

Yes, Elizabeth, We Turned Time Back In Its Flight

"Backward, turn backward, O Time in your flight, Make me a child again, just for tonight."

When Elizabeth Akers Allen penned those words years ago she was echoing the sentiment of thousands who wished time could be turned back.

Many wished for the chance to try over again. Others wanted to live again the many happy times they had enjoyed and still others just longed for the chance to keep on living and enjoying it.

But it was a forlorn wish—for the chance never came.

But this morning, Sunday, October 29—just at the stroke of 2 a.m.—the people of the Plymouth area and others in most all sections of Michigan had the chance to "turn back the clock."

When the bewitching hour arrived, it marked the end of "Daylight Saving Time" for 1967 and the period will go down in the history of the commonwealth as the one big activity that brought about a political battle in which the people overruled the state legislature with a flood of signatures.

Early in the year the Congress passed a "fast time" measure, but gave each state the right to accept or reject it.

At the time the state legislature voted to stay on "Eastern Time," claiming that, officially, Michigan was in the Central time belt and actually was on daylight saving time all the while.

When this edict was announced the politicians, led by State Senator Raymond Dzendzel, went to work, collecting signatures. The drive was so successful that the legislature was overruled and the state went on "daylight saving time."

Under the law, Michigan again will have "fast time" in 1968.

But the battle is not over. The daylight saving "issue" is to be placed on the ballot next fall and the voters at large will decide just what will be done with time in the summer months.

Meanwhile, Michigan has enjoyed the change in 1967, and now the residents did what Elizabeth Akers Allen and thousands of others often wished they could do—

They turned back time in its flight—just one hour in the wee hours of the morning.

Burroughs Workers Due Back On Job Monday Morning

By W. W. EDGAR.

More than 30,000 employees of the Burroughs plant on Plymouth Road are expected back on the job Monday morning to signal the end of the 28-day strike.

Agreement on a new pact between the company and UAW Local 1313 was reached at 10 o'clock Thursday night and plans immediately were launched to start the furnaces and have all in readiness for the resumption of production with the start of the new work week.

Neither the company nor UAW Regional Director Joseph McCusker, would reveal details on the agreement, preferring to wait until the conclusion of the ratification meeting.

At that time, Thomas Kattana, president of Local 1313, explained the turn down by saying--

"Our people read the newspapers. They read of the teachers' settlement and the Ford workers and they felt they were going to fall behind."

For the past 28 days both sides have worked diligently at the bargaining table, but reported little progress.

Just a week ago it was hinted that prospect of a settlement was poor.

"WE ARE more than $5 million apart," one of the negotiators remarked, "and there's no telling how long it will take to get things ironed out."

There was no hint that a settlement was near during the past few days. So, the news of agreement Thursday night came as a surprise—but a pleasant one.

It was pleasant news in Plymouth, especially.

The long strike was having its effect on business and the slow pace of the annual Community Fund Drive was blamed on the work stoppages at both the Ford and Burroughs plants.

PRISCILLA IS NOW ALONE: When thieves broke into the case in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel and appropriated two of the trio of famous dolls, they left Priscilla all alone. They took Miles Standish and John Alden—and now Priscilla has no companion. Ralph Lorenz, operator of the hotel, is shown sharing her grief.

Thieves Steal Famous Dolls

For 12 years, three hand-molded and delicately painted figurines, painstakingly exact to the most minute detail of human hair and millinery and soldier's vestments of the time of the Pilgrims, have been a priceless collector's item on display behind locked glass in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

They represented Miles Standish, the military leader of the Pilgrims, John Alden, friend of Standish and a settler in the Plymouth colony, and the Puritan maiden, Priscilla Mullens, whose answer to John Alden's proposal of marriage on behalf of his friend Standish is familiar to every school child from Longfellow's "The Courtship of Miles Standish."

For she told Alden: "Speak for yourself, John."

This week Mayflower Hotel operator Ralph G. Lorenz could only wish Priscilla, now a lonely figurine in a shattered glass case, could "speak for herself."

For vandals, or certainly someone with no idea of what they would do with items so historical that no market exists where they could be sold, broke into the lobby display case and walked off with the figures of Miles Standish and John Alden. Priscilla was not taken probably because of her more inaccessible location inside the glassed exhibit.

Of the two missing 18-inch tall figurines, only the miniature helmet of Standish was found near the hotel's Main Street entrance doors where it was dropped by the thief.

Police believe the irreplaceable figures, valued at $500 each but priceless as the only collection of its kind, was taken at around 6 a.m. Wednesday. Two unidentified strangers were seen by hotel employees in the lobby at about that time.

THE MEETING was held Saturday in the former Temple Baptist Church on Grand River Avenue in Detroit. It is expected no hitch would result from the meeting, but the details of the pact will not be made known until the votes are counted—possibly some time on Monday.

All told, the new agreement affects 45,000 employees in the three plants. The bulk of the work force is in the Plymouth plant, however, and that's where the work stoppage has been most keenly felt.

The strike, so far as is known, was the first in the company's history, though the work force was not unionized until three years ago.

It also marked one of the few times in labor history that a major contract supported by union officials had met rejection.

The rejection came on September 28 when the employees, in no uncertain terms, rejected a contract proposal that had been supported by union officials.

Aged Plymouth Couple Killed In Northville Crash

By DWIGHT JARRELL

An elderly Plymouth couple was killed Thursday morning when a double-tandem truck loaded with an estimated 65 tons of sand crashed into their auto as it drove into the huge truck's path from a stop street at Randolph onto Eight Mile Road in Northville.

The dead are Alfred Miner Wileden, 82, and his wife, Alma, 80, of Apt. 3B Shangri-Villa, 500 Ford Street.

Northville Police Chief Samuel L. Elkins said death apparently was instantaneous.

The impact of the crash overturned one of the truck's two heavily loaded trailers which, in turn, crushed the small 1963 two-door sedan into a flattened mass of metal buried beneath a mountain of sand.

CHIEF ELKINS said the crash exploded the car's gas tank but the flames were quickly brought under control by Northville Fire Department apparatus summoned to the scene within minutes after the accident.

Firemen and police worked for more than 45 minutes with axes and other hand equipment, and then winches and cables from two auto wreckers before freeing the bodies.

Traffic on the busy Eight Mile Road section was tied up for more than an hour.

According to the police the driver of the truck, leased to the J. J. Zayt Sand and Gravel Company of Northville, was Edgar Stouemire, 32, of 2635 Ferry Park, Detroit. Stouemire escaped injury although the impact damaged the six-ton tractor unit extensively and the cab itself was seared by the flames of the exploding gas tank.

Police Chief Elkins quoted Stouemire as saying he saw the Wileden auto stop at the Randolph Street stop sign but then start forward into his path even though he sounded his air horn in a continuous blast and swerved sharply to avoid the car which was believed driven by Mrs. Wileden.

STOUEMIRE was released without charge after questioning, and Chief Elkins said the investigation is being continued with further questioning of witnesses.

Mrs. Albert Kurrasch, wife of the manager of the Shangri-Villa where the couple lived, said they had left shortly after 8 a.m., enroute to an orchard where they planned to buy apples.

The bodies were removed to the Wayne County Morgue in Detroit, with funeral arrangements to be announced later by the Schrader Funeral Home.

According to Rev. Herbert C. Brubaker, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Plymouth, Mrs. Wileden was a member of his congregation.

Two surviving daughters of the couple live in Naperville, Ill.

THE FATAL CRASH: This is the smashup that took the lives of an aged Plymouth couple. The upper picture shows the police trying to get bodies out of car and lower view shows one of the bodies under seat.

The Plymouth Community Fund Drive is rapidly nearing the half way mark with two more weeks to go.

Here is the amount received thus far from the various divisions:

Residential	$7,122
Educational	$300

Under Ministers Supervision

It's Trick Or Treat On Monday

The children of Plymouth will join more than three million other American boys and girls again this year when they participate in the Trick or Treat for UNICEF program Oct. 30 between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Father Robert S. Shank, Jr. is chairman of the program this year and it is again being conducted by the Plymouth Ministerial Association.

UNICEF Trick or Treaters will be officially identified by an orange and black collection carton bearing the UNICEF symbol of a mother and child.

The young people will also have identification slips from the Plymouth Ministerial Association.

"UNICEF is helping needy children and mothers help themselves through over 500 long-range programs in Asia, Latin America, Africa and the Middle East," explained Father Shank.

Parents who would like their children to participate are asked to contact their priest or pastor.

Turning Back Clocks Ends In Confusion

Well, here it is Sunday, Oct. 29, and there's 25 hours in the day today!

Yep, you've gained one whole hour this Sunday because Daylight Savings Time ended officially at 2 a.m. when, if you kept up with the times, you turned your clock back 60 minutes to 1 a.m. and Eastern Standard Time.

There was a lot of celebrating in the taverns early this morning when the clock struck two and bartenders haughtily and with hardly a glance merely turned the clock back for another hour of libations.

