

Rocks Face Allen Park In Homecoming Highlight

Go, Rocks, Go---that will be a familiar cry at Plymouth High this week as a homecoming-mad student body prepares for the annual return of alumni for a duel with Allen Park Friday night at 8 p.m. on the PHS athletic field.

The Rocks will be trying to end a two game losing streak and Coach Tom Moshimer will attempt to turn his first Plymouth homecoming into a victory.

There'll be a parade through the downtown business section headed by the Plymouth High marching band under the direction of Conductor James Griffith, a bonfire at the north end of the athletic field and a first--a powderpuff football game between two teams of girls at 3 p.m. on the athletic field. This is the first time a game between the girls has been apart of the homecoming celebration and General Chairman Sue Camp visions a large crowd from the student body. The contest is being sponsored by the Pilgrim Prints to help defray the cost of the publication during the present school year.

HIGHSPOT OF THE FRIDAY evening program will be the naming and coronation of the homecoming queen from a list of four senior girls. The senior class selected Julie Hegerich, Peggy Clyde, Judi Utter and Candy May as its candidates for the much coveted honor. The rules of the annual homecoming election provide that the seniors pick four candidates, one of whom will be selected as queen in traditional election Friday afternoon.

The results will be known only to members of the homecoming committee handling the ballot counting and will be kept secret until the name is taken from a sealed envelope during the halftime intermission. Inasmuch as Mayor Mike Stasias is a member of the varsity football squad and thus will be unable to handle the mike for the announcement, that chore has been turned over to Vice Mayor Mike Malbosouf.

The sophomore, junior and senior classes picked members of the Queen's court earlier in the week. The four senior candidates will comprise the greater part of the court along with Junior Connie Gray and SOPHOMORE Caryl Davis. THE SIX-MEMBER COURT will have seats of honor in the parade which is slated to start at 7 p.m. from the high school, wind around the downtown section and march back to the athletic field for the bonfire at 7:25 p.m.

The procession will include the marching band, the pom-pom corps, floats from each of the classes, centered around the homecoming candidates, and from the Student Council. The halftime show is expected to be the most spectacular of the entire season.

It will have all the pomp and color of a coronation ceremony in which all of the candidates will be introduced to the audience and then the 1967 Queen will be announced. She will dance with Drum Major Dennis McVittie--another tradition of the Plymouth homecoming--and then the musicians will present what Director Griffith says will be the finest show ever by a marching band at PHS.

Record Community Fund Campaign Opens Monday

The biggest Community Fund drive in Plymouth's history will get underway with a torchlighting ceremony next Monday night amid factors which make the challenge to raise a record $98,586 the most trying ever faced.

Team leaders and the hundreds of volunteers handling solicitation efforts will join with the public at 7:15 p.m. Monday in Kellogg Park to signal the start of the month-long campaign.

Residents of the community are invited to attend the torchlighting ceremony which will mark the first public appearance of "Miss Sweet Charity of 1967," Carol Karshneski. Miss Karshneski was selected last week to reign over the 1967 campaign. She is a secretary at the Burroughs Corporation.

General Chairman Jim Thomas, aware that the labor strikes which hit the Plymouth community's two biggest employers in September--Ford and Burroughs--may compound his committee's problems, has called upon all Fund workers to put forth extra vigor in trying to reach the 1967 campaign goal.

"The 13 public service agencies served by the Fund are depending upon us to raise the money they need to carry on effective programs as planned," said Thomas. "We cannot let them down, and I know every volunteer who takes part in the drive will do everything possible to see that we do not fail."

Although the general campaign will run until Nov. 10, the house-to-house solicitation will be concentrated between Oct. 10 and Oct. 17.

Under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence (Dorothy) Becker and 40 team captains, more than 300 door-to-door "bell ringers" will call upon every residence in the area during that week, seeking contributions.

WHO WILL BE QUEEN? One of these four seniors will rule over the Plymouth High homecoming activities during the weekend as Homecoming Queen. The selection will be made in a schoolwide vote Friday afternoon and the winner will be kept secret until the coronation ceremonies at halftime of the Plymouth-Allen Park football game. The four senior candidates include: (from left) Peggy Clyde, Judi Utter, Julie Hegerich and Candy May.

Enrollment In Schools Up By 937

Total enrollment of students in the Plymouth Community School District when the census for application of the state's financial aid formula was taken Friday, Sept. 29, stood at 8,354. This is an increase of 937 over the official figure for September, 1966, which was 7,417.

Although Friday's count is subject to audit before being submitted to the state, and may be a trifle off, school administrative authorities say the final total is certain to exceed the 8,300 on which the 1967-68 budget was predicated.

Enrollment at Plymouth High School this fall (1,577) is up 134 over a year ago when it stood at 1,443.

Eight From PHS Excel In Merit Award Tests

Eight seniors at Plymouth High have been named semifinalists in the 1967-68 National Merit Scholarship program and four others have been awarded letters of commendation for outstanding performances in the examinations last February.

Announcement of the 12 honored was made by Principal Carvel Bentley after receipt of detailed information from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

The 14,000 semifinalists from every state in the Union advanced to the second step in the national competition for some 2,900 merit scholarships which have a value of more than $8 million and will be awarded in 1968.

The semifinalists from PHS are: Judy Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett; John Bortins, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bortins; Tim Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brown; Brian Donnelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. MacDonnelly; Tim Francisco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Francisco; Dave Johnson, son of Mrs. Jacquelyn Johnson; Lyle Meier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meier; and Mark Whittaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whittaker.

Those receiving commendations, which rank just below the semifinalists but advance no further in the scholarship competition, included: Karen Broxholm, Bruce Cavender, Douglas Hawker, Stephanie Sankoski and John Spruman.

EVERY SEMIFINALIST who becomes a finalist will be considered for one of about 2,400 four-year Merit Scholarships financed by some 400 corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations, other organizations, and individuals, and by NMSC itself. In addition, about 500 one-time National Merit $1,000 Scholarships will be awarded for the first time in 1968. Winners of four-year Merit Scholarships may receive up to $1,500 a year for four college years.

Game Fish To Inhabit Local Lake

To the thousands of motorists who have wondered in recent days what suddenly has caused Phoenix Lake, at the northeast edge of Plymouth, suddenly to dry up to mud hole status, the Wayne County Road Commission has an answer.

It's going to become a fishing pond--a good one, stocked with such game fish as trout, northern pike and large mouth bass.

The drying up process and restocking of the lake is a cooperative effort on the part of the County Road Commission and the Michigan State Conservation Department.

As the water level of the pretty lake bordered by Northville and Phoenix Roads has shrunk lower and lower in the past week, more and more of the curious have wondered as to the cause.

First step was for the road department, which has the jurisdiction over the acreage, to drain the lake. This now has been accomplished, with the water directed into the channel of the Rouge River.

The coarse fish which did inhabit the lake have been dragged through a chemical spraying process and have been gathered up and disposed of.

City, Township Agree On Water Main Price

Plymouth Township and the City of Plymouth reached political accord this week on the ticklish question of joint use of 4,000 feet of city-owned water mains, but they remained at odds over a drainage issue.

In a rare display of inter-governmental harmony, the Commission voted Monday night to accept $20,000 from the Township for water main service on Sheldon Road south from Ann Arbor Road to Joy Road, and on the west side of Sheldon from Ann Arbor Road to Ann Arbor Trail.

The City's action saves the Township from having to install its own mains along the same route at a considerably higher cost to serve Gallimore School, Plymouth Colony Subdivision, and still another newly proposed subdivision to be built west of Sheldon.

City Commissioner James Houk entered the official motion authorizing the City Manager and City Attorney to proceed in drawing up a contract with the Township and commented, "It should be understood that we are doing this as a gesture of good will between two communities and to save the Township from building another main at $80,000."

In its benevolence, the Commission passed Houk's motion unanimously.

HOWEVER, THE AIR of serenity disappeared when the Commission received an official Township communication stating that the latter wanted no part of a City request to join in asking the Wayne County Drain Commission to take complete jurisdiction of the Tonquish Creek drain.

Speaking of flood problems originating from the drain, Commissioner Arch Vallier declared, "The problem is being caused 100 per cent by the development of the Township, yet they refuse to do anything about it."

Vallier's request that the City pursue negotiations on its own with the County Drain Commission was adopted.

THREE PROPOSALS to purchase land in Plymouth Industrial Park also came before the Commission Monday, with two being flatly rejected and the third tabled.

The latter involved an effort by the Crankshaft Form Tool Co. to purchase one and a half acres, and the matter was tabled until it can be determined whether the company will adhere to a construction and occupancy schedule demanded by the City.

'Satellite' City Draws Debate

Although apparently originated in all seriousness by Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, the notion that the Motor City might create and legally annex a "satellite city" in Northville and Plymouth Townships drew more grins than frowns here

ROBERT PICKUP, executive director of the Citizens Research Council of Michigan, will discuss governmental unification when he addresses the Plymouth Businessmen's Forum at noon Thursday in the Mayflower Meeting House.

Another bid to obtain the same piece of land, submitted by Frank Arlen, was rejected.

Similarly, a proposition by the Ovidon Manufacturing Co. to acquire another parcel in the Industrial Park was voted down.

Twice during the hour it took to weigh these three bids the commission interrupted the general meeting to consider the propositions in secret session. The actions which followed were taken without any revelation of what financial offers had been made.

Not many of those who read of the "satellite" plan in the Sunday edition of The Detroit News took the idea seriously.

Those who did, saw the Cavanagh proposal as an added reason why the governmental unification of Northville and Northville Township to the north, and of Plymouth and Plymouth Township in this area, should be advocated.

Legal opinions indicate that annexation of such municipalities to any westward reaching arm of Detroit would be impossible. However, as long as unincorporated township land exists, there seems some legal basis for considering the Cavanagh idea remotely possible.

The vague outline as it was disclosed contemplates creation of a new city of from three to nine square miles in territory, most of it in Northville Township but overlapping from Five Mile Road nearly to Territorial Road in Plymouth Township.

That northwestern corner of Wayne County already includes two sizeable land parcels owned by Detroit for the facilities of the Detroit House of Correction, and Maybury Sanatorium.

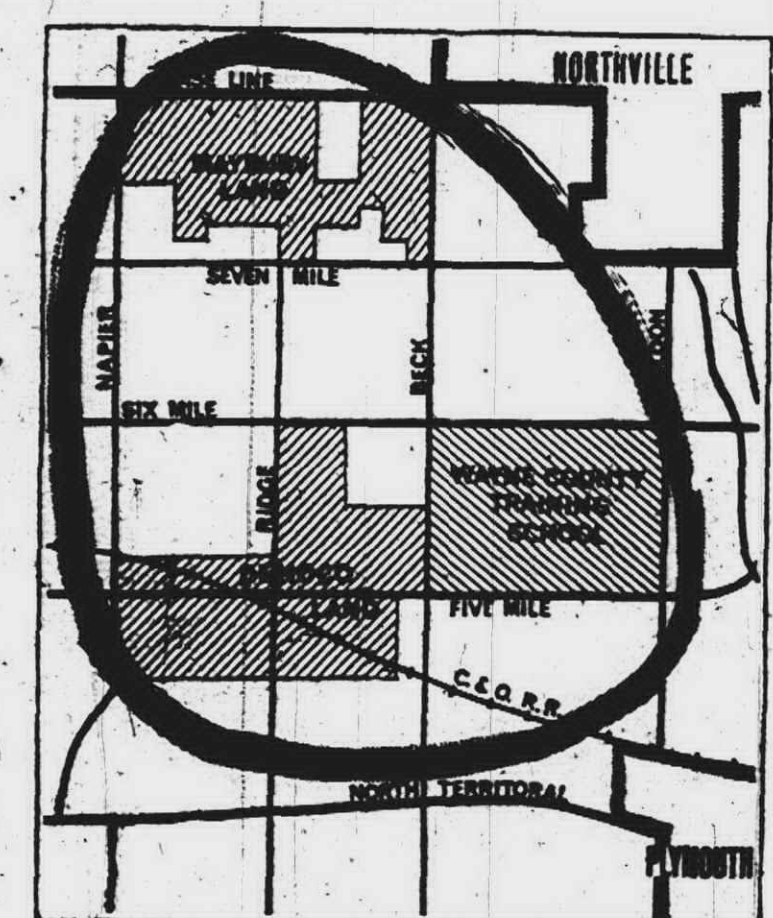

It is estimated that the area could contain a population of 100,000 and the scheme actually is being studied by the Detroit City Planning Commission. If created, the community would be administered by the existing Detroit government.

Foremost obstacle to such a plan is the fact that present Michigan law prohibits annexation of any land that is not contiguous to the city doing the annexing.

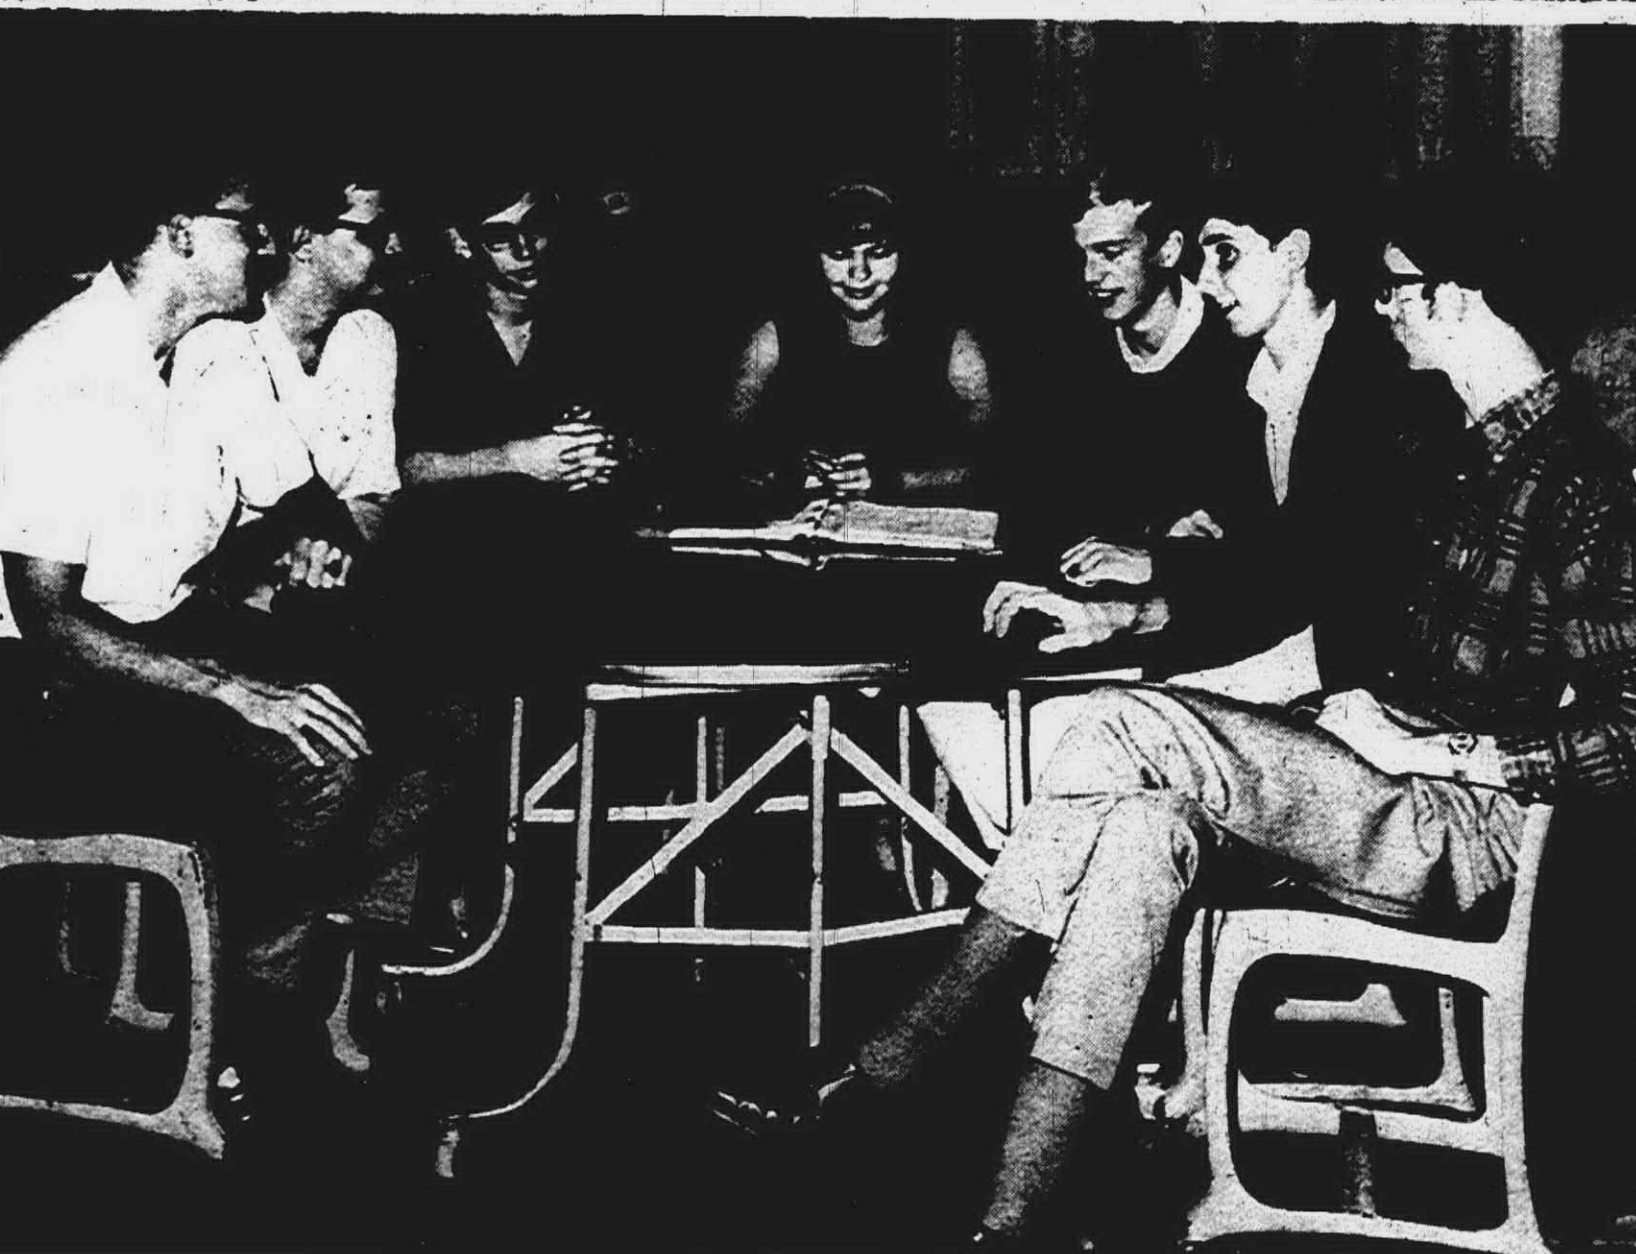

The News stated that one of Cavanagh's basic concepts would be to make sure that all housing in such a new city would be equally available to Negroes and whites.

A NEW CITY?--This is a rough idea of the territory which would be included in the so-called "Satellite City" proposed by Detroit Mayor Cavanagh. The map is reprinted with permission of The Detroit News.

WHAT'S AHEAD? That's the question before these seven Plymouth High seniors who have been named semifinalists in the annual National Merit Scholarship competition. They are busy looking over some of the rules. Actually there

Army Will Award 1,600 Scholarships

Congressmen Jack McDonald and Marvin Esch announce the Army will award 1,600 ROTC scholarships for the school year 1968-69.

A total of 800 new four-year scholarships will be awarded on a competitive basis to outstanding high school graduates and approximately 845 two-year awards will be made to selected college students who have completed two years of ROTC training.

EACH AWARD pays for the student's tuition, text books and lab fees and provides $50 per month subsistence allowance for the duration of the scholarship, except for a six-week summer camp during which the student is paid at the rate of $151.95 per month.

To be eligible for a scholarship, an applicant must be a male United States citizen who meets the prescribed physical standards. Applicants for the four-year awards must not have reached their 21st birthday by June 30, 1968, and they must be 17 by October 1, 1968.

The two-year award applicants must be under 23 years of age on June 30, 1968, and must be a Cadet in good standing in the second year of his ROTC training.

APPLICATION FOR the new scholarships can be made beginning Dec. 1, 1967, and application packet must be completed and returned with a postmark not later than January 15, 1968.

For Michigan residents, application forms and detailed information on the four-year scholarship program may be obtained from the Commanding General, 5th Army, Attention ALFAG-ZB, Fort Sheridan, Ill. 60037.

Students applying for the two-year awards will do so with the Professor of Military Science at their present school. Since part of the scholarship selection is based on the college entrance examination board (CEE) tests, high school students who intend to compete for Army ROTC scholarships should take the CEE test given nationwide this fall.

What Is Meaning Of Confiscate

LANSING -- Noah Webster defines "confiscate" as "to seize by authority," but Secretary of State James M. Hare wants a clearer definition of the word as it applies to administering a newly-passed amendment to the state vehicle code.

The new bill contains the word "confiscate" which is new to the vehicle code. So Hare has asked Attorney General Frank J. Kelley to give him a working definition to be used in administering Public Act 61, basically a bill which provides tougher punishment for drivers guilty of driving while under suspension or revocation.

HARE ASKED clarification on the following points of law: "Does it mean that upon conviction, vehicle registration (license) plates are forfeited and the owner is required to get new plates after paying a full year's weight tax to operate it in Michigan?"

He also asked whose responsibility it is to "confiscate" plates from the vehicle of an individual who has been convicted under provisions of the law and whether the term "confiscate" has any implication which would subject the individual to provisions of the financial responsibility law after conviction.

