Mrs. Reva Lewis Gets First License Plates Again

For the second straight year, Mrs. Reva Lewis of South Lyon was the first person to purchase 1968 auto license plates at the Secretary of State's branch office in Plymouth.

Township Taxpayers Due To Get Break

Thanks to the reassessment of land in many sections of the township which raised the valuation to 25 per cent of the true cash value, most property owners in Plymouth Township will receive a slight reduction in taxes when the tax roll comes out in early December.

That was the welcome announcement by Supervisor John McEwen who announced receipt of approval of the voted tax rate for 1967 from the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation. The voted rate is $39.12 per thousand and the actual tax rate must be equated to the State Equalization Valuation formula.

Carl Caplin, John Dayton Hit In Crash

Two of Plymouth's most respected elderly citizens were badly injured in a traffic accident at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and South Main Street Friday afternoon.

Carl Caplin, veteran tailor, and John Dayton, former attorney, and judge, were struck down by a car driven by Mrs. Nancy Bobcean, 720 Forest Avenue, Plymouth.

They were returning from a meeting at the Meeting House and attempted to cross the intersection in a slight drizzle. Mrs. Bobcean made a left turn at the corner and, according to police, failed to yield and struck the two pedestrians.

They were taken to Garden City Osteopathic Hospital for treatment. The extent of the injuries was not made known.

Community Fund Progress Report

Here are the vital statistics of the 1968 Plymouth Community Fund Drive:

Projected Quota	Divisions	Collected
$79,000	Industrial	$26,543
$14,500	Business	$ 5,616
$ 9,600	Residential	$ 7,903
$ 4,600	Education	$ 2,100
$ 2,500	Professional	$ 1,755
$ 800	Government	$ 516
	Specials & Clubs	$ 270
$111,000 Total		Total - $44,703

Community Fund Drive Far From Goal

Unless there is a closing rush during the next two weeks there is a possibility that the Plymouth Community Fund Drive will not reach its goal this year.

The pace is way below that of a year ago when the fund totaled more than $100,000.

This year, with a goal of $98,565 the total reported at this week's meeting was $44,703—only 40 per cent of the goal.

"Of course," Acting Chairman Harold Fischer pointed out, "the work stoppages caused by strikes in the area have slowed down the pace in the industrial division and the business section."

"With the strikes settled and the men now back at work, activity should pick up. Whether we can step up enough is a question."

The industrial quota for the campaign has been set at $79,000 and thus far only $26,543 has been collected. Likewise, the business quota is $14,500 and only $5,616 has been reported.

Should fortune smile on the drive and these two divisions hit their quota the entire drive would be a success—for the difference between the quota and the collections thus far in these two divisions is $61,341, more than enough to go over the top.

The Committee reported at the meeting that the Fund Drive would be held at Burroughs during the coming week and there will be another plea to the businessmen. Between the two, there could be a very sizable increase.

Each week the fund has shown a growth. For example a week ago the total reported was $30,361 and this week it was $44,703.

Time is running out, however, and with just two weeks to go there will have to be quite a rush to reach the goal.

South Main St. Taxpayers Bring Court Suit Against City

The City of Plymouth is being sued again.

This time it is the property owners on South Main Street who are taking the administration to court.

The City and City Treasurer Kenneth E. Way have been named in a Circuit Court suit filed by 33 citizens and businesses seeking to have a $128,859.50 special tax assessment roll for the recently completed South Main Street improvement project declared illegal and null and void.

A hearing to show cause why such an injunction should not be issued will be held before Circuit Court Judge Charles Kaufman on Friday, Nov. 17, at 12:30 p.m.

Approval of the special tax assessment roll was passed by the Plymouth City Commission July 24 following a public hearing on the same date.

LAST FEBRUARY the Commission ordered City Manager Richard D. Blodgett to prepare a report with the plans and estimates for the South Main Street project. They included widening of the street, resurfacing, construction of curbs, sidewalks and a storm sewer, including driveways in some instances, between West Ann Arbor Trail and Burroughs Avenue.

Blodgett submitted his report along with recommendations for setting up the tax assessment which, plaintiffs in the suit charge, would force owners of property abutting the project to pay 64.7 per cent of the total cost, with the remainder to be paid by the city at large.

The Plymouth City Commission's final action on the assessment rate for abutting property was $14.09 per front foot, $7.045 for lots with side lines abutting the improvement, $6.75 per yard for driveways of six-inch thickness, and $9 per yard for driveways eight inches thick.

Blodgett had recommended an assessment at the rate of $21.59 per front foot and $10.95 per foot of side lots.

AT THE SAME time the assessment rate was adopted, the Commission voted that the remaining balance be assumed by the city at large.

The plaintiffs in the suit received by the City last week, filed notice of their intention to contest the Commission ruling on August 4. Their petition for an injunction against the City and the City Treasurer was filed in Circuit Court on Oct. 27 by their Detroit attorney, Shirley T. Johnson.

Their petition contends that the Main Street project benefits the city at large and that instead of relieving traffic conditions it is a "detrimment by reason of the increase in through traffic."

It also contends that sidewalks were constructed "so slanted" as to be a hazard and will be dangerous in wintertime's snow and ice.

The petition states that driveways "are indented and a step exists which will be hazard and dangerous for the general public and (the) plaintiffs using the driveways and adjacent walks."

REFERRING TO the amount of the special assessment, the petition charges it "was arrived at in an arbitrary manner and was not justified in law or in fact and that instead of determining the benefit, if any, to the city at large and to these property owners, it merely assessed the Plaintiffs and their property by an archaic, outmoded and inapplicable formula."

It concludes: "That said assessment is so arbitrary and inequitable as to constitute a legal fraud upon (the) Plaintiffs" and "constitutes a confiscation of the property of the Plaintiffs."

The Plaintiffs, and the individual special tax bills rendered them, are:

Geoffrey K. Ashton, $1,056.75
Joe Merritt, $1,675.61 plus $60.75 approach driveway assessment.
Clarence E. Moore, $422.70
James E. Powers, $634.65

Mr. and Mrs. Derward G. Jewell, $1,056.75
Barbara H. Stadnik, $1,517.03 plus $354.60 driveway approach assessment.
Theresa Cameron, $1,113.11
Esther M. Engelson, $704.50
Douglas H. McCowan, $1,008.47 plus $77.40 driveway approach assessment.

Another Land Mark Passes

Davis & Lent Closes Its Doors

After nearly 30 years of doing business on Main Street, Wendell Lent, well known dealer in men's clothing, is closing the doors of the Davis & Lent Company—forever.

"I am tired," he sighed Friday afternoon when announcing his farewell, but intimated that he would be somewhere in the Plymouth business picture shortly after the new year.

"Thirty years is a long time," he said "and I have seen a lot of changes along the street. But I am leaving with no regrets."

His farewell to the retail clothing business will be a sale to dispose of his stock. When that is gone the doors will be closed to a store that has been nothing short of an institution along Main Street.

ACCORDING to present plans, the store may be reopened in some other retail venture after the start of the new year, but Wendell wasn't certain.

"I have until January to dispose of the stock I have on hand, but I hope to be out of here by Christmas."

Wendell came to Plymouth at the end of the depression in 1933. He had been a resident of Hillsdale, but came here to take a position with the Daisy Air Rifle Company.

"I worked there for a while," he recalled, "and then left to operate a used car lot for more than two years."

"After that I represented the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for eight years, before buying the clothing store then operated by Well & Co. in 1943."

"Harry Davis, my brother-in-law, joined me in the venture and we set up in business as Davis & Lent. It has remained that way though Davis died 15 years ago."

In leaving the Main Street scene Wendell is carrying many fond memories.

WHEN HE arrived in Plymouth, he recalled with a chuckle, Main Street was paved with bricks and the switch to paving was the biggest change he had seen in the community in all those years.

His biggest thrill?
"Working with the Chamber of Commerce, as president, gave me the biggest thrill of my career. I enjoyed helping to promote general business through the medium of the Chamber as it was a force for good."

"Another thing that gave me a great deal of satisfaction," he went on, "was the establishment of the central parking lot. That has been a great improvement and help to business and I am delighted that I had a part in it."

He hesitated here for a moment as the memories came tumbling back through the years.

"I have enjoyed it here, but the force of economic conditions has caused me to dispose of the business," he emphasized, "But I am not going to leave Plymouth."

"I plan to remain here and always will take an active interest in the community."

And so another name that has been synonymous with Plymouth—Davis & Lent—is passing from the scene.

Community Center Ready Project For Action

The much discussed Community Center complex which is to include an ice skating arena and a multi-purpose building will be presented to the City Commission for action on November 27.

This was decided upon Thursday night following a noon meeting of the Businessmen's Forum and an evening meeting of the Plymouth Centennial Committee.