The latter undoubtedly attributed to more than one hangover this morning although most of today's headaches are going to come from people forgetting that they've gained that extra hour.

Such as Rev. Paul S. Thompson at First Baptist Church of Plymouth pointed out:

"We'll probably get a good number of people coming early today but won't that be nice for a change and especially on this Sunday," he chuckled.

This Sunday, as he observed, is the Sunday he and his congregation will break ground for a new $300,000 church. "The early ones," he remarked thoughtfully, "can help cut weeds where we will hold the groundbreaking ceremonies." He seemed quite delighted.

High Honor For Plymouth Police Chief

Corrigan Named Chairman Of County Emergency Force

Plymouth Police Chief Robert Corrigan has been named to head a special Wayne County law enforcement committee which will complete plans for a minimum 150-member mobile tactical police division capable of answering any Wayne County community emergency alert within minutes of any disaster or civil disturbance.

The committee, of which Corrigan is chairman, was set up last week by the 36-member Wayne County Police Chiefs' Association which includes representatives of the FBI, the Michigan State Police, and the Wayne County Sheriff's Office.

Serving under Corrigan are Westland Police Chief Garrison Clayton, Inkster Police Chief James Fyke, and Inspector John C. DeVos of the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol.

The committee was named to coordinate final organization of the emergency mobile division, plans for which were initially drafted under the direction of Wayne County Sheriff Peter Buback and carried out through its present status by Buback's chief communications officer, Capt. Tom Lewis.

In essence, the special emergency division would be composed of police units and personnel from some 35 townships and municipalities linked by a common emergency radio frequency under direction of a central mobile command post. The latter, a specially equipped mobile trailer field unit, is presently under study by a committee of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors whose financial approval is predicted as a matter of course upon Corrigan's committee report. A special radio frequency for the county-wide emergency plan has already been approved and designated by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D.C.

Although downriver communities are at present in the process of setting up their own mutual assistant pacts, and the Grosse Pointe area already has completed plans for similar coordinated police department emergency procedures, supporters of the county-wide plan are hopeful that all Wayne County government bodies will adopt the plan backed by the Wayne County Police Chiefs' Association when final plans are presented the County's Board of Supervisors.

Detroit, itself, has asked to be included under the special radio frequency and central command unit.

Once in operation, special police squads from each participating community and township would undergo specialized training, and a tentative schedule for training of a minimum of 150 such personnel, plus another 100 as a back-up force, will be included in the study and final report of the committee headed by Plymouth Police Chief Corrigan.

Turning Clocks Back

Rev. Henry J. Welch, of the First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, seemed equally delighted by the prospect of early comers. "It will give us the opportunity to enjoy an informal moment and I'll make sure and put the coffee on for those who forget to turn back their clocks,"

Then there's Glenny, our Women's Editor. When Daylight Savings Time started earlier this summer she faithfully set every clock in her home ahead one hour. Except for the clock which operates the timer on her stove oven, that is. Dinner that day was an hour late. Now, if she forgets the stove clock again, or you do, dinner is going to be an hour early. In fact, it probably will be burned to a crisp.

Roy R. Schultz, of 7854 Lilley Road, Plymouth, just sits holding his head every time they change the time. He is President of the Wayne County Farm Bureau and he echoes the headache of everyone of the Farm Bureau's 612 families.

"You can't run a farm on a clock," he explains. "You ever met a cow that knew what time it was? I mean, can you milk a cow on Daylight Savings Time? Or, even Eastern Standard Time? And how can you save time when you're combining soybeans and the dew doesn't dry out until noon but the hired help wants to go home while it's still daylight?"

Assistant Manager Richard E. Hinaker at the Plymouth National Bank wasn't about to forget the change in time. He sets the timer on the bank's vault. Wouldn't it have been embarrassing if he had forgotten and the bank had to open for business an hour late Monday?

"Well," he shuddered, "even that wouldn't be as bad as one bank I heard about that had to wait 180 hours for the vault to open because an employee got mixed up and spun the timer to the maximum. All you can do then is just wait. And time sure does pass slowly in a case like that," he reflected.

Youth Held In Robbery

An 18-year-old Westland youth was apprehended inside a Plymouth auto agency early Wednesday morning by Plymouth Police who surrounded and then searched the building after finding a rear window broken.

Held on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime is Michael Raymond, of 2243 Delton Ct., Westland, according to police.

Investigating officers discovered two vending machines broken into, officers said.

Two Township Trustees Bag Five Antelope

Louis Norman and Gene Overholt, Plymouth Township Trustees, didn't have to wait long for success on their hunting trip at Missoula, Montana.

In a phone call during the middle of the Township Board's meeting Monday night the two hunters reported that they already have bagged five antelope and three mule deer.

Ralph Garber, another trustee, said, "At least they are thinking of us."

The hunters are due to return about Nov. 6.

Township Uses New Formula For Billing

Close to 100 Plymouth Township residents who are serviced with City of Plymouth water and township sewer disposal are going to be billed under a new formula.

Currently, they are being billed at a flat rate of $3.00 for sewage disposal by the township. However, at the board meeting on Monday evening, Elizabeth Holmes, township treasurer, reported that the Wayne County Sewage Disposal Department has ordered that future billing for disposal be made from readings of the water meters.

Under the new formula the customers will be charged 17 cents per 1,000 gallons of water--the same as all other township sewage disposal customers.

Mrs. Holmes explained that an arrangement with the City of Plymouth is being worked on and that City Clerk Eugene Slider agreed that the City of Plymouth water meter readings would be provided.

Under this arrangement it will save the possible employment of a person to read the meters.

According to Mrs. Holmes the 100 customers will be billed on the new basis by readings taken on January 15, 1968.

C.B.D. Plans Gets Help Of Realtors

Another important step toward the improvement of the central business district was taken last week when a gift of $500 was announced for the study and preparations of plans for all store fronts on Ann Arbor Trail.

The gift was made by the Realtors Association and announced at the regular breakfast meeting sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Area Planning Commission.

Along with the improvement of the store fronts, plans also were announced for the cleaning up and the rehabilitation of the backs of the stores bordering on the central parking lot.

The area runs from Peterson's drug store down to Bonnie's, and should be a major improvement.

"It is our feeling," Carl Pursell, President of the Chamber explained, "that once this work is started other sections of the central district will follow suit."

The Stroller...

It isn't often that you can get Herald Hamill, the Township engineer, in a talking mood unless it is about an engineering problem.

But the other day at lunch, The Stroller was with a group discussing old things like buildings and which of them should be saved for landmarks and which should be razed to make way for progress.

It was a most interesting confab, but Herald, who knows more about what is under the surface of the entire Plymouth area than any other person around here, made this thought-provoking observation: "Often, it isn't a question of things wearing out—it is just that they are outmoded."

Naturally, when Herald talks, the conversation is bound to swing around to interceptors, sewers and water mains. So it wasn't surprising when he defended his statement by calling attention to the problem encountered by the folks in Fowlerville, Michigan, some time ago.

"The people up there," he said, "put in water mains 50 years ago. At the time the water table was high and the pipes were placed only a few feet below the surface—and they were only four inch mains."

"At the time," he went on, "everyone was pleased. But now the system, four inch pipes and all, is just outmoded. It isn't so much that they are worn out—it is just that you might say, they are out of style."

This was fine, but the view still persisted that it becomes a real problem—often raising folks to an emotional pitch—when a decision must be made whether to keep an old building—or raze it.

There is a fine example on Ann Arbor Trail. The old white house, long known as "Dr. Peck's Place," is being preserved and is to become an art gallery, while the old white house next door is going to be razed for a parking lot.

There are any number of places around the city that would offer the same problem—to be kept or razed. Which ones must go to make room for progress is always a moot question.

But it was agreed that whatever is done for the future must be done with a stroke of boldness.

The Stroller recalls when the late Al Cobo was Mayor of the City of Detroit and implemented the plan for the expressways, he was criticized for saying, "Some day they will be too small."

Well, have you tried driving north on the Lodge Freeway during the 5 o'clock rush hour?

ABOUT THOSE OLD BARNS

Speaking of saving old buildings, how about the old sun-burned barns that are now becoming quite the thing for trim in our more modern homes and clubs?

Visit many of our private clubs today and you'll see some very unusual paneling. On close examination you will note that it is the siding from an old weather-beaten barn that has been standing on some farm out state for years.

There is a certain amount of charm to this old planking in that it has traces of red and brown, indicating what has been called sunburn. Just imagine the transformation!

An old barn, ready to topple over, being saved to become some of the charm of a new modern home or club and being lionized by the patrons.

Oh, if only the same thing could be done with humans. Wouldn't it be something if, after we became old, wrinkled and sunburned, we could be brought back, revitalized and looked upon with a great deal of charm in the modern world.

BIRD WATCHERS HAVE FIELD DAY

The Stroller listened in on a most unusual conversation the other afternoon, and really got an earful of knowledge of birds and other wild life.

Don Sutherland started it, by asking "Doc" Salan the identity of a bird with streaks of red in its wings and a black mark across its tail.

