Fast Township Growth Marred By Crime Hike

Serious crimes in Plymouth Township have risen 200 per cent in four years compared with only a 50 per cent increase in population, it was disclosed this week.

A review of statistics kept by the Sheriff's Road Patrol shows that from 40 so-called "serious crimes" committed in the Township in 1963 the number soared to 119 in 1966.

At the same time, population jumped from an estimated 8,000 to 12,000.

In the "serious crime" category are cases of breaking and entering, felonious assault, stolen cars, robberies, homicides and sex

The biggest increases have been in breaking and entering and car thefts.

There were only 17 breaking and entering cases in 1963, but the figure climbed to 39 in 1964, 44 in 1965 and 71 in 1966. Stolen cars numbered eight in 1963 but progressed steadily to reach a total of 35 last year.

Statistics for other major offenses remained reasonably steady, with the number of sex offenses actually dropping from 11 to seven between 1963 and 1966.

The Township depends strictly upon the Road Patrol for its police protection, having no law enforcement department of its own.

In daylight hours, the Road Patrol keeps two one-man cars cruising in this district, which includes both Plymouth and Northville Townships.

After dark, this switches to one two-man

Emergency personnel is always available to augment this around-the-clock service, according to Deputy Inspector John De Vos, who commands the Road Patrol under Sheriff Peter L. Bruback.

From May 1 to Nov. 1 the Patrol also maintains a special detachment of officers for exclusive cruiser duty on Edward Hines Parkway.

De Vos stated that on a typical weekend, when park patronage is greatest, as many as eight cars are assigned to the area on overlapping schedules for 24-hour protection.

Statistics for major crimes committed within the City of Plymouth are largely unavailable for past years, according to Chief Robert Corrington. Only now has the department started making such compilations and few comparisons can be drawn between the City and Town-

In two categories where 1966 figures are available, the City had the edge in the realm of peace and quiet:

There were only 58 breaking and entering es in the City last year compared to the Township's 71, and 29 car thefts in comparison to the 35 which occurred in the Township.

The appointment fills an outcounty vacancy which has existed since the March 15 registration of Donald R. Nettlow, former mayor of River Rouge.

McEwen's term starts immediately and will expire Jan.

He joins Charles H. Beaubien, representing Macomb County, and George Fulkerson, of Oakland County, as the non-Detroit members of the sevenman board. Detroit members are John H. McCarthy, president; Oscar A. Wagner, Julius

E. Allen and William Haxton. McEwen, who lives at 44475 Governor Bradford Rd., has been supervisor of Plymouth Township since 1963.

It was the Board of Water Commissioners which recently hiked the price charged by Detroit of Plymouth Township for its water supply some 41 per cent, effective Nov. 1, but whether McEwen's presence on the Board will bring about any review of this increase remains to be seen.

City Zoning Hearing Set

The public hearing on the long awaited zoning ordinance for the City of Plymouth will be held on Monday, Oct. 9.

The City Commission set the date last Monday evening and all residents interested in the various zoning classifications for the city are invited to attend.

Work on the zoning ordinance has been going on for some time. It is now in the form needed to present to the people and final action will be taken after the public is heard.

The City Commission has issued several months ago, has been named all for help.

The 1967-68 budget is up appreciably from the $4,177,494 outlay which it took to run the school system in 1966-67 and reflects the rapid growth in enrollment which has necessitated an increase both in staff and facilities.

Supt. James H. Rossman is predicting an enrollment for the start of the fall semester of 8,300 students, up 700 from last year's level and another record high for the community.

The teaching staff has been increased from 308 to 350 and is all but complete. Only three positions remain to be filled, those of a sixth grade teacher, a mathematics and science Help! Help! Help!

Despite the fact that the Commission, several weeks ago, established a firm date of October 1 as the deadline for the report, there is little or no chance of meeting it.

"I was opposed to the target date when it was set", Commissioner Arch Vallier stated last Monday night, "and now I am more opposed than ever because I don't think the job can be done until the end of the year."

Vallier, who serves as Chairman of the Water Committee, had been expected to make a report at the commission meeting when he interjected the thought that no report could be made until the engineers--Johnson and Anderson-- had a chance to update their figures. "And aside from that". Val-

The on again-off again com- lier went on, "we have to do some figuring of what would happen -- and how we compare in costs with our own water, when the recent Detroit raise is put into effect.

