The Spirit of Christmas

Township Would Like Sidewalk Ordinance; It'll Have to Wait

The Plymouth Township Board wants a sidewalk ordinance, but it will be at least a month before one is passed. At its Tuesday meeting the board rejected an ordinance drawn up by the Township's attorney, Ralph Cole, and instructed Herald Hamill, township engineer, and Matt McLellan, township DPW director, to draw up an ordinance in consultation with Cole. Cole's draft ordinance did away with the size of a lot as a means of determining whether or not sidewalks were required, but, as Trustee Gene Overholt pointed out, it didn't require that subdivisions bordering on main thoroughfares have sidewalks.

Trustee Ralph Garber said he thought the original idea had been to have two ordinances - a sidewalk ordinance and a plat ordinance. The former would apply to all areas in the Township, while the latter would require developers to put sidewalks in new subdivisions. The elimination of all lot size requirements for sidewalks was strongly supported by Trustee Louis Norman, who said that eventually such a plan would have to be adopted.

Garber agreed that the need for sidewalks in residential areas was great, especially following heavy snows, when school children and people going to their mailboxes have to walk in the streets.

The cost of providing sidewalks just from schools to the major subdivisions, however, would probably run about $100,000, Garber pointed out, after the board had asked Hamill about costs.

Besides the ordinance for future subdivisions, Norman said, some thinking should be done about requirements for commercial sidewalks.

The Board reversed itself on the Mallory Chrysler tax error and decided to let the firm pay the tax on $11,030 and to pay the remainder from the township's excess of roll.

The auto firm had incorrectly computed its valuation at $68,840 by including all new cars as property. The error was not discovered until tax bills were mailed, and at that time it was too late to change the amount which the township had to pay the state.

At a special meeting last month the board decided to take the procedure outlined by Mallory's attorney to pay the full tax under protest and start litigation for recovery of the overpayment.

But this time the board took the recommendation of Supervisor John McEwen to pay the remaining $57,810 out of the excess of roll as a means of avoiding litigation.

The board approved plans to extend sanitary sewers on Ann Arbor Road between Haggerty and Terry streets and on Ann Arbor Trail from Riverside Drive subdivision No. 3 to Riverside Drive.

The extension of Ann Arbor Road would bring service to the new office of the Bank of the Commonwealth, which is scheduled to open there soon.

The bank building and not the sewer extension brought the comment from board members.

Overholt said that a similar structure, called an "instant bank" had been built in Westland and had been declared a temporary building. McEwen said he had asked the DPW superintendent if the building was in accordance with the ordinances and that it apparently was.

Most of the board members thought the building was not an asset to the community but that a building such as the Bank of the Commonwealth has at Warren and Middlebelt roads would be an asset.

Helen Richardson, township clerk, said she would put the item on the agenda for discussion at the Planning Commission meeting Wednesday, Dec. 21.

The board decided to go ahead with plans for providing recreational facilities for the community.

W. C. Johnson, the township planning consultant, was authorized to develop a use plan for the projected township recreation and civic center area. Included in this area would be such facilities as an auditorium and a swimming pool.

Purpose of the study, according to Elizabeth Holmes, township treasurer, would be to find out how much land would be needed for the proposed facilities.

Trustee Dick Lauterbach asked if the township was going to go its separate way in providing recreation or go along with the city.

"I think the city is going its own way," replied Garber. "Now is the time to provide recreation area. The school board plan is inadequate. And we should do this while the land is still within reason."

The board agreed that when

City Investigating Crash

Anxious to determine the real cause of the accident in which a police officer was badly injured in a smash-up at the intersection of Main St. and Penniman Avenue last Sunday, the City is making a complete investigation of the entire affair.

The smash-up occurred shortly after noon when Patrolman Lawrence Ray, answering a call in a police car, allegedly ran the red light. His flasher was on and the siren was screaming, according to reports.

As he approached the center of the intersection with the 1965 Ford police car, it came in contact with a car driven by Carl R. Dennis, 302 Roe Street.

The impact made a complete shambles of the police car and Patrolman Ray, who resides at 2590 East Michigan Avenue in Ypsilanti, suffered lacerations about the head and face that required 92 stitches. He was cut over the eye, on the upper lip and under the chin.

On the other hand Dennis escaped without injury, though the front end of his car was badly damaged.

"From what we have learned," City Manager Blodgett explained, "Officer Ray was on his way to an accident north of City Hall and had both lights flashing and the siren going."

"We are making a complete investigation of the case and will report to the City Commission when it is finished."

Livonia Distributes Licenses-Not Plates

There seems to be a bit of confusion now that the Secretary of State has established a new office in Livonia.

It is at this office on Five Mile Road, just East of Farmington Rd., to which you must go to obtain drivers' licenses. It is not for the distribution of plates.

License plates still can be obtained at the same stations at which they have been available in other years.

Board OKs Plans For Grade School

Expansion and change were the bywords as the Plymouth Board of Education approved this week plans for a new elementary school, heard about curriculum planning, and took the first steps to receive federal aid under the Open Spaces act.

The board approved final plans and specifications for Elementary School No. 8 and set Jan. 4 as the date when bids will be received.

The school will be similar to Tanger School and will accommodate a maximum of 420 students. Only a few items, such as the arrangement of offices, will differ from the Tanger model.

Earl Gibson, director of administrative services, commented that the multipurpose room in the school was really not large enough but that no change could be made at this time.

A larger room will have to be included in plans for school number 9, he said. At Bird and Farrand schools, he pointed out, about 500 of the 650 students were staying at the school through the lunch hour, resulting in overcrowding of the multipurpose room.

And more feeding of students, rather than less, should be expected in the future, Superintendent Kucyk said.

Commission Job Goes Begging

Three Down--And One to Go

The citizens of the City of Plymouth have been handed a prize puzzle for Christmas. The puzzle evolves around the City Commission and why there are no likely candidates rushing to City Hall to file their petitions.

With the deadline on January 3, only three petitions have been received and they are from incumbents—George Hudson, James Jabara and Arch Vallier. This leaves only George Lawton unaccounted for among the members whose terms are expiring. And there have been rumors that George is considering retirement from the city's august body.

Being a City Commissioner carries with it a considerable amount of prestige and glamour - and an opportunity to serve the community. That's why the citizens are puzzled at the apathy shown in filing petitions. Being a commissioner is a good job - it shouldn't go begging.

Schoolcraft Addition Approved

A huge addition to Schoolcraft College that will include a building containing 32 class rooms, a little theater and faculty offices, has been approved by the Board of Trustees.

The new building, which is part of the master plan, will be constructed south and east of the present library and is to cost approximately $1,250,000, of which both the state and federal government will share.

Now that the plan has been approved by the Trustees, the government must also give its final approval. This is expected shortly so that bids can be taken for construction.

Under the present time table, the building, badly needed at the school, will be completed early next March.

Along with approving final plans for the new building, the Trustees also approved a remodeling program for the former Campus Center and the installation of a sound system in the new Waterman Center.

The Trustees also approved the employment of Dr. George Hall, of the firm of Arthur D. Little & Associates, to make a complete analysis of the future of the college.

Continuing their forward look the Trustees also instructed the College Administration to draw up specifications for a cultural center that is expected to be added in the near future at an approximate cost of $3,000,000.

The little theater planned in the new building with the 32 class rooms will seat about 200 and have complete stage facilities. It is the first major step in developing the arts at the School and it will be a popular place for many other affairs, according to the officials.

OLGC Has New Pastor

Rev. Herman Kucyk, assistant pastor at Our Lady of Good Counsel was transferred to St. Michael's parish in Monroe on Dec. 14.

Father Kucyk was replaced by the Rev. J. Robert Schaden,

Goodfellows Given $7,200

Goodfellows had a mighty windfall this week when they received a check for $7,285 to help insure that there is "No Child Without a Christmas."

The gift came from the estate of Leona Harer, a life-long resident of Plymouth, who died Nov. 14, 1965 at the age of 81.

Mrs. Harer, the daughter of Charles and Jennie Merritt, had been a member of the First Methodist Church, the Plymouth Grange and the Sixty-Plus Club.

The gift came in the midst of a Goodfellow newspaper sale which, while successful, had fallen just short of the announced goal.

The check from Mrs. Harer is more than three times the annual earnings of the club from the sale of papers and other gifts.

This year they raised $1617.74 from the sale of papers and received $265 from the owner and employees at Chuck's Shell Service Station. Other gifts are expected to help the Goodfellows reach the $2,000 mark.

Goodfellow president John Kerciu issued this statement of his thanks to the community:

"On behalf of the Plymouth Goodfellows Association, as President I would like to take this opportunity to thank the good people of the Plymouth Community for their generous contributions to our paper sale to see that there is 'No Child Without a Christmas'.

"Also a big thank-you to all the members of the Goodfellows for their help.

"And to one of Plymouth's great humanitarians, Chuck's Shell Service Station, which donated the entire proceeds of business Saturday, Dec. 10 to the sum of $265. Thanks are extended to his entire staff.

"And to Plymouth Vending Co., Mrs. Mabel Hopkins, and her driver, Mrs. Selma Hegazis who furnished coffee and donuts for the Goodfellows to keep them warm." The boys thank you.

"Enclosing thanks to all. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Sleeves to be Used

Old Drinking Slogan Revised for Holidays

The Automobile Club of Michigan is discarding the traditional ironclad "If you drive, don't drink" admonition for the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

"For the first time we are facing the fact that 80 per cent of all motorists do have an occasional social drink—probably more during the upcoming holidays than at any other time," said Auto Club General Manager Fred N. Rehm.

