Battle for Three Board Posts Stirs Up Interest

$8.5 Million Issue to Voters Monday

With three major items on the ballot for approval or disapproval, interest in next Monday's school election may hit the highest level in years, especially after an Open House program last week in the City Commission chambers where 11 of the 12 candidates for School Board appeared and members of the administration explained the need for the second high school.

The three items are: selection of three members of the School Board from the field of 12; approval of an $8.5 million bond issue for a second high school; and renewal of a five mill levy for operating expenses.

The school board candidates are divided into two categories: two competing for the vacancy to fill an unexpired term of three years and 10 battling it out for two vacancies for four-year terms.

Those seeking the unexpired term are Joanne Hulce, the incumbent who was appointed three months ago to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Robert Tripp, and Mrs. Mary Breen, a school teacher in another system and one of the leaders in the militant Lake Pointe Homeowners Association.

The 10 candidates for the two posts with four-year terms include: Incumbent Carl Schultheiss, school board vice president and one of the most able members of the seven-man group; Cal Strom, former president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce who has been active in school activities as a member of the citizens' auditorium, school facilities and school financing committees and who made a tremendous presentation at the Open House program.

Others are: John Batsakis, Smith Horton, John Murawski, James Brown, John DeMott, Patrick Foley, Charles Lazette and William Saxton.

The Observer Newspapers will make recommendations in its Sunday editions. These are generally made on the basis of those showing interest in school activities and Board decisions by appearing at meetings and functions.

At this moment, the candidates who have shown the most interest are Mrs. Hulce, long active in all school functions; Schultheiss, and Strom.

Perhaps the most important item and the one getting the most attention is that of the proposed bond issue for construction of the second senior high building.

The building was included in a recommendation of the Citizens Facility Study Committee in April, 1966, when it indicated a need for three additional elementary schools, two middle schools and a senior high.

That committee devoted months of study and research and visited numerous buildings in communities of a similar size before making the final recommendations.

The estimated cost of $8.5 million compares favorably in cost and space with schools erected in Livonia, Ann Arbor and Grosse Pointe.

The major features of the proposed new school are:

2—Approximately 290,000 square feet for 2,000 student capacity.

3 — Major Learning Resource Center including seminar rooms and individual study space.

4—An auditorium for a capacity of 1,100 including a balcony with two large group instructional areas.

5—Spaces for new programs in retailing, graphics, duplicating and computer operations.

6—Expanded physical education facilities including space for handicapped students.

The financing will be by a state-qualified, unlimited tax, school building bond issue for $8.5 million. Under terms of the state legislature, this must be a long term issue scheduled for repayment in a period of at least 25 years.

The School Board emphasizes that for 1967, the bond requirements can be met with no increase in the total school tax levy from the current 26.95 mills.

Honor Retired Principal At Tanger Dedication

After serving 34 years with the Plymouth Community School system, Mrs. Nancy Tanger, retired principal of Bird School, received an honor given to few administrators when the new Tanger School was formally dedicated in her honor.

Mrs. Tanger began her teaching in Plymouth in 1927 in the fifth and sixth grades at the Central School, now the Plymouth High annex building.

In succession, she served as principal of the temporary Mill St. School, Starkweather School, Central School and in 1951 she became the first principal of the Nellie Bird elementary school where she continued until her retirement in June, 1961.

Since her retirement, she has served as a part-time consultant in teacher education at Madonna College.

In recent years, Mrs. Tanger and her husband, Mike, have shared with many audiences, including school children, travelogues of their adventures with far away people in far away places.

The dedicatory remarks were made by retiring School Supt. Russell Isbister and the response by Mrs. Tanger was the highspot of the dedication ceremonies.

The invocation was by Dr. Henry Walch, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The color guard of VFW Mayflower Post 6695, presented the colors.

The welcome was by Principal Ronald South followed by a hymn by the Tanger School choir.

The building was presented by C. Henry Haberkorn, of the architectural firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Lukenbach and was accepted by Principal South and School Board President Gerald Fischer.

The formal dedication was led by Supt. Isbister with responses by the audience, with the benediction by Rev. Walch.

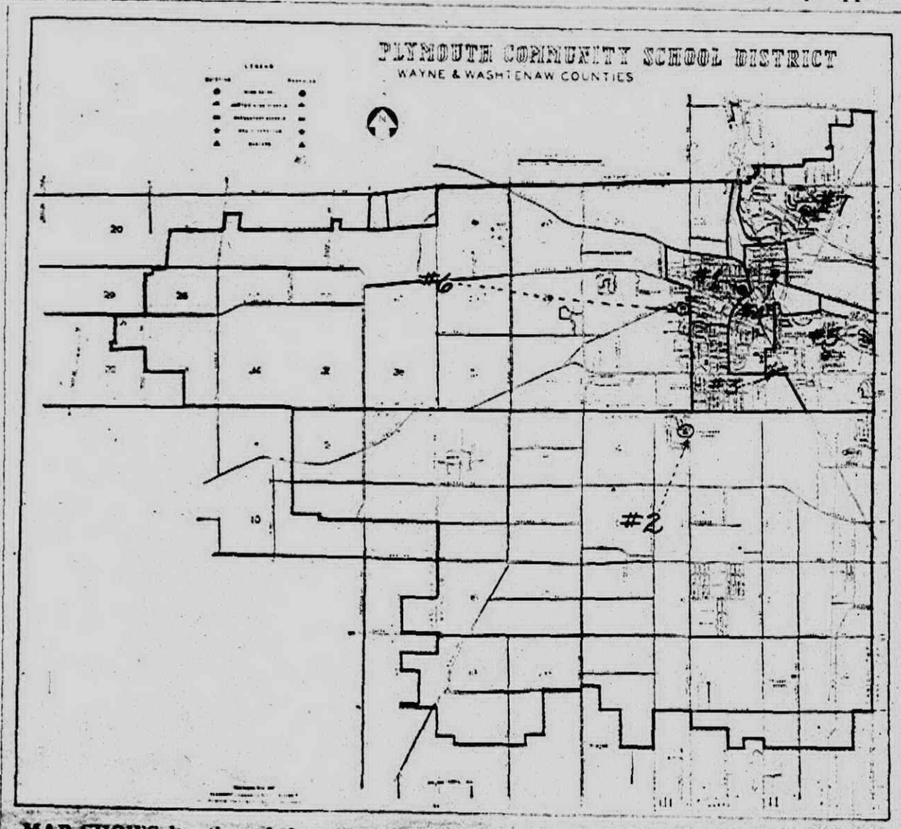

The formal ceremonies were followed by a reception for Mrs. Tanger and tours of the building by the audience.

Seventh in line in time of construction, Tanger is the first elementary school in the Plymouth system designed especially for team teaching although some other schools in the district are using that concept with limited facilities.

The school is built to accommodate 420 students. It has 13 classrooms and a multi-purpose room which will include a food service area.

ENJOYING DANCING at the Plymouth Centennial Ball are Mayor and Mrs. James Jabara. The Ball, held Saturday in the Mayflower Meeting House, was a major social event of the year-long Centennial celebration. It wasn't the most successful event but everyone in attendance enjoyed every minute of the affair.

MAP SHOWS location of the seven voting places for Monday's school election which is one of the most important in recent years. The Board added three precincts since the last school election. The map shows the location of all and the area included in each.

Voters Have Seven Precincts Now for School Elections

Voters going to the polls Monday for the Plymouth Community School District election, will cast their ballots at seven sites instead of four as in the past.

The Board of Education added three precincts several weeks ago after recognizing that the mushrooming growth of the community made it necessary to increase the number of voting places.

Following are the locations of the seven precints and the area included in each:

PCT. 1—At Plymouth High School. Includes City of Plymouth Precincts 3 and 5.

PCT. 2—At Gallimore School. Includes all of school district in Canton and Superior Townships.

PCT. 3—Plymouth Township Hall. Includes City Precinct 4 and Township Precinct 5.

PCT. 4 — Starkweather School. Includes City Precincts 1 and 2.

PCT. 5—Allen School. Includes Plymouth Township Precincts 3 and 4.

PCT. 6—Junior High West. Includes Plymouth Township Precincts 6 and 7 and all of school district in Salem Township.

PCT. 7—Farrand School. Includes Plymouth Township Precincts 1 and 2 and all of the school district in Northville Township.

'Communication' Is Major Need Says Y Speaker

"The biggest problem we have today is lack of communication between adults and juveniles," said John Neville, Juvenile Court referee, as he addressed members of the Plymouth Y.M.C.A. in the annual meeting.

"And we do not mean juvenile delinquents," he said. Neville, a prominent sports official in football and basketball, handled several of the Plymouth High games during the past season.

"It is this lack of communication that is causing so much of the juvenile delinquency," Neville stated. "We in the Juvenile Court are constantly trying to get a better understanding between parents and children and between juveniles and adults since we believe better communication will resolve many trying problems."

Observer Urges Voters Support School Issues

Voters in the Plymouth Community School district, which includes the City and Township and portions of Canton Township, Superior Township in Washtenaw County and Northville Township, go to the polls Monday to approve or disapprove some major issues.

First, is the matter of the selection of three members of the Board of Education for which the Observer Newspapers will have recommendations and suggestions in Sunday's edition.

Secondly are the $8.5 million bond issue for the construction of a second high school and the renewal of a five-mill levy which expires at the end of the year.

Although it hasn't appeared on the surface, there is a rather large anti-bloc in the school district opposed to the new high school. They feel the $8.5 million price tag is too high; they fear the bond issue will have a big effect on the tax bill; they have a feeling that the proposed building is a luxury item that is far beyond the needs of the Plymouth Community.

Principally the foes are older residents who no longer have children in the school system and who could care less about new schools that they feel hit their pocketbooks and give them no return.

There is logic to their thinking. The opponents to the issues are the elderly who have retired or are near retirement. Their income is at a stationary level and anything taken out means they have to stretch it that much more. However, we can't agree with their theory that they are against additional schools because they have none in classes.

There was a time when they were the students—someone paid the costs then just as someone has to pay the costs now. This is just part of modern living and the youngsters of today shouldn't be denied the same comparative level of education and facilities of the modern era as their forebearers had during their youth.

As far as the Plymouth Community is concerned, Monday's election appears to be a fight between the elderly opponents and the young parents who are willing to pay for facilities for their growing families.

The new high school was approved and recommended in the recent study of a Citizens Advisory Committee, which also made recommendations for financing that the School Board is following.

We heartily endorse the bond issue and the renewal of the five mill levy because we believe both are good for the future development of the school system.

However, we would take a moment to warn the young mothers and fathers to get to the polls Monday and vote "Yes" or the "Nos" will have the majority needed to whip both issues.

Plymouth does need a second high school. It does need the renewal of the five mills. School Board members and the school administration have been busy getting its message across—we hope they have succeeded or the community faces rough going in the immediate future.

Outcome Has Statewide Interest

Westland Will Vote on School Lottery

Michigan educators and legislators thinking about public sentiment on a statewide lottery for public schools will have their eye on Wayne Community School District voters at next Monday's election.

At that time, Wayne Community District residents will go to the polls to express their feelings on an advisory question on the lottery issue.

Although the results are not binding on the school board, whose district includes most of Westland, a favorable response is expected to give impetus to a campaign to have a statewide lottery in Michigan, similar to those now in New Hampshire and New York.

Stressing the need for such a state lottery for public schools is Wayne School Board President Robert Reichard, of 33435 Beechnut, Westland.

"Who has the money for education? You and I have the money in our pocket," he pointed out. "Let's take $3 out of our pocket and buy a sweepstake ticket on a horse race to be run in Michigan. After expenses the remainder of the $3 goes to education. Multiply the one $3 purchase by millions and this gives you an idea of the money that can be poured into education in our state."

"The sale and purchase of sweepstakes tickets are illegal in Michigan yet millions of dollars go out of the state each year to foreign countries to be used to support their hospitals," he said in referring to the Irish sweepstakes.

In challenging the moral issue raised by groups in opposing the state lottery, Reichard retorted that the state now gets millions of dollars each year from the four race tracks in Michigan.

In addition, since part of the state tax on liquor goes for public school support, "everytime you see a drunk stagger down the street, you can say he is helping to support education. This is morally right and legal, according to the law."

"Everytime someone buys a pack of cigarets, they might end up with a bad cough which might be injurious to their health as it is stated on the package but yet they are helping to support education."

If the income from liquor, cigarets and gambling at the race tracks were eliminated, "this state would never survive," Reichard claimed.

"This is where we are now — survival for education. Property owners are taxed to the limit. An income tax is not an answer, taxes are sky high. A lottery is the only way out with only the people to be involved are those people who want to be."

Reichard also said that school boards today are "behind the times in their way of operation today. They should step forward with new ideas, be in closer contact with their legislators, and seek legislation that will help education in any way.

"Let's bounce off the rubber stamp and take a firm stand in the education of our children," Reichard concluded.

The board president also said that he has the support of Dearborn Heights' Helen Klovski of "Citizens for Sweepstakes."

Call Meeting To Coordinate Crime Control

Leaders in government, law enforcement and education have been invited to meet on June 15 to form a top-level committee to coordinate crime control efforts in Detroit and Wayne County.

The invitation was extended by Mel Ravitz, Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, in letters to the heads of a dozen agencies.

"There is a serious and immediate need to coordinate the plans, proposals, fund raising endeavors and legislative thrusts of many of the interrelated crime control agencies," Ravitz declared in the letter.

"As recent events underscore, crime occurs throughout the region — in the suburbs as well as in the central city. Concern with crime ought to be broader than any single municipal district and it ought to encompass a multi-agency approach in order to be effective."

Those invited to the meeting include the Detroit police commissioner, the County prosecutor, the sheriff, judges of the various courts, the Detroit and Wayne County school superintendents, anti-poverty officials and the chairmen of several Board of Supervisors committees.

Ravitz suggested that the body be called the Coordinating Committee on Crime Control. The meeting is set for 2 p.m. June 15 in Room 1320 of the City-County Building.

Ravitz said the proposed committee would meet regularly to share ideas on law enforcement and crime prevention, and to analyze present programs and recommend improvements.

He noted that all the agencies invited to the meeting are seriously short of funds, and suggested that a coordinated approach "might make a dent in this desperate problem."

"I see the meetings of the committee as a forum for the serious consideration of such matters as pending state legislation, needed additional city, county or state facilities in our area, suggested innovations for dealing with delinquents or those on the verge of delinquency, how to better our present legal processes and procedures, how effectively to involve citizens in the community battle against crime, etc." Ravitz stated.

And Decide Fate of Operating Millage

C'Ville To Pick 3 School Bd. Members

Clarenceville School District's race among nine candidates to fill three positions on the Board of Education at the June 12 election has turned into a heated scramble in the run down the stretch.

Actually, Monday's ballot features two races. Three of the candidates are conducting a private battle for the two regular board berths at stake, while six other hopefuls all are vying for the one unexpired seat which resulted from Dr. Herbert Kagen's resignation.

Adding to conversational fires in the District is the Board's request for voter approval of a special three-mill tax levy for the next three years.

This proposition also will be voted upon Monday, and, if passed, the funds raised through the added millage would go toward covering general operating expenses for the years 1967-1969 inclusive.

Voters will elect two of this trio to four-year Board terms:

Incumbent Samuel J. Prisk, 20269 Gillman, Livonia.

Vern Foster, 30341 Bretton, Livonia.

After a careful evaluation of individual qualifications for election, The Observer Newspaper Group endorses Dr. Prisk and Wilson as the "preferred" candidates.

These six are candidates for the remaining three years of Dr. Kagen's term:

Robert M. Erickson, 20345 Weyher, Livonia.

Donald Hayden, 30041 Bretton, Livonia.

Edward May, 20170 Maplewood, Livonia.

Douglas McArthur, 21218 St. Francis, Farmington.

E. Fred Turner, 19647 Angling, Livonia.

Harold Weiss, 19459 St. Francis, Livonia.

Again The Observer Newspaper Group has reviewed all individual qualifications of the candidates and backs the candidacy of Edward May for election to the Board. Voters of Precinct No. 1 will cast ballots at Clarenceville Junior High School, while those of Precinct No. 2 will vote at the High School building.

There are two voting precincts in the Clarenceville district as follows:

Precinct 1—Vote at Clarenceville Junior High. All living east of Colwell and south of Grand River in Farmington Township as far west as Pearl. All living on both sides of Angling and all east of Angling Road including the Redford Township portion of the school district. All living on both sides of Deering from the junction of Angling and Deering and east of Deering to Seven Mile Road. All living on the south side of Seven Mile and east of Harrison, if Harrison were extended. This includes all the area north of the center line of Curtis, if extended from Harrison to Inkster Road.

Precinct 2—Vote at Clarenceville High. All areas not listed in Precinct 1.

Polls will be open from 7:00 a.m. until 800 p.m.

Mail Privileges To Servicemen Extended in Bill

Congressman William D. Ford (Democrat-15th District) has reported major progress on legislation to extend free mailing privileges for servicemen overseas, and to liberalize regulations for sending parcels and newspapers to America's fighting men abroad.

Ford, a member of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee, said that the Subcommittee on Postal Rates had favorably reported a bill which Ford had co-sponsored. His district includes Westland and Garden City.

The bill would extend free mailing privileges for servicemen stationed overseas; establish a new category of airlift for mail within the United States, for parcels up to 30 pounds going to servicemen overseas, and extend the airlift for newspapers to any serviceman stationed abroad.

At present, free mailing is available only to service in a designated combat area. Under the proposal, it would apply to any member of the Armed Forces stationed overseas. Free mailing privileges also would be extended to any serviceman hospitalized as a result of injury or disease while on active duty. At present, the injury or desease must be incurred in a combat area.

Airlift service for parcels up to 30 pounds, and measuring up to 60 inches in combined length and girth, will be charged at the regular surface postage rate, plus a special airlift fee to be fixed by the Postmaster General. This fee is expected to be about one dollar, regardless of weight or destination.

The present system allows airlift service for parcels up to five pounds only to or from the point of embarkation at New York, San Francisco or Seattle.

Under the existing system, parents sending a 10-pound parcel to Viet Nam by Air Parcel Post must pay $8.08. The new airlift plan would reduce this cost to $2.40, plus the anticipated $1 fee.

The proposed legislation would extend air transportation to second-class news publications being sent to any overseas Armed Forces Post Office. Under existing law, this service is provided only to designated combat areas.

The entire purpose of this bill is to make is easier, faster and more economical for all military personnel stationed overseas to keep in touch with their families.

Better Enroll Now For Summer Term

If you are planning to attend the summer session at Schoolcraft College but have not yet been admitted to the college, call the admissions office as soon as possible.

If you have been admitted to the college but have not yet been counseled, make a counseling appointment as soon as possible.

That's the advice of Schoolcraft Registrar Norman E. Dunn and Director of Admissions Barbara Geil.

The eight-week summer session begins on Monday, July 3, and continues through Aug. 25. Registration for the session is scheduled for June 26 and 27.

In addition to advising early action on seeking admission and counseling, Dunn also announced plans for a mail-in registration for summer session students.

"Students who have been tested and counseled for either day or evening classes have received, or shortly will receive, information on how to register by mail," Dunn said. "All they will have to do is complete the registration form by indicating when they wish to take a particular course and return the form with a check for tuition and fees.

"Students who have been admitted, but who have not yet been counseled, should call the college as soon as possible to make a counseling appointment. These students will receive information on how to register when they come in for their counseling session.

"Students who do not come in for counseling until June 26 or 27 will register at the college at the same time," Dunn said.

According to Miss Geil, there is still time for students who wish to attend the summer session to make application to the college. These students, however, will be restricted to a limited number of courses being offered in either the day or evening programs, Miss Geil said.

ChainMishap Injures Four

Four people were injured in a rear-end collision involving five cars on Six Mile Road west of Deering, Livonia.

Althea Scharen, 19, of 28064 Whitcomb, Livonia apparently started the chain reaction when she reportedly struck the rear of a car driven by Noble Bennett, 51, of Detroit.

Successive cars struck, according to Livonia police, were those driven by Carole Wargnier, of 33599 Seven Mile, Livonia; George DeBerger, driving a Livonia city car; and Jack Ross, 65, of Detroit.

Ross was the only driver not injured.

Pender Promoted To Fisher Body Factory Manager

The appointment of Paul D. Pender to the position of general factory manager of Fisher Body trim fabrication plants was announced Monday by Kenneth N. Scott, general manager of Fisher Body and a General Motors vice president.

He succeeds Donald W. Fleser who is retiring under provisions of the General Motors Retirement Plan after 40 years of service. The appointment was effective June 1.

A native of Cleveland, O., Pender began his career with Fisher Body in 1943, as a General Motors Institute student at the Fisher Body Cleveland (Coit Road) plant.

After receiving his degree in industrial engineering in 1950, he was assigned to the plant as a senior clerk. The following year he was promoted to process engineer and was named senior process engineer there in 1952.

In 1954, he was transferred to the Fisher plant in Livonia as supervisor of production engineering. In 1958, he became shift plant superintendent. Two years later he was named plant superintendent and was promoted to production manager there in 1963. He was appointed plant manager to Livonia in 1965.

