Sid Strong Looks Back Over 50 Years As Scout

On Sunday, November 1, Sid Strong, the city's first manager, will celebrate an important anniversary. No, it will not be his birthday, or the anniversary of his coming here to manage the thriving young village in 1920. Each of these anniversaries hold important places in his life, but the one he celebrates on Sunday brings broad smiles of satisfaction.

The big day will mark the completion of 50 years of service with the Boy Scouts and, as he puts it, "These years have brought me many lifelong friends and some of the finest memories of my time."

Over this half century he has earned or been awarded--most every honor available to a Boy Scout and he revels in all of the activity. Only two weeks ago he attended a conference of high officials to help plan more work.

AS HE approaches the half century mark as a Scout, Sid likes to recall how he got started in the work that has given him so much enjoyment. "I was living in Sault Ste. Marie at the time--it was 1914", he points out, "and I was approached by Rev. Stephan Alling, Rector of St. James Episcopal Church, and asked to help with the Scouts. I did and coached a team of knot-tiers from Boy Scout Troop No. 1. that went on to win the event at the Chippewa County Council rally."

"The next year", Sid went on, "Rev. Alling asked me to take over as Scoutmaster of Troop 5, also sponsored by his church. We advanced to the point where we united the two troops, but my work was interrupted when I came to Ply-

School Upgrades Secretaries' Wages

In a special meeting Monday night the Plymouth Board of Education approved a new contract with the Board's Educational Secretaries.

The secretaries gained an average wage increase of between 8.5 per cent and 9 per cent, depending upon the job classification.

They also gained 100 per cent participation in the Blue Cross insurance plan.

In other business the board: Called for a special meeting on Monday, Oct. 30, 1967, to open bids for the administration building;

Approved the teacher contract for John P. Crosson as a teacher at Junior High East; Approved two change orders for elementary school number mouth in 1920 as Village Manager."

When Sid arrived here, there was no Scout activity, though there had been some in previous years.

Things didn't remain that way very long. On November 1, 1922, he took over the chairmanship of the Troop Committee of Troop P. 1, which was being organized in the First Metho-

Area Dems Pay Honor To Sen. Hart

Phillip A. Hart, Michigan's senior senator, will be the guest of the Plymouth-Northville area Democrats at the second annual dinner dance being sponsored at the Thunderbird Inn on Friday night.

Scores of other persons prominent in the Democratic Party, including former Governor G. Mennen Williams, former Congressman Wes Vivian and State Representative James Tierney will be in attendance.

According to Dinner Chairman John Murawski there will be a well-planned evening of entertainment that will be a bit unusual in that a time limit is being placed on speech-making.

Earl Demel Back On Job

Earl Demel, former township attorney who has been on the sick list for most of the past year, is back on the job again. "I started with three hours a day," he said, "but now am keeping full time office hours."

Citizens Group Okays New High School Plans

The Citizens Committee that has been working for more than a year to help design and plan the new high school in the Plymouth Community had an opportunity to review the entire plans last Saturday in a meeting with the architect and school officials--and the members liked what they saw.

They reviewed all the work that has been done both on the exterior and the interior, discussed the facilities and the manner in which the classes could be operated with the least amount of confusion.

And at the finish there was only one voice raised in criticism--a wish that the building would be of brick construction instead of panel concrete.

UNDER THE plan, the building will have the very latest in exteriors. It will be concrete panels in four foot widths and the height of the building. These panels will be hung much after the fashion of the concrete paneling on the new Bell Telephone Building on Ann Arbor Road. This review meeting was the climax of a well planned program that had its inception on October 22, 1966 when the committee heard the presentation of preliminary studies of the architects.

From that day on the committee has visited many high schools in the state and has met every Saturday morning to make certain that plans were proceeding and that nothing was done for which they might later be sorry.

Since June the teachers have been working with the architects and the work was converted from the written word to architectural design and nothing has been left to chance. When the meeting ended Don Tripp, chairman of the committee and the 40 persons who attended the meeting voiced full approval of the work done thus far.

At the same time the Committee learned the planned cost of the building. Broken down to the various elements the cost will be:

- Building $6,600,000
- Permanent equipment $400,000
- Work on site $375,000
- Professional services and architects fees and contingencies $737,500
- Portable equipment $387,500
- Total $8,500,000

"This is the exact amount of the bond issue that was approved by the voters last Spring", Superintendent James Rossman explained.

He pointed out that the cost, as listed, does not include a lighted stadium.

"We will have an athletic field," he said, "but lights will have to come later. We figure that, perhaps, our schedules can be arranged so that the football team, for instance, can use the present stadium down town."

The Committee also learned of the latest timetable for the steps to be taken for the construction of the school. Here are the important dates:

- Feb. 5, 1968 -- Final document of complete plans ready for review.
- Feb. 12, 1968 -- All plans go to bidders.

March 12, 1968 -- Opening of bids.

March 18, 1968 -- Awarding of contract.

August 15, 1969 -- Contract completed.

When completed the school will be virtually two buildings -- joined by a lobby entrance.

The class room building will be three stories on a plot about 300 feet square. The auditorium and gymnasium will be 230 by 270 feet and will be two stories. Over all, the school will have a frontage of 710 feet.

It will be a well planned educational institution.

'Eyesore' Now Faces New Delay

Some sage once remarked, "The wheels of the Gods grind slowly--but they grind exceedingly fine."

The people of Plymouth have reason to wonder what he would have said had he lived here to watch the movements of government.

Several months ago the City Commissioners approved a plan for the razing of the Davis property on Penniman Avenue. It was a plan that involved a special assessment to the property owners on the street. They approved.

But the building--often referred to as "The Penniman Eyesore" is still standing.

"I don't think we will be able to do anything with it until Spring," City Manager Richard Blodgett explained when asked about the delay.

"We have just received the abstract and after November it will be almost impossible to lay black topping. So, it appears that nothing much will --or can--be done until Spring."

STARTING LIFE-TIME HOBBY: One of the most important tasks in any school is to teach the young folks some activity that will be useful all through life. Plymouth has found one of the answers by teaching young girls to knit. The class opened a week ago at Starkweather School and in the upper picture Mrs. E.P. Light is shown teaching the art to Kathleen Look (left) and Evelyn Hill, each eight years old. In the lower picture Gayle Brodie (left) and Marianne Stoddard, each 10 years old, are shown on their way to mastering the trickery of knitting one and purling two.

Township Judge Ends 26 Cases

Judge James E. McCarthy of the Plymouth Township Justice Court, settled 26 cases during the past week and collected $485 in fines.

Most of the cases were of the minor variety of traffic violations.

Perry Richwine Finds Things Interesting On World Tour

I am 19 days out of Los Angeles by sea. We are on a wonderful ship, the S.S. Statendam, a Dutch ship out of Rotterdam.

The passengers aboard are just like a small community. Some of the men sit on deck with their powerful radios and listen to the World Series. The stock reports come in daily by radiogram. Thus, we are getting all the sad news.

We have had three rough days at sea--the kind that help reduce the amount of food intake. We all recovered very quickly.

There is a complete theatrical group aboard from London, England. They have put on many marvelous evening programs. We have a Master of Ceremonies who formerly was with the Lawrence Welk show. He is a Scotsman with a terrific memory.

WE HAVE weekly church services aboard with the Jewish, Catholic and Protestant faiths sharing the same church. It is a privilege to see three churchmen shaking hands and each visiting the others service.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Richwine are in the midst of a world tour and before he left, Perry promised to write and tell of some of his experiences on the trip. This is his first letter, written on October 18, in Tokyo. Other letters will follow from time to time.

I made up my first Rotary meeting in Honolulu and when I stood up to take acknowledgment as a guest, I was surprised and pleased to be followed by Stanley Markley, a past president of the Livonia Club.

The speaker of the day reminded us that Hawaii came out of the sea five million years ago and would return to the sea in another five million years.

Our next Rotary stop was Tokyo, Japan. The Tokyo club was just about a 9,000 yen ($25 in our money) ride from our Yokohama port. The Tokyo club had a special meeting at which they gave reports from the district conference held in Okinawa.

They paid my wife and I unusual honors by requesting our presence at the head table, and I was asked to speak about our Plymouth Club and Michigan in general.

I also had the privilege, while

Local Dealer Heading Detroit Auto Show Unit

A 10-man team headed by Harry Tennyson, president of Tennyson Chevrolet, Inc., Livonia, is responsible for the success of the $10 million Detroit Auto Show to be held at Cobo Hall Nov. 18-26. Tennyson heads a committee of eight Detroit area auto dealers appointed by Chilton Drysdale, president of the sponsoring Detroit Auto Dealers Association. It is Tennyson's third straight year as show committee chairman. Tennyson organized his present dealership in 1955, and since then has more than doubled the size of the company. He had operated the Tennyson Car and Truck Rental Co. from 1946 to 1952 and Central Car and Truck Rental Co., a Hertz licensee in Lansing, from 1952 to 1955. Tennyson is a past secretary and director of the DADA, and past president and currently a director of the Detroit Chevrolet Dealers Association, where he originated the Chevrolet dealers' scholarship plan. In 1965, Tennyson was selected the head of the DADA show committee for the first Detroit show to be held in Cobo Hall. His success in organizing and staging that show led to his nomination last year and again this year as show chairman. Other members of the 1967 DADA Auto Show Committee are John S. Baker, Redford Rambler, Inc., entertainment chairman; Douglas C. Dameron, Dameron Motor Sales (Chrysler-Plymouth), Farmington, industry dinner chairman; Homer R. Hargrove, LeBaron Motor Sales (Oldsmobile), Wayne and Howard A. Shaw, Stark Hickey East, Inc., (Ford), East Detroit ticket co-chairmen; Bart Piscitello, Bart Lincoln-Mercury, show personnel chairman; Edward F. Schmid, Ed Schmid Ford, Ferrandale, program and exhibit space chairman; and Donald Wood, Wood Motors, Inc., (Volkswagen), publicity chairman.

520 Were Aided By Easter Seals

A total of 520 persons, more than half of them children, received aid through the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County during the fiscal year that ended Aug. 31 of this year. The annual report on services recently issued by the society showed that 4,530 contacts were made to reach the 276 handicapped children and 244 adults aided. Types of service offered all handicapped persons by the Easter Seal Society include information, transportation, loans of equipment, purchase of equipment, aid in using available resources, consultation, and medical. IN ADDITION, there are a special day camp, a teen club and an activity center especially for the younger handicapped group. Ivan R. McFaul of Lincoln Park, is president of the Easter Seal group, and Elsmere V. Pearson, of Redford Township, is vice president. Directors include Robert L. Allison, of Livonia; Edwin H. Erdmann, of Garden City; Thomas Hackney, of Plymouth; and Harry Wall, also of Plymouth. William Sempliner, of Plymouth, is an honorary director. THE MAJOR emphasis in the local Easter Seal Society, one of more than 1,400 affiliates of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, is on services to individuals in groups. Such a program utilizes the Easter Seal Center, near Middle Belt and Michigan in Inkster. INDIVIDUAL SERVICES are offered to children and adults physically handicapped from any cause, whether or not they are participants in any of the Easter Seal groups. Easter Seal services supplement, but never duplicate, services offered in other agencies. The diagnosis of cerebral palsy accounted for nearly one-third of the children served. In all, 45 different diagnoses accounted for the children's problems. Arthritis, strokes, amputations and accidental injuries and 47 other diagnoses described the problems among the adults served.

Madonna Herald Wins Again

"All-American" and "All-Catholic" ratings have been compiled by the Madonna College newspaper, The Madonna Herald, for the sixth consecutive term. The first award was granted by the Associated Collegiate Press for the 1967 spring semester. The Herald totaled 865 of a possible 1,000 points to win the "All-Catholic" award from the Catholic School Press Association of Marquette University. The treatment of news and attractive, varied layouts were determining factors in the rating. Co-editors of the Herald during the semester were Sus Schachner, Saginaw, and Maureen Fox, 15435 Levan, Livonia. Other staff members include Barbara Lemanske, Sue Szejda, Andrea Tworek, Christine Curylo, Stella Szczesny, Sister M. Matthias, Sister M. Paulynne. Sister M. Felix was the newspaper advisor.

GOP Picks Farmington Woman

Mrs. C.E. (Isabel) Haynes of Farmington emerged last weekend as the unanimous choice for president of the Michigan Women's Republican Federation after ultra conservatives within the women's auxiliary of the party decided against putting up their own slate of candidates.

Now serving her second term as a 19th District representative on the State Central Committee, Mrs. Haynes is a former president of the Oakland Council of Republican Women's Clubs.

In a display of intra-party harmony, Mrs. Haynes was chosen without opposition in a statewide convention at Lansing and will begin her two-year term Jan. 1. She will succeed Mrs. Ruth Hobbs of Ann Arbor.

She had been serving as one of the vice-presidents of the organization and was the presidential choice of the nominating committee, identified as GOP moderates friendly to the cause of Gov. George Romney.

Mrs. Haynes formerly served also as president of the Farmington Women's Republican Club and lives at 24686 Madison Ct. She was one of Farmington's eight delegates to the convention.

Nine-Month Earnings Up At Evans

Portland, Ore.--Evans Products Co. announced Monday that net earnings for the first nine months of 1967 were $5,789,000, up slightly from $5,773,000 in the corresponding period of 1966.

Total revenues of $211,490,000 were slightly less than they were in the same period last year.

According to the company, which has a plant in Plymouth, earnings for the full year should exceed those of 1966 by a substantial margin, and further improvement is expected in 1968.

MADAME PRESIDENTS--That's the order of this group that were present at Independence Green Monday afternoon to honor Mrs. C. E. Haynes upon her election as president of the Michigan Federation of Republican Women's Clubs. From left, are: Mrs. Zar Reader, president of the Republican Women of Farmington; Mrs. Haynes; and Mrs. Paul Robertson, president of the Oakland County Council of Republican Women's Clubs.

Farmington Incorporation Beaten--But Not Killed

Proponents of the incorporation of all or part of Farmington Township as the "City of Farmington Hills" have not given up the fight.

If there was one unmistakable impression generated by officials, candidates and hangers-on in the knot of persons who stood by Monday night in Township Hall as election results were calculated, that was it.

It was sensed and spoken in one manner or another by incorporation advocates and foes alike.

COMMENTS FOR publication ranged from Supervisor Curtis Hall's "provoked" to Philip Daniels' "pleased" reactions, neither unexpected inasmuch as Hall fought for passage of Monday's issue as strongly as Daniels opposed it as a leader of the Committee for Preservation of the Township.

Frederick Lichtman of the Citizens Council for Community Development, which originated the petition drive forcing the election, was forthright in saying he anticipates a renewed incorporation effort to spring up.

Daniels, when asked if he expected to be engaged in another future and similar political fight over a third attempt at incorporation, remarked, "It sounds like it from the comments around here."

COLD STATISTICS gave rise to much of the speculation. Rejection of the incorporation question Monday, by a 2,310 to 2,106 count was in sharp contrast to the 5,657 to 1,547 defeat suffered by proponents in June, 1966.

This alone buoyed thoughts of the losers that they are gaining headway toward their goal, and tempered the glee of the victors.

"We are a non-profit organization whose members are endeavoring to lose weight and keep it off," says Mrs. Norras Fazio, secretary.

Ladies who need help and encouragement in their dieting projects are invited. "Wouldn't it be nice to be able to get districts that comprise the college district for a vote of confidence.

At its meeting last week, the college board unanimously approved a pair of motions by Trustee Jane K. Moehle of Plymouth intended to clarify the board's position concerning AVC.

Trustees supported a second motion by Mrs. Moehle which directed college authorities to update a 1963 study of area vocational needs and facilities and to provide the Board with information on financing, curriculum development and coordination, personnel and facilities.

An interim report was requested by Jan. 1.

THE BOARD reaffirmed its stand on the identity of the college by voting to inform the Wayne County Intermediate School District it intended to continue operating the college as an independent district.

Two weeks ago, Trustees made this position clear to the State Board for Public Community and Junior Colleges, which is proposing a state-wide redistricting plan for community colleges.

Trustees reaffirmed their position after receiving a letter from William A. Shuck, superintendent of the WCISD, requesting a position statement relative to a plan to create a county-wide community college district.

TRUSTEES INSTRUCTED Board Secretary Paul Mutnick to send Shuck copies of a letter to the state board and a reply from that board's executive director, Dr. John W. Porter, which said, in part:

"Based on (your decision), the final plan will clearly note Schoolcraft Community College as a community college district."

The board awarded sale of a $250,000 tax anticipation note to the National Bank of Detroit on a low bid of 2.83 per cent interest rate. The note was sold to provide the college with operating cash until local tax revenues are received.

Three bids were received on the note which is payable on May 1. Other bidders were Detroit Bank and Trust, 3.5 per cent; and Manufacturers National Bank, 3.75 per cent.

Sen. Beebe Rips State Board For 'Harassing' School

Senator Lorraine Beebe (R), 12th District, has charged Superintendent of Public Instruction Ira Polley and members of the state board of education with "harassing and coercive tactics" against the North Dearborn Heights board of education.

The native Dearborn legislator, whose district also includes Redford, thus is taking a leading role in the critical teacher strike caused dispute there.

Disbanding the school district has been suggested, with its northern portion possibly joining to the South Redford school district.

In a telegram to Polley, Senator Beebe demanded a copy of a report which Polley said Dr. Edward Pfau of his department had made. It purportedly details conditions in the North Dearborn Heights schools, where 64 striking teachers resigned rather than obey a court back-to-work order.

MRS. BEEBE, a former teacher, contends that Polley is hiding the report, if any exists.

"I am again requesting a copy of the complete and detailed report made by Dr. Edward Pfau on or about Oct. 2 to the State board of education and department of public instruction concerning the charge of grave conditions in the educational program being offered to students of North Dearborn Heights.

"It is imperative that this report be made available to me because of its apparent use as a basis for a move to dissolve the district, close the schools, deprive the district of its state aid and accreditation.

"To date the report has only been indicated as a verbal one," she noted.

College Districting Omits Schoolcraft

The Wayne County Intermediate Board of Education has appointed an advisory committee to make recommendations on the division of Wayne County--with the exception of the Schoolcraft and Henry Ford College areas--into seven election districts.

The seven Wayne County election districts, according to state law Act 285, sec. 83, must be "composed of compact and as nearly contiguous territory and as equal in population as practicable."

Advisory committee proposals for the formation of the seven community college election districts will be presented at the regular November 22 Wayne County Intermediate Board of Education meeting.

At a later time, the Wayne County Intermediate Board of Education will determine the forthcoming election date for the election of trustees from each of the seven community college districts.

Scouters In Regional Meeting

Two Boy Scouting "firsts" will take place Saturday, Nov. 11, 1967, in Cobo Hall, Detroit. The Nov. 11 date marks the first time key volunteer and professional Scouting leaders from the Region Seven four-state area of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan will convene in Detroit for their annual regional meeting.

More than 1,000 top business and community leaders, Scout executives and their wives, representing the 78 local Boy Scout councils in the largest Scout Region in the country, will hear a report on scouting achievements over the past year, elect a new slate of volunteer Region Seven officers and give recognition to this year's recipients of Silver Antelope Awards, the highest regional honor that can be bestowed on volunteer Scout leaders.

The second "first" will be the appearance of Alden G. Barber, new chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, who took over Oct. 1. All Detroit area volunteer Scout leaders have been invited to attend the annual meeting.

 dist Church by Rev. D.D. Nagle. "I took over as Scoutmaster in 1927", Sid explained, "and held that honor until 1936 when I became District Committeeman for the Plymouth District of the Detroit Area Council. I had been active in the formation of the District in 1931."

