LONG REACH — Carol Karshneski, who is the "Miss Sweet Charity" of the 1967 Community Fund drive, stretches aloft to ignite the Kellogg Park torch which will burn through the campaign.

Federal Authorities To Inspect Projects

Plymouth civic and governmental leaders will go to bat again Friday in an effort to put some of their pet projects in good enough scoring position with federal authorities to permit the costs to be offset with an appropriation from Washington.

William P. Franze, special assistant to the regional administrator of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, is scheduled to arrive at City Hall at 10:30 a.m. in company with Second District Congressman Marvin Esch to begin a three-hour study of Plymouth's needs.

Waiting to meet with them and take the pair on a tour of Plymouth will be Mayor James Jabara, Mayor Pro Tem James McKee, City Manager Richard Blodgett, plus Harold Guenther, chairman of the P&A Theatre Project; Carl Pursell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Harold Fischer, director of the Area Planning Commission.

THE LOCAL DIGNITARIES will show the guests through the P&A Theatre, which has been proposed as a downtown cultural center, and then will pinpoint urban development needs in general.

Items to be stressed include the suggested recreational arena, which the Centennial Committee talks of as a permanent memorial to Plymouth's first 100 years; the Main Street railway crossing which is a frequent cause of traffic delays; and general rehabilitation of deteriorating sectors of the downtown business area.

The group will summarize findings during a private luncheon at the Roundtable Club.

FRANZE WILL REPORT directly to Francis Fisher, H.U.D. regional administrator whose headquarters are in Chicago.

Three weeks ago Franze sent an assistant, Al West, to Plymouth to conduct a preliminary survey on the question of whether the city would be qualified for federal redevelopment funds, and Fisher's on-the-scene comments were discouraging.

However, local authorities have not given up the fight, and, in fact, have been encouraged by Congressman Esch to pursue all avenues of possible federal aid before abandoning hope.

The principal question ap-

U.S. To Help City Obtain Park Land

A federal grant of $7,735, which the City of Plymouth will match for the purchase of 1.72 acres of land along Tonquish Creek, has been approved by the Department of the Interior in Washington, the office of U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart announced this week.

The property completes the proposed site for a combination million-dollar-plus senior citizens housing project and city recreational park which has been in the planning stage now for three years.

THE CITY owns two acres of the site, which fronts on Sheridan Avenue and is bordered on the back by Tonquish Creek.

According to City Administrative Assistant Steven L. Walters, the federal grant and matching city funds will purchase six lots backing the creek and adjacent to the present two-acre tract of land owned by the City. The 1.72 acres will be made into a pedestrian walkway along the creek as part of the park development. Application for the federal grant, made through the Michigan Department of Conservation's Recreation Resource Planning Division, was submitted on April 5.

PLANS FOR the proposed development program covering construction of the senior citizens housing project are being studied, in the meantime, by the Federal Housing Assistance Administration's regional offices in Chicago, according to Plymouth City Clerk Eugene S. Slider.

Upon approval, he explained, final go-ahead for the project would come from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in Washington, which would finance the building program in total.

However, he reported, an unexplained delay in action by the regional offices at Chicago has postponed hopes of breaking ground for the project this year during Plymouth's Centennial.

$98,586 Torch Fund Goal Faces Turbulent Economy

Faced with the greatest challenge in Plymouth's history of fund raising, the Plymouth Community Fund drive officially started Monday night with outward optimism of reaching the record goal of $98,586 but inward pessimism because of the labor troubles at strikebound Burroughs and Ford Motor plants in the community.

Big James Thomas, area manager for Consumers Power and general chairman of the campaign, warned those attending Monday's torchlighting ceremonies in Kellogg Park that it was going to be a tough battle this year.

District OK's Sale Of Bonds

The Plymouth Community School District Board of Education decided Monday night to sell the $8.5 million in new school bonds authorized by the electorate four months ago as one 25-year issue after weighing two other alternatives.

Alternate choices were to split the bonds into two issues of $6.5 million and $2 million, both for 25 years, or put the whole issue on a 29-year basis. It was deemed that the latter would be too costly in overall interest, while the split plan was feared to contain the possibility of the interest rate on the secondary issue going even higher than that which rules the bond market at present.

MELVIN BLUNK, assistant superintendent for business matters, was authorized by a unanimous vote to petition the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for approval to sell the bonds on the one issue, 25-year plan, and it is hoped to put them up for actual sale in January.

The Board needs to have at least $6 million of the amount in hand early next year when it expects to let the contracts for construction of High School No. 2. The rest will be used for succeeding payments of cost items pertaining to that facility.

Although current conditions in the national bond market are not favorable in the matter of interest charges, the Board feared the situation could well get worse before it gets better and decided to act without further delay.

ON A SECOND financial front, the Board authorized preparation of a resolution to be directed to the State Legislature asking that additional money be appropriated to reimburse the district for costs of driver education, remedial reading, transportation and special education programs in accordance with established formulas.

In 1966-67, the state paid the school system $25.50 per pupil for driver training even though state law said the reimbursement would total $30 per individual.

Plymouth thus received $12,-

"But I feel we'll go over the top when the victory dinner is held on Nov. 15," he said, "The Plymouth Community is known for success, not failure, and the challenges this year will only serve as additional impetus for all workers."

THOMAS ANNOUNCED receipt of $14,898 from the Advance Gifts committee with the hope that more will be received by the time of the initial report meeting on Thursday, Oct. 19 in the executive dining room at Burroughs.

"The initial report of the Advance Gifts committee gives us an excellent start for this year's drive," said Thomas. "I'm sure the workers on all other teams will start working immediately towards the 1967 goal."

The PCF drive a year ago wound up with a total of $101,882 in contributions, well above the quota of $88,543.

The torchlighting ceremonies started with a dinner meeting at which members of the PCF Board and team captains met in the Mayflower Room of the Mayflower Hotel as guests of the National Bank of Detroit.

The short program included introductions by Chairman Thomas and short talks from Mayor James Jabara and Plymouth Township Supervisor John McEwen.

THEY ALL MOVED over to adjoining Kellogg Park for the official torchlighting by Carol Karshneski, a Burroughs employee who has been selected as "Miss Sweet Charity" this year.

The Plymouth High band enlivened the occasion with several numbers prior to the start of the program.

The ceremonies were short and to the point in view of the chilling weather. Thomas told the audience of the aims and goals of the '67 drive. Mayor Jabara promised the support of the City Commission and administration and Supervisor McEwen indicated the Township would do everything possible to make the campaign a success, just as it has in the past.

Then "Miss Sweet Charity" climbed a ladder, took a gas-lighted torch and officially ignited the PCF campaign torch. It will burn from now through the end of the drive on Nov. 15. Workers started their calls Tuesday as Plymouth's biggest challenge in years got underway.

The big question is just how much effect the strikes at the Ford and Burroughs plant will have on the campaign.

A ROYAL SMILE — Peggy Clyde, 17-year-old Plymouth High School senior who reigned as 1967 Homecoming Queen, beams as she was introduced to her loyal subjects at the Plymouth-Allen Park football game Friday night. Peggy is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ensign Clyde.

Peggy Clyde Crowned '67 Homecoming Queen

It will be a long time before Peggy Clyde, captain of the Plymouth High varsity cheerleading squad, forgets the 1967 homecoming celebration-- and for good reason. A tearful yet cheerful Peggy was crowned homecoming queen before one of the largest crowds to attend a PHS football game in recent years.

The final result was disheartening with Allen Park going home with a 20-14 victory--but for Peggy, there won't be a bigger moment for a long time than when she was announced 1967 homecoming queen as a result of a school wide election earlier in the day. Only the four seniors were eligible for the final vote.

THE HOMECOMING activities opened with the traditional parade through the downtown business section, headed by the school's marching band and including floats from each of the three classes.

Then followed the bonfire at the north end of the athletic field where General Chairman Sue Camp and her workers had a huge fire going in a matter of minutes.

The band took over for the pre-game program, under the direction of Conductor James Griffith, and then staged a spectacular halftime show.

It was during the halftime intermission that Peggy and her senior rivals were introduced in the ceremony so familiar to Plymouth football fans. Each of the four seniors received a tremendous ovation from the audience and then the roads grew when Peggy was announced as the vote winner.

THERE WAS a tearful time for a few moments as Peggy followed the pattern of all homecoming queens in the past six years with a bit of sobbing and then a bright, big smile as the crown was placed on her head.

There wasn't any question about her happiness in the next moments when she moved to the center of the field for the traditional homecoming dance with the band drum major--in this instance Dennis McVittie, who also was enjoying every minute of the spotlight.

It was the kind of homecoming that had grown through the years at Plymouth. The only dark spot in an otherwise bright program was the failure of the football team. It just couldn't come up with the much desired victory.

Peggy's court, which had seats of honor along the sidelines and then received additional honors at Saturday's homecoming dance in the school gym, included: seniors Julie Hegerich, Judi Utter and Candy Noy along with Junior Connie Gray and sophomore Caryll Davis.

anticipating victory, set a style trend for the coaching industry by appearing in a purple velvet hat and mink stole, with gloves and purse adding a further touch of class. The anguish suffered by the defeated seniors is well portrayed by the view of Alice Perry (72), chewing her thumb on the bench in no less pain than Alex Karras might display during a loss by the Detroit Lions.

College Board Votes Remain Independent

Trustees of Schoolcraft College have reaffirmed their intent to continue operating the institution "as an independent community college," in the face of a proposed state plan calling for a county-wide community college in Wayne County. The board last week, unanimously passed a motion stating its position in response to a request from the State Board of Public Community and Junior Colleges.

A tentative plan developed by the state board calls for establishment of 30 community college districts in Michigan. The plan proposes that District 30 be comprised of Wayne County.

THE PLAN PROPOSES that in addition to the three independent community college districts (Schoolcraft, Henry Ford, and Highland Park) now in existence, sites for the rest of the county should be determined so there are services within equal distances of most of the residents.

The plan provides an option for the three existing districts: to continue to operate independently, or to become part of a Wayne County Community College District.

It was on this point that Dr. John W. Porter, executive secretary of the State Board, asked Schoolcraft trustees for an official reaction.

THE SCHOOLCRAFT BOARD has consistently held the position that it intends to retain its autonomy as an independent college district in Wayne County.

In other business, the board of trustees approved the lease-

Roger Blood Hit By Stroke

The many friends of Roger Blood, a former Plymouth resident, were saddened to learn that he suffered a massive stroke on Aug. 11 at Camp Hayo-Went-Ha, where he was serving as camp director. After a three-week stay at Traverse City Hospital, he has returned to camp for a lengthy period of convalescence.

While in Plymouth, he was actively involved in the organization of the local YMCA and served in many capacities at The First Methodist Church. Michigan's new income tax went into effect on Oct. 1 and preliminary reports indicate that although no one is enthusiastic about having to pay another tax, the collection machinery set in motion to handle the new tax is proceeding as smoothly as could be expected.

The Michigan Department of Revenue obtained from the federal Internal Revenue Service a list of approximately 220,000 names and addresses of Michigan employers who were withholding and reporting federal income taxes withheld from their employees.

AN EMPLOYER'S tax guide with instructions and withholding tables were mailed to each such employer early in September. The Michigan income tax statute provides that every employer who is required to withhold for federal purposes is also required to withhold and report for state income taxes.

The department reports that it is receiving a few calls from employers claiming that no instructions and withholding tables had been received. Failure to receive such material does not relieve the employer of his responsibility to withhold and pay the amounts withheld to the state.

THEREFORE the department urges any employer who has not received these instructions and tables to communicate with the Michigan Department of Revenue, 200 Tussing Bldg., Lansing, immediately and such material will be forwarded by return mail.

Withholding is required on all salaries and wages paid on and after October 1, 1967.

Stadium Given Flag

LANSING -- A large new Michigan State flag has been presented to Tiger Stadium by Secretary of State James M. Hare, chairman of the state flag committee of Michigan Week.

The new six by 10 foot banner will fly on a flagpole outside the Stadium.

Hare said he was hopeful that persons who view the state banner would be stimulated into purchasing and flying a state flag. The Michigan flag dates back to 1837, and this year marks the 130th anniversary of the birth of this important state symbol, Hare noted.

Suburbs Watch Livonia Mall Bus Battle

Officials from cities throughout the state today will keep close tabs on Livonia's fight in Lansing Thursday and on Oct. 16 when that city goes before the Michigan Public Service Commission for a state permit to provide bus service on Seven Mile Rd. to the Livonia Mall.

The Commission's decision, if it were to be against Livonia, could halt DSR service not only to Livonia but to Plymouth, Farmington, Garden City, Redford Township, and Westland. It hinges on the legality of the DSR servicing any city where it must pass through another community to provide such service.

Commission Chairman Peter B. Spivak termed the issue one of the bitterest to ever come before that state body.

"Everybody is angry at each other," he said. "It's a matter of proof whether the Northville Coach Lines can serve the area."

Crosstown (Warren) and the Second (Six-Mile) lines to Middlebelt and granting transfers to the new line from the mall on Middlebelt to Metropolitan Airport.

"I'LL TAKE THOSE 7,000 people to Lansing if necessary one at a time to fight this case," Zechman said. "We're inconveniencing people by denying them ready access to Livonia."

"The Livonia City Council two weeks ago passed a resolution favoring our position, for example." The DSR contends that the Northville company cannot serve the mall on Seven Mile, that the line recently pulled its mall buses off the route for a charter contract.

Witnesses rounded up by Zechman for the hearings include Police Chief James J. Jordan, Industrial Coordinator Dan Andrew, Planner Robert Menzies, Chief Assistant City Attorney Harry Tatigian.

Others include Robert Poris, general manager of the mall,

Chick Sheer, operating superintendent of Sears; Charles Webber, manager of Crowley's at The Livonia Mall, and Oscar Kahn, president of the Mall Merchants' Association.

The DSR started service over an extended Grand River line Aug. 16, 1964, the day the Livonia Mall opened for business. It now has 46 coaches making round trips daily with 50-passenger buses.

Northville Coach Lines, operating on the same stretch of Seven Mile and the Michigan Motor Coach Operators' Association, went to court seeking an injunction barring the DSR as an unregulated line.

THE DSR, which had operated for 42 years unregulated as a publicly-owned municipal utility, had been operating 10 miles beyond Detroit's borders under the 1933 state law.

In 1938 a referendum placing the DSR under state regulation was rejected by the people by a vote of 2 to 1. Since that time the DSR believed any such legal test would be meaningless.

The Michigan Supreme Court, in a four-way split decision, on Aug. 18, sided with the private firms. A loophole developed when Justice Harry F. Kelly's ruling held that the question was a matter of fact and not of law.

Zechman said if the DSR is forced under the PSC, it will cost the system an extra $50,000 a year and bring about an increase in fares on the line.

Wonderland Tells Of Shows, Prizes

The curtain is rising on an elaborate merchandising event signaling the eighth anniversary of Wonderland Center.

The shopping center, largest in western Wayne County, formally opened Oct. 16, 1959.

The celebration opens with performances by Peter Palmer and his orchestra. One of the nation's leading recording artists, Palmer and his 16-member band will present 45-minute shows at 6:45 and 9 p.m.

A Tahitian revue, featuring the "Pearls of the Pacific" will be presented Friday. The group performs authentic South Sea island dances. The shows, each 45 minutes long, start at 6:45 and 9 p.m.

STARS HANK Aguirre and Mickey Stanley, of the near-champion Detroit Tigers, will be at the center Saturday from 7 to 8 p.m. to re-cap the hectic 1967 pennant race and sign autographs.

Additional entertainment will be offered Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m. by "Rocky and His Friends," promising young musical combo.

Topping a list of eight other anniversary prizes is a 1968, 18-inch (diagonal) color television. Free entry blanks can be obtained at a Good House-keeping color television exhibit on the mall or at most Wonderland stores.

OTHER PRIZES include wardrobes for men, women and children, portable television sets, radios and bicycles. Winners will be picked at a drawing to be held October 21, at Wonderland.

Many of the auto industry's 1968 models will be displayed on Wonderland's picturesque malls during the 10-day event.

Eight-year olds whose birthday fall on Oct. 19, 20 or 21 will receive a free miniature birthday cake. The cakes will be given away at noon Saturday at the Wonderland prize booth to all children with proof of birth date.

Parks Program Starts

The Garden City Parks and Recreation Department launched its fall program last week on a successful note, according to Supt. Ray Wiacek.

Activities are held in after school programs, swimming, tap and ballet, chess, model airplane club and with senior citizens.

Though the season is under-way, registrations are still being accepted at the Recreation Office (GA 2-7060), for any persons interested in adult ballroom dance instruction, square dance instruction, adult gym classes, and women's volleyball.

IN THE SAME straw ballot, the students preferred Senator Robert Griffin in his contest with former Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Griffin won.

Last week during a Student Senate election, a political straw vote showed student preference for New York Senator Robert Kennedy, among a list of Democrats and Gov. Romney among a list of Republicans.

The choices repeated a preference indicated by the students a year ago. But,

LIVONIA MALL and other officials have sided with the DSR which, barred at least temporarily from using the Seven Mile Route, has put together a complicated alternate series of runs.

The DSR claims it has been authorized since 1933 to go outside the Detroit City limits to serve such areas. The Michigan Motor Bus Association and the Northville Lines have blocked the route in court.

DSR General Counsel Manual Zechman said the legal position, if allowed to stand as precedent, also threatens the routes carrying Detroit passengers to Northland, Eastland and Westland shopping centers.

"We're getting pushed around by the commission in Lansing," Zechman said. "The motor bus people have a good lobbyist up there and we don't have anybody."

"Right now we've got petitions signed by more than 7,000 riders asking that we get a permit to operate on Seven Mile. Under the law the commission can grant us a permit without a hearing, but the commission is ignoring the law."

Previously, the DSR ran its lines on Seven Mile west from Inkster to the mall. Blocked by court action, the DSR devised a route extending the Grand River line to Eight Mile, west to Middle Belt to the mall.

The Northville line obtained an injunction blocking this route.

Now, Zechman said, the DSR is using the Schoolcraft line, the Fire Rules Are Issued

The "first rule of safety" in case of a house fire was stressed by the Westland Fire Department as it observes National Fire Prevention Week this week.

The first rule of safety, the department said, is escape—get everyone out of the house at the first sign of fire.

"HERE ARE pointers to help you plan:

"1—Carefully figure out at least two ways to the outside from every room in the house, especially bedrooms. Allow for the blocking of stairways and halls by fire.

"2—Remember that closed bedroom doors will hold back flames and smoke, particularly during night fires, allowing extra time for escape.

"3—Use any available porch and garage roof for an upper floor escape or trees as a way down to safety. Be sure exit windows work easily and that they are low enough and large enough to get through.

"4—Pick an outside point where the family will meet after they get out of the house and be sure everyone understands the rule "once out—stay out."

"5—Know how to call the fire department. You may have to do this from a neighbor's home and do this as quickly as the house is clear of people."

The Westland Fire Department number is PA-1-6000.

Appointments of two new staff members in the Observer Newspaper group were announced this week by Publisher Philip H. Power.

Named new women's editor of the Plymouth Mail & Observer is Glenna Merillat, who succeeds resigning editor Mrs. Margaret Murawski.

Mrs. Walli Z. Schneider, formerly a staff writer of the Seattle, Wash., Times, has been assigned as special feature writer and general news reporter on the editorial team of the Livonia Observer.

MISS MERILLAT, lifelong Plymouth resident and former service representative of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., prior to joining the Mail & Observer's advertising department in May, 1966, in addition to her duties as women's editor, will write a weekly social column under the heading, "Tell It To Glenny".

She is also editorial page cartoonist, a position she has filled for several months with the Observer Newspapers. She will continue that work.

MRS. SCHNEIDER, holder of several scholastic and professional honors and awards, began her newspaper career in 1961 upon graduation from Seattle terminal cancer which won her University, and was a reporter for the Seattle Times for six years and until her appointment to the staff of the Livonia Observer.

A versatile writer of the human spectrum, Mrs. Schneider has written a deeply moving story on Jesuit priests with

Are Schoolcraft College students an accurate weather-vane in Michigan politics? On the national scene?

Could be. Last year, students picked Gov. Romney by a big majority over his Democratic opponent, Zoltan Ferency in a straw vote taken a month before the Michigan gubernatorial election. Romney won re-election handily.

IN THE SAME straw ballot, the students preferred Senator Robert Griffin in his contest with former Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Griffin won.

Last week during a Student Senate election, a political straw vote showed student preference for New York Senator Robert Kennedy, among a list of Democrats and Gov. Romney among a list of Republicans.

The choices repeated a preference indicated by the students a year ago. But, significantly, Kennedy's popularity over President Johnson among the Democrats increased this year to better than 3.5 to 1, from less than 3-to-1 a year ago, while Romney's popularity slipped, as two conservative Republicans, Richard Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagan made a strong showing.

AMONG THREE DEMOCRATS on the straw ballot, Schoolcraft students gave Kennedy 176 votes, to 49 for President Johnson, and 26 for former Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

Among Republicans, with students voting on both sides of the preferential ballot: Romney polled 97, Reagan and Nixon, 45 each, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, 37, and Illinois Sen. Charles Percy, 29.

A year ago Romney swamped his GOP "opponents" with 155 votes against 32 each for Nixon and former Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

STUDENTS AGAIN remained "hawks" on a question on the Viet Nam War.

The poll showed, on the "hawk" side: 124 favoring escalation, and 65 favoring maintenance of the present U.S. policy, on the "dove" side, 63 favoring complete withdrawal from the war, and 20 in favor of deescalation.

On matters closer to home, the students approved miniskirts as proper attire on campus by a 216 to 58 margin, and expressed disfavor with a proposed tuition increase this winter by a 169-109 vote.

On still another issue, the students approved the jailing of Teamster Union leader Jimmy Hoffa by a 217 to 49 vote.

The straw vote, as well as the Student Senate election, was conducted on a regulation voting machine provided, without charge, to the Senate by the City of Garden City.

Public Hearing Held On Zoning Ordinance

A public hearing Monday night on Plymouth's proposed new zoning ordinance attracted some 50 citizens to the City Hall commission chambers, and the questions they raised were mainly of individual concern as to how any revamping of the present law will affect their own homes or businesses.

As Mayor James M. Jabara commented afterward: "They had specific questions for which they wanted specific answers and I feel they left satisfied that the City Commission is concerned with the best interests of all the people in evaluating the comments and suggestions presented by citizens at the hearing."

