by most communities for problems stemming from the use of alcohol than what is taken in in taxes.

My faith in the integrity of

would be renewed if they had the courage to print all the facts of this situation.

Not All Chamber Members OK'd Liquor By Glass

Editor:

Despite the fact that the people of Plymouth were made to believe we were practically the only so called "dry" city in the state, it is interesting to note that 37 cities and townships in Michigan had a LIQUOR BY THE GLASS proposal on the Nov. 8 election ballot.

It is noteworthy that in Adrian the Adrian Chamber of Commerce refused to take action on LIQUOR BY THE GLASS in Adrian and the proponents of the proposal (builders of a beautiful new motel) were unsuccessful in their efforts to have it placed on the ballot.

Our Plymouth Chamber of Commerce is a respectable organization of about 300 members, and though it has been declared repeatedly, recently, that the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce supported the LIQUOR BY THE GLASS proposal, a resolution to do so was made by just a few members (approximately 12); this was rather disconcerting when it was discovered that actually many members of our Chamber of Commerce opposed LIQUOR BY THE GLASS in Plymouth.

I am reminded of a statement by Paul Harvey from "Startling Facts"—"Combine all our churches, synagogues and temples and they are outnumbered by our taverns by 175,000!"

OMBUDSMAN

(A special feature in The Observer Newspapers — we will do our best to be a go-between, a red-tape cutter as the name indicates. When you have exhausted all other measures on a problem write to us (keep it short, please) and we'll see if we can help. Yes, John Q, you can fight city hall — with your own Ombudsman!)

Dear Ombudsman:

Is there anything that can be done about a gas station that hires people and then when they are paid are docked almost two-thirds of their pay to cover shortages?

My son worked at this gas station last year as a co-op in high school.

Upon graduation he obtained a full time job at a local steel plant, working 10 hours a day. He didn't mind this. When they cut back to eight hours, he felt he wanted to get something part-time, and he went to the gas station where he used to work and they hired him part time. He worked 31 hours and when he received his first pay — it was $12. He has approximately 11 hours pay coming for last Friday night and all day Saturday.

He has been working four hours every night from six until 10 and all day on Saturday. The owner of the station employs his family during the day.

Is it fair that the people putting in the late hours should be penalized for shortages that may have occurred during the day? My son and another party were both docked, and the explanation was given as due to shortages. A $12 check for 31 hours amounts to approximately 30 cents an hour. Is this fair?

The station is the Newmarch Standard Service on Five Mile and Levan in Livonia.

CONCERNED PARENTS
LIVONIA

Dear Concerned Parents:

I think your son has just learned one of the facts of life the hard way. Mr. Newmarch says he has had serious shortages every week and has warned his employees to use the key on the cash register which they carry with them. He says when they use the key there is no shortage, but always when they do not, there is.

He said no one shift is responsible for another. He checks the cash before the night shift comes in. He said he explained the shortage policy to his employees and put it into operation because he was losing too much money.

Making Sauerkraut Is Lost Art... And It Is A Pity

By W. W. EDGAR

Now that the frost has been on the pumpkin and the corn is in the shock, the time of the year has arrived when I always feel sorry for the present generation that doesn't know the fun of helping to prepare the many varieties of vitamins and calories so necessary to guard against the torments of hunger during the long winter months.

Who ever could forget the joys of cutting the countless heads of cabbages for the making of sauerkraut, seasoning it and then storing it — or the slicing of a boiled beef tongue and preparing it with herbs and onions and spice for an edible dish when the snow is flying.

And preparing the fowl for the Thanksgiving Dinner provided more fun and enjoyment than eating it — and that's saying something.

Making sauerkraut was a ritual in our house. Long before the new grown cabbage was available, Mother had the big earthen crocks cleaned and prepared for the long winter stand. More than that, she would have the floor in the basement or cellar as it was known then, marked with chalk lines to denote where each crock was to be placed.

There was a large cracker barrel to hold the winter's supply of potatoes. Another section was reserved for the earthen crocks of sauerkraut, and the stations in which a different sized crock was placed for the tongue to pickle. We also buried such things as carrots and beets in piles of earth so that they would withstand the winter.

But it was the preparation of the sauerkraut that left the lasting memories. We would have the big table set up in the kitchen and Mother would borrow a neighbor's "cabbage cutter" to use with our own in sort of assembly line long before any such thing was ever dreamed of in the motor industry.

Once set up, she would issue the instructions and each of us was given a job. One would slice the cabbage in the cutter, another would pass the sliced along the line to another who, equipped with what Mother called a "butcher knife" would cut it into smaller slices and pass it along. The next stop was the "seasoner" who splashed the salt and pepper in the required quantities and have it ready for the crock.

Then came the real fun. The sliced and diced cabbage was placed in the earthen crock and "stomped." When it finally passed Mother's inspection, she would add the last ingredients of seasoning and ask that it be stored. This, too, was a sort of ritual for the storing of sauerkraut is not a casual thing—at least it wasn't in those days.

After you managed to get the earthen crock placed in its proper location, you engaged in the final ritual—the placing of a wooden cover right on top of the sliced cabbage and then lowered a sizable piece of field stone on top of the cover. This was to apply the pressure and keep the kraut from floating after it started absorbing all of the spices and herbs and in the transition from cut cabbage to sauerkraut. But how tasty it was—in the middle of winter, and all the more so because you had helped to make it.

It was the same with pickled tongue—then a standard dish in the Pennsylvania Dutch Country. The lone difference came in the slicing where Mother insisted in doing all the carving. And often are the times, at this season of the year, when I long for the pleasant odors of the kitchen back home.

The real fun came, though, when we had to prepare the "bird" for Thanksgiving. We were never "ritzy" enough to have turkey. We were content with chicken. Besides, a chicken provided more fun because it was easier to handle.