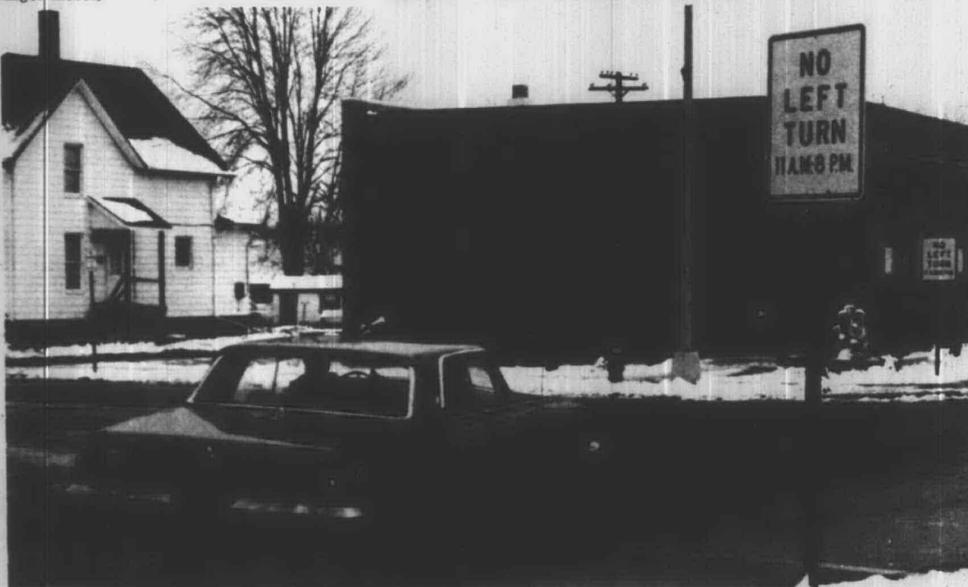

He announced the start of a campaign geared to the holiday host, asking him not to kill his guests with hospitality by encouraging them to overindulge.

"We will distribute TV, radio and newspaper educational material specially designed by Auto Club with an approach never tried before," Rehm said. "We will distribute to motorists and bar owners pamphlets that can be converted into reminder 'sleeves' to be slipped over liquor bottles, carrying a 'none for the road' message to holiday hosts and guests."

They'll be available free at all Auto Club offices.

The campaign is the largest ever attempted in Michigan aimed at curbing holiday drinking and driving, Rehm said.

YES, IT REALLY DOES say "No Left Turn," and this driver is one of hundreds of Plymouth residents who turn left every week at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Harvey Street in downtown Plymouth. The signs were put up to stop the blocking of southbound traffic on Harvey, especially traffic from the city parking lot, by cars waiting to turn. When the street is widened, the signs will be removed. Until then, the city is considering hanging a sign in the middle of the intersection to make the "No Left Turn" more noticeable.

Permits Here

Applications are now being taken by the Plymouth Police Department for on-street parking permits.

The current permits, which allow parking between 2 and 6 a.m. on city streets, expire Dec. 31. People who have limited parking space at their homes may apply for the permits.

Board Seeks Higher Rank In Bonds

Action to improve the school district's bond rating will be taken at the first of the year. Gerald Fischer, school board president, and Melvin Blunk, assistant superintendent for business, will visit the two major rating companies - Standard and Poor's and Moody's - in New York.

They will present information on the district's debt and past payment record in an attempt to raise the rating from the present BAA rating.

A higher rating would probably increase the interest rate given on the $5.5 million in bonds which the school district will issue in the coming months.

All New Drivers Go on Probation

LANSING - Starting January 1, all initial driver licenses issued in Michigan will be probationary in nature.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said that in compliance with a new law passed by the Legislature, his Department is gearing up for issuance of the probationary licenses to all new driver licensees.

"We have already ordered new forms to be used for these probationary licenses, and we plan to have them in all examining stations as soon as they become available," Hare said.

These will be issued to all persons obtaining original Michigan's driver licenses and will be designated and clearly marked as probationary for one year from the date of issuance. This does not include persons who were licensed drivers in other states, Hare noted.

"Licenses of probationary drivers will be suspended if the person is convicted of one moving violation in Michigan during the one-year probationary period or upon failure to appear before a magistrate to answer a traffic summons.

"Suspension period would be determined at the re-examination of the driver, but according to law, cannot be for less than one month or more than 12 months," Hare stated.

He also advocated a state-wide network of "refresher" driver training schools aimed at the 18-20-year-old group which has the highest involvement in accidents and violations against the Michigan's driver point system.

"Training these persons would have to be carefully accomplished to include both group and individual counseling where necessary to help these young drivers understand themselves in relation to their driving problems. Often these are family, drinking, and psychological problems.

"There should be more emphasis on the relationship of drinking and driving and the referral program for alcohol drinkers and under-21 alcoholics," Hare said.

He added that some counties already had the mechanics for such refresher schools through county driver safety schools.

"There are 13 in operation which helped some 6,000 drivers last year, most of these through courts and driver improvement operations of the Michigan Department of State."

He pointed to the need for such schools in all sections of the state, designed to help the younger driver.

JAMES J. CHAVIS, formerly Assistant Director of Sales, was recently named General Sales Manager of Evans Products Company's Railway Equipment Division. The announcement was made by R. K. Tobin, Director of Sales. Chavis has been with Evans thirteen years. Prior to moving to the company's Plymouth, Michigan offices when he became Assistant Director of Sales, he was Manager of the Transportation Equipment Group's Southwestern Region.

Boost Road Signal Size

LANSING - The State Highway Commission has announced installation of 30 oversize traffic signals on a 26-mile section of US-24 (Telegraph Rd.) in Wayne and Oakland Counties. The new traffic signals, which are 50 percent larger than regular traffic lights, were installed on US-24 from Eureka Rd. in southern Wayne County north to Long Lake Rd. near Pontiac.

The oversize signals were installed on an experimental basis in an effort to reduce accidents on heavily-traveled Telegraph Road.

'66 Grads Invited By School

The Plymouth High School Guidance Department is inviting all 1966 graduates to meet with their former teachers and classmates on Wednesday, Dec. 21.

The "informal get-together" is the third annual attempt to visit with former students, according to Counselor Robert S. Southgate.

Southgate hopes to learn from them "how the guidance function and total school program is serving them now that they are out of school."

All former students are welcome, he said, although last year's seniors are the only ones who will receive the invitation.

The meeting between graduates and the faculty will be held in the auditorium at 2:38, after classes are dismissed. Refreshments will be served.

If they wish, graduates may also visit classes during the last class hour, which starts at 1:38. "In this way," Southgate said, "present seniors can profit by the experiences of graduates concerning job placement, college success, and military service."

Two Plymouth counselors, James Doyle and Mrs. Donna Stevens, met in November with 1966 graduates who are now attending the University of Michigan.

Belinda Pate Gets Award

Belinda Pate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Allen Pate, 9074 Sheldon, is among the more than 70 scholarship recipients at Abilene (Tex.) Christian College this semester.

Miss Pate received a special scholarship based on achievement, character and need. A 1966 graduate of Plymouth High School, she is a freshman physical education major.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ were conducted Sunday, Dec. 10 at 2:30 p.m.

The new sanctuary and education building are located on a five-acre plot on the northeast corner of Ann Arbor and McClumpha Roads.

Construction is expected to begin immediately on the building. Contractors are Henry Sonagere of Allen Park, architectural; Hafke Brothers of Detroit, mechanical; and Down River Electric of Trenton, electrical.

Worship services are now being conducted at the present chapel at 41233 Ann Arbor Tr. Services are at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

Sunday School classes meet at 9:45 p.m. at Allen School on Haggerty Road with classes for students from three years to college age. Adult class studies at the chapel.

The congregation was established by the English District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod. The building project is being financed by the Church Extension Fund of the English District, which exists to provide capital to purchase property and build churches for young congregations.

The Plymouth congregation will purchase its church plant from the Extension Fund on a land contract basis.

Traffic Violators Top State List

Michigan State Police officers made 22,275 arrests in October, 20,009 of them for traffic offenses and 2,266 on criminal complaints, according to the department's monthly activity report.

In addition, 750 juvenile traffic offenders were arrested and 694 delinquent minors and one wayward minor apprehended.

Troopers assisted 5,799 motorists, investigated 10,772 cars, issued 23,531 oral warnings to drivers, and made 13,123 property and 2,011 liquor inspections.

The identification section received 15,567 sets of fingerprints, of which 8,618 were criminal and 6,949 noncriminal. Two wanted persons were identified.

Of 3,038 applicants for permits to carry concealed weapons, 164 were identified with criminal records through their prints.

Two unknown dead were identified by the same means.

The scientific crime laboratory conducted 663 examinations, 438 of them on questioned documents, 127 on firearms, 41 on tool markings, 37 botanical and 21 miscellaneous.

Laboratory assistances numbered 47 for the State Police, 54 for municipal police, 22 for sheriffs and 10 for other agencies.

The fraudulent check section received and processed 294 bogus checks, identifying 97 of them by name or with previous specimen. Total face value of the checks was $22,642.74, an average of $77.01.

The fire marshal division reported investigations of four explosions, 52 incendiary fires, 20 cases of violations of fire safety regulations, and 105 other fire cases.

Field inspections included 118 schools, 19 hospitals, 93 nursing homes, four state properties, five flammable liquid and five liquefied petroleum gas bulk plants, and three miscellaneous.

Twenty-eight nursing homes and 21 hospitals were certified to the state health department of licensing.

Final building plans processed included 67 schools, five hospitals, two nursing homes and 16 state properties.

Old Newsboys Deserve Much Better Fate

Even though the Goodfellows missed their goal — just a bit — there will be "No Kiddie Without a Christmas," and the warm-hearted men who braved the cold and wind and ice and slush last Saturday to peddle their papers deserve the heart-felt thanks of the entire community.

Never is the Christmas Spirit shown to greater advantage than on the Old Newsboy's Goodfellow Day. Here are men who could just as easily sit at home, or tend only to their own business, taking the time to risk life and limb, and their health, in an attempt to bring joy to otherwise saddened homes.

Theirs is an effort that never should be permitted to fail. It should be a movement in which everyone who could spare cash — even if it is just a few nickels — should join to make sure that the drive is a success.

This year the Old Newsboys had hoped to reach a goal of $2500. This is not too high a goal to set in today's economy. It had been hoped that at least $2000 would be raised in the sale of papers and that the remaining $500 would come in special gifts.

The goal was missed — just a bit. The paper sale netted only slightly more than $1600. But the work will go on just the same and there will be a Christmas for all the under-privileged.

This is a sad state of affairs and the hard work of the stout hearted men who braved the weather and endangered their health deserved a better fate.

How can this be accomplished? These Old Newsboys — all volunteers — need help. They need it not only on Goodfellow Day. They need it all year long.

What they need more than anything else is sound organization and professional leadership. They need someone to stir stir up interest and then guide it into the proper channels. This is not to mean criticism of the present officers and members. They are doing the best they can — with the tools they have.

But they need organization and a driving spirit.

