

WIEDMAN PROPERTY ON MAIN ST.

Old Landmark Doomed As City Moves Forward

By W. W. EDGAR

When the City Commission approved the purchase of the Wiedman property on South Main Street last Monday night, it not only marked the doom of an old landmark but started to write the final chapter of a glamorous business venture in the downtown area.

Built in 1922 by the late Paul Wiedman, on the block at the southwest corner of Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail, it housed the largest Ford agency in the area at the time and continued through the years to be an automobile site.

After erecting the original building for his automobile agency, he also was one of the group of far-sighted individuals who made possible the Mayflower Hotel—one of the first hotels in the entire suburbs of Western Wayne County.

"That agency was Paul's pride and joy," Mrs. Wiedman recalled the other afternoon with a smile.

"But I'll never forget how it came about," she continued "and the fact that we were $150,000 in debt two years after we were married."

PAUL, who retired from the business in 1962 and passed away three years later, got his first taste of the automobile business in 1917 when he went to work for his brother, "E.G.," who had a Ford agency in Ypsilanti.

He only worked a short time when he was called to service in World War I and on his return resumed his job in Ypsilanti, according to Mrs.

City Court Frees Pair On Bonds

In a light Municipal Court docket this week Municipal Judge Dumar Davis fined an offender of Michigan's financial responsibility law $75 and bound two other persons over to Circuit Court when they waived lower court examination on other charges.

John Garrett Kettelman of Detroit was the individual paying the $75 fine.

Theodore J. Zebrowski, of Northville, stood mute on a charge of larceny of a rented motor vehicle and when he waived examination was released on $2,000 personal recognizance to appear for trial in Circuit Court.

David Ray Taylor, of Ypsilanti, charged with attempted larceny from a motor vehicle, also waived examination here. He was released on a $1,000 personal recognizance bond to await trial in Circuit Court.

Wiedman, at the magnificent pay of $1.50 per week.

"Paul always loved to tinker around cars," Mrs. Wiedman recalled. "Then, one day, William Ford, a brother of Henry Ford, whom we always called 'Uncle Bill' asked:

"Paul, how would you like to be a Ford Dealer in Plymouth?" It was a surprising question and he answered:

"Fine, but I can't afford it." At the time "Uncle Bill" owned the Ford agency run by Fred Beyer on Starkweather.

"I'll see that you get one," he told Paul.

"Uncle Will" knew that Beyer was going out of business and the agency would be available. He also owned the property where the Mayflower Hotel now stands.

"WE WERE not married at the time," Mrs. Wiedman recalled, "but Paul asked me what I thought and I answered:

"If that's what you want, that's fine, but we will be deep in debt."

"We never were afraid to work," she pointed out "so Paul decided to make the move."

"We were married in 1921 and it wasn't long after that when 'Uncle Will' called and said—

"Mr. Wiedman, we expect you to erect a $50,000 building or you may face the loss of the agency."

Mrs. Wiedman was forced to chuckle for a moment.

"Paul arranged for Mr. William Widner, of Ypsilanti, to put up the building, with the result that we were $150,000 in debt little more than a year after we were married."

"But we made it," she went on, with a sort of sigh of satisfaction, "but they were very interesting and exciting years."

From his meager beginning as a "tinkerer" in his brother's shop Paul went on to build up a record of 42 years of service as an auto dealer.

All told, the three brothers built up an enviable record. Aside from "E.G.," who had the dealership in Ypsilanti, Fred also had a dealership in Saline. Together they had a record of 130 years of service as Ford dealers.

The building just off the corner of Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail always was looked upon as the monument to hard work and perseverance.

Now, it is doomed as a victim of progress.

But few buildings in the downtown area have a more interesting history.

Printer's Devil Amazed Old Timer Surprised At Party

George Mack Adams, a well preserved gentleman of 86 years who began a career in newspaper work as a printer's devil on the Plymouth Mail way back in the Gay 90's, got his first look at modern publishing last week and scarcely could believe what he saw.

One of the oldest guests at the "Open House" that marked the 80th birthday celebration of the Plymouth Mail that now is an integral part of the Observer Newspaper Group, he stared at the offset frames where the "paste-up" is done and remarked, in a voice of utter astonishment; "Well, I'll be gol-danged." As he walked from one table to another studying the modern methods of printing a newspaper, the memories came tumbling back through the years to the days when he got his start.

"It sure looks a great deal easier than messing around with hot type," he commented, "and the results are much better. The paper is much cleaner appearing and the pictures—my how they have improved." He carefully picked up one of the films used in the offset process and chuckled in almost disbelief.

"This is a far cry from the old zincs we used to use and, on top of that, we had to send out and have them wait. It all took so much time."

"I'd sure enjoy helping to put out a newspaper under these conditions."

He enjoyed his entire visit. Now retired and living in Wyandotte, he confines his "news-paper work" to contributing to the Mail & Observer with his tales of the Plymouth he knew. He and Karl Starkweather, whose memories also goes back a long way in Plymouth, were the last of close to 300 guests to leave the birthday celebration. They sat in the front office and compared notes of "the old days" and enjoyed a great many laughs as they turned back the pages.

The entire birthday party was enjoyable as many of the city's business, industrial and civic leaders toured the Mail & Observer plant "to see how it is done."

It was a happy birthday for which we can only say— Many thanks for a great day.

City Moves Off Dead Center

Planners Given New Impetus

Breakfast Session On Again

After being on dead center for a long time the City Commission furnished fresh impetus to the move for the rehabilitation and preservation of the downtown business section in Plymouth.

The impetus was furnished when the Commission agreed to purchase the Davis property on Penniman Avenue that has been vacant for years, and the Wiedman property on South Main Street.

The purchase had a dual purpose. First, the razing of the Davis property will eliminate what long has been referred to as an "eyesore" and, secondly, both locations will be available for additional parking that has been in much demand.

"This will be a real inspiration to the business, industrial and civic leaders when we hold our next breakfast meeting," Carl Pursell, president of the Chamber of Commerce commented after the purchase approval was given. And Harold Fischer, director of the Area Planning Commission, was all smiles, too.

The breakfast meeting is scheduled for Wednesday morning, Sept. 27, at 6:30 o'clock.

Sixty-five leaders attended the first meeting to discuss plans for the future of the Plymouth area. It is expected that the City Commission's action will brighten the hopes for long-range planning being done by these leaders.

