McKeon Urges Full Youth Program

In the belief that a well rounded youth program is vital to the well being of any area, City Commissioner James McKeon has asked that a thorough study be made of teen-agers' activities in the City of Plymouth.

"I would like to see a committee of outstanding citizens of the area appointed to make a study, not only to analyze the needs of the young people," he explained, "but also to determine how these needs are being met."

Commissioner McKeon made this suggestion at the regular Commission meeting last Monday evening, and it was taken in stride with no positive

"I think the time is here-and I have been saying so for months--to make a complete analysis of the youth program in the city," Commissioner Mc-Keen pointed out. "And I am most interested in what is needed and what part the city can take to supply the needs."

Aware that the schools and such organizations as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the YMCA and the churches have programs, Commissioner Moreon expressed a desire to learn if the programs are encompassing all youth--or getting through to

"I have been informed by some folks that they are disappointed in the small number who engage in scouting activities," he said, "and I understand some of the programs in the churches are not attracting the expected numbers. "These are some of the things I would like to find out in a study," he continued, "and I think the City should help provide the guide lines for a bigger and better program." Commissioner McKeon made it plain that his ideas go way beyond a recreation program.

"I am interested in the cultural side, too, "he emphasized. "It is a sort of avocation and education. In other words, it is to help provide a program by which the young folks can do something with their time." It is a well known fact that the amateur hockey team had to practice between the hours of 1 o'clock and 2 o'clock in the morning at the Garden City rink last winter. And there was skating on Wilcox Lake for only two weeks.

"These are the items I would like brought into focus in the study", he concluded, "so that the City could take steps in at least helping to provide the sort of program beneficial to all the youth in the City."

According to the latest report from the battlefront 30 of the diseased trees are on city property and will be removed immediately. The loss on private property is still greater with 75 trees being tagged as the next to go.

October 1 Named To List Findings

10 CENTS

The water problem which has been bubbling in the City of Plymouth for some time is going to be brought out into the open - and the target date is October 1.

This was decided by the City Commission last Monday evening when a thorough study of conditions was agreed upon. To make certain that the action would not be shelved, as has happened in the past, the target date also was set.

taining Detroit water, (2) treatment of the Plymouth water and (3) the thorough cleaning of the city water mains. Dissatisfaction with the Plymouth water has been expressed from time to time. Countless numbers of complaints regarding rust have been heard. But nothing definite was done to remedy the condition. Commissioner James Mc-Keon opened the matter again this week when he asked for an accounting of the management of the water and sewer fund that now has reached the staggering sum of $400,000.

"All I want to know," he stated at the Commission meeting, "is how the money is being spent--or managed. It strikes me that a sum so large could be put to good use.".

City Manager Richard Blodgett assured him that the money could be accounted for and that of the $149,000 in the water fund, $50,000 already was budgeted.

"I am waiting for a report from the Water Committee," he stated, "to learn whether the acquiring of a new well will be recommended. That could be costly. "If anything is to be done with any portion of the sum," he advised the Commissioners. "it should be used to retire some of the outstanding bonds." Later in the meeting Commissioner McKeon opened the water question again by asking that a series of public hearings be held to get the public's view of the entire situation.

In fact, he placed a motion on the floor to that effect. It was shunted aside when Commissioner James Houk offered a substitute calling for a complete study with the target date of October 1.

The study will include (1) consideration of ob-Parish Cut growth of Plymouth, we will be able to make up the 300 families that we lost in a few years, and be a congregation of 1,500 families again," he said, "But it will be rough in between." While the growth of the com-

Public Howl Beats Off Zoning Change

Arbor Village and Salem Square subdivision residents joined forces this week to beat off a proposed Plymouth Township zoning change which would have permitted construction of a gasoline service station at the nearby northeast corner of Haggerty and Ann Arbor Roads.

More than 20 homeowners of the two areas attended Wednesday night's meeting of the Township Planning Commission in protest against the measure.

They also submitted petitions bearing 145 signatures objecting to the proposal, which would have changed the zoning classification of the corner from P.O. (professional office use) to C-2 (commercial).

The petitioner was the J. Austin Oil Co. of Wayne, which had planned to lease the property for erection of a Shell station. The commission's vote to deny the request was unani-

Paul J. Albright-Re: Policy with regard to the Dept. of Fire, Volunteer Requirements. Following discussion on the policy submitted by Mr. Albright in which Mr. Overholt suggested that the terminology regarding maximum manpower in said policy be changed to read "Not to exceed 35", Mr. Lauterbach moved that the Board approve the policy submitted regarding the number of volunteer firemen with the correction as heretofore mentioned. Supported by Mr. Overholt and carried unanimously.

Charles E. Childs (6-27-67)-Re: Action taken by the Plymouth Township Planning Commission at their June 21, 1967 regular meeting.

In response to Mr. McEwen's request that the Board act on this communication, Mr. Overholt moved that the Board accept the recommendation (1) of the Planning Commission on Application No, 64. It reads as follows: Denied a petition (Appl. No. 64) of the Union Oil Co. of Calif., after a public hearing, to rezone parcels of property at Five Mile Road and Haggerty Rd. from R-1 to C-1 and C-2. Supported by Mrs. Richardson and carried unanimously. Mrs. Richardson then moved that the Board accept the recommendation (2) of the Planning Commission Application No. 65. It reads as follows: Denied the petition (Appl. No. 65) of Joseph Sinacola, after a public hearing. to rezone property on the north side of Joy Road near Morrison from R-1 to R-2A. Supported by Mrs. Holmes and carried unanimously. Mr. McEwen then stated that no action would be necessary on Items 3 through 9.

Mr. Norman then initiated discussion on the proposed church on Haggerty Road, and in this discussion, it was determined by the Board that elarification in the ordinance regarding sidewalks was necessary.

John D. McEwen-Re: Recommendation of Kenneth Evans as Firefighter I, effective July 1, 1967. Mr. Lauterbach moved that the Board concur in the appointment of Kenneth Evans as Firefighter I, effective July 1, 1967. Seconded by Mr. Norman and carried unanimously.

John D. McEwen (6-30-67)-Re: Recommending Partition-ette, Movable partitioning for Township Hall.