QUESTIONS AND proposals raised by homeowners and business people will be the subject of discussion and study by the City Commission during the next four to six weeks.

According to the mayor, queries and specific subjects raised by citizens at Monday night's meeting will be answered at a public discussion meeting to be called in the next 30 to 45 days.

The second reading of the proposed new ordinance, and even the third and final reading as required by charter, could possibly immediately follow such a discussion meeting, the mayor observed, depending upon the progress made by the commission in the meantime in evaluating various suggested changes. But such quick action is doubtful, he said.

The first reading of the proposed new zoning ordinance was held in early September when, as required by law, the entire 70-page ordinance was read in total over a four-hour period.

CITIZENS AT THE Monday hearing, however, were more interested in their concern with the proposed zoning map changes and its direct effect upon their own property than in the text of the ordinance, itself.

Friday 13th Game Fans Are Lucky

Scotting at the Friday the 13th superstition, the Plymouth High marching band, under the direction of Conductor James Griffith, will present a "first" at Friday's game. The Rocks will seek their second victory of the year against a rough, tough, husky Belleville machine.

On the gridiron, the Rocks' marching band will join with Belleville in an unusual combined halftime show. It marks the first time Plymouth's musicians have joined with another school in staging a joint program.

Theme of the pageant will be "This Is My Country" with appropriate formations and musical selections saluting five geographic sections of the United States. Tunes will range from Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture to Irving Berlin's "Heat Wave".

The combined bands, totaling 190 musicians, will be under the direction of Griffith and Director Edward Downing of Belleville.

Two combined rehearsals are scheduled during the week. The first is slated for Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. on the PHS field and the second on Friday afternoon from 2 to 4 on the same site.

Plymouth's bandmen will host the visiting musicians in their homes for dinner Friday. Both bands will have separate pre-game programs starting at 7:45 p.m.

City Crews Start Leaf Collections

Kenneth Vogras, superintendent of the Plymouth Public Works Department, announced this week that the city's annual leaf pickup program will start immediately.

As rain and cold weather have combined to bring about autumn's first great fall of leaves, the city has readied its plans to put DPW crews to work on the 32 miles of Plymouth streets.

"All leaves should be placed between the curb and the sidewalk," Vogras advised householders. "They will be picked up from this location."

No established schedule will be followed by the DPW truck crews, he stated, and collections often will depend upon weather conditions. Streets will be traveled several times during the fall, Vogras said, to rid the city entirely of leaves.

He also warned against the traffic hazard caused by raking leaves into the streets, insisting they be piled back off the curb.

Burning where there is pavement, or asphalt paving, is forbidden.

City Officials Present at Public Hearing

CITY OFFICIALS present at the public hearing, in addition to the mayor, were Commissioners George A. Hudson, James B. McKeon, Peter Schweitzer, and Robert L. Smith, plus Police Chief Robert Corrington, City Attorney Charles Lowe, and City Clerk Eugene S. Slider.

Commissioners James C. Houk and A. E. Vallier had been excused previously because of conflicting appointments out of town. City Manager Richard D. Blodgett is in New Orleans, La., attending the annual conference of city managers.

061.50 for 473 driving trainees, and cannot collect the remaining $2,128.50 to which the Board thinks it is entitled unless there is a supplementary legislative appropriation.

THESE OTHER major matters came before the Board:

1. A request by representatives of the Plymouth High School yearbook for permission to sell advertising space within the book was approved, subject to review after one year's trial.

2. Appointment of Mary E. Rogers as an English teacher in Junior High-East, and of Joan Musch as a part-time kindergarten instructor at Allen School, were both approved.

Rescue Unit Sets Record

Calls for help from the Plymouth Fire Department's emergency squad unit, which is equipped to answer every type of crisis from heart attacks to kids locked in bathrooms, have increased markedly in the comparable periods of the last three years.

According to Fire Chief George Schoenneman, the squad unit logged 194 emergency runs (other than fires) in the first nine months of this year, compared to 130 in a similar period last year, and 108 through September of 1965.

Equipped with resuscitators, inhalators, and a broad variety of other emergency tools, the unit is a public service for heart attack and other seizure victims, accidents, and gas and smoke complaints which may be of emergency nature.

The squad has answered some unique calls but, according to the chief, a report of a sewer on fire at first promised to be its most unusual one. When the squad arrived on the scene, sure enough the smoke was pouring out of a storm sewer drain and for a while it seemed like not only an impossible situation but an insoluble one.

Then the squad crew traced the sewer to where it emptied into a creek and found a bonfire built by boys. A shift in the wind had sent the smoke backing up into the sewer.

Citizens may call the emergency squad at GL 3-1313.

School Aid Is Allowed

The Plymouth Community School District was advised this week that it will be awarded federal assistance of $57,875.84 under Title III of the National Defense Education Act for the purchase of classroom equipment.

The major category approved was the $34,000 for industrial arts equipment to be used in Junior High School No. 3, now under construction and due to open next September.

Science, history, geography, reading and English equipment also were approved in separate amounts ranging from $200 to $9,000. Materials purchased under the grant will be used throughout the school system.

Monthly Arrest Total : 24,823

Michigan State Police officers made 24,823 arrests in August, 22,912 for traffic offenses and 1,911 on criminal complaints, according to the department's monthly activity report. In addition, 911 juvenile traffic offenders were arrested and 644 delinquent and one wayward minor apprehended. Troopers assisted 6,144 motorists, investigated 8,919 cars, issued 31,076 oral warnings to drivers, and made 13,675 property and 2,370 liquor inspections. Department vehicles traveled 1,842,693 miles, 994,542 on traffic patrol and 848,151 to investigate criminal and other complaints.

THE IDENTIFICATION section received 20,143 sets of fingerprints, of which 12,105 were criminal and 8,038 non-criminal. Six wanted persons were identified.

Of 3,091 applicants for permits to carry concealed weapons, 148 were identified with criminal records through their fingerprints. Six unknown dead were identified by the same means.

The crime laboratory conducted 1,402 examinations, 698 on questioned documents, 349 on firearms, 101 on explosives, 100 botanical, 59 on glass, 55 on tool markings, and 80 miscellaneous.

Laboratory assistances numbered 107 for municipal police, 62 for State Police, 28 for sheriffs and 16 for other departments.

THE FRAUDULENT check unit processed 305 bogus checks, identifying 158 of them by name or with previous specimens. Total face value of the checks was $30,116.32, an average of $98.74.

The fire marshal division reported investigations of eight explosions, 67 incendiary fires, 28 cases of violation of fire laws and regulations and 77 other fire cases. Supplemental investigations totaled 251.

Field inspections included 103 schools, nine hospitals, 40 nursing homes, three state properties, three flammable liquid and seven liquefied petroleum gas bulk installations, 32 theatres, and three miscellaneous. Supplemental inspections and reinspections numbered 287.

Eighteen nursing homes and 79 hospitals were certified to the state health department for licensing.

Final building plans processed included 114 schools, eight hospitals, 10 nursing homes, and eight state properties. Fifteen automatic sprinkler plans were processed.

Livonia Schools Hike Pay Of Administrative Heads

Salaries for administrative personnel in the Livonia school system have been upgraded, to bring them in line with responsibilities.

Budget for Supt. Benton Yates and his administrative and supervisory office staff is about $220,000 for the 12-month year. Raises totaled about $30,000, or about 12 per cent. They ranged from $500 to $3,000 but not all the gaps in comparative tables were filled, Supt. Yates said.

As head of the system, the third largest in Michigan, Supt. Yates was given a $2,000 raise by the Board of Education, but his $27,000 annual salary is still below what some smaller systems pay their superintendents.

THE BOARD also gave maximum raises in their classification to Assistant Superintendents R.H. Upton and Paul E. Johnson increasing their salaries $2,500 each to $22,500. Upton is in charge of business administration, Johnson on the assistant for instruction.

There was a $500 raise for Cecil H. Alford, assistant for plant planning and sites, giving him $15,500. Norman L. Whisler, being elevated to assistant superintendent for personnel, was increased $3,000 to $19,500.

James Terrill, the board treasurer and comptroller, was raised $2,500 to $17,000.

In the instruction division, the directors of elementary and secondary education were raised $2,500 each to $20,500, and the director of pupil personnel services was raised to $19,000, a $1,500 increase.

The director of purchasing will receive $13,500, a $1,000 raise, and an Upton administrative assistant climbs to $17,000, up $2,500.

An assistant personnel director, under Whisler, gets a $2,500 raise to $16,950. The coordinator of research, a post now vacant, will pay below $20,000.

ALSO INCREASED were the salaries of four other administrative assistants. The director of school-community relations will get $15,250, up $500; director of data processing $17,000, up $2,000; the engineer for new construction will be paid $15,000, a $1,000 raise, and the lunch program director's pay was set at $12,750, up $1,500.

Some of the adjustments, Yates said, were made to cover a two year lag, since they are based on principal's salary raises, which last year were held to a flat $1,500.

Yates said that while top salaries in the Livonia system are below average, the principals and others are comparable to the best paid in other districts.

The board recently granted the 1,563 teachers in the district raises that, coupled with improvements in a carry-over contract, gave some teachers increases of better than $1,200 for a 39-week school year. That raise cost an additional $670,000 in a budget that is more than 80 per cent salaries or benefits. The budget for this year is $21,697,133.

PRINCIPALS and system-wide service coordinators were given substantial increases in the across-the-board adjustments.

High school principals (12 months) are being paid between $16,500 and $19,435; junior high (11 months) $14,000 to $18,300; elementary $12,500 to maximum of $17,795. Coordinators (11 months) $15,000 to $18,000.

Assistant principals and special area coordinators adjustments included: High school (11 months) $12,425 to $16,955; junior high (11 months) $12,000 to $15,175; elementary, minimum $11,500 to $13,860 maximum; coordinators--elementary art and other subjects, audio visual, instructional materials processing, etc.--(majority 10 months) $14,000 to $16,000; (11 months) $15,000 to $17,600. Administrative assistants--special assistants to the superintendent or assistant superintendent--from $12,500 to $17,300. These employees work 12 months.

THE HIGH SCHOOL principals range moved up $2,700 from last year's minimum and $1,435 from the maximum. The junior high principal minimum rose from $11,330 to $14,000 and the maximum of $15,970 to $18,300--raises of $2,770 and $2,330. Elementary principals, with last year's range from $10,120 to $15,515, rose to $12,500 and $17,795, adjustments of $2,380 and $2,280.

Assistant principals found their ranges upped about $2,000. Elementary heads saw minimums raised $1,140, maximums $1,580.

The board has contended in adjusting salaries for all school personnel that it wished to be in a good position to obtain the best teachers and administrators. It trimmed the budget set up to educate the community's 34,250 pupils to find more money for personnel, after adding an additional $500,000 from tax millage.

The negotiations for next year's contract with the teachers will open within six months, with the board already wondering where money for raises is to come from, if not from Lansing.

DRC To Award Shopping Spree

For the fourth consecutive year, Livonia's Detroit Race Course will award a $1,000 shopping spree at Wonderland Center.

As a salute to the eight-year-old shopping center, the popular race track is taking an active part in Wonderland's anniversary celebration.

Free passes to DRC will be available at the center's prize booth, near Winkelman's. Each pass includes an entry blank for a prize-drawing to be held Oct. 23 at the track.

The person whose entry is selected will be awarded a certificate worth $1,000 in merchandise at designated Wonderland stores.

Last year's winners were Mr. and Mrs. John Hebl of Dearborn.

Firemen Hold Open House Here

Plymouth's firemen are marking National Fire Prevention Week through Saturday with open house daily from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. at Station No. 1, 201 S. Main, at the rear of the Plymouth City Hall.

The public plus school, civic, and other local groups and organizations are invited to make guided tours of the facilities of the department, including displays of fire and rescue equipment and exhibits of fire hazards in the ordinary home.

Citizens may also have their own home inspected for hazards during the week by telephoning their request to 453-1234 and speaking directly with Fire Chief George Schoeneman.

Plymouth Township's fire department will observe the special week at an open house this evening. In addition to tours and displays, a film on fire prevention will be presented.

Congress 'Frugal' Claims Rep. Esch

Two recent actions by the U.S. House of Representatives have helped to prove predictions that this Congress is in a more frugal mood than its predecessors, according to Rep. Marvin L. Esch, Second District Congressman from Ann Arbor.

Hesitation to give appropriation extensions and the tabling of the President's request for a 10% surcharge by a committee have served notice on the Administration that now is the time to halt increased spending, Esch stated.

The hesitation came when the House was considering a resolution giving 30-day appropriation extensions to agencies which because of continued Congressional delays have not yet received funds for this year. On Sept. 27, the House, by a 202 to 182 vote, refused to pass the resolution and sent it back to the Appropriations Committee. The Committee then reported out a resolution asking for a 10-day extension which the House approved last week by a voice vote.

"THE KEY ITEM that forced the House leadership to hop the resolution in and out of committee was increased support for a Republican amendment which would have required an automatic $5 billion spending reduction," said Esch.

"This move, to which I gave strong support, was defeated on the second go around by a mere eight votes. Although our move failed, the closeness of the vote alone was enough to alarm the big spenders.

"On the heels of this moral victory came word from the Ways and Means Committee that it would take no more action on a tax increase until the President and the Congress could work out a definite program of spending cuts.

"Although I am less than optimistic about the prospects of such joint action, the fact that the Committee would table a tax increase indicates that the already overburdened taxpayer may not feel an additional federal pinch in the near future.

"WHAT THIS ALL adds up to is that this Congress is beginning to realize more each day that we can hold the line on increased spending without jeopardizing our military obligations or essential domestic programs.

"It also indicates an acceptance by more House Members of what we in the Minority have advocated right along—that spending reductions and the establishment of spending priorities are in order before we consider a tax increase. "Fugality has partially prevailed in these two recent events, but only by the slimmest of margins."

U.S. Takes Enrollment Count Here

The Bureau of Census will conduct a household survey in Plymouth the week of Oct. 16 to determine how many children and other persons under the age of 35 are presently attending school or college.

It is part of a national survey and similar to one a year ago which showed an enrollment of 55-million throughout the U.S., about 30 per cent of the population.

The inquiry is in addition to questions about employment that the Census Bureau asks each month to obtain data for use by the Department of Labor in determining national employment and unemployment figures. All answers are confidential and the information obtained will be used for statistical purposes only.

VFW Women Get New Garb

The women of Plymouth's Mayflower V.F.W. Auxiliary have new, blue, one piece uniform dresses with matching caps. The group underwent inspection Oct. 3, wearing the new uniforms that were officially adopted July 1 by the national organization.

The meeting was conducted by President Shirley Kubik with Gmilde Peck, president of the Fourth District, acting as inspecting officer. Other Fourth District officers present were Junior Vice President June Martin, Chaplain Julia Swartout and Cancer Chairman, Elsie Carl.

The auxiliary is planning a party Wednesday, Oct. 18 at 8 p.m. that will be open to the public.

Academy

Deadline Near

Deadline for applicants seeking appointment to one of the nation's service academies is Monday, Oct. 16.

Appointments are open to the Air Force Academy, West Point, Annapolis, and the Merchant Marine Academy for the school year that begins in mid-1968.

Michigan's U.S. Senators, Robert P. Griffin and Philip A. Hart, will make two appointments each to the Air Force, Army and Navy schools, and 10 to the Merchant Marine Academy. The State's 19 U.S. Congressmen may nominate up to 10 persons for the latter school, also.

To qualify for appointment to one of the academies, an applicant must be a resident of the State of Michigan, single, and a U.S. citizen at least 17 years old but not yet 22 on July 1, 1968.

Applications to the senators should be addressed to the Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Davis Goes Easy Due To Strike

A Ford Motor Company employee got a free ride from Plymouth Municipal Judge Dunbar Davis pending settlement of the present auto strike.

The auto worker, Philip Daley, 18, of 7805 Sheldon Rd., pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 60 miles an hour in a 25-mile-an-hour zone and was fined $60 and $5 costs. Judge Davis, however, postponed payment of the fine until 30 days after settlement of the present strike at Ford.

Two other drivers pleaded guilty to other traffic charges before Judge Davis.

They were Diane L. Mulroy, 21, of 3724 Sophia St., Wayne, charged with speeding, who was fined $60 and $5 costs, and Leonard R. Longsdorf, 31, of 4829 Harrison, Wayne, charged with driving without an operator's license on his person and with improper license plates. Longsdorf was fined $25 and $5 costs on each count.

Library Post Is Open Here

Civil Service examinations to fill a future position of part-time library aide in Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library will be held in November, with deadline for applications Oct. 27.

According to Mrs. Elizabeth L. Worth, librarian in charge here, applicants must be college graduates and should apply through the Wayne County Civil Service Commission, 628 City-County Building, Detroit.

THE THIGH-HIGH BOOT moves in to rescue the frosty knee. Obviously, as skirts climb and snow flurries threaten, something has to be done. The long, Russian-inspired coat is one solution, but there's little chance it will catch on in the suburbs this winter. The high boot has a better chance. Some of the most interesting are patent—either shiny black or shiny brights, yellow or maybe red. It's fair game to wear them long before the first snow.

Letter From Livonian In Mexico

Editors note: Mark McQuesten, who graduated from Bentley High last spring is working in Mexico as assistant to a priest in a mission. The Observer received this letter from him recently.

I am in Mexico in a little village called Mecapalapa. I sometimes think it is the little village with big problems. The people are poor and for the most part uneducated; kids run around with no shoes and sometimes with no clothes.

The sanitary conditions are for the most part non-existent. I am writing this letter by flashlight as the electricity which a few have is out. The school here is going to be closed in one-and-a-half weeks and the kids will even have less than they do now, which is nothing.

I brought a few sheets of paper with me and the kids went wild over seeing a paper plane fly. I have done some other things too, but I have run out of ideas and material and am extremely short on funds.

I am here with a Catholic priest but what I do with the kids is on my own.

I need a few dollars to buy some materials in Tulancingo, the nearest big town. I know that if people knew the situation they would want to help. I'd like to be able to get funds from my own home town.

Any contributions should be sent by certified check to: Curato, Mecapalapa, Pueblo, Mexico.

Sincerely,
Mark McQuesten

Teens Meet To Stamp Out Fat

A group of teen-age weight watchers from Observerland will gather from 4 to 5 p.m. Monday, Oct. 16, in Clarenceville High School for the first meeting in a program called "Piggy to Twiggy."

All overweight teen-agers in the western suburbs have been encouraged to join the group. Sponsored by the Weight Watchers of Eastern Michigan, this is the second junior group to be organized in the Detroit Metropolitan area.

Florine Mark, executive director of the parent organization, says that the weekly "Piggy to Twiggy" meetings are strictly no-adult affairs. "The meetings are run by the kids, for the kids, to motivate them to accept adult responsibility for their weight loss programs," she says.

There is a fee for joining the organization.

The 1967 version of the saddle shoe is a little more streamlined, and teams up with patterned, colored and textured leg coverings—not with bobby sox.

Cotton Use On Upswing

Because of strong economic activity, it's predicted that cotton use in 1967 will be high. Also contributing to the expected increase are cotton's improved price position in relation to other fibers and continued large civilian and military purchases of cotton products.

It Took A Long Time But Tuition Hike Just Had To Come

The price of higher education has hit the lowest level ever for the five communities comprising the Schoolcraft College district. Matter of fact, tuition costs at Schoolcraft are just about the highest of any community college in the state as a result of the recent increase approved by the Board of Trustees.

The hike doesn't take effect until the start of the second semester in December, but it does mean that resident students will pay $1 per classroom hour more, and non-residents will pay $2 per hour.

LIKE ADMINISTRATORS from school districts throughout the state, heads of the various community colleges feel they have been sold down the river by Gov. Romney and the State Legislature.

In discussions earlier in the year, the administrators were practically assured there would be increases in state aid.

This was one of the reasons why negotiations between school boards and representatives of teachers' groups were delayed in just about every section of the state.

The school boards and administrators were waiting until the last minute for the implied promise of additional financial aid. Unfortunately, it wasn't forthcoming, and the school and college districts were faced with negotiations for funds that weren't available.

In the case of Schoolcraft College, the administration and Faculty Forum teams negotiated for the better part of nine months and then had to go to a fact-finder before they could reach an agreement.

Both groups agreed that the final settlement was an excellent one, even though the Board of Trustees was a bit dismayed over the prospects of raising an additional $56,000 from a budget already down to what appeared to be an absolute minimum.

As an example, the budget provided for a maximum $30,445 in the contingency fund—a mere pittance when one considers the total budget was almost $3 million.

ONCE THE TRUSTEES informally agreed to accept the contract recommended by the administration negotiation team, they started the task of finding the needed money.

The administration, headed by

SENSE 'N' NONSENSE

SIGN OF OUR TIMES: "Antiques and Other Produce on Sale Here" . . . Have antiques become so popular that some enterprising merchant is now growing them?

George Romney dines with the hippies and his only reaction, as he escapes with a flower in his hand, is a shaking head. This means, of course, that he witnessed love and didn't buy it.

College President Dr. Eric Bradner, didn't hesitate a moment in making a recommendation for a tuition increase to cover the deficit. There wasn't any mention of a review of the budget for possible cutbacks—just a request for the hike.

Dr. Bradner did point out that the increase would place Schoolcraft College near the top in community college tuition rates in Michigan.

During the discussion over the recommendation, three Trustees took firm stands against a tuition increase for residents.

Secretary Paul Mutnick, of Clarenceville, indicated he would not vote for a tuition hike for residents until the administration had reviewed the budget for possible trims.

Mrs. Jane Moehle, of Plymouth, and James Boswell, of Livonia, went on record as definitely opposing an increase for residents. Both indicated they would not vote for such a hike.

As a result, the trustees agreed to defer action until all members were present. At the same time, the administration was asked to study the budget and report back to the board at the proposed ratification meeting.

The Board rules require a favorable vote of five for passage of a tuition increase.

Thus when the Board met two weeks later, the administration proposed the increase in tuition, nothing was said about a report on a budget review.

On the first vote, a motion to increase the tuition rates, failed by a 4-3 vote with Mrs. Moehle, George Martin and Boswell opposing.

This brought additional discussion from those favoring the motion, pointing out that the administration had made a recommendation for a tuition hike as the only means of meeting the deficit.