In February, 1967, Pender was transferred to the Fisher Body General Offices as executive assistant on the trim fabrication staff, the post he held at the time of his latest appointment.

Livonia GI Dies In Battle in Vietnam

The life of Lance Corporal Joseph W. Axford came to an abrupt end last Friday as enemy fire in a battle at Quong Tin, Vietnam, killed the young Livonia-bred Marine.

JOSEPH AXFORD

Corp. Axford, the 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Axford, 14900 Lyons, arrived in Vietnam on April 1. His stay was short.

The last time that he was at home, things were of a far different nature for Axford's family. It was then that he took Sheila Carr, 6554 Hawthorne, Garden City, as his wife.

The Axford's have another son, Wally, who is serving with the armed forces in Germany.

Dr. Richard Wilson, assistant principal at Livonia's Bentley High School, knew Joe Axford, a former Bentley student, personally. Wilson said that the shock of something like Joe's death brings the war "closer to home."

Far too close.

Royal Welcome for English Mayor

A welcome, the like of which never has been known in Plymouth, will be given the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, and his party when they arrive on Monday, July 3, to attend the Centennial celebration.

According to the word received during the past week, the English visitors are due to land at the Windsor, Canada, airport at 11:25 on Monday morning.

As soon as they step from the plane, the wheels will be set in motion for an hilarious celebration.

Former Mayor James Houk, who has spent the past several weeks in England and who was a guest at the induction of Hon. Frank Chapman into the office of Lord Mayor, will greet the delegation when it steps from the plane. He, in turn, will present Mayor James Jabara—and the fun will be on.

According to present plans a caravan of Plymouth folks will journey to Windsor in a welcoming party. After the initial greeting, the entire group will go through U.S. Customs and then visit the City-County Building, one of the sites the visitors have asked to see.

From the City-County Building they will be taken on a fast trip through Cobo Hall and then fall into a welcoming parade through Detroit, Dearborn, Westland, Livonia, Plymouth Township and finally arrive at the Mayflower Hotel, which will be their headquarters for a week.

After being given a chance to rest on Monday evening, the visitors will start action on Tuesday morning by having places of prominence in the July Fourth parade being sponsored and conducted by the Plymouth Jaycees. They also will be guests at the air show at Mettetal Airport in the afternoon and a barbecue chicken feast and fireworks in the evening.

On Thursday, the English officials will be guests at the big civic dinner in the Meeting House where they will meet the heads of government, business and industry, for what looms as a great evening.

Michigan's senior senator, Philip A. Hart will deliver the principal speech and it is expected that the Lord Mayor will respond for his group.

Among the dignitaries invited are Gov. George Romney, U.S. Senator Robert Griffin, State Senator George Kuhn, and State Representative James Tierney, along with Congressman Marvin Esch.

During the week, the English visitors will be guests at the Home Products Show on the Plymouth High School grounds, where 34 business and industrial firms have arranged for exhibits, and nine auto dealers in the area are planning an auto show.

Plymouth Rotary is planning a special meeting for the honored visitors on Friday after which they will be taken to Port Huron to visit a branch of a plant that also has a branch in Plymouth, England.

The big week for them will come to a close on Saturday afternoon when they are taken to Metropolitan airport to leave on their homeward journey at 4:30 o'clock.

Police Win Increase in Pay Scale

The members of the City of Plymouth police department and the firemen gained a point in their long struggle with the City Commission Monday night when an agreement was reached on a wage contract.

Under the terms of the new pact which shall continue in effect until June 30, 1968, the following annual salary scale was approved.

Entrance — $6,695, with gradual increases to a peak of $7,905 after three years and six months of service.

Many other fringe benefits were included, but in the main it was the salary scale that most interested the members of the police and firemen association.

The contract was adopted without a negative vote.

APPOINTED a staff assistant by Romney Associates is James Kellogg, 5850 Gotfredson Road, Plymouth. He will assist Jonathan Moore, foreign policy advisor to Gov. Romney, in the development of position papers and research on foreign policy issues. He resides at the Plymouth address with his wife, Jane, and two children.

Receives Degree

Hobart G. Hammond, of Plymouth, was among the 2,328 University of Oklahoma students receiving degrees at the annual commencement exercises. He was awarded a bachelor's degree in Business Administration.

Honored at Wooster

Tom Chandler, 1157 Penniman Ave., Plymouth, was one of four freshmen to receive numerals at Wooster College as a member of the varsity tennis squad.

Observer Hosts Discussion of C&O Problems

How can the Main Street railway crossing be eliminated and the central business district in Plymouth be saved from slow strangulation?

These are the top subjects that will be discussed Thursday afternoon when the Mail & Observer, as part of its public service, plays host to the first important workshop on the subject.

The workshop is scheduled for the Meeting House at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and will be followed by an evening dinner at which the officials of the C&O Railroad will be the hosts.

For years the Main Street crossing has been a problem and several plans for its elimination have been discussed. But this is the first time in years that business, industrial, and civic leaders will meet with the railway officials.

"We have been fined so much," Buford Nash, general manager of the C&O remarked, "that we wonder if the city is more interested in cash than in a cure."

It was this remark that was taken as a challenge and Nash was asked if he would tell the business men of the city how the railroad felt about things now that it has been fined $5,000 in 1966 and more than $3,000 thus far in 1967.

"The C&O would be glad to sit down and discuss this problem," he said. And with this assertion the meeting was set.

Top civic, business and industrial leaders have been invited and every avenue that could possibly lead to a cure will be discussed.

It is understood that the financing will be the major problem, but the latest information on this phase will be presented.

Main Street Renamed for Centennial

Main street is going to have a new name for the remainder of the year.

Heeding the request of the Plymouth Centennial Committee, the City Commission has approved the re-naming of the main thoroughfare to "Centennial Boulevard" until December 31.

The request was made as a means of boosting the centennial and it will be brought closer to the public eye with the erection of signs calling attention to the Centennial on all the light poles on Main Street —as Centennial Boulevard.

Dick Anderson Fills Vacancy On Parking Bd.

Dick Anderson, one of the rising young men in the community, was named to the Parking Committee on Monday night as succeeding Commissioner Peter Schweitzer, who offered his resignation on the theory that committees were meant to be composed of men other than members of the Commission.

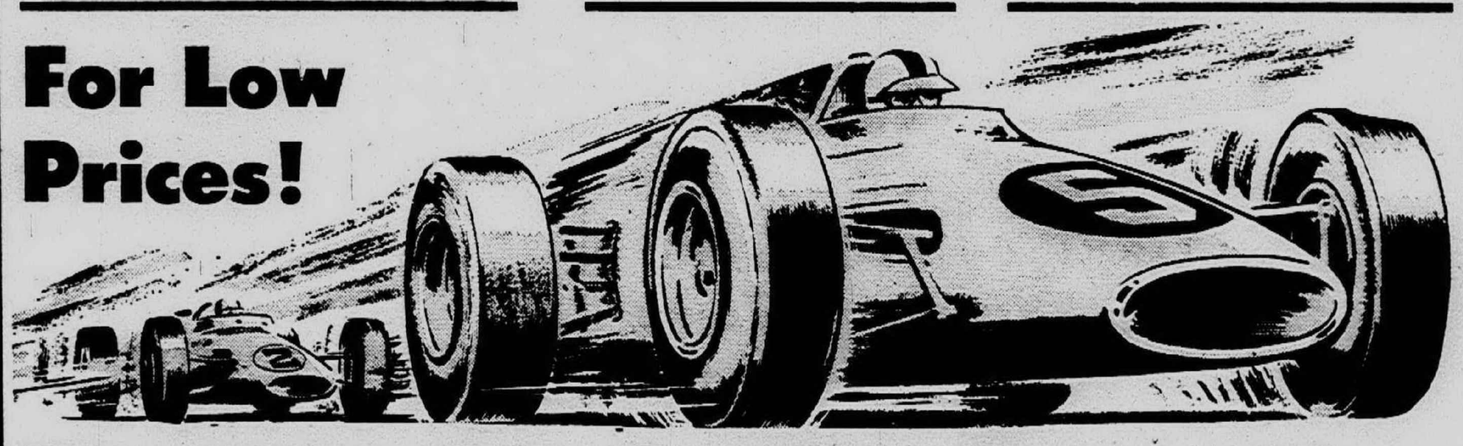

The resignation was accepted and Mayor Jabara immediately appointed Anderson. The Commission concurred in the selection.

Plymouth Trust Fund Pays Off in Full

Participants in the Plymouth Trust Fund, which financed the advent of the RCA Corporation in the City to become a significant addition to the tax base, have received final payment in full following action of the Board of Directors to dissolve the Fund.

The Fund had a balance of cash on May 22 of $1,711.73 and $47.974 from the sale of bonds for a total of $49,685.74 for final distribution.

RCA has renewed its lease which resulted in the funds being returned to all participants. They received as final payment: a check for the principal amount of participation, check for the final six month's interest, a check covering the residual or final distribution of surplus, a complete financial statement from the beginning, five years ago, to May 22, and a closing statement of final distribution.

The final distribution statement shows: distribution expense totaled $93.39; return of principal to participants, $47,800; payment of final six month's interest, $717, distribution of balance, $1,075.35.

It was back on May 11, 1962, that the Plymouth Trust Fund was started for the express purpose of bringing RCA into the City to build up the tax base. The pledgers loans' total $49,400 all of which has now been paid back with interest which totaled $6,453 over the five year period.

In making the final financial statement, the committee composed of Harold Guenther, Don Sutherland and George Lawton, pointed out "This has been an unusual and very satisfying experience. We are sure all of us can be proud of having been a part."

WESTLAND FIREMEN battled a house fire Thursday night while firefighters on the other side of the vacant structure used water to cool the embers flying into the air to lessen the hazard of an additional fire. (Westland Fire Dept. Photo.)

House Destroyed by Fire

A vacant two-story home at 8359 Newburgh Road, Westland, was destroyed by fire late Thrusday night.

The blaze, visible for several miles, was battled by Westland firemen who were called to the scene by the Livonia fire department which received the call first.

The home, just south of Joy Road, was virtually leveled by the blaze, called in at 11:47 p.m.

The fire department said that the alarm was called in at a nearby home but in the excitement in calling the operator, the operator noticed that the phone number was in the Livonia telephone exchange.

She then phoned the Livonia Fire Dept. who in turn called the Westland department.

The delay in getting to the scene caused firemen from saving the home, owned by Leon Stein of Detroit.

Fire officials are still investigating the cause of the blaze, which was started by unknown causes.

Westland residents were also reminded that they should post the fire department, PA 1-2000, on their telephones.

New Bank Going Up In Westland

An air hammer, operated by Westland Mayor Thomas Brown and bank and industrial development officials, was used to break through an asphalt parking lot Tuesday May 16 to start construction of the first building in the Nankin Industrial Park, Westland. The building is to be the permanent home of the Newburgh-Palmer office of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co.

The event, coming on the city of Westland's first birthday, was celebrated with a giant birthday party for the city and all the Westland children who share the city's birthdate May 16, 1966.

Raymond T. Perring, chairman of the bank; C. Boyd Stockmeyer, its president; and Fred C. Jans Jr., executive vice president of Leho Corporation which is developing the 113-acre industrial park, assisted Mayor Brown.

The bank opened a temporary office at the site more than a year ago.

"We express our confidence that within the very near future this section of the still-new community of Westland will become a landmark for its citizens," Perring said.

Jans, who noted that the development is the first ground to be set aside in Westland for industrial purposes, said, "Leho Corporation planned the area to accommodate about 20 manufacturing plants employing between 1,200 and 1,500 persons, and becoming the industrial heart of this new city."

"Nankin Industrial Park," Jans continued, "will bring together stable companies resulting in stable employment and stable tax revenues. The City of Westland will profit from this industrial growth and will be able to view with pride the appearance the industrial park will bring."

Following the ground breaking each one-year-old child received a birthday present from the bank, a complimentary $5 savings account recorded in one of the bank's three Westland branches. Refreshments were served in a large tent erected on the parking lot.

The Newburgh-Palmer office, designed by Eberle M. Smith Associates Inc., will be of dark brown brick with ceiling-to-floor solar glass windows capped with a white metal facia. It will feature drive-in windows, safe deposit facilities, and parking for approximately 60 cars.

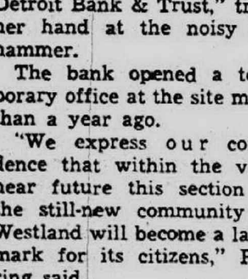

Completion is scheduled for the fall of this year, according to Alton Moses, branch manager.

The other Detroit Bank & Trust offices in Westland are located on Wayne Road just south of Warren and at Ann Arbor Trail and Merriman Road.

WITH SUMMER MONTHS here and safety a word of warning for motorist and pedestrian alike, Livonia city officials welcomed a "Bring 'em Back Alive" banner near the entrance of City Hall. It's the Automobile Club of Michigan's slogan credited by State officials with probably saving many lives. City support to the constant campaign for safety on highways was voiced at the "flag raising" by Mayor Harvey W. Moelke, Chief James Jordan and City Clerk Addison Bacon and Robert A. Shaw, director of public works. Pictured, from left, are Shaw, Norman LeBlanc, the club's Livonia manager, Bacon, Moelke, Jordan and Gerald Schram, assistant club manager. A similar banner adorns the police station.

Bartender Faces Trial on Fraud

A part-time bartender, accused of defrauding his employer of $1,700, has been ordered to stand trail on the charges.

Justice of the Peace John M. Dillon ordered that Patrick A. Cameron, 34, of 5060 Bishop Road, Detroit, be bound over to Circuit Court, following examination on the charges, May 9.

Ray Fracassi, 60, owner of the Del Prado Motel and High Hopes Lounge, 14300 Telegraph Road, Redford Township, said Cameron was acting as his agent in a real estate transaction and failed to turn over the sum which had been collected.

Cameron's personal bond was set at $5,000.

Bloodmobile Seeks Donors Here June 19 at Church

Livonians who like to contribute to the blood bank when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Five Mile Road will have the opportunity on June 19, between 1:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The mobile unit usually sets up a station at the church location in both Spring and Fall, for a day.

Red Cross officials said the church visit is for the convenience of members of the congregation and others in the vicinity who may wish to contribute blood to the bank.

There is no emergency need now, officials said, but the chapter is anxious to keep its bank up to par, especially around holidays when accident toll can be high. They want plenty of blood available, when needed by hospitals.

The bloodmobile visits the Livonia Red Cross headquarters at 31228 Five Mile Road each month, on the third Thursday, where donors can appear. Factories also, in many instances, contribute to the cause by special arrangement.

During 1966, the Detroit Edison Company used 11,131,000 tons of coal, of which approximately 9,153,000 tons were delivered by vessels and 1,978,000 tons by rail.

He's the Greatest . . .

They Call Him Shrimp . . . But He's Big Frog

They named him "Shrimp." but they said he was the biggest frog they'd ever seen — and their teacher and fellow students at Lincoln Elementary School in Livonia agreed.

Paul Berg, David Jackman, and Mike Jackman caught the frog in a swamp by Appleton Lake during a fishing expedition. They said after they fished awhile, they decided to look for frogs.

Paul reported, "I found it. We sneaked up on it and Dave caught it."

The boys said they brought home the big one along with five little ones in a bucket. When they got home, the little ones had disappeared and they decided "Shrimp" had done away with them.

"We saw a leg hanging out of his mouth," said Mike, a nine-year-old fourth grader who accompanies his sixth-grade brother David.

Paul and David, both 11, and in Mrs. Joanne Stewart's sixth-grade class, took the frog to school to show it off. They reported the teacher told them it was the biggest she'd ever seen, let it hop all over the room, and even let the boys take it around to other classes and to the principal's office.

Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berg of 15508 Loveland, and the Jackman boys, of 15317 Mayfield, felt they were pretty good authorities on judging the size of the frog.

"We hang around creeks and swamps a lot," they said.

Citizens' Group Backs Zeeb, Dumas

A group of citizens, interested in the South Redford educational system, has announced it will back Carl F. Zeeb and Carl F. Dumas for the forthcoming school board election.

"The decision to back the two candidates was made by the citizens' group after examination into the backgrounds of Zeeb and Dumas showed they would be dedicated to sound education with the wise expenditure of tax dollars," a spokesman said.

Zeeb and Dumas were both principal members of the United Citizens for Education, a 15-member group which was formed to alleviate the critical financial problems which developed in the South Redford School system in 1965.

After a careful analysis of the budget and operating expenses of the South Redford school system, the group determined in 1965 that additional millage was needed but the group also emphasized that it would take continued careful and wise expenditure of the tax dollars to live within the newly-expanded budget.

Present at a recent meeting to gain support for the two candidates were Roger Lumley, Ron Burkhart, Gordon Sinclair, Ruth Dumas, Doris Malinovsky, Jim Butler, Ruth and Jack Jominey, Alan Turner, and both candidates.

JC Survey Will Probe Attitudes

What do residents like about Redford Township?

What do they particularly dislike?

What are the five most important things which need to be done to make this a better community?

These are some of the questions township Jaycees will ask local citizens in a survey, scheduled for the next two Saturdays, to determine community attitudes.

Larry Williamson heads the Jaycee task force.

After the survey is completed and results are compiled, findings will be turned over to the Committee for Community Action in Redford Township.

Legal Aid To Council Starts Row

City Attorney Steve Polgar argued over the City Council's right to have separate legal counsel before the Livonia Charter Commission in a word battle one commissioner, C. W. Drouillard termed "so little smoke for so little fire."

Polgar spoke against a provision already included that allows the Livonia City Council to, by vote, retain special counsel, outside of the City Attorney.

"There have been at least 25 situations since I've been City Attorney," Polgar began, "in which the Council would have hired its own attorney — and only one I can think of that was valid . . . it is as ridiculous to have the council hire its own lawyer as it would be for Congress to set up its own law department over the Department of Justice."

Chairman James Mies disagreed, and said that the governor of Michigan has a legal advisor.

"The City's Department of Law could possibly thwart the council — they could in effect say phooey on the council and follow the mayor."

Commissioner Drouillard termed the discussion a waste of time.

"Harvey (Moelke) has termed this an abomination. But the City can do it now, if the council chooses to. It is in the present charter." G. Fred Shirley agreed, saying the wording in the present charter was identical.

"We want the department to operate as freely as they can," Commissioner Henry Sladek said. "But it's hard to avoid local personalities. We are not trying to tailor the charter to an individual."

Polgar, however, disagreed and concluded:

"To give carte blanche to a councilman — who is political entity—who votes according to how many people are out front hollering — will be expensive to the City."

Earlier the Commission had decided this matter, deleting the mayor right to limit "time and purpose" of such council. The Charter already allowed the Council the right to hire a lawyer on their own.

Fly Old Glory, Moelke Asks

Mayor Harvey W. Moelke today asks the people of Livonia to observe the occasion by flying the Stars and Stripes during the period, and especially on June 14. That is the anniversary of the congressional resolution of 1777, which adopted the design of the first flag.

The mayor's proclamation also refers to cermonies to initiate the week at Fort McHenry, Baltimore Md., the site where Francis Scott Key was inspired to write the national anthem.

The National Flag Week has been proclaimed by President Johnson.

Wonderland Plans For 3-Day Tent Party

Wonderland Center will be the setting for a three-day "Tent Party" which will include music, novelty acts and other entertainment. It will be held June 15, 16 and 17, and will highlight a "twin tent" sale on the center's huge parking lot.

BYRON J. GLASER, 36095 Northgate Drive, Livonia, has been honored by the Owens-Illinois Forest Products Division as one of the division's top sales representatives for 1966. He is a saleman for the division's corrugated box plant in Detroit. At a special awards banquet held during a recent three-day meeting in the company's Toledo, Ohio home offices, Glaser was inducted into the exclusive O-I Sales Builders Club.

Free shows, featuring some of Detroit's most popular entertainers, will be staged on all three days.

Montgomery Ward and many other Wonderland stores will sell specially priced merchandise in two large tents to be erected near the northeast corner of the parking lot.

Heading a lineup of well-known performers are three musical groups. Scheduled for a performance on Thursday, June 15, is the Elma Santa trio—an all-girl combo which has emerged as one of the nation's most promising night club acts and recording artists.

Eddie Santini's "Tijuana brass sound" will headline Friday's show, which will run almost continuously from 1 to 7 p.m. Music for the Saturday show will be furnished by the 4-piece Hank Warren orchestra.

Other acts to be presented during the "party" include Lloyd Morgan, Detroit's one-man circus, and Mel Snyder, noted balloon sculptor. Cartoonists Sam Fields and Bill Szaro will be present to make caricatures of the audience. The cartoons and thousands of balloons will be given away each day of the party.

The tent sales will commence at 10 a.m. and continue until 9 p.m.

A total of $50,000 in national prizes and gifts is being offered in the 33rd National Children's Photograph Contest. Montgomery Wards is awarding a magnificent 11x14 oil portrait to its own winner who will then be entered in the National Contest.