Following discussion on the need for additional office space, and prior discussions by the Board regarding the need for this space, Mr. Overholt moved that the Board instruct the Supervisor to request bids for the above-described partitions for remodeling space in the Township Hall, Supported by Mr. Norman and carried unanimously.

Nellis and Nellis (6-28-67)-Re: Requesting Cooperative action for extending Lakeland Court.

A communication dated June 28, 1967 from John J. Nellis, attorney at law, regarding his client, Robert Kauffman, was read by Mrs. Richardson. Mr. Nellis advised in his communication that his client owned a parcel of land in the Township on which he is unable to secure a building permit because the land does not front on a dedicated street. He further advised that his client had ceased making payments on the contract and has made demand in the court for right-of-ways.

At this time, Mr. Hamill came before the Board, stating that he had studied the bids submitted for the construction of sanitary sewers and water mains, and proceeded to compare the separate items listed in the quotations from the three companies. He also stated that before making his recommendation; he would like to consult with the two lowest bidders regarding specific items noted in their bids and also discuss the possibility of omitting some of the construction involved, specifically on Lilley and Haggerty Roads.

Following this. Mrs. Holmes moved that the Board authorize the engineer to discuss the unit prices in this project with the low bidders and following this, report his recommendation to the Township Board. Supported by Mr. Norman and carried unanimously. The following subject was then discussed:

Charles D. Hannan, Architect-(6-13-67)-Re: Requesting the proposed Water Main be constructed on Haggerty Road for the proposed New Parish on the site of Five Mile and Haggerty

In accordance with request of Mr. McEwen, Mr. Hamill discussed this proposed water main, estimating a price of $12,000 for the school, or $25,000 for the project, based on a 16 inch main. Following this, Mrs. Holmes moved that the Board approve construction of a water main on Five Mile Road, from the existing to Haggerty Road, and south on Haggerty to the existing, and then from Ivywood to the south line of the St. Kenneth's parish property. Supported by Mr. Garber and carried unanimously.

John D. McEwen-Re: Appointment of Planning Commission Members

A communication dated July 11, 1967, from Mr. John D. Mc-Ewen, Supervisor, was read by Mrs. Richardson. Mr. McEwen recommended that following appointments to the Plymouth Township Planning Commission: Name and Address Term and Remarks

Carl Hartwick 42448 Clemons

Reappointment 42448 Clemons 3 year term ending July. 1970 Mrs. Holmes then moved that the Board approve the Supervisor's recommendation. Supported by Mr. Lauterbach and carried unanimously. Mr. McEwen then recommended that Mr. Smith B. Horton, 42057 Lindsay, be appointed to the Plymouth Planning Commission for a three year period ending July, 1970. Mrs. Holmes moved that the Board concur in Mr. McEwen's recommendation. Supported by Mrs. Richardson and carried unanimously. Elizabeth Holmes (7-6-67)-Re: Requesting the Township Engineer to make a study of the Sanitary Sewer Conditions affecting Bradner Road, Garland and Hamill in the Phoenix Park Subdivision, Clemons Drive and Northville Road.

This communication was read by Mrs. Richardson. In the discussion that followed Mrs. Holmes stated that this area is presently connected into an existing combination storm and sanitary sewer, built, probably fifty years ago, and that a new system was needed. Mrs. Richardson then moved that the Board accept Mrs. Holmes' recommendation and authorize the Township Engineer to make a study of the Sanitary Sewer Conditions affecting Bradner Road, Garland and Hamill in the Phoenix Park Subdivision, Clemons Drive and Northville Road.

Supported by Mr. Norman and carried unanimously. Mr. James L. Cousino, (11220 Haggerty Road) came before the Board and discussed excessive speed and noise of vehicular traffic in the area of Arbor Village, and asked that consideration be given to lowering the speed limit in this area to 25 miles per hour, and also asked that heavy trucks be stopped from entering Haggerty Road to go north on Ann Arbor Road. Following Mr. Cousino's requests, Mr. McEwen advised him that he would ask the Wayne County Road Commission to study his requests. Johns-Manville (7-6-67)-Re: Mr. William Blankenship requests the opportunity to discuss with the Board the application of Asbestos-Cement Water Pipe. No one being present relative to this request, the Supervisor proceeded to the next item on the agenda.

Resolutions and Agreements

Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company (6-21-67)-Re: Contract between the Township of Plymouth and the Railway Company covering an underground 12" Water Pipe Line Crossing at Joy Road between Haggerty and Lilley and a 16" Water Pipe Line Crossing on Northville Road, north of Five Mile Road and the cost of preparation of both agreements, being $135.00. Mrs. Richardson moved that the Board a to sign this agreement. Supported by Mr. Norman and carried unanimously.

Michigan Liquor Control Commission (7-6-67)-Re: Transfer of ownership of 19-6 SMD licensed business located at 39420 Schoolcraft Road, from Provie Eldridge to Arthur T. Hol-

Following discussion, Mr. Norman moved that the Board obtain a police report on the proposed new owner prior to signing this resolution. Supported by Mrs. Holmes and carried unanimously. It was moved by Mr. Lauterbach, supported by Mr. Garber to adjourn the meeting at 11:05 P.M.

The Stroller.

It is amazing what a fellow can learn while waiting for a second cup of coffee at the luncheon table. The other day The Stroller had the good fortune to sit next to Don Lightfoot, the well known agriculturalist, at the Rotary luncheon table and was given an education in the age old study of raising corn.

Don is not an ordinary farmer when it comes to raising corn. He knows the answers to a lot of things. And one of the things that endears him most to the people of Plymouth is the fact he raises and donates to the Rotary Club all the corn that is used at the Fall Festival.

This is no small item. It was estimated that more than 13,000 ears of the delicacy were used last year when more than 12,000 dinners were served in Kellogg Park.

The conversation switched to corn when Don was asked, in a friendly sort of way, how the corn was coming this year.

"Just fine," he answered, "but if this weather keeps up, I'll have to change my tune." The temperature was only 50 degrees and Don confided that when the temperature is 50 or below the corn will not grow. "We have lost three days already," he said, "but don't worry. We'll have plenty for the Fall Festival.