UP TO the time the district was formed the troops had some outstanding competitive rallies and such things as the Court of Honor and campouts under the leadership of William Hodson, who was Scoutmaster at Rosedale Gardens, Russell J. Amerman, of Northville, and George A. Smith and myself."

It was this work that brought Sid his first high honor. At the Recognition Dinner in Detroit in 1934 he was awarded the Silver Beaver. It was the first time an award had been made to any scout in this area. Sid kept right on working and in 1938 he became what is known as a "Special Field Commissioner." This is a trouble shooting assignment.

"Since the death of 'Uncle Otto' Hornung recently, there is only one other man in this classification in the area", Scout Strong pointed out.

Sid claims in his present position he doesn't have too much to do with the scouts themselves, but that he works very closely with the camping and activities committee.

HE HAS had much to do with laying out the various camps and setting up plans for the meetings and conferences.

"Along the way I have taken a lot of training courses", he smiled. "I have won the Scoutmaster's Key for five years, so I think I can claim that I am a 'trained' scout. And I also have won membership in aboard ship, of sharing in the presentation of facts regarding our home states. It was nice to be able to tell the people that Michigan has 57,000 square miles of land and 97,000 square miles of fresh water.

On the ship's arrival at Yokohama, the Chamber of Commerce really put on a show. They welcomed us at the dock with a brass band and three beautiful Japanese ladies, including Miss Yokohama, and her personal court.

Today we arrived at Kobe and had the privilege of more brass bands and beauty queens.

Rotary was held in a beautiful setting at a hotel high up in the mountains, overlooking the bay. The speaker of the day really was a fellow traveler. He has spent nine years on his trip around the world on a bicycle. He has two more years to go.

One thing is noticeable at the Japanese Rotary clubs. Their meetings are quiet, dignified and uninterrupted. There is no such things as talking between members after the speaker has been introduced...nor does anyone leave until the meeting is dismissed.

Getting around these Japanese cities is very difficult. The streets are narrow and all the street names are in Japanese without numbers.

About 98 per cent of the people in Japan can read and write, but very few speak English. Come to think of it, not many of us can speak Japanese. Tomorrow we leave for Hong Kong and here's hoping they cease bombing for at least a day. Sincerely, Perry.

JV's Capture Third In Row

The Plymouth High School Junior Varsity registered its third straight victory last week by beating Belleville, 20 to 6. Terry Wagenschütz was the work horse for the winners. He gained 120 yards in 20 carries for a 4.0 average.

An Invitation To Plymouth, England

If any resident of Plymouth, Michigan, is planning a trip abroad within the next few weeks there is an open invitation to attend the tree planting ceremonies on the lawn of the City Hall in Plymouth, England.

The trees are the three locust specimens that were presented to the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, during his recent visit and were sent abroad as a gift from the people of Plymouth, Michigan.

In letters to Richard Blodgett, Plymouth City Manager, and Robert Brayman, Chairman of the Centennial Committee, Stewart Lloyd Jones, town clerk and one of the Lord Mayor's entourage, extended an invitation to the tree planting on November 6.

"We have received the trees, the beautiful brochure of pictures and the bronze tablet", he wrote. "We are planning to plant the trees during an interval of the Council meeting in November. And we would like to have anyone from Plymouth, Michigan, who may be traveling this way as our guests."

The plaque, designed by Harold Guenther, is to be placed on a suitable background in the shady spot made possible by the trees. It will stand forever as a symbol of friendship between the people of the two Plymouths.

Community School Benefits Are Outlined

Classes for illiterate adults; instruction for expectant parents, given free by doctors and nurses; cooking lessons for teen-agers; and an organized Teen Club—all are part of the Community School program in the Rochester School District in Oakland County.

The Rochester program, now two years old, was outlined for a Wayne Community School District Citizens Advisory Committee on the Community School Concept by Walter Cooper, director of Community Educational Services in Rochester.

HE WAS THE principal speaker at the committee's first meeting, held in Wayne Memorial High School Thursday night.

Cooper told the estimated 25 members present that they must recognize that children begin learning the moment they are born and when they come to school, they bring with them all of the habits and attitudes of their family.

"If a youngster comes to school with all of these feelings, and culturally endowed beliefs," Cooper continued, "as well as those attitudes which he learned from his own family and neighborhood, I believe it behooves the school to know this child and his background very well so that the school, as an educational institution, might help this child learn in a way that is most meaningful to him.

"Going even further, it might also be necessary to help the parents continue their education. Certainly, it would behoove the school to know the parents as well as they can, to know what their beliefs are and their attitudes are and foster a more positive change in attitudes if this need be the case."

HE ALSO SAID that the elementary school can promote programs by extending their school hours into the evening or Saturdays or throughout the summer months to attract people and recognize the fact that people—all people—learn every hour of their waking day and that education does not end at 3:30 p.m. but it is an on-going process.

Some of the tools which a community school program could use are recreation for both adults, youths, and younger children.

But Cooper pointed out that a community school program is not just frosting on the cake with recreation and happy experiences for all.

"WE DO want to take these people to a higher level of self-sufficiency where we can build leadership and self-direction and have vital growing community of people which can create an education-minded environment," he said.

In Rochester, the local Junior Women's Club holds classes for expectant parents without charge with the Oakland County Health Dept. supplying materials.

The women's auxiliary of the Rochester Jaycees holds baby-sitting classes with more than 140 youngsters enrolled.

A Teen Recreation Committee was organized to raise funds for programs to operate during the summer months.

HE EMPHASIZED that the community school program does not start at 3:30 p.m. when school is out but it is a flowing school day in which the required part of the day is over and then the students have the option of attending other classes or activities to use their leisure time in a more meaningful manner, Cooper said.

We feel that here is where we can perhaps do a better job of helping youngsters understand themselves better and create a more wholesome environment so that each can truly feel worthwhile, he concluded.

Wayne School Board Secretary Philip R. Biebesheimer told the committee that there should be a total involvement of citizens in the school program so that all feel that they are part of a large investment of $50 million of school buildings which are not now being used to their fullest extent.

He pointed out that the pupil school students don't use the schools for one-fourth of the year and 25 per cent of the youths are not even in school.

Recovery Group To Meet

Recovery, Inc., which includes Garden City and Westland residents, is meeting weekly at 8:30 p.m., Tuesdays at the Nativity Church of Christ, on Henry Ruff Road and West Chicago, in Livonia.

The group is a non-profit organization which offers a method of self-help and group study for persons having symptoms of fears with its origin in the nervous system, a group spokesman said.

Weekly group meetings are held by trained leaders who joined Recovery, Inc., because they themselves had the symptoms.

During the meetings, which last about two hours each, members help each other by giving examples of how they have utilized the techniques of Recovery, Inc., in facing and handling specific problems.

Persons interested in more information about the group may call GA 7-0307.

THE GARDEN CITY Board of Education was pleasantly surprised last week by a visit from Girl Scout Troop 2317. Mrs. Carl Kiessel brought the Cadettes to the meeting as a part of their studies on citizenship. Board President Bill Keith welcomed the Cadettes to the meeting and introduced them to each board member and to Dr. Don Shader, superintendent of schools, who introduced the members of his administrative staff and accepted an attractive pencil holder presented in behalf of all the girls by Cadette Rebecca Bankston.

Conferences Close Schools

Garden City Public Schools will be closed Nov. 2 and 3 so that teachers may attend committee meetings and workshops connected with the Michigan Education Association's Annual Teachers Institute Days.

WHILE THE schools will be closed, Garden City teachers, administrators and facilities will play key roles in the regional program. West High School will be the site of the region's Professional Center. Othmar Lenze, East High librarian, will be general chairman of a two-day workshop covering such topics as professional negotiations; teacher education and professional standards; human relations, communications; association representatives; retirement and social security; and M.E.A. insurance.

Highlight of the workshop will be a luncheon meeting Nov. 2 to include addresses by Clifford Worden, M.E.A. president, Dr. E. Dale Kennedy, M.E.A. executive secretary, and Dr. Ira Polley, State superintendent of public instruction.

Other Garden City teachers who will have key assignments at the Professional Center are William Mettert, of West High, who will be responsible for audio-visual materials and Ronald Wyszynski, Cambridge Junior High, who will chair the association representatives workshop. Wyszynski is president of the Garden City Education Association.

Mrs. Frances Pack, librarian at Burger Junior High, will be chairman of the Library-Instructional Materials Center workshop at Livonia Bentley High School. Robert Squires, audio-visual co-ordinator for all Garden City schools, will be chairman of a workshop on Production of Audio-Visual Materials at Bentley.

Irwin Winston, Harrison Elementary, is co-chairman of the Science Instruction Center workshop to be held at Romulus High School. The Special Education Center at Lincoln Park High School will include important contributions from Catherine Ayres, Esther Pustover, and Arthur Raye of Garden City's Special Services Department.

How State Won A Water Fight

By Attorney General FRANK J. KELLEY

(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

For a number of years the increasing diversion of water from the Great Lakes by the City of Chicago threatened Michigan's economy.

Thus, in 1958 our state determined to meet this threat with a vigorous legal response. Michigan's efforts were aided by the support of the attorneys general of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio and Pennsylvania who felt that the issue also affected their states.

THE CHIEF LEGAL question involved in Michigan's case was its petition to reopen the Supreme Court decree of 1930 upon which Chicago's diversion was based.

That decree contained no restrictions on the amount of water which Chicago could divert for its own purposes. In fact, the State of Illinois had filed suit on behalf of a number of Chicago suburbs against the other states to require them to withdraw their objections against additional water diversion.

After the suits were instituted, the U.S. Supreme Court referred the entire matter to Federal Judge Albert B. Maris, who held hearings from August 1959 to December 1966. Judge Maris determined that any further diversion would damage recreational areas, cause undue fluctuation of the water level, upset the ecology of the Great Lakes, and seriously affect the economy of the surrounding states.

IN DECEMBER of 1966 Judge Maris' report was transmitted to the Supreme Court. Basing its new decree chiefly upon the hearings which had been carried out for the past seven years, the Supreme Court upheld Michigan's position in three areas.

First, the case filed by the State of Illinois against the objecting states was dismissed.

Second, the Court imposed a ceiling of 3,200 cubic feet per second upon the amount of water which Illinois would be allowed to divert for all of its municipalities, including the City of Chicago. This total ceiling was lacking in the 1930 decree.

Third, the Supreme Court laid down certain criteria with which the State of Illinois will have to comply before increasing its diversion rate. The Prisoners Learning Automation

The Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit is contributing to a successful rehabilitation program at the Detroit House of Correction, located in Plymouth.

Women inmates, screened by aptitude tests and willingness to build new lives, are being trained as key punch operators in a federally-financed project called "Fresh Start."

Key punch operations, companion of card-sorting machines, have reached full growth in the age of computers. Without thousands of neatly stacked, punched cards, a computer has no facts nor symbols to store in its whirring memory banks.

The Detroit House of Correction - DeHoCo for short - is providing regularly scheduled classes, "office" space for rented machines, experienced instructors - and more willing hands than it has facilities to train.

The State Highway Commission, State Conservation Commission and Michigan Department of Labor are contributing thousands of data sheets to be translated into punched cards to feed their computers.

The entire project is administered by the Archdiocese of Detroit, which obtained the $79,000 federal grant, provides volunteer instructors from four parochial colleges in Detroit, and furnishes supervised lodging after release for girls who do not wish to return to their former environments or who have no place to go.

enactment of such standards means that Illinois cannot make a wasteful use of its waters and then clamor for increased diversion from Lake Michigan to make it up.

MICHIGAN AND the other Lake States have won a signal victory in their fight to maintain the Great Lakes as one of our most useful and valuable natural resources.

The State of Illinois will in the future be faced with restrictions on both the total diversion level at present and any future request for a higher diversion rate.

Ultimately, the decree should prove invaluable to the economic well-being of all the Lake States, including Illinois.

Wall Panels Safeguard Play Room

Children's rooms take a lot of punishment, and an ounce of prevention at the time of planning is worth a pound of cure later on.

If your remodeling plans include the youngsters' bedroom or playroom, be sure to use materials that can withstand the hard abuse they're certain to get. It will save you time, work and money for years to come.

WALLS IN children's rooms generally take the worst beating. They get scuffed and scratched, rammed with wagons and tricycles, and collect an assortment of stains and grubby finger marks. The best defense is a tough wall-covering such as factory-finished hardboard paneling.

accounted for 42 per cent of the teacher placements.

When Lenawee, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland and Washtenaw are added to Wayne to make up the six "southeastern" counties, the respective percentages are 85 and 75.

There was a sharp decrease also in the number of Eastern graduates taking jobs in California. Beginning teachers have become disenchanted with that state, according to Nisbet.

Low Court Bill Wants Magistrates

Justice Court reorganization will be one of the few pieces of legislation to pass during the special session of the State Legislature, in the opinion of Representative John Bennett, 19th District (Redford).

Open Housing, Good Roads and other major appropriation bills included in the Governor's suggested agenda don't seem to have a chance, said Bennett.

Bi-partisan opposition in both Houses of the Legislature against considering critical and complex appropriation and civil rights in special session is apparent, he told THE OBSERVER.

LOWER COURT reorganization was the major announced purpose of the special fall session.

Bennett, however, feels that House Bill 2001 has the best chance of passage. It was drafted by a bi-partisan House Committee headed by Republican Representative Donald E. Holbrook and Representative J. Robert Traxler, Democratic leader.

Holbrook is Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, it is commonly referred to as his bill.

Bennett said Holbrook's bill represents the most practical package, able to gain the most support from gravely concerned outstate legislators while providing a solution to alleged justice court inequities.

Its strength, he said, lies in its provisions for non-attorney "magistrates" of limited powers along with new "district judges." The judges would be a step lower in power and pay from the District Court of Appeals. The magistrates would serve as Deputy Clerks for the District Court at far lesser pay.

THE GOVERNOR'S recommended bill calls for every capacity to be filled by recognized lawyers. This would critically limit candidates in outstate areas, as well as unseat completely most of the Justices of the Peace now serving in those areas.

Admitting he is not completely familiar with the Senate proposal, Bennett said his belief that it would gain little support comes from a comment made by the Senate Committee leader responsible for reporting it out. "He says House Bill 2001 is better," said Bennett.

House Bill 2001 (Holbrook's) does establish a compromise solution. It provides that only attorney-qualified District Judges will have the power of determining guilt.

Magistrates would be empowered only to accept pleas of guilty to offenses punishable by up to $100 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

RELATIVE POWERS of each are apparent in Holbrook's thinking, also, in that the district judges would be paid from $20,000 to $27,500 and the magistrates would begin at $6,000 yearly or $25 per day.

Neither lower court official would receive payment on the basis of fees collected.

"I am not ready to vote for the bill as is; I have a few changes I want to make," said Bennett. "But it does give us what we've been fighting for passage for the past 15 years.

"Fines and fees will be returned to the political subdivision whose law was violated," Bennett noted at this paragraph in his copy of the bill, "OK for Redford."

He will seek to substitute "municipality" for "city" in provisions for establishment of parking violations bureaus which have characteristics similar to magistrates.

HOLBROOK'S BILL provides for district and divisional breakdowns of the lower court jurisdictions.

Redford Township alone would comprise the eighth division in the eleventh district (Wayne County) and would have two judges.

Magistrate apportionment (one to four within a county) would be decided by the County Board of Supervisors.

Eleventh District divisions would include the following, also:

Sixth Division: Cities of Northville, Plymouth and the Townships of Northville and Plymouth to have one judge.

Seventh Division: City of Livonia with two judges.

Eleventh Division: Cities of Garden City and Inkster with two judges.

Oakland County district, the 14th, would include in its fourth division the Cities of Farmington, Northville and South Lyon, and the townships of Novi, Farmington and Lyon with two judges.

during the cataclysmic years. Eisenstaedt, or "Eisie" as he is familiarly known, has had more photographs published than any man in history.

Most American adults have seen his classic V-J Day shot of a sailor kissing a nurse in the middle of Times Square, or of the barefoot Ethiopian soldier firing at Italian armor, and the younger generation has appreciated his candid photos of Sophia Loren and Marilyn Monroe.

Most recently the Photographic Society of America awarded a sterling silver pagoda to Eisenstaedt for contributing to international understanding.

Exhibition hours at the Detroit Institute of Arts are Tuesdays, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.; Wednesdays through Sundays, 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Closed Mondays and holidays.

Admission to the Eisenstaedt exhibition is free to the public.

Junior Troop 1036 Has Many Projects

A hayride and a cookout at Crystal Valley Ranch started the new season for Farmington junior troop 1036 of Alameda School as the retiring leaders, Mrs. Judy Cleveland and Mrs. Shirley Sloane welcomed Mrs. Agnes Plaggins and Mrs. Joan Moore as the new leaders, along with their Brownie fly-ups.

Art-in-the-round, the Dancer and the Songster badges (in which they made up their own troop hiking song) then finished the Cyclist Badge work when spring arrived. One third of the troop took riding lessons, which included grooming and saddling the horses at Crystal Valley, and in this way worked on their Horsemanship badge.

Girl Scouting promises its members fun, adventure, games, celebrations, songfests, campfires, cookouts and trips among other things and troop 1036 included all of these the past year.

A few meetings were held during the summer to complete plans for the August camping trip. The troop camped at the Oak Hollow Unit at Camp Narrin (thanks to their earnings in the Girl Scout cookie sale) and are thoroughly convinced that it is one of the most beautiful spots on earth. The girls mined clay from the banks nearby but their plans to fire them in the campfire were washed out in two sudden downpours.

The girls were especially happy that their paper mache' creche scene was enjoyed by so many in the Farmington City Hall last December. They experienced real satisfaction in making learning aids, as a service project, for the Headstart program and in making and sending baked goods to the Northville State Home. They were surprised and pleased to know that their contribution to the World Friendship Fund rated tops in the Farmington City Neighborhood.

All the girls enjoyed swimming and boating, and the advanced swimmers were able to use the canoes and sailboats. Senior Advisor Bridget Reagan and three of her Seniors, Sue Blalze, Cathy Steele and Sharon Shulkins, went along for the fun.

Most of the girls earned the

Talus Director Backs COG Bill

A proposed substitute Senate bill would "clog up COG" before the new southeastern Michigan agency gets underway, the Senate Municipalities Committee was told in Lansing today.

Irving J. Rubin, director of TALUS (Detroit Regional Transportation and Land Use Study, a special project of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission) attacked the proposed substitute bill.

It was offered as an alternative for Senate Bill No. 6 introduced by Sen. Gilbert Bur-sley, R, of Ann Arbor, and others.

The original bill seeks to establish the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

RUBIN SAID the original bill "establishes a means for developing regional solutions for regional problems" but the substitute bill "would restrict and repress this needed development."

Rubin cited four principal objections to the proposed substitute bill:

1. In general, the Council of Governments would be so restricted it could not perform functions beyond those presently authorized for regional planning commissions under existing legislation.

2. The rigid procedure proposed for representation by local units of government on the Council of Governments would freeze out many highly qualified and interested individuals and agencies and would freeze in others who might be lacking in qualifications and have only a feeble interest in making COG work.

3. Proposed procedures for carrying out policies and activities restrict in a way that would render COG ineffective.

4. School districts would be denied representation. The problems perplexing local units of government throughout the region are as onerous for school districts as for any other type of governmental unit.

U. Of M. Exhibits Rare Books

"Collectors' Choice," an exhibition of selected items from private collections of certain members of the University of Michigan Clements Library Associates, will be on display in the U. M. library through Nov. 8.

Earle W. DeLaVergne, 35970 Quakertown Lane, Farmington, is one of the exhibitors with two old books dealing with Michigan History.

One book, published in 1840, is written by Isaac McCoy, titled, "History of the Baptist Indian Missions."