> "There are a few other things, too. We should know -and the engineers should tell us, how much it would cost to "soften" our water and what can be done about cleaning the mains and establishing a cost."

"In view of this, I can't possibly see how a comprehensive report can be given before the end of the year." * Please turn to page 2

Commission Due To Set Rates

"I'll welcome a complete audit of the personal property tax rolls." With this simple statement Kenneth Way, treasurer of the City of Plymouth, who doubles as the assessor, gave his reaction to the City Commission's approval of the thorough study.

The action came last Monday night following a report from Commissioner Arch Vallier which stated that the city was off more than 37 per cent in a sample audit of 64 reports.

In the report Commissioner Vallier stated that there was a difference of $1,180,390 between the State Cuts city tax rolls and the that it is "very embarrassing to me to sit in judgment on the County Board of Supervisors and vote to recommend of true cash value in other places when we are not doing it in my own city."

The difference in the city records and the county rolls, according to Way, is due to the fact that the city assessed at only 40.04 in 1967 and that this was approved by the City Commission. It was learned that the first proposal was to assess at 45 per cent, but later the figure was changed to the 40.04 per cent.

It was learned, too, that the City Commission again will set the figure and let the equalizing factor take care of the deficiency -- if any.

According to Way, he doesn't expect much change as a result of an audit.

"Here and there", he said, "there may be some difference in the reports, but this is due to the fact that the reports from taxpayers are delayed in some instances. It may be that their fiscal year and ours are at different times and that would show, too. Way pointed out that the City of Plymouth was given a real shocker in 1959 when the rolls were boosted, but nothing like that is expected this year. "We review cases from time to time", he said, "and there should be no major discrepancies."

A study by Highway Department and State Police Officials and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department showed the present 45 miles per hour limit between Oakview St. and Sheldon Rd. in Plymouth should be reduced to 35 MPH.

The study also showed that speed control zones of 45 MPH between Sheldon Rd, and Canton Center Rd. and 55 MPH between Canton Center Rd. and the Ann Arbor Trail should be established.

Increased traffic and development in the area have made the changes necessary.

A joint order signed establishing the new speed limits has been signed by Acting State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth and State Police Director Fredrick E. Davids.

Only three weeks ago, when the Chamber of Commerce and the Jaycees suggested representation on the Water Study Committee, Vallier remarked, in open meeting, "You folks don't know all the facts. I'll bring you up to date in the next two weeks." It was this study the Chamber and Jaycee representatives expected last Monday night. But it wasn't forthcoming.

When asked about the probability of missing the target date which he had insisted be set, Commissioner James Mc-Keon stated that he would be disappointed, but he would be satisfied that the engineers now are being brought into the picture to get results.

"I fully appreciate the fact" he said, 'that the October 1 target date was a tight one. I also know there is a lot of work to be done and, as long as something positive is being done, we are making progress."

The water problem has been hovering over the City Commission for months. There have been all sorts of complaints about rust, the hardness of the water -- and even the taste. Many folks have claimed that it cost more to "soften" the water than the actual cost

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

At a meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals to be held in the Commission Chambers of the City Hall on Tuesday, September 12, 1967, at 7:30 p.m., a public hearing will be held to consider:

Appeal Case No. 67-9 of Alan J. Woodworth, requesting permission to construct an addition in the form of a foyer and remodeling of front porch on an existing dwelling which would reduce the front yard setback line of the dwelling on property identified as Lot 189 of the William A. Blunk Addition. and also known as 171 Blunk Street.

Section 4.05 of Ordinance No. 182, Zoning Ordinance of the City of Plymouth, states that in R-1 Districts. every one family dwelling shall have a front yard of not less than twenty-five (25) feet; provided, however. that where a front yard of greater or less depth than above specified exists in front of dwellings on more than fifty per cent (50%) of the lots of record on one side of a street in any block, the depth of front yard for any building thereafter erected or placed on any lot in such block shall be not less. but need not be greater, than the average depth of front yards of such existing buildings.

All interested parties will be given an ample opportunity to participate in the hearing, and at the close of said hearing, all comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Zoning Board of Appeals prior to making its decision.

