Set Open House Thursday To Discuss School Issues

Should voters in the Plymouth Community School district approve a request for an $8.5 million dollar bond issue for construction of a second senior high school building and a request to renew a five-mill levy for operating expenses?

Who are the 13 candidates for the three vacancies on the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education and what are their stands on the various issues including the two mentioned above?

Answers to the first two will be furnished by a six-man panel from the school board and administration and the 13 candidates will appear at an Open House program Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the City of Plymouth commission chambers in the city hall.

Co-sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and the Plymouth Jaycees, the meeting will be co-chaired by Chamber President Carl Pursell and Terry West of the Jaycees.

Philip Power, publisher of the Plymouth Mail-Observer and owner of the Observer Newspaper Group, will serve as moderator for the program.

Headed by School Board

President Gerald Fischer, the six-man panel will include: Asst. Supt. in charge of Business Melvin Blunk, Asst. Supt. of Secondary Schools William Harding, retiring

Supt. Russell Isbister, Asst. Principal in charge of Counseling John Hoben, who also has been named principal of the proposed second senior high, and Donald Tripp, Chairman of the Citizens Study Committee of the Second High School.

The group will answer all questions and will explain why a second high school is needed. A strong recommendation for the construction of the second high school building in time for the start of classes for the 1969-70 school year was made in the final report of the citizens committee.

The 13 candidates for school board, largest number ever to file nominating petitions, are contesting for three posts of which two are for four-year terms and one for the three-year unexpired term of Robert Tripp who resigned in January.

Incumbent Carl Schultheiss, 11705 Amherst Court, is seeking his second four-year term.

Mrs. Joanne Hulce, 9275 McClumpha Road, was appointed to fill the Tripp vacancy until the next election and now seeks to be reelected for the remainder of the four-year term as an incumbent.

Mrs. Hulce faces competition from Mrs. Mary Breen, 41121 Greenbrook Lane, and Thomas Hunt, 669 Herald, for the three-year unexpired term.

The 10 candidates for the four-year term are: Incumbent Carl Schultheiss, 11705 Amherst Court, Calvin Strom, 884 Palmer, John Batsakis, 1058 Maple, Smith Horton, 42057 Lindsay.

John Murawski, 41020 Greenbriar Lane, James Brown, 47111 W. Ann Arbor Trail, John DeMott, 1482 Sheridan.

Patrick Foley, 1022 Penniman, Charles Lazette, 41351 Five Mile Road.

William Saxton, 1190 Ross. All have been invited to attend and each will be given an opportunity to explain his platform for school board.

All will then participate in a question and answer period in which the audience will be asked to join.

CADET Mark R. Fischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Fischer, 40875 Plymouth Road, Plymouth, will graduate from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point Wednesday, June 7. Cadet Fischer, who will receive a bachelor of science degree, was appointed to the Military Academy by the late Senator Patrick McNamara (Mich.). He is a 1963 graduate of Plymouth High School. While at West Point, the 21-year-old cadet was a member of the German Language and Ski Clubs and on the track team.

Research Group Agrees To Unification Study

Robert Pickup, director of the Michigan Citizens Research Council, predicted today that his organization's study relative to government unification of Plymouth and Plymouth Township will take six months for completion.

Because of prior commitments elsewhere in the state, the Council's nine-man staff cannot tackle the Plymouth community problem before fall.

It thus appears that the final report will not be released until sometime in the spring of 1968.

The 25-men Board of Directors of the Research Council, a non-profit organization, met over the weekend and voted to accept the invitation of Plymouth's City Commission and Plymouth Township's Board of Trustees to conduct the study.

Impetus for the undertaking was provided by the Plymouth Community Leadership Conference, which conducted an open forum in April. At that time officials of most civic and quasi-official organizations in the area joined the move to have such a research analysis made.

Pickup clarified one important point when he was queried regarding the detailed course of action his researchers will take.

The Research Council will not recommend for or against unification of the city and township, he explained.

Rather, the study itself will be undertaken as though unification was to be a reality, and the report will outline projected taxes, municipal costs, degree of services, and actual amalgamated governmental structure under super-city operation.

When this analysis is issued and reviewed, residents of the two areas will have to decide for themselves whether

Group to Accompany Plymouth Mayor

The Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, who has accepted an invitation to be the honored guest during the Plymouth Centennial Week of July 3-7, is not going to make the trip alone.

Instead, when he arrives, he will be accompanied by a delegation of Plymouth officials that will include the Town Clerk and two members of the Plymouth Council.

This latest information was contained in a letter from former Mayor James Houk who is spending a vacation on a tour of England and who is making the final plans for the visit of the British delegation.

"We have had a wonderful reception in Plymouth," Houk wrote in his letter to City Manager Richard Blodgett. "The new Lord Mayor Frank Chapman, and the previous Lord Mayor Stansbury, have been exceptionally kind to us and have gone all out to entertain us very graciously."

Former Mayor Houk was an honored guest on May 22 when Lord Mayor Chapman was inducted into office and he attended all of the ceremonies.

Area YMCAs Join in Camping Program

Y M C A's throughout the area are participating in the Metropolitan Detroit Association's program of progressive or step by step camping.

Local branches serving the area are: Farmington, Livonia, Northwestern, Dearborn and Wayne.

All have scheduled summer day camps for the younger boys and girls who are not old or mature enough to participate in a longer camping experience far away from home.

A feature of the day camp program is one overnight camp out per session. The locally sponsored, and locally run camps operate for two or three sessions during the summer and run about two weeks in duration.

In addition to the day camps, the metropolitan association operates two different camps in Michigan — Camp Ohiesha and Camp Nissokone.

A feature of Camp Nissokone, located near Oscoda is the Loud Island section which is designed as an introductory program for the beginning camper.

Any boy without previous overnight experience may enroll for one of the four two-week sessions. Camp periods are June 20 to July 12;

July 12 to 26; July 27 to Aug. 9 and Aug. 10 to Aug. 23.

In addition to Loud Island, Camp Nissokone offers both a junior and senior division, which includes sailing, horse-back riding, archery, tennis, swimming and crafts.

The third camp, Camp Ohiesha is located near Holly. Offering a varied program for boys of all ages the program includes: an indian village, a ranch, bike hikes, canoe trips, in addition to the regular camping programs.

Family camping is the unique feature of Ohiesha. In a session limited to 30 families, the entire family will participate in a session from Aug. 27 to Sept. 4.

A YMCA membership is required to participate in all these camping activities. Further information on rates and periods may be obtained from the local Y branches: Farmington (474-3232); Livonia (261-0370); North western (533-3700); Wayne (721-7044) and Dearborn (271-3400).

A Record 1,254 Students Enroll At Schoolcraft

A record spring term enrollment of 1,254 students at Schoolcraft College has been announced by Registrar Norman E. Dunn. Dunn said the unofficial count showed an increase of approximately 450 students over the 1966 spring session total.

Of the total, 536, or about one-third, are enrolled in day program courses, and 988 students are attending one or more of the 54 courses offered in the evening program, Dunn said.

The figures, Dunn said, are the reverse of normal day-evening enrollment pattern for the fall and winter semesters when about two-thirds of the student body attend day program courses.

The registrar attributed much of the increased spring term enrollment to the college's relatively new apprenticeship program, which attracted 262 students this term.

The program was inaugurated last fall, and has doubled in size since then.

According to Ronald J. Monfette, apprenticeship coordinator, initial enrollment figures last fall showed 136 apprentices from 60 participating companies. Comparable figures for the spring term showed 262 students from 130 participating companies.

Monfette said he anticipated an enrollment of 400 in the program in the fall.

Dunn said enrollment in other curricula also showed an across-the-board increase over last spring. These curricula include liberal arts, foreign language, teacher education courses, mathematics, the sciences, and business and technical programs.

Dunn said many students use the eight-week spring term either to accelerate their college transfer programs or to take required courses preparatory to advanced study.

Chevy Bumper Plant Gives Wildlife A Hand

Ground has been broken for a new storm water clarifier system at Chevrolet Motor Division's Spring and Bumper plant here to help protect the purity and wildlife of Newburgh Lake.

Plant Manager Harrison T. Price said construction of drainage interceptors, a pumping station and a clarifier tank will get under way immediately, with completion expected in August.

He said storm water from the plant at 13000 Eckles Road now is carried directly into Newburgh Lake via a 72-inch storm sewer.

After completion of the project, he said, storm water will be intercepted, diverted to the pumping station, clarified in the storm water-oil separator tank and released into the sewer.

"Chevrolet's sole purpose in this project is to help keep Newburgh Lake as clean as possible," Price said.

He said the separator process would eliminate most of the oil and other waste materials washed into the sewer from the plant site by heavy rains.

The open-top circular concrete clarifier tank will be approximately 75 feet in diameter and 10 feet deep, most of it below ground, Price said. Most of the pumping station, measuring 15 by 26 by 25 feet, also will be below ground.

C'ville Board Tells of Need for Millage

After a lengthy study of the budget and a review of the anticipated income and expenses for the 1967-68 school year, the Clarenceville Board of Education will ask voters to approve a three-mill tax levy for the next three years for operating expenses.

The additional millage will be used exclusively for operating expenses during the three-year period.

Board members cite the following three basic ideas for the increase:

- 1—The uncertainty of fiscal reform is such that the amount of state aid to local school districts is very much in question. Much of the money for the future education of children is dependent upon fiscal reform.
- 2—There is a need to continue improving the educational program and the providing of increased educational opportunities for children.
- 3—There must continue to be improvements in the salary schedules, thereby placing the school district in a more competitive position to obtain the services of qualified and capable people and to retain people on the staff by providing more nearly adequate salaries.

Plymouth Reports $913.23 in Pennies for Vietnam

Although reports from other districts are still incomplete and the final results won't be known until the latter part of June, the statewide Michigan Jaycee project for "Michigan Pennies for Vietnam" received an excellent start in Plymouth where school children contributed $913.23 in pennies.

The project, which has a goal of raising $185,000 for construction of a medical facility for Vietnam children through penny donations of Michigan school children, actually started in Plymouth during the term of Immediate Past President Wendell Smith.

Thus the Plymouth Jaycees pushed through the first schoolwide campaign, under the direction of Gary Balconi, a teacher on the staff of Tanger School.

Balconi turned the $913.23 to Treasurer Terry West Friday after the final count was taken of the schools in the Plymouth Community School District.

The largest donation came from Junior High West where students gave

3 Area Cadets Honored at EMU Field Day

Cadets from Livonia, Farmington and Plymouth were among the 18 in the Eastern Michigan University ROTC who received 25 awards in the annual Field Day on the campus. Thomas Whipple, of Monroe, the outstanding cadet, received one of 14 National Defense Awards given in the United States and a total of five at the program.

Carl R. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, 1361 Beech, Plymouth, was presented with the Association of the United States Army Award.

$300 followed by Plymouth High with $172.18 and Bird School, $105.

Other donations from the schools included: Farrand, $78.21; Allen, $43; Gallimore, $49.95; Starkweather, $42.66; Smith, $75.80; Tanger $42.84 and Junior High East, $8.59.

With a potential of 2,370,000 pupils in schools in the state, the Jaycees are hoping to pass their goal.

The project will be used as a living memorial for the Michigan war dead in the Vietnam conflict. It has the endorsement of Gov. George Romney, the State Board of Education and the most of the local boards of education throughout the state.

At the moment, chapters in Farmington, Redford, Garden City, Westland and Wayne are busy with plans for the area covered by the the Observer Newspaper Group.

Livonia met with refusal from the Board when the administration told Jaycee representatives such campaigns were contrary to the Board policy.

Farmington's chapter has set the period of June 5 through 9 for its drive. Canisters will be placed on the desks of all teachers during the week and the chapter hopes to exceed the amount raised in Plymouth.

Dates of the drives in the other areas are expected to be setup within a few days.

2 From Area Take Training In Hospitals

Two students from Livonia and Plymouth are listed among 23 from Western Michigan University currently assigned to hospitals throughout the United States prior to receiving bachelor degrees as occupational therapists.

Mrs. Joanne Tormohlen, of Plymouth, has been assigned to Ypsilanti State Hospital for additional training.

Mary Ann Bush, of Livonia, is receiving additional training and work at the Traverse City State Hospital.

AAA To Give All An Opportunity To Learn Reasons for Road Toll

Automobile Club of Michigan is distributing 20,000 copies of the eight-page folder which condenses its findings and suggestions resulting from an on-the-spot analysis of almost 20 percent of Michigan's 2,290 traffic deaths in 1966.

"We are sending them also to safety officials in Washington, D.C.," said Auto Club General Manager Fred N. Rehm. "We hope they will help put the emphasis where the study shows it should be in traffic accident prevention—with the driver."

The folder can be obtained free by anyone at any AAA office, or by writing Motor News, 150 Bagley, Detroit, 48226.

According to the folder, major causes of Michigan traffic deaths, in order of their importance, were:

1. Drinking was involved in at least 44 percent of the fatalities.
2. The point system is not keeping the incorrigible driver off the road.
3. Nearly 70 percent of all fatalities occurred on two-lane roads.
4. Young drivers (16-18 years old) were responsible for a disproportionately large number of fatalities.
5. Eighty-nine percent of fatalities involved a basic law violation.
6. Vehicle defect as an accident cause was practically non-existent (though the investigators were not auto engineers).
7. Incomplete accident

If Students Had Wish

War in Vietnam Would End Soon

If students of Plymouth High School had their way American troops would all be out of Vietnam within 200 days after acceptance of a cease-fire treaty.

At a two-day mock United Nations session in which 360 Plymouth students participated last week, the question of Vietnam peace was one of the most vital issues brought to the gymnasium floor of the General Assembly.

Final wording of a resolution adopted by the delegates recommended continuing division of Vietnam into two countries along the 17th parallel, and total withdrawal of both United States and North Vietnamese troops within 200 days after agreement to the treaty.

The resolution also recommended popular election of South Vietnamese officials, and creation of an Election Control Commission made up of India, Canada, Poland and Turkey to supervise the election.

Purpose of the high school undertaking was to further student understanding of world affairs.

The event was sponsored by the 25 students enrolled in the international relations class, taught by Raymond Homer, and was an outgrowth of a New York trip taken by the class in March. The students visited the United Nations assembly at that time.

In their own recreation of the U.N., 120 nations were represented by three students each. Three general topics were on the agenda: Vietnam, world population, and apartheid in South Africa.

Jack Bauman was elected to the student version of the U.N. presidency, with another senior, Judy Motzkus, serving as secretary of the General Assembly.

Debates over the various issues raged hot and heavy as the student experts put themselves in the roles of delegates from the countries assigned them.

DPW News And Notes

By Supt. Ken Vogras

Mowing was continued at Riverside Cemetery where four funerals were held last week. Crews were busy laying foundations for any new markers that were to be installed before Memorial Day. A total of 31 foundations were laid.

Cleanup work and mowing also was done on the city playgrounds, parks and at the City Hall. A total of 88 catch basins were cleaned. Gravel was hauled and spread at various places.

Chloride was spread on Mill Street at Ann Arbor Trail to hold down dust. The major streets are being cleaned and swept. Work of painting all park benches was resumed. Later all will be placed in parks where they will remain until fall.

UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE? Students from Plymouth High held a mock assembly meeting, as a project of the government and social studies classes, under the supervision of Ray Homer. It was a real, honest-to-goodness session with arguments, resolutions and actions just like at the UN in New York City. More than 400 students participated in the day long session in the school gym.

Livonia Live Wire

NATALIE SHIRLEY

People doing things... Livonia Entertainment Guild is having a luncheon Friday at the home of Pat Kirksey to plan next year's programs. The Greater Livonia Council of Arts will be making up its annual calendar during the next month for the various arts—they've chosen a steering committee consisting of Pat St. Cyr, Shirley Harden, Wally Dunlap, Mrs. Stan Sobania and Charlotte Needham to plan an outdoor Livonia Festival for next summer; might even have a cabaret-type Pop Concert in the making—sounds like fun. The Livonia-Redford Theatre group will have a fund raising rummage sale at their newly purchased building on Beech Rd., June 16 & 17. Call Betty Cowan at 261-0205 for information.

People on the move... Tim Lemon, VP of Federation of Civic Associations will be leaving our fair city soon—big transfer in sight. David Elslis, (formerly with Observer) was in town last week for a day on business—He and Katy may be leaving Chicago to take up residence in Washington, D.C. if plans go well. Rose (Irish Society) Francis will be enroute to Montreal to visit relatives in Montreal and take in Expo.

Heap Big Livonia YMCA Indian Guide Pow Wow at Upland Hills Farms on Saturday, June 3... little Indians and Big Chiefs to enjoy tour of farm, hayride and wiener roast over bonfire... squaws stay home, ugh.

Dave Jones came back from a one day trip recently to Chicago for the Senior Citizen program just in time to pick up wife, Rosemary, for dinner and the races. Daughter, Judith Ann Jones, will be leaving soon for a short trip to Bermuda with friends Patricia Carroll and Yvonne Smith.

Jerry and Dan Burrell are so happy with their 10-month-old daughter, Anne Marie, they adopted last August, this fall they'll go for a boy. Dan now owns a building on Six Mile which he is converting to office space and hopes to have ready by July.

Tomorrow being the first of June, for those interested in this sort of thing, it is the month of the Rose, the stone is Pearl and the sign of the horoscope is Gemini. According to my calendar, June 11 is Children's Day, and the 14th is Father's Day. There's a Children's Day, now???

Records Topple In Grade School Meet at Livonia

This year some 5,000 Livonia public school fifth and sixth graders participating in the annual elementary physical education days at Ford Centennial field broke an unprecedented 15 track and field records during the five day meet.

Record breaker in the sixth grade 50-yard dash was Charles Babcock of Hull at 6.5 seconds over the previous record of 6.8. Also from Hull, Terry Camiller hit 25 pull-ups over the previous physical education day record of 17. Richard Goldom of Rosedale also improved the old mark with 18 pull-ups.

In the sixth grade shuttle relay, Pete Hay, Gary Myles, Richard Simon, and Bill Woods at Cass improved the standing score of 28 seconds with 27.7.

Fifth grader Mark Kirkwood of Tyler broke one mark and tied one. He threw a softball for a record 228 feet, compared to an earlier physical education day win of 170 feet and the National Test score mark of 165 feet. Kirkwood also tied the running high jump record of 4' 4".

Tom Duprey, Roosevelt fifth grade, set a standing broad jump record of 6' 10" beating the score of 6' 7".

Sixth grade girls too broke marks. Donna Gruenwald, of Hoover, ran the 50 yard dash in 6.5 seconds beating the record of 6.9 and the National Test score mark of 6.8. Carol Milewski, a Johnson elementary 5th grader, tied the running high jump score of 4' 3".

Two girls in the fifth grade 600-yard run-walk competition beat the old score. One, at 1:48.6 was Donna McKinley of Kennedy and the other was Kim Hunter of Wilson who set a mark of 1:49.1. The previous record was 1:51.1.

Donna Justice, Maureen Butt, Chantal Viel, and Margaret Renner, Adams sixth grade girls, improved the shuttle relay time from 28.5 seconds to 27.7.

Karen Hudak of Jackson beat the standing broad jump record of 6' 10" with a hearty 7' jump while sixth grader Cindee Wilson of Pierson tied the old record.

None of the fifth grade girls broke any records but the old time of 7.1 seconds for the 50-yard dash was tied by Cathy Jordan of Jefferson and Cathy Clark of Grant.

In volleyball and other group sports Livonia's 32 elementary schools were divided into five groups on size of enrollment and other factors. Volleyball winners were: Group 1, Pierson; Group 11, Jackson "B"; Group III, Monroe "B"; Group IV, Lincoln "A"; and Group V, Marshall "B".

Group winners in the fifth grade boys tug-of-war were Cleveland, Wilson, Stark, Randolph, and Cass. Schools winning the boys sixth grade big pull were Roosevelt, Jackson, Monroe, Lincoln, and Wilcox.

Tug-of-war school winners in the fifth grade girls contests were McKinley, Washington, Monroe, Harrison, Cooper. In the sixth grade girls contests Roosevelt won

BHS Students Enter Contest

Bentley high school student mechanics who have rung up a significant string of top scores in the annual regional and national car trouble shooting contest, will again participate in the area competition to be held on Thursday, June 8 at Henry Ford Community College.

According to J. Thomas Handy, Bentley industrial education teacher, the opening contest will attract teams from 36 schools in the southeastern Michigan metropolitan area who will be competing for valuable prizes and trophies.

The yearly competition is sponsored by Plymouth automobile dealers from coast to coast.

The Bentley team has always scored high. In 1962 it won first place in the entire nation, in '63 third in metropolitan area competition, in '64 second, in '65 first, and last year was the number three team in the national contest.

The winning team, in the metropolitan area will compete in the 1967 national finals to be held this year in Detroit, on June 19, 20 and 21. There, the local winners will compete against the outstanding young auto mechanics in the nation for more prizes, which include $100,000 in college scholarships, trophies, tools, and equipment.