Among the other things The Stroller learned is the fact that to keep a running supply of corn on the market during the regular season, areas must be planted at three-day intervals. "What about the old adage that corn m u st be waist high by July Fourth?" he was asked. "Come out to the fields" he answered, "and I'll show you corn at varying heights. We have it all the way from here (pointing to his knee) up to here, (holding his hand at his waist)." "Must be quite a job picking the vast amount of corn in this area?" he was asked.

"You can say that again," he countered, "but it isn't bad. They now have a machine on the market that will do it automatically and pick an almost unbelieveable amount in a day.

"It is just new and it isn't for sale," he went on, "and it rents for $200 a day. And that's not bad rent for the job it does."

It has been said that there is as much corn raised between Plymouth and South Lyon as in any like area in Iowa "where the tall corn grows".

A NEW GOLF ALIBI:

The Stroller has been around the nation's golf courses for many a moon. He has "covered" big tournaments and little tournaments. He has listened to the wailing of the stars and the duffers for years and thought he had heard all the alibis possible.

But the other day he came across a new one. The Round Table group had just returned from a round of play and one after the other was telling of his "misfortune". Then, one of them spoke up and blamed his score on the fact that the builders of the course had laid the sod the wrong way.

What? "You've often heard of the run of the green, haven't you?" he asked. "Well the same thing can happen on the fairway." His listeners sat in disbelief. But he continued. "You'll always see the golfer study the lay of the green before he putts. He wants to see how the grass lays and if he has to putt with the grain or against it.

Well, I have found the same thing with fairways. If the sod is laid facing the sun and the sun is behind the tee the grass will grow in such a manner that you are hitting against the grass on every fairway shot. That can make a difference."

Now you tell one.

HERE'S SOMETHING NEW IN PLYMOUTH

Tom Notebaert, the tall, balding real estate man, is trying something new to help the younger male generation in the area.

He has erected a full size boxing ring in his basement for the use of the young lads. And who do you think the instructor is?

None other than John Kamego, the jovial director of Public Relations for Michigan Bell. John should be a good instructor. He was a Golden Glover when amateur boxing was in its heyday in the metropolitan area.

LITTLE JACK MAY LAUGH LAST:

When the story "broke" last week that the Plymouth area may lose its supervisors in the new county apportionment plan, there were those who thought Little Jack McEwen and Arch Vallier would be left out in the cold. But Little Jack only smiled.

Not only is he the Plymouth Township supervisor, he also is Mayor Pro Tem of the City of Plymouth Heights. And it may be that he could swing an election when it comes time to act on a charter - if it is necessary.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY —

It is fine to count your blessings — but don't rest on your laurels.

Public Has Right To Know Reason For Deficiencies In City's Work Program

Now that the deficiency in city planning has come to light and the government has delayed a request for federal aid for the Plymouth Work Program the time has come for the citizens to ask a few ques-

To be denied the request this year was unfortunate enough, but to have been denied the aid for the same reason for the past two years is another matter.

Something is wrong somewhere. And the people are entitled to know the reasons - all of them.

It seems rather surprising that many areas around the City of Plymouth are able to obtain vast sums from the government for one activity or another and yet Plymouth is denied because of what is termed "deficiency in planning."

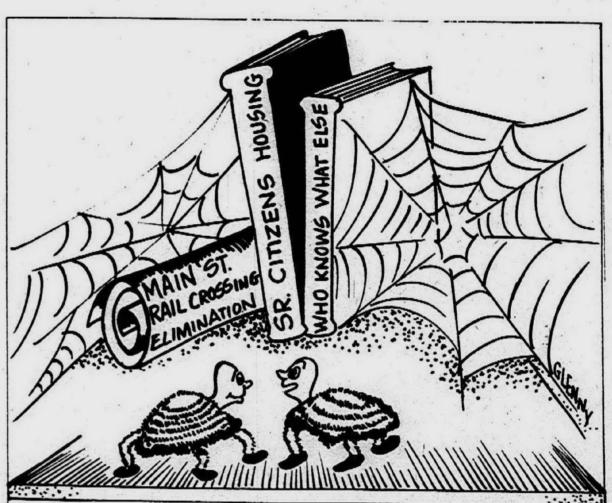

Who is at fault — and why? These two questions should be answered and no time should be lost in doing it.

With such things as the Senior Citizens Housing and the possible elimination of the Main Street rail crossing involved it is no time to take only passive interest.

The Senior Citizens home is of vital importance to the city. The site has been selected and many of the plans approved. So, nothing should be allowed to stand in its way. Such buildings are a long time coming at best.

And there is no secret about the need for the elimination of the Main Street crossing. It is becoming more and more of a detriment to business each day. The long delays at the crossing have a strangling effect on business and in many cases prospective customers shy away from the area.

The amazing thing about the letter from the federal government

"I LIKE IT BECAUSE IT'S QUIET, BUT THE WIFE COMPLAINS ABOUT THE DUST. "

was the fact that the deficiencies have been called to the attention of the city administration for the past two years - and as yet they are not remedied.

True, as City Manager Richard Blodgett pointed out, some attempt has been made to correct the condition by the employment of a housing inspector. It must be remembered that the City of Plymouth is only two miles square and a full time housing inspector might be a luxury. But he was given added assignments — to help meet the federal demand.

But when it is admitted that the firm that does the city planning has let the city down, it is time to make a complete statement of facts to the public.

Much of the federal complaint concerns neighborhood analysis and this is a touchy subject. Because of this it can not be passed over lightly. The government has complained that the Plymouth report was to o general in its scope

It is of little comfort to the taxpayer to be told that this is a sociology program and not one of government. Other cities must have met the same demand to obtain federal aid.

Why can't it be done in the City of Plymouth?

In general business or industry if a worker doesn't do his job - or carry his share of the burden - he isn't allowed to dally around and impede progress. By the same token, if the City Planners aren't doing a job, the same system should prevail.

It long has been stated - and correctly, too - that the wheels of government grind slowly. There have been studies ordered on various city projects in Plymouth and nothing is heard about them for

For example, the Central Business District loop traffic plan has been studied and approved since last February. Yet, nothing has been announced publicly.

The same is true of the railroad crossing study, which was approved several months ago.

In some cases, it seems, after studies are approved, they are placed on a shelf to gather dust, and nothing more is heard of them.

If there is a deficiency in help to get the job done it should be made

If there isn't, the public is entitled to know why such things as the government's latest denial of aid came about.