Just a few short weeks ago, the Plymouth Community Fund Drive went over the top in a big way. Why? Because it had a real organization.

Edward Schening, of Burroughs, who knows his way around in the business world recognized that a sound organization was needed to make a success of the venture. And he set about getting it.

Once the organization was set in motion everything clicked and, like a smooth working machine, it reached the goal with, seemingly, little effort.

It wasn't easy. But good organization made it look so.

This is what the Old Newsboys need.

And now is the time to plan for next year.

Their present enthusiasm never should be allowed to go unrewarded.

Could It Be That We Expect Too Much

One of the frailties of the human race is that we take too much for granted. At times this attitude leads us into the strata of thought that encourages us to believe we are better than we really are.

Once a once-a-week golfer breaks par, for instance, he thinks he has become a par shooter. And he becomes most discouraged any time he goes out to play and doesn't beat the card.

What he doesn't realize is that he isn't a par golfer and the day he did shatter par — or break it — it was just a matter of good fortune — just as a blind squirrel will find a nut on occasion.

There comes to mind an afternoon of the long ago and a scene in the Yankee's dressing room at Tiger Stadium. It was a half hour before the game and the Yankees were lolling around in the club house relaxing — that is, all save one were relaxing. The lone member was Joe Di Maggio.

At the moment he was just a newcomer with the Yanks and was only beginning his climb to stardom.

He was stamping around, mumbling, and cussing and pounding his bat on the floor. At the time he figured he was in a slump. He had batted at a .420 clip for several weeks — and now had been hitless for several days.

After watching him for a few moments, Lou Gehrig, the likable "Iron Man" of the Yankees called him over.

"Listen Joe," he said, "snap out of it. You've got to make up your mind that you are not a .420 hitter. Just go out there and take your regular swing and at the end of the season you will be about .360 and that's about your speed."

Di Maggio took the advice and ended that season with an average of exactly .350, just as Gehrig said he would.

This story is recalled at this time because of some of the statements being issued by the heads of auto companies that have a tendency to cause a bit of fear for the future.

Last week Henry Ford II let it be known that we could expect a cut back in production in 1967 and that this cut back could bring an end to overtime and the start of a short work week.

Now comes James Rowe, President of General Motors, with a prophecy that the auto industry will build more than 10,000,000 cars and trucks next year.

Then he added, "This will be down quite a bit from last year, but it will still be the third best year we ever have known."

What he was saying, in so many words, was just what Lou Gehrig told Joe Di Maggio.

Just because the auto industry sold well over 10,000,000 cars last year, doesn't mean that we have arrived at a 10,000,000 par for a year.

We possibly have been taking too much for granted in our economy. When we realize that there must be ups and downs — hills and valleys in our economy, just as in everything else, only then will we escape fear.

To recall the famed words of FDR at his first inauguration away back in 1932 —

"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

Road Commission: Here's Timely Tip

With the amazing rise of traffic deaths in the Plymouth area it is about time that the State Highway Commission took its eyes off the Freeway system and took a good look at the condition of the secondary roads.

In the past two weeks a half-dozen persons lost their lives in the area to set an all-time record for this section — and the accidents, for one cause or another, happened on the narrow, two-lane roads.

It is these so-called "secondary" roads that are in deplorable condition — and no time should be lost in making the necessary repairs and improvements.

Five Mile Road, between Plymouth and Livonia, is a fitting example.

Along most of this route the pavement has broken off at the edges. In places there are cavities a foot deep, just on the edge of the road. It doesn't take much imagination to see what would happen should a speeding car hit one of these. And in some cases, the driver could not be blamed, for the paving has broken off a foot inside the edge.

When a person is accustomed to driving our freeways, with a speed limit of 70 miles per hour, it is only second nature to go full tilt on these "secondary" roads. These old-fashioned two-lane roads are a bad enough, at best. Now, in poor repair, they are a hazard that merits immediate attention.

Five Mile Road is only one example. The same is true of Northville Road, Ann Arbor Road, Ann Arbor Trail and a host of others.

While folks are asking, "What can be done," it might be well if the State Highway Commission took some action.

Plymouth Soldier Cites Experiences in Vietnam

What is every day life like in Vietnam? What are the thrills and fears along the fighting front? Learn of the emotions, the dreams and the disappointments where the fighting is the fiercest. And learn it from a Plymouth High School graduate, Jay Christie, in these excerpts from letters he has written to a friend of long standing

VIETNAM

Dear Mrs. Haefner:

I don't know if I wrote to say "thank you" for the Kool-Aid. We've been drinking it 24 hours a day, because we can't drink the plain water over here. The entire 3rd squad is always coming to visit me and they usually bring their canteen cup. Sometimes, even the platoon leader and platoon sergeant come down for a chat. And, of course, they always bring their canteen cups.

My machine gun crew is now known as "The Kool-Aid Squad" because we even put it in our canteens when we go on a mission.

We still are at Loé Nink, close to the Cambodian border and we're really been getting the action up here. We've been mortared, mass attacked, VC booby trapped, and the VC has attacked our patrols from trees.

We were called out the other day when the VC hit one of companies from trees. They were using hand grenades and we had to shoot straight up to get them. I almost melted the barrel on my machine gun.

We had 31 killed, 25 wounded and the VC captured plenty of our equipment.

It really was sickening to see them carrying all those American GI's out after the battle. Just thinking how close those bullets were hitting and how easily I could have been a casualty is frightening. But we are going out tonight to surround a village and attack early in the morning.

Wish me luck!

JAY

VIETNAM

Dear Mrs. Haefner:

Well, I got back okay and now we are having things just a bit quiet for a few days. From the news reports we are getting some action along Highway #13 where the VC are using 50 caliber machine guns.

They had air strikes called and an American artillery pounded them throughout the day. They had a body count of 200 and it is thought the VC dragged away many more. That's the way the VC operates. They go into combat with ropes and vines tied to their feet so when they are shot they can be pulled away. This way the Americans can't tell how many of them were actually killed.

We were on a small battle near Cambodia a while back and we didn't find a single VC body. Kind of leaves your morale low when you fire all that ammunition and you don't find any one who was hit.

You probably read about the B 52's bombing Hanoi for the past three days. This ought to either start one h--l of a campaign or start some peace talks at the bargaining table.

You should see those B 52's when they go out on a mission.

They really look bold and it gives you a little tingle up your spine when you think they are on your side.

This is a mild war compared to some of the others in the past,

This sounds like bragging so I'll have to stop.

JAY

Dear Mrs. Haefner:

Well, here I am again and there's not much happening around here now, but I did want to tell you that we are going out again so don't know when I'll be able to write again.

I had to go up the other day to see the Br. C.O. I didn't know what it was for, but when I got there, he pinned the Purple Heart on me and gave me a lecture on how proud he was of me. This is a new C.O. and it makes you feel good to know that he cares about his men.

JAY

LAI KHE

Dear Mrs. Haefner:

I have some wonderful news. I went up the other day for an interview for a job at Battalion Headquarters and they told me just a little while ago to report tomorrow morning with bag and baggage. I will still be here in Lai Khe, but it is a pretty good job and a lot safer.

I am now a Tactical Operations Control Radio Telephone Operator. After seven and one half months on line as a machine gunner, it's about time I was getting a break.

You are only supposed to have six months in the field, but it doesn't always work out that way.

JAY

LAI KHE

Dear Mrs. Haefner:

Just a line to let you know my address is Co. B, again. I was getting ready to load my things in the jeep and the Company Commander came up and told me I would not make the transfer. He said I was too valuable to the company.

What a lot of malarkey. It really made me mad and I am so blue right now I could care less about what happens.

Well, today is Thanksgiving Day and it doesn't seem as though there is much to be thankful for.

I guess the big thing is that I am still alive. I am pulling a perimeter guard around Lai Khe and it is quite a drag.

Affectionately,

Good Old Days...

50 Years Ago

A great deal of interest has been manifested in Plymouth's first community Christmas tree. People are hoping this will be the first of many years for this custom. The tree will be brought from the forest and set at the edge of Kellogg Park on Main Street. It is to be decorated by the carpenters and electricians. The band will play and people will sing the old Christmas favorites at an outdoor program.

Miss Pauline Peck spent the weekend in Kansas City, Missouri, visiting friends.

The Harry Laibles entertained last Tuesday evening. The occasion was the birthday of Milton Laible. Other guests were Mrs. Milton Laible, and two sons, Graham and Robert and Mrs. James Bentley.

Christmas Comes to Plymouth

Christmas is a time of exhaustion and bills, say modern day critics. This is true all too often.

In Plymouth the different women's church groups are trying to combat this with their programs for the season. These programs aren't dreary lectures that only cause the listener's mind to wander, until she happens to remember some more Christmas presents that she should be out buying.

Old ideas have come full circle and become new again. In the middle ages plays were produced in the churches. Twenty years ago holding a play in a church would have been thought sacrilegious. Today, striking plays and pageants are again being presented in the sanctuaries of churches.

The high school group of the Methodist Church gave a play early this month about adventures that might have befallen the three kings on their trip to Bethlehem.

To highlight the mystery and uncertainty that surrounded the journey, the play was given without bright lights. The players carried flashlights to light the stage. This created a backdrop of immense shadows.

The Methodist women's group also gave a play at their meeting Wednesday, Dec. 14.

In keeping with the broader, ecumenical spirit now seen in all churches, the play takes place during the Jewish feast of Chanukah.

It is 35 years after the birth of Christ. Chanukah is a feast which commemorates the Jewish victory over the tyrannical King of Syria.

During this happy time

Christ's mother Mary, Mary Magdalene and their friend, Sarah reminisce about Christ's life and wonder if it was a victory or a defeat.

"The conclusion is that Christ didn't live in vain," says Mrs. Charles Childs who played Mary.

Mrs. Childs rehearsed for four weeks along with Mrs. James Parshall, who played Sarah; and Mrs. George Griggs, who was Mary Magdalene.

"We owe a lot to Mrs. Edna Byers, who was our reader," says Mrs. Childs. "She had been in this sort of thing before she came to Plymouth."

"Even little details like what kind of table to use have to be figured out. Mrs. Byers was a big help in creating an Asiatic effect."

The Presbyterian women also arranged their Christmas program on Dec. 14 with a slant on the arts.

"We showed a film strip of religious art from the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York," explains Mrs. Thomas Adams, program chairman.