KELLY WAS ALSO asked to clarify another section of the law which specifies that the arresting officer check the master driving record files and inform the court of the individual's driving record before he may be convicted of a driving infraction.

Hare seeks opinions on his questions prior to Nov. 2, the effective date of Public Act 61.

Central Michigan University head football coach Roy Kramer was named the Michigan High School Football Coach of the Year in 1964 when his East Lansing High School team won the mythical class A state championship.

State Starts Collecting New Income Tax

FOR THE FIRST TIME in years and perhaps in area history, strikes have idled thousands of workers in Observerland. These pickets are marching in front of the Kroger store on N. Main in Plymouth.

It Hits Checks This Week

The day of reckoning is near--in fact next Friday--when your paycheck will be smaller than it was a week ago.

The reason is that Michigan's new 2.6 per cent personal income tax is in effect and more than 200,000 firms must withhold an amount to meet your liability.

How much smaller the net pay will be is dependent on income and the number of dependents. Each employer has a tax guide and tables to help him with the figures.

The tax exists on "income received on or after Oct. 1." Thus if your paycheck is for work of last week or last month, the tax still is withheld.

Any employer who didn't get a tax guide or withholding tables had better get them and start the paycheck deductions.

Nearly three million Michigan residents pay the federal income tax, which allows a $600 exemption for each person in a family. The state tax allows a $1,200 exemption. Some residents therefore may escape the state levy.

WITHHOLDING STARTS at a different pay level for different people.

The single person is affected when his salary reaches $24 to $26 a week. The tax liability then is 5 cents a week.

A man and wife, with no children, owe a tax of 3 cents a week when income is $46 to $48 a week. There is a liability of 5 cents a week if a couple has one child and an income of $72 and $74, and 6 cents a week if a couple with three children have an income of $116 to $118 a week.

The new tax will be levied this year on only the last three months--October through December.

Taxpayers under 65 will get one-fourth the usual $1,200 exemption, or $300, when they make out their tax returns next April. For these returns, also, no deductions will be allowed for property tax payments, rentals or municipal income tax payments--all of which start for 1968 income on the state tax return due in 1969.

For persons over 65, the $300 exemption is doubled to $600 this year.

HOW WILL TAXPAYERS next April decide just how much of their 1967 income was subject to the tax?

Under the federal income tax, deductions can be taken for charitable contributions or interest paid on debt. Under the state law, there are no such deductions--only the dependent exemption double that permitted in the federal law.

The personal income tax, part of a tax reform package the Legislature enacted to pour an estimated $239 million of new money into the state treasury each year, should bring in about $170 million the current fiscal year that ends next June 30.

Two other new levies--a 5.6 per cent corporation income tax and a 7 per cent income tax on financial institutions--are part of the package, but not yet in effect. Both start Jan. 1, when the present business activity tax vanishes and changes start in the intangible property tax.

STATE GOVERNMENT'S first actual sight of cash from the personal income tax is weeks away.

About $9 million, or 17 per cent, of the new money, eventually will be distributed to Michigan local governments under a formula in the tax package. The distribution later will approximate $38 million a year. Counties will keep half the amount sent them, then divide the rest among cities, villages and townships on a per person basis.

This schedule allows the wage earner a $23.08 deduction for each dependent.

Hare Makes Plea For Road Safety Programs

LANSING--Several concepts on better administration of Michigan's total highway safety program have been advanced by Secretary of State, James M. Hare, at regional traffic safety conferences.

Hare has urged: Abolition of the present license appeal board structure and having all appeals conducted as administrative hearings by Department of State personnel;

Adoption of the "Illinois-type" traffic ticket system that would allow use of traffic violation notices as temporary driver permits pending court appearances; and

Legal authority for the Department of State to deal with problem drivers on the basis of frequent accident involvement without regard to points.

"Final determination on a driver's initial appeal should be done administratively within the Department of State," says Hare, "instead of being vested in three-man license appeal boards."

HARE SAID he has been of the opinion for some time that appeal boards should be side-tracked in favor of an administrative appeals mechanism backed up by circuit court action on the part of appealing drivers.

He cited a recent problem involving a blind man from the Upper Peninsula who had his license returned although the board possessed knowledge that he has 20/200 vision in both eyes...making him legally blind according to Michigan law.

In this particular case, the Secretary of State's representative...one of three officials who sit on appeal boards...voted against restoring the blind man's driving privilege. But the other two members of the board voted in favor of restoration, and he got his license back.

Hare noted that abolishing the present license appeal board system would also save government money.

College Sets Counseling Test Dates

A schedule of test dates for the Schoolcraft College counseling tests has been announced by Director of Admissions Barbara Geil.

"If a student has not been formally admitted to the college, he or she is urged to contact the Admissions Office to make an appointment," said Miss Geil. "Failure to take the counseling tests may prevent the student from taking the courses of his choice during the winter term."

Three of the dates are scheduled for Saturday mornings at 8 a.m. on Oct. 14, Nov. 4, and Dec. 2. The other dates are scheduled for evenings at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 24, and Wednesday, Nov. 15.

Youth Read Out Sentences

The Detroit Archdiocesan Opportunity Program, in cooperation with Wayne County Juvenile Court Judge James H. Lincoln, has completed a pilot remedial reading program for youth under temporary detention at the Wayne County Youth Home.

The program involved approximately 100 students during a six-week period.

Objectives of the program were to offer remedial reading to youths who spend from several days to several weeks in the youth home waiting for transfer. These youngsters do not participate in the regular youth home school, and have no activities planned other than movies and TV during their temporary confinement at the Home.

It was also hoped, program leaders said, that the program would awaken Wayne County Youth Home School administrators to the need for a full scale remedial reading program for youth in permanent custody at the Youth Home, and who attend the school on a regular basis.

At this time, there is no such program, although the majority of youths in detention read below the expected grade level three grades or more.

Under the direction of Mrs. Patricia Erger, who directs other tutorial programs for AOP, three classes were set up for boys and two for girls.

There was one teacher and one assistant teacher each for the boys and girls, and they worked in groups of not more than five. The teachers have degrees in special education and teach during the regular year in special education classes for the Detroit Board of Education.

The youths were tested at the beginning of the program and again at the end. Those that remained with the program showed improved attitudes towards reading and some actually raised their reading scores. Almost without exception, they preferred the remedial reading sessions over watching TV or a movie.

The program cost was approximately $100 and was paid for with Archdiocesan funds.

EMU Players Have Scheduled 1st Production

The first production of the 1967-68 Eastern Michigan University Players Series, "Harvey," is well into rehearsal for performances scheduled for EMU's homecoming weekend, Oct. 12-15.

First choice reserved seat tickets for the six performances are now being issued to EMU Players Series season coupon bookholders by mail or in person at the EMU theater box office, weekdays from 12:45 to 4:30 p.m.

Open sale and telephone reservations will begin Monday, Oct. 9.

Other plays scheduled for the season are:

"The Tragical History of Doctor Faustus," Jan. 10-14; "The Plough and the Stars," March 13-17; and "Brigadoon," May 17-25.

The EMU Players Series sells for the price of $4.

Jr. Fire Marshals To Join In Parade

A call has been issued for Junior Fire Marshals in the area to join in the annual parade, through the business area in Redford Township, sponsored by the Zink Agency, 26205 Five Mile Road. It starts at 11 a.m. with judging at 10 a.m.

Zink's Junior Marshal parade has been one of the highspots of the fall for youngsters between the ages of five and up. It includes four categories and prizes are awarded in each.

The judging includes: best decorated bicycles and tricycles; best decorated floats; best original fire prevention slogan and banner carried by individual marchers; and best individual costume for marchers and for the most original fire prevention idea.

There will be three prizes in each division and three honorable mention awards with two grand prizes, one for girls and the other for boys.

Junior Fire Marshal helmets, badges and rings will be given to all entering the parade. Children are urged to register at the Zink Agency, 26205 Five Mile Road, during the week but registrations will be accepted on Oct. 14.

F'ton Coed Joins Pi Beta Phi

Mary Jo Hopkins, 29910 Old Bedford, Farmington, was among Miami University's 391 women students who have been pledged to 18 sororities in the annual fall rushing period just completed.

Miss Hopkins was pledged into Pi Beta Phi.

The pledges were announced by Panhellenic Association through the office of the dean of women.

How To Compute State Income Tax

How will the 2.6 per cent state personal income tax affect you?

The Michigan Manufacturers Association has worked out some examples.

If you are single you will pay 2.6 cents every week on each dollar you earn over $23.08. If you are married, with no dependents except your wife, the tax will apply on earnings over $46.16. If you are married and have one child, you will pay on earnings over $69.24.

This schedule allows the wage earner a $23.08 deduction for each dependent.

College Group At Convention

Schoolcraft College President Dr. Eric J. Bradner, heads a delegation of four Schoolcraft administrators attending the 24th annual convention of the Council of North Central Junior Colleges in Cleveland.

Dr. Bradner, a member of the Council's executive committee, served as chairman of a group discussion for administrators.

Accompanying Dr. Bradner were John H. Brinn, Vice-President for Instruction; Jon P. Adams, Dean of Technical-Vocational Instruction; and Robert

A. Stenger, Dean of Academic Instruction.

The convention attracted approximately 300 delegates from community and junior colleges from 19 states. Host was Cuyahoga Community College and the Council of Ohio Community-Junior Colleges.

UAW Realigns Its Burroughs Contract Team

A prediction that the strike by 3,400 hourly workers at the Plymouth plant of the Burroughs Corporation may last from eight weeks to three months was offered by a union official this week as the striking local overhauled personnel of its negotiating team.

President Tom Katona of U.A.W. Local 1313, which called the strike at this and two other Detroit-area Burroughs facilities last Friday, has withdrawn from bargaining procedures, as have several other union representatives.

Mrs. Marilyn White, secretary of the local, said this was ordinary procedure in a case such as this which saw membership of the local reject the contract recommendations of union leaders by a four-to-one margin.

IT WAS MRS. WHITE who predicted a prolonged strike, perhaps continuing to Christmas.

She also stated that although Local 1313 is setting up a new bargaining team, it is up to the Corporation to take the first step toward bringing representatives of the two sides back to the bargaining table.

Meanwhile, daily picketing of Burroughs continues for the first time in the 60-year history of the company. Those who are taking part in picket duty qualify for the same union benefits as their striking counterparts at the Ford Motor Co.

This means the U.A.W. strike fund will pay those on the picket line $30 per week if they are married and have children, $25 if they are married and are without children, and $20 if they are single.

The three plants which are on strike represent about 11 per cent of the Corporation's world-wide employment, and 16 per cent of the company's total production capacity, a Burroughs spokesman disclosed.

Ferency To Address Jaycees

Zolton A. Ferency, Democratic State Chairman, will be the featured speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Plymouth Jaycees at the Mayflower Hotel on Monday evening, October 9.

He will discuss the aims and objectives of the Democratic Party in the upcoming elections.

He will speak from a rich background in politics, having been a candidate for governor in 1966, and has been active in state politics since 1952.

All young men in the Plymouth area are invited to attend the dinner, which will open with a social hour at 6:15 p.m.

Firemen To Sponsor Open House

National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8-14, will be observed with "Open House" ceremonies at fire stations both in the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

City Fire Chief George Schoeneman said the public will be welcome to visit Station No. 1, located in the rear of City Hall, any day or evening of the week.

A guided tour of the station's facilities will be provided by department personnel. In addition, all apparatus and equipment will be on display and their use will be explained.

Schoeneman's staff also is setting up exhibits of a variety of typical fire hazards often found in private homes. The chief stated that any household who would like to have his home inspected for hazards during Fire Prevention Week should call him at City Hall, 453-1234.

The Township will confine its "Open House" observance to Wednesday evening, Oct. 11, according to Public Safety Director Paul Albright.

The display there will consist of general apparatus and rescue squad equipment, with a film on fire prevention also scheduled to be shown. Visitors will be welcome to take pictures of any of the displays and equipment.

Board Acts On Gallimore Site Nature Lab Area Perpetuated

Full community use by children and adults alike of a 10-acre wooded site adjacent to Gallimore School as a permanent nature center to be used as "an outdoor learning laboratory" has been sanctioned by the Plymouth Board of Education.

Two winding nature trails were laid out through the sector last spring, and further development by student and citizen groups is being encouraged.

Main points made by the Board of Education in a statement of policy pertaining to the area are these:

1. In the planning and development of the wooded section the facilities will be available to all youth of the entire school district including groups such as 4-H Clubs, YMCA and other organizations.
2. Civic clubs and organizations will be permitted to assist in supplying equipment and any other items which may enhance individual learning experiences.
3. Further development of nature trails, feeding stations, amphitheatres and future plans for an assembly museum will be continued and completed as money becomes available.
4. Specific locations throughout the wooded area will be designated as outdoor learning rooms for natural science, social science, art, mathematics, photography, conservation, citizenship and music.
5. There shall be no devastation of the area for new school construction, and no plans for the acreage ever shall be made except for the protection of healthy plant and animal life to enhance the aesthetic values and learning opportunities for residents of the community.
6. By so preserving the area in its natural state, the school and community will have a low-cost teaching space not otherwise available.

Of the existing schools in the district, only Gallimore--which is located on Sheldon Road south of Joy Road, in Canton Township--possesses the space and natural advantages for such a unique facility.

However, the future may bring a similar and even larger nature laboratory dedication when total use of the 305-acre "educational park," where High School No. 2 is to stand, is determined.

Grange Holds Annual Bazaar

The Plymouth Grange will sponsor its annual bazaar and turkey dinner Saturday, Oct. 14 in the hall at 273 S. Union St.

The affair opens with the bazaar at 10 a.m., with a snack bar from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and the family style turkey dinner served on the hour at 5, 6 and 7 p.m. Inasmuch as the dinner has been a tremendous success in each of the past several years, General Chairman Mrs. Lloyd Fillmore requests reservations for each of the dinner hours.

Bradley Weage will furnish entertainment during the dinner hours.

For additional information call 453-2493. For reservations, call Mrs. Fred Hines at 453-1132.

OK Helping Hands For Westland Pupils

A "Helping Hands" program started by the Westland Jaycees and its auxiliary, was adopted by the Edison Elementary School PTA recently at its first meeting of the new school year.

William Bishop, of the Jaycees, explained the program and was assisted by Alan Hogg and Mrs. Robert Padgett during a question and answer period.

WESTLAND POLICE Chief Garrison Clayton also talked about the relation in relation to crimes committed to children and indicated how such a program would aid in preventing crimes against youngsters.

He stressed the importance of firm discipline to help the children become law abiding.

SchoolBoard HearsGripes

Farmington Board of Education acted on two residential complaints at its meeting Monday night.

The first concerned a complaint from abutting residents regarding play equipment on the Flanders School playground. The complaint stated the equipment "is unnecessarily close to the property line" and constitutes a nuisance.

A letter will be sent to the complainants asking for ideas about an alternate location for the equipment.

The second complaint was from residents in Lincolnshire Estates Subdivision regarding heavy pedestrian use of the school district right-of-way between Castlereigh and Lyn-castle.

The subdivision association requested installation of a three-foot, 290-foot long, hard surface walkway with suitable fencing.

It was suggested the school district bear the cost of the walkway and the subdivision half the cost of the fencing.

The matter was referred to the administrative staff for study.

Westland Lawyer Off To Conference

Westland's City Attorney John J. Nellis will be among more than 500 legal counsels to attend the 32nd annual conference of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers to be held in Detroit Sunday through next Wednesday, Oct. 11.

DURING THE meeting, Nellis and other city attorneys and municipal officials will explore in depth the many problems affecting cities today through workshop sessions centered on subjects such as city disturbances, civil liberties, computers and municipal law, federal-city relations, inter-municipal cooperation, city-state relations, right to counsel, ordinances and ordinance enforcement, housing, building codes, fire prevention, transportation and parking, and urban renewal, an institute spokesman said.

"Since city governments are and can do only what their legal powers specify in char-adults. Children coming from homes of firm discipline and respect seldom get into trouble, Clayton said.

He also pointed out that the Westland Police Department is supporting the Helping Hands program, which has private citizens volunteering their services to assure the safety of children from strangers while walking to and from school.

INFORMATIVE pamphlets regarding safety rules for children and parents to follow, instructive hints for children to follow in case of trouble from strangers and also the curfew laws for minors were distributed.

The Helping Hands symbol is a blue hand printed on a white card and will be placed in windows of approved homes in the Edison School area. Persons interested in taking part in the program may contact Mrs. Robert Kernahan, the school PTA's Safety and Health Chairman, at 728-1119.

No Archery Deer Hunt At Custer

BATTLE CREEK--There are no plans to allow archery deer hunting in the Fort Custer Military Reservation this fall, but permit applications are being taken by the Conservation Department from sportsmen who hope to hunt the popular southwestern area during the firearm deer season.

The reservation, located near Battle Creek along I-94, will be closed to archery hunting, and the firearm deer season there will be curtailed because of stepped-up National Guard training on riot control and other exercises.

Despite the intensified training, military officials have made a special effort to provide closely-controlled deer hunting with firearms in the reservation during the periods Nov. 20-24 and Nov. 27-December 1.

ters and state statutes, the municipal attorney occupies a unique place in city government," the spokesman continued.

"NEARLY EVERY time the city council or any other city official plans to take certain action, the city attorney asks whether it is legally authorized. He is constantly searching for ways to apply city powers to new city problems.

"The NIMLO Conference is primarily a forum where city attorneys tell each other what their city has done, is doing, and plans to do. Cities represented at these forums can take advantage of successful experience and avoid the mistakes of others.

"The institute is owned by municipalities and operated by attorneys of member communities. It maintains files on municipal legal experience to which city attorneys might turn for solving problems never before encountered."

Urge Heart Patients Get Flu Vaccine

Because of a probably increase in susceptibility of the general population to A2 and B strains of influenza, the Michigan Heart Association is notifying all physicians in Michigan that now is the time to administer anti-influenza vaccine to all heart patients.

Dr. Carl B. Beeman, a Grand Rapids internist, president of the Association, said that the only exceptions would be cardiac who have a bad reaction to the vaccine.

DR. BEEMAN listed the following as being in greatest need of immunization:

Patients with rheumatic heart disease, especially those with mitral stenosis.

Famed Author To Lecture On Alcoholism

Gertrude Behanna, internationally known speaker and author, will make a public information talk on alcoholism at Masonic Temple on Saturday, Oct. 21.

Miss Behanna, author of "The Late Liz", her own autobiography written under the pseudonym Elizabeth Burns, will tell of her own life as an alcoholic and how she gained victory over herself in the end.

She knows her subject well because she made all of the mistakes. An alcoholic for 30 years, married three times, flying high on drugs, she tried suicide once, and even failed at that.

Her visit here is under the co-sponsorship of Grateful Home, a residence facility for the alcoholic women, at 5588 Cooper; and Sobriety House, a similar home for men at 2081 W. Grand Blvd.

Alexis Naimola

Livonia Girl NMU Queen Candidate

A Livonia girl, Alexis Naimola, is one of the six finalists for 1967 Northern Michigan University Homecoming Queen.

The queen will be chosen Thursday in Marquette. The homecoming celebration began Monday and will end with the traditional dance Saturday night.

Four of the finalists are from the Upper Peninsula and two are from lower Michigan. The queen will be crowned during intermission of a concert by The Lettermen Thursday night.

Alexis is a junior majoring in art. She is sponsored as a queen candidate by the Student Wives Club.

Tonight Is College Night

College Night for the Livonia Public Schools will be held tonight, Oct. 4, at Stevenson High, beginning at 8 p.m.

Representatives from approximately 35 colleges are expected to attend and meet with students and their parents in small groups.

Students and parents from Bentley, Stevenson and Franklin High Schools are invited to attend.

INDIAN SUMMER—Monday afternoon was almost too beautiful for classes at all, but Charles Kramer and his junior American history class at Plymouth High compromised and met on the front lawn of the school, among the falling leaves.

ASK US! Should Drinking Age Be Lowered To 18?

The ASK US poll this week produced results that most adults, especially parents, will probably have a hard time believing.

Five of seven Plymouth High students stopped at random after school answered the question with a strong "No."

The question? "Should the legal drinking age be lowered to 18 in this state?"

In Michigan, as in most states, the age at which young people can drink is 21.

In New York, it's 18. In several states beer and wine are allowed at 18, but no hard liquor until 21.

Most of the students we talked to seemed to think that high school kids who wanted liquor could get it in spite of the laws. And they all knew a certain group of kids who do get it, long before even the 18-year milestone.

One 16-year-old junior, Bruce Yakley, said: "It doesn't matter to me; I don't drink. But I don't think the law should be changed. Guys 18 aren't responsible enough."

Jackie Dunlap, also 16, disagreed. She thought the age should be lowered because "the kids who drink are going to do it anyway, and if it weren't illegal, they might be more reasonable."

Jon Cederberg, a sophomore, thought the present law was just. He said: "I know a lot of guys 18 who drink just because other people do. Kids that age have better stuff to do."

Several students mentioned the unhappy combination of drinking and driving as an argument against lowering the age limit. They said that students had enough trouble driving without liquor.

Another common argument against 18-year-old drinking was that adults created enough problems.

BECKY MCGUIRE, 16, junior: "No, I don't think the age should be lowered. The results are bad enough now. Enough of the kids get it illegally."

DENNIS MCVITTIE, 17, senior: "I think 21 is the right age. Kids just aren't mature enough before that for liquor."

DEBBIE DIEKMAN, 15, sophomore: "The drinking age should be 18. I think now lots of kids just go out and get drunk to rebel against their parents and the law."

NANCY A. GROSS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred L. Gross of 36383 W. Seven Mile, Livonia, graduated from Shapero School of Nursing, Sinai Hospital, this month. She is a 1966 graduate of Our Lady of Sorrows, Farmington.

Rosary Hosts New Freshmen

Freshmen students were welcomed to Rosary High School last week by the senior class members, who put on skits representing aspects of their four years at the school.

The Freshman Dad-Daughter Dance, with a barn dance theme, topped off freshman welcoming ceremonies.