Letters To Editor Rozian's Loss Sure To Be Felt

Dear Editor. It is perhaps a stigma of our times that a Jack McEwen is in a position to replace an Irving Rozian. Nevertheless, the loss to the Township Planning Commission has taken place. Our forefathers must have known while they worked so hard on the laws to govern our land that there would have to be flaws in the way of things somewhere along the way no matter what they penned. Those of us who have worked closely with Irv Rozian on issues concerning the future of this area, as well as the national level, know his potential. It is not so important that Mr. McEwen replaced the head of the Industrial Sciences group at the University of Michigan College of Engineering with a Ford Motor employee. We all know titles can be irrelevant.

What is important is that, in this case, the man who holds the title of head of the Industrial Sciences group at the University of Michigan College of Engineering happens to be a brilliant man, gifted with a remarkable ability to see into the future, and at the same time, in a unique position to study the needs of the future through his particular media.

It would appear that he has been too capable to continue to communicate with a group who seem to have a great deal of trouble with the problems of today.

This community needs the talents of Irv Rozian and men like him, now more than ever before. And it is hoped that he will, as he says, remain active in Plymouth Community

Give Thanks Daily

Lord, morning."

By REV. HERBERT C. BRUBAKER he was forever grateful.

"And in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, give thanks every day for everything to our God and Father." Eph. 5:20, New English Bible.

Paul began each day with a spirit of thankfulness. This spirit was at the heart of his message to individuals and to the churches.

He had someone to thank, God was very close and real to him. Surely this is what God intends for all of his children. We are not to live as lost orphans. We are God's children by creation but we are to become his sons and daughters in 2 complete way as we turn to him and give our minds, our bodies, our wills and our all in full obedience to him. The living Christ helped Paul do this and

Paul hammered out a philosophy of thankfulness on the anvil of suffering. His Christian witness brought beatings and stoning. In his missionary journeys he encountered shipwreck, dangers from robbers, fellow-countrymen, and foreigners. We know he had a physical ailment with which he had to live. But listen to this courageous soldier of the cross: "I am well content for Christ's sake with weakness, contempt, persecutions, hardship and frustrations: for when I am weak then I am strong."

The kitchen is a combination of the beautiful and the practical throughout, but probably the most outstanding blending of the two is the island sink-dishwasher area.

It is certainly unique. From this sink-work center, Mrs. Bauer has only to turn around to open the door of her brown refrigerator. The provides more work space than usual. When Mrs. Bauer has company it is easy for two women to work on either side of the sink.

However, the practicality of the island is noticed only after its charm. The free end of the island is supported by a column of rough-hewn cedar. Attached to this beam is an oldfashioned carriage lamp.

Aside from the island the kitchen has two other work areas only steps apart. There is a cooking center housed in an orangy brick wall.

Crissey and the other coaches at the club have been spending the last few weeks turning cautious children into bubbleblowing fishes.

'Play water games with children," Crissey recommends to parents who want to improve their children's swimming, especially games where they get their faces under the water."

Ring-a-round the rosey and games where children duck under water and try to see the color of each other's eyes or bathing suits are good.

Once children lose their fear of water -- although they should always keep their respect of it -the teachers at the Colony start showing them how to float. They

The Ann Arbor Republican pointed out that agricultural products make up and account for one-fourth of all U.S. exports. American farmers supply more than one-fifth of the world's total. Most of the exports were in the form of regular commercial sales but 20% help to feed hungry people, build future markets and promote the economies of developing countries.

"It is not something we have drawn together on the spur of the moment, and we are not trying to stop negotiations or prevent salary increases. We are only trying to avoid strikes for the benefit of the children."

Raeside pointed out that until now each of the 43 Boards of Education in the county has chosen its own route in teacher negotiations, not being bound by any mutual statement of policy.

Strikes have occurred in Gibraltar, Highland Park, Ecorse and several other school districts, and the threat of wholesale teacher refusals to work unless contracts are signed before Labor Day hangs over most of the county as local negotiations for 1967-68 contracts proceed through the

Earlier this week, the Board of Education scored its first breakthrough on the labor front by unanimously agreeing to a new pact covering wages and fringe benefits for cafeteria employees for 1967-68.

Two more agreements will be considered by the Board at its meeting Monday night. These pertain to transportation employees and the maintenance and custodial group, who have proposed an over-all eight per cent boost.

Evans Reports Coil Car Sales

Evans Products Company's Transportation Equipment group has sold 25 of its coil cars to the B&LE Railroad and 10 to the Santa Fe, it was announced this week.

The B&LE units are 52-foot, 125-ton cars and are scheduled to be delivered about Aug. 1. Those for the Santa Fe are 50-foot, 100-ton cars and will be delivered later in July.

The prospect of their actually placing recall petitions in circulation appears highly unlikely, however. Rozian, himself, admitted that he had heard there have been discussions of a recall movement among his sympathizers, but said he was not a party to such talk. Robert Dwyer, titular head of the Democratic party in the Plymouth area, conceded that he, too, had heard rumbles of the desire for a recall election in the township, but he declined to take the stump as an outspoken advocate of such a drive at this time. In a nutshell, foes of the township administration have been handed another piece of ammunition for political warfare, but it's questionable whether they feel the powder keg is full enough yet to justify touching off the fuse.

They figure that inevitably they'll have more to work with the longer they wait.