We would take the chickens — usually in company with a few of the neighbors — tie their legs together and hang them over the wash line, in the back yard. This was strictly for the boys—as the girls couldn't stand the sight. But once the chickens were over the line, we would take the "butcher" knife in our right hand, grab the chicken by the neck with our left and then in one motion cut the head off. As the blood gushed and the headless body swung and swayed on the line, we would toss the heads into a distant peach basket.

This was our way of getting basketball practice. And we'd become quite proficient in the art of "hitting the basket."

Today it is different. The sauerkraut is obtained in a nice glass jar at the supermarket. The pickled tongue is done up in jars and the chicken is all prepared and packed in boxes with plastic coated coverings.

Today the joy is in the eating. All the fun of the preparation is missed.

This generation of youngsters doesn't know what it is missing.

That envelope containing the astounding charges for telephone service arrived the other day. Since anything will serve to put off the moment of truth in discovering the damages for the month all the enclosures are read carefully.

This month's had an interesting message. In fact it was a plea for help.

"We print and deliver almost six million phone books a year," the phone company announced. "That's pretty expensive, but it's essential that customers have this information if they're to get full value from their service," it added. "Then we turn around and spend that much more giving out practically the same information," the corporate voice cried.

The missive continued: "Certainly, Information Service is essential too — for folks who need to find out a new number or who have trouble reading. However, three out of four calls to Information are for numbers already listed in the phone book."

"When we run into this type of duplication, it hampers our efforts to give you the best possible service at the lowest possible cost."

"Maybe you can help," concluded the message.

We must admit that like so many others we have been the worst offenders.

However, we always have a pang of guilt everytime we dial 411 simply because it is inconvenient to extract the phone directory from its nice neat niche.

One of the bright young stars of NBC News tells the story of the days he was a cub reporter in the news room. Everytime he was assigned to check out a story he would pick up the phone to call information for the necessary phone number.

His editor — who was an absolute bear to all the cubs as editors always are — would growl across the room "Can't you read the number is printed in the phone book."

The reporter says that after about three months of this he was broken of the habit of calling information. He still doesn't even though he has long since moved out of the cub class. He doesn't even call information from home.

Both the editor and the phone company have a good point. It seems fantastic that three out of four calls to information are for listed numbers, but we are not about to take on Michigan Bell.

Besides the plea about keeping down the costs so that the phone bill won't soar to new heights hit pretty close to home.

Thus this week's resolution is that the phone directory is coming out of its nice neat, but inconvenient niche to a more accessible but not so pretty spot.

Widow's Financial Problems

Q—I am a recent widow with three children. My husband had insurance which has provided me with a lump sum of money. Since I have a teaching certificate I am not concerned about my monthly income requirements, but I am concerned about what to do with our savings account and the insurance money. Can you provide some pointers?

A—I hate to shatter your comfortable feeling in regards to your monthly income requirements but what would happen to your three small children plus your home if something stopped your income producing ability? To restore the comfortable feeling I would suggest a complete evaluation of your personal insurance program encompassing: Health, accident and life. Secondly, but equally as important, is to decide and plan out your family's future and develop an investment program accordingly. To accomplish this I would suggest you contact a stockbroker who is a member of a national stock exchange, and one who approaches your case from a professional point of view. Enough money should be left in a savings account for emergencies and the remainder should be invested in securities which will meet your family's requirements in future years. I am mailing to you some booklets which you will find helpful in this regard.

Creative Dramatics Shop at O U.

An experiment in supplementary education involving creative dramatics and improvisation is the newest project at Oakland University.

The Projects for Advancement of Creativity in Education program is made possible through an initial federal grant of $48,000 to the school's systems of Troy and Pontiac in conjunction with the University's Division of Continuing Education. Director of the project is Dr. Adeline Herschfeld, Assistant Professor of Speech at Oakland University and former Wayne State University instructor in creative dramatics, public speaking, voice and diction.

Immediate problem at hand is the recruiting of a select group of men and women to be trained in improvisation drama techniques at Oakland University. The volunteers will then work actively in Morse Elementary and Troy High School in Troy, and McConnell Elementary School in Pontiac.

Previous dramatic experience is not at all necessary. Versatility, imagination, flexibility, personal warmth and a genuine interest in children are the main requisites according to Dr. Herschfeld, a specialist in the field.

The Continuum Center at the University and its staff psychologist, Dr. Gerald Self, will be working closely with the project in evaluating the volunteers. Training will begin in February in a special class created for the purpose. Dr. Herschfeld describes creative dramatics and sociodrama as forms of improvisation theater in which a story, poem or life situation is dramatized by a group with the help of a leader. It is a separate function entirely from children's theater, which is performed for an audience and has a different purpose.

Evaluation studies show that youngsters who work with improvisation drama show a marked improvement in language skills, speaking, listening, reading motivation and communication on a person-to-person level, according to Dr. Herschfeld, who, in addition to her teaching experience, has appeared in films, television and on the stage.

"We have tried to gear this project to the type of volunteer who will be needed," said Dr. Herschfeld, "knowing that many of the people who have the qualifications we want and a sincere desire to help out in the schools are now limited in the amount of time they can devote to a project. For that reason, both the training course and the opportunities to serve will require only a few hours a week."

Speakers are available to explain the program to women's groups, to clubs or civic organizations. They may be contacted by calling Assistant Director Valerie Pierce or Administrative Aide Jo Anne Westerby at Extension 2170, Oakland University.