The Contest begins on Monday, June 19. Any child, 14 years old or younger, is eligible to enter. The final judges are the outstanding personalities Anthony Perkins, Dina Merrill and Robert Ryan. In addition to the oil portroit for Montgomery Wards winner, the National Cash Awards are as follows: first prize $5,000; second prize—$2,500; third prize—$1,000; three fourth prizes of $500 each and 10 fifth prizes of $100 each.

Auto Flips, Man, 29, Hurt

Peter Regits, 29, of 4835 Moore, Wayne, was injured when the car he was driving collided head-on with another and turned over in a spectacular accident at Plymouth and Stark Roads in Livonia.

According to Livonia police, Regits was driving west on Plymouth at a high rate of speed, on the wrong side of the road and running the red light at Stark.

He reportedly struck a car stopped at the light on eastbound Plymouth driven by Judith Ballard, 20, of 34980 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia.

The impact spun Regit's car around in a complete circle and flipped it upside down, landing 140 feet west of Stark.

Allergic Reactions To Stings of Insects May Kill Up to 300

ANN ARBOR—Allergic reactions to insect stings may kill 300 children and adults this summer, according to a University of Michigan allergist.

The Mafia of the insect world, warns Dr. William R. Solomon, are the Hymenoptera: wasps, yellow jackets, hornets and the most energetic stinger of all — the honey bee.

The tiny honey bee can kill a person extremely allergic to its sting in just ten minutes, explained Dr. Solomon. Although the severity of insect allergies has only been realized in recent years, he said, such reactions are not new.

"Hieroglyphics record the death of a pharouh after a single wasp sting. Bites of spiders and deer flies have rarely been reported as severe or allergy-producing," he said.

Most victims are warned. Previous stings cause vast swelling, tightness in the throat or chest, hives, asthmatic breathing or lightheadedness. Such allergic reactions grow more severe with repeated exposure.

No adequate tests are yet available to warn those persons potentially allergic to insect stings.

"Many reactions occur in persons without other allergies. Although most severe reactions will not end in death," he added, "any allergic symptom following a sting indicates treatment is needed.

"Preventive desensitizing injections of whole body insect extract are over 90 per cent effective in reducing allergy to stinging insects."

Weekly injections at the U-M Allergy clinic are started long before the summer season and continue into the cooler fall months. Shots are then reduced to about one injection every four weeks.

"It is interesting to note," said Dr. Solomon," that shots available for pollen allergy in hayfever or asthma may be only 70-80 per cent effective by comparison.

The U-M allergist also recommends that children and adults know to react strongly when stung by insects should carry prescribed medications in a locket or pill box. "If swallowed seconds after a sting, these pills could be life-saving, reduce swelling and air breathing," he warned.

Other instructions to avoid being stung include:

Don't use hair tonic, aftershave lotion, hair spray, deodorant or perfume if you are going outdoors. Floral odors especially attract bees and wasps.

Loose fitting clothes such as head scarves and billowing skirts may trap the insect.

Never go barefoot or wear sandals outdoors. Bees especially like clover: yellow jackets nest in fields and logs, wasps in boat docks. Mowing the lawn, trimming hedges or handling garbage cans can be risky activities.

Dr. Solomon added, "The old wives tale about sweet things attracting bees is absolutely true. If you're eating a lollipop or ice cream cone in the scenic out-of-doors, be prepared to share it with stinging companions."

The Mayor's Corner

By Harvey W. Moelke

SOUTHFIELD AND LIVONIA . . . exchanged mayors on May 22. This was the fifth Mayors Exchange Day in which I have participated.

Mayor Clarkson of Southfield has told me that our industrial development program is one which he will propose for Southfield. I have always felt that Southfield, with its vast Northland Commercial complex, enjoyed a very favorable commercial-to-residential tax base. I was surprised to learn that only 39% of their assessed valuation is commercial and industrial. Livonia now enjoys a 51% industrial and commercial tax base. Before I inaugurated the Industrial Development Coordinator position, we had a 38% base.

Southfield has many problems that are similar to ours. Northland, while it is in the City of Southfield, is in the Oak Park School District and so its school taxes support the school needs of the City of Oak Park. In our Livonia District, Westland Shopping Center similarly is not in the Livonia School District which extends down to Warren throughout most of Westland. The Westland Shopping Center is actually in the Wayne School District.

Southfield and Livonia are both rapidly developing communities. Neither of our cities receives its fair share of state revenues for road construction and maintenance. Livonia's roads, however, are far superior to the main roads and subdivision roads in Southfield. We require four foot wider paved roads and sidewalks which are not required in Southfield.

Southfield is also in the throes of an apartment building boom. They have hundreds of apartment units under construction. Last year they were fifth in apartment building in southeastern Michigan. I found that their apartment construction, however, was of a much higher caliber than anything that has been built or proposed in Livonia. I was told that their total apartment assessed valuation in Southfield amounted to only 2% of their taxable equalized value.

New single family homes in Southfield are in the same price range as new one family residential construction in Livonia. Their minimum lot size is larger than Livonia's.

Southfield officials deserve credit for taking advantage of public works grants to build their civic center complex. They have a two story city hall, library and recreation building, all with full basements which are connected by underground passageways. They have a large man-made hill on their civic center. They intend to have their city's major recreation facilities as part of their civic center complex.

They are way ahead of us in assessment practices. They have a staff of 14 in their assessor's office. They assess all of the property within their city, thereby assuring every taxpayer of the individual appraisal which is necessary. I have requested our City Council for five years to approve the necesray appropriation so that we, too can have a completely staffed Assessment Department. The County now does the assessing for Livonia. I understand that J.L. Hudson's has taken the city to court in protest over its assessment.

I was surprised to learn that vacant land sells for considerably more than in Livonia. One family residential acreage sells for as much as three times more than similar property in Livonia.

The Planning Department there has taken advantage of the Northland Center complex to zone for and attract educational research and office buildings. They also have permitted multi-story buildings. In Livonia our Zoning Ordinance prohibited any building over two stories until recently. I have long advocated this necessary change in our zoning to permit multi-story construction. Multi-story buildings carry a more equitable share of the tax burden.

Southfield's charter is a hybrid which is neither a strong mayor nor a council-manager form of government, although it was interesting for me to note that the City Administrator of Southfield and the Mayor appoint more department heads than does the Mayor of the City of Livonia.

I have known Mayor Clarkson for many years. He is a very capable and devoted public servant. It was a pleasure for Bette and me to have the opportunity to observe the growth of Southfield on Mayors Exchange Day.

and returned a good faith check to the Northern Trust Co.

Three other bids were submitted.

The Northern bid for the issue, to be paid off over a period of 29 years, was at a rate of 4.5033 percent.

Board members felt that conditions, with the sudden change of military status between the Jewish and Arab people, made it advisable to wait a while before selling the bonds intended for building financing. A fractional reduction of a few points, members said, could cut perhaps a million dollars from the $8,711,639.55 interest that the Northern bid would have cost.

While no time was set to reconsider the issue, members suggested that a wait of 60 to 90 days, to see how the Middle East trouble turns out, might be wise. The delayed decision was made after an executive meeing of the board, and upon advice of bond experts.

The bond business, however, did not cause the board to withhold approval of additions to the Garfield elementary school and the Riley junior high school.

Authorization of the purchase of a new school site of 22 acres, at a price to be negotiated, was made. Plans call for an elementary school and junior high school, with use of adjoining Parks and Recreation land for a baseball field. The site is in the southeast quarter of Section 31. Much new housing is going up in the vicinity with many home sites available, it was said.

the mayor's office nor the Council."

Consulting engineers promised to hurry the project and complete landscaping by June 15. DPW Director Robert A. Shaw said the sidewalks would be in by "about August."

Citizens protested the discrepancy in the dates until Ventura called the meeting back to order.

Ventura ran into a dispute with Councilman Rudolf R. Kleinert, who protested:

"What benefit is this meeting? There isn't anything we can do now, right here, and it gives the impression to these people that we can do something.

"Calling a special meeting in someone's driveway is assinine."

Ventura said he called the meeting because of citizen complaints that the drain project had disrupted the neighborhood, created dust and dirt and that delays had prolonged the condition.

"We called this meeting to dramatize an unjust situation, to show the people that the City Council cares. Perhaps the executive branch can do something."

Mrs. Hugh Otterbain said the work started in early February and that she was told to move some trees or they would be bulldozed out of the easement. She said a nursery was retained to remove the trees.

"My husband and I wore boots constantly to go out in the front of our house, the mess with mud and dirt was so bad. We couldn't park our car less than a block away."

Councilman Jerry Raymond said he was "willing to bet" work on the project will progress quickly "for some strange reason." Shaw interrupted to place the responsibility before the county.

the Department of State Highways' proposed location on existing Eleven Mile Road.

In Madison Heights, the Council has passed a resolution to open up again negotiations between communities in an effort to resolve the problem.

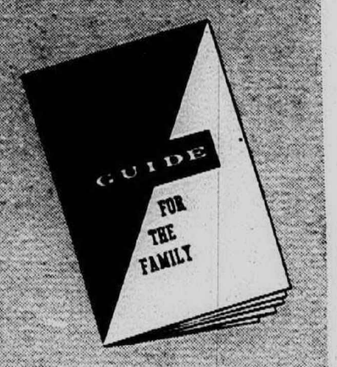

The Madison Heights proposal has been discussed by the Royal Oak City Commission but response was luke warm.

After last June's daylong negotiating session, Roseville, Pleasant Ridge and Lathrop Village refused to endorse the arbitration procedure.

Six communities — Royal Oak, Hazel Park, Ferndale, Madison Heights, Warren Center Line — agreed to accept the highway departments' proposed location and three—Southfield, Oak Park and Huntington Woods—endorsed the arbitration concept.

Mayor McDonald's pledge to review the previous administration's decision in Roseville hints that the community's leaders may revert to favoring the Eleven Mile Road location proposed by the department.

Find Our Winters Shorter

ANN ARBOR—As difficult as it may be to believe, our winters, including the last one, are shorter than our summers.

According to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh, we are farthest from the sun during our summer and nearest to it during the winter. Thus, "our seasons tend to be a little milder than those of the southern hemisphere."

"Also," she continued, "since the earth is moving a little slower in its orbit around the sun during our summer, this season is slightly longer than the winter, even the winter of this year."

This inequality of the seasons, detected as early as the 6th century B.C., is based on the fact that the motion of the sun is elliptical rather than circular.

Summer begins June 21 at 9:23 p.m. On that day, our hemisphere will receive "the most heat from the sun in any 24-hour period of the year. But the chances are very good that this longest day, 15 hours, will not be the hottest of the summer," Prof. Losh said.

The peak of the season usually comes from four to six weeks after the start of summer, she explained. The reason is that the earth receives more heat from the sun than is lost each day. The temperatures are likely to keep climbing until around August 1 "when somewhat of a balance is reached in the heat received during the day with that lost at night."

While waiting for the start of summer, we can see a number of stellar constellations in the June sky, said Prof. Losh.

The Northern Cross, of Cygnus the swan, can be seen rising on its side in the northeast just after dark. Although the Northern is not as brilliant as the celebrated Southern Cross, "its stars form a more perfect pattern than its counterpart."

The bluish-white star Deneb in the swan's tail is more than 500 light-years away and is believed to be 10,000 times as luminous as our sun. This star also marks the top of the cross. At the foot of the cross, or, if you can see the configuration, in the beak of the swan, is Albireo, a double star which a small telescope reveals to be distinctively University of Michigan in color—maize and blue.

Perhaps The Time Has Arrived For Re-Evaluation of "Community"

In the old days, a politician seeking a good slogan that glittered but said nothing substantial would pick something like "God, Home and Motherhood."

Times change. "Community" is the In word today.

"Motherhood" is clearly Out as a concept that can whip up the emotions of the populace, with all the discussion of population control, birth control and liberalized abortion.

But you can't beat "Community."

Plymouth city and township have their political conflicts. But whenever you want to erase the artificial barriers of those municipal boundaries for a good project, start talking about the "Plymouth Community."

Farmington? Same thing. There, however, you'll see a somewhat fuzzier idea of what the "community" really is. Some parts of the township think other parts really don't want to be part of the game, so they look at them as not being part of the "community."

Livonia, a sprawling, 36-square-mile municipality, seems obsessed with the idea that it ought to have more "community" feeling. The theory seems to be that Livonians ought to have a stronger bond than a name and the annual payment of taxes to the same treasurer.

"Community" is a popular word even on the international level. The Peace Corps, an instrument of United States' foreign policy, has two types of projects—teaching and "community development."

In popularity, "community" is beginning to out-distance the term "people," in vogue from the 1930s to the mid-1950s. "The people demand . . ." "The People's Party . . ." "The Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League . . ." "The People, Yes."

But to the man who deals with words — the journalist and the aggressive reader — this word "community" poses a serious problem.

Look at it this way: You could rarely misuse words like "God," "home" or "motherhood" because they had fairly clear meanings.

But "community" is something else.

The smarter organizations—business, private or government—are no longer appointing "publicity" men or "public relations" men. They're appointing "community relations" men. That's not a good sign.

Or an outfit with fairly clear goals unfortunately adopts the word "community" in its title, thus obscuring its purpose to the outsider. Take Michigan State University's "Institute for Community Development"; it's really in the local government field.

Take the "Citizens Council for Community Development"; you'd never guess it from the name, but its main purpose in life is to get most of Farmington Township to incorporate as a home rule city.

A few years back, the English teachers howled at a cigaret commercial that used "like" instead of "as." If they're alert, they'll start raising a fuss about the over-use and the mis-use of "community."

Certainly there are plenty of more precise words—city, township, school district, subdivision, ethnic group.

"Community" is a mushy, vague, perfumy, sloppy, obscure, frustrating word to deal with. A good one-third of the time, it isn't even accurate. Down with it!

—Tim Richard

This Wasn't The Time

At a recent luncheon, honoring five highly respected residents of the community for outstanding contributions over years of service, should have been a Michigan Week program that all present will remember.

It was the kind of a gathering in which everyone present knew everyone else.

At least, that was the idea this writer had when he walked into the Thunderbird Inn for the affair arranged by Michigan Week Chairman John Kamego and Livelihood Day Chairman Harold Fischer.

Harold introduced Mayor James Jabara as "Jim" just as everyone thought he would and Jabara promptly responded.

But apparently something is bothering Township Supervisor John McEwen these days. Introduced as Jack, he seemed to take offense to the introduction and reminded all "My name is John McEwen, I am the Plymouth Township Supervisor."

We would guess that everyone in the audience was shocked with the abruptness of McEwen's reaction. There are places to cut people short and there are places when one must act like a mature gentleman as a Township Supervisor should. We don't think there were any Brownie points built up with this display.

It's about time that Livonia's City Council takes a look around the city streets and makes a count of cars that have been parked for several days in odd positions.

For instance, we noticed a car parked at an angle, not parallel, on Five Mile Road near Idyl Wyld golf course for at least three days.

We saw a partially wrecked car parked along Schoolcraft, adjoining the Madonna College campus, for several days.

Then there was a trailer, with two flat tires, sitting alongside Five Mile Road for a couple of days.

We have no idea how many cars are parked for long periods of time on other streets in the city. Judging from our experiences of last week, there should be quite a few and they should be removed before accidents happen in the late hours of night.

OBSERVATION POINT

By Philip H. Power

JUNE is here. Leaves are out. Flowers are blooming. Bees buzzing.

Elections and the summer adjournment of Congress loom up like the thunderhead of a sudden storm.

And the yaup of the politician is beginning to be heard throughout the land.

All this is by way of introducing a press release we got the other day. We get lots of them, but this one happened to be from Congressman Jack McDonald, who serves the 19th District.

It announced his Congressional Questionnaire, which he evidently has sent out to all the people in the 19th District. He wants people to fill it out, to "provide me with a keener awareness of the opinions held by the people I represent."

In it, he has questions on Viet Nam, the draft, tax sharing with local governments, prayer in schools, Social Security taxes, and Federal tax policy.

I don't have anything to quarrel with on this list, except for some of the wording, which appears a little slanted. But, then, I've never seen a Congressional Questionnaire (and I've even written them myself) which wasn't a wee little bit slanted.

WHICH gets us around to inquiring if there really is a point—outside of the hope of getting more votes in the next election — for sending out Congressional Questionnaires.

You know what I mean.

The typical questionnaire questions will run something like:

1) (Suitable for members of either party) Recently I introduced a bill which would do away with sin, eliminate cancer, and stop traffic jams on the Lodge Freeway.
Are you for —— or against —— ? (Please check one)

2) (Suitable for Republicans) The Administration will once again run up a vast deficit this year.
Do you: Want to increase Government spending yet again? ——
Want to cut the deficit by reducing spending? ——
(Please check one)

3) (Suitable for Democrats) The Administration plans programs which will feed the hungry, educate the ignorant, and eliminate disease in our time.
Do you: Favor allocating funds to such projects?
——
Favor letting these people starve and/or remain ignorant and/or die?
—— (Please check one)

Obviously absurd, maybe.

But the sample questions do point up just how unrealistic and useless these Questionnaires can be.

Nine times out of 10, the Congressman who sends out the Questionnaires knows how he's going to vote. And in the rare cases where he's undecided, he'll generally go along with the party line.

Consider again, dear taxpayer, the cost of such useful information.

Congressional questionnaires are sent out on the Congressman's frank. Value: 5c per letter. There are generally around 130,000 homes per Congressional District, which works out to around $6,500 for postage alone.

Printing, at least when I was ordering the things in Washington, cost something like $1,000. This is at the Congressman's own expense, so we'll deduct it.

Grand total: $7,150. Seven thousand, one hundred fifty dollars!

To learn what?

Not much.

But it helps come election time.

This Is The Week That

. . . By Don Hoenshell

You'll never know how it is to fly a kite in a silo until you view a political people approaching the trauma of elections.

What happens is nothing.

And that's the greatest argument you ever heard for four-year terms for everybody, from the cleaning lady to the President of the United States. Sorry about the comparison, Mrs. Fennebessy.

Now we go three-dimensional and wide screen. Gorgeous living color and popcorn, if you'd like, m'am. Observe Brotherhood Week and take City Councilman to lunch and ask him:

- To propose a city income tax since this is the most equitable way to go. Those who have pay and all that sort of thing.
- To seriously consider the mayor's plan for—you name it—without checking with— you name him, or it.
- To take a public poke at the biggest guy in town because maybe he's cutting a corner at the expense of the citizen.

After he recovers from a choking spell on the parsley, you'll get the longest speech he's ever made. It'll sound great, so take notes. Then light cigarets with them.

Here's what happens with a four-year term.

Mayor Cavanagh's political skin was saved by it. He took office when the city was $34.5 million behind the seven-ball. The eight-ball was another $10 million debt to the city pension fund.

Another $100 million was being chopped off the property tax base every year by freeway rights of way and urban renewal, neighborhood deterioration and other bits of disaster.

So Cavanagh became the father of the city income tax in Michigan and that wonderful fellow, then City Controller Alfred M. Pelham was the midwife, or mother-in-law, as the case may be. He held the shotgun.

It was the first year of a four-year term. The controversy made World War II sound like corn popping. It was discernible that very few people like taxes. It was clear as high C.

So what happened?

The need was apparent but the four-year term allowed the mayor and council to bridge the Understanding Gap, as we say. Without it, Detroit would have been as dead as downtown on Sunday at 3:15 p.m.

People over four years brought down the temperature of the city, they realized why it was needed and the tap on the old bankroll wasn't as damaging as they first thought.

Two-year term people start campaigning on election night. You want a program? Oh, go mow the lawn, sir. For two years you get public relations. Then bumper stickers.

Then the campaign and election day.

Then another campaign.

A kite in a silo.

Swim Laws Need Check

Suburbia is just now learning that affluence and some of the luxuries earned in this life can be troublesome. Like swimming pools in the backyard.

Most of the fencing ordinances to keep youngsters from tumbling in over their heads are unrealistic. After it happens it is to late except for the wringing of hands.

City ordinances almost always call for a chain link fence around a swimming pool, but there is no minumum size on the screen.

Some of the fences being used —entirely legal — provide wonderful footholds for young climbers. And a four-foot fence is duck soup for kids in the summer.

Cities should take another look at their swimming pool ordinances and tighten them up for the protection of the adult pool owners — as well as the kids.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Mayor Thomas H. Brown of Westland seems to have made up for his recent spat with fellow Democrat Vice-President Hubert Humphrey. There is a mural-sized photo of H.H.H. on the wall in the mayor's office—along with a comparable size picture of Hubert's boss.

Westland's William Ventura, new vice president of the recently-formed Westland Young Democrat Organization and an officer in the local UAW's Committee on Political Education, is home this week after a seven-day stay in the hospital. The illness has nothing to do with the Democratic Party's showing last November but you might say that Bill is learning to "COPE" with the situation. In addition, he earned a well-needed rest to get set for his July 1 wedding.

One of the things that makes people cringe came up at Thursday's "Meet the Candidates" meeting for Wayne Community school board hopefuls. One of the candidates, apparently discussing fiscal reform used the phrase "physical reform."