Townsend Dunn Steel Division Rates High As Supplier Of Vital Parts To Automotive Industry

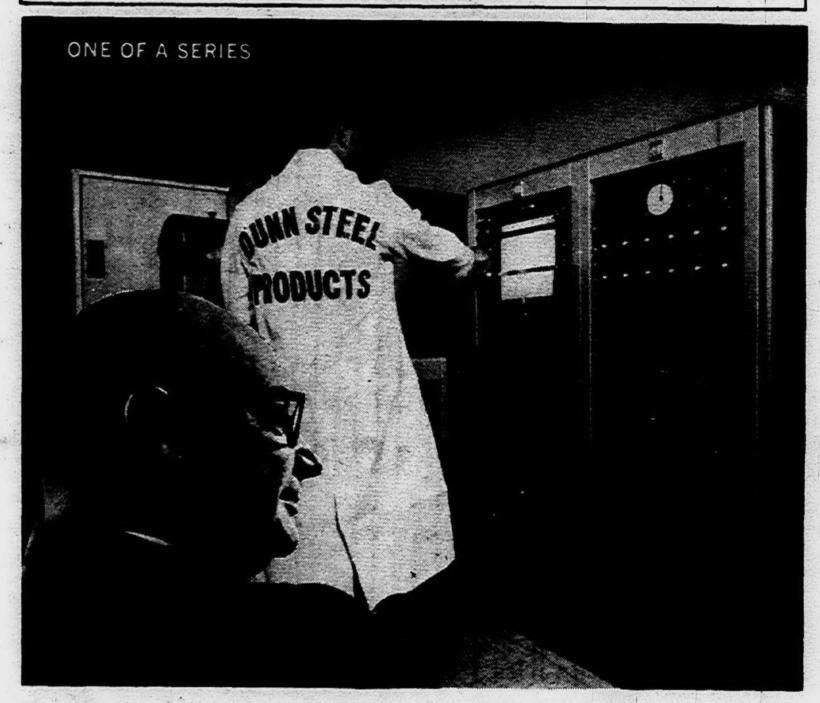

The "hot" subject of today is automotive safety. The important role played by the Dunn Division in making motoring safer for you is described in this advertisement. It appeared in BUSINESS WEEK-a magazine read by more than 1,300,000 professional management people in business and industry throughout the United States and abroad. It is reprinted here to keep the residents of this area informed of the activities of their neighbors in Plymouth, the Townsend Dunn Steel Division.

A look over the president's shoulder shows...

How another Townsend "first" makes motoring safer for you

Dunn ball studs, vital components in the efficient operation of automotive steering and front-end suspension systems, are going to be safer than ever, thanks to another substantial "first."

These critical parts are a specialty of the Townsend Dunn Steel Division at Plymouth, Mich.

Dunn developed the first method of precision cold-heading ball studs as early as the middle 1930's. Since then innovations and improvements in ball stud design and production methods have kept Dunn in the vanguard of the industry for more than thirty years.

MAXIMAL QUALITY CONTROL

A continuation of this pioneering spirit led to the desire for maximal quality control of ball studs to assure optimum performance. The latest advance comes with the installation in the Dunn plant of a Quantovac-the first in the fastening industry.

This equipment performs automatically in a few minutes, accurate spectrochemical analyses of steel parts in process.

EXHAUSTIVE TESTING

With the Quantovac, Dunn will test the first ball stud made from each coil of steel. Production from that coil will not be shipped until the exact chemistry of the finished parts has been determined and certified.

In addition, other tests will reveal hardness and soundness of samples to provide a complete physical account of steel quality. To top this off, studs also are given 100% visual inspection for any external flaws that would disqualify them for assembly in a suspension or steering system.

TOWNSEND LEADS

This objective and exhaustive approach to the ultimate in product quality explains in part why Dunn maintains its position of leadership in this segment of the fastening industry.

It is also true that all Townsend · divisions, as specialists in other fields, have advanced the science of designing and producing critical fasteners for all industry to a degree that maintains Townsend Company as the leader.

CHSERVER NEWSPAPERS

By TIM RICHARD

Now in his fourth term in the State House of Representatives, Raymond L. Baker operates like a Lansing veteran.

The Farmington Republican is chairman of the House committee on conservation and recreation and is also a member of the liquor control, insurance and youth committees.

He works quietly; one rarely reads about him on the wire services or in the daily papers. He is cautious about expressing a personal opinion; his newsletters from Lansing give no hint of the part he must have played in committee work on controversial bills, or of how he voted.

Like many other Republicans elected in whole or in part from Oakland County, Baker can be greatly affected by the deep, serious rift between the conservative "outs" and the moderate "ins" within the party, and he'd like to keep on good terms with all.

A pharmacist by profession, Baker is Michigan-born and raised and loves the outdoors. So we began by asking him about some major conservation matters and then got into other bills on liquor, water pollution and the party structure. Here are the questions and his answers

Licenses Hiked

QUESTION: The Legislature has raised the price of resident fishing licenses from $2 to $3, raised non-resident licenses from $5 to $6, established a new trout-salmon stamp at $3 and will require a license to fish in the Great Lakes. In addition, the House has voted to raise state park annual car permits from $2 to $3 and deer licenses from $5 to $7.50. Are these related? Why are they all being raised at once?

"I would say that many departments--such as Mental Health, and Social Aid and Welfare--have no means of raising funds to support their programs. But I think that the Conservation Department is making some effort to do this. And even though these fees are being raised this year to some degree, the public is still getting a real bargain when it comes to outdoor activities.

"Let me give you an example; this one is important because it's been controversial over the years: Should we charge a license fee for fishing on the Great Lakes? If you go across the river to Ontario, you'll find for a number of years you've had to pay anywhere from $5 to $5.50 or $6 for a license. This is still going on.

"The State of Michigan hasn't charged, yet we've contributed much to our Great Lakes as far as the establishment of better fishing and the protection of fish we already have; for instance, the lamprey eel control program. Along with the federal government and Canada, along with Wisconsin and other states, we've contributed an awful lot in that effort to the point where in Lake Superior we're now getting lake trout back again.

"We have encouraged—and spent a lot of money on tourism, and we encourage people to come into the State of Michigan. Many of them come every weekend from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and those areas; and they come upand they'll have $5,000 worth of equipment as far as their car and their trailer are concerned; and if they're coming for a weekend, they'll bring their own groceries and actually spend very little money in the state.

"Now who's really paying for that? We talk about increasing fees, and the average fisherman and sportsman-he's not the one who's really complaining. The ones who are complaining-especially in the Legislature-are ones who are 'really concerned about the poor guy who's being deprived of something.' But actually, as I mentioned earlier, our fees are low in comparison with most states, and we're doing much, much more for the dollar than is exhibited in most other states.

"For instance, our program on the coho salmon, and the chinook which will be planted

"The reason for the fees increase, which is what you want to know, is basically the man who supports these programs (now) is the man who stays home on a weekend with four or five children, taking care of his lawn, trying to keep up his home; he doesn't have all this fancy equipment, yet he's the man who has been paying the bill.

