To Clean Sewers By Fall

All sewers in the northwest section of the City of Plymouth are going to be cleaned before the snow flies - even if the work has to be done by outside contractors.

This was decided upon by the City Commission Monday evening when several residents of the Adams Street area appeared and complained of flooded basements during the last rain.

After hearing the complaints, Commissioner Vallier, angrily, demanded to know why the sewer problem in that area hadn't been tended to before now.

Turning to City Manager Blodgett, he said-

"Dick, I called this to your attention more than a month ago and I want to know why the work hasn't been done."

When the City Manager answered that work was being done in many parts of the city and that it hadn't advanced to that section, Commissioner Vallier demanded that the complaints ing" building. Several years ago at the time Western Electric moved into Plymouth, a similar suit was filed and property owners were successful in their fight. In that case, the abutting property was considered residential, whereas South Main Street is zoned commercial and many business firms are located there.

In approving the special assessment without a dissenting vote a week ago the City Commission agreed to pay approximately 70 per cent of the cost of the project, estimated at $119,565.

At the time it was stated that the special assessment would be levied against the abutting property owners in this fashion: Paving-$7.50 per front foot:

$3.75 per side foot. Driveway-$9.00 per yard for 8 ft. walk $6.75 per yard for 6 ft. walk. Storm sewer—$6.59 per front foot, $3.29 per side foot. Prior to approval of the special assessment Dr. G. K. Ashton, representing the property owners at a public hearing, raised several pointed questions. Among them was the question of who determined the necessity for the widening and paving. He stated that certainly it was none of the abutting property

He told the Commission the property owners would receive no benefit and, therefore, should not be liable for the special assessment.

He also raised a question regarding what he termed "unequal assessments," pointing out that the difference in the amounts levied against the two gasoline stations.

It was then explained, with some surprise to the property owners, that the small end of a given lot was always the front. Under this method, the Standard station on the corner of South Main and Ann Arbor Trail was assessed on a side foot basis, while the other station, was assessed on a front foot basis.

Under this plan, according to City Manager Blodgett, Standard had been assessed on a front foot basis when in Ann Arbor Trail was improv-

To Boost Fund Drive

Plymouth's annual Community Fund Drive again will be graced by a "queen" to aid in putting the record $98,586 campaign over the top, General Chairman Jim Thomas disclosed this week.

"Miss Sweet Charity II" will be chosen prior to Sept 15 from among candidates nominated by business and professional firms, civic organizations and the agencies which derive support from the Community Fund.

The drive itself will open with the traditional torchlighting ceremony in Kellogg Park Oct. 9 and will continue through Nov. 10.

Thomas explained that the young lady chosen as "Miss Sweet Charity" essentially will represent the young employed people of the Plymouth community who have an important stake in assuring continuing services of the 13 Fund agencies.

"There isn't anything I'd like better than to see the $1 fee removed and the Fund totally supported by uninsured drivers paying $35 fees," said Hare. "But with only 18 months of experience, removal of the insured fee now would be ill-advised and premature."

Hare made the statement on the heels of a published study conducted by a pair of Michigan State University researchers who recommended abolishing the $1 insured

Moelke Restores Inspection Fees In Council Row

Mayor Harvey W. Moelke today cranked up the fee-inspection system on commercial and industrial property after the council blasted him for withholding check payments from the treasury.

LYC Checks Summer Jobs For Youth

The Livonia Youth Commission is surveying summer opportunities in Livonia, according to vice chairman Mrs. Sally Katz, in charge of the project.

More than 100 letters are being sent to local departments and organizations such as Parks and Recreation, Livonia Youth Incorporated, PTA's, churches, and civic associations regarding present summer youth programs.

The letters ask for information about youth activities and job opportunities sponsored by the organizations.

The commission will compile a report on present youth opportunities and then make recommendations to Mayor Harvey W. Moelke.

The project is in response to a request from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has been urging expanded programs for youth. Mayor Moelke designated the Youth Commission to help with this aspect of President Johnson's game he's (Moelke) playing." Council on Youth Opportuni-

It's a Hair-Raising Trip for Ron, Mike

Nobody knows what Ron and Mike will look like when they get back from Alaska but everyone is hoping for the best.

Their parents and friends will find out Sept. 2.

"They went up looking like American teens and they said they're coming back looking like Alaskan teens," said Mrs. John Varga, 18100 Wayne Road, Ron's mother.

"I don't know what they're going to look like."

Ronald Varga, 17, and Michael Betzold, 17, are roomates at Sacred Heart Seminary. They left for Alaska July 20 with Michael's father, Eugene, of St. Clair Shores, for Alaska in a camper.

Stops along the way were scheduled at Prince George, a ferry trip from Prince Rupert to Skagway and into the Yukon for hunting.