The Davis property, when the building is razed, will provide 27 parking positions, while the Wiedman location will add an additional 100 units. This will bring the parking quota to within 27 places recommended in the area planning prospectus.

In both instances it was the generosity of the businessmen who made both purchases possible.

Cambridge Sub-Division Plan Reactivated

By FRED DELANO

Reactivation of plans for a 125-home subdivision in Plymouth Township north of the new Elementary School No. 8, was revealed at Wednesday night's meeting of the Township Planning Commission.

To be known as Cambridge Village, the subdivision will be built between Ann Arbor and Joy Roads and to the west of Hannan Road, which is the southward continuation of Eckles Road.

The project first was brought to light several years ago, but lay dormant until the property was obtained by new owners, the Kaufman and Broad Development Company. This is the same organization which developed the Salem Square subdivision.

The Planning Commission set Oct. 18 as date for a public hearing on this proposed use of the land.

Another new subdivision, Parklane Meadows, which is to include 71 dwellings west of Sheldon Road between Ann Arbor and Joy Roads, suffered a delay Wednesday when approval of the preliminary plat was deferred pending an engineering study.

At issue here is the question of whether the Township must install a new water main along Sheldon south from Ann Arbor Road to provide service for Parklane Meadows, or whether an existing water line owned by the City of Plymouth will be available for Township use.

The City's water main runs along the east side of Sheldon and if the Township has to install a parallel facility it will be on the west side of the street.

Plymouth Mayor James Jabara and Township Supervisor John McEwen have conferred on the matter and reportedly have worked out terms of an unofficial agreement which would eliminate need for a duplication of facilities.

Mary Vallier Starts Study In Nursing

Mary Christine Vallier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Vallier of Penniman Ave., has registered for her first year at the University of North Carolina School of Nursing. The course covers four academic years and two terms of summer school, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in nursing.

Court Charge Is Corrected

Richard Dahmer, who gives his address as 188 N. Mill, was incorrectly reported in Wednesday's edition as having inflicted a knife wound on another man in an incident Sept. 16.

Dahmer was accused of knocking down the other man and charged with assault and battery, a misdemeanor. No knife was used, according to a check of the police report, Dahmer, free on bond, faces Plymouth Municipal Court trial Oct. 2.

Dahmer is also charged with felonious assault against Lyle Brower, his step-father who was incorrectly identified in Wednesday's edition as his father-in-law. Municipal Court examination is scheduled for Oct. 2.

Cub Scout Pack Plans Open House

Cub Scout Pack 743 is ready for a great indoor season that will open with an open house at Allen School on Monday evening, September 25 at 7:30 p.m.

The Pack is in dire need of adults who will help with the work and mothers who will serve as Den Mothers.

There are several vacancies in the Pack and new Packs will be formed as soon as leaders are obtained.

One of the big events in the offing is attendance at the Tiger baseball game on Saturday, September 30, when the California Angels furnish the opposition.

Another of the planned activities is the annual Toy Party, scheduled at Allen School on October 4 when all parents and neighbors will be welcomed.

Theater Study Group Plans Public Report

The general public, and especially those who are interested in establishing a cultural center in the downtown area, is being invited to attend a progress report meeting in the P&A Theatre on Tuesday evening, October 3, at 7:30 p.m.

For the past month a group, headed by Harold Guenther, has been at work studying plans for the rehabilitation of the theater which recently was presented to the city.

report and study will be made next Tuesday evening, followed by the public meeting a week later, and then the official presentation to the City Commission on October 16.

According to Guenther the group has been busily engaged in designing repairs and alterations in the theater along with a program for an entire year.

"We are attempting to set up a calendar in our study to ascertain the potential revenue for a season. In this manner, if the public approves, we can then decide just how far we can go in the attempt to provide a cultural center."

Pony Express Carries Mail Again

Mail was delivered from 48170 to 48150 by pony express last week.

For those averse to numbers, 48170 is Post Office talk for Plymouth, and the lower 48150 series means Livonia.

Plymouth Postmaster J.A. Mulligan helped arrange the stunt to call attention to Postal Services Day—and the desirability of using Zipcodes.

It was all very official. The mail was genuine, the pony express riders were duly authorized girl mail carriers, and the saddlebag was a real 1860-61 item loaned by the National Archives.

That was why, at about 5:30 p.m. Monday, you saw blonde, green-eyed Carol Walker galloping out of town on Schoolcraft Road aboard her trusty gelding, Copper Penny.

At Schoolcraft and Eckles, the 48150 city limit, she switched the bag to Carol Hicks, who completed the 7 1/2 mile run. The irreverent will say that

Monday's 45-minute mail run was considerably faster than the mechanized, computerized system currently used by the Post Office Department.

The official word, however, is that trucks and Zipcodes are the "in" thing with the mail this year.

WALTER HOCHLOWSKI, Plymouth's acting pony express mail dispatcher, helps Livonia rider, Carol Walker, get ready for the first leg of mail run.

Recognizing A Challenge Community Fund Captains Set About Big Job In Drive

Retail business leaders serving as team captains in the upcoming Plymouth Community Fund campaign tackled their assignments with fervor this week as a forerunner to the formal month-long drive which will be launched Oct. 9.

Wallace (Bob) Loucks, chairman of the business division, told his 16 sub-chairmen that they face a major challenge in meeting the committee's goal of raising $14,500.

This represents an eight per cent increase in the business division's quota over last year.

Loucks urged immediate effort by each member of the committee to set up organizational plans yet this month for the participation of all firms assigned to them for solicitation.

Serving with Loucks in key roles in the business division are Earl Merriman, Bud Ot-tenhauff, Charles Moore, Fred Hadley, John Gaffield, Bernie Morrison, Tom O'Hara, Wendell Lent, Don Golem, Don Hassinger, Lou Borregard, Ken Fisher, Terry West, Dan Zander, William Fehlig and Roland Lutz.

The total Community Fund goal this year is $96,586 and the business committee is one of seven separate groups formed by General Chairman Jim Thomas to reach this all-time high.

Thirteen public service agencies will share in the receipts and the formal campaign will run from Oct. 9 through Nov. 10.

On a separate front this week, 14 more area leaders were added to the list of residential team captains, bringing to 40 the number of women who will head up the house-to-house solicitation drive under the chairmanship of Mrs. Lawrence (Dorothy) Becker.