Esch Learns Area Voters Want Strike Curbs

Congressman Marvin L. Esch has released the results of his "Your Opinion, Please!" questionnaire in which he surveyed the opinions of Second Congressional District citizens on 15 major issues facing the 90th Congress.

Over 25,000 persons responded to the questionnaire which was sent to every postal patron in Esch's district which includes Lenawee, Livingston, Monroe and Washtenaw Counties, plus the townships of Plymouth and Northville and the city of Plymouth from Wayne County.

"I WAS DELIGHTED at this overwhelming response," Esch said, adding that "I always welcome hearing the views of my constituents and have found this vehicle as one valuable means of developing meaningful communication."

"While I cannot assume that the survey is a 100 per cent accurate reflection of all thought in the district, the results do give me a direction of opinion trends; especially on those issues where a vast majority agrees."

Esch reported that his tally showed strong majorities on about half of the questions. Among these are support for an end to discrimination in jury selection (62 per cent for), anti-riot legislation (73 per cent for), government spending cuts (81 per cent for), tax incentives for industrial pollution control (69 per cent for), tax credit for college costs (63 per cent for), firearm legislation (64 per cent for registration of all firearms and 69 per cent control over mail sales), legislation to curb serious national strikes (73 per cent for), and an increase in allowable income for social security eligibility (77 per cent for).

SOMEWHAT LESSER majorities supported the encouragement of trade with the Soviet Union and Eastern European Countries (58 per cent for), and tax sharing or tax credits for federal funds to be used locally (58 per cent for).

Strong opposition was registered to the administration's proposal for an income tax increase. Seventy-six per cent of the respondents opposed the increase and only 13 per cent favored it. The remaining 14 per cent expressed no opinion.

When asked where they might cut expenditures, most respondents checked foreign aid (74 per cent), space projects (57 per cent) and beautification (53 per cent). Reluctance to cut was found mainly in the areas of education, health and highways.

THE SURVEY SHOWED strong dissatisfaction with our present course in Vietnam. Only 14 per cent favored the current approach, while 56 per cent supported withdrawal either gradual or immediate. Thirty-one per cent advocated a stepped-up military effort. Another 15 per cent added alternatives of their own or expressed sentiment in connection with the other four points. The total percentage on this and a few other questions exceeded 100 per cent because many people checked more than one alternative.

Forty-four per cent found the present draft law to be unfair while 41 per cent think it is equitable. When presented with various plans to reform selective service, some 43 per cent favored both the application of uniform national criteria and a form of universal service providing a choice between the military and some sort of social service.

A proposal to end student deferments received a 38 per cent approval; a lottery system was favored by only 22 per cent, and the idea of a voluntary professional army was checked by 29 per cent of those responding.

ON SOCIAL SECURITY, 42 per cent favored an 8 per cent increase in benefits tied to the cost of living while 48 per cent opposed a 20 per cent increase with the necessary increase in tax rates. The House of Representatives recently passed a 12.5 per cent benefit increase.

A general lack of information on the proposal to replace the National Labor Relations Board with a "labor court" caused some 29 per cent of the respondents not to express an opinion. Thirty-six per cent said yes and 36 per cent said no.

Esch also reported that a unique feature of his poll which allowed both husband and wife to answer by means of "his" and "hers" columns was also successful. Many people expressed their appreciation for both adult members being able to respond separately.

"Although there wasn't any great divergence between the men and the women, I found the ladies slightly more dovish on the war, more opposed to the tax increase, less inclined to cutback beautification spending and more inclined to control firearms," Esch said.

SOME 2,500 PERSONS took the Congressman up on his suggestion to elaborate on their views and included extended comments and ideas. Esch is writing a personal reply to each of these persons.

The Ann Arbor Republican termed this, his first questionnaire effort, a success and announced that he plans to repeat the process again next year. He invited constituents to send him their suggestions for questions to be included in the next poll and their ideas as to how the format might be improved. "My only hope," said Esch, "is that citizens will not think that this vehicle is their only opportunity to express their views. I look forward to receiving opinion mail at any time and I hope constituents will write me frequently care of the House Office Building, Washington, D.C."

Esch also commended postal officials and carriers who delivered the questionnaires on regular mail routes. "While this is the most effective system of giving widespread circulation, occasionally it does not reach each and every citizen through no fault of the Post Office," he said, noting that additional copies will be mailed to anyone on request. Following is a copy of the total results:

Here Are Tips On State Motor Vehicle Claims Fund

By Attorney General Frank J. Kelley
(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)
Most Michigan citizens are now aware that there is a fund established to provide benefits to persons injured by uninsured motorists, called the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund. A number of citizens, however, have wondered how they find out whether the motorist who injured them or damaged their car is insured. It is well understood that in the event of an accident, the drivers should immediately call the police, but beyond this most motorists are hazy on what more they can or should do. The first and most important thing you must do when involved in an accident is to get the names and addresses of the driver and owner of the other vehicle, and the license plate number.

YOU SHOULD ask the other driver for a card showing the name of his insurance company and insurance policy number. If he is unwilling or unable to provide such a card, his vehicle registration certificate will show the name of his insurance company and policy number, if any, as of the time the registration was issued. If the registration certificate shows no insurance company, and shows that a $35 uninsured motor vehicle fee was paid, you can be relatively confident that the vehicle is uninsured.

Law requires every motorist to show proof of insurance, or proof that the uninsured motor vehicle fee was paid, upon demand of any police officer. Therefore, when the police officer arrives to investigate the accident, you should request the police officer to demand that the other driver show evidence of insurance, and ask the police officer to permit you to copy down the information shown on the other driver's certificate of insurance.

All automobile insurance companies doing business in Michigan issue certificates of insurance to their policyholders which are issued either annually or each time the policy is renewed.
IF YOU FEEL that the other driver was at fault in the accident, you should immediately file a claim with his insurance company.
If that insurance company denies that the driver was insured by it at the time of the accident, you should assume that the other driver was uninsured at the time of the accident, and file a claim with the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

Forms for this purpose may be obtained at the Fund's Detroit office at 13000 W. Seven Mile Road, or at the Lansing office at 935 N. Washington Ave. Or you may write or call either of these offices requesting that the forms be mailed to you.
The fund will investigate to determine whether the other driver was in fact uninsured at the time of the accident and advise you in the event that it discovers that he was insured, with the name and policy number of the insurance company.

If there is any doubt as to whether the other driver is insured, you should file a report with the Financial Responsibility Section of the Secretary of State on forms obtainable at any branch office of the Secretary where license plates are sold.
DO NOT OVERLOOK the uninsured motorist coverage that you may have in your own insurance policy.
The law requires all policies issued or renewed after January

1, 1966, to contain uninsured motorist coverage, unless that coverage is rejected by you in writing.
If you have any doubts as to whether the other driver was insured, and you have uninsured motorist coverage in your policy, you will want to file a claim against your own insurance company, which will then check to make sure that the other driver is uninsured.

insured, and you have uninsured motorist coverage in your policy, you will want to file a claim against your own insurance company, which will then check to make sure that the other driver is uninsured.

Frontier Influence On American Arts To Be Explored

"Frontier Influences on American Decorative Arts," is the theme selected for the eighth annual Midwest Antiques Forum, Oct. 9-13, at the Henry Ford Museum, according to Dr. Donald A. Shelley, executive director.

Marshall B. Davidson, senior editor of American Heritage, will deliver the opening lecture, "America's Antique Heritage," and set the Forum theme.

During the week, study of early frontier areas settled by non-English speaking cultural groups who emigrated to the New World will be discussed.

An international panel of curators, historians, architects and other authorities will present illustrated lectures during the Forum. The span of influences to be covered ranges from the lesser known English outposts such as Bermuda, to the French and Germans in Canada, the Swedes and Dutch in the Mid-Atlantic states, Scandinavians in Wisconsin, Spanish in the Southwest, and exotic Oriental influences from the Near and Far East.

Emphasis will be placed on Canadian decorative arts, Dr. Shelley stated, as a continuing acknowledgment of that nation's Centennial observance.

A special decorative art exhibit illustrating the same theme, will be featured in the Henry Ford Museum in conjunction with the Forum. Included will be displays depicting the influences of the various cultural backgrounds on our architecture, interiors and decorative arts over the long period of territorial development.

Registration for the complete Forum is $35. For detailed information on the program, call Henry Ford Museum-271-1620. Advance registration forms will be mailed on request.

Hunters' Guns Are Dangerous

The hunter who blazes away at everything that moves runs a big risk of bagging a fellow hunter. Never cross over or through a fence or climb a tree with a loaded gun. It might fall and discharge.

Unload first and reload after crossing. Don't shoot at a hard, flat surface. Ricocheting bullets can carry long distances with killing power.

EVEN A SMALL bore rifle has considerable range. Know where your bullet will stop before pulling the trigger.

Keep guns away from children. Never leave a weapon unattended without unloading it. Store guns and ammunition beyond reach of youngsters, preferably under lock and key.

Always carry a gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble. Keep the safety catch on until ready to shoot. Always be sure the barrel is clear of obstructions. A barrel clogged with mud or snow may burst.

Guns and alcohol don't mix. If you like a nip around camp, wait until you're through hunting for the day and all weapons are unloaded and cased.

Treat guns with respect at all times. They may be loaded, despite all precautions. Thus never point a weapon at something unless you plan to shoot it.

Many home gardeners have found that using more fertilizer is not by itself the answer to more vigorous growth and better blooms.

In fact, heavy fertilization can—on occasion—hinder growth and sometimes hurt plants from so-called burning. Damage can come from excessive salts in certain types of fertilizer formulations.

You can avoid this hazard by using garden fertilizers which have a low salt index. Most of these fertilizers contain potassium nitrate (KNO3) as a major source of both nitrogen and potash.

Potassium nitrate, which is all plant food, does not leave salt residues in the soil, for it is all usable by the plant. The potash is present without non-essential chlorine, and nitrogen is in the nitrate form, immediately available to plants. This means plants get the benefit of nitrogen even though heavy rains may come almost immediately after application.

So, when you're selecting a garden fertilizer, look for one that contains potassium nitrate. Many of the fertilizers formulated especially for potted plants in the home and for use in the garden contain this prime ingredient.

These formulations resulted from tests conducted throughout the United States at leading state land-grant colleges and universities and by professional growers in nurseries and greenhouses. Results showed low salt fertilizer containing potassium nitrate to have many advantages including virtual elimination of the burning problem.

Also, research on the use of potassium nitrate as a separate fertilizer material applied as a supplemental diet showed increased yield and flowering.

Both standard and piller forms are available, for use in any fertilizer grade, and in starter solutions, sprays, or straight in direct application. Plants get a fast, strong, healthy start and develop stronger root systems earlier. When it's time to transplant, there's less set-back. And these plants develop far richer blooms, colors and foliage.

In addition to lower salt content and providing nitrogen in the favored nitrate form, potassium nitrate contains no non-essential ingredients. It's 44 per cent potash and 13 per cent nitrogen are completely soluble and immediately available for fast balanced uptake. It is also essentially free of chlorine, sulphur and sodium.

WHEN THE RAINS COME: The life of a jockey takes on added hazards and problems when the weather turns bad as it did during the past week at the Detroit Race Course. This shot vividly portrays the unhappy lot of some riders when the track is muddy. It isn't a puzzle to tell the victor from the vanquished. David Whited, left, won the race and the veteran William Zakoor was on a trailer. And here's a graphic example of the kind of track the horses raced over.

Family Room Is What You Decide To Make It

Family rooms can be almost anything you want to make them. "A family room can be a real all-family, all-purpose room," according to Robert Huff, home improvement director for Marlite paneling. "If it is tailored to the individual states of each member of the family."

He points out that a family room adjacent to the Kitchen can serve many interests. It's a natural extension of the kitchen and therefore can be used as a family dining room. In addition, it can be used as a play area, hobby center, or simply as a cozy place to read and relax.

"You don't need a big family with young children to enjoy a family room," Huff adds. "A family room can be used for conversation, music, TV, and reading. It can be quite formal and ideal for entertaining."

"If you like bridge, save room for a game table. If you're a collector, painter, or hobbyist, be sure you have work and display space," he emphasizes.

Easy maintenance is a "must" in a family room. To reduce cleaning time and eliminate periodic decorating, many families are using plastic-finished Marlite for family room walls and ceilings. This prefinished paneling can be put up quickly over old or new walls, cleaned with a damp cloth. Hard-to-remove crayon marks and handprints can be washed off without marring the original finish.

RU Rebounds Over Plymouth

Happiness abounds along the athletic front around Redford Union high school.

Students can't help but be excited about the pitching exploits of one of their graduates, Ricky Clark, this past summer for the California Angels.

Although only a rookie, Clark won more games than any other hurler.

But the current crop of RU athletes also are doing a noteworthy job—especially in football.

Three games and three victories—that's the RU story this fall under Coach John Rogers. The streak remained alive Friday night when Redford Union got off on the right track in Suburban Six League action by roaring from behind to beat Plymouth, 14-7.

It was a strange sort of a game, especially in the first half.

Redford Union had to wonder what the football felt like. During the first and second quarters, the RU players were on offense for only eight plays, while Plymouth had the ball for 32.

The Rocks also got off on top with a 7-0 lead in the second period.

But RU got moving in the third period, scoring twice on passes by Bill Fahey. At the same time the RU defense turned the door on Plymouth's with an interception by Jim Childress on the RU 20 cutting off the last Rocks' threat in the fourth period.

Plymouth had taken the lead when Tom Elias, the Rocks' top ground gainer, slammed across from 2-yards out, Mike Cederberg ran the point and that made it 7-0.

Then after the intermission, Redford Union took command. Fahey, a nifty man with the arm, found Jim Walker in the clear on a 22-yard heave for touchdown No. 1.

A plunge by George Corombos produced the extra point and tied the score at 7-7.

Shortly afterward, Plymouth had to punt and RU was on the move again...down to the Rocks' 12. At that point, Fahey slipped back, fired to Bill Mieras for the winning touchdown.

It was incidental that Corombos ran the extra point to make it 14-7.

In the second half, RU enjoyed a slight amount of ball superiority, 22 plays to 18.

AIDED BY BLOCK from Capt. Tom Elias (front), Plymouth's Steve Montgomery (24) sweeps around end for a long gain against Redford Union. An unidentified RU-end tries to make a tackle but Elias takes care of him.

CLARENCEVILLE'S Ken Griffin (in white) moves in front of Clarkston's Kurt Maslowski for a pass interception in Friday's game.

Raiders 'Bomb' Thurston, 21-6

One play...and the entire complexion of the North Farmington-Thurston High football game changed.

It was late in the second quarter.

Thurston had pushed North

Farmington back to its five-yard line.

The Townshippers were in command on the scoreboard, 6-0.

All was looking up for Thurston.

Then...boom.....

By George Maskin

observing sports

Most of us who are fathers like to rave about our youngsters. If we don't, who will?

One dad we ran into the other afternoon was talking about the boys in his neighborhood and their attitudes toward sports.

All of this group are tenth graders and they attend a high school which we feature prominently on this sports page each week.

The boys had come together from a junior high "down the road a little."

At junior high all played something—football, basketball or baseball. Or they ran track.

Most were involved in more than one sport. As soon as they reached senior high, each gave football a shot. They went out for the Jay-vee team.

One by one, they started dropping out; all but the son of the father we met.

This particular dad is knee deep in sports, although he's not much of an athlete. Sometimes, he tends to tell others how they should play the game.

BUT THAT'S getting off the point.

"It's a shame to see what has happened to the kids that went out for the high school squad, then dropped out," the dad was telling us. "I'm not saying this because my kid stuck with the team and now is playing regularly."

"Those other boys get home from school around 3 p.m. True, I'm not usually around at that hour, but when I am, I see them fiddling around, trying to find something of interest to occupy their time."

"They chat a lot with girls...and really there's nothing wrong with that, at the right time, of course."

"The boys pester their moms...to take them some place. You see, they all are still a little shy of the age to be able to drive themselves."

"As you watch this aimless approach to the hours after school and before dinner, it strikes a sickening note within you. You wonder why boys who truly enjoy athletics suddenly have discarded them because, perhaps, the job of making the team might be a little tough."

OUR FRIEND didn't say so, but maybe it would help if all schools were to make athletics compulsory for male as well as female students. In some schools that's the way it is. But usually they are private schools, where they have fewer boys.

Nearby Cranbrook and Country Day are prime examples. Unless a boy has a doctor's letter barring him from sports, he must participate on one of the school's teams in each season of the year.

Greg Joysey, who lives behind us, goes to Cranbrook. He's now a ninth grader.

This fall he MUST play football, or soccer. He chose football.

He'll be able to pick between basketball, hockey or wrestling in the winter. He has hockey aspirations.

When spring comes, the selection is four-fold—baseball, track, tennis or golf. Greg is a whiz at golf already, but he also may elect to play some baseball.

Greg tells us that the Cranbrook students—and there are some boys over there who are rich enough in their teens to buy out a few auto plants—revel over their sports activity.

The President has a Physical Fitness program kicking. The best place for it to start is in the schools.

It happened. Ace quarterback Norm DeCourcy of North Farmington faded into his end zone. The young man, who fires the ball around like a professional QB, cut loose on a toss to Mike McCoy.

Up around the 40, McCoy hauled the ball in. From there on...he was off to the races.

The score now was tied and with the conversion North Farmington went to the dressing room at halftime with a 7-6 edge and were in to win 21-6.

"You'd have to say the game changed right there," said Thurston coach Bill McDonald.

"That one play gave North Farmington the big lift. It took something out of us, although our kids still kept in there tough right down to the final moments of the game."

Actually the DeCourcy to McCoy bomb was only "a retaliation" strike for North Farmington.

Thurston had taken the lead on a 70-yard pass from Lutton to Jerry Schaffer in the first period.

The Townshippers had started the series back on their own five. Two running plays...then the big toss by Lutton.

After that touchdown, Thurston contained North Farmington until DeCourcy unloaded.

In the third period, North Farmington started on its own 10 and went the length of the field to score again when John Thomas pushed his way over from a yard out.

Thurston had a chance to cut the gap in the fourth, marching to the North Farmington seven where it had first and goal. But North Farmington arose to stop the threat and then Thomas swept over from the five to put the game into the old bag.

DeCourcy and his North Farmington mates rolled up a total of 397 yards, gaining 235 on the ground and 162 via the airways as he completed six out of 13 passes.

North Farmington thus got off on the right foot in its bid for the Northwest League championship. The Raiders along with Franklin shape up as the teams to beat for the laurels.

Glenn Off To Happy Start, 12-7

It's a different story in a hurry for John Glenn high's football team.

In 1966, Glenn didn't win a Northwest League game until its fifth start.

Friday, Glenn opened the loop campaign with a rousing 12-7 comeback triumph over Oak Park.

The Glenn team wasn't jarred because Oak Park jumped off to a 7-0 lead in the first period when the Parkers commanded matters by marching some 70 yards.

Dale Kutnick slammed in for the touchdown and Ed Blumberg converted.

However, quarterback Tim Wozny paced the Glenn comeback.

He tallied twice in the third period and from then on the Glenn defense kept the Oak Park offense well in check.

The first TD resulted from a 60-yard drive with Wozny slamming over center from eight yards out.

The payoff TD came after Roger Pollack intercepted a Park pass. Glenn moved deep to the Oaks nine from where Wozny went around end for the touchdown and the game.

Sorrows, St. Agatha Lose On Sunday Too

The sports gloom that prevailed last Sunday in the Detroit area even affected Our Lady of Sorrows and St. Agatha in high school football action. Both schools lost.

St. Agatha fell to Mt. Carmel, 14-6, while Orchard Lake St. Mary's stopped the winning ways of Sorrows, 26-19.

Jim Howell gave St. Agatha an early lead when he ran over from two yards out in the first period.

But Mt. Carmel came back on two touchdowns, one a two-yard plunge by Brian Kacovalewski and then a 46-yard gallop by Tom Bommarito to pull the game out of the fire.

FUMBLES LED to the downfall of the Sorrows gridgers. The Farmington team booted the ball five times. Three resulted in touchdowns for Orchard Lake St. Mary's which now leads the division as it bids to unseat Sorrows as the champion.

The bobbles came early. After the first kickoff, Sorrows fumbled and in four plays St. Mary's scored.

Once more there was a kickoff. Once more Sorrows fumbled on its own 26. Once more it required just a couple plays and St. Mary's scored to lead, 13-0.

Anglers Never Learn

Unless we miss our guess badly, some member of the Legislature is going to come up with the idea that there ought to be a law to prevent fishermen from drowning themselves.

This will be one outcome of the Sept. 23 disaster off Franklin when a still-unknown number of fishermen, drawn there by the coho salmon fishing, were caught in a squall and drowned.

Shocking though it was, it still points out the fact that all the laws in the world won't prevent some fishermen from taking terrible chances with their lives.

SPORTSMEN WHO KNOW and respect the Great Lakes have been saying for many weeks that the big waters were going to claim some lives. The United States Coast Guard, responsible for enforcing safety laws on the Great Lakes, has been almost beside itself trying to stop fishermen from going out in almost anything that would float.

You name it—somebody had it out in Lake Michigan fishing from it. Midget boats that would almost be out of place on an inland puddle were plying the waters alongside canoes, rafts and elaborate cabin cruisers. Despite the fact that federal law requires life preservers for every passenger, violations were more common than compliance with the law.

Even today, with the disaster behind, some seem to have learned nothing by the example. Unsafe boats are still working Lake Michigan waters as the fishermen succumb to coho fever and continue willing to take unnecessary risks.

IF A FISHERMAN does not care enough about his own life or that of his companions, how in the world can anyone be so optimistic as to think common sense can be legislated?

Fished the right way, from safe boats and in safe boating weather, the coho salmon can provide some of the finest fishing Michigan has ever seen.

Sorrows came roaring back to reach the St. Mary's one, before being stopped.