In addition to these three, other members of the Executive Council for the improvisation drama project include Howard Caldwell, Principal of McConnell School; John Diefenbaker, Administrative Assistant, Troy School System; Bert Van Koughnet, Community Action Director, Pontiac School System, and Fred Carter, Community School Director at McConnell. Oakland University staff members include Dr. David DiChiera, Acting Chairman of the Music Department; David Doherty, Director of Community School Programs and Assistant Director of the Mott Center for Community Affairs; Miss Elizabeth Wright, Volunteer Advisor for the Continuum Center; Robert Erickson, Director of Liberal Arts for the Division of Continuing Education and Rhea Victor, Director of Public Relations.

Future plans call for a two-day conference at the University in the Spring and a summer workshop for teachers and volunteer leaders.

Letters to The Editor

Controversy On Snow Editor:

My Impressions of the Impressions column which appeared Nov. 9:

The man who paints the lovely scenes of Christmas cards and other cards ought to what?

You ask why the snow is always clean. Why the moon always shines, why there is no wind. Well maybe the painter stopped on a hilltop one snowy night and he was far away from the busy city and there right before his eyes was the beautiful sight of crystal white snow with just a tint of blue lying ever so lightly in the curves of the hills and with a bright full moon shining above and a winter nip in the air. If he saw a sight as beautiful as this, and I bet he has because I have, and if he has the talent to paint it on a card for everyone to enjoy then why on earth would he want to paint a gloomy picture of people complaining about a few inches of snow.

Why should a painter waste his God given talents just because a few mothers can't teach their children to take their boots off before they track it to the hall and how are you to expect a child to go out and have fun playing in the snow if he can't get his snowsuit wet? As for traffic jams they happen all year long, and maybe the snow saved a lot of cars from freezing up. The man at the gas station told me that it wasn't cold enough to freeze up the block on a car. What would have happened if the temperature had dropped to where it would crack the blocks on cars? At least the snow gave us a little less harsh of a reminder that winter is rapidly approaching.

What better conditions could a teenager have than to have her driver education how to handle every move.

With all the new styles in boots the teenagers love wearing boots. They even wear them on sunny days.

Come on now, didn't you glance out the window at your office every now and then and enjoy seeing those "particles of water vapor which when frozen in the upper air fall to earth as soft white crystalline flakes?"

VIRGINIA KEILLOR,
Farmington

EDITOR'S NOTE: When the author of the Impressions column, Sue Shaughnessy, saw this letter she said: "Whew, I would have thought that that column was as innocuous as anything could be. However, it looks as though I'll have to brush up my tongue in cheek style before I write another column."

Many Thanks

Mr. Robert Conley

Dear Bob:

I wish to express my sincere appreciation as chairman of the Committee Against Annexation and I am sure, the appreciation of all the residents of the Township for your efforts in fighting the unjust land grab in your area.

As time will not permit me to thank everyone that was associated with you I hope you will express this appreciation for me.

Our 5 to 1 victory was the result of hard work by people like yourself.

THOMAS R. NOLAN,
Trustee Farmington
Township

Ideas For Future Editor:

I want to convey my thanks and heartfelt gratitude to all the voters and election workers and friends who voted for me and others on Nov. 8.

Let's all back the new Township Board and ask them to flex their muscles for better roads and dust control, transportation in Township for senior citizens and improved traffic control, also a year round youth program.

Thanks a million again for everything.

THIS TRADITIONAL BIRD, in all its families. No matter what your choice is the golden brown glory will be gracing the Thanksgiving table of most American.

Tips For Tasty Holiday Meals

If you want the roast turkey that graces your holiday table to be picture perfect and have the tenderest, most juicy meat, try the "foil tent" method of roasting.

This is roasting with a tent of foil placed loosely over the bird to keep the breast meat and drumsticks moist and delicious and to give the turkey a beautiful even brown. You won't need to baste when you use this method.

Buy your turkey ahead of time so it will have plenty of time to defrost. Allow at least one pound per person, more if you wish to serve it for two meals and enjoy turkey sandwiches.

To keep juice loss to a minimum, defrost on the refrigerator shelf, allowing three to four days. Or defrost under cold running water, allowing six to eight hours. Leave in original wrap.

Start preparing turkey as soon as it is pliable enough to handle. Rinse the bird with cold water, drain and pat dry. Rub skin and cavities lightly with salt.

Simmer giblets in a saucepan with an onion, carrot, celery stalk, salt and pepper with water to cover. Use the broth for gravy.

Remove liver after five to ten minutes. If stuffing is used, fill neck lightly and fasten neck skin to back with a skewer or just tie with soft string.

Trim off excess skin. Fill body cavity loosely with enough stuffing for one dinner.

Bake extra stuffing in a foil package or foil-lined casserole. This method saves removing stuffing when storing the leftover turkey. Close the front opening by drawing the skin together and placing a small piece of foil over it, if necessary, to hold in stuffing. Push drumsticks under band of skin at tail, if present, or tie them to tail with soft string. Fold wings "akimbo" style and bring wing tips onto the back.

This is the method of roasting turkey preferred by home economists with the poultry industry. Turkeys to-

Plymouth Registered Nurses To Hear Ina Lippert Nov. 28

Plymouth Registered Nurses meet informally once a month at the Dunning Hough Library to keep abreast of the times in the world of medicine. The organization which was founded in 1959 under the Civil Defense program has grown in number to over one hundred.

Working along with the Red Cross, keeping informed and up to date in medicine, helping with community projects such as the T.B. Mobile units, polio clinics, teaching "Medical Self Help" and assisting with the recent measles clinic are but a few of their accredited projects.

In case of a natural disaster such as tornado or floods, they are prepared to assist under the supervision of the Plymouth Health Commissioner, Dr. Lee Feldkamp.

The Distaff Side...

By Jerry Wendt, Women's Editor

Twenty-five years ago, on Oct. 11, 1941, to be exact two women (Mrs. Etta Turnbull and Mrs. Isabelle Wait) entertained a group of women who were meeting to organize a new DAR chapter.