Added to her committee by Mrs. Becker were Mrs. Sam Wilhelm, Mrs. Richard Fritz, Mrs. Richard Scruggs, Mrs. Kathrine Robinson, Mrs. William Swadling, Mrs. Herbert Salyer, Mrs. Walter Crafton, Mrs. John Ort, Mrs. Goodwin

Crumble, Mrs. Donald Kral, Mrs. Wilford Bunyea, Mrs. Dorothy Moyer, Mrs. John Senstrom and Mrs. William Coons.

Mrs. Becker has called a meeting of all 40 captains to be held Tuesday, Sept. 26 in the Mayflower Hotel.

Streets To Be Closed For Sealing

All streets in the City of Plymouth that have been torn up for one reason or another during the summer are to be given a priming and seal coating.

The work will start on Tuesday, September 26, according to Ken Vogras, head of the Department of Public Works.

Once the work gets under way the streets being improved will be barricaded.

City Gets Ready For Snow

City-wide leaf collection and snow removal for all of Plymouth's 36 miles of streets is being planned for fall and winter, City Manager Richard Blodgett announced this week.

Department of Public Works crews probably will start pick-up of the leaves early in October, said Blodgett, who reminded residents that the local ordinance forbids burning them on city streets.

Three or four complete circuits of the city are likely to be necessary, said the city manager, before this phase of municipal service is completed. Depending on weather conditions, the leaf pickup schedule will run well into November--and maybe longer.

While leaf collection can be planned with a degree of certainty, snow removal schedules are at the total whim of the weatherman and the best the City can do is "be prepared" when the white stuff starts to fall.

The Department of Public Works has four major pieces of equipment on hand to do the job, said Blodgett, and the current budget provides for the purchase of one more plow yet this year.

Last winter, which was one of the worst in many years, snow removal cost the City approximately $21,500. Of this, $14,000 was to clear major arteries and the rest was spent on plowing lesser local streets.

The 1967-68 budget has $10,725 earmarked for snow removal on principal thoroughfares and an additional $6,200 for clearing secondary streets.

Wesleyans To Hear D. McClain

He heads the Department of Career Guidance of the Oriental Missionary Society, in Greenwood, Ind.

Since 1948, McClain has had assignments inside China, India and Hong Kong, as well as the United States.

He will report on conditions facing the church inside Communist China, and a missionary's view of Vietnam.

Planners Given Impetus

A majority of the property owners on Penniman Avenue agreed to a special assessment to provide half of the cost of the project. Meanwhile six businessmen--Ralph Lorenz, Robert Delaney, Charles Finlan, Herman Bakhaus, Robert Beyer and Herman Halprin--agreed to post $86,000 over a 12-year period to absorb one-third of the cost of the Wiedman property project.

The entire cost of the project has been estimated at $256,850. Aside from the businessmen's contribution they also agreed to a plan for parking meters in the lot and the fees obtained in this manner are to be used by the city for the payment of the remaining two-thirds of the cost.

The long question regarding the purchases was the method of payment. This finally was placed in the hands of Richard Blodgett, the city manager, and Charles Lowe, city attorney, to work out the details.

Following the vote on the purchase approval the Commissioners, almost as one, heaved a sigh and commented "We're finally on the move."

The Stroller...

This may come as a surprise to you, too, but The Stroller just learned that the two busiest hours in the food industry are from 4 to 6 o'clock in the morning.

We were talking about the odd hours that some men—and women—work when Don Lightfoot, one of the "gentlemen farmers" in the area spoke up and said that no two other hours in the day could beat the period between 4 and 6 o'clock in the morning and that more foodstuff was sold then than most folks could imagine.

"Just take a trip to the market some morning," he pointed out, "and see for yourself. You'll see the farmers coming in their trucks loaded with products from the farm and in the course of two hours they'll be on their way home with empty trucks."

While this statement was being thought over, Don continued:

"Take my own case," he said, "I was down to market this morning, sold my stuff, and was back in Plymouth with a load of canned peaches before most folks were on their way to the office. And that's quite a haul to market in Detroit."

The entire conversation was the outgrowth of a bit The Stroller wrote a week or so ago about Don taking the sweet corn left over from the Fall Festival on Sunday evening and disposing of it at the market by dawn on Monday morning.

So, one never knows where interesting facts will turn up. At least The Stroller never would have guessed the 4 to 6 o'clock period was the busiest of the day in foodstuffs.

"Don't forget," Don concluded, "it takes the folks in the market all day to sell what is brought there in a few hours."

AND SPEAKING OF FOOD

Browsing through some statistics distributed from our nation's capital the other afternoon The Stroller came across this interesting bit of information:

The typical American family with an income of about $5,000 a year spends $200 or so a year dining out.

Families earning $15,000 a year spend $900 in the various restaurants and eating houses across the country.

According to the folks who study such things, eating away from home costs Americans $20 billion a year—and by 1975 they claim this total may climb to $35 billion.

At the same time they claim the $10 steak will make its appearance on the menus. Even that shouldn't be too surprising, though, when you stop to realize that the price of two eggs—any style—is now $1.50 in our leading gourmet palaces.

Seventy-five cents per egg!

Have you taken the little woman out to dine lately?

GOOD USE FOR SPARE TIME

Karl Starkweather, one of Plymouth's most active elderly men, surprised most everyone at the birthday anniversary of the Plymouth Mail when he displayed a collection of fancy bow-ties.

"My wife and I make these in our spare time," he explained, "and we get a great deal of enjoyment out of doing it."

The ties were a work of art and he had them in gift boxes that were quite attractive.

Imagine this enthusiasm for a man of his years. No wonder he stays "young."

THOUGHTS WHILE STROLLING

Not many folks in Plymouth appreciate the real value of Kellogg Park. Most any other community in the suburbs would give most anything for something like it.

State Representative James Tierney pointed out the other day that Garden City has a 60-acre park that doesn't attract nearly as many folks as Kellogg Park does in the course of a year.

What a nice, large fountain with colored lights wouldn't do to enhance the beauty of the little triangle.

If the fountain is to become a reality it probably will be because the women in Plymouth wouldn't take "no" for an answer.

A HELPING HAND FOR "DOC"

Just in case the Tigers win the pennant and you'd like to see some of the games "live," don't look up our mutual friend, "Doc" Fennell. He can't help you—even though he works for the Tiger organization.