A distinctive kind of competition, the Plymouth Trouble Shooting contest is a program rewarding the speed and skill with which students, competing in teams of two against other teams, locate, diagnose and repair a series of mechanical malfunctions deliberately concealed under the hood of a new car. Malfunctions are identical in all the contest cars.

Bentley principal Jack Comstock said the team would be selected this week from students in Handy's automobile mechanics class. The school's entry will be sponsored by Redford Sales and Service, 20326 Grand River Avenue in Detroit.

"We are proud of the Livonia boys, who have proven their mechanical skill and know-how in this national contest," Comstock said.

Percy Originates Homestead Act

An exciting new concept to help poor people by encouraging home ownership has started considerable support. Known as the Urban Homestead Act, this idea was originally conceived by Senator Charles Percy of Illinois and has now been drafted and introduced by myself and many other Congressmen.

Specifically, the legislation would establish a private, non-profit National Home Ownership Foundation to provide technical assistance and loan funds to local community coordinating agencies.

The individual home buyer would be able to purchase a home at a reduced interest rate with the federal government providing 3 per cent interest assistance. By involving private enterprise, every federal dollar spent will generate $33 in private capital.

The whole program is an outgrowth of general dissatisfaction with the inability of present federal programs, such as urban renewal, to bring about long range solutions to housing for our nation's poor.

Report after report has indicated that, although they may provide temporary remedies, current national housing programs fail to cure the basic disease of poor housing conditions — that spread-out slums are being turned into high rise slums and that we are just not getting to the root of the problem.

This new approach, designed to achieve home ownership, provides a hope for the future because it is based on a solid American tradition — one in which people have an incentive to take on a sense of responsibility towards their property, their neighbors and their community.

It is certainly understandable that responsible leaders of minority groups have recently expressed a desire to upgrade the environment in which they find themselves rather than be constantly shuffled from area to area. This act would be an excellent first step in that direction.

I firmly believe that the Urban Homestead Act, if enacted, will reach more people, involve more people, motivate more people, privately, and in a more productive manner than any program now on the books.

Mrs. Ray Banwell (Erma), who is retiring from public school teaching, will be honored at a reception to be held on Friday, June 9, from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in James Monroe School, Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmore have returned from two weeks at Expo 67.

Man Pleads Guilty To Accosting Girl

Sentencing of a 72-year-old man, convicted of a morals charge last week, will take place June 29.

Circuit Judge Harry J. Dingeman, Jr., ordered a presentence investigation for Arthur Mickens, after the elderly man pleaded guilty to accosting and soliciting a minor child for immoral purpose.

Mickens of 15492 Leona, Redford Township, was arrested after the father of a 10-year-old girl accused him of taking indecent liberties with the girl.

The accused man denied taking liberties but admitted his guilt in court to the reduced charge of accosting.

Sgt. Vi Mote of the Women's Division said Mickens could receive a sentence, ranging from probation up to one year in jail.

A total of 27,139 privately used outdoor floodlights — known as Outdoor Protective Lighting (OPL's), were in operation for Detroit Edison customers at the end of 1966.

School Proposals Backed In Wayne

Wayne Community School District board members reserve the right to disagree from time to time, but they're in solid agreement on a major issue facing Westland voters June 12.

It's the $15.75 million school building program on the ballot in two propositions designed to meet education and population demands in one of the state's fastest growing districts.

In voting to place the building program on the ballot for citizen support, board members were united in its urgency.

"The burgeoning student population in our district leaves us no realistic alternative," the Board said in a statement endorsed by all members.

"We simply need additional classrooms. Within a five-year period beginning with the school year 1969-70 the district will need at least two additional elementary schools, elementary additions, expanded Special Education facilities, a new junior high and 38 more rooms at existing junior highs."

"These recommendations are the result of extensive study by the Board as well as the administration and professional consultants who have been extremely accurate in the past when voters were asked to approve similar building programs."

"We urge all citizens to endorse both propositions to meet head-on the unavoidable demand for additional school facilities," the Board said.

Board members include Robert Reichard, President; Thomas R. Barrett, Vice President; Warren L. Spurlin, Secretary; Robert Eisminger, Treasurer; and Austin Bennett, P.R. Biebesheimer and Gerard McGrath, Trustees.

State legislation passed by the House and Senate (now in committee prior to final adoption) makes the expansion program as financially "painless" as possible. The act contains a sliding scale for debt retirement loans from the state above 8 even mills.

This means Wayne Community taxpayers will pay only 30 per cent of the amount—or 4 mills (40 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation). The act also stipulates a two-year moratorium on debt retirement levy above seven mills on all bonds.

Protests Fail, PCHA Hires New Engineer

Despite protests for a "potential Mickey Mantle over a retired Joe DiMaggio," the Peoples Community Hospital Authority board of directors Thursday approved the hiring of a consulting engineer.

The engineer, Herbert Schlesinger of Ypsilanti, was approved on a 17-9 vote after a previous motion to hire him on a monthly basis with a search to start for the selection of a younger engineer lost.

The PCHA board, which includes delegates from members communities Westland and Garden City, heard one of its members, William Gagnon of Ypsilanti, argue in favor of hiring a younger person who would be trained.

During the discussion, it was brought out that although Schlesinger is 65 years old and retired, he has an excellent background.

In addition, time is of the essence since the PCHA is in the beginning stages of construction for the new Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti and a major addition to the Seaway Hospital in Trenton, the board was told.

Schlesinger was also praised for his recent consulting work which resulted in a $12,000 reduction in cost for two chapels at Outer Drive and Annapolis Hospitals.

But Gagnon commented that the architect's original estimate for the chapels was $30,000, or just about what the new estimates are.

Schlesinger will be paid at the rate of $100 per day with a maximum set at $18,000 per year.

"Fighting City Hall" Can Help Owner Protect Home Value

ANN ARBOR—The largest and most important investment for most families is their home—yet most people pay little attention to its investment value, according to a University of Michigan business economist.

Associate Prof. Ross J. Wilhelm of the U-M Graduate School of Business Administration agrees that the average homeowner tries to keep his home in good maintenance and may take action if a neighbor's home begins to go downhill.

But, he adds, external appearance of a house and neighborhood is only one factor that determines the value of a house, and often not the most important factor.

"One has only to go into any major city to find beautiful old houses that were once in the finest neighborhood in town, but which are selling for only a fraction of their former value," Wilhelm points out.

There are many different factors involved in the price of property—such as nearness to schools, sewers, water, utilities, zoning, highway. Many times the homeowner cannot control changes in such factors.

"But there are many other factors that the homeowner can influence if he will attend to them and act at the proper time," Wilhelm says.

"In no small measure the value of property is influenced by the actions of public bodies and governmental agencies. Town councils, county boards of supervisors, water and sewer authorities, school boards, highway departments, take actions that are announced far in advance, on which public hearings are often held, and which can and do increase or decrease the value of various pieces of property.

"It is in regard to these kinds of value-influencing actions by government that the typical homeowner fails—fails not only to take action to increase the value of his property, but to take action to maintain the value of his property."

Professional real estate people do pay attention to the actions of government agencies that can influence land values, and they are prepared to appeal what they regard as unjust decisions, Wilhelm observes.

Professional real estate organizations are now being established to determine areas of rapid real estate growth. They will buy and manage these properties for clients over several years during which the property is expected to increase in value, the economist points out.

Some of their techniques include acquiring adjacent property, cutting streets through deep lots to create new building sites, creating or expanding lakes on property. But most important, Wilhelm says, the organizations work and lobby "to make the decisions of government agencies work in the land owner's favor and not against it."

Public bodies can, for instance, be persuaded to change planned locations of highways and sewer lines, or to bring about major changes in zoning that will increase property value.

"All of the things done by the professionals and learned by them can be accomplished by the individual property owner if he will only take the time," Wilhelm concludes.

"Town council meetings, school board meetings, and the like are dull but what happens at these meetings can mean thousands of dollars of loss or gain for the homeowner. To protect his property he must put forth the effort to watch for the decisions and to seek to influence them in his favor instead of against him."

Architect OK'd for 3 Swim Pools

City Council has adopted a resolution to proceed with the hiring of an architect for the construction of three outdoor swimming pools.

The pools were again the subject of debate as Councilman Jerry Raymond and Robert F. Nash appeared to reverse their initial positions.

Raymond reviewed his initial proposal for an "olympic-sized swimming pool" and said that Nash had expressed concern at that time.

Now Raymond suggested that "we take another look at the whole question," since he had learned that Detroit had found the maintenance and operational costs of its municipally owned pools excessive.

He said Detroit had sold all but one or two of its original 10 or 12 pools.

Raymond moved that the prepared resolution be reworded to say one rather than three pools, "so that we can have one outdoor swimming pool as a trial project to see how it goes."

His motion died for lack of support.

Councilman Jack Salvatore said, "I don't think the problem in Detroit was just a question of maintenance. It was a problem of control. They had some incidents there that we hope wouldn't occur here."

Councilman Robert F. Nash suggested that Dearborn, which is more like Livonia than Detroit is, would be a better source for checking operational costs of city pools.

Raymond emphasized that he was not against three pools as such, only against starting on three pools immediately. He said, "I think it's important that we ascertain that we will be able to conduct a recreational program—not just begin a building program."

Salvatore said, "I think we have already given it a lot of thought. I believe we need three pools."

When the roll was called, the resolution was adopted after all aye votes—including one from Councilman Raymond.

PCHA Concerned Over Unpaid Hospital Bills

"Our communities participating in the Peoples Community Hospital Authority deserve to be protected against patients who do not pay their bills," said Mayor Leo L. Paluch of Allen Park at this month's PCHA Operating Committee meeting.

PCHA had a total bad debt write-off last year of $103,300 which neither the Central Office nor outside collection agencies were able to recover.

Garden City and Westland are PCHA members. Mayor Paluch asked for detailed information concerning the Authority's collection experience, and he said the public needs to know what non-payment for hospital care adds to the bill of paying patients. "In the hospital business," said Paluch, "there really isn't such a thing as a write off; it simply adds to the cost of care of our paying patients."

He also said he realized that hospitals don't like to talk about bad debts, because they don't like to be criticized for being mercenary.

"PCHA hospital units do not refuse emergency patients the care they need just because they don't have funds immediately," said Paluch.

At the same time the Mayor of Allen Park said he believed that greater personal responsibility for payment of hospital care is needed if taxpayers in supporting communities are to receive full from their participating in PCHA.

New Swim Classes

A new series of swimming classes for adults will be started June 6 at the Clarenceville High School pool.

Instruction will be offered both in beginning and advanced swimming and 10 sessions are planned. The first will be held at 7 p.m., June 6, and the registration fee of $5 for the total course may be paid at that time.

"It costs the Authority over $50,000 a year just to try to collect bad debts," said Paluch.

Although the percentage of write-offs at PCHA hospitals is lower than that of most metropolitan hospitals, due principally to higher enrollment in Blue Cross in the PCHA area, it is estimated that approximately 65c is added to each paying patient's bill per day because of bad debts.

This compares with 52c which is the median cost for food and supplies per meal per day at PCHA hospitals.

John Freysinger, administrator of the Annapolis Hospital, described the efforts currently made by the business office staffs of the hospitals and the credit and collection staff in the central office to which accounts are sent that are considered uncollectable through ordinary billing procedures.

Mayor Paluch concluded by saying, "It is not fair to pay your taxes, pay your Blue Cross premium, pay the difference in your hospital bill and still have to bear the burden of carrying those who skip town or simply ignore their hospital obligations."

PCHA Head Gets New Post

Donald J. Pizzimenti, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority and Executive of Detroit Edison Company, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council.

The Council is a nonprofit corporation with representatives from 86 member hospitals in the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

PCHA members include Westland and Garden City.

Schoolcraft College Aide Describes Nurse Program

Aspects of the growth of the associate degree nursing program in two-year colleges are examined in an article by Margaret Koskuba, nursing instructor at Schoolcraft College, in the May issue of the Junior College Journal.

Titled, "Growth Pains for Associate Degree Nurse Educators," the article defines four problem areas as: costs of the program, accreditation, faculty recruitment, and the function of the ADN graduate.

Contending that the mushrooming ADN program has profound implications for both nursing and nursing education, Miss Koskuba suggests that nursing educators must re-examine traditional concepts and techniques in order to find answers to the problems while maintaining the quality of the ADN programs. Miss Koskuba lives at 33353 Kingsland Road, Farmington.

Everything's 'Go' For City Water This Summer

Although Livonia suffered line along Newburgh Road water shortages during the summers in the late 1950s, the Water and Sewer Commission does not foresee any shortage this summer.

David L. Jones, director of the commission, said the city will be amply supplied with water for commercial industrial and residential uses.

"The Newburgh Road line has helped to relieve the water pressure problems that have been felt in Livonia's industrial corridor," he said.

Livonia's industrial corridor is a six square mile section running between Schoolcraft and Plymouth Road from Inkster to Eckles Roads. This section uses 44 per cent of the water in Livonia.

In the past it was serviced by the West Chicago pumping station. Now this corridor is serviced by the new which originates from Detroit's Eight Mile Road line.

"The new line has been working so well that we have had to turn down some of the valves along the route," Jones said. "The Newburgh line is downhill to the industrial section of Livonia and because of its efficiency we do not anticipate water pressure problems."

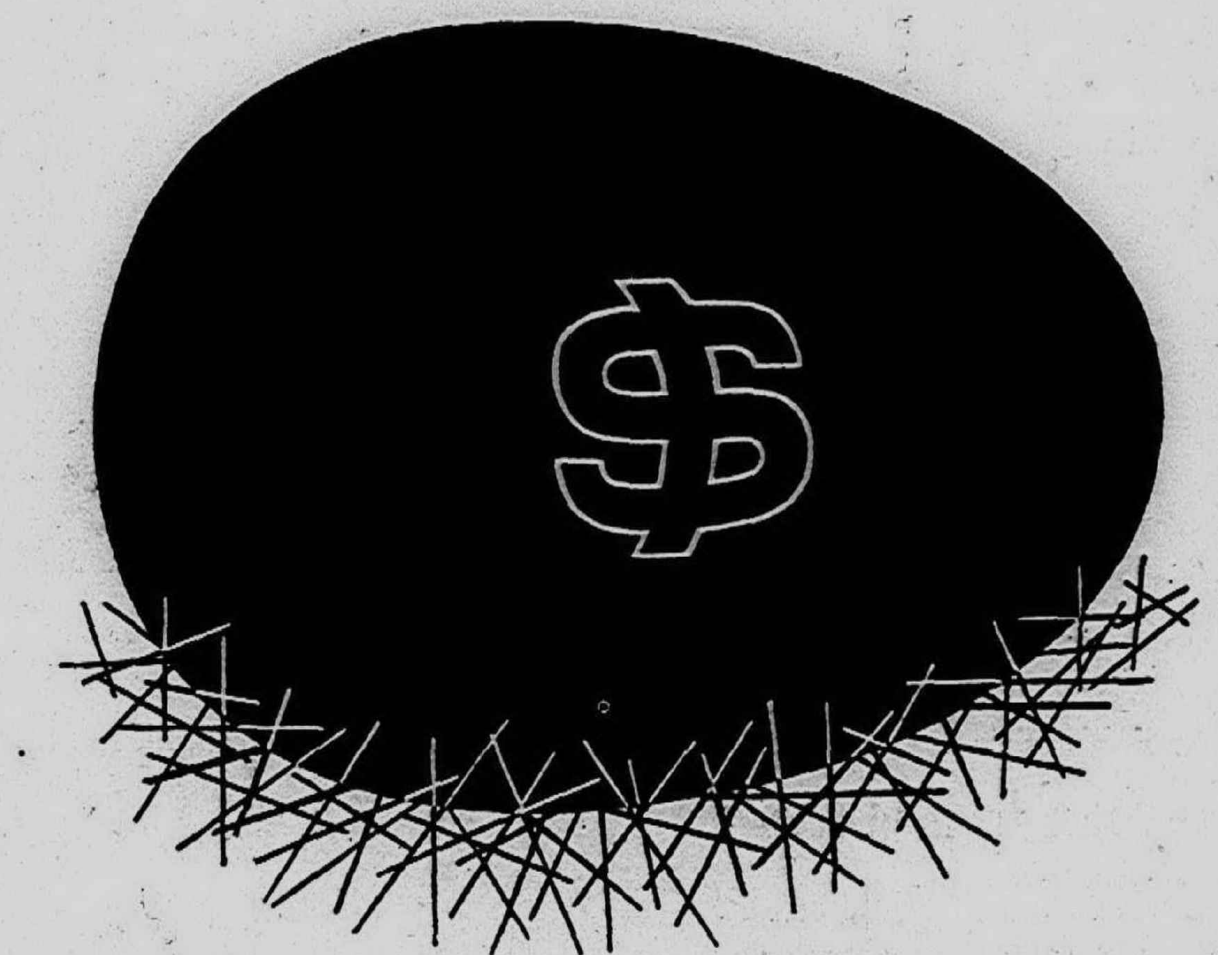

Jones explained that Livonia has the lowest water rates in the metropolitan Detroit area because of the high volume of sales to industrial and residential users.

"With the new lawn sprinkling systems in use today, the average home owner uses 1680 cubic feet of water per month," Jones said. "Three years ago this figure was around 1200 cubic feet per month."

Applications Available For Academies

U. S. Representative Marvin L. Esch announced Monday that he has been receiving applications from young men interested in attending one of the United States Service Academies. He emphasized that the deadline for application is August 1 and urges all candidates for the Air Force, Army, Navy and Merchant Marine Academies to send letters of application to him as soon as possible.

According to Esch, all unmarried young men between the ages of 17 and 21 (must not have reached the age of 22 before July 1) who reside in the second congressional district of Michigan are eligible to compete for an appointment.

Candidates will be asked to complete application forms so that they can be authorized to take the Civil Service Designation Examination in Ann Arbor or Adrian on July 11 or August 22. Men who make the highest grades in the designation examination will be given an unofficial preliminary physical examination by a U. S. Medical Officer.

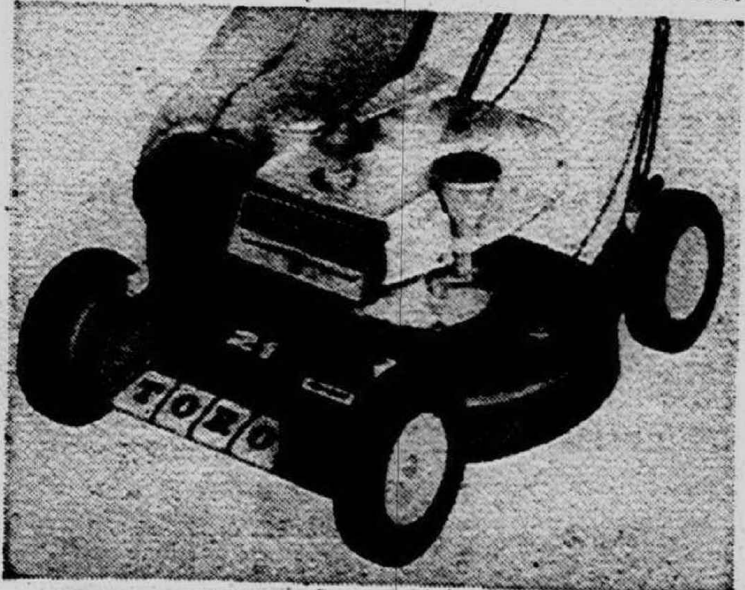

A fact sheet, application, and academy catalogues will be forwarded to each applicant interested in entering one of the academies after the Congressman receives his inquiry.

Explain Reasons For Need of 2nd High School

It was only a year ago in April that the Citizens' Facility Study Committee made a recommendation to the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education that a second high school be constructed for the start of the 1969-70 school term.

The reasoning was that a second high school would be needed because of the increasing secondary school population. The proposal assumed retention of the present high school which has a modern and comprehensive curriculum and many update facilities.

However, the Study Committee didn't realize that the population growth would begin to burst out of the present high school building as early as the start of the 1967-8 school year, two years in advance of predictions.

Assistant Principal John Hoben, who has charge of scheduling for all courses during the school year, has reached the point of no return in plans for next fall.

Many courses have been filled with students awaiting assignments which can't be filled because of lack of facilities.

"At the moment, we know that we will not be able to give any of the new students, moving in from other areas, a complete program when they enroll in the fall," said Hoben. "We can expect as many as 200 and it poses a real problem trying to take care of them."

"The high school administration is studying the possibility of adding two more class hours to the daily schedule in order to take care of the anticipated influx of newcomers."

And that brings up the matter of the $8.5 million bond issue that will go to the community school district electors on Monday, June 12. The bonds will be used for the financing of the proposed senior high No. 2.

The Citizens Study Committee made recommendations in favor of the bond issues in its final report and using that as a basis of action, the Board is going ahead with the recommendations and asking the voters to approve the financing.