So a new motion was made, reading practically the same as the first. This time it passed by the needed 5-2 vote with Boswell and Martin opposing.

All of which proves that it isn't a good practice to definitely state that one will never vote for a proposed measure—perhaps the time will come when that vote will mean the difference in a hopeless situation.

THE QUESTION arises: Why couldn't the Schoolcraft administration find a place in the budget to make a cut? After observing the operations of colleges throughout the state, it appears to be part of the format—always find a need for increases but never a place for a cutback. Seems to be part of the philosophy of higher education.

Who pays in this instance? The parents of resident and non-resident students. We agree that the non-residents should pay more but not the college district taxpayers who already are paying through the nose and who face additional millage increases in the not-too-distant future.

THIS WEEK is National Newspaper Week. All week long.

Somehow, I don't sense the feverish excitement in our own staff that the guys behind National Newspaper Week appear to have expected. Judging from the stuff that they've been mailing out over the past six weeks, the hearts of all newspapermen and women are supposed to swell this week like a peacock's tail during mating season. They haven't.

Perhaps it's partly because every week of the year seems to be National Something Or Other Week. Pickles. Hot dogs. Citrus Fruit. Donuts. Who knows what all.

As the advertising people say, these weeks make good promotions. The high-price flacks who work for the various trade associations (yes, Mary, there is a National Pickle Association) proclaim a week, haul out the old typewriter and start banging out the PR. Then we get it and start throwing it away.

By the time the week is over, the flacks have sore fingers from typing, we at the newspaper have wastebaskets full from circular filing, and everyone is out of breath with boredom. And then the next National Week starts and the whole process is repeated.

This year's theme for National Newspaper Week appears to be "Newspapers Get Things Done," or at least that's the line in the stuff we've been getting.

There's a lot of (self-serving) stuff in these releases on Newspaper Week. Newspapers are good places to advertise (true); the classified want ad section is a great place to sell things (true); the news columns are good sources of information about your local community (true).

What troubles me, though, is that nowhere in the promotional pieces do the flacks get down to brass tacks about what's right and what's wrong with the newspaper industry. Fortunately, and unfortunately, there's much of both.

Part of the problem is that the newspaper industry, which is supposed to examine pretty closely the operations of local government, business, politics and what-not, is itself one of the least examined and most restrictive industries in the country.

All this has started coming out of some hearings that Senator Philip A. Hart has been holding in Washington on a bill that would do away with certain parts of our national anti-monopoly legislation as it applies to newspapers. Various informed people have testified about a whole series of things:

• Price-rigging, where there is no competition between daily newspapers;

• Merger agreements, which eliminate differing editorial points of view;

• Restrictive feature franchises, which give one paper the exclusive right to some feature (the Peanuts comic strip, for example) for a particular geographical area;

• Price-cutting by one paper to drive out another.

The higher-ups in the newspaper industry (you know, the guys in vests who talk in such a way as to imply everything and say nothing, just like higher-ups everywhere) are pretty shook up about the hearings. They are complaining, somewhat irrelevantly it seems to me, that the freedom of the press is being threatened.

Nonsense. If the newspaper industry would start looking at its own problems as candidly as it looks at everyone else's it would do a lot better job, be much freer of hanky-panky than it is now, and start getting away from its present pathological fear of TV.

What's right with the newspaper industry is harder to pinpoint. Perhaps it's best put in terms of opportunities.

Look at the audience we're writing for in this business. It is sharply declining in age but rising in education. By 1970, 50 per cent of our national population will be under 25, and in Observerland there are some communities in which there are more people under than over 21.

A recent survey reported by the Michigan Press Association covering recognition of World War II terms pointed up the change.

When 425 newspaper readers were given a multiple choice quiz, 3 per cent of men and 2 per cent of women thought Gestapo was an Italian general; 7 per cent of men and 13 per cent of women thought Snafu was the name of a Chinese politician; 11 per cent of men and 10 per cent of women thought Munich was a brand of beer; and 6 per cent of men and 7 per cent of women thought gobbledygook was a Korean turkey.

What all this means is that newspapers are writing for a new audience, younger than ever before, more educated, less tied to the past, and in greater need of new kinds of reporting.

We face an additional problem out here in Observerland: To provide the communities we serve with a new kind of newspaper.

It can't be an old-time country weekly, because the communities we serve are not old-time country towns. It can't be a sort of suburban version of the New York Times, because very few people would be interested in it. It can't be a Detroit daily paper, because it's got to be for and about people living out here, not in the inner city.

It's got to be interesting and relevant to what concerns people out here. It's got to be well-written and professionally accurate and fair. It's got to maintain a balance between neighborhood news and local politics.

In short, it's got to be a new kind of newspaper, one tailored to the needs of Observerland.

We're still working to bring you this kind of newspaper. We've made some improvements in the past, but we know we're not perfect.

So we'll keep trying.

WHAT ARE NEWSPAPERS MADE OF?
PRIDE, STRENGTH,
DEDICATION,

Sugar-Coat Government: A Sophisticated Dishonesty

Ask a citizen casually what is "corruption in government," and he'll generally respond with something about the Tweed Ring, graft, influence peddling or wild women at Washington cocktail parties.

But if you were to stack up the monetary badness of a major capital, it wouldn't begin to be as big a heap as the kind of dishonesty that flourishes in many small ways in most grass-roots governments.

It's a different kind of dishonesty. It's involved not with taking money or giving a pal a contract, but with the use of words that obscure, sugar-coat or fudge over the truth. It's a sophisticated kind of dishonesty for a sophisticated people.

The Greeks had a word for it: "Euphemism"—the substitution of a mild or inoffensive term for a harsh one. Fortunately, it's possible for the layman to catch on to these euphemisms and make his own translations.

HERE'S A HANDY guide to some of the commoner euphemisms of suburban government:

"... certain operating cost adjustments." This means pay increases. No, not pay adjustments. Pay increases.

"... and seek a cooperative solution with other local units." This means the governing board wants access to another unit's facilities but doesn't want to be annexed.

"I was mis-quoted." Translation: "I didn't think you were going to quote me."

"Don't quote me on this, but..." Translation: "I'd lose a lot of votes if people knew my views on this subject."

"The board held an executive session..." The board actually held a closed-door, secret, sneak meeting from which the public and press were barred.

(The interesting thing here is that city councils, township boards and school boards are legislative bodies; hence, they can no more properly hold an "executive" session than they can a judicial session. So flagrantly rotten has this situation become in Michigan that state law allows many kinds of boards to hold "executive" sessions. It's as if there were a law allowing men to have babies—perfectly legal, but contrary to truth and reason.)

"After due consideration..." Translation: "After a closed-door, secret meeting at which some of our less experienced board members were told the political facts of life..."

"... has submitted his resignation. The board accepted it with deep regret." The guy was fired, and the board regrets it didn't get rid of him sooner.

A favorite among educationists: "We must be careful how we say this; it might have an adverse psychological effect on the children and destroy the effect of what we're doing." Translation: "It might harm the egos of the parents and get them mad at us."

"I must protest your story in the paper. It was twisted, incorrect, slanted..." Translation: "In the 18th paragraph, you used the 1964 parks maintenance budget figure instead of 1965's."

"The true facts of the matter are..." Translation: "My opinion of my record in office is..."

"That was a good story you wrote about the department—very fair and accurate." Translation: "You made us look good for a change."

And so on.

NO MILLION-DOLLAR scandals. No out-and-out thievery. No bribery. Just a lot of little words thrown out by a lot of little people in little governments.

No longer do they say, "The public be damned." Today they say, "Let's have good public relations."

—Tim Richard

Press Box That Isn't

Sports writers covering high school games in Observerland are wondering if the "press boxes" are for the press or only for scouts covering for future opponents and assistant coaches making notes for the use of the head coach at the halftime intermission.

From all indications, some area schools are loading the press boxes with people who have no business there and forgetting all about the harassed reporter who is trying to cover a game with inadequate information and under unwarranted conditions.

The Observer Newspaper Group sent a reporter to cover the Redford Union-Plymouth game recently. He purchased two programs, one for his own use and one for the photographer and then discovered it contained only numbers for the Redford Union squad.

Our representative went to the "press box," found it filled with scouts and coaches making charts and had to stand all evening behind them to take notes on the game.

It was rather a frustrating evening. No place to sit, no identifications for the visiting team, a cold night and not even a cup of hot coffee to warm one up.

JUST CHATTIN'

Imagine! Fish Are Causing Land Rush In Michigan

BY W. W. EDGAR

SHE JUST sat there shrugging her shoulders and shaking her head—and then remarked: "I've never seen anything like this. People coming around—absolute strangers—asking you if you'd like to sell your property. Everybody around here has been asked about property. And just think it's all because of those salmon that are now being caught in this area."

The speaker was an old friend who had moved with her family from Detroit and had settled down on an 85-acre farm near Bear Lake on the west side of the state to get away from the hustle and bustle of a big city.

We had stopped off for a friendly visit during a color tour of the western part of the state and fish was the last thing we had expected to be the topic of conversation. But, somehow, it started when we mentioned that it was most unfortunate those fishermen were lost in the storm in nearby Lake Michigan several weeks ago.

"It was terrible," our friend admitted, "but we have had nothing but excitement around here ever since it became known that the salmon were biting. You know," she went on, "the state planted those fish and I don't think the officials ever expected anything like this."

She sat silent for a moment or two and then continued.

"It was wonderful to help the fishermen and that would help business all over. But no one ever expected the fish would bring about a land rush—and that's just what we have now. From what I hear some of the people who are looking for property are offering all kinds of prices. And I wouldn't be surprised if some of the farms around here aren't sold and converted into subdivisions."

When it was called to her attention that the salmon wouldn't stay in one area . . . that they would swim their way into the various streams and soon be in many parts of the state, she just shrugged her shoulders again.

"Maybe so," she finally confided, "but they are here right now. I guess that's what counts."

Then, sitting up and looking at us with blazing eyes, she said:

"You know what I heard—and it's the main talk around here now—Jackie Gleason, the TV star, has a group of men scouring the area for property. It is supposed to be the Jackie Gleason Enterprises and they want all the property they can get."

Then she repeated, "I've never seen anything like this . . . people just being pestered to sell their property—and all because of those salmon."

It was a bit unusual and certainly unexpected. But the unrest and excitement was just another indication of the explosion taking place in all sections of Michigan.

After leaving the Bear Lake area there were other signs of the mass shifting of population and not all of it is being caused by the new coho salmon.

IN MOST every highway and byway we encountered the transporting of mobile homes to the west and northwest sections of the state. In some instances there were so many on the road one easily could have imagined that it was a display being moved to some exposition. But it wasn't.

The parade of mobile homes furnished evidence of a new trend in the state to get away from high taxes, costly homes, and crowded communities. And, in many cases, it was a movement of senior citizens who seem to have found a way to live a life of ease in retirement at a low cost.

This new way of life is most interesting. The mobile homes can be bought for modest sums, compared to the cost of new conventional homes today. Then, more and more areas are opening up to furnish space for the mobile homes on a rental basis. The rent is low and the high cost of living is mastered.

"I pay $34 a month rent for the space," one of these senior citizens confided, "and you can't beat that. My taxes in the city would be a lot higher."

"I have another spot in Florida for the winter. So we spend the winter in the south and the summers up here—and all I do is rent space."

"I don't even move the mobile home any more. I have a smaller trailer in Florida and we can afford to live a bit cramped for a few months—just to have a place like this here in Michigan for the summer."

Sounds like these senior citizens have found a solution to the spiraling economy.

This solution—and the fish—have Michigan on the move. A short trip on the highways will offer all the proof you need.

EDITOR:

They tell me that one should not object too much if the name is spelled correctly. However, I cannot help but take exception to the item appearing in The Observer headlined "Schmidt Balks at School's Plea for Help."

I have evidently not been trained to spend more than received. Such procedure creates problems. I can't compromise my responsibility as a State Representative any more than I could as a Superintendent of Schools.

It would appear that no one on your staff endeavored to check on my efforts, as a member of the Education Committee, to obtain more money for schools. I am sure, however, that you and your staff are aware that I was the only legislator representing Livonia who supported the effort for fiscal reform in voting for the income tax.

One statement in the article is not correct. . . "The Board asked him what he planned to do about added school aid when the Legislature takes up the subject again."

The original question was relative to the Special Session, not next year's State Aid. State Aid for next year will be a subject of consideration next January to June or July. I definitely feel that some additional aid must be made available, and I will do all I can to achieve that goal.

My earlier experiences never permitted my giving the personnel of the schools the key to the school district purse. I was charged with a responsibility by the Board of Education to live within the budget. As an elected official I cannot give the key to the pocket book of the State to every unit of government.

If there is extra money not already appropriated, as predicted by some, I wonder how much? What will the unrest in our cities cost in Social Services and Civil Rights? What loss of revenue will occur from the lengthy labor disputes? What supplemental expenditures will be required in a number of areas?

How is your "crystal ball?"

LOUIS E. SCHMIDT
State Representative

(Editor's Note -- The Observer's emphasis was placed on Schmidt's statement that he would not spend money the state doesn't have, not on a particular session of the Legislature.)

EDITOR:

A small but rather active and responsive gathering of PTA members attended the Wm. Grace PTA meeting Tuesday, Sept. 26. The opening meeting of the 1967-68 school year was concerned mainly with four separate areas—health and safety, program planning, publicity and membership.

The program, publicity, and membership groups really seemed to share similar ideas and problems and thus be inter-related. If there is an adequate and sound PTA program planned for the coming year the task of advertising and publicizing is relatively easy and an ample membership in the organization should be assured.

As mentioned in the opening paragraph, there was a small but active and responsive gathering at the William Grace PTA meeting. I believe that the William Grace PTA and all parent teacher associations could and should have something to offer and share with the community. It seems hard to believe that parents and teachers do not attend these meetings as well as expected. They, the parents and teachers, are striving for the same goals and working towards the same direction and that is the development of the children into educated and responsible members of the community and solid citizens of this country.

The PTA is working for the best interests of the children and adults alike in the community. If parents and teachers care enough about the welfare of the children and themselves an adequate and meaningful PTA organization could easily be attained through their active participation. This applies not only to the Wm. Grace PTA but to all PTA organizations everywhere.

In an age when the school and community are working together even more so in the future to meet the needs of the community, an active participation seems essential for any type of success.

EDITORS:

Sometime in August, you printed an article about the "Splinter" group headed by Christian Powell, calling itself, "The official 19th Congress-sional District Republican Executive Committee."

This article mentioned that the group welcomed the public at its meetings on the fourth Thursday of each month in West Bloomfield Township Hall.

I accepted this invitation and attended the September meeting only to find out that only part of it was opened to the public and an "Executive" session was held afterward.

On Sept. 28, I went to West Bloomfield Hall only to find that the meeting place was changed to Christian Powell's office.

When I arrived there the meeting was in progress and I was told this was a private meeting.

It seems odd to me that after such a glowing report about desiring citizen's participation that this group doesn't follow THRU and keep their meetings open to the public as stated.

This is the only way the public can find out what their aims and goals are. What do they stand for?

Wondering,

RUTH KADELLA
P.S.: I tried to find out when their next meeting would be held without success.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Kadella refers to Sunday Editor Tim Richard's Aug. 20 column on "Conservatism a Go-Go."

EDITOR:

The article on Farmington Township wanting to sell the parcel of land that was donated to the Township by Mr. and Mrs. Beals and Mr. and Mrs. Reddock for recreational purposes was a real shock to me.

I do not understand Mr. Joseph Brennan's statement that says in effect that as long as the parties who donated the land are no longer with us, we can do as we please with their donation.

Not only would this be a loss to the community because of this land's potential in the area of recreation, but it goes against the grain of every right thinking citizen to think that a person's will could be tampered with and changed to fit those few in power.

Who does the Township and Mr. Brennan think they are to ignore the wishes of four dead people whose only wish was to give to this Township something which would last? Why was this land never used as a recreational area? God knows, we have a great need for them. Is there a buyer in mind who wants this particular property for commercial reasons and personal gain? Is that why we never heard of this land? These are questions that should be answered for all of the citizens to read and question in their own minds.

I am sure that the Township has a moral as well as a civic duty to those two families to develop their gift to this community as their wills stated and the Township has no reason to sell this land at all, under any circumstances since there is a dire need for recreational areas in Farmington Township.

It just makes me burn to know that there has been this land in the Township for years that could have been in use but for some reason or another the Township has not seen fit to make this public knowledge until now that they want to sell it. Why?

I am thoroughly against the Township and Mr. Brennan on this matter and I hope that more citizens will write and let the officials know how they feel. In hopes that the said sale of this land might be stopped.

Hearing Institute Seeks Ear Trumpet

ANN ARBOR — Have you found any old ear trumpets lately? Perhaps an ancient hearing aid in grandma's attic?

If so, it's wanted by the Kresge Hearing Research at The University of Michigan.

Dr. Merle Lawrence, director, is setting up an historical exhibit of early hearing devices. He's looking for equipment used to relieve hearing problems, such as hearing aids or ear trumpets. He also could use tuning forks, whistles, or other early testing equipment.

Persons wishing to contribute an item are requested to contact Dr. Lawrence at the institute in the U-M Medical Center, 1301 Ann Street, Ann Arbor.

Stronger Laws Asked

Wayne County Prosecuting Attorney William L. Cahalan is seeking five changes in Michigan's criminal laws to strengthen law enforcement.

At the same time, Cahalan opposes a provision of the proposed new state criminal code which would limit the force a policeman may use to stop a fleeing felon.

CAHALAN'S proposals are being considered by a State Senate Special Committee on Crime. In recent testimony before the committee, Cahalan made these points:

• Felony arrest powers should be extended to "high misdemeanors" such as aggravated assault, accosting and soliciting, gambling violations and all violations involving knives. This would make it possible for an officer to make an arrest when he has "reasonable cause" to believe a crime has been committed.

Under present law, the prosecutor stated, a policeman may be told that a certain person is carrying a knife, "but technically is not in a position to make the arrest because he has not personally seen the knife."

• Simplify procedures so that a person arrested for a minor crime may be issued a summons as in traffic cases rather than be detained perhaps for hours while application is made for a warrant.

Experience elsewhere indicates this would save thousands of man-hours for the police and "spare thousands of persons the indignity and stigma of arrest where their alleged offenses do not, in fact, justify such treatment," Cahalan stated.

• Give prosecutors the right to appeal lower court decisions, "at least equal to that of the defendant." At present, Cahalan said, "we have, in effect, a defendant getting a final order of dismissal without the prosecution having any opportunity for appellate review."

• Make it a felony for persons in a crowd to refuse to disperse after they have been "read the riot act." Cahalan said the State Riot Act requires such dispersal, but contains no penalty for failure to do so.

• Make it a misdemeanor for a person to fail to cooperate in being fingerprinted in situations where the police are required by law to fingerprint the person.

CAHALAN URGED the Legislature "to be cognizant of the financial problems of my county so that it can adequately staff our office, as well as some of the other life-and-death functions of county government."

He said that, due to Wayne County's lack of funds, his office is "one of the most understaffed" prosecutor's offices in the nation.

Cahalan has requested 22 additional attorneys. He was granted six this fiscal year and is in line for six more in the budget recommended by the County Board of Auditors for next fiscal year.

Cahalan said the bulk of the proposed new state criminal code is a "welcome improvement." However, he said it would be "patently dangerous" to lessen the long standing authority of policemen to use the force necessary to stop a fleeing felon.

FRAMED RESOLUTION and a plaque is presented to Mrs. Lester Anders by Trustee William Craft (left) and School Supt. Benton Yates (center) after the dedication of the athletic field at Stevenson High to the late Les Anders. He was athletic director at Stevenson when he died in 1966 and the Livonia Board of Education voted to pay tribute by naming the athletic field in his honor. The dedication program took place Saturday.

Education Minister Visits Westland School

The Stottlemyer Elementary School in Westland was visited by an African minister of education last week on his trip in America to upgrade and expand the National Teacher Education Center in his country.

The special visitor was Adam Issak Ahmed of the Republic of Somali, the first of the newly independent African states to have an orderly change of government following a democratic election.

EASTERN MICHIGAN University in Ypsilanti has a contract with a U.S. State Department agency to start a teacher training institution in Somali. The school was opened four years ago and since that time, there have been at least five and usually 10 E.M.U. staff members serving as advisors and teachers at the NETC.

The students are intermediate school graduates and after three years of teaching-training go out to teach in the elementary and intermediate schools in the country.

The Somali minister of education hopes to "up grade and expand the program at NETC to include collegiate level study and to include the education of secondary as well as elementary and intermediate teachers," a school spokesman said.

DURING HIS visit through America, he will confer with officials at the university, the State Department agency in Washington, as well as visiting public schools, the United Nations, and some major cities.

The minister is a former teacher himself, having been educated in England. He was elected to Parliament in Somali after his country's independence in 1960 and later became the Minister of Defense.

Center Open For Students

The Westland Parks and Recreation Dept. is opening its center at 32715 Dorsey Road, near Venoy for junior high school students' activities from 7-10 p.m. every Friday. Admission is 25 cents.

A Halloween party will be held Oct. 27 and admission will be by costume. Prizes will be awarded for the most unusual, funniest, and prettiest costumes, a department spokesman said. There will also be free refreshments.

STAINLESS PAINT

A newly developed stainless steel paint is applied to transmission towers, smoke stacks, water tanks and bridges to protect them from corrosion.

Judges' Terms Assured

The 18-month-old Westland City Charter has two sections concerning the start of the new term of the two municipal judges, but City Attorney John Nellis feels that there is no conflict and the terms start next Jan. 1.

In a written opinion to Mayor Thomas Brown recently, Nellis pointed out that the charter states the two judges picked in the incorporation election of April 25, 1966, shall serve until the next regular city election, which is Tuesday, Nov. 7.

THE SAME SENTENCE in that section of the charter also says that in subsequent elections, the judges' terms shall be for four years and shall start on Jan. 1.

If this were the only section in the charter pertaining to the term of office for the judges, then the city would be without any judges from Nov. 7 to Jan. 1, Nellis said.

"However in another section of the charter, it says that 'the terms of elective officers shall not be extended beyond the period for which any such officer was elected, except that an elective officer shall, after his term has expired, continue to hold office until his successor is elected and has qualified.'"