The Stroller

One of the things you learn as you stroll around the Plymouth area is that most everyone you meet has an opinion of some kind on the latest happenings, but if you want plans and opinions coordinated into a workable program there is only one man to

That man is Harold Guenther, a former mayor who refuses to rest on his laurels and he is the unusual type that is always willing to listen - and then do the job.

Knowing that The Stroller was interested in his opinion the other day at lunch the conversation turned to the vandalism and the part that young people are alleged to be playing in the current wave Harold listened for a time. Then he pushed back his cup of coffee, looked wryly around the table and then remarked:

"Do you know what's wrong?" he asked as a starter. Then without waiting for an answer he went

"These young folks aren't being taught to be alone. All we do is try to rig up some plan where they gather in groups to play or dance or engage in some activity. There never is a thought given to having them alone."

By way of explanation he went on:
"When I was a youngster I was taught to be alone. I was instructed to read books and such other things that didn't require a companion. Many times I just sat and tried to absorb what was going on around me. I was taught to think - and you can't do that in groups.

"I think the young folks would be better off today, if we split them up, discouraged groups and had them learn to live with themselves.

He heaved a sigh then concluded— "At least it would be worth a try." The Stroller couldn't argue with that.

JUST IMAGINE THIS-

Years ago one of my school teachers taught me not to be surprised at anything that happened, but The Stroller wasn't quite prepared for the shock he got the other afternoon.

He had just been told that John Kamego, public relations director par excellence for Michigan Bell was being transferred to the Northwest Detroit area. Immediately the thought struck — wouldn't it be nice to run a nice story about this human bundle of energy and accompany it with a nice picture.

You can imagine when a call to his office and checking with a secretary brought the message that Mr. Kamego doesn't have a picture of himself.

The Stroller has seen and heard a lot in his time, but never before did he hear of a public relations expert who didn't have a picture.

It's another case of the old saying that a shoemaker's youngsters have the poorest shoes in town.

WELL, IT WAS EXERCISE WITH PRIZES

There is an old saying that the race is not always to the swift, but that is the place to look. Maybe so. But it doesn't hold in golf and Bob Sincock is the latest example.

Just for the fun he would have out of it Bob joined the other Rotarians in the district meeting golf match at Tecumseh recently. And here is what hap-

Bob got more exercise than any other entrant in the field — and golf is supposed to be good exercise. At least he took more swings at the little white pellet than anyone else in the field. To the golfer, this means that he had high gross for the day.

For exerting himself to that extent, Bob was awarded a cigaret lighter. Fair enough.

This was the end of it. Later in the evening he won the door prize - a 12-transistor radio. Not bad for a fellow who went just for the fun of it.

WHAT A FIX TO BE IN-

Jack Selle, one of the area's greatest sportsmen, has just returned from a safari in Africa, and he hesitates to tell you of his experiences.

He had a great time - one of the best hunting trips he ever had — but he won't tell you of his "bag" until he gets the pictures or the stuffed hides to prove it.

"Just wait until I have the proof," he smiled, "then I'll tell you about it."

There are some of us who can't wait.

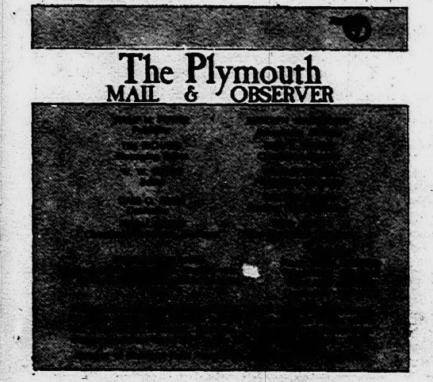

THOUGHTS WHILE STROLLING

Remember how we used to laugh in school when they showed us pictures of the adobe houses in which the Indians lived. Now, we have apartments.

It would be just dandy if someone had the presence of mind to turn up the power on the microphones at the City Commission table. Either that or equip the spectators with earphones. As it is now a commission meeting is almost like a pantomime convention.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Heard a fellow remark the other day— Nothing is so destructive as ignorance at work. Good enuf.

Harassment Of City's Administrative Officials Goes On And On-Unabated

Through the years the taxpayers of the City of Plymouth have paid a high price for the badgering of top flight administrative officials that caused them to seek calmer surroundings elsewhere.

But the harassment of the department heads by the City Commission still goes on in public to the point where it becomes obnoxious and boring.