Board President Gerald Fischer stressed the fact that the bond issue will not result in any millage increase for the next school year at the time the Board approved the resolution asking for the bond issue to be placed on the ballot.

In its final report, the Citizens Committee stated the curriculum for the new high school should be as complete as that offered at the present building. This statement was one of the guidelines for the planners of the second high school.

In its curriculum reviews, the Board established an objective that the high school educational program should be a comprehensive and high quality program.

The recent rating of the North Central Accreditation Association attested to the high quality of the present program when it gave Plymouth High an unqualified rating of approval. This is held by only 300 of the state's 700 high schools.

The following proposals are under consideration to meet the objectives of the Board when the new high school is available for use:

1. Reduce the student population at the present high school to provide the needed space for faculty and administrators to initiate new course offerings and experiences comparable to any being planned at the new school.

2. Adjust or convert some of the present areas of the school to enhance the success of these experiences such as:

a. Enlarge the present library to be consistent with the concept of learning centers which are planned for the new junior high and senior high, in fact, for all of our secondary schools.

Additional space will provide for more independent student experiences using newer tools for instruction such as tapes, records, filmstrips, etc.

b. Develop a retailing laboratory, comparable to that of the new school, near the present bookstore.

c. Develop another room for a science laboratory. This room would be designed to promote independent student experiences.

d. Equip a specific station to teach all health classes.

e. Select a specific area to be designed for a large-group instructional area where 100-120 students can meet and participate in well-planned lecture or audio-visual experiences.

f. Plan another specific area for wood and soft material work.

rooms which are available or could be designed to be used for special programs such as advanced placement, remedial or seminar groups for approximately 10-12 students.

h. Find areas in the present school which could be designed as study areas for teachers to work during their preparation periods. This will enable each classroom to be used either for classes or independent student experiences throughout the school day.

3. Employment of new professional personnel or transfer of present personnel should be directed by a joint group of administrators from both schools and central administration in order to insure the proper balance of well-trained, experienced and enthusiastic teachers in both buildings.

Christopher Jumps To 'C' Honors

Sorrows Star Is Champ

To Mike Christopher, half of a brother athletic act at Our Lady of Sorrows High, belongs a unique distinction. He alone among the prep trackmen in the schools served by the Observer newspaper group captured a state championship in the finals held last Saturday.

Christopher, a senior, soared five feet, 11 inches, to win the high jump at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant where the Class C windup took place.

Meantime, his teammate Bill Hartsock placed sixth in the 440-yard dash to give Sorrows a total of 11 points — thus marking the first time the school has produced a state king and placed so high — thirteenth — in the standings.

Laingsburgh emerged as the "C" victor with a total of 30 points.

Mike's brother Mark, a sophomore, has been a stand-out all season for his school in the short dashes, but neither will be around next season.

Mike will enroll at Central Michigan while Mark goes to school in Manistee where the family is moving.

Clarenceville high also turned in its best showing ever in the state finals by gathering up 20 points at Ann Arbor where Ecorse won the Class B pennant with 42 points.

Then came Howell with 27 points, River Rouge 25, Sturgis 24 and Clarenceville and Wyoming Rogers with 20 each.

Tom Harbourn ran fourth for Clarenceville in the high hurdles Brian Kent fourth in the 880-yard relay and the 880-yard relay of Jim Stears, Harbourn, Mike Nye and Ron Ray seventh.

Area schools had a sad day in the Class A windup at Michigan State in East Lansing.

Thurston was the best of the group with 2 1/2 points. Farmington had two and Redford Union one.

The "A" title was captured by Battle Creek Central with 48 points, followed by Flint Central with 36 and Ypsilanti Central and Pontiac Central with 22 each.

Thurston's Glen Dusek took a fifth in the half mile in which Farmington's Bob Donovan ran seventh. Redford Union gained an eleventh place in the mile relay with a combination of Gary Leads, Mike Borg, George Corombas and Jim Children.

The one-year state record of Farmington's Ron Short in the pole vault went by the boards when Dave Leitner soared to a new mark of 14 feet 6 1/2 inches. Short had cleared 14-5 last May.

Meantime, Bill Tipton of Pontiac Central captured the low hurdles in the new record time of 13.9 seconds and won the high sticks in 19.3 seconds as he ran into a stiff, 20 m.p.h. breeze.

Tipton had been given a good chance to erase the mark of 19 seconds even in the high hurdles set back in 1958 by Farmington's Rex Cawley.

Detroit St. Charles with 64 1/2 points carried off the state Class D team crown.

Observing SPORTS

By George Maskin

Sometimes we sound off against Little League baseball. But believe us there are things that one sees that make a happy impression.

The other afternoon we were umpiring on one of those multiple-diamond fields. Across the way we noticed a team called the Rams assembling. It was 4 p.m.

Another look and there was the Rams' coach, lugging the balls and bats and catcher's gear. The time now was 4:08 p.m.

Within a moment the coach had his charges lined up for batting practice. He himself did the pitching.

We couldn't help but note, as we turned from time to time away from our umpiring, how this one man worked with the 15 or 18 boys put in his charge.

There was a suggestion to the kid trying to hit the ball . . . a tip for the boy hoping to make the grade as a fielder at second . . . advice for the pitcher . . . words for the catcher, etc.

Without any question this man had rushed from work to home to the playfield. He probably hadn't taken the time to eat an early dinner. Perhaps, about all he settled for was an apple.

But there he was . . . getting his Rams ready to play the Bears with game time booked for 6 p.m.

At 5:30 there was a long infield drill. Still the coach had no helpers.

It was too far for us to see his face, but you had to feel that this man was enjoying himself.

What he was doing had to bring him pride and satisfaction that he was making a worthwhile contribution to the community and more so to a bunch of boys so eager to play baseball.

We weren't around when the Rams took the field for the game. But as we departed the scene, we noticed that some of the boys' parents began to arrive.

No doubt, the adults had enjoyed a leisurely dinner. Dad hadn't bothered to rush from work, as did the coach.

We wondered, as so often we have seen around Little Leagues, if once the game began that the

Bentley Thurston Qualify

Bentley High and Thurston each will have a double team in the state Class A tennis finals at Kalamazoo, July 9-10.

The Bentley duo of Kim Carlson and Ken Bollin qualified by capturing the doubles title at Dearborn. Thurston's pair of Bill Keithler and Larry Bock, meantime, took runnerup honors at Highland Park.

It took five matches before Bollin, the Bentley basketball star, and his partner, Carlson, could emerge as champs. They downed Tony Vadino and Dennis Lloyd of Edsel Ford, 6-1, 9-3, in the title matches.

Previously they had won from Anders-Kopinsky of Fordson, 6-6, 6-4; Murrey-Lewis, Dearborn, 6-2, 2-6, 11-9; Borun-Mann, Lowery, 1-6, 6-1, 6-3; and Matucha-Pache, Dearborn, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

In Anders Meet Bentley, RU Reach Semis

The third annual Les Anders baseball tournament reached the semifinals on a 50-50 note.

Area teams Redford Union and Bentley comprised half the survivors. The other two were Northville and Wayne, from just outside the area.

Bentley moved into the round of four by beating Stevenson, 3-1, while Redford Union blanked Sorrows, 7-0, after Wayne had shut out Garden City East, 3-0, and Northville had turned back Clarenceville, 4-2.

All of the games again are being played at the Henry Ford Field in Livonia with the tourney being sponsored by the Livonia Recreation Department, the Livonia Optimist Club and the Observer Newspaper group.

Here's the way Saturday's quarterfinal action went:

WAYNE 3, G. C. EAST 0

The first inning decided the game. That's when Wayne knocked in all three of its runs.

Thereafter it was a duel between Wayne's Frank Fisher and East's Marvin Martin. Fisher, brilliant all afternoon, allowed only two hits. Both came off the bat of Monte Hackman. One was in the second, the other in the seventh.

The Wayne whiz also struck out seven men and only once in the game did

East put two runners aboard in the same inning. That was in the second when Hackman singled and Kevin Wilkinson was safe on an error.

Martin, losing for the first time this season, couldn't shake the first-inning blues which often strike a pitcher. A single, an error, a double and a single. . . This added up to three runs for Wayne and the ball game. From then on Martin scattered three hits and fanned seven.

But the damage had been done.

RU Golfers Cop Title in A Breeze

Hail to Redford Union, the new king of golf teams in the Suburban Six League.

Led by Brian Johnson's 80 for 18 holes, Redford Union piled up a total of 329 strokes (four men to a team) to win with little trouble over the Salem Hills Course in the loop's annual championship tournament.

Plymouth, the defending titlist, was second with 336. Then came Bentley at 346, Belleville 354, Trenton 360 and Allen Park 363.

In addition to Johnson, Ken Engle with 81 and Larry Roy and Dave DuBois 86 comprised the victorious RU team.

Gary Robinson turned in an 82 to head Plymouth. Don Woody and Neal Goodwin each shot 84 while Dave Dunlap turned in an 86.

Bentley's Steve Kazmer with a 76 captured individual medalist honors. But his other mates slipped well back. Mike Hudak scored an 88, Al Cieslak 89 and Rod Waich 93.

Defense Plus Offense Assure East of Crown

A combination of good defense and potent offense . . . some lusty hitting by Joe Huber and Mike Sparkman . . . and some stellar pitching by George Dobozy and Marvin Martin.

Add 'em together and that's the reason Garden City East's baseball team is assured of nothing worse than a share of the Mid-Wayne League's 1967 championship.

All that remains in the loop for East is a battle with Riverview which would force a tie for the crown by turning back the Garden City team.

Martin and Dobozy have hurled brilliantly all season. The former stands 6-0 in regular play while Dobozy has a 5-2 mark along with a sizzling .054 earned run average.

Meantime, both Huber and Sparkman are clouting the ball at better than a .400 clip. East clinched a flag share last week by downing Lutheran West, 6-3, and then squeezing past Taylor, 3-2, in an eight-inning struggle.

Martin struck out 15, allowed four hits and was in control of the proceedings all the way.

Five runs in the third inning settled the outcome. Rick Long was hit by a pitch. Then Sparkman singled and John Chute was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Huber singled in two runs and Larry Shanks followed with a three-run homer.

Chute's single sent in Sparkman in the fourth with the final East run of the game.

Dobozy fired in 13 strikeout pitches in East's triumph over Taylor to up its league record to eight conquests against a lone reversal.

A walk to Huber and singles by Dobozy and Monte Hackman produced the first East run in the third. In the fifth, Huber walked, was sacrificed to second by Dobozy and scored on Shanks' single.

Then after Taylor tied the score in the seventh, East clicked for the winning run in the eighth to assure that East, for the 15th straight year, would finish no worse than second in the league.

Hackman doubled to start the eighth. He was sacrificed to third by Shanks. Then East pulled off a perfect suicide squeeze play when Kevin Wilkinson dropped a bunt and Hackman streaked home with no trouble to decide the game.

Fame Kills His Relaxing

What price fame?

Dave Bing of the Detroit Pistons, the National Basketball Association's 1966-67 rookie-of-the-year, has had little chance to relax during the off season.

In addition to working in the manager-training program for Michigan's largest bank, Bing has averaged five speaking engagements per week and already has been booked for appearances at several basketball camps, including three in the east, during the weeks ahead.

Bing has one major complaint: No time to cut his lawn.

You're missing a lot when you own a Volkswagen.

A VW has fewer parts than other cars because it needs fewer parts.

There's no bulky drive shaft to transfer engine power to the rear wheels. Our car's engine is in back to start with (and to maintain traction with). That's why it doesn't need a drive shaft.

And it doesn't need a radiator, or a water pump, or hoses. Because the engine's cooled with air, not water.

(When you drive your first VW, you may miss putting in antifreeze, rust inhibitors, and whatnot. But you'll soon get used to it.)

The stuff a Volkswagen doesn't use, it doesn't have to haul (and waste gas on). Which is one reason it averages 27 miles per gallon of regular.

And the parts you don't buy, you'll never repair.

So you can't waste money on that.

Now you know why you can drive a VW for years and years with a lot of parts missing. And never miss them.

Loop Stars to Battle In Meet of Champs

Bentley, Groves To Lead Way

Several outstanding battles loom Wednesday when something new in high school track is staged at Belleville high.

The best of the Suburban Six League will contest against the best of the Northwest Suburban loop.

The first three finishers in the respective loop meets held last week in which Bentley walked away with Suburban Six honors and Groves took the title in the Northwest will strut their stuff.

Two of the most interesting races figure to come in the hurdles where Bentley's Ken Jackson will go against Jerry Wright of Glenn.

Each won the highs and lows without any trouble in his own league to keep alive brilliant streaks in competition this season.

Another interesting race will bring together two-milers Jerry Phillips from Glenn and Jack Shepherd of Redford Union, two more loop champs. Both have run under 10 minutes in the new event this season.

Glenn's Wayne Holman is a cinch to be a threat in the high jump and the pole vault after winning both events in the Northwest meet in which Thurston's Glen Dusek copped the mile in the very excellent time of 4:29.4.

Groves had a much tougher time winning the title than did Bentley.

While Groves managed 57 points, Thurston collected 48, Glenn 43, Franklin 41, North Farmington 22 and Oak Park 12.

Bentley ran away with matters in its league, tallying 96 points to runnerup Redford Union's 59. Trenton had 40½ with Plymouth, Belleville and Allen Park bringing up the rears.

Nine of the 14 events were won by Bentley, including all four in the field.

Redford Union's Shepherd, Leads (mile), Borg (880) and mile relay accounted for all but one of the other victories. How RU entries placed in the meet:

Long Jump: 3—Davis; Shot Put: 4—Andrews; Pole Vault: 3—Gillespie, 4—Myers.

Two Mile: 1—Shepherd, 3—Mazurek, 4—Triller; 880-yard: 1—Borg; 880-yard relay: 3—Redford Union; Mile: 1—Leads; 440-yard: 3—Childress, 5—Pike; Low Hurdles: 2—Fifield, 5—Morrison; Mile relay: 1—Redford Union.

Here's how Thurston performers placed in the Northwest League meet:

Shot put: 2—Robert Stefan, 4—Bob Bryant; Long Jump: 2—Chuck Nole; Pole Vault: 3—Jim McEwen.

44-yard: 2—Nole; 880-yard: 2—Randy Tipton, 4—Dick Touchette; Mile: 1—Dusek, 3—Rick Roe; Two-Mile: 4—Rick Wilson; Low Hurdles: 2—Ken Blaskie; Low Hurdles: 2—Blaskie; 880-yard relay: 3—Thurston; Mile relay: 3—Thurston.

A CHAMP: Gary Leads of Redford Union breaks the tape to win the mile run in Suburban Six League meet. Leads, a senior, never has competed in track until this season.

Glenn Scores No-Hit Victory

Thanks to winning a game without a hit John Glenn's baseball team wrapped up its 1967 record with nine wins against nine losses.

The strange triumph became all the sweeter because it was scored over Franklin's Northwest League champs by a 2-1 score.

Both the Glenn runs came in the fifth inning on four walks, plus a wild throw.

This is the way it happened: Paul Felan, Rick Martinez and Dick Patterson all drew free tickets in succession. Then Rick Snow tapped into a double play, pitcher to catcher to first.

Another walk to Kerry Webb re-loaded the bases. Then Greg Roland tapped to short. The throw to first was wide and when it rolled free both Martinez and Patterson streaked across the plate.

That was all the runs Webb needed as he flipped a two-hitter against the league winners.

Glenn then won over Stevenson, 3-6, in a non-leaguer which ended the season.

An error, Vanderburgh's double and Mike Mousseau's single brought in two runs for Glenn in the first inning. Then Steve Mokolay drilled in Vanderburgh in the third. A single by Mike McMaster, a walk to Brian Quantz and another hit by Snow produced two more runs in the fourth.

Came the fifth. McMaster was hit by a pitch. After an error put two men aboard, Felan socked in both men with a single. Vanderburgh's homer in the seventh finished the Glenn scoring.

Stevenson touched Bill Shellenbarger, the winning pitcher, for two runs in the fourth and then took advantage of three errors, two walks and a lone hit by John Kladzyk to collect four runs in the seventh.

The week had started on a losing note for Glenn. After running up a 6-0 lead, Glenn fell to North Farmington, 7-6.

Successive hits by Gary Roland, Vanderburgh, Mokolay and Mousseau sent Glenn on top, 3-0. Then three more tallies came over when Vanderburgh doubled, Mokolay walked, Felan singled and North Farmington was guilty of an error.

Thurston Golfers Co-Picks

Thurston High's golf team looms as co-favorite with Groves in the Northwest Suburban League meet scheduled Friday at Burroughs.

Both teams finished their league dual-meet schedules with identical 9-1 records. Overall for the season, Thurston stood 14-3.

John Jakubick fired a 37 when Thurston won its final tuneup with 164 to North Farmington's 177 and Franklin's 187 at West-ern.

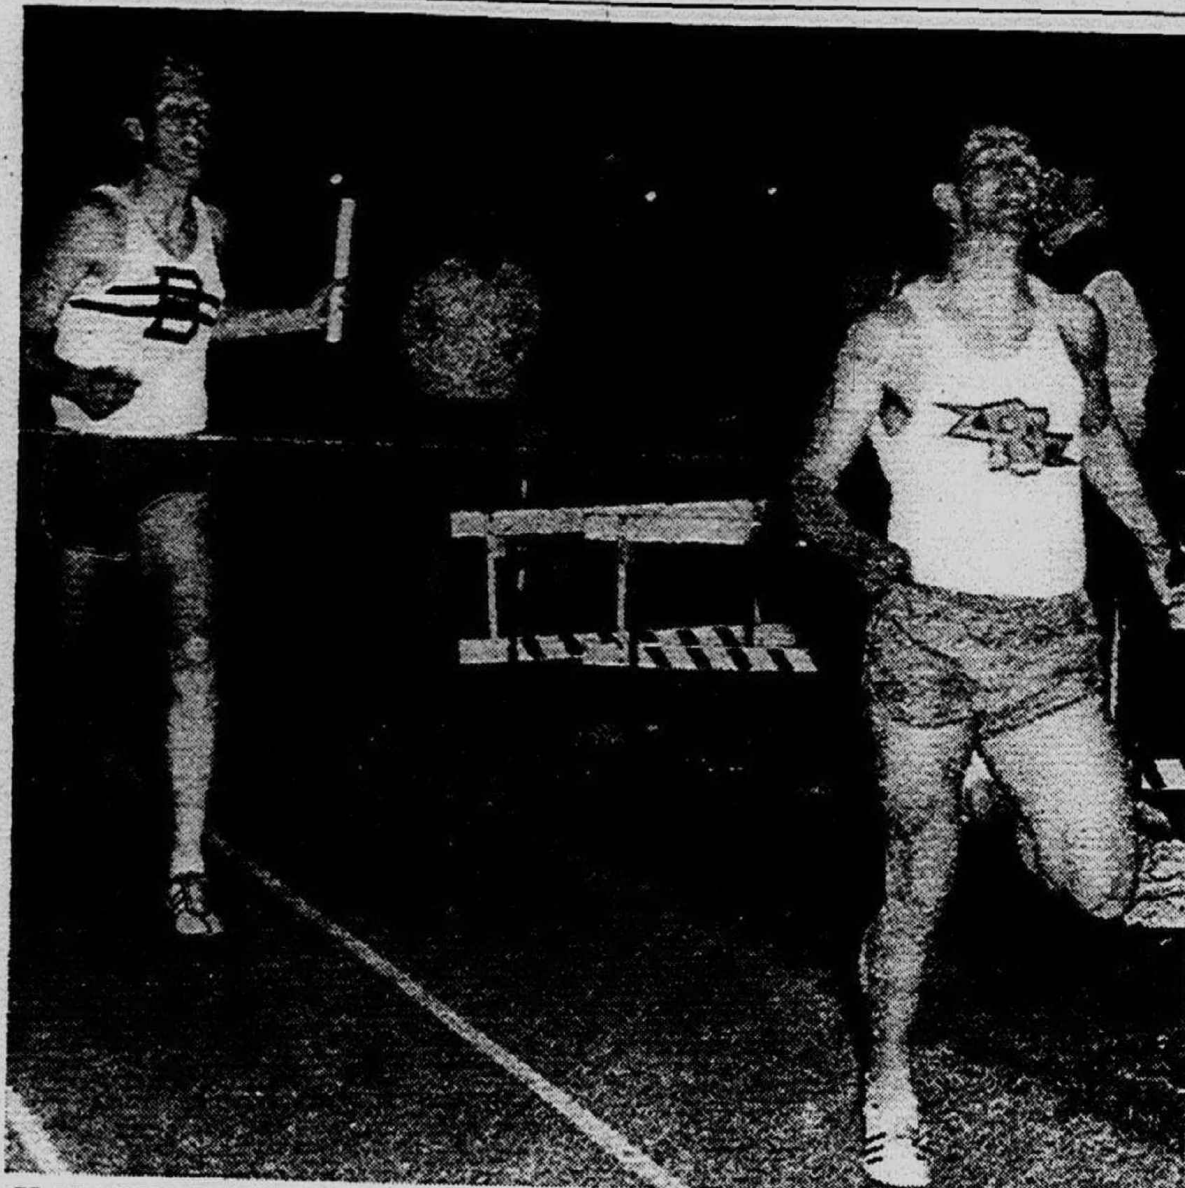

Chet Proctor fired a 40, Dave Liblang 43 and Eric Liblang 44 to round out the Thurston scoring. Bill Schultz is the fifth member of the Thurston team.

