

Plymouth Bids Adieu To Lord Mayor

His Worship Frank Chapman, Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, and his three official companions have returned home... the first big week of the Centennial has passed into history... and the City of Plymouth has returned to normal.

But the tribute they paid to the people of Plymouth before their departure is one that will always be remembered by those who heard their farewell on the City Hall lawn Saturday morning. After being presented with four Imperial Locust trees—one for each of the visitors—the Lord Mayor stepped to the fore and, with a broad smile left this parting verbal salute: "When I decided to make the trip over here to your Centennial," he said, "I looked on a map to see where I was going. But I couldn't find Plymouth. It was not on the map at all. Now, after spending almost a week with you, I won't need a map, this is the capital of good will and hospitality. "My companions and I have had a most enjoyable time—though our legs are almost worn to the knees—and it has been a visit we never shall forget. "You kind people have been so splendid we will remember you always and it is our hope that we, some day, can do the same for you." With that he bowed deeply, in respect, and concluded: "Thank you so very much." Prior to the farewell remarks, Mayor James Jabara presented the visitors with four trees—a gift from the City of Plymouth—they are to be planted on the City Hall lawn in Plymouth, England, and provide a shady nook for the tired and weary to enjoy a few moments surcease through the courtesy of the folks in Plymouth, Michigan.

The visitors did not take the trees with them. They will be shipped later along with several other boxes of gifts received during the week.

Following the farewell to the people on City Hall lawn, the visitors were taken upstairs where another exchange of gifts was made with city officials.

Then, in a grand farewell gesture, the Lord Mayor and his three companions—Alderman Howard Pattinson, Alderman R.G. King and Town Clerk S. Lloyd Jones were hosts to the group at a brunch at the Mayflower Hotel.

They also played host at the Penn Theater for a showing of their latest celebration back in England—the return of Sir Francis Chichester who recently sailed around world.

With that they were off, tired but happy over the events of a week that neither they, nor the people in the City of Plymouth, will forget.

All week they had expressed a desire to see a game of American baseball. Shortly after their arrival a week ago they had visited Tiger Stadium—just to see the place as the Tigers were out of town. This visit only whetted their appetites for action. So, the trip from Plymouth to Metropolitan Airport was made by the circuitous route of Tiger Stadium where they saw the Tigers blank Boston, 2 to 0 and enjoyed every minute of it.

As they stepped aboard the plane for the long home, the Lord Mayor again expressed the thanks of the group for a great week and extended an invitation to return the visit—possibly in 1970 when the 350th anniversary of the sailing of the Mayflower will be celebrated.

They are gone—but they will never be forgotten.

County Eases Requirements For Teachers

A pressing need for qualified teachers of retarded and emotionally disturbed children has led the Wayne County Training School in Plymouth to adopt a streamlined policy of recruiting such instructors.

The Training School Committee of the County Board of Supervisors met recently at the school to discuss the problem, and authorized the Civil Service division to hire teachers without going through the process of written examinations.

Such teachers will be on probationary status, according to Plymouth Township Supervisor John McEwen, a member of the committee.

When the Civil Service department receives applications from teachers of qualified background, these instructors may be hired "on the spot," said McEwen. Examination procedures will come later.

The process is one of expediency, he explained, and is designed to alleviate at least partially a severe shortage of trained teachers at the school.

Mrs. Hulsing Named President of Board

Mrs. Kenneth (Esther) Hulsing, long time secretary of the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education, became the second woman president in modern history Monday night when the trustees elevated her to the top job.

Mrs. Hulsing succeeds Gerald Fischer, who stepped down as president after serving five years.

Mrs. Hulsing thus became the second woman School Board President for as far back as anyone close to the school board activities could remember. More than that she became the second member of her family to head the Board. Her husband, Kenneth, was Board President in 1949-50.

It was back in 1946,7 that the late Mrs. Alice Strong, wife of "Mr. Plymouth," Sidney Strong, shattered a long-time tradition when elected Board president. Up to that time, no member of the distaff side had received such an honor and feminine board members were few and far between.

The mother of three daughters and proud grandmother of a bouncing grandson, Mrs. Hulsing is in her 14th year as a Board member. She has served the past six as secretary and was vice president for a spell.

She has long been considered one of the strongest Trustees and her election came as a surprise to no one. Mrs. Hulsing was re-elected to a four-year term just a year ago. There was a period prior to the election when she was considering retiring. Friends induced her to run again, pointing out that the Board faced some real challenges in the next four years.

Never one to turn down a challenge, Mrs. Hulsing entered the race and was re-elected to a four-year term.

Her first task as president will be that of guiding the Board through the tedious process of completing plans for senior High No. 2, middle school No. 3 and to see the completion of elementary school No. 9.

Carl Schultheiss, re-elected to a four-year term a month ago, was renamed vice president and Bruce Scott retained the post of treasurer.

Mrs. Ray Hulce, who was appointed to the Board four months ago to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Robert Tripp and then won election to the three-year unexpired term in June, was named secretary.

Cal Strom, a former president of the Plymouth Jaycees who waged a successful campaign for a Board position was formally sworn in along with Mrs. Hulce and Schultheiss.

The seven-man Board also includes: John Moehle and Fischer.

Plymouth Girl Makes Honor Roll

A Plymouth girl, Judith Louise Eley, of 4464 John Alden Street, was named to the spring quarter Honor Roll at Ohio Northern University for having an honor point average of higher than 3.5 out of a possible high of 4.0.

Miss Eley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eley, earned a 3.7 honor point average at the Ada, Ohio, school. She is majoring in French.

Two Broken Arms Stop Modern Tarzan

Hollywood lost a potential future "Tarzan" this week when Robert Lee, 14, of 340 Burroughs, Plymouth, tried the tree-swinging bit with a buddy and found it to be harder than it looks on the screen.

Robert and a neighbor, Steve Cooper, were swinging from one tree to another on a rope, which was fun while it lasted.

The Lee youth suffered two broken arms when he lost his grip and fell. He was treated at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, and thus ended his career in the tree-tops.

"Far Apart in Dollars" Is Negotiation Report

Salary negotiations between Plymouth teachers and the school administration to cover 1967-68 contracts still are an "astounding number of dollars apart" the Board of Education was told Monday night by Supt. James H. Rossman.

It was Rossman's first formal meeting with the Board since succeeding Russell Isbister July 1, and his report on two bargaining sessions which he has attended was a highlight of the meeting.

The Board formally authorized Rossman to serve on the administration's bargaining team which has another confab set for early next week with the team from the Plymouth Education Association.

"The teachers are bargaining in a friendly but firm manner," stated Rossman, "and they do want substantial salary increases. Our offer is very close to the maximum number of dollars we have available, but it would not be enough for a settlement today."

Rossman went on to paint a gloomy picture relative to hopes for increased funds from the State of Michigan. The state aid measure now rests in a Senate-House conference committee for six members, only one of whom is "a real friend of education," according to Rossman.

The new school superintendent, who just brought similar teacher salary negotiations to a successful close in his former Lakeview district, also disclosed that the local teachers' association has taken steps preliminary to formal state mediation.

He told the Board that the teachers have asked that a state mediator be assigned to the discussions after July 24, a necessary preliminary to a fact-finding study.

Meanwhile, however, administration and teacher representatives will try to resolve the dispute on their own to eliminate any fears as to schools opening on time in September.

EXCHANGING GIFTS are the Lord Mayor and City Commissioner James McKeon during the farewell program in the City Commission Chambers. McKeon, an executive from DSI, added some gifts from his company to those presented the visitors by the City.

Gibson Elevated To Asst. Supt.

A third assistant superintendent within the Plymouth school system was created by the Board of Education Monday night with Earl T. Gibson being appointed immediately to fill the post.

The Board acted upon the recommendation of the community's new superintendent of schools, James H. Rossman, who asked that Gibson be given the title of Assistant Superintendent for Elementary Education.

A former principal of Bird Elementary School and currently director of administrative services, Gibson is a longtime employee of the Plymouth schools.

Although the Board took no action concerning boosting Gibson's salary it indicated that such consideration will be given once the basic salary schedule of teachers is settled for 1967-68.

The two other assistant superintendents on the administrative staff are William Harding, of secondary education, and Melvin Blunk, finance.

The Board also voted to continue the contracts of all administrative personnel at present salary levels pending outcome of the teacher negotiations, then make any increases retroactive to July 1.

Other major action of the Board Monday, at the first of the five meetings it has scheduled for July, included these decisions:

In order to meet anticipated operating expenses through December—primarily the payroll—the borrowing of $1.1 million was authorized. The money will be offset by tax revenues to be received at that time, and is normal procedure at this time of year. In 1966 similar action was taken, with the amount set at $900,000.

Calvin Strom, newly-elected member of the Board, and Rossman were appointed by President Esther Hulsing to serve as official Board representatives on the Plymouth Area Planning Commission. A third delegate will be named later.

Rossman told the Board he feels the decision, made last

Plymouth BPW Lists Outing on July 17

The Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its summer outing in the residence of Nora Horn at 277 Fair Street on Monday, July 17.

The event will be planned around a pool party with dinner at 6:30 p.m. followed by a short meeting and games. Everyone is asked to bring a wrapped white elephant to assist in the party fun.

Daisy Proctor and Connie Aldrich will be attending the National Convention.

She expressed a desire to talk with the Lord Mayor who was only too glad to greet and talk with a former fellow citizen.

College Degree Pays Off at a New High

A college degree is paying off this year as never before. "This has been the most competitive college recruiting year in history," according to Donald C. Hunt, University of Detroit director of placement, one of the institutions participating in the College Placement Council's 1966-67 survey of beginning salary offers to college seniors.

The Council's final report of the season revealed total volume was up 6.2 per cent — this on top of the 33 per cent jump noted last year. Increases in beginning salaries were higher than at any time since the Council launched its salary survey in 1959-60.

Offers to non-technical, bachelor's - degree students rose 7.7 per cent to $614 a month. The average for technical students went up 7.3 per cent to $720.

The College Placement Council is the coordinating and service organization for the eight regional College Placement Associations of the United States and Canada. Data for its Salary Survey, which is limited to male students, were collected from 116 selected colleges and universities from coast to coast, covering 46,483 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral offers.

Prior to 1965-66, gains for bachelor's candidates were under 5 per cent. In the seven years since the initial Salary Survey, the non-technical average has increased $172 or 38.9 per cent. The technical average has gone up $193 or 36.6 per cent. Of this, 15.4 per cent of the non-technical total and 13.4 per cent of the technical figure occurred over the last two years.

"The aerospace, electronics, and chemical drug industry, which rely heavily on technical manpower, continued to make the most offers this year," Hunt said, "but public accounting firms registered the greatest percentage increase with 13.3 per cent. Next were the food and beverage process employers and the merchandising field, both at 9.4 per cent, and the banking - finance - insurance group at 8.7 per cent."

The electronics industry re-recorded the highest dollar average with $718, followed by aerospace at $716 and chemicals-drugs at $715. Aerospace continued to be the most active recruiter, making twice as many offers as the next employer group, electronics.

By curriculum, chemical engineers attracted the highest offers with a $733 average; electrical engineering, $728; aeronautical engineering, $724; and mechanical engineering, $720. But none of the leaders was among the first four in percentage increases. Accounting led this list with 8.9 per cent, followed by humanities and social sciences, 7.7 per cent; physics - chemistry - mathematics, 7.6 per cent; chemical and mechanical engineering, 7.5 per cent; and business, 7.4 per cent.

On the master's level, this was the year of the MBA. The Master of Business Administration's candidates experienced a 10.1 per cent gain in dollar average over last year. Those with a technical degree wound up the year with the largest dollar average among all master's candidates with $869, although electrical engineering was close behind with $868. It is believed that this is the first time an MBA average has topped the engineering master's averages.

Activity on the doctoral level was mixed. Volume was up 25 per cent, higher than on the other two levels, but more modest increases were recorded in average dollar values. The largest were for mathematicians and mechanical engineers—both 6.7 per cent. Mathematicians, who have experienced a 12.1 per cent gain in two years, ended the season at $1,220 and mechanical engineers finished at $1,212. Dollar-wise,

33 Scholarships Awarded to Area College Pupils

Awarding of scholarships to 33 students for the fall and winter semesters of the 1967-68 academic year has been announced by Schoolcraft College Dean of Students Affairs, Edward V. McNally.

Schoolcraft Gets Grant For Library

Schoolcraft College has received two grants totaling $15,929 for the acquisition of library materials under the College Library Resources Program authorized by Title II-A of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Notification of the grants was made to Dr. Eric J. Bradner, Schoolcraft president by the U.S. Office of Education. The total grant was comprised of a $5,000 basic grant which must be matched by funds already budgeted by the college, and a supplemental grant for $10,929. The supplemental grant need not be matched by college funds under the Title II-A program.

The money is to be used for the purchase of books, periodicals, documents, microfilm copies of publications and audio-visual materials.

Cities Study Own Levies...

State Tax Package Faces Legal Tests

Michigan's new $236 million tax reform package today faced further legal tests and knotty administrative problems before collection machinery starts operating Oct. 1.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley has ruled it constitutional but Senator George W. Kuhn, of Birmingham, is trying for a court test.

Elsewhere, L. Montgomery Shepard, a St. Louis businessman and Richard Durant, of Grosse Pointe, plan other legal attacks. All three are critics of Gov. Romney.

Basically, the package operates this way:

- Imposes a 2.6 per cent levy on the income of individuals, 5.6 per cent on financial institutions.

- Increases taxes paid by business by $70 million net after repealing the business activities tax, $142 million.

- Collects $220 million from individuals.

- Reimburses $38 million to local units of government for lost property taxes.

- Reduces the intangibles tax from $48 million to $38 million.

A 3-cent-a-package cigarette tax increase is being held in reserve if the net yield of the package fails to prop up state finances, dwindling sharply over the past three years to use up a surplus.

Under the plan, individual tax collections will be withheld from paychecks starting Oct. 1.

Lansing sources said the average family of four with a $4,500 income would not pay a state income tax; a family of four with a $9,000 income paying nonresident city income taxes would pay $62.60; a family of five with a $9,000 income would pay $26 if they pay a city income tax. But a family with an $18,000 annual income with two children paying also a city income tax would pay $265.

Voters will go to the polls in November, 1968, to decide on a graduated income tax proposal.

Kuhn's legal challenge is based on the theory that the new reform package has factors that already make it a graduated tax and thus in violation of the 1963 state constitution.

Cities in Observerland are already toying with local income tax proposals on the tentative promise from Lansing that up to 50 per cent of the local levy will be picked up by the state.

The state package contains a credit formula by which local income taxes can be written off in part against the state payments.

If the total city income tax payment is not over $50, the credit would be 20 per cent of the city payment, or $10;

if the local payment is between $50 and $100, the credit would be $10 plus 15 per cent of the local payment over $50.

If local payments were between $100 and $150, the state credit would be $17.50 plus 10 per cent of the total over $100; and $22.50 plus 5 per cent over $150 if the local payment is over $150 but less than $4,000.

Those paying over $4,000 in local income taxes would be credited with $265 against the state tax.

Revenue Commissioner

Clarence W. Lock faces the task of organizing his collection machinery before Oct. 1, using a $3 million appropriation to pay the extra staff needed.

The appropriation itself is a part of the legal controversy. Under the constitution, all bills are subject to referendum except appropriations bills.

Critics of the entire package contend that the legislature blocked off citizen action on a referendum by tying the $3 million appropriation to the basic tax bills.

Suburbs Computerize Fight Against Crime

Crime fighting in the suburbs has become computerized.

Michigan's computer-based Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN) electronically linking 105 departments in the state is now fully operational, Col. Frederick E. Davids, State Police director reported today.

Police agencies in this area with the new computer system are Farmington, Farmington Township, Plymouth, Livonia, Redford, Garden City and State Police along with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

"Michigan's computer center is tied into the national crime information center of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington," Davids said. "Michigan is one of 16 areas in the country linked to the FBI system, which carries information on wanted persons, stolen cars, stolen guns and certain categories of stolen property."

The central computer has information stored already on 8,000 stolen cars and over 7,000 suspended, revoked or denied driver licenses. It is prepared to handle up to 450,000 warrants on wanted persons.

Area police are enthusiastic about the computer. Each local department has a teletypewriter, which will be used to seek data needed in a crime, and to file information for the central bank of records.

"I think it's a great step forward," City of Farmington Police Chief Robert Deadman said. "In the old days we would catch a suspect, send his fingerprints to Lansing and wait three days for a reply. In the meantime he would be gone. Now we will be able to check on suspects in a matter of seconds."

Livonia's police chief James Jordan agrees.

"This system has more potential than we can imagine. It's a definite asset... it's something we've needed and wanted."

Jordan added that the program would take a lot of training an orientation. "We'll have to play it by ear for a while, but we've needed a central record keeper for years."

Plymouth's police chief Robert Corrington said it was "the biggest step made in all my years of police work."

And in Garden City, chief Robert Behrendt called it the "greatest thing to happen in years."

The system represents the application of modern technology to contemporary law enforcement problems.

Each local department will have a unit that can seek answers from a central repository in Lansing. If it is to work successfully, all departments will have to join eventually.

The ultimate goal is a nationwide computer hookup whereby a man arrested in Livonia for drunk driving can be checked all over the country. He may be wanted in California—and if he is, the computer can have the answer in minutes, or even seconds.

Data sent and received is being transmitted over Bell Telephone lines in rapid order. Thus the old teletype will become obsolete when the program is finished.

The central computer is being bought by the state; terminal and local equipment is being leased.

While still only in the experimentation stage, early results show the computer can work miracles.

The system—if used properly by each department, with records kept up to date—represents a resource to crime fighting that knows no limit.

Schoolcraft Has Record 630 in Summer Classes

Summer session enrollment at Schoolcraft College reached a record 630, as classes for the eight-week session began on Monday, July 3, according to incomplete figures released by Registrar Norman E. Dunn.

Dunn said summer session enrollment a year ago was 542. The 1967 total was swelled by approximately 100 guest students who are regularly enrolled at four-year colleges but who are taking courses for credit at Schoolcraft.

Most of the summer students are attending evening classes, figures show a breakdown of 372 evening and 258 day students. Resident students make up nearly 60 per cent of the total on a breakdown of 356 residents to 274 who live outside the college district.

Not only is total enrollment up, but the fulltime equated total is up by 75 per cent, from 100 last year to 175. The average work load is about 2.5 credit hours during the summer session.

New School Bd. Head Outlines Program

A five-point pledge was issued by the newly-elected president of the Wayne Community Board of Education at Monday's annual organizational meeting.

Warren Spurlin, top vote-getter in the June 12 school board election for a four-year term, was elected unanimously to a one-year term as president, a post he held during the 1965-66 school year.

Also elected Monday were Gerard McGrath, vice president; Philip R. Biebesheimer, secretary; and Myron Becker, elected last month to a four-year term, treasurer.

Previous officers were Robert Reichard, president; Thomas Barrett, vice president; Spurlin, secretary; and Robert Eisiminger, treasurer. Eisiminger was defeated in his re-election campaign last month.

Immediately after assuming the president's gavel, Spurlin issued a five-point pledge for the school board:

- 1—The board will work for an improved state aid program as the current proposal before the legislature is damaging and would actually be less than the previous state aid package in view of the rising operating costs of school systems.

- 2—There would be an analysis and development of the community-school program so that school buildings would be used to their maximum potential. The program will be studied by a citizens committee now under formation, with a recommendation given to the school board by the end of the year.

- 3—There will be improved communications to the public through groups and organizations with board members to be made more available to groups and individuals.

- 4—The board will negotiate employee contracts with local school staff organizations in good faith, as it has done in the past.

- 5—Although individual board members may disagree among themselves, they all agree that quality education of children is their first priority, followed by their concern for the school district's taxpayers and those of the school system's employees.

Sorna Gets Jail Term In Murder Conspiracy

Jules Sorna, 25, of 20224 Purlingbrook, Livonia, has been sentenced to a two to two and a half year term in the Jackson State Prison on a charge of attempted conspiracy to commit murder.

Sorna's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sorna of the same address, were placed on two years' probation.

Sentencing was made by Oakland Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts. The trio interrupted their trial last month on the charge of conspiracy to plead guilty to the reduced charge of attempted conspiracy.

Bert Davis, a Detroit auto worker, testified at the trial that Jules Sorna offered to hire him to murder a Farmington Township woman party store owner.

The younger Sorna had been convicted of holding up the store, Paul and Vic's Market at 28734 Grand River on Nov. 21,

Officers For Development Group Named

Industrial development leaders from Westland, Livonia, and Plymouth have been elected officers of the newly-formed Municipal Development Committee of Wayne County.