THIS SECTION, Nellis continued, qualified the prior section and although terms of the current two judges expire Nov. 7, they will continue to hold office until their successors are elected and are qualified.

"Since the term of office of the judges to be elected Nov. 7 commences on Jan. 1, 1968, they cannot qualify for the office until that date and the present municipal judges will continue in office through Dec. 31, 1967.

"Under recognized rules of construction all sections of the charter must be read and considered as a whole, and unless there is an obvious inconsistency between sections, effect must be given to all such sections," Nellis said. "It is my opinion there is no inconsistency between (the two sections) and that both must be read together to arrive at the conclusion stated herein."

Westland's first municipal judges were Douglas C. Craig and Robert Martin. Both have decided not to seek re-election. There are only two candidates for the two judgeships in the Nov. 7 election--Thomas G. Smith and Michael Bradley, both Democrats without Republican opposition, thereby assuring them of the positions.

Recreation Activities Scheduled

Women interested in a gym class and volleyball league are asked to contact the Westland Parks and Recreation Department.

The activity will be held from 7:30-10 p.m. every Wednesday, starting next week, Oct. 18. Fee for the classes, to continue into April, is $6.

The parks department is located at 32715 Dorsey Road, Westland.

Madonna College, 5 Schools In Program

To increase effectiveness within the area of higher education, Madonna College in Livonia has joined with five other colleges in Ohio and Michigan in a federally funded co-operative research program.

The co-operative endeavor has been assigned to and is being directed by staff members from the University of Toledo.

The participating colleges are: Madonna, Mary Manse and Owasco in Michigan; Bluffton, DePue and Findlay in Ohio.

"Madonna became involved because we felt there was much to be gained," said Sister M. Danatha, college president. "It was an opportunity for Madonna to grow in excellence through an exchange of ideas with other institutions. It created an outlet for experimentation in matters related to higher education. The program will contribute to an initiation of projects at Madonna. We feel inter-institutional research will provide our faculty with fresh ideas for study."

SISTER M. JOELA, former Science Department head, has been assigned director of the newly created office of institutional research at Madonna and assumes the position of co-ordinator of the college's participation in the project.

"Madonna will be directly involved in two phases of the program devised by the Institute," said Sister M. Joela, after conferring with Toledo University's directors of the program, Dr. John Russell and Dr. Richard White.

Dr. White is fulltime director of the Center of Institutional Research located at Toledo U.

The Center will provide the leadership and co-ordination for the participating colleges.

One phase of the program, the Institutional Co-Operative Research has for its purpose an effective, efficient, scientific approach to a great many of the decisions concerning students, faculty, programs, curriculums and other factors of the college world.

EACH PARTICIPATING college has one staff member as the institutional research person for the college. A considerable amount of effort, training and organization is necessary. Thus, an in-service training program is being conducted for the individuals in charge plus an assistant. Sister M. Madonna is the additional member from Madonna.

The second phase of the project embodies four faculty study groups. For the current year the participating colleges have designated concentrated studies in the departments of sociology, biology and physics.

A few of the topics to be considered will be recent research which specifically relates to teaching in the area; sharing of findings and identification of new areas of research; identification of resource materials; co-operative development of new courses or curriculums.

THE FOURTH FACULTY study group is an interdisciplinary study, Evaluation and Measurement. The program will focus on an exploration of the rationale for the understanding and mastery of technically acceptable evaluative methods of assessing the effects of instruction of college youth.

In this study, the first meeting of the participants was held on October 7, at Toledo.

Madonna College was represented by Sister M. Damascene from English, Sister M. Dennis from chemistry, Sister M. Virgilia from mathematics, Mrs. Rosina Raymond from Speech and English, Mr. Sam Bookner from political science and history, Sisters M. Stephanie and Madonna from biology, Sister M. Andreeta from physics, Sisters M. Julia and Louanne from sociology.

Participation in the faculty groups will include, on the average, three persons from each of the developing colleges. In addition, a chairman from the University of Toledo has been identified for each group. These are Dr. John Turin for physics, Dr. Maimon Nassatir for biology, Dr. Neil Palmer for sociology and Dr. William Frezen for evaluation and measurement.

The major goal of both programs is the extension of horizons, exploration in depth and the creation of a base for a continuing professional dialog.

MSU Clinic Going Up

EAST LANSING -- A new Speech and Hearing Clinic that will permit expansion of Michigan State University's programs in audiology and speech science is under construction at MSU.

The two-story structure, scheduled for completion in about 15 months, will cost an estimated $810,000. It will house activities in teaching, research and clinical work.

Franklin, NF Showdown

The Franklin High charge to another football championship continues.

Last Saturday the Livonians rallied late for a 13-7 victory over Thurston.

Franklin had to fight Thurston as well as the clock to up its league record to 2-0 and its overall record for the year to 3-1.

Only two minutes remained when Bob Rogalski raced in from the 15 to cash the winning touchdown after Thurston had led most of the closing quarter.

The Livonians had to grind out the triumph on the ground. Only 20 of their 232 yards gained during the day came on passes.

What's more, Franklin had to travel almost 80 yards for the winning score as the clock

Undefeated String Ends In Soccer

The unbeaten ways of Schoolcraft College's soccer team couldn't go on forever.

After winning eight for eight last season, Schoolcraft triumphed in three of its first four this fall -- the one non-triumph being a tie with Lorain College of Ohio.

Last Saturday it was Schoolcraft vs. Lorain again.

This time Lorain scored late to gain a 3-2 verdict.

Dan Robinson and Joop Doorn had scored for Schoolcraft team which dominated the proceedings in the late going, but wasn't able to fire in a tying marker.

spun its merry way.

GARY SICA, Jim Lamboda and Wally Wolfe, along with Rogalski, took turns pounding away at the Thurston line.

They made headway, although at times it was on the difficult side.

Franklin had taken an early 6-0 lead when Bill Hellstein fired a 31-yard scoring pass to Wolfe.

That's the way matters stood until the fourth period when Jerry Schaffer of Thurston cut loose on an 80-yard scoring run.

The conversion by Rick Wagner put Thurston into a 7-6 lead and the slender advantage was beginning to appear as if it would be enough.

But Franklin had too much power when it counted the most.

FRANKLIN ACTUALLY had scored early in the game when Archie Leib electrified the crowd with a dazzling 65-yard run after hauling in a Thurston punt.

However, Franklin was detected clipping on the play and the ball was brought back and the touchdown wiped out.

Other than that, neither team had any other serious threats.

Coach Bob Bentley of Franklin was proud the way his forces rallied.

On the other side of the field, Thurston coach Bull McDonald expressed satisfaction in two ways:

"Our boys showed in this one that they can play this game of football."

"They also brought themselves glory the way they struck back late to take the lead."

Each defensive unit did a noteworthy job.

In Last Minute 90 - Yard Drive Wins For Glenn

Nothing beats confidence.

The John Glenn football team knew all along it was going to upset Birmingham Groves.

Even when Groves rallied in the last few minutes to go ahead, 14-13, with 2:15 on the clock, the Glenn gridders didn't lose heart.

"We'll win this one, coach," they told Bob Lusk.

And win Glenn did, with a dramatic pair of passes from Tim Wozny to sophomore Greg Hubbard--passes that covered 90 yards and produced the deciding score with 35 seconds to go.

But it still took a neat interception by Steve Decker at midfield, just as the gun went off to preserve the 19-14 verdict for Glenn.

THUS GLENN now stands 2-0 in the Northwest Suburban League after managing only one win in five loop outings a year ago.

Too, Glenn has an overall 3-1 mark, which puts the team only two triumphs away from the school's all-time high of five victories, three defeats and a tie for one campaign.

Lusk admits he's surprised a little by the Glenn showing.

"We don't have any standouts on this team," he explained.

"Our boys just are playing very well together."

"And they have that extra bit of confidence in their ability to get the job done."

Glenn, which hosts Thurston this Friday at 3:30 p.m., twice had taken the lead from Groves, only to fall behind.

Steve Paschke started the scoring for Glenn with a four-yard sprint to cap a 65-yard drive.

Back came Groves on an in-

College Harriers Beat 2 Foes

With Larry Buchheit and Joe Vitale running one-two, Schoolcraft College's cross country team beat Lorain and Ohio Northern in a triangular meet.

Schoolcraft scored 22 points to Lorain's 37 and Ohio's 61.

Fred Neal ran fourth, Larry Cooper sixth and George Jackson ninth for the winners.

THURSTON'S Jerry Schaffer (82) goes high in the air to take a pass over the outstretched fingers of Pete MacLean (23), of Franklin.

NF Star Unloads 4 Aerial TDs

Bring on a better high school passer in the state than Norm DeCourcy of North Farmington!

Four games and nine touchdowns strikes...that's DeCourcy's record.

He hit his one-game high last Saturday when he tore apart Oak Park, 35-6, by tossing four TD aerials--two each to Rick Knock and Mike McCoy.

What's more with DeCourcy leading the way, the Raiders rolled up a total of 383 yards--208 rushing and 175 via the airways.

Meantime, the Parkers were well contained, making a total of 95 yards--40 passing and 55 running.

With DeCourcy in high gear, North Farmington made it 2-0 in Northwest Suburban League and now moves against Franklin, boasting a similar mark, in a game the experts are saying will decide the championship.

It's 35-0 Runaway Bentley Wallops RU

The fumbles were fewer. So were the mistakes.

When it was all over Bentley high's football team had lowered the boom on previously unbeaten Redford Union, 35-0.

Add to the fact that Bentley was what coach Larry Joiner called "an inspired team" one has the reason why the Livonians won with such ease after losing by a point to Trenton the week before.

The triumph gave Bentley a 3-1 overall record and a 1-1 standing in the Suburban Six League. Redford Union has an identical mark.

Both trail Allen Park and Trenton by one game in the league chase. The Parkers and Trenton stand 2-0.

Seldom has a Bentley team moved the ball better than it did against Redford Union.

Seldom has a team played better defense.

didn't stop until he had scored. Powers fired to Koch for the extra point.

The next Bentley touchdown was set up by the running of Cascaden and Bantau. It was capped when Powers flipped a five-yarder to Rice in the end zone.

Rice added the extra point. Bantau finished the scoring with an 11-yard dash in the fourth period.

"It was our finest all-around effort of the season," said Bentley coach Joiner.

THE LIVONIANS will have to keep going this Friday, because they have a "do-or-die" date with Allen Park at Allen Park.

"We'll have to beat them and hope that somebody takes care of Trenton if we're going to share or win the championship," Joiner added.

The "somebody" very well could turn out to be Redford Union, which hosts Trenton Friday night.

"We're in the same boat as Bentley," said RU coach John Rogers. "But we can help ourselves and maybe Bentley, too. We still have both Trenton and Allen Park on our schedule."

Stevenson Shines Although Beaten 14-12

The Stevenson High football record stands at one victory and three defeats. Most would say that's not very impressive. However, as far as coach John Reardon of Stevenson is concerned, his charges have played "wonderful football" this fall.

"These kids have been up for every game," declared Reardon after Stevenson dropped a 14-12 heartbreaker to Flint North-western last Saturday afternoon.

"I guess we're just not very lucky. We play well enough to win. A break here...a fumble...a mistake...and a great game ends in defeat for our boys." Stevenson deserved to win against the invader from Flint.

THE LIVONIANS held a territorial advantage in the play, picking up 207 yards rushing and 56 additional through the air.

Meantime, Flint made only 135 yards during the afternoon. What hurt Stevenson the most was a third-period pass interception.

Flint was clinging to a 7-6 lead when Dick Nowak of the visitors picked off a Stevenson pass on the Stevenson 31.

Nowak headed speedily for the end zone and with the conversion Flint had built up a 14-6 lead.

But, there was no bogging down on the part of the Stevenson team.

Came the fourth period, Stevenson put on a long march. With Eugene Walker, Paul Pender, Dave Mastny and Jerry Dettler sharing ball-carrying honors, Stevenson drove to the Flint one from where Dettler slammed the final yard.

IN THE END, two missed conversions cost Stevenson at least a tie.

Walker had turned in an electrifying run in the second period to put Stevenson into an early 6-0 lead.

He took the ball on his own

27, cut through the line and streaked all the way — 73 yards — to score.

The lead didn't last very long. By halftime, it was 7-6 for Flint after Pat Fort grabbed a pass, went 28 yards to score and Mike Dutkowski booted for the first of his two decisive conversions in the game.

First downs in the game were close, 12-11 for Stevenson.

Take a gander, too, at the hike in the bowling enthusiasts. The figures have doubled and tripled in recent years.

Bowling is an inexpensive sport. For a buck or two you can have an exciting evening.

It's not necessary to own your own ball or shoes. The various alleys have them waiting for you; the balls gratis, the shoes for a very nominal rental charge.

SWIMMING HAS attracted record numbers in these parts and not because the weather may have been hot or we have so many lakes in the neighborhood.

The opening of more and more pools in schools and parks and subdivisions simply has brought swimming closer to all of our homes.

Most of us don't even have to get into a car any more in order to enjoy a swim.

Within the schools, there's an increase in the sponsoring of sports activities which don't require the greatest of skills; sports, too, that match competitors of equal physical and weight standards.

Wrestling is one such sport. Boxing is another.

The skinny boys don't find themselves out-matched by somebody ten or 30 or 40 pounds more.

In many schools, skiing has become a popular interscholastic activity. Here's one prep sport that even the girls are permitted to perform under the State Association rules.

Juveniles Share DRC Spotlight

The time for a major Thoroughbred test is at hand. Brilliant two-year-old racing stars occupy the spotlight at the Detroit Race Course as the 84-day meeting at the Livonia track moves into its final month.

The $20,000 added Graduation Stakes for two-year-olds will be contested at a mile and seventy yards as the feature of Saturday's program.

Until this period of the racing season, the two-year-olds generally have been raced at sprint distances of six and seven furlongs.

Now it is time to test the juveniles and determine thus who have the staying qualities necessary to go a distance and stamp them as brilliant prospects for their coming three-year-old campaigns in 1968.

Racing Secretary Howard L. Battle received 36 nominations for The Graduation. Chief interest centers around Mial Spencer, an unbeaten colt owned by Mrs. Vera E. Smith of Lapeer.

Mial Spencer is unbeaten in four starts this season. The juvenile not only has won, but won extremely impressively in every start. His victory margins have ranged from two to 15 lengths.

In his last start in The Michigan Futurity, Mial Spencer won in a romp by five lengths, clocked in 1:10 2/5.

Mial Spencer is trained by the veteran Johnny Hart.

Falcon QB Pulls Out 32-32 Tie

Coach Bob Mistelet of Farmington High has been calling his quarterback, Dan Wolfman, one of the best of the state.

Wolfman proved his coach knows what he's saying last Friday night at Waterford.

The only thing was that Wolfman didn't get much help and as result Farmington battled Waterford to a 32-32 stand-off in one of the wildest offensive shows two prep teams have staged in the state in a long time.

This was the Wolfman story against Waterford:

1 -- He scored four touchdowns.

2 -- Hit on six of 16 passes for 89 yards.

3 -- Personally ran for 240 yards.

4 -- Turned in a fine job on defense.

The game was full of dramatics. Farmington led most of the time, but a 48-yard run by Mike Shelton with 56 seconds to play saved the night for Waterford and produced the deadlocked score in the Inter-lakes Conference.

FARMINGTON JUMPED ahead, 13-0, as Wolfman ran 27 yards and then Paul Misch slammed over from the two-yard line in the second period to cap respective marches of 70 and 76 yards.

Back came Waterford for one TD by Larry Hemmerley to cut the Farmington lead to 13-6 at halftime.

In the third period, Farmington marched for 70 yards with Wolfman driving the final three. Steve Goyt went 12 and Sheldon 38 and the three-quarter score showed Farmington leading, 20-19.

It was Wolfman again in the fourth period to make it 26-19 as he scooted over from the 12 to close out a drive of 75 yards.

A pass from Brad Potter to Shelton brought Waterford even at 26-26 before Wolfman broke loose for 44 yards and with 3:35 on the clock it was now Farmington, 32-26.

But the Farmington defense couldn't contain Shelton with the result the teams had to leave the field with the score tied.

WATERFORD, LIKE Farmington, counted on long marches of 50, 67, 50, 67 and 79.

Seldom have there been prep statistics to match those the two schools fashioned. They looked more like totals compiled by the professionals.

Farmington rushed for 365 yards, plus the 89 gained on aeriels. Waterford picked up 240 yards rushing and 146 more on the grounds.

In the first down department it was 24-18 for Farmington.

But as they have said for so long in football:

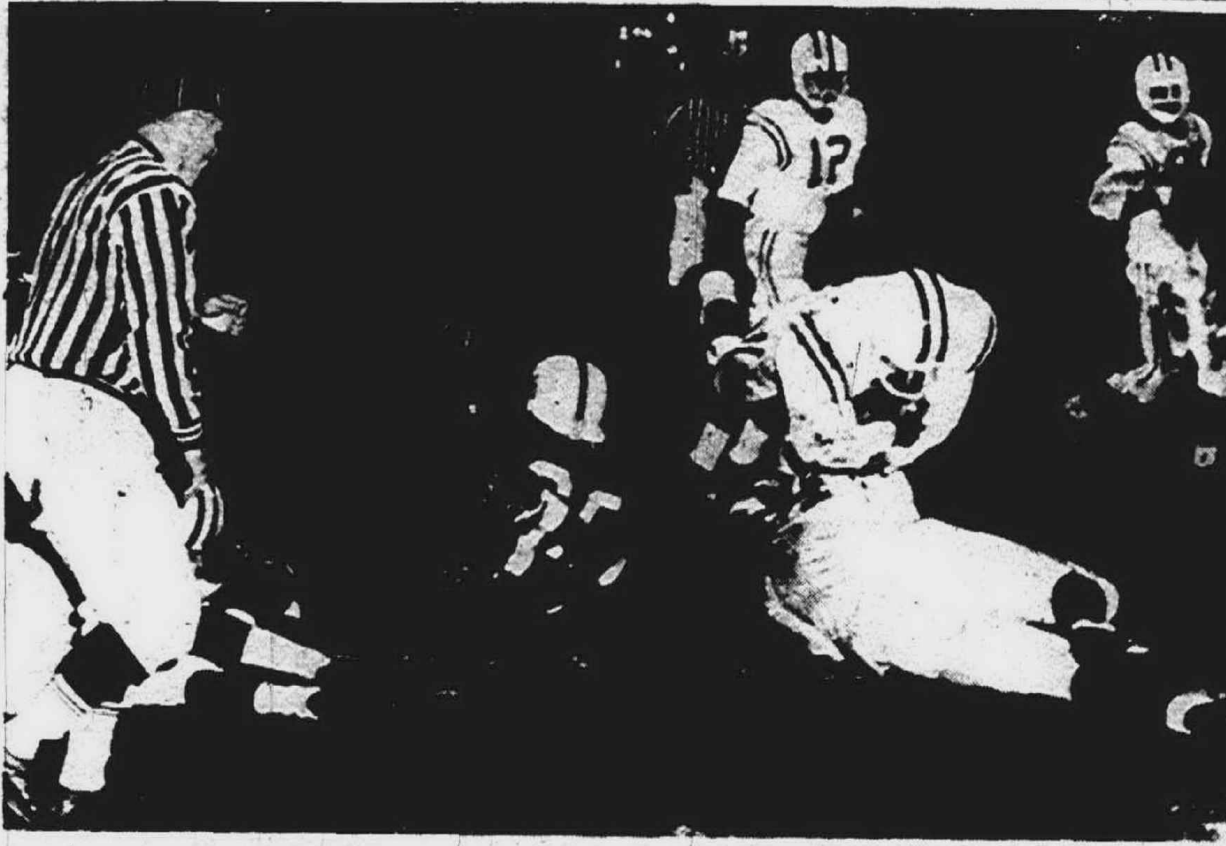

"You don't win games on statistics."

Cross Country Record No Help

Although Jack Clark ran first to set a school record and teammate Dave Collins was right behind, Franklin high's cross country squad lost by a point, 27-28, to North Farmington in a dual meet.

Clark's time was 10 minutes and 10.5 seconds.

Rick Randall placed third to pace North Farmington.

PLYMOUTH'S Rick Dyer plunges into the end zone for the Rocks' second touchdown. It wasn't enough and Allen Park won, 20-14.

Parkers Topple Rocks

Unbeaten Allen Park, which is receiving rating as one of the state's top schoolboy grid-iron machines, took advantage of a momentary lapse in the Plymouth High defense to spoil the annual homecoming celebration with a 20-14 victory.

A capacity crowd saw the fired-up Rocks play their best game of the season to no avail... they went down to their third straight loss after an opening game victory over Northville.

It was the second defeat in Suburban Six play and dropped Plymouth into the cellar spot while the visiting Parkers tightened their grip on the No. 1 position.

To add to the discomfort of Plymouth Coach Tom Moshimer, it was the third time his Rocks have fallen by a margin on a lone touchdown.

Moshimer had his team ready for this one. Added incentive was given by the huge homecoming game crowd and the fact that Bill Elias, coach of the Navy football team and uncle of PHS Captain Tom Elias, was seated in the stands.

NEITHER CLUB was able to work up much of an offensive display in the opening period which found the Parkers getting a break on the final play when Gary Fraser intercepted a Mike Cederberg aerial on the Plymouth 40 and raced back to the 25 as the quarter ended.

Chuck Beane and Gary Grundman ripped off two first downs to the Plymouth 3 before Grundman plunged over for the first score. Tackle Bob Curry converted and Allen Park had a 7-0 margin with 9:23 remaining.

The Rocks came roaring back and with Elias leading the attack marched to the Parker 12. Elias stormed to the nine but the Rocks were offside and the ball went back to the 17. A pass went awry and then Elias was stopped on the 25 on a wide reverse where the visitors took over.

With Beane and Grundman ripping through the line and grinding off yardage, the Parkers drove to the Plymouth 29 with nine seconds showing on the clock.

QUARTERBACK Ray De-Marti faded back to the 35 and tossed a bomb into the arms of halfback Mike Ferguson as he crossed the goal line a step in front of the Plymouth defender. Curry's placement was wide but the Parkers went into the dressing room at halftime with a 13-0 lead.

Plymouth capitalized on a break to score at the five minute

Run Kills East's Bid

The complexion of a football game can change in a flash. Like what happened Friday night when Garden City East was engaged in battle with Riverview High.