"Artists through the ages have shown Christmas scenes from their own point of view."

"One of the most interesting was Mantegna who lived between 1431 and 1506. He was fascinated by perspective and color."

"He has bright red and grey angels in one of his paintings, 'The Adoration of the Shepherds.'"

Mrs. David Wood read appropriate Biblical passages during the program.

Music wasn't forgotten. Mrs. Don Carlson sang while Mrs. Richard Braun played the viola.

"We chose carols which would go along with the pictures, so it would be a unified performance," explains Mrs. Carlson.

Besides enervating their meetings so that they will have a message that means something in the world of today, women have also been practicing what they preach.

Mrs. Phillip Settles and Mrs. Robert Szilagyi, who teach catechism at Our Lady of Good Counsel, have interest in collecting new toys for the children at the Wayne County Training School.

"There are 125 girls and boys between seven and 16 who don't have anywhere to go for Christmas. They might easily be forgotten, so we decided to do something about it," says Mrs. Settles.

Last Saturday night 11 couples from the Methodist Church went around caroling at all the homes of the shut-ins in the church.

A tradition has developed about decorating the Methodist Church. Usually one family does it as their own special project.

For years the Joseph Witters decorated it as a family project.

Mrs. James Gilbert has been doing the decorating for the last three years.

This year she gathered pine cones during a summer vacation in Washington State to use in her pine wreaths in the church.

These are a few things being done to make Christmas more than a time to wonder if everyone you sent a card to is going to send you one.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Puckett of 14605 Haggerty Rd., Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter Shirley Ann to Mr. Thomas J. Wandrey of Flint.

Miss Puckett and Mr. Wandrey are school teachers in the Bently School District in Flint.

Miss Puckett is a graduate of Evangel College in Springfield, Missouri. Mr. Wandrey is a graduate of Michigan State University, Lansing.

A June wedding is planned.

Let Children Help Make Christmas Tree Decorations

Children love to help at Christmas. Here are some Christmas tree decorations that even the youngest can make, with their mother's help. Drawings are from "Childcraft - The How and Why Library", a set of books for younger children from the publishers of "The World Book Encyclopedia".

To make an angel, begin by drawing a large circle on shelf paper, using a large circle pattern. Cut out the circle and fold it in half. Cut the circle in half along the fold. Bend the half circle into a cone, bringing Corners A and B together as in the picture. Fasten it in place with staples or paste.

Fold a sheet of white paper. Put the small circle pattern on the paper, with the edge of the circle at the fold. Draw around the circle and cut it out, but do not cut across the fold. When you unfold the paper, you will have two small circles fastened to each other. See picture.

Draw a face on one of the small circles. Paste cotton hair to the other. Paste the bottom of each circle to the top of the cone.

Fold another piece of shelf paper. Draw a wing at the fold as shown in the picture.

Children love to help at Christmas. Here are some Christmas tree decorations that even the youngest can make, with their mother's help. Drawings are from "Childcraft - The How and Why Library", a set of books for younger children from the publishers of "The World Book Encyclopedia".

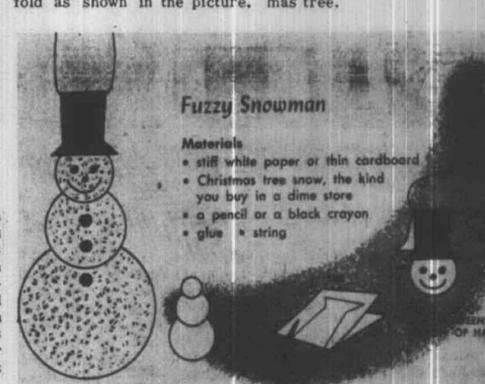

To make a fuzzy snowman, start by drawing three circles on stiff paper. Make one big circle, one middle-sized circle, and one small circle. Cut out all three circles. The paste the circles together as shown in the picture.

Draw in a face. Draw buttons on the snowman. Cut a hat out of paper and put it on the snowman's head. The hat can be colored black, or you can cut it out of black paper.

Carefully cover the snowman with glue. Try not to put the glue where the buttons and the facemasks are.

Now, sprinkle the snowman with the store snow. The snow will stick to the wet glue. Let it dry, and tie a string to the top of the snowman so that you can hang it from a tree.

To make a candy cane, begin by bending a pipe cleaner into a cane shape. Cut a thin strip of crepe paper. The wind the strip on a slant around the pipe cleaner. Glue the end to the pipe cleaner. The hang the cane on your Christmas tree.

Nativity Figures You Can Create

Mrs. Kenneth Legowsky of Hartsough has created some gold nativity figures which would look good in any home. Here are Mrs. Legowsky's directions:

The gold figurines can be used as angels, Madonnas, shepherds, or wisemen.

First get a large detergent bottle with wide shoulders, to use as a base. Wallpaper paste, old sheets and a small styrofoam ball are the other main ingredients.

A wire coat hanger is needed to form the neck, shoulders, arms and hands of the figure.

Use a pliers or wire cutter and cut off the top of the coat hanger, above where it is twisted together. Then cut off the complete bottom of the hanger. You should have left the two sides and top to just above the twist.

Mix the paste in a ratio of one cup paste to three and a half cups of water.

Make hooks at the ends of the two sides of the hanger to form the hands. Take old kitchen toweling and saturate it in the wallpaper paste.

Wind the toweling around the hooks to make the hands.

The arms and hands should be formed into the positions you want, and then the wire is taped to the shoulder part of the bottle.

It is necessary to cut two slots in the bottle. The hanger will fit into these slots, and lay flat on top of the bottle.

Cut a strip of the sheeting about three inches wide and 20 inches long. Fold it in half lengthwise and wet it thoroughly in the paste.

Twist this loosely around the arms to make the sleeves.

Measure another piece twice the length of the bottle, plus eight inches. The width of the strip should be half of the length.

Cut a hole for the head half way down the length of the strip. Dip this into the paste and drape it around the bottle. Tuck the surplus length underneath to give the figurine a better base, and so that no ragged edges will show. Overlap the sides of the sheeting.

Lace trimming should be glued on for the king's collar. The small styrofoam ball is used as the head. Soak strips of paper toweling in the paste. Then wrap this around the ball. Squeeze the ball several times to make the toweling look smooth.

Put the ball firmly on the hook that is left on the hanger. Dip yarn in paste and use that for the hair.

Let the figure dry for 24 hours.

When it is dry glue anything you wish to the hands. Two of Mrs. Legowsky's three kings hold small pieces of cork, the other has a small light bulb and three beads.

Spray the figures at least two times with a good gold enamel paint.

"The cheaper paints just won't cover the material well enough," explains Mrs. Legowsky.

After it is all finished glue gold braid on the heads of the kings. Elmer's glue is fine for this.

Besides sheeting the figures can also be made in burlap and terry cloth. This gives a more textured effect. These materials are especially good for shepherds.

The finished figures are both light and very sturdy. "I carried mine to a meeting in the trunk of my car without any damage to them," says Mrs. Legowsky.

GROOMING TIPS

When good grooming is practiced in teen years, it becomes a lifetime habit that's easy to keep. A booklet, prepared by Dial Research Laboratories, tells young people how to establish an easy-to-follow good grooming program. For your free copy of "How to Make Good Grooming a Habit," write Good Grooming, Box 3342, Merchandise Mart Station, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

SILVER A LA MODE

There's much hullabaloo these days about The Mod Look and Carnaby Street, but it's not just the swinging teens who are concerned with keeping in step. That's why the Toni Company reminds women who have gray hair (and like it that way) that they, too, can be in vogue—with Silver Curl, a home permanent that keeps natural gray hair softly curled, bright and shining.

Interesting Houses

Plymouth Bragged About Its Water Supply

Mrs. West descends her beautifully polished staircase. The original wood is still without a scratch in most parts of the house.

Towers and stained glass made this an "in" house at the turn of the century.

Engagement Good Buys at the Grocers

Mr. and Mrs. James Hargreaves of Lakewood Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Grace, to David Kenneth Engler, son of the William Englers of Wayne. Miss Hargreaves is a 1964 graduate of Plymouth High School. Her fiancé is a 1962 graduate of Plymouth High School and served four years with the United States Air Force. A winter wedding is planned.

EGGS AND DAIRY: Egg prices are holding steady. With a 4-7% difference between large and medium sizes of the same quality, there is no doubt that the large eggs are the best value by weight. . . Remember that when the price difference becomes greater than 7% per dozen, than the medium eggs become the better buy. . . Cottage cheese and oleomargarine are most commonly featured at dairy counters this week though eggnog and a number of chip dips are in some ads.

VEGETABLES: Supplies of fresh vegetables are much smaller than last year. There are some good buys on head lettuce.

FRUITS: Oranges are in peak supply this month. Naval oranges will be increasing in supply within the next few weeks. Grapefruit are also in abundance. With a peak 50% of the tangerine crop moving to market, prices are down.

POULTRY: The abundance of frying chickens available has resulted in low prices this week. Retails on the whole and cut-up birds and on the fryer parts are down this week. Remember that either breasts or legs will be 10-15% less per pound when a part of the back is attached - and packages should be so-labeled. Breasts or legs alone yield more edible meat and so may cost more.

PORK: The most common bargains are on center-cut chops and bacon. Smoked hams are fairly high in cost.

It was 1900. The Gay Nineties were over. A new century was beginning. Plans were being made for a World's Fair in St. Louis.

"Plymouth is a village of 1,500," to quote a Plymouth Mail from that time. "It is situated at the junction of the Saginaw and Grand Rapids division of the Pere Marquette railroad . . ."

"The people of Plymouth are blessed with one of the finest water works systems in the country. The water comes from a never-failing spring four and a half miles distant, and was piped to the village at a cost of $30,000.

"Plymouth is certainly progressing. For nearly half a century the old town was in a sort of semi-comatose condition, but there has been an awakening. It is growing, and it is not a mushroom growth such as some villages and cities enjoy for a brief period and then suffer a relapse from which they never recover.

"Plymouth is pushing to the front with a gradual healthy growth which promises to make it the peer of any Michigan village of like population."

The paper cites the Daisy Manufacturing Co. and the Markham Air Rifle Co. as being the leading industries of the village.

"Another sign of enterprise," continues the paper, "is the existence of a local telephone exchange. The line was started Sept. 10, 1900 with 65 subscribers."