These department heads are second-guessed, maligned and taunted, month after month, to the point where one is caused to wonder why they take it as long as they do before rebelling.

It is no secret that Tom Healy resigned as the city attorney several months ago because of the treatment he received at the Commission table. Before him, Kenneth Fisher, an exceptionally good man, left the department of public safety for much the same reason.

These are just two of the victims. There have been others and, unless these tactics are eliminated, there will be many more. After all, a human being can take only so much before he loses his pride under the withering fire of the commission members.

In fact, the harassing tactics have become so prevalent that commission meetings lately have become little more than a cross examination of the department heads, and little business is accomplished.

The members - or at least some of them — have sought advice from the city attorney and then questioned his legal knowledge after getting it. Nothing could be more disturbing, especially to one who was employed to provide such information.

The same has been true in other departments. Within the past few weeks Ken Vogras, head of the Department of Public Works, has been the target.

After recommending the trade-in of several trucks and the purchase of another, he was "taken over the coals" because the bodies of the trucks were rusting, faster than one member of the commission, thought they should.

When told that the rust was due, in part, to the fact that the trucks were used for the spreading of salt, he shouted, "How often are the trucks washed?" Before he could get an answer, came the admonition, "I'll bet you don't wash underneath."

Only last Monday evening Ken was the target again when taken to task for not having the band stand used in Kellogg Park stored in the shelter of the city garage. Mind you, these tactics are used in a public meeting of what is supposed to be a legislative body. Most always the target for harassment is the city manager. More than one spectator at the meetings has asked, "How can he take it?"

A good example was furnished last Monday evening when he was pushed from pillar to post in a series of actions that even caused him to remark at the finish, "It did get embarrassing at times."

During a discussion of garbage disposal he was asked what he had done about contacting officials of other cities, especially Livonia, about entering into a pact to help solve the problem.

When he answered that he had contacted the top officials, he was told, "You talked to the wrong people. After this talk to the President of the City Council if you want things done."

This was bad enough, but the big blow came later in a discussion of drainage and the water problem, involving the Township.

At one point a motion was put on the floor to have the Mayor and the City Manager meet with the top Township officials to discuss the problem.

No sooner was this motion made than a substitute was offered, eliminating the City Manager from the discussions, on the theory that two is company, but three is a crowd.

"I think more can be accomplished if only the Mayor and the Supervisor talk this over," the City Manager was told - in public.

Then, even more surprising, the motion passed, 4 to 2.

So, when the talks are held on such important subjects as water and drainage, the City Manager, the city's chief administrative officer, will be left looking out the window.

These are just a few of the harassing tactics that have been employed recently.

Is it any wonder that there has been a series of resignations through the years? It is a high price the taxpayers are paying for the action of the City Commission.

Letter To The Editor

Suggests Help For Girl Scouts

Dear Editor:

I, along with many others, read with dismay your feature front page story concerning the Girl Scout Lodge and the destructive fire.

More importantly, it concerns me as the father of two daughters, one who has been very active in Girl Scouts and one who will become active in Girl Scouts, Apparently, the damaged building is going to remain status quo with apparently no plans for refurbishing or rebuilding the damaged building. This, to me, is a pathetic thing to see happen to such a fine facility. I can't help but wonder why.

Having been president of the Kiwanis Club of Bay Village, Ohio, a few years ago, I can fully appreciate the time and effort that sometimes seems to go unappreciated that went into the building of this building by the Kiwanis Club of Plymouth. I know it can be exasperating to see time and labor go down the drain with vandalism, since we built a similar but larger building in Bay Village, However, I also recognize that steps can be taken and should be taken to limit vandalism by protective means such as, in this case, maybe a fence and a somewhat vicious dog inside.

Turning Back the

As an interested citizen, I further wonder what's happened to the insurance that presumedly was on the building. More importantly, I do recognize that each Girl Scout Troop which used this building paid a fee to use the building which I am aware went toward the expense of maintaining it, but conceivably paid for insurance.

Let's rebuild it, protect it, and maintain it. I'm sure there are many other parents in Plymouth who share my feelings and if so how about you starting a program to raise funds to rebuild this outstanding facility that we have in Plymouth Town-

Servina As We Would Wish to be Served

A Christmas present started Mrs. Kenneth Van Antwerp of Gyde Rd. collecting Delft. and changed the color scheme of her house from green to blue.