Plans are to sell the camper in Alaska and fly back to the Livonia area Sept. 2 in time for the opening of the school year two days later.

How will they look? Long hair is very "in" with Alaskan teenagers this year.

Delay Of Road Safety Measures Irks James Hare

LANSING - Secretary of State James M. Hare has defined the legislature's work in traffic safety as "good but limited . . . with several key measures enacted."

Here said the lawmakers "did some strong groundwork in the safety area, much of it involving unglamorous but important programs not apparent to the public.

"However, I was keenly disappointed over the failure of certain measures to gain favorable action," Hare said, scoring periodic motor vehicle inspection, the so-called Illinois traffic ticket system, authority to deal with problem drivers on the basis of accident involvement, and establishment of a medical evaluation board as major omis-

SPORTS

Is the day coming when high schools will play no more football or basketball games at night?

"Don't be surprised," said a gentleman who should know, but who prefers to keep his identity unknown.

"More and more schools around the suburbs each year are cutting out night football," he tells you. "More are on the verge."

The esteemed gentleman paused . . .

"It's a shame that the schools have had to take the action, because, really their student bodies aren't to blame. It's just that unfortunately there is a 'hoody' element that attaches itself to high school football and basketball . . . and this holds true in the big cities as well as the

"The schools can't stand any troubles. You don't blame them either. So they have to resort to one move-and that is to eliminate the night games."

Our friend confesses that there have been some instances in the afternoons too. But not as many.

Time, of course, was when all high school football was in the afternoon. Games for the most part took place on Saturday afternoons. But college football grew . . . television appeared and the preps moved their games to Friday and whenever possible got themselves some lights. It's true that games have drawn extremely well at night . . . more than in the afternoons. But there would appear to be a trend back the other way-now. More afternoon contests. Gaze about in our immediate area.

Bentley, Redford Union, Plymouth and Garden City East have lights.

Franklin, Stevenson, Thurston, Farmington. North Farmington, Garden City West, Our Lady of Sorrows and St. Agatha are just some of those who have played their games in the afternoons.

The daytime crowds haven't been bad, either. Thurston, a few years ago, made the move to "buck" the colleges and play on Saturdays with kickoff times at 2 p.m. The response was so satisfactory, the school has maintained the schedule.

The feeling that television would hurt the preps has vanished. Once it may have. But now days, most of us get bored with what the tube has to offer, so we go looking for "live" entertainment.

The Tigers have discovered that home TV on Saturday hasn't hurt their crowds. Ditto for the Pistons when they have hosted a Sunday game for national television and not blacked out the Detroit area.

And who can forget the days when the Lansing station piped the Lions' home games into the entire

Redford Golfer Roars to State Runnerup Glory

The honor, indeed, was a distinguished one for Ed Thompson of Redford Township.

The 49-year-old engineering supervisor, who stands only five feet, five inches and weighs 140 pounds, was a mighty man in last week's Michigan Publinx golf tourna-til the 18-hole final, where he found Terry Hoy of Pontiac master-the final count readjust a little too much.

Hoy started by winning the first three holes, two via birdies, and from then on he zipped past Thompson to capture the deciding match, 5-4.

Although happy with his play throughout the tournament, Thompson naturally was disappointed.

"I thought I might go all the way," he declared. Thomspon turned in some to the deciding match. He qualified with a 77.

On the first day of match play he bumped out Don Sor-Lawrence Hampton also of ousted by John Kurach of Saginaw, 5-4.

Thompson wasn't phased by Goh's reputation. The final result was 3-2.

On the result hinged the sectional title . . . and moving on to greater heights.

For eight innings neither team could score a run. Then in the ninth, Proviso cashed in, sided by an error, and the tally led to a 1-0 triumph and all the glory that goes with winning so important a contest.

For Garden City there was tournament.

Rick Orlandoni, who had beaten Proviso, 3-2 in the opening game of the tournament, locked horns with Dan Steinback for the first seven innings in the championship game.

Orlandoni gave up four hits, his rival three.

Came the eighth inning, new pitchers took over. It was Jim Cortex for Garden City and Don Goldberg for the visitors from Illinois.

A walk to Bob Egan started Proviso's winning rally. Johnson's sensational 73 in Goldberg then reached base on an error, setting up the game-winning single by Andy Englund.

NASCAR Stock Car Stars At Motor City

The second annual NAS-CAR Grand Stock Nationals meet will headline two nights of racing at Motor City Dragway this weekend (Saturday, Aug. 12, and Sunday, Aug. 13).

Some of the top drivers on the NASCAR Grand Stock Circuit will take part in the meet. Included will be Kenny Vogt, 1966 winner of the Spirit of Detroit Manufacturer's Cup, chief prize of the Speed Week-End meet.