The group is under the County's Economic Development Commission, which is part of the Wayne County Road Commission.

Elected the committee's first slate of officers recently were:

Gerald T. Harris, chairman, president of the Westland Industrial and Commercial (Development) Corporation; Dan Andrews, secretary, industrial coordinator for Livonia; and Harold Fischer, treasurer, Plymouth Area Planning Director.

Other officers are Ralph Quinn, vice chairman, Detroit industrial coordinator, and Richard Warfel, executive board ex-officio member, head of the Detroit office of the Michigan Dept. of Economic Expansion.

Harris, of 33540 W. Warren, and public affairs director for the Detroit Trade Center, said that all Wayne County communities will be represented on the board of directors of the committee and "it is my hope to have all city planners as ex-officio members to formulate a plan by incorporating all of the local city plans."

Report From Washington

Rep. Esch Sees Crime Getting U.S. Attention

Crime appears to be headed for some long awaited and much needed attention in Washington. A number of recent actions have been taken and a review of the alarming increase in crime rates clearly show that these steps have come none too soon.

Since 1960, crimes against persons per rate of population have climbed 24.5 per cent in the United States, crimes against property 38.1 per cent. Rapes are up 26.1 per cent and aggravated assault is up some 29 per cent. We know that in Detroit alone, 131,777 known offenses were committed last year—40 per cent more than in 1965. Reaction to these statistics has brought about a flood of well over 400 anti-crime measures in this session of Congress.

Acting as stimuli to these bills have been the Republican Task Force on Crime and a voluminous report of a President's Commission entitled "The Challenge of Crime in a Free Society," and many other private groups and studies. The President's crime report was the basis for the Administration's anti-crime bill which has been reported out of committee in the House and which will undoubtedly receive favorable action.

While this bill is a significant first step, it falls short of the type of all-out war against crime that is necessary and the development of citizen safeguards that must accompany such an attack. Basically, the President's bill provides federal grants to state and local governments to help them wage an anti-crime battle where the responsibility actually belongs.

Unfortunately, however, the bill does little else. Congress should give its immediate attention to:

- A total reorganization of the federal government's crime fighting apparatus which is now confusingly placed in 20 agencies and the President's office.
- Establishment of a Joint Congressional Committee on Organized Crime.
- Adoption of effective anti-riot legislation with safeguards for lawful and peaceful protests.
- Formulation of rules and guidelines in the areas of interrogation and investigation which will properly protect the rights of each citizen while at the same time assist law enforcement officials.

I am giving my attention to these and other crime fighting measures and I would appreciate your comments as Congress begins to face this vital national concern.

Some of the funds will go for added equipment in existing schools if approved, while major chunks are for use at the new Elementary School No. 9 and Middle School No. 3. Industrial arts equipment costing $34,335.15 for the latter school alone is the major item in the petition.

Other categories were requesting added equipment for science, history, geography, English and reading instruction.

For Brighter Windows

Here's an eye-filling treatment for a double-hung window attractively framed with traditional beaded window casing. Have window shades made of a brightly colored, patterned fabric. Specify reverse-roll shades to fit inside the window casing. Then paint the casing, window sash and grill white, but repeat the shade's main color for the beaded section of the casing.

School Board To Meet Twice Monthly In Future

Plymouth's Board of Education, accustomed to one meeting a month in the slower paced days of the past, has voted to hold two regular meetings a month—and for July has three additional special sessions on the calendar.

Foreseeing an avalanche of details concerning new building projects which are under way, plus other pressing matters concerning financial and curriculum problems, Superintendent James H. Rossman recommended the stepped-up schedule at Monday's regular July Board meeting. It was decided to meet the second and fourth Monday every month.

That means the Board will convene again July 24, and in addition has special gatherings set for July 13, July 17 and July 31.

The July 13 meeting will be devoted to a review of the current status of all new buildings which are on the drawing board.

On July 17 the only item so far included on the agenda is the opening of bids on Middle School No. 3, while the July 31 session will be devoted to a discussion of the 1967-68 curriculum.

There are busy days ahead, and all in the line of civic duty.

Westland Man Gets Leader Dog

Westland's Elmer John Bennett, of 35720 Hazelwood Street, has a new and permanent companion in a Labrador Retriever named "Gus."

The companion and his master, who is blind, were formally welcomed Thursday morning at the Westland City Hall by the Westland Lions Club which sponsored Bennett during a four-week training program at the Leader Dog for the Blind School in Rochester.

Club President Samuel Smith pointed out that Gus is the first graduate Leader Dog sponsored by the club which will mark its first anniversary in September. Also on hand for the occasion were other Lions members, including Mayor Thomas H. Brown, Jack Courtney, Dallas Dagenais, Donald Hooper, Francis Rogers, and Thomas Fitchett.

Bennett never got lost and he enjoyed the trips through various department stores.

Gus was donated to the school by a friend of the Lions and spent 10 days in quarantine before entering the actual training program.

After six weeks of obedience and basic training, Gus spent another six weeks training to recognize such hazardous conditions as moving traffic, pedestrians, curbs, low hanging branches, awnings, puddles, and anything that might be dangerous to his master.

Bennett discovered that using a Leader Dog requires only the ordinary application of common sense and that since he knows where he is going, he only has to direct Gus to the destination with commands as forward, right, and left. It is then Gus's job to guide his master safely to that destination.

A spokesman for the Leader Dog school in Oakland County pointed out that it will take four to five months of "seasoning" before Bennett can entirely eliminate minor problems and distractions that might occur in these new circumstances.

"This is a 'team' requiring complete cooperation," the school spokesman said. "The team will use the same safety precautions used by normal people. They will cross cautiously. A dog does not read traffic lights but crosses the street upon command from his master who has studied the pattern of traffic. Following this command the dog will proceed when safe."

There is no charge for Leader Dog training though the unit cost is about $2,500. It is possible to provide this service because of the efforts of the Lions Clubs, Michigan United Fund and other charitable groups and contributions.

Cleanest City Contest? Who Cares

"I am disappointed, I will admit."

This was the comment of Mrs. Sofia B. Anderson, chairman of the Mayor's Committee, Keep Livonia Beautiful, about the results of the spring beautification campaign.

The committee had sent letters to about 800 organizations, churches, and service stations with suggestions for beautification projects and information about submitting photos and reports to Mrs. Anderson for entry in the National Cleanest Town Contest.

From the 800 sources contacted, she received two responses.

Mrs. Anderson had contacted the leaders of all youth groups in Livonia, such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls. About 400 groups received suggestions for clean-up, paint-up, fix-up, and landscaping activities.

"Would you believe I received only one letter?" It was about a few Girl Scout troops which had planted a tree and painted some school-ground equipment.

The other response grew out of a suggestion to organizations which use school facilities to donate to the school flags of flowers which the children could plant during Michigan Week. The only such project she heard about was beautification of the courtyard of Roosevelt School.

The committee sent letters to every clergyman in Livonia and received not one response from a church.

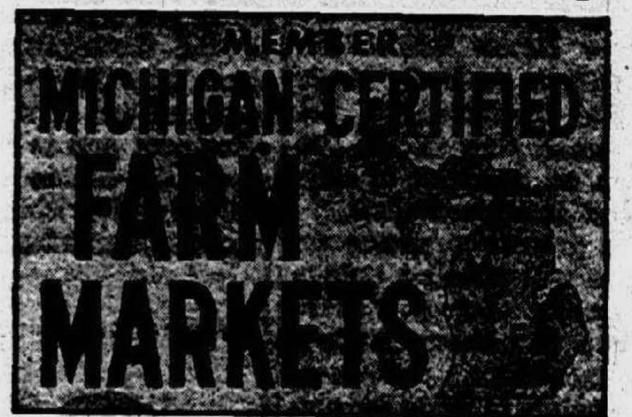

Mrs. Anderson said the committee had planned to publish a Youth Beautification Scroll in the Observer Newspapers, but they couldn't very well publish such a list when they received only one response from a youth group.

A scrapbook will be sent to Washington, D.C., in the fall for entry in the national contest. Mrs. Anderson said the scrapbook is rated 30% on publicity, "but you can't publicize projects you haven't heard about."

Mrs. Anderson deplored the apparent disinterest in beautification: "Maybe a few people could wake up to the fact that the responsibility is theirs," she said. "It would be a shame to get directions from the state on beautification matters that should be the city's responsibility."

Oh, those summer woes, when there just absolutely isn't one good TV program. Bad enough, yes, but worse is when both TV sets are on the blink. Even with bad programs, it gives the kids the little rest they need in the afternoon so they can bug their parents and keep things moving nodmally in a summertime household.

So the problem comes up on how to put off buying that color TV that you've been confronted with all winter. This is even before they find out that the poor old ailing TV has a yoke affliction, which isn't deadly but costly.

BOB O'CONNOR and sister Cathy flew in from San Diego to visit with their aunt and uncle Jack and Gladys Helwig of Greenwillow. They will also be visiting grandparents in Buffalo before returning home.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee McCallum, Peppermill Dr., there were house-guests and there were day guests and Fourth of July guests. Aunt and Uncle Mr. and Mrs. Steve Szemetko arrived from Shelton, Conn., and spent the week with the McCallums. Mr. and Mrs. John Megyesi of Lincoln Park, parents of Joanne McCallum, came to celebrate their 38th wedding anniversary with friends and family.

Mrs. David Megyesi was there too. David is Joanne's brother and at present he is in Vietnam. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Calvrid and children Tom and Kathy were there.

Also on the scene were Mr. and Mrs. S. E. McCallum of Lincoln Park; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCallum and sons, Michael and David of Romulus. And if this wasn't enough company around the Fourth, Laura, daughter of the McCallums, had overnight guests that spent the night in the McCallum trailer house.

A busy spot, it was the only night it wasn't booked by the McCallum's youngsters for overnight company.

Ann Blasuta of Brandywine spotted Jo and Chuck Hogan, shopping. Jo and Chuck are former Farmington residents, at one time residing on Red Clover. They are now residents of Park Ridge, Ill., and are house guests of Bud and Mary Ann Gasser of Valleyview Dr.

Mark Stevens, eldest son of Marvin and Barbara Stevens of Hawberry Rd. is stationed at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas where he is taking his basic training. After Lackland, he will go to Keesler Field, Miss. for 13 weeks. Mark is a 1966 graduate of North Farmington High School and was attending Oakland Community College before his enlistment.

Katy McQuade gave a bridal shower June 21 for Denise Schulte who will marry David Stegbauer in September. The shower was at the home of David's grandmother, Mrs. David Ellis, 23850 Gill Rd. Denise is the granddaughter of the late Judge Schulte of Farmington.

Mrs. Ellis is leaving July 23 for Ireland and France. She will be accompanied by her grandchildren, Sheila and Richard Stegbauer, of Farmington. The three will be back in time for the wedding.

GM Promotes David Martin

David E. Martin, 28270 Wellington, of Farmington Township, has been named assistant head of the Electro-Mechanics Department, General Motors Research Laboratories. The announcement was made by GM vice president Dr. L. R. Hafstad.

In his new position, Martin will be responsible for directing the Laboratories' automotive safety program, which includes studies on injury threshold levels of the human body, occupant dynamics, effect of vehicular crush characteristics and safety devices and systems.

Martin was graduated from the University of Illinois with a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering in 1953 and an M.S. degree in theoretical and applied mechanics in 1956. He has been with the Research Laboratories since that time, making many contributions and authoring several papers in the fields of stress analysis, the mechanical behavior of materials, dynamics and automotive safety.

Martin has a wife, Marjorie, and two children. He is a member of the Wood Creek Farms Village Council.

F'mington Frosh Take Orientation

Four Farmington students recently spent three days on the Western Michigan University campus taking part in the summer program to orient freshmen.

The four are Bruce M. Berner, general curriculum; Robert Gabel, business administration; Roberta Lindbert, elementary education; and Edward Rice, business administration.

Top Musicians Set For Meadow Brook

Six weeks of intensive study under some of the music world's top performers has begun at the Meadow Brook School of Music for nearly 500 young singers and instrumentalists.

The promising musicians, who won the right to attend the school in competitive auditions, have arrived on the Oakland University campus today from 35 states, Canada, Mexico and South America.

Starting its third summer session, the school offers students the rare opportunity to work with distinguished professionals in the atmosphere of the famed Meadow Brook Festival.

While developing their own competence in daily classes, private lessons and practice periods, the students also will attend the Festival concerts and rehearsals of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and outstanding soloists.

With first-chair members of the Detroit Symphony and other top-rank musicians as their teachers, the students earn full college credits for their work on Oakland University campus, 25 miles north of Detroit.

Robert Shaw, who directed choral activities for the first two years of the school, this year assumes a dual role as director of both the Choral and the Orchestral Institutes.

Besides being director of the famed Robert Shaw Choral, he is associate director of the Cleveland Orchestra and Chorus and conductor of the Atlanta (Ga.) Symphony Orchestra.

A special feature during the first two weeks of the Meadow Brook School session will be an Early Music Institute conducted by the 11-member New York Pro Musica, an ensemble of singers and instrumentalists.

The group's presence on campus will afford a unique opportunity for a limited number of serious singers, instrumentalists, conductors and scholars to study the performance practices and repertoire of the French Medieval, Flemish and Early Tudor periods.

New at the Meadow Brook School of Music this year will be a Vocal Institute designed for solo singers, headed by William Vennard, and a Chamber Music Institute, directed by Albert Tipton.

Vennard, an opera and concert singer, is chairman of the voice department at the University of Southern California.

Tipton is principal flutist for the Detroit Symphony. His staff of chamber music coaches will include colleagues from the Detroit Orchestra as well as three members of the Cleveland Orchestra who will perform as a piano trio in addition to their duties with the Meadow Brook Orchestra.

The school's now-famous orchestra, which matches in size the Detroit Symphony, this year is coming into its own as a performing unit.

"The Meadow Brook Orchestra has been so stunning for the last two years it now is becoming an adjunct of the Detroit Symphony for full evening concerts," said Dr. Walter S. Collins, founder and dean of the Meadow Brook School.

Concerts by the Meadow Brook Orchestra are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in the Baldwin Pavilion on five successive Wednesdays, beginning July 5. Festival series ticket holders can attend the concerts free, while tickets for others will be $1.

In addition to his work with the orchestra, Shaw will organize two choral groups, the Youth Chorus for pre-college singers and the Meadow Brook Chorus for college students and adults. Both will perform for the public, with the adult group scheduled to appear in Meadow Brook Festival concerts August 3 and 4.

Soloists for the July 12 concert with the orchestra and choruses will be chosen by Shaw in competitive auditions.

Student vocal and instrumental recitals also will be held throughout the summer. Designed especially for choral conductors attending the session is a new workshop which will bring six of the nation's outstanding vocal and choral authorities to the campus. Each will present one week of lecture-demonstrations on the subjects pertinent to sound choral musicianship.

Founded in 1965, the second year of the Meadow Brook Music Festival, the school has a promise to keep to the distinguished musicians who have lent their influence and time to its development and to the critics across the nation who have hailed its flourishing start.

State Fair Will Offer 15 Free Horse Shows

Quick now, how many performance classes are there at a first-rank horse show? At the Michigan State Fair this year there will be 189 different performance classes.

The horse show premium list is now in the mail to former exhibitors. If you have not been an exhibitor, you may obtain a list free of charge by writing to Robert McLachlan, agriculture exhibits director, Michigan State Fair, Detroit, 48203.

Entries close Aug. 4. The horse shows in the Coliseum — free to State Fair visitors — always draw big crowds. There will be 15 this year — 10 evening performances and five matinees.

Special features at each performance will include the Detroit Mounted Police drill team and a demonstration by one of the country's best-trained horses — Shining Gold, a 19-year-old palomino mare ridden and trained by Chuck Grant.

Early in the fair, there will be quarter horses, cutting contests, palominos, parade horses, barrel racing and pole bending contests.

Then the Appaloosas, Arabians, and Morgans come in, followed by the heavy draft horses — giant Percherons, Clydesdales, and Belgians.

The windup performances will include ponies, Tennessee walkers, and saddlebreds. The State Fair opens on Friday, Aug. 25, and runs through Labor Day, Sept. 4.

17 Sears Employees Win Prizes

Sales Superintendents Curt Snider and Robert Friess donned paymaster togs and handed out cash and checks to 17 winners.

Two, Cliff Gates and Joe Logan, received double awards for outstanding performances during the campaign. Each more than doubled the efforts of the other winners.

Each winner, with the exception of Gates and Logan, received $25.

The complete list of winners: Al Eliel, Cliff Gates, Dan Marquis, Joe Logan, Harold Morris, Ron Salvatore, Len Dueball, Jerry Salisian, Art Goldfarb, Ken Asselin, Howard Lindquist, Lou Meek, Ron Grayson, Sid Milgrim, Ron Hames, Bill Bowman and Henry Talaske.

Sales of maintenance agreements during a month long drive brought cash rewards for employees in the television, laundry, refrigeration, heating and cooling, and lawn and garden equipment departments at Sears Livonia Mall.

Takes Guerrilla Training

Private John E. Sliman, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike T. Sliman, 32651 Cloverdale, Farmington, completed nine weeks of advanced infantry training June 14 at Ft. Polk, La. His last week of training was spent in guerrilla warfare exercises.

Team Adds To Winnings

Champs last year in both its division and overall play in the Michigan Public Golf Association, the Braeburn Golf Club team is off and running again in high gear.

By beating Lilac's 13-9, last Sunday, Braeburn ran its string of wins to three in a row without a loss this season.

Pat Coyne shot a 74 to pace the winners. Joe Briegel and Murray Brooks each had 77 and Harry Bowers an 81.

Musicians To Conduct Orchestra Workshop

Community orchestras of all types will have a rare opportunity to work with Detroit Symphony stars, under the direction of the conductor of the Wichita Symphony Orchestra at an Oakland University workshop in August.

Nathan Gordon, Mischa Mischakoff and Arthur D. Krehbiel are just three of the distinguished Detroit Symphony members who will work with community orchestra members of all levels of competence at the August 11-13 workshop.

Co-sponsored by the Michigan Orchestra Association, the Meadow Brook School of Music and the University's Division of Continuing Education, the three-day session is made possible by the Michigan State Council for the Arts. The council, recommended by Governor George Romney and created by the 1966 Michigan legislature, provides programs and services in the performing and visual arts throughout the state.

In addition to the orchestral rehearsals, under the direction of James P. Robertson, musical director and conductor of the Wichita Symphony Orchestra, and sectional workshops under the skilled direction of first-chair players of the Detroit Symphony who are members of the Meadow Brook School of Music faculty, participants will attend two performances of the Meadow Brook Music Festival and an afternoon rehearsal in the Baldwin Pavilion.

Reservations should be made by July 28 through the Conference Department, Oakland University, Rochester, Michigan 48063.

For a registration form or further information, please contact the Conference Department at 338-7211, Ext. 2176.

This Is the Week That...

By DON HOENSHELL

Suburbia is the guy who was mugged by a couple of loving gents who grabbed each leg and started pulling in opposite directions.

Make a wish.

The economy of the suburbs flows toward Detroit and to a lesser extent toward Ann Arbor. The business mind still clings to that route and the heart belongs to the backyard swimming pool. All this ambivalence makes the suburban dweller a fascinating study in politics.

He's the strongest element in the state and doesn't know it. He's got the votes. Politicians know this but they won't deal suburbia into the pot of tax money until suburbia finds it out.

Go back to 1962 and ask Gov.

Romney where the votes came from to make him the first Republican governor in 14 years and the longest now in office in history.

Then ask former Gov. Swainson about 1962. The whole thing was decided in the suburbs, where the people are.

This is the sort of thing that happens with every major shift in population and the economy. There is a Political Gap, a time when the poor get richer and Robin Hood steals and keeps it all.

Detroit has a lobbyist in Lansing and needs one.

The suburbs don't have and do. Politicians understand power but you have to get their attention first.

Wayne County outside Detroit now has almost as many people as that teeming concrete gulch where deterioration has become a way of municipal death. Read the Detroit papers sometime and you'll know.

At the moment, the suburbs are more concerned with their comfort and with the political crisis of zoning. Public officials zero-in more on their own image than serving the people.

Civic groups want identity and acclaim more than they cherish the silent smile of the people they help. They deserve both in most cases and get it, but the issue is a matter of priority.

Suburbanites came here because they didn't like where they were. They came because they wanted out of the Big City and away from its desperate problems. It isn't that easy.

People have to live with other people wherever they go—and everybody has to be someplace.

Now is the time for every good suburbanite to come to the aid of himself—and his community.

In the words of a famous Detroit, Joe Louis, in discussing that almost-as-famous dash man, Billy Conn: "He can run but he can't hide."