Franklin's Ron Higgins had a 42 in the triangular meet. The Franklin team will engage in the Western Wayne meet Thursday along with Garden City East and West, Glenn, Wayne Memorial, Belleville and Cherry Hill. Franklin won the Western Wayne meet last year and was second to Groves in the league meet.

500 To Vie In Judo Meet

More than 500 contestants from all over the United States and Canada will contest in the 15th annual Midwestern AAU judo championships Saturday and Sunday at the University of Detroit memorial building.

Senior competition will comprise the program Saturday. Juniors, ranging in age from 8-18, will contest on Sunday.

CLOSE FINISH: Jim Childress of Redford Union hits the tape ahead of Bentley's Mark Formsma in the mile relay, final event in Suburban Six League meet. Childress teamed with Bill Mieras, Gary Leads and Mike Borg to set a new league record of 3:28.

Split Puts Trojans at 5-9 Mark

Clarenceville High's baseball team broke even against Clarkston and Brighton to finish its Wayne-Oakland League campaign with a 5-9 record.

With Dan Fife tossing a two-hitter, Clarkston blanked Clarenceville, 7-0, before the North Livonians rebounded to trim Brighton, 12-2.

Mike Gordon lashed both the Clarenceville safeties off Fife, who lost only once during the season — and then it was by a 1-0 score.

Mike Nye went on a batting carnival to pace Clarenceville's romp against Brighton. Nye lashed two triples, a homer and a single and knocked across five runs. Nye also hurled the first three innings before Gale Armstrong took over to finish and pick up the victory.

Five runs in the fifth inning wrapped up the game for Clarenceville. Gordon doubled and Bob Duman was safe on an error.

A double by Carl Watkins chased in two runs. Gary Rifkin and John Rathburn followed with singles. Armstrong was safe on an error and Nye drilled a single to wrap up the outburst.

For Golf, Tennis

Honors to Collegians

Varsity sports letters have been awarded to five members of the golf team and five members of the tennis team at Schoolcraft College.

The presentation followed a spring season in which the Schoolcraft golfers compiled a 7-6 record and the tennis team finished with a 1-6 record.

The golfers, under coach Bob Leggat, took two matches each from Monroe County Community College and the Highland Park Junior College, split a pair each with Oakland County Community College Highland Lakes and Macomb County Community College, and took a single match with Oakland County Community College Auburn Hills.

The golfers lost single matches with Lorain (Ohio) Community College, Kellogg Community College, Muskegon Community College and Port Huron Junior College. The tennis team, under Dr. Ralph Atchley, defeated Au-fathers and mothers, who contribute little to the cause, didn't start second-guessing the coach.

Usually, it's the mom or dad whose son doesn't start or play. They can't understand why their Johnny isn't as good as the other Johnny or maybe Sammy.

Perhaps they'd know if they would have gotten to the diamond around 4 p.m. and watched what was going on. If they have enough faith in the coach to trust their son to him, then why don't they have enough faith in his judgment when it comes to which players should be used?

We have to hope that this particular team called the Rams won that afternoon. We'd like to see them win every game and the championship.

A guy like the coach of the Rams deserves all the glory that can come his way. Agree?

Orchids to all connected with the successful staging of the 1967 Les Anders Memorial Baseball tournament.

Men like Bob Green and John Dufour, representing the recreation department, deserve a salute. Ditto for the Livonia Optimist Club and Phil Power, the publisher of the Observer papers, who help to put on the tourney each spring.

There's no question that the meet is gaining in popularity. All the coaches and the players who entered agreed the Invitational is "a great thing."

There were 14 teams in the original field this year. Next season, the number may jump to 16 or 18.

The Invitational here, along with those in Macomb and Oakland counties and down in Wyandotte are just a few of the meets which may serve as the groundwork to an eventual state tourney in Michigan.

The new edition of Sports scene magazine quotes this writer as saying 15 years ago: "It's a shame that there is no state baseball meet in Michigan." The quote holds to this very hour and very day.

Errors Ruin St. Agatha in Playoff Battle

The afternoon started on the wrong foot for St. Agatha High's baseball team in its semi-final battle with Marine City Holy Cross in the Catholic League's Second Division semi-finals.

Somebody forgot to bring along the St. Agatha bats, catching gear, helmets, etc.

For a period, it seemed that St. Agatha might work over the difficulty. Thanks to a first-inning homer by Dan Sweeney, St. Agatha pulled on top, 1-0.

The lead held up until the fifth inning as Chuck Costello, the St. Agatha sophomore sensation bidding for a seventh straight victory without a loss, kept the Marine City team in check without a run.

St. Agatha had some opportunities to extend its lead, particularly in the fourth inning when Denny McKenna tripled with nobody out. But he never got any farther.

Then in the fifth a St. Agatha double went to waste because of some poor base running. Came the Marine City fifth, the roof fell in on St. Agatha.

Four hits — three of them infield scratches — along with three errors enabled Marine City to take a 4-1 lead.

Then in the sixth, a grand slam homer topped off a five-run spurge for Marine City and the upstagers went on to score a 9-2 victory and gain next Friday's finals at Tiger Stadium.

With better support, Costello easily might have emerged the winner again and kept alive the St. Agatha string of triumphs which had hit eight without a black mark this spring.

The final run for St. Agatha came in the seventh when Mark Copeland singled in McKenna who had reached first on a miscue.

McKenna was the only senior in the lineup for St. Agatha. All of which means that another bright season would appear to be in store for the Townshippers in '68.

Pistons Expand Home Schedule

The Detroit Pistons will expand their 1967-68 home schedule to 32 games at Cobo Arena, general manager Edwin E. Coil has announced. In recent seasons, the Pistons have restricted their home action to only 30 contests. Plans presently call for the Pistons opening the '67-68 campaign at Cobo either on Oct. 13 or 14.

Second-baseman Mike Clark led Wayne State University's batsmen in 1967 with a .379 mark after just missing in his freshman season last spring on a .403 clip.

Wolverine Near Bet Mark; Northville Open Thursday

With three nights remaining of its 58-night meeting, which ends Wednesday, Wolverine Raceway neared its all-time record for average nightly handle at a harness racing plant in Michigan.

Saturday's crowd of 8,844 wagered $538,570 and sent the average handle for 55 nights to $426,100. With three Grand Circuit stakes on the final three nights, Wolverine officials hope to be able to boost wagering to a point where the nightly average will pass the $427,572 of 1965.

The Roaring Grand brought the nation's best two year old pacers and trotters to the area and the closing night's program finds a field of six Hambletonian eligibles clashing in the $22,138 Matron for three-year-old trotters.

Philip Brian, the six-year-old star of the Gerry Mijal stable of Westland, stole the hearts of fans Saturday even though finishing fifth and last in the featured $5,100 Open Handicap Pace.

Philip, in his customary style, grabbed the lead from the start and sizzled to a :29.2 first quarter and :59.4 half-way clocking while dueling Craig Creed, the 10-year-old speedster from the Elmer Conrad stable of Corydon, Ind.

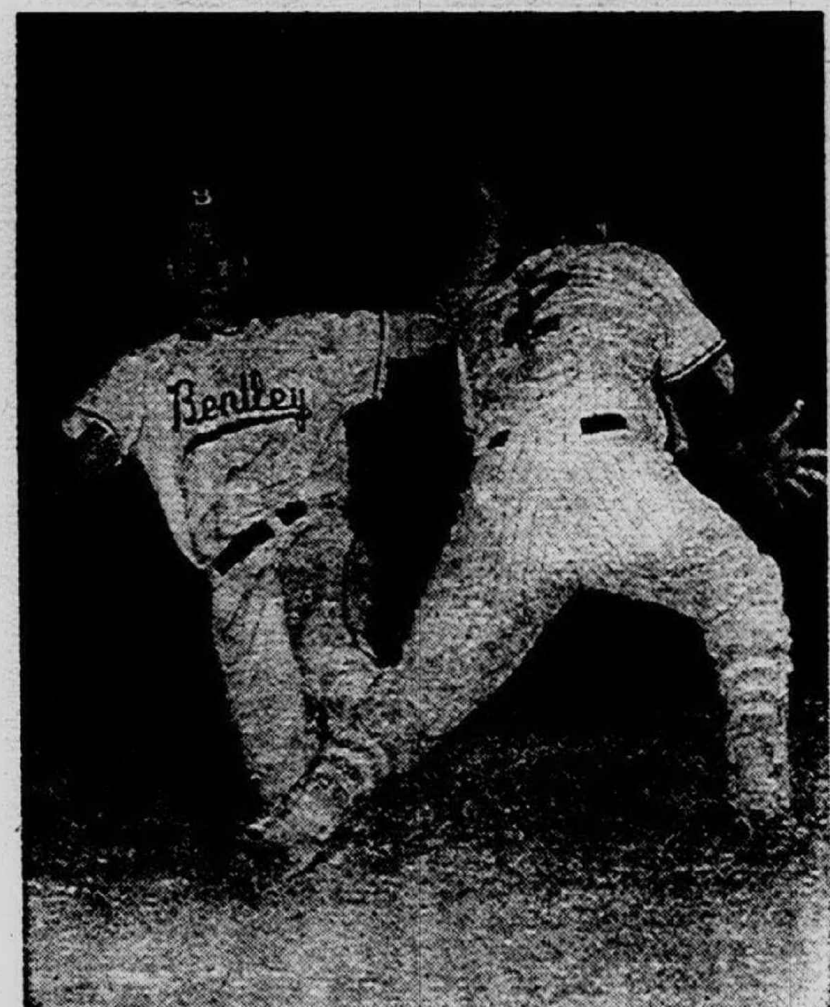

He was still in front at the three-quarters in 1:31 before the torrid pace took its toll and Philip Craig Creed and Russet Chip faded out of contention as Sudan's Comet, from the Ted Taylor barn, stormed by to win in 2:02.1, fastest clocking of the meeting.

Prior to the big race, Daring Angel, from the Jim McGarty, won her seventh straight, finishing the meeting with an unbeaten record. Boy Diller, owned by Katherine Eastin of Wayne, came out of the pack to win the secondary feature for his sixth win in seven starts at the meeting.

The racing scene moves to Northville Downs and opens its 24th year of operation Thursday night (June 1) with the anticipation of bettering records set in 1966 when the suburban half-mile plant had its highest nightly average in history — $292,896.

ROARING HOME for her seventh straight victory, sixth at Wolverine Raceway, is Daring Angel, nine-year-old mare from the Jim Garty Stable of Columbiaville, Mich. The mare set a record at the track by going the entire 58-night campaign without a loss. She won a claiming race Saturday in 2:10 to continue her sensational streak.

HEADING HOME: Bentley's Dave Gorton hits the dirt to score his team's first run against Stevenson in Les Anders' tourney. Bentley won, 3-1.

Thurston's Hot Finish Seizes 2nd

Final-week victories over Groves, 2-0, and Oak Park, 8-3, enabled Thurston high's baseball team to sew up second place in the 1967 Northwest Suburban League race.

Deno Syrios chalked up a four-hitter as Thurston gained its second win of the season over Groves' star Mike Rafferty, an all-around athlete is a cinch to be drafted in the forthcoming major league draft.

Hits by Barry Simescu, Paul Santangelo and Reg Barringer accounted for both the Thurston runs.

Tim Carr coasted along in Thurston's win over Oak Park. He was supported by some lusty hitting, including a bases-loaded triple by Manny Ingesoulian in the sixth inning. Bill Holmes then doubled Ingesoulian across.

Holmes, Simescu, Ingesoulian and Carr himself each drilled out a pair of hits for the winners.

Name Co-Captains

Wayne State University's varsity track team has selected a pair of underclassmen to lead next year's squad. Picked to lead the 1968 indoor and outdoor track team at WSU were sophomore Chuck Kluka and freshman Frank Slisinger.

U-M Cheers Minus Champs

ANN ARBOR — Although Michigan athletic teams wound up without a Big Ten championship in 1966-67, for the first time since 1951, the Wolverines still produced one of the most outstanding records in the Conference.

In seven of the sports on the Big Ten calendar Michigan finished as runner-up—swimming, wrestling, hockey, gymnastics, baseball, tennis and golf.

The 1966 football team tied with Illinois for third while the track squad finished fifth indoors and fourth outdoors. Basketball was the only sport to finish in the lower division with tenth place.

The hockey team also finished fourth in the Western College Hockey Association race.

Last weekend Maize and Blue athletes went down to the wire in three sports. The baseball team swept its final series with Michigan State, but defending champion Ohio State did the same with Iowa, to finish with a 13-5 Conference record for a percentage of .722 as against Michigan's mark of .714. The Wolverines finished the entire season with a 24-12 mark.

Coach Bill Murphy's tennis team lost its bid for a third straight Big Ten title by losing the No. 3 match to Michi-

Co-Title Eyed By R. Union

A co-title for Redford Union High's baseball team? It all boiled down to a rematch this week between the Townshippers and Plymouth on the RU diamond.

Thanks to a 9-8 verdict over Redford Union last Thursday, Plymouth salted away at least a share of the Suburban Six League pennant.

The Rocks thus upped their record in loop play to 7-2 compared to runnerup RU's 6-3.

Another Plymouth triumph this week would mean an outright crown for the Rocks. If RU wins, the two teams will wind up deadlocked for the flag.

The first encounter between RU and Plymouth didn't follow the expected script. A low-scoring duel was anticipated as each team naturally went with its pitching ace—RU with Dale Bjerke and Plymouth with Dan Camp.

Each had won in thrillers earlier in the week—Camp and Plymouth nipping Allen Park, 2-1, while Bjerke and RU edged Trenton in an eight-inning struggle, 3-2.

Redford Union couldn't stand prosperity against Plymouth. The Townshippers took a 4-0 lead, fell behind 7-4, tied matters again and then went in front in the seventh inning before a final-inning explosion paid off for Plymouth.

The defeat marred some long clouting by Bjerke's older brother, Leland, who smashed two homers, a double and a single and figured in half the losers' run production.

Bjerke's double knocked in two runs in the first inning. Then Ron Ferguson slammed in two more with a triple before Plymouth struck back with seven runs in the bottom of the fourth with Camp slugging a homer and a double.

Bjerke's first homer with one aboard and a triple by Kevin Fox tied the score in the fifth before Bjerke homered again in the seventh to put RU back on top.

But Plymouth rallied on a single by Camp, three walks and a pinch single by Nick Darmgray.

Netters Advance

Ron Mehal-John Russell in doubles also picked up points for Bentley which finished tied with Inkster Robichaud for third place with six each. Edsel Ford won team honors with 9½ points, followed by Bentley with six.

Stevenson High of Livonia garnered 3½ points on victories by Stevens in singles and Napolitano-Shaw in doubles. Franklin drew a blank.

Mumford scored 9½ points to eight for Thurston in the Highland Park regional.

Neither and Bock bowed to the crack Mumford High pair of Dave Linden and Fred Grossman, 6-0, 6-2.

Garden City West had 4½ points in the Highland Park regional.

the state Class B meet to Livonia. But his heroics went for naught as his mates committed too many errors to nullify an otherwise fine pitching performance for the senior Clarenceville star who is heading for Western Michigan University in the fall.

Northville, champs of the Wayne-Oakland League, took advantage of three Clarenceville errors in the second inning to push over three runs.

The uprising proved enough to win, but for insurance Northville added another rally in the seventh inning. With two out, Northville got life on two errors and a single.

After falling behind, 3-0, Clarenceville struck back with two runs in the third and came within a shadow of getting even.

A single by Bob Duman, another hit by Jim Rathborn, a fielder's choice, a single by Mike Gordon and a walk to Tom Schlack netted the Trojans two runs and left two men on base before the side was retired.

Bill Taylor then came in for Northville and kept Clarenceville scoreless the rest of the way, but he had some problems.

In the sixth, Gordon singled and Kerry Rifkin walked with one gone. But they could get no farther. Rathborn opened the seventh with a single, but promptly was doubled up on a liner to third.

Clarenceville was held to four hits and was guilty of seven errors in being eliminated from further play in the tournament.

BENTLEY 3, STEVENSON 1

In a showdown between the two Livonia schools, a third-inning single by John Schroeter proved the deciding blow as Bill McAlpine and Ken Grates combined to hold Stevenson to just one hit.

Schroeter's belt drove in Dave Gorton, who had singled and sent Jim Powers, who reached base on an error, to third from where he came home on Don Montroy's infield out.

Then in the sixth Bentley gained an insurance tally when Greg Coleman walked, took second on an infield out and went to third on a wild pitch. From there he scored on Ed Ryan's perfect squeeze bunt.

Paul Tonnemacher, a star all season for Stevenson, allowed only three hits—two by Schroeter and one by Gordon and struck out seven. However, his mates couldn't produce for him.

The only Stevenson run was registered in the second inning when Camp walked, moved to second on an infield roller and scored on an error.

In the third Chuck Sobczak connected off McAlpine for the only Stevenson hit. He stole second and went to third on a passed ball. Then Tonnemacher walked and Stevenson had its best threat going—with none out.

But Grates took over at this point for McAlpine, who complained of a sore hand. Grates promptly got the next two men on strikes and Sobczak was nailed trying to steal home for the final out of the inning.

From then on Grates was in complete command.

REDFORD UNION 7, SORROWS 0

Tom Booker fired a three-hitter and fanned six in posting his shutout conquest for Redford Union.

He was presented a four-run lead in the first inning when Kevin Fox singled and scored on Lee Bjerke's double steals, each of which netted a run.

An error giving Glen Buckingham life and walks to Rick Beckerling and Bill Howe set up the thievery on the bases at the expense of Greg Main, the star Sorrows' pitcher.

In the second inning, Booker was safe on an error, stole second and scored on Rod Ferguson's single. Ferguson went to second on a passed ball and scored on a single by Bill Fahey.

Booker's triple and a double by Ferguson ended the scoring for Redford Union.

Michigan's six million laying hens stayed up nights during 1966 to produce more than 1½ billion eggs, according to Director B. Dale Ball of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Madonna College Reading Program Deemed Valuable by Fifty Participants

Some 50 Livonia residents feel their reading pleasure and understanding has increased greatly as the result of a government-funded program recently put on at Madonna College.

The program was called Round Table Reading. At its conclusion, those who participated were asked to write an evaluation without signing their names.

Their comments were varied, but in general showed satisfaction with the program. "I read much more without feeling guilty for time spent. I never really appreciated the educational value of reading," stated one participant after completing the program.

Divided into four groups, the participants held semi-monthly discussions of classics and contemporary paperbacks they selected to read. Moderators served to give background material and help the group to analyze and evaluate the books. Each group discussed approximately 14 books.

Objectives which participants had for enrolling in such a program included: "to get my mind reactivated," "to broaden my scope of reading," "to read more thoroughly," and as one member aptly stated, "a chance to talk to adults for a change."

Sister M. Catherine, director of the program, pointed out that the various backgrounds and experiences of individual members permitted a sharing of different ideas and broadening of outlook. However, one member commented, "The principal lack was the male representation who, apparently, have other interests."

Many members also indicated that some of the books chosen for discussion were not those which they would have ordinarily read, but also said they had not regretted reading any of them. Some liked them better after discussions.

In evaluating the discussion sessions, members said that they most enjoyed and learned "from the leaders vast knowledge of any book, author or subject raised which she would transmit to us upon direct question," through comparing interpretations and analyzing the authors.

Moderators for the session were Sister M. Gerard, Sister M. Michaellette, Mrs. Barbara Jones and Mrs. Claudia Gold.

Consultants included Sgt. Major Brady Kelley who talked about "D-Day," Marvin Stempien who discussed "The Last Hurrah," Sister M. Humilitas who analyzed the psychological aspects of "Lord of the Flies," Sister M. Calasanta who discussed "The Intern," history instructor Sam Boecker who analyzed "The Making of a President 1960" and "Affluent Society," and Deputy Inspector Richard Novak who analyzed the problems in "Venetian Affair."

Several groups also viewed the movies "Lilies of the Field," "Advise and Consent," and "1984" after having read the books.

These new channels of thought, participants indicated, helped them develop their appreciation of the book and its message.

For many, the program also served as a means of informal continuing education. Several members have decided to return to school. One stated, "I was not ready to take credit courses but this has been ideal."

Asked if a program of this type could be beneficial to the community, one answered, "There are very few valuable evenings in the area. I, for one, feel that an evening of this type is very stimulating and should be available."