Among the entries are four from the Detroit area who have won many points and purses in similar competition this year. They are: Wayne Ridden by Larry Snyder, the Gapp of Inkster, who will drive a Comet; Dave Lyall of Detroit, in a Ford Fairlane; edge Royal Course from the Paul Moody of Belleville, in a Ford; and, Dick Smith of Kerr's Papa W. was third. ## RainStops, Livonians Drop Pair

After five straight rainouts Livonia's Peval-McDonnough Class A baseball team finally was able to play King Boring of Dearborn for the first time this season last Friday.

The teams met again Sunday.

Judging by the results, maybe it would have been just as well if the rain kept pouring down each time the two clubs were scheduled.

King Boring turned on Livonia twice, winning 1-0 and 10-5.

To make matters worse for Livonia, in its 1-0 blanking the team was the victim of a no-hitter fired by Dave Garthen. He allowed only one man to reach first-walking Don Smith with two out in the seventh inning-to come within an eye-lash of a perfect game.

John Breckenridge pitched brilliantly for the losers. He gave up five hits and yielded the game's only run on a walk, stolen base and single by Norm Nelson.

Nelson socked a three-run homer to pace the King Boring assault against Livonia in the second meeting between the two teams. Four runs in the third inning helped to lock up the Jim Rose had two hits for the losers, while Roger Frayer knocked in two runs with a single and manager Jerry Stockwell knocked over the other Livonia run with a hit.

Livonia, now 11-7, meets King Boring again Wednesday and Thursday.

HONORARY BATBOY for the Detroit Tigers this month is Michael Banas, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Banas, of 28031 Sheridan Street, Garden City. Michael, flexing his muscles with an Al Kaline model bat, was picked for the title through the Tiger Dugout Club at J. L. Hudson Store. As a reward, he will receive a full Tiger uniform and Friday night, he and his parents and brother, Gary, 10, will be guests of the Tigers at a twi-night doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles. They will get a tour of the dugout and sit with the Tigers during the pre-game work-out. During the game, the family will sit in a special boxseat. Mike is a third grader at the Lathers Elementary School.

Third of four historic plays presented in repertory by the Greenfield Village Players, "The Henrietta," is a penetrating, humorous drama, written by Bronson Howard, dean of American Drama.

"The Henrietta" was first performed in New York City at the Union Square Theater, Sept. 26, 1887. and in 1913 revised as "The New Henrietta" for a successful run at the Knickerbocker Theater. The initial production ran sixtyeight weeks.

Howard reveals the flat disregard of ethics fundamental to the practice of "high finance," and it is at the stock market that Howard aims his well-turned to this year's Michigan State shafts of satire.

It was a welcome relief to enjoy Plummer's fine sensitivity as an actor after too long an absence from the Stratford Festival. The movie moguls have kept this brilliant Shakespearean actor too busy during the past four years. His "Cyrano" still lives vividly as a true masterpiece.

Plummer's Anthony has a sweep and grandeur about it. the proper amounts, and con- taking perfection. template in awe at the depth of his characterization.

Under the astute direction of Michael Langham "Anthony and Cleopatra" swirls along with the speed of a Roman chariot. Characters propel themselves swiftly and efficiently. Scenes tumble one upon the other. It is said that Shakespeare back in 1508 conceived the play as one continuous action broken only for a short interlude during the two-hour traffic of his stage.

And so it is with this energetic production of "Anthony and Cleopatra." Only one exception mars the evening's full appreciation. Zoe Caldwell as Cleopatra appears to be miscast. You almost sense her uneasiness as she strives nobly about the Stratford stage. There is a harshness where softness should be.

Miss Caldwell has always been a brilliant comedienne. As Cleopatra she has some excellent moments when berating the messenger for bringing such bad news about her Anthony. Her love scenes left old Wally cool and indifferent.

Cleopatra has always symbolized love incarnate. Her worldly charms, her voluptousness, her sensuous physical proportions all conspire to give her the title of the original Sex Kitten. Miss Caldwell, even with the topless design of her costumes that gave total exposure to her lovely buxom breasts, could not generate the charm and kindly light as necessary for proper feminine mystique.

Strangely enough the military aspects of "Anthony and Cleopatra" had a sounder, more realistic ring to them than the torrid love scenes. Remembering the fine job that Director Langham did with the militant "Henry V" last year should come as no surprise.

Yet it would seem that the yards of poetry, the lyrical quality of "Anthony and Cleopatra" should have emerged more clearly than it did. On Saturday and next Sunday, Ashkenazy will play the Beethoven Concerto No. 5 in E flat major ("Emperor") on a program which will include Shostakovich's Symphony No. 1 and the world premiere of Ernst Krenek's six part "Horizon Circled." the work commissioned by the Meadow Brook Festival committee.