The good Doc, whom The Stroller learned is a great bird watcher, reeled off a list of fancy specimens and they finally agreed on an identity, but don't ask what it was. It was some fancy name that few persons at the table recognized.

It turned out that several of our business and professional men are bird watchers and get a great kick out of listing the varieties seen in their backyards these days.

So, one never knows just what he may find out at a luncheon table—but bird watching was one of the least expected subjects.

Have you been watching any lately?

AN EASY LESSON IN SCULPTURE

The other day the conversation at the club turned to the choice of careers and The Stroller remarked that there now is a full-fledged sculptor living in the Plymouth Community.

"Sculpting," smiled "Doc" Williams, "Now there is a career and it is easy to learn."

The "Doc," whose serious demeanor sometimes can be confusing, for he never is at a loss for humorous deeds or expressions, let this pearl of wisdom drop—then waited.

"What's easy about sculpting?" he was asked. "Well, suppose you wanted to do a statue of an elephant," he said, "all you do is get a big enough stone—then chisel off everything that doesn't look like an elephant and you have it."

Very simple, eh?

Your Help Is Needed Now To Put Community Fund Drive Nearer Goal

IT'S IN THE BAG!

The time has come to take a look at the other side of life in the Plymouth area.

It is time to look behind the scenes of the massive activity and the glowing plans for the future and recognize the fact that there are many among us who need help in many more ways than one.

One of the ironies of our present everyday existence is the fact that there is so much poverty, pain and suffering at a time when the nation's economy is at the highest peak in its history.

But that is the case. And if you took the time to look, you'd be surprised at the number of persons who are in dire need of assistance.

It is for that reason that the Plymouth Community Fund Drive needs your support.

Once each year the Community Fund puts on its drive for funds and, unlike many other charity activities, the funds are spent on the home front.

Thus far the results have been below those of last year when the drive went over the top by a good margin. There may be many reasons for the slow start this year, but it is hoped that the apathy is not one of forgetfulness.

True, the Ford strike and the stoppage of work at the Burroughs plant were expected to have some effect on the effort. But this was not expected to be such that the drive should fail.

This is one activity that never should be allowed to miss its goal. It is the one time of the year when you are asked to be "your brother's keeper" and no effort of sacrifice should be spared.

The Fund workers are giving their time with more drive this year, knowing that barriers in employment may be a bit harder to hurdle. But, when so many persons, many who hold high positions, give so generously of their time and effort, it must be a noble and worthy cause.

Last year the drive went beyond its goal and raised more than $100,000. It was an all-time record. Knowing that conditions might be a bit "tighter" this year, the goal was set at $98,000 in the hope that it would be reached by the co-operative effort of everyone.

When one considers the great work that has been done in the past—and the need for more in the future among the sick, the wounded, the crippled and the unfortun-

Activity In Quiet Little City Amazes Newcomer

Dear Editor:

When we moved to the Plymouth area last Spring we were delighted with the rolling country on the west side as it gave us a touch of our home state. And we were pleased with the beauty and quiet of the entire area.

But, despite this beauty and the quiet nature of the neighborhood we were a bit puzzled. You see, the city from which we came was always humming with activity—and we figured we would get sort of home sick and lonesome for action in our new environment.

Then came our first surprise.

It was the Centennial Week over the Fourth of July and we were amazed to learn that a little place like Plymouth could attract such a personage as the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, to take part in the celebration. His appearance was surprising, but when we saw that he had three other members of his cabinet with him, we scarcely could believe it.

It was a real exciting week end one which we won't forget for a long, long time.

Then came the amazing Fall Festival where we saw more than 12,000 persons being fed in the park in one day. Even after seeing it, we just couldn't believe it.

These events were all exciting and our fear of being bored in inactivity began to diminish.

But, even in our fondest hopes, we had no idea of the amount of activity there is in the "quiet, little city of Plymouth," until we read your paper last Sunday.

When we saw the list of projects that are being studied and the advances being made, it was almost breathtaking. We used to boast about all the activities at home. We couldn't wait to send your paper back there to let you know that we really struck an active community.

If only half of the projects are completed within the next decade it will be most interesting.

We sure like the idea of the art gallery across the park. And the park, in itself, is an asset that we will enjoy, to say nothing of the cultural theater if that venture proves successful.

Yes, Mr. Editor, last Sunday's paper did a lot to help us build up confidence in ourselves that we had made the right choice.

Keep up the good work.

How About Planting Trees

Dear Editor:

In the name of progress, nothing falls faster than trees. What do land developers do first when laying out a new subdivision?

Rip out the trees, of course. What do "City fathers" do when they widen a street?

Rip out the trees.

Now, take Main Street for instance. It must be "progress" to have widened the thoroughfare to race-track width, and it wouldn't have been safe to have left those nice trees where they were. So obviously, they had to go.

Now the question is, what does the city plan to do about putting in new trees along Main Street?

Supposedly there are places at the fresh new curbs where new trees are supposed to be planted. Or is it the plan to install synthetic tree-types? Anything would be an improvement upon the way the street looks now, and City Hall might win back a few friends by doing something about it before winter.

St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church

St. Peter's Began Over Century Ago

The cross-tipped white spire of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church is a dramatic sight on a crisp autumn morning, and the church's beginning in Plymouth is equally interesting.

It was the year of Plymouth's great fire in 1856 that the Lutheran Church was established. Peter Gayde, a young cooper from Wuertemberg, Germany, inspired the Lutheran people of Plymouth to form a congregation, ending church services in their homes.

The first church originally was owned by the Presbyterians, and then became the home of the Baptists until their congregation grew too large. It was then sold to the newly formed Lutheran group for $140.

Now, more than a century later, St. Peter's is fully established at 1345 Penniman with a Lutheran day school standing at its side.

IN 1909 ST. PETER'S took part in a successful movement that brought the Michigan Synod back into fellowship with the Wisconsin Synod and reopened the doors of the Michigan Lutheran Seminary at Saginaw.

Rev. Norman Berg, the church's present pastor, was born on the Seminary campus.

Rev. Berg has served in Arizona, and was Benton Harbor's Lutheran pastor for five and a half years before arriving in Plymouth in January 1960.

The Bergs have five children, Peter 19, a sophomore at Northwestern College, Mary 16, John 15, both attending the Michigan Lutheran Seminary, Margaret 13, and Miriam 11, at home attending Lutheran Day School.

REV. BERG used this graphic illustration to describe the four major divisions of the Lutheran Church, "We are like the big three in the auto industry—we are the fourth largest—similar to American Motors."

The national Wisconsin Synod has an approximate membership of 360,000. St. Peter's in Plymouth has 325 families in its congregation.

Rev. Berg and his church are deeply concerned with today's civil rights issues. "We deny our own salvation if we deny that all men are equal," stated the pastor.

This problem is a pressing one in today's suburbs and Rev. Berg commented further, "As these problems present themselves, heavier emphasis is necessary. Our people need the instruction of God's word on this—and they get it," he added with an unmistakable twinkle in his eye.

Rev. Berg's interpretation of the frequently used term "lawlessness" was thought provoking, "It is an apparent refusal to face the fact that there is a rejection of the absolute standard."

"Today there is failure to respect authority and resentment of any type of punishment. God has established government and when official leaders exercise authority, we must respect them even if we disagree with them. "When decay is found in government it is the parent's reaction to it that guides a child. "Does the parent react that all government is bad or does he react to this as a perversion of something that should be good?"

THE YOUTH OF today are often responsible for colorful headlines in the press, however Rev. Berg observes, "Much of what we read today is due to the density of population and 'wheels.'"

"When I was a child we were more in the open and the things we did then were handled by our neighbors and parents—they'd bawl us out!"

Rev. Berg made one statement that has a great deal of bearing on the end result of raising a child in today's world, "Today's parents are made to feel guilty the moment they say 'NO.'"

Rev. Norman Berg

The First Baptist Church will make its new home at 45030 North Territorial Road. Rev. Paul Thompson states that the total cost of the structure will be $281,233 and that the 19,000 square feet of space will provide a chapel, library, lounge, youth activities hall, and seating for 400 people. Ground breaking ceremonies are set for Sunday, Oct. 29, at 12 noon with Rev. Thompson officiating.

"Who is your brother's keeper?"

Should it be you?

In a time when it's "every man for himself," to love your neighbor as yourself may seem to carry a hollow ring.

But to do so can be vital to each of us. To love even our enemies is to discover something of the richness of love itself. It can open the way to greater accomplishment in our lives, restoring health and blessing others. And the way is to begin to see our true nature — and that of our fellowman — as fashioned in the image and likeness of God.

You are invited to hear this subject explored in a challenging lecture by Neil H. Bowles, C.S.B., of Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Bowles is a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Admission is free and all are welcome.

Helping Hands Program Launched

Johnnie walks home from school slowly, kicking the autumn leaves and watching the dust swirl up into the shafts of afternoon sunlight.

From the corner of his eye he sees a strange car draw along side him.