The other book, which was printed in 1827 was written by Thomas L. McKenney and is named "Sketches of a Tour To The Lakes."

DeLaVergne has many historical atlas maps of Michigan which were drawn in the 17th Century, plus other books on the history of Michillimackinac, the Straits area and St. Ignace. None of these are on display in Ann Arbor.

The Collector said that he began collecting while he attended U. of M.

He said a professor named Eric Walter read a book called "Alexander Henry's Travels" in one of his classes and that sparked DeLaVergne's interest.

Besides the Farmington Historian's items there are also collectors' manuscripts from as far away as New York and Ohio.

2 Car Accident Hospitalizes Out-Of-Towners

James LeLand Gannon of Drayton Plains and Harold Thomas Fahner of Detroit were seriously injured Friday when their cars collided at the intersection of Middle Belt and 13 Mile Rds.

Botsford Hospital refused to disclose the condition of the two men.

Township police said that Gannon told them he was traveling north on Middle Belt and didn't see Fahner's car until they hit.

Fahner told Township police that he had stopped and then started across Middle Belt and as he saw headlights it was too late.

Drivers' Files Computerized

LANSING -- One record in every four involving Michigan drivers is now stored in computer memory banks of the Michigan Department of State. Secretary of State James M. Hare said that as of Aug. 25, a total of 5.1 million records had been mechanized, more than 25 per cent of the estimated 20 million total records in the central driver files.

"WE'RE AVERAGING around 150,000 records weekly," said Hare. "These include accident records, conviction records, records of problem drivers who have received warning letters, and some general driving records."

Hare estimated that total mechanization is about "two years off."

"The Legislature was kind enough to give us enough of an appropriation to accelerate mechanization of the files. Otherwise it would have taken several years to update such an extensive number of records."

Hare said that motorists who qualify as "problem drivers"--as well as persons who have had a warning letter--have their complete records in the files. "We're adding the records of new drivers to these files as they get into point trouble."

ALSO BEING mechanized as they are received are all accident records. More than a half-million accidents are now in the computer files.

"Our master plan calls for complete mechanization by 1970 of all records pertaining to drivers and the vehicles they

1 State, 1 Slogan

LANSING -- The confusion which surrounded last year's two slogans on Michigan license plates will be clarified this year when all 1968 plates will bear one slogan--"Great Lake State."

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, the new slogan will appear on all passenger and commercial license plates which go on sale Nov. 1.

LAST YEAR Michigan was the only state in the country to sport two slogans--"Water-Winter Wonderland" on all passenger vehicles and "Great Lake State" on commercial plates.

Under a new plan unveiled only this week by safety and insurance officials, a new license slogan, "Courteous Driver State," has been proposed. Hare is presently mulling the new theme over and will render a decision soon on whether to keep the present slogan next year or adopt the new one.

The "Great Lake State" slogan was spawned by the tourist industry of Michigan.

"It's bound to attract attention because people will think we've made a colossal goof and that it really should be 'Great Lakes State,'" mused Hare.

Strong Mayor Charter

salary for a job of this magnitude.

Our present mayor's salary, even with expense allowances added, limits the appeal of the office to those who have an independent source of income, or a business that can run with a minimum of direct supervision. Mayor Moelke estimates he spends at least 60 hours a week acting as mayor now, what will happen as the city continues to grow?

The $17,500 salary will attract many civic-minded, well qualified men and women who previously could not consider the job because of the low salary.

MAYOR HAS NEW DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

A new administrative department has been created to reorganize the financial business of the city directly under the control of the mayor. A more detailed explanation of this will be given later, the important change to be noted is that the mayor now shares this authority with the City Clerk and City Treasurer--both independently elected officials.

The new Department of Finance will be responsible for the Accounting, Budgeting, Assessing, Purchasing and Tax Collecting functions of the city.

ITEM VETO

The mayor has been authorized to make an "item veto" on matters of the budget. This means that he can take issue with one or more portions of the city's budget without having to reject the whole budget as is the present case.

TOP BANANA

In many small ways the new charter seeks to reaffirm the mayor's position as chief administrative and executive officer of the city. Here are some of the items not provided in our present charter: It specifies that the mayor shall be the official representative of the city at public functions and that the mayor shall deliver a "state of the City" address to the council at the time of the presentation of the budget.

It insists that the mayor be notified of all regular and special meetings of the council. It authorizes the mayor to appoint his own administrative and/or other staff personnel. It makes adequate provision for replacement, should a vacancy occur in the office.

McDonald Raps Highway 'Threat'

Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th District, has criticized a "thinly-veiled threat" by the U.S. Department of Transportation to cut in half this year's $4.4 billion highway fund outlay.

The Redford freshman accused President Johnson of "playing with the lives" of highway users "in his effort to club Congress into giving him a tax increase."

Margery received her Bachelor of Science degree in education-mathematics.

Watches Now Huge Or Mini

The ordinary-looking watch is replaced either by oversized numbers or ones with mini-dials. Bands on the big ones dwarf the wrist. Watch also for color on dials and straps and with numerals looking like telephone dials.

McDONALD SAID in a news-letter: "The excuse is that such a reduction would be in line with the House's demand that the Administration cut back non-essential spending."

"This latest chapter in the credibility gap is appalling. The highway program as President Johnson himself has said, 'is not costing the general fund of the United States Treasury a single cent.'"

"Those so-called 'federal' funds actually come from federal taxes on gas and oil, tires, batteries, new trucks, busses and truck trailers, and actual use by trucks of the nation's highways.

"TO CUT THOSE funds back won't knock a penny off the Johnson Administration's impending $29 billion deficit--and the President knows it. He is trying to hoax the public and cow Congress," McDonald said.

"The President refuses to cut those gravy train programs he finds politically profitable.

"At a time when the nation's highways are claiming some 50,000 lives a year -- and when the President's own projections show 8,500 of those lives could be saved under the highway program -- any reduction in this program would be criminal."

"It is inconceivable to me that the President would rather take this risk than reduce those programs not vital to the nation's welfare," McDonald said.

Ford Truck Sales Hit New Record

Ford Division truck sales in the 1967 model year were the highest in the industry and a record for the division, M.S. (Matt) McLaughlin, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, reported.

McLaughlin said sales of 37,932 trucks in September boosted the division's truck sales for the 1967 model year to 555,168, an increase of more than five per cent over record sales of 526,547 in the 1966 model year.

"WE REWROTE the record book with our 1967 truck line, establishing seven monthly sales records and three quarterly records while boosting our share of the market to the highest level since 1935," McLaughlin said.

"It is significant that these impressive sales records were established by Ford Division while the industry demand for trucks was four per cent below the records established in 1966," he added. Ford Division truck sales of 130,327 in the July-September period were up 14.7 per cent over the previous record for the period established last year on sales of 113,608.

THE DIVISION'S biggest truck sales increases in the 1967 model year were registered in the heavy duty and light truck models. Heavy duty truck sales were up more than 19 per cent while light truck sales increased almost seven per cent.

Ford Division truck sales by category for the 1967 model year were: Light, 462,387; Medium, 38,260; Heavy, 38,760 and Extra Heavy, 15,761.

Thru August of this year, Detroit Edison employees have received 159 awards totaling $17,126 under the company's employee proposal plan; a total of $553,641 has been paid to employees, covering 4,818 cash awards, since the plan started in 1952.

Meet The New Miss Teenage Detroit

Her great idol is Barbra Streisand, her room is messy, she washes her hair every night, and she loves knee socks.

Farmington's own Mary Kay Burr, who became Miss Teenage Detroit Saturday night, is having a hard time these days convincing either herself or her friends that she hasn't really changed.

"My best friends don't know how to treat me. I keep telling them I'm still just me, but they just don't believe it."

Mary Kay is 17, 5' 4", and 110 pounds. She's a varsity cheerleader at North Farmington High, but she plans to quit.

"I JUST WON'T have time anymore, and, besides, I've been a cheerleader for years. I was captain last year, so now it's not such a big thing," she explained.

If her friends are having a hard time dealing with her new image, Mary Kay seems to be adjusting pretty well.

While we found her, she was on her way out the door for a shopping trip. The list began with a new semi-formal, a cocktail dress and included pajamas for pajama parties with other Miss Teenage America contestants in Dallas.

IN FACT, Mary Kay has already decided on most of the things she'll wear during the national contest. Among them are a full-length, turquoise gown, covered with tiny white bows, and a short white dress with a cage of white and yellow daisies.

"That's just great with my gold stockings and gold shoes."

She'll leave with her mother for Dallas and the national Miss Teenage America contest Nov. 4. And she plans to win something—even if it's Miss Teenage Creep."

ONE OF THE reasons Mary Kay was surprised at her success in the Detroit contest this year was that she entered last year, but was eliminated along with hundreds of other in the quarterfinals.

This year she knew what to expect, though, and she was ready.

"My mother said I should read the news magazines and find out what was happening, so I did. And I got one of the highest scores on the test, even though I didn't think I knew the answers. All those names just came back to me, I guess."

After the written tests, 60 semifinalists competed before judges and the list was pared to 10.

Saturday night the finalists were judged for grooming, poise, personality and personal interviews, in addition to two-minute talent presentations.

THE NEW Miss Teenage Detroit sang "If He Walked Into My Life."

But she thought the real deciding factor was her response to the traditional on-the-spot question. "The rest of the girls just seemed to clam up," she said.

Not Mary Kay. In fact, she was so excited she talked all night after winning the title.

WHAT WOULD SHE tell other girls about her formula for success?

To keep her trim good looks she is constantly on a diet, can't believe that she's lost five pounds during the last week. "I don't want to look gaunt, after all. Just somewhere between Twiggy and Kate Smith."

She washes and sets her hair every night and uses very little make-up.

"Just eyeliner and a blusher, really. I hate lipstick. For the contest, mother talked me into using mascara and polishing my nails, but I usually don't."

Clothes for school are simple, often worn with knee socks. And no miniskirts for Mary Kay.

"If the school says skirts should only be an inch and a half above the knee, then I think girls should go along with the policy."

THE MOST EXCITING part of being Miss Teenage Detroit?

"At first I thought it was sort of a let-down. Here I was the winner, and I wondered whether all I was supposed to do was tell my friends."

"But then today we went downtown, and they explained all about the trip to Dallas and the national contest and now I'm all excited about that."

Mary Kay Burr has already won a $100 travel wardrobe, a matched set of luggage and the expense-paid trip to Dallas. Besides, she's had what she describes as the most exciting week of her life.

But just wait till she gets to Dallas.

It Makes Money Controversy Surrounds Schoolcraft Slave Week

Students at Schoolcraft College are on the block for auction this week in what has become the biggest money-raising event of the year.

Slave Week, sponsored by the Veterans Association, a group of about 50 armed services veterans, includes two slave auctions and a dance.

TUESDAY coeds went up for sale. They will serve as slaves until Wednesday evening. Thursday the process is turned around and the girls get to bid for the men.

Obviously, this system needs a few ground rules and they were worked out in advance. Slaves only work for their masters between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. and there is a "reasonable" limit on what they can be asked to do.

Chuck Chapman, president of the Vets Association, explained that coeds usually ended up ironing, sewing or polishing shoes, while their slaves wash cars or repair things.

A CONTROVERSY has surrounded the activity this year. Since the event is expected to gross up to $1,000, several of the other campus clubs have decided that the veterans shouldn't be able to keep Slave Week as their own in the future.

In fact, Schoolcraft's Student Senate at one point passed a resolution which would have taken Slave Week away from the VA after this year.

But that action was repealed amid cries from the veterans and general feeling that the chance for creating a tradition was being shot down.

The question of what happens to Slave Week at Schoolcraft next year is still up in the air as the 1967 slaves are put on the block.

New Development Being Considered

Something big is brewing for downtown Garden City. This was the conclusion drawn after Building Inspector Phillip Sletten reported to the City Council Monday that two to three development plans are being considered for the land now occupied on or near the Square Deal Club building, now vacant, on Middle Belt, just north of Ford Road.

BPW Women Active

The Garden City Business and Professional Women's Club observed the national observance of its special week with a busy schedule last week and this.

Armed with a proclamation signed the previous week by Garden City Mayor Timothy J. Murphy, the mayor and Mrs. Murphy accompanied Club President Fran Thibodeau and other groups to the Michigan Business Women's Week dinner last Wednesday in Ann Arbor.

With them were Garden City members Marge Rayl, Olga Taylor, and Maybelle Shon.

The Michigan BPW clubs traveled to Lansing Saturday for the 50th anniversary year and Golden Torch Award banquet.

Today, Wednesday, the club will take part with Garden City Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary and Jaycee clubs for an inter-group dinner at West High School.

The club's regular monthly dinner meeting will be held tomorrow, Thursday, at Schoolcraft College with Dorothy Bokor serving as hostess.

A panel to talk on adult education will be made up of John Brinn, vice president of the college; Edward McNally, dean of student affairs; Jon Adams, dean of technical vocational instruction; and Robert Stenger, dean of academic instruction.

The club's annual card party and smorgasbord will be held Saturday night, Nov. 4 and is open to the public. Interested women may obtain tickets from BPW club members.

Councilman Robert Wildish commented that the building is "a pain in the neck" since it was closed several years ago and something should be done about the mess.

Councilman James Lowe pointed out that the building is in an area being considered for a federally-financed urban renewal project.

Lowe also suggested that since the federal government has new and more strict criteria for renewal projects, the City Council, Planning Commission, urban renewal director, city attorney, and planning consultant convene to discuss the issue and take quick action.

Sletten told the council that the region has to be officially designated an urban renewal area so building permits for new improvements could be stopped.

BUT THE NATURE of the region has improved in recent months with the opening of a new Chatham Supermarket and New Life Carpets locating in the northeast section of the downtown area.

There are at least two groups interested in buying the Square Deal Club (now owned by two attorneys) and "quite a development could be built."

Lowe replied that Sletten's remarks "point out the urgency of the matter and we move on it this week."

Mayor Timothy J. Murphy concurred and said that a meeting would be scheduled for this week.

IN OTHER ACTION at Monday's council meeting, approval was granted to the bid of $9.90 per ton of salt. The salt will be delivered by the International Salt Co., recommended by Dept. of Public Works Supt. George Langford. The bid was one of three proposals, which were identical. No reason or comments were made on why the International Salt Co. was given the contract over the other two firms.

Police Capt. Frank H. Sanders was given another one-year extension past the city's retirement program maximum age. The council concurred with the recommendation of Police Chief Robert Behrendt. Sanders, a long-time officer in the department, will retire next October when he reaches the mandatory retirement age of 65.

CITY CLERK-TREASURER William Opper was given authority to advertise for bids for a new garbage rubbish pickup contract, which expires next April.

It was commented by several councilmen that if the bids come in near the $1.90 per unit price (which is being paid by Livonia) the city's own D.P.W. could handle the pickup for less costs.

The city now has a three-year contract calling for 71 cents per pickup, about half of what most neighboring communities are paying.

A request to have the Royal Cab Co. of Dearborn Heights operate in the community was tabled to allow City Councilmen to obtain more information and to await the outcome of next Monday's court case involving the current cab company, Garden City Cab.

Car Thief Caught

Known acts of car theft led to the arrest and upcoming trial in circuit court of 17-year-old Norton A. Zimmerman, Jr., 9968 Kinloch, Redford.

He was arrested by Redford Township Police Oct. 7 and charged with unlawfully driving away an auto from the E.J. Korvette parking lot.

Pleading not guilty at Justice Court arraignment Oct. 9 he was bound over to circuit court.

A Redford Township Police officer arrested Zimmerman after questioning him some time after the theft. Zimmerman was sought because he was a known offender in the past.

Bomb Threat Shot Down

Disappointed that teachers hadn't struck his school, perhaps, an unknown youth attempted to get it closed with an old, old ruse.

The boy's voice on the telephone told Grace Keller, clerk at Beech Road school, that a bomb would go off in 15 minutes, at 12:30 p.m., Oct. 16.

She called police, explaining that the voice hadn't said in which school.

Assistant Superintendent Jim Mathison took the awful risk. Considering it a prank, he refrained from evacuating the building.

The bomb failed to explode.

9-Month School 'Folly'

James F. O'Neil, newly-elected member of the State Board of Education, has called for the year-around utilization of schools and teachers. O'Neil stated that, with the costs of education increasing at a multi-million dollar rate and with the existing shortage of classrooms and teachers, it is sheer folly and gross wastefulness to shut our schools and teachers down three months out of the year.

He said year-around schools should increase present capacity by 25 to 30 per cent, saving millions upon millions of dollars in construction costs and interest charges. This would also help solve one of the major financial crises present-facing the schools and the state.

O'NEIL POINTED out that many colleges and universities have already gone to year-around utilization of facilities and staffs and it is now time for the school districts to give this proposal serious consideration.

O'Neil addressed parents and teachers at the Beechview School in Farmington.

He proposed that consideration be given to operating the schools on a quarterly basis similar to that of higher education. O'Neil stated this would not only save the taxpayers millions of dollars, but could also improve the learning process.

It would enable children to enter school at more than one time a year. This would eliminate many of the present problems caused by the disproportionate physical and mental development of children, particularly in the early grades, because they can only enter school in the fall.

IN ADDITION, if a child is having difficulty mastering a subject, he would only fall a quarter behind rather than a full year before having an opportunity to repeat the subject.

This should reduce the number of dropouts by preventing students from getting hopelessly behind in their subjects. It should also reduce

1,000 At College Night

Nearly 1,000 high school students and parents from five school districts braved a steady rain to attend "College Night" at Garden City East High School last week.

Representatives of 33 colleges and universities were available for consultation for two hours. Students and parents discussed entrance requirements, curriculum programs, scholarship availabilities, and tuition expenses with the school representatives of their choice.

Edith Edick, counselor at East, was the program coordinator. "College Night" was divided into four half-hour sessions. The first, to allow informal selection of the three schools each person wished to contact.

The remaining three sessions provided everyone with an opportunity to hear presentations by three different schools.

LIGHTING of the torch to kick off the 1967 Torch Drive campaign in Garden City last week held in ceremonies in front of the City Hall. Mayor Timothy Murphy lends a helping hand to four-year-old Jeffrey Ramsey, a cerebral palsy victim, whose hospital bills are paid for by a Torch Drive agency. Jeffrey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ramsey of 33450 Hennepin Street. The youngster has been a cerebral palsy victim since he was eight months old. The Torch Drive campaign continues until early November.

juvenile delinquency and social unrest by substantially reducing the 50 to 55 million students that are literally shoved out on the streets each summer.

With the limited number of students out of a school at any one time, those looking for part-time work would also have a better opportunity of finding jobs.

In addition, and most importantly, he pointed out school boards are not paying teachers, particularly those who are head of the household, adequate salaries to properly provide for their families. This is one of the primary reasons for the present militancy on the part of teachers for increased pay.

By operating schools on a 12-month basis, boards could then pay teachers on a 12-month basis, rather than the present nine months. This will provide them with more adequate pay thereby alleviating their growing unrest.

It will also eliminate the need for teachers to seek part-time vacation jobs which frequently find them doing some very menial or degrading type of work.

In Michigan today, citizens and tax payers have a simple choice -- greatly increased taxes or more efficient use of present tax revenue, facilities, personnel, etc. The year-around schools offer both a major tax-saving advantage and an opportunity to improve the learning processes.

O'NEIL CALLED ON all those involved, associated, or concerned with education to give this proposal serious consideration and to work for not only the most effective use, but also the most efficient utilization, of vital educational resources.

Trojans Miss Big Upset

The league's non-winner almost dumped the league's biggest winner.