There wasn't a single voice raised in protest at either meeting and the Committee now feels that the plans are as complete as possible.

The offering of the Community Center to the Commission will be carrying out a request made early in the year.

At the time the committee was appointed by the City Commission, it was instructed to study plans and make recommendations for a permanent memorial to the Plymouth Centennial.

After months of meetings the Community Center complex, suggested for the high school grounds, was agreed upon and it now will be presented with a price tag of $688,000 attached to it.

The Centennial Committee took these important steps Thursday night.

1—Endorsed unanimously the concept and accuracy of the conclusions arrived at in the feasibility study.

2—Agreed to make the presentation to the City Commission on November 27 and to continue their studies prior to that date. In these studies the committee will:

1—Analyze the method of financing from a series of five

Schools Escape Goblin Pranks

James Rossmann, superintendent of Plymouth Schools, reported that there was no major damage done to area schools over Halloween night.

Rossmann said, "We commend the community for its cooperation in seeing nothing happened."

The only reported damage was one broken window and one instance of paint being smeared on a wall.

Rossmann said that of course the lights were kept on during the night and that the custodians were vigilant.

City Commision Set For Action

Open Housing Ordinance Gets First Reading Monday Night

One of the most important documents ever to come before the City Commission in Plymouth will be tossed into the legislative mill Monday evening and when it will come out and what shape it will be in is anybody's guess.

The document is the Open Housing Ordinance which was first requested by the Committee of Equal Opportunity and later was approved by the members of the Ministerial Association in Plymouth in a statement of conviction.

The proposed ordinance was written by City Attorney Lowe some weeks ago and presented to the Commission. At the time of presentation the City Attorney recommended that it be turned over to the Committee of the Whole for further study. This suggestion was turned down.

After the presentation, Commissioner Robert Smith asked that the ordinance be given its first reading and Commissioner Peter Schweitzer suggested that November 20 be set as the date for a public hearing.

Both suggestions came as a surprise and Commissioner Arch Vallier asked, "How can we give an ordinance its first reading tonight when we just received it?"

The Commission also became involved in a debate as to whether the statement of conviction offered by the Ministerial Association should be spread on the minutes of that meeting or be put aside to be spread on the record when the ordinance finally is acted upon.

It was agreed, then, that the statement be spread on the minutes on both occasions and, further, it was agreed to set a timetable for the important measure.

Under this agreement the ordinance will be given its first reading on Monday evening, with the public hearing on the following Monday, November 13.

Since the proposed ordinance was given to the Commission several changes have been made in it, according to City Attorney Lowe. The changes weren't announced, but it is understood that they were made to help strengthen it.

The speed with which the ordinance will be put through the legislative mill, according to several of the Commissioners, will depend, for the most part, on the movement of the State Legislature.

There is some thinking among the Commissioners that nothing should be done in Plymouth until the fate of a like bill is known in the legislature.

According to this thinking the Commissioners feel that an open housing ordinance passed now may have to be amended to conform to whatever is passed in the state and that it would be best to wait.

2.—Consider and determine the organizational structure.

It was the feeling of the committee that the estimated cost of $688,000 was not exorbitant in view of rising labor costs. It also felt that under conservative management the entire amount could be written off with a 40-year loan.

Earlier in the day Miss Lynn Finnegan, a former skating champion, spoke before a combined meeting of the Centennial Committee and the Kiwanis Club of Plymouth. She explained the workings of an ice palace and how skating clubs in the various areas could be organized to help defray the costs.

Robert Hayman, Chairman of the Centennial Committee, also presented the plan in its entirety and was well received.

assessed at $1,000 in 1966, he would have paid taxes of $74.34 — that was the tax rate $74.34 per thousand.

This year, the same home would have an equalized valuation of $1,780—applying the 1.78 equalization factor to the valuation—and therefore the taxpayer would pay the tax rate of $39.12 per thousand on that figure.

This would indicate a tax bill of $69 in round figures. However, those close to the situation in the Township Hall believe this isn't a completely true picture and the reduction will be in the range of $3 to $4 per thousand.

Regardless of whether it is pennies or a few dollars it is welcome news to taxpayers who took such a whopping boost a year ago.

A SPOKESMAN for the County Tax Bureau indicated the reduction would amount to much more if the entire Township was assessed at 50 per cent

The Stroller...

The chubby little fellow peered across The Stroller's desk the other day and remarked, "Well, I see by your paper that Plymouth is on the move—at last. But from what I read it hasn't moved far enough yet."

The Stroller just looked back for a moment and his visitor started again—

"That was a most surprising list of activities you printed a week ago and I really was surprised that so much is going on behind the scenes to help improve the city."

"But," he went on, "I also was surprised to see that one of the city's greatest assets was ignored in all the future planning. And I mean Wilcox Lake."

"Wilcox Lake," the Stroller repeated, as no thought had been given to the lake except in a humorous sort of way when it was suggested that we re-create the Boston Tea Party during the visit of the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, last July.

"The idea is not new," the visitor was quick to point out, "but the lake could be a real asset during the summer. If such places as Lowell, Michigan, and Chesham, can have 'Show Boat' attractions, why couldn't Plymouth acquire a floating stage and really put on some summer plays?"

"You really could have summer stock without much trouble. The warming house now available for the skaters could be used as a dressing room and there is a natural amphitheater around the lake. It would be something out of this world—and surely would stand Plymouth apart in the entertainment field."

It sounded like a good idea. And just in case you might think The Stroller's guest was an idle dreamer, put your mind at rest. For he was no less an authority than Bob Wall, the theatrical critic of the Observer newspaper group.

Bob has been at this sort of business for a long time and he easily could be lured into helping to put over such a program.

MORE ON THE BIRD WATCHERS

The other day The Stroller had occasion to mention that some of the city's leading citizens are avid bird watchers—and often have much difficulty in identifying their feathered friends.

Well, the phone rang, and the voice on the other end remarked, "I want to tell you something about the bird watchers in another section of Plymouth."

"We live in Lake Pointe Village and we have been watching the bluejays with great delight. As a matter of fact, we have placed feeding trays for them—and they are becoming almost tame."

After identifying herself as Mrs. Lewis Smith she continued to tell of the fun they are having with the birds.

"Since we have placed the feeding trays the bluejays come closer and closer. Finally, as a test, we opened the window and the bird flew right into the room—and are we having fun!"

See, what just a little notice does.

WHEN JUNK ISN'T JUNK ANY MORE

At first glance you never would surmise that Ed Sawusch, the big boss at Anchor Coupling, was the kind of a fellow who got a thrill out of working with junk. But that's just what he does.

Ed is a road racing "buff" and is building his own racing car to compete in the races at Waterford and other areas of the state.

"It is what may be called a Junker Special," he laughed, "for that's about all there is in it."

"The engine is only about this big," he said, as he held his hands about a foot apart, "but we can get a lot of speed with it."

"I'll tell you more about it after the first race, but right now, we think we've got something."

It sure will be interesting to get the results of the first race.

THOUGHTS WHILE STROLLING

What is our educational system coming to when big Jim Rossman, our Superintendent of Schools, is talking of such things as a children's zoo, farm land, cultivation, planting and even a stone garden be made part of the high school curriculum. It's a far cry from the three "R's".

Talk about unification of our government agencies, Mayor Jim Jabara joined forces with Lou Norman and Gene Overholt, Township Trustees, on a hunting trip to Montana and they're coming back loaded. In the first few days they bagged five antelope and three mule deer.

Perhaps, they could be just as successful in other things, if the two government units would just get together.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Rev. Henry Walch, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, put it very nicely the other day when he remarked—

"If you have a clear conscience you have a poor memory."

Improving Plymouth's Future Will Be Costly, But Necessary

DON'T JUST STAND THERE—
ROLL UP YOUR SLEEVES AND GRAB A SHOVEL!

Now that the Plymouth Jaycees are conducting one of their periodical surveys of the area and the Citizens Research Council of Michigan is working on a unification study, the residents of the Plymouth Community soon will know what the experts think is needed to guarantee a bright future and the order in which the changes should be made.

For several years all manner of studies have been made of the area. The Businessmen's Forum of the Chamber of Commerce recently explored the entire situation and arrived at some interesting conclusions. Chief among these was that the Central Business District Loop should have top priority.

So, these studies are not new. Possibly no other community in the state has been the subject of more studies and reviews than the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township. The mere fact that they are being made is interesting, but not satisfying.

Each of these studies finally settled down to the same vexing questions—what is the best approach to a solution and how can it be financed?

During the past year, for example, meetings have been held to study the possibility of eliminating the rail crossings that are charged with strangling the business life of the city. There also have been all sorts of meetings on plans for the community center that is supposed to be a permanent memorial to the Centennial year. And the loop traffic plan along with the preservation of the old P&A theater have taken the time of a great number of people.