That's suburbia — wanting to get away, to hide and to live in a shady backyard. It won't work, folks. Nobody survives long in a closet or thinks little and makes it big.

The oasis is a mirage, a bubble with a big poof waiting. No man is an island, and all that jazz. Maybe for awhile, but not after that.

So it's getting beyond make-a-wish time.

CAN WE SURVIVE WITHOUT ROOTS?

Communities Should Join New Police Unit

There isn't any question in the minds of any close to the situation but that the recent meeting of area Police Chiefs for the purpose of studying a proposal to establish a co-operative emergency police unit could be one of the most important in recent years.

The proposal by Sheriff Peter Buback calls for the enlistment of personnel from the several police departments in the county for availability anywhere within its boundaries to prevent mass breaches of the peace, to control crowds, to discourage and halt disorders and threatened violence, to quell disturbances, to assist during disasters and catastrophes and to generally maintain order during any such incidents.

Buback proposed that the enlistment be on the basis of one man for every 10 on a police force with a minimum of 100 men. Each unit would also pick a second man to serve as a replacement if and when needed.

Each officer shall remain a member of his own police department, but his authority while on active emergency duty, would not be limited to his community boundaries, since he would then be serving as a special deputy sheriff.

Thus, the special emergency unit, patterned after the Tactical Mobile Unit in the City of Detroit, which functioned so well during the threatened motorcycle incident in Rouge Park, would immediately be available to any city, village or township upon call of its chief.

Residents of any community, however small its police force, would be assured of the prompt availability of 100 trained officers to guarantee law and order.

It is the hope of Buback and the police chiefs that knowledge that outbreaks will meet a combined force of this size will in itself be a deterrent to many would-be rowdies.

Although there hasn't been a major outbreak yet in the long, winding area surrounding Hines Parkway, officials in all communities bounding the huge recreation area have long been aware of the fact that such could take place.

State Police and Sheriff's Department officers have been leery of such an incident for several years and each department has beefed up its forces during the summer.

Heads of both units fear the hot, humid day when drinking

"NO HISTORY. No roots. No sense of community.

"That's what you've got in the suburbs. Just a slimy mass of formless homes and people, all mixed up in a big urban sprawl."

Such remarks are like a tipsy society matron: certainly snobbish, only partly correct, but unusually interesting.

And they're pertinent at this time of year.

For just last week, Plymouth marked its 100th birthday with a Centennial Celebration that will be remembered for a long time.

Later this month, Farmington will hold its Founders Festival to commemorate the settlement of the city over a century ago.

If people don't think this is history, then they don't know what history is.

And history means roots for people... usually.

History means that a community has a past and a future, a form and a style. It means that the people who live there are living in something more than merely a patch of land with a lot of houses on it.

SO WHAT?

So this: Out here in Observerland, our history and our roots are so precious and so difficult to preserve that we might just pause for a moment to think about them.

A few communities here have a history of starting out as free-standing cities, separated from all others. Plymouth and Farmington, particularly, had such origins.

Others, Livonia and Westland for example, were created only recently, by making cities out of heavily settled chunks of land that had little else than the title of "township" to recommend them.

Such acts of will have led to the development of thriving cities, well on their way to becoming communities with their own history and with roots.

Livonia just successfully completed its first city-wide project, raising $460,000 for a Family Y building. Westland has an impressive birthday celebration going for it.

BUT LOOK what's happening, all around us.

People are moving in. People and people and more people.

And they're filling up the land, even the space between the old cities and the new ones.

You see houses, and lots of them, between Farmington and Livonia, and there really isn't much of a dividing line between Plymouth and Livonia.

Which means that the old idea of visible dividing lines between free-standing cities is going by the board.

Drive from Redford Township into Livonia. Or Westland into Garden City.

What's the difference? The houses are much the same, the streets almost identical.

But there's a big difference. Westland isn't Garden City and doesn't want to be.

Livonia people aren't Redford people or Plymouth people, and they would get sore if you said they were.

It used to be easy to see the proof in the gap between cities. The gap helped give physical presence to the individuality, the history and the roots of each community.

But the gap is going.

Maybe celebrations like the Founders Festival, or the Westland birthday party, or the Plymouth Centennial will help preserve it.

I certainly hope so.

Canada Reminds One of A Suburb

Canada, celebrating its centennial this year, is difficult to comprehend unless one thinks of it as one giant suburb.

A suburb of the United States, that is.

Canada and some Michigan suburban towns have a good deal in common.

Look, for example, at a map of Canada's population concentration. It's all along the U.S. border. Canada looks like a massive nation physically on the map, but as a concentration of people it is senseless, and it should have been annexed by the U.S. long ago, as a number of American statesmen have proposed.

The same series of generalizations can be made about many Michigan suburbs. Let's not name them, at this point. It will only start more races to the courthouse.

Look, for another example, at Canada's obsession with developing a Canadian culture—Canadian books, Canadian poetry, Canadian art, Canadian music, Canadian radio and television. The work is commendable, but the passion for being merely different from the Yanks causes us to emit a raucous editorial guffaw.

The same can be said of Michigan suburbs — their efforts at developing cultural institutions merit the highest praise, but the idea that any suburb is "unique" is absurd.

Look, for a final example, at Canadian politics, in which there seems to be only one issue: Which party is guilty of cow-towing the most to the U.S. State Department?

Any cool-headed person knows Canada's longrange foreign policy interests are almost precisely the same as the United States', and yet the Canadians are sometimes hardly distinguishable from Arabs when it comes to cussing the U.S. at international conferences.

The article you wrote on June 14 regarding motorcycle invasion is in our opinion reaching a new low for a supposedly family newspaper.

Anyone who is not able to express themselves without using such language and also taking the Lord's name in vain shows they are ignorant, or even a drop-out in the second grade.

In our opinion, sir, you are no better than they.

Decries Cost of Garbage Cans

Editor:

I know how my immediate neighbors feel about this, but I wonder how the rest of the taxpayers feel:

"Livonia Water & Sewer Dept. Sanitation Division

"Enclosed is a bill for four garbage cans, one of which has already been ruined by the garbage collectors (we didn't put the other three out this morning).

"In the past 18 months I have purchased 14 garbage cans at a total cost of $42, only to have them ruined by the careless manner in which the garbage collectors handle them. They hit the edge of the can on the truck and bend it so that the lid will no longer stay on.

"In the hot weather this encourages flies and other pests to breed in the cans. Maybe they don't mind picking up a can full of maggots, but I don't like them outside my back door between pickup days. All my garbage is wrapped or bagged and cans and bottles rinsed out so it is not neglect on my part.

"It has gotten to be an expensive nuisance and we have resorted on several occasions to taking our garbage to the city dump ourselves on Saturday morning.

"I feel four garbage cans a year (two at a time) should be sufficient for the average family. Why couldn't the city furnish the cans and replace them when necessary, billing the residents for four cans a year? This way, they might keep after the garbage collectors to be more careful.

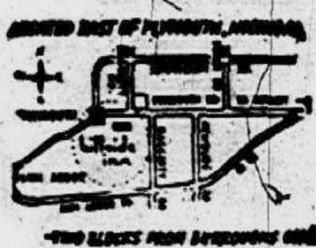

"I am very disgusted with the whole mess and plan to continue complaining until something is done about it.

Readers Comment on Various Local Issues

Editor:

I am writing you this letter six days after the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, and we Americans are still fighting for our Constitutional rights.

The writer of the article I am concerned with stated in the July 8 edition, "The Nikoraks took the decision gracefully." This was the writer's opinion, and if you allow opinions on the front page, then allow this letter on your front page.

1. The statement "that Nikoraks signed for the second time is incorrect. The application for the first lien placed on our property is still hidden at City Hall. No Nikorak ever signed it and I dare City Hall to produce it! How anyone can place a lien on another's property is the big question. The answer — City Hall.

2. Yes, Nikoraks did refuse to pay a Water Debt Rate portion of their water billing but (and this the writer omitted) their refusal was based on the fact that there was doubt as to the legality of the billing because they had a document signed by David Jones, Assistant Water Commissioner, that the Water Debt Rate of $495.00 was "paid in full."

Mayor Moelke said pay the $9 owing for the Water Debt Rate or your water service stays off. I refused to commit myself or family to a situation and debt that was questionable and needed legal resolving.

He, the big man in Livonia refused to listen but instead hung up. He did not know that I did not receive a notice of shutoff; that copies of two liens for one water debt rate were in the hands of an attorney who I was trying desperately to contact on such quick notice, which necessitated Mr. Nikorak and myself to transfer to yet another attorney.

3. It was Mayor Moelke's opinion that the first lien was removed in quick time. It was through Mr. Nikorak's time and money that anything was done, proving with photostatic copies that a lien had been placed on our property without our knowledge and even Mr. Jones had to be threatened with legal action before he would make a move to save us $495.

When the Council (bless them) voted to apologize to Nikoraks for the "mistakes" of others at City Hall, I wrote a thank you note, stating that it should follow that the City should also bear the costs as well.

Mr. Kleinert, Mr. Raymond, Mr. Ventura all supported a resolution by Mr. Milligan that $160 should be taken from the Water and Sewer budget to help pay for Nikorak's out-of-pocket expenses.

This Mr. Moelke vetoed, and he received four votes to sustain this veto on the basis of his third reason for veto, which the Observer writer failed to include, namely, the precedent of the Council compensating for damages is a dangerous one and may be used as a basis for other complaints. Evidently there is a backlog of complaints at City Hall!

Mr. Milligan and Mr. Ventura, true statesmen, still held to their original convictions. To me it is evident that they believe that a man is a man and no official should hide his actions behind the cloak of City Hall.

I will always fight for the citizen's right to be represented by those he placed in office. Confusion may be at City Hall, but there is none in this house. Some have even had their heads cut off, fighting for liberty, and so I guess having my water cut off by Mayor Moelke really doesn't hurt if I can prove a few points.

Editor:

I was astounded to read a recent article in a local newspaper which openly stated that our Mayor condones lawlessness. This is in reference to radar being used on Hubbard Rd. between Five and Six Mile Roads where motorists are being ticketed for speeding 15 miles an hour and more over the speed limit. Our Mayor thinks it is wrong for them to get a ticket.

Hubbard Road is a residential area with a narrow road, no sidewalks, a school and church and many children in the vicinity who are forced to walk on the street. Anyone driving at such a rate of speed certainly deserves to be ticketed.

There is not a one of us that would appreciate cars driving that fast by our homes. Instead of giving tickets the Mayor suggests the speed limit be raised to 40 miles per hour which means cars would travel 50 to 55 miles per hour instead. Sounds pretty stupid to me.

He also stated radar was intended only to catch the hot-rodders—well, if he had much knowledge on the subject he would realize it is not only hot-rodders but the "unsuspecting motorist" who does the speeding. Our streets are posted with speed limits—for our own safety and others. I say respect these limits and you will have no fear of being "caught" and many accidents will be avoided.

I would suggest our Mayor clean up the mess on his desk and leave the matter of enforcement of our laws to the men who know their job. Livonia would be a far better place to live if our present Mayor would let those appointed to a position do their own work as they see fit with no interference from him.

I would like to mention at this time my appreciation to our fire department for their promptness and courtesy in answer to a call in our neighborhood last week. I feel our Police and Fire Department do a wonderful job and it

I feel that Tim Richard's article, "Time Has Made Changes In Outdoor Concerts," had, essentially, a good idea behind it but was poorly worded.

It is true that more people are participating in outdoor concerts because, due to education, more have the knowledge and desire to do so.

Certain groups that perform, may not have that professional sound. But certainly these people enjoy music no less even though their technical ability due to vocation or handicap may be less.

We should be very proud that more people are enjoying fine music, and that fine music certainly includes such compositions as that written by Sousa or Strauss.

I feel that credit should be given to any person or group, regardless of ability, who tries to play or enjoy fine music.

Publicity is a word which people connected with newspapers soon learn to dislike. Everybody wants publicity.

When there is a legitimate news story that you know in your heart is well done and you receive a thank you note for the "wonderful publicity" it takes the edge off the feeling of accomplishment.

For instance, news about an election, the meeting or action of a governmental body is not publicity. It's news.

A feature on an event of significance or a person who has accomplished something is not publicity. It has news value.

What then falls under the category of publicity? The dictionary defines publicity as "advertising; advance information or personal news intended to promote the interests of individuals, institutions, causes, etc., especially that appearing in print."

Under this definition many of the items defined as news or features fall into the publicity category.

The only problem is that to most people, publicity seems to fall into a category of writing a story or taking a picture, simply because the members are nice people.

Fine, but that's not legitimate or fair to the many readers of a newspaper who are not members of an organization.

Very often the picture possibilities are dreary, and the content and idea of the story, worse.

Dealing with these requests, while maintaining a cool temper and presenting a courteous side to the public is not the easiest thing to do.

No apologies are intended in this column nor am I trying to start an argument.

It is merely support of the statement that publicity is a word that newspaper people dislike.

Anyone wonder why?

Capt. Rickenbacker's demand for action recalls wild ride

By W. W. EDGAR

To those of us who have had the privilege of knowing Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, World War I ace, through the years, it was no surprise to read in the public prints that he would like to see North Vietnam bombed and end the hostilities quickly.

Captain Eddie always was a daring individual bereft of fear and the type of man who would try anything to prove a point. He is credited with downing 21 German planes and five balloons during the World War I and many still remember his spectacular survival of a plane crash in the Pacific where he and his partner drifted for almost a week—until help came. Few others would have lived to tell such a tale.

The great War Ace was in Mt. Clemens during the past week where his old World War I unit—the 94th "Hat In The Ring" squadron was celebrating its fiftieth anniversary along with Selfridge Air Force Base. It was only natural that we asked his opinion of the present conflict in Vietnam.

"ALL WE ARE doing is tickling North Vietnam," he answered. "To make war is to win, not to nibble at the enemy and tease him."

He then suggested that North Vietnam be destroyed—quickly—and that both Russia and China be dealt with severely.

In typical Rickenbacker fashion he said, speaking of Russia and China, "To hell with what they think, they have their own troubles. We have the weapons."

There is never any "ifs," "ands," or "buts" with "Rick," as he is affectionately known by his friends. He says what he thinks—come what may.

Seeing his name back in print recalls one of my early meetings with him and an automobile ride that I never shall forget.

It was the night before the famed Indianapolis 500-Mile Race and "Rick," who was President of the track at the time, was playing host to a group of newspapermen in his suite at the Indianapolis Athletic Club. In that group were a few New York sports writers, making their first trip to the famed oval. They were kidding "Rick" about the country fair atmosphere and voicing their surprise that he would be connected with such an activity.

"Country fair," answered "Rick." "Tell you what I'll do. I'll bet that we can't get to the track right now—even with a police escort."

They scoffed and "Rick" shouted, "Get the cars."

In a few moments four cars lined up at the Athletic Club and I was invited to join the group.

IT WAS JUST about midnight and "Rick" was in his glory as he figured he was about to win an argument. But even he couldn't have foreseen the finish we would have.

With the police sirens screaming, the caravan headed for the track. For a time we were doing quite well and the New York writers became more skeptical than ever.

But it wasn't long until we headed into that part of the city where all roads lead to the track on the night before Memorial Day. We were still making headway—though the pace was slackening.

Then it happened.

The streets were so jammed with traffic—automobiles, people and all sorts of contraptions—that we just couldn't go any further. We were only a few blocks from the entrance when the police escort gave up.

What to do now? We couldn't turn around or turn back. "There's only one thing to do," "Rick" chuckled. "We'll cut through the golf course here in front of the track." With that he whirled the car he was driving off the street and on to the course. The others followed and such a wild ride—over bunkers, in and out of sand traps—until we were so shaken no one could speak when we returned to the Athletic Club.

If you don't think that is a thrill try it some time. "Rick" won his point and gave me a ride I'll never forget.

So, it was no surprise to read that he now wants the war in Vietnam ended in a hurry. He doesn't like fooling around.

Meadow Brook Schedules Full Week of Major Events

Five events of major interest are scheduled in the week ahead by Oakland University's Meadow Brook Festival in the Baldwin Memorial Pavilion.

This Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, July 13-14-15, at 8:30 p.m., and next Sunday, July 16, at 6:30, guest conductor Hiroyuki Iwaki will conduct the Festival's regular Detroit Symphony concerts with Tchaikovsky-Competition winning soprano Jane Marsh as soloist.

MISS MARSH will be heard in Turina's Song Cycle, "Canto e Sevilla," Thursday and Friday on a program which includes Britten's Four Sea Interludes from "Peten Grimes" and the Sibelius Symphony No. 2.

Saturday and Sunday, she will sing arias from Refice's, "Cecilia," and Verdi's, "Otello," on a program which includes Mayuzumi's, "Bugaku," Suite and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4 in F minor.

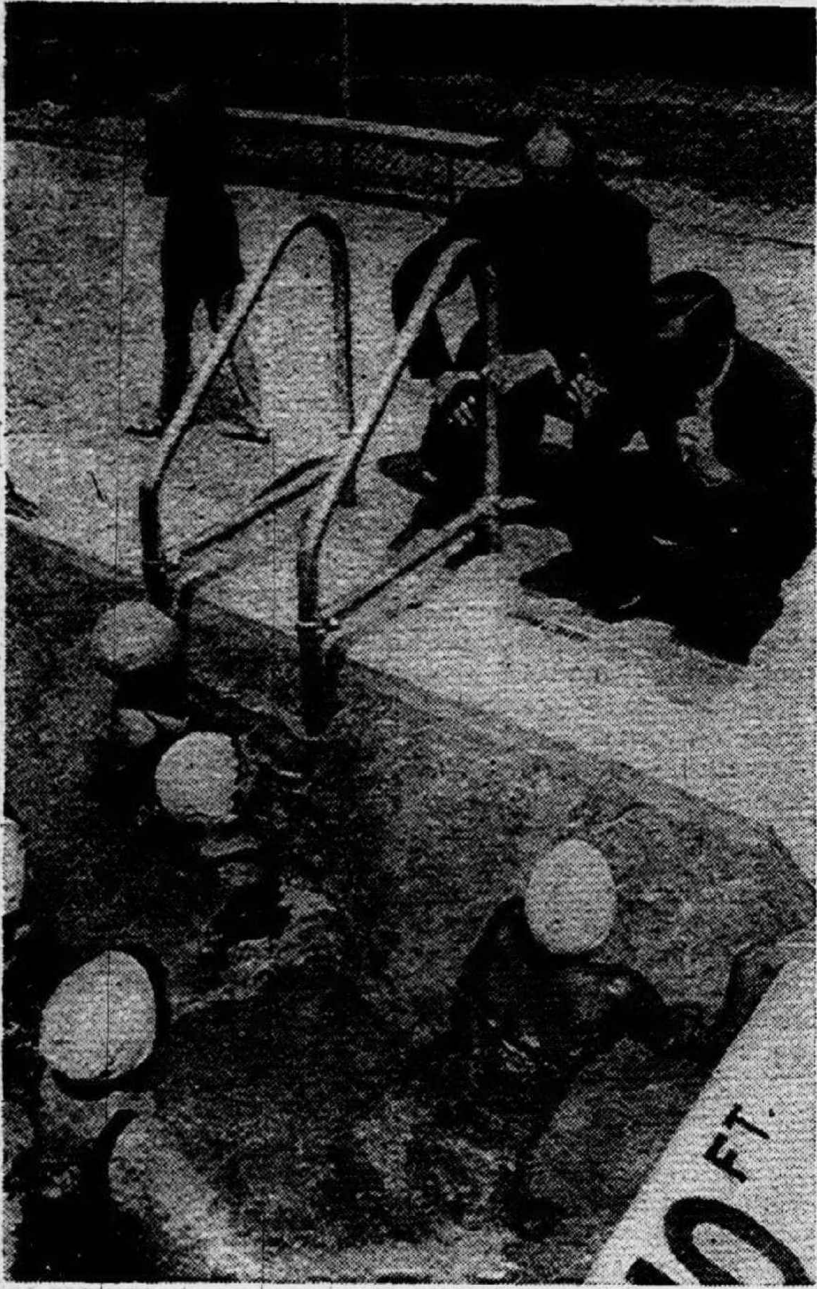

Iwaki, one of Japan's most distinguished conductors, has recently accepted a post with the Berlin Philharmonic after resigning as director of the NHK Symphony of his country.

NEXT WEDNESDAY, July 19, at 8:30 p.m., the Meadow Brook School of Music Student Orchestra will play Haydn's Symphony No. 92 under Robert Shaw's direction. Cleveland Orchestra assistant conductor James Levine will conduct Rossini's Overture to "The Barber of Seville," Debussy's, "La Mer," and Berg's Concerto for Violin and Orchestra featuring Jerome Rosen as soloist.