But "almost" doesn't count as Clarenceville High's football team wound up Friday night in losing to West Bloomfield, 33-26, in one of the biggest offensive battles of the season along the prep ranks.

The triumph kept West Bloomfield at top of the Wayne-Oakland League standings. Clarenceville rests on the bottom.

The game was full of spectacular, however.

Long runs and passes marked the proceedings as well as Homecoming festivities at West Bloomfield.

Clarenceville's Bob Duman and West's Robin Brennan led the way for their teams with some brilliant passes.

It was Duman who pegged some 65 yards to Dave Breckenridge and then 10 more to Dave Wheeler to get Clarenceville on the scoreboard early.

WHEELER RAN three yards for a second Clarenceville TD. Duman went back to the air, hitting Dave Brandemuhl from the 8 and Carl Watkins from the 17 for two more touchdowns.

But that wasn't enough for the North Livonians against the high-powered team from West

GRABBING PASS is Sorrows' end Bill Hartsock as he shakes off an unidentified Ferndale St. James defender. Sorrows whipped St. James to keep its championship hopes alive.

Help Fails Sorrows In Crown Bid

The help wasn't forthcoming. Our Lady of Sorrow High football team was hopeful that Pontiac Central could beat Orchard Lake St. Mary's on Sunday as Sorrows played and beat Ferndale St. James, 13-0.

But two missed conversions spelled the difference in Orchard Lake St. Mary's favor, 14-12.

And with the 14-12 conquest, Orchard Lake assured itself the right to advance into the Catholic League playoffs a week from Sunday.

The Lakers, now 6-0, to Sorrows' 5-1, could lose their final regular-season game this weekend, while Sorrows wins. However, since Orchard Lake clipped Sorrows in their head-on meeting, the right to battle for the championship has been determined.

ACTUALLY, SORROWS still has a chance to share the Northwest Division flag—the honor the team won outright a year ago.

The great one-two punch of Mark Hartwig and Mike Briolat, again led Sorrows against St. James.

Hornor ran 18 yards for his tenth touchdown of the year, while Briolat fired six yards to Hornor for the other TD.

It marked the ninth time this season that Briolat has flipped one for six points.

3 Battle For Title, But Glenn Has Edge

The Northwest Suburban League high school football title scramble will go right to the wire this week with the three teams still in contention for at least a tie, and only John Glenn's Rockets in position to take all the marbles.

By virtue of Glenn's 13-6 victory over North Farmington last weekend, coupled with Franklin's 25-13 triumph at the expense of Oak Park, standings of the loop's leaders read this way as the league schedule comes to its final weekend.

North Farmington	3	1	0
Franklin	3	1	0

Coach Bob Lusk's Glenn troops clash with Franklin's defending champions Saturday morning on the Franklin gridiron, while North Farmington invades Groves Friday night.

A GLENN VICTORY over Franklin, or even a tie, would give the Rockets an undisputed crown in an amazing comeback after posting a 1-4 loop record a year ago. North Farmington and Franklin need nothing less than victory to create a deadlock, with North Farmington depending upon help from Franklin.

Led by their workhorse halfback Chuck Morris, who carried 24 times for 108 yards, John Glenn spoiled North Farmington's homecoming festivities Saturday.

The North Farmington Raiders were primed for a quick start, and they rushed Glenn's forces off their feet as they charged to a quick 6-0 first quarter lead the third time they had the ball.

Halfbacks Chuck Hill and Gary Zerhan led the pay-off march of 43 yards, with quarterback Norm DeCourcy getting the six-pointer from a yard out.

MOVING FROM North Farmington's 42 following a short Raider punt, the Rockets covered the distance in 10 running plays to score at 7:13 of the second period. Wozny matched his counterpart's earlier North Farmington tally by sneaking over from the one himself, and Steve Paschkey's conversion put Glenn in front, 7-6.

The second half saw Glenn control the action so completely that North Farmington ran only six plays in the third period and got only to the Glenn 24 in its most serious fourth quarter thrust.

GLENN SPEEDSTER Chuck Morris (21) gave North Farmington fits all afternoon. He's shown moving around end and breaking loose from the Raiders' Rick Knock.

Rocks' Errors Cost 20-7 Loss To Bentley

There's plenty of woe ahead for some opponent of the Plymouth Rocks in the remaining weeks of the football season.

It will come on the night PHS does everything right as taught by Coach Tom Moshimer and his aides. When it does, the foes are in for a rough go.

For a time, it appeared as if the inspired Rocks were going to have their biggest night of the year Friday against Bentley. The tackling was vicious, the ball carrying was better than ever, the passing attack clicked on occasion—but in between, the Rocks made enough mistakes to lose two games, and no team errs too often against Bentley and comes out with a victory.

THE ROCKS LEARNED this to their sorrow as they absorbed a 20-7 defeat. If wasn't that Bentley was that much better, it was just a story of too many mistakes.

With Capt. Tom Elias and Halfback Steve Montgomery leading the way, Plymouth took the ball on the opening kickoff and drove from the 20 to the Bentley three.

Quarterback Mike Cederberg tried to hit End Jeff Adams in the end zone, but the ball was snatched away by Bentley's Dennis Taylor and the scoring chance vanished.

FOUR PLAYS LATER Elias intercepted a Bentley aerial on the 22, and the Rocks were knocking again. Fullback Bob Thornbladh picked up 14 yards in two line thrusts for a first down on the Bentley 8.

But Dame Fortune turned her head again and the ball went to Bentley when Cederberg fumbled the pass from center and Greg Ockerman recovered for the Bulldogs on the 10. The first period ended two plays later with the ball resting on the Bentley 13.

Dan Doyle opened the second quarter with a punt out to the Plymouth 49 and the Rocks started another drive.

Elias ripped off a first down to the Bentley 38 but a 15-yard penalty for clipping sent the pigskin back to the Plymouth 41. Cederberg passed to Elias for 13. A second toss to Montgomery brought an interference penalty and Plymouth was on the Bentley 28. Cederberg found Adams open for a six-yard toss and Bentley drew another 15-yarder for grabbing the face mask to move the ball to the Bentley 10.

Elias was stopped twice at the right side of the line, then Cederberg fumbled on an attempted pass and End Paul Roy recovered for Bentley on the 14.

DOYLE PUNTED out of bounds on the Plymouth 32 where ill luck hit the Rocks again and resulted in Bentley's first touchdown.

Montgomery was stopped at right tackle, but Cederberg hit End Dave Hale for a first down on the Plymouth 43. Cederberg faded back to pass again but this time it was taken by Bentley's Phil Shipley and he darted down the sidelines for 35 yards to the Plymouth 15.

Two line plays netted two yards but Plymouth was nailed for interference and Bentley had a first down on the Plymouth 7. Bob Cascaden wound up with the ball on a double reverse and tossed into the outstretched arms of Ray in the far corner of the end zone for the touchdown with 24 seconds remaining on the clock. The try for extra point failed and Bentley went into the dressing rooms with a 7-0 halftime margin.

PLYMOUTH WAS in trouble early in the third quarter after

Late Tally Snuffs Out Farmington

Forty seconds—yep, 40 seconds.

That's all that separated Farmington High's football team from the brightest moment in what has been a rather gloomy football season—to date.

As the clock ticked off the final few minutes of play last Friday night, there was Farmington clinging to a 13-12 lead over Walled Lake, the mighty nights of the Interlakes Conference.

Farmington's charges were out there battling. They were trying to hold back a last-moment march by Walled Lake.

But the Falcons couldn't stop the Lakers, who had started on their own 45 yard-line.

In seven plays, Walled Lake banged into the land of joy with Steve Gebala doing the honors and the scoreboard posted a final count of Walled Lake 19, Farmington 13.

"THIS WAS one of our best performances," said coach Bob Miste, who had to feel a little sorry for his players, who did just about everything they could against the Lakers, who by winning now are assured of the league title for the ninth year in a row.

Farmington had spotted the Lakers an early touchdown when Bob Zaedst went in from the seven-yard line to make it 6-0 for the hosts.

But Charley Brown, a speedster, quickly turned things around for Farmington. He settled under a punt on his own 30, made a few fancy steps, and behind some neat blocking, he was off on a 70-yard gallop for a touchdown.

Dan Wolfman ran the point over and now it was 7-6 for Farmington.

The lead went up to 13-6 when a Brown-Wolfman pass worked for 13 yards and a touchdown.

But back came Walled Lake to strike through the air on a pass from Grey Fogle to Greg Ghetia. It covered 28 yards for the score.

THE LAKERS missed the extra point, so Farmington clung to its point lead until just 40 seconds showed on the scoreboard. It was at that moment, Gebala bounced over and all Farmington hearts somehow stopped for a few seconds.

Statistically, it was Walled Lake with 13 first downs, 167 yards rushing and 101 yards passing. Farmington was held to six first downs, 63 yards on the ground and only 51 in the air.

Thus, Farmington ended its league season with just one tie to show in four games. Three non-leaguers remain now from which the Falcons hope to salvage some glory.

First there's Mt. Clemens, then Southfield and finally North Farmington. The latter, of course, is the BGC one.

The nicest part about doing something like this is the people you meet . . . Especially when you're standing in the rain in front of Detroit's Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel and old Michigan State pal Sheldon Moyer, now a big wheel in advertising, calls over a pretty maiden and says: "George, I want you to meet Miss America . . ."

And, there, no more than a foot away, stood the wholesome gal whom you saw crowned as Miss America not too many weeks back . . . and what a sight she and her fellow contestants made on the color tube.

"Glad to meet you," came back Miss America, who hails from Kansas and in private life is Deborah Dee Barnes.

Donnis Butcher, the Pistons' coach, was standing in the group and Moyer also took the occasion to introduce him to Miss America.

"Hey," she retorted. "I used to play a great deal of basketball. I played center in school . . ."

And Butcher looked at her . . . at Moyer and lastly at yours truly.

No doubt, Butch had to be thinking to himself: "We lack the big center . . . a Wilt Chamberlain or Bill Russell . . . wouldn't it be something if we could shoot Miss America in there in the pivot with Dave DeBusschere and Terry Dischinger helping her out in the front line?"

Of course, that was only a thought.

Miss America smiled some more. And you could see why the judges at the Miss America pageant voted her the fairest of the lot.

"I wish I could come over to your game tonight," she said. "But they have me on a tight schedule. I'm off for Lansing now."

Sheldon Moyer quickly escorted her through the rain to her waiting car—naturally an Oldsmobile whom he represents—and as she drove away she waved . . . and you and Butcher both had to be thinking:

"Wouldn't it be nice to be younger? And what a sight she'd be on the floor for the Pistons!"

We couldn't resist the temptation of calling home and telling our better half whom we had just met.

Mrs. M. showed indifference. Could she have been jealous?

Incidentally, speaking of the Pistons, we goofed with the typewriter a week ago. The student rate for all home games is one dollar—$1—and accompanying adults may purchase adjacent seats for $2.

Did you know that Livonia's Alex Delvecchio has assisted on almost one fourth of all the 650-plus goals that Gordie Howe has fired into the net for the Red Wings in his 20-year career? They form quite a combine and along with Norm Ullman, another Livonian, explain one of the reasons the Wings are off to such a fast start.

There are thousands among us who hope it snows and snows and snows. These are the ski bugs of Michigan, a growing contingent every year.

The sport keeps coming closer and closer to the Detroit area every year. In fact, we're told that there are ski clubs now at North Farmington and Redford Union high schools.

Michigan, of course, is one of the big ski centers now in the country. It's become a multi-million dollar business and unless there's snow, as was the case a year or two ago, some folks took a terrific financial beating.

And thousands missed out on tons of fun. There now are several ski areas within an hour's drive of Detroit's suburbs, thanks to the new expressways.

Two new ski films for people who "think snow" will be shown in Detroit's Ford Auditorium on Nov. 15 and 22 under the auspices of the American Youth Hostels, which will be presenting its 21st annual "Adventures in Skiing."

The "Ski West," featuring the French against the United States and Canada at Sun Valley will be shown first on Nov. 15. A week later, Dick Barrymore will be starred in "The Last of the Ski Bums."

Proceeds from the series will help to send hundreds of youngsters connected with the Hostel program to Michigan ski areas in what the AYH calls its new "old" bus.

Schoolcraft College's cross country team this week goes after League honors at Ann Arbor and next week shoots for regional glory at Jackson with a good chance to haul in both crowns.

The team added another victory to its credit Friday in beating five foes at Schoolcraft.

Schoolcraft, now 16-4 for the season, posted 39 points to Delta's 43 and Alpena's 74. Auburn Branch of Oakland Community College posted 104 points, Southwest 115 and Port Huron 142.

Aaron Wares of Southwestern won individual honors in the three-mile race with a time of 16:02. Joe Medina of Delta was second and Schoolcraft's Larry Buchheit third.

Joe Vitale (fourth), Fred Neil (ninth), Larry Cooper (eleventh) and George Jackson (twelfth) rounded out the scorers for the winning team.

Preps Race In Regional

The regionals take over the high school cross country spotlight next Saturday.

Most of the area teams are assigned to compete at Cass Benton Park. The other Class A schools go to North Farmington.

The contingent going to Cass Benton included Thurston, Redford Union, Franklin, Bentley, Stevenson, Garden City East and West, Plymouth and John Glenn.

Franklin's Jack Clark is rated a top threat for individual honors.

Clark continued his winning ways last Thursday when he ran first as Franklin slammed John Glenn, 15-45.

DAVE COLLINS, Buddy Hallett, John Pelletier and Kurt Miller followed Clark across the finish line. Jim Arble was first for Glenn, but sixth overall in the race.

North Farmington appears a heavy favorite to dominate on its own course where cross-town Farmington will be among its rivals.

The twin brother act of Gary and Larry Williams will lead North Farmington and it shouldn't be surprising if the two ran a virtual dead heat.

Triple Tie If Franklin Bags Win

As long as there's life, there's hope -- and that's the way the Franklin high football team feels about its chances for at least gaining a share of the Northwest Suburban League championship.

The race comes to an end this weekend with John Glenn the unbeaten loop leader at 4-0, followed by Franklin and N. Farmington at 3-1.

"We need to help only ourselves," admits coach Bob Bentley of Franklin.

"We are in position to tie for the title by winning from Glenn (Saturday morning at 10 at Franklin). A North Farmington win over Groves could create a triple tie."

Bentley wasn't too happy the way his charges played last Friday in scoring a 25-12 victory over Oak Park.

"We made too many mistakes and costly penalties," said the veteran coach. "We should have won by three or four touchdowns more."

THE STATISTICS would have indicated as much, Franklin charged through the Parkers for 430 yards -- 280 rushing and 150 passing. Oak Park was stopped with 25 on the ground, but picked up 175 passing.

The running of Pete McClean and the passing-running of Bill Hellstein stood out in the winner's cause. Archie Leib also turned in some nifty footwork for Franklin. McClean picked up 70 yards on his own and also ran 24 yards for what proved the clinching touchdown.

Leib scooted 43 yards to paylaid with a kick, while Hellstein dashed for 52 yards on the ground during the afternoon and twice passed to Bill Hopkins for touchdowns in the early going.

The first Hellstein to Hopkins toss was a honey -- covering 55 yards.

Report From Washington

Congressman Esch Joins House Group Sponsoring Book To End Draft

I am one of 17 endorsers of a book entitled "How to End the Draft: The Case for an All-Volunteer Army" to be published by the end of this month. Its authors are five distinguished Congressmen bringing the total support for this concept to 23 members—all Republican.

My endorsement is motivated by many factors. First of all, it is more than evident to me that this country needs to thoroughly examine and review its system of involuntary conscription; a system which, however necessary, is inherently incompatible with the basic principles of democracy.

Year after year Congress has renewed the draft without much thought or debate. As a result the present system, including the minor revisions adopted this year, fails to meet the needed tests of equity and uniformity. The draft bill this year neither improves the basic nature of our military establishment nor does it enhance the lot of those who either voluntarily or involuntarily are serving their country through the military.

WE NEED a responsible and constructive debate on the draft and this book is a step in that direction. Let me emphasize that the study is not based on any belief one way or another about the Vietnam War, nor should it be interpreted as criticism of our military or foreign policies. It is a long range concept which attempts to point out that we can drop draft quotas to zero and still maintain the national security with an effective and efficient military force.

There are those who advocate draft evasion and would abolish the system outright. The study disagrees with this emotional approach and so do I. Certainly the foreseeable future requires the maintenance of a strong and effective military.

Of the 31 recommendations contained in one overall concept, the following are particularly innovative and deserving of analysis:

- Raise the pay of inductees to the federal minimum wage and equate wage for specific jobs to that found in similar civilian positions.
- Open opportunities to utilize the existing skills of volunteers and train others in needed skills.

- Involve more civilian personnel in non-combat positions and accept volunteers who, though not physically acceptable for combat, can perform other essential functions.
- More effective recruiting procedures including clear and total disclosure of the many options available to young men.

--Undertake a complete study of military manpower needs.

THE focus of these and many other recommendations is basically to phase out the draft gradually by relying on the better trained, better paid and generally more attractive career in military service. At the same time it recommends the retention of selective service machinery for use in times of dire emergencies.

hope that sufficient public interest is aroused so that Congress and the Defense Department will at least be willing to consider alternatives realistically. So far, such has not been the case.

If you would like to have a copy of this book please write to me care of the House Office Building, Washington, D.C., and I will let you know how to purchase one. I would like you to read the entire text and give me the benefit of your thoughts.

MAYOR TELLS PLYMOUTH HOPES — Mayor James Jabara (right) is shown as he and three federal government representatives paused at the P & A Theatre during a tour of Plymouth last week which was prompted by the city's hopes for federal assistance in developing local projects. DPW News Notes

By KENNETH VOGRAS

Among the duties of the department during the past week was the cleaning of the cemetery and three funerals were held here. Tree trunks were picked up, following the contractors cutting down city-owned diseased elm trees, and hauling these to the yard to be burned at a later date.

High School Players Now In Rehearsal

"1984", a drama based on the novel by George Orwell, will be presented by Plymouth High School students at the Plymouth High School auditorium Nov. 10 and 11.

The play will begin at 8 p.m. and tickets will be $1.25 for adults and $1 for students.

The story is about the evils of totalitarian dictatorship or the lack of free thinking.

Grading and priming was done on the following streets: Junction - Sunset to Sheldon; William - Evergreen to Arthur; Linden - Harvey to Herald; Herald - Linden to Beech; Jener - Linden to Beech; Wing - Harvey to McKinley; Jener Place - Ann Arbor Trail to Wing; Forest - Linden to Wing; on Harding - from Burroughs 500 ft. to the North; Elizabeth - Dodge to Ann Arbor Trail; Blanche - Amelia to Starkweather.

However, seal coating had to be interrupted because of the rainy weather at the end of the week. Repairing and replacing of street name signs was being done. Walkways into the parking lot were cleaned. Cold patching was done on local streets. Community Fund Signs were put up on the brackets and the torch for the fund drive was being cleaned and prepared for installation in Kellogg Park.

Work was continued on the storm sewer being installed at the new D.P.W. Garage. This work is being done on short time basis when there is a few minutes time available.

The sanitary sewer on Forest between Carol and Sutherland and Farmer from Starkweather to Davis was bucketed out and one sanitary sewer service was dug up for repair.

A six inch water tap was installed, a service was repaired in the alley off of Davis Street between Liberty and Spring Streets and one water service was repaired.

it's a FACT...

Children living in the tropics do not mature earlier. Actually they grow more slowly than youngsters in colder climates, reach maturity later and generally are shorter.

it's a FACT...

The sun in one second radiates more energy than man has used since the beginning of civilization. In three days the sun produces as much heat and light as would be obtained by burning the earth's entire resources of coal and oil—plus all its forests.