But the next time Sorrows had the ball, Tim LaFond banged over on a 26-yard run for his sixth touchdown of the season.

A 32-YARD PASS from Mike Brioleto to Jerry Horner followed and the Sorrows team

Mud, Rain Ruin Play Of Falcons

If you're a football team which runs and passes from the spread formation, the worst thing that can happen is rain and mud.

Such was the weather Friday night when Farmington squared off with Pontiac Northern.

The wide-open Farmington offensive found it difficult to maneuver in the heavy going while Northern charged away on the ground and came out a 19-6 victor in the opening Inter-lakes League game.

"IT WAS TOO much for us, the weather," moaned Coach Bob Miste of Farmington, who admitted that this wasn't meant as any alibi.

"After all," he said, "Northern had to function under identical circumstances."

"But when the footing is treacherous, it's very difficult for our style of play to make much headway, especially if our linemen don't hold out the opposition."

Quarterback Dan Wolfman of Farmington found himself hemmed in most of the evening.

The fact is that he handled the ball on all but one play—running or passing and one touchdown heave, but when he tried to run, whammo, he was in trouble. Farmington wound up with minus one-yard on the ground.

Northern sailed through Farmington for 303 yards with Dana Cain the big workhorse. He accounted for 68 himself. Wolfman tried 26 passes and

Northern sailed through Farmington for 303 yards with Dana Cain the big workhorse. He accounted for 68 himself. Wolfman tried 26 passes and now trailed by only a 13-12 score. But the tumble was to hurt Sorrows again in the second half.

St. Mary's turned a third recovery into a touchdown and then clicked for a final score on a 42-yard pass.

Mike Barnes accounted for the third Sorrows' touchdown on a seven-yard run.

THE LAKERS COUNTED two touchdowns and missed both extra tries.

Stevenson counted via a touchdown, an extra point and two safeties.

The mistakes committed by Stevenson came on a missed pass assignment and a fumble. Just seconds separated the two plays.

Walled Lake capitalized on each and in short order put together both its touchdowns and left the field a winner in its third straight game of the season.

STEVENSON SCORED first in the game when the Walled Lake punter, forced to kick from the end zone, stepped out of the field of play.

That was good for safety No. 1 and two points.

Then came the Lakers' strikes. Steve Gebala ran for 13 yards and a touchdown and Greg Fogle dashed over from the ten.

Stevenson refused to give up. They kept pushing Walled Lake back and back and finally another safety resulted in favor of the Stevenson team.

Once more there was a punting situation, but this time the Walled Lake center rifled the ball over the head of the kicker.

Stevenson, with its first team boasting a 12th grader, kept pounding away and finally cashed its only touchdown late in the game when Jerry Dettler cracked over from about a yard out.

COACH JACK REARDEN of Stevenson expressed pride with which his charges performed. "We hit them hard and I hit on 12. The only time he didn't carry the ball, it was Paul Misch for no gain.

Miste felt that Wolfmende served a better break on some of his passes. One of them hit a receiver in the clear and Miste thought that there should have been pass interference called.

None was...Northern got the ball and moved in for the clinching touchdown.

"I'd say that the game was settled right there," said a hoarse Miste.

PONTIAC NORTHERN, now 3-0 on the season, while Farmington is 1-2, scored on three short runs.

First it was Cain from the three, then Dave White from the one and finally Jerry Woods from the six.

Farmington had its early problems trying to see the ball. Until late in the second quarter, the Falcons had the pigskin for only four plays.

FINALLY, JUST before the intermission, Wolfman struck to Chris Brown for 35 yards and the lone Farmington touchdown which made it 7-6 at the break for Northern.

Northern added its second tally just after the third period began. Then came the break on the pass which Miste felt "hurt us the most."

Wolfman continued his great punting, averaging 47 yards. Northern didn't have to punt once.

JOHNSON'S BOMBS went to Jerry Ostrom for 30 and 28 yards in the first and third quarters.

In between, he clicked for six yards on a run to make it 21-0 before Clarenceville was able to hit the scoreboard.

Bob Duman figured in the Clarenceville counter.

HE HEAVED brilliantly to Jim Troutaud for 50 yards to set up a short quarterback sneak for the touchdown in the last period.

Clarenceville has dropped both of its starts in league play.

Makes Frosh Team

Leonard Wildauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Wildauer of 20906 Kenwood Blvd., Farmington, has been named to the Valparaiso University freshman football team. A 1966 graduate of Lutheran West in Detroit, Wildauer is an offensive halfback on the team.

Lutheran has begun the scoring when Steve Godra broke through to block an East kick and recovered it in the end zone for six points.

Minutes later, East's Richard Lipinski returned the compliment.

Then Jack Pauner scooted

two yards for a touchdown and East saw itself leading 12-7 midway through the second period.

GARTHA THEN went to work with the first of three TD aerial bombs. He hit Norm Wildauer for 20 yards, Tom Baetz for 20 and John Schiller for six and Lutheran was on easy street.

To put the game out of reach, Wildauer went 30 yards and Mike Flaback 32 yards with intercepted passes that resulted in two more touchdowns.

Gartha has to rate among the state's top prep passers this season. His three scoring strikes against East upped his total to seven for the season.

THESE STOPPAGES plus a strange call on one fumble and a great many penalties, helped to produce a major upset since Trenton had lost both of its first two encounters.

Bentley also was stunned by one run made by Kenny Saren of Trenton before the game was 90 seconds old.

The Livonians had kicked off and there was Trenton perched on its own 24.

Saren was handed the ball... and he was off to the races... 76 yards and a touchdown.

Karl Lutz converted the point and for all practical purposes, the game could have ended right there.

Trenton scored later in the first period, but it was nullified by a 15-yard penalty.

Bentley's one touchdown came with five minutes left in the first half.

Quarterback Jim Powers shot a 29-yard pass to Ed Raether for the touchdown.

IT WAS A fitting "homecoming" for Raether. Last year he lived in Trenton and played on the reserve team at Trenton High.

Bentley tried to run the extra point but failed.

Thereafter, Bentley had the only good chances, but couldn't come through.

Bentley earned 190 yards rushing and 56 more through passes.

Rick Banton reeled off 81 yards in 13 tries for Bentley, while Leroy Watson lugged for 72 yards more. But it didn't help the Bentley cause.

Trenton was more potent on the ground, charging for 250 yards. In the air, Trenton made only one yard.

To show how even the play was, Trenton had the ball for 60 plays, Bentley for 54.

Trenton clicked only once in seven attempts while Bentley made two out of 11.

It was a dramatic way to win for Garden City West's football team.

Fifteen seconds showed on the clock.

Gary Woodside, a big star all night, cracked from the two-yard line for the touchdown that gave West a 13-6 win over Cherry Hill.

THE FINISH must rate with one of the most stirring staged by a West team.

Picture the scene: It's the last quarter. The score is tied at 6-6. Time is running out.

In fact ONLY 80 seconds show on the scoreboard. Cherry Hill has the ball... up around its own 45.

West's hopes for pulling this one hardly would appear very encouraging under such conditions.

The Garden City team needed a big break. And it was forthcoming.

Charley DeShias of West charged through and forced a Cherry Hill fumble.

DeShias himself covered the ball on the Cherry Hill 44.

GARY ROBINSON, the fine West passer, dropped back with no time to waste. He hit Mark McGrath on two perfect passes. One went for 12 yards, the other for 30.

The ball was now on the Cherry Hill two and it was easy for Woodside to slide off tackle for the touchdown and winning points.

It was Woodside who had gone virtually through the same hole into touchdowns.

Jim Laboda slid in for both the scores, each from about a yard out.

However, it was Archie Lejb who made the first touchdown possible.

HE CRACKED through to recover a fumble on the Groves 11 in the first quarter. In short order Franklin had the ball on the yard line and just as quickly it was Lejb barging across.

In the third period, the defense pushed Groves back so it had to kick from deep trouble.

The ball went only to the Groves 30.

Laboda slammed for a few yards and a few more. The ball went down to the Groves one from where Laboda once more scored.

The rest of the way it was pretty even as the rain and mud slowed down the action.

Franklin reached the Groves' 20 twice in the second half. Groves got to the Franklin 20 once.

The winners rolled up 241 yards on the ground along with 30 in the air for a total of 10 first downs.

Groves was held to under 165 yards in total offense.

Franklin Routs Thurston Rival

Jack Clark turned in another fine time of 10:14 for the two miles as Franklin high's cross country team defeated Thurston, 21-40, in a dual meet.

Dave Collins was second for the winners while Buddy Hallett, John Pelletier and Rich O'Sullivan ran fifth, sixth and seventh, respectively. Tipton of Thurston was third with Foess fourth.

THE WRONG BOX

Wally Roberts UP' GOING 'CURTAIN

The John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre starts its second season this Friday evening. "The Importance of Being Earnest", the Oscar Wilde comic classic, will put audiences in a merry state for the next four weeks.

Meadowbrook Theatre is about 35 minutes away from Observerland. The distance is not too great to spend a delightful evening in the company of some truly professional actors.

Curt Dawson, Betty Sinclair, George Giddall, Barbara Caruso, and Eric Berry have returned for a second try at making Meadow Brook a permanent cultural experience for theater-goers in the Detroit area.

MEADOW BROOK'S first season had many of the universal problems associated with all beginning repertory groups. Choice of plays last year was disastrous. The season didn't really get underway successfully until it was almost two-thirds over. The production of Shaw's "You

F'ton Players Are To Begin New Season

The Farmington Players are in rehearsal for the first play of their fall season "The Male Animal". The play was written by James Thurber and Elliot Nugent.

Joanne Kaman is assisting Kaye Britton in directing the former Broadway comedy hit.

The story concerns a professor's struggle for academic freedom while his home is being invaded by another male animal.

Performances are set for the Player's Barn on 12 Mile Rd. west of Orchard Lake Rd. on Nov. 3, 4, 10, 11, 12 and Nov. 17 and 18.

Season tickets are available by calling Virginia McNelly, 476-2749. Friday and Sunday night season tickets are $5 and Saturday night season tickets are $6.

Rounding out the 1967-68 season will be "Anastasia", written by Andre Maurette, and adapted for the English stage by Guy Bolton, and "Barefoot In The Park", written by Neil Simon.

Never Can Tell" and "The Waltz of the Toreadors" showed how brilliant the Meadow Brook thespians could be.

The second season shows great promise. With "Importance of Being Earnest" as the opener, laughter will be the prevailing mood of the audience. My fervent plea from last year for a comic opener evidently gained support.

John Fernald is sharing the director's spotlight far more than he did last season. Eric Berry will be directing "Importance". "John Barabriel Borkman", a most difficult Ibsen drama, has been assigned to a Norwegian stage. Milo Sperber, John Broome and George Giddall have been given directorial assignments for later productions in this gala second season.

AGAIN old Wally can only nod his pate in vigorous agreement. It was evident from last season's parade of plays that some of the stodgy direction needed immediate improvement.

Now if my other pet peeve could be on file and not forgotten, I'm sure I would rest peacefully. Let's keep the length of the productions to a reasonable length. My battle with directors over the years has been too little consideration.

Old Wally contends that you reach "a point of no return" eventually in presenting a classic when the audience is kept beyond a two hour limit. Even if the actors are excellent, the technical work brilliant, the audience will get restless. It's still better to present a little less of the play and have the audience leave, wanting more.

Vaudeville performers years ago had a stock rule: "if you have 20 minutes of material for an act only give the audience 10 minutes worth. Always leave them clamoring for more."

Why can't University and Classic repertory groups adopt such a practical plank in their treatment of the public? A four hour "Hamlet" may be grand, glorious exercise for the actors, but you won't get the masses to truly appreciate one of the Bard's monumental works. It's high time we began to respect the Bard's own words found in three of his plays when he mentions "this two hour traffic upon the stage."

Believe me, "two hour's traffic" is preferable to some of the three hour traffic jams seen too often in educational theaters or professional repertory groups.

THE OPENING production "Importance of Being Earnest" will not encounter any such problem since it is essentially two hours of frothy wit. Curt Dawson and George Giddall are certain to bounce Wilde's witty lines as agilely as two top tennis players.

REHEARSALS ARE NOW being held for the newest production of the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford. Polishing their characterizations for "Any Wednesday," with the assistance of director Richard Thiede (at left), are Marjorie Williams and Stuart Skog. The play will be staged in Franklin High School Oct. 13-14, with a matinee at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 15.

Guild Rehearses New Play

Intensive rehearsals are now being held at The Theatre Guild Livonia-Redford building for the comedy, "Any Wednesday," by Muriel Resnik, the first production of the season. The play will be staged in Franklin High School, Oct. 13 & 14, with a matinee at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 15. For advance tickets call, 538-3135 or GA.-2-8038.

Broadway denizens dubbed "Any Wednesday" the cinderella play after it's explosive success in New York. Prior to its opening the inside word had been "thumbs down", since it was its author's first play and had no well known box-office names in its cast.

But the New York first-nighters and critics gave the play a rousing welcome, and lines immediately began to form at the box office to give the play a two-and-a-half year Broadway run.

Members of the cast are: Tony Mattar as John Cleves, Marjorie Williams as Ellen Gordon, Stuart Skog as Cass Henderson and Louise Divitto as Dorothy Cleves.

OCC Sets 4-Part Series

"A Search for Meaning," a four-part discussion with film series sponsored by Oakland Community College, will be held on successive Wednesdays beginning Oct. 4 at Bloomfield Hills Andover High School, Long Lake Road west of Telegraph.

Each week a different film is featured which illustrates the series title. The film then becomes a catalyst to discussion led by Rev. Robert Marshall, Birmingham Unitarian Church.

The Oct. 4 film will be "Ikiru" (To Live). Ikiru is the story of the search for the meaning of life by a man who knows he has only a short time to live.

"Candide" (The 20th Century Optimist) will be shown Oct. 11.

"No Exit" will be featured Oct. 18, based on Sartre's play. No Exit offers a vision of an existentialist Hell. Hell is other people.

"The World of Apu" will be shown on Oct. 25.

Each evening's program will begin at 8:15 p.m. Fee for the series is $4 and enrollments may be mailed to the Community Services Division, Oakland Community College, 2480 Opdyke Road, Bloomfield Hills, 48013.

Camilla Wicks To Solo With Detroit Symphony

The noted American violinist Camilla Wicks will make her first appearance with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Thursday and Saturday, Oct. 5 and 7, at 8:30 p.m. in Ford Auditorium.

She will be soloist in the Sibelius Violin Concerto. Sixteen Ehrling, who on several occasions has conducted European orchestras with Miss Wicks as soloist, will conduct. The program also will include Mozart's Symphony No. 38 ("Prague") and Zoltan Kodaly's "Peacock" Variations.

Miss Wicks interrupted her outstandingly successful concert career from 1958 until 1966 to devote herself to her children through their younger years.

She returned to the concert stage for a Scandinavian tour last year and is now booked for engagements through 1968, including visits to most European countries.

She began her career as a child prodigy, publicly performing a Vivaldi concerto from memory at the age of four. She made her Town Hall debut in New York at age 13, later appearing with many principal U.S. orchestras while still in her teens. She made her first European tour at the age of 17, giving 90 concerts in 11 countries. Since then she has given hundreds of recitals and made numerous appearances with noted conductors and orchestras both here and abroad.

The Detroit Free Press' "Action Line" will be described by staff member Lois Sutherland in the final program.

ALL OF the sessions will begin at 1:15 p.m. at the Franklin Community Church. A season ticket is $5.

Poetry-In Motion Set

Dancer-artist Marguerite Lundgren-Harwood will perform at the University of Michigan Oct. 7.

But the eurythmyst's poetry in motion will be little like that seen in the Michigan-Navy football game that afternoon.

Eurythmy has been called a "classic modern" dancelike art. It expresses the sounds, rhythms, moods, and meanings of words and music through its own flow, movements, and gestures. Mrs. Lundgren-Harwood, the head of London's School of Eurythmy, is making her first American tour.

The words will be read by her husband, A.C. Harwood. The music will be performed by pianist J.A. Hollander, a graduate student in U-M's School of Music.

Tickets at $1.25 will be sold at the door.

Children's Musical Scheduled

The third president of the United States is the hero of "Young Tom Jefferson," a play set to music which is the season's first offering in the Detroit Children's Theatre series at the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium Saturday, Oct. 14.

The performances, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., introduce Jefferson as a boy of 17 growing up in Virginia 26 years before the American Revolution. Scenes in the Raleigh Tavern and the mansion of the influential Randolph family will recreate the colonial period, as well as the songs and dances that further the plot. The cast is a professional company from New York City.

This is the first of a series of eight live theatre programs for children and young adults, sponsored by the museum's Theatre Arts Department in line with its policy of bringing to Detroit live theatre with special appeal and interest for school age children.

Tickets are available at the Detroit Institute of Arts ticket office (832-2730), as well as J.L. Hudson, Grinnell's and Sears ticket services.

French Film Slated

"The Seven Deadly Sins," a French movie directed by Claude Autant-Lara, will be shown at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 7, in the Community Arts Auditorium at Wayne State University. Admission is $1, with a reduced rate of 75 cents for students.

Wayne Civic Players Begin New Season

The Wayne Civic Players has announced the 1967-68 season. The first production will be "A Thurbur Carnival" followed by "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" and "Barefoot in the Park."

The individual cost will be $1.50 for each of the three plays. An advance season's ticket is now being made available at $4.

Student tickets, individual and season's, are half price.

Anyone can contribute their creative energy towards any or all of the many facets of community theater through membership in the Wayne Civic Players.

Metro Park Offers Film

A new 16 mm film in color showing the parks and facilities of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority is now available to civic, church and other organizational groups throughout the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

The film is entitled "Recreation Unlimited" and showing time is 37 minutes, with sound narration on film. Usually an authority representative accompanies the film, which shows scenes of such well-known parks as Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park near Ann Arbor and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville.

Singletons Set Meeting

The Dearborn-Livonia Singletons will hold a dinner meeting Friday, Oct. 13 at the Continental Congress Inn on Michigan Ave. in Dearborn.

The evening begins with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. and then a business meeting followed by a program.

For information about the meeting or the organization contact Beverly Pickles at VE. 6-0343 or Susie Alviani at LO. 3-9362.

Floors in Color

An exciting innovation in floors is oak in handsome decorator colors—pink, blue, yellow, green, even ebony and white. Colors are achieved with separate stain or colored penetrating seal, which don't hide the grain.

Downtown Loop Project Studied

The Plymouth City Commission was presented detailed plans Monday night for construction of a vehicular traffic loop around the so-called Central Business District carrying a total project cost of $267,000.

However, Commissioner Arch Vallier, in noting that the estimate did not include allowance for purchases of right-of-way or for removal of buildings speculated that the eventual cost would be closer to $500,000.

City Manager Richard Blodgett was instructed to return to the Commission as soon as possible with a detailed plan on how the vein could be financed. Blodgett said he will submit such a study by Oct. 30 or Nov. 13.

DRAWINGS for the loop

1967 National Pharmacy Week October 1-7

Meet James Smith. Maybe you already know him personally. He is your Rexall Family Druggist at our Main Street Store . . . he is a registered pharmacist with many years of experience in helping you enjoy good health. He has been with Beyer Rexall Drugs some many years. A constant booster of the Plymouth Community, he has watched its growth with pride. He is part of this city. He is part of you, in a way, for his success depends on your satisfaction with Beyer's service and products. As only a pharmacist can, he knows and trusts Beyer's quality so much that he sells them to you on an unconditional money-back guarantee. So count on him for products, and for service . . . the personal kind that may be fast disappearing elsewhere but will never be out of style with James Smith of Beyer Rexall Drugs, 480 N. Main Street, Phone GL 3-3400.

were prepared by Johnson & Anderson, Inc., of Pontiac, and, in effect, project the building of a 36-foot-wide, two-way highway along this general route:

Starting at Church and Main Streets, going west on Church to Harvey Street, south on Harvey to Wing Street, east on Wing to Deer Street, north on Deer to Ann Arbor Trail, and then after clipping off an end of Kellogg Park, following Union Street north from Penniman Avenue to the extension of Church Street that lies just north of City Hall.

Such a loop has been the subject of local conversation for several years as a means of relieving the traffic load on main downtown arteries, but there is no indication of when the Commission will decide whether to proceed as outlined -- or even whether to proceed at all. The financial analysis must be completed before they act further.

NEARER TO FRUITING are two other matters also related to downtown traffic, conversion of two recently purchased areas into metered parking lots.

The land involved includes the so-called Wiedman property currently occupied by Leo Calhoun Ford, Inc., on S. Main St., and a second lot on Penniman between Main and Harvey.

Together the two projects will cost the city $315,855, it was estimated by the City Manager.

He recommends that the Main Street lot be financed through private contributions amounting to $86,400 plus having the city stand $171,812.48 of the cost. Of the second and smaller project it is recommended that the city pay $30,387.69 and that owners of properties abutting Penniman on both sides of the street in that block be assessed for the remaining $27,255.

The proposed rate of assessment would be $30 per abutting foot, and a public hearing on this is scheduled for Nov. 6.

In two other reports to the Commission Monday, City Manager Blodgett proposed:

Adoption of a newly written purchasing ordinance which would create an Office of Purchases, and creation of a service recognition program for long-term city employees; Both were earmarked for special study by the Commission before any formal action is taken.

THE STATE OF ROTARY Clubs throughout the district is discussed by District Governor Russell Amerman, of Northville, in his annual appearance before the Plymouth Rotary Club in the Mayflower Meeting House. That's President Loren Gould taking notes on the Governor's report.

Order Set For City's Top Needs

Rehabilitation of the Central Business District, a program which has been discussed and shelved time and again for the past 10 years, finally has been given top priority in the future plans for the City of Plymouth.

The top designation was made at a breakfast meeting of civic and business leaders last Wednesday morning. Called into session by Harold Fischer, Director of the Area Planning Commission, the 48 men in attendance discussed more than 50 items on the planning agenda.