If the program were to be funded by the government again next year, members stated that they would encourage others to participate because "it has been an unusual opportunity for group inter-change and enlightenment."

St. John Grad Scheduled for Ordination

A lawyer who will be ordained a Roman Catholic priest Saturday plans to continue to work to set men free, but now "by the law of Christ."

Charles E. Irvin, and 16 other graduates of St. John Provincial Seminary, Plymouth, will be ordained by Archbishop John F. Dearden in a 10 a.m. ceremony in Blessed Sacrament Cathedral, 9844 Woodward.

Irvin, a former Army 2nd lieutenant, has practiced law in Ann Arbor and Chicago. He also holds a masters' degree in business administration and has worked in finance.

He was impelled to enter the priesthood, he said, by a belief that the prevailing "im-personal legalism" undermines personal respect, understanding and love in today's society. "I firmly believe that I have not rejected being a lawyer," he said. "I have simply chosen to be more fully a lawyer, and will work to free men by the law of Christ."

Irvin's father, the late Professor Charles E. Irvin of the University of Michigan School of Business Administration, died in 1956. His mother lives at 619 E. University, Ann Arbor.

Capsule Sermon

On This Business of Living

By THE REV. E. H. REINHARDT

(The Rev. Reinhardt is pastor of the Nativity United Church of Christ, in Livonia. The Observer will welcome contributions for this corner from any pastors and lay leaders in the area.)

George Olinger once wrote this of some of America's most "successful" men:

"In the early twenties, a very important meeting was held in the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago. Attending this meeting were some of the world's most successful men. At least, men who had found the secret of making money. Thirty years later, where are these men?"

Charles Schwab, president of the largest independent steel company, died bankrupt.

The president of the largest utility company, Samuel Insull, died a fugitive from justice without funds in a foreign land.

Howard Hopson, of the largest gas company, is now insane.

Arthur Cutten, millionaire speculator in wheat, died abroad, insolvent. The one-time president of the New York Stock Exchange, Richard Whitney, served a prison term.

Albert Fall, of the President's Cabinet, was pardoned from prison so he could die at home.

Jesse Livermore, Ivan Krueger and Leon Fraser, all giants in Wall Street, died by suicide.

All these men learned the art of making money, but not one of them learned how to live.

What does this say about our sense of value?

REV. DAVID MCBRIDE

Concert Set by Multiple Youth Choirs

The multiple youth choirs of the Southfield Community Church will present a Spring Concert on Saturday, June 3 at 7:30 p.m.

Directed by Douglas Bayne, minister of music, the choirs will be assisted by an orchestra, and by trumpet soloist Chuck Ohman and vocal soloist Roger Litfin. The concert will include sacred classics sung by the choir during the regular choir season plus additional numbers specially arranged for the concert.

The choirs, which sing every Sunday during the fall, winter and spring, serve as the basis of the youth program of the church. Each department of the Sunday School is organized as a choir club and meets on weekdays for rehearsal, devotional, and recreational activities.

The groups combine on Sunday to furnish the music for the church service. The concert climaxes the year of ministry by the young people.

Assisting in the work with the youth are Mary Ann Igrisan and Mrs. Howard Packard, accompanists, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hogard, Mr. and Mrs. James Sager, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat, working with the high school young people; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Miles, Stephanie Miles, Linda Smith, and Jeff Bones, working with the junior high; Mrs. Raymond Bayne, Mrs. Wilbert Graff, Mrs. Mavis Mardigan, John Decatur, Mrs. Henry Blommaert, and Mrs. Alfred Windsor working with the juniors; and Mrs. John Affinito, Sandy Dronkowski, Blanche Wright and Conrad Hempel with the Joy Club.

Bus transportation is provided by Willie Graff, Henry Blommaert, Max Trowbridge, Art Trowbridge, Woody Masser and Mrs. Goldie Waite.

Universalist-Unitarian Church of Farmington

The emergence of a new wave of youth—full of life and hope—bursting with enthusiasm and new ideas—desiring innovation and eager for the future, is bursting upon the face of our land. They are not interested in the tired, dogmatic and creedal forms of man created authoritarian religion. The one hope for the moral and ethical salvation of man can be found in a doctrine that says—neither Utopia or Heaven is our goal, but a quality of living, a posture of being, here, now, today on this earth. The goal is not perfection but more perfect humanity.

Car Wash Will Finance Scouts' Isle Royal Trip

Boy Scouts of Troop 128, at the Aldersgate Methodist Church, Redford Township, will hold a car wash Saturday, June 3, to help finance a week-long hiking and camping trip on Isle Royal.

MRS. HAL HUTCHINGS, president of the Lutheran Church Women of Good Shepherd Evangelical Lutheran Church, Redford Township, accepts a $200 check from WWJ-Radio personality Morrie Carlson, who is fulfilling a promise he made several weeks ago. Carlson, while inviting listeners to write in their comments concerning his new weekday afternoon and evening music shows, recently promised to contribute $200 to the charitable organization that was mentioned most in the mail he received. Good Shepherd won out over more than 50 other charities.

The best car-wash in town is promised to all patrons and the boys will be on hand from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. The church is located at Beech Daly and Orangelawn. The past season has been a busy one for the troop. They began their schedule for 1966-1967 by hiking the Oak Openings Trail at Maumee, O., followed by a camp-out at Cedar Lake in the Waterloo Area.

This was followed by a campout at the Rotary Camp near Utica, after which they camped at The Detroit Area Council Camps Metamora and Charles Howell Reservation at Brighton. In March, they had a joint campout at Camp Ernigle, Wheatley, Ontario, with Canadian Troops 13 and 73 of Windsor, Ontario.

In April, the troop camped at Camp Wanasatke, of the Wolverine Council near Cambridge Junction in Hillsdale County. In May, they hiked the Saginaw Trail while encamped in the Holy Recreation Area, and have a canoe trip at Chippewa landing on the Manistiquette River, planned for June.

During the last week in June, some members of the troop will join the Bushnell Congregational Church Troop to serve as the Governor's Honor Guard at Mackinac Island.

The final expedition of the 1966-1967 scouting season will find troop members encamped on Isle Royal from July 16 to 23, where they will trek for a week on a fifty-mile hike, before resuming another busy season in September.

Scoutmaster Charles Lindh has announced that there will also be a Court-of-Honor held in June at the Aldersgate Methodist Church, at which time a Charter Presentation will also be made to the Reverend William Wager, pastor of the church. At this Court-of-Honor, the boys will also demonstrate their skills to their parents.

Boy Scouts of St. Robert Bellarmine Hunt Fossils

Small hammers and chisels were the necessary equipment needed by the Boy Scout Troop 499 sponsored by St. Robert Bellarmine Church on their fossil hunt in Sylvania on Sunday, May 7.

The boy scouts found many examples of Trilobites, Brachiopods and Coral, all about 150-million years old.

John Carbutt found one of a fish that was labeled a rare discovery by geology expert Roy Peters, who will give it further study and report the result of his research to the boys.

Leadership for this expedition was provided by Jerry Redouty, scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster John Janick and several troop committeemen.

Boy Scouts attending were: Mike Walchak, Mitchell Swoboda, John Embach, Brent Kalem, David Redouty, Frank Puro, Eric La Pointe, Craig Lantto, Dennis Lantto, Tom Lantto, Craig Moore, Mark DeCoster, Chuck DeCoster, John Carbutt, Pat Bellfy, Steve Wojnar, Jon Colombo, Brian Kalem, John Janick, Tom Hartsell, Rolie Hoskin, David Olan, David Shively, Steve Purchiaroni, Peter Smith, Mark Commins, and Robert Leonard.

Detroit Synanon Office Aids Narcotics Addicts

Synanon Foundation, Inc., a non-profit corporation aimed at aiding drug addicts, has recently opened a branch at 8923 Second, Detroit.

Synanon, founded in 1958 in California, reports it has re-educated former narcotics addicts, alcoholics and other alienated people at the cost of about three dollars per day.

Synanon came to Detroit at the invitation of a group of civic-minded Detroit citizens who recognized the acute-addiction problem in this part of the country and saw Synanon as the only effective solution.

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanaugh wrote: "We welcome Synanon to Detroit. The services of my administration and the agencies of the City of Detroit will cooperate in any way to make the Synanon program more effective in this community."

The Detroit office is essentially an intake center for the hundreds of addicts in the midwest area, who will be sent to one of the four large, full-scale Synanon facilities on the west coast after being interviewed. It also serves as a public relations-information center.

The Detroit Synanon team is comprised of nine young men and women whose aggregate years of drug addiction prior to their entering Synanon, total ninety-nine. In addition to their regular jobs within the organization, Synanon residents are happy to fill speaking engagements groups, women's clubs, schools, universities, youth groups, etc., whenever possible.

All inquiries can be directed to Synanon's business office in Detroit, 8923 Second Boulevard, or telephoned to 883-7250. The public is cordially invited to attend an open house, held regularly each Saturday evening at 8 p.m. at the residence of Don Parker, facility Manager for the Detroit Synanon operation, 960 Chicago Boulevard, Detroit.

The first act was titled, "Away We Go"; the second, "Westward Ho"; the third, "Spring Flowers"; and the finale, "Living It Up".

In single numbers, Miss Teasdale did a ballet interpretation of "Over the Rainbow," and a jazz creative dance, to the music, "Map from U.N.C.L.E."

1,200-seat Art Institute Auditorium.

All shows will run Tuesdays through Sundays, with matinees on Fridays and Saturdays at 2 p.m. Evening performances are to begin at 8:30 p.m. except on Sundays, when curtain time is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Following the premiere attraction, "West Side Story," July 4-9, the season's schedule includes "Funny Girl," July 11-16; "Mary, Mary," July 18-23; "Calamity Jane," July 25-30; "Sweet Charity," Aug. 1-6, and "Kiss Me Kate," Aug. 8-12.

The only non-musical, "Mary, Mary," is a comedy starring Julia Meade.

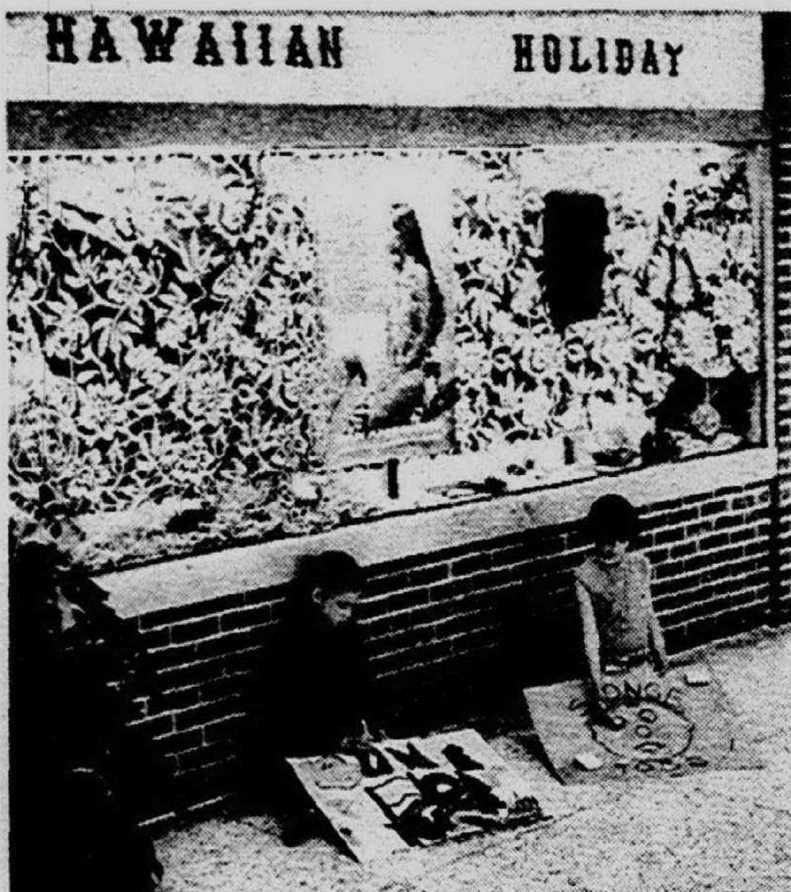

Joan Eastman will star in "Calamity Jane" and Laurel Hurley in "Kiss Me Kate."

"With the closing of Northland Playhouse, we felt it important that Detroit not be deprived of summer theatre which flourishes so successfully in other large American cities," Dr. Grossman said.

"This is a professional summer stock company, employing New York and Detroit actors under Equity contract. This is not at all an amateur operation. It is the same type of venture as Bucks County Playhouse, Chicago's Shady Lane Playhouse or a score of other summer theatres."

Wally Roberts UP' GOING CURTAIN

"My life yawns at me like a great white piece of a paper that I should cover all over with writing, and I don't get a word written" Prince Leonce agonizingly proclaims in the ironic comedy, "Leonce and Lena" recently performed at the Court Theater on Detroit's east side.

"Leonce and Lena" was written by a young German writer that spoke directly to our mixed-up society as far back as 1835.

For two years (1835-1837) young Bruckner wrote furiously. Starting at the age of 21, he drove himself day and night to write four plays and a novel. At the age of 23 in the year 1837 Georg Bruckner died.

The Court Theater has given the Detroit area a rare opportunity to see and hear his masterful words. It's almost beyond belief that a writer of such brilliance with such clarity could jot down so many remarks that refer so aptly to our troubled 1967 times. Yet he did.

Other young talent nipped in the bud include Thomas Hegen who wrote the novel, "Mister Roberts" and the dramatized version. He took his own life at the age of 27. Christopher Marlowe, a contemporary of Shakespeare, died in a tavern brawl after only completing five or six classic works.

Fortunately the works of all these young geniuses have been preserved in printed form. We are able to communicate with them via the printed page. Bruckner's ironic comedy comes to life again through the courtesy of the Court Theater.

Incidentally, next season at the Quirk Theater on the EU campus, you will be able to view a production of Marlowe's "Doctor Faustus." Be sure to put this on your play-going list. It's not every season this classic is attempted.

Back to Bruckner and his rather wry slant on life. Bruckner's themes expressed so cogently in this five works anticipated much that is now appearing in the plays of Edward Albee, Eugene Ionesco, and Samuel Beckett.

"Leonce and Lena" is a sly romantic comedy, having Shakespearean overtones. At times you hear "Hamlet" and "As You Like It" under the moving speeches of these two perplexed lovers. Their sentiments drip profusely, but Bruckner always recovers nicely by inserting a rather pungent raw observation on human nature before you are overwhelmed by the treacle.

"We'll have all the clocks smashed and all the calendars suppressed, then we'll count the hours and the moons only by the flowers, by blossom and fruit. And then we'll surround our little country with burning lenses, so there'll be no more winters."

So the Prince of Popo (Leona) sings sweetly to his Princess of Pipi, Lena. Before you become too entranced he suddenly expresses his distaste for life. He sees it as a living death: "The ticking of the death-watch beetle within our breasts is slow, our life is a creeping fever."

The Court Theater company has added another jewel to their theatrical dia-dem with this production of "Leonce and Lena." This spring only two short weeks were given over to its run. Let's hope that Director Tom Darnall will let more of the public see this fine work of art during the coming fall season at the Court Theater. Each of his actors did a splendid job. In fact, the ensemble acting gave a unity of impact rarely seen in most repertory theaters.

The final speech given by Valerio in "Leonce and Lena" shows the expert fashion in which Bruckner indicates to us that nothing in this life can really be taken too seriously:

"And a decree will be issued that whoever gets calluses on his hands—shall be placed under surveillance... whoever boasts that in the sweat of his brow he will eat bread shall be declared insane and dangerous to human society. And then we can lie in the shade and ask God for macaroni, melons and figs for musical throats classic bodies, and a nice, cozy religion."

Georg Bruckner's "Leonce and Lena" has a magic aura embedded deeply within its dialogue. The language of this play speaks louder than the characters and truly fascinates.

Court Group Sets Grimm Fairy Tale

The Court Theater, in cooperation with the Detroit Waldorf School, will perform the world premiere of a new musical adaptation of the Brothers Grimm's tale of "Snow White and Rose Red," Saturday and Sunday, June 3 and 4.

There will be two performances each day. The play will be presented on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and at 2 p.m., and on Sunday at 2 and 4 p.m.

The delightful fairy tale of two sisters who befriend a prince, who has been transformed into a bear by a spell of the evil dwarf, has been given a musical setting with music by Michael Donofrio and lyrics by William A. Boyce.

The production utilizes two wandering minstrels who narrate the story. The four performances of "Snow White and Rose Red" will be benefits for the new Detroit Waldorf School.

The theatre is located in the school six blocks north of the Whittier Hotel at 2555 Burns Ave. at Charlevoix in Indian Village. Reservations are accepted at the theatre ticket office (822-6655) Monday through Friday from noon to 5 p.m.

On March 13, Sean O'Casey's comedy, "The Plough and the Stars" will open. The last production of the series, opening May 17, will be Lerner and Lowe's musical, "Brigadoon."

Also announced is the annual Children's Theatre production, this year to be "Alice in Wonderland" given Nov. 18 and 19.

College Signs Up Violist

Violist Paul Doktor, who will perform with the Schoolcraft College Summer Music Festival Court Orchestra on July 26, will conduct a three-day master class for string section students enrolled in the college's summer music school, Wayne Dunlap, director of the school, has announced.

One of the outstanding violists in the world, Doktor will join the summer school music faculty to conduct a chamber music seminar July 24 through 26. Professional musicians in the area will be invited to attend the seminar, Dunlap said.

"Doktor's appearance here will provide an unparalleled experience for young musicians—as well as professionals—to attend a class presided over by one of the great artists of our day," Dunlap said.

"Our good fortune in securing the services of an artist of Doktor's caliber is doubly important in view of the enrollment plan for the summer music school."

"Every student will be part of a performing ensemble," Dunlap explained. "Thus, our enrollment must be selective in terms of individual instruments. We will shortly reach our limits in woodwind players. At the moment, the greatest opportunity for enrollment is for string section musicians."

Dunlap emphasized that June 15 is the deadline for applying for admission to the four-week summer session which will be from July 3 through 28. Formal registration will be on June 26 and 27 from 9 a.m. until noon in the college library. Fees will be payable at that time.

Doktor will augment a faculty composed of performing musicians, all of whom are now or have been members of the Detroit Symphony. They include Cellist Barbara H. Fickett, Flutist Marilyn Jones, Violinists Emily Mutter Austin and Inez Hullinger Redman; Oboist Robert Cowert, and James Tamburini, trumpet and brass.

The weekly Court Concerts will be offered in conjunction with the summer music program at Schoolcraft and feature, in addition to Doktor, Pianist William Dopman on July 5; Leslie Eizen, mezzo-soprano, on July 12; and the Kenneth Jewell Choral on July 19.

A Gala For June Graduates

By JOYCE TOTTON

Here it is the month of June when our thoughts turn to very special events.

While many of you may be planning a graduation celebration, some may be setting the scene for the bride-to-be. If you don't have an opportunity to do either, you may be planning a patio party.

Whatever the occasion, be a happy, relaxed and confident hostess. The secret is to choose a party well within your capabilities. The nervous hostess trying to manage a party too complicated for her household furnishings—and perhaps her budget—manages to make her guests feel very uneasy.

The modern party-giver picks a kind of party she can have with ease. This gal can make a gala function out of apple pie and coffee.

When entertaining, do a lot of planning, and the more you can do ahead of time the less sureness you'll have. If you have a freezer, take advantage of the convenience. Many foods may be prepared in advance and frozen.

I was talking with one of the girls who is awaiting the big day of graduation and we were discussing ideas that could be used for a graduation celebration.

If you want to rely on paper, you could encircle rolls of white paper with satin ribbon bands and stand them in the background of large-scale diplomas for the festive foods and frills.

Fill a large mug with white paper napkins rolled into diploma shapes and tied with ribbon.

For a centerpiece you could use graduate figures made from paper cones.

Pipe cleaners can be used for arms and neck and a carnation for the head. Make tassels of embroidery floss to place on the cap. Roll two-inch wide white paper for diploma.

Here's some easy refreshments:

PUNCH

- 75 servings
  - 2 pkg. cherry kool ade
  - 2 pkg. strawberry kool ade
  - 4 c. sugar
  - 6 qt. water
  - 2 large cans orange juice (frozen)
  - 2 large cans lemonade (frozen)
  - 4 large bottles of ginger ale.
- Dissolve soft drink powder and sugar in water. Add frozen juice concentrates. Stir until dissolved. Stir in ginger ale. Makes 3 gallons.

FROSTED SANDWICH LOAF

- Egg salad filling:
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
  - 3 T. mayonnaise
  - 2 t. prepared mustard
  - 1 t. grated onion
  - ½ t. salt
- Ham filling:
- 1 c. ground cooked ham
  - ¾ c. mayonnaise
  - 1 t. prepared horseradish
- Chicken filling:
- 15 oz. finely boned chicken, chopped
  - ¾ c. finely chopped celery
  - ¾ c. mayonnaise
  - 2 T. pickle relish
- 1 unsliced sandwich loaf

Combine ingredients for each filling. Trim crusts from loaf. Slice bread lengthwise in 4 equal layers. Butter slices. Spread first slice, butter side up, with egg-salad filling, second slice, ham filling, third slice with chicken filling. End with fourth slice. Wrap loaf in foil; chill.