Most folks don't realize that the world series is conducted by the two leagues—National and American—and the local team, even though a participant in the series, has no part in running the games.

So, "Doc," much as he might like to, will not be able to get tickets for you.

No wonder he has such a serious look on his face these days.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Run out all of your hits—there's no telling when your opponent may drop the ball.

City Commissioners See Businessmen's Signals And Plymouth Starts Forward

The members of the City Commission, taking their cue from the business leaders, finally have put the wheels in motion to create a new atmosphere in the central business district and deserve a great deal of credit even though the action was a long time coming.

The move that brought about the decision, no doubt, was the action of the businessmen—65 of them—who showed a sufficient amount of interest in the future of Plymouth to attend a breakfast meeting at 6:30 o'clock on a recent morning.

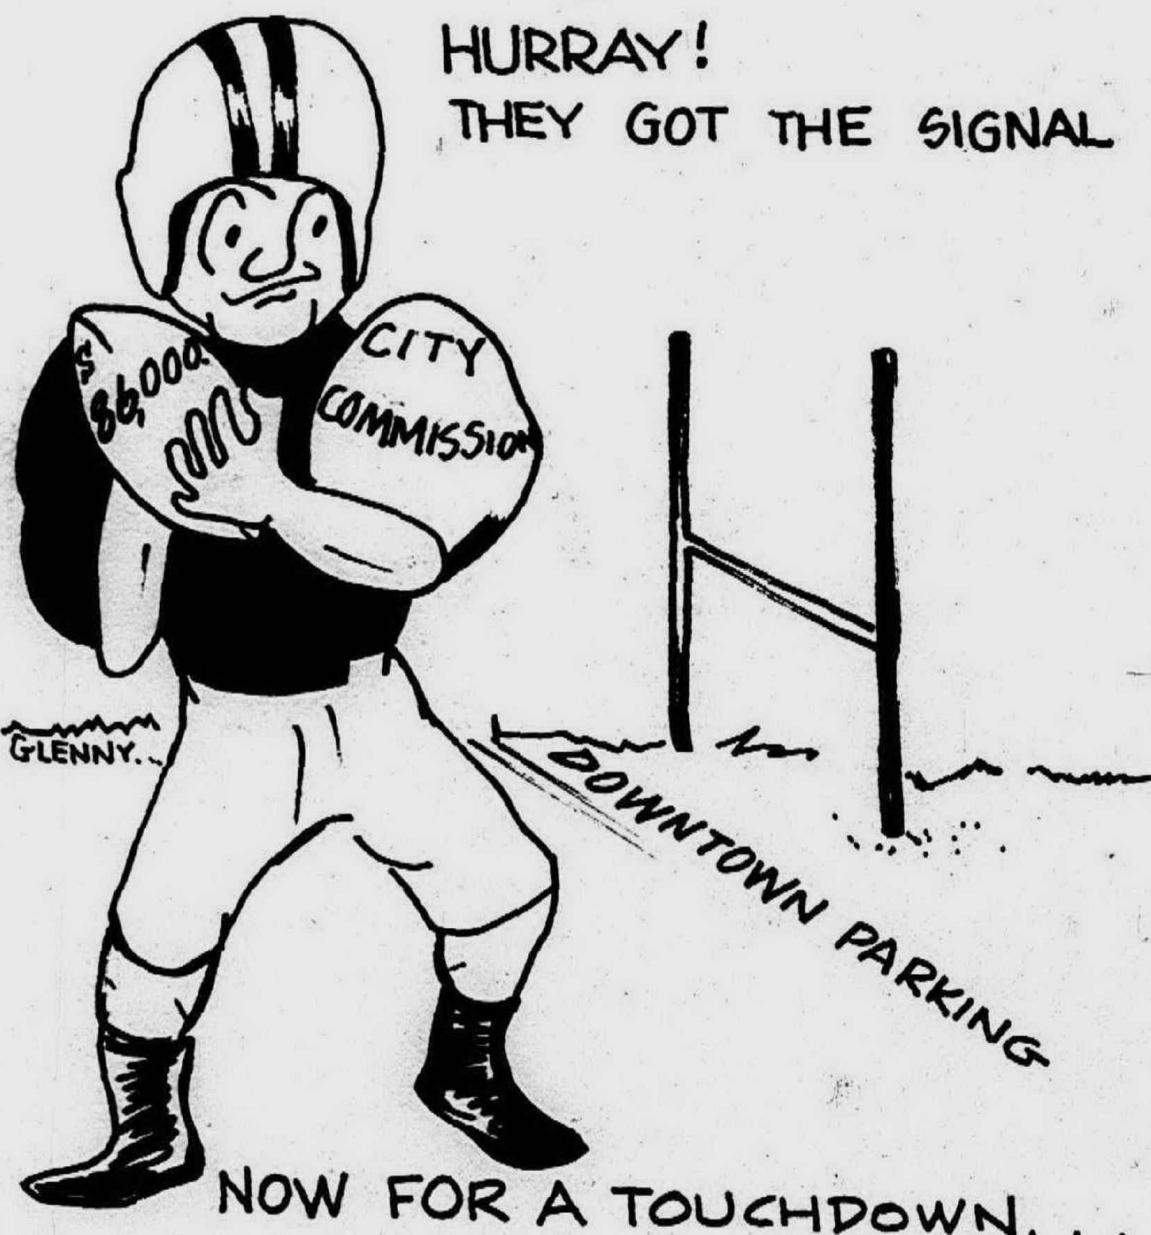

If such a large number of men were enthusiastic enough to get up in the hours considered by many to be the middle of the night then their voices deserved to be heard. They no longer could be shunted aside as has been the case in Plymouth for some years.

So, the City Commission acted in no uncertain terms with the purchase of the Davis property on Penniman Avenue and the Wiedman lot on South Main Street, to provide the parking space that is so badly needed in the modern market places.

While the Commissioners deserve some credit for acting it took them a long time to see the signals put up by the businessmen over the years. Few cities have the enthusiastic independent groups that Plymouth boasts and it is to them, too, that a great deal of credit should go, for their patience.

If we look at the record we'll find that the Central Business District loop traffic plan has been spoken of for years—yet the final details have yet to be worked out.

The "eyesore" on Penniman Avenue—the deserted Davis property—has been there for years with little or no attempt on the part of the City Commission to remove it. And through the last decade the central business district shop keepers have spent more than $3 million in an effort to brighten store fronts and create a progressive atmosphere.