The concert is free to Meadow Brook season subscribers. The general public will be charged $1 for admission.

Mercury Sales Show 20 Per Cent Increase—Lincoln-Mercury sales during the second quarter were 20 per cent higher than in the April-June period of 1966.

Retail deliveries for the three-month period were 104,210, compared to 87,051 a year ago, according to preliminary reports. Sales since January 1 totaled 191,754, up two per cent over 187,919 last year.

Rezoning Favored For Apartments

An apartment rezoning request which had been turned down twice in the last three years received a favorable recommendation from the Westland Planning Commission Wednesday night.

Despite objections from dozens of neighboring homeowners, the commission agreed to recommend to the City Council that a 3.5 acre site behind a gas station on the corner of Middlebelt and Ann Arbor Trail be rezoned from an office use to an apartment classification.

Seeking the rezoning, which if approved would permit a planned 55' apartment units, is the Groesbeck Lumber Co.

The commission's recommendation concurred with the favorable recommendation of City Planning Director Eugene M. Katz.

Joseph Vitale, of 29651 Shackett Street, said that he and others objected to the rezoning request on the grounds that the apartments would disturb the "privacy and tranquility" of the present homeowners, cause traffic problems and that there are too many apartments in the city now.

He also said that the commission is "not a planning commission but a rezoning Commission" and indicated that the residents will continue their fight to the City Council.

When the rezoning request first came up in 1964, petitions bearing signatures of 213 signatures were submitted opposing the rezoning.

Katz said his recommendation for changing the zoning on the site was based on existing character of the neighborhood, the odd-shaped parcel, the proposed site plan, and the relationship to adjoining uses.

Planners Pass Business-Apts. Zoning Request

A proposed multi-million dollar complex of apartments and shopping facilities in the northwest section of Westland received a favorable recommendation from the Planning Commission Wednesday after the developers eliminated their planned high-rise buildings from the project.

The combination of two-story apartment buildings and adjacent shopping center would be on a parcel measuring 1,700-by-671 feet on the southwest corner of Joy and Newburgh Roads.

The commission, which tabled action several months ago because of a problem of not knowing exactly where the high-rise building would be going, agreed unanimously last week to recommend to the City Council that the rezoning be approved.

The land is now zoned for single family homes.

Bradner Explains Salary Talk Snarls

Schoolcraft College President Eric J. Bradner today said salary negotiations with the 91-member faculty have been stalled since June 28 because the demands outstrip the budget.

He said the latest of three offers has been rejected by faculty negotiators and none has been submitted for a ratification vote.

Dr. Bradner said his talks have reached "an apparent impasse."

He issued the administrative summary of the negotiations, which have been conducted by Vice President for Business Affairs Kenneth Lindner and Dean Edward McNally.

Members of the Faculty team of negotiators could not be reached for comment on the statement.

Following is the text of Dr. Bradner's summary:

"In nearly six months of negotiations, during which time virtually all issues except those related to salaries have been resolved, the college has made three-written salary offers to the faculty's negotiators.

"Each of them has been rejected. None of them has been submitted to the members of the faculty for acceptance.

"The college's most recent written offer, made on June 28, provides for salary increases of from $900 to $1,200 for a 36-week contract period.

"It establishes base salary ranges of $6,700 to $9,400 for instructors with bachelors degrees; $7,500 to $11,500 for instructors with masters degrees; $8,000 to $12,000 for instructors with masters plus 30 hours or more of advanced degree study; and $8,500 to $12,500 for instructors who have earned the Ph.D. degree.

"The college conducts classes 48 weeks a year. Thus, instructors who wish to teach additionally beyond the 36-week base contract period, can earn additional income.

During the academic year just completed, 50 of the 91 faculty members earned more than $10,000 in gross salary, and 18 earned more than $12,000 to a high of $15,505.

"On base salary alone for a 36-week contract during this past year, six instructors in the highest salary grade earned an average of $9,943; 31 in the next highest grade earned an average of $9,093;

39.5 in the next highest earned an average of $8,030; 15 in the lowest grade earned an average of $6,795.

The average base salary for the 91.5 full-time instructors was $8,312.70 for a 36-week contract period.

"The college's present offer consists of a flat $700 increase to every faculty member, in addition to the established salary schedule increments of from $200 to $500. This amounts to percentage increases averaging from 10.6 per cent to 14.4 per cent.

Last year faculty salaries were increased by approximately 11 per cent, through regular increments plus an additional 7.5 per cent raise.

"On June 21, the college Board of Trustees, after a public hearing, adopted an operating budget for the 1967-68 academic year. Of the $2,770,219 in expected income, $2,191,445 is already earmarked for salaries.

Another $100,000 is reserved for salary increases yet to be negotiated with the faculty and to provide raises for several other groups of college employees.

"Contract negotiations with two of these groups—the secretarial and office staff, and the maintenance and custodial staff—have been completed.

"The final budget, adopted June 21, reflects $85,000 more revenue than was found in the tentative budget adopted earlier.

"Almost half of this, about $41,000, is in the form of grants from the U.S. Office of Education. This money must be spent only for the purposes for which the grants were made. It cannot be used for salaries.

"The remainder of the additional revenue, about $44,000, was derived from a final determination of the tax base of the college district. This money was used in part to create an all-too-small contingency fund of $30,445, for which no money had been allocated in the preliminary budget, and, in part to provide for salary increases for non-teaching college personnel, such as the secretarial staff and the maintenance and custodial staff.

"The college has three sources of revenue: local taxes, state aid, and student tuition.

"An increase in the college district tax base this year makes available $240,298 in 'new money.' Nearly 87 per cent has been channeled into salaries.

"State aid has been frozen by the Legislature this year at last year's level of $325 per full-time academic student and $350 per full-time vocational student.

"The only remaining source of revenue, then, is tuition.

"Schoolcraft's resident tuition is now the third highest among Michigan two-year colleges. The Board of Trustees believes that a tuition increase would penalize students and would jeopardize the fundamental concept of the two-year public community college to make low-cost education available to all.

"We are a public institution. We keep our cards on the table. The administration and the Board of Trustees have felt from the moment negotiations with the faculty began that its offer was eminently fair, most realistic and always consistent with both the requirements of the faculty and the interests of the taxpayers of the college district.

"In the interests of resolving the economic issue with the faculty, the college early in June requested the State Labor Mediation Board to assign a mediator. Recent weekly sessions have been conducted with a mediator in attendance, including the June 28 meeting at which the college submitted its most recent offer.

"And its meeting on July 3, the college Board of Trustees, fully informed on the status of negotiations, instructed its negotiators to continue their efforts at settling the issues along the lines of the salary offer of June 28."

Esch, 7 Others Present Plan To Get Peace

U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) today waited for dove and hawk reaction to the plan embraced by seven other moderates to de-escalate the Vietnam War.

It developed as a step-by-step plan the eight believe will lure the North Vietnamese to the peace table.

Esch's district around the University of Michigan has been described as dovish. The plan, with a nod in that political direction, also leaves bandwagon room for the hawks.

The eight congressmen contend they are taking issue with President Johnson's policies in Vietnam and swiping at critics on both sides, "those who would bomb more and those who would bomb less."

They said the United States should halt bombing in North Vietnam north of the 21st parallel for 60 days. This area includes Hanoi, but not the port city of Haiphong.

Within the no-bombing period, if the North Vietnamese "responded with a similar de-escalatory step, the U.S. would pull its bombers back to the 20th parallel for another 60 days."

The plan calls for an action-reaction procedure that would end the war in the south, degree by degree.

Besides Esch, the plan was drafted by Congressmen F. Bradford Morse, of Massachusetts; John R. Dellenback, of Oregon; Frank J. Horton, of New York; Charles McMathias Jr., of Maryland; and Robert T. Stafford, of Vermont.

Esch said he was prodded to find a middle way of ending the war by passage last month of the largest military appropriation in the history of the United States. More significant, he said, is the 3,000 American casualty figure in one week.

Based on that rate, he said casualties in the next 12-month period could climb to 160,000. The toll among the Vietnamese is staggering, according to Esch.

He said: "Surely this is a time for Congress, as an independent branch of our government, elected by the people, to exert increasing leadership in the conduct of our foreign policy.

The Vandenberg bipartisan concept developed in the post World War II era has been utilized by the administration to justify unilateral action without adequate involvement, reporting and consent of Congress.

"The late Senator from Michigan did not conceive of such a process. Rather, in his time, the Vandenberg policy meant full consultation, informal though it may have been, with the members of Congress on the administration of our foreign policy."

Esch said the plan he and the others developed is "not a panacea, but rather what we consider to be a practical alternative in the efforts to move toward peace."

The group together said the plan was devised to jar loose the posture of the United States as a polarization of "rigidly opposing sides," the hawks urging a full and quick military victory and the doves demanding immediate withdrawal.

They said both sets of critics have forgotten it "is a limited war," limited as to combatants, objectives, weaponry and targets—a condition that clouds the perspective of peacemakers.

The group said: "A limited war with limited objectives cannot be ended and cannot remain limited if one side insists on the unconditional surrender of the other."

"The end of a limited war requires that the combatants that meet at the peace table must appear to be equals and negotiations to end a limited war are unlikely without an advanced degree of mutual confidence in the word of the combatants."

"It is not possible for one side to fight a limited war and the other a total war."

The announcement was received with a splash in Washington and around the world. Esch and the others are just now getting the reaction of warriors, diplomats — and Military men.

Policeman Hurt on Way To Accident

A Livonia police officer was injured when his patrol car was involved in an accident as he was making an emergency run to the scene where a six-year-old boy on a bicycle had been struck.

Cpl. Richard T. Ceckiewicz, 37, was on Plymouth Road with siren and flasher operating when a car driven by John Anderson, 64, of 4132 Academy, Dearborn, turned in front of him at Levan.

Ceckiewicz served to avoid Anderson's car and struck another driven by Joseph D. Newton, Jr., 25, of 11644 Parkview, Plymouth.

Ceckiewicz was treated at St. Mary Hospital and released.

Anderson told officers he saw the police car coming but thought he had time to make his turn.

Michael S. Sullivan, six, of 9226 Butwell, Livonia, was struck by a car driven by Richard J. Conroy, Jr., 17, of 16515 Whitby Drive, Livonia. Conroy said the Sullivan boy ran the yield sign at Minton and Lamont.

LIVONIA POLICE CPL. Richard T. Ceckiewicz was injured as his patrol car was damaged in an accident at Levan and Plymouth Roads. An unidentified driver turned in front of the police car forcing the officer to swerve to avoid a head-on crash. The car skidded into another car.

Library To Show Film Thursday

"The Red Balloon," which depicts the adventures of a young boy and a red balloon in Paris, will be shown at 2 p.m. Thursday in the second of a series of films sponsored by the Garden City Public Library, 2012 Middlebelt Road. The 45-minute film for youngsters is offered free in the library's Summer Movie Festival. There will be a new film shown at 2 p.m. every Thursday, said Librarian Carol Mulherin.

Plymouth Hurler Returns 'Home' To Blitz Rivals

From Plymouth to Livonia 17. He never was in serious trouble.

Such has been the Bill McAlpine story in the last year.

Although residing now in Plymouth, Bill formerly lived in Livonia. So, when he moved to Plymouth, Bill decided to finish out his high school studies at Bentley.

This resulted in McAlpine having to go against his Plymouth neighbors.

But now Bill is strictly All-Plymouth, as far as his athletic efforts are concerned. All of which makes the Plymouth Optimists happy.

Bill turned in one of the season's most brilliant pitching efforts in hurling the Optimists to an 8-0 verdict over Northville in Connie Mack League action.

McAlpine allowed two hits, walked one and struck out

Pat Williams lashed out a single and triple and knocked over four runs to lead the Optimists. John Bida had a pair of hits and two RBIs to share offensive honors.

Two nights later, Dan Camp, who pitched for Plymouth High against McAlpine, came back with another dazzling performance for the Optimists in nipping the Livonia Spartans, 2-1.

Camp had himself a no-hit shutout going until the sixth inning when Jerry Deeter slammed a homer to account for the Spartans' lone run and hit of the proceedings.

Deeter, the losing pitcher, had one bad inning — the second — when singles by Williams, Jim Arnold, John Adams and Jack Robertson

CHECKING THEIR TIMES before the July Suburban Swim League meet last week are Sue Phillips of the Franklin Club, Pat Hillebrand of the Stevenson Club, Gail Boyne of the Plymouth Club, Sue Merrill of the Redford Union club and Carolyn Morrow of the Bulldog Aquatic Club. Ralph Deetz, meet director and Redford Union swim coach looks over their shoulders.

Franklin Swimmers Win First Suburban Loop Meet

Franklin High School, of Livonia, got away to a great start in the Suburban Swim League when it compiled 79 points to win the first meet of the season.

Another Livonia school — Bentley High — finished second with 72 points while Redford Union was third with 48. Stevenson High, of Livonia, next with 45 and Plymouth last with 20.

More than 300 contestants, ranging in age from five years to 17, participated in the opening event at Redford Union on July 6. The opening affair featured freestyle and medley relays.

In its eleventh year, the league is an authorized AAU club. It is open to participation by boys and girls in all age groups below high school graduates.

The Club still has openings for the summer program, according to Ralph Deetz, Redford Union Swimming coach. The fee is $10 per child and the schedule runs five days a week from 1 o'clock to 3:45 o'clock.

"Four age groups participate in each competition," Deetz explained. "Boys and girls under 10; those from 11-12; 13-14; and 15 and older. In each age group there is one mixed race."

Aside from Deetz' other coaches in the league include: Paul Cummings, director of swimming at Plymouth, Roger Hanton, supervisor of summer swimming at Stevenson; Larry Joiner, Bentley swimming coach, and Dave Tavidian, Franklin High mentor.

55 Athletes Recieve UM Spring Awards

Shutouts Net Redford Wins

The best way not to lose a game in baseball is to keep the opposition from scoring.

That's what Dependable Hard Chrome (Redford Township) pitchers have done in their last two starts and as a result the team has added to its lead in the Detroit Free Press League.

It was Chuck Viane who toiled a brilliant two-hit shutout as Dependable downed Garden City East, 11-0.

Then Rick Barryman came back with a one-hitter to blank the Wayne Red Sox, 1-0, in a stirring extra-inning game which was decided on an error in the ninth frame.

Viane, a former North Farmington High star, is a cinch to be a regular on the Michigan State pitching staff next season.

Only Carl Stevens was able to touch him for singles in the battle with Garden City. In addition, Viane struck out 14.

His mates made matters easy by scoring eight times in the third inning on only three hits—singles by Carl Misch, Bob Durand and Terry Rothwell.

The winners had only six hits in the game with Rod Ferguson getting a single and triple to lead the way.

Barryman had to be at his best to outduel Lenny Anderson of the Wayne Red Sox.

Anderson himself spoiled Barryman's no-hitter with a single in the fourth inning when Wayne jammed the bases on an error, single and a walk. That was the only time Barryman was in trouble as he fanned 11.

Dependable put runners on third and first in the eighth but couldn't score.

Then in the ninth, Viane singled, but was forced at second by Barryman. The latter stole second and came around to score on an error.

Cardinal Decorating of Livonia won a thriller from Garden City East, 6-1, by scoring five times in the seventh and final inning.

Larry Ruzas of Cardinal and Stevens of East hurled scoreless ball until the sixth when each team scored once.

Then came the Cardinal bustout in the seventh with an error giving leadoff batter Scott life. Hits by Inland, Ruzas, Birkett, Andrews and Hartge followed to chase in the five runs and settle the issue.

Ruzas gave up six hits and fanned nine. Three of the winners' hits came off the bat of Gary Birkett.

The East defeat came after the team had blanked the Red Sox, 8-0, on the five-hit pitching of Mike Donnelly.

Paul Kightlinger doubled over two runs in the first and Dave Ventura followed suit in the fifth. In the sixth, a hit by Kightlinger opened the inning. The next two men went out before Tim Briody doubled and Dick Reed, Ford Simpson and Ventura singled to put the game out of reach.

Only one more week of

APACHE CAMPERS
The Freshman Derby, which has become one of the more significant two-year-old tests in North America, is expected to draw a great band of entries.

The secondary feature on the card will be the $10,000 St. Clair Handicap for three-year olds at one mile. Few Michigan-bred colts have ever stirred up as much excitement as Mial Spencer and Kentucky Sherry. Mial Spencer was never worse than first in his first two outings, winning his initial start by 15 lengths eased up and taking his second race by a clear three and a half lengths.

to jell following a slow start in this season's play.

It was Schwalm who cut down league-leading Redford Township, 12-0, last Thursday.

Schwalm held Redford to only a pair of hits while he himself connected for a pair of homers to knock in five runs.

He set down 10 batters on strikes and never was in serious trouble as he proved why his teammates at Eastern Michigan University voted him as one of their co-captains for the 1968 season.

The Livonia batters made life easy for Schwalm when they pushed over four runs in the first inning. Singles by Jim Rose, John Breckenridge and Jerry Allen, along with a triple by Ron Hellier, did the early damage.

Schwalm then socked a homer with a mate aboard in the fourth. In the sixth, hits by Paul Portney and Roger Frayer, along with walks to Rose and Don Smith, produced three more runs. Then it was Schwalm again in the seventh, with his second homer — this time with two mates on the sacks.

It was a different story on Sunday for the two teams.

While the Livonians lost to Dearborn Heights, 5-2, Redford jolted Ingolf Bach, 4-2.

Three runs on three singles and a walk off Bill Pelham in the second inning shot the Heights off to a fast start against Livonia.

Two unearned runs added to the victors' total, but they were stopped in the final three innings when Schwalm took over and fanned four of the batters he faced.

Don Smith knocked in both the Livonia runs.

In the fourth inning he singled after Roger Frayer had singled and stole second. In the sixth Schwalm walked, took second on an infield out and scored on another Smith single.

A four-hit pitching job by Don Paige featured Redford's victory over Ingolf Bach. He fanned six in his first start of the season for the Township team.

The Redford squad jumped off to a three-run lead in the first inning when Bob Enos started matters with a walk. Rich Harlow tripled him over.

Keith Spicer then singled to score Harlow and Spicer legged it around when Terry Rothwell doubled.

A walk, fielder's choice, ground out and an error gave Redford an insurance run and kept them in first place in the league with a record of 11 wins against three setbacks.

Top Juveniles Clash In Hazel Park Stakes

Mrs. Vera Smith's Mial Spencer and E. J. Grosfield's Kentucky Sherry, two magnificent Michigan-bred youngsters, are indexed as impressive contenders in the sixth running of the $20,000 added Freshman Derby for two-year olds at six and one-half furlongs Saturday, July 15, at the Hazel Park Race Track.

The Freshman Derby, which has become one of the more significant two-year-old tests in North America, is expected to draw a great band of entries.

The secondary feature on the card will be the $10,000 St. Clair Handicap for three-year olds at one mile.

Few Michigan-bred colts have ever stirred up as much excitement as Mial Spencer and Kentucky Sherry. Mial Spencer was never worse than first in his first two outings, winning his initial start by 15 lengths eased up and taking his second race by a clear three and a half lengths.

The colt is a half brother to Bass Clef and Aunt Thankful, both notable Michigan breds. Bass Clef, who finished third in the Kentucky Derby, earned about $250,000 in his racing career. Aunt Thankful is remembered, among other achievements, for her victory in the 1964 Michigan Derby Trial.

After Kentucky Sherry broke a track record in winning the Duncan Kerner Stakes in New Orleans last winter, Grosfield turned down an offer of $150,000 for his youngster. The Kentucky Pride colt has won four out of seven races, including two at Hazel Park, and taken one second. He has missed finishing in the money only in two races in the mud at Keeneland.

At this point, trainer Hart refused to show a preference for either of his talented proteges. If they go as an entry in the Freshman Derby, they figure to be tough to beat in any company.

Observing SPORTS

By George Maskin

This is not meant as an affront to Livonians Denny McLain and Joe Sparda, currently pitching so brilliantly for the Tigers.

Or, have we anything against Livonia's Ray Herbert or Garden City's Billy Hoelt, who turned in some fine pitching years in the majors and currently are keeping in shape toiling on the sandlots of Detroit.

But comes this Friday evening, a gentleman tabbed as perhaps the greatest pitcher of all — but in softball — comes to the area to perform at Claude Allison field in Redford Township.

We're referring to Eddie Feigner, better known as the "King," who with his Court, tour the country each year to dazzle the fans. At least, it's Feigner who does the dazzling.