East was on the short end of a 13-0 score in the third period.

But things were looking up for the Garden City forces. They were on a march with Jim Burtin and Gary Stevens leading a drive.

Down East went to the Riverview eight-yard line where the Riverview defense stiffened and took over the ball.

East figured it had Riverview in "a hole." But not for long.

ON THE VERY next play, Rick Clark of Riverview slanted off tackle... and he was off and running... 92 yards for a touchdown.

"That killed us right there," moaned Gary Humphrey, the East coach.

"We were right in the game... until that play happened."

Humphrey also noted that East had virtually complete domination of the action in the third period. Riverview had the ball twice... once they fumbled, the other time on Clark's long run.

Dennis Barrow had scored in the first period from the six for Riverview. In the second period, Clark went 11, Rick Salbe scooted four yards to finish the scoring.

Riverview rolled for 265 yards rushing to East's 121. In the air, Riverview had a slight edge, 43-33.

St. Agatha Winner, 7-0

St. Agatha high's football team has hit the .500 mark in Southwest Division play in the Catholic League.

With a belated rush, St. Agatha made its record 2-2 last Saturday by downing St. Andrew, 7-0.

The hero for St. Agatha was John Kelly. He scooted 23 yards for a touchdown to cap a 40-yard march.

Only three minutes remained when he crossed the goal line.

Schoolcraft Concert To Feature Flute Works

The first of three concerts on the Schoolcraft College fall semester Humanities Series will be presented at 11 a.m., Thursday, Oct. 12, when Flautist Marilyn Jones and Pianist and Harpsichordist Uel Wade will present a program of Music for Four Flutes from Three Centuries.

The concert, to be performed in the Library, is open to the public. There is no admission fee.

THE PROGRAM takes its title from the fact that Mrs. Jones has scheduled works for the treble recorder, the German flute, the flute and the alto flute. Works by Purcell, C.P.E. Bach, Telemann, Brahms and Martinu are on the program.

One of the works is "Piece for Alto Flute and Electronic Tape Recording" by Felciano. Its performance will be contingent on whether the work is completed in time for performance on Oct. 12. The piece was commissioned by Mrs. Jones' husband, David, as a birthday gift for his wife. It will be receiving its first public performance at Schoolcraft.

MRS. JONES, a faculty member of the Schoolcraft College Summer Music School this past season, has performed with the Detroit Symphony, and has made frequent appearances with chamber music groups.

A graduate of Wayne State University, where she is now a candidate for the masters degree in humanities, Mrs. Jones is teaching theory, harmony, and music history and coaching woodwind ensembles at Cass Technical High School in Detroit.

Wade holds a masters degree in music theory from the University of Michigan, taught at Eastern Michigan University, coached opera at Oakland University, and is presently teaching piano at the Michigan Conservatory of Music.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR is "Kate", who is angry with Richard Burton in the screen version of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" opening next Wednesday at the Livonia Cinema II Theatre.

Ensemble To Present 'Instant Music' Studies

Dr. Ruth Shaw Wylie's Improvisation Chamber Ensemble, a novel musical group working spontaneously within the contemporary non-jazz idiom, will give one of its rare public performances Monday, Oct. 23, at 8:30, in Wilson Hall at Oakland University.

The group, similar to one developed by Lukas Foss during his tenure at U.C.L.A., was originally instituted as a composition teaching aid. Audience reactions on campuses throughout the state and from 13 WDET broadcasts carried nationally by 50 stations last season have been enthusiastic and attest to the validity of this new creative art form.

The program will be made up of "instant music" improvisation studies and quartets created in the main by Dr. Wylie. Players and the audience Monday will be given schematic plans which look more mathematical than musical. From these the performers will create their individual ideas as to themes and development.

THEATRE GUILD OF LIVONIA - REDFORD

Oct. 13, 14
8:30 p.m.
Matinee Sun.
Oct. 15 - 2:30

PRESENTS

The Smash Comedy Hit by Muriel Resnik
Franklin High School Auditorium

Comedy Opens Season

The Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford will bring "Any Wednesday," one of the most popular Broadway comedies of the 1960's, to the stage of Franklin High School, 31000 Joy Rd.

The first performances will be Oct. 13 and 14 and a matinee, Sunday, Oct. 15, at 2:30. For tickets call 538-3135 or KE7-8109.

"Any Wednesday" is the tale of a business tycoon and the young lady he visits every Wednesday at an apartment he has listed in his company's ledgers as an executive suite.

Tony Mattar will portray this calculating Lothario, (John Cleves), who maintains a wife and family in sumptuous suburban splendor along with his fiscally finagled hideaway. The executive's girl-friend, (Ellen Gordon), will be played by Marjorie Williams.

Richard W. Thiede will be seen as the Ohion, (Cass Henderson), who has come to demand fair-play for his small business from the giant corporation and is mistakenly directed to the suite by a new secretary.

The gracious unsuspecting housewife, (Dorothy Cleves), will be played by Louise DiVitto.

The unsuspecting suburban wife walks in on an argument between the girl and the young man, assumes they are having a young-married spat and tries to help them kiss and make up.

Puppetry Is Topic

The first fall meeting of the Redford Friends of the Library will be held at the library, 15150 Norborne, on Thursday, Oct. 12 at 8 p.m. The 65 charter members may bring prospective members.

A program is planned on Puppetry as a Hobby, with Mrs. James Vollick as the guest speaker. Puppets, books, periodicals and other related materials will be on display.

For November, a book review evening is planned, with Jim Dance, book reviewer from the Detroit Public Library.

Officers of the Friends are Mrs. E.A. Calkins, Mrs. Howard Parr, Mrs. Harold Cassidy, with the librarian and library commission members as consultants. Information may be requested from any of these or from other members.

UNIVERSITY DRIVE-IN

OUTDOOR SEATS were the answer to the La Parisien Theater when faced with long lines of patrons waiting to see the Sidney Poitier hit "To Sir With Love". Charlie Shafer, manager of the theater, rented 330 chairs on a month's experiment. His response has been so good that he plans to buy them. It's fine for the warm months, but what will happen when the temperature drops?

Wally Roberts UP' GOING 'CURTAIN'

Can the University theaters in the Detroit-Ann Arbor area equal or surpass commercial or professional productions coming from New York?

The answer is definitely "Yes," if you have a star-studded troupe of actors possessing the multi-faceted talents of a Jeff Tambor. Unquestionably, this 23-year-old bundle of theatrical energy is fast approaching the comic proportions of a Zero Mostel. His timing, facial grimaces, tonal touches rate raves!

Tambor made "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum," a riotous occasion at the Bonstelle Theater last week.

His mugging, leering, sexy gyrations, rolling of the eyes, and the thousand comic bits of stage business gave the uninhibited character of Pseudolus this hilarious Broadway musical professional status.

"FUNNY THING" had been seen by Old Wally on two other occasions. Jerry Lester did the leading role when it bounced into the Fisher a couple of seasons ago. When in New York Zero Mostel's performances were enjoyed.

This past week I truly enjoyed the show all over again. In fact, in many ways I savored the production as done by a spirited Wayne State University troupe even more. There was zip in the University production.

"Funny Thing" had played 55 times overseas to our troops in the Asian areas. It's easy to understand after viewing this brilliant production how standing ovations were the rule rather than the exception.

Director Russ Smith must be credited with more than a lion's share of the real reason for such a successful production. His direction made "Funny Thing" one long grand and glorious guffaw. Smith's imagination never flagged as comic bit after comic bit tumbled forth on the Bonstelle stage. The pace never let up for an instant. In every respect it matched any and all professional production of this musical comedy ever seen.

Paul Stolarsky, Wil Love, Fred Merrell, Alice Holt, Robert Robb, Thomas McMahan, Karen Cutler, and Bruce Solomon gave Jeff Tambor strong support. In fact, "Funny Thing" did not have a student actor up on that stage that was not "giving his all for the complete success of the production."

You can see this in many productions, but in this outstanding example the difference was the excessive amount of talent displayed by each of the supporting actors.

Clear Day Next For Theatre

Dearborn Civic Theatre kicks off a new season Oct. 6 with the opening of the new Lerner and Lane musical, "On A Clear Day You Can See Forever". DCT is one of the first community theatres to stage the musical dealing with extra-sensory perception, (ESP) hypnosis and psychiatry and costumed in the latest mini-skirted styles. "Clear Day" appeared at the Fisher Theatre as recently as last August.

THE SHOW WILL run Friday and Saturday, Oct. 6, 7, and 13 and 14, in Stout Junior High auditorium, located on Oakwood near Rotunda, Curtain time is 8:30 p.m., all nights.

Tickets are now on sale at the Youth Center, Michigan and Greenfield, the Recreation Office, City Hall Annex East or Fera's Bookstore. Adult prices are $2; students, senior citizens and groups of 20 or more may purchase tickets for the reduced price of $1.50.

Full information about "Clear Day" or any other DCT production may be obtained by calling LU. 4-1200, Ext. 263.

Plymouth Opens Symphony Year

Violinist Mischa Mischakoff will perform Beethoven's D major violin concerto with the Plymouth Symphony as the orchestra opens its 1967-68 season this weekend.

The free concert will begin Sunday at 4 p.m. in Plymouth High School.

Mischakoff, concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony, is scheduled to retire at the end of the season.

FLEEING HIS native Russia in 1921, Mischakoff and a friend proved to officials in a Polish police fortress they weren't Bolshevik spies by performing Handel's passacaglia for unaccompanied violin and viola.

The police chief, a serious music lover, was convinced. Although Mischakoff won honors as a student in St. Petersburg Conservatory and is a fine soloist, he chose instead to make his career as an orchestra concertmaster.

For 15 years he was known as "Toscanini's third hand" with the NBC Symphony. He has also been concertmaster of the New York Symphony, Chicago Symphony and Philadelphia Orchestra.

WITH THE PLYMOUTH Symphony Sunday, Mischakoff will perform the only violin concerto Beethoven, a pianist by background, ever wrote.

The Beethoven work ranks with those of Mendelssohn, Brahms and Tchaikovsky as the four most popular concert works for violin and orchestra.

Early critics sarcastically called it a concerto for violin and kettle drums—the first movement's theme is announced by a four-dots-and-a-dash beat of the timpani. The catchy final movement, a rondo, is in the style of a rustic dance.

Opening the program, the orchestra, directed by Wayne Dumlup, will perform Rimdemith's "Symphonic Metamorphoses of Themes by Carl Maria von Weber" and Dvorak's "Symphony No. 8 in G-Major."

A Woman Dentist? Why Not?
Girls--have you ever thought of being a dentist? Sounds strange? Well, it's not. Dentistry is an ideal field for a woman who has the aptitude for this type of scientific work and who wants a professional life in addition to marriage.

ALTHOUGH LESS than two per cent of U.S. dentists are women, in certain Scandinavian countries half of all practicing dentists are women. In Russia, 75 per cent of the dentists are women. In some of the countries of Southeast Asia, too, a substantial proportion of all dentists are women. In this country, women are entering more and more fields once open only to men and are gaining acceptance as they prove their abilities.

TESTS PREPARED by the American Dental Association will help you know whether you have the aptitude for dentistry. Write to the Division of Educational Measurements, American Dental Association, 211 East Chicago Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Old Kitchen In Museum
EAST LANSING -- "The good old days" -- when home meant sweet churned butter and a larder filled with fresh preserves -- have been recaptured in a new historical exhibit in Michigan State University's Museum. The exhibit features a reconstructed kitchen that captures the setting and atmosphere of farm living in the early 1900's. The new exhibit is in the Museum's Heritage Hall.

Refuse Disposal Hurts

The problems Livonia's Public Works Department faces are not uncommon to communities across the country, according to delegates who attended the convention of the American Public Works Association in Boston last week.

David L. Jones, assistant director of the department, said that many cities face the same question of whether to bury or burn their refuse after it is collected. The answer lies in the political, economic and geographic environment the city is operating in, Jones said.

LIVONIA RECENTLY awarded a new three year contract to Commercial Removal Co. of Toledo for collection and disposal of its refuse.

"Before the present contract runs out, we'll have to start our own operation," Jones said. "The decisions around financing, locating and operating the operation will have to be made."

Other cities have been financing their operations from Federal grants awarded to local refuse disposal authorities. The authorities are formed so that the member cities can handle refuse in large quantities and meet water, air and ground pollution prevention regulations.

"The present trend has been that if you don't form an authority with other cities, you don't get a Federal grant to help finance your operations," Jones said.

JONES, WHO HEADS the water and sewer and sanitation divisions of the DPW, was recently named to a committee to investigate forming a refuse disposal authority in this area. He said that one of the major obstacles in forming a disposal authority is locating the dump site.

"Everyone wants an efficient landfill or dump site but nobody wants it near his home," Jones said. "When you form an authority with other communities, locating the site becomes a committee affair and the city has to share in the decision making instead of deciding for itself."

Presently, the committee is investigating the possibility of a refuse disposal authority with Plymouth.

"We're trying to work out the legal angles of an authority and expect to have some results soon," Jones said.

Hunt Gets Franklin Almanack Wins Citizen Citation

Clyde Hunt, 19950 Floral, took bows for valor Monday when he was presented a civilian citation by the Livonia Fire Division.

It was only the fourth such citation presented by the division in a quarter of a century.

Hunt was singled out by Donald R. Nicholson, director of the Department of Public Safety, for "saving a life...without regard for his personal safety."

HUNT WAS relaxing at his home on Floral shortly before midnight July 11, when he heard a muffled explosion. He investigated and found the residence at 20014 Floral, occupied by James Antaya, in flames. Hunt forced entrance into the home, rescued Antaya and administered aid until Livonia firemen arrived.

Hunt said it was simply his "curiosity" that prompted him to hunt the source of the explosion. Hunt's wife was at work and their nine-year-old daughter, Gwendolyn, was asleep.

Gwen slept through the entire heroic episode involving her Dad, but she's still talking about her "hero."

HUNT, A LIVONIA resident for 11 years, is a machine operator for the Ford Motor Co.

He considers his action "something anybody would have done." "I'm just glad I could be of help," he said.

The Civilian Citation was presented in conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week. Making the award were Mayor Harvey W. Moelke and Calvin Roberts, fire chief.

Chief Roberts, incidentally, has been on hand for each of the preceding three Civilian Citations given by the Livonia Fire Division.

State Water Deaths Hit 248 Total

Michigan's water deaths this year, including seven attributed to the recent cold fishing tragedy, have climbed to 248 in 525 accidents, according to State Police provisional figures through September 26.

These represent 37 fewer deaths and 50 fewer accidents than occurred in the comparable period last year.

Michigan's toll to date includes at least 203 injured. The drownings on which official reports have been received include 91 swimmers, 69 who fell from bridges, banks or piers, 31 boat operators, 24 boat passengers, 13 who fell through ice, three who attempted rescue of others, and one skin or scuba diver. Provisional information showed 16 additional drownings.

Michigan water tragedies for all of 1966 resulted in record highs of 703 accidents, 346 deaths and 248 persons injured.

Franklin Almanack Wins

The 1967 Almanack, Franklin High School's yearbook, has received two top national ratings.

From National Scholastic Press Association came an "All American" citation. Earlier the book had been presented an "A-plus" certificate from National School Yearbook Association.

It is the fifth consecutive year that the Almanack has earned these two ratings, highest available from the respective agencies.

Co-editors of the 1967 Almanack were Janet K. Welch and Shelley Winters, currently freshmen at Albion College and the University of Michigan respectively.

A third rating, that of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, is expected in late October.

West Triumphs On Late Thrust

The football fortunes at Garden City West are on the upswing.

Coach Harold Burkholder's team now stands 2-1 league play and one of the biggest reasons is the team's ability to come from behind in the late going.

Less than four minutes remained last Saturday when West turned a 14-13 deficit into a 20-14 conquest over Taylor Kennedy.

And for the second time this season, it was defensive guard Charles DeShais with a fumble recovery that started West on the way to the deciding touchdown.

DeShais fell on a Taylor misplay with five minutes to go on the Kennedy 42.

Gary Robinson, a sharp-shooting passer for West, wasted no time going to the air. He hit Mike Alexander for 12 yards....

Then it was Robinson to McGrath for 10 more on the Kennedy 20....

THE BIG BOMB came two plays later as Robinson hit Jerry Hopkins for his second touchdown of the game.

Just 3:58 remained when Hopkins nestled the ball for the TD. Alexander ran the point to sew up the verdict.

It was a brilliant comeback that West staged because West had rolled ahead, 14-0 in the first half on the running and passing of quarterback Walt Liskiewicz.

Liskiewicz scooted 41 yards for a touchdown in the first period, then passed to Mark Kelly for 28 yards on the West three in the second stanza. From the three Gale Minto leaped over to give Kennedy its 14-0 edge and what appeared a safe margin.

"But our players wanted this one desperately," said West coach Harold Burkholder. "We could see that they were ready to really take off on Kennedy in the second half as we talked to the boys between halves."

IN THE THIRD period, Alexander on a pitch pass clicked to Hopkins for 17 yards and a TD. Alexander ran the point and West trailed, 14-7.

In the early moments of the fourth period, Robinson unloaded for 41 yards to Alexander on the Kennedy two, paving the way for Gary Woodside to drive over.

But the try for the extra point failed and West trailed by a point until the dramatics of the closing minutes.

"Alexander and McGrath stood out for us," said Burkholder. "But so did everybody else."

Radcliff PTA Meets Oct. 16

The Radcliff Junior High School PTA will hold an open house at its first meeting at 7:30 p.m. next Monday, Oct. 16.

A special guest for the event will be Dr. Donald R. Shader, Garden City's new school superintendent.

Also scheduled for the evening is a bake sale and a membership drive. Refreshments will be served at the meeting, open to the public.

NEWEST ARLAN'S STORE, located at the corner of Inkster and Plymouth Roads in Redford Township, will begin a grand opening celebration Thursday. As shown in the picture, the new branch has parking facilities for hundreds of cars and the building is almost a block long. It will continue the bargains and discounts that have made Arlan's so popular in the Metropolitan Detroit area.

Receives High Scores

Twenty-three Farmington area high school students have received letters of commendation honoring them for their high performance on the 1967 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Catherine Ruyle and Becky Esper both from Our Lady of Sorrows High School were commended.

Mercy High School students are: Mary Lou Caspers; Patricia Cusick; Marilyn Mazur; Ann Nefcy; Beverly Reppert; Stephanie Sosnowski; and Cynthia Westphal.

Students from Farmington and North Farmington High Schools are: Ellen S. Collins; James Benya; Nancy L. Breisch; Michael H. Cary; Patrick D. Harrigan; Ralph W. Hurd; Douglas E. Lam; Michele A. Collet; Robert T. Hawkins; Lee M. Kornfield; Marianne McGivern; Nancy E. Peck; Timothy P. Shaw; and James A. Wattson.

They are among the 40,000 students in the U.S. who scored in the upper two per cent of those who will graduate from high school in 1968.

The commended students rank just below the 14,000 semifinalists announced last September.

Commonwealth Assets Hit $1 Billion

Donald H. Parsons, chairman of the board, and George W. Miller, president, announced that on Sept. 30, Bank of the Commonwealth for the first time in its 50 year history had achieved net assets exceeding $1 billion dollars.

In doing so, Bank of the Commonwealth joined the company of 50 others in the nation's network of nearly 14,000 commercial banks.

Total assets on Sept. 30, were $1,030,442,160 compared with $749,344,092 on Sept. 30, 1966.

Parsons and Miller also reported on the bank's third quarter earnings for 1967 amounting to a 14 per cent in the quarter with earnings aggregating $1,250,617, compared with $1,098,681 in the third quarter of 1966.

Per share earnings adjusted for a 3-for-2 stock split effected May 1, 1967 aggregated 93 cents per share in the third quarter as opposed to 81 cents per share in the 1966 quarter.

Ford Sales Ahead Of Year Ago

Ford Division car sales of 49,292 for the last 10 days of September were the third highest in history for the period.

M.S. (Matt) McLaughlin, company vice president and Ford Division general manager, said that dealers, who introduced the 1968 product line Sept. 22, sold 4.4 per cent more new cars in the final 10 days last month than the 47,198 sold a year ago.

The record of 71,192 new cars was established in 1964. In the same 1965 period, 52,769 were sold.

Sales of 26,957 big Fords and 12,302 Mustangs paced the 10-day total. Fairlane sales totaled 4,545; Falcon, 2,660, and Thunderbird, 2,828.

Truck sales for the period were 14,429, 2.6 per cent over the 14,058 reported last year.

HOME IMPROVEMENTS

Find Home Owners Add To Air Pollution

Are you contributing to the pollution of your neighborhood? You are, says an air-and-water expert, if you use an incinerator for burning garbage or burn leaves in the street.

T. A. Davenport, pollution

This Liquid Will Do Most Anything

A liquid that its backers contend will do everything from remove the rust from your car bumper to clean your dentures (diluted, of course) is now being marketed in retail outlets for the first time at the Demery Department Stores.

This is the only outlet in the country at this time. The product is currently also being marketed in Japan, Europe and South America.

The liquid called "Task Force," has been used by the U.S. Armed Forces for cleaning purposes since the Second World War.

Just recently, however, Taskforce, Inc., a Detroit-based firm, acquired the retail marketing rights for the product.

Promoters of the product say that it will dissolve rust and form a rust inhibiting coating on metal surfaces. They also assert that the product forms an excellent adhesive applying paint to the cleaned surfaces.

In addition to metal the liquid can be used to clean hub caps, bumpers, chrome, stainless steel, brass, copper, aluminum, porcelain, and cement, according to the company.

The company does contend also that when diluted the liquid is an effective denture cleaner and whitener.

NBD 9-Month Earnings Up

Consolidated net operating earnings of the National Bank of Detroit for the nine months ended Sept. 30, were $17,187,560, or $3.58 per share, it was reported today by Henry T. Bodman, chairman, and Robert M. Surdam, president.

This compares with $17,050,522, or $3.55 per share for the corresponding period of 1966.

Total rounded capital accounts of NBD, including the reserve for contingencies, were $235 million on Sept. 30, reflecting an increase of $11.6 million for the last 12 months.

Total consolidated assets were $3.4 billion, an increase of $404 million over a year ago. Total deposits were $3 billion, an increase of $315 million. Savings and time deposits were $1,485,000,000, compared to $1,259,500,000 in 1966.