In most of these cases the question settled down to the availability of federal money to help finance the projects. These hopes have been allowed to rise and fall, but the word now is that federal money for the actual improvements will be mighty scarce.

News of the scarcity caused no end of disappointment, but the absence of federal help may be a blessing in disguise.

It is a well known fact that when things are obtained too easily they are not appreciated. It is the things we must work hard to get that we like and cherish the best.

From all appearances, this is what is going to happen in Plymouth.

When the final results are in it will be a question of which of the improvements the people want and how much they are willing to spend to get them.

To the everlasting credit of the businessmen in the downtown area, they have agreed to do their part—even more—to bring about the desired results.

For several years the businessmen have been spending liberally to help preserve the downtown section. They have improved the store fronts, obtained parking where possible, and did what they deemed best to prepare for the future.

They have another fine example recently when those located on Penniman Avenue agreed to a special assessment to raze the old Davis property as a means of providing more parking.

Businessmen also made a very generous contribution to the improvement of the downtown area when they agreed to contribute $86,000 over a 10-year period toward the purchase of the Wiedman property for an additional parking lot.

These contributions stand as mute evidence that the men who operate the business establishments are more than willing to do their part—even more.

Now, it will be up to the populace. What improvements do they want—and how much are they willing to pay?

When men pull themselves up by their own boot straps they are looked upon and admired as self-made men.

It could be the same with cities.

So, when you are faced with the request to help pay for the future improvement of the area in which you live, it might be well to ask yourself—

"What is the alternative?"
You know what the answer would be—virtual erosion.

City Commission Urged To Pass Housing Law

Dear Commissioners:

The members of the Plymouth Assembly for Equal Opportunity have observed with interest your decision to consider an open occupancy law. We have felt for some time that the integration of our community is morally right. We also feel that the integration of communities such as ours is a sociological necessity to the continuation of our way of life. Indeed the events in the ghettos across our country this past summer may indicate that time is already running short.

We urge you to take positive action quickly in this matter. Plymouth was among the first communities in the state to appoint a Commission on Human Relations and we hope that you will continue to reflect this concern by acting on its recommendation for an Open Occupancy Ordinance.

The Plymouth Assembly for Equal Opportunity has been a rather small organization but the attached list of more than 800 signatures to our Open Housing covenant indicates rather clearly that there are many others in our community who also favor its integration. Since this list was formed primarily through personal contact by our members, there are undoubtedly many others who would also add their signatures if they were approached.

I am writing this note to you because other commitments keep me from attending your deliberations this evening—had that not been true I would have preferred to enter into your discussion in person.

Many leaders in our area who have been highly critical of Mayor Cavanaugh's "Satellite City" have chosen to ignore the problems which stimulated the proposal. The activities of the past summer should have made it unavoidsably clear that the ghetto and discrimination is a problem which belongs to all of us and not merely to the big cities. The urgency of the problem is clear and the alternative to a drastic solution such as that offered by the mayor is the real integration of every community.

On behalf of the Plymouth Assembly for Equal Opportunity I wish to urge you to adopt an open occupancy ordinance which speaks so positively that it can leave no doubt in the minds of our citizens that the Commission of the City of Plymouth does feel that we must share in solving the problems

Demonstration?

Dear Sir:
During the week of Oct. 16 to Oct. 22 a new abundance of shame was heaped upon the heads of the American people when the End The War in Vietnam demonstration was allowed to take place. What was supposed to be a peaceful and almost docile demonstration turned into out and out riots, supposedly communist inspired and controlled.

What is happening in this country today? Are citizens and government alike going to sit idly by while they bury us?

The apathy towards the whole matter by the American public is the most frightening thing. We, as American parents, might not possibly live to see the day of the communist take-over, but is this the legacy we wish to leave our children?

I, myself, might not fully agree with my government's policy in Vietnam, but I certainly am in full agreement with my government on why we are in Vietnam. We are there to stop the communist take-over of Asia and who in this country resents this most of all, the communist.

The free people of Asia who do not wish to be dominated by communism have only one country strong enough to turn to and seek assistance and that country is the United States of America.

If the intervention of this country into the affairs of Vietnam is so wrong an idea then why don't the returning veterans of this conflict say so?

They say, "We have no desire to be there but our presence is needed".

Sincerely,
Commander Bob Smith,

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Thailand Missionary Featured At Bazaar

Rev. Norman Roadarmel, Presbyterian missionary to Thailand, will be guest speaker Thursday, Nov. 9 at 8 p.m. in the First United Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Roadarmel was born and raised in India where his parents were missionaries. He is a graduate of Wooster College, in Wooster, Ohio and the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

While attending the seminary he and his wife, Lois, served as houseparents for 16 boys aged six to eight who were from broken homes.

Ten years later the couple adopted a five-year-old Korean orphan.

Rev. and Mrs. Roadarmel have been missionaries to Thailand for the past ten years. After two years of language study in Bangkok they moved to Prae where Rev. Roadarmel has been assisting his Thai colleagues in all phases of church life.

They live in an area with 12 small rural churches, six unorganized groups, and 300,000 non-Christians.

"TO THAILAND WITH LOVE" has been chosen by the Women's Association of the First United Presbyterian Church as the theme for their bazaar the following Friday, Nov. 10, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Robert Bachelder, president of the Women's Association has announced that the bulk of the proceeds will be given to Rev. Roadarmel to assist with his work in Thailand.

All Thailand students, even in the lower schools must pay a tuition fee—this contribution will help those children who want an education but lack the funds that would make it possible.

The bazaar will also feature Rev. Roadarmel's hand crafted items from Thailand. There will be jewelry, ties, and scarves for sale.

The bazaar, the first in many years has been in preparation for over a year.

Mrs. Arthur Larson and Mrs. William Clark will co-chair the apron booth.

Mrs. William Elliot will be in charge of the candle booth, Mrs. Bruce Campbell, the Christmas decorations booth, and Mrs. Lauren Wells and Mrs. Glenn Steele the handicrafts booth.

Mrs. John Conner will be in charge of a wide array of tempting baked goods.

There will be a luncheon and tea served.

Mrs. Thomas Adams is general chairman of the bazaar, assisted by Mrs. Robert Bachelder, Mrs. Al Wolfram, Mrs. David Woods, and Mrs. Richard Newton.

They walk with him, they talk with him—the Bible's people are as alive to the minister of The Church of Christ on this November day as they were 2,000 years ago.

Paul Brown, pastor of the Church of Christ, brings an immediacy to the Bible and its people that leaves one with the feeling that he has just received a letter from Timothy, had a telephone conversation with Paul or that Peter has just softly closed the outer office door.

"The Church of Christ abides by the scriptures entirely as a guide," Pastor Brown explained, "and we believe and teach that the Bible has an answer for all our problems." "If we would just read it enough we would realize that 22 of the 27 books were written to guide our way of life."

Pastor Brown pointed out two Church of Christ practices that demonstrate adherence to the Bible's message, "We do not have instrumental music, because there is no mention of it in the Bible," and "The Bible states that no man is to be revered therefore I do not carry that title before my name."

THE BROWN'S arrived in Plymouth only one month ago, from St. Clair Shores. They have three children, Paul 19, attending college in the South, Cynthia 14, and Mary Catherine 10.

The church's local history is new to its pastor, however the files revealed that in the early spring of 1938 a group of 12 people gathered together and held services in a home.

When the congregation increased to 35 members the church was moved to 188 West Liberty.

It was a little more than 20 years ago, in 1946, that deeds were received to the property located at 9451 South Main. An addition was built to that building in 1955 when the congregation again increased.

The church now stands at 9301 Sheldon Road and averages 325 people at services each Sunday morning.

"The church has had a steady growth, but it hasn't been mushrooming. Many times when this happens the congregation falls off as fast as it grows," stated the pastor.

THE CHURCH of Christ puts a great deal of emphasis on education and reaching people outside the immediate Sunday morning congregation.

"We have colleges in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, California, Canada and right here in Rochester, Michigan."

"The Bible is predominantly taught. However, the schools are not just for members of the church," stated pastor Brown.

Radio and television are other mediums that are used in reaching not only the nation's people, but also those in all parts of the world.

"Herald of Truth" is a Sunday broadcast that has been aired on several channels and is presently seen on channel 50 in color.

"When you think of it, a color broadcast may reach people caught up in a materialistic world," mused Pastor Brown.

"Power for Today," a church publication that inspires many people with words of the Bible and messages relating to the problems that face us daily, recently published an article by Pastor Brown entitled, "Courage to Rise Again."

When asked for comments on today's morality Pastor Brown related our problems to the home, "If we have a strong home, we will have a strong community, if we have a strong community, we will have a strong nation."