He's so sensational with the ball that he needs only three helpers on the field with him — a catcher, shortstop and first baseman.

Feigner and his court have been trooping from California to New York, from Maine to Florida and New Mexico, for something like 22 years now.

When he appears with his team of four, they go against a full-fledged opposing combination. At Redford, they'll put a team of stars from the community's senior softball program on the diamond against Feigner.

Notwithstanding, the differences in the size of the lineups, Feigner and his Court have piled up more than 3,800 victories over the years and lost fewer than 350.

Feigner compares himself in a way to the likes of Sandy Koufax or Warren Spahn.

He's not certain how fast he throws the ball these days, but not too many years ago (he's now 42), his pitches were clocked at 104 miles per hour. Little wonder very few hit the ball off him and he needs so few mates on the field.

Feigner and his troop put on a dandy show. He always does some pitching blindfolded. He admits this is the toughest part of his evening's work.

"But once you're a pitcher, a real pitcher, you have your delivery so grooved you can do it," he says. The big danger of hurling blindfolded is a line drive coming right back at you, adds Feigner.

Feigner has never missed pitching a game because of an injury. He adds that there are "thousands of ways" to pitch a ball without hurting one's arm.

Feigner spends only six months a year on his nightly grind of moving from one place to another. "It's very exhausting," he tells you.

But the pay days must be good, because in addition to softball, Feigner has had other interests in Southern California where he makes his home the other half of the year.

Come Friday, however, he'll make his annual visit to Redford Township. We suggest that you make it over to Claude Allison Field. You'll enjoy what you see.

Farmington Legion Bats Go Wild

Bing, Bang . . . and Boom!

It took some fixing, mostly by manager Harry Kajawa and his players, to get the Our Lady of Sorrows baseball diamond into shape.

And now the Farmington American Legion junior baseball team wishes it could play at Sorrows all the time after what happened Sunday in a doubleheader against Troy.

Farmington began the afternoon by blasting out a 14-3 win over Troy. Then to make matters all the rosier, it was 13-8 for Farmington in the nightcap.

"Our boys never had a greater day at the plate," said Kajawa whose charges lashed out 15 hits in the first game and collected 18 more in the second affair.

This kind of hitting made the jobs easier for the Farmington pitchers and Joe Himmelsbach went the route in the opener and Mike Thompson did the same in the slug-ging nightcap.

Farmington, now 8-8 on the season, enjoyed some big in-nings.

Take the second frame of the opener, Farmington scored four times with Jerry Tinkle opening with a walk. Doug Drapalski and Chris Norton singled to load the bases. Gary Zerhan also singled and two runs came across.

Another single by Tom Snyder re-loaded the bases and paved the way for Jim McGrath to double in a pair of tallies.

Drapalski swatted a homer in the third and after Norton singled in two more in the fifth, Farmington staged a five-run sixth to put the game out of reach.

Snyder opened this uprising with a double. Kilka and McGrath singled and the bases were loaded. Tom Webster drilled over two runs with a single.

Himmelsbach was hit by a pitch after which Tinkle, Drapalski and Norton singled in succession to bring in three more runs.

In the second game, Norton collected three hits in four trips. Webster three for five, to give him six out of eight for the day and McGrath slugged a grand-slam along with a single.

The game was settled in the fourth inning when Farmington broke loose for seven runs. Here's the way the explosion went:

Norton, Steve Sager and Thompson singled to load the bases. Zerhan walked to force in Norton.

Up came McGrath to knock one far into left field for a homer. The Troy outfielders still were chasing the ball after everybody had circled the sacks.

Not to be outdone, Himmelsbach followed with another homer.

3 Betting Marks Set At Downs

Blessed with good weather for a full week for the first time of the meeting, Northville Downs shattered three betting records during the six nights starting with July 6.

New standards were set for a Monday when the holiday eve gathering of 6,164 wag-ered $393,849, snapping the previous high of $311,539 set on July 5, 1965.

An all-time Northville record for a Thursday was set July 6 when a crowd of 3,641 poured $337,423 through the mutual machines, bettering the former mark of $274,384 set on July 29, 1965.

And total wagering for six consecutive nights totaled $1,856,547 to shatter the previous mark of $1,829,292 set during the six nights ending July 30, 1966.

Livonian Joins 'Ace' Fraternity

Livonia's John Schutter joined golf's exclusive hole-in-one fraternity Sunday.

He turned the trick while playing at Fox Hills in Plymouth. Schutter's big moment came on the 183-yard, 15th hole where he teed off with a No. 6 iron. The next thing he knew the ball was in the cup.

Schutter posted a 74 for his round.

Plymouth Racer Wins 3rd Straight

Dick Simmons of Plymouth continues to enjoy racing success at the Flat Rock Speedway.

Simmons won the figure 8 feature for the third time in a row last Saturday evening before the season's largest crowd of 4,107.

Meantime, Joe Fair of Pontiac won his eighth straight featured race to share honors with Simmons.

Simmons will be among the competitors in next Saturday night's program.

Miss Gaymer Shows Way

Darlene Gaymer is a 20-year-old dental assistant this summer.

In the fall she plans to enter Central Michigan University to continue her education. She has been a student at Schoolcraft College.

Darlene also finds time to whack around a golf ball and she has emerged as the star so far in the Livonia's women's League which holds forth Friday mornings at Idyl Wyld under the auspices of the Recreation Department.

The girls have played for six weeks and Darlene has been on the top each time. However, last Friday she shared the top with Julie Pavletti. Each carded a 48 for nine holes.

It has all the beauty of the ugly one.

A beautiful air-cooled motor that you don't have to worry about all winter, because it can't freeze. Beautifully situated in the rear of the car for better traction on sand, snow and ice.

Glamorous gas mileage (about 27 miles to the gallon). Voluptuous tire mileage (about 35,000 miles to the set).

Sensuous synchromesh transmission in all 4 forward gears, to make it shift smoothly.

Exotic independent suspension on all 4 wheels, to make it ride smoothly. (When one wheel goes over a bump it doesn't affect the opposite wheel.) The VW Fastback also has a few additional charms all its own.

It goes a little faster (84 mph.) And gets up there faster. (0 to 70 mph in 28 secs.)

There's a bit more room in the back-seat of the Fastback than there is in the bug. And a good bit more trunk space. In fact, a whole extra trunkful.

It even costs more. ($2357.82)

But that's still nothing compared to cars that have most of their beauty where you can see it.

Hurler Blitzes Rivals

Rick Mack not only pitched, but also handled the managerial duties as the Livonia Elks edged Big Bill, 3-2. Mack, the manager, couldn't fault Mack, the pitcher.

Pitcher Mack allowed only three hits. A double by Dennis Hopkins in the fourth knocked in two runs and decided the game.

Hank Schoenbeck accounted for another fine pitching effort in hurling Bentley to a 9-0 win over McFarlane-King. He scattered seven hits and struck out seven. Greg Colton had four hits in as many trips to the plate for the winners, who sewed up the game with four runs in the second inning with doubles by Bob Casaden and Greg Mack leading the uprising.

Earl Morrall broke a 3-3 tie with three runs in the fifth inning to down the Spartans, 6-3. Hits by Glen Buckingham and Kevin Fox, a walk to Bill Fahey and two errors broke up what had been a tight contest.

The victory went to Mike Riley, while Phil Camp suffered the loss.

Big Boy exploded for a 15-0 win over the Livonia Elks as Bob Durand seized most of the honors.

Durand hurled the triumph and allowed only two hits. He himself clubbed out a homer and single and drove home three tallies. Reg Barriinger and Don Harris each slapped out a triple for the victors.

The Phillippi Service Giants of Livonia staged a three-run rally in the sixth inning to nose out Garden City, 5-4, but then saw Earl Morrall cash a run in the sixth to bring about a 4-4 tie in a game called because of darkness two frames later.

The Davies brothers, Jim and Fred, shared honors in the Phillippi win over East. Jim started on the mound and Fred finished up.

Fred also delivered a big double to drive in Craig Greg and Dave Storm with the tying runs in the sixth and then Fred romped home on Dave Fisher's double with the winning tally.

A double by Clack accounted for two of the East runs. Earl Morrall spotted Phillippi three runs in the first, then fought back to get even in the sixth when Tom Booker singled home Dale Bjerke.

Booker had turned in some neat relief pitching after Phillippi scored three in the first on a triple by Carl Gulbronsen, singles by Dave Stott and Bill Hellstein and a double by Greg. Chris Wendrick relieved Fred Davies to hold Morrall down in the last two innings.

Win Streak For Braeburn Snapped at 3

The winning ways of the Braeburn team in the Michigan Public Links Golf League have ended.

After sweeping to three straight verdicts, Braeburn was handed a 14-8 reversal by Idyl Wyld last Sunday and were bounced out of the lead in the Gold Division.

Idyl Wyld sets the pace with three wins and a tie in four matches.

Albert Finney - Audrey Hepburn
"TWO FOR THE ROAD"
Music by HENRY MANCINI

CONDUCTOR WAYNE DUNLAP (left) and Pianist William Doppman in an intense discussion of last week's first Schoolcraft College Summer Music Festival concert.

Doppman Terms Concerts 'New'

Audiences at Schoolcraft College are getting a taste of a kind of concert that's a popular tradition in Europe, but only relatively new in the United States.

So says a pianist who should know. He is William Doppman, 33, who was soloist last week in Schoolcraft's first of four Wednesday evening "Court Concerts."

The kind of music is performed by the small (30 pieces) orchestra or ensemble. The composers are the great classicists of the 18th century (most notably Franz Joseph Haydn) along with the 20th century neoclassicist Paul Hindemith. "In Europe, there's a tradition for this," said Doppman in an interview after last week's performance.

"In the United States, you don't see much of it. A lot of the smaller festivals are going in for it. They can have specialized programs."

"I think it's a nice idea," Doppman noted that the standard, big-orchestra concert uses a classical composer (Bach, Haydn, Handel) only for "a warm-up," then concentrates its big guns on the 19th century romantics, closing with a contemporary, perhaps.

The intimate setting, small orchestra and tight but well-managed budget at Schoolcraft, however, are concentrating on the classics.

The Massachusetts-born Doppman studied at the University of Michigan, has been on the faculty of the University of Iowa for the last six years, and will go to the University of Texas next fall.

A fellow Iowa faculty member is well known to Detroit area audiences — Charles Treger, who made musical history when he became a member of the Detroit Symphony violin section, while still of high school age.

Music is increasingly becoming a performing art, not just a listening pastime. The number of teen and pops combos is legion. And in serious music, the full-blown, massive symphony can't be everywhere at once.

And so suburbia has discovered what Schoolcraft College music director Wayne Dunlap calls the "Court Concert," and you can hear the last three on the Wednesdays of July (including tonight) at 8:30 on the campus on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile Rds.

before. They're an adventure. They're not like anything the suburbs have ever heard

Jewell Chorale To Perform

A performance of Haydn's "Lord Nelson" Mass in D Minor, by the Kenneth Jewell Chorale, will highlight the third Schoolcraft College Court Concert of the summer season at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 19, in the open-air amphitheater at the college.

The program includes two orchestral selections by the Schoolcraft Court Orchestra under the baton of Wayne Dunlap: Haydn's Symphony No. 45 in F sharp Minor, the "Farewell" symphony; and a suite of French Dances, arranged for small orchestra, by Paul Hindemith.

In the event of rain, the performance will be moved indoors to the Lois L. Waterman Campus Center.

Green Takes Top Cranbrook Award

Carl G. Wonnberger, Director of the Cranbrook Theatre School in Bloomfield Hills, has named Harold Green, Jr., one of 12 Farmington students enrolled in the Theatre School, as the first recipient of a scholarship award provided by St. Dunstan's Players of Bloomfield Hills.

Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green, of 31655 Nine Mile Rd., is a member of the Studio Theatre, a new department of Cranbrook Theatre School established last summer to offer an intensified program of theatre skills to a small selected group of adult students from colleges and community theatres.

GREEN has just completed his freshman year at Oakland Community College where he was honored with the Humanities Department Award, and an award for outstanding academic achievement. He has been active in organizing the OCC Theatre Guild which will present a dramatic production under his direction next fall.

His interests in theatre include playwriting as well as acting and directing. Last summer while attending Theatre School, he wrote and directed a one-act play, "Atlantis," which the Studio Theatre presented at one of the Monday evening programs. Green plans to major in theatre at Wayne State University after he completes his course at Oakland Community College.

7 Sided Shirley Superb

Ever get too much of a good thing?

"Woman Times Seven" proves that if it's Shirley MacLaine portraying seven different women in seven delightful different short scenes relative to amour, you can't get enough of a cinematic treat.

The La Parisien Theatre in Garden City rings with laughter these nights as Shirley prances about on roller skates, fumes at her industrialist hubby, or discovers an unfaithful hubby in bed with a blonde. Who says blondes don't have more fun?

Superstar MacLaine attacks each vignette with vigor and gives the audience a thoroughly different characterization. In fact, several patrons near Old Wally kept wondering who the new personality was in each succeeding sequence.

Personally, old Wally would vote for the kooky funeral sequence, the unfaithful hubby cameo, and the nude hippie scene. The other four scenes are equally as hilarious and will keep you in stitches.

The dialogue is adult. The color fantastically realistic. And above all you have Shirley MacLaine in seven comic and at times poignant performances certain to gain her new Academy Award honors.

Theater Classes Set For Manresa Retreat

Enrollments are being accepted for the Children's Theater of the Hills, which will be held July 10 through Aug. 11 in the carriage house on the estate grounds of the Manresa Retreat House, Woodward at Quarton Rd., Bloomfield Hills. The theater is a comprehensive course in drama, music and art for boys and girls nine to 13.

Weather permitting, all classes will be held out of doors; when inclement they will be held in the carriage house.

Enrollment fee is $125, with a family plan and weekly rate available. Students are expected to bring their own lunches, snacks and other refreshments. Casual clothes will be worn.

Enrollment will be limited to approximately 20 children who will be auditioned prior to acceptance.

The daily schedule will

New Kitchen Uses For New Product

No cheese cloth in the house when the recipe says "tie spices in a little cloth bag" so they may be removed from pot after so many minutes in the soup or stew?

Cut a small swatch from a fresh Handi Wipes towel and tie in the usual manner. The disposable towels are of non-woven rayon in a soft mesh-like texture.

They'll do the job too, when the recipe instructions says "wrap fruit cake in brandy soaked cloth."

consist of six informal teaching periods beginning at 10 a.m. and concluding with a 35-minute rehearsal for the weekly Friday afternoon parents' presentation.

The theater administrative director is Wayne Belton, music educator and parish musician for St. Hugo of the Hills. Principal and artistic director is Dorothy Taylor, teacher-librarian and graduate of the Royal Conservatory of Music Drama School. Also on staff is Mrs. Joyce Dytmer, an artist who has been a staff member at Detroit Country Day School.

Musicians Take Part In EMU Workshop

Six Observer area high school musicians recently took part in an Orchestra Workshop for High School Musicians at Eastern Michigan University.

They also took part in a Youth Symphony Orchestra concert which culminated the workshop.

The students from Livonia were Bill Donahue, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Donahue, 9895 Henry Ruff, viola; Mary Frisch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Frisch, 31001 Six Mile, violin; Marge Robinovitch, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Robinovitch, 32325 W. Seven Mile Rd., oboe; and Clark Suttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Suttle, 29844 W. Chicago, string bass.

Attending from Plymouth was Sharon Breazeale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Breazeale, 1085 Fairground, clarinet.

Craig Bunge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bunge, 30905 Rosslyn, cello, attended from Garden City.

Tree Blooms Add Beauty

In the spring time, there is nothing more beautiful than the flowering trees in residential areas.

There are so many flowering trees available for the different climates that there is not enough space to name them.

Among the more prominent are the flowering crab-apple, cherry, dogwood, magnolia, peach, plum and apple trees. There are both early and late spring flowering trees.

Your local nurseryman will gladly advise you on those best suited for you.

Where to plant your flowering tree is an individual choice. You perhaps, want it near the front of the property where neighbors, as well as your family, can enjoy it.

A home is hardly complete without at least one lovely flowering tree symbolizing that "Summer Is Here!"

Bend the prongs of an old table fork and you have a perfect instrument for cultivating soil in window boxes.

Decorator Style Creates Interest for Entrances

During Summer "Fix-Up" time this year, homeowner interest in screening has been excited by the introduction of architectural decor design in aluminum screened combination doors, according to the Insect Wire Screening Bureau. Coupled with recently introduced colors in aluminum screening, a combination door this summer can lend decorator appeal to a home.

The most popular of the distinctive designs appears to be the so-called cross-buck, white enamel aluminum, combination door with acrylic coated gray aluminum screening, according to three major national manufacturers.

The colonial cross-buck design harkens back to the traditional oak cross section support in doors of the 19th century. It marks a major departure from the standard mill or anodized bright aluminum finish of combination doors popular for the past 15 years.

Peck Takes Over Root Chevrolet

Roger Peck has announced the purchase of the Bill Root Chevrolet franchise at 32715 Grand River, Farmington.

Peck, who has spent more than 13 years with Chevrolet Motor Division, purchased the agency in May upon Root's retirement.

Noting that his work with Chevrolet brought him into contact with more than 600 dealers, Peck said that he thought the Root franchise was "the best of the bunch."

Peck said that within 18 months he will be in a new building in order to meet the expanding demands of his customers. He is seeking a plot in excess of 10 acres and will spend more than a million dollars for the structure.

"I have watched the growth and development of Bill Root Chevrolet over the past 13 years," Peck said, "and there are numerous customers in this area to be served."

"This is why I intend to expand the facilities and I aim to serve all these customers."

While at the Chevrolet Motor Division, Peck held the posts of district manager, city truck manager, zone merchandising manager for new trucks, zone merchandising manager for new cars and regional merchandising manager for new trucks and new cars.

Hard Water Increases Home Costs

Ask any homemaker who has to cope with hard water, and she'll tell you it means hard work. But it also costs you money. Here's why:

• You have to use more soap to do your dishes, laundry or general cleaning. You need more hot water to get rid of loosened dirt. Even then, your dishes are likely to have a film, and your clothes and floors an off-color look. Soap, water and the cost of heating the water all drain dollars from the household budget.

• The life of clothing and linens that are constantly subjected to hard laundering is shortened.

• Hard water leaves a scaly deposit in pipe and water-using equipment, appreciably shortening their useful life.

Drivers Offered Tips For Safer Vacations

Michigan motorists today were urged to apply four driving tips to make their vacation trips safer and more pleasant.

The suggestions were given by the Michigan State Safety Commission as part of a safe summer driving campaign endorsed by Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee in Washington, D.C.

The four-point plan:

1. Have the family car safety-checked bumper to bumper. A safe drive demands a car kept in safe driving condition.
2. Lock all doors from the inside before you drive. This helps keep you and your passengers in, and other people out. Lock the doors from the outside when you park, to protect both the car and its contents from theft.
3. Buckle all safety belts before you start the car. This simple act can save lives and prevent or reduce injuries in case of a crash. It can also lessen fatigue on long trips.
4. Stay alert. On long trips, take frequent rest breaks to guard against fatigue, drowsiness, and lack of attention.

Gerald W. Shipman, Safety Commission Executive Secretary, cautioned motorists against taking short drives around town for granted. "Studies show that 80 per cent of all traffic accidents happen within 25 miles of the driver's home," he stated, adding, "Seventy-five per cent of all traffic deaths occur within the same radius."

The Safety Commission offers this capsule reminder for short trip driving or vacation journeys: Lock up when you get in... Lock up when you get out... Buckle up in between. Get the Safety habit.

Why the big switch to electric heat?

Good news travels fast.

Talk about your bargains! Edison has again lowered the rates on electric home heat. This time, a healthy 10% over the previous rate. Altogether a 30.5% reduction in the last eight years. No wonder the big switch to electric heat is on. The low rate's only part of it. People also like our three-year, money-back guarantee. We give you a written estimate of operating cost; your heating bill may be less than the estimate, but not a penny higher. It's guaranteed, provided installation is made by an Edison-approved contractor on Edison lines. New low rates. A three-year, money-back guarantee. Pretty good reasons to investigate electric heat. There're others. Give us a call. We'll give you all of them. And without obligation.

EDISON lowers the cost of all-electric living.

College Sees Enrollment of 4,000 for Fall Term

Predictions by college officials of a fall term enrollment of 4,000 students at Schoolcraft College are holding up as summer nears the midway point and Admissions Office personnel continue to process applications from new students.

So close is the prediction to a certainty that Schoolcraft President Dr. Eric J. Bradner told college trustees recently:

"We are going to have to hold the line on new students admitted this fall."

That places a ceiling of about 1,700 on incoming freshmen.