Half-a-dozen 19th century Delft beer mugs, which originally belonged to Mrs. Van Antwerp's grandfather, arrived one Christmas in a package from her mother.

Mr. Van Antwerp was especially intrigued with the blue and white covered mugs. In the inside bottom of each one -- seen only when the mug has been emptied -- are pictures of old-fashioned scenes ranging from courtship through mar-

Starting with the mugs, Mrs. Van Antwerp filled her comfortable rambling home with blue and white plates, tiles, and accessories.

Delft--now generally used to describe a deep blue and white pottery--is the name of the town in Holland where the pottery was first made.

About 1611 Dutch traders began returning from China with porcelain. It quickly became popular with the people, who started using it instead of wooden and pewter plates.

The original Delft pottery makers produced imitations of ulously used the same blue and white used by the Chinese. Later, greens and other colors were used in the pottery. But blue is the color most people think of when Delft is mentioned. Delft pottery factories spread to England and Germany, Since Mrs. Van Antwerp's family originally was from Germany, she has collected many German

Blue and white is used throughout her kitchen, living, and dining room. She has even picked up tiny Delft drawer pulls for some of her cab-

The Van Antwerps took an old door and imbedded it with Delft tiles, and transformed it into a cocktail table. Even though the tiles have cracks in the glaze, and look old, Mrs. Van Antwerp feels they are modern reproductions.

"Look," she said, turning one over, "the backs are perfectly smooth, so they probably have never been used.

"The old tiles were used to decorate fireplaces and stoves. If these were old, they probably would have mortar on the back.

"However," Mrs. Van Antwerp pointed out, "if you're buying something you like, it shouldn't matter if it is a reproduction or an antique--unless you want to sell it."

As an outgrowth of her Delft collection, Mrs. Van Antwerp started collecting blue Danish Christmas plates. These plates have been made every year since the late 1890's.

Two companies started making the plates to hold Christmas cookies that wealthy Danes gave their servants at Christmas time. Each year the companies made plates with such scenes as Hamlet's castle, the little mermaid, and ships coming home for Christmas.

On Christmas eve the companies always break the molds for the plates they have just finished making. Since no plates are ever made for more than a year they all become collectors' items.

Just how many plates are made each year is a well guarded secret. However, Mrs. Van Antwerp has discovered there are very few plates available from the war years.

She has been looking for plates from these years, since that was when her four daughters were born. But since only a few plates were made at that time she has found, to her dismay, that they have shot up in price.

Suburbia by night

The sophisticates say you have to go to the big city, downtown, for the lights and urban beauty and the action. They say suburbia is bland.

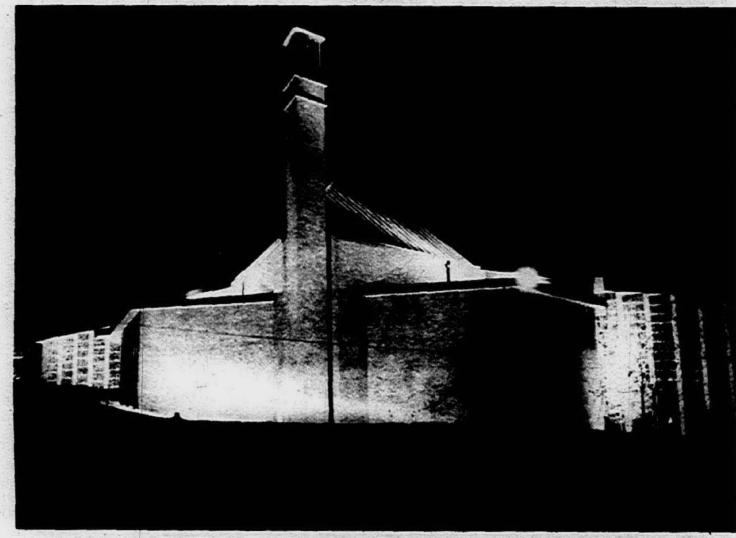

Not if you have watched suburbia lately — and not if you have an artistic eye.

Our staff photographer, Jim Hubbard, has that kind of an eye. We sent him through western Wayne and Oakland counties looking for the suburbs' nighttime art. It turned out that some of it was elegant, some of it brassy, some of it serene, some of it warm and charming.