Beat three 3-oz. packages softened cream cheese with 5 tablespoons top milk till fluffy; frost loaf. Trim. Makes 10 slices.

DIPLOMAS AND CAPS

Diploma—Trim crusts from white-bread slices; spread with chive cream cheese. Roll; tie with ribbon.

Caps—Cut slices of dark rye bread in 2 in. squares and 1½ in. circles. Put together in form of caps with canned deviled ham. Tassels are pimiento strips. Serve with a pretty fruit salad, sparkling punch, a fluffy cake.

Protection Advice Topic For UCS President's Day

"Proceed with Caution," a program about ways women can protect themselves against crime, will be given to more than 1,000 leaders of women's organizations in Cobo Hall on Tuesday, June 6, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

The occasion is the fifteenth annual President's Day sponsored by the Women's Committee of United Community Services (UCS).

In announcing the forthcoming event, Mrs. John C. Hopp, president of the UCS Women's Committee, said: "We all need more practical information on how we may protect ourselves and our families against the rising tide of crime. We hope that each woman attending President's Day will take specific crime protection tips back to her own group to help increase citizen participation in the war against crime."

Speakers, chosen for their expertise in the fields of detection and prevention of crime, will be C. Lane Breidenstein, general manager of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit; Rosemary Klug, Chief of the Women's division, Detroit Police Department; Anthony

P. Marchese, general counsel for the Legal Aid Bureau of Detroit; and William L. Cahalan, Wayne County Prosecuting Attorney.

Breidenstein will tell how to recognize con artists and bunco racketeers who approach persons in their own homes. Chief Klug will describe precautions women can use against personal assault.

Cahalan will speak on how citizens can play a role in the war on crime, and Marchese, who will serve as moderator, will discuss legal rights people have to protect themselves against being duped.

Invited to the "dessert" program are officers of more than 700 metropolitan-area women's organizations such as PTA groups, block clubs, church groups, garden clubs, college and sorority groups as well as business and professional organizations.

It's 50 Years Of Marriage For Delany's

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Delany, of Inkster Road, Livonia, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on June 2.

Because Mrs. Delany was hospitalized recently, the couple plans to mark the date quietly at home.

The couple, both natives of Detroit, were married in the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church there. They have lived in Livonia 17 years. Both are members of the Livonia Senior Citizens Club.

Delany, a retired trucker for the Detroit News, and his wife have three sons, William, of Redford Township, and Robert and Edward, of Detroit. There also are seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

IRISH LULLABY is the name of this new variety to be on display at the Southern Michigan Iris Show from 1 to 9 p.m. Saturday, June 3 in the Livonia Mall. All growers of Iris are invited to enter as many specimen stalks as they wish in the more than 50 classes. Further information is available from Irene Wilhelmsen, show chairman, at GA 7-6899.

Garden Club Brightens Livonia

Bright flowers to decorate Livonia civic buildings were planted last week by members of the Livonia branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

Working under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Wieland, civic improvement chairman, the women planted pink petunias and blue ageratum at Civil Service headquarters and the Municipal Court building, and red geraniums and white petunias at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Assisting Mrs. Wieland were Mrs. Omar Van Gorp, Mrs. Joseph Nagy Jr. and Mrs. Clarence Hoeft.

Mrs. Van Gorp, president of the group, and four other members represented the club at the annual meeting of the Michigan Woman's National Farm and Garden Association recently.

They accepted flower show and newsletter awards. Mrs. Frank Carlee and Mrs. Wieland, both on hand at the presentation, were in charge of the award-winning show last September, and Nell Sprinkle and Mrs. John Van Lier were editors of the newsletter.

Beth Am Ends Church School Year With Picnic

Temple Beth Am in Livonia will wind up its church school season with an annual picnic at 12 noon Sunday, June 4, in Edward Hines Park. Those wishing more information on the Sunday school may call 476-4100.

Home Economics Classes Turn Out Chic Teens

Three Win Soroptimist Awards

Melbourne Sattler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Sattler, received the top citizenship award presented last week by the Soroptimist Club of Plymouth.

He plans to use the $75 first prize money to begin preparation for the ministry at Cedarville College, Cedarville, O.

Other awards at the Soroptimist third annual banquet were presented to John Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, and Carole Overholt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overholt. Both received $25.

John, the second place winner, has been accepted by the Grand Rapids School of the Bible, where he plans to study music and prepare for the ministry.

Carole, third place winner, will prepare for a teaching career at Michigan State.

All the awards were presented by John Hoben, Plymouth High School assistant principal in charge of counseling, who also was speaker for the evening.

Home economics classes in area high schools and junior highs these days are not dull routines of measuring ingredients and stitching straight seams. The girls learn to turn out high fashion outfits and show them to their best advantage in style shows. And to go with the home-made chic they are creating, they also are getting grooming and makeup tips. Pictured here are some recent home ec activities around Observerland.

HOME ECONOMICS students at Cambridge Junior High School in Garden City had "good grooming" discussed in their classes by Mrs. Beverly DeRyckere, a registered nurse who is with the Michigan State University Extension Service and a lecturer at the Carnegie Institute, which includes medical secretaries and technicians. The three girls getting a lesson in proper hair styling are (left to right) Peggy Good, Patsianne Murray, and Linda Lovett, students in the eighth and ninth grade classes of Mrs. Bernadine Maycock and Miss Sharon Hamilton. Mrs. DeRyckere stressed the use of the proper hair style with the particular shape of face.

HOME-MADE FASHIONS were displayed recently by home economics students at John Glenn High School, Westland, at the "Patterns in Fashions" show. An estimated 125 modeled the clothing they made in class or as home-projects under teachers Miss Carol Gaffney, Miss Kathy Knisley, Mrs. Flossie Wheaton, and Mrs. Judith Gilliam. The proceeds from the show will finance a $100 scholarship awarded to Nancy Stephens. Some of the girls on stage for the show were Kathy West, 12th grade (seated in front) Dianna Feister, tenth grade, and her sister, Sherry, 9; Judy Graden, ninth grade; Sandi Ciesielski, 11th grade; Pat Robitaille, 10th grade; and Cindy Shaw, ninth grade.

Mrs. Hall to Head Sorority

Marlene Hall, of Livonia, was installed recently as president of the Zeta Epsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Other officers for the coming year will be Mary Peron, of Dearborn, vice president; Tommie Marszalec, treasurer; Marcy Slank, recording secretary and Virginia Bosanko, corresponding secretary.

The installation meeting also included programs entitled "The Printed Word and Your Life," and the "Art of Thinking," presented by Charlot Bailey and Mrs. Bosanko.

In another May event, chapter members honored their mothers with a salad buffet at the Birmingham home of Valerie Brown. Mrs. Peron demonstrated flower arranging.

Lauren Marie Arrives

Mr. and Mrs. Michael S. Butka Jr., of Michelle Court, Garden City, announce the birth of a daughter, Lauren Marie, on May 1 in Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital. Mrs. Butka is the former Barbara Balog.

Sorority Initiates

Two Livonia students, Mary Beth Thomas, of Wood Drive, and Karen Oss, of Grenada, were initiated into Gamma Xi chapter of Alpha Chi Omega sorority at Western Michigan College

DIRECTING THE ACTIVITIES of the Livonia Business and Professional Women's Club for 1967-68 will be these newly elected officers: from left, Vera Burkett, treasurer; Marian Coon, corresponding secretary; Sarah Smith, president; Florence Davis, first vice president, and Eleanor Senkowski, second vice president. The board also includes Gloria Heino, recording secretary.

Karen Still and Michael Proctor Exchange Vows

Karen Still became the bride of Michael Proctor in a recent ceremony at St. Maurice Catholic Church in Livonia.

A reception at the Daniel Lord Knights of Columbus Hall followed.

The newlyweds' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Still and Mr. and Mrs. John Proctor, both of Livonia.

The bride wore a white silk organza gown, with lace appliques trimming the bodice, hemline and chapel train. An organza petal headpiece with seed pearls held her elbow-length silk illusion veil, and her flowers were white sweetheart roses in a cascade arrangement.

Nylon net and linen fashioned the attendant's cage gowns. Patricia Wallace, as maid of honor, wore green, and the bridesmaids, Judith Still, sister of the bride, and Pamela Proctor, sister of the bridegroom, were in yellow.

All carried bouquets of yellow daisies and sweetheart roses and baby breath. Jere Edwards was best man, and the ushers were Michael Townsend and Frank Radzikowski. Sandra Garrison was flower girl and Paul Cunningham served as ring bearer.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Plymouth.

Leukemia Group Seeks New Members

The West Suburban chapter of the Children's Leukemia Foundation in Michigan is seeking new members in Livonia, Farmington, Plymouth, Garden City, Redford Township, Westland and Wayne.

A meeting is planned Tuesday June 6, at the home of Marjorie Hill, 18780 Norwich, Livonia.

The group also needs contributions for its scheduled rummage sale at the Federal Credit Union Hall, Plymouth, on June 9 and 10. Persons interested in joining the organization or giving articles to sell are asked to call Mrs. Hill, GR 6-2239, or Joyce Gural, GR 4-0747.

The Children's Leukemia Foundation helps sponsor an extensive research program at the Children's Research Center in Detroit and at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

Christian Women's Club To Hear Young Designer

"Fashions by Saponaro" will be presented by young designer Thomas Saponaro and Beatrice A. Walock at the Northwest and Suburban Detroit Christian Women's Club luncheon on Wednesday, June 7, at 12:30 p.m.

Saponaro, a Franklin resident and high school senior, has been designing since elementary school days and has done stage and set designs for the Northland Playhouse; the Will-O-Way Theatre, Bloomfield Hills; the Cain Park Amphitheatre production staff, Cleveland Heights; and other professional organizations.

Last fall, he studied at the Università per Straniere in Perugia, Italy, with the American Institute of Foreign Study program. He was also enrolled in the "Vanucci Art Academie" and is the only American student to be awarded a certificate of graduation and also the only student whose water colors were kept to hang permanently in the art academy museum.

While in Italy, he visited Oleg Cassini, and the famed designer looked at Tom's designs and made suggestions on how to improve them.

Recently, he held a showing of 31 original gown designs as a benefit for the Groves High School production of "Guys and Dolls" for which he designed all the costumes, sets and scenery. His gowns have been featured on Edith Melrose's TV House of Fashion Show.

Saponaro plans to enroll at Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh this fall.

AKD Women Hear of News

Mrs. Clarice Stafford, instructor at Marygrove College, formerly with the Livonia public schools, spoke on the current issues and trends in education at the recent meeting of the Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Delta education sorority.

Mrs. Stafford, a member of the group, based her talk on recent professional articles and books. A silent auction of white elephant articles to raise money for altruistic affairs followed. The meeting was concluded with refreshments furnished by the co-hostess, Jerry Flechtner in the home of Lucille Smith.

Those attending were: Peggy Erspamer, Doris Fedus, Jean George, Garnet Hoover, Mary Howard, Birdella Hoegy, Betty Lantz, Mildred Richards, Hester Springer, Leenie Shelby, Gladys Scott and the new members Marianne Kuhn, Irma Conway and Charlotte Ames.

Women on the GO!

By Margaret Miller

The new president of the Livonia Parent Teacher Association council had never heard of such a thing as the PTA when she was a girl in school.

That's because Mrs. Hilda Varbedian came to this country as a war bride from England, where educational directives come strictly from headmasters of schools, and the idea of parent groups having any voice was completely foreign.

To be exact, Mrs. Varbedian was brought up in Liverpool, a fact that delights her two sons, seventh-grader Dennis and first-grader Peter, these days. It's not every kid who can say that his mother and the Beatles have the same home town.

But of course the pride the boys feel in their attractive and capable mother isn't limited to her birthplace and charming trace of British accent.

Installed last week, Mrs. Varbedian is stepping into her new post with an air of confidence that belies the tongue-in-cheek that "the more I hear about this job, the more I think maybe I should just quit now."

She has all kinds of plans

for a bigger and better PTA organization in Livonia.

For one thing, she hopes to push the membership rolls, now numbering between 7,000 and 7,500, to the 10,000 mark.

"The more active members we have, the better will be our communication from school to home, and the more worthwhile things we can do."

Mrs. Varbedian hopes to see the PTA groups in the various schools work more closely with the Jaycettes "Helping Hands" project.

so that the aim of a helping hand card in at least one house in every block can become a reality.

Then, she favors giving PTA backing for other school-home programs, possibly instruction in bicycle safety.

And, foremost in her plans, she hopes to get more PTA members involved in pushing state legislation beneficial to schools.

Recently, as this year's legislative chairman, she headed a drive that saw hundreds of Livonia PTA members telephone or wire State Representative Louis Schmidt and State Senator George Kuhn in the interests of tax reform that would give the school districts more adequate funds.

"We want our members to be informed citizens so they can be a force to elect the best official and push good legislation," she said. "And we want to keep these officials always mindful that thousands of PTA members are interested in what they do."

All this is quite different from the school scene in the Liverpool suburb where Mrs. Varbedian attended classes. But then, just about everything in life has been different for Hilda Varbedian since she sailed from England as a war bride in 1946.

"There were a thousand of us on the ship," she remembers, "and we were homesick already."

Her husband, Andrew, whom she had married in England less than a year before, met her in New York. Besides amazement at the skyscrapers, she remembers wanting to try an ice cream soda because they looked so beautiful in the pictures she had seen.

"And then when I ordered one at a drugstore, I didn't like it," she added. "I guess it was too rich after our strict wartime rationing."

The Varbedians lived in Highland Park and Royal Oak before coming to Livonia. Hilda has been president of the Roosevelt School PTA for three years before moving up to her present post.

It's a good guess that as her administration progresses, Livonia will thank Liverpool for a lot more than the Beatles.

Parents Visit The Campus At Adrian

Several Livonia residents were among the 700 guests of Adrian College during the school's annual Parents' Weekend.

They were Mr. and Mrs. William P. Mastny, of Doris Lane, whose son, Eric, is a freshman majoring in political science; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Howell, of Newburg Road, who have a sophomore son, Philip, majoring in history; and Mrs. Ruth M. Douglas Howell also made the campus visit with his parents.

Adrian is a 122-year-old Methodist-related college.

Parents and students were given the opportunity on Saturday to meet with their professors and to discuss the individual academic development of each student.

On Saturday evening, many of the parents were in attendance for the "full house," all-campus musical production of "My Fair Lady," produced by the music and theatre departments of the college.

Dragster Fined

Open 1,700 New Public Camp Sites

LANSING — More than 1,700 new public campsites have been opened in Michigan this year in a continuing effort to keep pace with the growing interest in tent and trailer vacations, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

The 1967 Michigan Campground Directory lists 19,032 prepared campsites, 13,030 in 72 state parks and recreation areas, 2,296 in 141 state forest campgrounds, 1,617 in 82 national forest campgrounds, and 2,089 in 73 county, township and city parks.

The number of Michigan campsites has been increased by more than 130 percent in the 1960's, elevation the state to national leadership in providing for and hosting outdoor vacationers.

Among new directory listings this year are six state parks, Bewabic on Fortune Lake, Crystal Falls; Porcupine Mountain, Presque Isle Unit, on Lake Superior near Wakefield; Clear Lake, Atlanta; Michilimackinac, Mackinaw City; Newaygo near Morley, and Hardy Lake near Oxbow.

Major campsite additions include 121 at Young State Park, Boyne City; 100 at North Higgins Lake State Park, Roscommon, and 48 at Silver Lake State Park, Hart.

Among local parks with more than 50 sites listed for the first time are Ontonagon; Crittenden, Ewart; Rose Lake, LeRoy; School Section Lake, Mecosta; Sportsmans, Mio; Beaver, Spratt; Bowers, Standwood, and Little Field Lake, Weidman.

Free copies of the new campground directory and other Michigan vacation planning information can be obtained by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, 48926.

State parks generally offer the most complete camping facilities in Michigan with bathhouses, flush toilets, electricity and concession stands. Most of the state and national forest campgrounds have pit toilets, picnic tables, fire and a water supply.

Camping fees vary with the type of facility. In state parks, motor vehicles must have an annual permit costing $2 or a daily permit costing 50 cents. Both can be purchased at the parks or at many hunting and fishing license dealers throughout the state.

Campsite rental in state parks ranges from $1.50 to $2 a day, depending on the facilities provided.

There is no charge for state forest campgrounds and state game areas. National forest users are charged $7 annually or a modest daily fee and specific information can be obtained from the National Forest Service of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, Washington, D. C.

Some county and township parks have a fee to cover maintenance and campers should inquire locally about the amount.

From June 15 through Labor Day, campers are limited to 15 days in any one state park with an additional 30 days during other months. Camping is limited to 20 days at one site in state forest campgrounds and 15 days in national forests.

Free camping for periods up to 20 days is permitted in about half of the more than 600 improved water access sites. These areas have pit toilets and some have a water supply.

Unification

er to press for submission of the unification question at the polls.

If it is submitted to popular vote and carries, then and only then will the research Council entertain the request from adjoining Canton Township to evaluate what type of cooperative arrangement should be established between Canton and the combined Plymouths, and for what services.

Pickup feels that any other approach to a parlay with the Canton sector would be premature. It is obvious that he does not consider Canton Township a prospect for total unification inclusion.

The Research Council has made similar city-township surveys in the Jackson, Battle Creek and Port Huron communities, but only in Battle Creek has unification—or annexation—been submitted to a vote. There it has been on the ballot twice and has gone down to defeat both times.

While being guests here for the week, they have expressed a desire to see Greenfield Village and the Ford Motor Company and they also are planning a trip to Port Huron to visit a branch of a company that also has branch in their native Plymouth.

Former Mayor Houk also suggested in his letter that the visitors would like to see the City-County Building in Detroit. They would like to meet some of the Labor leaders inasmuch as Alderman King is a top Labor leader in England.

The official word from England set at rest some rumors making the rounds that Lord Mayor Chapman had been stricken shortly after taking office and that he would not make the trip here for the Centennial.

Instead, he has chosen to bring a delegation with him, which is a high honor for the City of Plymouth and shows the significance the British group is placing on the Centennial.

Plans are now underway to give the visitors a week they will long remember.

First, they will be met at the Windsor airport and welcomed, with a ride through the Detroit-Windsor tunnel to get a first hand look at America and the City County Building.

They will then be taken, with police escort, on a winding ride through the suburbs to the Mayflower Hotel where they will be quartered during their stay in Plymouth.

Second, they will be the honored guests in the July Fourth parade and all side attractions which will include the Jaycee program at Mettetal Airport in the afternoon, partake of barbecued chicken and then see the fireworks display in the evening.

Third, on Wednesday, they will be taken to the University of Michigan where they have expressed a desire to visit the Business School.

Next, on Thursday evening, they will be guests at the big civic dinner in the Meeting House where U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart will be the main speaker. It is expected that Lord Mayor Chapman will respond CLEARING THE WAY for construction of Burroughs Corporation's $18 million Detroit world headquarters, the heavy demolition equipment takes its toll. Steel and concrete give way under the wrecking ball and bulldozer blade during this phase of the extensive building project.

Burroughs Lands Order From Largest British Bank

Barclays Bank Ltd., of Great Britain, the largest bank in the world outside of the United States, has selected a giant Burroughs B8500 electronic information processing system for what will be the largest on-line, real-time banking system in the world.

Valued at $52 million, it is believed to be the largest computer order ever placed by a private enterprise. The announcement also was made in London jointly by Barclays and Burroughs Machines Ltd., a subsidiary of Burroughs Corporation U.S.A.

Through the use of special TC-500 terminal computers — custom designed to meet the requirements of banking — most of Barclays' 2,500 branches throughout the United Kingdom will be connected by telephone lines to the B8500 central system located in the bank's London headquarters.

"To our knowledge, this is the largest order for an on-line, real-time data processing system ever placed by a commercial customer," Ray W. Macdonald, president of Burroughs Corporation, said.

"There will be nearly 2,500 terminal computers in the system, operating on-line systems installed on order for banks around the world."

Installation of the central B8500 for Barclays will be made early in 1969 and the complete on-line, real-time system — with a special terminal computer in almost every bank branch — will be operational in 1970 prior to decimalization in Britain.

The giant B8500 multi-processing system will consist of dual control processors and eight thin film memory modules with 128,000 words of memory. The system also has two input/output control modules with 512 duplex channels. These channels provide a two-way flow of data at the rate of up to 36 million characters per second.

The configuration will include data display units and a high speed, random access disk file with four billion characters of memory. Average access time to the file is 30 milliseconds.