"Our holding power has increased rapidly and more of our students will be returning to the campus than in previous years. We simply can't build fast enough to accommodate the demand, and so we must regrettably hold the line on incoming students," Dr. Bradner explained.

"Some of our housing pressure will be relieved next fall—that is, in 1968—with the completion of the new 32-room liberal arts building. But that isn't going to help us this year."

The President said the number of applications from new students had already exceeded last year's total. Nearly 1,200 new students have already been admitted to the college, he added.

"In the past we have been getting about 25 percent of the graduates of the high schools in the college district," Dr. Bradner said. "It appears now that that figure will be closer to 28 percent this year. In fact, we have already accepted more than 28 percent of the 1967 graduates of Bentley High." According to Admissions Office figures, 612—or slightly more than 21 percent—of the June graduates of the seven public high schools in the college district, had been accepted for admission to Schoolcraft as of June 30.

The college this year inaugurated a new admissions procedure in which applicants come to campus in groups of about 60 daily for counseling and orientation sessions.

"The procedure is working successfully within our expectations," said Dean of Student Affairs, Edward V. McNally. "We are doing a more thorough job of counseling, and the entire admissions process is more orderly."

"Of the 1,555 applications we had received as of June 30 from new students, we have processed more than 1,200. The staff has appointments with the remaining 300, and new applications are being received daily."

Police Nab Two Detroit Men

Two Detroit men have been arraigned on warrants charging them with possession of burglary tools.

Lowell D. Neill, 20, and Robert D. Fielding, 17, stood mute. Bond was set at $1,500 for Neill and $500 for Fielding.

They were stopped on Plymouth Road west of Merriman after patrolmen saw them pulling out from Midas Muffler Shop, 30451 Plymouth in Livonia Sunday about 4 a.m.

Officers saw a crowbar and a broken baseball bat sticking out from under the front seat, and later found other tools in the car.

Delays Trial of 2 Youths

Examination of two youths on breaking and entering charges, scheduled to be heard in Plymouth Municipal Court July 10, has been postponed by Judge Dunbar Davis until Aug. 7 at the request of the boys' counsel.

The two are William Edward Pentecost, 18, 1926 Washtenaw, Ypsilanti, and Dale Richey Schultz, 18, 1101 S. Harvey, Plymouth. Both are free on $2,000 bond.

They were arrested by Plymouth police June 29 while allegedly attempting to gain illegal entry into Beyer Drugs, 1100 W. Ann Arbor Rd.

Their apprehension also led to recovery of guns and ammunition stolen recently from Western Auto Associates, 884 Penniman Ave., although no formal charges of that break-in have been lodged against the pair.

Plymouth Artist Sews While He Paints

Remember the old fashion patch work quilt Grandma used to make by pooling together all the cloth remnants left over from her dress making?

A Wayne State University art graduate has adopted and augmented Grandma's method and has developed an interesting new aesthetic art work—via the sewing machine.

Douglas James paints with it using the mode to make a border with the thread instead of with the brush.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland G. James, live at 14335 Shadywood, Plymouth.

Doug, who might be the first artist to add the sewing machine to the palette, goes one step farther than Grandma though. Instead of starting with many different scraps of cloth, he begins with a big piece of canvas, paints on it, proceeds to cut it up and then sews it back together again.

The process isn't as haphazard as all that though. In fact, it's a very deliberate way of "cutting up."

Doug starts with a large piece of unprimed canvas and applies acrylic paint to it, not really having a preconceived concept of the finished product, striving only for as many different miniature paintings per canvas as his whim will allow.

His only prerequisites at this point are colors, brush size and type, and module size and shape (individual pieces of canvas usually limited to verticals and horizontals).

Attaining a color canvas which satisfies him (Doug will admit he frequently will end up throwing away painted canvases and starting over), he then tries to create a concept of what he would like to produce and cuts the canvas into modules, scrutinizing for selective color patterns.

With many modules in hand, Doug is ready to use his unique ingredient for unity—the sewing machine—to reassemble the canvas so that each square module complements those adjoining it.

Though Doug's stitching patterns are usually vertical and horizontal, module placement helps to break the up and down pattern.

"I have to use my color to break out that square pattern," the Wayne State graduate explains. "By color sequences, I can draw your eye away from the vertical or horizontal. If I didn't use my painting in this way, I think the work would be too much like looking at a brick wall no matter how good the bricks are."

Doug doesn't view his work as anything stolen from Grandma's stitching methods though. He sees his work as art for art's sake and not just a departure from sewing.

"Sewing is very much like drawing," he'll admit though. "But only because there is a line. The method also feels very much like drawing because I feel I am substituting the thread outline for the pen or pencil outline."

Says the 21-year-old artist, "I'm not trying to use the sewn line as a gimmick. An artist can make lines with charcoal or a pencil... or a thread."

He objects to calling the unique work of art "experimental" because "experimentation implies searching for an answer to a problem or that your attitudes of the work are incomplete. I'm very sure of what I'm doing and I completely understand what I'm doing," he explains. "I'm not trying to tell a story, with it, and it's not what an artist would consider didactic. I'm only trying to make a very pretty thing rather than create a portrayal of something. It's just a thing in itself."

Asked where he had gotten the idea to marry the two arts, Doug says, "It was simply a good dream. You see, at one time I was having problems with artist color fields and how best to solve them, so one night I fell asleep with this on my mind.

"I dreamt I had sewn some objects together to make a painting, and when I woke up I didn't realize I had really solved my color field problems."

The young artist, who teaches drawing at Lawrence Institute of Technology, married to a Wayne State University coed majoring in art education. On the topic of art, "she's sort of my cicer," says Doug, which feels is a help to him rather than a hindrance.

But there's one problem emanating from the Jan household: "We fight over who's going to use the sewing machine"—for different purposes, of course.

Doug's paintings, along with hundreds of other student works, will be on display in the Wayne State University 31st Annual Student Art Exhibition in the W Community Art Gallery through July 23.

Looks to Next Season

Northville Town Hall Distributes $850 in Gifts

Gifts totaling $850 to eight different philanthropies have been announced by the Northville Town Hall, now making plans for its 1967-68 season.

The money, disbursed by the Town Hall board of awards, represents profits from the 1966-67 series of lectures.

A spokesman said a few tickets still are available for the series of five lectures planned next fall and winter, and they may be obtained by writing Northville Town Hall Series, Box 93, Northville.

Included in the series will be lectures by Dr. Murray Banks, psychologist and humorist; Dr. Albert Burke, scientist and economist; Willem Oltmans, journalist from the Netherlands; syndicated columnist Cindy Adams, and Broadway composer and lyricist Richard Adler.

The schedule follows: Oct. 19—Dr. Banks speaking on "What to Do until the Psychiatrist Comes."

Nov. 16—Dr. Burke speaking on "Ideas in Conflict."

Feb. 15—Oltmans speaking on "Trouble Spots in Focus."

March 21—Miss Adams on "Woman's Role — East and West."

April 18—Adler speaking on "Musical Comedy — the Composer and His Songs."

The Town Hall board of awards, in its June 14 special session, voted the following gifts:

Children's Neurological Development Program, Farmington—$180 to send children to Tau Beta Camp next month on full or partial scholarships.

Livonia Health Guild—$120 for one hospital bed and two new walkers for fracture cases.

Misph Circle of the Kings' Daughters and Sons—$100 for miscellaneous charitable projects.

Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary—$100 for the "Helping Hand" project, to begin in September, and for miscellaneous charitable projects.

Northville Historical Society—$50 to further two new goals to acquire the old library and Random House.

Plymouth Women's Club—$100 for Girls' Town at Belleville, Mich.

Plymouth Symphony Society—$75 for support of the 1967-68 season.

The Plymouth State Home Auxiliary of Plymouth St. John's Episcopal Church—$125 for orthopedic shoes and braces for children at the Plymouth State Home and Training School.

UF Names Mrs. Vincent Chairman

A Northville homemaker and social worker, Mrs. David Vincent, of Reed Avenue, has been named chairman of the 1967 Torch Drive residential campaign in the region including Northville, Livonia and Redford.

Mrs. Vincent's appointment was announced by the Western Wayne residential chairman, Mrs. Arthur R. Hempe Jr., Northville.

"I am delighted Mrs. Vincent has accepted this important post," Mrs. Hempe said. "She is a knowledgeable and experienced community leader who has given countless hours of service to the Torch Drive and its services."

The new region chairman will be responsible for organizing and training volunteers to call on residents of her region in the house-to-house campaign.

She also will be responsible for their collections which provide operating funds for nearly 200 health and community services.

Mrs. Vincent has served in previous Torch Drives as district, area and division chairman.

She is a member of the board of directors of the YWCA of Western Wayne County, where she formerly was employed as a social worker.

A graduate of Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., Mrs. Vincent is active in the Plymouth Branch, American Association of University Women, and is its area representative for community problems.

She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta Alumnae, and her husband is administrative manager for Diamond Automation Inc. They have a son, Tod, 4.

This year's Torch Drive will be held Oct. 17 through Nov. 9 to provide operating funds for 54 health and medical services, 65 character-building services, 32 services for the aging, 44 services for the family, 25 health research services and 32 child care services.

The 1966 "Give Once for All" campaign raised a record-breaking $27,492,355.

Outpatient Clinics For TB Fight Recommended

A system of outpatient clinics to treat persons suffering from active tuberculosis was recommended today at the annual meeting of the TB and Health Society, Wayne County's Christmas Seal organization.

John L. Isbister, M.D., Chief, Bureau of Community Health, Michigan Department of Health, made the recommendations before nearly 200 persons who attended the luncheon meeting at the Wayne County Medical Society headquarters.

Outpatient clinics must be accessible in relation to the patient's home and hours of clinic operation should be such to assist him to attend rather than an obstacle to his obtaining service, Dr. Isbister said.

"Our outpatient clinics are going to be concerned not only with the patient requiring treatment for active disease but also with those individuals who have been found to be infected and who will require isoniazid prophylaxis (preventive medicine) for a year to reduce the occurrence of clinical disease."

He said that approximately 15 per cent of Wayne County's population—or some 405,000 persons—are infected with the tubercle bacillus and would react to the tuberculin skin test, "although only a very small portion of this group have the disease in a clinical form and are capable of transmitting it to others in the community."

Dr. Isbister warned, however, that these infected individuals of today will produce about 75 per cent of the clinical cases of active disease tomorrow.

This group of 400,000 people constitutes our tuberculosis control problem in Wayne County," he said.

"Once identified, each infected individual must be evaluated in terms of the type and quantity of service he requires for the tuberculosis problem he has. The broad provision of this service in terms of meeting the needs of the individual infected is probably the greatest single problem we have."

He said that while the role of the tuberculosis hospital is important in the TB control program it is no longer the center of that program.

He blasted complacency and apathy for less than enthusiastic support for intensified tuberculosis control, and added:

"Tuberculosis is a communicable disease and our challenge is to motivate people to accept their social responsibility to prevent its spread to others in society. Our society will pay dearly for failure to take advantage of this situation now. As Pogo says, We have met the enemy and they is us."

All officers of the TB and Health Society were re-elected to one-year terms at the annual meeting of the Society today.

Robert R. Luby, Ed.D., divisional director, Health, Physical Education and Safety Department, Board of Education, began his second term as president of the Christmas Seal agency.

Others re-elected: William C. McMillan, 1st vice president; E. Osborne Coates, Jr., M.D., second vice president; Joseph G. Conway, treasurer; and, Donald J. Gillard, secretary.

MSU College Week Is Summer Break for Mom

While the kids are enjoying a summer break from school, Mom will have a chance to go back.

College Week for Women, an annual event at Michigan State University, gives every woman in the state a chance to get a taste of college—or a refresher. It's scheduled for July 23-28 at MSU, sponsored by the University's Cooperative Extension Service.

Mrs. Anne Wolford, general chairman of the event, describes College Week as an authentic taste of college life.

"Homemakers can live in the dorms and eat their meals there. They attend classes taught by MSU staff members and other qualified instructors from the area. And when classes are over, special events that are educational and fun are planned."

Mrs. Wolford grouped classes into three categories: individual enrichment, home and family, and leadership and community development.

"Each woman can take three classes while she's here," Mrs. Wolford explained. "Each class meets three times."

Through special arrangements, classes taught on Thursday, July 27, are designed to stand alone for homemakers who can only attend one day. These classes do not depend on information presented either in the preceding or the following class.

Mrs. Wolford explained that Thursday is traditionally designated as "Young Homemaker's Day" for mothers with small children who can't get away for more than one day.

Homemakers may choose from such varied class topics as "My Family, My Abilities and Me," "The Changing World of the Consumer," or "Leadership Skills in Organization."

Dirk Gringhuis, artist with the MSU museum, will trace Michigan's history from prehistoric times to the country store of the 1900's.

For additional information, Mrs. Wolford suggested that women contact the Cooperative Extension Service in the county where they live. Or they may write to: College Week for Women, 103 Home Economics Building, Michigan State University, East Lansing 48823.

155 Touring AFS Students Welcomed in Livonia Homes

More than 100 Livonia families played host this weekend to foreign exchange students touring the country as part of the American Field Service program.

The 155 students from all parts of the world arrived in Livonia by bus between Wednesday and Saturday. Each group spent approximately four days here. Last to leave was the busload which visited the Franklin High School chapter. The bus departed Tuesday.

All have spent the last year in American homes, attending American high schools. All will return within the next few weeks to their own countries. For many of the Livonia families, having a foreign student in the house was a new experience.

Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Posner, of Wehyer Drive, hosted Jochen Dierks, of West Germany. Jochen, who is 17, spent the year in Bloomfield, Conn., and attended Bloomfield High School.

After the two-week bus trip he will fly from New York to his home in Asna-bureck, in northwestern Germany.

The Posners became interested in the AFS program through neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Mette, who have had two AFS students living in their home for the last year.

The Posner family, which includes Gary, a freshman at Clarenceville High; Debbie, 11, and Ellen, 6, found that hosting Jochen was exciting, but not difficult.

In addition to activities planned by the Clarenceville AFS chapter — including a dance, and a talent show — the Posners took Jochen to a rehearsal of the Clarenceville Band.

He was impressed. "I thought they were very good, especially in precision marching," he said.

WSU Giving Institute On Teaching

The McGregor Memorial Conference Center on the Wayne State University campus is the site of a three-week institute in adult basic education that began July 10 with approximately 100 persons from Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan attending.

The institute is designed to prepare basic education teachers and trainers of teachers in the use of all the new media for teaching, such as programmed instruction, computer-assisted instruction, team teaching, and tutorial procedures.

The Wayne institute is one of 11 being conducted this summer throughout the country. They are being supported by a 1.4 million dollar education act of 1966 and administered by the National University Extension Association under contract with the U.S. Office of Education.

In May of this year, Wayne held the first Pre-Institute Seminar for Adult Basic Education in the country which was attended by representatives from every state.

Women on the GO!

By Margaret Miller

"I'm a follower," insists efficient Mary Legg. "I just help other people get things done."

But the list of projects she's helped carry out in Farmington would stagger just about any leader you could name.

Mrs. Legg, long-time Farmington resident, has been secretary to Farmington Township supervisor Curt Hall since 1959, and she and her husband, Howard, are active members of the Farmington Masonic Lodge. This leads to much involvement in youth and community activities.

Three years ago, for example, the Farmington Masonic Order was getting ready for its centennial celebration.

"We wanted it to be a big one," recalls Mrs. Legg. "At the same time, the Board of Commerce was considering some major activity for Farmington in the summer, when things get pretty quiet."

So the idea for the first Farmington Founders' Festival was born.

"Then it really mushroomed," Mary Legg remembers. "So many people were interested and wanted to have a part."

She worked then on arranging many of the details for the first festival. "But it was just that I was always available here in the township office," she said. "I could help get things done because people knew where to find me."

The story is much the same now that final plans are going on for the third annual Farmington Founders' Festival, July 27 to 29.

This time the Masonic groups are sponsoring an old fashioned horse show, which will be going on at Twelve Mile and Farmington Road throughout the festival. "We think we're going to have about 150 horses from all over," Mary reports enthusiastically. "We'll have the horses on display, pony rides, western exhibits and refreshments."

"Right now our house is full of posters and advertisements for the show. Ross Stuller is the chairman, and he's come up with all kinds of ideas. We're just helping."

Mary also is just helping in arrangements for an old-fashioned chicken dinner to be served by the Order of Eastern Star members at the Masonic Temple Friday, July 28. And she and her family are lending a hand on festoons for the five cars Masonic groups will have in the big parade Saturday.

Her principal interest in Masonic work is with the Job's Daughters, the organization for girls aged 12 to 20. She's especially proud of the fact that her daughter, Charlotte Anne, is a Supreme Princess with the international organization — "the highest you can go."

"With Job's Daughter's I'm a chauffeur now," Mrs. Legg says. Charlotte and Linda Williamson, also of Farmington and a Supreme Representative in the organization, must travel all over the state and to cities as far as New York and Philadelphia in connection with their offices, and Mary and Howard Legg are the ones who do a good share of the driving.

More homebound are 16-year-old Suellen, also a member of Job's Daughters but more addicted to pajama parties than traveling, and Mike, 14 and just beginning in the DeMolay program, as well as the family's "Grandma," 84-year-old Mrs. William Legg.

"She keeps the cookies coming and takes care of the house while we're traveling around," says her grateful daughter-in-law.

Mary Legg's most recent project is assisting with the breakfasts served each month at the Masonic Temple to Farmington's quota of draftees and their families. They started in May.

There is one project in which Mary Legg admits she's boss — her Sunday School class at the First Methodist Church of Farmington. "I've been teaching for years," she said, "and I never got beyond fourth grade. But I love it."

Follower or leader, Mary Legg has to be a valuable person to have around.

Fair Packaging, Labeling Act Requires Honesty

Consumers who bother to read labels now will be able to learn more about the package contents, says Kathleen R. Bufton, home economist with the Cooperative Extension Service in Wayne County.

Mrs. Bufton said that the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act of 1966 went into effect on July 1. The law requires packages and labeled commodities in interstate commerce to be honestly and informatively labeled. She added that the law requires that the label:

• Give net quantity per serving, if the number of servings is stated.

• Be free of such terms as "giant quart" and "jumbo pound."

• Contain a statement in a uniform location of net contents in appropriate units for the commodity, such as weight, liquid measure or numerical count. Contents of packages under four pounds or one gallon generally must be stated in pounds (or pints and quarts) as well as in total number of ounces.

• Identify the commodity and give the name and place of business of the manufacturer, packer or distributor.

The home economist explained that the law authorizes the government to establish additional regulations for specific products if necessary. This would be to prevent deception or to make value comparison easier. The government is authorized to:

• Establish and define standards for describing package sizes, if additional descriptive phrases are used to supplement label statement of net contents.

• Regulate bargain-price labeling, such as "cents off."

• Require labels (except for food) to give the common name of the product and list ingredients in order of decreasing amounts.

• Prohibit packaging of products in containers with unnecessary packing material or air space.

The Fair Packaging and Labeling Act doesn't apply to certain drugs or tobacco, meat and poultry products, or products covered by other existing Federal laws, the home economist pointed out.

Rotisserie Turkey Is Good Buy, Good Eating

Since turkey rates top place on the July Plentiful Foods List of the USDA, you can treat your family and guests to party meals at economy prices.

By cooking the whole bird outside on the rotisserie, you eliminate the job of stuffing the turkey and you also keep the heat outside the house.

Hugh S. Johnson, University of Illinois extension poultry specialist, recommends that you figure ¾ to 1 pound per serving when buying turkey. Small to medium sized birds weighing 6 to 13 pounds are just right for the rotisserie. Check the manufacturer's instructions for the maximum-size limit.

If turkey is frozen, thaw it and remove giblets and neck from the body cavity; rinse the bird and pat dry. Rub the cavity lightly with salt, tie drumsticks securely to tail or push them under the band of skin at the tail, fasten neck skin to back with a skewer, flatten wings against breast and tie cord around the breast to hold wings securely.

Insert spit rod through the center of the bird lengthwise from tail end toward front. Fasten tightly with spit forks at both ends and tie securely with twine. Test balance and readjust if necessary so that the bird will rotate smoothly throughout the cooking period.

Arrange hot charcoal briquets at the back of the fire box and place a foil drip pan in front of coals. Attach spit and start the motor as manufacturer directs.

Approximate timetables show that a 6 to 8 pound turkey will take about 2½ to 3 hours to cook thoroughly; an 8 to 10 pound bird, 3½ to 4 hours. But timetables are merely guides to total cooking time. A cool day or a strong wind may lengthen barbecue time by 30 to 45 minutes.