The man in the car asks if he would like a ride. Johnnie has never seen the man before. He runs to the house with the hand in the window.

THE INCIDENT involving Johnnie is fiction but due to the efforts of Plymouth's Jaycees the HELPING HANDS are about to become fact.

"HELPING HANDS" are signs bearing the picture of a hand which are placed in the windows of various homes in the community.

These hands are wordless signs that children can "read" as symbols of help.

If they have an injury, are bullied by other children, become lost or more terrifying, are threatened by a child molester, the youngsters can run to a home displaying a hand and receive aid.

Through diligent efforts on the part of the Jaycee Auxiliary the "HELPING HANDS" program has been endorsed by the city Commission, the Township Board of Trustees, Mr. James Rossman, superintendent of Schools, the Plymouth Board of Education, the Ministerial Association and the Plymouth Jaycees.

The program has the support and co-operation of the Plymouth Police Department and the Wayne County Sheriff Department.

Letters of explanation and applications will be sent home with school children this week and volunteers will be selected shortly.

The Top Side of Life

By Father R. Shaden

ARE YOU SOCIABLE?

Now there is something that most people would like to be. But let's not restrict it to its narrow meaning—being able to get along with people at a party. Really it means an awful lot more.

And for a Christian it is a must. Even in our relationship with God we can sometimes become somewhat of an introvert.

We can be very concerned with God and little of me and at the same time be rather oblivious to the society in which we live, whether it be the other members of our own family, the neighbor down the street or people we never even see.

Being sociable is a little more than a requirement for winning friends and influencing people.

It is part of being a Christian, and it is the one way we have to that thing we are all looking for in one way or another—"fulfillment."

Not that we run into very many anti-social people, but on the other hand there are quite a few a-social creatures, people who just don't care or who don't think to care.

But we have to care. "Love thy neighbor." And Christ wasn't just telling us to think nice thoughts about the people next door when we are having a good day.

This is a tremendously big thing. It means caring enough to pray for others, and enough to help them when we can. Tremendously big thing? An understatement!

But something that can make life so much more worthwhile. And that too is an understatement. How sociable are you or have you been in regard to the world situation? The Vietnamese are people. Made by God, having feelings and emotions, likes and dislikes as any one of us.

The Congolese are no less desirous of life and freedom than you are. The Southern Negro (and the Northern Negro) years for the opportunity to exercise his right for "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." (Can I say that this is sometimes a farce without being guilty of treason?)

The poor in Appalachia and Detroit have the same basic needs that you and I have fulfilled everyday without a second thought—but theirs are not fulfilled. The flood victims on the West Coast? They too are real people.

But what can you do about it? You can care. Individuals, groups, mobs. They are people. Something has to fill the hole in their lives. Certainly God does not want us to become all upset, but He would want us to have a certain concern, a certain social aptitude.

And I am sure that He would listen to anything that we have to say to Him on their behalf. And, oh yes, what if it does mean a little sacrifice to help these people financially?

When we narrow ourselves down to our own neighborhoods, our role in the lives of others becomes a little more obvious, but no less important.

Again, what is your sociability quotient? How much interest do you show in others, in their conversations?

What kind of a listener are you? How ready are you to give of yourself—even if it is a bit inconvenient today.

Let's say that these few little thoughts are a start to answering our question, but how about if you take it from here?

Doll Causes No Furor In Plymouth

The French import which has inspired a furor of protest letters across the nation has created little stir in the Plymouth neighborhood of Lake Pointe Village, where one of the dolls currently being sold as "Le Petit Frere" makes his home with four-year-old Susan Jacobs.

Susan's father, Plymouth school psychologist Jon Jacobs, purchased the life size baby boy with "anatomically correct sex features" last summer in Paris under the name "C'est Garcon" ("It's A Boy").

The fat, curly topped Frenchman has made the rounds of the neighborhood and has visited Susan's class at the Plymouth Cooperative Children's Nursery, producing neither a maternal gasp nor any special curiosity from the children.

Jacobs observed, "Our very act of providing our children only with neuter dolls tells our children that sex and sexual distinctions are shameful. The omission of sex features helps teach the child to be embarrassed by sex, as we are."

The absence might have gone unchallenged in the days of simple cloth dolls, without noses, fingers, or other details,

Specialty of the House Expect Guests? Serve Lemon Torte

Mrs. Danley Holmquist holds her two-year-old son David who admits with a shy nod of his head that he likes his mother's Lemon Cream Cheese Torte.

Mrs. Danley Holmquist of 14738 Thornridge Dr. is the mother of two little children, David who will be two in December, and blue-eyed Bonnie, six and one-half months.

The Holmquists are from Detroit and have been here just two years.

Mr. Holmquist is an electrician and Mrs. Holmquist has been an electrologist. When asked just exactly what an electrologist does, Mrs. Holmquist explained, "We permanently remove hair and usually work in a beauty salon—I worked at Crowleys."

Mrs. Holmquist enjoys creating a variety of craft items, and is learning to knit.

If you have friends in for coffee, or you find it's your turn to entertain your card club, Mrs. Holmquist will help you out in the dessert department with her Lemon Cream Cheese Torte.

LEMON CREAM CHEESE TORTE

2 cups ready-to-eat high protein cereal
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
2 pkgs. unflavored gelatin

1/2 cup cold water
1 pkg. vanilla pudding mix
3 1/2 cups milk
8 oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
1 Tablespoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon lemon extract
1 can cherry pie filling

Combine the cereal, brown sugar and butter, spread in a buttered shallow baking dish, heat in 350 degree oven stirring occasionally, 10 minutes. Loosen from pan and cool, crush slightly and spread on half the crumbs over the bottom of a lightly oiled 9x5x3 inch loaf pan.

Mix gelatin and water, combine sugar, pudding mix and three cups milk, cook over low heat. (A double boiler may be used for this.)

Stir until mixture boils and thickens slightly, add gelatin stirring until dissolved. Cool until mixture is slightly set. Blend cream cheese, vanilla and the rest of the milk until smooth, stir in pudding mixture, then pour over crumbs and sprinkle top with remaining crumbs.

Chill until firm, unmold and serve with chilled filling.

A topping of Dream Whip or whipping cream may be used.

Flavor Of Chestnuts Just A Fond Memory

"Chestnuts roasting on an open fire, Jack Frost nipping at your nose."

This song is still sung around pianos at family gatherings and on sleigh rides but has anyone stopped to wonder what has happened to the chestnut?

Chestnuts used to be as much a part of childhood around the turn of the century as pumpkins are today.

They were gathered from the ground by children on golden autumn afternoons and brought home in pockets and caps to be roasted and eaten with apples in the evening by the fire.

Vendors can offer peanuts, popcorn and caramel corn, but roasted chestnuts seem to have disappeared from their wagons.

Certainly someone should have some information on the subject.

Mrs. Wilford Bunyee of 50480 Powell Road did. When she answered the telephone and heard the question, she asked, "You mean the edible ones? When I was a very young girl I can faintly remember chestnut groves down by Wayne."

A visiting cousin supplied the grove's location at Chetfield and Wayne Road.

"But I think they developed a disease similar to Dutch Elm," concluded Mrs. Bunyee.

Mrs. John Brinks of 48734 West Ann Arbor Road shares Mrs. Bunyee's opinion and said, "We have a good sized woods here but no chestnut trees."

She checked with Mr. Brinks and he, too, blamed disease.

The disease? Further investigation revealed its nasty name—Endothia parasitica—an asiatic fungus. It has ravaged the forest of this magnificent tree and made the edible chestnut a gourmet food.

There are encouraging attempts being made to develop a strain of chestnut tree that will tolerate this fungus, but the American chestnut tree will never thrive again as a forest tree.

Today's children will never pick chestnuts from among the fallen leaves, taste a chestnut stuffing during the holidays, or find them nestled in the toe of their Christmas stocking.

However, as a sage once remarked, "You can't miss what you never possessed."

Or can you?

Legion Gives Therapy Bed To Hospital

An Electro Circle Therapy Bed, used for patients with spinal wounds or other movement restricting injuries, has been donated to the Iron Mountain V.A. Hospital by Plymouth's V.F.W. Mayflower Post 6695.

The bed was desperately needed by the Iron Mountain Hospital where seven patients from Vietnam are being treated for spinal injuries.

This is the first bed of its kind for the hospital and in contrast the Ann Arbor V.A. Hospital is equipped with five of these beds already.

A check for $1,340 from the Leona M. Harer Fund was presented to the Department of Michigan Commander, Pat Foley by Plymouth Post Commander, Robert Smith, to be used toward the purchase of the bed Oct. 22.

Boy Born To Donnellys

The baby was born Oct. 21, and is named for his paternal grandfather, Mac J. Donnelly, of Plymouth.

The Woman's Club Council: A Club For Women's Clubs

When an enthusiastic, interested woman has a really good idea you can be sure the results will be worthwhile.

Mrs. Robert Shuman is just such a woman and her idea resulted in the formation of Plymouth's newest club, the Woman's Club Council.