Also at this time, Don Kelly was building a house for his wife, Amy.

It was at 128 Union St., in the new Fralick subdivision. The Fralick subdivision was nothing fancy, just a place for nice middle class houses.

Kelly's house wasn't ostentatious. But it was a place a man could be proud of. It had the then popular stained glass windows, and plenty of gingerbread on the outside.

The Jesse Wests, present owners, have taken off the gingerbread, because it wasn't in good condition any more. But the stained glass windows are still there.

Kelly signed the papers for the land on August 23, 1899. He probably didn't start building until the spring of 1900. While building the house, someone scratched 1900 in the concrete floor of the basement. It is also etched in the mortar in a nearby stone wall.

There are two stone walls 18 inches thick which run across the width of the basement, and serve to support the house.

Sometime during the building of the house Kelly became hard pressed for money. In September 1900, he had to mortgage the place. The mortgage was only for $100. But the interest was seven per cent.

Kelly must have been able to pay off the mortgage without too much trouble, because there isn't any official record of it.

The Kellys sold their house in 1911 for $1900. Just why and what happened to the Kellys isn't known for sure.

Henry and Maude Steinmetz, who bought the place, lived there for 40 years.

Steinmetz worked for the Pere Marquette railroad, which became a part of the C & O railroad about 25 years ago. They had no children.

In 1941, while the Steinmetzes were still living there, the Jesse Wests moved to town. They rented a house a few doors down, and started looking for a place to buy.

"We must have looked at over 100 houses," said West. All the while they were looking, they kept an eye on this house.

It took 10 years, but finally they were able to buy it.

Both Steinmetzes died, and the house had to be sold to settle the estate.

"I saw an ad in the paper, and we went right over to see the real estate man," said Mrs. West.

Their years of searching for a house were over, and they moved in.

The house still has the original woodwork around the doors. Wooden door knobs were put on the doors, when the house was built, and many of them are still in perfect condition.

West, who was born in a log cabin, and his wife have kept the house in good condition, but like many other homeowners they miss several trees they lost because of Dutch Elm disease last year.

Vegetables Add Color

ANN ARBOR - By using imagination and flair in the way you serve vegetables, you can make your meals more attractive in taste, color and texture, say dietitians at The University of Michigan Medical Center.

Peas and spinach - good sources of certain nutrients - can lend their natural color to the table setting. And, with the addition of sauces and seasonings, they bring extra sparkle to a meal.

Carrots and beets can perk up the look and the taste of a meal, particularly if served with mint or orange glaze.

Cucumbers, usually eaten raw, take on a novel taste when cooked and served with sour cream or melted butter. And corn gains far more "eye appeal" when prepared Mexican style with green pepper and pimento, or when baked as a scalloped corn dish.

Speaking of Women

Margaret Murawski-Women's Editor

Please remember the new deadline for the Women's Pages is Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Weideman puts this casserole in the oven, and then doesn't have to do anything more to it.

Specialty of the house

Dish Combines Vegetables

Mrs. Robert Weideman of Drury Lane has a casserole dish which she recommends as being a good way to take care of both vegetable and potato for a meal.

The Weidemans and their three children moved to Plymouth from Rhodesia almost a year ago.

Weideman worked in Rhodesia for almost four years.

"We just loved it," says Mrs. Weideman. "It was very peaceful when we were there."

"Living in a place like that is ideal for a woman, because servants are so cheap," she added.

POTATO, ONION AND BROCCOLI CASSEROLE
Sauce
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup flour
2 1/2 cups milk
pinch dry mustard
1/4 pound Old English cheese
1/4 teaspoon lemon juice (add more if desired)

Drain two cans of small potatoes and put in the bottom of the casserole dish.

Add two packages of partially cooked frozen broccoli.

On top of the broccoli add two cans drained small onions. Add the sauce.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. This will serve six to eight.

"It is easy to make, and will keep in the oven if it isn't served right away," says Mrs. Weideman.

"There is enough sauce, so that it won't get dry if it is left in the oven for an extra half an hour or 45 minutes."

This makes it ideal to put in the oven if you have to go out before dinner and aren't sure exactly when you'll be back.

Another time this dish comes in handy is if you are having guests and don't want to have to rush them to dinner.

Wedding Announced

Dessie Lee Biggs was married to Henry W. Kaiser on Nov. 26 at the home of Judge Ruteo on Marlowe St.

The bride, who is a widow, chose her youngest son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Caksackkar as attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaiser are living at 549 West Ann Arbor Trail.

She is employed by Galins Manufacturing Co., while he works for the Burroughs Corp.

Strictly social

Last weekend was full of holiday festivities. Mrs. Ron Coosa entertained at a cocktail party before the Newcomers Club Dance on Saturday night. Some of those invited were the Thomas Lewises, James Hothems, and Howard Oldfords.

Mr. and Mrs. James Olsen were there (she wore a long dress with white crepe skirt, green velvet top and matching green cape).

The James Jackas chatted with the Richard Brooks over a cup of punch.

The Stuart Oldfords and Norman Ruehrs dropped in for a few minutes before going on to spend the evening in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Terry West came by on their way to an office party.

A group from Woodlore were at the dance. It included the Donald MacKenzie's, Carl Johnsons, and John Van Wagoners. Mrs. Van Wagoner, who looked very gay in a short yellow dress with white fringe around the neckline and hem, entertained at a breakfast after the dance.

The Robert Braids, Gene Fishers and Bruce Goodsites all sat together. Mrs. Goodsite was particularly striking in a full length turquoise dress with turquoise tunic. The tunic had bugle beads around the neckline and hem.

The Carl Whites came to the dance. So did the Thomas Spades. The William Beviars and the Gerald Stevens came together.

Also on Saturday Rotary members treated their wives to an informal dinner and bingo party at the Mayflower Meeting House.

The Harold Curtises were at one table, along with the Louis Borregards, their son and daughter-in-law, the Donald Borregards, and their guests Mr. and Mrs. George Tabaka.

The wives of former Rotarians were special guests. They were Mesdames George Smith, Paul Wiedman, Sterling Eaton, Carl Hopkins, Gerald Pease and Helen Wickens.

The James Taylors were there with their friends the Roderick Marsdens. Marsdens are former Plymouthites.

After all that activity on Saturday night, you might think everyone would be too tired to go to the Plymouth Symphony concert on Sunday afternoon.

Not so. There was one of the biggest turnouts of the season at the concert.

It was a family day. The Ray Hulces brought their son, Tom. The John Gaffields came with their daughter, Carol. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Sullivan were there with five of their six children.

Dr. and Mrs. John Pulker were at the concert. It was Mrs. Pulker's first outing after her recent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. James Warren might well have been the proudest parents in the auditorium. Their son, Jim, was making his debut playing base with the orchestra.

At intermission time several members of the women's Symphony League served coffee and sandwiches to the performers in the orchestra and chorus.

Servers were Mesdames James Knowles, James Jabara, Thomas Powell, Donald Graham and C.A. Robinson.

Mr. Marshall Acuff of New York (she's the former Dana Troutman) spent the past two weeks visiting her parents, the Harvey Troutmans, while her husband was at Army Reserve camp.

the area became more developed, three separate recreation systems would not be too much.

After receiving a letter from Joseph A. Parisi, Jr., director of the Michigan Townships Association, the board passed a "resolution of intent" to join the southeastern Michigan Council of Governments.

Thirty-seven governmental units, including three townships, had voted to join at the time. The Plymouth City Commission voted to join last week.

Parisi said that joining the council would be beneficial and that it would not endanger the township form of government. The entire board voted in favor of joining but not before Garber issued a warning that "This is the beginning of the end of township government."

Charges for making water connections were raised by $25 for 3/4-in. taps and by $50 for 1-in. taps. Present charges for taps have ranged from $140 to $205, depending on the width of the road.

Profit on the installation of taps has declined from $51 to $21 during the past year, according to Mrs. Holmes. The auditor said that a $25 profit should be considered a minimum, Mrs. Holmes reported.

Water meter charges have been set for only 3/4-in. through 3-in. meters, and since larger meters are being issued, the board set bimonthly charges for 4-in. through 10-in. meters. The bimonthly charges will range from $15 through $40.

In other business, the board:

- Approved the appropriation of $5,000 for the Area Planning Commission.
- Approved paying the expenses of delegates to the convention of the Michigan Townships Association Jan. 11-13 in Lansing.
- Received thanks from the Plymouth Community Fund.
- Tabled action on the request for a sewer on Hamill and Garland streets because only seven out of 33 householders had replied.
- Tabled approval of specifications and authorization to advertise for bids for water meters because the specifications were more complex than expected.
- Decided to turn over to the school board a request for and estimates on a school flasher for Ann Arbor Road at Haggerty Road. The estimated cost of installation is $1720.

- Tabled a complaint by Richard N. Fritz against Mango's Restaurant, 47660 Ann Arbor Road. The rear of the property is reportedly filled with stumps, garbage and, more recently, broken concrete. McEwen said he would report on any action taken at the next meeting.

- Approved sanitary sewer and water main plans for the Stoller subdivision at the corner of Beck and Joy roads.

Precincts Increased By School

The number of precincts for school elections in the Plymouth district has been increased from four to seven to handle the expected large turnout of voters at future elections.

All of the school precincts will contain complete precincts of the city and township and will not divide any of these precincts.

Cost of the increase in number of precincts was estimated by the board at about $700 per election, plus an extra $500 this year, since all voters whose precinct is changed must be notified by first-class mail.

The new precincts will be as follows:

- Precinct 1: Plymouth High School; city Precincts 3 and 5.
- Precinct 2: Gallimore School; the parts of Canton and Superior Townships which are in the school district.
- Precinct 3: Plymouth Township Hall; city precinct 4, township precinct 5.
- Precinct 4: Starkweather School; city precincts 1 and 2.
- Precinct 5: Allen School; township precincts 3 and 4.
- Precinct 6: Junior High West; township precincts 6 and 7 and part of Salem Township.
- Precinct 7: Farrand School; township precincts 1 and 2 and part of Northville Township.

With the passage of the new precinct arrangement, no school election will be possible for 120 days. Voters must be notified of their new precincts 90 days before the election.

tendent Russell Isbister said. "This is an area which parents are leaving more and more to the schools."

William C. Harding, assistant superintendent for secondary education, reported that the staff and citizens committee for planning the new high school were continuing to meet and were to have their fourth joint Saturday morning meeting Dec. 17.