"On raising the license fees for deer hunters, we held many hearings on this, and basically it's the deer hunters who have been asking for this, because we all recognize that through people and modern transportation, we're losing deer habitat; and, of course, you have to have habitat for the sustenance of the deer herd. And so $2.50 of this increase would have gone for the continuation and improvement of the deer habitat situation, which, of course, is a long range program."

Sunday Liquor

QUESTION: On the Sunday liquor issue: The Senate tacked an amendment on one of your House bills; the Senate version would allow some form of Sunday liquor. What do you think of Sunday liquor as a matter of public policy?

REP. BAKER: "Well, of course, I'm not opposed to the principle of trying to tell people whether they should drink on Sunday or whether they shouldn't.

"I am concerned about the bill, because it happens to be my bill that came back from the Senate amended, and it sort of makes me, instead of the father of Sunday liquor, its step-father.

"The bill that was attached to mine is supposed to be taken after the law which Ontario just passed about a year ago. But there's a slight difference: There are some hidden features in this that many of the legislators and, I'm sure, many of the people don't understand.

"In the first place, the Ontario bill says that you can purchase cocktails or highballs on a Sunday with a meal equivalent to 50 per cent of the total check, between certain hours--I think it's 1 and 3, and then from 5 to 9 or something like that.

"This (Senate) bill was copied from that, except that they say 50 per cent of the business done by the man holding the license. And this is (to be) proven by an affidavit which is filed with the State Liquor Control Commission.

the State Liquor Control Commission. that kind this year.
"Well, this is a pretty open-ended thing" "So it's the feeling of most of us in the

to say, that all a man has to do is file an affidavit.

"However, the bill that is being offered now says 'food or services.' Now, there's a slight difference there. In other words, you could have a hotel—we have one in Lansing called the Roosevelt Hotel—where they've stopped serving food; it has now become a third or fourth—rate hotel, and you can imagine the type of services they might have to offer. And this could be used as the basis for their liquor volume.

"Or you might have a little bar up north, in an isolated area which caters to the local trade, and he might have groceries on one side, or a gasoline pump out in front. So this can be considered as part of his volume of business."

Baker added that of the mail he had received, the anti-Sunday liquor letters came from both inside and outside the district, but the pro-Sunday liquor letters were entirely from people in the business and outside his district.

"They talk about wanting to give people the right to vote on Sunday liquor--I haven't had one letter from one person writing as an individual inside my district asking for the right to vote on Sunday liquor."

Pollution Control

QUESTION: Rep. John Bennett (D-Redford) has introduced HB 2369 to authorize the state to borrow up to $100 million as 25 per cent participation in a total program of $400 million—with the other three-quarters coming from the federal government—for a water pollution control program. He has complained, somewhat publicly, that the governor and the Conservation Committee which you head are taking little or no interest in his bill. We wondered what your thinking was on this approach to a water pollution control program.

REP. BAKER: "We're in agreement that something needs to be done in the area of pollution, and much work has been done.

"However, no concrete programs are being offered at the present time. I feel we're going in too many different directions in too many different ways to try to come up with a program which is equitable and can be used throughout the State of Michigan.

townships which have problems when it comes to sewers and sewage disposal....but how do you allocate the money to any local group or severnment?

"Also, there's the question of bonding the state is full faith and credit for $100 million-this is a lot of money, particularly this year, when we're concerned with just meeting our general budget.

"But further than that, the federal government has indicated that by no means are they going to consider giving a matching grant of Legislature--and this bill didn't get out of committee--that we just aren't in a position to bring out a program that will bond the State of Michigan's full faith and credit for $100 million. We know from the federal government that this money is just not available; we're just fooling ourselves at this particular time."

The Conservative Wing

QUESTION: Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, has organized a "Republican Citizens Committee of Oakland County," a group that appears to be somewhat more conservative than the regular party organization. His committee has announced a rather elaborate organization—an executive director, a board and so forth. How do you, as a member of the Legislature who has to deal with and depend on the party machinery to be elected, see this kind of an organization? What contact have you had with it?

REP. BAKER: "Well, I as a public official haven't really had any contact with that new organization; I'll be real honest.

"In fact, I have taken it on myself to feel I shouldn't become involved. Sen. Huber is a very good friend of mine. I have good friends in the organization which has been established over the years. What effect it's going to have on future elections I don't know.

"It seems that the new group is, perhaps, more conservative than some of the rest that have been longer established, and I think it started back when Gov. Romney failed--saw fit not to support--Sen. Goldwater back in 1964.

"I don't know what's going to result from this. I have found from talking to the other representatives from Oakland County--and, of course, these are the only ones concerned-we're going to take a position of more or less just standing to one side. This doesn't mean we're discharging (ourselves of) our duties to party affiliation.

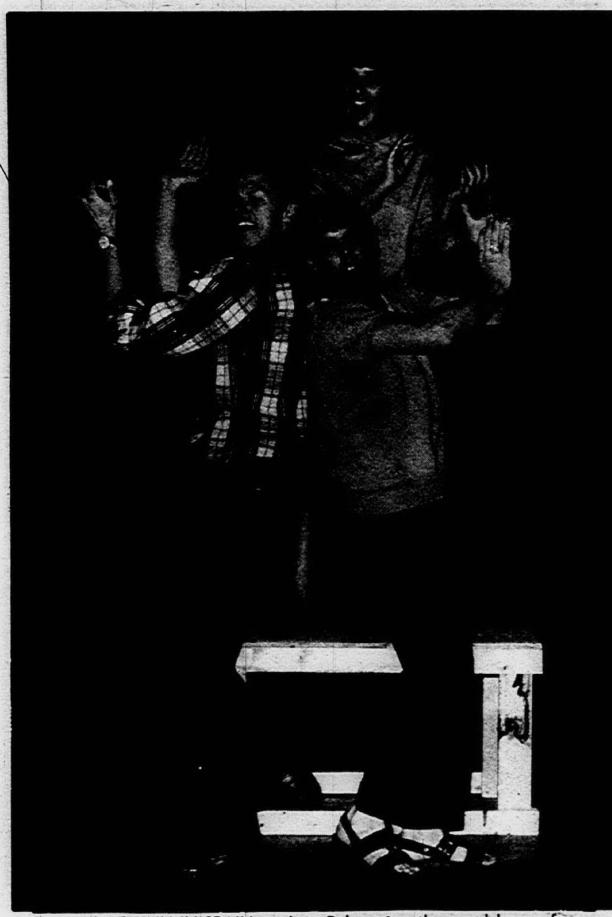

"I can't speak for any of the others, I'm speaking only for myself: I feel that I'm fairly conservative; in fact, I have always during my campaigns not wanted to be tagged as a 'conservative' or a 'liberal.' I would say that if I were to have a name tagged on me, I would like to be called a 'considerate' because each issue and each problem should be considered on the merit of that problem.