Our Readers Speak About Candidates, Election Issues

EDITOR:

The upcoming Board of Education election has attracted six qualified candidates. This is a healthy situation, for it indicates that there is an active interest in education in Farmington. I feel that it is also good for acquaintances of these candidates to pass on to others any information which can help in making a selection.

Dr. Sanford Bloomberg has been an active and productive member of the Youth Guidance Committee, and is presently Chairman of the Case Study Subcommittee. He has consistently furnished us with new insights into the problems of youth and the approaches to solutions of these problems.

He has expressed a particular concern for the young adolescent and the junior high school's role in guiding children through this particularly difficult age. Because delinquency problems increase sharply for this age group, the Y.G.C. is greatly interested in all exisiting and new approaches to dealing effectively with this group.

Dr. Bloomberg has also spoken frequently of his concern for all aspects of the maintenance and further improvement of quality education in Farmington.

I would like to personally endorse Sanford Bloomberg and suggest that others support him on June 12.

Candidates Endorsed

EDITOR:

As a former Treasurer of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education, I wish to endorse Myron G. Becker for a four-year term on the Board.

As a member of the Board during a portion of the time Becker was Business Manager of the Wayne Schools, I worked very closely with him and therefore had an unusual opportunity to become acquainted with those characteristics of his which, in my opinion, are needed on the Board at this time.

Becker's intimate familiarity with school financing generally and with the problems of the Wayne Schools in particular is well known. This familiarity alone would obviously qualify him for a position on the Board and would permit him to become immediately a highly effective Board Member. More important, however, is the fact that Becker understands the difference between policy making and administration and it is this understanding that is needed if the Board is to have the public confidence that is vital to a first class public school system.

No matter how well intentioned or hard working board members may be, they cannot possibly make day to day administrative decisions. Any attempt to do so can only result in demoralization of the staff, loss of public confidence and consequent harm to the student body.

Becker knows this from his years of experience both inside and outside the field of public education and can be depended on to concern himself with the proper functions of a Board Member, particularly the development of public confidence in the Board.

I urge every voter who is interested in the welfare of the Wayne Schools to cast their vote for Becker on June 12.

Moderator Comments

EDITOR:

On Thursday, June 1, I was privileged to act as the moderator of the Meet Your Candidates program held at the Wayne Memorial High School. I felt that the meeting was very beneficial to those who attended.

I couldn't help but notice a letter in your last edition signed by "Aroused Patio Sitter." First, let me say that I welcome oppositon to my point of view. I feel that this creates a healthy atmosphere and is a very integral part of our Democratic process. On the other hand I always look with some degree of skepticism upon a letter that is signed anonymously.

While it is true that I as a citizen and as a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee For Progress will be supporting three candidates for office, I think that the tenor of Mr. Patio Sitter's letter clearly indicates that he is certainly supporting at least one candidate for office.

I am supporting Warren L. Spurling and Myron G. Becker for the four-year term and Robert E. Utsman for the one year term and it appears that Mr. Patio Sitter is supporting his own candidate. I am proud to be supporting these men and hope that they are elected to serve on our school board on June 12 because in my judgment and in the judgment of the Citizens Advisory Committee for progress, they are best qualified for the job.

As for the question as to whether or not the candidates meeting was moderated fairly and impartially, the proof is in the pudding. As for those who did not attend the meeting the entire program was put on tape and the tape is available for listening.

While I will agree that Mr. Patio Sitter doesn't need to be informed on the candidate, I must respectfully disagree with his inference as to the value of the candidates meeting. There was a rather large turnout and many people did come to see and hear the candidates. I feel that this lends a great deal of credence to the idea that such meetings are helpful in informing the public. I commend the Area Council of PTA for their efforts.

Yours for Quality Education.

Single Tax Urged

EDITOR:

I know that this applies more to our federal government, but can't something be done about our confusing system of collecting taxes.

In order to pay taxes, the American people make out a large variety of tax forms to the federal, state, and city governments. Each one has its own rules and regulations. It cost billions of dollars to make out tax forms, and billions of dollars to collect the taxes. In addition, both the American public and the government officials seem confused about our present tax system. This applies especially to the income tax.

Obviously taxes are collected for government operations and services. The need is for administration, schools, roads, hospitals, recreation centers, police and fire protection, etc.

Taxes should not be charged because of the individual need of a place to live, clothes to wear, and food to eat. Nor for luxuries or medical care.

Then why not the single type of tax that would replace our large variety of tax collections. It is a lot easier to collect from one source than a hundred.

One easy single tax could be a percentage of the sales. This is easy to collect. It should not make any difference whether or not that the sale is a service or a tangible product. There should be no exceptions. The principle would be the same used by the utility companies. The more gas and electricity used, the more the cost. In a business the larger volume of sales, the more the tax. It shouldn't be necessary for a business to detail its expenses, just to pay a tax.

CHRISTMAS CAME early this year for three-year-old Helene "Chicky" Piche, of Inkster, when she was given a large doggy doll from Garden City Police Capt. Robert McGuire (right) and Inkster Sgt. Fair Mason. The gift for the youngster, suffering from leukemia, was from Al Nash, of Plaza Discount in Garden City; Leonard Brudzinski of the Garden City branch of National Bank of Detroit, and a radio station. Helene is forced to wear a wig because of the loss of her hair caused by the disease. (Photo by Tom Keeling.)

Another single tax could be the payroll tax payable at the source. Why should a taxpayer give a detail of his personal expenses, just to pay a tax. Dividends and interest could be paid at the source. Then the taxpayer would not have to list them on the individual income tax return.

This single tax would especially apply to property owners. A tax on the value of the land that he has a title to. Never mind having him give an account of the cost of the building and personal possessions.

The single tax system instead of our complicated large variety of taxes would save both the taxpayer and the government billions of dollars. The money saved from tax form preparation and tax collection could give relief to the taxpayer and at the same time give more to the government for operation.

If a businessman had to go into detail about each customer's personal life before quoting a price, how much would it cost to operate a business?

So why not give the single tax system a thought and trial.

Recalling Some Dramatic Moments at the End of the Line

By W. W. EDGAR

IT IS always a sad moment when a star athlete—or other famed personage—comes to the end of the line.

All the past achievements and moments of glory hastily pass in review as the star in life's show turns his back to the roar of the crowd and takes his place among the common folk.

The public prints the other day described the passing into the wings of "Whitey" Ford, famed Yankee pitcher and pictured him in tears as he waved to the crowd and then passed into the darkness of the dugout.

Actually, "Whitey" left the game he loved and in which he played a great role, in Tiger Stadium little more than a week ago, and thereby added another strange twist to the part Detroit has played in many of these dramatic moments.

It was on a Sunday afternoon when "Whitey", while facing Jim Northrup felt the twinge in his arm again, looked around, pitched, fielded a roller and threw him out at first. Then, in a moment of great decision, he walked to the Yankee dugout. It was the last long mile of a great career.

AS HE took those steps many of the old time baseball fans recalled that it was in this same stadium that "Iron Man" Lou Gehrig, famed Yankee first baseman, came to the end of the line in one of the most dramatic moments the ball park ever has known.

It was in May of 1939—just 28 years ago—that the big fellow who had been the "shadow of Babe Ruth" asked Joe McCarthy, then the Yankee manager, to take him from the game.

It was a big decision to make for Lou had played in 2,130 consecutive games, and this record will stand for a long time.

All that morning at the Yankee headquarters in downtown Detroit there seemed to be something in the air that warned of a surprise. Folks moved in and out of McCarthy's room—and word was that Gehrig, who had been stricken and was going badly, was in conference.

No one could believe that he was about to take himself out of the lineup. And it wasn't until the teams lined up for the game in Tiger Stadium a few hours later that Lou gave the final word. He stood and applauded while "Babe" Dahlgren, his replacement, took over at first base.

It was an unforgettable moment.

THERE was another occasion that helped stamp Detroit as the end of the line.

One afternoon, some years ago, I walked into the dark, dreary room, known as Harry Tuttle's gymnasium on Cadillac Square. Harry was a former trainer of the Tigers and a name to behold in training circles. I paid a daily visit as part of the fight beat for the Free Press sports department.

This afternoon I had gone over to see Jack Dempsey, then long past his prime, who was on an exhibition tour.

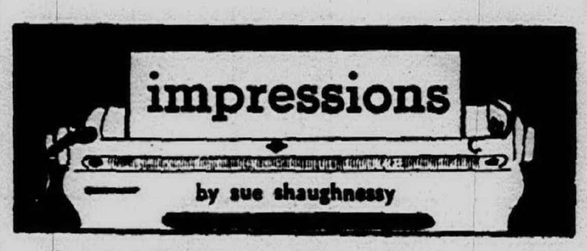

As I entered the old "Manassa Mauler," with whom I had been friends for years, called to me.

He was taking off the boxing gloves and as he pulled his hands out of them he tossed the soggy gloves to me and said "There you are 'Dutchman' hang them up. I always promised you a story — and here it is."

In that moment, with tear-filled eyes, Dempsey left the boxing game as a fighter. "The old legs are gone" he said chokingly. " I can't move out of the way of punches any more — and I'm getting hit too often. It's time to quit."

It was the end of the line for him—and it is strange that all these dramatic moments should have a Detroit background.

They are unforgettable.

An interesting bill passed the state legislature and the governor's signature the other day.

It's interesting because so little has been said about it.

The bill provides that incumbents seeking re-election will be listed first on the ballots throughout the state.

Naturally the bill wouldn't cause much of a commotion as it will help those who are currently holding office.

The incumbent always holds the advantage in an election and the legislation simply sharpens the edge.

Benefiting will be all state elected officials from U.S. Senator and Governor to Congressmen, state legislators, local mayors and councilmen, judges and school board trustees.

Challengers will be listed below the incumbents in alphabetical order.

The net result of the bill will be to make it harder than ever to unseat the incumbent.

As we said it's an interesting piece of legislation.

Jaycees Honor Top Members

In addition, the group awarded citations and certificates to its outstanding members for work during the past year.

James DeMoss, outgoing president, installed Ted Collins as his successor for the club when has nearly 70 members. Also taking over for the season are Lance Johnson, first vice president; Ken McLean, second vice president; Jerry Lula, third vice president; Bruce Fisher, secretary; John Hebner, treasurer; and Bill Bishop, Jim Hogg, Jerry Kuhn, Ken Monroe and Phil Spada, directors.

Nine Jaycees were awarded the "Spark Plug" for service and participation during the past year and two first-year members were given "Spoke" honors.

"Spark of the Year" is Larry Wright with Ted Collins being named the "Most Outstanding Board Member." The coveted "Key Man" award went to Ken McLean for the second straight year.

A Presidential Award was presented to Jan McLean and her Auxiliary Committee for publishing the club's monthly newsletter.

Ted Jarvis, a former board member, took home a similar award for initiating the Jaycees Homeshow, termed the most successful project in the club's history.

The program selected as the "number one of the year" was the War on Measles Campaign, held in three counties and chaired in Westland by David Chester.

The "Exhausted Rooster" level was reached by two Jaycees who passed the club's maximum age limit this past year. The two are Bill Blair and Don Jazwieck.

Robert Padget was given the "8-Ball," "Mudder Mucker" awards and a lifetime membership in the Westland Jaycees for his "outstanding participation and dedication to the Jaycee movement," a club spokesman said.

Padget was recently elected as the Jaycees Region National Director after serving the past year as State Vice President.

John Saimes won the "MVI" award for his escapades at last year's rummage sale.

Boy Struck By Auto On Westland Rd.

A 15-year-old Westland boy suffered serious leg injuries Memorial Day when he was struck by an auto on Palmer Road near Venoy, in Westland.

In Wayne County General Hospital is Gary Gembarski, of 1631 Westchester Drive.

The Westland Police Dept. was told by the driver, Larry Wiggins, 19, of 31560 Taft, Wayne, and two witnesses, that they didn't see the boy until just before the impact.

The driver said that he was passing an auto containing two girlfriends when he "saw an image" and struck the youngster.

The girls in the other car said that the Wiggins auto was passing them when they "saw something fly by."

Wiggins, who was not ticketed, was traveling about 45-50 miles per hour at the time of the accident.

Westland Opens Ball Schedule

Westland's Parks and Recreation Department last week unveiled the baseball and softball program for the 1967 season.

In baseball league play, the Recreation Department is sponsoring a 12 team class "F" League for boys 14 years of age and under. This league opened competitive play on June 1. The "F" boys play on Tuesday and Thursday at 6 p.m. at the following sites: Wayne-Ford Civic Center, Stottlemyer Park, Henry Ruff and Palmer, and Marshall Jr. High.

The Class "E" league has only three teams entered so far with hopes of a fourth team. This league for boys 15 and under will begin play the second week in June.

This year the Recreation Program is running a class "D" League, boys 18 and under. There are eight teams scheduled to play. The league is comprised of four Westland teams, one from Inkster, two from Wayne, and one from Belleville.

These teams will play a 14 game schedule starting June 8. The playing sites are at Wayne Memorial High School, Inkster Park, Wayne Ford Civic Center, and Belleville High. The games will be played at 6 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

In the softball leagues, the Men's Class "A" Slow Pitch League has eight teams entered and began May 29.

The "A" League plays at 6:30 p.m. every Monday and Wednesday on diamonds 9, 10, 12, 13 in Edward Hines Parkway.

The men's "C" Slow Pitch League also has eight teams entered, but they only play on Fridays. The "C" League uses the same fields as the "A" league. The "C" League started play on May 26.

The Womens Modified Slow Pitch League has five teams ready to compete for trophies. This league will start playing next week. The girls play all of their games under the lights at Garden City East High. The games are scheduled for 8 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays.

Also, once the Summer Program on the playgrounds begins, there will be an opportunity for the seven, eight, and nine year olds for the T-Ball Leagues.

The 10, 11, 12 year olds will have a chance to play in the baseball school leagues. The girls softball leagues also begin during the Summer Playground Programs.

Escapee Is Captured In Westland

Westland police officers apprehended a local resident in his home Thursday morning, seven months after he escaped from Detroit House of Correction.

Returned to finish the 30-day term for drunk driving was Billie Gene McWatters, 21, of 6202 Yale, Westland.

Patrolman Albert George, accompanied by officer Robin Crosby, said that the police department received an anonymous tip that McWatters would be at his home.

The police found him there at 8:30 a.m. and brought him to the police station. A DeHoCo officer then picked up McWatters for return.

WESTLAND MAYOR Thomas H. Brown admires the handsome plaque awarded to him recently when he visited Greenville for Mayors Exchange Day observance of Michigan Week. Along with the plaque, Civic Service Award and key to the city, Brown also received a 68-cent check, representing the Greenville mayor's salary for one day.

Auto Students Will Compete In 'Trouble' Contest

Six area high schools are among 36 competing in the annual Plymouth trouble shooting contest at Henry Ford Community College Thursday.

The two-man teams will represent: Plymouth, Livonia Bentley and Franklin, Thurston in Redford Township, Garden City and John Glenn.

When your car won't start, there's usually only one thing wrong. But suppose there were a dozen or more.

That's the problem facing the high school mechanics competing in the contest.

A test of knowledge and dexterity, the contest is one in which the student teams will attempt to find and fix a series of malfunctions deliberately hidden in new cars by experts.

The two-man team, which most quickly and accurately solves the problems and restores the car to perfect running order is the winner.

Victors in local contests will compete against the winners from more than 75 regional events across the country in the 1967 National Championship Trouble Shooting finals in Detroit on June 19, 20 and 21.

Originated in Los Angeles in 1949, when 50 boys from 17 schools competed against the clock for modest awards, the contest has grown in size and prestige to the point that more than 90,000 teenagers are entered in this years competition.

Locally, 36 schools will be represented in the event. Contestants are elected on the basis of intra-class competition. The teams are permitted to use only a minimum of tools and testing equipment and their work is monitored by technicians and school instructors.

The winning teams in the local contests will receive trophies for their schools and prizes for themselves. All participating in the Detroit contest will receive individual trophies.

Robert Byrnes of Farmington was among 43 Ferris State College students who were honored with special awards at the ninth annual academic honors banquet last week.

Byrnes was granted the Rexall Mortar and Pestle Award for his achievement in Ferris' School of Pharmacy.

Teacher Gets Mexico Trip

Louis Mascio, a teacher at Emerson Junior High School, in Livonia, has been invited to participate in a two-part summer institute for teachers of Spanish to be conducted in California and Mexico from June 18 to August 12, 1967.

Mascio, of 32114 Joy Road, is one of the 48 teachers selected from throughout the United States to spend one week at Sonoma State College, Rohnert Park, Calif., and then travel with the entire group to the Instituto Cultural in Morelia, Michoacan, Mexico, for seven weeks of study.

Under the National Defense Education Act, the U.S. Office of Education assumes the expenses of tuition, and official travel while abroad and awards each selectee a stipend and dependency allowance.

None Like Parades Better Than Kids

Westland Senior Wins 4th Award

Westland High School senior Georgina Buttigieg practiced her art of scene-stealing at the Franklin High School Honors Convocation last week.

The talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Buttigieg, 29636 Shackett, became the first Franklin student in the school's five-year history to win a fourth All-School Activities award.

Each award represents 35 points earned by active participation in the school's extensive extra-curricular program. Georgina accumulated 147 points in three years.

As a symbol of unselfish service and quality achievement in diverse areas, Principal David D. Amerman presented Georgina with Franklin's "medal of honor," the Ben Franklin key.

During the Convocation she also received a service pin as retiring vice president of Student Council and with one of the two Drama awards. She led community singing at the beginning and end of the Convocation.

Versatility is the perfect word to explain Georgina's impressive accumulation of activity points. She participated in three school musicals, two class plays, Drama Club, Bel Canto Choir, Madrigals, Student Council, Ski Club, Pep Club, Psychology Club and American Field Service.

Last December she played the title role in Franklin's all-school musical, "Little Mary Sunshine." Livonia theater-goers will have an opportunity to see and hear her portray Eliza Doolittle in the Summer Workshop production of "My Fair Lady" next month.

Georgina will enter Michigan State University to study both music and social science.

MULTIPLE AWARD winner at the Franklin Honors Convocation was Senior Georgina Buttigieg, first student in the school's history to receive a fourth All-School Activities award. In addition, Georgina received a Student Council service pin, a Drama award, and a Ben Franklin key. J. Kenneth Bourgon, Director of Student Activities, presented the Activities award.

League Champs for Seventh Time

East High Adds to Baseball Dynasty

The baseball record compiled by John Kulazenka in his 15 years of coaching at Garden City East High School must rank with the best in the state — in fact, the country.

Seven times — including this spring — Kulazenka has led his charges to the championship in their league.

The eight other times East finished in second spot.

What's behind Kulazenka's success secret?

"You'd have to say that we just have a lot of boys who are dedicated to baseball," he said after East downed Riverview, 6-2, to wrap up the Mid-Wayne League flag with a 9-1 record

Riverview was the only challenger to East in the closing stages and had a chance to share the crown when the teams collided. But George Dobozy flipped a two-hitter and his mates erupted for six runs in the second inning to settle matters.

"We have a great community when it comes to baseball — and, of course, other things," added Kulazenka.

"Our boys do well in Babe Ruth, Connie Mack and Free Press League action every summer. Several of them go downtown (to Detroit) and do a job there with their standout Class D teams which go on to win championships.

"The kids around here love baseball. They work at it from the start of the season to the finish . . . and they want to be coached."

In the East drive to the 1967 crown, Dobozy shared pitching honors with Marvin Martin, another senior, who had a 5-0 loop record. Dobozy was 4-1 and amassed a sensational earned run average of .050.

In the offensive department, Joe Huber and Mike Sparkman led the way. They're also seniors.

East put together five hits with a walk and an error in pushing over six runs in the one inning against Riverview.

There was one out when Sparkman started the explosion with a single. He stole second and scored on Huber's single.

Monte Hackman's double knocked in Huber and Dobozy was safe on an error. Kevin Wilkinson walked to load the sacks.

Then it was a single by Rick Clark and a triple by Martin which wrapped up the wild inning and brought East's final record for the season to 13 victories against only four losses.

STATE MEET BOUND—Ken Bollin and Kim Carlson of Bently shoot for high stakes this weekend when they vie in doubles in the state Class A tennis tournament at Kalamazoo. Bill Keithler and Larry Bock of Thurston also will be represented in the doubles competition at Kalamazoo.

RUNNERUP AWARD — It goes to Redford Union, coached by Bob Atkins, left, after bowing to Bently, 2-1, in finals of Les Anders Memorial Baseball tournament. Dick DeVries of Livonia Optimist Club makes the presentation. Optimist Club, along with Livonia Recreation department and Observer newspapers, helped to sponsor the tournament.

RU Blanks Rocks, Ties For Pennant

They'll have to provide a new trophy for the 1968 baseball champion in the Suburban Six League.

Redford Union retired the cup for which the teams have been battling for almost a decade by blanking Plymouth, 9-0, to tie the Rocks for the 1967 loop pennant, each with 7-3 conference records.

It marked the third time in six years under coach Bob Atkins that Redford Union has ruled in the loop. Three titles — either outright or shared — were required to put the trophy out of circulation for keeps.