President Macdonald said, "Barclays chose the B8500 system because it will give them the opportunity to provide the best possible service to their customers on a country-wide basis. Burroughs was ready with both the central computer and terminal computers in a balanced system, which will reach the ultimate in customer service in one step."

"The B8500 will process all aspects of the bank's operations, including instantaneous inquiry and immediate updating of customer accounts. It will also be available as a service center to handle the accounting needs of their commercial customers."

At peak periods the system will be capable of handling up to one million transactions per hour. An inquiry from any of Barclays' branches in the United Kingdom will have a response with a maximum of two and one half seconds regardless of its distance from the central computer in London.

Protect Birches Now From Miners Attack

"Homeowners having birch trees on their property should make preparations now to control the expected invasion of birch leaf miners," said Don Juchartz, Wayne County Extension Agricultural Agent.

"It is toward the end of May that the mines, or discolored blotches appear on the leaf with the leaf finally turning brown and falling off the tree."

Control measures are not too difficult for this pest if the homeowner will apply the right pesticides at the right time.

Juchartz indicated that control before the mines appear can be gained through applying one of the new systemic insecticides to the soil now so the roots of the tree can absorb them and move them throughout the tree.

The insecticide known as "disyston" comes in a granular form that can be put on the soil under the spread of the branches and watered in immediately and thoroughly. This insecticide is somewhat toxic to people so caution must be taken to water it in as soon as applied. One application is sufficient for an entire year.

If spraying is more convenient for the homeowner, then Juchartz suggests the use of a mixture of malathion and lindane when the mines are less than 3/8 inch in diameter on the leaf. These materials will penetrate the leaf and kill the small larvae between the leaf surfaces. The first spray can be followed up with a second application 10 days later if necessary.

There are two broods of this insect a year, the first in late May and the second about the first part of July. The same control measures are necessary for both broods as far as spraying is concerned.

Portable Fence Gives Privacy To Sun Bathers

A portable privacy fence will screen the sunbather against prying eyes of neighbors or passersby.

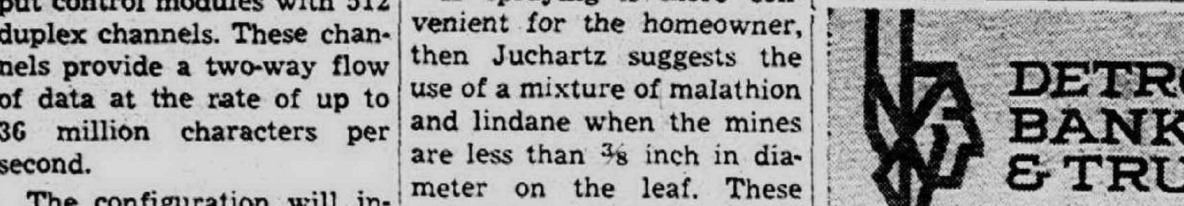

Made in the shape of an eight-foot square, the enclosure includes eight four-foot lengths of 2x4-inch lumber to which are fastened two-foot strips of Masonite Weather-all placed horizontally midway between the tops and bottoms of the lumber supports.

Long bolts and nuts may be used at the corners to hold the privacy fence together and simplify taking it down for storage. The weather-proof hardboard panels may be nailed to the posts.

For the best appearance, prime all parts, inside and out, and brush on two coats of exterior grade house paint.

Open design of the enclosure permits full exposure to the sun and entrance of breezes from above and below the hardboard panels, which are at just the right height to discourage curious neighbors.

Looking for a quick cover for that hot dry spot? Plant seeds of portulaca, nasturtiums, or sweet alyssum. These plants enjoy sun and poor soil.

DETROIT BANK & TRUST

GROUND BREAKING ceremonies were held Tuesday, May 16, for the new branch of Detroit Bank and Trust, to be the first building to locate in the new Nankin Industrial Park subdivision, Palmer and Newburgh Roads. Leho Corp. executive vice president Fred Jans (far right) and Westland city officials Mayor Thomas Brown and Council members Justine Barns, Virgil Gagnon, Henry Lundquist, Paul Krarup, William Anderson, and Charles McIlhargy took part in the ceremony.

Early Thud Fells Falcons

A four-run uprising in the first inning enabled Walled Lake to slip past Farmington, 6-2, in the final Inter-lakes League game for both teams.

The lakers jumped on Mike Thompson in a hurry, but cooled off after Joe Himmelsbach took over the pitching for the Falcons.

Jerry Tinkle drilled in Rick Norton with Farmington's first run. Dan Wolfman accounted for the other tally when he slugged a homer in the seventh inning.

"Read the label and follow the directions for amounts and how to apply insecticides," emphasized Juchartz. "Do not add more material than is called for on the label as this is needlessly using insecticides," he pointed out.

"The leaf miner is a larvae of a black sawfly that overwinters in the soil beneath the tree. Therefore, prompt clean-up of fallen leaves is a must to prevent the larva from leaving the leaf and entering the soil. An applica-

Some Things to Avoid And Calm Moving Jitters

Here's how to calm your moving-day jitters. Request a copy of the packing instructions that the moving company provides for its employees. Then you can see why the movers do what they do, and it will probably make you feel better.

If you are doing any of your own packing, it may also help you avoid serious errors.

Most modern moving companies, particularly long distance movers, are very explicit about cautionary measures to be taken in packing. Here are some of the things that one of the larger movers cautions against in its manual for packers:

Don't pack matches, flammables, explosives, paints or paint thinners.

Don't pack live plants or flowers.

Don't pack shoes or other miscellaneous articles in bottoms of wardrobes. (They may be missed in unpacking, and thrown out.)

Don't roll draperies on rods or poles, they should be carefully gathered and folded with white tissue paper, then placed on hangers in a wardrobe carton.

Don't pack pictures between bedding or linens.

Don't pack soaps, cleaning compounds, furniture polish or medicines in the same carton with food. Not only is this dangerous, the odors from such items are ruinous to foods.

Make sure all crates are marked for contents, side to be opened, and end to be placed up.

Don't smoke or drink while packing.

Remove all excess packing materials from empty house.

There are some items moving men won't touch. Don't expect them to accept jewelry, money or valuable papers for packing. You, the shipper, are expected to handle the transfer of your valuable personal possessions.

And don't expect them to assume responsibility for the condition of television sets, or other instruments or appliances, not serviced and certified by an approved service company.

The movers may not be happy if you ask them to carry barrels of dishes and glasses that you have packed yourself. Don't let their reluctance make you unhappy; it could save you money. Home packed dishes and glasses experience considerable breakage in transit, and cannot be insured for that reason. It's actually cheaper and more sensible to let the movers pack them.

Green Thumb Tips

The time to eliminate weeds is when they sprout. Then it's simple to dislodge the roots with a cultivator. Later, when weeds have grown, the weeding job takes both time and effort.

Some annuals bloom so quickly when sown from seeds that several sowings should be made to keep their flowers in your garden all summer. These include annual baby's breath and candy-tuft.

Do you know that both of these flowers may be grown in colored forms as well as the usual white? There is a rose-colored baby's breath and a mixture of seeds of candytuft available that will produce plants with lilac, pink, carmine and cardinal flowers as well as white.

An unusually dainty climbing plant for use in window boxes, hanging baskets or just to cover a bare bit of soil is the black-eyed susan vine. Flower colors are yellow, orange, buff or white and most blooms have the black eyes of their namesake.

This vine grows in sun but also does very well in light shade.

Southern and Northern who want to grow that Southern delicacy okra — often called gumbo — should know that the seeds will not sprout well as long as the weather and soil are cool. Delay planting seeds until the soil warms up and you'll have no trouble getting plenty of seedlings.

Rose Annual Gives Hints For All

Did you ever eat a rose? Or do you grow them? Or just like to look at them? The 1967 American Rose Annual has something for everyone who likes roses—in one way or another.

"Would You Eat Your Roses?" tells how to make sugared rose petals, "rose dew" and other delicacies.

"Proof of the Pudding" evaluates on a nationwide basis the newer rose varieties, while color plates show many of them.

Realtors Present Service Award

A woman who has devoted 25 years of her life to volunteer work with the American Red Cross has received the 1967 Distinguished Community Service Award of the Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors—United Northwestern Realty Association.

She is Evelyn (Mrs. Moore) Scarlett, of 36925 Glenwood Road, Wayne. The award was conferred at the Holiday Inn, by Richard S. Elsea, president of WWOBR-UNRA. This is the fourth year the organization of Realtors has made the award.

"Mrs. Scarlett is a perfect example of the type of person the Community Service Award was designed for," said Elsea in making the presentation. "For 25 years she has quietly and efficiently directed various aspects of volunteer Red Cross work with no thought of bringing recognition upon herself. Until now, she has managed to evade any such public acclaim."

Mrs. Scarlett's activities in recent years have particularly involved the youth programs of the Red Cross.

She said she "fell into" youth work six years ago when it was started as an experiment by the central Wayne County chapter.

The Red Cross youth program trains young people for work in hospitals, clinics, Head Start programs, nurseries, libraries and recreation centers. The young people take Red Cross training from June through August and then are assigned to volunteer work in agencies needing them in their own areas.

"Don't make me sound 'goody-goody,'" she admonished an interviewer, "but there is a great deal of satisfaction in seeing a youngster go from our programs into worthwhile work, or win a scholarship and think that you may have done something that helped them along the way."

Mrs. Scarlett and her husband, a retired pharmacist, have no children of their own. She said the 2,000 youngsters she has helped in the last six years have given her some of the satisfactions of parenthood.

"When you see a young girl buy a uniform out of her own money, paying for it a nickel or two at a time so she can work without pay in a hospital, then you know you must be dealing with an exceptional type of person," she said.

Mrs. Scarlett denied that her dealing with teenagers was based on "patience."

"This is one of the greatest generations this country has ever known," she said, "and I'm interested in it. If you're interested, you're patient."

Mrs. Scarlett is a graduate of Ferris State College, which is where she met her husband. Her Red Cross volunteer work began in 1942.

Since then she has accumulated 10,000 volunteer hours of work as chairman of the Wayne branch and member of the board of directors.

If They Aren't Wreaking Havoc

Insects Are Wondrous

Insects are truly wondrous creatures.

They produce food for humans, and are eaten by them.

They are also used by man for fruit and vegetable pollination, in checking water contamination and as the source of ideas for jewelry and fabric design.

But in addition to their good, they also do evil.

Insects are the most competitive group of earth with man—killing him, eating his food and destroying his property.

"The fact is that the insect is probably the most underrated and least understood creature on earth," contends Dr. Julius R. Hoffman, a Michigan State University entomologist.

"They do cause man a great deal of hardship, but their good and their evil create industry and a source of employment for millions of people," he recently told a conference of state park concessioners on the MSU campus.

The only domesticated food-producing insect on the earth today is the bee, which converts flower nectar into honey, he reminded.

As a potential food source for man, the bee again qualifies, he said, as do silkworm larvae, ants and pupae. These creatures are richer in protein than chicken eggs, he reported.

Insects are also on nature's menu for fish, birds and animals, and are used by man as bait to catch fish, he noted.

"Another important contribution of insects to man is in fruit and vegetable production," Dr. Hoffman said. "They are vital for the effective pollination of figs, apples, onions and other farm crops."

Insects contribute themselves and their products to industry, he said. They are used in the manufacture of shaving cream, cosmetics, candles, carbon paper, lacquer, shellac and other consumer items, as well as for

On The Lawn

Last year, for the first time ever, the International Horticultural Congress was held here in the United States. Delegates came to Washington from all over the world and those especially interested in turf went on to Marysville, Ohio to see the research work being conducted by Scotts, the grass people.

The one thing that seemed to astonish the most was the Windsor lawn growing on a bed of concrete. It looks like an ordinary lawn, although thicker and greener than most, growing in front of a nice white house. But you can lift the sod up just like a carpet and see that there isn't a trace of soil underneath. Nothing but concrete.

Here is the most dramatic proof that the nature of the soil is not the determining factor in a lawn's success and it should encourage anyone who considers his own soil poor, for one reason or another.

On the other hand it does point up the need for adequate food and water. This grass is fed with a turf builder on a regular schedule and is watered whenever there is a lack of moisture.

It seems certain that thousands of lawnowners have spent millions of dollars trying to change the composition of their soil when they could have achieved greater success by feeding often enough. They would have saved money, too.

ideas for jewelry, fabrics, ornaments, plaques and symbols, he continued.

"Songs ('The Boll Weevil'), stories and poems have been written about insects," he said, "and they are the source of some of our familiar proverbs and adages (Busy as a bee, 'Industrious as an ant'). Insects also help to keep forests free of dead animals and trees, and to check water contamination, he said, and they are even used by gamblers (cockroach racing).

"When it comes to competing with man, insects are no slouches," Dr. Hoffman admitted. "They have had 50 million years to adapt to their environment, as compared to man's 500,000 years, and outnumber man about 500,000 to 1."

In addition to eating a goodly portion of our food, insects have given man a rough time in other ways, he said.

U.S. Tennis Stars Head For Detroit

Many of the nation's leading tennis players will participate in the annual Detroit Invitational tennis tournament at the Tennis and Squash Club, July 7-9. The club, which is located at 13200 Grove in Detroit, is co-sponsoring the meet with the Detroit Free Press. Entries from Ron Holmberg, ranked sixth nationally; Frank Froehling (No. 8) and Chuck McKinley (No. 10) already have been received.

There also is an excellent chance that Arthur Ashe, the No. 1 amateur in the U.S. today, will be in the meet if he can receive a weekend army leave.

Riding Mower Tips on Safety

With riding mower and lawn tractors becoming a part of the suburban scene, the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute suggests the following rules for safer operation of these 4-wheeled vehicles.

• Learn the manual and know how to stop the machine quickly.

• Do not carry passengers—This is one of the most common causes of tractor and riding mower mishaps.

• Do not allow children to operate machine—The garden tractor is not a toy. Adults who aren't familiar with the controls should not be allowed to operate it.

• Clear area of children and pets—They are in danger of being injured by objects hurled from the mower and from being run over by the machine, itself.

• Clear foreign objects from work area before starting—A small stone can become a deadly missile when picked up and tossed by the mower's blades.

• Put machine in neutral before starting—to avoid those sudden starts... especially on hills.

• Stop engine whenever you leave machine—A running tractor or riding mower can present a dangerous temptation to a curious toddler.

• Fill gas tank before starting—A running engine and some carelessly poured gasoline is a sure fire recipe for danger.

• Watch for holes and hidden hazards—Always keep an eye on where you're going.

• Look behind before backing—The most tragic of all tractor accidents—a parent backing his machine without looking to see if a pet or child is in danger—til it's too late!

• Watch traffic near roadways—Try to keep your tractor off roads. If you must use public ways, exercise extreme caution at all times.

Bugs Eating Garden? Try These for Size

Most insects can be knocked out with sprays, powders and other poisons, but the unwary gardener sometimes can suffer from the effects of bug sprays, too.

Some tips on use of insecticides are offered:

• Read the directions on the container carefully and follow them. The manufacturer spells out the proper usage and safety precautions.

• If the directions call for rubber gloves, protective clothing or goggles, leave this alone, unless you are an expert.

• Store the insecticide in its original container, with original label, in a safe, locked compartment, away from children and pets.

• Destroy empty containers immediately.

• Apply downwind, to avoid inhaling sprays and dusts. Stay out of freshly sprayed areas.

• Do not smoke while spraying or dusting. Some of the chemicals are flammable.

• If chemicals are spilled on skin, wash immediately and thoroughly.

the soil. Don't leave it around in pans or pails.

In case of accident, follow the directions on the container. If in doubt, call your physician.

This Is the Week That...

By DON HOENSHELL

Nobody sleeps in suburbia, if you want a real news flash.

And nine to five is a baseball score or a very unusual football game.

Maybe it's because these cities are young—you should forgive the expression, stately Plymouth—and the need for action is so great.

PEOPLE HERE TALK about mills and teacher-student ratios like other cities discuss bus service and what to do about restricted deeds to property given to the public by pioneer families.

Suburbia's families are still young and strong, building shopping centers, serving on the school boards and lobbying to get the chuck holes out of Five Mile. For fun on Monday nights they go to the City Council meetings.

Egad, suburbia, let a new kid in town get some sleep.

The excitement of the suburbs is good for at least 18 hours a day. Livonia's City Center and Farmington's library, Plymouth's garbage and millage problems, Westland's birthday and all that.

Everywhere else you go downtown to get a haircut, buy a paper, slosh a bourbon and water, go to renew your faith at church, or buy a car. Not here, friend.

In Livonia, for example, you go to a shopping center or check the want ads.

The City Council scheduled a meeting at 8 a.m. one recent Saturday. Other cities maybe are on different time since there is no 8 a.m. on a Saturday.

And with the traffic like it is the only way you can get to the other side of the mile roads is to be born there.

POLITICS IN OBSERVERLAND is both naive and sophisticated, a natural ambivalence when young and old build a system of government in the loose framework of democracy.

It takes time to sort out the white hats from the black. Then everything is bogged by somebody in a grey derby.

These cities are going to grow—in wisdom and stature as well as in population. They don't have it made yet, but wait a minute or a week.

From the Publisher's Desk OBSERVATION POINT

By Philip H. Power

The other evening, I dropped into a cocktail party in Ann Arbor.

During the conversation, someone asked just why I found working with newspapers in the suburbs so interesting and exciting.

Since it was a cocktail party, the hour was late, and the smoke was getting in my eyes, I brushed off the question by saying, "Because that's where the action is." Later on, I started chewing that over.

I'm convinced the answer was true, as far as it went.

But there's more. Much more. The real point about life in suburbs (with low bows to former President Kennedy) is that they are the true new frontier. In that sense, they are in the main stream of the classic pattern of American development that has been going on for nearly two centuries.

Look at it this way. The problems that faced the frontier communities as America expanded westward are precisely the problems facing the expanding suburban communities of Observerland.

Let's take a few examples. Population growth is probably the most basic.

Gold rush towns in the West would start out as sleepy communities of a couple hundred souls. In a few years, the rush of miners, saloon keepers, store owners, and families could skyrocket the population by 20 or 30 times.

In modern times, take Livonia. Starting as a predominantly rural township of 18,500 population when it became a city in 1950, it has mushroomed on its 17th birthday to a full-blown city of 103,000 people. The experts say that Livonia will include 180,000 by 1980.

People don't exist in a vacuum. They need things like jobs, schools, roads, social services, a feeling of community.

Take jobs. The old-time mining Communities of the West couldn't support just the miners. There was a crying need for other sorts of work to support all the non-miners who flocked there. Grocery stores. Restaurants. Bars. Blacksmiths. The same thing applies in the suburbs. In Plymouth, for example, Ford has in operation a new plant that will eventually employ 2,500 people, and Michigan Bell has plans for a massive new installation.

People with jobs (being people) have kids. Kids need schools.

Kids as well as their parents need safe roads, street lights, police and fire protection, garbage pickup.

Booming cities on the old frontier needed things too. Sometimes they didn't realize it until too late, when entire communities were wiped out by cholera or terrorized by a bandit gang.

It's getting late out in the suburbs, too.

The roads in Farmington Township were in terrible shape this spring, and it's a wonder that some people weren't killed.

The whole area needs an incinerator to burn garbage instead of letting it pile up in rotten, ugly mounds in the dumps.

They are going unsolved for many of the same reasons the cities of the old frontier didn't solve their problems: lack of foresight; reluctance to face the problems; lack of money; political expediency.

Some of the communities on the old frontier didn't make it. Some of the suburbs on the new frontier won't, either.

Maybe we all ought to wake up and face it.

A lot of these problems are going unsolved right now, out here on the new frontier of the suburbs.

Study? Few Know of It

The question of the Future Farmington Area Study Committee and its recommended projects has been a problem of serious import for almost a full year.

Politicians have devoted hours of debate, at countless meetings, to the question.

A small group of concerned citizens have labored tirelessly concerning the matter.

The Enterprise and Observer has devoted prime space and large headlines to the issue for a period of months.

Nevertheless, of 15 people—all Farmington area residents—who were approached at random in the Farmington Downtown Center last week, 14 had no idea what this newspaper's representative was referring to when they were queried as to their feelings toward the FFASC's proposed Michigan State University study of governmental options for the Farmington area.

A sorry state of affairs, indeed.

The questions facing the area's citizens—consolidation, individual incorporation, future annexation—are of terribly serious consequences for Farmington citizens. Whether any future governmental situation will be one of a joint city government for the city and the township, whether it will continue as city-township or whether it will be composed of two separate cities, the implications will dictate almost a "way of life" for area residents.

One possible means of informing and involving the average citizen was suggested by the Enterprise and Observer's fifteenth interviewee. She suggested that the MSU study be started as soon as possible, and maybe people will understand just what's going on.

Who Represents Who? - - by R. T. Thompson

After listening to the Plymouth City Commission perform for the past several years—and perform is the proper description—one is not too much dismayed at the vote in a recent meeting when the Commission voted, 5-2, for the vacation of an alley.