The composer, educated in his native Vienna and in Berlin and now an American citizen, is regarded as one of the most successful writers working in the twelve-tone idiom. He will fly in from Hawaii for rehearsals and performances.

Ashkenazy came suddenly into international prominence in 1956 winning first prize in the Queen Elizabeth Competition in Brussels. Harold Schonberg, New York Times critic, has dubbed him "The greatest living pianist of this generation."

Tickets are available at Hudson's, Grinnell's, or the Festival box office at Oakland University, 338-7211.

With the avowed purpose of recharging their spiritual batteries campers have left regular employment to rough it under canvas, in cabins, or campers for the 10-day convocation which ended Saturday night, Aug. 5.

Grounds for the encampment are the 52-acre campus of Grand Ledge Academy, one of five secondary schools in Michigan operated by the church. Some 5000 "permanent residents" lived in 651 tents, 350 permanent cabins, 300 trailers plus scores of individually owned tents. They turned the area into a temporary town whose water, electrical and other needs approximately equal those of nearby Grand Ledge. Week-ends bring an additional 13,000-15,000 persons. One family from Holly, Mich., lived in a houseboat turned trailer for the session.

Realizing that more than prayers are needed, campers responded with 253 pints of blood to replenish riot-depleted Michigan blood banks. $2,000 and hundreds of sheets and other bedding were allocated to relieve the distressed in riot areas.

Already plans are under way for camp meeting next year which is expected to be the largest ever. It will be the Centennial anniversary of Seventh-day Adventist Camp Meetings which began at Wright, Michigan in 1868.

WHY did 42 people die? Why were over 2,250 men, women and children hurt. Why did Detroit flame for nearly a week?

Of course, the temptation is to say that we know why it happened, to give simple and solid answers to soothe our troubled consciences.

Equally, once we have found out why it happened, we can start passing out the blame.

That's right. Get it off your chest.

Outside agitators. Communists. Socialism. Failure to get tough at the start. A plot. Political shenanigans.

But that isn't true. None of

To Black Racists, 'Law And Order' Are White Men's Subversive Ideas

About now, perhaps you're tired of hearing politicians say that one way to prevent riots is to teach "respect for law and order" or "respect for authority."

Gov. Romney says it more than anyone. President Johnson says it a good deal, too. Vice President Humphrey said it. Jim O'Neil, the Republican State Board of Education member from this area, says it.

It won't work, gents.

Take a look at the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee's little pamphlet, "We want Black Power."

To the Black Power fanatics, "law" means "white man's law."

To them, "authority" means "police force with 97 per cent whites in a city with 60 per cent

To them, "order" means whites disrupting a friendly Negro gambling-drinking party at three in the morning, an hour or more after the white-imposed 2 a.m. closing time for bars.

"The black man in the ghetto ... is already living outside the value system white society imposes on all black Americans," says SNCC.

That's pretty sociological stuff. The "white society's value system" to these chaps means the white man's ideals of working, saving, investing, not wasting money on gambling; it means Christian ideals that aren't always practiced; it means whiteowned banks, whiteowned stores, white personnel directors in the plants.

"The white man controls everything that is said in every book, newspaper, magazine, TV and radio broadcast," says the Black Power pamphlet. "Even the textbooks used in the schools and the Bible that is read in the churches are designed to maintain the system for the white man."

That's why it won't do any good to preach "law" and "order" and "respect for authority."

The Black Power pamphlet is emphatic that it wants to burn down white values. What values the Black Power group will substitute—other than a frank admission of Voodoo—aren't spelled out.

So if it's useless to preach about "law and "order" to the rioters, what can you preach?

We don't know.

We're saying Romney, Johnson, Humphrey, O'Neil and the other politicians are wasting their breath, but we don't have an alternative. At least not yet.

Rebuilding the damage done by the riots in Detroit will involve a lot more than urban renewal, technical training for the jobless and uneducated, and the gamut of social services.

Those rebuilding jobs will be relatively easy compared to finding new words and ideas to transmit to people who are being told by racist fanatics that everything a white man says is a lie and an attempt to subvert "Black Culture."

It's a big, scary job.

This Is The Week That

. . . By Don Hoenshell

Jerry Cavanagh doesn't deserve the rap.

Politicians who deal from headlines say he's finished in a parlay of domestic strife, money problems in the city and the nation's worst race riot in history.

Nuts. He's still the same guy who had the courage to bail out the country's fifth largest city with a politically disastrous income tax.

He tried harder than any other man — and this includes the cloud-kissers in both pertinent races — to keep the peace. And what happens at the hearth is nobody's business.

What does this have to do with the cozy suburbs?

It has plenty, because without a strong and vigorous Detroit with an economic base spreading outward like the sunshine, there would be no suburbs. Without Detroit we don't live.