One month later, Nov. 11, 1941, the formal organization meeting was held at Botsford Inn, with an organizing group of 18 members, ten who were descendants of the man whose name the chapter bears.

The chapter was confirmed Dec. 17, 1941. The name, John Sackett, was considered quite appropriate for this has sponsored Essay contests, and giving American music special consideration on the programs.

One of the finest accomplishments the DAR has to its credit has been the establishing of schools in the mountain regions, for children who live too far from the main schools to attend. When the students live too far away to attend school without boarding, the DAR arranges boarding facilities for them.

They also bring bookmobiles and musicmobiles to the students who receive them eagerly. It is sometimes the first taste of the outside world and the opportunities that they receive and which inspires many of them to strive for a good education.

Mrs. James Zeder, State Regent, who had just returned from a bus trip to these schools, recounted her adventures in a witty, lively style which brought the life of the mountain people to her audience.

One of the schools which is not for underprivileged children) is the Lincoln Memorial at the University of Tenn. It has the second largest collection of Lincolnia in the U.S.A.

They visited the day schools and boarding schools and were happy with the smiling, well-mannered children they saw. At many of these places, the DAR has set up a craft center, where mountain women can display their crafts of weaving and sewing and earn some money for the students.

The DAR women were welcomed by the people, and many of them came to meet the bus, and the mountain women gave evidence of their appreciation by the sumptuous buffet lunches they prepared in honor of the guests.

Life passes at a swift pace these days. But we have a glorious American tradition and one of its most won-chapter in view of the fact that in Redford, the Sacketts were among the first settlers and played an important part in the development of that town.

Saturday, Nov. 12, the chapter celebrated its Silver Anniversary. It is one of our national pastimes to lampoon anything well known and for years the DAR have been pictured as straight-laced ladies who were a bit stuffy in their adherence to principles. That is not the true picture at all, and any notion that it might have been was quickly dispelled upon entering the dining room of the Sno-White Restaurant where the anniversary luncheon was held. A group of well-dressed women were seated at the tables which had been centered with white mums.

The speakers' table was beautifully decorated with centerpieces of white flowers and white candles in silver candelabra. A blue booklet with a silver crested "25" marked each place. And the various speakers of the day brought to light a lively and active program the DAR has been carrying on.

Following the devotions and pledge of allegiance to the flag, introduction was made of the many state figures and visitors from other chapters who had come to be present for the occasion.

A new flag was presented to the chapter by Nina Sackett and Mrs. James Zeder, the new state regent.

Some of the achievements worked up by this chapter in the last 25 years included racking up the Red Cross during World War II, sponsoring a special project called American History month during which period the chapter

These dedicated DAR women are seeing to it that our own Americans are receiving their full share of help in obtaining one of the greatest achievements a person can aspire to—being a good American citizen.

Controversial or Not, Turkey Baked in Paper Bag Is Best

By Faith Gillespie

The Observer Newspapers, as a vital part of an active and free press in America, believe there is room in a good newspaper for opinions and discussions, even for editorial disagreement, about controversial issues. Honesty in reporting and publishing demand that such matters not be ignored.

Abrasion is not necessarily a bad thing. A newspaper can be the sandpaper that helps smooth the way to compromise in public disputes.

The Queen of Hearts, however, has no desire to be abrasive. This column serves a function quite apart from the controversial problems of the community.

It was much to my surprise, therefore, to discover that I had been an unwitting wellspring of unrest last year at Thanksgiving.

My telephone nearly got an ulcer from jangling, as interested but skeptical ladies called to see if I really meant what I said.

The subject became the topic of debate at bridge clubs and baby showers. Husbands disagreed with wives, daughters with mothers-in-law.

I had no intention of being the source of family strife. What I said was:

"When it comes to the noble bird, I have only one directive: bake your turkey in a paper bag. That's right, a plain old grocery-store brown paper bag.

"I've been doing it with great success for years. It is much easier than covering with cheese cloth and basting and all that bother, and it's much better than the aluminum foil tent because it is porous and the turkey doesn't get steamed."

"It really works beautifully, honest. You stuff and truss the turkey and rub it with a mixture of butter and lemon juice, or just butter, and then you put it into the big brown bag and fold the opening of the bag shut."

"Bake at about 350 degrees; the bird will be a gorgeous brown. You can open the bag to let the juices out and crisp up the bird a bit about half an hour before it is done.

"Bake an 8- to 12-pound bird 4 to 5 hours; a 14- to 16-pounder will take 5 to 6 hours."

"Oh, just a reminder: put the turkey in the bag, but put the bag in the roaster."

That's what I said, and at the risk of being a controversial figure, I stand back of every word.

In the interest of marital peace and community harmony, which are very important to me, I will clarify a few points that have been raised about my unorthodox Turkey-in-the-Bag Method.

1) No the bag does not catch fire, not even in a gas oven, because the bag is on a rack on a big broiler pan, or tucked into a big roaster, and the big pan is on an oven shelf some inches from the heating element. There's no problem.

2) Yes, it works for any size bird—I have done

Oakland U. Students Fete Mrs. Alfred Wilson

Mrs. Alfred Wilson was feted with a full schedule of events for her birthday by Oakland University students recently. The University's benefactress, observed her 83rd birthday in October.

The Back Porch Majority, a popular singing group, presented a concert in the OU Sports and Recreation Building. The birthday dance featured the music of Jack Runyon and his orchestra, a 12-piece group from Cleveland. Highlight of the celebration was intermission ceremonies when Mrs. Wilson was recognized and honored with birthday presentations, including a giant-sized card signed by OU students and an elaborate cake symbolizing her position as the University's "first lady."

turkeys up to 23 pounds, and the biggest supermarket bag will accommodate such a bird.