"Home has become a restaurant type affair where we eat, sleep and refresh ourselves for another round of play." "I'm wondering how many families ever sit down and read the Bible for the pure joy of reading it—or get down on their knees and pray together because they really like to talk to God."

"People today are ashamed to show their emotions, there are tears of happiness and tears of sorrow—they are a universal language that everyone understands."

"Jesus wept," but we are afraid today to let our friends know what we think."

Pastor Brown has definite

feelings regarding the recent 'God is Dead' slogan seen on automobile bumpers, "The season of autumn, the season of Spring, are proof that God is living today."

"I see the attributes of God in a new born child. The beauty of God is living all around us, if we would but look for it."

The Top Side of Life

By Father R. Shaden

I have just discovered a new world! Well, it's not a new world really. It's more like a new place to look for ideas and thoughts, and maybe even a few answers.

I'm not talking about a new translation of the Bible, or a new religious book, but advertisements—like in magazines.

Sister Corta, a Roman Catholic nun wrote a book called "Footnotes and Headlines" in which she said that all the words we need for life are in the ads, if we just know how to read them the right way.

We only get confused if we think we need all those things the ads say we need.

It's a kind of game in which we read ads from a new perspective.

LET'S SAY we need some help figuring out how we are supposed to get along with other people. What we do is read some ads looking for "people" words.

One ad had the words "want personal attention." People want personal attention. Yet, we catch ourselves treating people like things—something to be used to satisfy us. Maybe we could get along better with others if we realized that people "want personal attention."

Another ad included the words "the hope of doing each other some good." Why else are we on this earth? And how else are we going to keep the whole thing from blowing up in our faces?

"People for people." That's what another ad said. And that is what life is all about.

"Unleashed thinking is what we strive for." That ad tells us what we need to cope with people-problems today. Unleashed thinking. New ideas.

Open minds. Unfortunately, as the same ad put it, "Most people... are boxed in by their thinking..."

WE GET SO wrapped up in ourselves we forget that the world needs "Ivory"; that we must "shape up"; that we must be "united".

Living is "not for the timid," but for "people who know the difference."

Do you understand the game now? There is a whole new world of ideas in ads—if you know how to read them, and if you're not so poor that you think you need all those things in the ads.

Try it. Pick up the magazine on the table next to you and read the ads. And remember, "progress is our most important product."

Women Set Church Event For Nov. 10

Church Women United of Plymouth will hold their annual World Community Day service in the Assembly of God Church at 42021 Ann Arbor Trail on Friday, Nov. 10 at 1:30 p.m.

Rev. Ralph Leslie, minister and missionary who has recently accepted an assignment in Peru, will speak on "Who Will Separate Us."

Participating in the day's program are the First Baptist Church, The Salvation Army, Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, St. Luke's Methodist Church, Assembly of God Church, with ushers provided by Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church, posters from the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany and publicity by the First United Presbyterian Church.

The day's soloist, Mrs. Florence Griggs of the First Methodist Church, will be accompanied by Mrs. Beverly Brooks.

The women of St. John's Episcopal Church will serve refreshments immediately following the service.

Church Women United will send gifts of clothing to Asian children, blankets to disaster areas and refugees and school kits to needy children around the world.

World Community Day offerings will help the International Mission of Church Women United in their projects in Latin America and Africa.

All women of the community are invited to attend this world wide observance.

Do we have any graduates of Northeastern High School living in Plymouth? There is going to be a Grand Reunion Saturday, Nov. 18 for classes from 1917-42.

There will be dinner and dancing at West Roma Hall on Schoolcraft from 7:30 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Tickets are $6 per person and can be obtained by writing Tickets, P.O. Box 6271, Detroit, 48234 or calling Joe Sobek (521-0589).

The Lions Club of South Lyon will hold its first annual Hunter's Ball on Saturday, Nov. 11, at the Lincoln Local 36 U.A.W. Hall in Wixom located off I-96 and Grand River Blvd.

There will be a dinner, music by the Ben Koppy Band and door prizes. The public is invited.

The affair will start at 8 p.m. and admission is $4 per person or $6 per couple. For reservations call Frank Ousley (437-2038) or R.J. Williams (437-1165).

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Renert of 168 Hamilton will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary with an open house at their home between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5.

The program at the First Methodist Church, featuring Orson L. Clark, Saturday, Nov. 11 at 8 p.m. will be open to the public.

Clark is Administrator of the Royal Oak Probation Department and his comments of today's youth should be of interest to both parents and teens.

This week, Nov. 5-11, is National Cat Week.

I never have owned a cat, and have made the acquaintance of only three in my lifetime.

Gladys, a male cat belonging to a friend, has a great deal of character and is unaware that he is not human.

Callie, my grandfather's wife, joy and constant companion, is equally sure of her acceptance as a member of the human race.

Then there's Sandy, not far removed from kittenhood, but I'm reasonably assured that my niece gives her as much consideration as any brother or sister.

There are some people however, who feel that our roles are reversed.

When news of National Cat Week arrived in our office, my editor said with a twinkle in his eye, "Here Glenny, this is just the thing for your woman's page."

I wonder what he meant?

'Operation: Christmas' Started

"Operation: Christmas For Kids"—a Michigan Republican-sponsored campaign to provide Christmas gifts of clothing and toys for more than 700 underprivileged children in the core city of Detroit, was launched in Plymouth this week.

Mrs. Roy Phelan, president of the Plymouth Republican Women's Federation, announced that the gift collection program will be carried out here during the month of November.

Mrs. J.T. Mullen is chairman of the local Republican Involvement Mission.

The Federation Membership tea on Thursday, Nov. 9 at 1 p.m. at Republican Headquarters will feature Mr. John Martilla, state director of the Community Action Center.

All Republican women in Plymouth and Northville are invited to attend.

"When people think of a Garden Club, they think of women creating all those lovely little flower arrangements," said Mrs. Blanche Johanson, president this year of Plymouth's Farm and Garden Club.

"We actually do much more—we provide college scholarships for a student interested in horticulture, biology, forestry or conservation."

"Each year we send a teacher to Higgins Lake Conservation School so that the knowledge gained there can be passed along to students."

Whitehouse Theme Goes To Church

The First Methodist Church will be the scene of a tea with a White House theme on Tuesday, Nov. 7 at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Dwight Struthers will discuss the wives of our nation's Presidents from 1932 to the present with music by Mrs. James Weigle.

Mrs. William Lewelling and Mrs. Florence Griggs are co-chairing the tea with Mrs. George Hunter in charge of decorations.

"So you see, our work has an international scope," Mrs. Johanson remarked.

"Our flower arrangements certainly are the least of it," she went on. "In September, 1968, the Society of Associated Country Women of the World will bring 2,000 women from foreign countries to Detroit."

"Our club would like to entertain a bus load of these women at Plymouth's Fall Festival if the two events coincide."

THE NATIONAL Farm and Garden Association organized in Pennsylvania in 1914 and was established in Plymouth 22 years later on May 4, 1936.

"Few people realize it, but it was the Farm and Garden Club women who established the roadside fruit and vegetable markets that we enjoy today," Mrs. Johanson explained.

THE CLUB GOALS are, in part:

To provide scholarships and national and international concerns.

Club dues are $5 a year, and the women meet the second Monday of every month.

The club's present membership stands at 98. "We'll have to close ranks at 100, because we have always met in our members' homes, and there are very few that can accommodate that number," Mrs. Johanson said.

The Johansons recently moved to the Shangri-La apartments, and this will enable Mrs. Johanson to hold the Garden Club meeting this month for the first time.

This meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 13 at 1 p.m. in the apartment's recreation room.

Mrs. Johanson feels that Plymouth could use a community room with kitchen facilities, perhaps atop the P&A Theater, for meetings, teas and other similar functions.

THE JOHANSONS have made Plymouth their home for 10 years, but will leave the community this summer to make their home in Estes, Colo.

"Mr. Johanson has always promised himself an early retirement, and we both have always loved the mountains," explained Mrs. Johanson.

They have no relatives in Colorado, but they honeymooned there. The foundation of their new home was literally blasted out of the side of a mountain.

"We'll be 25 miles from Boulder and 65 miles from Denver; we'll have no near neighbors, but we'll be able to look out our windows at night and see lights twinkling down the mountainside," enthused Mrs. Johanson.

MR. JOHANSON, presently

manager at the Sheldon Road Western Electric plant, will find he has a gardening chore upon arriving in Colorado.

It seems the new home has a huge two-story fireplace made of moss rock. This is a rock that is covered with a lichen-like growth that must be watered!