During the 1966 Plymouth Fall Festival, with the active participation of various community clubs, Mrs. Shuman began to wonder what could be done to avoid duplication of various club projects and programs.

Perhaps a representation of two members from each of the community's clubs would be the answer.

After discussing her idea with friends and members of the Jay-C-Ettes Mrs. Shuman received the encouragement needed to continue.

In May of this year a letter was mailed to all woman's organizations presenting the idea and requesting participation.

On June 5 Mrs. Shuman's idea became a reality when the first meeting of the new club was called to order.

The V.F.W. Auxiliary, Our Lady of Good Counsel Women's Society, D.A.R., Soroptimist, American Legion Auxiliary, Woman's Club of Plymouth, Farm and Garden Club and Jay-C-Ettes were represented by two members at the meeting.

Communication of the various club's activities through a calendar of events will be the main objective of the Council.

"There are no dues," Mrs. Shuman said, "we are asking $2 from each member to cover the cost of the calendar."

The sale of the calendars, at 50 cents each, will be the only revenue the club will receive.

All doubts Mrs. Shuman may have had vanished when three groups, the B.P.W., the D.A.R. and the Garden Club gave a tea at the library to introduce the Woman's Club Council.

"From then on everything seemed very right," she said.

As a result of the Woman's Club Council, the Jay-C-Ettes and V.F.W. Auxiliary worked hand in hand on Bingo night at the West Trail nursing home.

The Shuman's have made Plymouth their home for seven years.

Mr. Shuman is a sales engineer with Weyerhaeuser in

Mrs. Robert Shuman with an autumn floral arrangement she has created from dried flowers, pheasant feathers and gourds.

Dearborn and the couple has three children, Russell, six; Stacy, five; and Edith, four.

A home and family will keep any woman busy, but Mrs. Shuman finds time to enjoy gardening, sewing and antiques.

Mrs. Shuman such used words and phrases as, "progressive," "looking ahead," and "fantastic activity" to describe her enthusiasm for the community of Plymouth.

Another idea is growing out of this enthusiasm. "Why not have a central location like the Hotel or City Hall for clubs and organizations to leave tickets to their various activities. If a person knew tickets were easy to obtain, wouldn't there be even greater attendance at club events?" asked Mrs. Shuman.

With the Woman's Club Council underway, who knows how quickly she'll find an answer to her question?

New Plant Doubles Awrey's Production

STORY: Henry J. Teutsch, Staff Writer

PICTURES: James Hubbard, Chief Photographer

Take a 122 foot long and 12 foot wide oven, hook on a 350 foot bread production line and you can produce 5,400 loaves of bread an hour.

Don't try this in your kitchen! It would never work.

However, if you happen to be Bob Awrey, you have already done this and more at a new baking plant at 12301 Farmington Rd. in Livonia.

Besides bread, the plant turns out more than 5,000 round and rectangular coffee cakes an hour from the coffee cake production line.

Awrey's headquarters and variety baking plant is at 5283 Tireman Ave. in Detroit.

The company's lines of cakes, cookies, pies, sweet rolls, doughnuts, and other products are made in the Tireman plant.

THE NEW PLANT doubles the total production of the bakery products ranging from 25 varieties of bread to more than 150 different kinds of layer cakes.

Right now it has two production lines running in Livonia: one for white bread, one for coffee cake.

In the near future, the company plans to add another bread production line in the present building which will enable the new plant to produce a variety of breads.

Both lines are highly automated.

The plant's flexibility enables Awrey to produce many different types of Danish coffee cake without a halt in the production line operation.

This contrasts with other automated bakeries which must either gear production to a single variety or stop the production line for extended periods.

The new plant is on a 26 acre site and cost $6 million to build.

AS THE BAKING FIRM'S area of distribution expands, the new plant will be enlarged to more than three times its present size.

Today, the bakery operates four retail stores and has 245 outlets in supermarkets. Awrey products also are delivered directly to customers' homes through 156 home service routes.

Its frozen food section serves about 10 of the continental United States and its fresh department services all of the greater metropolitan area.

On a daily basis, the Livonia plant uses 10,000 pounds of shortening, 1,500 pounds of egg solids, and 1,500 pounds of milk solids, plus 2,500 pounds of yeast.

The bakery started in Mrs. Fletcher Awrey's kitchen at her Detroit home in the early 1900's. Mrs. Awrey was the grandmother of the present head of the firm.

OBSERVER NEWSPAPERS

LEFT: Ingredients for the bread are automatically mixed by machine. Constant watching of the myriad of dials and switches is necessary to ensure that every loaf of bread meets stringent requirements.

ABOVE: The bread in the foreground has just left the oven. It twists and turns in order to give it time to cool before it is wrapped for shipment. In the background, the packaged bread is moving into the storage room to be put on trucks.

TOUCHED BY HUMAN HANDS: -- Machines can't do everything. Since so many different shaped coffee cakes are produced, it takes a little "tender loving care" on the coffee cake line to make sure everything looks and cooks just right.

SPEED IS ESSENCE -- After the bread has properly cooled it is automatically sliced, and then each loaf is wrapped in a matter of seconds. This ensures that it will stay as fresh as possible for customers.

5,000 AN HOUR -- Round coffee cakes emerge from the oven and are put on racks to be frozen after a short cooling period. The new plant has not been completely automated yet.

Eventually the cakes will wind on an overhead conveyor much like the bread line.

THIRD GENERATION -- Bob Awrey, head of the company, and Arne Fahlen, who is in charge of quality control and new products division, discuss what new items are in the works in the near future. The company got its small start in the kitchen of Mrs. Fletcher Awrey, Bob's grandmother.

READY AND WAITING -- Every day Awrey trucks take baked goods to four retail stores and 245 outlets in supermarkets. Airlines, restaurants, hospitals, employee feeding operations and other food service installations are served by another Awrey division. The company employs 1,800 people who bake, ship and sell Awrey products 24 hours a day.

Pat Rajsigl Wins In Crewel Work

Patient and painstaking, Mrs. Joseph Rajsigl, of Farmington, turns out prize-winning needlework while sitting in front of her fireplace on winter evenings.

Two of her lovely creations, a footstool cover and a chair seat cover, won blue ribbons at the 1967 Michigan State Fair.

Patricia Rajsigl regrettably gave up her fireplace this summer when she moved to a different house, but figures she'll be able to find a quiet corner to keep up the elaborate crewel-work she enjoys.

"I search and search for unusual designs," she said, "the kind that tell a story. And I like different effects. Once I spent hours making a lamb, all in French knots."

Pat has a 10-year-old daughter, Karen, who's most interested in her mother's work but still lacks the patience to try her hand at it to any great degree. Joseph Rajsigl is employed by the U.S. Post Office in Southfield.

Suburban Gardener

Bittersweet Can Be Grown At Home

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

It's pumpkin time and fruit stands are mounded high, but missing from the scene in most places are the bunches of bittersweet and clusters of Chinese lanterns that used to be strung up to dangle temptingly above the pumpkins. Their bright orange hues seemed to be a distillation of the entire autumn scene.

The "best" bunch would be chosen and brought home and then carefully untangled and rearranged into a bouquet that lasted all winter.

THESE COLORFUL seed-pods are seldom seen now at outdoor stands, and only rarely can one find them at the florists.

Bittersweet used to grow wild in this area, but is rarely found now. Wild bittersweet should never be picked because it is on the Michigan conservation list and is protected by law.

However, it can be grown by the home gardener very easily. It is a climbing woody vine with attractive foliage and the orange pods can be enjoyed as part of the garden scene as well as used for indoor bouquets.

NATIVE BITTERSWEET is known botanically as Celastrus scandens.

It will climb up to 20 feet high and needs a support on which to climb. This can be a tree, or trellis or it can be used to cover an arbor.

The vine is covered during the summer with rich green pointed leaves about six inches in length.

In June many panicles of small greenish-white flowers are produced at the ends of the branches. These are quite inconspicuous, but are followed in fall by the attractive seed-pods.

These pods at first appear as round orange-yellow pods which later split open into three segments revealing the fleshy red inner seed covering. In this variety the fruits are formed at the tips of the branches and the leaves, which are often still on the vine when the fruits first open serve as an attractive background.

Another variety, Celastrus orbiculatus, has equally attractive fruits, but they are formed along the stem in the leaf axils and are hidden until the leaves fall. It is of even more vigorous growth than the native bittersweet and fruits more profusely so that when the fruits are revealed it is exceedingly attractive.

Bittersweet will grow in any ordinary soil and will thrive in either sun or shade.

Plants can be set out in either spring or fall. Root or stem cuttings can be made easily or they can be propagated by pegging a stem to the ground until it has rooted.

They can be grown from seeds which should be planted outdoors in early spring.

CHINESE LANTERNS are close relatives of the tomato and potato and are known botanically as Physalis Alkekengi.

Their beautiful orange "fruits," shaped like miniature fluted Chinese or Japanese lanterns, make attractive and long-lasting winter bouquets. They are really an inflated seed pod which contains a small seed.