Loans and mortgages, at Sept. 30 of $1,639,000,000 were up $78,850,000. Holdings of U.S. securities totaled $566,000,000, compared with a 1966 total of $455,830,000. All other securities totaled $484,309,000 compared with $423,765,000 at Sept. 30, 1966.

consultant to industry and chairman of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce's natural resources committee, pointed this out to members of the United Northwestern Realty Association recently.

AUTUMN LEAVES often have a DDT residue as the result of spraying with insecticide earlier in the season. When burned, Davenport reported, such leaves not only emit an offending smoke but a poisonous one as well.

Los Angeles, he said, has succeeded in abating approximately 30 per cent of its pollution problem by enforcing a ban on the burning of domestic trash and leaves.

"Industry is very cognizant of the pollution problem it has created and has been working a full 20 years at it," Davenport, a former Budd plant engineer, declared. "But unlike the pollution created by the general public, which calls merely for abatement, the problem of industrial pollution is extremely complex."

Nevertheless, he assured his hearers, it is being solved. Michigan's industry has slated some $80 million dollars for pollution control equipment in 1968, he said.

Nursery Children Take Trip

The first trip of the season was taken last week for the Garden City Co-Op Nursery with the children going to the South Huron Apple Orchard under the supervision of the teachers and the mothers.

The children were escorted around the orchard freezers and shown how cider was made. The children finished the trip with ice cold cider and donuts.

PREPARATIONS by the members of the Garden City Co-Op Nursery, to attend the fall workshop sponsored by the Greater Detroit Council of Co-operative Nursery have been completed.

The Fall Adult Education Workshop will be held Saturday Oct. 21, at the Henry Ford Community College, 5101 Evergreen, Dearborn. Workshop will begin at 9:30 a.m. and end at 12:30 p.m.

Registration tickets may be picked up by individuals at the registration desk from 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

THE FIRST part of the morning until 11 a.m. will feature in-depth discussions and the second part from 11:30 until the end of the meeting will be spent on shorter skill workshops.

Courses as philosophy of nursery education, children at work, and adults at work, have been offered. Skilled workshops will consist of courses such as woodworking, science, and creative art.

Romney Praises Candidate

Milton Hack, chairman of the Westland Republican Club and one of his party's candidates for the City Council in the Nov. 7 election, has been honored by Gov. George Romney for his participation in the "Involvement Program."

In a letter to Hack, of 8196 Gary Street, Romney said: "Work such as yours demonstrates to the people that Republicans really do care about the people. It gives meaning to the Republican belief that only if the people are directly involved—voluntarily—can America realize its purpose and destiny."

"I believe that only the Republican Party—with members like you—can turn the vast potential of the people into a political reality. I believe only the Republican Party has enough faith in the people to involve them in solving today's complex human and social problems."

Westland Man In Top Chapter

ALMA -- David B. Kosteva, of Westland, is a member of the Zeta Delta Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity at Alma College which has been selected as the top Teke chapter in the United States and Canada for 1966-67.

Kosteva, a 1966 graduate of Livonia Franklin High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kosteva.

Livonia Opener To Have Aspect Of United Nations

The Livonia Town Hall series will have a United Nations aspect when it opens its new season Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 10:30 a.m. in the Terrace Theatre, 30400 Plymouth.

The speaker will be Marietta Tree, the first woman ambassador from the United States to the UN.

Sharing the spotlight with her will be four American Field Service exchange students, studying this year in Livonia high schools and living with families here.

THEY WILL be introduced to the Town Hall audience—a fitting move since Town Hall proceeds all go to the AFS program in Livonia.

A celebrity luncheon in the Mayflower Meeting House, Plymouth, will follow Miss Tree's talk. Reservations for the luncheon are being taken by Mrs. Robert Kelly, Ga. 5-6783, and should be made by Oct. 13.

THE VISITORS from foreign lands who will be on hand for the Town Hall opener include: Per Olov Sandberg, of Sweden, living with the William Ballin family on Puritan and attending Bentley High School. Shirin Akbarpour, from Iran, living with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maddox, of Allen

PWP Sets Program For October

A recording entitled "Awareness" from the Morton Hunt book, "The World of the Formerly Married," will be featured tonight in the meeting of the Livonia Chapter of Parents Without Partners at 8:30 p.m. in the Nativity Church of Christ, Henry Ruff and West Chicago.

The group's Oct. 25 meeting will have a speaker from the Detroit Social Security Commission and a film on the Miss America pageant.

PWP also has several social activities scheduled for the month, including: a pinocle party Oct. 17, a moonlight bowling party, a family pot-luck dinner Oct. 27, a Halloween masquerade ball Oct. 28 and a children's Halloween party Oct. 29.

Parents Without Partners is an organization devoted to the welfare and interests of single parents and their children. Those interested in more information may write to Livonia Chapter #130, P.W.P., Box 2295, Livonia.

Vivians Plan Card Party

The Vivians of Plymouth will hold a card party and fashion show at 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 18, in the Elks Lodge #1780, 41700 Ann Arbor Road. The style show will follow a buffet luncheon.

Reservations will be taken at 425-6067 or 534-1894.

Luncheon Set

The North Suburban Chi Omega alumnae will hold a luncheon and card party at 12:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 19, in the Clawson Shopping Center, 14 Mile and Crooks Road.

Women interested in attending may call Mrs. John Stanley, 355-6558. The group also plans a Nov. 19 business meeting and a Christmas cocktail party Dec. 2.

Dr. Banks Opens Northville Series

"What To Do Until the Psychiatrist Comes" is the title of the opening lecture for the Northville Town Hall Series in the P&A Theatre Thursday, Oct. 19.

Speaker will be Dr. Murray Banks, clinical psychologist from Bellevue Mental Hospital in New York.

He is well-known for humorous records and talks on serious subjects.

ONE REVIEWER has said of him:

"Dr. Banks covers all the panicky subjects that we know so well, or thought we did, and which upset our equilibrium so easily—such things as marriage, children, mothers-in-law, mice, money, ambition, bed-wetting, ducktails and growing old."

On the serious side, he has a ten-point program for a mental health checkup.

Dr. Banks will be introduced by Dr. F. F. Ishac, of the Northville State Hospital.

THE LECTURE will be followed by a celebrity luncheon at Meadowbrook Country Club. Reservations for the luncheon may be made by sending a check to Mrs. Duane Butler, Box 93, Northville.

A few tickets for the five-lecture series are still available, and may be ordered by calling Mrs. Robert Brueck, FI 9-2250.

A new addition to our family—a color television set—led to all sorts of complications.

After everyone oohed and aahed over the differences and learned to turn the knobs properly, there were decisions to be made. For instance, what to do with the old one.

It was decided, finally, that it should go to the older girls' bedroom, and Miss Eight didn't care much for the ruling.

"They'll have a TV and we won't," she wailed.

"But it's ONLY black and white," countered her already-blase big sister.

The youngest decided she had better learn to read right quick, so she could check the TV listings, so she could know if her cartoon program was in color, so she could decide whether to make adjustments.

She had recently brought home a star from school for saying her ABC's without the "elemeno." The elemeno, to the uninitiated, is the letter after K. She may have to work her way laboriously through L-M-N-O, but I suspect she won't have any more trouble with C—for Color.

Couple Wed In Plymouth Marks Golden Years

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dunham

Married on a Plymouth farm half a century ago, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dunham will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Saturday in their retirement home in Fremont.

Dunham was retired in 1952 as supervisor of the Wayne County Road Commission forestry division after 25 years with the commission. Before that he was a farmer.

The couple was married Oct. 17, 1917, on the property known as the Hough Farm, at the corner of Warren and Haggerty Roads.

They have one son, Shirley Dunham, of Whitehall, Mich., two daughters, Mrs. Elmer Horvath, of Plymouth, and Mrs. Elmer Meyers, of Dixboro, Mich. There also are 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The son and daughters will host the open house at the Dunham home at 4456 Dickinson Avenue, Fremont. The elder Dunhams went there to live 15 years ago.

Plymouth BPW Hears Dr. Bashur

The Plymouth Business and Professional Woman's Club will hear Dr. Rashid Bashur, sociologist from the University of Michigan, at its dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 16, at Hillside Inn.

Husbands who helped the club members on their German Night for the Plymouth Fall Festival will be guests for this meeting.

Dr. Bashur, born in Lebanon and educated at Beirut University, was an underground agent in the Near East before coming to this country.

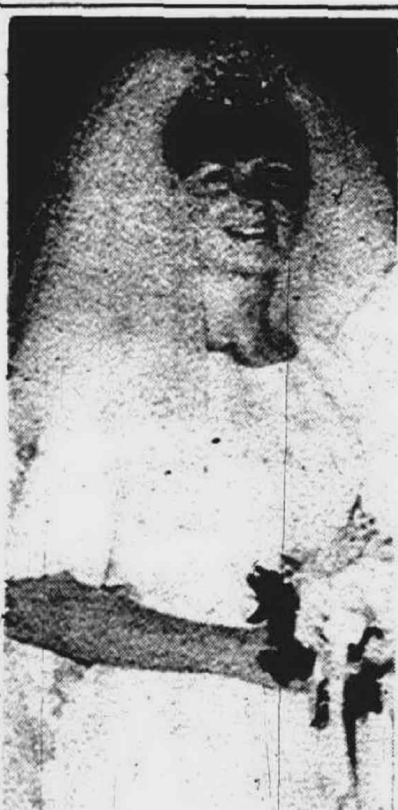

He earned his doctorate in sociology from the University of Michigan and does social research for health, education and welfare at the university.

Miniature Arrangements Club Topic

Mrs. E. A. Linder will speak on "Miniature Dried Arrangements," at the meeting of the Livonia City Woman's Club at 1 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 19, in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile.

Mrs. Linder is a member of the Osage Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. Also featured at the October meeting will be a tea as part of the group's fall membership drive.

The club meets regularly on Thursday afternoons and women interested may call Mrs. R. A. Okestrom, 421-2425.

MRS. BRADLEY MARTIN (Leslye Lynn Carr)

Maureen Here

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Miller, of Hutton Avenue, Northville, announce the birth of a daughter, Maureen Suzanne, Sept. 23 in Sinai Hospital. The couple also has a son, Christopher Patrick.

Father Reads Rites

The bridegroom's father performed the ceremony when Leslye Lynn Carr and Bradley Glenn Martin exchanged marriage vows recently in the Aldersgate Methodist Church, Redford Township.

Officiating for the double-rite was the Rev. George M. Martin. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carr, of Redford Township. The Rev. and Mrs. Martin, former residents of Redford Township, now live in Grand Rapids.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a floor-length sheath of silk organza with pearls and crystals and an illusion veil of her own design. Roses, carnations and lilies of the valley formed her bouquet.

Peg Slongo, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Honess, Betsy Jones, Kathy Carroll and Cathie Martin.

The bridegroom's attendants were Chuck Hulse, best man, Tom and Tim Carr, and Norm Martin.

About 175 guests attended the reception in the church hall. After a honeymoon tour of Upper Michigan, Niagara Falls and Ontario, the couple is living at Mt. Pleasant, where the bridegroom is a student at Central Michigan University and the new Mrs. Martin, a former CMU student, is employed as a secretary. She is a graduate of Thurston High School.

Women on the GO!

By Margaret Miller

Dawn Rice

several of the score of years they lived in the township and she had helped in his campaigns. After his death in 1956, Dawn worked for a while as sales manager for a builder-developer, but decided to go into the political world on her own.

"And I was elected, and here I am," she said.

THERE HAS been some suggestion that she consider higher office in GOP circles.

"But I love this job," she said, "and I'm not at all sure I would want to leave it."

Dawn has the feeling that most of the things that have happened to her contribute to her present situation.

Her early life was full of politics, she said, and she remembers plenty of political discussions among relatives when on vacation from her convent school in Monroe.

After marriage, she and her Air Force husband were in New Mexico for a time, and Dawn thinks service life can be an important preparation for public life.

"AFTER THE WAR, we moved to Redford because we liked open spaces," she remembered. "And while my two daughters and son were growing up, there were the usual activities like Red Cross leadership, PTA, Boy and Girl Scouts and the den mother stint."

All fine background for the small problems she handles daily when residents come in to talk.

"Then the campaigns with my husband were invaluable, and the business work gave me a lot of needed training and information," Dawn said.

THE POLITICAL tradition is being carried on in the Rice family. One son, Ronald, is an aid to Congressman Jack Macdonald, her daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Hargrove, delves into political science at Wayne State University, and another daughter, Mrs. Madeline Saylor, is an assistant in the city clerk office at Hudson, Mich.

One part of her job Dawn likes best is talking to high school senior classes.

"I tell them the problems in government in Redford," she said. "And I tell them to take an active interest in government--and to get their parents to do the same."

"Intelligent, well-informed voters are needed if the officeholders are to function well," Edmund Burke would surely agree.

Newton-Kalmbach Rites In Plymouth

Gay Lee Kalmbach and Craig A. Newton spoke their marriage vows by candlelight recently in the Calvary Baptist Church, Plymouth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Stout, of Jener Street, Plymouth, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Newton, of Auburn Street, Plymouth.

The Rev. Patrick J. Clifford officiated, and the Rev. Lynn B. Stout, grandfather of the bride, also took part in the ceremony.

Alencon lace accented the bride's peau de soie gown with fitted bodice and bell skirt. Her waist-length bouffant veil was silk net, and her flowers were pink and white roses.

Joy A. Kalmbach, sister of the bride and maid of honor, and bridesmaids Mrs. Linda Birkelbaw, of Plymouth, Karen Masten, of Detroit, and Mrs. Geri Miyoshi, formerly of Southfield, wore satin gowns styled like the bride's.

The honor attendant's dress was rose pink, and the others were pale pink. All carried wicker baskets of pink roses, carnations and daisies.

Assisting the bridegroom were Tom Nunez, as best man, and ushers David McBride and William Shanks, of Livonia, David Rice, of Plymouth, John and Jim Stout, brothers of the bride, Gary Miller, cousin of the bride, and David Newton, brother of the bridegroom.

MRS. CRAIG NEWTON (Gay Lee Kalmbach)

After a reception in the church Fellowship Hall, the couple left on a Canadian Rockies honeymoon. They are making their home at Groton, Conn., where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Coast Guard.

Both are graduates of Plymouth High School and the bride had secretarial training at Eastern Michigan University.

Dem Women To Meet

The impact of the woman voter, nationally and in the State of Michigan, will keynote the Woman's Day activities sponsored by the Michigan Federation of Democratic Women on Saturday, Oct. 21, at Michigan State University.

The program, at the Student Union, will also commemorate the 175th anniversary of the Democratic Party. Registration will open at 8:30 a.m.

Special recognition will be given to U.S. Representative Martha W. Griffiths, the only woman from Michigan to serve in Congress.

SHE WILL be honored as the state's outstanding Democratic Woman of the Year. Mrs. Griffiths is completing her seventh term as representative from the 17th Congressional District.

Morning workshops will be held on three of today's most pressing problems: Police and Community Relations, Crisis--Urban and Suburban, and Upheaval in Education.

Workshop leaders will be Judge Horace W. Gilmore, of the Wayne County Circuit Court, Mayor John Canfield, of Dearborn Heights, Mrs. Mattie J. Myers, 13th District delegate to the Democratic State Central Committee, and Marilyn Jean Kelly, member of the State Board of Education.

Katherine Peden, the only woman appointed to President Johnson's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, will be the luncheon speaker.

SCROLLS of recognition will be presented to a woman from each of Michigan's 83 counties who has done outstanding work for the Democratic Party. Names of candidates for nationwide honor as "Woman Doers" will be forwarded to the Women's Activities Division of the Democratic National Committee.

A showing of the film on John F. Kennedy, "A Thousand Days," is scheduled for early afternoon. Copies of "Six White Horses", the poignant book on President Kennedy written by Candy Greer when she was a Grosse Pointe High School student, will be given to all registrants.

Redford Couple Married

Linda J. Long and Airman 1/c Craig N. Hills were united in marriage Sept. 16 in St. Valentine Church, Redford Township.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Long and Mr. and Mrs. Neil M. Hills, both of Redford Township.

The bridal gown was white silk organza over taffeta with a chantilly lace train. The bride's veil of white illusion with lace appliques was held by a crystal and pearl crown.

Her attendants were Leslie Girvan, as maid of honor; Lynn Girvan, Bonnie Girvan and Barbara Paris as bridesmaids, and Christine Hills, sister of the bridegroom, as junior bridesmaid.

John Linhard was best man, and Stephen Hills, brother of the bridegroom, Terry J. Long, brother of the bride, Colin Clark and Gary McDonald seated the guests.

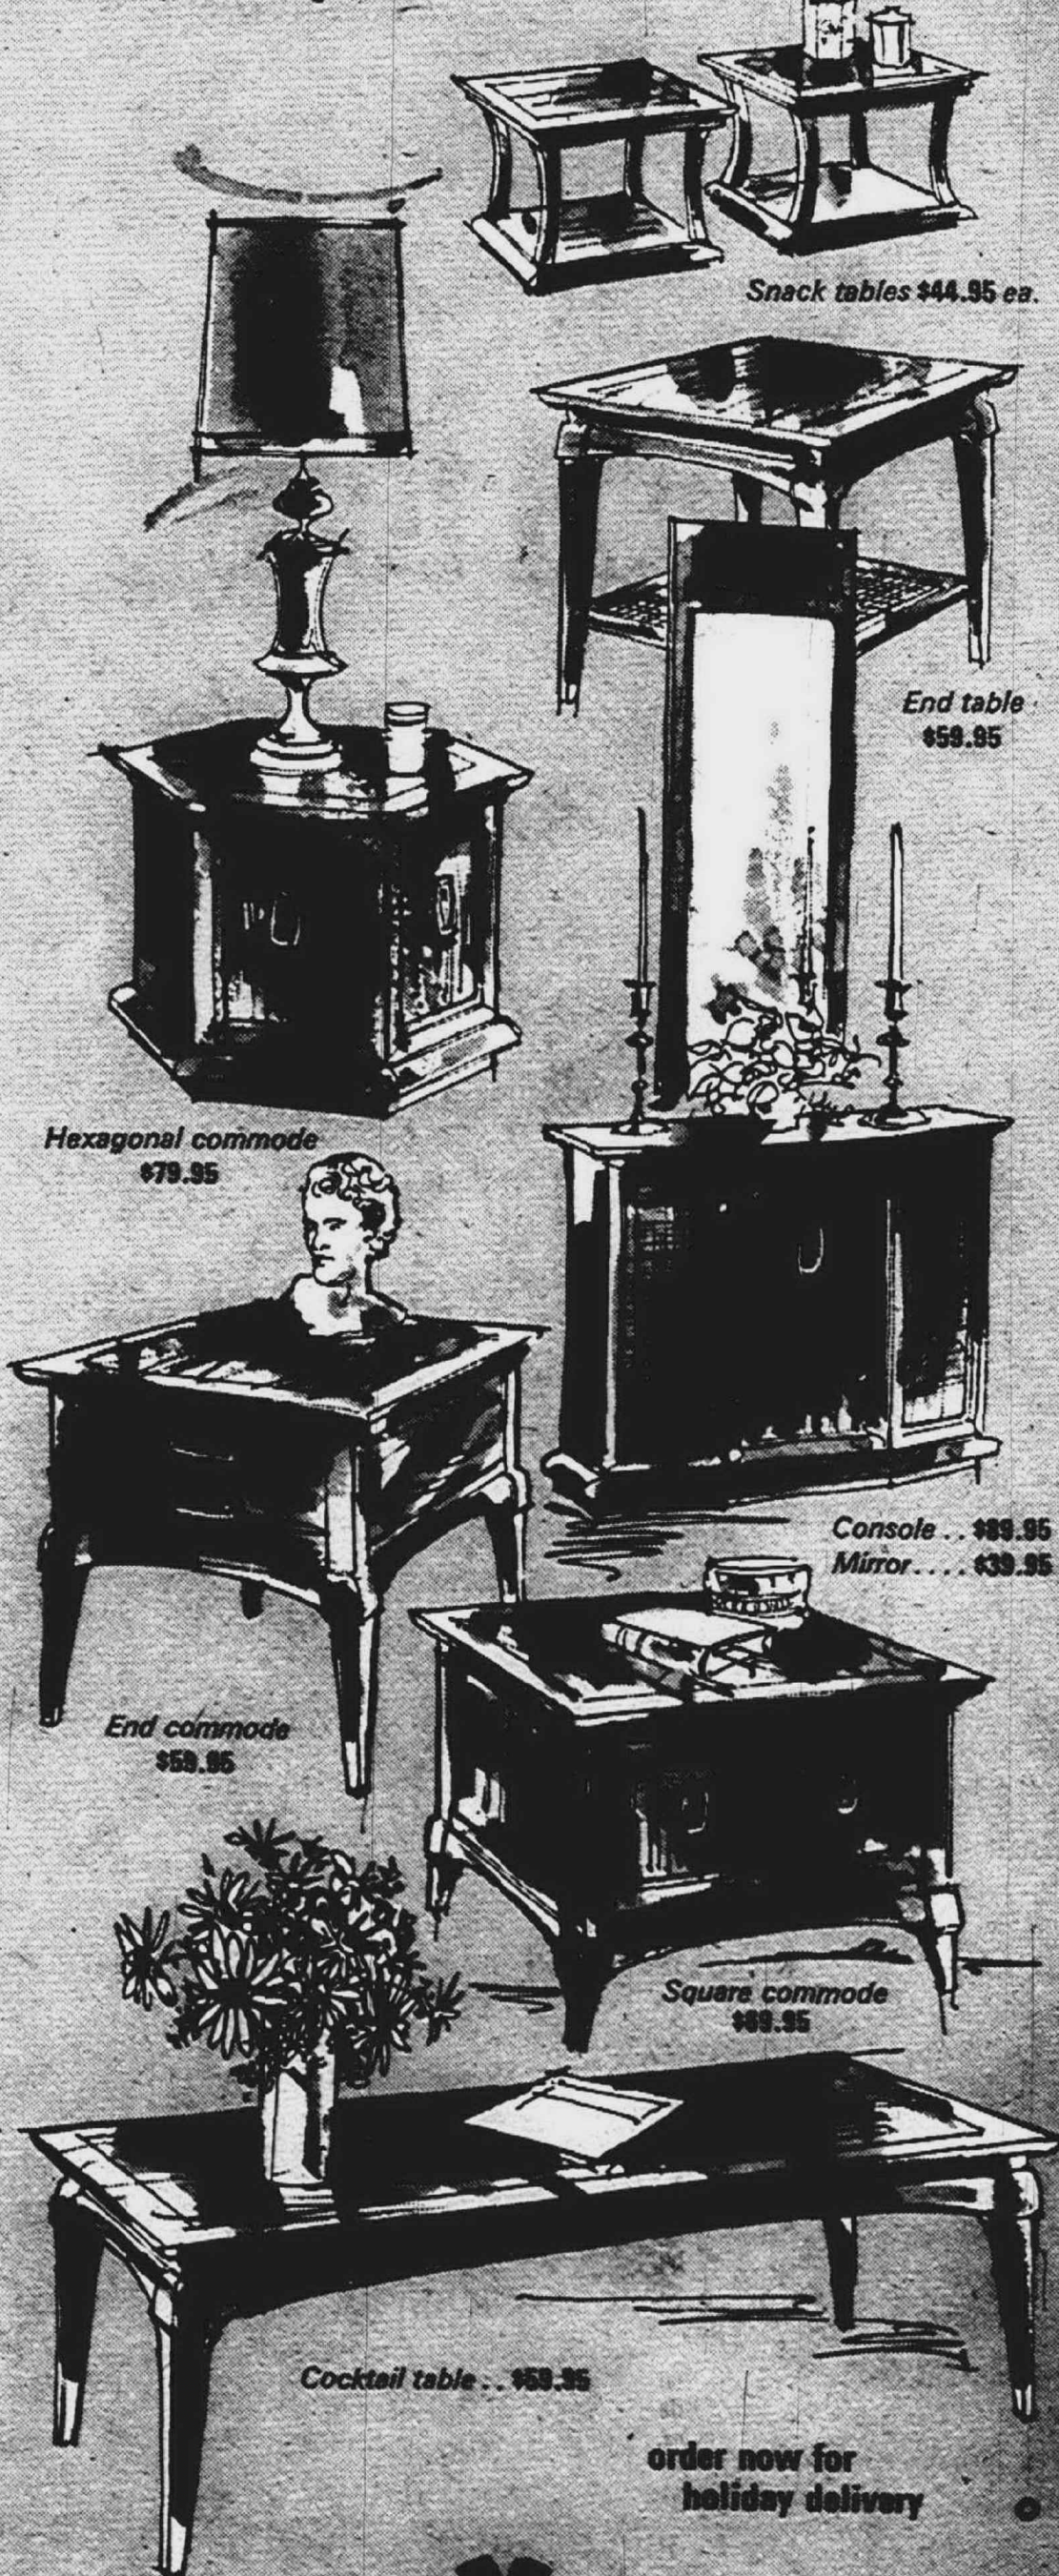

After a honeymoon in northern Michigan, the newlyweds are living in Ohio where the bridegroom is stationed at Lackbourne Air Base.