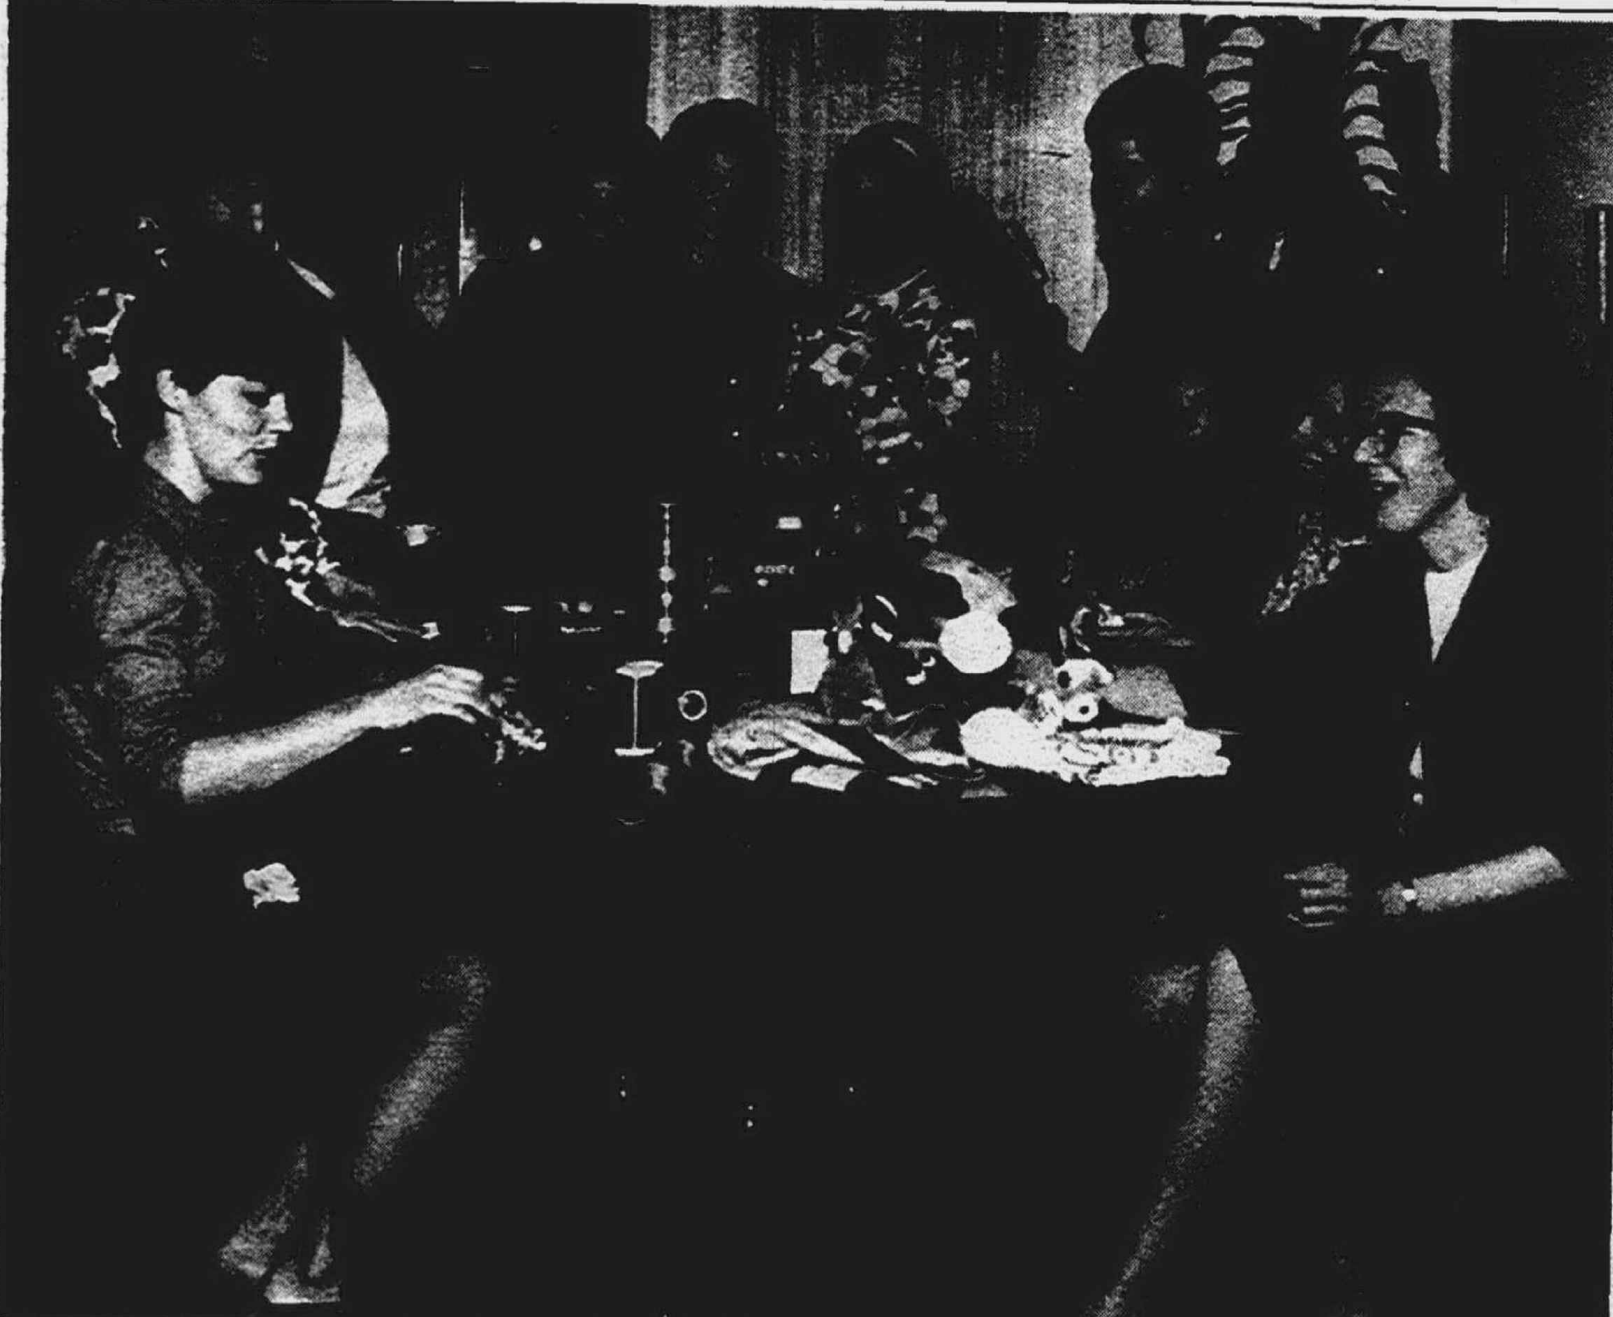

The Johansons have lived in five communities throughout the United States. They have called Omaha, Milwaukee, Washington D.C., Houston and Plymouth "home."

"We always have loved each community, found work to be done and plunged right in."

"We've always been very sad to leave," Mrs. Johanson added softly.

It will be Plymouth's loss, too.

Inge Play In Production

The Plymouth Theatre Guild will present William Inge's "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs", Nov. 16-18 at the P&A Theatre with curtain time set at 8:15 p.m.

The play deals with a family in a small Oklahoma town in the early 1920's.

Clementine Cyburt, who added sparkle and enthusiasm to the Guild's children's plays, plays Cora Flood, wife and mother.

Milo Jordan, the confused Dr. Chumly in "Harvey", has an opportunity to be loud and rough as Rubin Flood in this production.

Jake Rumpf also has a change of character as the meek Dr. Morris Lacey.

Effie Kulsel was strangled in "The Mousetrap"—the audience will have to suppress a desire to see it done again as she walks the stage in "Dark" as the loud-mouthed Lottie.

The production calls for several teenagers in the cast, and the Theatre Guild has a capable crew to fill the bill with Sharon Cook, Martha Cole, Karen Souder, Bill Smith and Ed Dennis sharing the footlights.

Sonny Flood is played by ten-year old David Amperse who gives an inspired performance.

Plymouth's Senior Citizens are invited to attend admission-free on Wednesday, Nov. 15.

Thursday, Nov. 16 will be Student Night with tickets available at the box office for only 50¢.

All other tickets may be purchased from any Theatre Guild member, or on the night of the performance for $1.50.

Mrs. Jerry French (464-1599) will provide any additional information.

Marvin Esch Reports

Congressman Urges Canal Treaty Delay

The Panama Canal, subject of controversy since before the turn of the century, is once again the center of wide disagreement in Washington. My mail from home also indicates a relatively high degree of local interest concerning the proposed ratification of new canal treaties.

Of concern is a genuine desire on the part of many officials to establish better relationships with Panama. This is a long standing desire heightened by the violence experienced there over the years and most recently by the 1958 and 1964 riots.