East Grid Fortunes Roar 'Up' Road Play Plant Eight Weeks Of Tulips In Day

Have the football fortunes taken an about face for Garden City East High?

Coach Gary Humphrey thinks so.

After four straight losses, East has posted two straight shutouts with the latest coming over Taylor Center, 13-0, in a Mid-Wayne League battle last Friday night. What's happened of late to East?

Humphrey has a simple answer. His athletes have matured.

"We're a young team," said Humphrey after the latest East win. "We had to take on such mighty teams as Willow Run and Riverview early. Both are rated around the state.

"We did well against them, but not well enough. Meantime, our kids gained a lot of valuable experience. And it has started paying off, especially for our defensive unit.

"TAYLOR CENTER never seriously threatened in Friday's game as Rick Lipinski and Jim Santti sparked the East defense and Bill Crowell helped out with a timely 20-yard runback with an interception.

"I think we now have a good chance to finish up with three more wins and wind up above .500," said Humphrey.

Inkster, Oak Park and the traditional battle with Garden City West, which also has started to move like a hot potato in recent weeks.

Both the East touchdowns against Taylor Center came in the second period.

Crowell chalked up a 25-yard run to lead the East team in a 65-yard touchdown drive. John Clute slipped over on a quarterback sneak for the marker.

THEN EAST went to work again...this time starting from its own 30.

With Jim Palmer and Gary Spencer doing most the honors, East worked its way to the Taylor 15 from where Spencer cut through for the second and final score of the game.

East relied pretty much on its ground game to get its yardage, working for 230 on runs, while hitting on three of only four passes for short gains.

Taylor made 106 yards running, another 117 in the air.

Tough On R. Union

Home has to be a sweeter place for Redford Union High's football team.

The Townshippers have gone on the road twice for Suburban Six League action and in the words of coach John Rogers "we have been bombed each time."

First it was a Livonia Bentley 33-0, and then last Friday night at Belleville, 31-19.

But this Friday the Townshippers finish their league slate at home, meeting the newly crowned champs from Allen Park.

"I think we have a great chance to beat them," declared Rogers. "We have a good team and we have shown--especially at home--that we can get the job done.

"Don't ask me what happens when we hit the road."

BELLEVILLE LITERALLY had a picnic against the Townshippers, running up a 31-0 lead before Redford Union finally managed a point.

The brightest part of the game for RU was the passing of Rick Kenyon, who rifled the ball for all three of the loser's touchdowns.

He started with a 22-yard strike to Jimmy Walker (not the basketball player) and then found Bill Mieras in the right spot twice in a row. The first heave to Mieras went for 12 yards and a score, the second for 35 and the TD.

Belleville rolled up 349 yards rushing to 79 for RU.

Hopefully, now, for RU, home will be much sweeter Friday.

Plant Eight Weeks Of Tulips In Day

You can plant an eight-week spring garden in a single autumn day. This may sound like a tremendous project, but it isn't--that is, if the garden is composed of tulips.

Not only is this tulip garden easy to plant and grow, but best of all it will give a myriad of different colors, flower shapes and sizes from April through May.

There are 23 classes of tulips--certainly a flower to suit the fancy of every gardener is among them. The colors range from pure white to almost black, with yellows, pinks, reds and purples in between.

THE SPECIES tulips are the first to bloom--sometimes appearing as early as the crocus. Many are gaily colored flowers on short stems. Species tulips are most effective when planted in small clumps and are ideal for rock gardens and little nooks and crannies in the garden.

Single Early tulips, the next to bloom, are noted for their striking sturdiness. They are excellent massed in beds and borders because of their strong, stocky stems.

Double Early tulips are favorites of many gardeners because of their fascinating colors, long-lasting quality and neat, even growth. The Double Early tulips--which resemble the peony flower--can be planted in partial shade.

Triumph tulips, appearing toward the end of April, carry their large blossoms on strong, stiff stems. The strength of the stems makes them especially suitable for mass planting in exposed situations. They come in a wide range of colors.

Darwin Hybrids give us the largest flowers in the tulip family. Blooming in mid-season, these stately tulips will attain a height of 28 inches. The flowers are also noted for their many brilliant shades of red.

Indian Summer 'Gift Of A God'

One of the nicer things that happens every year is Indian summer.

A short period of especially fair weather and mild days, it comes in late October or early November when the leaves are turning color and falling from the trees. It has no definite date to begin or end.

"THE MILD, pleasant weather of Indian summer follows the autumn's first period of cold, wintry days," says World Book Encyclopedia.

"The days become noticeably warmer, but the nights remain chilly. Throughout Indian summer, the sun shines dimly and softly. The sky turns a rich blue and always appears gentle and hazy near the horizon.

good weather gave warlike Indians another chance to make more attacks on the settlers.

Other parts of the world also have a short period of fine weather similar to Indian summer. World Book says, Europeans generally call it Old Wives' Summer or St. Martin's Summer.

Indian summer lasts from a week to 10 days, and sometimes for two weeks. Then winter begins."

The American Indians enjoyed Indian summer and looked forward to it. They considered it the special gift of a god.

THE ORIGIN of the name of Indian summer is uncertain. One story says that American settlers named the period after the American Indians, who told the settlers that this period would come.

Shed Provides Tool Storage

Store tools and lawn and garden equipment in a simple backyard box shed that you can build with a frame of 2-by-4's closed over with tempered hardboard panels.

To make the most of shed space, line the inside walls with perforated hardboard paneling. The perforations accept hooks and brackets that will hold garden hoses, lawn mowers, wheel barrows, lawn chairs, workshop tools and shelves.

Add Room, Subtract Maintenance

Planning to add a room to your home? Then be sure the outside of your room addition is as free of maintenance as you would like the inside to be.

Just as prefinished hardboard panels have made interior remodeling a snap, pre-primed and prefinished hardboard siding has made it easier to surface the exterior of the home. Factory-finished sidings will last for years with practically no maintenance.

Hardboard Siding panels, with extra strength and weather resistance, are available in board-and-batten panels and in horizontal lap siding for installation as clapboard siding.

There are also different surface textures from which to choose, including smooth and rough-sawn.

The advantage of installing pre-primed siding is that the homeowner needn't rush to prime the siding after installation to protect it against the elements. If prefinished siding is used, finishing is eliminated.

The choice of hardboard siding styles makes it easy to match the siding of the new addition to the main house, thus avoiding that "added-on" look.

Or if the exterior of the house is in poor condition, you may wish to re-side the house at the same time.

Long Pass Early Kills Thurston

For all practical purposes, the second play of the game decided who was to win between Thurston and Birmingham Groves last Saturday.

Groves had the ball on its own 40 when Bob Douglas shot a pass to Greg Wood which was turned into a 60-yard pass-run for a touchdown.

Once ahead, Groves continued to add to its lead and was in complete charge the rest of the way as Thurston only once seriously threatened during the afternoon's proceedings.

Groves picked up three more touchdowns and also added a safety against Thurston which has been having its troubles all season.

Wood scored on a nine-yard run, while Mark Shade went in from the one and Gary DiStefano on a four-yard gallop to turn the game into a 28-0 runaway.

Huge Carrot Long Time In Coming

In all of Sam Poff's 76 years one of his big ambitions has been to grow something spectacular in his backyard garden.

Through the years he has tried different kinds of exotic fertilizers and plant foods that were all guaranteed to bring amazing results.

However, this year since Sam is pretty old and has been plagued with poor health, he simply planted his seeds and hoped for the best.

Sam's daughter, Mrs. Litchfield, said her father is partially blind and had to be told what plants were ready to be picked.

Sam is now the proud gardener of an unusually huge carrot.

But, after the carrot was yanked from the earth Sam could tell exactly what it was—poor eyesight and all.

The carrot weighs three pounds, is a foot long, and is about five inches in diameter.

HUNTING

ACRES PER COUNTY IN CROPLAND ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM

-----	4,001 TO 8,000 ACRES

MICH. DEPT. CONSV.

MORE THAN 250,000 acres of farm lands in Michigan will be open to free public hunting this fall under the federal Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP). Where you see the above sign posted at more than 2,000 farms, you will be welcomed as a hunter, and the only thing expected of you is that you show good sportsmanship afield. In return for making their lands available to you, cooperating farmers earn special fees from the U.S. Department of Agriculture in addition to payments they receive for diverting their acreage from crop production to conservation land practices.

Wood In Bath Warms Decor

To panel bathroom walls is considered revolutionary by some in this country. But in Scandinavia, wood has been a favored material for bathroom walls for generations, states Peter J. Moe, Northwest interior designer who hails from Norway.

"Paneling a wall is almost instant decoration," said Moe recently. "Wood contributes the warm texture usually lacking in this room, and it's needed to balance the slick, hard surfaces of flooring, countertops and fixtures.

"There's no need to worry about using natural wood in the modern bathroom, since a fan carries away excess moisture in the air," Moe continued.

"Just oil the panel boards use a clear sealer. If you like, two coats of satin finish plastic varnish may be applied over a sealer.

"Solid board paneling makes the most interesting wall, and there are many types of wood from which to choose. My personal favorites are Douglas fir and cedar."

"But the paler shades of hemlock and Idaho white pine are elegant, and a knotty grade of sugar pine finished with black-brown stain can be, absolutely dramatic."

Hunting Land Available

LANSING--Can't find a place to hunt, you say?

This fall, when hunting seasons open, you will have your pick of more than 2000 private farms, scattered throughout Michigan, on which you will be able to hunt without charge. Depending on what part of the state you choose for your hunting, you will find everything from black bear in the Upper Peninsula to deer, pheasants, rabbits, and even quail in the southernmost counties of the state.

Michigan has a total of 83 counties, and farms listed under the Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP), available to you, are found in 75 of those counties. Five counties have more than 100 farms in the program, so that hunters should have no trouble finding places to hunt.

Apparently few people know about this program, yet it will make more than 250,000 acres of hunting lands available this fall.

The program itself was set up in 1965 and is administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Food and Agriculture Act provides for payments to farmers who remove their land from production of surplus grain crops. Then it provides an additional payment if farmers open their lands to recreational uses. These recreational uses, specified in the Act itself, include hunting, fishing, trapping, and hiking.

In Michigan, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, known simply as ASCS, administers the program with an assist from the State Conservation Department. A farmer who takes part in the program signs a five to ten year contract, so lands open this fall will also be open in future years.

How does a hunter make use of these lands? How does he find them, and what rights does he have in their use?

First of all, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has an office in nearly every county seat in the state, and the address of this office is listed in local telephone directories under "U.S. Government." From these offices you can obtain the locations of all cooperating farms in that particular county.

The 14 Conservation Department district offices will also have locations of all farms in counties they serve.

When you go to one of the farms included under the CAP, you become the guest of the farmer. Even though he has signed his lands under the program, he is still the owner and manager of those lands.

He can expect you to ask permission to use his land before you start hunting or fishing or hiking. The farm land owner is protected by all Michigan trespass laws.

The farmer can also designate the areas you may use. Most farmers have agreed to open their entire farms to hunting or fishing, but they receive payment for only the amount of acreage in their cropland diversion contract. If he asks that you do not hunt in fields of standing crops or new seedlings, or in places where farm animals are pastured, you must respect his requests.

He can, of course, also expect you to respect his buildings, livestock, and crops wherever they are located, on or near the lands open to hunting. Likewise, he can expect you to hunt in a safe manner and obey hunting laws.

Finally, he can ask you to report the number and kind of game taken during your hunt. The information you provide the farmer will be passed on to the Conservation Department to maintain and improve your sport.

Of all commercial forest land in the West, 58.9 per cent is federally owned, 3.9 per cent is in Indian lands, 4.4 per cent is owned by states, counties or cities, and only 32.8 per cent is privately owned.

'Young Mozart' At Art Institute

Eighteenth century Salzburg and Vienna, Austria, provide the background for "Young Mozart," a legitimate play featuring the music of the composer's great operas--"Don Giovanni," "Marriage of Figaro," "The Magic Flute" and "Così Fan Tutte."

"Mozart" will be performed at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 4, in the Detroit Children's Theatre series at the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium.

"Young Mozart" was selected by the Children's Theatre Conference for presentation at its New York Showcase as an example of good theatre for young people.

New Car Top Is Sprayed On Autos

A top that is tops. That's the claim of Garden City Collision, 27602 Ford Road, Garden City, with the new vyn-all car top.

Vinyl-topped cars are the current "tops" in popularity in all makes of automobiles. The demand for this type of added beauty on autos has resulted in the development of a new spray-on vinyl product, known as VYN-ALL CAR TOPS. The VYN-ALL CAR TOP coating is actually a liquid spray-on type of vinyl, and it differs in the application from paint.

Therefore, this unique product is sold only to the franchisee and trained dealers. The franchised dealers are thoroughly trained in the Vyn-All application process.

Cars are given the same decorative beauty that vinyl cloth or leather provides, including the appearance and feel. However, there are some definite advantages of VYN-ALL CAR TOPS.

Chiefly, the VYN-ALL CAR TOPS can be purchased (retail) at about half the cost of the original factory-installed cloth vinyl tops. Also, there is no possibility of wrinkles or tears. Moisture cannot collect behind VYN-ALL to cause bubbles and rot; and these tops won't crack, chip or peel.

Much time, study and research was necessary before the VYN-ALL CAR TOPS were made available to the public. These tops are very durable as well as beautiful. Four Coats of a liquid vinyl material are sprayed on the car tops.

The professional application of the solutions, formulated with a ground-up raw vinyl, provides a textured pattern that feels much like genuine leather or the cloth-backed vinyl tops. Dirt cannot get imbedded into the pores, as with a cloth vinyl, so these Vyn-All Car Tops are definitely easier to keep clean.

Another decided advantage is that in the case of vandalism or accidental damage, it is easy for a Vyn-All Car Top franchised agent to make a repair on the Vyn-All Car Top. This spray-on vinyl material has been given the Weatherometer Test, and it can withstand severe heat, cold and salt sprays.

Dems Should Stage Campaign For Election

The calendar in the city clerk's office in Westland says there is a city election scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 7. Apparently, the candidates for the four City Council seats are trying to have the public forget about it—at least Democratic candidates.

THE FOUR Democratic nominees, which include three incumbent councilmen, have two Republican challengers in a city which has been predominantly Democratic for 12 years.

The Republican candidates, Milton Hack and Robert Wagner, are making an effort to carry their campaign to the voters, who will elect four councilmen in two weeks' time.

But the Democratic office holders and nominees are apparently hoping that the less said, the fewer voters will get out on election day, the smaller the chance that citizens, dissatisfied with the current legislative body, will get out and upset any hopes. But Westland voters deserve better than that.

THIS IS especially true since this is the first city election since Nankin Township incorporated as a city in April, 1966.

After the Nov. 7 election, voters will not get a shot at any office holder for another two years.

Since this is the first election since incorporation, it will give citizens a chance to mark the incumbents' "report card" for their performance in office for the past 18 months.

But this is difficult when the voters are not being told how the city officials are doing—or not doing.

This Is The Week That

... By Don Heenshell

This is the story of Crazy Norman and his First International Fish Fry, an event that contributed as much to the seasonal political jollies as anything else.

There's a lesson here for us all.

It is conceivable that untold hundreds of barrels of beer will be drained and tons of smelt destroyed before the next election.

FIRST OF ALL, Crazy Norman wasn't crazy. His square name is Norman Nader and he still runs a delightful little restaurant on East Jefferson in Detroit. A sort of city hall watering spot.

Norman watched the city council and others at lunchtime and later at night while they made strategy over the ground beef and blue Swiss.

At that time the late former Councilman Ed Conner had to turn away people from his annual fish fry. Councilman Jim Brickley had a pancake breakfast. Even the city hall newspapermen had an annual bash to benefit Father Kern.

One day Norman made his decision:

"From the talk I hear around the place, I could be as good a city councilman. I think I shall run, and what better way to get launched than with my own fish fry."

It had worked for the others and maybe this is just the way.

So Norman booked a giant hall in the Veterans Memorial Building, hired two orchestras and made other arrangements, including 5,000 tickets.

The night of the bash a janitor stood alertly at the door announcing that the site of Norman Nader's debut had been changed—to Norman Nader's restaurant.

There, Norman presided. The crowd was small, consisting of almost entirely of reporters whose tickets were complimentary.

"Come on in and cry with me," he said.

SO IT'S THE season again for this kind of doing. This will grow until during the last days of the campaign candidates will be attending three breakfasts, 12 luncheons and several banquets at night.

Gov. Romney liked to hit them all on campaigns, but he beat the system. He scheduled his arrival for the speechmaking, leaving immediately after. His driver rounded up hamburgers during the speech.

It worked great if you like hamburgers.

In the suburbs we're already having some of these as the parties get an early foot going in 1968.

The political contribution laws make parties like these the major—and proper—way for people to support their candidates and parties. A man who can buy a $25 dinner ticket, for example, can't give the same $25 check to his tiger and wish him well.

BUT BACK briefly to Norman. With everything planned well and arrangements made, why did his political fish fry fall on its face?

It is much easier to sell tickets to someone you can help.

Norman was a gracious host, if you don't count the amateur opera singers he sometimes brought to the place, but—like in all other political endeavors—without a vote you're nothing.

Sense And Nonsense

Why is it that city officials who are the loudest advocates of attracting new industrial and commercial tax base to their community are usually the first to vote against a rezoning proposal to bring these things to town?

Zolton Ferency, Michigan's Democratic Party Chairman, wants to dump President Johnson from the 1968 ticket—all because LBJ didn't pronounce his name right in last year's campaign.

With 42 state governors on one ship, who could conceive of a better target for bombing practice?

First there were local controversies about parking in the street. So, solutions were found in off-street parking. Maybe the problem of crime in the street could be solved with off-street crime. But then what would politicians have to talk about?

It has been mentioned that the Nankin Mills School District in Westland, smallest in the state with 1.25 square miles, has more problems than any other district in Michigan on a square footage basis.

STRAWES FLYING in the brisk October wind:

• Detroit's Mayor Cavanagh unveils a plan to annex part of Plymouth Township to Detroit, for a non-segregated "New Town";

• Governor Romney's proposed state-wide open housing bill runs into trouble in the Legislature, mainly from suburban lawmakers who are afraid of white backlash;

• Peter Libassi, special assistant for civil rights in the Health, Education and Welfare Department, suggests that "we think it is possible to make all suburban districts desegregate their teaching staffs regardless of whether they have Negro students";

• Vague rumors circulate that Detroit, which makes its water system available (for a fee) to many communities in Observerland, will use this as clout to force some suburban understanding and help in the tangled racial situation confronting the inner city.

WHAT IT ADDS UP to is that the suburbs are going to find themselves under heavy — and increasing — pressure to take positive action in the racial crisis that right now is putting our society under perhaps its greatest strain since the Civil War.

By and large, the pressure is not now coming, nor will it come, from the suburbs themselves. They simply do not face the problem, largely because they are suburbs and therefore predominantly white.

Rather, the pressure will come from the cities like Detroit, which are caught in the fearful squeeze of heavy demands from the Negro community without having enough money to pay for the needed programs. It will come from Lansing, where the progressive attitude on civil rights taken by both political parties will be melded increasingly into the network of state law.

And it will come from Washington, where the clear equal opportunity sections of the U.S. Constitution give the federal government the power to withhold money from areas that are not complying with the spirit of the laws.

This pressure will not be directed against the suburbs just because people in Detroit or Lansing or Washington are sore at them. It will come, quite simply, because the suburbs are the place where the votes and power and money happen to be located in our society.

For example, Governor Romney knows he can't pass a state open housing bill without the votes of the suburban legislators. Detroit is having financial problems partly because people and industry are leaving the inner city, moving out to the suburbs, and thereby fattening the suburban tax base.