3) Yes, you may poke a few holes in the bottom of the bag to let the drippings get through to brown longer, which gives you a bit more color in your gravy.

4) No, I did not make up this method. When I was a new bride, my landlady, who was a fine cook, told me to do it, so I did. I have done it all these 15 years, with excellent results, and it works for chickens, ducks, geese, ham and I am sure, for flamingo.

Furthermore, the distributors of a nationally-known brand of poultry have openly advocated the very same method in their newspaper and magazine advertising.

5) Yes, I have had reports from numerous readers, all of whom testify to the success of the method.

So go ahead and try it without anxiety. It saves time and effort, it gives you a roasted bird instead of a steamed one, and it is cheap.

Besides all that, you can stick that turkey in the oven at dawn and go back to bed and forget it.

Well, no, I don't go back to bed on Thanksgiving morning, because I'm never that well organized, but maybe you can.

Whatever you do, do have a joyful and uncontroversial Thanksgiving.

'Wait a Minum' A Holiday Must

By JERRY WENDT
Women's Editor

It has always been a mystery to us why people consider it such a treat that they would pay outrageous prices to stand in line for a show where every line and every song have been collectors' items for the last five years.

When we go to New York we like to see the liveliest, newest, most original show we can find. Of course, it is not always possible to do this, but on our last trip we hit a Bonanza with "Wait a Minum" the brightest show to come on Broadway in many a moon.

The cast is young and talented, the girls are beautiful, the music unforgettable and it introduces a great new talent, Kendrew Lascelles.

There are always newcomers with talent on the Broadway scene but seldom is there a truly outstanding one.

Lascelles has a superb sense of timing which makes even the slightest gesture carry impact. He is one of those people who makes the theater almost a dedication. In addition to acting, he is a gifted dancer, and helped with the choreography.

It is almost impossible to describe the show, except to say that it is the most highly entertaining one I have ever seen. It satirizes the world and the people in it, ever since time began, in a series of songs and dances.

There are the hauntingly beautiful scenes set in a castle in the Highlands, "Johnny's Away to the War" and the deliciously wicked, "Chastity Girdle."

Two of the funniest scenes I have ever witnessed were where the curtains open on a gondolier in Italy singing while a couple languishes below in the gondola.

The girl is beautiful and the man, a typical American tourist with dark glasses, camera, etc.

When the gondolier starts singing, the man is such a ham he can't resist joining him and outstaging him.

Gradually the gondolier (played by Lascelles) edges the paddle into his hand. The closing scene shows the tourist on the perch singing lustily away while the gondolier and girl swim away to a rendezvous.

In the second one, a very British planter complete with pith helmet and Bermuda shorts, accompanied by his prim English secretary, set off to teach the natives an appreciation of good music.

You can imagine what happens when the natives get going on their bongo drums. Would you believe the wildest South African jam session ever, with the Britisher leaping about in an impromptu version of the Watusi?

This show took seven curtain calls the night we were there and barely had it ended before we were out the door to get the musical score. All the instruments used are from South Africa, and you will hum haunting melodies for weeks.

Seeing this show will put a shiny bright bauble on your holiday fun.

Lutherans Begin Radio Broadcasts

dent pastor at Lola Park Lutheran Church of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod in the Western Wayne County area have undertaken another forward step in their mission endeavours by inaugurating a Lutheran Radio Broadcast every Sunday morning at 11 a.m.

The broadcast brings a "live" one hour worship service each Sunday over station WABX-FM (99.5 on the FM dial).

The Sunday morning services originate at Lola Park Evangelical Lutheran Church in the center of Redford Township, and will bring the entire liturgical service together with the sermon by the Rev. Edward Zell, resident pastor.

"There are a number of reasons for beginning this effort," the Rev. Zell said, "For one thing, this is the 449th year of the Lutheran Reformation and this is one of our ways of thanking our God for that blessing."

"There are also many invalids, aged and incapacitated people in our churches who are thrilled at being able to worship with the congregations again. We also feel that this preaching to a wider audience is in direct keeping with the Great Commission to 'Preach the Gospel to every creature.'"

Guest speakers from supporting churches will also fill the Lola Park pulpit from time to time. Some of the supporting churches in the area are St. Paul's Ev. Lutheran Church, Farmington Rd. at Fenkell; Peace Ev. Lutheran Church, Merriman at W. Chicago; Our Savior Ev. Presbyterian Church Learns About Jewish Faith

Marcus Bass, of "Marc of England," Demery's Shopping Center, Farmington, was a guest speaker at the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington. Mr. Bass spoke to both sessions of Sunday School on Nov. 6, and was enthusiastically received by his youthful audience.

In order to present a better understanding among faiths, Mr. Bass explained some of the background and history of the Jewish religion.

Highlighting the program was the enactment of the Sabbath meal, with which Mr. Bass was assisted by his wife Joyce, and their three children. Other bright spots were the blowing of the Shofar or Ram's Horn, and the participation of his family in reciting and singing the ancient songs and prayers.

The use of ceremonial objects, special foods, and their symbolism were traced by Mr. Bass to their historical roots, and he explained how they apply to modern day living.

Mr. Bass also spoke to the Jr. Hi Fellowship Group on the evening of Nov. 13.

Over 6,800 Persons Attend the 20th Annual Festival of Faith

A vast audience of 6,800 persons thronged Masonic Temple, overflowing both the main auditorium and the adjoining Scottish Rite Cathedral, for the 20th Annual Festival of Faith sponsored by the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches. This occasion also celebrated the 150th Anniversary of Protestant witness and service in Detroit.

The principal speaker for the Festival was Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, minister of Marble Collegiate Church, New York City, president of the Protestant Council of New York, regular speaker on the National Council of Churches radio program—"Art of Living," editor of "Guideposts" magazine and a nationally renowned lecturer and author.