Then, only a few months ago, the Women's Garden Club, after exhausting most of its patience, succeeded in having gas lights installed in Kellogg Park at no cost to the city. The lights were donated by well-meaning citizens who want the central business district pre-year. All sorts of plans emanated from City Hall—but they seldom got beyond the planning stage.

There was a need for a great awakening if the downtown area was to be preserved. It came in a most unusual way.

Noting that St. Clair, the small community on the St. Clair River, had undertaken a plan to create an served.

And so it has gone, year after entirely new shopping and business center and a beautiful riverside drive, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce arranged a meeting with the Thumb group to learn "how it was done."

"The first thing we did," one of the St. Clair leaders pointed out, "was to find out how much enthusiasm there was for such a project. We figured the best way was to have a breakfast meeting real early—say at 6:30 a.m. We worked on the theory that if a businessman came out to a meeting at that time he was serious—and enthusiastic."

"The next thing we decided upon was that we would work out our own plan and then go to the Administration leaders and tell them what we wanted. It was a new approach—but it worked."

And so a new approach was born for Plymouth. The breakfast meeting was held and the enthusiasm was tremendous.

For weeks prior to the meeting it was known that the businessmen in the area had agreed to make a gift of $86,000 to the City for help in the purchase of the Wiedman property and the property owners on Penniman Avenue had agreed—or most of them had—to a special assessment to obtain the Davis property and create more parking.

The Commission had known these facts for some time—but never acted. Time was running out on the options. Something had to be done—or the opportunity would be lost forever.

The result was the breakfast meeting and the awakening of the City Commission.

The wheels now have been put in motion and the Commission deserves credit for heeding the signals.

We are on the verge of a new downtown Plymouth community and as Mayor Jabara remarked at the close of Monday night's meeting—"This night will go down in history."

Commissioner Hudson Deserves Plaudits

The City of Plymouth is about to have a much needed zoning ordinance—thanks to the dogged determination and outstanding work of one man—Commissioner George Hudson.

For the greater part of two years he has been working and studying and meeting with members of the Planning Commission and other groups to bring about the new ordinance.

Realizing that a zoning ordinance is one of the most important documents a city can possess inasmuch as it regulates and controls the use of land, he worked diligently in the hope that the City of Plymouth would have a well written and well designed ordinance that would please everyone.

He realized, too, that writing such a document was not an easy task and one that could not be done in a hurry. So, he plodded on and on through the past 24 months, ever mindful of the day that his work would be rewarded.

Commissioner Hudson does not possess the mannerisms of what we have come to know as "politicians." He is not a colorful, fist-pounding stump speaker nor the type that attempts to dominate every situation.

He is a plodder—faithfully pulling more than his share of the load when it comes to doing home work. He is one of the few members of the City Commission who hasn't, at times, admitted publicly, "I haven't done my home work too well." When Commissioner Hudson tackles a job he gets it done—and done well.

For the past two years he has guided the preparation of the ordinance. Now, he is guiding it through official channels toward the public hearings that are necessary before final passage.

It was Commissioner Hudson who alerted the Commission to set the date for the hearings and he will stick with the ordinance until the job is done.

You've often heard the remark, "We have too many chiefs and not enough Indians."

That can't be said of the Plymouth City Commission as long as George Hudson is a member.

He is an "Indian" who likes to work and leaves the glamour to others.

Hats off to him!

Turning Back the Pages

September 21, 1900

The Plymouth fair is, at this writing, in full blast. The exhibits in every department are said to be way ahead of any displays for some years past. The horse department is especially of large proportions, and the speed entries show a fast lot of trotters and pacers. Quite a number came over from Windsor.

50 Years Ago

The fourth district bade farewell Tuesday to 125 young men who are to be its representatives in the great national reserve army now forming. A crowd estimated at 15,000 attended. There were 1,800 in the marching units in the parade, including one hundred veterans of the Civil War, who, with feeble steps, bent bodies, and beards and hair of silvery white, had sixty years ago offered the supreme sacrifice to save the Union.

Voice Out Of The Past

Town Marshal Kept Busy

By George Mack Adams

What would Hudson's be in Detroit or Marshall-Field's in Chicago or Macy's in New York without their show windows wherein are displayed the cream of their stock? Same with a newspaper. If a paper's show window—its front page is dull, commonplace and uninteresting, so is the rest of the paper, as a rule.

It was rumored at the time that Pelton had deserted his wife in a southern state and ran off with another man's wife. Mrs. Pelton herself told me they were duly married, and that the story was false as 50% of TV advertising is today. Whether the story was false or true I have no way of knowing, but this I can vouch for: They were apparently an awfully nice and happy pair of neighbors to know.

THE PELTON case was one where the Town Marshal shined like Mars at Perihelion. He was in evidence morning, noon and night from 15 minutes after Pelton was shot up to the very time he was buried. He was the "hero" of that case, and when he was turned out of office at the election the following spring he got a job with the sheriff's office at an advance in pay from a dollar a day 365 days a year to one at a dollar and a quarter a day when he worked. I never had the ambition to figure out whether he got a raise in pay or not. I will leave that to the mathematics class of 1967 to figure out. If I was to wager a guess, he got less than he was getting in Plymouth.

This is another in a series of articles written by George Mack Adams, former printer's devil on the Plymouth Mail in the Gay Nineties who now is living, retired in Wyandotte, Ed. Note.

Of course there were times in the year when the kids gave the Town Marshal a little trouble. Say the Fourth of July when timid folks around town got in touch with him and asked to stop the kids from firing off big crackers under their window. Or on Halloween when kids liked to tip over those back-yard comfort stations (which weren't comfortable from midnight the 3rd of July until midnight the Fourth of July).

TO THE CITIZENS OF PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT:

There is a sixty-two page audit report of the financial records of the School District for the school year ending June 30, 1967, prepared by Sutherland and Robson, Certified Public Accountants, on file in the Board of Education Offices that may be reviewed by any interested citizen.

The School District is in a satisfactory financial condition. The District has a history of operating its schools within a balanced budget. The School District is experiencing very rapid growth in pupil enrollment.

The Board of Education and Administration continue to make extensive use of the Citizens' Facility Committee Reports, Phase I and Phase II, that were completed in April and June, 1966. These reports serve as a basis for planning expanded facilities to accommodate the increasing enrollment. The reports also are helpful in determining the most satisfactory method of financing the expanding program.