"What's going to happen in the future--I don't know. Various people will have their favorite candidates, and I have felt that I have always acted for the district I represent rather than any one particular group; in fact, I'm sure I have; although I'm a Republican, I feel that my obligation is to all the people in the district. I personally don't want to be drawn into any controversy between two factions."

"This is a totally different same way for the directors. opportunity -- a very different I don't have papers from four thing from what we do during the school year. The enthusiasm of the kids is really great!" Roy Ernst, musical director of the Livonia Summer Theatre, displays a good deal of enthusiasm himself. This is the third year he and his colleague, Dave Hirvela, have produced a summer musical in Livonia.

This year the play is "My Fair Lady." It will be staged at Franklin High School's auditorium next Wednesday through Sunday, July 26-30.

Last year the summer theatre produced "South Pacific" and the year before the project was begun with "The Music Man."

The idea began, Ernst and Hirvela explained, as an effort to find some sort of enrichment program for kids who didn't want or need regular remedial summer school.

The summer theatre participants are senior high students from all three Livonia high schools. They work on the production from 8 a.m. until noon every day for about five ESTIMATES OF the number of kids involved in the project vary considerably. The directors say there are about 60 in the cast and orchestra combined, while news releases of the enthusiastic student public relations committee claim 100 cast members and another 50 in the orchestra.

There is general agreement that about 50 students are working on behind-the-scenes committees.

Hirvela, who directs the cast coordinates committee work, explained some of the advantages of the summer season for a theatre production;

"During school, the kids are shot at the end of a school day--I know I am, too. This way they're fresh.

"Also, in the summer we don't have to compete with homework and the other clubs and activities. That works the other classes to deal with."

Hirvela, who has been with the Livonia schools for four years, has recently been appointed chairman of the English Department at Franklin. Ernst is Music Department Chairman.

"I want to make it clear," Hirvela said, "that we are in no way trying to train professional actors here. Maybe some of these kids will become drama teachers, or be involved later in college or community theatre; but its enough if they just acquire some feeling for what's involved in the theatre."

THE SUMMER THEATRE IS formally known as Livonia Summer Musical Production Workshop. As the name implies, the project includes some extras along with staging the Field trips to the Detroit Institute of Arts to see "West Side Story" and to a summer theatre project at Hillsdale College were included in the program this year. Each of the committees is directed by a faculty instructor. Members of the cast and orchestra are also given individual help and in-

Ernst said that he and his colleague have thought seriously of expanding the program to be more like a summer school for the performing arts.

It might include classes in drama, chamber music, jazz and modern dance. "The transportation problem is the biggest headache in setting up this sort of program. Now the kids get here any way they can.

"We have applied for a federal grant toward setting up this kind of instructional program," Ernst said. "We worked on it early in the winter, but then the people in Washington told us that was about the right timing to have it for NEXT summer. So now we're waiting to see what happens."

Both Ernst and Hirvela pointed out that in order to be selfsupporting the productions have to nearly sell out every night. "My Fair Lady" tickets are available at the Franklin High School box office daily from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Daylily: Domestic Bloom That Went Wild

By BETTY FRANKEL Special Writer

Long ribbons of tawny orange daylilies line the roadside and flaunt their brilliant blossoms at the base of old trees.

They are one of our commonest and best known wild flowers, but they are not natives of this country. Their home is in Asia and southern Europe. They have been cultivated for hundreds of years and were first brought to this country by the early settlers.

They were a favorite flower in Colonial gardens and soon escaped from cultivation and proliferated and gradually spread westward across a large area of the country. THE TAWNY daylily (Hemerocallis fulva) and the lemon lily (Hemerocallis flava), another old-time favorite, are still cherished by present-day gardeners. In addition, there are also a multitude of hybrid varieties that would have astounded the old-time

WELCOME ABOARD — Joyce Kazmierski, one of the state's leading women golfers, will join the faculty at Livonia's Stevenson high school next fall. She is slated to teach psychology, but in her spare moments may hopefully instruct a few people in the finer skills of golf.

It should be interesting around Livonia Stevenson high next fall when Miss Joyce Kazmierski shows up to teach psychology.

Before Miss Kazmierski is on the premises very long, it's a cinch that she'll be besieged by faculty member and student alike - and no doubt some outsiders.

You see, Miss Kazmierski happens to rank as one of the finest woman golfers in Michigan. She has held the state gals' championship in the past and just the other week reached the semifinals before being ousted at Plum Hollow.

Her arrival at Stevenson also could have major effects on the Stevenson high golf team. While it's an all-male combination, the contingent may look to their famed teacher for special

Who knows? Before long Stevenson may even take advantage of Miss Kazmierski by establishing a girls' varsity golf team. All of which could shoot us off on a pet peeve of ours - why no prep sports for the girls? But since this is summer and the schools are on vacation from regular sessions, we'll leave that topic for another time.

MISS KAZMIERSKI, OF COURSE, far outclasses the ladies who each week participate in the Livonia League tourney held at Idyl Wyld, or the gals who play at Farmington Country Club, Brae Burn, Glen Oaks, or any of the other fine golfing establishments in the area.

But, as we noted herewith recently, the gals constitute the biggest reason golf is on a major upswing, from a playing sandpoint - not only hereabouts, but throughout the United States.

We popped the subject before Mrs. Louella Nelson, who's in charge of publicity for the Livonia League.

"I took to golf, as did so many of my women friends, so that we could spend a little more time with our husbands," she said.

"Hubby has become an ardent golfer . . . not great, mind you, but he likes it. So I soon discovered: what was wrong with my learning the game and our going out a couple afternoons a week and playing together?