On the other hand, there is an equally strong, if not more intense, belief that the continued complete control by the U.S. of the canal zone is vital to our immediate and long range interests. This view is couled with a suspicion that the agitation in that area has been communist inspired and any concession on the control of the canal by the U.S. might trigger communist takeovers of governments in Latin America.

The new treaties are now under consideration in the Senate and are supported by President Johnson and former President Eisenhower, both of whom see it as a necessary step toward bettering relations.

General Eisenhower, in a statement of support said, "It (the canal) has become a source of resentment and conflict between the United States and Panama -- two nations whose close community of interest gives them every reason to work together in close and friendly cooperation. The new treaties can help to achieve this sort of relationship and can be of mutual advantage to both. They lay a basis for eliminating resentments."

While I respect this view and support its goal, I am somewhat hesitant to recommend immediate ratification of the treaties because they apparently weaken U.S. rights in the area in a time of international crisis and ultimately they set up almost complete control by Panama. I say "apparently" because the negotiations and the exact language have never been released publicly.

As a result, guesswork and misinformation surround the discussion of the treaties and constitute one reason why I and the other members of the Republican Task Force on Western Alliances have recommended a postponement of Senate ratification. The lack of information on this important issue once again emphasizes the need for Congress and the Administration to begin to work from a point of knowledge rather than ignorance.

OUR TOTAL recommendation is a balance between outright rejection and immediate approval. Not only do we ask for full public disclosure of the negotiations, but we also urge a delay until studies on new canals being conducted by the Atlantic-Pacific Inter-oceanic Canal Study Commission have been completed. Any new treaty must take into consideration the specific details of new canal construction and therefore approval of the treaties is now premature.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP
BOARD OF TRUSTEES - REGULAR MEETING
OCTOBER 24, 1967

The meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m. by J. McEwen, Chairman. E. Holmes, R. Garber and D. Lauterbach were present. Louis Norman and Gene Overholt were absent.

Mrs. Holmes moved that the minutes of the regular meeting of October 10, 1967 be approved as submitted. Supported by Garber and carried unanimously.

At this time Mr. McEwen welcomed Mr. William Heath and his Adult Education Government class of Plymouth High School who were present to observe the Township Board of Trustees and also introduced each member of the Board to the group.

Each subject matter in the List of Bills was reviewed by Mr. McEwen. Mrs. Holmes advised that the amount totaling $722.11 covering repair of sewer in the vicinity of Plymouth Stamping would be reimbursed. Mr. Lauterbach moved that the Board approve payments of the bills in the Grand Total of $23,367.49. Supported by Mr. Garber and carried unanimously.

Opening of bids for painting the interior of the office portion of the Township Hall.

Mrs. Holmes moved at 8:12 p.m. that the bids for painting the interior of the office portion of the Township Hall be closed. Supported by Mrs. Richardson and carried unanimously. The following bids were opened and read by Mrs. Richardson:

1. Bob's Maintenance Service	$25.00
2. Sparta Painting Company	475.00
3. E. L. Painting Co., Inc.	485.00
4. Ronald W. Pagenkopf	$60.00 ($450.00 Exterior)
5. John M. Plante	485.00
6. C. J. Gaudet	$55.00

Following discussion of specifications contained in these bids, Mrs. Holmes moved that the Board refer said bids to Mr. McEwen, Director of Buildings, for study and his recommendation to the Board at its next regular meeting. Supported by Mr. Lauterbach and carried unanimously. Mrs. Holmes then asked that Mr. McEwen ascertain from the low bidders the time they could start the painting.

OLD BUSINESS - Report from Supervisor McEwen on commercial floor covering.

Mr. McEwen apprised the Board of the prices he had received on different types of floor covering. Following discussion on the area involved due to the proposed building of additional space, Mr. Lauterbach moved that the Board advertise for bids to be opened at the next meeting on floor covering, said bid to be in two distinct parts, that is, (1) the present office space, including material and installation, and (2) Meeting Room, including material and installation, and that the Board reserve the right to accept or reject any portion of the bid or all bids. Supported by Mr. Garber and carried unanimously.

Herald Hamill - Re: Detailed information and estimated cost for a sanitary sewer to serve the property east of Haggerty Road and north of the railroad, near Schoolcraft.

Mr. Hamill came before the Board and submitted drawings showing proposed sanitary sewer in the above-mentioned area. He then explained his proposal, stating that whatever was built in the area would also service the area over to the expressway. He also gave technical details of the proposed sewer and explained the necessity for certain depths, directions, etc., and stated that $13,775.00 was a reasonable accurate estimate cost for this project. In conclusion, Mr. Hamill stated that he believed that studies should be made to determine what was going to be done in that area. He stated that construction be completed prior to the expressway being built. Mr. Harold Fischer stated that he believed the Township would benefit, may be not by direct sewer benefits, but from other taxation, because of the excellent location, that is, the developed area would be in the vicinity of the expressway and near a Class "A" road, Schoolcraft. Following discussion, Mr. Garber moved that this matter be taken under consideration and study until the next regular meeting. Supported by Holmes and carried unanimously.

Elizabeth Holmes - Re: Report on cost of two new desks for water and sewer Dept.

Mrs. Holmes reported on her investigation of costs and description of desks for the sewer and water Dept. Following discussion, Mr. Lauterbach moved that the Board authorize Mrs. Holmes to purchase the desks as specified in her recommendation. Supported by Mr. Garber and carried unanimously.

Helen Richardson - Re: Change of date for receiving payroll checks.

Miss Richardson advised the Board that the department for their courage and assistance to the City of Detroit during the July, 1967 civil disorder; one award being signed by the Honorable P. Cavanagh, Mayor of the City of Detroit, and the other award being from the Tri-County Mutual Aid Association.

Herald Hamill - Re: Release of Bond No. 400 AC 0121, Woodlawn Subdivision.

Mrs. Holmes moved that the Board approve Mr. Hamill's recommendation that the water system be given final acceptance and the maintenance bond released upon a properly executed conveyance of the water system to the Township. Supported by Mr. Lauterbach and carried unanimously.

In her communication to the Board, Mrs. Richardson recommended that the Township of Plymouth payroll periods continue to end on the 15th and end of the month, but the date for receiving the payroll checks be the 30th and 31st of the month, thereby allowing five days between the end of the payroll period and the actual paying date, to be effective with the payroll period ending November 30, 1967. Following further explanation by Mrs. Richardson of the merit of changing the time payroll checks are received and discussion by the Board, Mr. Garber moved that the Board authorize Mrs. Richardson to change the date recommended in her communication. Supported by Mr. Lauterbach and carried unanimously.

Elizabeth Holmes - Re: Township customers serviced by the City of Plymouth water and sewer Dept.

In her communication, Mrs. Holmes advised that the auditor for the County Sewage Disposal system recommended that the City of Plymouth water meters for approximately 100 customers referred to above be read as the basis for charging for sewage disposal, and they be charged the same 17 cents per 100 gallons as other customers, and if the Board approved her recommendation, the customers' meters would be billed at a flat rate on November 15th and bill sewage disposal based on their meter reading January 15, 1968. Mrs. Holmes further discussed her recommendation and stated if it were approved, she would ask the City of Plymouth to verify addresses and before November 15, confirm consumption of water for these customers. Following discussion, Mrs. Richardson moved that the Board accept the recommendation of Mrs. Holmes and authorize her to ascertain from Mr. E. S. Sider, Clerk of the City of Plymouth, whether or not the Township could avail themselves to use the readings of the City of Plymouth. Supported by Mr. Lauterbach and carried unanimously.

Mr. Heath thanked the Board for the opportunity to observe Township Government in action and then asked a question regarding the method the Board uses to obtain expert advice on problems it encounters. In reply, Mr. McEwen gave an example of the use of the Township Engineer's services by the Board; Mrs. Holmes discussed the services received by the Board from the different departments of the County of Wayne; and Mrs. Richardson advised the class of the Board's membership in the Michigan Township Association and of the information received from the association.

Following these comments, Mr. McEwen asked for authorization to attend (with Mr. Hamill) a seminar to be held on October 31, 1967, entitled "Wayne County Economic Development" which required an advance registration fee of $5.00 per person. Mrs. Holmes then moved that the Board authorize the attendance of Mr. McEwen and Mr. Hamill at this Seminar, with the advanced Registration Fee of $5.00 per person being paid by the Township. Supported by Mr. Lauterbach and carried unanimously.

Following Mrs. Holmes' verbal request for the purchase of an adding machine for the Water Dept., Mr. Lauterbach moved that the Board authorize the purchase of a 10 bank adding machine for the Sewer and Water Dept. Supported by Garber and carried unanimously.

A motion was made by Mr. Garber, supported by E. Holmes, to adjourn the meeting. The Supervisor adjourned the meeting at 10:12 p.m.