During the last school year, bond issues of $830,000 and $5,500,000 were sold for the purpose of constructing school facilities and purchasing school sites. The citizens approved an $8,500,000 bond issue at the June 12 election to provide for senior high school facilities on a new school site located near the corner of Joy Road and Canton Center Road. That building is being planned presently. Construction has started on Middle School No. 3 and will soon start on Elementary School No. 9. Further construction of elementary school facilities will be needed for the opening of school in September, 1970.

The Board of Education and school administration appreciate the dedication of the members of the Citizens' Committees that have assisted greatly in planning for the future growth and development of the Plymouth Community School District and urge the continuation of the public interest, support and participation.

Plymouth Community School District needs to continue improvement of curriculum to meet the current needs of society. We welcome citizen participation in all matters pertaining to the educational program and the facility improvement for the Plymouth Community School District.

Very sincerely yours,
James H. Rossman

MRS. JACOBUS OFTEN entertains at "steamboat dinners" in this cozy setting with the fireplace in the background decorated with Delft dishes.

Lifetime Souvenirs In Jacobus House

Souvenirs from 20 years of travel throughout the world decorate the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jacobus on Elm St.

The Jacobuses didn't take pictures just to shove in a drawer and forget. Professional-looking colored photographs have been enlarged and hung throughout the house.

Paris scenes decorate the front hall. Views of Singapore, and the Virgin Islands are in the living room.

Since Jacobus handles insurance for the Ford Motor Co., he has to travel to Ford plants all over the world. When possible Mrs. Jacobus goes along, and they wind up the business trip with a vacation, they ended a tour of Australian plants, for instance, with a visit to New Zealand.

PICTURES AREN'T the only things the Jacobuses bring home from their trips. One night in Singapore, they were so fascinated with their dinner they bought the equipment needed to duplicate it.

"It's called a steamboat dinner, and made in this," said Mrs. Jacobus picking up a metal cooker something like a chafing dish.

"Everyone cooks little pieces of chicken, shrimp, scallops, pork, mushrooms, and lettuce in a chicken broth," she explained.

The diners then use tiny dip-pers to take the food out of the broth and put in their rice bowls.

The bowls which Mrs. Jacobus picked up looked like small strainers, until closer examination showed that the dishes were all one piece.

"It's called the rice pattern," she said. "And I can't figure out how they make it." The tiny rice-like shape used as a pattern in the china is so much more translucent than the creamy porcelain that it looks as if the dishes were covered with holes.

FIGURES CARVED from Hawaiian lava are used in the living room. On a screened porch Mrs. Jacobus has hung a tapa cloth from the Fiji Islands.

"It feels almost like paper," she said, fingering the thin material. "It is made of bark, which the natives pound and pound. They often use it as wall-paper. I've used this piece as a picnic table cloth."

Mrs. Jacobus's comfortable blue and white house has been decorated as a background for her souvenirs.

Conference To Look At Pre-Schoolers

Several Plymouth women are working on the committee for the Fall Conference of the Huron Valley Council of Cooperative Nurseries in the Ann Arbor High School, in Ann Arbor on Sept. 30.

Twenty-six member nurseries are participating in the conference which is open to the public.

Mrs. Robert Horwood of Plymouth and Mrs. John Sheard of Ypsilanti are co-chairmen. Mrs. Donald Bove is publicity chairman, and Mrs. Carl Cederberg is chairman of introducing the speakers. Both are from Plymouth.

The day-long conference will give parents and others interested in the pre-schooler, a chance to share views on current programs for enriching the lives of young children.

Speakers will be Monsignor Hugh Michael Beahan, director of radio and TV for the Diocese of Grand Rapids, president and general manager of WXTV-FM, and member of Aquinas College faculty. As keynote speaker, Monsignor Beahan has chosen the topic, "It's Tough To Be a Parent."

After his speech there will be a series of workshops. Dr. Richard Deatrick, an Ann Arbor pediatrician, will discuss nutrition.

Good books for the young child will be suggested by Thelma McDaniel, M.A., assistant professor of speech and dramatics at Eastern Michigan University.

Another Eastern Michigan professor, Dr. Peg Steig, PhD, will discuss sex education for the pre-schooler.

The lonely child and other emotional problems will be the topic of Dr. Edward Schwartz, PhD., instructor of psychology, department of pediatrics, at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

In the afternoon the last four workshops will be repeated. A science and exploration workshop, led by Dr. William Strapp, PhD., a professor at the University of Michigan, will replace the workshop on nutrition.

The conference will begin at 9 a.m. and last until 3 p.m. For more information call Mrs. Horwood, 453-2241.

Almost all the walls are white, except for a dark red patterned wallpaper in the country kitchen, and the pale antique blue paneling around the living room fireplace.

In the comfortable living room, Mrs. Jacobus has used traditional furniture with relaxed provincial accents. The soft blue rug, and sofas covered with flowered prints in shades of aqua and blue are contrast with deep cherry red chairs.

A SMALL CHEST is painted antique blue to match the paneling. In a charming window treatment, Mrs. Jacobus has used valances made from print material which matches the sofas, and filled in the bottom half of the windows with white shutters filled with sheer white curtains.

Perhaps the area the Jacobuses enjoy most is the porch where Mrs. Jacobus has hung the tapa cloth. This porch opens off both the kitchen and master bedroom.

It is a quiet secluded place, sheltered from the road by a garage, and from the neighbors by a clump of trees.

Looking out from their porch, where they eat most of their summer meals, the Jacobuses see only a serene and peaceful garden.

Helping Hands To Aid Children

The Plymouth Jay-C-Ettes are taking the first step to establish a "Helping Hand Program" in both the city and township, by seeking endorsements from local officials for the project.

Large cards with blue hands on white backgrounds will be put in windows of all approved homes so a child can find a "helping hand" in that home if he is troubled with a molester, a bully, the weather or any other problem.

The homes will be selected by schools or on personal recommendations.

The police department will keep a list of selected homes, and they will be continually canvassed by the Jay-C-Ettes, to make certain that none but approved homes have signs in the window.

"We hope to have two signs in every block in the city and township," said Mrs. Robert Shuman, chairman of the project.