They are perennials which grow up to three feet tall. They are easily grown and thrive in well-drained soil in a sunny situation. They do especially well in light sandy soil.

Planting can be done in either spring or fall, or they can be grown from seeds planted outdoors in spring. They can also be treated as annuals and grown from seeds started indoors in late winter.

They are robust plants and, if the soil suits them, tend to spread by underground stems. This can be a bit of a nuisance if they invade parts of the garden where they are not wanted, but it is not too difficult to keep them under control.

If they become over-crowded they should be divided or there will be fewer blooms and lantern fruits.

In addition to the common type, there are several varieties that may be grown. The variety Franchetti is more robust, and the variety Bunyardii is compact but very free flowering.

The variety monstrosa is curiously contorted and the variety nana is a miniature that is less than six inches tall.

Light is not needed to produce good red coloring in under-ripe tomatoes, so you may be making a mistake when you place slightly green ones in the window sill in the hot sun. According to food specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture, "Too much sunlight prevents development of normal, even color. Immature green tomatoes won't ripen in the sun and are likely to rot if kept there too long. The best way to ripen picked tomatoes is in the cellar or garage—some place where the temperature is from 60 to 70 degrees."

Fish, nutmeg and other foods have sometimes been designated as "brain food." There is no such thing as a brain food, any more than there is a little toe food, or a left ear food. An adequate diet nourishes all the tissues of the body.

Show Veteran Stars In 'Male Animal'

When the Farmington Players kicks off its 1967-1968 season Friday, Nov. 3, at the Players Barn, the audience will be treated to a performance by a man who brings to the local stage a professional background in Broadway musicals, TV shows, and the hotel and supper club circuit.

Jerry Austensen will appear in the role of Joe in the James Thurber-Elliott Nugent play "The Male Animal."

The role is the second male lead and Joe is a big, handsome, successful ex-football hero who arrives on the scene for the annual "big game" of his alma mater.

Austensen was singing in the Detroit night clubs when an agent convinced him to audition for the Chicago production of "Oklahoma."

The next 15 years were spent appearing in Broadway musicals and in TV shows.

Some of the musicals were: "The King and I," "Finian's Rainbow," "Wonderful Town," "High Button Shoes" and "Kiss Me Kate."

The production opens Nov. 3 in the Players Barn on 12 Mile Rd. in Farmington Township. Additional performances are scheduled for Nov. 4, 10, 11, 12, 17 and 18. For reservations call 476-2749.

Wayne County Budget Hiked To $127 Million

A $127 million budget for Wayne County's 1967-68 fiscal year is scheduled to be adopted by the County Board of Supervisors on Monday, Oct. 30.

The county budget for the current fiscal year is $120.5 million. The increase is $6.7 million.

The budget includes a decrease of 67.7 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation in the county property tax rate due to completion of a building program. The new rate will be $7.07 per $1,000.

The county's fiscal year starts Dec. 1.

The ways and means committee of the Board of Supervisors approved the budget Monday, Oct. 30.

The Board of Auditors recommended a record budget of $125.3 million including $1 million for employee pay raises.

The ways and means committee increased the total to $127.2 million by raising the auditors' estimates of anticipated revenues from two new tax sources--the state income tax and the real estate transfer tax--and from hospital services. The committee then earmarked an additional $2 million for pay hikes, effective April 1, subject to working out details of a wage package.

The budget includes 245 new positions in various county departments. The Board of Auditors said the new positions are needed to provide an adequate level of public services.

Hunters Safest In Blaze Orange

BY GORDON CHARLES

Somebody should tell hunters to go to blazes!

If somebody did--and hunters paid attention -- it could mean the saving of some lives in the woods.

"Blazes," of course, are those fluorescent or "fire" colors that stand out so well from a natural background. If all hunters went to these blaze colors in their hunting clothing, it would mean the saving of a number of human lives each hunting season.

MOST DEER hunters know it isn't safe to run around the woods during the rifle season unless contrasting clothing is worn. For years, the old traditional red-and-black plaid wool outfit was accepted by most deer hunters as the safest thing to wear in the woods. Finally, somebody got to wondering about this, and a series of scientific tests were set up. Massachusetts ran off some sight tests a few years back in which Army personnel took part. Flash targets were set up and soldiers were told to shoot at any which they thought looked like the south end of a deer headed north.

Results were startling.

Some of the soldiers were experienced deer hunters, yet they joined the others in peeping holes in targets a long way removed from white. White targets caught the heaviest barrage, of course, but various shades of blue, green, yellow and red also drew rifle fire during the four seconds each hidden target popped into view.

BLAZE ORANGE turned out to be the safest color of all. Even men with degrees of color blindness held their fire when blaze orange showed up on a target.

Next safest color was neon red but even this was shot at by some soldiers who lacked normal color vision. Yellows in all shades were frequently mistaken for a flash of white and drew rifle fire.

Other tests, made at Harvard, showed conclusively that some hunters who are very determined to kill a deer are able to make a deer out of a hunter through what is known as the "early blur" phenomena. Blaze orange, however, has the latent power to break up this strange mental process by literally shouting "man-made."

WEARING BLAZE orange garb during deer season is not enough, though, since hunters have accidents in other seasons, too. Every year hunters are mistaken for squirrels, woodchucks, porcupines, turkeys or what have you.

Scouters To Hear Bowles

Scouters in the Sunset District of the Detroit Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, will gather Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. for their annual meeting and banquet.

Place will be Roma Hall, 2777 Schoolcraft, Livonia. The meeting is open to Scout leaders of the district, which covers most of western Wayne County.

Guest speaker will be Circuit Judge George Bowles, former one-man grand juror. On the bench since 1957, Bowles has been active in family law associations and on the Boy Scout Council in Detroit. His topic will be "The Future Is Now."

Sid Strong, Plymouth veteran of 50 years of scouting, will receive one of the movement's highest honors--the Silver Beaver award.

In his annual report, District Chairman Ed Schenning will say that 8,068 boys took part in scouting activities--nearly 25 per cent of the total available number of boys of that age group.

During the year, 22 boys reached the Eagle rank, and a net gain of seven new units was achieved.

Annual milk production per cow has increased more than 260 pounds per year for the last five years in Michigan, according to Michigan State University dairy scientists.

Freeway Ramps: A Snow Problem

Interchanges in Michigan and other snow belt states pose a number of unique problems for the crews charged with keeping them clear of ice and snow, says the State Highway Department.

For example, the slower speeds required by the "on" and "off" ramps hamper the efficiency of the snow plows to a great degree, as does the heavier traffic congestion on the ramps.

Another problem is what to do with the snow. On the main highway lanes, the plows can merely push the snow off the pavement on to the shoulders. On an interchange's overpass

How to turn a 14-year-old boy into a hardened criminal.

Just forget your keys in your car one day.

Tempt some fourteen-year-old boy into going for a joyride.

Oh, he could be a good kid -- just weak.

And taking your car might be the first time he's ever broken the law.

But the minute he hops behind that wheel and turns the key, his life may be ruined.

He'll drive around for a few hours, endangering the life of every man, woman and child who crosses his path.

He might be caught the very first time he takes a car. Or he might not be caught by the police; he'll leave your car somewhere and decide to do it again, and again, until the day he does get caught.

Teen-agers steal more than 1,000 cars every day.

The U. S. Department of Justice and your state and local law-enforcement agencies are concerned.

They know that taking a car for a joyride is just the first step.

Our prisons are filled with men who started out the way you did. They went on to become thieves, muggers, and even killers.

You can do something to help solve this terrible problem.

Whenever you get out of your car, even for a second, take your keys. Lock your car.

Every time you do this you may keep a good boy from going bad.

Don't help a good boy go bad. Lock your car. Take your keys.

observing sports

It's that time of the year again when you say goodbye to the better half in the morning, skip off for an afternoon and evening in Philadelphia and New York and then pull back into your side drive some 12 or 13 hours later.

It's that time of the year when you realize how small the country has become, thanks to the jet airliner.

It's that time of the year, too, when you know that our country is at arms by the number of servicemen you see on planes, in airports, in railway and bus stations.

It's that time of the year when you truly appreciate the kind of young men we have in this land called the United States, notwithstanding the fact so many of us seem to think our kids have gone off in the deep blue.

It's a scene like the one you experienced the other afternoon on an elevator in the Sheraton Philadelphia Hotel. The whole incident couldn't have taken 30 seconds as the elevator hoisted those in the car express from the lobby floor to No. 16.

The automatic doors have a habit of closing in a hurry and you, along with a pretty young gal of maybe 30, couldn't get in before the door sprung.

So you waited for another car's doors to open and, being polite, you made certain that the doors this time didn't spring shut on your fellow traveler.

WHAT YOU DIDN'T notice in the first place was the young man on crutches behind her. He was hunched over . . . his face badly scarred on the right side.

When the elevator began its rise, you said something about how one has to be careful.

And the fellow on crutches, who was obviously the husband of the young girl, looked at you and declared:

"Yea, no wonder I had my foot chopped off . . ."