SYMPTOMS OF THIS pressure are already cropping up in Observerland, both in terms of resistance and of thoughtful and constructive response.

The Plymouth City Commission will hold its first reading of a proposed open housing ordinance on Nov. 6. This will be followed by a public hearing on Nov. 13, after which the ordinance will be further considered by the Commission.

The Michigan Ministerial Association has gone on record favoring the proposed ordinance, and the commissioners are giving it careful scrutiny. Chances are that some form of ordinance will pass, although events in Lansing could change that.

In any event, the developments in Plymouth are among the most encouraging signs of a constructive and positive suburban response to the crisis facing our entire society.

Rumor is that Farmington will soon be considering a similar step.

After the riots that blazed through the big cities this summer, one thing has become clear: A new item has been added to our national agenda, one which makes it impossible for us to continue an attitude of business as usual.

Whether the suburbs, including those served by these newspapers, meet the challenge will go a long way to determine if our country can stand up to the strain of its racial ills.

Sense And Nonsense

People who are the first to urge local citizens to solve local problems are usually the first to vote against tax increases for better school and city services.

Why is it that racial problems are always discussed in all-white suburbs where the homeowners are striving to protect their "property values" rather than look at human values?

GOING UP?

Suburbs Sport A Beauty

There are a thousand possible comments about the Sunday story that a Farmington girl won the Miss Teenage Detroit contest for 1968.

About a year ago, some Wayne State University sociologists pointed out that Oakland County was becoming a brain center for southeastern Michigan as more and more talent drifted from Detroit to the suburbs.

Now Oakland County—specifically, the north part of Farmington—is Detroit's beauty capital, too.

Not only is Miss Teenage Detroit, Mary Catherine Burr, 17, a non-resident, but so were the two runners-up—Katheryn Marie Tallero of St. Clair Shores and Lynn Stolkey, a Redford Union High School junior.

MISS BURR'S victory came, ironically, just two days before part of Farmington Township was to vote on a proposal to fractionate suburban governments still more by creating a city of "Farmington Hills."

Her victory underscored suburbia's many ties to the big city. That's not always a popular thing to talk about in suburbia.

Granted that Farmington city's and township's two men on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors have been in the leadership of the intergovernmental cooperation movement, a lot of the rank and file still grumble at the thought of being part of the metropolis.

Maybe Miss Burr's victory over 903 quarter-finalists, 60 semi-finalists and nine other finalists will ease the sting.

THE CLOSING THING to be said about it all is congratulations——to Mary Catherine Burr.

—to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Burr of 29954 Beacon-tree.

—to her school, North Farmington High.
—to suburbia's good showing in general.

Now she will go to Dallas Nov. 4-11 to compete with 60 other girls from all over the nation for the U.S. title with its college scholarship, wardrobe, stock in several corporations and chances for fees for personal appearances.

Our best wishes go with Miss Teenage Detroit-Farmington.

Dems Go Suburban; GOP Turns Egghead

The science of politics is probably the most fascinating operation around.

During election campaigns the party organizations move into high gear and much attention is paid to them. What happens in the off years?

That's when the going is tough and the party regulars make plans, plot new strategy and try to raise the necessary cash to either pay past debts or to finance the next campaign.

In the past two weeks an example of different twists to the off-year projects has appeared. In the interests of being non-partisan, it's nice that one project came from the Republicans and the other from the Democrats.

LET'S TAKE a look at the Democrats' project first simply because it has received more notice in the columns of the news media.

This is a fund-raising project dreamed up by the Oakland County organization of the party. It's an effort to reach the small contributor of $1 or so rather than the big-wigs.

This is the hard way since the Dems will have to convince many more people to raise the same amount of capital.

The project is called "DEMO '68" and is described as "one dollar buys share in new ideas, new programs of Oakland Party." The party workers are circulating Oakland County looking for the funds.

The idea is better than $25 a plate dinners and the famous President's Club. The project will work only if a great deal of shoe leather and elbow grease is expended in its behalf.

THE REPUBLICANS' new project takes the higher ground of the intellectual approach.

It's a low-key, quality type magazine called "The Michigan Republican Quarterly."

The editor, Charles E. Schultz of Albion College, states in the first article of this publication, "Eggheads and the Republican Party" that:

"Popular opinion holds that

Reader Questions Role Of 'Humane' Society

EDITOR:
Last Monday, Sept. 25, I called the Livonia Dog Pound to ask them where I could call to find a kitten. They referred me to the "Cat Humane Society" at 26211 Lyndon.

When I drove over there, I found that it was a private address. There was a sign on the front door that said "go to the side door". Unfortunately, the side door was inside a fenced off area containing several dogs. Rather than take a chance and possibly be bitten by the strange dogs, I called "HELLO!" over the fence several times.

No one came to meet me. In the meantime, a very pleasant woman and her teenaged daughter drove up in front. They were bringing a whole basket of unwanted kittens to the Humane Society. We chatted for a few minutes and then the woman told me I could have any of the kittens I wanted. I thanked her and happily made a choice. We then discussed the care and feeding of kittens when the lady (?) of the house finally noticed us and came out of the back yard toward the inner fence.

"Let me see that cat", she snarled at me. Though somewhat startled at her rudeness, I thought she may have noticed something important (sickness, injury) about my cat. The woman literally snatched the kitten from me, exclaiming "A-hah, just as I thought. It's a female!" She then made the following statements:

"You can't have this kitten until it's spayed. We don't believe in letting cats reproduce. There are too many cats in the world now. My husband has a very strong rule about this. Besides, it will make a much nicer pet after the operation."

I was completely shocked by her statements, particularly since she was talking about MY cat, not hers! I replied that in my opinion she had nothing to say about it, for it was already my cat. The other woman and her daughter also implored the woman to return my animal to me, but she refused.

I should have called the police. Since then I have heard rumors that she and her husband got money for each operation that is done.

What happens to the kittens that are not adopted? I have also heard that this couple destroys all unwanted cats. Is this what happened to my kitten after I left?

The strange part of all this is that they call themselves "The Humane" Society.

I have followed the incorporation campaign very closely over the past several months and as a city resident have made every effort to avoid becoming involved and "clouding the issue", a frequently used term around here lately. For this reason I have waited until Sunday, Oct. 22, to write this letter so that the election will be "history" by the time these comments are made public.

First, I must take exception to a statement attributed to me in a letter to the editor appearing in the Oct. 22 issue of the Farmington Enterprise & Observer. Mr. Perrin failed to quote my entire reply when he asked me publicly what future course of action I personally favored.

I stated that on the basis of other studies completed in other communities that I have had the opportunity to examine, it would appear that consolidation would probably be the best thing for the Greater Farmington Area, however, I would like to make my final judgement when I see the results of our study. I fail to see how Mr. Perrin can question the "objectivity" of that approach.

I do think it is significant, however, that at every public meeting I took the opportunity to attend where incorporation was the "announced" topic for discussion, the subject always drifted over to consolidation, and although the various speakers were divided over the question of incorporation, there was nearly universal acceptance to consolidation as the most logical and eventual solution to the problem.

I WOULD LIKE to commend City Hall and other citizens of the city who are deeply concerned about the "entire" community for showing their good faith and not becoming involved and trying to "torpedo" the election.

It doesn't take a political scientist to realize that the whole election could have been thrown into a greater state of confusion and chaos quite simply with an announcement a few days before the election (whether it be fact or rumor) that consolidation petitions had been circulated, sufficient signatures collected, the $500 filing fee was ready, and the petitions would be filed when the court house opened Tuesday morning. This would prevent the threat of annexation, and tie up the entire area for two years and would encourage a NO vote on incorporation from the persons who want consolidation as well as those who prefer to retain township status. These two groups together must certainly constitute a majority of township voters.

Because city residents wanted to bargain in good faith and show their respect for the efforts and hard work of the Citizens Council, this act of political chicanery was not instituted so the citizens of the township could make their decision without another choice to further confuse them.

SHOULD incorporation fail, I would hope persons on both sides of the city limits signs would continue to exhibit this good faith by not filing for anneization of any township areas to the city and incorporation of any township properties into fragmented cities until the study is completed and the whole community has had an opportunity to see which direction it should be moving.

On the other hand, should the majority of the township vote YES to incorporation, I would hope the charter commissioners would get to the task for which they have been elected; to write a charter for the proposed city of Farmington Hills.

Simultaneously, the study should be completed as soon as possible to give the commissioners some direction in the writing of the charter should the study show that the establishment of a new city is the best course for the residents of the community to follow. Likewise, should the study show some other form of development would be best suited for the area, I would expect it (the study) would also make recommendations as to how these most desirable alternatives could be most expeditiously achieved.

I would then hope the members of the charter commission and the voters of the township would give these recommendations top priority consideration in any action they may pursue.

THE FUTURE Farmington Area Study Committee will reconvene later this week and representatives from the Institute for Community Development and Services at Michigan State University will be present to discuss resumption of the study and determine whether they will submit another study proposal to us. The type of study to be proposed this time will of necessity have some bearing on the outcome of the election, Oct. 23.

Regardless of who does the study, whether it be MSU or some other qualified institution or a private consultant, the FFASC is committed to the completion of the study at the earliest possible date and appeals to the moral integrity of all the citizens and municipal leaders to resist the temptation for further political calculations and support the study to the utmost of their positions and abilities.

Backs Officer

I am writing in response to your recent article about the request made to the Livonia Police Department that Officer Avery be fired.

It seems to me that the criticism of the police officer is unjustified and unfair. In the line of his duty Patrolman Avery risked his life trying to apprehend a fleeing hit and run driver.

Now that the driver has been charged with the crime and is awaiting trial, it seems that his attorney is attempting to bring pressure upon the Police Department by charges of improper conduct. It is about time we citizens stand behind our Police Department and the officers who try to do a good job. Why is all the emphasis placed upon trying to divert attention from the criminal by making charges against the policemen?

I think Officer Avery is to be commended for his sincere effort to perform his duty. Chief Jordan should be praised for defending his officers and resisting the pressures brought to divert attention from the person charged with the crime.

Counseling In Suburbs

EDITOR:

I would like to reply to the September 17th article quoting Reverend Ronald C. Starenko, Chairman of Livonia's Commission on Children and Youth, that aside from the schools and churches, there isn't much in the way of professional counseling help for youngsters in our area who find themselves in trouble.

While expansion of such services is always desirable, our community should know that at present there are several agencies qualified to help families and children in need of professional guidance.

Graveyard Vandalism

EDITOR:

Last week for the fourth time a growing shrub was stolen from the grave of our only son (and child), who was killed while in the service of his country.

The grave in one of your large, beautiful well known cemeteries is plainly marked with a tablet, designating the rank and air-force service of our son. An American flag flies over this tablet at all times and it is visited almost every week by his parents (us) who keep it in flowers of all seasons.

We have heard that this might be the work of vandals but it is our impression that these shrubs and trees are stolen by some rotten-hearted individual who puts them to his own use. They are carefully removed, roots and all, and are never destroyed or thrown around the area.

We sincerely hope that whoever is guilty of such a low-down act gets a big kick out of watching these shrubs grow, knowing where they came from. We know that the V.F.W. and other service organizations would be interested in learning the culprit or culprits' names.

We also believe this to be quite a wide spread activity at this time and would like to hear from others regarding same.

"A Treasure Hunt in Farmington" is the theme of the meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. in Our Lady of Sorrows Church.

Members of the Farmington Auxiliary, one of the largest in the district and hostesses for the evening, said the theme was worked out with treasure hunt clue invitations and would be continued in decorations and a "treasure" for each member present.

Mrs. John Richardson, chairman for the district meeting, said the gathering is aimed at "establishing communications with auxiliaries in our immediate area."

"We want to bring back to our respective communities new project ideas and better means of accomplishing goals," she added.

Sorority Will Give Basket

Plans to put together a Thanksgiving basket for a needy Plymouth family are underway by the Eta Psi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, with Mrs. Norbert Szczodrowski, service chairman, heading the project.

Mrs. John Olson will present a program on "The History of Dress" at the group's next meeting, Thursday, Nov. 2, at 8:15 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Lee Lemmon, 23189 Floral, Farmington. A cosmetic demonstration was the program for the meeting last week in the home of Mrs. Charles Bobler, of Livonia.

Starr Commonwealth Auxiliary Plans Projects

Two big projects to benefit the boys at the Starr Commonwealth are being planned by the newly-organized Farmington Auxiliary.

The women will put on a Benefit-Bazaar Card Party at 1 p.m. Monday, Nov. 6, in the First Farmington Savings and Loan building on Orchard Lake Road, and also plan a Nov. 30 theatre party to see the movie "Gone With the Wind."

Antiques, baked and preserved goods and Christmas items will be featured at the Bazaar, and the tickets will include dessert and coffee.

The auxiliary has orchestra tickets for the 8 p.m. "Gone With the Wind" performance at the Madison Theatre. Mrs. Maribel Chalmers, president, said the seats were purchased before they went on sale at the box office "so we can say truthfully they are the best in the house."

Proceeds from both projects will be used to contribute toward needed equipment for the home for boys near Albion.

All women in the area interested in attending either event or becoming a part of the auxiliary are invited to call Mrs. Chalmers, Gr. 4-0326, for more information.

Drove From Cleveland Mrs. Wilson's Commuting For Girl Scouting Ends

Four months of frequent commuting between Cleveland and Detroit ended last week when Mrs. William E. Wilson, formerly of Livonia, stepped down from the presidency of the Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit.

She had held the position since 1962, and turned it over to Mrs. Edgar A. Guest Jr. at a special meeting of the board of directors Oct. 18.

Nettie Wilson, whose husband is a commercial artist, moved to Cleveland from her home on West Chicago in Livonia rather suddenly when Wilson accepted a new position last summer.

"She hated to leave the Girl Scout work at loose ends, or to shift too much responsibility onto the vice presidents," said GS public relations director Jan Griffin, "so she drove back and forth to meetings, sometimes twice in a week."

"She usually came in the morning and drove back in the evening, but sometimes there were evening meetings and she stayed overnight."

MRS. WILSON installed Mrs. Guest in office before 450 Girl Scout delegates in a meeting in the Rackham Building as her final contribution to Girl Scouting in Detroit.

Mrs. Wilson had been active in Girl Scouting in Kentucky and Arizona before beginning her 12 years in Livonia.

Here she served as neighborhood and district chairman and then moved up to the higher office.

"IT IS WITH deep regret that I resign my position with the Metropolitan Detroit Council," said Mrs. Wilson. "My association has been a most rewarding one. I have been particularly impressed with the cooperation of the community to provide Girl Scouting for girls seven through 18 years of age."

"I will certainly miss my Girl Scouts and other friends here. I will also miss those beautiful sunrises and sunsets I witnessed the past four months commuting from Cleveland."

I hate to mention this matter, because probably it will be the one time my own children read this corner.

But it's a confession that must be made. No matter how hard I try each year, I can't seem to generate much enthusiasm about Halloween.

It's not that I'm anti-ghost or unsympathetic to witches. And though the carving of the Jack-o-lantern makes a mighty mess, I always find the results delightful.

I don't even mind providing candy for beggars, and I applaud the common-sense attitude that leads more and more folks to hand out little wrapped bars that go well in school lunches.

Also I must emphasize that in our neighborhood there never has been vandalism to spoil the last day of October.

The problem, I've finally concluded, is that to children Halloween is a holiday that's long to be planned and savored, something like Christmas is to me.

And with my short-sighted adult mentality, there just isn't room in the thinking for planning elaborate costumes and schemes until a few days before the big one. Then it tends to be too late.

But no one else's exuberance ever seems to get dampened by my Halloween Scrooge attitude. And when next Tuesday night comes, and the painted and costumed ones go out on the prowl, I'll be having as much fun as anyone.

It just takes me longer to get the true Halloween spirit.

Dr. Banks Keeps Town Hall Ladies Laughing, Thinking

by GLENNA MERILLAT

The rafters of the Northville P&A Theatre rang with feminine laughter last Thursday morning as the Northville Town Hall Series opened its season with Dr. Murray Banks, well-known clinical psychologist, as guest speaker.

Dr. Banks is a comedian in the best sense of the word. Jack Benny, Red Skelton and Jackie Gleason leave you laughing. Dr. Banks leaves you laughing—and thinking.

"What do do Until the Psychiatrist Comes" was the talk originally scheduled, but it was without the slightest disappointment that the audience found itself being lectured on "How to Live With Yourself."

A VITAL PART of Dr. Banks' message centered on a mental check-up consisting of ten questions including:

- Are you happy?
- Do you have zest for living at any age?
- Can you live with each problem in your life as it arises?
- Do you know how to worry effectively? These questions were punctuated with more anecdotes and hilarious stories than most comedians use in a week, but as Dr. Banks said, "Under the sugar coating there is an injection."

THROUGHOUT BOTH the lecture and the informal question and answer period at the Meadowbrook Country Club luncheon following, Dr. Banks had his listeners think logic and laugh.

Dr. Banks had these injections for his audience:

NERVOUS BREAKDOWNS: "There is no such thing as a 'nervous breakdown'. Show me the nerve that broke down," demanded Dr. Banks. "The fear of death, old age, motherhood and a multitude of others are a form of unconscious neurotic adjustment."

INSANITY: "Insanity is a form of adjustment. No one is born insane, you do not inherit insanity."

ALCOHOLISM: "You will never wash away your troubles with liquor—you'll only irrigate them. The alcoholic hates liquor—but he hates life more!"

HIPPIES: "All hippies are exactly the same as alcoholics. They choose their way of life to blur reality, just as the alcoholic chooses liquor."

RELIGION: "Brimstone and fire preaching is dangerous, because it is based on fear. My feelings on religion are very broad—I believe in anything you follow as a philosophy of life that gives you strength."

SMOKING: "People who smoke are socially approved perverts."

LIFE: "Don't take life too seriously. You'll never get out of this world alive anyway."

Dr. Banks is professor of Psychology at New York Institute of Technology. He has lectured in every English speaking country in the world and has delivered "How to Live With Yourself" to over 5,000 audiences.

Women on the GO!

By Margaret Miller

Two pretty young ladies from Observerland put in a busy summer with the Indians of northwestern Canada.

Alice Bassette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bassette, of Farmington, took leave from her duties as operating room nurse at Ford Hospital in Detroit.

Judy Kawa, a Midland girl who teaches kindergarten in the Cooper elementary school, Livonia, was on summer vacation.

BOTH JOINED a task force of about 40 young missionaries who worked in Indian villages in British Columbia as part of a North America Indian Mission project.

They were volunteer workers who paid travel expenses and tuition for their training in pioneer missionary fields, and both had support from their home churches—Alice from Highland Park Baptist of Southfield and Judy from the First Baptist Church of Farmington.

The two-month session for the entire group began on Thetis Island, B.C., where the young people were given training for their work.

Alice was one of the group that stayed at the island just north of Vancouver, working among the children of the Indian families engaged in logging operations.

OTHERS IN the group dispersed themselves north and east hitting inland and far north Indian villages. Some of the teams of workers covered several villages.

Judy's unit went far up the coast to a remote spot close to the Alaskan border called Point Edward.

"It's 300 miles north by air," she reported, "but a lot more than that by the overland route we took."

The workers went in two big vans, she added, and the roads in that area aren't known for their smoothness.

JUDY KAWA (left) and Alice Bassette point out on a map of western Canada the spots where they spent the summer working in Indian villages of the Pacific Northwest.

"WE REALLY held our breath for about 40 miles," she said. The Indians, at Point Edward for the summer, were mainly those who lived farther inland most of the year and headed for the coast during the salmon fishing season.

Though occupations of the villagers were different at their two stations, Alice and Judy found their work quite similar.