Then, following a discussion of more than an hour, they agreed on the following priorities:

- 1 -- Loop plan with traffic and parking
- 2 -- Elimination of rail crossings
- 3 -- Parking areas
- 4 -- Unification of governments
- 5 -- Employment of topflight manager for Plymouth Chamber of Commerce
- 6 -- Re-evaluation of the Villain-Leman plan prepared for the city.

At the breakfast meeting the business leaders also discussed some means of financing the projects--now that little hope is held out for federal funds. These financial methods will be studied and a report made at the next breakfast meeting on October 11.

Plymouth Students Muff Safety Appeal

One of America's greatest authorities on automotive speed and safe driving addressed an assembly of more than 400 Plymouth High School students Wednesday, and though they were unaware of it at the time the students created more national attention than the speaker.

Representatives of two metropolitan newspapers, the San Francisco Chronicle and Boston Globe, plus a staff writer of Reader's Digest, accompanied Fred Agabashian to Plymouth to observe audience reaction to Agabashian's remarks and the film which he showed.

They were shocked at the result.

THE APPEARANCE was one of many arranged for a corps of 10 top names among auto racing drivers at high schools throughout the nation. Purpose of the undertaking is to help show teen-agers how to be better drivers, and the cost is being underwritten by the Champion Spark Plug Co.

What struck the three unannounced observers most vividly was the lack of discipline among Plymouth students, which at one time became so bad an embarrassed Agabashian had to interrupt his own comments with a pointed, "You can settle down any time, kid."

The same trio had heard Agabashian deliver the same speech earlier in the day at Melvindale High School and they commented openly that the Melvindale audience "was better disciplined with none of this wise-guy attitude."

Their presence here was prompted more by an interest in whether Agabashian's youthful listeners were "getting the message" rather than hearing another replay of the script.

A GOOD part of the Plymouth audience flunked the test. Many in the audience were too engrossed in surreptitiously working on classroom assignments, or conversing with friends, to hear the warning. Agabashian drove to the Indianapolis "500" an even dozen times, finished as high as fourth in 1953 behind the late Bill Vukovich, and won the pole position in 1952 by posting the highest qualifying speed.

The essence of his speech, dramatically emphasized in film, was that professional drivers are not careless, and that safe driving demands courtesy and common sense from the person behind the wheel.

He predicted that the increasing accident rate among teen-age motorists soon will force most states to make 18 the minimum age of obtaining a driver's license. It now stands at 16 in most of the nation.

Senior Citizens Set Color Tour

The Plymouth Senior Citizens Club will make its annual Autumn Color Tour Tuesday, starting from the City Hall at 9:30 a.m. and traveling along the Huron River through Dexter, Hell, Gregory, and Pinckney, with a stop at Parmenter's Cider Mill in Northville.

New Books In Library

"The King of the Castle" by Victoria Holt is a Gothic romance set in the rich wine-growing country of southern France. A widowed count sends for an expert restorer of old paintings but is surprised when a severe young Englishwoman arrives at his chateau in response to his summons.

"The Lawyers" by Martin Mayer, a reporter and the author of "The Schools", is the result of six years of research. It gives a detailed account of all aspects of the legal profession, ranging from law schools to the Supreme Court, utilizing real examples and anecdotes.

"Go to the Widow-Maker" by James Jones, the author of "From Here to Eternity", is an epic of one man's search for true courage and manliness in terms of his relationships with a former mistress who seeks to possess him, a magnificent young woman who loves him, and a brute of a man whose world of physical violence and courage tempts him.

"The Devil Drives" by Fawn M. Brodie is a biography of Sir Richard Burton, noted explorer and translator of the "Arabian Nights," based upon a newly discovered collection of letters and papers.

"Breed of Giants" by Joyce Kilmer, author of "The Running Foxes", is again set in Bruton-under-the-Water, an imaginary village in the English lake country. A local breeder of Shires, Josh Johnson, has brought his horses to their peak only to lose his prize stallion when it is bitten on the leg by a wild animal.

"A Crime of Passion" by Stanley Loomis is a reconstruction of the murder which marked the end of the Romantic period. In 1847, the Duc de Praslin bloodily murdered his Duchesse in Paris, and this act was one of the events which sparked the Revolution of 1848.

"Selected Poems" by Cecil Day - Lewis is a group of poems chosen by the author from his works of the past 40 years.

"North to Yesterday" by Robert Flynn is a tragicomic story about a group of misfits and dreamers who make a belated drive of longhorn cattle from Texas to the railhead in Kansas. Lampassas, a storekeeper who sold supplies to the earlier drivers and listened to their tales, is the leader of the dreamers on their foolish quest.

"Keep the Faith, Baby!" by Adam Clayton Powell, the controversial Abyssinian Baptist minister and Harlem's only Congressman, is a collection of his sermons which range in content from the purely spiritual to the solely secular, though in both types there is always interwoven the same common thread of what Dr. Powell likes to call "Practical Christianity."

"No Transfer" by Stephen Walton, written during the author's junior year in college, is a low-key horror story that satirizes present-day big-university education. A young man goes off to college only to find himself becoming enmeshed in the school's machinery.

"How to Dress for Success" by Edith Head includes advice for women on all aspects of this important subject.

"The Purloined Paperweight" by P.G. Wodehouse is a humorous novel of an ex-chorus girl with a heart of gold who becomes involved in international finance.

"Treblinka" by Jean Francois Steiner is a story that begins in 1942, when the S.S. chose Treblinka, a small village northeast of Warsaw, as the site for a "model" death camp to mass-produce death. There, in the summer of 1943, a small group of Jewish prisoners planned and led an armed rebellion, killing the S.S. guards and destroying the compound where during a single year 800,000 men, women and children had been exterminated.

"By-Line: Ernest Hemingway" by Ernest Hemingway is a selection of articles and dispatches written for various newspapers and magazines from his early experience as a cub reporter for The Kansas City Star to the chronicle of his last African adventures.

"Hunter-Killer" by Geoffrey Jenkins, one of England's top adventure writers, is the story of a nuclear submarine on a top secret mission in the Indian Ocean. Many attempts are made to thwart the completion of the project, but they are blocked by a scientist on board the submarine who also happens to be vice president of the United States.

"A Man Could Get Killed That Way" by Weldon Hill, the author of "Rafe", tells the story of what happens to a very commonplace young man in Oklahoma when a beautiful, blond hitchhiker stumbles into his life with a plea for him to save her. The pair then becomes involved in hilarious adventure with an international spy and dope ring while fleeing for their lives.

August Mortgage Loans Set Record

Mortgage lenders in the metropolitan area of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties, reporting on closings and recordings for August in the monthly summary issued by Lawyers Title Insurance Corporation, have set a nine-year record.

Grand total of lending in two categories—under and over $35,000 for August, 1967—was $175 million.

For the first time in years, according to the summary, under $35,000 lending for August in the three-county area reached totals above a hundred million dollars. The total in that category was $104 million.

Federick A. Thomson, senior vice president of Lawyers Title, said the summaries for the last decade showed that the record month for mortgage lending in the area was September 1958, when banks, savings and loan associations, mortgage companies, insurance companies and individuals loaned a total of $377 million.

LEADING LENDER in under-$35,000 mortgages was First Federal Savings of Detroit, with $9,667,250, and an additional $771,800 in over-$35,000 mortgages.

Next largest lender in under-$35,000 mortgages in the area for August was Bank of the Commonwealth, with $6,578,375, and an additional $7,960,080 in the "overs." This made Bank of the Commonwealth's $14,538,455 grand total the largest in the area for August.

Michigan Bank, National Association, reported $9,317,600 in over-$35,000 mortgages in the area in August, and an additional $2,919,128 in the "unders."

Standard Federal Savings and Loan Association reported $5,841,850 in under-$35,000 mortgages and National Bank of Detroit $5,766,343 in the same category.

Detroit Bank & Trust Company had $3,045,850 in "unders" and $8,779,500 in the "overs."

THOMSON said:

This is substantial indication that the home building industry and real-estate business generally have staged a spectacular comeback from the tight-money cycle which plagued these industries from early in 1966 throughout that year, and even into the present year to some extent.

BARBARA WHITEHURST

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Whitehurst, of Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Sue, to Victor Ray Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Smith, of Kansas City, Mo. The bride-elect is a graduate of Bentley High School. The couple plans to marry Nov. 11 and will live in Kansas City.

3 Schools Will Join In Research

A consortium for development of research potentials in education has been agreed upon by Mercy College of Detroit, Marygrove College and Madonna College working with Robert L. Anderson, Director of the Consortium and Professor of Psychology at Eastern Michigan University.

Workshops, seminars and consultant services to each of the three institutions is the program outlined for the group undertaking which will operate with the assistance of a $50,000 Federal grant.

The consortium is an agency developed by the three colleges to extend and expand the facilities for research, research programs ordinarily beyond the capacity of member colleges working alone.

A survey of the research interests of each school, and individual capabilities, assessment of the nature of common problems, organizing training seminars to upgrade existing research skills, formulation of research projects and providing the means to accomplish them are the major goals of the program which is immediately effective.

Health Officers Plea: Use Covered Metal Trash Can

City health officials from coast to coast urge householders to use more and better garbage cans, and to keep the lids on them. The rat population, out of control in some places, is the reason.

A typhus outbreak is always a distinct possibility in areas not protected by laws making the use of closed, metal garbage containers mandatory. This includes rural sections of the country; towns without ordinances covering the storing of refuse; and communities which permit garbage to be stored in paper sacks or non-rodentproof containers.

Doctors with the U.S. Public Health Service have long believed the rat to be the root of endemic typhus in this country, reporting as long ago as 1930 that 75 per cent of cases were associated with rat infestations. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare recently issued a national recommendation for rodent repelling refuse containers, specifying water tightness, lid seal, rust resistance, structural strength, accessibility and cleanliness.

SPECIFY METAL CANS

Most major cities already have prescriptive ordinances along these lines. New York's and Chicago's specify metal cans with tight metal covers. Baltimore's outlaws plastic containers. Jackson, Miss., insists on galvanized steel containers, for reasons of cleanliness as well as rodent control.

Minneapolis has an ordinance that recommends galvanized steel garbage cans on the basis of tests which established that rats could gnaw into all non-metal containers within short periods of time.

Authorities say these ordinances reduce chances of murine typhus in cities, where rat bite fever continues to peril small children in slum neighborhoods. In some parts of New York, baby cribs are covered with chicken wire to protect infants against nocturnal attacks.

Sanitation Problem

More than 90 per cent of municipal health officers are said to regard the problem as entirely one of sanitation, with most favoring passage of legislation that would lend teeth to enforcement measures.

Sanitation engineers agree. A recent national survey disclosed that 94 per cent pinpointed the covered garbage can as a major factor in controlling rats, flies and disease.

Eighty-six per cent wanted the covered, galvanized can included in the home system for handling garbage and trash; and approximately 87 per cent mentioned it as a fire hazard control in connection with disposal of refuse.

Fish Are Bigger

by Gordon Charles

Federal "credibility gaps" and "brainwashing" charges are bad enough but when it spreads to Michigan, that's just too much!

Despite the fact that he is a friend, Dr. Wayne Toddy, chief of the Conservation Department's fish division, has been getting his stories mixed up, too, and we feel compelled to set the record straight. His coho-salmon figures just don't hold water.

REMEMBER BACK in April of 1966 when the first cohoes were released into Bear Creek and the Platte and Big Huron rivers? "By fall, some of these 'jacks' or young male salmon may weigh as much as three pounds," said Wayne.

He was wrong. Five months later some of these jacks weighed seven and eight pounds. Boy, how wrong can a guy be! He tried again, though. "By the fall of 1967 some of these cohoes may weigh as much as 10 pounds apiece," he proclaimed. And fishermen believed him—until this past August. That's when beats working off Manistee and Frankfort began to bring in cohoes averaging 12 to 15 pounds, with some ranging as high as 23 pounds.

ALL OF THIS, of course, has had a terrible effect upon Michigan fishermen, most of whom like to lie a little about the fish they catch. These fish have been running bigger than the lies, which is rather demoralizing.

Picture if you can the sad spectacle of fishermen swarming onto Lake Michigan by the boatloads, armed with tackle designed to handle "little fish" of only five or six pounds, only to run into fighting monsters of incredible size. How about the plight of the average guy who comes to shore with his limit of two salmon that may weigh over 15 pounds apiece, only to find they won't even fit in his fish cooler? Who ever heard of such a thing?

Bait dealers are also in an awful position. They can't stock lures as fast as the salmon tear them off the fisherman's tackle.

Bob Heffner, Beulah dealer, has had additional troubles. As a special service, he stocked a bunch of plastic bags 30 inches long so fishermen could freeze their salmon in them. The darned bags aren't long enough! He now has a rush order in for some 40 inches long but wonders what will happen when the bigger, faster growing chinook salmon start to show up.

WAYNE TODAY claims the chinooks should average 25 pounds apiece when adult. He should know by now, that nobody is going to believe that one. He has guessed wrong too many times so when he says 25 pounds most fishermen will hike that figure in their own minds.

Doggoneit, Wayne, this credibility gap of yours has got to stop! It isn't fair to fishermen to get them in the mood to catch five and six pound salmon, only to have them come home in a state of shock from catching 15 and 20-pounders.

If things keep on like this, first thing you know all fishermen will quit lying. And when that happens, half the fun will go out of fishing!

State CRC Asks Race, Urban Bills

Lansing.—The Michigan Civil Rights Commission has urged Gov. Romney to submit four "vital" matters to the Legislature at the upcoming special session in October on racial and urban problems.

The letter stated, "These four items constitute immediate steps which can be taken to resolve Michigan's racial problems and which would clearly demonstrate a commitment to equal opportunity and justice for all citizens of this state."

THEY ARE:

"1. The passage of the Model Anti-Discrimination Act drafted by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. A modification of this Act, tailored to Michigan requirements, was introduced as House Bill 3242 under bi-partisan auspices in the last session of the Legislature. Even if our legal position in housing is sustained in Court, this legislation is desirable in that it provides for numerous procedural tools needed by the Commission. It would codify and clarify many questions regarding Civil Rights Commission jurisdiction and procedure.

"2. Special assistance to inner-city schools.

"3. A substantial increase in the CRC appropriation. Our overwhelming backlog of cases shows no trend toward abatement, yet there can be no adequate resources devoted to positive, affirmative programs while the current backlog of over 1,200 cases continues.

Great Books Program Organized For Juniors

The Junior Great Books Discussion Program will resume this November under the co-sponsorship of the Livonia Public Library.

This program affords young people an opportunity to explore some of the great ideas of the past through literature that has survived the test of time.

Because the selections deal with the essentials of human experience, they introduce young people to new ways of viewing the world.

All discussion leaders have been trained by the Great Books Foundation in the art of questioning so as to encourage each participant to offer his ideas freely, to think clearly about the material, and to disagree without being disagreeable.

The Great Books Foundation has selected and published a complete new series of books to be used this year. Series Three has been designed for the sixth graders and includes works by Andersen, Hawthorne, Dickens, Grahame, Kipling, Chaucer, Tolstoy, and Stevenson.

The sixth grade discussion group will be held on alternate Thursdays at the Alfred Noble Branch from 4 to 5:30 p.m. for a duration of twelve sessions. Twelve sessions planned for

New Stake Draws Top Horses To DRC

A new stake with glamour and national prestige will highlight the Saturday program at the Detroit Race Course as the Livonia track moves into the final third of its 84-day meeting.

The stake is the $35,000 added Millette, for three year olds and up, fillies and mares, at a mile and one eighth.

"The Millette is designed as a companion feature to the Michigan Mile," Dale Shaffer, President of the DRC said, "This is the stage of the racing season when fillies and mares are at the peak of their racing form."

THERE HAS BEEN a growing demand on the part of owners and trainers for a stake of the type of The Millette in order for fillies and mares to gain added stake recognition to enhance their future breeding value.

The Millette drew 25 nominations, including some of the outstanding fillies and mares in the Nation.

The list is topped by Mrs. E. K. Thomas' Furl Sail, a strong candidate for Three-year-old Filly-of-the-Year honors.

Furl Sail, trained by the veteran John Winans, who was a familiar figure on the Michigan racing scene for many years, already has won five major stakes this season. Her victories came in the Ashland, the Acorn, the Mother Goose, La Troienne and the Betsy Ross stakes.

Another outstanding prospect is Mrs. M.N. Scott's May's Guide.

May's Guide captured three stake events during the recent Arlington Park meeting and has been either first or second in eight on 11 starts this season.

Mrs. Penny Newberg's Stash It Away, which won the Sweet Patootie Handicap; Be Cagey, the winner of the Rose Leaves; Fine Thanks, which captured the Good Neighbor Handicap and Charming Alibi, the winner of the Old Hat Handicap, are other strong contenders.

DAVID WHITED established a DRC riding record when he became the first jockey in the track's 19 year history to ride six winners on a program. The big day was part of a hot streak by the 25-year-old Texan during which he rode 13 winners in three days.

Whited now has a commanding lead over his two closest rivals, Larry Snyder and Jerry Santage. He has his eyes on the all-time DRC record of 116 victories, set a year ago by Bob Gallimore. Currently, Whited is ahead of Gallimore's pace of 1966.

Little Bulbs, Fast Garden

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

What is a "little bulb," and what can you do with them?

At this season, garden advertisements and garden experts talk about these little packages of "instant garden." Tiny though they are, each contains a flower and foliage that is all ready to start growing.

All that is needed for sure success is for the gardener to pop them into the ground and cover with a couple of inches of soil. Roots will form this fall, and the flower will push up in spring as soon as the ground warms up a little bit.

THERE ARE a half dozen or more different kinds of little bulbs whose flowers can brighten the garden early in

They can be used for fairly formal arrangements to edge a bed or walk, but they are at their best in informal clumps and drifts, scattered in the lawn, or tucked in front of evergreens by the house entrance.

Among the little bulbs with blue flowers are grape hyacinths, chionodoxa, and scilla. Chionodoxa, dainty upturned flowers, are sky blue with a white center. They grow four to five inches tall and are delightful naturalized among the shrubbery or in the rock garden. Their blooms can be enjoyed in March and April.

Grape hyacinths (Muscari) bloom in April. Their deep cobalt blue flowers set thickly around a short stalk contrast beautifully with early species tulips or with narcissus and daffodils. Plant them in clumps in either sun or shade.

THE SCILLA are also known as wood hyacinths or squills. The bloom on spikes from eight to 15 inches tall. The bell-like flowers which are available in pink, and white as well as blue bloom in May. They combine well with tulips, but are at their best when naturalized in a woodland setting.

They are also effective in the rock garden or when planted at the front of a flower border. They have an informal grace that is very appealing.

These little bulbs should be planted as early in fall as possible so they will have a long season for good root growth and be ready to spring into bloom at the earliest opportunity next year.

For the best possible effect, plant a sizable group of one kind. Two or three bulbs of a kind might satisfy one's botanical instincts, but they won't show to any advantage in the garden. A group of 10 or 12 of a kind will show up from a distance and large drifts can be planted for truly breath-taking effects.

Scatter them under the trees; group them in front of the foundation shrubs; tuck them into crevices between the patio stones; cluster them near a flight of garden steps; nestle them at the base of a rock; fill a planter box with them. Use them creatively to paint a picture that will be the essence of spring.

EASIER IRONING

To make ironing easier, a new ironing board cover which is impregnated with nickel stainless steel has been developed. Smooth and scorch-free, the cover reflects heat so that fabrics can be pressed at lower iron temperatures.

Home Landscaping Makes Living Better

Home landscaping is for better living. The aim is to make good use of the outdoor areas surrounding houses, says Walter Haldeman of The Pennsylvania State University.

A home landscape plan is contingent on your family as well as the site. A family's activities determines its needs in regard to lawn and garden, walks and patios, parking and service areas.

ACCORDING to a Penn State correspondence course on landscape planning for small properties, the problem is to make your home ground livable and attractive.

Planning is more than drawing a design. It implies that many solutions are considered and a choice is made.

Don't regard a landscape plan as an unnecessary expense, nor its results ornamental. Planning deals with a family's manner of living and as such is essential to your well-being.

A WORKABLE PLAN considers the location of a residence, garage and automobile service areas, the soil slope and grading needed, placing of walks and other paved areas, fences, trees and shrubs, hedges, steps, flower gardens, recreation and other outdoor areas.

Study the Penn State course for a presentation of basic principles on home landscape planning. To enroll send your name and address with $4 to Landscape Planning, Box 5000, University Park, Pa. Make

Realtors To Get Report On Market Conditions

The role of the automobile has played in the suburban explosion and a capsule view of present real estate market conditions throughout the five-county metropolitan area will be two important features of the fourth annual Realtor Forum on Thursday, Oct. 12.

Roy D. Chapin, Jr., chief executive officer of American Motors Corporation, will analyze the comeback plans of the rekindled AMC and the auto industry's outlook for 1968.

Chapin's talk, entitled "Personal Mobility and Home Ownership," will also trace the role played by the automobile, offering increased mobility, and its direct correlation to the suburban explosion.

ELEVEN "MINUTE MEN" one from each of the 11 Realtor boards in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Monroe counties will supply a spot check of current real estate activity and forecasts of the immediate future for the entire five-county area.

More than 1,000 Realtors, salesmen and others interested in the growth of the metropolitan community are expected to attend the half-day Forum, Roma Hall of Livonia, starting with breakfast at 8:30 and lasting until shortly before noon.

Also on the program will be George Bockl, Milwaukee Realtor and author of the best-selling book, "How to Use Leverage to Make Money in Local Real Estate." Bockl's topic will be "Sales Stimulation and Personal Motivation."

"Because of the widespread interest of the subjects to be discussed, we are inviting the public at large to attend this year's sessions," Frank Ingram, announced. Priced at $3, including breakfast, tickets may be obtained from any Realtor office or by calling Forum Ticket Chairman Dorothy Fuller, at LO-5-3200.