To check doneness there is no substitute for a meat thermometer, which should be placed in the center of the inside thigh muscle or in the thickest part of the breast. When it registers 180 to 185 degrees F., the turkey is done.

If no meat thermometer is used, check doneness by pressing drumstick meat between fingers. Meat should be very soft when done.

For extra flavor, Johnson recommends that you marinate turkey 2 to 4 hours before barbecuing. Lay turkey on heavy-duty aluminum foil and shape it to catch sauce. Pour marinade over turkey and completely wrap foil around the bird sealing it securely to hold marinade. To assure a well-flavored bird, turn the package frequently.

Here's a suggested sauce for marinating or for basting: combine ½ cup salad oil, ½ cup lemon juice, ½ cup wine vinegar, ¼ cup soy sauce and 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate. Add salt, freshly ground pepper and herbs to taste.

If the turkey is not marinated, you can baste it generously with barbecue sauce during the last 30 to 45 minutes of cooking.

Bagpipers Play for Duthie-Wilkie Rites

Newly-married Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Brown Duthie III, were piped out of St. Valentine's church in Redford Township by bagpipers following their vows June 9.

Pipers Sandy Phee and George Killan carried out the old Scottish custom for the couple, standing near the front of the church and playing "Scotland the Brave" on this Day" as the bridal party left the church.

The new Mrs. Duthie is the former Dianne Marie Wilkie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Wilkie, of Salem Avenue, Redford Township. Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Brown Duthie Jr., of Brady Avenue, Redford Township, are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Father Alfred Sadler officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

White silk organza and peau d'ange lace fashioned the bride's gown. Her silk illusion veil was secured by a crown of orange blossoms and pearls, and her colonial bouquet was of white sweetheart roses and Stephanotis.

Her attendants wore aqua cage style dresses and carried white carnations tipped in aqua.

Peggy Horan, of Detroit, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids included Georgia Witick, of Dearborn, Jane Koehl, of Cincinnati, O., Kathy Lawson, of Redford Township, and two cousins of the bride, Susan Marsh, of Detroit, and Patrice Wilkie, of Redford Township.

Rick Barringer, of Redford Township, was best man. Seating the guests were William Lambert, Donald Mueller and James Vedder, of Redford Township, John Marsh, of Detroit, cousin of the bride, and Robert Walsh, of Royal Oak, cousin of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in the Mayflower Meeting House, Plymouth.

Following a Jamaica honeymoon, the couple will live in Bowling Green, O., where both will complete student teaching at Bowling Green University. The bride is a graduate of Rosary High School, Detroit, and the bridegroom graduated from Thurston High School.

Nursery Seeks Registrations

The Loveland Children's Nursery, 33015 W. Seven Mile, Livonia, is accepting children for summer care and also taking registrations for pre-schoolers in its fall session.

Mrs. Margaret Rogez is director.

She said the nursery is licensed to accept children up to six years of age during the summer months, and interested parents may reach her by calling 474-0001.

In the fall, it will move into new quarters with completion of the Livonia Assembly of God church school building. In the modern new structure, it will be licensed to accept up to 90 children from two and a half to five years of age.

Dress Up Furniture

You can dress up your patio furniture at party time. Choose a colorful floral print fabric, cut it in a circular pattern and drape it over your small tables.

Childbirth Is Topic of Film

The Lamaze Childbirth Preparation Association announces the film "The Triumph of Childbirth," in the auditorium of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Monday, July 24, and Friday, July 28.

The film shows three births, one done with the aid of hypnosis, and the others prepared births done without need of anesthesia.

The proceeds from the film showings will go into a fund at the hospital.

Green-McCullough Vows Spoken July 8

David William Green, of Plymouth, claimed Sally McCullough as his bride in a ceremony Saturday, July 8, in the Barbour Chapel of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Harger Green, of Simpson Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. McCullough, of Grosse Pointe, are the bride's parents.

The Rev. Richard Mitchell heard the couple's vows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length sheath of silk lined peau de soie made in empire style. Holding her elbow-length veil in place was a headpiece of peau de soie petals with orange blossoms. Her flowers were roses and Stephanotis.

Brenda Shear came from New York to be maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Judy Green, was bridesmaid. They wore empire gowns of icy aqua, and carried pink roses with baby's breath and ivy.

Wearing pink and white long dresses and carrying sweetheart roses and baby's breath were the two junior bridesmaids, the bride's nieces Kathryn and Christine Vogel. Another niece, small Kathy McCullough, wore a short pink and white dress for her role as flower girl.

Randall Minnick was best man, and the ushers were John Lawrence, John Sealy, and Peter Vogel, nephew of the bride. Steven Griffith, another nephew, was ring bearer.

other nephew, was ring bearer.

Mrs. McCullough's choice for the wedding was a pink silk dress, and Mrs. Green wore blue silk lined with lace.

A reception for 100 guests at the bride's home followed the rites. The newlyweds then left for a trip west to Berkeley, Calif., where they will make their home while the bridegroom continues his graduate studies at the University of California.

He is a graduate of Albion College, and the new Mrs. Green graduated from the University of Michigan.

MRS. DAVID WILLIAM GREEN (Sally McCullough)

Church of Jesus Christ Sets Annual Conference

The Michigan-Ontario Area of the Church of Jesus Christ's Missionary Benevolent Association will hold its annual conference next week.

General sessions are scheduled for Friday, July 14, at 7:30 p.m. at 14722 Morris, Allen Park, and on Sunday, July 16, at 7 p.m. at 16241 Harper, Detroit.

A Fellowship Service on Sunday evening will be the highlight of the conference. The general session on Friday will be devoted to reviewing progress to date, official reports, election of officers and planning for future activities.

The Missionary Benevolent Association is composed of local, regional, and general levels. The local level is made up of M.B.A. groups from within the branches of The Church, and the regional units, called "M.B.A. Areas," are composed of the local groups from within their regional geographical boundaries. The general level serves as the head of the organization and is directly auxiliary to the General Church, whose main branch is in Monongahela, Pa. There are four main purposes for the M.B.A. They are the conducting of scriptural study classes, the granting of missionary assistance, the seeking out and giving of aid to needy persons, and the spiritual guidance for young people.

The current Michigan-Ontario Area M.B.A. President is Joseph Milantoni of Allen Park. He is also a Church Evangelist and has been extremely active in Church missionary work among Indian people.

Visitors are welcomed to all services of the Faith. The Church, which lays claim to The Restored Gospel, is not affiliated with any other organization. Besides branches and missions in North America, overseas missions are maintained.

Fund Sends $6 Million To Israel

Detroit's Israel Emergency Fund has sent $6 million to keep health and welfare services going in Israel in the past five weeks, Paul Zuckerman, chairman, has announced.

Contributions have responded to the appeal to aid the old people, children and the families of soldiers who need added assistance because of the war crisis.

Organizations have also responded to the plea and asked members to make contributions or have contributed from their treasuries.

In a letter addressed to the officers of the some 300 organizational members of the Jewish Community Council, Dr. Samuel Krohn, president, asked for treasury fund contributions from the membership.

"The besieged people of Israel can no longer match every contributed dollar with two of their own in carrying out humanitarian absorption programs for the hundreds of thousands of immigrants we have helped bring to Israel's free soil, in aiding the young and aged, the chronically ill and the handicapped and the families of men now serving in Israel's armed forces," Krohn wrote.

"The Israel Emergency Fund is going into its last stages but the need will continue," Zuckerman pointed out.

"Just as the peace negotiations will take a long time to reach a conclusion, so it will take Israel and its people a long time to return to a normal economy. Our assistance will be needed continuously."

New Summer Schedule Set

The Kirk of Our Savior United Presbyterian Church, at 36680 Cherry Hill, Westland, will have just one service each Sunday throughout the summer.

All church services, including morning worship, church school and nursery care, will be provided at 9:30 a.m. The regular schedule will be resumed in September.

Ground Broken Sunday For Two New Catholic Churches

Ground was broken Sunday for two new Catholic churches in Observerland.

St. Kenneth parish, in Plymouth, will build on Haggerty Road, just south of Five Mile.

St. Clare of Assisi parish, in Farmington, broke ground at a site on Ten Mile Road, east of Middle Belt.

The two churches will be built from the same general plan. Each will seat approximately 500. The design for the one-story buildings is extremely flexible, so that they may be converted into schools or religious education centers when the parishes expand and permanent churches are built.

The buildings will be completed in December of this year, hopefully in time for Christmas.

Rev. Joseph Drogowski, pastor of St. Clare parish, was aided in the ceremony by the Rev. Robert Kilcoyne, pastor of St. Colman parish, and Thomas Kirwin, summer assistant from St. John's Seminary, Plymouth. The Rev. John Howard, Air Force chaplain, was also present.

St. Kenneth pastor, the Rev. James Machak, invited the Rev. David T. Davies, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, and John McEwen, Plymouth Township supervisor, to participate in the ground breaking.

Father Machak was installed

ed as pastor of St. Kenneth before the ground breaking. Our Lady of Good Counsel Church. A nine-member parish council was also installed, to advise and aid the pastor in establishing the church.

Scripture In Daily Life Is Bible School Theme

The Kenwood Church of Christ, 19601 Middlebelt Road, Livonia, will hold its annual Daily Vacation Bible School for two weeks, July 17 to 28, from 8:55 to 11:45 a.m.

The theme of this year's school is "Walking Jesus' Way." The staff aims to pre-

Folk Singer To Come Back

Folk-singer Joe Dowell will make a return visit to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Livonia, Wednesday, July 26, and Sunday, July 30.

The young artist sang at the church during April, and since then has made a number of appearances around the country.

He is scheduled to give a concert of sacred and secular music — complete with singing-along-in-the-church at 8 p.m. Wednesday, and will take part in the morning worship service Sunday.

sent the Scriptures along with facts of daily life in Bible times, showing that the Word of God, the Bible, was given in real-life situations and applies to real-life situations today.

The program will include worship, Bible stories, singing, recreation, mission emphasis and handicraft.

All children from first through the ninth grades are invited to attend the school. They may register your children Sunday, July 16, or the first day of Bible school.

The closing program will be held Sunday, July 31, at 6:30 p.m. The children will present to the parents a sample of all the activities of the school and display their missionary projects and handicraft.

Additional information is available from the minister, Lee Baltzer, at 476-8222 or Carolyn Collins at 474-4673.

WE SHOW YOU COST BEFOREHAND

At McCabe's we not only help arrange details of the service, but are careful to explain beforehand what the final cost will be. We also explain beforehand the many items of personal service covered by the one standard charge. While the cost of a funeral at McCabe's is often much lower than you'd think, we feel the family have the right to all facts beforehand.

Death Claims Robert Simpson, Minister at Mt. Hope Church

A fatal heart attack in the wilds of Algonquin Park in Canada last week ended the ministry of the Rev. Robert F. Simpson to the Mt. Hope Congregational Church, Livonia.

The Rev. Simpson, a former railroad agent who decided to study for the ministry when he was 37, was vacationing with his wife, Rachel, when he became ill. She drove him 60 miles to a small hospital, where he died.

The Simpsons, with their son, Robert, and daughter, Patricia, came to Mt. Hope at Thanksgiving, 1961, while the church was located on Davison near Livernois in Detroit. The Rev. Simpson led the congregation through a building campaign that climaxed with the dedication of the new church building at 30330 Schoolcraft.

A native of Springfield, Mass., Mr. Simpson was employed with the Boston-Maine Railroad in S. Hadley, Mass., and a lay leader in the First Congregational Church there when he decided to change his way of life.

"He had only a high school education, and we had two school-age children," recalled Mrs. Simpson, "so the decision was a big one."

"But once it was made, the way cleared for us so well that it seemed it was what we were meant to do." The family sold their home and went to Bangor, Me., where the Bangor Theological Seminary had a program set up for student ministers with families.

"We all went to school," Mrs. Simpson said.

While the children were in high school and her husband was pursuing his theological studies, Mrs. Simpson worked first as a secretary at the seminary and later took classes at the University of Maine and began teaching.

"My husband's studies covered seven years," Mrs. Simpson added. "He finished just a year before our daughter—our younger child—finished high school."

The last two years of seminary work saw the new minister serving the Congregational church in Searsport, a town on the Maine coast. Then the family went to Skowhegan, Me., where Mr. Simpson was minister of the Federated Church for two years before coming to Mt. Hope.

Son Robert now lives with his wife and young son in Elgin, Ill. Patricia will be teaching French in the Crestwood school district of Dearborn next year.

Funeral services for the Rev. Simpson were held from the Manns-Ferguson Funeral Home.

NEW BELLS for the Sacred Heart of Byzantine Catholic parish, Livonia, were blessed during a family picnic June 25 celebrating the 10th anniversary of the parish's establishment. The picnic was held at 29125 W. Six Mile, site of the new church building where the bells will later be lifted into place. On hand for the blessing were, from left, Father Roy Schubert, of Detroit St. Nicholas parish; Father Edward Zavell, of St. Basil's parish, Sterling Township; Father Myron Hornyak, pastor of the Sacred Heart parish community; Father Emil Masich, V.F., and Father Frank Korba, of St. Stephen's parish, Allen Park.

Women Will Hear Report On Mid-East

Mrs. Bartlett Hess, who recently returned from the Middle East crisis area, will speak at the July 27 luncheon meeting of the Dearborn-Plymouth branch of the Christian Women's Club of America.

Reservations for the meeting may be made by July 25 with Mrs. Betty Van Ornum, 453-6228, or Mrs. Joan Okins, 425-2299.

Mrs. Hess is the wife of the minister of the Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church in Detroit and Livonia, and she and her husband have made numerous trips to Israel and other Mid-East areas.

The meeting also will feature a talk on travel and packing tips from an airline representative.

Nursery care will be available.

New Graduate To Lead Salvation Army Group

Lt. Theodore Dalberg has taken over as city commander of Plymouth's Salvation Army unit.

He succeeds Brig. Ernest Hammer, who left to become Salvation Army leader in Niles.

Lt. Dalberg, 25, will live in Plymouth with his wife, Nancy.

He graduated this spring from the Salvation Army Training College in Chicago. The Plymouth post is his first appointment.

Born in Detroit, Lt. Dalberg lived in the Grand Rapids area most of his life.

As commander of the local corps, he hopes to establish an extensive youth program, which would include both recreation and devotion.

"We also want to have a visitation program, both for the people who come to our services and for others."

LT. THEODORE DALBERG

Open air meetings are also planned.

"In all of these programs we will be trying to win people to Christianity—this is our main purpose," Lt. Dalberg said.

Local corps headquarters are at 290 Fairground.

Pastor To Be Ordained At Free Church

Carroll D. Lindman, pastor of the Evangelical Free Church of Farmington, will be publicly ordained to the Christian ministry Sunday, July 16, at 4 p.m. in the church sanctuary, 23845 Middlebelt Rd.

The Rev. Gordon Kling, superintendent of the Great Lakes District of the Evangelical Free Church of America, will deliver the ordination address. The Rev. Clarence Balmer, pastor of the Evangelical Free Church of Bay City, will give the ordination charge to the candidate. Others participating in the service will be the Rev. George Goss, of Stanton; the Rev. John Hedlund, of Muskegon; and the Rev. John Bergman, pastor of the Evangelical Mission Covenant Church, of Warren.

Lindman is a graduate of Iowa State University, the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago and the Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, Calif. He is married and the father of three children.

A candidate for ordination in the Evangelical Free Church of America must serve at least three years in the church while under license of the denomination.

Antique Sale Set

A sale of antiques to provide funds for the Cloistered Dominican Nuns of the Monastery of the Blessed Sacrament will be held July 14 and 15 at the monastery, Middle Belt and 13 Mile roads.

Hours for the sale in the Guild Room, are 9:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Rummage, Bake Sale

A bake and rummage sale will be held Friday and Saturday, July 14 and 15, in the hall and parking lot of St. Gerald's Church in Farmington. The hours will be 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday.

Serving As We Would Wish to be Served

Bible School Has Western Theme

A Western theme daily vacation Bible School at Westland Baptist Church, Livonia, was climaxed last Friday with a record-breaking attendance of 230.

With Mrs. Erna Eschner as acting superintendent, the school was directed this year by Evangelist and Mrs. Ken Schmidt, known to the boys and girls as Uncle Ken and Aunt Marge. The boys and girls heard Bible stories and truths illustrated through magic and ventriloquism.

The congregation will join with Pastor Roland DeRenzo this coming Sunday in the dedication of their newly acquired bus. This bus will be most effective for the growth anticipated as the new educational unit of the Bible School is completed in late summer.

Fall program activities of the Westland Baptist Bible School, supervised by Don Taylor, go into effect Sept. 24.

Wally Roberts UP' GOING 'CURTAIN

The Detroit Summer Theater opened at the Detroit Institute of Arts last week with a super-charged production of "West Side Story." The first musical seemed to shake the usually staid Institute auditorium into happy hysteria.

Many critics carped about the acoustics of the Detroit Art Institute auditorium. Old Wally would give the auditorium a clean bill of health. It is one of the finest auditoriums in the Detroit area.

The actors performing for the Detroit Summer Theater need more experience in the necessary art of voice projection. You can't fill an auditorium the size of the Detroit Art Institute with a hollow reed. You must project, push that voice out until it bounces off the back wall.

Too many "West Side" performers were inaudible even when the orchestra wasn't blasting them into submission. Musical Director Cree should turn in his baton for such blatant fortissimo. The singers never had a chance; even if they could have enunciated the songs properly.

Diana McAfee, playing the part of Maria, had a beautiful voice. It was a joy to hear Miss McAfee sing "Tonight" and "I Feel Pretty." Kathy Ransom as the peppery Puerto Rican girl friend of Bernardo, chewed her speeches and songs into incomprehensible gibberish. Alan Gruet, almost too handsome for the role of Tony, showed great promise as an actor and completely missed the "boat" as a singer.

So the evening went as the Detroit Summer Theater struggled with a musical too difficult to put on the boards. Four weeks of rehearsal might have given the show the necessary quality.

Directors Ernst and Hirvela of the Livonia Summer Theater are presently putting their large cast of almost 100 through final preparations for a July 26 opening. Every little detail is being ironed out. For five weeks these two talented directors "bird-dog" every sound, motion, and movement so necessary to produce a professional performance.

"My Fair Lady" is THE MUSICAL COMEDY of our times. Make no mistake about that fact. It has had the longest run — almost seven years on Broadway. Played in more foreign countries. Even the folks in Moscow went wild with praise. Japanese audiences loved "Erizka" as she berated Professor Higgins in her finest Oriental cockney.

Over 160 students at the Franklin High School are working on sets, orchestra, and the script of "My Fair Lady." Directors Ernst and Hirvela selected these lucky students from over 10,000 secondary students attending the secondary schools of Livonia.

The Livonia Summer Musical Production Workshop has proven over the past two seasons that the SUMMER MUSICAL is an extraordinary event.

JC Auxiliary Seeks Help With Festival Health Unit

Volunteers are needed by the Farmington Jaycee Auxiliary to register people for a combination screening program offering several health tests which will be featured at the Downtown Farmington Center during the Foundation Festival July 27-29.

Those interested may contact Mrs. John Hay at 474-5664.

According to Mrs. Robert Witt, project chairman for the Jaycee Auxiliary sponsoring the screening program, many persons are today availing themselves of the health tests.

The tests screen for tuberculosis, lung cancer, possible heart abnormalities, diabetes, emphysema, and defects in sight and hearing.

"The tests are simple and take only a few minutes of anyone's time," Mrs. Witt said. "They can often uncover a chronic disease or disorder in its early stages before it becomes advanced and difficult to cure or correct." She also urged everyone to visit the health display which will be set up in a mobile home located behind the Farmington Dairy during the Festival.

The screening program will be conducted from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. all three days of the Festival.

The program will be conducted with the cooperation of the Michigan State and Oakland County Health Departments, Oakland County TB Society, Michigan Association for Better Hearing and Speech, Detroit Hearing and Speech Center, Michigan Optometric Association, Oakland County Optometric Society Auxiliary and the Farmington Lions Club.

'My Fair Lady' Is Summer Musical

"My Fair Lady" soars into reality July 26 at the air-conditioned Livonia Franklin High School for a five performance run. Originally, "My Fair Lady" ran 2,717 performances on Broadway.

The Livonia Summer Musical Production Workshop has been in operation for the past two years. "Music Man" was their first production, followed by "South Pacific" in 1966.

"My Fair Lady," the third annual musical production, has the largest cast assembled for a summertime musical production. Nearly 100 students have speaking, singing and dancing roles. An orchestra of 50 teenagers will accompany the gyrations of "My Fair Lady" on stage.