And you looked . . . and his lower left pant leg was empty.

Yet he smiled. The gal on his left smiled . . . You smiled.

Nobody said any more. The elevator reached the 16th floor and you skipped off to meet Tom Hemmingway, the TV man of the Pistons.

As you walked along, you choked a little. The kid no doubt had been to Vietnam and this is the way he came back. No telling the number of moments of torture he had been through.

And, what about the experiences and sufferings his wife had endured?

Yet both could smile. Little wonder, this is a country of such strength . . . when you see youngsters like those two on the elevator.

IT WAS A DAY or two later. You were riding the Eighth Ave. subway in New York City. The car, as usual, was crowded.

You peered about. The faces "got" you. They seemed to lack the freshness that you see around these parts—in the land of suburbia.

You can understand why. Most New Yorkers know only apartment living from the time they are old enough to see what's going on.

Few kids ever get to enjoy a backyard . . . or grass . . . or a frontyard of more than a half dozen feet.

The apartments are jammed one against each other.

It's nice if you like living 25 floors up and don't worry about your youngest kid leaning over and scaring you for fear he or she will tumble downward to death.

The New Yorker always seems to be in a rush. He'll shove you in and out of a subway car . . . into the path of a car while you're walking across the street.

Cab drivers roar around corners on two wheels . . . whip through red lights . . . hardly ever say "hi" or "thank you."

You come back to suburbia in Michigan and feel how grateful you are that you live out here where room is more plentiful, the air fresher and people somehow enjoy living just a little more.

The turn of the weather finds coaches of indoor sports teams beginning to assemble their athletes for basketball, swimming and wrestling.

There is no specific time when the swimmers and wrestlers must swing into action. Most of the basketball coaches have a gentleman's agreement to wait until around the first of November, or until after the football season ends.

Good friend Eddie Edgar, who had a lot to do with building up bowling among youngsters, passes along the word that the number of performers among the kids continues to swell every year.

Wonder who'll be the next bowler from Livonia, Plymouth or Farmington to appear on the "Beat the Champ" bowling show on Channel 4?

Hope we're not jinxing 'em, but from where we sit, Michigan State will be enjoying the Pasadena sunshine on Jan. 1. The Spartans finally have started to jell and live up to their advance billings.

Schoolcraft Trotters Coming Triumphs

Schoolcraft College's soccer team scored a 5-2 victory over Calvin Wednesday as Joop Doorn and Scott Vandervort each scored two goals.

Doug Morrison got Schoolcraft on the scoreboard after Calvin had notched the game's first tally.

Then Doorn put Schoolcraft ahead, 2-1, before Vandervort bagged his pair and Doorn wound up the goal-getting for the winners.

Prior to the start of the 1967 season Central Michigan University football teams have won 281 games, while losing 166. They have played in 26 ties.

Bentley-Franklin In Showdown

One of the booming, new rivalries in high school sports now pits Franklin and Bentley High together on the football field.

Their 1967 collision comes off next Friday night with the scene of action Bentley's gridiron starting at 7:30 o'clock.

It might be a strange hour for the Franklin gridders, who are more accustomed to playing their games on Saturday mornings at 10.

Such was the case this Saturday when Franklin squared off with John Glenn with Franklin needing a victory to clinch a share, possibly a three-way tie for the Northwest Suburban League title.

Glenn took the field against Franklin with a 4-0 conference mark. A win or tie would mean an outright title for the Glenn contingent.

Franklin and North Farmington had a chance to tie for the laurels, but only if Franklin could take Glenn and North Farmington beat Birmingham Groves.

THE IMPORTANCE of the Glenn game, however, will take nothing away from next Friday's encounter with Bentley — at least as far as Franklin is concerned.

The Bentley-Franklin game is tantamount to a season in itself. A victory in the game can make a team forget any heartaches in the earlier going.

Bentley has had its "down" moments this fall, falling in its bid for the Suburban Six League title.

For both Franklin and Bentley, the Friday clash marks the end of the 1967 season. This also will be the final week for teams like Plymouth, Stevenson and Our Lady of Sorrows.

Stevenson plays at North Farmington next Saturday afternoon, while Plymouth takes on a tough assignment in championship Walled Lake of the Interlakes Conference.

Farmington, North Farmington and Clarenceville all have two games still to go.

FARMINGTON GOES to Southfield Friday night before finishing up on Nov. 11 against North Farmington. That'll be Armistice Day, but there'll be no armistice on the field. There never is when the two Farmington schools collide.

Clarenceville plays at Northville Friday and winds up the following Saturday against Crestwood.

Our Lady of Sorrows closes operations this Sunday against St. Frances de Sales at Redford

High in Detroit.

Sorrows could win a share of the Northwest Divisional flag in the Catholic League if it wins and Orchard Lake St. Mary's loses.

But this set of circumstances still won't earn Sorrows a second straight trip into the Catholic League playoffs. The honor belongs to Orchard Lake, the only team to cool off Sorrows this fall.

GETTING EQUIPPED—You've got to think ahead in sports these days—and besides, the professional hockey season is already on. Leo Price of 35576 Parkdale, Livonia, and son Curtis, 9, examine goalie equipment in the Griswold sporting goods shop in Wonderland.

Brothers Run 1-2 To Win

It was Gary Williams first by a whisker over brother Larry as Farmington High's cross country team downed Berkley, 23-32.

Both brothers were timed in the same time—10:04—so close was their finish.

The victory stretched Farmington's dual meet record to 8-0 and the Falcons can end an spotless season Monday, when they run against North Farmington.

Dick O'Connell ran fifth, Dave Pardo sixth, Tim Stoddard ninth, Mike Atchinson 13th and Ken Schultz 14th for Farmington.

This Is It For Horses At DRC

This is getaway week for the running horses at the Detroit Race track.

The season ends next Saturday after nearly six months of campaigning in the Detroit area.

DRC officials along with the operators of the Hazel Park track reportedly have asked for longer seasons next year.

It's understood that each track would like to add at least two weeks.

There also has been talk that the DRC is planning to undergo work which would make the track suitable for winter racing, if the okay is forthcoming from the state racing commissioner.

Symposium Run Title Won By Franklin

A pre-season symposium will be held at the Northern YMCA at 13220 Woodward in Highland Park this Sunday from 1:30-5:30 p.m.

Area ski enthusiasts are invited to the program, which will be free to the public. It will be staged by the Northern "Y" in conjunction with the Metropolitan Detroit Ski Council.

There'll be lectures, discussions and demonstrations featuring Hugo Bohm, assistant ski director at Boyne Mountain.

Those attending are urged to bring workout clothes and their bathing suits.

Boot Season Nears Finish

The Stevenson High soccer team reaches the end of its first season next Tuesday against Grosse Pointe University School.

Stevenson has won four, lost one and tied two.

In action last week, Stevenson beat Maumee, O., 1-0, on a goal by Tim DeWitt and tied Grosse Pointe U.S., 1-1.

The return match with GPUS will be held at Stevenson.

The long and the short of it on the Wayne State University football roster has senior tackle Greg Gargulinski at 6-foot-5 and senior guard Louis Howson at 5-foot-8.

Farmington Loses To Mt. Clemens

A blocked punt and a recovered fumble were converted into Mount Clemens touchdowns Friday afternoon as the Bathers sloshed to a 13-0 football victory over Farmington High School in a non-league game for both teams.

Whatever the rain and sleet failed to do to ruin Farmington's 1967 homecoming, the visiting Mount Clemens troops accomplished as the Eastern Michigan League co-leaders notched their seventh win in eight starts this fall.

FOR FARMINGTON'S Falcons, it was the fifth loss against one victory and one tie.

Mount Clemens scored at 11:46 of the first period, three plays after blocking a punt by Farmington's Dan Wolfman and recovering at the Falcons 14-yard line.

Fullback John Stewart, a 5-foot-6 bundle of trouble all afternoon, burst eight yards between right guard and tackle for the touchdown. Paul Duda converted to give the Bathers a 7-0 advantage.

THE OTHER Mount Clemens score came in the fourth period just after Farmington had received an apparent smile from Lady Luck by recovering a Bather fumble on its own 10-yard stripe.

On the first play, however, a pitchout from quarterback Wolfman to halfback Rick Landacre was mis-handled, and the ball rolled back into the Farmington end zone where MC guard Larry Gathright fell on it for a touchdown. The conversion attempt failed, leaving the score at 13-0.

Mount Clemens let two other scoring chances escape during the soggy contest. Fumbles at Farmington 14 and 30 yard lines were covered by the Falcons. In contrast, Farmington made serious headway only twice all afternoon.

The Falcons did move 41 yards in 10 plays to the Bather 19 on a succession of wide sweeps by Wolfman, Chris Brown and Paul Misch after receiving the opening kickoff. But they lost the ball on downs at that point.

Farmington got across the 50-yard line only one other time. This came after a Wolfman punt put Mount Clemens on its own 8. The Bathers kicked out to their 38. A screen pass from Wolfman to Landacre got them to the MC 23, where the drive stalled.