Cross out the legends of Edward Jefferies, who was mayor during the 1943 riots, and of Frank Murphy, later governor and the political godfather of G. Mennen Williams, and Cavanagh is the greatest Detroit's had.

Cavanagh's first newspaper clipping in Detroit was a bout thow he and three other University of Detroit kids were caught in a parking lot with some football betting cards. It was tossed out of court.

His next was his announcement for mayor against Louis Miriani, whose financial policies followed the Ponzi kind of manipulating that Albert E. Cobo exercised before him. Detroit was a fiscal mess.

Cavanagh won, to everybody's surprise. The 20-20 hindsight of editorialists conceded he won because Miriani had ordered a "crackdown" by police against crime (Negroes) and Detroit needed a new face.

Cavanagh took office with a $34.5 million deficit in the city. The races were tense and edgy, spoiling for a scrap. The police and firemen were underpaid and the city needed a champion.

The city got one.

There was the day when the Uhuru, a militant black group stormed into Cavanagh's reception room and sat in, mumbling freedom songs and demanding to be heard.

Cavanagh came back from lunch and heard the advice of his staff to talk to them, at least to their leaders. Cavanagh then and still has the knack of politics. Michigan can't afford to lose him.

"These people don't represent the Negro community and I won't see them," he said.

So all of a sudden, Cavanagh is on everybody's bad-guy list.

Detroit's in financial trouble again and it's going to take a lot of money to re-bail—a job Cavanagh did before. Negroes of the militant stripe are turning against him because he won't let them run the city. Same with the Rosedale Park whites.

Suburban mayors knock

Cavanagh because he got

Federal dollars for his city. If they could do the same, they'd buy billboard space.

It turned into a political mistake when Cavanagh went against Williams for the United States Senate in the primary. Now he's smeared by grand jury publicity for accepting money from corporations, a practice enjoyed through various ruses by both parties for years.

And the ladies and gents who sniff the haughtiest at the Cavanagh domestic problems could better check their own. From the gossip, you'd believe Jerry Cavanagh has no friends.

I see one every morning shav-these simple things are true.

WE really don't know why they rioted in Detroit. We may have a few ideas, but we really don't know.

This makes the rebuilding job terribly difficult, for if you don't know why a building fell down it's very hard to put it up again and feel secure that it won't collapse another time.

Particularly if buildings have been falling down in Detroit, and Newark, and Tampa, and Watts, and just about everywhere we have cities in this country.

There does seem, however, to be some evidence which hints at what may be one of the causes, and it comes out of looking at the sort of people who have rioted.

Daniel Moynihan, the director of the Harvard-MIT Joint Center for Urban Affairs and one of the most thoughtful men now studying the sickness in our cities, has suggested that the people who did the rioting came from the "urban under class."

Moynihan says that this class is sharply, even radically different from anything known in suburbia.

"The basic conditions that would appear necessary for the formation of such a class have clearly existed in our cities for a generation now," he says.

"First, and uppermost, is unemployment. The depression has never ended for the slum Negro.

"To unemployment, add low wages, add miserable housing, add vicious and pervasive forms of racial discrimination, compound it with an essentially destructive welfare system and a social scientist would have every ground on which to predict violence in this violent country."

Moynihan adds that of the Negro youths reaching 18 in this class, some six out of 10 have been at some time supported by Aid to Dependent Children programs. He also points out that perhaps two-thirds of the families in this class have been broken up.

This may or may not be true, like all generalizations.

But if Moynihan is even partially right in claiming that the riots are involved with people in this new class, we might think about two things if we're going to do any rebuilding worth anything at all:

1) If this is a new class, its members are going to feel more allegiance to their class than to American society in general, particularly if we reflect that our society has had a lot to do with bringing them to the grim position they are at now.

This is perhaps a partial explanation of the real thrust of the black power advocates, who claim that the Negro's only real allegiance can be with other Negroes.

2) If this is a new class, and if it's as angry and dispossessed as Moynihan feels, then it will clash sharply with the rest of our supposedly classless society.

Karl Marx, in writing about the working class, predicted a never-ending escalation of conflict between the capitalists and the workers. He argued that the only way the workers could get justice was by revolution.

Many countries proved him wrong. Society evolved, and members of the "working class" found themselves able to make a better and better life for themselves, to the point where they were able to feel themselves fully a part of their society.

I wonder if our society will have the flexibility, the caring and the simple humanity to evolve in the same way?

Sense 'n Nonsense

Mayor Cavanagh says the suburbs are a white noose around Detroit. We'll bet he didn't mean that Detroit deserves hanging, but then, who knows?

THE FIRES ARE OUT, the looting is over, the troops are gone . . . so what does a shattered society do next?

Plymouth Attorney Woes: Nonsense Wins Again!