"It's been great for both of us. I think we have learned to be a little more tolerant of one another. He doesn't mind my whacking the ball around. We truly have a lot of fun. Besides, it's so healthy for both of us."

AS FOR THE SPREADING POPULARITY of women's leagues, Mrs. Nelson said:

"The day has passed when most women stick to their homes like glue. We have modern conveniences to do the washing, etc., so we have more time. "Besides, we can let the laundry or the cleaning wait when we know we have a specific date for all the girls to gather on the golf course for the weekly Friday tournament." At the moment Doris Gaymer, just 20, is the star of the Livonia League. Doris attended Schoolcraft last year and plans to continue her education up at Central in the fall. She doesn't spend as much time on the links as she would like. Work comes first for Miss Gaymer, who has a job as a dental assistant. Her scores usually range from 45-48 for nine holes. Those who have watched her feel that Doris could cut her rounds to around 42-44, if she could devote considerably more of each day

It's also to be noted that many of the women bring their daughters with them each Friday. The little ones frolic and maybe swing away with their

Golf is one sport which has no age limits. Kids from 4-80 play it, which makes golf an exception to the sports rule.

again some other day.

Can't blame the Livonia Pavel-McDonnough Class A baseball team for chanting the old tune.

Everytime the Livonians are supposed to meet the King Boring team of Dearborn--yep, the skies open and down comes the rain. It was that way again Wed-games remains to be seen. "It might be that we'll just have to take a whole week to play them," cracked Stockwell.

THE RAINS came after the Livonians had the umpires hand them a victory via the forfeit route in a game with Dearborn Heights.

It happened this way:

The teams were playing at Henry Ford Field in Livonia and were subject to an 8:30 p.m. deadline. With Livonia leading 7-1, in the top of the fifth inning and the Livonians at bat, the Heights team resorted to stalling tactics.

The strategy was obvious: Drag the proceedings on past two more runs. John Griffeths was hit by a pitch, wheeled around to third on Grimes' hit and came in with Grimes on Dave Washburn's hit.

Griffeths staged some dandy base-running in the fourth. After he singled, he stole second, third and home. In the fifth Rence singled and made it around on two errors and a passed ball.

THE NORTH Farmington Americans scored a first-round victory over Southfield, 7-1, before being eliminated by Walled Lake, 5-4.

John Cullen hurled the victory for North, allowing four hits. Russ Blanzy and Greg Adams each had two hits for the victors.

Blanzy was coasting along until the fifth inning against Walled Lake when a three-run homer ruined his one-hit effort and sent his team down to nine-inning battle, 4-3, by the Southfield Nationals, A double, walk and single in the ninth. the third extra inning, decided the game.

Dan Hickey, Tim Collar and Lou Doot hurled for the losers. Doot had freed the Farmington team from a jam in the sixth, but was the victim of the winning Southfield outburst in the ninth.

A six-footer by the name of Bill Hendricks forced North Farmington's Americans to resort to bunts for the most part. Jim Burnie scored the first American run in the third after getting aboard on a hit in the third inning.

Ernie Nicolay and Mike Combes singled for Farmington's final two runs.

Schoolcraft Concerts

Quality, Audiences Up

craft College's Court Concerts this summer was to establish the young community college as a center of suburban culture and to start a tradition.

There was considerable worry about quality, about the size of andiences, about money.

Well, the third concert was performed outdoors on the campus Wednesday evening, and this reporter is willing to wager a dollar, at the risk of offending the prudes in the Post Office Department, that the fourth and final concert next Wednesday will be as good as the rest, and that the board of trustees will see fit to plunk more money into a series next summer.

The third concert was as well attended as the first and better attended than the second. which is a good sign, because it means that the music lovers and not just the social climbers are out

Dunlap put together the sort of program where every single selection is intensely interesting, and nothing is on the program just to "represent" some period or fill in a gap.

There was the neo-classicist Paul Hindemith's charming arrangement of a "Suite of (Seven) Ancient French Dances," in which he uses modern equivalent instruments such as flute for recorder, oboe for schalmei, and English horn for krummhorn.

There was Hayden's "Farewell" symphony (No. 45). This is the one where, in an adagio appended to the final movement, the musicians gradually leave in small groups until only two are left. Besides being musically worthwhile in its entirety, the "Farewell" also let the Court Orchestra's first chair musicians be shown to advantage. A slender bull fiddler named Marian Wingert did things you would never think could be done Once again, Director Wayne with that massive instrument;

the crowd favorite seemed to be the symphony cellist with the teen-age long hair and baby-fat cheeks, Barbara Fickett; and the real intellectuals nursed a crush on Emily Mutter Austin. the warm-toned concertmaster.

Finally there was Hayden's Mass in D minor, the 'Nelson" mass, sung by the Michiganraised Kenneth Jewell Chorale. The program notes say its performance was made possible with the support of the Michigan State Council for the Arts, which is as good an argument as any for socialized culture. Political-economy aside, it was an outstanding event, Hayden's orginal title means "mass in time of fear (or war)" and the voices are strong and young.

Outstanding? No, gripping. In the first review of Schoolcraft's Court Concerts, we made note of some bugs--brass problems, timing of the intermission, electric fans going on, and so--and expressed confidence that the problems would Closing the series next Wednesday at 8:30 on the campus at 18600 Haggerty Will be Paul Doktor, who plays the viola, an instrument one usually associates with the string quartet and not with the solo instruments.

Doktor, probably the outstanding guest artist of the series, will perform Hindemith's 'Trauermusik for Viola and Strings" and Telemann's "Concerto in G Major."

If your want ad is in this paper, people are reading it today!

Somewhere a man will be giving his front lawn its Summer conditioning treatment when the paper boy comes by. He will already have realized that the old muscles softened up during the winter, and his copy of the Observer will give him a welcomed opportunity to take a breather before finishing his work.

Sitting down on the front steps, he lights his pipe and turns to the Want Ad pages of the paper. Why the Want Ads first? Because he has in mind that there is a certain item he wants to buy, and he knows that he can find it offered in the Want Ads. It may be a better power mower, a car for his son, or outdoor furniture for his patio.

He is just one of thousands who will see your ad when it appears in the Observer Want Ad pages. That is why you can count on quick results. People who read Want Ads are looking for something.

To place your low cost, hard working Want Ad, use the convenience of your telephone and call