The committees have visited other schools in southeastern Michigan to get ideas for the new high school and will soon start drawing up a position paper for board consideration.

Isbister praised the "real fine citizen action" and urged that the committees get a progress report to the board soon.

Board president Gerald Fischer agreed, saying that a report would help keep proposals realistic. "We don't want their aspirations to get too high. Just so they don't forget costs."

The committees are working mainly on programs, Harding said, some of which would cost more than present programs but which might improve the teaching-learning process.

Harding also explained the curriculum study which took place in all the schools Wednesday. Classes were dismissed at 10:45 and during the afternoon teachers met by departments to discuss how the curriculum might be revised and improved.

Some of the departments visited other schools for ideas. The foreign language department visited the language facilities and classes at John Glenn High School in Wayne. They were to study the language laboratory and curriculum.

The board has also met its consultants for selecting a new superintendent and was scheduled to review the first group of applications Thursday.

The first step for accepting federal aid for recreational areas was taken when the board decided to become part of the Open Spaces program.

Under the federal plan, schools - or any other governmental units - may be reimbursed for half the cost of sites used for recreation purposes.

Such sites may be parks and picnic areas - or they may be the land surrounding schools.

He stated that if the Board was interested his Club would undertake the study, prepare recommendations and report back at a later date.

Mr. Hall was directed to proceed with the Study.

Committee Reports
Curriculum: Chairman Scott acknowledged receipt of a recommendation from the kindergarten teachers regarding the entrance age of children into kindergarten. No action was taken. Assistant Sup't Harding discussed the in-service program for teachers and the work study sessions during the released time for students.

Employee Relations: Chairman Schultheiss distributed copies of the printed announcement of the vacancy in the position of Superintendent of Schools. He stated that the first review of candidates would take place on December 5, 1966. He noted, also, that a schedule of interviews of candidates would be arranged during the AASA Convention at Atlantic City in February.

Facilities Planning: Chairman Moehle announced that a meeting of the Committee would be held on Monday, November 21, 1966.

It was moved by Member Moehle and seconded by Member Hulsing that Change Order #5, calling for a reduction in the original contract with Armstead Company in the amount of $1,265, and Change Order #1, calling for an addition of $1,265, in the new contract to Armstead Company, be approved.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, McLaren, Moehle, Schultheiss and Scott.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Finance: Chairman McLaren analyzed the monthly budget report. He noted that some upward adjustments in the annual budget would be necessary to accommodate the added enrollment. He urged the Administration to require a tighter audit and report of the mileage figures on staff-owned cars used for school business.

It was moved by Member Scott and seconded by Member Hulsing that the following bond application to the Municipal Finance Commission, seeking authority to sell $5,500,000 of School District qualified bonds with a spread over a fifteen-year redemption period and with the last five-year maturities made callable prior to redemption be approved. (Full text of the resolution in permanent records)

Ayes: Members Hulsing, McLaren, Moehle, Schultheiss and Scott.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Member McLaren was named Temporary Secretary to serve in this office during the time when Secretary Hulsing will be out of the Community.

Member McLaren was named to represent the Board of Education at the November meeting of the Plymouth Area Planning Commission.

It was moved by Member Hulsing and seconded by Member McLaren that the appointment of Mrs. Carolyn Zeeman be approved.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, McLaren, Moehle, Schultheiss and Scott.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member McLaren and seconded by Member Scott that the donation from the Plymouth City Firemen's Association in the amount of $272.68 be accepted with gratitude and be earmarked for the transportation of students to high school athletic contests.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, McLaren, Moehle, Schultheiss and Scott.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member McLaren and seconded by Member Scott that the resignation of Robert Tripp as Trustee of the Board of Education, effective January 31, 1967, be accepted with regrets and that his intention to donate the portion of the annual salary as Trustee earned by him as of that date to the Farrand School P.T.A. be acknowledged with gratitude.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, McLaren, Moehle, Schultheiss and Scott.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The meeting adjourned at 9:45 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary
Board of Education

A special meeting of the Board of Education of Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, was held Monday evening, October 24, 1966, in the Board Room of the Administration Building, 1024 South Mill Street, Plymouth, at 8:00 o'clock.

President Fischer called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

Present: Members Fischer, McLaren, Moehle, Schultheiss, Scott and Tripp; Assistant Superintendents Blunk and Harding and Superintendent Isbister.

Absent: Member Hulsing.

Also present: Newsman Thompson.

It was moved by Member Moehle and seconded by Member Tripp that the administration be authorized to obligate the District up to a maximum of $5,000 to option land for school site purposes.

The meeting adjourned at 9:10 p.m.
Respectfully submitted,
John D. McLaren, Temporary Secretary
Board of Education

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education of Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, was held Monday evening, October 10, 1966, in the Board Room of the Administration Building, 1024 South Mill Street, Plymouth, at 8:00 p.m.

Vice President Schultheiss called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

Committee Reports

Community Relations: Chairman Hulsing commended the new papers for the excellent coverage and support during the recent school bond election. She also expressed gratitude to all board members who interpreted to the clubs and organization in the Community the factual information contained in the bond proposal.

Facilities Planning: Chairman Tripp gave a progress report on an up-to-date study of population growth.

Finance: Chairman McLaren interpreted the monthly budget report. He noted that due to the increased enrollment the state aid receipts would be higher than anticipated but that certain expenditure items would have to be adjusted upward. These adjustments would be detailed in the November report.

It was moved by Member Scott and seconded by Member Hulsing that the appointment of Mr. Carrol Nichols as principal of the Bird Elementary School be approved.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, McLaren, Moehle, Schultheiss, Scott and Tripp.

Burroughs Announces 12 New Disk Models

Twelve new models of the Burroughs head-per-track On-Line Disk File have been announced by Burroughs Corporation.

The new models join three existing Burroughs Disk Files which have long been recognized as the world's fastest and most reliable random access computer memory devices. The 15 disk files now available provide high speed random access memory systems for all Burroughs 500 Systems computers as well as the B200 and B300 systems.

This full spectrum of Burroughs disk file memory sizes and speeds provides individually tailored memory file configurations for every Burroughs computer user.

The expansion of the Burroughs Disk File product line was achieved through increased recording density on the metal disks, improved design on the read/write head, and higher frequency electronics.

With each disk file, literally millions of bits of information are recorded on large, metal spinning disks that resemble oversize phonograph records.

Instead of sound being recorded in grooves, however, electronic signals representing numbers and words are magnetically recorded on the surfaces of the disks.

Small dual-function read/write heads poised over the tracks can deposit or extract information at the rate of 100,000 to 500,000 characters per second.

Burroughs now offers customers memory access speeds of 17, 20, 23, 40 and 60 milliseconds and Disk File increments ranging in capacity from 1 million to 25 million bytes and from 9.6 million to 36 million characters. Customers may develop their memory files in increments ranging from 1 million to hundreds of billions of characters.

*System Memory,* a single disk high speed information storage unit, provides an extension of the main computer memory and a storage area for control programs, operating software and program libraries which may be accessed when needed. The average access times of System Memory units are 17 and 20 milliseconds.

*Modular Random Storage* files are high speed (20 and 23 milliseconds average access time) disks designed to handle medium size, high activity information files.

*Data Memory Banks,* consisting of banks of multiple memory modules, provide low cost, high volume storage with the ability to expand memory bank in small increments at continued low cost. The banks have average access times ranging from 20 to 60 milliseconds.

Ford has Answer for Shoppers

Ford Motor Co. has solved the problem of Christmas shopping for the man who has everything - the Thunderbird with everything.

A limited-edition Thunderbird known as the "Apollo" is being sold this month exclusively through Abercrombie & Fitch stores. Priced at $15,000 each, the cars are on display at Abercrombie & Fitch stores in New York City; Short Hills, N.J.; Chicago, Ill., and Miami and Palm Beach, Fla.

An abundance of electronic gadgets which will allow passengers to do everything from watch television to dictate letters plus a unique and plush interior make the Thunderbird Apollo one of the most luxurious cars ever offered for sale to the public.

The exterior of the car is highlighted by a brilliant blue paint unique to this Thunderbird and a contrasting blue vinyl top. Special gold name-plates and Thunderbird emblems add to the look of luxury.

The Apollo interior is designed to cater to the every need of driver and passengers. Upholstery is plush blue leather. The reclining front passenger seat has a power-operated headrest and ottoman. Luxury underfoot is provided by a deep pile carpeting with mouton overlay that can be removed for cleaning.

A special full console has been installed to handle the variety of switches needed to operate the various accessories. If the driver wishes to augment the car's air conditioning with fresh air, he need only push a button to set a retracting sun roof into motion.

Conveniently located between the two front seats is a radio telephone which permits occupants to dial outside calls directly. Stored in the glove compartment are a portable tape recorder and an electric shaver.

THERE'LL BE A ROARIN' GOOD TIME: At least that's what is expected at Hillside Inn on New Year's Eve when Bob Stremich, the owner, plans to serve African Lion as the top dish. He is shown here (left) with his chef, Britton Crowther. This is the second year lion is being served and they say it's a fine tasting dish.

Soapy Gives Treasures to Museum

More than 100 examples of native African art will be formally presented to the Detroit Institute of Arts for its permanent collection Fri., Dec. 16 at an evening reception and preview for all Founders Society members and guests. Mr. and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams are the donors of this collection - ceremonial masks, fetishes, sculpture and headpieces - representing the culture of Africa.

These objects were collected by the former Michigan governor (1949-1960) and Assistant Secretary of State of African Affairs during his numerous African trips. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are now residing on Tonnacour Place in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Willis F. Woods, director of the Detroit Institute of Arts, is supervising the installation of the objects, which range from a three-inch tall hand mask to a towering 90-inch mask of the Bobo tribe, with a tall superstructure. They will be in gallery 101 of the museum's South Wing, just within the Farnsworth Ave. entrance.

The special exhibition of the Williams' collection will continue through Feb. 19, 1967. At that time, Williams' gift will be added to the museum's present African art collection, creating for the Detroit Institute of Arts a fine representation of this widely diversified and exciting field of art.

"Mr. and Mrs. Williams' generous gift expands our African collection greatly," said Woods. "In many instances it provides us with examples of art objects not previously represented. The varied collection represents ten African countries and 24 tribes.