McMahon Services Held Today

Solemn requiem mass was held today in St. Michael's Church, Livonia, for the Rev. Thomas McMahon, who died suddenly Sunday morning in Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital. He was 69.

Father McMahon was pastor of St. Michael's from Nov. 26, 1956, to June 14 of this year.

Before coming to Livonia he was pastor of St. Mary's Church in Manchester, Mich., and of Presentation parish, at Peim-broke and Meyers, in Detroit.

He also served three years as assistant pastor at St. John's Church in Port Huron.

Born and reared in Chicago, Father McMahon attended Quigley Preparatory Seminary there and later was graduated from St. Mary's College in Baltimore. He was ordained May 31, 1924.

Church To Fete WSU Students

St. Matthews Church of Livonia will honor some of the foreign students enrolled at Wayne State University at a Pot-Luck Supper on Oct. 15 at 6:30 p.m.

These college students are going to be the leaders of under-developed countries or the "middle class" of more advanced countries in the future.

This supper will give a chance to meet some of these young people, and to give them a chance to see typical suburbanites in an informal situation. After the meal there will be a short program about Thanksgiving Day.

The public is invited. Bring your family, a dish to pass and table service for your family. St. Matthews Church is located at 30900 Six Mile Road.

GC Club Sets Open House

The Garden City Weight Control Club will hold open house for new and prospective members from 10 to 11 a.m. on Monday, Oct. 16, in the Garden City Park log cabin.

New Choir School Set At Timothy

A Choir School, a new program of Christian education for children in the second through sixth grades, is being instituted by Timothy Lutheran Church, Livonia.

The Rev. Glenn Wegmeyer said the school is designed to give training in Christian service and not just musical study.

"Each child," he said, "will be serving in the church through singing in the choir, and will receive training for greater service in the future."

The school will be conducted from 4:15 to 5:15 p.m. Fridays. The time will be divided into four segments—a short devotional period, a worship class, a class in music reading and a choir rehearsal.

State Church School Group Winds Up 22nd Annual Meet

A statement urging recourse "to the courts and legislature and not to civil disobedience of the law" in obtaining redress of grievances highlighted the resolutions passed last week by delegates at the 22nd Annual Convention of the Michigan Sunday School Association meeting at Cobo Hall, Detroit.

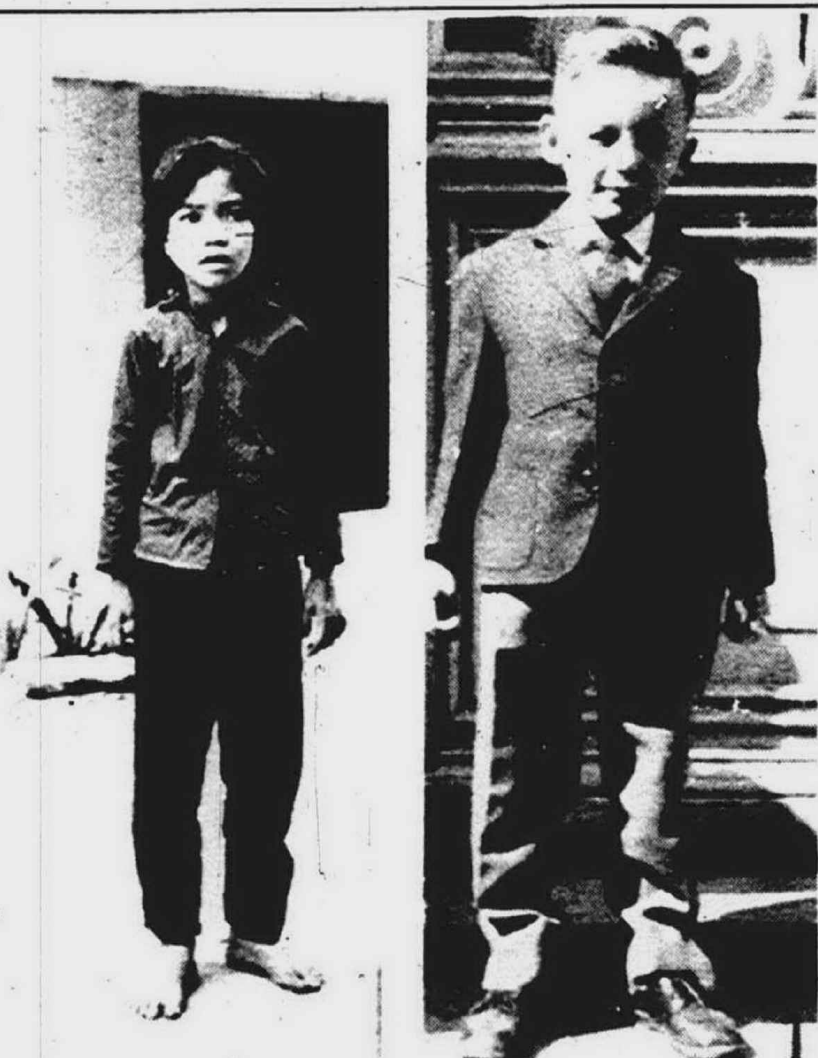

In the city where a few months ago rioters had laid waste to large sections of the metropolis, the representatives of some 500 Michigan and Canadian churches in 32 denominations voted unanimously on a "Resolution In Regard To Crime And Lawlessness."

Following the action taken at the opening General Session of MSSA there was an address by Dr. Myron Augsburger, President of Eastern Mennonite College.

LABELING AS "dangerous" any philosophy which preaches that it is "morally justifiable to break the law," the MSSA resolution referred to "recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions that have handcuffed our police-men."

In addition to the statement on crime and lawlessness, the MSSA Convention passed three other resolutions relating to school prayer, the new theology, and the new morality.

Favoring "an amendment to the U.S. Constitution aimed at restoring the freedoms practiced traditionally under the First Amendment," the repre-

THESE TWO YOUNGSTERS are receiving many of the necessities of life because they have been financially adopted by Observer area families. At the left is Tran Thi Duyen, a nine-year-old Vietnamese girl whose American benefactors through the Foster Parents Plan are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Sharef, of Gary Lane, Livonia. The little boy is Luis Enrique Garcia, eight, of Colombia, whose foster parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Turner, of Linden Avenue, Plymouth. He is the second child to be aided by the Turners. The children and their American families exchange monthly letters. Interested families may get more information about the Foster Parents Plan, Inc., by writing 352 Park Avenue South, New York, N.Y.

Second Lecture On Prophecy Is Set

The second lecture in a series on Biblical prophecy will be delivered tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Farmington.

The speaker will be Dr. Howard Sugden, pastor of the South Baptist Church, Lansing, and his topic will be "Ismael."

The Rev. Walter Ballagh, pastor of First Baptist Church, said the series was devised because recent events in the Mid-East have precipitated intensified interest in study of prophecies in the Bible.

Dr. Sugden studied at Johnson Bible College, Winona Lake School of Theology and has an honorary doctorate from Wheaton College.

He pastored churches in Michigan and London, Ont. before accepting the call to Lansing 13 years ago. Dr. Sugden is known as the "Pastor's Preacher" because of the depth of his message, and is widely sought as a conference speaker.

The Conference will continue on Thursday evening, Oct. 19, when Dr. David Allen, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Hazel Park, will discourse on "God's Prophetic Timetable, or What Happens When?"

To finish the series, The Rev. David Cummins, Pioneer Church Missionary with the Conservative Baptist Association of Michigan will bring a message entitled, "When God Swore", Thursday evening, Oct. 26.

Nursery care will be available at all services and the public is invited.

Faith Lutheran Women Install New Officers

New officers of the Faith Lutheran Ladies Guild Fellowship, recently installed by the Rev. Ronald Starenko, are busy with preparations for the fall's first project, a buffet supper for the church's dedication program Nov. 5.

Taking office in the Sept. 19 meeting were:

President Julia Kuczvara; Vice President Velma Duesing; Treasurer Lora Schmidt; Recording Secretary Marilyn Balke; Corresponding Secretary Margaret Tulloch, Council members, Ruth O'Janen, Audrey Gross and Norma Gehring, LMWL Chairman, Virginia Smith, Program Chairman Kate Otto and Publicity Chairman Lucille Davies.

Dr. Harold C. Vernon, pastor of Riverside Chapel, Farmington, and Mrs. Vernon will give a word and picture report on their recent trip to the Holy Land and Middle East at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 15.

representatives termed the Supreme Court outlawing of Bible reading and prayers in the public schools as leading to "an official position of agnosticism and atheism."

"If Government maintains a neutral and silent position about God," the resolution stated, "then Government proceeds to speak and act as if there is no God above it."

THE DELEGATES voted to "support candidates...who have faithfully promised to advocate the Bible Amendment."

In a companion statement, the Convention went on record as "rejecting the new morality theory" because it controverted Scriptural "commandments and moral imperatives which are irrevocable and unalterable."

Going further, the resolution attacked the "new Morality" on the basis that it "...affirms that no action is right or wrong in itself...rejects fixed moral principles...leaves love undefined...defies civil law, downgrades the commandments of the Old and New Testaments, casts aside the authority of Scripture, makes a mockery of the church...and...is an excuse for sexual license and lawlessness."

"A PERVERSION of the Gospel" was the label given to the "new theology" by members attending the opening MSSA session. In a carefully worded statement, the delegates re-

Orthodox Speaker At Redford

The Redford Baptist Church will present the Rev. Father Thomas Ruffin, pastor of St. George Orthodox Church, East Grand Boulevard, Detroit, Sunday, Oct. 15, in its series "Faith of Our Friends."

The Rev. Father Ruffin is one of five representatives of five different denominations who are speaking on five consecutive evenings at the 6 p.m. worship services.

The services are followed by separate discussion groups for adults and youth. Several members of St. George Orthodox Church will accompany their pastor and speak to three of the older youth groups.

Father Ruffin is a native of Oklahoma and received his education in Iowa and Massachusetts.

He began his pastorate at St. George Orthodox Church in 1959. He serves on many committees for the city and state, among them the Mayor's Committee on Community Relations, the Citizens' Committee for Equal Opportunity, Wayne County Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and Governor Romney's Committee on Ethics and Morals in State Government.

He is Chaplain at Wayne State University and the Dearborn Veterans Hospital. He also serves as President of the Council of Eastern Orthodox Churches of Detroit.

The public is invited to attend this service at Redford Baptist Church located on Grand River and Seven Mile Road.

Church Sets Rededication For Organ

Robert Glasgow, associate professor of music at the University of Michigan will be guest recitalist for the rededication of the recently restored Casavant organ at First Congregational Church of Detroit at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 29.

Glasgow has played recitals throughout the United States and Europe.

The rebuilding and restoring of this historic organ has just been completed. Originally installed in 1918 by Joseph Hebert, it was designed by J.C. Casavant, J.A. Hebert, William H. Murphy and the noted French organist and composer, Joseph Bonnet.

It consists of a four-manual gallery organ and a two-manual console organ, both playable together or separately from the console in the center of the chancel.

Dr. Appleman Conducting Crusade

Dr. Hyman Appleman, Russian-Jewish evangelist, is conducting a seven-day crusade this week in the Middlebelt Baptist Church, 943 Middlebelt, Westland.

The Rev. Garrett Graham, pastor, said the evening sessions are held at 7:30 p.m., and the crusade will end with four services Sunday.

Dr. Appleman has addressed many church gatherings in the greater Detroit area in recent years.

Pastor Graham said of him: "This man is different, and I have known him for years," says Pastor Graham.

"His foreign birth, his training, his law trained mind, his world experiences, give him a uniquely fresh, vividly painted approach to each message."

"We of the church seek to share him with all our neighbors and friends of Greater Detroit. In the two meetings just closed in Wayne and Allen Park, people came to each full hour from miles around. We know that Dr. Appleman is an authority on Russia's condition under Communism, the problems of the Middle East, the terrible needs of India. He has preached in all these places in recent years, as in India in 1966."

His topics for the closing days of the crusade include: Thursday, "The Battle To End All Wars"; Friday, "God Has No Grandchildren"; Saturday, "The Dance of The Dead; America's Favorite Pastime;" and on Sunday, at 11 a.m. the anticipated crowds will hear "Will The Circle Be Unbroken?"

In a mass meeting at 3 p.m. to 4:15 p.m. Dr. Appleman will speak on "The Holy Land War, The Boiling Middle East, Why The Military Experts Failed To See The Outcome", closing out with the 7:30 p.m. rally and the message, "Now That God Is Dead."

Calvary Pastor Arrives

The Rev. Arnold Schmidt and family have recently moved from Flint to Livonia where Rev. Schmidt has assumed the pastorate of Calvary United Methodist Church now under construction on Six Mile Road west of Middlebelt Rd.

For 24 years, Pastor Schmidt has served churches in California, Ohio, Indiana, and for the past nine years in Flint. A native of Newton, Kans., Rev. Schmidt attended Bethel College at Newton, Kans. He is a graduate of Fort Wayne Bible College at Fort Wayne, Ind., and Greenville College at Greenville, Ill.

He has served in various capacities in the church program as district youth president, youth for Christ director in Ohio, Bible club sponsor in Schools, and just recently served as executive secretary of the Greater Flint Ford Philpot Crusade.

Members of his family include his wife, Kay, teaching at Herbert Hoover Elementary School, Wayne, attending Michigan State University; Karen, attending Greenville College, and Sandra in junior high school.

Calvary Church is worshipping in the Wilcox School, 29530 Munger, until the new church is completed.

REV. ARNOLD SCHMIDT

'Faith At Work' Is Theme

Village United Presbyterian church, 25350 West Six Mile, will be the site of the 11th annual "Faith at Work" Midwest Ecumenical Conference this weekend.

In excess of 200 persons are expected to attend the six-state, three-day event which is open to the public.

General sessions and workshops will be held beginning Friday night at 7:30 p.m. and continuing Saturday at 9:30 a.m., 2 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.; then Sunday the finale at 2 p.m. Pre-registration is scheduled for Friday beginning at 2:30 p.m. and continuing Saturday from 8 to 9:30 a.m.

CONFERENCE DIRECTOR is Rev. Bryan J. Cannon of the First Presbyterian church of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Theme will be: "Commitment, Nurture, Action." Emphasis will be placed on the role of small groups in making Christianity an everyday thing.

Teenagers will leave the Saturday adult general session at 9:30 a.m. to participate at the Redford Baptist church.

Clergy will be offered a Kolonia by Rev. Cannon. Teens will speak from area pulpits at regular Sunday morning worship services.

JAMES F. O'NEIL

PTA To Hear O'Neil

"The Case for the Year-Round School" will be presented to Parent-Teacher Association members in Beechview School, Farmington, at a meeting Monday, Oct. 16.

The speaker will be James F. O'Neil, a member of the Michigan Board of Education. O'Neil, a resident of Livonia and father of two sons, is an employee of the Ford Motor Co. He has been recipient of the Citizen of the Year Award from his fellow employees and the company for outstanding community service.

HE HAD a part in organizing the Northwest Wayne County Community College District and in establishing Schoolcraft Community College, and served on the first Schoolcraft Board of Trustees.

He was elected to the State Board of Education in 1963 and again last year.

Handwriting Is Mt. Hope Topic

The Womens Fellowship of Mt. Hope Congregational Church will meet in the chapel, located at 30330 Schoolcraft Road, Thursday, Oct. 12.

Luncheon, served by the Priscilla Circle will be at 12:30 p.m. and a business meeting and program will follow.

Evangelist Walker To Visit Here

Evangelist Billy Walker will conduct a series of meetings Nov. 5 to 12 in the First Baptist Church, 17725 Inkster, Livonia.

He will preach at 11 a.m. and at 7 p.m. on Sunday, and at 7:30 p.m. for the remainder of the week.

Well-known as a dynamic young speaker throughout Michigan, he had conducted crusades all over the state. The evangelist also has had considerable experience with the youth of the state, acting as conference director for the Hiawatha Youth Camp in Upper Michigan. The public is invited.

Lutheran PTA Sets Supper

The Parent-Teacher League of Hosanna-Tabor Lutheran School, 9600 Levee, Redford Township, is sponsoring a Pan-cake Supper on Friday, Oct. 13 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tickets for the supper may be purchased from school members or at the door.

St. Agatha Mission Will Begin Sunday

A two-week parish mission will begin Sunday, Oct. 15, at St. Agatha's Catholic Church, 19650 Beech Road, Capuchin Fathers Caspar Stollenwerk and Robert Bradley from St. Bonaventure Monastery in Detroit will preach the mission.

Father John T. Reid, pastor of St. Agatha, said the Capuchin Missionaries would present the major moral issues of modern times and would present a practical plan to help people keep the law of God.

"This will not be simply a presentation of the moral law," Father Reid said. "It will be an effort to help our people see the 'why' of God's law and the 'how' of following God's law in our modern times."

The Capuchin Fathers will preach at all of the Masses Oct. 15 to open the mission.

Tivadar Balogh

Architect Addresses AAUW

"The House and Its Design" will be the subject of a talk given to the Farmington Branch of the American Association of University Women at the October general meeting. It will be held in the friendship room of the First Farmington Savings and Loan Building, 22725 Orchard Lake Road, at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 18. The public is invited.

The speaker will be Tivadar Balogh, architect, A.I.A. president-elect of the Huron Valley Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Balogh, married and the father of two children, lives in Plymouth and is past chairman of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission.

Church Crusade To Begin

Lowell Mason, 46-inch-tall gospel singer from Joplin, Mo., and the Rev. Robert Work, a Cincinnati, O. minister, will lead a one-week "Christ for Everyone" crusade at the Memorial Church of Christ (Christian Church), 24521 Schoolcraft at Fenton, Redford Township, beginning Sunday, Oct. 15.

Services will be conducted at 10:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. on Sunday and at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Music for the special services will be under the direction of Mason, "the world's smallest gospel singer." He is a recording artist for Diadem Records and a soloist for the "Revival Fires" television program which is now carried by 19 TV stations across the country.

Messages will be presented by the Rev. Work, minister of the New Burlington Church of Christ in Cincinnati. He is a minister who "preaches straight from the shoulder and right into your heart," according to Max Copeland, minister of the Memorial Church.

An Evangelist Sees Trouble In The Pulpit

'Religion In Need Of Revival'

Rev. Charles Crisler is a missionary evangelist who has traveled the earth a million miles from Central America and Mexico to Japan and the Orient to the Hawaiian Islands to Plymouth in Michigan.

For 33 years he has preached wherever he has found an open door and last year he was home only three months of the 12, a long way for a man to travel alone, especially when he leaves behind a wife whom he married 25 years ago next June and when the years are passing as swiftly as children grow up. They have five.

But then he would have never met her if he had not been an evangelist, for it was at a revival in Detroit that they each looked up during the singing of an old-fashioned hymn and their eyes first met. A year later they were married.

Charlie Crisler was a preacher's kid for sure, for both his father and his mother were members of the Salvation Army and his mother had preached her first sermon when she was 16 years old and her street corner audience was the hobo and the lost men of the Bowery in the New York of the 1890's.

BECOMING A PREACHER was the last thing in Charlie's mind when he was growing up and for no reason other than that he had made up his mind to become an accountant. When he reflects upon those days he laughs as few men do today, unabashed and carefree, his leonine head thrown back in an exultant roar.

"But that isn't why I can count so quickly the crowds that come to a revival today," he will tell you, but with no evidence of the discouraging fact that very few people do come to a revival nowadays unless, perhaps, you are Billy Graham whom he calls "God's man of the hour."