Dale Bjerke, the sophomore sensation at RU, coasted along to down Plymouth.

He gave up only one hit—a first inning single to rival pitcher Dan Camp. Thereafter only three Plymouth batters reached base, one on a walk, another via an error, the third when he was hit by a pitch.

Redford Union bounced ahead in a hurry when Rod Fergerson walked, stole second and scored on a single by Kevin Fox.

Then in the second inning, Bill Fahey was safe on an error and Bjerke singled. Both advanced on a passed ball and scored when Fergerson struck out. But the ball got away from the Plymouth catcher, who then threw wildly, permitting Fergerson to go all the way to third. Bob Fritz singled to send Fergerson across.

The Townshippers piled up four more runs in the fourth. Fergerson again started matters with a walk.

A single by Fritz and another single by Fox brought over two runs. Leland Bjerke followed with a single. Glen Buckingham walked, Bill Howe reached first on an error and Fahey doubled before the inning was over.

In the sixth inning, Rick Beckerleg slapped a homer to wind up the scoring and end the season for both teams on a happy note.

Pat Duthie Honored for Sports Feats

Patrick B. Duthie of Redford Township, a junior in the College of Education, at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, O., was doubly honored at Recognition Day Ceremonies.

Pat was the recipient of the Clem McCarthy Scholarship Award, as the varsity award-winning athlete with the highest accumulative grade point average through five full semesters of academic work.

Duthie was also one of nine University students tapped for induction into Omicron Delta Kappa, men's national leadership society.

Each semester ODK taps outstanding men in one or more areas. Pat, selected in the area of Athletics, was recently elected captain of the varsity swimming team and has won two letters in the sport.

He holds the varsity records in the 200-yard butterfly, and the 200 and 400-yard individual medley. His freshman records include the 100 and 200-yard butterfly, 200-yard individual medley, and the 400-yard medley relay.

Pat was the winner of the freshman Swimathon Award and the recipient of the Coach's Award and is currently serving as vice-president of the Varsity Club.

Duthie is a member of Beta Beta Beta, Biology Honorary Society and Kappa Delta Pi, Education Honorary Society. He has also worked with emotionally disturbed children through a University sponsored program in Toledo, O.

Pat is a 1964 graduate of Thurston High School and was a member of Coach Joe Mracna's varsity swimming team for three years.

West Riddles School Mark

Four school records went by the boards but Garden City West's track team could do no better than settle for a fourth-place tie in the Tri-River League championships.

Southgate repeated as champion with ease, running up 72 points. Shaffer followed with 57 points with Kennedy third with 48.

Then came Cherry Hill with 30, West and Lowrey with 29 each, Crestwood 24 and Riverside 19.

Two of the West records came in the relays.

In the mile relay, West took third as Herrick, Dave Wilson, Steve Sweda and Mike Sinta hit the line in 3:32.3, another new school standard.

Sinta accounted for West's only championship in the finals as he hit the wire in 1:53, another new school record.

The fourth West mark was set by Fodor when he finished second in the 220-yard dash in 23 seconds flat.

Other West points were scored as follows:

Two Mile: Bill Casper ran third.

Pole Vault: Mark Wittbrodt placed sixth.

Low Hurdles: Scott Frazier took sixth.

High Hurdles: Jim Robertson ran sixth.

100-yard dash: Alexander took sixth.

Graduation Rings for Piston Coach

Graduation bells rang Sunday for coach Donnis Butcher of the Detroit Pistons basketball team.

Butcher returned to Pikeville College in Kentucky to receive his degree in Bachelor of Science in Psychology and Physical Education.

The Pistons coach attended Pikeville as a fulltime student from 1957-61. He was shy 12 credit hours for a diploma when he entered the National Basketball Association in 1961 to play with the New York Knicks.

Butcher actually finished his requirements last summer at Pikeville, but since the college holds graduation ceremonies only once a year, his "big" day has been delayed until Sunday.

Butcher, who came to the Pistons from the Knicks in 1963-64, was named the team's head coach late last season.

Plymouth Bentley Top Loop Stars

Three players from Bentley and three from Plymouth were named on the all-Suburban Six League baseball team.

Paul Springer, Birmingham junior, captained the Wayne State University rowing team to a 4-2 record during the 1967 season.

Courage Pays Him Well

Maybe we have said it before. It certainly bears repeating.

Nothing thrills a high school athletic coach—or for that matter any teacher—more than to see graduating students move up the ladder of life.

A telephone call the other evening certainly exemplifies what it means to a coach when one or more of his proteges makes an impression outside the high school.

The caller was Bill McDonald, the football coach at Thurston high.

We hadn't heard from "Mac" since the close of the 1966 season. But the mere way he introduced himself at the other end of the line made us realize that something "big" had happened to him.

Perhaps McDonald had been promoted to an assistant principal or head principal . . . Or maybe he'd signed to coach in a college . . . or, perhaps, he had become the father of a new set of quadruplets.

None of these. Nor had he inherited a half million dollars.

Nonetheless, McDonald couldn't have been happier. Five of his boys had received scholarships to attend college.

There were familiar names like Dan Harris, Barry Simescu, Paul Santangello, Reggie Barringer, and then there was Johnny Mutch.

McDonald was excited for all of "his" boys, most of whom had starred in other sports and under coaches at Thurston, as well as on McDonald's grid forces.

But the name of Mutch . . . that meant something special to McDonald.

"Mutch has been accepted at Ohio University on a full-ride deal," McDonald declared. "You remember about Mutch, don't you?"

We certainly did. Mutch was the kid who showed up for football as a sophomore in 1965. He was a lanky boy and McDonald and his staff immediately tabbed Johnny as a standout for the future.

Before Mutch could play one game for Thurston he hurt his knee. He missed the entire 1965 season.

There were operations . . . there were grueling exercises . . . there was a lot of sweating by Johnny..

Mutch had set himself on playing football for Thurston in 1966. The fortunes, however, weren't kind to him.

Mutch again hurt his knee. Not only didn't he play as a junior, but the doctors told him that his football career was through.

There was more surgery . . . more painful exercises to redevelop the knee . . . more sweating it out.

In August of '67, Coach McDonald, Mutch, the boys' parents, the doctors all huddled. What about the knee?

Specialists entered the scene and made every test passible. Their decision: "The knee is as good as new."

Johnny Mutch could report for fall drills.

And when on that hot day in August, McDonald assembled his forces, the happiest of the lot was Mutch. He pranced around and danced, like never before, even when his favorite girl was close by.

The pain intensified. So a doctor was called.

"In a matter of moments, Johnny went to the hospital again . . . this time for an emergency appendectomy."

Johnny was sick at heart. So was his coach . . . and many others.

But within a couple of weeks, Mutch was back on the football field. First he took it easy. Then, after the doctor said "okay," Mutch began full-scale workouts.

Halfway through the season, Johnny played his first football game for Thurston. It had taken 2½ years for him to enjoy the thrill that comes with making your debut for your school.

Johnny finished out the season with Dame Fortune smiling over him. He got in four games.

While he played, motion pictures were being taken of Thurston games. The films came in handy.

McDonald used them to correct mistakes. He also has used them to send around to college coaches who study the actions of thousands of preps and

Falcons Shatter Track Record

Give trackmen a hot day and they'll really go to town.

This was the story in the annual Oakland County championships in which Pontiac Central took top honors while Farmington tied for ninth place with 15 points and North Farmington picked up five points.

While their efforts were restricted, the delegations from Farmington and North Farmington distinguished themselves.

The Farmington contingent cracked three school records and equalled another.

Two of the Farmington marks were set in the relays as the 880-yard unit clicked off a 1:31.0 clocking, the fastest turned in by an Observer area team this season.

Nonetheless, the Falcons had to settle for third place as Tom Atwell, Chris Brown,

Greatest Track Season Ends at Clarenceville

The greatest season in the history of track has ended at Clarenceville high school.

Another unbeaten campaign in dual and triangular meets, a strong finish in the state Class B meet, second in the Wayne-Oakland League championships, ten new school records . . . all were part of the campaign which ended Saturday when the Trojans placed fourth in the Dundee relays.

"There's no question this was our best season of all," said coach Ralph Temby.

"It was remarkable that we, a Class B school, could outshine Bloomfield Hills in dual and triangular meets and then stay so close to them — always a Class A power—in our league finals. They just had a little too much depth for us.'

In the Dundee meet won by state champion Ecorse, Clarenceville scored 22½ points to finish behind runnerup Howell and Erie-Mason high.

Bryant Kent turned in another great half-mile effort for the Trojans in finishing second. It was Ron Ray third and Jim Amick fourth in the pole vault.

Amick took a fourth in the high jump, Chuck Adams ran an excellent two-mile to place second and the 880-yard relay combination of Jim Stears, Tom Harbourne, Mike Nye and Ray came in fifth.

In the school record-breaking department, Ray and Harbourne shared honors.

Each figured in three new standards.

Ray unloaded a mark of 50 feet, 8¾ inches in the shot put and clicked off a bristling 10.2 seconds in the 100-yard dash.

Harbourne set marks of 14.9 and 20.0 seconds, respectively, in the 120-yard high and 180-yard low hurdles, respectively.

In addition Ray and Harbourne teamed with Stearns and Nye to set a school record of 1:31.5 in the 880-yard relay.

Kent, one of the state's premier half milers, turned in an excellent time of 1:58.5 to lower the school standard. Adams accounted for records in both the mile and two-mile with respective times of 4:33 and 10:02.2.

Amick with a leap of 12 feet, 4 inches erased the school record in the pole vault while in the mile relay, Larry Martin, Dave Wilson, Ray Wehner and Kent combined for a new mark of 3:32.6.

Graduation will cut heavily into Clarenceville track ranks before another season. Amick, Ray, Harbourne, Nye and Stearns will be among the missing in 1968.

then pick those to whom they want to award scholarships.

"The fellows at Ohio U liked what they saw of Johnny," McDonald says. "So the kid now is set on his future in college. And I couldn't be happier, even if he were my own son."

McDonald told how he has been "sold" on football films.

"They are expensive to take, and sometimes we feel that maybe we are spending too much money.

"But if the films can just get one boy a scholarship to college, they have to be worth their weight in gold and then some."

The story of Johnny Mutch at Thurston High helps to crush the unfair remarks directed at our teenagers these days.

Sure there are some "hippies" in the crowd, but kids like Johnny Mutch and all those fighting in Vietnam give us all reasons to smile and also say:

"Kids, we salute you."

West Netmen Soar to Flag

Garden City West high's tennis team has scored a first.

The netmen surged through the greatest season in the history of a Garden City racquets team to capture the Tri-Rivers League title.

Coach George Hanosh's charges lost only one of their 17 matches.

"It was a great team effort that gave us the title," said Hanosh, after West beat Cherry Hill, 5-2, in the final match of the campaign.

"We had no real outstanding players, just players who were dedicated to getting the job done. And they did."

Thurston Blazes to Golf Title

Form held up in the Northwest Suburban League golf championships.

Thurston, the front-runner in dual meets, topped the field in the 18-hole medal competition at Burroughs with a total of 318 strokes, two lower than Birmingham Groves.

North Farmington placed third at 333 and was followed by Franklin at 334, Oak Park 349 and John Glenn with 378.

By coincidence, the teams finished in the same order during the dual-meet action.

Roy Iceberg of Groves carried off individual honors with a 73. He was closely followed by John Jakubiak of Thurston who shot a 75 and Ron Higgins of Franklin who counted a 76.

In addition to Jakubiak, Bill Schultz with a 79, David Liblang 80 and Chet Proctor formed the winning Thurston team.

Bill Schuster came in with 87, Sam Blaney 90, Bob McClellan 98 and Dennis Bauman 103 for Glenn.

Here Are Tips On Garage Use

Some people have a parking problem right in their own garage.

One answer is to switch to taxis. Another is to convert the garage into a legitimate double-duty carport and storage room.

The trouble with most garage storage is that cartons, baby carriages, lawn chairs and kiddy cars are just set on he floor or piled in a corner, creating an obstacle course for the automobile.

Meanwhile, garage walls are bare, unattractive and wasted. The trick is to turn this wasted wall space into a working storage wall that will clear the floor, keep the garage uncluttered, and add needed storage space.

An easy and economic way to do this is by installing hardboard garage liner on the walls. These are ¼-inch thick panels of perforated hardboard that accepts hooks, brackets and heavy duty fittings to hold everything from ladders to rolled-up garden hoses to lawn mowers and wheelbarrows.

Although rugged enough for hard use, the panels are light enough to be handled by one man, and can be cut and worked with ordinary woodworking tools.

They come in 4-by-8-foot sheets and larger panels, and can be installed on studs or furring strips with nails, screws or adhesive.

In addition to ready-to-paint natural color boards, the panels are also available prefinished and in planking and wainscot styles that can greatly improve the curb-appeal of your garage.

Once the panels are up, you can organize this sizable new storage area into neat furniture, tool, paint and toy storage centers.

Set heavy duty brackets in perforations where you plan to hang heavy equipment, smaller hooks in the panels that will hold lightweight tools.

The perforations will also accept brackets for shelves that will handily store paint cans, cartons and odds and ends.

Use of such a storage wall lifts everything off the floor and out of the way, yet keeps all items conveniently visible and right at hand.

Falcons Set Records

Ron Donovan, Brown, Cornwell and Hines in the time of 3:25.7, which again was good for third place, but 2.2 seconds below the school's old record.

Fritz Simmons failed to make the first six in the shot put, but the Falcon's toss of 49 feet, 3¼ inches was a half inch longer than the old mark which he himself had set.

Donovan was clocked in a sizzling 1:57 to tie the Farmington record as he was bested by an eyelash in the individual 880-yard run.

A second also was chalked up by Ross Smith of North Farmington, the 16-year-old exchange student making his final appearance in the U.S. —at least for North Farmington.

He soared 21 feet, 6 inches to come within a half-foot of his own school record, a mark that he's leaving behind for American boys to shoot at in the years to come.

Wayne State University had 16 athletes as candidates for one or more varsity letters in the 1966-67 school year including one three-letter man.

Fast Start, Slow End For West

The week started on a happy note for Garden West, but it ended on a low tune.

After downing Crestwood, 3-2, West succumbed to Riverside, 8-4, and Shaffer, 6-2, in a trio of Tri River League encounters.

Riverside scored its first run on four walks and two more on an error, single by Chidester and a ground out.

Meantime, Jim Furay and Bob Chidester shared the pitching with both of the Crestwood runs coming in the final inning.

Riverside got to Chidester for six runs in the second inning and coasted on to victory. Bob Gamache knocked in two runs with a single and double while Furay picked up a single and a double.

Hits by Ken Pierce and Bill Harrison led to two more West runs.

Gamache went the route against Schaffer and suffered the loss although he fanned nine. Furay singled in one West run and Gary Woodside the other with a double.

Spoiler's Role Ends West Year

The 1967 high school baseball season ended with Garden City West playing the role of a spoiler.

By blitzing Southgate, 10-5, Garden City West kept the losers from an outright title in the Tri-River League. Instead, Southgate had to share the flag with Kennedy.

West jumped off to a 5-0 lead in the first inning against Southgate as hits by Chuck Evans, George Domanske, Bob Gamache and Gary Woodside led the way.

Three more runs were scored in the fourth with Larry Pierce singling and Gamache tripling along with an error and walk.

In the seventh, singles by Bob Chidester and Woodside and a walk wrapped up the West scoring.

Gamache had three hits and three RBI's in the game, while Woodside knocked in four runs with two hits as Gamache went the route on the mound and fanned seven. But he walked seven.

The victory followed on the heels of a 4-3 verdict over Cherry Hill to give West a final league standing of 5 9 and overall mark of 9-11 for the season.

Chidester went the distance to beat Cherry Hill. He gave up five hits.

Jim Furey singled over Evans, who had doubled, with West's first run. Two walks and an infield out produced the second tally.

Then in the sixth, Ron Michaud doubled, went to third on an error and scored on Bill Harrison's single. A single by Evans drove over the winning run.

Raiders Share 2nd in Tennis

North Farmington high's tennis team climaxed a fine season by:

2 — Placing second behind Oak Park in the Northwest Suburban League's annual meet.

Oak Park ran up 10 points to North Farmington's seven in the finals last Friday. John Glenn and Thurston each compiled 5½ points while Groves scored five and Franklin none.

Results from dual meets also figured into the crowning of the league champ.

All of the singles finals involved players from North Farmington and Oak Park with the latter triumphing in three of the matches. North Farmington placed two in the doubles finals and Thurston one, but neither duo from the area came out a winner.

The results in the finals:

East Trackmen Trail in Meet

Garden City East's track team lagged far behind in the annual Mid-Wayne League championships won by Robichaud with 95 points to Taylor's 73.

East garnered only nine points as Tom Berard placed fourth in the shot put. Bernie Wasilewski was fifth in the two mile, Doug Norris second in the 880 and the mile relay team gained a fourth place.

Jim Lake Sparkles In Tampa Grid Game

Lake, rated as one of the top candidates for an end position on next fall's varsity, scored one of five touchdowns. Jim recovered a fumble in the end zone as the varsity whipped the Alumni, 31-15.

Consumers Power Training Saves Lives of Eleven

Eleven Michigan residents are breathing today because of a special training program in resuscitation given regularly to Consumers Power Company employees.

This fact was highlighted by the awarding of the President's Medal of the National Safety Council to a Saginaw River Plant employee whose quick action helped save the life of a co-worker at the plant last November 7.

Most of the incidents recorded since 1960, when mouth-to-mouth resuscitation began to take the place of other methods, involved Consumers Power employees saving the lives of customers of the company.

The company has been holding a series of refresher training courses for instructors at several locations around the state during April. The instructors devote many hours teaching the methods to fellow employees and appearing before service clubs, at schools and in training boy scout and girl scout troops. In some company offices classes are offered to citizens as a public service.

The President's Medal was awarded Dammann, Jr., Zilwaukee, who successfully resuscitated Robert J. Imker when Imker was overcome by smoke and fumes during a small fire in an ash alley at the coal-burning plant last November.

The National Safety Council award is made only for the saving of a human life, and is granted only after a full investigation has indicated that the quick action of the person cited did indeed prevent a fatality.

Other recent incidents have found Consumers Power employees helping adults or children whose breathing stopped for one reason or another. In several cases employees were on the scene in the course of their normal duties. In other they have been off duty but have used their company training to save a life near their homes.

Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is usually taught in conjunction with closed chest massage but only trained people are encouraged to use the chest massage portion because of the higher degree of skill needed to administer it properly.

The Consumers Power instructors appear before groups accompanied by an inflated life-size Resusci-Anne doll which is helpful in the demonstration. The doll is equipped with an internal mechanism which shows the reaction to proper resuscitation methods. Several of the dolls have been contributed by the company to agencies teaching first aid to help them multiply the training possibilities.

In addition to regular training in their job classifications, many Consumers Power employees receive special first aid and driving training as well.

Plan Garden For Color in Late Summer

Your garden can be just as gay in late summer as it was earlier in the season. Simply plant the flowers that bloom late.

For instance, the little dahlias so easily grown from seeds started indoors, will begin to flower in August and continue until frost cuts them down.

Cosmos, especially the Sensation types, start blooming in late summer. A particularly colorful late season flower is the aster, available in luscious shades. Calendulas, too, can be depended on for late summer blossoms.

Of course there also will be continued bloom from annual flowers that started to open buds earlier.

Scholar, Athlete . . .

Honors Rollin' in for Tom Bates

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Bates may have to build a new trophy case in the family residence, 30160 Minton, if son Tom Jr. continues to accumulate medals and other honors at the rate he has been receiving them this spring.

Leading the awards was a silver medal signifying Tom's success in the 1966-67 Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition. He placed eighth among the hundreds of Michigan high school finalists.

Tom is the first Franklin High School student to become a medal winner in the annual state math competition, although dozens have qualified for the final portion of the exam in the school's five-year history.

On the same day the math medal was presented, Tom also received a third place medal for competitoin in the 100-yard breast-stroke during the State Class A Swimming finals.

Two weeks later a list of the 70 national winners of the coveted Ford Motor Company scholarships included the name of Thomas R. Bates, Jr., along with that of his Franklin classmate, Miss Judy Shirley. Judy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shirley, 31242 West Chicago.