SPONSOR of the Forum is the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Real Estate Boards, of which Earl G. Keim, Jr., Dearborn Realtor, is chairman.

the season. They are less formal than hyacinths and tulips.

One of the very earliest to bloom is the snowdrop or Galanthus. The dainty white nodding flowers are on stems only a few inches high. They are ideal for naturalizing under trees or shrubs or in rock gardens. They will grow in either sun or partial shade.

The winter aconite (eranthus) with its butter yellow (eranthus) blossoms nestled against a fringed roof of green leaves is another early bloomer. In sheltered spots it will bloom in February, undaunted by an occasional blanketing with snow. Try this one in a sheltered spot that can be seen from indoors or put a clump near the front door.

FOR MANY people, the crocuses are the true heralds of spring. The earliest crocus of all is the snow crocus, or winter-flowering crocus. It is a dainty species form that is available in an assortment of colors. The hybrid crocuses bloom in March and make a very showy display as their cups of purple, blue, or gold spread wide in the early sunshine.

This Is The Week That

... By Don Hoenshell

They're taking 2.6 per cent out of your pay check this week for the state's new income tax and how do you like those apples, folks?

It's fiscal reform. Legislators said the state needs more money for services. Besides that, business and industry have been paying too big a share and the burden should be shifted. That's what happened.

NOW COMES Harvey Brazer (and more about him later) with the thought that the state will wind up the first year with a $50 million surplus.

Budget Director Glenn S. Allen said Harvey is all wet and the surplus will be only $14 million.

Let's take Harvey's word for it, since he's the University of Michigan economist who wrote the book back in 1956 for the Joint Legislative Committee on Taxation.

Allen, a very nice fellow, cut his teeth in government as mayor of Kalamazoo. Which is not to say he doesn't know what he's talking about, but Brazer knows more about economics and Michigan taxation.

There's only one fellow who knows almost as much about it and he is former Rep. Rollo G. Conlin, who was chairman of the joint committee. Nobody would listen to him, though, and he left Lansing disheartened and broken.

So, take anybody's word for it and Michigan will have a general fund surplus at the close of the fiscal year June 30.

And what does the 2.6 per cent taxpayer get from all this?

HE GETS A governor-running-for-president who can tell the world he arrived when the state was broke and is now ready for

Bit Of Rope Is Stretched

Redford township officials and persons outside the official family are engaged in several tugs-of-war.

There's nothing really unique about this. Such battles take place at every level of our democratic system.

THE WINNER usually becomes the team with the best anchor man—the best salesman of ideas to the mass public, or the best legal advisor.

Problem becomes the rope that's used. It's always the fiber of public good. Sometimes the war merely proves the rope has been of good quality—and justice is reaffirmed conclusively by open controversy.

Other times the rope is strained to the point of broken strands.

IF ONLY A FEW are broken, the rope remains strong. If too many are broken the rope becomes worthless. (Remember that the rope in this parable is the public good.)

Supposedly, in our system, the team that stretches the rope extravagantly winds up on its backside.

—Dennis L. Pajot

greater challenges since the state is now solvent and boasting a surplus.

In governmental services, he gets more of the same—the extra money to cover the higher cost of everything and the greater numbers of people who need services.

Gov. Romney has said there will be no extra money for schools this year. The Senate has a three-cent package cigarette tax as its ace in the hole in case of emergency.

In Livonia — for one small example — 800 more students will be walking to school this year because the state cut back transportation grants.

On a statewide basis, special education for the retarded and otherwise handicapped also has been cut.

Teacher strikes have pauperized some school districts, though most of them in the area are going to make it. But all the districts in southeastern Michigan need more money.

Romney's argument is that if one part of the state gets help, they all will want more. And what's wrong with that if the need is there?

Egad, state government's reputation is bad enough. Building up a surplus for political reasons — House members go before the voters next year, too — is reprehensible if just one retarded child is deprived of what can be done for him.

Romney has been touring the nation finding out about the race riots. Detroit's Mayor Cavanagh and his New Detroit Committee need $5 million to start rebuilding from chaos on Twelfth.

Let's be conservative for one paragraph and observe economy in government. When the legislative delegation gets back from its junket to San Antonio, Tex., ask them about it.

And when that first check stub shows the 2.6 per cent takeout for the state income tax, explain to the kids why they have to walk to school over routes the buses used to run.

And tell a mother why there's no place at all for her retarded child.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Everyone is busy trying to get more riot training for city policemen, state police officers, and National Guardsmen. Why don't they divert their energies into trying to eliminate the causes of the riots and then everyone would be better off.

An old-timer is one who can remember when the United States had only 700 military "advisors" in South Vietnam. That was in the long-ago era of 1961 A.D.

The story still lingers about the woman driver who drove through the Five Mile Farm-

Sixty-two and a half per cent. That's all we need. Please, Lord, give us 62.5 per cent."

The man was tall, but about 20 pounds overweight. He was standing in the smoke-filled command headquarters of the Democratic Party on election night in November, 1964. He was repeating, with religious intensity, the key principle in the state-wide strategy of the Michigan Democratic Party — a strategy which is in serious danger of collapse.

WILL HELP
COME IN TIME?

Chuck Keeps Mustache And Wins A Big Point

The case of Chuck Murphy's mustache vs. the Livonia school system's rules probably isn't a landmark case, at least in any legal sense, but it's the kind of case which, when you read about it, stirs up all your antagonisms against the multitudinous moronic rules of civilized society.

You identify with him — his battle is your battle—even if you don't know him personally.

ington jungle of construction a few weeks ago at 90 miles an hour without hitting anything. Great performance but don't forget the encore, dear.

Lynda bird is going to marry a Marine and since there's no more at home like her the question of what to do now seems pertinent for the Navy, Army and Air Force.

Gov. Romney gets brainwashed and volunteers to hang him out to dry stretch from here to there.

The word from the National Planning Association (NPA) says that Lansing is going to expand more than any other city in Michigan by 1975. Oh, heck, write your own joke.

The key developments are taking place right here in suburban Observerland.

The central article of faith in Democratic strategy in state-wide elections has been unchanged for over a decade. If you come out of Wayne County with 62.5 per cent of the vote, the theory goes, you'll be all right in a state-wide race. Even if it looks like you've lost but you got 62.5 per cent in Wayne County, demand a recount; chances are you'll win.

G. Mennen Williams, six times Governor of Michigan, used the strategy and it worked. So did former Governor John B. Swainson.

The way they figured was this: Wayne County was such a big chunk of the total Michigan vote that if you could pile up 62.5 per cent of the vote there, you could ride out just about any storm outside. In particular, the strategy rested on 80+ and 90 per cent Democratic margins in the big precincts in the City of Detroit.

But developments over the past few years have raised the most serious doubts about the validity of this strategy and, in turn, about the long-run future of the Democratic Party in Michigan.

First, look at what's happening to the relative populations of Wayne County and the City of Detroit. From 1960 to 1966, according to the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission, the overall population of Wayne County grew by 4 per cent, while the population of Detroit lost 2 per cent.

People are moving from Detroit out to the suburbs, to places like Livonia (growth: 4 per cent), Westland (growth: 3 per cent), Plymouth (growth: 24 per cent) and Plymouth Township (growth: 52 per cent). So any strategy that depends on a big vote from the heavy Democratic precincts in Detroit faces big trouble just with the relative decline in Detroit's population.

Second, let's look at what's happening to the people who move out from Detroit to the suburbs. Mostly they are Democratic voters, leaving the inner city for a variety of reasons. The assumption might be that they would continue their Democratic voting patterns.

Not so, say some sociologists, who argue that newly arrived suburbanites are anxious to fit in with the social patterns of their new homes. Therefore, if they move into a suburb that is mainly Republican (Plymouth Township, for example), they will adapt their voting behavior to that of their Republican neighbors.

While all the evidence isn't yet in on this suggestion, it appears to deal the Democratic strategy in Wayne County a terrible blow, especially over the long run. If people who are Democrats move out of Detroit into the suburbs and, in so doing, become Republican voters, how are the Democrats going to make up for a reduced vote in Detroit with a big Democratic vote in the suburbs?

The third key problem in the Democratic strategy lies in the difference in growth rates between Wayne County and Oakland and Macomb Counties.

Wayne, historically Democratic, has grown only 4 per cent since 1960. But Oakland and Macomb, both much more Republican than Wayne, are growing much faster: 20 per cent since 1960 for Oakland and 36 per cent since 1960 for Macomb.

Wayne County is still by far the biggest in the Metropolitan area, with a 1966 population of 2,768,000 against a total of 1,380,000 for Oakland and Macomb. But if the low growth rate of Wayne continues, it will get progressively less weighty when its (Democratic) votes are stacked up against the (Republican) votes in Oakland and Macomb.

If this wasn't bad enough news for Democrats, it's no news that the Republicans are putting on quite an organizing drive in Wayne County itself. Time used to be that Republicans showed their heads in Wayne County with fear and trembling; but that's changing now.

The Republicans have hired a public relations gal to help out in Wayne. "Come on up to the Republican conference at Mackinac Island," she said not long ago. "It will give you a chance to meet some people."

You bet. It may not be any news story, but it's good PR. And if the Democrats have a PR person in Wayne County, I'm not aware of it.

Equally, the Democrats have for years been content to try the big push to get the vote out in Wayne County only in precincts where the vote is 60 per cent Democratic or better. This technique, born of the fat days when Democrats could count on a great big Democratic vote from Wayne, is enormously wasteful; for one thing, it just assumes that voters, not privileged enough to live in an over 60 per cent Democratic precinct, will somehow turn out to vote. And you don't get votes through assumptions.

So the Democrats have going against them not only real problems of population change but also some serious organizational weaknesses.

Remember when the Democrats referred to everything not in Wayne County as "outstate"? Well, if they don't watch it, those outstate returns may swamp them yet.

Pay Hike That Isn't

When is an announced salary increase not a hike at all?

It doesn't make much sense to us that a member of the Schoolcraft College Administration staff receives a salary boost following the recent action of the Board of Trustees and then, comes back exactly two weeks later with a request that the Board approve the increase as a car allowance.

This is what happened at last week's Schoolcraft College Board meeting. Vice President in Charge of Business Affairs Kenneth Lindner made the request to the College President. Dr. Eric Bradner in turn recommended approval of the Board.

Lindner says the move is perfectly legal and has precedence at other community colleges in the area.

Our only comment is that it appears like some sort of a tax gimmick. It leads one to wonder what action the Trustees will take if the same request comes from members of the faculty or others on the Administration level.

The teachers don't feel that increments are salary hikes, even though there is more money in the check, and now the Business Manager asks that his boost be considered a car allowance. Certainly is a strange world we are living in.

What Now?

Dear Editor,

What is a mother to do, when her husband is fighting in Viet Nam for his country and I'm, you might say, fighting here, for a place to live, for my four children.

I have answered ad after ad, but when they ask about children, the answer is always "no" and/or "you won't be here long enough."

My husband left us three months ago in a house which has heat in only one room, but it was the only place he could find before he left.

He had hopes I could find a place here in Farmington, so I could be close to my parents in case I needed help.

But I guess there is no place here for a service man's family. Mrs. Donald E. Poling

THIS APARTMENT HOUSE in Volgograd is typical of the housing. Just about every apartment has a small balcony which the residents use for everything from sunbathing to flower growing and as a spot to dry the wash. The building was probably constructed in the 1950s.

Life In The Soviet Can Be Very Tedious

(This is the last of a series written by Sue Shaughnessy, editor of the Farmington Enterprise-Observer, telling of her recent visit behind the iron curtain in Russia.)

A PRIVATE HOME--this is one of the few remaining on the outskirts of Moscow. The homes are of log construction and the trim is always painted in bright colors.

Life in the USSR doesn't seem to be oppressive, but it must be tedious for the average person.

Under the new Five Year Plan introduced about two years ago, the emphasis is on consumer goods and private incentive. Consumer goods are seen in the stores. The prices are about equivalent to American prices for clothing, but compared with the average wage for a family of four of about $400, they are steep.

The quality seems drab to the westerner, but a cleaning woman in one of the hotels criticized American women's clothing because it wasn't built to last. Russian dresses, she said, were built to wear. I learned later that this was a typical attitude among the Soviet women.

HOW DOES the average citizen spend his money?

His rent costs are considerably lower than in the suburban areas. Rent is computed at a rate of so much per square meter.

Kitchens and bathrooms are not included in figuring the total cost of the rent.

The rate is set by the state and takes into account the age and location of the building, along with the number of people living in the apartment.

One man told me that his three-room Moscow apartment consisted of 45 square meters and that the rent was $12.60 per month.

(Just about everyone in the cities lives in apartment buildings. The government is building a fantastic number of apartments throughout the country, and about 100 of these are opened up each day.)

THERE ARE TWO types of apartments. The first are owned by the state and are all alike. The residents pay their rent each month and build up no investment.

The other is somewhat akin to the American style of co-operative apartment. That is, the apartment may be purchased outright and when the owner moves out he can sell the apartment to whomever he pleases.

Financing for purchasing these apartments, however, is very tight, and the buyer must have more than half of the purchase price before he can qualify for a loan for the rest of the cost.

CONTRARY to popular opinion, Soviet citizens pay an income tax on anything earned in excess of 60 rubles (about $66) per month.

An additional tax is levied on single males and married couples who have no children. This tax is used to finance the building of nurseries and kindergartens throughout the country and to provide facilities for unwed mothers.

The taxes average about 32 kopeks (about 35 cents) a month for a person with dependents and 45 kopeks (45 to 50 cents) for those with no dependents.

IN ADDITION to rent, a citizen must pay for his clothing and durables. The food costs vary between locations. Obviously, a pound of apples will cost more in Moscow than it will in the area where apples are grown.

The people, however, do not pay for medical or dental services or for any education. University and Institute students are given a monthly stipend for the state in return for which they must spend two years at a position assigned by the state. Medicines cost considerably less than they do in the states and the government plans to provide this free of charge within the next two years.

Even with the subsidies, however, the support of an average family requires that both husband and wife work. When you consider this, plus the fact that the average person spends two-thirds of his free time taking care of the necessary shopping, getting to and from work, running errands, and so on, there is not much time left over for relaxation. Theatre and concert tickets are low by western standards. A prime front row-center seat to an opera in Kiev costs $2.20. A center box to a ballet in Leningrad costs $1.80, and a front-row center seat to a concert of the Leningrad Philharmonic in Sochi was $2.20.

These performances are just about always sold out and there were many events which we were unable to attend because there were no available tickets. The tops of apartment buildings are filled with TV antennas and the ratio of TV sets to each family is close to that in the west.

In addition to the theatre, concerts and TV, the Soviet people are great sports fans. Each city has at least one stadium which seats anywhere from 60,000 to 150,000 people. The most popular sport, as throughout Western Europe, is soccer.

onions, melons or, for that matter, excesses of most raw fruits and vegetables. Dr. James L.A. Roth, director of the Division of Gastroenterology, University of Pennsylvania, School of Medicine said that intestinal gas may mask organic disease. Its entrapment in the gastrointestinal tract creates discomfort that may be mistaken for gallbladder disease or angina pectoris.

DR. MANUEL J. Rowen, cardiologist of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in New Jersey, who took part in a roundtable discussion following the two-day conference, said that "pseudoangina" is actually a pain in the abdomen which feels as if it's in the chest, leading a layman to assume that he has heart pain.

Actually it is caused by gas which has accumulated and is trapped in the intestine. For such patients, Dr. Rowen prescribes a tablet combining a digestive enzyme with a simethicone, a medicinal form of silicone, to breakdown gaseous froth. The result is relief from gas pressure and pain --and from the fear of imagined heart disease.

Doctors at the conference said that among the "gassy" foods are broccoli and other members of the cabbage family, peas, beans, cucumbers,

Swallowing Air Can Be A Bother

EDITOR:

Water, water everywhere and not a drop to drink.

It is my understanding that on November 1, the Detroit Water Board intends to increase water rates to suburban users by a flat 15 per cent.

I have suggested previously that the Detroit Water Board should be under State Public Service Commission control. This would be the same as electric, gas, and telephone service.

The water board presently has the power to charge suburban users any price they want for water and the people can't do anything about it.

Recently the water board added fluoride to the water which may be good for some people's teeth but it certainly won't help people with dentures. On the other hand there probably are people with diseases that fluoride could be harmful to.

The crux of the question is why weren't suburbs and all users of this water allowed to vote on whether or not they wanted fluoride. As water is one of God's gifts to mankind I believe there should be controls fair to all users. As it stands now, people in Detroit pay a much lower rate than do the suburbs.

I believe that all suburbs and communities using Detroit water should immediately write or contact the city council, mayor, state representative and senator.

Ask them to support legislation putting Detroit water under the State Public Service Commission. If this law was passed and enacted, all people would pay only their fair and equitable share of the cost of water.

To The Editor:

In recent weeks, another newspaper in Redford Township has made several misleading statements which were supposed to be attributed to me. That publication's favorite dissertation which is made two or three times a year goes like this: "When John Bennett was Township Treasurer, he told the people of Redford Township that street lighting would cost $40,000 -- and now it costs $130,000."

This statement is pure propaganda. The original limited street lighting program which I proposed in 1955 carried an estimated cost of $56,000. Since 1955, the Township Board expanded the street lighting program to include Telegraph Road, Beech Road, Schoolcraft, West Chicago, and many other streets.

Also, the Redford Township Lighting Commission has added many more street lights and, as a result, the cost of street lighting has more than doubled over the past thirteen years.

If the editor of that newspaper is concerned about the increasing cost of local government, may I suggest that he take a good look at the local garbage contracts.

The last year in which I served as Township Treasurer, for the year ended March 31, 1965, the contractor was paid $128,757 for garbage pickup and disposal. In this current year of 1967, garbage contracts are running in excess of $300,000 per year, or an increase of about 136 per cent in a short period of two years.

Often your readers who are at retirement age express the desire for some meaningful activity to give purpose to their lives.

Wayne County General Hospital is at present conducting classes for men and women over 50 years of age to enable them to assist the sick and elderly of the community as qualified volunteers or by seeking private employment.

"New Horizons After Fifty" is designed to give these individuals the basic skills to work with emotionally and physically handicapped persons.

A recent graduate of the program, a retired electrician, says he finds his volunteer activities more rewarding than anything he has ever experienced.

Meals, textbooks, and uniforms are provided for students participating in the eight week course which is held from 9 a.m. to 3 a.m. daily at the Hospital.

Editor:

On Wednesday, Sept. 13, The Observer printed an editorial by Leonard Poger that ended condemning the public attitude on strikes by public school teachers. Essentially, he feels that discrimination in the right to strike between public and private employees should be unconstitutional, that prices of privately produced goods and services reflect cost increases won by striking--thereby justifying strikes that increase costs of publicly produced services, and that teachers are aware of this reasoning so that the public should anticipate this attitude of teachers.

Poger's remarks are inaccurate with respect to the public attitude that he attacks. The large, voluntary allocations of individual and collective wealth that the public has made to education, particularly in the past decade, refutes any notion that the public believes that teachers deserve and will accept a pittance.

The editorial is illogical in that it fails to make any distinction between rights to strike in the public and private sectors. In our society, the individual is not allowed to be his own soldier, his own judge, his own policeman, or the teacher of his own children.

If society precludes the individual from these essential occupations, society must fill the gap or leave a vacuum--a partial anarchy. No rational government would allow a single group to cause a vacuum in a critical area reserved for government; for this reason strikes by public employees should be outlawed.

There are a large number of constructive alternatives for determining public sector compensation that Mr. Poger might explore on the editorial page if that is his purpose. Please, however, hold these condemnations until they follow a line of reason, of fact, and of purpose.

Brothers Pace Falcons

The Williams boys, Larry and Gary, ran a dead heat for first place in leading Farmington High to a 22-33 cross country victory over Stevenson. Both Larry and Gary were timed in 10:46 for the two miles.

Gary Williams grabbed off individual honors in 10:01.8, a course record.

Good Sports

Dwight Hull ran fourth, Dick O'Connell sixth and Dave Parto ninth for the winners. Top man for Stevenson was Gores, who was third, followed by Warner fifth, Lockhead seventh, Fryer eighth and Feurst tenth. Farmington placed third to Pontiac Central and Walled Lake in the Milford Invitational which attracted 14 schools. The Falcons amassed 111 points as Central Michigan University freshman football coach Bob Sullivan posted an 88-18-8 record in 15 years of coaching high school before he joined the CMU staff in 1965.

LITTLE LEAGUERS

JUST CHATTIN' The 1924 World Series Was Tops For Sentiment

—BY W. W. EDGAR—

Seated at the luncheon table the other day one of the dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans remarked:

"It would be a shame if Al Kaline didn't get into the World Series."

He pointed out that the Tiger outfielder had been a star for more than a dozen years and deserved a chance in the big Fall Classic. Then he sort of sighed and said, wistfully,

"Fellows with a lot less ability than Kaline get a chance to star in the big event—and it would be nothing less than a shame if Al was denied the big thrill."

All hands agreed. And, if it is possible to feel sorry for a fellow who gets paid better than $50 thousand a year, we were all sorry for him at the moment.

But the sentiment expressed during the height of the Tigers bid for the flag was not nearly as deep as that expressed many years for Walter Johnson, one of the greatest pitchers of all time and one of the finest gentlemen who ever played the game.

Walter was a sandy-haired lad out of Idaho who really could throw a baseball. He virtually re-wrote the record book with his pitching feats. And the marvel of it all was the fact that he spent almost his entire career with the Washington Senators who were the perennial last place finishers in the American League.

As the shadows began to fall on his career, as they always do, the sentiment spread across the nation and there was a general feeling of sorrow that Walter, known affectionately as "The Big Train," might never get a chance to strut his stuff in a world series.

Then came 1924 and fortunes changed. Stanley Raymond (Bucky) Harris, a young second baseman, was named manager of the Senators and immediately was given the tag "The Boy Wonder."