"Atmospheric conditions in Africa are detrimental to wood and other organic materials used by the artists," Mr. Woods continued, "and political and cultural upheavals also have had deleterious effects on the continuation of tribal sculpture. But the items Mr. Williams selected adhere to various traditions, they are free of European influences, and they have considerable artistic merit."

Mr. Woods enthused about some of the most beautiful items in the large group: a Tji Wara dance headpiece representing an antelope, which is mounted on a woven raffia helmet; a figure of a horse and rider of wood, with cloth strips ornamented with cowry shells; a Marka style mask, with a horned animal on the forehead; a mask of the Landuman tribe (Republic of Guinea) in the form of a highly abstract animal head; a Baule wood figure of the Baboon (Diet of Judgment); a helmet mask with crocodile jaws, protruding ears and projections on the dome in black stained wood.

Guided tours of the Williams' collection will be conducted by the Detroit Institute of Arts Education Dept. each Thursday at 12:30 p.m., beginning Dec. 22. The tours meet in gallery 101 and last about half-an-hour.

The museum is open to the public from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tues.; 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wed. through Sun. (closed Mondays and holidays).

Wayne Adds $2,000,000 For Sports

Wayne State University this week announced the expenditure of another $2-million for two separate projects which will allow WSU to make an addition to the Frederick C. Matthei Physical Education and Recreation Building and begin work on construction of fields.

Specifically, the WSU Board of Governors has approved an addition to the $2.5-million Matthei Building which will provide eight handball courts and six squash courts as well as a spectators gallery at a cost of $600,000.

The Board also approved a $1,400,000 project which will provide a football field, baseball diamond, eight-lane running track, 16 tennis courts, varsity football practice field, and nine instructional, intramural and practice fields plus landscaping and parking. This brings the total expenditure for athletic facilities in the past two years to $4.5-million.

Ohio State Is Next Foe For 'M' Five

Michigan's basketball team entered a ten-day final exam period this week with a 3-3 record following its 91-80 victory over Butler here last Monday.

The Wolverines will be out of action until Dec. 22 when they meet Ohio University here before departing for the Los Angeles basketball classic, Dec. 27-30. Other teams in the Classic include Illinois, Wisconsin, Southern California, UCLA, Arizona, Georgia Tech and Arkansas.

Six game statistics show that Craig Dill, 6-10 center leads the four Wolverines.

Wayne Picks Pair of Backs For Honors

Two backfield men won Wayne State University's post-season football honors as announced this week by Head Coach Vern Gale.

Freshman fullback and line-backer Ron Solack (Grosse Ile) was named the "Hitter" of the Year after piling up 63 tackles and 37 assists in the 2-6 season posted by the Tartars in 1966. Wingback Dave Krupski (Detroit-St. Thomas) was named the "Break-Maker" of the Year for causing the most breaks to occur in WSU's favor.

Solack, a 5-11, 190-pounder who did not even dress for the WSU season-opener and did not make the starting lineup until the fourth game, was WSU's defensive standout over the last half of the season and twice won Back of the Week honors with his hard-hitting defensive work.

Krupski, a 6-0, 180 pound junior, won "Back" of the Week honors and was a honorary co-captain during the season. He was a two-way player during the first two games and saw limited offensive action late in the year. His award is given for points accumulated via interceptions, fumble recoveries, causing fumbles, causing interceptions, and, in general, making breaks for the WSU team.

ACTION APLENTY: There's never a dull moment when the junior basketball players get together on Saturday mornings as these pictures show. The upper left view is almost like a ballet and the lower view you can name and it's a good thing the referee isn't looking.

Wayne State Tid-Bits

Newly-appointed Wayne State University assistant basketball coach Gunars Vitolins lettered three times at guard for the Tartars as a collegian.

Longest punt ever recorded by a Wayne State University football player is the 80-yarder booted by George Gembis against Akron in 1937.

Wayne State University senior team set a Palmer Park four-mile record in cross country this season by touring the course in 19:04 on a rainy day.

Wayne State University's single-season and career rushing records are held by Elbert Richmond who gained 790 yards in 1951, 2,010 in a three-year career.

Three Wayne State University football staff members are in their first year with WSU. They are varsity assistants Roy Pindara and Dave Hoover and junior varsity assistant Bob Schroeder.

Wayne State University awarded 34 varsity football letters for the 1966 season.

Forward Marty Letzmann and guard Tip Smathers are the lone seniors on Wayne State University's 1966-67 basketball team.

Wayne State University fencing coach Istvan Donosi holds a 90-37 career coaching record in nine years at the school.

Chairman of Wayne State University's Athletic Advisory Committee is Dr. Gerald E.

Inability to Find Basket Proves Costly And Rocks go Down to First Defeat of Season

Despite a tenacious defense that allowed only 45 points, Plymouth's cage quintet could not quite overcome a freezing cold shooting night as Allen Park slipped past them 45-41 last week.

Plymouth shot a whopping 56 times from the floor, but could connect on only 15. The cold spell was more than a match for the December weather outside.

"At the end of last season we took a look at the number of points a team was averaging against us," commented Head Coach Dick Bearup in a mid-week analysis of the loss.

"We found teams were scoring 60 points on us regularly. This year we decided to work hard on defense."

Plymouth trailed 31-38 at the end of the third quarter, gaining nothing as each team scored ten points.

In the final quarter, the Rocks pulled ahead on a field goal and two free throws, to trail by only three, 35-38.

A one-and-one foul was called for Plymouth, and then a technical. The Rocks had a chance for three points and a tie ball game.

Only one of the free throws dropped in. Less than a minute later the same opportunity came to the Rocks - a one-and-one and a technical. Not one of the three shots connected.

That broke the back of the Rocks meager offense as Allen Park pulled ahead enough to hold out until the buzzer.

Missing five free throws in the closing minutes and six others during the game gave Plymouth 11 for 22 at the charity line - a poor showing.

"It's well below what they can do," Bearup noted.

Friday - last night - the Rocks took on Belleville - a changed team from last year that was an easy mark for anybody around.

Plymouth, unlike most other teams, will not play in a Christmas tournament. But the Rocks will need all the time to practice because when they resume in January they must face Bentley, and then Trenton, two powerful Suburban Six rivals.

Bearup expects to continue to work on defense, and develop young players like Stakias, and Kubik, who are both juniors.

Plymouth fans, also, will be taking a close look at the Rocks this year, as they head into the second season under Bearup.

"As one said last week, I saw some moves tonight on court I haven't seen for years in Plymouth."

It will be on that note of optimism that the scrappy Rock team will head into the middle of its 14 game regular season schedule.

Plymouth scoring:
John Davis
Mike Kubik
Mike Stakias
Nate Loubrand
Jim Clayton

It's Just Like A Dream Says Rocks Young Swimming Coach

"It's just like a dream - and I still feel that it's not true... but it is a great opportunity." With these few simple words young Dick Gretzinger explained his reactions to suddenly being given the role of swimming coach at Plymouth High School.

Only 23 years old, but a swimmer with great experience despite his youth, Dick has hurled himself into the new position with a vigor that augurs well for the future of the Plymouth High School natators. A star in his own right while a member of the Rocks swimming team in his high school days, young Dick knows what it takes - and he is willing to do anything to make the rest of his dream come true.

"I always wanted to be a coach," he explained, "but I didn't think I would get the chance so quickly. But now that I have it, I hope to make the most of it. It sure is a great opportunity."

Young Dick, who came back to the Rocks this fall to assist with the coaching of the swimming team, suddenly was cast into the top role when John McFall, who doubled as football and swimming coach resigned, to take over the management of a motel in Petoskey.

After he was graduated from

Dick Gretzinger

High School, where he was named to the All-American high school swimming team, he attended Michigan State University where he quickly gained a star role with the Spartan swimmers. Before he finished his college career Young Dick was honored with the captaincy of the Spartan Swimming team, was named to the All-American team in his sophomore and junior years and won the Big Ten championship in the free style medley relay.

What does he think of his chances of developing a winning team at Plymouth High?

"I am hopeful that we will have a winning season," he said "and I think the boys are in the right mood for the competition. At least, I hope so."

"The boys had a 3 and 11 mark last year and I am sure hopeful that we can better that. You can bet we're going to try."

Now that he has the great opportunity as a head coach the youthful Plymouth mentor has his sights set on higher things. "I want to become a good coach," he said, "and take my place with the leaders. Of course, we've had some great swimming coaches around here and it will be difficult to match their records. But, as I said, this is a great opportunity."

Did he hope to become another Matt Mann, the famed Michigan Coach of other years? "Well, he sure was a great coach," young Dick answered, "but I think the best coach I ever saw is Dick Fetters, assistant at Michigan State. If I could come close to him -> The young man is learning fast.

One thing is sure, after talking to the young fellow who suddenly was thrust into a head coach's job, the Plymouth High School swimmers are in good hands.

Rocks Face Wayne Within Reach Tank Task Of All Time 500 Mark

Plymouth's league swimming opener with Allen Park left little doubt the Rocks have their work cut out for them this year.

Under new head coach Dick Gretzinger, ex Plymouth tank star, and nationally known standout on the Michigan State Spartans swimming team from 1963 to 1965, the Rocks face a tough schedule.

Last week they fell victim to Allen Park 39 to 66 as the down river squad swept both relay events and took firsts in seven other features.

Chick Porter netted a first for the Rocks in the 50 yard freestyle, and Biff Leonard, a freestyle, clocked at :24 flat, and Biff Leonard, a strong swimmer from last year, took lead honors in the 100 yard breaststroke, with a 1:08.8.

In other Plymouth scoring, Pat McCord swam second in the 200 free with a 2:04.1 time. He later turned second in the butterfly event with a :58.6.

Bob Renas took honors in two other events for the Rocks: a second at 2:20.6 in the individual medley, and a second in the long distance 400 yard freestyle 4:34.9.

In diving, Marshall Little netted 41.2 points and second place.

Porter took a second in the 100 freestyle with a :54, and Mark Whittaker third, turning a :57.4.

Brian Foust grabbed a third in the backstroke at 1:08.9.

Two other meets were on tap this week - one Tuesday at Fordson, and another Thursday at Belleville.

After 48 years of basketball, Wayne State University finds itself just two victories away from the 500 circle of all-time triumphs posted by the school in the sport.