Approved, JOHN D. MCEWEN, Supervisor

Respectfully Submitted, HELEN RICHARDSON, Clerk

Orchard Ridge: A Campus Without Classrooms

STUDY CARRELS are created so that many students are able to sit together but still have relative privacy. Each unit is equipped with electrical outlets which furnish power for tape recorders that are used to listen to specialized tapes on a particular subject.

Student Editor's Attack On Gas Lamp Frills

(Editor's note: Joel Smith, editor of Oakland Community College's Highland Lakes Campus newspaper "The Second Front," wrote this editorial in the school's paper's edition of Oct. 12. It is reprinted with his permission.)

Since the opening of two campuses in 1965, the Board of Trustees has attempted to improve the educational facilities of OCC. Starting with a converted TB hospital and an abandoned missile base, OCC has now progressed enough to open still another campus (Orchard Ridge in Farmington).

But the job of improving the educational facilities is far from over for the Trustees. It has just begun.

At present, the Highland Lakes campus has only one room large enough to hold 100 students. This campus is in urgent need of a building where guest speakers can talk to large groups. This is important to the furthering of our education.

But where is this all-important building? Why can't we students have such a facility?

WE HAVE HEARD throughout the past two years that "because of a lack of funds," the Trustees cannot give us such a building. Why aren't these funds available to help improve our education?

Money is available, but it seems that the Board cares more about the beauty of the campuses than the kind of facilities we must have to get the quality education we need so desperately in today's society.

The beautiful new Orchard Ridge campus will cost the taxpayer about $16 million. Of this sum, about one-quarter million dollars went toward the purchase and installation of ornamental gas lamps for roads and parking lots.

In talking with a representative of the general contractor or of the first phase of the new campus, J.A. Utley Co., we learned that these gas lamps cost about $250 each, installed. With between 900 and 1,000 such lamps on the Orchard Ridge campus, this equals more than enough to purchase many essential educational facilities for students.

THESE LAMPS are beautiful, but what is more important, a quality education or the beauty of that campus? Might not the purchase of these lamps have been delayed until such time as we had all the buildings needed at the campuses?

We urge the Trustees to re-evaluate the proposed spending of any more money. They should realize that the college needs many more things to advance the education of its students. Frills that make a campus more beautiful should wait.

Shouldn't we put first things first?

Shouldn't we make it possible for the student body to get a quality education before we spend funds to beautify another campus?

RIGHT NOW, Smith said that Highland Lakes is short of

OCC Heads Defend Their Investment

A feud between Oakland Community College's Board of Trustees and the editor of OCC's Highland Lakes campus newspaper over the building policies of the Board has begun.

Joel Smith, the student editor, believes that OCC is turning its Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township into a showplace at the expense of the other campuses and other needs. (See editorial.)

Smith contends that "quality education" at the Highland Lakes campus is being sacrificed in order that OCC can "show-off" its Orchard Ridge campus.

books, tape decks and printed materials.

The student editor maintains that Orchard Ridge campus is getting everything it needs while Highland Lakes, the older campus, is still in need of basic educational tools.

He said that things like landscaping could have been put off until more important things had been taken care of.

"If we don't get facilities that should be offered to us, we can't possibly get the education we need to better society and to transfer to another university," he said, adding: "I think we are getting short changed."

DR. RICHARD E. WILSON, provost at the Orchard Ridge campus, said that the floodlights were installed as a temporary measure because all of the gas lights have not been finished.

Wilson said, "I would go along with the president for Smith to check his facts before he goes shooting off his mouth."

"I really don't know what he is recommending," he said. Some of these things called luxuriant frills are really functional, Wilson said.

The provost said that students are able to study longer without getting bored and feeling they have to get up and move around.

Wilson said that as far as he knows, there is no shortage of materials at Orchard Ridge.

MITCHELL TENDLER, administrative assistant to the president, said, "Certainly there are going to be shortages but this doesn't serve as an indictment of OCC's instructional program."

Tendler said, "We are doing no worse than comparable institutions."

The militant student editor is not going to give up his fight.

He said he will bring matters to a head at the Nov. 9 Board of Trustees meeting at 2480 Opdyke Rd., in Bloomfield Hills.

LANGUAGE CLASSES that have few students meet in their respective language laboratories. This is a Spanish class.

Oakland Community College has designed and built a campus which is virtually without classrooms.

OCC has come closest to the ideal situation of a one-to-one relationship between teacher and student at its Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township.

The campus is on a 154-acre site between Farmington and Orchard Lake roads just south of the I-696 Freeway.

Orchard Ridge opened its doors in September and has a total enrollment of 1,585 students.

Upon its completion next year, it will have 11 buildings costing about $20 million.

At Orchard Ridge campus, OCC puts the emphasis upon the individual student and concentrates on each student's individual study.

THE TRADITIONAL CONCEPT of buildings filled with classrooms, students filing from class to class and only seeing their instructor during class has figuratively been thrown out of the window.

For each course, students assemble once a week for a lecture by a master teacher. The rest of the student's time is spent, as he feels necessary, in the "tutorial laboratories."

Each lab is open 14 hours a day, with a faculty member always available, and provides individual study carrels, audio tapes, visual displays, books, periodicals, experimental set-ups, programmed material, manuals, apparatus, television and any other instructional device.

Each lab is geared to a specific subject or a particular area of knowledge.

The labs are also used for seminars, conferences, quizzes—and socializing.

This unique approach places every possible learning tool at each student's disposal and allows him to progress at his own pace.

ALL BUILDINGS were designed with the close student-teacher concept in mind.

There is a central core of three buildings which house the shared facilities: lecture centers, student commons, and library.

Clustered around these core facilities are seven tutorial lab buildings.

Four large lecture rooms seat from 100 to 200 students.

In addition, there is an outdoor amphitheater for about 1,000.

Physical education facilities and parking for 3,500 cars complete the complex.

JOHN E. TIRRELL, president of OCC, said, "Orchard Ridge campus has been designed specifically to house an unusual education program."

The program includes the full range of instruction: academic terminal and transfer courses, vocational and technical training, and adult education.

Interior spaces are kept flexible for changes and additions to the program.

The angular roof planes and sculptural forms of the building complex respond strongly to the rugged site.

THE BUILDINGS FALL naturally along the existing ridge and conform with the twisting and turning of the gently sloping hills.

The name, Orchard Ridge, was chosen because it is located in an old orchard, part of which is still there.

The student parking lots are located on the east and west extremities of the campus so that the complex of buildings could remain close together.

The close proximity of the buildings is designed so that it will take a student only 10 minutes to walk from the furthest two corners of each structure.

The campus has come up against some controversy from an OCC student editor. The story appears below.

Michigan Pacing Growth Of Town Hall Lectures

BY MARGARET MILLER
Women's Editor

For several hundred women in Observerland, Town Hall means a day to put on their best dresses and smartest hats and go out for some fine entertainment or mental stimulation. They've been enjoying for several years now the visits four or five times a season of some of the nation's best speakers and personalities. Few of them realize, though, that town halls have become a big business -- and one that is centered right in the Detroit area.

ROBERT KEEDICK, a Connecticut man who books many Michigan town halls in any other state--a total of 26--and 14 of them in metropolitan Detroit.

In town recently to begin some bookings for the 1968-69 season -- and incidentally to catch the program put on by singer Hildegard -- he said the growth of small city and suburban Town Halls has been amazing in the last decade or so.

"The large commercial organizations, like Detroit Town Hall in the Fisher Theater, have been going for a lot longer," he said. "But the idea of a Town Hall series, with proceeds going to some worthy purpose, began with the Birmingham Town Hall shortly after the war. It's been growing ever since."

THE THREE Town Halls in this area fit into this trend. The Livonia Town Hall raises funds for American Field Service students, and the new Farmington series is earmarking its funds for a new YMCA in the community.

The Northville Town Hall makes contributions to a variety of charities at the end of each season.

Keedick said his agency is one of five major ones, and handles several dozen speakers who cover a tremendous variety of subjects.

Tastes vary greatly among Town Hall leaders, he said, but it's a sure bet that speakers who have had television exposure are usually the best drawing cards.

"Bennett Cerf is our all-time big favorite," Keedick said. "He loves the town hall circuit, and he shows it to his audiences. Financially, there's not much gain for him, and he doesn't need the exposure, but he can plug his publishing house's new books, and I think he collects a lot of the material for his own books this way."

KEEDICK'S AGENCY "delivers" the speaker to each Town Hall to the extent of making travel and hotel arrangements for them.

Sometimes he goes a bit farther, as with Hildegard, who missed a date with the Fisher Town Hall last spring because, as she told her audience here, she "simply forgot."

He smiled affably when she told of his several reminders to be sure she got on the plane this time. But Keedick hastened to point out that "we weren't handing her at that time."

One of the typical headaches of his business cropped up in connection with Hildegard's Farmington appearance. She was a last minute substitute for actor Walter Slezak, who was detained in Europe by a picture he was making.