Sure, you've seen these scenes in daylight, when they were form and color and sunlight and shadow. But at night and through the camera, they look different. They become light and darkness, black and white.

THE MOOD is more restrained in the clubhouse of Detroit Race Course than in the stands, but the inner excitement is keen in the homestretch because of the money on this race.

A PLACE OF comfort is the broad expanse of Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church, viewed from Shiawassee Road in Farmington. Part of its charm is its asymmetry.

'STRIP COMMERCE' is what city planners call it, disparagingly. But the lights along Plymouth Road near Middlebelt in Livonia can be considered to be a sort of heavy-handed fascination, if you're broad-minded.

DINNER by candlelight is a quietly romantic affair for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hubbard of Westland.

THERE'S NOISE — unpleasant to some suburbanites — to be found, too. These motorcyclists, who say they're not a gang, halted a moment in Redford Township.

FARMINGTON ROAD, looking toward the downtown part of the City of Farmington, has a restrained busy-ness about it that its tasteful residents enjoy.

The Rev. Canon David Davies and the Rev. Hans Frei officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Aline gown of ivory peau de soie edged with alencon lace. A floor-length mantilla fell from her Juliet cap, and she carried white roses.

Her attendants wore fulllength gowns of lime green linen, and their bouquets and headpieces were fashioned of roses and daisies.

Mrs. Delmer Fehrs was matron of honor for her sister. and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Timothy Johnson, also a sister of the bride, Ann Brownlee, sister of the bridegroom, Susan Helden and Mrs. Ross Chace.

John Carlson, of Terry, Mont., the bridegroom's fellow student at Yale University, was his best man, and the guests were seated by Alex Garvin, Lance Leibman, Sherwin Goldman and Thomas Edwards.

Mrs. Hulsing wore a dress of pale yellow ribbon embroidered lace, and Mrs. Brownlee wore a two-piece blue silk costume. Both pinned cymbidium orchids to their purses.

The couple received some 180 guests in the bride's home following the ceremony. They left later for a Nova Scotia wedding trip.

Their home next year will be at New Haven, Conn., where the bridegroom, assistant dean at Yale, will complete his law studies. The bride, a graduate of Wellesley College and New York University, will teach history at Amity High School.

Coming Or Not? Collegians Look For Soccer Ace

Schoolcraft College this fall? It's a big question? A burning question!

Joop is the young man who spanned the Atlantic Ocean last year from the Netherlands and led Schoolcraft to a perfect record -- eight straight victories -- in its first season of soccer competition.

There were personal honors, too, for Joop. He was named on the national junior College All America.

But coach Marvin Gans doesn't know what Joop's plans are for the coming school year. He went home for vacation and Gans is sweating out his return as the start of practice is just a week away -- on Aug. 28.

GANS WILL BE making his debut as the Blue and Gold soccer mentor this season. He took on the coaching assignment following the resignation from the staff last spring of Bob Leggat who took a coaching position with a two-year college in Virginia.

Other than Doorn, Gans will build his 1967 team around three other returning lettermen: Paul Hartge, Livonia, Doug Morrison, Garden City, and Cliff Peach, of Redford.

on a pair of freshmen who come to Schoolcraft by way of Bentley High. They are Boguslaw Lotko, a Norwegian exchange student; and Joe Pekarski, a native of Germany. Another freshman with high potential is Ron Lowe, who was voted the Most Valuable Athlete at Plymouth High on the basis of his performances in football, basketball and track.

Another candidate is Bahram Farahmand, a 20-year-old sophomore from Iran who did not play soccer last season. Gans hopes he can convince Farahmand to join the squad this year.

One of the things girls enjoy most about being girls are Stride Rite shoes. And we have all the newest and nicest shapes for everything from playdays to party ones. And all with that just-right fit built right in.

All the selections you used to make . . . and how every time you said something prolific about a winning team - boom! The next time out, it was run off the field.

The thrill of waiting for the first kickoff . . and the combined bands from the rival schools sounding off in the National Anthem. Regardless of how often you hear the strains of "Oh say can you you get lumps in the old throat.

Coaches who serve in so many capacities . . . besides trying to teach the boys how to play the game, they must work as trainers, doctors, fathers and almost anything else you can remember.