There's a lot more nonsense than sense in the doings of the Plymouth City Commission — a situation that has existed for much too long. Perhaps it's time the voters looked into a rather perplexing problem . . . one that needs answering.

The big question is how can one group of men, elected to set the policies for the city government, drag their feet so long before making a decision and second how can Plymouth City Commission justify going out of the city to hire top men for the various administrative and legal positions.

The most nonsensical action was taken Monday night when the Commission, with one dissenting vote and one member absent, went to Garden City to hire controversial Charles Lowe for City Attorney.

In effect what the Commission has said is that there aren't any lawyers in the City capable of handling the city's legal affairs. We doubt that this is true. It would be our opinion that most of the lawyers in Plymouth—and there are plenty of good ones—wouldn't touch the post with a 12-foot pole. The harassing tactics used in badgering Thomas Healy, who resigned effective a week ago, are well known to the members of the Plymouth legal profession.

Perhaps the truth of the matter is that the Commissioners, who can't seem to agree on anything, couldn't get together this time and then went outside of the community to approve a recommendation of Mayor James Jabara of the Garden City attorney, who has offices in Southfield.

There isn't any question that Lowe is a controversial figure. He is a former Garden City Mayor and City Clerk and was defeated as a candidate for a judgeship last fall. He was one of the key witnesses in the much-publicized case involving the site purchase for the present Garden City municipal building. The case finally went to the Grand Juror.

It was Lowe who called the attention of officials to some discrepancies in the land deal. We aren't disputing the fact that Lowe is a respected member of the bar and an excellent lawyer, we are only calling attention to the fact that the City Commission has hired a controversial figure and created additional controversy by going out of the city for legal counsel.

It most certainly appears strange that the Commission hasn't been able to find a resident of Plymouth for any of the top positions filled in the past three years. Just to elaborate — the Commission went to Marysville, O., to hire City Manager Richard Blodgett, after having Kenneth Fisher, who also served as Police Chief and Director of Public Safety, fill the position for almost a year. Again we have no quarrel with the present City Manager but we do believe the Commission wasn't entirely right in the way it handled this situation.

The Commissioners couldn't find a City Clerk anywhere in the area or the state, they had to go all the way to Denver to hire Eugene Slider. Of course, the fact that he had served in Ann Arbor may have taken out some of the sting of the appointment. But then one wonders whether there wasn't someone in the City who could have qualified.

The Commissioners were unable to find a suitable candidate for Police Chief, following the resignation of Fisher, and once again went out of town to Flint to bring in Robert Corrington. It appears to be a good choice but it most certainly has discouraged career policemen.

And now, the Commissioners couldn't agree on either of two candidates. Patrick Foley and J. Rusling Cutler, both city residents and taxpayers. Both are qualified, each is known to be an excellent lawyer and each would have liked the work. But the grass always appears to be greener on the other side of the road as far as the City Commission is concerned.

Perhaps it might be wise to point out to the Commission that there are persons in the City available for these jobs and most would prefer to make a living in the city of their choice.

Then again, it might be smart for the Commission to explain the criteria upon which it makes its selections and why it feels it has to go out of the city to fill the vacancies.

Likes Editorial

Editor:

You are to be commended for the observation you made in the editorials of July 30. It would have been so easy for you to have lamented the situation, and proclaimed that things in our community at least have not been blackened or marred.

In a sense, many of us, including myself, have moved to the suburbs with the hope that we might escape the growing problems of the city. You have helped to make it quite clear that things which happen to the central city do have a direct effect on us, and that in a sense we are dependent upon the health of the city.

May you be granted the insight that you will need in order to continue with responsible news coverage and editorializing.

Are you one of those nice, friendly folks who love life and get a lot of fun out of it? That is, until you started putting on a few pesky pounds and helping yourselves to some weighty worries.

You need to keep an eye on your mirrors and scales. They say the magic number is 25. Your ideal weight at the age 25 is the best weight for the rest of your life. Doctors warn that every extra pound you put on over your ideal weight invites trouble ... and a short, but not so merry life.

No one food makes you fat. It's the sum of all foods eaten during the day that puts on pounds, or takes them off. All foods have calories.

And what is a calorie? A calorie is a measure of the amount of heat (energy) which the body can get from certain amounts of foods. Take in more calories than you spend in energy and the extra ones store up in bumps and bulges. Take in less than you spend and you draw on the stored up fat for energy-and fat vanishes.

Cut those calories! One simple way is to substitute low-calorie foods for high

That doesn't mean you can't have your cake and eat it too. You can . . . by choosing an unfrosted cupcake (130 calories), instead of a frosted delight (160 calories); a fresh peach for dessert (35 calories) instead of lemon meringue pie (300 calories). Take vanilla ice cream (145 calories) instead of a fancy sundae (375 calories).