Dr. Peale, in his address, took recognition of the vital contribution of the Protestant churches over the three and a half centuries in metropolitan Detroit, called for a continued dedication to the high purposes for which these churches stand, urged the importance of Christian cooperation in such a day as this and appealed for deeper loyalty to the church as the Body of Christ and His instrument through which to serve the world.

Presiding as general chairman was Mr. Stanley S. Kresge, chairman of the Board for the Kresge Foundation and widely known Methodist churchman. Executive chairman for the event was Dr. Allan MacLachlan Frew, minister of First Presbyterian Church of Detroit. Dr. Frew organized the committees preparing for the Festival for which work he was highly praised by Mr. Kresge.

At the Festival, Dr. Frew described the early beginnings of Protestantism in metropolitan Detroit and called attention to the inter-church and inter-faith cooperation which was a prominent factor in church activity in those early days.

He pointed out that the growing ecumenical spirit today was certainly in tune with those origins of the Protestant movement in the early 19th century.

Present at the Festival were official representatives of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit and the Council of Eastern Orthodox Churches.

Participating on the program were: Col. Marlon M. Cohn, divisional commander of the Salvation Army, Dr. Robert H. Yolton, Executive of the United Presby. Synod of Michigan and the Presbytery of Detroit; the Rev. Gerald W. Lonergan, assistant Director of Program for the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan; Dr. G. Merrill Lenox, executive director of the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches; Dr. J. Russell Bright, president of the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches; the Rev. L. Juan Burt, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church; the Rev. Harry E. Philo, pastor of Greenfield United Church of Christ; Dr. Fred E. Stephens, pastor of Ebenezer A.M.E. Church and the Rev. Calvin F. Stickles, Reformation Lutheran (LCA) Church.

Responsible for musical features, which included a chancel choir and a mezzanine choir, were Dr. George Thomas, Organist-Director of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Detroit; Dr. Gordon Young, Organist-Director of First Presby. Church, Detroit; and Dr. Frederick Marriott, Organist-Director, Central Methodist Church.

Confirm at St. Johns Nov. 20

Sunday, Nov. 20, at 4 p.m. the Rite of Confirmation will be administered by the Right Reverend C. Kilmer Myers in St. John's Episcopal Church, 555 S. Wayne Rd. near Cherry Hill Rd.

Bishop Myers was formerly Director of the Urban Training Center in Chicago before his election and consecration as Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of Michigan. Before that, he served as Vicar of a Mission in the slums of New York City, where he wrote a book "Light in the Dark Streets" about his work. This visit to St. John's will be one of his final acts before he leaves for San Francisco where he takes up his ministry as Bishop of California, succeeding the controversial Bishop Pike, who resigned this year to teach at the Institute for Democratic Studies.

He is married to Katie Lea, authoress of the book, "The Parish Secretary," and they have three adopted children, a Negro boy, a Korean boy, and a Chinese girl. The people of St. John's will be extending their best wishes for his new work on the west coast.

The Altar Guild, under direction Mrs. Nellie Popa, will welcome all to a Reception in the Parish Hall after service.

Here will be opportunity to greet the large class of confirmands presented at the service—around thirty adults—who will be welcomed into the communicant fellowship of the Episcopal Church, which is a branch of the Anglican Communion throughout the world.

'Soul & Body' Science Sermon Sun., Nov. 20

A sermon on "Soul and Body" will be presented at all Christian Science services this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Psalms: "Who is God save the Lord? or who is a rock save our God? It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect."

A related reading from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, states:

"Consciousness constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered. Correct material belief by spiritual understanding, and Spirit will form you anew."

Organ Recital To Be Nov. 17

Contemporary music for organ will feature a recital to be presented by Albert Bolitho at North Congregational Church, 26275 Northwestern Highway, Southfield, on Sunday, Nov. 20 at 8 p.m.

Mr. Bolitho will perform selections from L'Ascension by Messiaen; Passacaglia from the Symphony for Organ by Sowerby; and Scenes from the Stations of the Cross by Dupre, in addition to works by Bach and Buxtehude.

Currently completing a Ph.D. in music at Michigan State University, Mr. Bolitho is the Director of Music for North Congregational Church and Chairman of the Music Department for the Henry Ford Community College of Dearborn. His studies in organ have been conducted under F. Dudley Vernon, Robert Noehren, Marilyn Mason, Corliss Arnold and master classes with Marcel Dupre.

The public is invited to the recital. There is no admission charge.

"Hye Hullahaloo" will feature games, cartoons, a Christmas Gifterama booth, a delicious Armenian buffet table, concession stands, many prizes for young and old, talented entertainment and Armenian dancing featuring the well-known "Hye Orluk" band.

Mrs. Mary Tirakish and Mrs. Nerses Gedigian are chairmen for this affair. Donation is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children 14 years and under.

St. Maurice Bazaar Theme Is 'Babes In Toyland'

St. Maurice Church in Livonia invites the public to attend its Annual Christmas Bazaar. The decorative theme this year will be "Babes In Toyland." The date is Saturday, Nov. 19, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Church Hall at 32765 Lyndon Avenue located 1 1/2 blocks east of Farmington Rd., between Five Mile and Schoolcraft.

The bazaar is sponsored by the St. Maurice Rosary Altar Society. The women who have been working toward this big day, since last February, suggest that you bring your Christmas gift lists along to help you select from the vast array of items which will be displayed.

Included this year will be a Toy Demonstration Booth; a wood-working booth featuring hand-made items both descriptive and useful; a baked goods and country store (home-made jams, jellies, and preserves); a women's and girls' as well as men's and boys' booth; a knitting booth which will feature hand-knit articles for babies, children, and adults; a doll, toy and apron wheel; and a "children's only" booth where only children will be allowed to shop for Christmas gifts priced at less than $1.