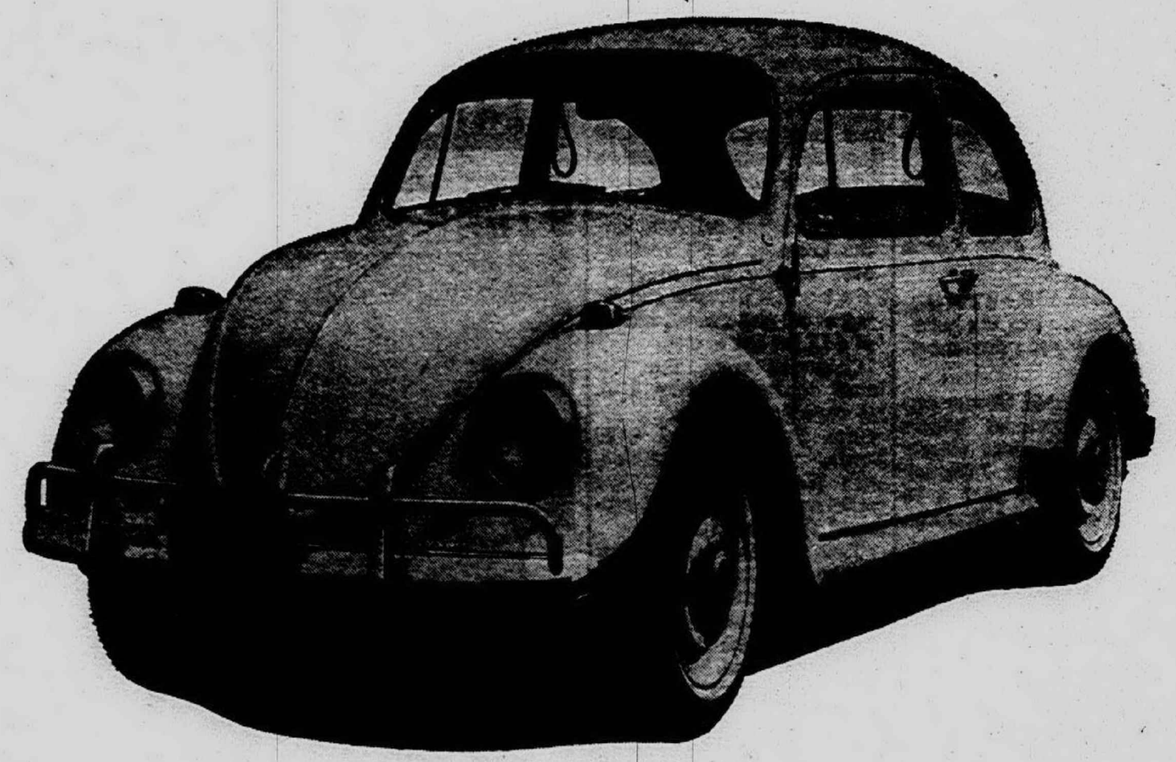

Almost simultaneously Tom received notice that he had been designated a National Merit Scholar, symbolic of highest achievement in the exam taken nationally by hundreds of thousands of high school students during the spring of thein junior year. Sharing National Merit Scholar status with him is another Franklin senior, Miss Janet K. Welch, daughter of Mrs. Robert E. Welch, 32458 Washington.

Additional recognition came from Harvard University and the Masachusetts Institute of Technology in the double form of admission acceptance and designation as a National Scholar.

An honorarium from the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority added to the growing collection.

Tom has decided to attend the University of Michigan, which has offered him a Regents' Alumni Scholarship. There he plans to divide his talents between Mechanical Engineering and Business Administration, with an ultimate master's degree in the latter field. He also plans to continue swimming, with the U-M team.

During his three years at Franklin, Tom has been a superior student in every academic discipline. He has excelled through three years of both Advanced Placement Mathematics and Accelerated and Advanced Placement English. During his Senior year he has shared an independent study project with fellow Senior Emmett Coin, 30725 Cooley. Their goal is to design and build a satellite to be put into orbit.

Some Tips For Your Barbeque

By JOYCE TOTTEN

More and more families are discovering the equipment and pleasure of cooking food outdoors. The back yard and nearby state and roadside parks have become favorite sites.

Before you plan this barbeque, make some careful plans. Don't short-change your family on health-giving proteins, vitamins and minerals by just packing a basket with hot dogs, potato chips, pop, and marshmallows. It is wise to plan only two courses. The following is a menu pattern to follow when planning your menu.

Main dish or meat (to be cooked over coals): Vegetable, Bread, Salad, Simple Dessert, Beverage (keep milk well chilled).

When you are cooking outdoors, do you ever get frustrated when you see your beautiful fire going to waste?

Do you ever feel that your fire is swiftly dying when all the black parts are gone from the charcoal? Consequently, you usually defy the rules and start cooking before all the black spots disappear - sometimes even finishing before the coals reach perfection.

When charcoal is used, about 45 minutes should be allowed for the fire to produce a good bed of coals. Charcoal should be grey with a ruddy glow before food is placed over it. Gas or electric fired briquettes should be preheated for about 10 to 15 minutes as the ceramic briquettes must be hot to supply the radiation to cook the food.

If there is charcoal left after you are through cooking, don't throw it away. This charcoal can be re-used. Charcoal that has been burned once is hard to light. When lighting it again, mix it half and half with fresh charcoal.

BOMBAY BARBECUE

2 T. minced onion
1 T. curry powder
2 T. butter or margarine
1 T. flour
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed beef broth
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed tomato soup
1 T. brown sugar
1 T. choped chutney
3 split chicken broilers (2 to 2½ lb. each)
Salad oil

In saucepan, cook onion with curry in butter until tender. Stir in flour. Add broth, soup, sugar and chutney. Simmer 5 mins., stirring now and then. Brush broilers with salad oil. Place on grill, skinside up, about 6 inches above glowing coals. Cook 15 min.; turn and cook 15 mins. longer. Brush with sauce; continue cooking 30 mins. or until chicken is done, basting with sauce and turning every 5 mins. Makes 6 servings.

ROTISSERIE PORK ROAST ORIENTAL

1 can (1 lb.) apple sauce
1 c. carbonated lemon drink
½ clove garlic, minced
¼ c. soy sauce
½ t. ginger
1 small onion, chopped
1 T. salad oil

With heavy cord, tie roast at intervals of about 2 in. Combine half of apple sauce with remaining ingredients. Marinate roast in mixture for 4 hrs. or longer, turning occasionally. Reserve marinade. Place roast on spit and cook over low coals for 3½ to 4 hrs. or until well done. (Meat thermometer should register 170°F.) Baste frequently with marinade during last half hour of cooking. For sauce to serve with the roast, combine remaining apple sauce with reserved marinade. Heat thoroughly. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

WALKING SALADS

12 apples
½ c. raisins
½ c. nuts
½ c. chopped celery
2 T. mayonnaise

Cut tops off apples and core, leaving bottom skin over hole (blossom end). Scoop out inside of apples and chop this in with raisins, nuts, and celery. Mix with mayonnaise. Stuff mixture into the apple shell and put tops back on. To be eaten with the fingers.

Experts Tell How to Buy Proper Seed for Your Lawn

The coming of spring to many folks means lawn care time.

How do you choose the proper grass seed? First, advises the U.S. Department of Agriculture, ask yourself a few questions about the kind of lawn wanted and your locale. Then — read the labels.

One of the first questions to consider is, what will the lawn be used for. It takes a different type of grass to make a carpet-like lawn than to cover an area where children frequently play.

Climate plays an important role in selecting lawn seed, too. Some grasses do better in northern states, while others are more suitable for warm regions.

How much shade or sunlight that falls on the area is important to remember, too.

Armed with this information, you are ready to look over the assortment of seed offered in your area . . . and to begin reading for the facts you want.

The label on a box or bag of grass seed will tell:

- What kinds of fine and coarse grasses are included in the blend and the percentage, by weight, of each.
- Percentage of weed seeds and inert matters — such as dirt, chaff and stones.
- Percentage of seeds of each variety likely to germinate.
- Date on which seeds were tested for germination. (Germination is considered reliable up to six months after testing.)

Such information is required under many states' laws and by the Federal Seed Act, a truth-in-labeling law, administered by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. The federal law applies to seed sold in interstate commerce.

Returning now, to the question of what kind of lawn is wanted. A back lot which children use as a multi-purpose playground is probably best seeded with a fast-growing coarse grass. This seed usually is cheaper per pound than fine grass seed.

Fine grasses are slow to grow, and more costly per pound, but they are the key to carpet-like lawns.

In northern states, Kentucky bluegrass, rough bluegrass (often called Poa trivialis), red fescue and bentgrass are suitable for lawns. These all are fine-textured grasses with narrow, soft leaves.

Grasses that tolerate shady areas include red feseue and rough bluegrass. Bentgrasses and Kentucky bluegrass require more sun.

Red and chewings fescue and rough bluegrass (not really rough, but similar to Kentucky bluegrass) often are mixed with Kentucky bluegrass for shady areas of a lawn.

Most seeds used for lawns are perennial, surviving from year to year. A major exception is annual ryegrass which dies out after one season.

A blend of coarse and fine grasses is often recommended for a new lawn. The coarse grass, growing faster, will thus provide cover until the finer grass matures. Stick to the preferred type once your lawn is established, but in need of thickening.

Experts frequently recommend a blend of various suitable grasses to guard against some disease attacking a lone variety and ruining a lawn.

Because the proper blend of grasses varies according to an area, and even according to soil within an area, it is best to consult your county agricultural extension agent or advisor. They will know about town and suburban areas as well as farmland.

FIRST BANK of the Commonwealth customer after the ribbon cutting ceremony at the new Plymouth Township branch was Mrs. Josephine Balbi of Plymouth. Mrs. Balbi and her daughter, Jo-Ann, are pictured opening a new account with the assistance of Teller Sheron Witherspoon. The bank office is located at Ann Arbor Rd. and Haggerty.

Brighten Your Garden With Bushels of Blooms

"Multiflora" means "many flowers," and it is the masses of blooms continuously produced during summer that are the distinguishing characteristic of Multiflora petunias. Three new hybirds in this class will be ready for you to plant in your 1967 garden: Sugar Blues, Purple Plum and Rose Star are their names.

Sugar Blues and Purple Plum are both new colors in the same petunia group to which the wellknown varitey, Sugar Plum belongs. If you've ever grown Sugar Plum, you know how well compact is its form, how weatherproof its blooms, and how wonderfully it succeeds any where, anytime. Sugar Plum possesses the same important features.

Sugar Blues is a lavender-blue version of Sugar Plum. Bloom centers are deep lavender-blue, and the coloring becomes lighter as it reaches the edges of the petals. Deep blue-violet, pencil-fine veining lends a two-tone effect and great distinction to this petunia.

Plants grow 12 to 15 inches high, and therefore, for best display, should be spaced 15 to 18 inches apart.

Purple Plum, again a new color in multiflora petunias, is a rich, warm, reddish-plum shade which would be perfect in an arrangement for a Victorian living room. It reminds one of the plush upholstery of that day, so soft and deep is its hue.

Combined with the excellent characteristics of the group to which it belongs, this unusual coloring makes Purple Plum a must for planting in 1967. Grow it in full sun and space the 12 to 15 inch high plants 15 to 18 inches apart.

Rose Star is a dark, rose-red and white bicolor of the multiflora type. Clean cut, sharply defined alternating zones of the two colors make this an outstanding petunia. It is particularly recommended for mass display, both in public places and private gardens.

It flowers profusely on plants that are sturdy and vigorous. The same height, 12 to 15 inches, and the same spacing, 15 to 18 inches, as given for the other Multifloras described above, apply to Rose Star.

Sweet Rocket Thrives On Neglect

Is there a wild corner in your garden where you'd like to plant an easily-cared-for perennial? If so, scatter the seeds of sweet rocket, also called dame's violet, where you want the plants to grow.

No need to prepare the soil or even to cover the seeds.

The result of this casual seed sowing will be 3-foot-high stems bearing clusters of deliciously scented violet or white, phlox-like flowers in June.

Spacing is an important factor in growing sturdy, floriferous annual flowers, says the National Garden Bureau.

Sufficient room should be allowed when seedlings are thinned so each plant can spread its widest. Directions for spacing are on the seed packet.

Begonias Are Easy to Grow

Begonias are rated among the best of house plants because they are easy to grow.

They do not like soil that is constantly moist. Let the topsoil become almost dry, then water the pot thoroughly.

Plan Now For Dried Bouquets

Dried bouquets are grown in summer in the garden by planting seeds of annual flowers, which are as pretty when dried as they are while fresh.

Strawflowers are the kind most commonly grown. They bloom in bright colors: yellow, orange and red.

To contrast with them, why not grow bells of Ireland? This plant produces long spikes with green bracts around tiny yellow flowers. Or baby's breath with its delicate, small white blossoms?

Or, try another color scheme and plant seeds of annual statice that have pastel flowers: pale yellow, pink or lavender. Stems of the blue salvias, named Blue Bedder or Patens, blending beautifully with all the flowers in the garden.

They also may be dried to blend with paler or brighter blooms in winter bouquets.

An oddity is Honesty (also called money plant, Pope's Penny or silver leaf), grown for its flat, disk-like, silvery membranes. This too, is effective with either pastel or brightly colored dried flowers.

New Type of Potatoes Will Resist Disease

Potato growers will have available next year a new disease-resistant potato seed developed at the Cornell-Uihlein Foundation farm high in New York's Adirondack Mountains.

The spud, named Peconic, reportedly is highly resistant to the destructive golden nematode.

The farm produces disease-free seed and distributes it to seed growers who provide seed for commercial growers.

Twenty years of research have gone into Peconic.

Farmington Firm Shows Big Growth

Owned by Bop Chapa, the company continues to operate with the same motto: Founded on Friendship, Maintained on Quality and Service.

Now in newly doubled quarters, business of the concern has gone up 33 per cent in the first quarter of 1967. This can be attributed to the huge inventory the shop carries and the services Chapa is able to render. Every major new business in the area does business with the firm.

The shop has ample free parking at the rear. Housed in its 5,000 square feet is a complete line of office furniture, business equipment and office supplies.

Subsidiary firms of the master corporation include a rubber stamp manufacturer and the Farmington Printing Co. The printing firm handles a complete line of vouchers, checks, business cards, letterheads and invoices.

Dish Gardens Gain in Popularity

Gardens are growing indoors this spring. Miniature landscapes in the form of easy-care dish garden arrangements can make your home bloom now and all the year 'round with a fresh garden look.

Dish garden designs can challenge your creative imaginations, and experts have some tips to help you make the most of your indoor spring garden.

An expert flower arranger can create a dish garden around almost any prop, a figurine, a bird's nest, sea shells, even a sewing basket, a pipe rack or humidor, functional or otherwise.

Any florist can supply the basic evergreen setting, and he'll know what ferns and greens will mix well with the various fresh flowers that will be available over the course of the year.

Your florist can also supply you with the tiny water filled tubes he uses to keep flowers fresh when they're "planted" in dish gardens.

Indoor dish gardens are easy to care for and hardy, but it is well to keep one in a light area but away from direct sunlight, heat and drafts.

Livonia Bank Pays Dividend of 25 Cents

The board of directors of Livonia National Bank declared its regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share on the 50,000 shares of common stock outstanding. This dividend payment of $12,500 is payable to stockholders of record of June 1, and payable on June 15, 1967.

Elvin D. Dougherty, president, also announced construction has started on its new office located at Plymouth and Wayne Roads.

This banking facility will provide the latest and most efficient banking office in the growing southwestern section of Livonia. The construction is scheduled to be completed by September.

Siding Likes Vary

A recent market research survey disclosed a difference in cedar siding style preferences between builders and architects. Most builders like smooth-surfaced bevel siding in a horizontal application with painted finish. Architects, on the other hand, prefere saw-textured cedar in vertical applications with a natural finish.

Boy Scouts Race Canoes On Au Sable

Boy Scouts in Troops 762 and 751 (Garden City) in 13 canoes made a 50-mile canoe trip on the Au Sable River recently.

The boys took their own food and gear. Sleeping was under the stars. The boys left from Vogel Jr. High on a Friday and returned Sunday evening.

Highlight was Saturday's evening meal when they celebrated Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Swangaren's birthday with homemade chocolate cake, camp made peach cobbler, baked chicken, green beans, milk, coffee or tea.

Both Scoutmasters, Wally Sutliff and Sherman Harrold attended. Assistant Scoutmasters Earl Dennis McCormack and Bill Swangaren also chaperoned and provided transportation.

While racing the river, one canoe containing Russell Grohan and Tommy Harrold overturned with the loss of a pair of tennis shoes and sandwiches.

Vogel Student Council Adopts Hong Kong Girl

The Vogel Junior High Student Council, in Garden City, has adopted Lam Chuen Cheung of Hong Kong. The adoption was one of the realized aims of the magazine drive held this spring by the students at Vogel.

Chuen Cheung's sponsorship was gained through the Christian Children's Fund, Inc. She is a resident at the Men Mei Primary School, Hong Kong.

Her parents are both living, but could not provide for necessities of life and education. Her father is a restaurant cook. The family consists of four children.

At the Roof Top School (Men Mei), the sponsorship of Chuen Cheung will secure needs in everyday life and an education for her.

Vogel's new friend is in the sixth grade and is 12 years old. Her favorite subject in school is mathematics. All children at the school are assigned chores and Chuen Cheung's particular job is housework. Her favorite free activity is badminton.

"The school personnel and students at Vogel feel that their magazine profits were well spent in this truly significant international venture. By their efforts, they are helping a child halfway around the world, in another school. They hope her life may be better because of their action," stressed Jamison Hawley, council advisor and assistant principal.

A new summer theatre program running from June 26 through Aug. 5 will highlight the Detroit Institute of Musical Arts' summer schedule.

The theatre program will consist of a series of acting, directing and stagecraft classes for would-be thespians from the age of four through adulthood.

'Funny Thing' at Bonstelle To Take USO Tour Soon

The musical comedy "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," which the Wayne State University Theatre will present to U.S. servicemen in the Orient this summer, will open at the Bonstelle Theatre for four performances Friday and Saturday, June 16-17 and 23-24, at 8:30 p.m.

Money raised will go into scholarship grants for the 16 student actors who will be leaving on the nine-week tour July 7.

Based on the plays of Plautus, "Forum" is a hilarious farce of frustrated romance and mistaken identity. It features music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and dialogue by Burt Shevelove and Larry Gelbarth.

The WSU production will feature actors from both the Hilberry and Bonstelle Theatres.

Directing the musical comedy and scenic design will be Russell Smith, who directed the 1962 production of "Where's Charley?" which toured Germany and Italy for the armed forces.

The 1967 touring company will visit military installations in Japan, Okinawa, South Korea, Formosa and the Philippines in addition to spending two weeks in Tokyo to study the Japanese theatre. Sponsors of the tour are the United Service Organization (USO) and the American Educational Theatre Association.

Tickets are now on sale at the Hilberry Theatre Box Office. Cass and Hancock, and at all Grinnell and J. L. Hudson stores.

'Grand Prix' Is Vivid Venture

Squeeze yourself into a Ferrarri racing car and zoom down the track at the ear-deafening speed of 180 miles per hour. Brake the car, shift it every five seconds, twist and turn the wheel.

"Grand Prix" at the Summit Theater puts you in the driver's seat all the way with a gusto, leaving you limp before intermission rolls around. You zip out into the lobby for a pit stop. Refuel with orange drink or popcorn. You're ready for two more races and some high voltage romantic by-play.

Each race in "Grand Prix" is more spectacular than the one that precedes it. The camera work is superb. Director John Frankenheimer adroitly utilizes special effects from time to time to catch every vestige of visual beauty. The cinerama screen at the Summit enhances his provocative camera work.

"Grand Prix" has its share of gory crash scenes. You'd swear the actors had been actually mangled so realistic is the make-up man's work with psuedo-blood.

James Garner, Eva Marie Saint, Yves Montand and Brian Bedford do magnificent characterizations in the scenes of emotional melodrama that intertwine the ripsnorting racing sequences. Incidentally, these race track drivers are a virile group and love their women in the same devil-may-care fashion as they court death on the track.

For a three hour breath-taking visit to the world of racing go see "Grand Prix." You'll be swept up into the action and be ready to take the trip to the Indy 500 as a real fan before you know it.

'CURTAIN GOING UP'

Wally Roberts

Northland Playhouse, after struggling valiantly for more than a decade, has finally given up the ghost. Summer theater is always a risky business. Theatrical ventures during the fall and winter months are perilous enough, but the summer season is twice as delicate. The balance between profit and loss is tissue-thin.

The Barn Theatre near Battle Creek spent its first 10 years building an audience so that it could proudly announce in its 11th season they had "broken even." Now in its 14th season, the Barn Theater is making a modest profit each year. "The Fantastics" is the opener. If you never made the trip out to Augusta, Mich., it is highly recommended.

Northland Playhouse's absence will be filled in two ways by the extension of "The Odd Couple" run at the Fisher Theater during the next six weeks . . . and the introduction of six productions at the air-conditioned Detroit Art Institute Auditorium. The six shows—mostly musicals—will begin their season on the Fourth of July.

"West Side Story" opens July 4 and will play through Sunday, July 9. Producer Bob Adams has indicated his musical comedy productions will be staffed with professionals. Adams operated the Botsford Musical Tent shows back a decade or so in the Detroit area.

Old Wally's recollection of these Botsford Inn musicals is quite favorable. Why the Detroit Area never really supported the summer musical comedy idea is a mystery. Maybe the time wasn't right and now in 1967 it is.

Season tickets for the Detroit Summer Theater at the Art Institute are on sale at Hudsons and the Institute. Call 832-2730 if you are interested in seeing any or all of the following productions: "West Side Story" (July 4-9); "Funny Girl" (July 11-16); "Mary, Mary" with Julia Meade (July 18-23); "Calamity Jane" (July 25-30); "Sweet Charity" (Aug. 1-6); and "Kiss Me Kate (Aug. 8-13).