Those first two could come early in the season, perhaps the first week. First-year coach Frank Gompert would like nothing better than to get them out of the way in the first two starts if he could, just because he would like to win them all.

After those 48 years of play, WSU cage teams have tipped off with the opposition 872 times and boast 498 victories as against 374 losses and a mark of 32 winning seasons against 16 sub-.500 campaigns.

The Tartars have 20 chances in 1966-67 to crash the 500 circle for victories. The first 872 games have been played against some 154 different opponents and nine more new ones are on the upcoming schedule.

WSU's winningest campaign was the 1951-52 club which won 19 and lost 6. It broke the record of 18-1 set by the 1927-28 unit. The 1955-56 NCAA Tournament aggregation also won 18, losing three.

And to complete the survey, WSU's most frequent opponent - and the one which WSU has beaten most - is neighboring Eastern Michigan. The two teams have met 62 times with WSU having won on 38 occasions. WSU holds winning margins against 77 opponents, is even with 16 others and under .500 against 61.

If a woman says she wants to learn how to drive a car, don't stand in her way.

Musings From The Old Sport

If you ever have wondered why it is that most athletic coaches become prematurely gray-haired you would have found the answer last week when the Plymouth High School basketball team suffered its first defeat of this season.

After winning the first two games with comparative ease, Coach Dick Bearup warned that tougher days were to come, but he didn't expect they would arrive so soon.

Because the team lacked height, he figured that sooner or later the taller boys on the opposition would wreak havoc with his lads. But it wasn't the lack of height that beat the Rocks. It was their inability to find the basket.

Time after time they had their plays working just fine - only to see the ball rim the betting and fall outside instead of inside. And with each of these a coach could add a gray hair.

sports

Unfortunately, there is little a coach can do about it. When a player gets "cold" and loses his "shooting eye", both he and the coach have to have patience. They have to wait until the accuracy returns.

The late Gus Dorais, legendary football coach at the University of Detroit, stated it plainly one day when he casually remarked after his team had lost a heart-breaker:

"Coaching is a funny business. You work hard with the boys all week. You think you have every thing. They are in shape. They are anxious and they want to win. Then the ball takes a few funny bounces and you become a bum."

It was this remark that brought about the oft-used expression "that's the way the ball bounces" when you want to sympathize with a losing coach.

Of course the players themselves can help speed the return to form . . . if they want to work and conquer what seemingly is a weakness.

It calls to mind a story they tell about the famous Ty Cobb, who played in the Tiger outfield and often is called the greatest player of all time.

He may not have been the greatest player, but there is no question about the fact that he was the greatest competitor.

The story they tell concerns a game early in his career when "Doc" White, the famous left hand pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, caused Cobb to strike out three times.

Cobb was furious. But he vowed it wouldn't happen again.

Starting the next day he appeared at the ball park early and invited any fellow who could throw left-handed to come out and pitch to him. Hour after hour Ty faced this weird left hand pitching. It was strenuous work.

But it paid off. "Doc" White never struck him out again - not even once over the remainder of their careers.

It was the same with Hank Greenberg, when the Tigers switched the star firstbaseman to the outfield. Hank didn't like the move. But he knew if he was to stay with the Tigers he'd have to make the most of it.

Not a good fielder at best, Hank went about the job painstakingly. He invited all the kids in the southern camp that spring to come out to the park. And long after the other players had showered and changed clothes, Hank was still out in left field "chasing flies".

But he conquered the job. That's what counted.

That's the kind of work it requires - and if he had been a member of the Plymouth High School team that couldn't hit the basket last Friday night, you can bet that he would have spent most of this week taking aim at the hoop . . . even if he had to be alone in the gym.

Boat Show Now Needs Old Motors

Antique outboard motors are sought by the Greater Michigan Boat Show, to be held Jan. 28-Feb. 5 at Detroit Artillery Armory. This ninth annual boat show has "Boating - Yesterday and Today" as its theme. What's an antique outboard motor?

One made before 1942, according to Frank E. Burch, show manager. But Burch expects to exhibit outboards in the show that were manufactured in the early 1920's. Also shown will be about 600 new boats and hundreds of new outboard motors.

So anxious is the boat show to locate and exhibit old outboards that the boat show recently announced a contest. It will spill $1150 in prize money into eight skippers' hands. First prize is $500, second is $300, third is $100. Five honorable mentions of $50 each will be awarded. The hitch is that the motors must be in operating condition.

Antique outboard motor buffs and boating authorities will judge the entries. Winners will be announced Jan. 26.

Entrants in the contest must take their motors to any franchised Michigan marine dealer to have them certified as to running condition. Deadline for entry is Jan. 16.

Official entry blanks are available from the Michigan Marine Dealers Association, owner and producer of the boat show, at 12800 W. Ten Mile, Huntington Woods, Mich. 48070.

Don't Let Fire Hazards Mar Your Christmas

Don't get burned this Christmas.

The holiday season is a time of open flames in many households - logs crackling in the fireplace, candles burning on low coffee tables, space heaters turned up high to ward off the outside chill.

The holiday season also is the time when many people are burned when their clothing ignites from an open flame.

Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, reports that safety experts estimate the some 2,000 people die each year from burns suffered when their clothing catches fire. Another 250,000 suffer burns sufficiently serious to require medical attention. Most of these accidents are entirely avoidable.

Most often burned are very small children and their grandparents of advanced years. Screens in front of fireplaces, lamp chimneys around candles, and screens in front of open-flame space heaters will prevent most of these accidents. It goes without saying that children should be cautioned against playing with matches and warned to remain a safe distance from open flames, including outdoor bonfires and outdoor charcoal grills.

Everyone in the family should be briefed once again on what to do when the clothing catches fire. Above all - don't panic - don't run. Roll on the floor or the ground; smother the flames with a coat, blanket or rug.

For severe burns, don't wait to try first aid; bundle the victim in a blanket and head for medical attention at once. The doctor can't do much for a severe burn at your home. He most likely will tell you to meet him at the hospital, or at his office, where proper facilities are available.

Keep in mind that some types of clothing ignite more readily than others. It is the filmy nets and gauzes, the sheer, fuzzy or long-napped and lightweight materials which burn most readily. Little girls' flared skirts are especially risky. The snug-fitting jeans of the boys are much safer.

There are flame-resistant fabrics on the market, but they are functional for only a small part of the clothing market. Most clothing will burn.

Have a short family meeting right away to study possible flame hazards in your house hold. Correct such hazards as are correctable; warn everyone in the family against those hazards as are correctable; warn those hazards that remain.

And rehearse once again the rules of rolling on the floor and smothering the flames. The kids probably will have fun with a practice roll or two, and it will help them remember what to do if fire strikes.

Wayne Gives Degrees

A total of 1,831 candidates will be awarded degrees at Wayne State University's winter commencement exercises at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 20, at Cobo Hall in Detroit.

Dr. William R. Keast, President of WSU, will confer 1,057 bachelors' degrees, 698 masters' degrees, 53 Ph. D. degrees, and 23 Ed. D. degrees.

Budget Changed For School

Mid-year changes in the school budget were made at the Board of Education meeting Monday.

The main adjustments came from the 153 more students who enrolled than were expected. About 7,350 students had been forecast at the beginning of the year, but some 7,503 have enrolled to date.

Melvin Blunk, assistant superintendent for business, requested $3,595 to cover the extra costs of instructional supplies, textbooks and library expenses for the extra students. This cost would be more than offset, he pointed out, by the increase in receipts over those expected.

The increase, which totals $70,916, comes from the increased state aid, increased federal aid and $4,500 state reimbursement for a reading teacher.

Also requested as additions to the budget were:

$4,000 to subsidize the interscholastic athletic program at the two junior high schools.

$750 to cover an increase in the capital outlay for the Junior High West orchestra and capital outlay and instructional supplies for the sixth grade orchestra.

$1,000 for an increase in elementary and secondary inservice education.

$250 to match an offer by the Plymouth Symphony Society to help buy blazers for the Plymouth High School orchestra.

$6,000 for expenses in high school and middle school planning.

$3,000 for an additional reading teacher for the second semester. This cost is covered by the state grant.

The total expenses added to the budget, including the amount for the extra students, were $18,595.

Engineer To Address Radio Club

An electrical engineer from Ford Motor Co. will speak to the Stu Rockafellow Amateur Radio Society Tuesday at 8:30 in the Plymouth Credit Union Building.

Cal Srock of the Plant Engineering Department at the Ford Rawsonville plant will discuss radio astronomy and sterics. Srock is the senior design engineer at the Ford plant and is a registered professional engineer in the field of electrical engineering.

In the first part of his talk Srock will discuss practices and statistics relating to radio astronomy and give information on the parabolic reflector operated by the University of Michigan at Peach Mountain.

He will also describe the study of sterics and his studies in this area. Sterics are the radio waves produced by lightning discharges. A few slides will be shown with each topic.

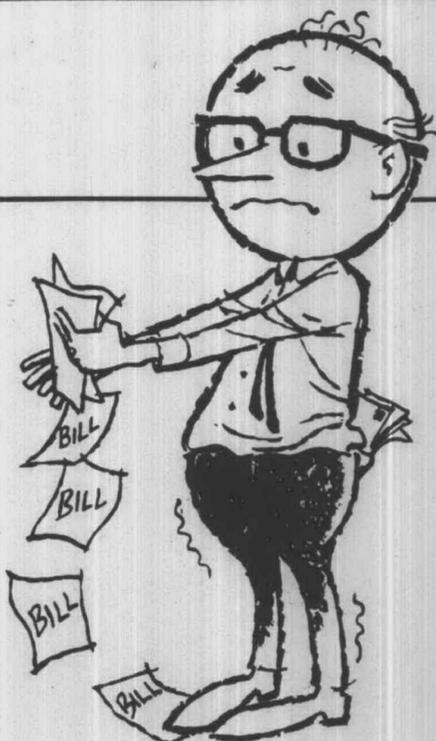

The Stu Rockafellow Amateur Radio Society is composed of radio "hams" from Plymouth, Northville, Livonia and surrounding communities. Anyone interested in electronics is welcome to attend the meeting.

Plymouthite Graduates

Richard Earl West, 9067 Ball Street, was one of 998 candidates for graduation at Saturday's commencement exercises at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

West was to receive a Bachelor of Business Administration degree with a major in accounting.

The commencement address was given by Dr. Phillip R. Shriver, president of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.