After contacting civic officials, the Jay-C-Ettes will be sending letters to PTA's, individual parents, and schools, to ask their support in backing the project and helping select homes.

Specialty of the House Marinated Steak

MRS. BLODGETT USUALLY covers the meat with waxed paper when she marinates it.

Mrs. Richard Blodgett likes to vary her dinner menus with such meat specialties as Flank Steak Teriyaki. A former nurse, Mrs. Blodgett now spends most of her time taking care of her daughter, Michelle, and her house.

"Now that my child anchors me at home," she explained, "I am finding that I thoroughly enjoy the role of homemaker."

She cheerfully spends hours sewing or working on a teacart that she is refinishing.

However, as wife of the city manager, she also spends much of her time attending official receptions and open houses.

Autumn Brings Out Football Families

From September through November Friday nights are rush nights at the John Rudloff home on Greenbriar Lane, as the entire family gets ready for the Plymouth High football games.

Like many Plymouth families, the Rudloffs make the games an important part of their fall week-ends.

The Friday night outings began for the Rudloffs in 1961 when their oldest daughter Karen, (now Mrs. Gary Sciba) became part of the high school marching band.

The Rudloffs plan to go to the games at least another six years until their youngest son, Bruce, graduates from high school. And by that time they may not be able to stop.

"I wouldn't be surprised if we kept on going," said Mrs. Rudloff.

"The band has always been a big attraction for our family. But you get to recognize the players, too, and like to follow them."

"Besides, it's a nice week-end outing."

It was the band that originally got the Rudloff family interested in the games. Two years after Karen started with the band, her sister, Margaret, joined her in the clarinet section.

Now Margaret only sees the games when she comes home from Oakland University, but her brother Jack watches the games with the other high school band members. Jack, a junior, plays the cornet. And in a couple of years Bruce may be playing his trombone with the band.

Getting band members to the games early enough makes things more hectic at the Rudloffs than at some other fans' homes.

"Before we had two cars, we used to have to make two trips to town," explained Mrs. Rudloff. "If there was a game away the band member had to be at the bus by 6 p.m. Sometimes the kids arranged rides, but that was confusing, too."

Even though the rest of the family doesn't have to be at the games quite as early, they try to get there in time to see the band come on the field.

This means leaving home by 7:15. So, starting at 5:30, when Mr. Rudloff gets home from work, everybody moves -- fast.

"I always have a simple meal on Friday," said Mrs. Rudloff. "It's finished by 6 p.m. Sometimes we get the dishes done before we leave, but many times they just have to wait until we get back."

"After dinner everybody runs around, gets their things, and off we go."

Good Buys at Grocers

POULTRY: There are a number of features on whole and cut-up fryers and special parts in the markets.

PORK: Prices have declined recently. There are good buys on loin cuts, smoked hams, bacon, and smoked picnic.

BEEF: Most of the bargains are higher priced than they were a few weeks ago, so check the ads carefully. Specials can be found in chuck cuts, hamburger, corned beef and rib steaks.

FISH: Fresh fish supplies continue to be more than ample with some exceptionally good buys on fresh smelt. Perch are plentiful, also cod and haddock, but whitefish is becoming scarce. Halibut steak is in some of the ads this week. Shrimp--peeled and deveined--continues to be in plentiful supply and decreased in price in some stores.

EGGS AND DAIRY: Egg prices are relatively steady. Small sizes are down again in price making them the best value by weight--in comparison to larger sizes of the same grade or quality. Specials on dairy products are scattered this week.

Skim milk is in the spotlight, cream cheese and cheese slices are also in a number of ads.

FRUITS: Supplies of Michigan apples are constantly increasing and prices are dropping. The McIntosh variety is in heaviest volume.

Prices on peaches took an unexpected drop and the first of the Florida grapefruit should bring some reduced prices. Though banana imports are light due to loss from the hurricane, some stores are still specializing them.

SENIOR PORTRAITS SPECIAL PRICES for those calling now for an appointment through September.

'68s Top Secrets are here

1968 Chevrolets

The 1968 Chevrolets are the very essence of modern design. Every line, every curve is in close harmony. It's a smooth, uncluttered look with roof lines compatible with body lines, grilles and bumpers that blend gracefully into long, rounded fenders. Clean, flowing, beautiful in their simplicity, these '68 Chevrolets are rich and advanced in styling beyond any you've ever seen.

A MORE SILENT RIDE

And for 1968, we've gone to every length to give you more peace and quiet inside. The most sophisticated computers have been used to strategically place body mounts and successfully isolate noise and vibration. Shock absorbers have been improved. The wheel stance on many models is wider for greater smoothness. Exhaust systems have been redesigned to make them whisper-quiet. Even the clocks tick more softly. A sound car is a silent car. The '68 Chevrolets are the most silent, highest quality cars we've ever built.

BETTER PERFORMANCE

There are new engines, a bigger standard Six and V8. There's a new 250-hp V8 you can order that runs on regular fuel. Many new engine components increase dependability and keep your new Chevrolet running stronger. There's a new rear axle ratio you can add for greater economy. On most engines equipped with automatic transmissions, there's a special heater for the carburetor which gives you more efficient performance in cold weather. And with every engine, you get the new GM exhaust emission control.

UNIQUE ASTRO VENTILATION

There's a whole new idea in ventilation, called Astro Ventilation, for Camaro, Corvette and the elegant Caprice Coupe. It's also available on many other models. By opening two new vent-ports on the instrument panel, you bring in outside air that can be directed where you want it. This way, you can leave your windows rolled up and add still more to your peace and quiet.

PROVED SAFETY FEATURES

You get the proved GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column, folding front seat back latches, dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, plus many more new features. Among them: energy absorbing front seat backs, and safety armrests that shield the door handles.

MUCH MORE THAT'S NEW

There are new roof lines, some formal and graceful, others sporty and quick. There are new instrument panels, richly designed and all controls within easy reach. There are new interiors, new vinyls, new fabrics, new colors. There are models with Hide-A-Way windshield wipers and headlights that disappear behind grilles. There are new side marker lamps, new recessed taillights. There's even a new ignition alarm buzzer that reminds you not to walk away and leave your keys in the car.

These are the newest, the most different, the most dramatically changed Chevrolets ever. And they're at your Chevrolet dealer's now. You'll thoroughly enjoy slipping behind the wheel, experiencing the smooth new handling and library-quiet ride and, more than anything, seeing and feeling the even greater quality built into every new Chevrolet for 1968.