The Three B's are also an aid in dieting. They are Bake, Boil and Broil - instead of fry. Just look what the skillet can do. A serving of fried fish counts 305 calories. If baked, it's 195 calories.

Hints for successful dieting.

· Breakfast is a very important meal. Don't skip it. · Really taste your food instead of gulping it down. Eat slowly.

· Convince yourself that you will be able to like what you have to eat, even though it may not be a favorite now.

· Don't cheat yourself. Be honest.

· Don't let your friends tempt you "just this once." · Lose a small amount each week.

· Promise yourself a reward when you lose the first 10 pounds - a new smaller size dress or a celebration

Beware of fad diets. They come and go like fads in dress. They are not suitable for long periods. They are dangerous if they consist of foods which do not contain nutrients the body needs.

Vitamin - mineral supplements can not take the place of food, and fad diets 'don't help form good food habits. As soon as the fad is abandoned the inclination is to go, back to the old way of eating. A good reducing diet contains the foods essential for energy, growth and maintenance needs. It also is a sensible way of eating that can be maintained, if necessary, throughout life.

Women on the GO!

A lovely wedding is made up of thoughtful attention to a multitude of details.

That's the word of three busy ladies who should know. They've been running Ge-Ge's Bridal Salon in Livonia for two years now.

"We make weddings," says Mrs. Birttle Grace.

Diane Bialick and Bernadine Errair, managers, nod in agreement, explaining that their establishment features a great variety of beautiful gowns. but their special touch is putting together just the right styles and colors for each bride.

"We do make flower girl dresses, though," says Diane, "and I create our headpieces and veils."

"The women recently completed work for a wedding party that included five have never failed to get a were sold to others that time. bridesmaids and five flower bride to the church on time Then, about a year later, the girls. The women insist on at

"We start with the bride and her gown, of course," said Diane. "We try to find a gown that suits the kind of person she is."

After that has been chosen, the bridesmaids usually visit the salon in a group and each tries on a different style gown-each of a type that will harmonize with the one the bride has picked.

When they are agreed on a style, it's time to choose col-

"And then we turn to the mothers of the wedding," said Birttie. "They are the ones who often have the most trouble finding something becoming, and we have a full line of half sizes as well as regular ones and can outfit the mothers completely."

bleach, that is.

A cardinal rule for dealing with a dingy house-especially one undergoing a transition from one season to another-is to dig at the dirt, and the sooner the better! Here are some dandy tips:

For spot jobs, nothing does a better clean-up than a handy, pint-size plastic squeeze bottle filled with a sudsy solution containing a disinfectant such as liquid chlorine bleach (3/4cup household bleach to a gallon of water).

Wall tiles, too, will sparkle when washed with a cloth dampened with the solution. Got a shower curtain that's ashamed to be seen?

Take it down, place it in the bathtub and let it soak for five minutes in a mixture of this same chlorine bleach solution. Carefully pre-treat the heavily soiled spots, rinse and hang to drip-dry. There's hardly a home to-

Take the entire shade down, after dusting with a clean cloth, and then soak it in the bathtub in the bleach solution.

To make this little household helper, use a pint bottle (it's the most economical size. since the bleach solution strength is effective for about a week), and punch holes in the cap top to facilitate squeezing out the liquid.

Dentists Are Told Sell Health

ANN ARBOR-A professor at The University of Michigan School of Public Health is urging your dentist to get out of the office and convince you that he really cares about the health of your teeth.

"The dentist is perhaps the only health professional encased in a five-by-eight room from nine till five, four and a half days a week, with no relation to the community around him," says S. Stephen Kegeles, Ph.D., a specialist in community health administration.

As his friends know him, explained Dr. Kegeles, the private dental practitioner will relax by building stereo sets and a recreation room in his basement and playing golf one afternoon a week typically with another dentist.

He has no connection with a hospital or a school. except for belonging to the PTA where his children go to school. More important the older private dental practitioner has always wanted to be just that way. Being independent, being his own boss, was a prime attraction for him to dentistry in the first place.

"As a result, it is the physician who is seen now by the community as 'Mr. Medicine' or 'Mr. Health'-not the dentist." Before the dentist can expect the community to listen to his health message, Dr. Kegeles says, the dentist must gain recognition as one spokesman for the community health team.

"If one looks at the slow rate of adoption of fluoridation in the country or at the failure of so many people to seek preventive dental care, it seems obvious that much of the population has either not heard of or not believed dental health messages.

"The greatest effect on patients will come only after changes, which have already started, occur within the profession itself."

Dr. Kegeles says college selection committees must now ask themselves whom they want for dentists. Students with intensive biological and physical science backgrounds have been admitted most readily to dental schools in the past. In contrast, it seems probable that social science majors are the students who care most about what happens to people.