"How will the kid handle Walter Johnson?" was a question asked in all parts of the baseball world.

Well, history tells us that he did all right. He confided in Johnson and "The Big Train" had faith in him. And, much to the surprise of everyone, they became a combination that went on to win the pennant, of all things.

Walter Johnson was to get his chance and the fans across the land were more than pleased. To them, it was a fitting reward for a player who had given his all for years.

The Senators met the New York Giants, one of the National League's fightingest teams under the leadership of "Muggsy" McGraw, one of baseball's legendary characters. And sentiment virtually dripped from the news each day of the Fall Classic.

Never was there such a sentimental world series. Probably there never will be another.

Naturally, Johnson pitched with all he had. It was the chance he had longed for and even old women sighed with every pitch. But it seemed that he was to be denied the thrill of winning.

You see, there was no such thing as sentiment in McGraw and his stalwarts. They played for keeps—and the worse they could beat Johnson, the better they would like it.

However, Lady Luck, that fickle dame who has a habit of taking a hand in things, entered the picture in the seventh and final game of the series.

Late in the game, with Johnson's hope of a hero role fading, one of his teammates, Ossie Bluege, hit a simple grounder down toward Freddie Lindstrom at third base. It looked like an easy out. But the ball hit a tiny pebble, bounced over Lindstrom's head, and the winning run scored.

Schoolcraft Boots Way To Victory

The unbeaten ways of Schoolcraft College's soccer team remain intact.

For the 11th straight time, Schoolcraft escaped a setback when the collegians fought off a Jackson rally to score a 4-3 victory.

Schoolcraft, winners of eight in a row without a loss last year, now stand with two wins and a tie this fall.

Goals by Dan Robinson, Bahram Farhmand and two by Joop Doorn shot Schoolcraft into a 4-0 lead before Hugo Munoz, with two scores, paced a Jackson comeback which just fell short.

Children Of Ford Workers Eligible For Scholarships

Ford Motor Company will award approximately 70 four-year scholarships in its 18th annual competition, Benson Ford, Fund president announced. The scholarships will be awarded to sons and daughters of employees of Ford Motor Company and certain of its affiliates.

"The health and growth of our nation depends upon the cultivated minds of our youth," Ford said. "Through this scholarship program, the Ford Fund strives to provide a college education for young men and women who can make the most of the opportunity."

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS may select any approved college or university in the continental United States. Awards cover tuition and a major portion of living expenses.

Applicants must be graduated from high school between September 1, 1967 and August 31, 1968, and be in the upper third of their classes. Completed scholarship applications will be accepted until December 1, 1967.

Winners will be selected by the Ford Fund Scholarship Board after a review of results of each candidate's College Entrance Examination Board Scholastic Aptitude Test, high school performance, personal qualifications and other indications of potential for success in college and post-college life.

INFORMATION ABOUT the Fund's 1968 scholarship program appears in the current issue of the company newspaper, The Ford World, which is being distributed to all company employees in the United States.

Since the Ford Fund program began in 1951, more than 1,150 four-year scholarships have been awarded. This fall, 263 winners—including 72 from 1967—are enrolled in 131 colleges and universities.

The Ford Fund also makes a supplementary annual grant of $500 to privately endowed educational institutions for each Fund scholarship winner in attendance.

Coho Limits Raised

LANSING—The State Conservation Commission has adopted liberalized coho salmon creel limits to clear up confusion among anglers and to let them keep more of the big fish they are hooking in northern Lake Michigan.

The new creel quotas, which took effect Sept. 11 and last through Nov. 30, allow fishermen a daily catch of 10 pounds and one coho, or two coho both weighing over 10 pounds.

Also as changed, anglers may have two days' catch in their possession rather than the one day limit that stood before. However, coho fishermen may not have more than one day's catch aboard their boats.

As approved by the Commission, the new coho creel limits are completely separated from the former combination quotas which also covered trout. Those original limits, still in effect for trout, set daily and possession quotas of five fish from all lakes, including the Great Lakes, and 10 fish from inland streams.

Overriding these limits by fish numbers has been a weight quota which has restricted the catch to 10 pounds and one fish. This provision was limiting many fishermen to one coho, because a large number of them were catching lunkers weighing over 10 pounds.

Under the change, the 10 pounds and one fish rule still stands for trout and continues to cover catches of smaller-size coho. However, the alternative limit added for coho now lets salmon fishermen keep a pair of trophy catches that exceed 10 pounds each.

The award will be presented during the Recognition Breakfast at the annual meeting of the National Association of Extension Home Economists at the Hotel Heidelberg, in Jackson, Miss., on Friday, Oct. 27.

CITED AMONG Mrs. Gibbs' achievements in her work with consumers in the metropolitan Detroit area are:

The final frantic days of the American League pennant race were like reliving history.

There was another real contender team in Navin Field—oops, Briggs Stadium, no, no, Tiger Stadium—and it brought back with startling clarity the feelings of the child who identified so closely with the Tigers during those glorious days of Mickey Cochrane, Tommy Bridges and Goose Goslin.

It wasn't that I took this race quite so personally. I could listen quite calmly to a baseball game, even with the Bengals losing.

But when I watched my junior high daughter flick off the dial and stomp out of the room during a rally by the opposition, I could well understand her complete involvement.

There were so many games that I had almost forgotten—games when I left the room where the rest of the family was glued to the radio rather than listen to the horrible details of a losing battle.

Which leads me to think that maybe the greatest sport fans are the young. Or the truly young at heart.

MARGARET MILLER

Parents Stimulate Childrens Interests

One way to help your preschool child become interested in art and music is to have an interest in them yourself.

suggests Mrs. Marguerite L. Duvall, Extension child development specialist of The Pennsylvania State University.

Provide a stimulating artistic environment for your child and be responsive to what he does in this area.

Smile and respond when he hums and sings. Show an interest in a scribbled drawing instead of saying, "I never saw a cow that looked like that," or "Why don't you make a picture?"

UNDERSTAND a child's capabilities and adjust your expectations accordingly, advises Mrs. Duvall. It's not necessary for a three-year-old child to paint a man with the right number of fingers or a realistic hair color.

Rather than making a picture, he may be more interested in manipulating the brush, watching how the paint spreads over the paper, or painting feelings.

Children are basically creative and can do much on their own.

For this reason, buy art materials instead of coloring books for your child. Provide him with crayons or paints and paper and let him use his imagination.

WITH CLAY, colored paper, scissors, blocks, and moist sand you can encourage a child's creativity and help him to develop an interest in art.

It's the same in music, Mrs. Duvall points out. Don't expect a preschool child to sit quietly and listen to a record. Children like to move to music—they like to do what the music is saying to them.

If you play a rousing march for your child, he may respond by taking big high steps; if you play something in a minor key, he may begin tiptoeing around the room.

Music itself encourages different actions, on the part of the child.

You can give your child toy drums and other percussion-type instruments and he can use his imagination to make his own music.

New Program Will Train Older People

A new program—designed both to help older people develop skills and to alleviate the shortages of help in hospitals and nursing homes—is being launched by Wayne County General Hospital.

It is being financed through a grant from the Michigan Commission on Aging under the Older American Act.

The aim is to train men and women over 50 in areas where more help is needed, so they may contribute their skills and abilities, either on a volunteer or pay basis.

WAYNE COUNTY General Hospital's training program will provide individuals with necessary skills to be utilized in hospitals and nursing homes in addition to their families.

The project is under the direction of Ester P. Benjamin, R.M., Director of Nursing Services, General Hospital and is coordinated through Mary Landstrom, Community Services Director.

The Hospital hopes to develop within individuals the ability to not only meet his or her own needs but also to assist others. Individuals will be taught basic nursing skills, occupational therapy skills, and it is assumed at the completion of the course, they could provide a needed service in hospitals and nursing homes.

Any individuals interested in placement should not encounter any problem as the current need five days a week from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. and will consist of formal classroom instruction, demonstrations on the various nursing units and tours of other community facilities.

The overall purpose of the program is to make it possible for the older individual to play a more active role in the community and also gain a broader understanding of their own health needs, and needs of others, and the resources, medical and social, that are available to them.

All interested applicants should contact Miss Beatrice Westbrook, R.N., Instructor, CR 4-3000, Extension 6037.

Mrs. Matteson Won For Her Canning

A very surprised winner of three blue ribbons at the 1967 Michigan State Fair is Mrs. Howard Matteson, of Bicking Court in Farmington.

She took first place for some luscious-looking jars of pickled beets, red raspberry jam and rhubarb jam.

"I've been entering canning for three years," Mrs. Matteson said, "but I never expected to win THREE firsts."

This winner is an all-around skilled homemaker who also loves to bake, sews a lot of high school dresses with her daughter Charlene, tries her hand at fancy needlework and manages a big backyard garden.

She's already beginning preparations for the 1968 State Fair. When photographed, she was elbow-deep in bushels of tomatoes and peaches to be canned.

The Mattesons also have two sons, aged 18 and nine.

Women on the GO!

By Margaret Miller

Mrs. Grace Richardson

If you need a word to characterize Grace Richardson of Farmington, the best one has to be individuality.

She's an individualist in the way she had developed a lovely section of her township's rolling country.

She's an individualist in her political theory and action--a Republican of long standing, she reserves the right to decide for herself what she considers best for her party and society.

And she has insisted on individuality in her political theory and action--a Republican of long standing, she reserves the right to decide for herself what she considers best for her party and society.

And she has insisted on individuality in her service projects--giving of her time and talent to the work she feels she can do best.

RIGHT NOW A good share of that time is going to final arrangements for Farmington's first Town Hall Series, beginning Oct. 26 with a talk by actor Walter Slezak.

The series is being sponsored by the Soroptimist Club of Farmington, and Mrs. Richardson, as last year's president, spearheaded the plan and still is in charge of the project.

She's delighted with the response to date. Her organization is turning over all profits to the building fund for a Farmington YMCA, and Grace Richardson would like nothing better than to make that contribution a sizable one.

THE VISTAS around the Heather Hills community of homes reflect the views of this energetic woman who has a great love of nature's growing things.

"I'm really a farm girl at heart, and my great love has always been horticulture," she said.

"So my aim in developing Heather Hills has been to retain the topography of the area."

Grace Richardson and her late husband moved to the Nine Mile-Drake Road area in 1942. They had their land farmed for several years, commuting from a midtown Detroit coal business to far-out Farmington.

"You know we loved the area when you consider that long drive twice every day," she said.

AFTER HER husband's death in 1955, Mrs. Richardson decided to develop her beloved area as a community of homes--but in her own way.

"The homes are of varying styles and sizes," she said. "But they have one thing in common--they fit the land where they are built."

She personally approves every detail of the building plans and especially the landscaping layouts. And she has personally supervised the planting of 3,000 flowering trees in Heather Hills.

"I do 500 or 600 a year--it's not too hard that way," she said. She also has kept part of the property--the section around a stream--in its natural state to make a horticulturist's haven close to home.

But she makes no attempt to dictate architectural style.

"I insist on good materials and clean lines," she said, "and beyond that it's up to the individual taste. I wouldn't want all the homes here the same style."

Mrs. Richardson served for years on the Oakland County Planning Commission for united community service, and is a trustee for the county Visiting Nurses Association and the Detroit Hearing and Speech Center.

SHE'S ALSO ONE of the original members of the Farmington Planning Commission, and in 1955 worked on the original zoning ordinances to draw up a master plan for Farmington.

She has been active in GOP women's groups and served on the state board of the Republican Women's Federation. Currently she is a member of the Farmington Hills Republican Women's Club.

Grace Richardson also has traveled extensively and had one of the first visas issued to Western persons to visit in Hungary. Of Hungarian descent, she wanted to look up relatives behind the Iron Curtain.

Welcome Wagon Club Plans Childbirth Film

The Welcome Wagon Club of Livonia will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria at Stevenson High School.

A business meeting will be followed by a special showing of the film "Naisance," put on by the Michigan Childbirth Without Pain Education Association.

Mrs. Flora Hommel, R.N., founder and director of the Detroit-area C.W.P.E.A., will also be present to give a talk along with the film, and will conduct a short question-and-answer session.

All members are urged to attend and guests will be welcome. Mothers with teen-aged daughters are invited to bring them along, also.

Mrs. James Botcher is program chairman.

Refreshments will be served following the program.

New residents of the Livonia area are invited to join the Welcome Wagon Club and meet new friends and perhaps join our various interest groups. Further information may be obtained by calling the membership chairman, Mrs. Lyman Kiel, at 421-3975.

Gwendolyn Diane Brooker and Lt. Garold M. Schei were united in marriage in a double-ring service Sept. 9 in Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church. Dr. Richard C. Dunkelberger officiated at the candlelight rites.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O.L. Brooker, of Cranston Avenue, Livonia, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Murle Schei, of Virginia Avenue, Livonia.

White peau de sole and alien-con lace fashioned the bride's gown, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis, roses and baby's breath. Dr. Brooker gave his daughter in marriage.

Bonny Diefenderfer, of Washington, was maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Pamela Schei, was junior bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's brother, Don, served as best man, and ushers were Robert D. Hagen, Thomas Miller, Ron Richmond, and Robert Hagen, nephew of the bride.

Dearborn Inn was the scene of the reception.

Merri-Bowl Lanes Five Mile Road at Merriman GA 7-2900

THIS IS THE new building being erected next to Stevenson High School in Livonia by the Grand River Avenue Baptist Church, forced out of its present location in Detroit by the coming Jeffries expressway.

Baptist Church Moves To Livonia

The Grand River Avenue Baptist Church—a part of the Detroit area church scene for nearly half a century—broke ground recently for a new building to be located on Six Mile Road adjacent to Stevenson High School, Livonia.

The church is leaving the unit at Littlefield and Grand River that it has occupied for 40 years because it is in the path of the planned Jeffries Expressway.

Moderator E. Frank Craver, of Livonia, said the new site was chosen because many of the church's 450 members now live in the suburbs in this area.

The new building, expected to cost a total of $650,000, has a scheduled completion date of July 1, 1968.

It will include a sanctuary to seat more than 450, a fellowship hall to seat 300, and an educational unit for a church school of 450 youngsters.

On hand for the ground breaking Sept. 24 were Livonia Mayor Harvey Moelke and Principal Jay Formosa of Stevenson High School as well as the Rev. Thomas C. Sleete, minister of the church, and officials and members.

Grand River Baptist had its beginning in 1919, when a Sun-

BISHOP JAMES PIKE

Sex Morality Films Planned By St. Martins

St. Martin's Episcopal church, as part of a community service program, will present "A Basis for Sex Morality" at 8 p.m. tonight and next Wednesday. This is a series of six films narrated by Canon Bryan Green.

The church is at 24699 Grand River between Seven Mile and Telegraph. These showings are for adults only and the general public is invited. There is no charge.

The presentation is part of the Third Annual Contrast Series at Oakland Community College. Bishop Pike recently withdrew his demand for a heresy trial after fellow Episcopal Bishops adopted a report upholding freedom of doctrinal inquiry at the triennial Episcopal convention in Seattle.

The accusation of heresy was based on Bishop Pike's questioning of traditional doctrines such as the biological virginity of Mary, mother of Jesus and the idea of the Trinity, that God is three persons, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, of one nature.

Formerly Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California, Bishop Pike resigned from that post to join the resident staff of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. His interest in the Center is in "presenting the faith in a way which is more relevant to modern man."

The Center, headed by Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, former Chancellor of the University of Chicago, is devoted to exploring the underlying social, political and philosophical issues confronting modern man.

By participating as an equal in a secular enterprise Bishop Pike has stated he can better fulfill his goals.

Seats for the lecture are $1 general admission and $1.25 reserved seats and checks may be mailed to Contrast Series, Oakland Community College, 2480 Opdyke Road, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan 48013.

Marian Medal Defined

The Marian Medal, long the most cherished award which a Catholic Girl Scout or Camp Fire Girl could earn here, is now open also to girls who are members of the Junior Daughters of Isabella and the Junior Catholic Daughters of America.

The award bestows recognition upon girls who have made outstanding progress in the programs of their youth groups and who have shown a parallel growth in the knowledge and practice of the Catholic religion.

GMI Alums Meet Oct. 5

The fourth annual meeting of the General Motors Institute Alumni Association will be held Thursday, Oct. 5, at the Engineering Society of Detroit starting at 6 p.m.

Dr. Harold Rodas, president of General Motors Institute, will tell of the progress on the new G.M.I. campus and will have slides. Accompanying Dr. Rodas at the speakers' table will be a group of top executives from the Detroit area—all G.M.I. graduates.

In order to work for the Marian Medal, a girl must be 12 years of age or in the seventh grade; attend a Catholic school or religious instruction class; be a registered member for at least one year in the Girl Scouts, the Camp Fire Girls, the Junior Catholic Daughters of America or the Junior Daughters of Isabella.

IN ADDITION to membership in good standing in these organizations, a candidate for the Marian Medal must complete the work in the Marian Medal Project Book under proper supervision. These are highly educational and inspirational exercises.

Experts in family life, sacred liturgy, sacred scripture, catechetics, religious education, library science and Mariology were consulted in planning the Project Book, which is attractively illustrated with two-color drawings. Each project is introduced by an appropriate text from Holy Scripture with references to related documents from the Second Vatican Council.

Complete information on the Marian Medal program for the archdiocese may be obtained from the CYO Scouting office, 305 Michigan Ave., Detroit 48226, Telephone 963-7172.

Presbyterians Make Decision In St. Paul's

The birthplace of the Detroit riot is to become the headquarters for a new program in human relations and Christian education.

The Presbytery of Detroit of the United Presbyterian Church, meeting at St. Paul's Church in Livonia, recently gave authority to St. Mark's Presbyterian Church, 9321 Twelfth Street, to purchase the Economy Printing Company building, 9125 Twelfth Street.

It was on the second floor of this structure, July 23, a "blind pig"—an after hours drinking place, was raided by police, touching off the worst rioting in the history of the country.

The Rev. James A. Cannon, the new pastor of St. Mark's Church, has advised that the building will be remodeled.

There will be activities of the congregation and a program for the community with a full-time director.

Declaring "it is the time, now, for the church to act boldly for solutions," the Presbytery of Detroit inaugurated special programs seeking reconciliation and justice. Admitting that "the church has lost contact with the oppressed" churchmen stated, "We must marshal all of our Christian concern and human resources for the mission before us."

A special advisor on the central city will be employed by the Presbyterians to enable the Presbytery to participate as fully as possible in efforts to alleviate the causes of human suffering and to reconstruct a "New Detroit."

Bishop Pike To Discuss Morality

Bishop James A. Pike will discuss "The New Morality" at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 10, at Groves High School, 20500 West 13 Mile Road, Birmingham.

The presentation is part of the Third Annual Contrast Series at Oakland Community College. Bishop Pike recently withdrew his demand for a heresy trial after fellow Episcopal Bishops adopted a report upholding freedom of doctrinal inquiry at the triennial Episcopal convention in Seattle.

The accusation of heresy was based on Bishop Pike's questioning of traditional doctrines such as the biological virginity of Mary, mother of Jesus and the idea of the Trinity, that God is three persons, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, of one nature.

Formerly Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California, Bishop Pike resigned from that post to join the resident staff of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. His interest in the Center is in "presenting the faith in a way which is more relevant to modern man."

Catholic Talks At St. Paul

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, in Livonia, is trying a new ecumenical venture in Catholic-Protestant understanding starting Oct. 8 and continuing four weeks. The Rev. Arthur E. Lovely, S.J., a member of the Theology Department of the University of Detroit, will be the guest preacher for both the 9 a.m. and for the 11 a.m. worship services Oct. 8, using as his sermon title, "Understanding That Can Lead To Love."

Between the two services he also will begin a half-hour lecture series that will continue for three more Sunday mornings from 10:15 to 10:45 in the church.

HIS TOPICS for the four Sunday lectures:

Oct. 8--"What Catholics Have Learned from Protestants"

Oct. 15--"New Catholic Viewpoints on the Bible"

Oct. 22--"Marriage and Celibacy in the Catholic Church"

Oct. 29--"New View of Marriage and Family Living"

Fr. Lovely is a native of Detroit and has taught in high schools in Chicago and Detroit. He began teaching theology at the University of Detroit in 1946 and was chairman of that department from 1952 to 1962.

of his community activities, and he has worked with the Catholic Interracial Council, the Detroit Round Table, the Detroit Coordinating Council on Human Relations, and the former Michigan Committee on Civil Rights. Through the Detroit Round Table, he has spoken to many Jewish and Protestant audiences, and is widely known as a leader in Catholic-Protestant dialogue.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church has had, during the past year, two Catholic-Protestant dialogue groups with neighboring Catholic parishes. They have been most productive in increasing mutual understanding, and the congregation anticipates the opportunity to hear about the changing face of the Roman Church. The general public is cordially invited.

Peace Mass Set Tonight

The Wayne Western Deacons will have an evening Mass for Peace tonight at 7:30 p.m. in St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, Livonia.

Similar masses are being sponsored simultaneously in 14 other deaneries throughout the Detroit Archdiocese. The date was selected as a memorial of Pope Paul's visit to the United Nations two years ago.

Faith Lutheran Dedicates New Unit

Faith Lutheran Church, Livonia, dedicated a new educational unit on Sunday, Sept. 17, taking another step in its extensive building program.

The educational unit, to be used for Faith Lutheran School and Sunday School, is one part of the program, which will also include a new church edifice to be dedicated Nov. 5.

Remodeling work is going forward on the present parish hall, kitchen and church offices.

Participants in the dedication service included the Rev. Ronald C. Starenko, pastor of Faith; the Rev. Fred W. Balke, assistant director of the Detroit Council of Lutheran Churches; and the Rev. Richard H. Feucht, parish education counselor of the English District, guest preacher.

The church choir, who participated under the leadership of Maria Schmittz, who is also serving the church as principal of Faith Lutheran School.