Cheerleaders who defy the chilly blasts to stand in mud and sometimes snow with unprotected knees and never letting up with their enthusiasm, even when their team is three or four touchdowns behind with 10 or 15 seconds left on the clock.

The doctors who give of their time at high school games, so an injured boy will receive the prompt attention he should get.

And, when you mention doctors, you have to wonder, as we've said before, why there are no medical men present when the junior high and grade school teams perform. These younger boys can suffer injuries, too.

FATHERS AND MOTHERS, who groan sometimes about the high school tax they must pay, realizing that really they are getting off cheap as they sit in the stands and get the real feeling of what schoolboy sports - and maybe what the schools are all about.

The men, who wear striped shirts, dedicated to their jobs to make certain that the games are played as the rules dictate and the way the State Associiation prescribes.

Band leaders, who sometimes forget just how much time they are supposed to have, and run 'way over, thus slowing down the start of the second half.

The substitutes, who don't get into the game; yet they are a vital part of the team. Without them, there'd be nobody against whom the regulars could knock heads during the week in scrimmages . . . and without scrimmages and practices, no team would be ready to turn in its best comes the big game.

The player who suddenly finds that he can't play for one week because his grades have slipped. Never before had it dawned on him, perhaps, that the most important thing to him really should be his classwork with his athletic endeavors secondary.

Principals and athletic directors, who are responsible for the paper work that is a vital part of every prep contest. It's up to them to make certain that each boy is eligible under the State and school rules.

The same principals and athletic directors, when be held at Battle Creek. discovering they have permitted their teams to play with an illegal player, blowing the whistles on themselves - even when they realize that their team stands to forfeit victories and maybe even a cham-

THE JOB COACHES TURN IN to get their teams ready for the first game. They have less than three weeks to perform the task . . . dealing with 60 to 80 boys, molding defensive and offensive units . . . and specialty units, too. When will the teams get an extra week of practice in the fall?

There are memories of all-state teams you picked in years gone by . . . remember when fellows like Barr, Kramer, Morrall, Lowe to mention-a few were selected? These and others went on to make All-America in college and to become standouts in the professional ranks.

Police officials who stand by outside the gates and watching for any possible troublemakers - and when such characters arrive, they usually have no identification with either school. They come from someplace else to spoil what otherwise is a great attraction and undertaking.

The mother or sweetheart who screams when their loved one gets bumped and is sprawled out on the field . . . the athlete with a broken leg who hobbles on crutches to each game and each practice . . . always remaining a part of HIS team.

It's a grand sport, this high school football . . and Monday the thousands of kids who make up Michigan's schoolboy varsities start to work.

For three months, football will become the big subject . . . in Farmington . . . in Livonia . . . in Plymouth . . . or wherever you choose to go in Michigan.

But, the drills may last only four days.

"I guess much depends on what happens to our contract talks," said Ron Holland, the veteran mentor at NorthFarmington.

"Our contracts run until Sept. 1 (next Friday). If nothing happens before that, well, we just may have to suspend workouts." Over at Farmington high, Bob Mistele expressed similar comments. "We're ready to go, and we certainly don't want to break into our practices," said Holland, "It wouldn't be very

Easy To Fill Creel At Fee Fishing Ponds OBITUARIE

Michigan has 60 fee fishing ponds which can provide a full creel for anyone fishing in the state, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Even a person who has never caught a fish before is almost sure of success at any of the areas located on the accompanying map. The condensed information with the map gives directions on each pond's location, when a pond is open, type of fish available and fees.

Although many fee fishing ponds are open all year, some 6. Roundhouse Trout Ranch. From Kallimit their seasons, Most fee fishing areas stock their ponds and streams with trout. A few areas have pan fish available. Fishing tackle is provided free at most areas, and fishing is usually done from to $3 for 18 in. trout. the bank.

Although a few areas charge an entrance fee, most ponds charge by the inch for any fish caught.

A fishing license is not necessary at fee ponds, There are no seasons, and patrons are usually allowed to catch as many fish as they can afford. Expect to pay anywhere from a dollar per trout to 10 cents an inch for trout under 12 inches. Fees are higher for larger fish.

Before casting a line at any of the fee fishing areas listed. make sure you understand all the rules. For instance, you will have to keep and pay for any fish you catch. Hooked fish cannot be released.

There are a few Michigan fee fishing areas not listed because they did not answer the questionnaire sent them.