During his eight days here at a revival held in the Plymouth Salvation Army mission on Fairground Street, his largest evening service was 20 people. And of a little more than 100 persons who came to hear him in that time, four answered his evangelistic persuasion for salvation. But that is a great number when you count them as souls.

It was 33 years ago that Charlie Crisler changed his mind about making bookkeeping a life's career.

"I don't believe," he says, "that it is you that makes the choice. There is something undefinable that moves you, that picks you out for the ministry although I must admit we do have too many of those who are merely serving their time."

IT IS THE LATTER, he thinks, who become the scholars, the philosophers who find the time to raise such questions as whether God is dead because they devote so little other time to the work they were called presumably by the Spirit to do.

"I think the people in the congregations today know more than their leaders," he says with quiet fervor, and adds, "and, I think the people like the old-time religion and want to maintain it, but they have allowed themselves to be overwhelmed at the mercy of the leaders who are losing the battle of spreading the Gospel and thus are losing the world."

And, he sees the condition of the world and its people deteriorating at the same rate as the church and warns, "the world isn't going to get any better until the churches do."

He reverts to the accountant as he adds up the facts:

"In the U.S., it takes 5,000 lay Christians and 300 preachers a whole 12 months to lead one new convert to Christ."

And, he admits sadly: "If I were outside the church today, I don't see enough vitality inside it that would attract me to it as a member."

The preaching of the Rev. Crisler is style and content of the old line John Wesley Methodist Church, and though he is a dynamic speaker his voice does not harass nor does he pound his pulpit in the style of a Billy Sunday whose flamboyant evangelism of the early 1900's converted over a million people to Christianity.

HE DID ONE night here in a moment of ardor, actually pop a button off his shirt and his laughter led all the rest.

His inborn honesty, his love of life and the work he is doing is further mirrored in the following capsule comments to various questions:

Vietnam—"I wish, naturally, that there were no more wars but that we are at war is a reality and for the sake of those who are fighting it we cannot provide them with weapons or plans that are piecemeal. We must get it over with but with victory."

President Johnson—"A first-rate politician."

Integration—"I am in favor of people being mixed but I don't think we should go out of our way to create a mixed situation."

Racial Riots—"Unfortunately. But if I were a Negro today I would probably be a part of their riots."

Bishop Pike—"Who can put him into a capsule?"

Man—"He is so restless today because he is so much concerned with himself and his desires. 'Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto thee.'"

Today's Youth—"Their mothers and fathers, themselves, live with few certainties and their children reflect their parents' lack of faith and confidence."

The Pill—"Not when used promiscuously."

Legalized Abortion—"When justified by a situation."

Divorce—"Too easy and indicative of our lost sense of values."

Orval Roberts—"If I may quote TV's Johnny Carson when he had Rev. Roberts on his show, 'This is the only place in the world where Orval Roberts can be brought to you under the sponsorship of Anacin.'"

Later, arriving for luncheon at the Hillside Inn, he paused on the threshold and with a familiar roar of laughter, pointed to a plaque above:

"Enjoy yourself. It may be later than you think."

And, still laughing, he quipped: "For my just dessert I shall have a chocolate sundae."

New Books In Library

"Vietnam: seen from East and West," an international symposium edited by Sibrayan Ray. A group of political analysts from both the East and the West examine the nature of the twenty-year-old conflict in Vietnam indicating its international repercussions.

"Crime in the Suburbs" by David Loth investigates 150 suburbs across the country in an endeavor to find a reason for the increasing crime rate in affluent communities. The author gives special attention to the causes behind the rise in juvenile crime and to action programs which make communities safer.

"Wild Season" by Allan W. Eckert, author of "The Great Auk," shows what a nature lover sees during the month of May at Oak Lake.

"The Moon is a Harsh Mistress" by Robert Heinlein is a new work of science fiction set in Luna in Century 21, in which a lonely computer named Mike foment a revolutionary plot with his repairman.

"The Complete Training of horse and rider in the principles of classical horsemanship" by Alois Podhajsky sets forth the step by step method of training in both horse and rider that is used at the Spanish Riding School of Vienna, home of the famous white Lipizzaner stallions.

"Sanctuary" by Frank Swinnerton is a novel about eight old ladies who are cared for in an elegant home, and what happens when their kindly caretaker must go to the hospital, and is replaced by a younger, unloving woman.

"Pull Yourself Together," or, "How to Look Marvelous on Next to Nothing" by Barbara Johns Waterston, is a book full of advice for women on clothes, skin, hair, diet, travel, time and money by a 26-year-old fashion photographer.

"An American Omnibus" by Georges Simenon contains translations of four novels: "Belle," "The Brothers Rico," "The Hitchhiker," and "The Watchmaker of Everton"—with American settings, written during the author's stay in this country from 1945 to 1955.

"The Guide to Home Remodeling" by A.J. Harmon is not a "do-it-yourself" guide but advice from a practicing architect to help those interested in remodeling see where they are going and decide if that is the direction they really want to go. It is intended both for those planning to build a new house and those remodeling an old one.

"Flight From a Firing Wall" by Baynard Kendrick presents the story of a doctor who makes a successful escape from Cuba to Miami only to return to his homeland to rescue his beautiful wife, whose father is an officer in Castro's army.

"How to Defend Yourself, Your Family, and Your Home" by George Hunter is a practical guide to self-protection for the single person and for heads of families. It covers both active and passive self-protection and even advice on the selection and training of a family defense dog.

"The Thousand Hour Day" by W.S. Kunick is a historical novel which takes place during the first thousand hours of World War II, the one thousand hours in which Poland was conquered by blitzkrieg.

"The Two Viet-Nams" by Bernard B. Fall is a revision of the 1964 edition. It compares the political and economic institutions of the two Vietnamese zones and analyzes the escalation of the war since 1964.

"Babi Yar" by Anatolii Kuznetsov is a documentary novel of the two-year period when the Russian city of Kiev was occupied by Nazi troops. During that time, the Germans systematically murdered some 200,000 people.

"At Ease: Stories I Tell to Friends" by Dwight D. Eisenhower is a collection of reminiscences about his life up to the time of his return to the United States to run for the Presidency.

"A Night of Watching" by Elliott Arnold tells the story of a magnificent exploit: the feat of the Danish underground in 1943 when, in the space of two weeks, virtually all the 8,000 Danish Jews were smuggled to Sweden.

"The Spy in the Corporate Structure and the Right to Privacy" by Edward Engberg details the devices which the corporate spy uses to acquire information and the available countermeasures. The author's concern extends further, to the individual's right to privacy with free speech.

"All the Little Live Things" by Wallace Stegner is the story of Joe Allston and his wife, two Easterners in their 60's who retire to California in search of peace, only to find their paradise invaded by gophers, bulldozers, hippies, and an attractive young mother.

"Little Charley Ross" by Norman Zierold, is an account of America's first kidnapping for ransom. A four-year-old boy was carried away from his home in Philadelphia in 1874 and the uproar which followed left the police puzzled and his family gravely shaken.

Plymouth Inventor Tells Of New Type Carburetor

An automotive carburetor of radical design, said to be so efficient it limits vehicle exhaust emissions to levels sharply below those possible with units of conventional construction, is in its final stages of refinement prior to mass production.

The new carburetor was developed by Harold E. Phelps, of 8835 Elmhurst, Plymouth, who has been awarded one basic patent on its design and has three others pending before the U. S. patent Office.

The Phelps carburetor is reportedly far simpler in design than current types. It avoids the use of a float-actuated needle valve system to control unit fuel level, has no accelerator pump and no choke butterfly valve. Yet "consistent" improvement in gasoline mileage of from 10 to 15 per cent is claimed in a variety of installations.

BIGGEST DIFFERENCE in the carburetor is the use of normal fuel pump pressure (around four pounds) to spray a fine mist of gasoline into the unit's throat where it is mixed with air. Also representing a marked departure from present day carburetor design is the fuel metering system. It uses a movable needle valve, which is actuated directly by the throttle linkage, and with its shaft, is nearly two inches long.

Machined of stainless steel to extremely close tolerances, the valve has six precisely programmed diameters for varying degrees of fuel flow from idle to wide open throttle. Movement for the valve is nearly one inch through full engine operating range.

Features claimed for the Phelps carburetor include smooth powerful acceleration, automatic adjustment of mixture for low emissions during acceleration and deceleration, easy installation on late model cars without modifications and with regular tools, and use of the original air filter.

Because the carburetor is of simple design, compared with types now in use, Phelps claims it will operate for long periods of time without adjustment, is less sensitive to malfunction if dirt enters it.

Provides fast starts in coldest weather through a unique enrichment system and permits rapid warmup. Problems resulting from an incorrect float adjustment are also avoided, since fuel level in the carburetor isn't a factor in operation.

DESIGN SIMPLICITY will also make possible production of the Phelps carburetor at a "highly competitive" price, the inventor says. Costs may be further reduced by making the unit's body from plastic, he reports. Some prototype units have been made from clear plastic, Phelps notes, for fuel flow studies. The first working model of the Phelps carburetor was produced in 1959. Since then development has been concentrated on refinement (programming) of the control valve for maximum performance and economy and minimum emissions. A secondary objective was further simplification of the unit.

Vehicle emission levels with various modifications to prototypes were checked at Scott Laboratories in San Bernardino, Calif. That firm is one of the top authorities in the U.S. on vehicle emission testing procedures.

On a recent trip to the Scott facilities, Phelps drove a late model vehicle equipped with an advanced-state prototype, found that the carburetor's sophisticated vacuum-modulated sensing unit compensated fully for high altitude operation in the Rockies, sometimes a problem with conventional carburetion.

At present, prototypes for late model 6-cylinder and V8 engines have been built and tested.

The two basic carburetors will be suitable for a wide range of engines with only minor modifications. An unusual feature of the V8 unit is that it has a single idle mixture adjustment.

DESPITE ITS ABILITY to provide markedly better mileage, Phelps feels that new carburetor's greatest future potential is to cut exhaust emissions still lower, without extensive modifications to the engine. He feels prototype units will meet 1969 Federal emissions standards, which will be lower than those for the forthcoming '68 models.

Eclipse Of Moon Due Oct. 18

If you're willing to rise before the sun does on Oct. 18, you'll be able to view a total eclipse of the moon, the first in Michigan since 1964.

Robert Victor, assistant staff astronomer at Michigan State University's Abrams Planetarium, says that the lunar eclipse will begin at 4:25 a.m. (EDT) Wednesday, Oct. 18. That's when the moon begins to enter the umbra, or inner dark central portion of the earth's shadow.

The shadow will cover half the moon at about 5 a.m., and the total eclipse will begin at 5:45 a.m., Victor says.

The total eclipse will end as the left edge of the moon emerges from the shadow at 6:46 a.m. Victor notes that the final stage of the eclipse will be interrupted at 8:10, when the moon sets.

Cities In State Reminded About Reapportionment

LANSING -- Legislative apportionment . . . out of the news of late . . . will come roaring back into the spotlight December 1 with a new law providing that all home rule cities which elect councilmen by wards must reapportion themselves on the basis of one-man, one-vote.

Reminder of the target date was made by Secretary of State James M. Hare, Michigan's chief elections' official.

THE NEW LAW, according to Hare, provides that "local legislative bodies, councils, or commissions of cities" must apportion themselves on the one-man, one-vote concept.

than December 1. Each ward, says Hare, must by law be as nearly equal in population as is practicable and should be contiguous and compact.

POPULATION FIGURES, unless a later census has been taken or the city decides on a new census, should be determined from the last decennial census of 1960.

After completing the apportionment plan, local legislative bodies must file it with the city clerk who must make it available at cost to any registered voter of the city.

Any registered voter of the city within 30 days after the filing of the apportionment plan or within 30 days after apportionment plan is submitted may petition circuit court to determine if the plan meets requirements of the laws and constitutions of Michigan and the United States, Hare said.

Burroughs And U.A.W. Set Conference For Thursday

Burroughs Corporation officials and representatives of striking U.A.W. Local 1313 have tentatively arranged their first meeting since start of the strike 12 days ago for Thursday afternoon.

A company spokesman declined to go so far as to call the get-together a resumption of negotiations, but indicated that this is the hoped-for result of the session.

At the Plymouth facility, some 3,400 hourly workers are on strike, while 1,000 others also walked off their jobs at two Burroughs plants in Detroit.

The strike was called Sept. 29 after Local 1313 members had voted four-to-one against ratification of a new contract which had the recommendation of their own officers and bargaining agents.

The Oct. 16 edition of the U.S. News & World Reports quotes Tom Katona, president of Local 1313, as declaring: "It's the year of unrest among labor's rank and file."

"The members are expecting more than they can possibly get. They don't want to listen to the leadership. We've got volumes of statistics. We know what the hell is going on, but our people don't seem to believe it."

"I told them this was it, the best contract we could get. But the people in the plants

Healy Joins Monastery Legal Fight

Plymouth attorney Thomas Healy Jr., and a Canadian government official, leaders in a custody fight by Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Ortman, 44600 Joy, Plymouth, for their eight grandchildren being raised in a remote monastery by a religious sect in Quebec, met earlier this week in Detroit despite death and kidnapping threats.

The Canadian man, Andre Fautoux, is legal adviser to the Canadian social welfare court which led a dawn raid on the monastery Sept. 27 and found seven of the Ortman's grandchildren after the Plymouth couple had complained of the treatment of the children there.

An anonymous telephone caller to Fautoux's home told his wife that her husband would be killed while he was in Detroit because "he was a kidnapper and we kill kidnappers in the States."

The children involved are the families of the Ortman's two daughters, Mrs. Jack Prystup, formerly of Plymouth Township, and Mrs. Harry Bugaski, formerly of Dearborn.

There are three Prystup youngsters. Of the five Bugaski children, 6-year-old Michael was missing when the raid was conducted. He is believed still to be somewhere on the 150 acres where the monastery is located, according to Fautoux.

Quebec authorities opened their battle with the sect last January when they attempted to remove 82 children but were balked when monastery leaders hid the children in homes throughout Canada.

Plymouth attorney Healy and Fautoux met with Wayne County Juvenile Court Judge James Lincoln to determine the validity of a Quebec court ruling in Michigan if the Canadian court awarded the grandparents custody of their grandchildren.

Hearings in the case will open Oct. 16 in Canada at St. Jerome.

kept saying all they had to do was turn it down and we'd go back to the bargaining table and come up with more. This just wasn't true." Meanwhile, Mrs. Marilyn White, Local 1313 secretary who earlier predicted that the strike would last from eight weeks to three months, left this week for a vacation in Hawaii.

West Plymouth News

A "Thank Heaven School Started" luncheon was given for all the women in Woodlore Subdivision on Sept. 13. It was held at the home of Mrs. Don MacKenzie who was assisted by Mrs. Quinby Wonn, Mrs. Joseph Kordick and Mrs. John Van Wagoner. Punch was served, followed by a buffet luncheon and dessert and coffee.

There was much activity in new Woodbrook Subdivision Saturday, Sept. 16. The men in the sub organized and conducted a "Block Party."

The women planned the food and the teen-agers thought up games for the children and acted as judges. All of the Woodlore families were present, including some who have not yet moved there; namely the John Lynches, the Jack Kindrees and the Joseph Wests.

From 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. there was a bike contest, games for children (each child received a prize), and a potluck dinner. At 9:30 p.m. the campfire was lit and there was group singing for the adults after the children were bedded down.

The people in charge were Ned Sturton, overall co-ordinator; Dick Tobin, treasurer; Charles Heldt, in charge of the lighting; Stewart Oldford, equipment; Warren Bradburn and Larry Waterhouse, the refreshments. Warren Booker, Paul Guy, Dick Hausman and Fred Herr, children's games. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tallant shopped for prizes, Clint Etienne was in charge of the campfire, Chick Feld, Dick Swanson and Forest Byrd provided the manpower.

The R.J. Emerson family of Woodbrook attended the party, unexpectedly returning home early from taking daughter Jane to Bowling Green University.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fritz of Ann Arbor Trail have returned from a five day trip to San Francisco with the Voyagers Flying Club. Chinatown, Fishermans Wharf and shopping centers were visited. They had dinner one night with Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Thorson, formerly of Plymouth and now living in Pleasanton, California.

Last Sunday the Bruce Richards of Woodlore were hosts to Mrs. Richards' two brothers and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams from Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Williams from Dearborn. They came to Plymouth with several friends to attend the Fall Festival. Later in the afternoon, Mrs. Richards served the group coffee and rolls in her home.

On Sept. 11, Mrs. Bruce Richards held the Garden Club meeting in her home with 40 women in attendance. The tea chairman was Mrs. Ward Jones, assisted by Mrs. Bruce Scott and Mrs. Roy Lindsay.

Coincidence Rules In Birth Of Twins

The power of coincidence ruled mightily in the birth of two sets of twins to Plymouth Township mothers last Thursday.

Twin girls were born to Mrs. Donald E. Wright, 40567 Micol, while a boy and a girl were born to Mrs. David Curtis, 10471 N. Territorial—all in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, within a space of two hours.

Furthermore, all deliveries were made by Dr. Paul J. Benson, of Plymouth.

To further compound the element of coincidence, both husbands majored in architecture in college—and both had automobile overheating problems when they rushed their wives to Ann Arbor during the preceding night.

The twins were the first children for the Curtis couple, while the Wright girls join an older brother. The latter weighed six pounds-four-ounces and four pounds-nine-ounces at birth, while the Curtis boy weighed in at seven pounds, with his sister at six pounds-10 ounces.

Hart To Speak Here Oct. 27

Michigan's senior senator, Philip A. Hart, will be the guest speaker at a fund raising dinner set for Friday, Oct. 27 in the Thunderbird Inn.

It pays to be a Credit Union Family

...especially when you buy your new '68 car

It's great to own a '68!

The new models incorporate more safety features than ever before. And when you finance your car through a credit union, you not only get safety in the car but safety for your family. Qualified credit union members receive life insurance at no extra cost.

You also save money on low C.U. rates. You see, credit union rates are clear cut. A credit union is in business to help its members. It is owned by its members and there's no point in charging yourself high interest rates. That's why a credit union offers advantages you find nowhere else. Go ahead. Buy that new '68 you've set your heart on. And for low-cost financing, see your credit union. It's the smartest move a car buyer can make.

For full details, contact the C.U. where you work—or the one in your parish or neighborhood—or write Michigan Credit Union League, P.O. Box 5210, Detroit, Michigan 48235.

Start Day Right At Breakfast

by Joyce Totten

Do your child a favor and start his day out right with breakfast. I am sure you know that, from many standpoints, nutritionists consider breakfast the most important meal of the day.

I am always concerned with those children that don't have any breakfast.

When asked why they recite all the old reasons--not enough time, they don't like to eat first thing in the morning, they get tired of the same old things every morning.

Now what can you do to see that they do have breakfast each and every morning?

First you could start by planning a good breakfast menu which is built on a pattern--fruit, cereal and milk, bread and butter. If the pattern is followed it will provide quick and lasting energy. Without breakfast the child suffers by having a mid-morning slump and does not stay alert in his third hour class when his thoughts turn to lunch.

As much planning and preparation the night before will also help to save time in the morning. The table could be set before retiring.

It is also important to provide for wide variation in appetizing and attractive menus. You have heard the saying, "We eat with our eyes." This is very true. If the food does not look appetizing you are fighting a losing battle.

Here are some ideas to make breakfast, the most important meal of the day, and more interesting.

CRUNCHY SHREDDED WHEAT DATE MUFFINS

1/2 c. finely crushed shredded wheat, bite-size, oblong, round, or spoon-size biscuits
1 3/4 c. prepared biscuit mix
2 T. sugar
1/4 t. salt
1/2 c. chopped pitted dates
1 egg, beaten
3/4 c. milk
3 T. melted fat

Combine dry ingredients in mixing bowl and mix well. Add remaining ingredients and stir just until all dry ingredients are moistened. Fill greased muffin pans 2 1/2 by 1 3/4 inches, two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven (400 F.) until done and golden brown, 20 to 22 min. Yield: 12 muffins.

PROTEIN SPECIAL

1 pkg. brown and serve sausage

Roll one sausage in each baking powder biscuit. Place on baking pan and bake until roll and sausage is completely done.

CORN FLAKE QUICKIE

Split English muffins, using a fork; spread each half with butter mixed with brown sugar, sprinkle thickly with slightly crushed corn flakes, and toast in a hot oven until heated through. This resembles a home made Danish-type pastry which can be ready in 10 minutes! To make this sweet a bit fancier, add a few chopped nuts, a little finely cut coconut, or candied cherries to the topping. When used as an ingredient, breakfast cereals add nutritional values--protein, the valuable B vitamins, riboflavin, niacin and thiamine and essential minerals to home baking.

Sale Planned

The Western Wayne County Mothers of Twins Club is planning a rummage sale Oct. 21, from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Dearborn Civic Center, Greenfield Road and Michigan.

Marine Ball

The 192nd Marine Corps Birthday Ball will be held Friday, Nov. 10, in Roma Hall, Livonia.

A buffet dinner will be served from 7 to 9 p.m., with the ceremony for the evening at 9:15 and dancing afterwards. Col. J. Rolfe, of Independence Green, Farmington, is chairman for this year's ball.

Quakertown Questers Meet

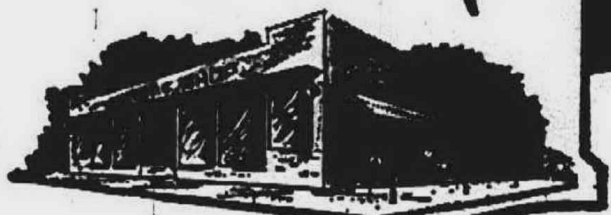

The Quakertown Questers will hold their next meeting Wednesday, Oct. 25, in the Home of Mrs. H.P. Adams.

The Farmington area groups' September meeting in the home of Mrs. R.W. Shafte, of Briar Hill, featured study papers by Mrs. R.J. Truesdell on "The Cultural Influence of 18th Century Virginia upon Colonial Society," and by Mrs. E.L. Draper on the "Political Role of Williamsburg."

Questions & Answers

the stove?

Call it "steamed" custard and proceed as follows:
Prepare a mixture as for soft custard, using cold milk, and pour it into buttered molds. Set the molds in a pan of hot water (the water should extend only halfway up the sides of the molds), cover the pan, and cook the custard at a simmer until it is firm.