Guests of honor were Dr. Sam J. Roth, superintendent of Lutheran Schools of Michigan; Bernard J. Geyer, principal of St. John School, Dearborn, Ind.; and Benton Yates, superintendent of Livonia Public Schools. The day's activities also included a corn roast. From its very beginning, in February, 1953, Faith Church has been concerned about the Christian education of its youth.

On March 8, 1953, within a month of the founding, the first Sunday school session was held with 18 pupils and five teachers present. Faith Sunday School outgrew its facilities and the upper grades were moved to Riley Junior High School in 1962. As the new facilities were dedicated, the school had over 400 children enrolled and a staff of 55.

The church also is expanding Saturday school for 7th and 8th grade (pre-confirmation), 9th and 10th grade (post-confirmation) students, emphasizing that members are not suddenly "full-fledged Christians" at Confirmation but that continued study is necessary.

For high school juniors and seniors and for adults of all ages various courses on Christian doctrine and Christian living are offered on Sundays during the Sunday school hour.

Faith's facilities and day school grew together. The first church unit was actually two classrooms, and the day school for grades kindergarten through four opened in September, 1955, with 33 children and two teachers.

A third classroom was constructed at the same time the parish hall was built, and an additional grade was added each year.

At one time (1958-1959) the day school included the seventh grade, but the heavy enrollment at the lower elementary level necessitated the return to kindergarten through six.

Present enrollment is 115 children.

The educational wing contains five new classrooms, offices for the principal and school secretary, Sunday school office and storage, and teachers' workroom and lounge.

The growth of the congregation shows itself most graphically the presence of more than 200 youths of high school age. A new assistant pastor, the Rev. Roger H. Schleef, will specialize in a ministry to youth.

At present there are three divisions in our youth program: Junior Teens (7th and 8th grades); Senior Teens (9th and 10th grades); and Teen and Twenty (11th grade and up).

Responsibility for administering the total educational life of the congregation is on the Board of Education, with Curtis Druckery as chairman.

"IT WAS A BIG DAY in the annals of Faith Lutheran Church, Livonia, when the new educational unit was dedicated recently. On hand were, from left, Bernard J. Geyer, former principal of the Faith day school; the Rev. Fred Balke, also a former principal, now assistant director of the Detroit Council of Lutheran Churches; Curtis Druckrey, Faith board of education chairman; the Rev. Richard H. Feucht, parish education counselor of the English district and speaker for the occasion, and Pastor Ronald C. Starenko.

Lannie Carrier Is Married

Lannie Dale Carrier took Patricia Ann Caldwell as his bride in a recent candlelight ceremony in the First Baptist Church of Dundee, Fla.

He is the son of Mrs. Elmer Franklin Phillips, of Livonia, and the bride's parents are Mrs. and Mrs. Herman E. Caldwell, of Haines City, Fla.

The Rev. Howard Chenault performed the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white satin A-line gown with a lace border. A floor-length veil fell from a bow headpiece, and she carried white carnations with an orchid in the center.

Her attendants wore floor-length gowns of blue satin trimmed in white lace and their ballerina-length veils fell from blue bows. Their flowers were blue and white carnations.

Dinah Kay Murphy, of Alturas, Fla., was maid of honor, and Rhonda Faye Caldwell, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. A young cousin, Susan Mock, was flower girl.

Dallas Wayne Carrier, of Detroit, was best man for his brother, and the guests were seated by Ernest Caldwell, brother of the bride, and Mike Turner, of Winter Haven, Fla. Michael Daniels, of Winter Haven, was ring bearer.

The mother of the bride chose a green ensemble, and Mrs. Phillips' dress was beige and tangerine.

The reception was held in the Deer Lake Lodge, Haines City. The couple honeymooned in the Bahamas, and will make their home in Winter Haven.

Jewish New Year Greetings

By RABBI DAVID JESSEL

About one hundred years ago, a poor man implored the saintly Rabbi Nachman of Bratslav to give him a letter, requesting one of his more affluent congregants to present him with a sizeable donation, so that he might be able to marry off his daughter.

At this time of the year particularly, Judaism proclaims a message of hope. It teaches that man is the master of his destiny, that he possesses the ability to choose between good and evil, that he can make of the world and of life what he wishes.

So here we are in 1967, on the eve of Rosh Hashana, about to enter the new Jewish year, 5728. By every standard, ours should be the happiest of generations.

We have inherited the experience and knowledge of the ages. We wield unprecedented control over the forces of environment. By marvelous research in medicine, we have enormously lengthened the span of life. Our computers and other machines have eased from the backs of human beings the burdens of body and soul-crushing toil.

IN FACT, we have even, in theory at least, banished famine, since we know how to make the earth yield enough for the needs of all its inhabitants. Life and sustenance, comfort and leisure are ours in abundance never before possessed. Unfortunately, however, these blessings have not increased the sum total of our happiness.

Among the many things lacking, we find that our generation has need of faith and trust. First we must recover our faith in God (which so many of us seem to be lacking today), then our trust in man, and then come to have faith in ourselves. The reverse order, of course, is also possible.

The letter was given, and after a long journey on foot, the indigent father reached the home of the wealthy man. The latter read the letter from the Rabbi, and handed the man a single dollar.

THIS UNFORTUNATE person walked away sadly, his hopes shattered. An hour or so later, he was met by the wealthy man, who sat in a carriage filled with fine foods and wedding clothes. To the poor father's astonishment, he was informed that these had been prepared for his daughter's wedding.

"Since you intended from the first to comply with Rabbi Nachman's request," said the delighted man, "why did you cause me anxiety?"

"My reason," replied the rich man, "was to teach you not to put all your trust in any man, even if it be the great Rabbi Nachman, or in me as a philanthropist. You seem to have forgotten that first and foremost you must place your trust in Almighty God."

No doubt all of us at one time or another have received unexpected aid from God in time of great need. The person who trusts in God feels no fear—no fear of life or death, of old age or sickness, of the future or anything else. WE FIND that trust in God saves us from worries, tribulations and shame. It provides us with the patience needed to endure until the sunlight enters our life again. If we then trust in God, we will also trust in our fellow man. Seeing the good side of his nature, we will try to elicit it.

There are still good men and women in the world through whom, as in all times, God is fulfilling his purposes. These are people, who, in their own quiet way, are doing their part to reshape this world so that job at a gasoline station to help support himself and his wife until he obtained his degree.

Some customers, however, who preferred to purchase gasoline only from white men, objected. The owner was about to dismiss his young Negro assistant until Mrs. Rose, a neighbor, objected and asked: "How many customers will you lose if you stand by this fellow?" "About eighteen, maybe twenty," he replied.

"IF I GET you twenty customers; will you keep him?" Mrs. Rose continued.

"You bet I will," he said. Not only did this aroused woman bring in twenty new customers, but five more for good measure. Thus we see that she is one of an enlightened minority of people, who, trusting in themselves, know that they must first change themselves before they can change the world.

Good families are built on good individuals, good neighborhoods, good nations upon good communities, and lastly a good world is built upon good nations. Let us therefore concentrate upon the foundation on which all civilization is built—our separate lives. Aspiring for a happy world, let us examine ourselves. Where does our faith and our trust lie?

WITH AN optimistic outlook, let us face the future together. Of course, the struggle for good, for right, for happiness goes on endlessly. We must, however, not be the victims, but the masters of the struggle, with faith in God and trust in Man. Only then can we truly say "L'SHANA TOVA TIKA-TAYVU" — "May you be inscribed for a good year!"

Bible Leaders Meet

At a time when many believe young people are losing interest in the church and Christianity, more than 8,000 Bible school leaders, teachers, and teenagers will gather at Cobo Hall in Detroit next month to reaffirm the importance of Sunday School.

Scheduled for Oct. 5-7, the 22nd Annual Convention of the Michigan Sunday School Association will bring delegates from 500 midwestern and Canadian churches in 32 major denominations.

In addition to more than 145 workshops, the convention will feature Gospel singer George Beverly Shea, of the Billy Graham Team, and six other headline speakers, a Saturday night teen rally, over 100 exhibits and displays, and a variety of musical presentations. There is no admission charge for any of the sessions, according to Clate E. Raymond, executive director of the MSSA.

HIGHLIGHT of the Saturday night program for young people will be appearances by the former "Miss America," Vonda Kay Van Dyke, and by ex-baseball star Bobby Richardson. Richardson, who starred for the New York Yankees from 1955 to 1966, now represents the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Providing special music throughout the convention will be the popular Gospel singer, George Beverly Shea.

Governor George Romney will welcome the delegates at the opening assembly on Thursday night, which will also feature an address by Dr. Myron Augsburger, of Eastern Mennonite College.

Other principal speakers during the three-day convention will include the Rev. Mel Johnson, of Tips for Teens; Dr. Bob Smith, Bethel College, St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. Ethel Barrett, Gospel Light Publications, Glendale, Calif.; Dr. Ray Hughes, Church of God, Cleveland, Tenn., and Dr. Merrill F. Unger, well-known author in Christian education.

MUSIC for the convention will be provided by a 900-voice Children's Choir under the direction of Mrs. Joann Cleveland, of Ferndale; the Salvation Army Band, and the Jim Murk family of Wheaton, Illinois.

A 700-member Convention Choir will also present numbers. Music will be under the direction of Charles Ohman, who heads the state-wide MSSA music program.

Registration and housing information may be obtained by phoning BR 3-5300 or by writing the MSSA, P.O. Box 3568, Detroit, Mich., 48203.

Southfield Church To Show Film

"Anything Can Happen" is the title of the film that will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Southfield Community Church, 2122 Indian. Between Beech and Inkster, north of Eight Mile.

A 40-minute documentary on the church produced by the National Association of Evangelicals, the film points up areas in which the church needs to rethink its plan of approach to help people of the community through the people of the church.

The family service also will include congregational singing, special music and studies in the Scriptures. The film underscores the "Family Enlistment Campaign" which the church is having during the month of October in conjunction with many other churches of the Michigan Sunday School Association.

MARCIA WOOSTER

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wooster, of Traverse City, Mich., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcia Kathryn, to Donald John Stamy II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Stamy, of Ravenscroft Avenue, Farmington. A November wedding is planned.

LEADERS OF the various school organizations of St. Michael Church Livonia, gather around a church banner to demonstrate their support for SYNOD 1968. An archdiocesan-sponsored program, SYNOD 1968 offers parishioners in the greater Detroit area an unprecedented opportunity to actively participate in the future plans of the Church. Father Andrew Forish, Pastor of St. Michael, commends Sister Alfonsa who created the multicolored banner (both in background). Organization officers pictured are (left to right): Ann Costa, Mary Ann Chick, Sister Alfonsa, James Burke, Sue O'Bara, Paul Lyons, Amy Mueller, Dan Horgan, Dawn Passkiewicz, Bill Mueller, Father Forish, Susan Abbey, Gail Parzichowski, Mary Sue Connolly, Daryl Chimko, and Kathy Gresock.

Offer Home Course On Materials

You can't see or feel most of the special finishes that many fabrics have these days. But it's important to know about these finishes. Reading labels and handtags on yard goods or ready-to-wear is one way you can learn about them.

Another excellent way to learn about fabrics and finishes is to study a correspondence course from The Pennsylvania State University.

This seven-lesson course, "Fabrics-Selection, Sewing, and Care," is designed to help you understand the characteristics of fibers and fabrics made from them. Advantages, care, and limitations of special finishes are described in detail.

With a copy of this home study course at your fingertips, you'll have the information you need to correctly sew and care for today's fabrics.

To get a copy of the course, send your name and address with $2 to FABRIC, Box 5000, University Park, Pa., 16802. Make your check or money order payable to The Pennsylvania State University. The fee covers all costs and the material will be mailed promptly. You can study the lessons at your leisure, then file them for easy reference.

Get Money's Worth In Buying Cheese

Whether you plan to serve Cheddar cheese for snacks, in salads, or in casseroles, look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's grade shield as a guarantee of consistent and dependable quality.

The shield on the package means that the Cheddar cheese has been inspected and graded by an experienced and highly trained expert from the Department's Consumer and Marketing Service.

USDA grades for consumer-packaged Cheddar cheese are U.S. Grade AA and U.S. Grade A. Cheddar carrying the U.S. Grade AA mark is the highest quality. It has a fine, highly pleasing Cheddar flavor, a smooth compact texture, uniform color, and attractive appearance.

CHEDDAR CHEESE that is graded U.S. Grade A is also good quality—but not quite as high as A.A. The flavor is pleasing, but there may be a slight variation in flavor and texture between packages.

Although age is not the only factor affecting the ripening or curing of natural cheese, it is important and is usually associated with the degree of cure. Natural Cheddar comes in these three curing categories:

MILD—cheese that has been partly ripened or cured, usually mild or slightly developed Cheddar flavor and firm body.

MELLOW-AGED—cheese that has been moderately ripened, generally for 4 to 7 months.

Having a smooth, flexible body, it is fairly well developed.

SHARP—cheese that has been cured for 8 to 12 months. It has that full delicious Cheddar flavor and a smooth waxy body.

Since cheese will continue to cure after it is bought if kept in the warmest part of the refrigerator, take extra care in storing it. Keep it in the original wrapper until ready to use. After the package has been opened, re-wrap the cheese in foil, waxed paper, or plastic to prevent drying out.

If mold appears on the cheese, just scrape it off. The cheese under the surface is satisfactory.

To enjoy Cheddar's full distinctive flavor and texture, serve it at room temperature. Allow about 20 minutes to one hour to bring it to room temperature after removing the cheese from the refrigerator.

Small pieces of Cheddar (under 1 pound and less than 2 inches thick) can be satisfactorily frozen and kept for 6 months.

Washington Report 25,000 Answer Esch Questions

Although some 25,000 people responded to my recent questionnaire, relatively few people will ever take pen in hand to express their opinions on current issues. The questionnaire approach of sampling opinion is a good one, but more important are individual letters to one's representative in government.

Perhaps this reluctance to communicate is based on a feeling that letters will receive superficial treatment from this end. Actually, however, I take great care to read all my mail and personally sign the replies.

I can also state without hesitation that on several occasions I have been greatly influenced by a well-developed and factually persuasive letter.

UNDER PRESENT circumstances, letters from constituents are more important than ever before. With the myriad of issues facing this Congress, a letter from home that sheds some light on these complex issues is particularly welcome.

Although I have made some 23 trips back to the district, it's difficult to assess opinion in depth without living among ones constituents for a relatively long period of time each year—something that is now impossible because Congress is in session year round.

I don't want to create the impression that I'm not getting any mail in Washington. Actually, my office receives and handles several hundred letters a week. What I am saying is that a few more than 400,000 residents of the Second Congressional District communicate and that I could be of better service if more did.

Of the mail I now receive, one third could be classified as "issue mail," another third is part of a continuing dialogue with federal and local officials on government projects and programs; and the remainder is what we call "casework."

In this latter category we help citizens in their dealings with federal government services.

FOR EXAMPLE, in the last few weeks alone we have worked on cases which resulted in finding lost social security checks, clarifying draft status, preventing deportation of an alien finishing his studies in this country and getting officials of a foreign government to release a resident of the district whom they had seized.

I am not always successful with each case, but I will always do everything I possibly and properly can.

This type of service, plus an opportunity to express your views is always available from my office and I hope you will take advantage of it.

Evans Lands Big Order

These cars, to be built at Evans' Blue Island, Illinois plant, are for delivery during the fourth quarter. From NBD—Plymouth an important message for merchants who cash checks, and for people who write checks.

The message concerns the new NBD Check Guarantee Card. And its importance to you, whether you're the one who accepts personal checks or the one who writes them. The message comes from the card itself: the NBD Check Guarantee Card. When properly presented, it says: this check is good.

The following questions and answers have been taken from two booklets available free at NBD. These answers will begin to give you a better idea of what the NBD Check Guarantee Card is, and how it works. For complete details, pick up your booklet at any nearby office of the National Bank of Detroit: the second most important name on the checks you write.

For merchants who cash checks:

Q. What is the NBD Check Guarantee Card?

A. It is a card issued only to credit-worthy checking account customers of the National Bank of Detroit. Its purpose is to help them negotiate personal checks and to protect you from possible loss from such checks. When you accept NBD personal checks in amounts up to $100 in accordance with terms and conditions on the back of the Check Guarantee Card, you can be sure the checks will be honored by the Bank.

Q. What fee do I pay for this service?

A. None whatever. The NBD Check Guarantee Service is provided free to all established business firms.

Q. Do I, as a merchant, have to be a National Bank of Detroit customer to get this protection against worthless checks?

A. You can have this protection regardless of whether you are an NBD customer or not. By introducing this useful new service, of course, NBD hopes to attract new customers.

Q. What are the terms and conditions printed on the back of the Check Guarantee Card?

1. The amount of the check must not exceed $100.
2. This card must show no sign of alteration.
3. The check must be payable to your order.
4. The check must be signed in your presence.
5. The check must be dated the day it is received by you, and this date must be prior to the expiration date of this card.
6. The check must contain the genuine signature and imprinted account number of the Cardholder, and such signature and account number must be identical to the signature and imprinted account number on this card.
7. The expiration date of this card must be written by you above the Cardholder's signature on the face of the check.
8. The check must be endorsed by you and deposited by you with your bank within three business days from the date of the check.

For people who write checks:

Q. What does the NBD Check Guarantee Card do for me?

A. It helps identify you to merchants who cash your checks. Present it to any established business or firm whenever and wherever you want to cash a personal NBD Check. The firm cashing or accepting the check knows it is good.

Q. What are my obligations as a holder of the Check Guarantee Card?

A. When using your card for identification you agree to the following: the check you write must be in the amount of $100 or less. The check must be made out to the business or firm accepting it (not to "cash" unless you are cashing your check at an NBD office). You must sign the check in the presence of the person accepting it. And you must present your card to the person accepting your check.

Q. How can I get a Check Guarantee Card?

A. The NBD Check Guarantee Card is available to those people who qualify for Check-Mate Line of Credit or Executive Credit at the National Bank of Detroit. To find out if you qualify, ask at any NBD office.

Jackson Discusses 'Inner City' Issues

Plymouth and Northville area Democrats were told that "Inner City" problems are both simple and complicated in a speech Thursday night by First Congressional District Democratic Chairman, Murray Jackson, who is also Assistant to the Vice President for Student affairs at Wayne State University.

In his remarks, Jackson pointed out that the hopes and aspirations of the Negro and whites in the "Inner City" are not unlike those of people elsewhere. "Viet-Nam, housing, education and economic opportunity are topics of the same concern in all areas, but possibly in different order," he said. "What the 'Inner City' citizen wants and needs is opportunity and respect," said Jackson. "Above all we must have respect for one another. Even the kook whom we feel to be unrealistic may have an idea that would work and work better. If we don't listen to him and consider what he says, we will never know whether or not the idea had merit."

"Part of what occurred this summer in the cities happened because people in the ghettos generally feel that no one is listening. It might be well to ask ourselves what kind of society would permit the festering to develop to this degree. What haven't we done?"

"We talk, we don't produce and we don't listen. If we don't address ourselves to these problems through normal political means, the disillusionment will turn more and more people to the irresponsible leadership who would furnish slogans. It is possible to interpret the riot as someone calling for help."

Daringly new!

Chevrolet's new line of Super Sports for '68.

Computer-tuned suspension systems. Improved shock absorbers. New double-cushioned rubber body mounts. They all team up to bring you the smoothest, most silent Chevrolet ride ever. A fresh new idea in ventilation comes standard on every 1968 Camaro and Corvette. It's Astro Ventilation, a system that lets air in, but keeps noise and wind out. You'll appreciate all the proved safety features on the '68 Chevrolets, including the GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column and many new ones. More style. More performance. More all-around value. One look tells you these are for the man who loves driving. One demonstration drive shows why!

State Apples Tops

It's apple time all the time. Fresh apples know no season though they're in largest supply at fall harvest.

Recent developments in storage facilities make orchard fresh CA apples available the year round. What are CA apples? The label means they have been stored in "Controlled Atmosphere" to provide October-fresh apples in May.

Most McIntosh and Jonathan apples available after January are from CA storage. Some Delicious (Red and Golden) and Northern Spy are also stored this way.

AFTER PICKING, apples are immediately placed in a sealed airtight storage room that has controlled temperature (31-38 F.) and atmospheric conditions (high carbon dioxide and low oxygen content).

You may pay a little more for CA apples, due to added storage and handling costs.

Jonathan, McIntosh, Northern Spy and Delicious are the "big four" apple varieties in Michigan which ranks third per cent nationally in apple production.

Apples are at their best when they are firm, ripe and free from bruises. In storage they should be kept cool (below 40 degrees F. if possible). They can be kept up to three weeks in the refrigerator.

MANY APPLES are good for all purposes: cooking, baking, sauce, pies, fresh and eating. Others are for specific purposes.

Here are a few guidelines:

For applesauce, pies, and apple desserts—choose tart firm apples that cook quickly (Example: Northern spy, McIntosh or Jonathan).

For baking—choose apples that will hold their shape.

Here's a different recipe to try:

RAW APPLE CAKE

1 c. oil
4 eggs
1 c. cold coffee
3 c. sifted flour
1 t. cloves
5 c. raw apples sliced
2 t. cinnamon
1 t. nutmeg
2 t. soda
1/3 t. salt
1 c. raisins
1 c. walnuts

Cream oil and sugar. Add beaten eggs, mix. Sift dry ingredients, add alternately with the coffee. Add sliced apples, raisins and walnuts. Bake about one hour in 350 degree oven. This makes a large 13x9x2 pan cake.

Baking Soda Wash

Remove winter's marks from painted woodwork and furniture with quick washing. Use a solution of two tablespoons of baking soda in one gallon of water. Do not soak wood and dry thoroughly.

Questions & Answers

Can anything be done, either before or during the cooking of hard-cooked eggs, to make certain that the yolks will be centered?

There is no certain way to center the yolks in hard-cooked eggs, but this method will provide reasonable assurance. Simply turn the eggs gently but continuously during the first minute of cooking, and four or five times more during the remaining period.