Faculty members Roy Ernst, Franklin High music director, and David Hirvela, speech instructor, are in charge of the "My Fair Lady" direction.

Georgina Buttigieg has the role of Eliza Doolittle and James Joy will play Henry Higgins. Patrick Williams will portray Alfred P. Doolittle, while Thomas Nedeeau has the part of Col. Hugh Pickering.

He Makes 3 Suggestions — Council Approves All

For a period of time the City Council session sounded like the complaint booth of a department store.

The customer was always right and received a satisfactory solution to the problems. Frank Valencic of 22449 Maple appeared with three separate problems.

First, he said that he was getting water in his basement after heavy rains because of surface water from the school playground on Freedom Rd.

HE ASKED the City Council if it would talk to the members of the school board about having the problem corrected. The Council said yes.

Next, Valencic appropriated the Council's blackboard for outlining how the ground next to a recently installed sidewalk was low and that if the area was not filled in the sidewalk would crumble.

He asked for some dirt to fill in the right of way and thus help support the sidewalk. If the city would provide the dirt, Valencic said, he would grade, plant and maintain the strip.

City Manager John Dinan told him that "that's a fair exchange" and that he would have the dirt in a week or 10 days.

THEN VALENCIC asked about the paving of Maple. He noted that during the summer the dust raised by the cars made it difficult to keep the house clean. He was assured that the street was scheduled for blacktopping and that it would be done soon.

All of this and Valencic observed that this was the first session of the Council that he had attended.

IN OTHER ACTION the Council:

- Received and filed a letter from Oakland County Republican Chairman Joseph Farnum on the reapportionment of the county Board of Supervisors.

- Awarded a contract for sewer and water facilities for the Woodcroft Subdivision to P. DiLerge & Sons, Inc., for a total of $134,554.43. Dinan told the Council that this was slightly higher than previously estimated, but still "within the budget."

- Let a contract of $3,358 to the Detroit Concrete Products Corporation for the Asphalt Resurfacing in the Glenview Subdivision. Dinan said that work on the project would begin "right away."

- Established the necessity of paving on Brookdale between Grand River and Nine Mile Rd. and authorized the city manager to take bids on the project prior to the Council's first meeting in August.

Plymouth Teachers Get Pacts

Acting on recommendations of retiring Supt. Russell Isbister, in his final official duties, the Plymouth Community School Board Monday approved one release from a teaching contract and contracts for 13 new members of the professional staff.

Mrs. Sharon Sergeant asked for and received release from a contract for 1967-8 as an elementary school teacher. In her letter, Mrs. Sergeant indicated her husband has been shifted to Battle Creek and not Plymouth as originally planned.

The new teachers include four for Junior High West and one for the Junior High Library.

Contracts were approved for:

Nancy Armstrong, math and science at Junior High West, with a Bachelor's degree from University of Michigan and two years experience in Howell.

Mrs. Susan Chapman, second grade at Smith School; bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University and one semester experience at Novi.

William Faunce, industrial arts at Junior High West, with a bachelor's degree from Ohio University and eight years experience in Fremont, O. and two years at Florida State.

Mrs. Judith Gallo, Junior High Library, with a master's degree from University of Michigan and four years experience at Grosse Pointe and two at Othello.

Mrs. Ellen Kilpatrick, reading program, with a Master's degree from Eastern Michigan University and two years experience in Flint and two at Whitmore Lake.

Mrs. Jane MacDonald, library at Gallimore School, with a bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University and no previous experience.

Questions and Answers

Is there a better way to separate the leaves of a head of lettuce than by removing the core and running cold water into the trough?

Tepid water run through for just a few seconds will loosen the leaves a bit more, but it must be followed immediately with cold water. Note also that lettuce leaves will separate more easily if they are at room temperature than if they are cold.

State Legislators Pass Resolution For Visitors

By resolution the Michigan State Legislature has shown its appreciation to the City of Plymouth, England, for sending its top officials to Plymouth, to help make a success of Centennial Week.

Through the efforts of Representative James Tierney (D-Garden City) who represents the 36th district which includes Plymouth, the following resolution was adopted by the House of Representatives:

WHEREAS, The City of Plymouth, Michigan, U.S.A. celebrated its Centennial anniversary on July 6, 1967, and;

WHEREAS, As an expression of the sincere friendship, and as a token of international goodwill, the City of Plymouth, England, dispatched Alderman Frank Chapman, The Right Worshipful Lord Mayor, and Alderman Harold M. Pattinson, C.B.E., leader of the City Council; Alderman R. G. King, leader of the Labour Party of the Council, and Stewart Lloyd Jones, Esquire, L.L.M. Town Clerk of the City of Plymouth, England, to represent it on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of the Village of Plymouth, Michigan, and to convey congratulations to Plymouth, Michigan, and.

WHEREAS, The Michigan Legislature is mindful of the meaning of this honor and gesture of good will,

NOW THEREFORE be it resolved by the House of Representatives with the State Senate concurring, that the Michigan Legislature extends its sincere thanks to the City of Plymouth, England; its officers and its people.

AND BE IT further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the City of Plymouth, England.

(signed)
Clerk of the House.
Thomas Thatcher.

Representative Tierney had the rules suspended last Friday to offer the resolution and State Senator George Kuhn did the same thing in the Senate, in order that the resolution could be passed and dispatched overseas as quickly as possible.

8-Mile Road Has Numerous Designations

LANSING — Few highways have as many names as the 18-mile state highway signed as M-102 in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

On the official State Highway map at M-102, it is also signed as Base Line Road, in 1955, it was dedicated by legislative action as the Columbus Memorial Highway in honor of the discoverer of America, and it is most commonly called Eight-Mile Road.

Between 1817 and 1825, Surveyor William Fletcher laid out the east-west "base line" in Michigan for use as a reference to survey all southern Michigan counties. It served as a dividing line for the 13 southernmost counties including Wayne, Macomb and Oakland.

M-102 follows this "base line" from US-25 (Griest Ave.) east to the I-96 Business Spur (Grand River Ave.).

Because major east-west roads in the Detroit area were named to jibe with their distance from the Detroit River, M-102—or Base Line Road—or Columbus Memorial Highway, also came to be known as Eight Mile Road.

AWARDING PRIZES at the Home Products Show, which closed Friday after a successful run, are: (from left) Co-Chairman Harold Fischer, Carol Stephenson, Mayor James Jabara, Sandy Sagar and Co-Chairman Eber Readman. More than 19 prizes were presented to winners of the various contests. Carol was Miss Sweet Charity of last fall's Community Fund Drive and Sandy served as Miss Sparkle.

Church Offers To Sell Land To School Board

The Plymouth School Board Monday took under advisement the purchase of the First Methodist Church property adjoining the senior high school on Church Street.

And members learned at the same time that the church was preparing to use the recently acquired property on North Territorial Road for construction of a new religious facility in the not too distant future.

It has been known for some time that the church officials have been considering a move into the Township for a larger facility and parking space.

As it now stands, the church is adjacent to the front entrance of the senior high with the parish house on the corner of Church and Adams. There is some parking space in the rear of the church but it has been far from adequate for some time.

The announcement of a site on North Territorial marks another step towards the creation of a religious complex in that area.

Previously, the First Baptist Church announced plans for the construction of a church adjoining the New England subdivision near the intersection of Sheldon and N. Territorial Roads.

And just three weeks ago, the Detroit Archdiocese started a new Catholic congregation in the district that includes all of the Lake Pointe subdivision, by taking almost several hundred families from Our Lady of Good Counsel parish.

As matters now stand, the major churches now located in the city include: United Presbyterian, Our Lady of Good Counsel and St. Paul's Lutheran.

The School Board decided to take the matter under advisement pending a study and promised an answer in the near future. With the need for space to expand the present senior high facilities, it is believed the Board will look with favor on the proposition.

Flat Rock Drivers Vie For Title

The annual mid-season championship for late model auto racers at Flat Rock Speedway will be held Saturday night (July 15).

The top 24 drivers in the point standings will be eligible. Joy Fair, of Pontiac, setting the pace in the race, will have the pole position with Dick Mitchell of Trenton, defending champion, in the No. 2 slot.

Lining up behind the leaders will be Ron Grana, Fran Harden, Jerry Cousino, Bill Jackson, Ray Barnard, Mel Murphy, Hugh Fair, Hugh Hans, Bill Ramsdell, Jim Clarke, Bud Pingleton, Jerry Miller, Dick Simmons, Don Montgomery, Jess Austin, Buzzy Kormos, Jim Toner, Hank Lloyd and four others.

All drivers will have to qualify. The time they turn in on their race against the clock will determine the positions in the trophy dash, heat races and pursuit race—all of which carry points as well as purses.

Trials begin at 7 p.m., the first race at 8:30.

Wash Jewelry Often

Skin-staining caused by the reaction of body chemistry with metal jewelry can often be reduced by keeping earrings, bracelets, and wristbands immaculately clean.

It is easy to wash them in sudsy water, using a fine paint brush to get into crevices. Rinse, and then use a clean cloth to pat each piece dry.

2 Plymouth Girls Win Top Prizes At Products Show

Two Plymouth girls—Janet Harter, 466 Arthur, and Rosemary Gondek, 592 Maple Street—shared the grand prize at the Home Products Show, one of the Centennial Week features, last week at Plymouth High School.

When the big moment came to select the winner of the $100 savings bond, these two names were drawn in what turned out to be the highlight of the evening.

The next prize, a $75 bond, went to Jackie Dunlap, 751 Auburn, Plymouth, while the third prize, a $50 bond was shared by David Bertell, 14845 Thornridge, Plymouth, and Andrew Smith, 42466 Schoolcraft. Fourth prize—a $25 bond, went to Wilma Muntyan, 850 Fairground, Plymouth.

These were the grand prize winners of the best-show of its kind ever held in Plymouth. More than 40 industrial and business firms in the area participated with colorful booths and the area's auto dealers also staged Plymouth's first auto show.

Winners of the other prizes were:

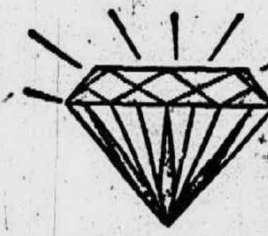

George Caldwell, 285 E. Ann Arbor Trail; Lin Gondek, 592 Maple Street; Mabel

Lepperd, 41232 Crabtree Court; Delores Field, 1442 Sheridan; Barbara Wolf, 14205 Shadywood Drive; Sheldon Alberts, 196 Hamilton Street; and Mrs. C. R. Hill, 46850 N. Territorial.

Also Dave George, 14915 Robinwood; Mrs. Irene Carroll, 34475 Six Mile Rd., Livonia; Robert Fohey, 41653

River Oaks; Mrs. Louise Gasper, 39942 Schoolcraft; Vi Denison, 48240 Gyde Rd.; and H. Acher, 940 E. Grand River, Brighton.

Sal Smith, 41801 Wilcox Road; Bonnie Baker, 722 Burroughs; Don Hees, 102 N. Penniman; David Kost, 33319 Richland; and Russell Gardner, 5858 Haggerty Road.

Shrine Spectacle Set For Aug. 25

With Dearborn Shrine Club as host, Moslem Temple Shrine will present its Arabian Night spectacular Friday night, Aug. 25, it is announced by John F. Ringwald, general chairman. The big show, which attracted about 70,000 spectators in 1962, will be presented at Ford Field in Dearborn.

Other officials concerned with the presentation are Fred R. Morrison, Illustrious Potentate of Moslem Shrine Temple, Mayor Orville L. Hubbard, City of Dearborn, honorary chairman, James M. Dick, co-chairman of the event, Marvin J. Wilkie, president of Dearborn Shrine Club, and Gerald Groat Jr., Moslem Temple's entertainment chairman. Mayor Hubbard is a member of Dearborn Shrine Club.

According to Ringwald, the Arabian Night program will include a parade and drills by Moslem Temple's colorful units, with members in full uniform, a high wire act and a huge fireworks display.

The marching units in the parade will include the famed Arab patrol, the "Million Dollar" Brass Band, Arabian Horse Troop, Oriental Band, Highland Pipers, Clowns, Stunt Corps, Motor Corps and Keystone Cops.

Musical programs will be presented by Moslem Temple's chanters (a male chorus) and the Combo. The program will close with a high wire act by the Rossels, aerialist artists, and a fireworks display.

"Our Arabian Night spectacle is open to the public and admission is free."

NEW MANAGER of the Plymouth Community Fund campaign is James Thomas, district manager of Consumers Power and long active in Plymouth Symphony, civic and service affairs. His selection as general chairman was announced in a meeting of the PCF Board last week.

Development of the individual is the primary goal of 4-H. Citizenship and leadership are stressed.

DPW News & Notes

By SUPT. KENNETH VOGRAS
Plymouth Public Works Dept.

During the past week workers in the Department of Public Works handled one funeral at Riverside Cemetery. Mowing and trimming of grass and shrubs was continued at the city parks, City Hall, and at the DPW garage.

Weeds were cut in the city parking lots and the work of mowing vacant properties was started in the city. Gravel was hauled to Elizabeth Street in preparation for seal coating in the near future.

Beginning July 5, a state representative started touring the city with one of our workers checking Elm streets for Dutch Elm disease. Ailing trees will be tagged if they are to be removed or for which samples have been taken and sent to the laboratory for a final decision. Notices will be served if the trees must be cut down.

One storm sewer was unplugged and one stop box was moved to the property line.

Red Cross Asks Blood Donors

A Red Cross bloodmobile will be held at the Northwest Office, 31228 Five Mile Road, on Thursday, July 20, between the hours of 3 to 5 and 6 to 9 p.m.

Donors are encouraged to credit the account of their choice.

Blood collections during the first half of June averaged 268 pints a day, which is far less than the minimum 350 pints needed by hospitals in the metropolitan Detroit area. Each summer blood donations decrease.

For an appointment to donate on Thursday, July 20, phone 422-2787.

State Police Report Water Deaths Are On Decrease

Michigan's 190 water accidents reported through July 5 this year have claimed 119 lives and injured at least 66 others, according to State Police provisional figures.

Compared with the same period a year ago, deaths are down 27 and accidents reduced by 21 while the number injured is about the same. Michigan's unseasonably cool spring and summer weather is viewed as a factor in this year's reduction.

The breakdown of deaths included 30 swimmers or waders, 28 who fell from bridges, banks, docks or piers, 18 boat operators, 12 boat passengers and 12 who fell through ice. Official reports have not yet been received on 19 other reported drownings.

Michigan's water toll for all of 1966 included record highs of 703 accidents, 346 deaths and 248 injured.

NBD Shows An Increase In Earnings

Consolidated net operating earnings of the National Bank of Detroit for the six months ended June 30, were $11,522,734, or $2.40 per share, it was reported today by Henry T. Bodman, Chairman, and Robert M. Surdam, President.

This compares with $10,961,757, or $2.28 per share for the corresponding period of 1966, and represents an increase of five per cent.

Total capital accounts of the Bank, including the reserve for contingencies, were $232,356,823 on June 30, 1967.

He Tosses Book At Cup Thrower

James Daske, 22, of 10049 Inkster Road, Livonia, appeared before Municipal Judge James R. McCann on two charges, throwing a missile and resisting a police officer.

The complaint said Daske threw a cup at the rear window of a car in the Daly Drive-In, shattering the glass.

McCann found Daske guilty on both counts and issued the following sentence: 18 months probation, $40 probation costs, $25 fine, $7.50 court costs, a 45-day suspended sentence at the Detroit House of Correction, and $61.32 restitution for the broken window.

3 Policemen Study Riots

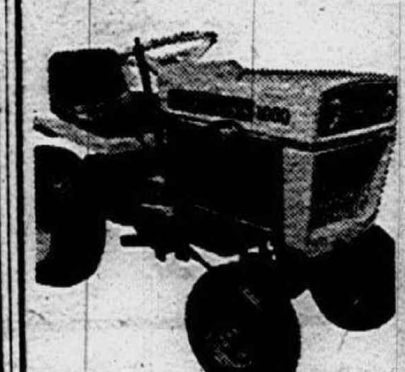

Crime, riots and methods of control were discussed at a recent training seminar.

Nearly 200 police officials from the United States and Canada attended the three-day session at Indiana, Pa., to witness and discuss the latest methods of riot control and law enforcement.

Three of them were from the Livonia Police Department — Lieut. Robert G. Campbell, Dennis J. Swift, and Corp. Thomas Carothers.

Federal Laboratories, Inc. demonstrated new tear gas techniques and equipment. The company for more than 40 years has pioneered new developments for law enforcement.

Airman 2/C Roger D. Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Fleming of 38120 Schoolcraft, Livonia, has been graduated from the U.S. Air Force technical training school at Keesler AFB, Miss. He is being reassigned to Selfridge AFB, Mich., as a member of the Air Defense Command. Airman Fleming is a graduate of Bentley High School.

U.S. Air Force Captain Herbert F. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Taylor, 301 Lillian Ct., Whitmore Lake, has received the Air Medal at Wurtsmith AFB, Mich. Captain Taylor, a KC-135 Stratotanker navigator instructor, was decorated for his meritorious achievement in Southeast Asia. He was cited for his outstanding airmanship and courage on successful and important missions under hazardous conditions.

The captain entered the service in 1960 and was commissioned in 1961 through the aviation cadet program. A graduate of Bentley High School in Livonia, he attended Kalamazoo (Mich.) College. His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max E. Bowen of 30885 Six Mile Road, Livonia.

Communications Technician Seaman Anthony M. Pyrkosz, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Pyrkosz, 37629 Lyndon, Livonia, is in San Juan, Puerto Rico, serving with the U.S. Naval Communication Station.

Terry L. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey A. Moore, 27510 Whitcomb, Livonia, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Tex. A 1961 graduate of Bentley High School, he attended Michigan Technological University. He received his B.S.E. and M.S.E. degree from the University of Michigan.

Airman Naila R. Lipp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert F. Lipp, 28646 Jacquelyn, Livonia, has been selected for technical training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., as a U.S. Air Force transportation specialist. The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Airman Lipp attended Schoolcraft College.

Seaman Recruit Brian M. Swain, 18, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin D. Swain, 3805 Auburndale, Livonia, has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center here.

Airman William T. Melvin Jr., USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Melvin Sr., 19985 Hubbard Road, Livonia, was graduated from the Aviation Mechanical Fundamentals School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center in Memphis, Tenn.

Robert D. White, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron A. White, 11401 Fairfield, Livonia, was commissioned an Army second lieutenant after graduating from the Infantry Officer Candidate School, Ft. Benning, Ga. A 1964 graduate of Franklin High School, Lt. White entered the Army in May 1966 and was last stationed at Fort Ord, Calif.

Cadet Frank A. Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay A. Henderson, 29162 Hathaway, Livonia, will attend Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps summer camp at Ft. Riley, Kan., with his unit from the University of Michigan.

Upon successful completion of summer camp and graduation from college, he may be commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army. Cadet Henderson is a 1964 graduate of Franklin High School.

Shutterbugs Get New Date To Snap Tigers

A new date has been set for Gold Seal-Tiger Camera Day, which was washed out along with the Tigers' game two weeks ago.

The shutterbugs will get their second chance to snap their favorite Tiger players Saturday, Aug. 12, before the Tigers meet the Baltimore Orioles at 2:15 p.m.

The field will be turned over to the camera fans from 1:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. that afternoon, with Manager Mayo Smith, the coaches and the Tiger players "posing" behind a rope barrier reaching from one bullpen to the other.

Players will be identified by overhead placards, according to Special Events Director Vince Desmond, who said special precautions will be taken to prevent overcrowding in front of any particular players.

Only fans with cameras will be allowed on the field. Prizes announced earlier will be awarded for the best photographs of the day in two divisions — one for adults, one for fans under 16. The adult prize list is topped by a portable television set and the junior competition will be for a bicycle and 26 other prizes, the same number as on the adult list.

Evans Names Somers Head Of Data Work

Walter A. Lee, Eastern Region Manager, Systems and Data Processing, of Evans Products Company has announced the appointment of Orville H. Somers to Data Processing Manager of the Plymouth Data Processing Center at the company's Transportation Equipment Group headquarters.

He will be responsible for the programming, scheduling and operational functions of data processing.

Somers, who holds a B.S. Degree in Accounting from Ferris State College in Big Rapids, joined Evans in April, 1966. Prior to his promotion, he held positions as Programming Supervisor and Systems Analyst.

Before he joined Evans, Somers was with the General Motors Corporation from 1959 to 1966 in data processing for the Fisher Body Division.

Somers is a member of Delta Sigma Pi (Professional Business Administration Fraternity) and is treasurer of the Whitmore Lake Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Somers, and their two children, live in South Lyon.