It isn't so much that the Commission approved closing the alley but the fact that two-thirds of the property owners abutting the alley let it be known that they were opposed to such action.

The Commission, which has gained a reputation during the past year and a half as a body that "talks and tables," listened to the property owners, thanked them for appearing and then gave them a backward slap with their motion to vacate.

We have sat in session after session and listened to members of the Commission argue at length whether passage of a measure would result in lax use of the taxpayers' dollars.

We have heard Commissioners talk on and on at length over something that they thought would not meet with the voters' and taxpayers' approval.

Thus, it was a bit disheartening to have the taxpayers appear, voice an objection and then have the Commission rap their knuckles with a 5-2 vote.

The two "nays" were registered by Rev. Peter Schweitzer, who is the freshman member of the body, and veteran Arch Valier. The latter is well-known for following the voice of the voters. Arch more than any other member of the Commission believes in guarding the taxpayers' dollar and in passing measures he feels are in the best interest of the voters.

All of which makes one wonder just what the thinking is of the five that voted for passage of the resolution. Most certainly, there can't be a better way for the voters to present their feelings than in an appearance before the Commission.

Perhaps it might be better for the Commission to stop fly-specking—such as going out at 4 a.m. to count the number of cars parked illegally in the city, ripping actions of the city administration and such—and settle down to attempting to act like a Commission, think like a Commission and listen to the voters.

Voters have a strange way of remembering such contrariness at the next Commission elections. Sure, the next poll is two years away but if the Commission doesn't care to listen to the voters in this instance, then there'll be other times that similar actions will be taken.

Perhaps it's time some interested group of voters started making a list of the flagrant errors of judgment by the Commission and administration and remind electors two years hence.

Humph—two-thirds of the property owners abutting the alley say "No" and five members of the Commission respond with "Yes"—just as much as telling the group, "You don't know what you want, we do."

Reader Speaks Out About Garden City Doings

EDITOR:

In an article that appeared on the front page of the Westland Observer last week, William Necker, supporter of three candidates in the coming Wayne School Board election and moderator for the "Meet your Candidate"

Night, June 1, said: "Although I plan to be active for the candidates of my choice, I won't let that interfere with my moderating the meeting fairly."

This statement certainly belies another paragraph in the same article in which he admits he would like to see Eisminger "off the board" since others are more "qualified". (Robert Eisminger is one of two incumbents running for a four year term).

I, for one, have some doubts about the "fairness" of the illustrious attorney, William Necker, in his role of "moderator" and former campaign manager, supporter of many and castigator of one, in the coming school board election.

In defense of Eisminger, I feel he has done a commendable job while serving on the school board. We need men of his calibre, who are not afraid to face up to the problems of the taxpayers, parents, and children in our school system. He has more than fulfilled the obligations entrusted to him by the voters of Wayne and Westland and I am sure he will continue to do so.

Frankly, if I were Eisminger, I would have second thoughts about appearing on the "Meet your Candidate" platform with so anxious a "moderator". It doesn't take a Philadelphia lawyer—or one from Westland for that matter, to figure out that this could have been one of the cleverest snow-jobs ever perpetrated against the voters of this community.

Nor do we need to be told who is, or is not "Qualified". Every candidate is given the opportunity of expressing his ideas and ideals in the press and at open meetings, so that each registered voter can decide for himself whom he feels is best qualified.

With your brand of "fairness", counselor Necker, "we'll be screaming for mercy when they strap us in the chair but hopefully, before the switch is pulled, some of us may struggle to the polls to cast a ballot for the candidate of our choice!"

Just Chattin'

Formula for success—you've got to know the angles

By W. W. EDGAR

NO doubt you often have heard the expression, "You've got to know the angles."

It is strictly an American expression used to denote the requirements for success in any venture—large or small.

What is its origin?

What does it really mean?

These questions were asked at lunch the other day and I had to take another trip down through Memory Lane to get the answers.

As the memories came tumbling through the years I recalled the first time I had heard the expression and the impression it had left on me and I had to smile.

Back in the days of my youth my Dad operated a little lunch room which we proudly called a "restaurant." It was the only eating establishment in my home town and to augment the income from food my Dad converted the rear area to a pool room.

Down through the years the game of pool has become more glamorous and now is dignified as pocket billiards.

My Dad was quite adept at pocketing the balls in this old game of "straight" pool and he advised me that I would have to learn the game in order to play for the "house" and further add to the income of the business.

WITH that in mind he took me to the pool table and started to explain the intricacies of the game. He pointed to the diamonds on the rails and I still can hear him say, "You've got to know the angles—and these diamonds will help you."

He then showed me that the diamonds could be used as guides on what were termed "bank" shots—and it wasn't long until I had learned the game well enough to take on our regular customers.

Seldom did a day pass that my Dad didn't show me some "new angle." I mastered them to the point where I had become proficient enough to enter a tournament to decide the championship of the Lehigh Valley.

I wasn't much higher than the table, but I had mastered "the angles" to the point where I started to pile up victories and soon found myself at the top of the standings.

This was an unusual tournament in that the games were not all played at one site or on one table. We visited the volunteer fire halls in the area and played on the table as we found them.

Week after week went by—and I was still leading, much to the consternation of the older players who seemed to resent the fact that some "kid" was beating them.

FINALLY, came the big night—the night the championship was to be decided. It was the final game of the tournament. It was to be played in one of the outlying Pennsylvania Dutch areas and my opponent was a fellow named Norm Steinheiser.

No one ever had heard much of him until this tournament started and, somehow, he managed to survive the preliminaries and get to the championship round.

The final had caused quite some excitement—a kid playing for the valley championship—and all my friends telling me that I should have no trouble winning.

But what a shock I got!

When I arrived at the scene of the "battle" I found out several things—in a hurry.

First, the table was smaller than any of the others on which I had played. The angles were different. And, horror of horrors, the diamonds had been taken from the rails.

I was lost—and my opponent, this quiet Pennsylvania Dutchman named Steinheiser, just smiled as I missed shot after shot and took a good licking as he went on to win the valley championship.

You see, I didn't know the angles in the strange surroundings—and I didn't succeed. It was proof that I have carried through life—you've got to know the angles if you want to get ahead.

Public officials—especially the elected type, have the art of how to say no without actually saying the word down to a fine art.

From a couple of years of observation the most commonly used ploys are:

We'll have to study that.

"Let's table it for a week so that we have time to think about the proposal.

"I'm not sure that we can do that, we had better get an opinion from our attorney.

"I like the basic idea, but not in its present form. We'll have to amend it before its completely acceptable.

"Let's postpone action until the other group or commission acts.

"We don't have the funds now, but there's a bill in the Legislature which will give us more funds to . . .

"That's in the hands of Mr. So and So in Department A . . .

Of course there is a basic philosophy behind the practice of the art.

The public official in today's society must strive hard (or at least he thinks so) to appear to be cautious without appearing to be an obstructionist.

His conservatism must always be tempered with a moderate amount of acceptance of new ideas.

At least this is what today's elected official seems to think. Whether or not it's a true analysis of the situation or whether or not the general public either knows or cares is a matter of debate.

However, the officials continue along their set pattern of practicing the art of saying no.

SENSE and NONSENSE

A recent press release from a local high school announced that because of the size of the senior class, parents would not be allowed to come to the prom to take pictures. However, the announcement continued, "Pre-prom gatherings are fine in which parents can INCITE the young people . . ."

It is certainly a change to see the school asking parents to incite teenagers. The usual picture of school officials is that of conservative adults trying to halt or at least dampen youthful enthusiasm.

But here they are actually urging parents to spur their children on. Not only that, but the announcement is initiated by the advisor, giving it official approval.

It staggers the mind to think of the task given parents. What can they do that is original in order to compete with other inciting parties?

Picture a living room a few nights before the prom. Betty Jean, an attractive senior walks into the room.

"Mom, dad take those bananas back to the store. That hateful Gloria Upstage's parents are having bananas flown directly from South America. Besides that they are bringing in a whole tribe of pygmy musicians. Now, nobody will want to come to our inciting party," Betty Jean collapses into a chair sobbing.

"Oh dear," sighs her worried looking mother. "I've thought of everything—How about a peace demonstration."

"Mother, how unoriginal," groans Betty Jean.

"A war demonstration? There haven't been many of them."

"Do you want to ruin me socially?" storms Betty Jean.

"Your father was talking about giving everyone motorcycles as party favors," says her mother trying to be helpful. "Then you could all go scrambling. But I thought it might be hard on the girls' forms."

"Stop your crying," cries her father running into the room. "I've bought up all the morning glory seeds in town. We'll have the only LSD party around here."

"Nobody can say Fred Roberts doesn't cooperate with the school."

"Oh daddy, daddy," cries Betty Jean as she jumps up and down.

However, this touching scene will never take place. After a careful scrutiny of the high school press release by several of our top editors, it was decided that the word incite should have been invite.

That way the sentence would have read "parents can invite the young people they wish to see for picture-taking purposes." This does seem more in keeping with the traditional image of school personnel.

Hospital Authority to Study Computers' Use

The Board of Directors of Peoples Community Hospital Authority was asked to consider spending between $10,000 and $15,000 for a feasibility study to determine if all Authority accounting procedures should be centralized and processed electronically.

PCHA members include Garden City and Westland. The subject was discussed at this month's Operating Committee meeting and recommended for action by the Board, which referred the matter back to its Finance Committee.

A proposal from Arthur Young and Company, specialists in designing electronic data processing systems and national auditing firm was discussed in light of increasing accounting demands on PCHA unit hospitals and in light of even greater demands which will be created by the expansion of Seaway Hospital and the new Beyer Memorial Hospital.

If adopted by the Board of Directors this month, the feasibility study would determine whether separate accounting procedures should be continued or if electronically processed procedures should be adopted and centralized.

The consulting firm would also investigate the feasibility of data processing for the Authority, as well as make recommendations for the kinds of data processing equipment to be utilized if the system is centralized.

Data processing has become standard in many large hospital systems, according to Dr. Karl S. Klicka, Executive Director of PCHA. Systems have been instituted which are capable not only of processing accounting information but research and patient statistics as well.

There was considerable discussion at the Operating Committee meeting of the merits of hiring an independent consulting firm to do the feasibility study for PCHA as against inviting manufacturers of electronic data processing equipment.

Members of the PCHA Operating Committee agree that it would be assured more objective analysis of PCHA accounting needs by an independent firm which would be able not only to recommend the proper equipment for the job but also those electronic machines which could operate in tandem.

Arthur Young and Company has completed similar studies and research for such organizations and hospitals as Bell and Howell, Crittenton Hospital, Children's Mercy Hospital of Kansas, Harvard University, Swedish Convent Hospital of Chicago and the National Bank of Detroit.

State Police Report Show 297 Deaths in 90,877 Fires

Michigan's 90,877 fires in 1966 caused 297 deaths, both records, and did an estimated $64,861,019 in property damage, the second worst on record, according to the annual report of the State Police fire marshal division.

Previous highs were 88,175 fires and 282 deaths in 1964. The record year for property damage was 1953 with $78,126,591.

The deaths in 1966, increased by 59 from the year before, included 165 adults, three of them firemen, and 129 children. Not included were 26 deaths attributed to fires resulting from auto and aircraft accidents.

Compared with 1965, the number of fires was up by 11,243 while the damage total increased by almost $7 million. Of 112,709 alarms answered, 21,832 were false, about six per cent more than the average in recent years.

The breakdown of fires included dwellings 21,952, autos 14,890, grass 25,537, house trailers 681, schools 371, bulk storage plants 300, dry cleaning plants 126, theaters 89, aircraft 68, and miscellaneous 26,863.

Of 3,031 incendiary fires, 1,979 or about two thirds of them were set by minors, 1,052 by adults.

Property damage was divided into $36,922,788 on buildings, $25,470,845 on contents, a high, and $2,467,385 involving cars, boats, unheated machinery, grass fires, aircraft, etc.

There were 118 large loss fires, with damages of $50,000 or more, for a total loss in this category of $18,576,069. Electrical wiring and equipment was held responsible for 29, or most of these fires. Arson was involved in 14, the second highest in number.

Carelessness again was reported the cause of the greatest number of fires, 23,671. This included rubbish burning 10,808, and carelessness in smoking and in use of matches, 7,364.

Fires in the home killed 101 adults and 115 children. Adult deaths included 70 through careless smoking, 19 by clothing catching fire, 17 in explosions. Child deaths included 28 caused by heating unit fires, 20 by playing with fire, and eight by clothing catching fire. Arsons resulted in four deaths, one adult, three children.

Board OK's 10 New Aides For Cahalan

Wayne County Prosecutor William L. Cahalan will add 10 assistant prosecuting attorneys to his staff to relieve what he termed a "very critical" shortage of help. Cahalan's request for the additional help was approved unanimously by the County Board of Supervisors on May 25.

The Supervisors passed a special appropriation of $37,415 for six new positions in Cahalan's office. They also approved filling of four positions which have been kept vacant because of the County's dire financial situation.

Cahalan told the Supervisors that he is so short of staff that he sometimes does not have enough assistants available to staff every courtroom at Recorder's Court. He said the 10 new assistants will not achieve his goal of having two assistant prosecutors in each courtroom.

Honored at Wayne

Kenneth Banks, 32965 Cloverdale, Farmington, was among the 20 Wayne State University senior men inducted into the Mackenzie Honor Society at its 41st annual installation dinner. Kenneth is a senior in Business Administration.

Reckless Driver To Appeal Case

Surety bond of $200 has been posted by a driver, convicted of reckless driving in Redford Township, who is appealing a fine of $50 and the order to make restitution of $70 to the owner of a car with which he collided.

The driver, Carl E. Carden, 41, of 6838 Telegraph Road, Dearborn Heights, was arrested upon complaint of the other motorist.

School Conference Draws Educators

Scholarship Given Girl At R. Union

A Redford Union student, called "outstanding," has been given a $100 Future Teachers Scholarship by the Redford Union Education Association.

Recipient of the award is Judith Johnson of 15995 Lexington St.

The association will send $100 to a college or university of Judy's choice in her behalf.

Judy, a senior at Redford Union High School, is planning to attend Michigan State University this fall.

She is presently president of the R.U. Future Teachers Club. She has been active in the Pep Club and the Tennis Club.

An excellent student, she has been on the honor roll continuously, and an active member of the National Honor Society for the last two years.

Judy has received other scholarship awards, including an honorary award from the Michigan Competitive Scholarships.

She has been invited to participate in the Alumni Distinguished Scholarship program at Michigan State.

She was a Girl Scout for eight years and earned the highest rank possible.

Judy is also active in her church youth group and choir.

intendents, school board members, Federal Aid coordinators and other officials, representing 16 school districts.

Purpose of the conference was to explain how local school officials can take advantage of Federal programs which offer loans, grants, and other aid to school districts.

The nine Westland representatives were: Nankin Mills board president G. F. Mulcrone; D. Harlan Hudgins, Superintendent; Dr. William B. Cansfield, Assistant Superintendent; Mark Scarr, and David Gooze, board members and Wayne Community School District Robert Reichard board president; Thomas Barrett, vice president; Harry Howard, superintendent; Robert Eisminger, treasurer.

Among the programs discussed were the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the Higher Education Act, Head Start, Vocational Training, Adult Education, and programs for the Handicapped and Educational Research.

Ford opened the conference with a short talk, welcoming the delegates to Washington and explaining the purposes of the meeting.

At a noon luncheon the delegates heard talks by R. Sargent Shriver, Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, and by Michigan's senior Senator, Philip A. Hart.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had been invited to speak but was called to Detroit for a meeting on summer employment for young people. He sent a letter to the conference, praising the delegates for their dedication and interest in education.

Senator Hart, in his talk, also commended the educators for taking the time to attend the conference, and praised Ford for his efforts to keep school officials in his district informed on federal programs.

"I'm very pleased with this year's attendance," Ford said. "It is the largest turnout we have had. I think this type of conference is exceedingly valuable for local school officials. It gives them an opportunity to hear these important Federal programs explained, first-hand, by the people who are most familiar with them. They also have an opportunity to ask questions about aspects of the programs which might be unclear to them."

Ford in planning a similar conference for city officials to be held in Washington on June 1, 2 and 3.

Family Life Program Is Urged for Garden City

A Family Life Education program for all school grades to teach human growth and development has been recommended by a Garden City citizens committee.

The group, meeting from October through April 1, issued a 11-point report to the Garden City Board of Education asking the program be established to develop a "more wholesome attitude in our children" and that the program should include sex education, family money management, social, moral, and spiritual adjustment.

In its three-page report, the Family Life Education Lay Committee said that "until implementation of total family program is developed, we feel an immediate need in the pre-teen area for education in human growth problems unique to this age level."

The group was directed last October to study the problem concerning home and family life and the need to educate young people and to better understand family responsibilities and better prepare them for their future roles as parents.

During the meetings, the committee listened to speakers on the topics of juvenile delinquency in Garden City, the existing family life program in the local public schools and Livonia, Plymouth, and Wayne; YMCA programs, and the financial aspects of marriage.

One of the recommendations stressed that while it is not the intent of the committee to recommend a program that would displace or replace the responsibility of the family or church in today's society, "it is the hope that through the acceptance of its recommendations, that we will be assisting through education to strengthen families."

The committee also recommended:

"Religious and moral teachings of all church groups as represented by the families of this community be respected.

"A more wholesome attitude in our children can be fostered by the development of a family life education program, including detailed study on human growth and development beginning in kindergarten and continuing through the 12th grade.

"After the family life education program is established, the PTA should hold parallel programs on the adult level in support of the school program. It is advised that the PTA Council encourage local PTA's in this direction.

"A workshop program be established to assist teachers in the development of this program through their curriculum committee.

"Parents be informed through local PTA's of the program's development.

"The lay committee would be willing to assist all efforts within the school district to develop these recommendations.

"If the board of education wants further study of ways in which present parents could be guided, we recommend that the lay committee be reconvened in the fall with broadened representation of civic, social and religious attendance."

Groups having representation during the six month study were the PTA's from Burger, Marquette, Douglas, Harrison, Cambridge Junior High, West High School, Racine, Farmington, Memorial, Vogel, Henry Ruff, Florence, Lathers Schools, St. Mathew Lutheran Church, First Methodist Church, Free Catholic Church, Garden City Pastors Association, Garden City Health Council, Garden City Education Association, Special Services Department, counselors from Burger, Cambridge, Vogel and Radcliff Junior Highs, home economics teachers from Burger and East High School, Garden City Kiwanis and Lions Clubs, West High PTA, Garden City Police Department, Garden City Jaycees, and Chamber of Commerce.

Trains At Center

Aviation Machinist Mate Airman Albert R. Lorenger III, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Lorenger, 20190 Pipers Lane Court, Farmington, has completed the Aviation Machinist Mate Jet Engine School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center in Memphis, Tenn.

Bond Issue to Help Jr. High Enrollment

"Increasing junior high school enrollments are a major concern of the Board of Education," said Superintendent Harry Howard.

"The present junior high enrollments of 3,770 will increase to some 6,000 by September of 1973 with the boys and girls now attending our elementary schools."

Howard also said that room shortages can be alleviated by successful passage of the bonding proposition at the annual school election on June 12.

Parents who will have sons and daughters in the junior high schools during the five year period, beginning with the 1969-70 school year should be aware of the critical shortages of classrooms during that period.

The "big bulge" of elementary students experienced by the Wayne Community School District the past few years is now reaching junior high school. Elementary school enrollments, kindergarten through the sixth grade, increased from 8,000 in September of 1960 to 12,667 in September of 1966. This is an increase of almost 5,000 over a six year period.

Sixth grade enrollments also tell the junior high story: 947 in 1960-61; 1146; in 1963-64; 1410; in 1966-67; 1825; by 1970-71; and 2000; by 1973-74.

There is a double squeeze on the increasing junior high enrollments. The 1300 junior high students enrolled in John Glenn and Wayne Memorial must be phased out to make room for the increasing senior high enrollments, grades 10-11-12. Senior high enrollments will increase from 2,846 this year to 4,700 in 1973-74. The proposed junior high building program's development.

"The lay committee would be willing to assist all efforts within the school district to develop these recommendations.

"If the board of education wants further study of ways in which present parents could be guided, we recommend that the lay committee be reconvened in the fall with broadened representation of civic, social and religious attendance."

Groups having representation during the six month study were the PTA's from Burger, Marquette, Douglas, Harrison, Cambridge Junior High, West High School, Racine, Farmington, Memorial, Vogel, Henry Ruff, Florence, Lathers Schools, St. Mathew Lutheran Church, First Methodist Church, Free Catholic Church, Garden City Pastors Association, Garden City Health Council, Garden City Education Association, Special Services Department, counselors from Burger, Cambridge, Vogel and Radcliff Junior Highs, home economics teachers from Burger and East High School, Garden City Kiwanis and Lions Clubs, West High PTA, Garden City Police Department, Garden City Jaycees, and Chamber of Commerce.