Be smart! Be sure! Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

There's more quality and value built into Chevrolets than ever before, making every new 1968 model an even better buy!

AT A PRACTICE session on the Schoolcraft College soccer court, a goalie leaps high to make a save.

By George Maskin observing sports

The question was a natural one to fire in the direction of soccer coach Marv Gans of Schoolcraft College.

With four foreign students on his team, Gans was asked: "How do you recruit so many from overseas?"

Gans smiled... laughed a little... "No, I don't spend my summers overseas looking for would-be talent."

"The boys just happen to come here... just like all the rest of our students."

And come they have, from Sweden, from Lebanon, from Iran and from Norway... not to forget places much closer to home like Plymouth, Livonia, Farmington, Redford Township, etc.

The big "prize" is Joop Doorn, who won All America junior-college honors last season when Schoolcraft rolled along to gain national recognition for its team play, too.

Gans was concerned whether Doorn would return for another season. The word had circulated that Joop wasn't going to cross the ocean again.

Fortunately for Schoolcraft he's back, and he began the 1967 season where he left off last fall, converting the hat trick (three goals) against Delta in a 7-0 victory.

Another star of the game was Bob Lotko, who comes from Norway. Then there's Bahram Farahmand, a sophomore from Iran, who also scored three goals and Gaby Nasalarah, who hails from Lebanon.

GANS ADMITS THAT the foreign boys have a knack for soccer.

"They play the game over there from the time they are so high—(four feet)," declares Gans. "But, it's a different story for our American boys."

"We don't have much high school soccer in the states, especially not around the communities which surround our college."

"What do we do?" "Well, we take boys with football, baseball and basketball backgrounds and turn them into soccer players."

"It's really not too difficult a transition either. If a boy just has fair ball sense, we can make him into a halfback or a fullback."

"A boy must have a greater amount of agility to make his grade in soccer as a forward and as a goalie."

Al Jose plays goal for Schoolcraft. It is a new post for him after he turned in a fine record in high school sports at Franklin.

But he still blazed with a shutout in his first college game. Might we suggest that the Detroit Cougars take note of young Mr. Jose's work.

A year ago Schoolcraft went through unbeaten... winning eight out of eight. What a way to start out in a sport!

Plymouth Racer Wins 1967 Title

Dick Simmons of Plymouth will go down as one of the great drivers to contest at the Flat Rock Speedway.

He won the 25-lap Figure 8 championship for 1967 when he captured the final racing event of the season Saturday.

It marked the fourth time in five years that Simmons has ruled over the field in the Figure 8 action.

Joy Fair of Pontiac regained his late-model championship by winning eight 25-lap features, the mid-season and the season titles.

Bentley Gridders Win

Bentley High School's Bulldogs squeaked through to a 13-7 football triumph over Dearborn Friday afternoon by coming from behind on Halfback Leeroy Watson's 15-yard touchdown gallop with a minute and 19 seconds left to play.

It was the second straight victory of the season for Coach Larry Joiner's Bulldogs, who defeated Farmington last week.

However, even though they dominated most of Friday's contest, their own mistakes almost proved fatal as time after time they were frustrated by fumbles and penalties.

BENTLEY'S defense contained Dearborn so thoroughly that the latter squad was unable to make a single first down through the entire second half, and never engineered a drive of its own that crossed the Bulldog 38-yard line except for one second-quarter lapse that almost meant defeat.

Bentley scored first on a two-yard quarterback sneak by Jim Powers late in the first period, but the 6-0 lead that resulted when Greg Ockerman's try for the extra point went wide was short-lived.

Dearborn Quarterback Jack Curley crossed up Bentley's defenders with some beautiful faking on a second down play at his own 23 the first time Dearborn gained possession in the second quarter, and the elusive youngster rambled 77 yards on a rollout to knot the count.

Curley added the extra point from placement, and the 7-6 lead almost stood up long enough to give Dearborn its first victory of the year.

BENTLEY MARCHED 68 yards from its own 24 to Dearborn's eight yard stripe at the start of the third quarter, Fullback Lynn Thompson contributing one run of 39 yards and both Watson and Halfback Ed Raether turning in big gains. But that drive ended on a sour note when Dearborn's Doug Schultz pounced on a Bulldog fumble.

Schultz also recovered another fumble late the same period, and still a third Bulldog bobble was picked off by Dearborn's Charles Gallian to thwart a strong Bentley drive early in the fourth quarter.

On this one, Powers had engineered a march which originated at his own 20. With Raether and Watson sharing the ball carrying load, the Bulldogs moved to the Dearborn 35 before losing possession.

DEFENSIVE Halfback Mike Day provided the spark that ignited the game-winning drive when he picked off a Curley forward pass at midfield with slightly more than four minutes left in the game.

The interception gave Bentley control at the Dearborn 46, and seven plays later Watson burst through the middle for the final 15 yards that put the Bulldogs in front, 12-7. This time Powers passed to End Dan Doyle for the extra point.

Wild Asters Blooming

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

Wild asters are brightening the autumn scene in fields, along the roadsides and at the edge of open woods.

The deep purple variety with relatively large flowers is the New England aster. The small pale toned varieties that form fluffy clouds of bloom are most often the heart-leaved aster or the calico aster.

In all there are about 100 species of wild asters, or "star flowers," as they are also called.

THE WILD species lend themselves readily to hybridizing, and many choice garden varieties have been developed. These are planted all too seldom in local gardens.

In England long beds and banks are devoted to them so that at this season the gardens are filled with masses of soft hued blooms.

A few varieties bloom in spring, and a few more begin blooming in early summer and continue into the autumn. The variety Aster Frikarti, Wonder of Staffa, has lavender-blue flowers that are more than two inches in diameter. Bloom starts in early June and continues through October.

The plants are low mounds that are covered with bloom. They will grow in either full sun or light shade, but need a considerable amount of moisture.

From Oregon comes a group of dwarf asters that begin blooming in August. The plants are from eight to 15 inches tall and are wide spreading. Colors include white, pale pink, deep pink and lavender. There are also semi-dwarfs that are fifteen to eighteen inches in height.

THE FALL blooming asters, or Michaelmas daisies, are the type often featured in English gardens. In September and October, they are covered with masses of flowers that are beautiful in the garden and also make long-lasting cut flowers.