Both worked with the children of the settlements, who would otherwise have had little to occupy their time and minds during their parents' busy work season.

They taught Bible school, arranged recreation programs, visited in the homes of the village youngsters. And when they got together again for a conference at the end of the summer with other volunteers, they found that a total of 28

Bible schools had been attended by 2,072 youngsters.

ALICE, WHO was in her second year on the project, said she found the area somewhat substandard economically, but not really impoverished.

"Most of the houses are tiny and unpainted," she said, "but you have to remember that the constant dampness and salt air of the region would make frequent painting necessary. And I guess most of the people there just don't think that's worth the effort."

Alice and Judy both have studied part time at the Detroit Bible College, and Alice, a 1961 graduate of Farmington High School, is planning to continue her courses there with the possibility of a mission career in the background.

Accidents know no season, nor are they confined to any one age group. In the U.S. accidents are the leading cause of death among all persons ages one to 37. Not only do 4-H members learn safe practices in their day-to-day living, but they influence their families and communities to be more safety-minded year-round.

Individual 4-H Clubs take on community projects such as clean-up and health campaigns and aid to the Red Cross. They cooperate with law enforcement officers and city officials in accident and fire prevention drives.

Packaging Act Boon For Shopper

The Fair Packaging and Labeling Act, which became effective July 1, will help consumers get their money's worth at the supermarket.

Marguerite Robinson, Consumer Specialist with the Food and Drug Administration Chicago District, discussed this Act with advisers in home economics during a recent conference at the University of Illinois.

IN EXPLAINING the labeling requirements for food products, Miss Robinson said the food packager must:

Give the net contents -- set apart in bold type on the lower third of the principal panel. Give the name and place of business of the manufacturer, packer or distributor.

Declare the quantity in total ounces on packages that contain less than 4 pounds or 1 gallon. The breakdown in ounces must be used in addition to weight in pounds or pints and quarts for liquids.

Explain the form in which the product is offered as part of the name of the product; for example, whole or sliced. Refrain from the use of terms, such as "giant quart" and "jumbo pound."

State net quantity per serving when the number of servings is given.

List contents in the order of predominance.

The ceremony of consecration symbolically begins a child's formal Jewish education. Each child will be blessed by Rabbi David Jessel and given a pin to commemorate the occasion.

Mass In English Gets Approval Here

Masses entirely in English, heard in Roman Catholic churches in this area and elsewhere for the first time last Sunday, were described as "a great step forward," by the Very Rev. Eugene Van Antwerp, rector of St. John's Provincial Seminary. "I'm sure the change is being received with great enthusiasm," Father Van Antwerp said. "For the first time, we can feel that all worshippers know just what is going on throughout the service." The change came a little earlier than originally planned. "The first English masses were to have been sung the first Sunday in Advent," the seminary head said, "and there were to have been five different variations approved for the central part of the mass, the canon. The new mass in English is not just a word-for-word translation from the Latin, Father Van Antwerp added. The translation has been made into the idiom of English as spoken today. For example, he pointed out, there is one place where the literal translation from the Latin would read: "We ask God to bless these gifts, these offerings, these holy sacrifices."

In the English form as sung Sunday, this portion reads: "We ask God to bless these gifts we offer in sacrifice." Sisterhood Plans Sales
The Temple Beth Am Sisterhood will sponsor a rummage sale Thursday, Nov. 2, from 1 to 8 p.m. and Friday, Nov. 3, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bernard Zupmore, 32201 Oakley, Livonia. New Christian Reformed Church Starts Services In Farmington

A new church is getting under way in Farmington Sunday, Oct. 29, with four families, two pastors and unlimited faith.

The University Hills Church, of the Christian Reformed denomination, will hold its first services on Reformation Sunday in the O.E. Dunckel Junior High School.

The church is negotiating to acquire land soon in the vicinity of Oakland Hills Community College, and invites all other interested families to join in the opening day services.

PASTOR FOR the new church will be J. Harold Ellens, now the Christian Reformed Church's home missionary to the greater Detroit metropolitan area.

He will continue in this post along with assuming the new duties for a time, and plans to move to Farmington with his wife, Mary Jo, and their six children.

Sharing the pulpit on an alternate Sunday basis will be Dr. John Henry Kromminga, who is president of the Calvin Theological Seminary in Grand Rapids.

Edward Kretz, of Farmington, acting as spokesman for the University Hills Church, said President Kromminga was accepting the post of associate pastor because he felt it important for church educators to get back to the pulpit occasionally.

KREITZ, WHO IS advertising manager for K-Mart stores, listed the other families starting the new church as those of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Kuiper, both teachers in the Farmington school system, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Freiling, also of Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Teerman, of Pontiac.

Of the church's creed, he said: "The University Hills Church believes the Bible to be the infallible, inspired word of God and the only rule for faith and practice. "The church believes in the Trinity of God who has revealed himself as one God in three persons, Father, Son and Holy Spirit."

PASTOR ELLENS is a graduate of Calvin College and Calvin Seminary and served five years as a U.S. Army chaplain in this country and in Germany. He has done graduate study at Princeton University and served as pastor of the Christian Reformed Church in Newton, N.J., before coming to the Detroit area.

Dr. Kromminga is a graduate of Calvin Seminary and Princeton Theological Seminary, and served churches in Newton, Des Plaines, Ill., and Grand Haven, Mich., before going to the seminary as professor of church history. He has written several books and traveled to Scotland, South Africa, Korea and the Netherlands.

Wally Roberts UP' GOING 'CURTAIN'

The Eastern Michigan Players under the able direction of Dr. Parker Zellers revived the Broadway comedy "Harvey" in a most successful manner last weekend for five performances in Quirk Theater.

"Harvey" has been done and re-done by community theater, high school groups, and revived from time to time by professional groups. Nothing can dim the comic power of this hilarious account of an Irish mythical figure known as a Pooka. The Pooka in this instance takes the shape of a towering, six-foot white rabbit. Naturally, the white rabbit is seen only by Elwood P. Dowd who is a right nice guy. Elwood calls him Harvey and everywhere Elwood goes Harvey is sure to follow.

seeps through. You begin to realize that maybe all of us need a Pooka or a Harvey to follow us these days to bear up under the brunt of all the pressures of a society steeped in violence, bloodshed, and materialistic greed.

"Harvey" as enacted by the Eastern Michigan students is a fine example of how talented many of the university students are. Gary Carpenter's performance as the punchy male attendant in the idiot orchard could only be classified as superb. Every nuance inserted by his deft characterization provoked a plethora of laughter. John Schudel as Dr. Chumley provided as gifted a performance as Mr. Carpenter.

Complications ensue when his sister tries to put him in the funny farm. This separation from Harvey, his invisible pal, creates the comic confusion of the evening.

Ruth Bauers as Myrtle utilized far more energy in the facial gesture department than what the script called for. However, it was Director Zellers job to restrain her tendency to over-do the part. Her persistent giggling actually detracted so greatly during the first act that at times the audience became irritated. Any acting style that calls attention to itself will destroy the naturalistic feeling so necessary even in a farce such as "Harvey".

AS YOU WATCH "Harvey" for a second or third time the basic philosophy somehow Director Zellers can be given accolades aplenty for his laugh-paced second act. The mistakes of the first act were soon rectified as the cast warmed up to the wild complications of the script and the momentum carried them thru Act three.

English Film Featured At Schoolcraft

"The Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner," which has earned great critical acclaim since its release in England in 1962, will be presented by the Schoolcraft College Friday Night film series at 8:30 p.m., Oct. 27, in the amphitheater in the Forum. Admission is free.

Produced and directed by Tony Richardson from a screenplay by Alan Sillitoe, the movie features Tom Courtenay, Sir Michael Redgrave and Avis Bunnage.

The story is that of an 18-year-old slum-bred boy from England who is sent to a reformatory, called Borstal in England. There, despite his contempt for authority, he becomes the top runner of the school and the best bet to win in competition against a private school.

"ANY WEDNESDAY", another flippant little Broadway comedy, has a three performance showing at the Franklin High School by the Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford. Director Richard Thiede deserves dual award both for his directing and acting. Dick stepped in at the last minute and did a truly professional job of thesping.

As he goes through his morning practices, his early life is disclosed through flashbacks. On the day of the race, the boy's surprising decision brings the film to a powerful climax.

Tony Mattar was in his usual top form. Margaret Williams and Louise De Vitto gave new brilliance to the roles of mistress and wife, respectively. "Any Wednesday" was light, brittle and terrifically funny as done by one of the strongest cast yet assembled by the Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford.

Miss Sell Has Role In Play

Janet Sell, of Farmington, a senior at Tusculum College, Greeneville, Tenn., has one of the roles in the college's first major drama production of the season, to be presented Nov. 3 and 4 at the college.

The lustre pitcher, silver and ceramic bowls, massive tile, bronze dagger and candlestick and decorative horse bit—all show the exquisite artistry of an ancient civilization. Oldest of the objects displayed is a primitive Amlash clay vessel in the form of a bull made around 900 B.C. The only object whose artist can be identified is a fine miniature of a young Portuguese feeding a pet dog. The artist was Riza-i Abbasi, active from 1600-1650.

TRY PANELING CEILING When the dining area is open to the living room, it can be defined with a dropped-ceiling effect. It's achieved by paneling the ceiling over the dining ell with tongue-and-groove boards. Western hemlock lumber is recommended for its light, creamy coloring.

Miss Sell, who is majoring in music at Tusculum, will portray the character of 'Mrs. Bassett' in Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke."

A graduate of North Farmington High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph H. Sell, of 28304 Brandywine Rd.

Clarenceville Students See 'Showoff'

Ten, eleven, and twelve graders from Clarenceville High School went to Ann Arbor Thursday night and saw "The Showoff" with Helen Hayes at the Mendelssohn Theatre.

This trip was one of many the students have made this school year.

They have been to Ann Arbor twice before to see "Pantaglieze" and "You Can't Take It With You."

On Oct. 12, 74 students took a trip to Stratford, Ontario and saw one of Shakespeare's classics the "Merry Wives of Windsor."

Their last trip for this theatre season is back to Ann Arbor and the Mendelssohn Theatre to see "Exit The King" Nov. 2.

OU Students Will Present Broadway Hit

There will be a new name and a new theatre when Oakland University's student drama club lifts the curtain on its new season on Friday, November 3.

The Student Enterprise Theatre will stage its productions in "Barn Theatre."

The work must be done within two weeks for the performance on two successive weekends, November 3-4 and 10-11, of the hit musical, "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off." Curtain time each night is 8:30.

Barn Theatre is located just a few hundred feet to the south of the Science Building. Playgoers approaching the campus on University Drive will turn right at the first stop sign and find the theatre almost directly in front of them.

Contrast Series Offers Flavor Of Foreign Lands

A bit of India and a bit of England will be offered by Oakland Community College on the weekend of Nov. 10-12.

EDWARD Earle, who replaced Anthony Newley in the Broadway production of "Roar of the Greasepaint . . .", serves as star and director of this National Touring Company production.

The "India" will consist of a concert by Ustad Ali Akbar Khan, Master of the Suroi, a musical instrument, which will be held at 8 p.m., Friday, Nov. 10, at Berkeley High School, 2325 Catalpa, Berkeley.

A simplified musical statement on how silly it is that our social structure stands on such ideas as "play the game by the rules" (as long as the big fellow makes the rules), Earle performs the role of Cockey, the underdog who is bullied by Sir, the establishment.

"The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd," the hit Broadway musical, will present a little bit of England at 7 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 12, at Madison High School, 915 E. 11 Mile Rd. (between John R. and Dequindre), Madison Heights.

The award-winning score includes many familiar hit tunes such as "Who Can I Turn To?", "The Joker", "Nothing Can Stop Me Now", and "Look At That Face".

BOTH PROGRAMS are part of the third annual Contrast Series, under the general supervision of the OCC Community Services Division.

General Admission for each production is $3, with reserved seating $3.50.

All Akbar Khan (he earned the title Ustad, a Persian word meaning "master musician", after having been Court Musician for the Maharaja of Jodhpur) first visited the United States in 1955 at the special request of Yehudi Menuhin and performed at the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

Tickets may be obtained by writing the Community Services Division, Oakland Community College, 2480 Opdyke Road, Bloomfield Hills, 48013. Checks should be payable to Oakland Community College and a stamped, self-addressed envelope must accompany each request.

Off-Beat Bach Satire Opens Concert Series

The music is unpublished, the instrumentation is bizarre and classical music styles and conventions are stretched to satire in "P.D.Q. Bach," the opening performance in the 1967-68 Founders Society Concert Series at the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium, Friday, October 27, at 8:30 p.m. is the date when "Professor" Peter Schickele will expose this "oddest of J. S. Bach's 20-odd children" to a musically-wary audience.

"Unbegun Symphony" - Professor Schickele's own admitted composition

- "Pervertimento for Bagpipes, Bicycle, and Balloons" (Schickele on the bicycle and Donald Varella on the bagpipes)
- "Gross Concerto for Diverse Flutes"
- Cantata: "Iphigenia in Brooklyn"

Mrs. Edith J. Freeman, chairman of the Founders Society Concert Series, announced that season tickets will remain on sale until the 8:30 p.m. curtain time Oct. 27.

SCHICKELE acknowledges his early fascination with the efforts of the late Spike Jones was. inspirational - if not instrumental - in producing this program of musical parody and satire. (Schickele, incidentally, introduces each work with an incoherent lecture about its significance and form.)

Concerts for the remainder of the season will be "Curlew River" (Nov. 18), Spanish pianist Alicia de Larrocha (Dec. 1), Jose Limon and Dance Company (Feb. 16), Los Indios Tabajaras, classical guitarists (March 15) and Sonata da Camera (May 3).

PROFESSOR Schickele is proud to admit his discovery of works by Johann Sebastian Bach's mythological son may have set music back several hundred years, and audiences who have been exposed to the performances of "P.D.Q. Bach" in New York's Philharmonic Hall and Town Hall and California's Hollywood Bowl tend to agree with this judgment. Perhaps the headiest praise of all came from Time Magazine's reviewer who acknowledged that P.D.Q. Bach "borders on the believable."

TICKETS for the performance are available at the Detroit Institute of Arts Ticket Office (832-2730), Grinnell's and J.L. Hudson ticket services.

SCHICKELE claims he is resident musicologist at the University of Southern North Dakota, but his exposure of P.D.Q. Bach's manuscripts demonstrates the versatility of Schickele as a composer-musician who writes and arranges vocal and instrumental scores for theatre and films, for notables like Joan Baez and Buffy Saint-Marie, and who has persuaded Vanguard Records to go for Baroque with a third pressing of P.D.Q. to be released this winter.

Abetted by the Royal P.D.Q. Bach Festival Orchestra of some 20 excellent musicians, John Nelson conducting, and counter tenor John Ferrante, Schickele will lunge into the evening's program:

- "Serenade in D Major for Devious Instruments" (among them, slide whistles, kazooes, trombones, shower hose, wind-breaker and strings)
- A special performance of the Company Will Perform Gilbert & Sullivan

"Gilbert and Sullivan A La Carte", a repertoire of the great songs of the composers, will be featured at Ford Auditorium in Detroit Oct. 29, Sunday, at 8:20 p.m.

It is part of the Christian Culture Series. Tickets are available at all J. L. Hudson Stores, all Grinnell's outlets, the box office, and Seller's.

The A La Carte company is five singer-actors who have had great experience with the operettas of Gilbert and Sullivan.

EDITOR: At the Festival '67 Critique, it was the consensus of opinion that the Farmington Enterprise & Observer was the backbone of the whole thing.

I doubt very much if we could have accomplished anything if the paper were not as understanding, cooperative and interested in the things we are trying to do in the community.

This year was really the test and we feel as though we passed it successfully, but we could not have done it without your help.

Thank you for everything.

LEADING CONSUMER

The United States continued to be the world's largest consumer of nickel in 1965, using a record 350 million pounds. In 1964, industry in the United States used 308 million pounds of nickel.

FHS To Present 'Sound Of Music'

"The Sound of Music" will sound in Farmington.

The performances will be held in the Farmington Junior High auditorium Dec. 14, 15 and 16 at 8:30 p.m.

"Rehearsals are progressing surprisingly satisfactorily for this early date," said Lee S. Peel, director of the musical for Farmington High School. He also said that half of the scenes have been blocked and worked at least once.

WILLIAM Feucht, vocal director, has given special attention to all soloists. Tonight will be the third rehearsal for the chorus.

There were 134 tryouts for the play. The cast is comprised of students from FHS and a few children from the Farmington community.

The students and the characters they portray are: Sue Latham, Maria; David Bush, Major Von Trapp; Linda Perry, the Baroness; Howard Aldrich, Max; Candy Slagle, Barbara Bastianelli and Carolyn Francisco, the three nuns; Mike

McConeghy, Rolf; Diane Livingston, Liesel; Gail Halava, Louisa; Eric Carlson, Kurt; John Plicta, Herr Zeller; Dennis Durocher, Baron Elberfeld; and Bob Herman, Admiral Von Shrieber

ELEMENTARY or junior high students are taking the parts of the Von Trapp children. Farmington Junior High's Alan Vasiliakos will play Friedrich; Claudia Cook, a student from Flanders Elementary, has the part of Brigetta; Karen Spjeldet, from Ten Mile Elementary, will be Marta; and from Longacre Elementary, Kathy Boyd will play the part of Gretl.

Mrs. Howard Bauer, an F.H.S. graduate, will play the part of Mother Abbess. Mrs. Bauer had the lead role in the production, "Carousel," at the University of Michigan. She has appeared also as a soloist in the various spring cantatas sponsored by Farmington Senior High.

Efforts on the part of the directors, with the assistance of Sister Laurentia, principal of Our Lady of Sorrows, to secure a nun to play the part of Mother Abbess failed. Sister Laurentia has also advised the directors regarding the roles of the nuns and the Latin chant which opens the show.

SEVERAL students, other than those acting, have already helped in getting this play on its way, according to Peel.

Steve Frank, stage director; Mike Mosley, properties head; Ellen Marra and Mary Anne Cotton, student directors;

Sherry Houghton, set designer; Robin Spjeldet, choreographer and Kathy Lemon and Chris Cook, accompanists, have given their time and talents to further the progress of the musical.

Tickets will go on sale around Nov. 15 for $1.50.

MARKET FOR NICKEL The largest single use for the metal nickel is for making high-quality stainless steel. Some 247 million pounds of nickel went into production of stainless steel in 1965.

Extract Controls Growth

ANN ARBOR--A biochemical extracted from potatoes and subjected to low radiation has been used at the University of Michigan to significantly control the growth of plants, yeast, and microscopic animals.

The irradiated, milky-yellow extract has both inhibited and stimulated mitosis (growth by cell division) with no apparent ill effect on the treated cells.

According to Lloyd E. Brownell, professor of chemical and nuclear engineering, possibilities for the extract, after further experimentation may involve such diverse applications as increasing crop yields and arresting the growth of tumors.

SOME OF THE experiments to date were made by two instructors from small colleges taking part in a research participation summer institute at U-M sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Working with Prof. Brownell, project supervisor Dr. B. N. Kabadi, and Prof. William I. Higuchi of the department of pharmacology, the instructors have used the extract on potatoes, peas, yeast, and flatworms and are preparing experiments involving fish.

Yeast growth using the extract has been especially significant, according to one of the institute participants, Robert J. Tufts, an instructor at Ventura College in Ventura, Calif.

Four times the normal growth rate was not uncommon in experiments with peas, according to the other institute participant, Asst. Prof. Steve Graham of Biola College in La Mirada, Calif.