The Detroit area summer theater picture still will be bright when we look at the total number of attractions available. Foremost among the coming attractions is the third annual Livonia Summer Musical Theater production. "My Fair Lady."

Starting in 1965 with "The Music Man," the Livonia Summer Musical Theater at the Franklin High School has proven to an ever- widening audience that musical comedy time in July is fun-time. "South Pacific," the 1966 production, played to six capacity audiences.

"My Fair Lady," the long-run (seven years on Broadway) prize-winning musical, is the 1967 selection. The opening date is July 26 in the air-conditioned Franklin High auditorium. Tickets to the general public go on sale July 5 at the Franklin High Box Office from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Directors Ernst and Hirvela have already started their precise planning and preliminary work for this annual production. It promises to be as exciting as "South Pacific" and as melodious as "The Music Man." Plan now to purchase your reserved seat tickets early and avoid disappointment.

University of Michigan Players has a full season of six plays in the air-condi-ioned Lydia Mendlessohn Theater over Ann Arbor way. Their summer will includes "Macbeth." "The Country Wife." "Little Mary Sunshine."

The Eastern Michigan Players will stage their annual outdoor production. This year's choice is "The Importance of Being Ernest." Director Jim Gousseff has proven with his past two July productions to be quite entertaining.

If you'd like to go for a little longer drive, try the Hillsdale College and their outdoor musical comedy productions. They have always been consistently excellent.

Northland Playhouse may have died an untimely death, but in the true tradition of the theater the SHOW DOES GO ON in many other areas. Try some of these this summer. You'll be pleasantly surprised.

Mrs. C. Charlesworth and Mrs. V. Shelp are in charge of costumes.

Tickets at a donation of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students may be obtained by contacting Mrs. L. Varley 425-0788, Mrs. Yuhas, GA 2-5053 or from any of the players.

Organized June 1966, the group is supervised by an adult board consisting of seven members: Mr. J. Rusis, Mrs. G. Yuhas, Mrs. P. Knowles, Mrs. C. Charlesworth, Mrs. B. Walsh, Mrs. D. McCarthy and Ray Adams.

Bond Issue, Incumbent Favored in School Poll

Wayne Community School District voters indicated in a recent public opinion poll that they will approve a $15.75 million building program and dump two of the three incumbents running for re-election to the board of education in next Monday's vote.

The poll, which reached an estimated 100 persons, was held by the Citizens Advisory Committee for Progress, composed of citizens active and interested in PTA's and schools.

According to William Necker, committee chairman, 65 per cent of those contacted favored a $12.45 million bond issue for new schools and additions to existing schools with 15 per cent opposed and 10 per cent having no opinion.

The $3.3 million proposal for five junior high school swimming pools was not as popular but it was favored by 40 per cent of those polled with 25 opposed and a large portion of 35 per cent undecided.

On the advisory question concerning a state-wide lottery for public schools, 55 per cent were in favor with 15 per cent opposed and 30 per cent undecided.

Of the five candidates seeking the two four-year terms to the school board, whose district includes most of Westland, incumbent Warren Spurlin was far ahead of the field with 38 per cent, followed by challenger Myron Becker with 22.

Next in line were Frank Caruso, 12, incumbent Robert Eisiminger, 10, and Thomas Stevens, eight per cent.

For the single one-year term, challenger Robert Utsman polled 51 per cent of those contacted with incumbent Auston Bennett getting 39 per cent of the poll. John Reddy was favored by six per cent.

On the four-year term candidates, 10 per cent of those called had no opinion with four per cent in that category for the one-year term.

Necker, an attorney with offices in Westland, has stressed the impartiality and fairness of the poll in view of his public endorsement of board candidates Spurlin and Becker.

Necker said that none of the pollers were residents of the Wayne school district and the names of those called were picked at random from the list of registered voters with calls made in each voting precinct in the district.

The CAP chairman also commented that while most of the persons called were cooperative, the committee callers found many of the citizens were uninformed on the bond issues for the building program as well as the school board candidates.

Council President Urges Citizens Unit

A Citizen Advisory Committee to draft a community improvement program to make Westland eligible for numerous federal grants was proposed this week by City Council President Virgil Gagnon.

Gagnon and other city officials returned last week-end from Washington, D.C., after a three-day municipal officials conference sponsored by Congressman William D. Ford.

A "Workable Program for Community Improvement" is required before any community can be eligible for any federal grants or loans.

Gagnon said that federal funds would be available for the following local programs:

Planning for police departments; study of the city court systems; training of probation officers; centralized jail facilities for use by several communities; and for buying of open land to be used for public recreation purposes.

Gagnon also pointed out that in the past he has always questioned the benefits gained from workshops attended by city officials and that the local representatives should report to the citizens on those advantages gained at the educational workshops.

"These workshops," Gagnon said, "are highly beneficial to those attending and I feel Westland should be able to benefit by the knowledge gained through these sessions."

Pending legislative approval on the programs listed above, the city can start now to plan ahead for municipal facilities, the council head said.

"One of the grants for suburban assistance would have the federal government supplying half or more of the cost of any new library," Gagnon continued.

Another grant, termed "Greenspan," has the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture extending benefits of conservation to non-farm employees by aiding public agencies in buying land for public recreation. The program may cover up to half or more the cost of the land acquired.

"Another grant pending congressional approval which could be of tremendous benefit to one city is encouraging each municipality to prepare a workable program showing quality planning for our police department which would enable them to be eligible for a federal grant for the purpose of research, police programming, administrative study of our court systems, training of probation officers and court reforms," Gagnon said.

"This advance information gained at these workshops gives the cities an opportunity to start planning, thus being prepared to apply for this grant as soon as approval is given to this legislative proposal."

Host Tennis Tournament

The Westland Jaycees are looking for tennis fans from Westland, Garden City and Livonia to compete in its annual tennis singles tournament, to be held this weekend at John Glenn High School's courts.

The second annual tournament will start at 9 a.m. Saturday with the finals to begin at 1 p.m. Sunday.

There will be trophies for the winner and runners-up in each of the three divisions —boys, 16 and under, boys, 17 and 18, and girls, 18 and under.

Each division winner and runner-up will also be eligible to compete in the annual Jaycees state tennis tournament, to be held June 22-24 in Plymouth.

A Westland Jaycees spokesman said that while there are no entry fees, all entries must be submitted by Friday. Entry forms may be obtained from the high school tennis coaches in the communities involved. The information may also be telephoned to Conrad Masterson, (261-2058) who will also answer any questions about the tournament.

Board to Meet

Because of the annual board of education election next Monday, the Wayne Community School District's school board will meet at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday instead of its regularly-scheduled time on Monday.

JACKSON MAYOR Mary Bennett was the guest of honor last week at the traditional Mayors Exchange Day banquet held in Garden City for the visiting official. Mrs. Bennett received numerous gifts at the event, chaired by Michigan Week Chairman James Plakas (center). With them is State Supreme Court Justice Theodore Souris, guest speaker at the banquet.

Planners To Hold Hearings

The Westland Planning Commission will hold public hearings tonight, Wednesday, on a rezoning request and site plans for three separate apartment projects.

The rezoning is sought by Killingbeck Nursing Home, 38420 Cherry Hill Rd., whose owner wants to have adjacent property changed from single family residential to commercial to allow for an addition to the nursing home.

Also on the agenda are site plans for an apartment complex on the east side of Newburgh and 330 feet north of Glenwood; on the south side of Ann Arbor Trail at Merriman Road; and on Merriman about 500 feet south of Ann Arbor Trail.

Besides the four public hearings, the commission will act on a rezoning request which would, if approved, allow apartments at 28356 Ann Arbor Trail, near Inkster, and a special approval request for Spirit Israel Church which wants to build a structure on the northwest corner of Eton and Irene.

In the Good Old Summertime... It's Back to Swimming Clubs

IT WAS A GLORIOUS WEEKEND for the opening of swim clubs all over the area, and hundreds of families made the most of it. Relaxing at the Burton Hollow Surf Club in Livonia are Steve Schram, of Grove Street, and Mary Lee Grimm and Jeanine Vella, of Alpine Avenue.

THE HIGH DIVING BOARDS were a big attraction as potential diving team members worked to get back in form. Bob Hawkins, of Orchard Street, Farmington, poised on the board at the Farmington Glen Aquatic Club before executing a back dive.

THE KIDDIE POOL at Farmington Glen attracted its usual crowd of very young swimmers and splashers and watchful parents. Sitting on the edge and dabbling feet are Mrs. William Platko, of Tall Oaks Court, and sons John and Chuck.

AT THE COLONY SWIM CLUB in Plymouth, water heating difficulties delayed the opening for a week. But Manager Derald McKinley was on the job vacuuming the pool in preparation for the big Day June 10, and several members dropped by to check activities.

Conference Studies Means to Better Day Care for Children

While their mother works, Jamie and his younger brother, Ralph, stay home alone or run around the neighborhood.

As Susie's mother goes to the factory, she leaves the little girl with a relative. But Susie isn't cared for very well. The relative, submerged in her own responsibilities and interests, keeps the girl "just 'cause I feel I've got to."

Ronnie and Pamela stay at a day care center while their mother is at the office each day. They are mostly on their own, though, for the grossly understaffed center lacks an organized educational or recreational program. The center is deplorably ill equipped. Even worse, it is in a ramshackle building that is a fire hazard.

With the urgent needs of America's millions of deprived children like these in mind — children whose mothers are part of the large and increasing group of mothers who work — representatives of nine national organizations recently met in Washington to erect some guideposts for better daytime programs for preschool children.

The programs are not intended just for these neglected children, however. They also include those boys and girls who get adequate daytime "care" but who do not reap the benefits of a program that would fill their educational, health, and welfare needs.

The guidelines are significant as the first concerted effort by several national organizations to define the common elements in a variety of good daytime programs, according to Ethel M. Thompson, consultant for elementary education, National Education Association, and spokesman for the group.

Even though they do not contain any sweeping new proposals, she added, they are an extremely important step toward a cooperative, mutually beneficial approach to solving a great modern social problem.

This blueprint, "Daytime Program for Children," was developed by representatives of the American Association of University Women, Association of Childhood Education International, National Association for the Education of Young Children, National Committee on Children and Youth, National Committee for the Day Care of Children, National Committee for Support of the Public Schools, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, NEA and the NEA's Department of Elementary - Kindergarten - Nursery Education (EKNE).

"Top-notch daytime services should be a family birthright, so that mothers who wish to or need work may do so without penalizing their youngsters," said Dr. Thompson.

Many have been unable to claim the birthright, though. A 1965 Census Bureau survey of children of working mothers disclosed that only 2 per cent of them were in group care, such as in day care centers, nursery schools, and after-school centers.

WSU Group Offers Clubs Theater Study Program

The Understudies, the womens committee for the Hilberry Classic Theater at Wayne State University, is offering three services to women's clubs in the metropolitan Detroit area during the coming year.

The color film, which runs 25 minutes, is available free of charge, together with projector, screen and projectionist and a member of the Understudies to answer questions to groups requesting it.

The group will sponsor the theater party Feb. 28, and reservations are being accepted now.

Clubs are asked to specify the approximate number that will be needed, and tickets may be purchased individually for $2.25 or in groups of 20 or more for $1.75.

The study guide is a publication that will be available free to groups wishing to study one or more of the Hilberry Classic Theater plays and attend a performance. Group rates will be available for clubs wishing to attend together the play they have studied.

Summer Courses Set For Women

Courses designed primarily for women play prominent roles in the summer offerings of the University Center for Adult Education, 60 Farnsworth, Detroit.

Leading the list is "Financial Matters of Interest to Women," a series of ten informal presentations by Lillian G. Hogue. Offered Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., starting June 21, the sessions include information on annuities, taxes, wills, trusts, gifts and guardianships and how to apply tested money-management techniques to women's needs.

In "Color as a Design Tool," Beth Pilafian, interior designer and color consultant, will provide a comprehensive survey of the interrelations and characteristics of color. Starting June 20, the course will meet Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. until noon for six weeks.

Six Thursday afternoon lectures will be devoted to the exhibit "Cezanne and the School of Paris." Lecturers will be curators of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Courses in Modern Drama, Literature, Painting and American Studies complete the list of daytime courses.

Registration by mail or in person is now going on for these and the other summer courses.

Child Care Conference

ment of better programs throughout the nation received impetus June 1 when some 150 key people met in an invitational conference on "Working Women and Day Care Needs." A panel on innovations in the field of daytime programs was one feature of the workshop conference, held in Washington's Interdepartmental Auditorium on Constitution Ave. Cosponsors are the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor and the nine organizations that developed the guidelines.

In noting other signs of progress, Dr. Thompson called attention to a revolutionary proposal of the NEA's Educational Policies Commission last year. It recommended that the starting age for school be dropped from age six to four.

"Postponement of an educational contribution by society until children reach the age of six—widely accepted as the normal age for beginning school—generally limits the flowering of their potential," said the Commission.

EPC recommended that the federal government provide general support for early schooling and urged all levels of government to cooperate in obtaining the funds to be administered as an integral part of public education. It called attention to the fact that disadvantaged children are in the greatest need of early schooling because of their deficient cultural background.

Head Start programs represent a promising development in the preschool field, Dr. Thompson continued. To date, more than 1.4 million children have been enrolled.

"States are moving forward rapidly," Dr. Thompson said, "to implement the recent emphasis on adequate day care services."

The NEA specialist pointed out that half of the states are providing financial aid for kindergarten. Citizen groups in the other states are actively promoting kindergarten education.

All states and territories except five have licensing of day care facilities. Seventeen states have plans for legislation either providing for or improving licensing procedures.

Women on the GO!

By Margaret Miller

Michigan's only woman state senator thinks her state and the whole nation is suffering from a great loss of woman power.

And Senator Lorraine Beebe feels it is an important part of her job to do something about this loss—to "motivate more women to use their talents."

The capable red-haired Republican lawmaker, whose district includes Redford Township, cites an amazing statistic that, despite the increased emphasis on education, less women are getting college degrees now than 30 years ago.

"The main aim of so many young women now seems to be early marriage, a family and a home in the suburbs," she says, a bit ruefully.

Sen. Beebe is unhappy with this state of affairs, not because she sees anything wrong with these ambitions, but because she thinks so many women have so much more to offer, either before marriage or after the early child-raising years are past.

"And when you have talent, it's a sin not to use it," she adds emphatically.

In talking to women's groups, Sen. Beebe said, she has met many women who are perfectly happy as homemakers, who feel their place is caring for home, husband and family.

"And for them," she agreed, "home is where they should be. But even to the confirmed homemakers, I urge further education so that they can keep up with their career-advancing husbands and help stimulate children growing up in a complex world."

There is no question that this energetic woman practices what she preaches.

A clinical psychologist with degrees in education and guidance and counseling, she was urged to seek the state senate seat in the 1964 election by her students at Henry Ford Junior College.

"I hadn't really decided what to do about it," she recalls, "until I received some calls suggesting it would be better if I didn't run. That's the wrong thing to tell me, so I took a month to campaign in the primary and lost by 300 votes."

Two years later she won the GOP primary, and went on to victory over Democratic incumbent Edward Robinson after what she remembers as "a wonderful campaign."

Mrs. Lorraine Beebe

"We appeared together in debates all over the district," Sen. Beebe said, "and came to respect each other greatly while disagreeing on issues. I'm sure that if I'd lost I'd have been the best-informed non-senator in Michigan."

As a senate member, doing a lion's share of important committee work, "partly because as the only woman I'm still a bit of a novelty and partly because my background and training suits me for several specific spots."

She's chairman of the standing committee on health and social welfare, vice chairman of the committee for highways, which includes traffic safety problems, and a member of the labor committee.

Sen. Beebe also has been named to special senate committees that will review the entire state mental health picture, civil service in Michigan, and birth defects information.

And recently she was picked as one of six senators to look into crime in the state — a widespread undertaking for any group, even one from the State Senate.

In between times she enjoys spare moments with son Pete, who soon will begin studies at Yale University Divinity School after graduation from the University of Michigan; daughter, Anne, who as a high school junior has already won scholarships for her debating prowess, and the family's huge St. Bernard, Becky.

"That dog had so many pictures taken when I was elected," the lady senator recalls, "that I think the kids in the neighborhood thought it was Becky who was going to Lansing."

It wasn't, and senators and contituents would agree that Becky's mistress is a great addition to Michigan's senior law-making body.

Redford Girls Are Officers

Two Redford Township residents are new officers in Kappa Beta Gamma, national social sorority, at the University of Detroit.

Joanne M. Steiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Steiner, of Hope Avenue, is junior Panhelenic Council representative. She is a member of the Women's League and a representative in the Panhellenic Council. Miss Steiner is a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences majoring in social work.

Mary J. Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Harold Wright, of Sarasota Ave., is senior representative in the Panhellenic Council. Miss Wright, a senior in the College of Commerce and Finance majoring in business education, is a member of Pi Omega Pi, national honorary fraternity in business education, and was secretary of the Panhellenic Council.

Mrs. Davies Is Installed As President

The Livonia Xi Beta Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority recently installed Mrs. Douglas Davies as president for the 1967-68 year.

Also accepting offices were: Mrs. Bernard Cybul, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Sisson, recording secretary; Mrs. Lester Beltz, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Robert Dismachek; treasurer.

Mrs. Davies accepted the trophy on behalf of the chapter. Members and their husbands worked several evenings constructing the float, designed by Doug Davies.

MRS. SHERMAN THOMPSON
(Nancy Canning)

Thompson-Canning Vows Solemnized in Plymouth

The marriage vows of Thelma Nancy Irene Canning and Sherman Lee Thompson were solemnized by the Rev. Ronald Moss in a candlelight ceremony in the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, June 3.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. H. Emerson Canning of Schoolcraft Road, Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Thompson, of East Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Mrs. John Stamper, sister of the bride, played the wedding march on the church organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk-organza A-line gown with Alencon lace bodice, skirt and detachable train. An organza rose headpiece held her cathedral-length veil, and she carried a white Bible topped with white rosebuds, lilies of the valley and an orchid.

Mary Canning was maid of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were Mrs. John Kiger and Mrs. Herbert Cocking, of Detroit; Mrs. Fred Caperton, of Plymouth; and Elaine Mahl, of Ann Arbor; and small Jean Umbricht, of Northville, and Deborah Stamper of Youngstown, O., were flower girls.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore floor-length aqua gowns and their bouquets were yellow roses and white daisies. The flower girls wore white dresses and carried baskets of roses and daisies.

Douglas Roose, of Livonia, assisted the bridegroom as best man, and ushers were Herman Thompson, of Plymouth; Herbert Cocking, of Detroit; Jerry Thompson, of Plymouth; John Stamper, of Youngstown, O.; John Kiger, of Detroit, and David Dye, of Cardington, O. Johnny Stamper was ring-bearer and Michael Umbricht carried the communion tray.

Following a reception in the church parlor, the couple left for a Florida wedding trip. They will live in Plymouth.

Both are graduates of Plymouth High School. The bride is a graduate of the Shapero School of Nursing, and the bridegroom served four years in the U.S. Navy and recently received his degree from Olivet Nazarene College.

Years Bring Big Changes To Wedding Celebrations

The modern bride sweeps down the aisle with all the self-satisfaction of a Diana returning from the hunt with a stag slung over her shoulder.

But the June ritual wasn't always that sort of celebration.

"In primitive times, the marriage relationship did not last long. Often the woman was simply a captured slave," World Book Encyclopedia says.

Many persons believe that the best man today dates back to the time when a strong-armed friend of the groom held off the woman's relatives while the groom made his escape — with his bride. The custom of carrying the bride over the threshold also probably dates back to the practice of capturing a wife.

"The honeymoon tradition may also have started in the days of marriage by capture," World Book adds. "During the honeymoon, the groom waited, hoping his wife's parents would stop being angry."

In some other primitive cultures, marriage by purchase was more common than marriage by capture. It left the bride with fewer bruises, but was harder on her pride, especially when her groom-to-be thought her value was about the same as one small ox.

MRS. BRUCE BECKWITH
(Florence Higley)

Miss Higley Wed May 26 to Mr. Beckwith

Florence Higley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Y. Higley, of Livonia, was married May 26 to Bruce R. Beckwith, of Toledo.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Michigan and employed by the neighborhood service organization in Detroit. The bridegroom was graduated from the University of Toledo and has attended Wayne State University. He is employed by the Detroit Board of Education.

The couple will live in Detroit.

Commission Spends Hours Doing Little

For more than three hours the City Commission was involved in debates over alley closings, street paving and parliamentary procedure Monday evening and at the finish these actions were written into the records:

1—The plan to pave Evergreen Avenue which was sponsored by City Manager Richard Blodgett as part of a beautification plan, was defeated when the citizens protested and the motion to override the protest was defeated. City Attorney Tom Healy had ruled that five aye votes were necessary and only four were recorded. The negative votes were cast by Commissioners Schweitzer and Vallier, with Commissioner Houk on a leave of absence.