Admission to this booth is determined by a child's height. The huge head of a clown will form the entrance and if the child can pass through the clown's mouth successfully, he's "in."

Once inside, he will be aided in his selection, by one of Santa's helpers if he desires.

The kitchen will be open for "lunching and munch-

AT THE TOP OF THE STAIRS IN HEIDE'S FLOWER SHOP Hours Daily 9:30-6 Friday 'til 9

THE NANKIN-WESTLAND BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN treated their husbands and friends to a program designed especially for the men. "Lonesome George Pfeiffer" of Woods and Water radio and television fame, showed films on fishing near the Arctic Circle. This film had been shown only once previously, on the George Pfeiffer Show. Here Lonesome George is shown with John Orwin and Miss Dorothy McHenry, personal development chairman, who apparently was telling them about "the one who got away."

Hawk Has New Series

It Pays To Do Your Best

By JERRY WENDT
Women's Editor

Some people feel that when the odds are against you, you might just as well "roll with the punches" and do as little as you can and just get by.

Others feel that if you really try your best, chances are that even if you lose your immediate objective, something fine will come out of your efforts.

A recent incident that would tend to prove the latter theory involves Burt Reynolds, star of the TV "Hawk" series. This brand new show was put on opposite the popular "Dean Martin Show." Certainly a handicap if there ever was one.

In spite of this, when The Observer left for New York, the "Hawk" was rated as one of the best, if not the best of the new TV shows. It had excellent acting, it was "live" and it had a suspense type of show which has many fans.

In addition, it had the very popular Burt Reynolds as its star.

When we were in New York, we visited the set and found a congenial hard-working crew who were tops in their profession. Reynolds proved as rugged in person as on the screen and we watched him do a "fight" scene over and over. We can testify that he uses no doubles. In interviewing, he appeared an intelligent and honest person.

Along with others, we were stunned when the show was cancelled when it was hardly launched. Reynolds' first thought was for the crew. "I hate to think of all their jobs going down the drain" was his first response, without thinking of his own disappointment.

However, almost immediately the silver lining began to appear. Offered his pick of all the 1967 pilots once the word got out that his show was cancelled, Reynolds has made what appears to be an interesting choice.

On Nov. 28, cameras will begin to roll on his new film, "Lassiter." Burt will portray Pete Lassiter, a roving magazine writer who exposes the human element in life. He is not a moralist or a reformer, having told his story he moves on.

"Lassiter" will be shot on location—every week a different town across the country and possibly Europe.

Sam Wanamaker who was responsible for the excellent direction in the "Hawk" will direct the new series.

However, so great an impact did Burt make as the "Hawk" that many people will remember him as such for a long time.

WHO EVER SAID acting was a profession for sissies? Rugged Burt Reynolds does all his own fight scenes, uses no doubles. Formerly the "Hawk", Reynolds will star in a new series called "Lassiter."

MRS. GERALD JOHN WALLACE

Maxey-Wallace Wed By Candlelight

Jacky Lyn Maxey became the bride of Gerald John Wallace in a recent candlelight ceremony in the Calvary Baptist Church, Plymouth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Maxey, 518 Irvin St., Plymouth. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace, 12836 McClumpha, Plymouth.

Rev. Patrick J. Clifford and Rev. Lynn B. Stout (grandfather of the bride) performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a nylon organza gown with an a-line skirt. Alencon lace appliques were placed down the front of her gown and sleeves. Her headpiece was a fingertip bouffant lace veil with three roses of nylon organza edged in petals.

Her flowers were white roses with pale yellow stephanotis and ivy.

Judy Wallace (sister-in-law) of the groom was matron of honor. Sandy Morris, Brenda Walworth, Gay Kalmback, Judy Kisabeth and Sue Dougan were bridesmaids. They all wore gold colored gowns with an empire waistline. They were floor length and had a large bow in back, giving a train effect. Their flowers were white carnations with yellow roses. The matron of honor had moss green ribbon encircling her bouquet and the bridesmaids had gold ribbon.

Lisa Stout was the flower girl and Curt Schultz was the ring bearer.

Jim Wallace (brother of the groom) was the best man. Groomsmen were Bob Steel, Gary Switzer, Bill West, Greg Maxey, Brad Maxey, and Norm Druce.

The bride's mother wore a gold crepe floor length gown with matching brocade coat. The groom's mother wore a green brocade gown with matching brocade coat. They both wore matching accessories.

For her going away suit the bride chose a plum and blue knit suit with matching accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception for 300 guests was held in the church hall.

Following a trip to the Bahama Islands the couple will make their home in East Lansing, where the groom is a student at Michigan State University.

Parsons-Carter Wed By Candlelight

Mary Lynne Parsons became the bride of Karl F. Carter recently in a candlelight ceremony at St. John's Episcopal Church in Plymouth. Rev. David Davies performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Parsons, 1127 Penniman Ave., Plymouth. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Helene Carter, Pettibone St., South Lyon.

The church was decorated with large altar vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, bouquets of white carnations tied with large white bows decorated the ends of the pews and a pair of large candleabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a gown of hand clipped Chantilly lace, with a sequin and pearl embroidered bodice, a full bouffant skirt, and sequin and pearl embroidery with tiered chapel train headpiece of matched lace and pearl crown with a bouffant silk illusion veil. Her bouquet was of Phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis accented with trailing ivy.

Her maid of honor was Sherrill Stevens of Plymouth.

Mary Ellen Parsons, of Rochester, New York, and Carol Wheeler, Plymouth, and Lynn Bender of Plymouth, were bridesmaids.

All the attendants wore identical gowns of silk taffeta with sheer silk chiffon overlay, and a modified empire waist with floor length double train attached by self material rose, headpiece of identical rose with matching bouffant veiling and a matching bouquet of carnations and rosebuds.