ONE FINDING of the current experiments is that the extract treated with a certain radiation will first inhibit mitotic growth, and then increase it rapidly. In one case, treated peas lagged behind untreated ones for several days and then quickly outgrew those that had not been treated.

This mitotic growth is not the result of a toxic reaction, said Prof. Brownell, who has been studying irradiated potatoes for more than a dozen years.

THE CURRENT round of experiments at U-M also indicate that once a cell has been treated by the irradiated extract it will continue to divide in expanded size. More than four generations after the initial treatment yeast cells continued the accelerated growth.

Studies on irradiated potatoes began 12 years ago in U-M's Fission Products Laboratory under Prof. Brownell with C. D. LaRue, professor of botany.

At that time, Prof. LaRue found a "growth hormone" and "hormone inhibitor" involved in potato sprout stimulation and inhibition respectively.

In unrelated study, Prof. Brownell pointed out, Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgyi, Hungarian-born Nobel Prize winner, is currently studying two biochemicals of the human body which he has found to influence mitosis of the body cells. Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi considers these two mitotic agents which he calls "Retine" and "Promine," to be part of a control mechanism common to various forms of life.

RETINE RETARDS cell division and thus is a mitotic inhibitor, explained Prof. Brownell. Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi has isolated and purified Retine and demonstrated its use in stopping mitosis in microorganisms as well as in cancer cells grown in culture. He is now working on a chemical synthesis of Retine.

According to Prof. Brownell, "The present project is based on the possibility that in the case of gamma-irradiated potatoes, the growth hormone inhibitor observed by Prof. LaRue, mitotic inhibitors observed by Russian investigators, and the sprout inhibitor observed at the University of Michigan are one and the same biochemical. Furthermore, this biochemical may also be the same as Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi's Retine."

This research, concluded Prof. Brownell, "has great potential for being of real benefit to mankind."

Questions & Answers
After a time, fat used for frying does not seem to brown food well, even though it has been properly strained and kept under refrigeration. What has happened to it?

Fat can be used for frying for just so long. It will not last forever. It loses its ability to brown properly after a time and is considered to be "fried out." It should be discarded.

Search For Beneficiary May Circle The Globe

Finding people to pay them money can be a tough job. At least when they're eligible for life insurance benefits--and don't know it.

It happens, reports a major life insurer. And when it does the company begins a search for the rightful recipient that may stretch across North America and reach overseas, even behind the Iron Curtain. The search may take days or decades. It may involve tracing family trees, checking cemetery headstones, or engaging interpreters and private investigation agencies. At stake may be a few dollars or a few thousand.

While such cases are relatively rare, they usually arise when: An old paid-up policy is forgotten by everyone, except the company; a policyholder dies and the company is not notified; a policyholder lives so long the policy's face value becomes payable, or the beneficiary is dead, unknown, or missing.

IN ONE SEARCH for a policyholder, a Baltimore claim representative found himself visiting cemeteries, a long-shot last chance in a heretofore vain effort. The claim man meticulously scanned hundreds of headstones and finally found the one he was looking for. The policyholder had been dead for 20 years.

The next step was to locate the next of kin, to whom the money now belonged. This appeared hopeless because there was no record of any relatives and the cemetery attendant said he had not seen any visitors at the grave.

But two weeks later the attendant telephoned excitedly. A Georgia woman had just been at the cemetery, identifying herself as the policyholder's daughter. The company verified her story and paid her.

Another search for a missing policyholder extended to five countries and lasted 18 years. It began in the policyholder's native England, spread to Canada, and finally to Hungary where relatives were located.

From there the searcher obtained a family tree chart dating back to the Revolutionary War and a tip that the policyholder had moved to Mexico. An investigation there turned up a death certificate and the case appeared solved. Then it was learned the certificate was for a relative.

THE SEARCH resumed. The policyholder's travels in the United States were traced, from Connecticut to California. The trail again led to Mexico and still another relative.

This time the effort bore fruit. The company ascertained that the policyholder had died a number of years earlier and had left a married daughter. She was found living near Boston and the case was closed.

Once the searcher had almost too much help in locating a beneficiary, the father of a deceased Tennessee plantation worker. A radio station got word of the search and broadcast the news. Soon the company was flooded with calls by men claiming to be the father. One was telling the truth and got the money.

In another effort to find the rightful heir to a policy's benefits, the company's home office claim specialists found themselves building a family tree chart that began to take on sequoia-like dimensions.

The line of inheritance was indirect and the company had to backtrack to 1777, when the policyholder's great grandfather was born in Scotland. Developed to establish various side branches of the family, the chart went through four "final" drafts.

Every time specialists found a new branch they ran out of room on their chart. The search took nearly three years but paid off, literally, to not one but 12 rightful heirs.

SEARCHES FOR beneficiaries living in other countries breed their own set of circumstances--and a mountain of correspondence. They usually occur when a U.S. immigrant dies and his beneficiary lives in his native country.

Until World War II, claims were paid in every country of the world. But the lack of investigative sources in developing African nations and changed political structures have hampered some efforts. In a few instances, beneficiaries have not responded apparently because they're hiding for political reasons.

In one case, the company wrote to a beneficiary in Poland. He responded from Italy--18 years later.

Successful searches, here or abroad, usually find surprised, and happy, recipients on the other end. There are exceptions.

Like the woman recluse who refused a $6,900 endowment check. She said she was afraid to take the money because she might be robbed.

Hare Raps License Fee Hire

LANSING -- Michigan's licensed drivers are now paying more for their driver licenses, but Secretary of State James M. Hare, who issues the licenses, openly bemoans the increase.

Licenses were raised in a bill passed by the Legislature and signed into law in mid-August by Governor Romney. "I'm very disappointed," Hare said, "because the measure is retrogressive legislation and sets the state back in an attempt to modernize an archaic driver license examining system."

"It maintains what is probably the most divisive examining system in the United States," said Hare.

ADDITIONAL REVENUE will revert to local examining stations and, according to Hare, has the net effect of keeping many local police jurisdictions and sheriffs in the driver licensing business.

Hare believes that some of the local police who were prepared to give up licensing because they "were losing money at it, will now decide to stay in business."

"The legislation perpetuates a 'mossback' system in a major responsibility area of traffic safety at a time when a truly enlightened, progressive programmatic approach to traffic safety is so essential," Hare charged. "This is a giant step... backwards."

The state had been gradually assimilating the bulk of licensing operations around the state. "When a local jurisdiction would decide to go out of business, the state would take over the functions. Now the only avenue open to us is to try to get the Legislature to adopt central licensing, rather an unlikely situation in view of the newly-passed licensing bill."

Hare had urged Romney to veto the measure as had other safety agencies.

Shopping Bag Stronger
You can make your paper shopping bag much stronger if you place the lid from a cardboard shoe box in the bottom of it. The box lid also spreads the bag making it much easier for you to place articles in it.

Also, it keeps the bottom of the bag dry when moist grocery items are placed in it.

Livonia's city and school officials are going to get together to talk over, and hopefully solve, some of their common problems.

An agenda was set up at a preliminary meeting held in the office of Mayor Harvey W. Moelke and attended by city department heads and School Supt. Benton Yates and top members of his staff.

Data of the meeting, or series of sessions, has not been set. A joint statement issued by the mayor and the superintendent said that the Livonia School District and the City of Livonia have been working together to provide the best possible service at the least possible cost to the taxpayers of the community.

MANY CITY functions and school responsibilities require the continued liaison necessary to provide answers to difficult and pressing problems facing both governmental units.

"Locations of schools and parks, streets, roads and sidewalks improvements and storm drainage affect the schools just as they affect individual property owners."

The following agenda was arrived at to try to acquaint city and school personnel with problems which require joint action.

SCHOOL SITE PROBLEMS
Section 9: Discuss the location of a new junior high school site near the Marshall Elementary and Stevenson High Schools on property owned by the city and the district. The joint school-park complex will serve a two to three square mile area of Livonia.

Section 8: Junior high school and elementary school site.

Section 18: Senior high school site.

Junior's Job Means New Tax Advantage

There are times when most parents would dispute the statement that children are a blessing. But at least the statement is true taxwise.

Your child's summer job will mean that both you and he can claim a $600 exemption at income tax time, says John Henderson, University of Illinois assistant professor of agricultural law.

PARENTS ARE ENTITLED to a $600 dependency exemption for each child if during the tax year (1) they furnish more than one-half of the child's support and (2) the child had gross income of less than $600. They are also entitled to the $600 dependency exemption if the child had gross income of more than $600, and he was either less than 19 years of age or regularly enrolled in school or an accredited on-the-job training program, such as working on the farm.

These regulations make possible the claiming of two $600 exemptions--one by the child if he earned over $600 and files his own return, and one by the parents who take a dependency exemption for the child on their own return.

HENDERSON EXPLAINS that a child can earn up to $900 tax free--$600 personal exemption plus the minimum $300 standard deduction.

Parents with children working on the farm can take maximum advantage of these rules. Henderson recommends that parents pay reasonable wages for the farm work that their children do, establishing a true employer-employee relationship.

He suggests that parents assign definite jobs or responsibilities, agree on wages and pay them regularly.

Wages paid to children can be deducted on the parents' return as a farm business expense. In addition, the parents can take the personal exemption, and the child is not taxable until his income exceeds $900.

When your child's employer withholds income tax, remember to have the child file a return to claim a refund--even though the amount earned was less than $600.

Esch Sets Up Forum For Senior Citizens

Senior citizens from throughout the Second Congressional District are invited by Congressman Marvin L. Esch to participate in a forum to be held at the Ann Arbor High School on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 28 at 1:30 o'clock.

The purpose of the gathering is to discuss and disseminate information on various federal, state and local programs of assistance to senior citizens. The Congressman will give particular emphasis to pending national legislation as well as to recent changes in social security passed by the U.S. House of Representatives.

Esch also has invited high administrators of senior citizen programs to the forum to explain the operation of their agencies and to answer questions on the details of specific programs. Topics covered will include social security, medicare, adult education, tax relief and housing.

Only One Accident Reported

Only one minor accident marred the week-end of heavy traffic.

A car driven by Berdenna M. Thompson, 44, 46074 Main, Northville, struck another car Saturday evening driven by James Earl Preston, 28, 1303 Sharon, Westland.

No one was injured. Preston told the Wayne County Sheriff's department that it appeared to him that Mrs. Thompson's car didn't stop for the stop sign at North Territorial and Beck roads.

"It's my hope that this meeting will be beneficial in at least two ways," Esch said. "First, it is an opportunity for individuals to learn more about the many government services and also to make criticisms and suggestions for improvement. Second, it will be an opportunity for those of us in government to learn how we might better attack the continuing problems of our older Americans."

Esch said that individual letters of invitation have been sent to some 1,000 members of senior citizens clubs, but that the meeting was open to the public and that all those interested are urged to attend. Persons in need of transportation to the meeting should call the Congressman's district office—in Ann Arbor 665-0618 or in Monroe 242-7580.

GRID SPECIALISTS — These six youngsters are Plymouth's 1967 Punt, Pass and Kick champions. In a contest co-sponsored by the Jaycees and Leo Calhoun Ford, they won the right to advance to the second round of the national competition for boys eight through 13. Each youngster competes only against others of his own age and judging is based upon distance combined with accuracy in punting, forward passing and place-kicking. The Plymouth-winners, shown with their first place trophies, are, from left to right: B. Rabold, 13; Steve Robb, 12; Tim Owens, 11; Brian Murphy, 10; David Pink, 9, and Tommy Mogle, 8.

End Threat Of Moisture On Window

Maintaining a healthful degree of humidity inside a house — enough moist air to prevent stuffed-up noses, raspy throats and dried-out furniture and floors — can cause the unwelcome problem of window condensation.

Condensation occurs when warm inside air hits a window that has been chilled by cold outside air. The clash causes water to form on the sash and pane. It fogs up the glass and drips down the window sill causing damage to wallpaper, drapery and rugs.

TO CONTROL THE problem windows must offer good insulation. Wood windows with weatherstripping and insulating glass are the best protection. As a low conductor of heat and cold and a natural insulator, wood will not turn cold even in relatively frigid weather.

Tests show that a stock wood window of ponderosa pine with factory-applied weatherstripping will prevent temperature clashes — and condensation — even when the outside thermometer registers 30 degrees below zero. High conductor sash materials such as steel and aluminum will transmit the cold and cause condensation at about 20 degrees above zero.

ADDITIONAL PROTECTION is afforded with insulating glass in wood sash or storm sash over single-paned wood windows. Humid air touching insulating glass in wood sash will condense only under extreme weather conditions.

Since insulating glass is now available in all stock units of ponderosa pine, it's possible to provide maximum window insulation in every room in the house.

Plant Bulbs In Boxes For Easy Spring Work

Bachelor's buttons, Shirley poppies and sweet alyssum are three annuals that are well qualified as bulb markers. You need only decide which flower colors will blend or contrast with those of the bulbs you are planting, then scatter the seeds of the chosen kind over the planted areas. No need even to cover them with soil — the fall rains will take care of that.

WHITE-FLOWERED sweet alyssum blends with any other color so is particularly versatile.

Blue pink, white or red are the flower colors of bachelor's buttons and seeds are available of the separate colors so it is easy to color-scheme with these choices.

Poppy flowers are white, pink, rose, salmon and scarlet; seeds usually available only in mixed colors. But there is a double, deep, rose-pink variety named Sweet Briar and single-flowered varieties Tulip, a red, and American Legion (also called Flanders Field) which is orange-scarlet with a black cross. Seeds of any of these may be used to insure flowers all of one color.

Burroughs Reports Earnings Increase

Ray W. Macdonald, President of Burroughs Corporation, reported indicated net operating earnings for the nine month period ending Sept. 30 were $19,187,000.

This represents a 20 per cent increase over the 1966 operating earnings of $16,026,000 after excluding a non-recurring gain of $1,035,000 which occurred in the first quarter of 1966. Net operating earnings per share were $2.35 based on 8,175,983 average shares outstanding, compared with $2.00 per share last year on 8,009,200 average shares outstanding.

Estimated United States and foreign income taxes for the nine months were $15,690,000, compared with $14,525,000 in 1966. Revenues for the nine month period totalled $380,843,000, a 10 per cent increase, compared with $347,718,000 in the 1966 period.

THIRD QUARTER net earnings were $6,114,000 or 75 cents per share, versus $5,318,000 or 65 cents per share in 1966. Revenues for the third quarter were $131,968,000, a 19 per cent increase compared with last year's third quarter revenues of $111,110,000.

Macdonald noted that commercial revenues increased 12 per cent while lower margin government contract revenues doubled in the 1967 third quarter.

over the 1966 quarter. Total worldwide incoming orders for the nine month period were 35 per cent above the same period last year. Orders for commercial electronic data processing systems and electronic accounting machines and systems continued strong. Government contract awards were up 95 per cent over last year's nine month period.

'68 CHEVY II NOVA COUPE
The day of the plain Jane economy car has come and gone. Chevrolet has something far finer to offer.

NEW ALL OVER
The grille is new. The interior is new. (There's even a special custom interior you can order, the likes of which no economy car has ever offered before.) The standard V8 is bigger, more powerful. So is the standard Six with its new Monojet carburetor that contributes to greater efficiency, economy and performance. There are many new safety features, including energy-absorbing front seat backs to go along with the proved GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column. And when you equip a Nova with the SS package, you look out over a special hood and black accented grille, housing a 350-cubic-inch Turbo-Fire V8.

Front to back, Chevy II Nova's now a driving enthusiast's kind of car but, fortunately for you, it still comes at a saving enthusiast's kind of price. Very low.

LONG HOOD, SHORT DECK
You get your economy now under Nova's new swept-back roof. You get your engine dependability under Nova's new long hood. You get your rust prevention beneath Nova's new rounded fenders and larger body.

SUPERLATIVE RIDE
You get the smoothest in handling, too. The wheel stance is wider, the rear suspension has been redesigned, and there is a new cushion-mounted front end. Nova feels like it's a thousand pounds heavier. It rides with amazing silence and smoothness.

Manufacturer's suggested retail price for standard Six Chevy II Nova Coupe shown above includes Federal Excise Tax, suggested dealer delivery and handling charges. Model shown above equipped at additional cost with Custom Exterior $84.30, White Walls $31.35, Wheel Covers $21.10. Transportation charges, accessories, optional equipment, state and local taxes additional.

Be smart! Be sure! Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Ghost Time Eating

by Joyce Totten

There are still some people, they say, who believe in ghosts!

If you have ever been to a Halloween party in the country on a dark night, where the scene has been set for attracting spirits and goblins, then perhaps you know that EERIE feeling.

Years ago, back in the time when Halloween began, most people did believe in spirits and ghosts,--and witches, fairies, elves, goblins, brownies, leprechauns, knockers, pookas and bogies!

SO THEY kept busy around the time of Halloween keeping away the witches and other scary creatures!

In Wales they used to say that "On November Eve there is a bogey on every stile." In Scotland a cautious farmer always carried torches about the fields "widdershins" (backward) in order to scare the witches from his property and save his crops.

The children in Scotland carried jack-o'-lanterns to protect themselves, not unlike our own pumpkin lanterns except that these were made from turnips and were called "bogies."

WHILE HALLOWEEN in America lacks the superstitious character of the Old World holiday, it does retain many of the old customs such as masquerading, visiting from house to house, bobbing for apples, and some delicious eating.

Here are a few suggestions:

PUMPKIN-NUT CAKE
1 c. white sugar
1 c. brown sugar, packed
1/2 c. butter
2 eggs, beaten
1 c. cooked pumpkin
3 c. sifted flour
1/4 t. soda
4 t. baking powder
1/4 t. salt
1/2 c. milk
1 t. maple extract
1 c. chopped nuts
Cream sugars and butter thoroughly; add eggs and pumpkin. Mix well. Sift together flour, soda, baking powder and salt; add alternately with milk to sugar mixture. Fold in flavoring and nuts. Bake in greased and floured tube pan 1 hour in 350 degree oven. Yield: 15-2 servings.

PUMPKIN COOKIES
2 1/4 c. sugar
3/4 c. shortening
2 eggs, well beaten
1 large can pumpkin
1 1/4 t. soda
4 c. flour, sifted
2 t. baking powder
2 c. raisins
1 c. chopped nuts
1/2 t. ginger
1/2 t. cinnamon
1 t. salt
2 t. vanilla
1/2 t. allspice
1/4 t. cloves
Cream together sugar and shortening. Add eggs, pumpkin and soda. Mix in rest of ingredients. Drop on ungreased pan with tsp. Sprinkle with a sugar and cinnamon mixture. Bake at 375 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes. Yield: 9 dozen cookies.

PUMPKIN BREAD
2 2/3 c. sugar
2/3 c. shortening
4 eggs
1 No. 1 can pumpkin
2/3 c. water
3 1/4 c. flour, sifted
1/2 t. baking powder
1/2 t. cinnamon
1/2 t. cloves
2 t. soda
1 1/2 t. salt
2/3 c. walnuts
2/3 c. dates
Cream sugar and shortening. Stir in eggs, pumpkin and water. Sift dry ingredients together. Add to pumpkin mixture slowly. Blend in dates and nuts. Bake in 2 greased 9-5-3 inch pans, for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Special Recipes Needed
When using a noncaloric or synthetic sweetener instead of sugar in cakes, cookies, or puddings, always follow a recipe written especially for the sweetener, advises Louise W. Hamilton, extension foods and nutrition specialist of The Pennsylvania State University.
Sugar adds volume to a product and a synthetic sweetener does not. This is why other ingredients are adjusted in a recipe using a noncaloric sweetener.
You can use a synthetic sweetener in freezing and canning fresh fruit, but you must follow a recipe designed especially for the fruit. This is essential to prevent an undesirable flavor.