2—The request for closing part of the alley between Starkweather and Mill Street was held over for a public hearing on July 17, along with a petition offered by William Renner, 1342 Junction Street, asking for the closing the alley between Goldsmith and Junction.

3—A request for a reconsideration of the closing of the alley between Arthur and Irwin Streets from Junction to Farmer Street, also was lost in a tie vote when Mayor James Jabara joined Commissioners Hudson and Smith in casting negative votes.

The closing of this alley several weeks ago against the wishes of the abutting property owners has been a topic of discussion ever since the action was taken. It came to a head at Monday's meeting when Mrs. Dorothy H. Rytlewski, 601 Irvin Street, presented a petition containing more than 50 signatures asking that the alley be re-opened.

City Attorney Healy ruled that inasmuch as the Commission action already had been reported to the county and state by City Clerk Eugene Slider, there could be no way of re-opening the case unless it came in as a wholly new petition to re-open the alley as a move in the best interests of the city. He ruled that the parliamentary procedure was such that the Commission's hands were tied.

Both Commissioners Vallier and Schweitzer, who had opposed the original closing of the alleys, as a means of bringing the matter to a head, moved to re-open the alley.

Much discussion followed, with Mrs. Rytlewski leading the battle for the re-opening and finally the tie vote resulted, and the plan to re-open it went the way of all flesh.

Even then, few in the gathering realized what had happened until City Attorney Healy stated, very emphatically, "The issue is dead."

Among the other things accomplished were the approving of the Goldsmith-Lena sanitary sewer when no one appeared in opposition at the public hearing; and the plan for island plantings in New England village.

The Street paving project for South Main Street received a partial setback when Commissioner Vallier voiced a dislike for the special assessment plan and action was held for a public hearing on June 25.

Minister Back from Mid-East Sees Danger in Arab Unity

The current crisis in the Middle East is more dangerous than ever before, believes a local minister who knows the area well, because for the first time, the Arab nations are presenting a united front.

"Up to now, the Arab nations have never been able to get along," said Dr. Bartlett L. Hess, minister of Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church in Livonia, who returned last week from a six-week tour of the Mid-East, his fourth since 1952.

But recent events like Nasser's closing of the gulf of Aquaba seem to have united the Arab states, he added, and the current attitude says chance to push Israel right more and more. "Now is our into the sea."

"There is a mounting move on the part of the Moslem priests." Dr. Hess said, "to preach in the mosques a 'jihud' or holy war against the Jews.

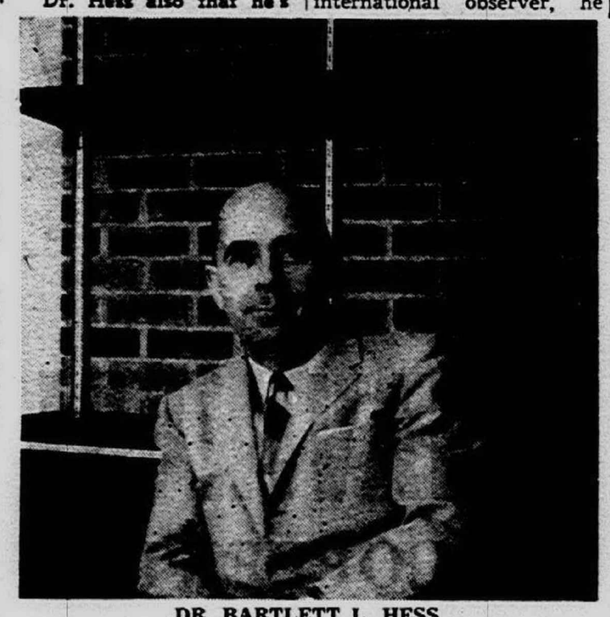

"They are telling the people that if Jesus were resurrected he would declare a holy war, and if Mohammed were on earth he would do the same.

"So the war fever is being whipped up."

Another important factor, Dr. Hess believes, is U. Thant's recent move to pull United Nations troops from the Gaza strip. This seems to have been done under pressure from Nasser, he added.

Dr. Hess also that he's sure that the United States and Great Britain are too much committed to Israel to let that nation go down.

But, as minister as well as international observer, he feels there's hope in the situation in spite of its gravity.

DR. BARTLETT L. HESS
Back from the Middle East

"Among the intellectual Arabs, especially in Lebanon and Jordan, there doesn't seem to be quite so much antagonism toward the Jews. There's a growing feeling that Israel as a nation is here to stay and to be lived with," he said.

Dr. Hess and his wife, in their most recent visit to the Mid-East, led a party of 24 on a tour titled "In the Footsteps of St. Paul."

They visited Rome, Naples, the island of Malta, where the apostle was shipwrecked, and managed a stop in Greece at the end of the tour, although the revolution kept them out earlier.

They had a bus tour through Turkey, with stops in Antioch and Tarsus, and then on to Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Israel, Cyprus, where Paul started his ministry, and Iran and Iraq.

Dr. Hess and his wife, who teaches Bible classes, find their knowledge of the Middle East invaluable in their work, and their study of the problems of that area has been of long standing.

It began, possibly, just before World War II, when they were in Germany and helped many Jews flee that land and Hitler's persecution.

"So I've had long association with the victims of Hitler," he said.

He followed with interest the establishment of Israel as a nation, and in visits to the area feels he has made many friends among both Jews and Arabs.

"There is no question in my mind," he said, "that Arabs were forced out of their homes in Palestine when the Jewish refugees came in by the thousands, and there is also no question that the Arabs have kept this dispute alive by keeping these people in compounds instead of absorbing them into the national life."

Dr. Hess also said that, while Israel has done marvelous things with its territory, it also has been guilty of bad moves.

"For example, there was a recent bombing of a town in Jordan, which has been one of the more friendly Arab states," he added.

He said, he like everyone else, can only guess at Nasser's motives — possibly getting his people's minds off their own economic misery—or his intentions.

"But I'm sure," Dr. Hess added, "that if war should come, there will be a tremendous amount of suffering.

"There is so much old hatred there—so much evidence of man's inhumanity to man."

Terrence Davis Ordained Presbyterian Minister

Terrence Harman Davis was ordained to the gospel ministry in the United Presbyterian Church, USA, on Friday, June 2, at the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington.

The Detroit Presbytery conducted the ordination. Participating were Royal E. Davis, elder and father of the ordinant, as liturgist, elders, John Hurley and L. Max Sowers, scriptural reading, and the Rev. Lloyd G. Brasure, pastor of Northville Presbyterian Church, evening prayer.

The Rev. Robert N. Sawyer, assistant pastor of Farmington church and college friend of Davis, delivered the sermon "Earthen Vessels."

The Rev. Thomas A. Bailey, vice-moderator of Presbytery of Detroit and pastor of Dearborn Woods Presbyterian Church, presented the Statement of Presbytery and asked the Constitutional questions of Ordinant Davis.

In addition to the pastors of Detroit Presbytery, those participating in the laying on of hands were the Rev. Richard A. Geiger of Grand Blanc, Mich., first pastor of the Farmington Church, the Rev. Timothy Johnson, Davis' college roommate and presently assistant pastor of Northville Presbyterian Church and the Rev. William Lankton, seminary classmate and now pastor of the Holly, Mich. Presbyterian Church.

Following the Declaration of Ordination by the Rev. Bailey, the Rev. George W. Ramsey, Pastor of the Farmington church, delivered the Charge to the Minister to Rev. Davis. The Rev. Davis was then escorted to the pulpit by his father Elder Davis and pronounced his first benediction as an ordained minister.

The Rev. Davis is the first candidate for the ministry from the Farmington church congregation of which he was a charter member. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal E. Davis, 33729 Oakland, he was born in Farmington Jan. 4, 1943, graduated from Farmington Senior High in 1960.

He received his B.A. degree summa cum laude from Alma College 1964 and on May 28 received his Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky. At the same time he was awarded the Andrew Patterson Memorial Fellowship in Biblical Theology for post-graduate study. He is married to the former Mary Beth Hanna.

During his seminary years, he served as Youth Pastor of the Zion United Church of Christ, Louisville, Ky.; as pastor of the Laconia-Rehoboth Presbyterian Church, Laconia, Indiana, and as pastor of the Hanna Memorial Church, Charlestown, Indiana.

He has accepted a call as Pastor of the Grace Hope Presbyterian Church, Louisville, Ky. where he began his ministry June 4 and will be officially installed there on July 2.

Christian Scientists Hold Annual Meeting

BOSTON—Christian Scientists gathered from around the world for the Church's Annual Meeting this week heard a call for sharply expanded outreach to the world and the community.

"Christ Jesus showed his deep involvement with the world of his day," The Christian Science Board of Directors reminded the audience.

Erwin D. Canham, editor in chief of The Christian Science Monitor and retiring president of the denomination, described a "period of unprecedented ferment in the world's religious thought." Each individual has a "mission in the marketplace of human thought and experience," he emphasized. "For Christian Scientists, need and opportunity have never met more challengingly.

MRS. BEATRICE PITTMAN

"We must not be left by the wayside, preoccupied with ourselves, cloistered behind our own church walls. Our mission is in the world." Canham said. "We must bring to hungering, yearning humanity the word and proof of spiritual food and healing. We must reach out as never before."

Mrs. Beatrice Thayer Pittman, elected president for the coming year, described Christian Scientists as "interested in good government, in righteous laws, in bettering the lot of all men. We are devoted to an adequate opportunity for everyone.

"When an opportunity comes to serve in civic, national, or international organizations and we see that we have something constructive to give, one should not hesitate to do so."

About 8,000 members, many from distant parts of the world, filled the auditorium of The Mother Church Extension and the adjoining original Church edifice. Closed-circuit television carried the meeting to an overflow audience seated in a nearby theater.

For Methodists

Reorganization Is Conference Topic

The reorganization of the structure of the Detroit Annual Conference of The Methodist Church and a vote on the merger of the Evangelical United Brethren and Methodist churches are prime topics for the conference's 126th meeting, now in session at Adrian College.

It will continue through June 10.

Bishop Dwight E. Loder, spiritual leader of Michigan Methodism, called the conference into special session for the presentation of the Leiffer Research Report Tuesday.

The report covered a range of topics: from the number of programs and the size of commissions and committees to the geographical boundaries of the seven districts and the Detroit Conference itself.

More than 1,000 delegates, an equal number of laymen and ministers, from 527 Methodist churches in the eastern part of the lower peninsula and the entire Upper Peninsula, will open the 1967 Annual Conference later Tuesday. The laymen's delegation is headed by Mr. Harold M. Karls of Saginaw, Conference Lay Leader. Co-hosts are the Rev. Dr. John H. Dawson, president of Adrian College, and the Rev. Robert P. Ward, pastor of Adrian's First Methodist Church.

Guest speakers include:

The Rev. J. Harry Haines, general secretary, Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief;

Mrs. W. Earle Price, president of Detroit Conference Woman's Society of Christian Service;

Mr. Carl Ordnung, Methodist layman from East Berlin, Germany.

During the session Bishop Loder will announce the appointment of ministers to their pastoral assignments for the 1967-68 year; the session will close with a service of ordination of new ministers at 2:30 p.m., Saturday.

Church Barbecue To Aid Retarded

Five hundred chicken halves will be cooked over a 50-foot open pit in a barbecue sponsored by the young adult class at Calvary Presbyterian Church from 5 to 8 p.m. on Saturday, June 10.

The church is located on Southfield between Fenkell and Schoolcraft in Detroit, and proceeds from the affair will go to a retarded children's class operated at the church by the Detroit Association for Retarded Children.

State Road Toll Shows Dip in May

Michigan traffic deaths in May numbered 172, which was 35 or 17 per cent below the all-time record of 207 for that month set last year, according to State Police provisional figures.

The month's deaths were 13 higher than the May average of 159 for the five years of 1962-66.

About a fourth of the May deaths resulted from accidents in the four-day Memorial holiday period when 37 were killed. This was six fewer than 43 deaths in the three-day holiday period in 1966.

The May fatalities bring the accumulated total for the first five months to 699 which was 140 or 17 per cent below 839 for the same period last year.

Delayed death reports will increase slightly the provisional May and accumulated totals.

Back at Scene, Jail Dropout

A Franklin High School dropout recently spent a day in the Livonia jail after pleading guilty to loitering and indecent language on school property.

Dennis Ryan, 17, of 9744 Farmington Road, Livonia, was seen four times on school property after quitting school May 16. A school supervisor reported that Ryan became belligerent and used profanity when asked to leave the parking lot on May 22.

An administrator reported that when he observed Ryan in the hallway May 23 and told him he should not be there, Ryan replied, "I know."

Moelke Issues Tornado Caution

Mayor Harvey W. Moelke got around this week to mentioning something that no one likes to think about, but which is necessary, each sultry season, for some one to talk about.

It was some words to his people about—tornadoes.

The mayor, speaking to Livonia's 103,000 residents, reminds that tornadoes can occur anywhere and at an time. And like everyone, he hopes that this will be a season without "nature's violence," but that if it hits, Livonia will not be in its destructive path.

Residents, the mayor said, can minimize the effects of the violent winds if they will simply follow simple rules — put out by the Environmental Science Services Administration of the Department of Commerce.

When conditions are such that tornado generation is possible, ESSA issues a "tornado watch." That's the first alert for a specified area to be on the lookout for tornadoes. When one is actually observed or indicated by radar, a "warning" is issued. This means "take emergency precautions immediately."

But ESSA says go on about your work after a "watch" but keep an eye on the weather outside, and keep an ear near radio or television set to hear further information about "warnings" — if any — for your area. With the "warning," seek shelter inside, preferably in cellar or other underground excavation, or steel-framed or concrete building. Stay away from windows.

If in an office building, stand in an interior hallway on a lower floor, or basement. Factory workers should move to a section offering greatest protection.

In homes, if there is no basement, seek shelter under heavy furniture in the center of the house. Keep some windows open. Do not stay in house trailers.

In schools, go to an interior hallway or basement shelter, avoid auditoriums, gymnasiums, and other structures with wide, free-span roofs.

There's the suggestion, too, that "If you see a tornado, and there is time, report it to the local weather bureau, or to the police."

Candidates on Ballot

Clarenceville Votes Monday

Clarenceville School District voters will ballot Monday on representatives to the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees as well as for members of their own Board of Education.

Paul Mutnick, 19822 Weyher, Livonia, is unopposed in his bid for re-election to one of the six-year terms at stake.

However, in the contest to elect a representative-at-large, there is a two-man contest between the incumbent, Leroy C. Bennett, 18809 Nola Drive, Livonia, and George E. Martin, 16563, Ronnie Lane, Livonia.

The voting area includes five separate school districts, and the candidate receiving the most votes from the total sector will be declared winner.

It is the position of The Observer Newspaper Group that the incumbent, Bennett, is best qualified and deserves re-election.

Another vacancy on the Schoolcraft Board, caused by the retirement of Dr. Gordon Forrer, also is to be filled but that selection is strictly up to City of Northville residents.

Paul Hunt, Bertram Secord and Edmund Yerkes, all of Northville, are the rivals for the vacated Forrer seat which serves exclusively as representation of the Northville community.

Organ Group Plans Meet

The Hammond Organ Society's Livonia Chapter will hold its final meeting of the spring on Thursday, June 8, at 8 p.m., in the Community Hall at Livonia Mall.

Featured performers will be the Rondell Duo, and refreshments will be served.

There will be no meetings during July, August, and September.

Duke Exam Is Delayed

Examination of a Plymouth barber on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses from a Livonia bar owner in an entertainment license deal has been delayed until July 3.

Municipal Judge James R. McCann, Livonia Dept. Sgt. James Grode, who headed the investigation, was assigned to Circuit Court.

With Grode absent when the examination was first set Monday, the case was set back at the request of the prosecutor's office and Attorney Marvin R. Stempien.

Stempien represents the barber, John D. Duke, who allegedly told Alfred L. Rogala, owner of the Shaggy Lion at 39305 Plymouth Road, he could get him an entertainment license for $1,000.

The complaint signed by Rogala stated that Duke approached him several times between April 7 and April 28 claiming he had influence with the Livonia City Council and police department.

Duke was arrested by Livonia Police after Rogala gave him an envelope containing $200 in $20 bills and 48 pieces of paper.

32,175 End School Year With Exams

There are just a few more days to go before 32,175 Livonia youngsters wind up their 1966-67 school year.

Nearly 6,000 Bentley, Franklin, and Stevenson high school students will be taking final exams next Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday mornings. There will be no school for 10th, 11th, and 12th graders on the afternoons of June 12, 13 and 14.

Some 6,967 7th, 8th, and 9th grade boys and girls will be in classes on Monday and Tuesday, June 12 and 13, but teachers without students will be available in the district's junior highs on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday next week.

Livonia's 19,589 elementary school children will attend sessions Monday through Wednesday. There will be no school and busses will not run for kindergarten through the 6th grades on Thursday, June 15.

Most elementary school students will return for their final reports between 9:15 and 9:45 a.m. on Friday, June 16. Some kindergarten sections will get their report forms by mail.

According to Dr. Paul Johnson, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, many youngsters in special education classes will be handed their reports on Wednesday, if ready. Otherwise they will be mailed.

Parents having questions about school schedules during the closing days of the year were urged by Dr. Johnson to phone the schools directly, instead of phoning the board offices. All Livonia schools are listed in the northwest suburban area telephone book.

Trio From Area In 4-H Program

Three 4-H Club members from Observer Newspaper group communities will be among the 1,000 Michigan youngsters who will participate in 4-H Week activities June 14-17 at Michigan State University.

Jerry St. Louis of Plymouth, Dave Woods of Westland and Ann Razgunas of Livonia, will attend the four-day session along with 20 other club members from Wayne County.

"Teen Citizenship" is the theme of the 1967 gathering and each day's program will give emphasis to different areas of responsibility. Parents of delegates have been invited to join the activities on June 16 and 17 in a "teen-parent search for understanding."

STRESSING A POINT for approval of the $8.5 million bond issue for the construction of a second high school is Supt. Russell Isbister at the Open House program last week in the City Commission chambers. Those answering questions on the issues included: (from left) John Hoben, new principal of the No. 2 senior high school; Asst. Supt. William Harding, Don Tripp, chairman of the Citizens Advisory committee that recommended the new building; Moderator Philip Power, publisher of the Observer Newspaper Group, Board President Gerald Fischer, Isbister and Asst. Supt. Melvin Blunk. More than 150 attended the program at which the candidates for school board explained their views on the various problems.

Raise Record $68,000 For Scholarships

The Citizens Scholarship Foundation of Livonia will distribute $6,800 in scholarship awards to students of Bentley, Franklin, Ladywood and Clarenceville High Schools.

The scholarships to be awarded to the winning students will be presented on Monday, June 12, in the Franklin High School library at 8:00 p.m.

Jane Bowser, President of the "Dollars for Scholars" drive, stated that the number of scholarships and dollar awards this year set a new record in Livonia.

She added that immediately following the presentation of the scholarships to the winners, the Franklin High Senior Ensemble will entertain the guests with selections from "My Fair Lady," and that refreshments will be served to everyone attending.

Coin Club To See Film

Want to see how coins are made in the U.S. Government's Denver mint?

The Livonia Riverside Coin Club will show a film of the various steps at its meeting Sunday, June 11, in the Livonia Police Station, 15050 Farmington road.

Because of the interest of collectors in coin making, the club president, Michael A. Killinger, has invited the publict to attend.

School Zone Driver Fined

Police reported they paced 18-year-old Stimac at 40 miles per hour in a 25-mph zone on Hubbard at 2:45 p.m. They also said he ran a stop sign at Hubbard and Lyndon, driving around a car stopped at the intersection, and then was paced at 50 mph on Lyndon, swerving back and forth.

Stimac's address was given as 12857 Patton, Detroit.

LET'S PUT
WILLIAM SAXTON
On The Plymouth Community School Board
The Board is spending millions of dollars annually, to provide adequate educational facilities for the Plymouth Community School District.
Board members represent taxpayers of the district and by law are required to fulfill certain duties, which, in turn, requires that they be competent, not just by college degree but by practical experience, common sense and the capacity to assume great responsibility and display sound judgment. Each board member should bring to board meetings some specialized knowledge, in some field, such as finance, accounting, law, business, etc. that would be helpful in resolving school system problems. Unfortunately, not enough well qualified citizens will make the sacrifice to serve, so voters have limited choice.
BILL SAXTON
has had college training and practical business experience that merits your support.
VOTE MONDAY, JUNE 12th . . .
for WILLIAM SAXTON
As Member of Plymouth Community School Board

DPW News and Notes

By Supt. Ken Vogras
Plymouth Dept. Public Works

A crew worked fulltime at Riverside Cemetery preparing for the Memorial Day activities. The department handled three funerals during the week.

Sweeping continued in the downtown business section and on major streets. The portable bandshell was moved to Kellogg Park for the Memorial Day program and then returned to the DPW yards for storage the following day.

New trees that have been planted at various places throughout the city between the curb and the sidewalks, have been fertilized and watered. The DPW hopes that homeowners will help with the watering and care of the new trees.

Two water services were repaired, one water tap installed and one stop box moved to the property line.