Soccer Tourney At Schoolcraft

Four of the top community college soccer teams in the Midwest will compete in the National Junior College Athletic Assn. Region XII invitational soccer tournament at Schoolcraft College on Nov. 10-11.

The tournament—first ever held in Region XII which covers Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio—was awarded to Schoolcraft, which last year was undefeated in the sport and which has again fielded a strong team this season.

Competing in the tourney, other than Schoolcraft, will be Lorain (Ohio) County Community College, Delta College and Jackson Community College.

FIRST ROUND games are scheduled for Friday, Nov. 10, at noon and 2:30 p.m., according to Marvin Gans, Schoolcraft director of athletics and soccer coach. The consolation game will start at 10:30, Saturday morning, Nov. 11 and the championship contest will start at 1 p.m.

All games will be played on the Schoolcraft field on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile Roads. There is no admission fee. Limited bleacher seating is available.

Pairings for the play will be made prior to start of play. Tournament officials have been assigned by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

ON THE BASIS of play this season, Lorain has been established as the pre-tournament favorite. The Ohioans interrupted Schoolcraft's victory string at nine early this year when they held the Blue and Gold to a 1-1 tie, and then returned to the Livonia playing field early this month to hand Schoolcraft its first defeat in intercollegiate soccer by a 3-2 count.

Schoolcraft defeated Delta, 7-0 in the season opener for both schools on Sept. 15, and meets Jackson next Saturday at Jackson.

Schoolcraft soccer fortunes have dipped slightly this season, largely as the result of injuries to two key players, one on defense, the other on offense.

Bahram Fahramand, 20-year-old sophomore from Iran, is the offensive ace hobbled by an ankle injury.

In early games this year Fahramand teamed with All-American Joop Doorn to give the Blue and Gold a formidable scoring punch. The Iranian had matched Doorn goal for goal through the first four games of the season before he was hurt.

HE DID NOT play in the loss to Lorain and missed all but the opening minute of play in Schoolcraft's 3-3 tie with the University of Windsor on Oct. 14.

An injury to Paul Hartege, mainstay of the Schoolcraft defense, has also hurt the Blue and Gold this year. Hartege has seen only limited service in recent games.

FARMINGTON SOROPTIMIST President Ella Cottone (center) and past president Grace Richardson (right) chatted with Hildegard after the well-known singer's appearance at the Farmington Town Hall Thursday. The Soroptimists are sponsoring the new Town Hall series to benefit the Farmington YMCA Building Fund.

Hildegard: Breath Of Eternal Spring

You might compare a visit from Hildegard to a breath of spring--the eternal variety.

This handsome woman--a well-known nightclub entertainer for more years than she will count in public--led off the brand new Farmington Town Hall series Thursday, and had a few hundred women trying to guess the secret of her youthful appearance.

Hildegard put on a good show at the Northland Theater to start things off.

SHE DID SO despite some genuine handicaps--a microphone that roared, not enough light on the stage, a slight cold.

These imperfections bothered her a bit, but certainly didn't throw her.

She gave out with familiar show tunes, some oldies in which the audience joined her, and Hildegard specials like "The Last Time I Saw Paris" and "Darling, Je Vous Aime Beaucoup."

But it was after the luncheon at Glen Oaks Country Club that she and her audience really reached an understanding.

There she fielded scores of questions with disarming candor, stopping just short of giving real statistics.

IS SHE OVER 50?, someone wanted to know. "Yes, of course, I wrote a book that said I was."

How about husband and children? "I have no children because I've never married, but I won't die guessing."

What did she think of mini-skirts? "They're very cute on the young; after 40 they should be mid kneecap."

Hippies? "Those poor souls. Let's hope this is just a phase--it makes us look awful in the eyes of the world."

How does she keep her skin youthful-looking? "Plenty of lubrication--like you'd give a leather chair."

Does she approve of plastic surgery? "Yes. When the day comes, and it will be soon, I'll do it."

How old is she? "That's a good question."

Was she wearing a wig? "Yes. It cost $750 plus tax, and I still have to pay to have it set. But it's a great help when traveling--I couldn't have had my hair done this morning."

Why does she play the piano with gloves on? "It started as a matter of timing--it's such a production to take them off--and now it's my trademark."

One question from Mrs. Maribel Chalmers, of Farmington, obviously delighted Hildegard.

"When I was on my honeymoon 25 years ago," Mrs. Chalmers wrote, "I saw you perform in Chicago, and you looked older than I. Now you look younger than I--how can this be?"

Every other woman present wondered, too.

HILDEGARDE was introduced by Robert Chesley, president of Chesley Industries in Farmington and chairman of the board for the YMCA Building Fund.

Hippie Gets Jail Sentence

A long-haired Farmington youth who appeared in court attired in a serapi, hippie-style, was found guilty on a disorderly person charge by Associate Municipal Judge Dennis Pheene Tuesday.

Judge Pheene sentenced Mark David Hackney, a 17-year-old June graduate of Farmington High School, to serve 10 days in the Oakland County jail and fined him $15 costs.

Hackney was arrested shortly after midnight Oct. 14 after he had shouted obscene remarks at police officers and, according to police, had used a vulgar gesture while driving on Grand River near Nine Mile Rd.

Hackney stood mute when the disorderly person charge was read, and an innocent plea was entered in his behalf. The case was heard without a jury, and Judge Pheene based the conviction upon testimony of police and the youth himself.

"I wish I knew how to get through to you," remarked the jurist as Hackney uttered an untoward series of comments while sitting in a half-sprawled at the defendant's table.

The judge first said he would defer sentence until Friday to ponder what punishment might be most effective, then later changed his mind and ordered Hackney to jail immediately.

The youth was described as having been a neatly dressed and well groomed high school student whose attitudes and mode of dress changed radically when visiting California during the summer where he was caught up in the so-called "hippie movement."

Help Asked For Blacklisted Driver

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says that Congress should investigate the problems of the driver who is compelled by state law to buy auto insurance but is blacklisted by the firms selling it.

Hart told a meeting of the Cooperative Services that most insurance firms, in an understandable desire to "skim" the market, are reluctant to write insurance for persons in certain occupations or certain neighborhoods.

For example, he said, one major firm will not grant auto insurance to clergymen because, according to instructions issued to insurance agents, "clergymen tend to be pre-occupied and tend to drive with the attitude that the lord will provide."

OTHERS WHO find difficulty getting insurance at reasonable rates, Hart said, are doctors, beauty operators, painters, porters, cooks, editors, reporters, miners, soldiers, residents of the inner city and anyone else who has ever had an auto insurance policy cancelled.

"And policies," he said, "can sometimes be very arbitrarily cancelled, perhaps after only one minor accident."

Hart said that persons in "undesirable" occupations or neighborhoods often have only one recourse: to buy insurance from a "high risk" firm, one that specializes in taking customers that others won't handle.

"But even after paying the high-risk premium, they are not safe," Hart said, "because many high-risk firms seem to be precariously financed and no less than 80 of them have gone bankrupt in the past few years, leaving their policy-holders unprotected."

SAFER LIGHTPOLES

For greater highway safety, special nickel stainless steel lightpoles with riveted bases have been developed to break away when struck by a car. The first large-scale installation of such poles has been made by the Minnesota State Highway Department.

"IN SOME CASES, the policy-holders weren't even aware that their protection 'umbrella' had folded until they had an accident or tried to renew."

Hart went on to say that "auto insurance is certainly not a luxury. Most people regard it as a necessary protection and in many states it is an out-and-out requirement."

"The question is: Can government legitimately demand that drivers carry insurance without taking some measure to see that it is available at something resembling a reasonable cost?"

"Moreover, while no one quarrels with the concept that safe drivers deserve a break on policy price, is it really fair to judge a man's accident potential by his job rather than by his personal driving record?"

TO ATTACK the problem of the bankrupt high-risk firms, Hart urged a plan to give auto insurance buyers the same kind of federal insurance that bank depositors have.

He proposed the creation of a Federal Motor Vehicle Insurance Guaranty Corporation, an agency similar to the self-supporting Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

But he said no clear solutions have yet evolved to the problem of the "undesirable" policy applicant and the hasty cancellation. He added, however, that the Senate Commerce Committee, of which he is a member, will shortly embark on an in-depth study.

If your want ad is in this paper, people are reading it today!

It is late afternoon. The evening meal is in the oven. It will be quiet for a short while before the family comes in from play and work. The mother of the family goes to the front porch and picks up her just delivered copy of the OBSERVER.

Seating herself at the kitchen table, she glances briefly at the front page, to which she will return later, and then turns to the Want Ad pages. If she can find an ad offering the article she is seeking, she will discuss it with her husband when he arrives.

Scenes such as this occur thousands of times every week. Eager readers study the Observer Want Ads at their first opportunity. And soon the advertisers' telephones will start to ring as the response to their ads begin.

This is why an OBSERVER Want Ad is such an effective way to advertise. And low in cost too.