"To get people to seek dental care, you need to show them that you care about them. Dental school curriculums place most of the emphasis on the clinical practice of dentistry, not the personal aspect." Dr. Kegeles says. "Only about 35 per cent of the population visit their dentist at least once during the year. They need to believe that dental problems will have a serious effect on their health if they fail to take preventive and early remedial action. They must believe that such action, will work and that the services required can be provided by the dentist."

Plymouth Celebrates 40th in '68

The Plymouth nameplate celebrates its 40th anniversary during the 1968 model vear.

The first Plymouth rolled off the assembly lines June 14, 1928, and went on sale July 7 of that year. In the first year of its existence, it sold more than 50,000 units.

Priced at $670, the Plymouth was advertised as a new development in motor car style, featuring new slender profile chromium plated radiator, long low bodies, new crown beaded fenders, molded edge running boards, generous room for two to five passengers, and beautiful bowl type headlamps.

Under the hood was a new "Silver Dome" high compression engine which proved smooth at speeds up to 60 or more miles an hour.

Since that start, nearly 15 million Plymouths have rolled from assembly lines. The 15 millionth Plymouth, a 1968 model, which will be introduced to the public September 14, will be built in mid-August.

Vallier Blocks C&O Rail Crossing Study

Because of the stubborn-There the matter stands ness of Commissioner Arch until a further report can be Vallier, the long awaited made. study of the rail crossing problem in the city will be delayed until it is known definitely what part the C&O railroad and the county will play in the survey.

The question arose when City Manager Richard Blodgett reported plans were going ahead for the proposed study and it would be held during five days in October, with members of the Senior Citizens being employed to make the various counts.

He then asked the Commission if the study should take in all rail crossings or just Main Street - and whether Starkweather should be add-

At this point Commissioner Vallier asked what part the railroad and the county was going to play. "I see no reason why we should bear the entire expense."

This set off a lengthy discussion in which it was pointed out that a complete study of all crossings should be made and that counters could be rented from the county.

It was then that Commissioner Vallier really got stubborn and, despite the fact that he is a member of the County Board of Supervisors, insisted that the City Manager hold off all plans until he could ascertain just what part would be played by the railroad and the county.

The discussion concluded when Commissioner James McKeon offered a motion asking that the City Manager contact both the C&O officials and the county to learn just what kind of a study they wanted in any plan to eliminate the crossings.

Car Rammed In Funeral Procession

Four people were injured when a car westbound on Schoolcraft Road struck another car in a funeral procession which was southbound on Inkster.

According to police reports, Elsie Mitchell, of 12834 Hazelton, Detroit, was westbound on Schoolcraft. When the light changed to green, she drove into the intersection and struck the car driven by Jesse J. Dillard, of 8336 Epworth, Detroit.

Dillard's car was fifth in a funeral procession southbound on Inkster. The reporting officer indicated the cars in the procession were spaced too far apart.

Taken to St. Mary Hospital were Mrs. Mitchell, Dillard, and two of his five passengers, Blondell Shealey, of 419 Robert St., Akron, and Willa Mae Snow, of 8336 Epworth, Detroit.

Senior Fined $150 After Police Chase

Fleeing police officers from wo departments proved to be a costly mistake for a Dearborn Heights high school

Pleading guilty to the charge of fleeing from an officer was Paul Jordan, 17, fined $150 and placed on one year probation by Garden City Municipal Judge Richard L. Hammer.

Jordan, who will enter his senior year next month, was arrested by Garden City policemen July 27 after he was seen running ten stop signs and two red lights in Garden City and Dearborn Heights, where the chase ended.

During the chase, which reached speeds up to 75 miles per hour, Jordan was seen by officers going through stop signs where edestrians and youngsters on bicycles were nearby.

He was stopped when he struck a pursuing Dearborn Heights police car. The Dearhe is released by the Garden City police.

IN DOUBT ABOUT WHAT AN OBSERVER WANT AD CAN DO?

Read Today's Want Ads and Find Out!

If you are not a regular reader of the Want Ad pages, you don't know what you are missing. Want Ads make very interesting reading. Take the wide range of useful items offered in the For Sale columns, the selection of better living opportunities in the Real Estate For Sale and Rental columns, and the list of cars, from jalopies to limousines in the Automobile columns. Then and Wanted columns, all packed with interesting news for buyer there are the Help Wanted, Announcement, Services Offered

When you see all these ads, you will recognize that many of them are placed by private individuals and families. These are folks who have learned what a low cost Want Ad can do for them. They know that when they have something to sell, or wish to find something, a Want Ad is their answer. A call to GA 2-0900 or GL 3-5500 puts them in contact with a pleasant, helpful ad-visor at the Observer Want Ad department. And almost without fail, an Observer reader, or several, will respond to their ad.