The maid of honor's gown was in a shade of lavender, the other bridesmaids were in orchid and pink.

The bridesmaids all carried bouquets of carnations and rosebuds matching their gowns.

Flower girl Michele Cell, a cousin of the bride, wore a floor-length lavender gown, identical to the maid of honor's with an Irish lace bodice and the lace detail followed out on the hem of her skirt, a crown of the lace was accented with lavender velvet streamers.

Gary Strehl of Dearborn, (cousin of the bride) was ring bearer.

James Usconovich, Fort Wayne, Indiana, was best man. Robert Parsons (brother of the bride), Jerry Westphal and Tom Chapman, both of South Lyon were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a jacket dress of turquoise silk, with matching accessories. Mrs. Carter, the groom's mother wore an aqua crepe sheath with matching lace coat and hat. Both wore corsages of pink orchids.

Following the ceremony, over 200 guests from all parts of Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin and New York attended a reception at the Western Wayne Conservation Club.

The bride is a graduate of Plymouth High School. The groom is a graduate of Indiana Institute of Technology and member of the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

WE AREN'T SANTA CLAUS

WE'RE A PROFIT MAKING ORGANIZATION

We don't pay our salesmen $10,000 the first year—they're a couple of thousand and shy of that amount. If of average caliber they come close to it the second year—if above average, they exceed it. In the third and succeeding years, earnings in excess of $10,000 are related to selling ability.

Why so long before invading the five figure mark? Reason enough: NCR is noted for its extensive on the job sales training program. It takes about 2 years to train a man for the sale of our computers and related business equipment. And during the training period he is paid a weekly salary plus commission. Draw and commission come after the training period.

So—with no punches pulled—you now know our compensation aspect. Here are some other enlightening aspects: Company paid life insurance and family medical coverage; college tuition refund program; liberal vacation plan; 11 paid holidays each year; weekly accident and sickness compensation; contributory or non-contributory retirement plan.

Still interested? If you're looking ahead a few years you should be. Computers are here to stay. Our increased sales of business equipment has created openings in Detroit as well as Pontiac. No overnight travel. Sales experience is not necessary, but proves helpful.

MOST IMPORTANT IS YOUR ABILITY TO PROTECT THE IMAGE OF AN 80-YEAR-OLD COMPANY THAT IS STILL GROWING BY LEAPS AND BOUNDS. ESPECIALLY IN THE COMPUTER FIELD WHICH WE ENTERED 11 YEARS AGO.

Interviews will be arranged (evenings if necessary) for qualified applicants. You must have had some college and be age 23-35.

Give it some thought—then give me a ring. Call during business hours or Saturday from 9-12. If you wish, send a resume.

VOLKSWAGEN CENTER

Is introducing a used car guarantee without any "you pay half, we pay half" nonsense.

Most used car dealers sell their cars with 50-50 guarantees. You know the deal: if anything goes wrong, you pay half the cost of parts and labor.

Well, our guarantee doesn't work that way. When we guarantee a car we guarantee the repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1000 miles. No charge for parts, labor, anything.

(We don't give our cars a guarantee until all the things that need fixing get fixed.)

It saves us—and you—time and money in the long run.

A TRUE "BBB"

Starting now, color television is for everybody. It's not too big. This new portable (we call it Porta-Color) has an 11" (diag. meas.) screen and weighs only 25 pounds. It's not hard to tune. Magic Memory tuning makes G-E the easiest color set to tune! (All you do is turn the pre-tuned color dials until they point straight up.) It doesn't need an outside antenna—(if your black and white set doesn't need one). It has its own set of rabbit ears, so you can have color wherever you have an outlet.

So starting now, there's nothing in the world between you and a color television set.

STOP IN AND SEE IT TODAY!

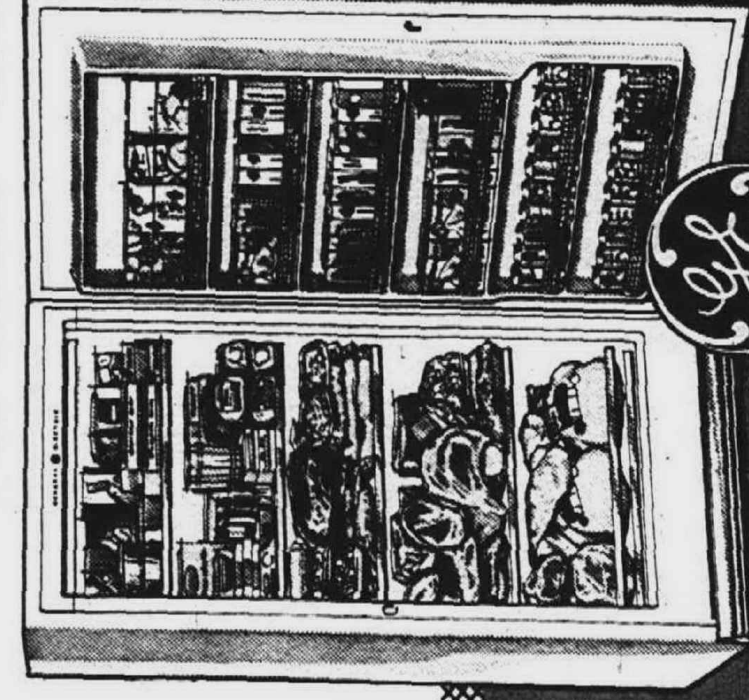

*The General Electric Company warrants to the purchaser that the color television set is free from defects in materials and workmanship for a period of one year from the date of purchase. This warranty does not cover defects caused by accident, misuse, or neglect. It also does not cover the cost of transportation, removal, or reinstallation.