"This is a big problem with booking actors," he said. "We have to make our schedules well ahead, and sometimes their commitments just can't be kept when motion picture shooting schedules have to be changed."

USUALLY Town Hall leaders want tried and true speakers, and usually Keedick can tell them he's heard the lecturer in question and can tell them what to expect.

An exception to both rules was one of his very popular speakers a few years ago, young Winston Churchill.

"We added him to our roster on the strength of his grandfather's name," Keedick said, "and before I had a chance to hear him we needed some bookings to fill an emergency. So I had to tell the women they knew as much about him as I. As it turned out, he was a charming speaker, and the audiences loved him."

Winston the grandson, hasn't been lecturing to Town Hall audiences this season. He's been busy using his charm on Englishmen, seeking a seat in the British Parliament.

But there are many to take his place, and the Town Hall business booms on.

Suburban Gardener

Plant Trees Even In Middle Of Winter

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

Once in a while, an item appears in the news that someone advocates cutting down and eliminating trees from some area or other.

Most of us greet this with a feeling of shock or amazement, because we have an innate feeling of love and respect for trees.

Trees are more than just something nice to look at. They condition wind and temperature, acting as a small-scale climate control, and they help control water run-off and prevent erosion.

They are worth far more than they cost and give big dividends in return for a small initial investment and practically no care and attention.

THERE ARE TWO schools of thought on what size tree to plant.

Some experts feel that it is better to transplant young, small trees. They feel that they suffer less from the shock of transplanting and make a faster recovery and begin growing sooner than a large tree would.

Other experts feel that the gardener should buy as large a tree as his budget will allow. He will immediately have a close approximation of the desired landscape effect and will not have to wait years for the tree to do what he wants it to. Modern digging machinery and sprays to put on the tree to cut down on water loss have made the moving of large trees much more feasible. The gardener will have to balance instant results against lower cost and easier moving and make his choice.

COST OF A TREE varies somewhat from one kind to another, but in general the cost is more a function of size than of kind.

Size is calculated from the diameter of the trunk measured one foot above the ground. This is known as the "caliper". Trees with a diameter of an inch or two can be planted bare rooted and are light weight and easy to handle and move. Trees of this size can generally be purchased for around $10.

A well-shaped tree about 20 feet tall and with a diameter of two to three inches can cost $50 or more.

USE CARE when planting a tree. Make the hole deeper and wider than needed to accommodate the roots.

Fill in the extra space with good soil enriched with humus, peat moss, or old manure. This will help get it off to a good start as the roots start growing.

Settle the tree in the hole so that it is at the same level at which it was growing. Stand back and take a look at it to see if it is turned so you are getting the most advantageous view of it. It sometimes looks better from one side than from another.

After the tree is settled in the hole, half fill the hole with soil. Then water thoroughly to remove any air pockets. Finish filling the hole, pressing the soil firmly around the roots and water again. To facilitate watering, leave the soil mounded up at the edges to form a saucer.

A dose of quick acting liquid fertilizer will stimulate root growth. Do not feed other fertilizer at this time.

IT IS WISE to stake or guy the tree so that it will not be blown crooked by winter gales before there are enough roots to anchor it.

When guying or staking use a piece of old rubber garden hose to go around the tree. This will protect it from damage that a wire might cause.

Trees can be planted now or, they can be planted at any time during the winter. The Detroit Department of Parks does much of its tree planting during January and February.

A pick ax or an air hammer can be used to dig a hole in frozen ground, but if planting is planned ahead, it is wise to dig the hole now and fill it with straw or leaves that can be removed easily.

One of the main advantages of mid-winter planting is that a truck can deliver a large tree to the spot where it is to be planted without leaving ruts on the lawn.

observing sports

It was a shindig we would have liked to have attended.

The scene was New York City's Americana Hotel the other evening, and most of the old gang from the Stars and Stripes turned out.

We'd have gone, except that duties dictated otherwise, so we could only have joined those in spirit who did make it to New York in saluting the 25th anniversary of the S. and S.

Those in our audience who served in World War II in the ETO, or elsewhere beyond the borders of the U.S., must remember the Stars and Stripes, the most compact little newspaper ever published in the world.

In four tabloid-sized pages, the S. and S. crammed the entire world's news... from what was happening on all the war battle fronts to the scores and highlights of major sports attractions here in the U.S.

We jumped aboard the S. and S. bandwagon about 18 months after the World War II editions were inaugurated. The first sergeant of our company up at an air base in northwest England had told us there was no chance of landing on the S. and S.

But we took the chance... rode a train down to London, ducked a few bombs... and made it to the offices of the paper's headman.

YOU OLD LONDONERS will certainly remember Hyde Park and the U.S. Embassy. That's where GIs had a picnic, because you had to salute every officer, and you could really drive the men with the brass on their shoulders batty.

Anyway, we went looking for a Major Llewellyn. We found him, but at the hour he was promoted to lieutenant colonel.

He was in good spirits... literally and figuratively. Sure, he told us, he needed some new help. After all, the paper was to expand, as soon as the Americans went to France.

"You'll hear from us," he declared. "This has to go through channels, you know."

Sure enough, his letter eventually got around to where we were stationed and the captain called us and told us to scram.

So it was on to London and that dark, dreary office in a corner of the London Times, a block or so from historical St. Paul's Cathedral.

The S. and S. staffers were a select crew. They had some sharpies from New York and elsewhere, but the only one we knew was the late Bob Wood, of Redford Township, who had worked on the Free Press before he was drafted.

Typical of most military groups, the S. and S. guys grumbled, especially on Fridays when the colonel ordered them to assemble and march through Hyde Park for exercise.

"You're soldiers first," he'd say. "Always remember that."

AT FIRST YOU LIVED through the planes that bombed London... then the V-1's and finally the V-2's. The staffers had no said barracks. We got paid to find our own housing.

So each day we'd check in and count noses. There was always the painful thought that somebody might have caught it during the night. After all, you knew bombs had dropped. You saw 'em, you heard 'em, you later looked at the wreckage.

Virtually everything you wrote had to be checked by the censors. Sometimes, fellows like Bob Hutton would scream. The censors generally won.

None of us ate too well. We had to do it on British rations which we purchased from the regular stores like any native Londoner.

Fortunately, there were those packages from home, a lovely aunt in Nottingham who'd bring down eggs and cheese, and kind mess sergeants at various installations who were kind to S. and S. staffers.

Our duties with the S. and S. carried us to Belfast, North Ireland, for an edition there; later back briefly to London and then back to boss the New York bureau where each day you were amazed as you sat down and headed your copy: "File to Stars Stripes, London, Paris, Frankfurt, Rome, Honolulu and Tokyo."

From time to time we have run across some of the old gang. Most of us have fattened up considerably. There are a few, like Bob Wood, who are starring somewhere else in the land where no doubt there always is peace.

You must admit that if you had to be in the Army, you couldn't have landed a better assignment.

Those two years on the S. and S. have helped you tremendously in your days since.

LONG-DISTANCE SPEEDERS—Farmington High School Coach Jerry Young gets ready to fire a starting gun for these members of the hot Falcons cross-country team. From left: John Kempf, Dave Pardo, Dick O'Connell, Larry Williams, Gary Williams, Dwight Holm, Tim Stoddard, Mike Atchison and Dave Clifford.

A 2-Man Record For 2 Miles

Maybe it was to be expected. A new varsity cross country record went into the books at Farmington High this past week.

But it doesn't belong to one man. It belongs to two—the Williams' twins, Larry and Gary.

Brother chased brother all the way as Farmington ended a spotless dual-meet season by downing North Farmington, 25-31.

When the finish to the two-mile race approached, the Williams' boys were roaring along neck and neck. They were still that way when they broke the tape.

THE JUDGES HUDDLED for several moments. So did the timers.

The verdict was the same--- the boys had run a DEADHEAT. What's more each was timed in 9:54.2, a new school and course record. The old Farmington mark of 9:56.8 was set four years ago by Dennis Hunt. "There's no question, the twins are the best cross country runners in this area," said coach Bill Young of Farmington.

Just three days before, they had run 1-2 in the state Class A regional at Farmington and both were rated a good chance to finish among the first 10 in Saturday's state championships at Ypsilanti.

The victory gave Farmington a 9-0 record in dual meet action.

As far as the twins were concerned, the tie was nothing new. They have hit the wire together three times this year.

"I NEVER SAW a fight like the boys put on against North Farmington," Young said. "Each was determined to win. Neither was willing to concede anything."

Rick Randle of North Farmington placed third with teammates Dick Korulis and Robin Murphy right behind in fourth and fifth, respectively.

Dick O'Connell and Dwight Hulin, both of Farmington, were the next two over. Then came North Farmington's Wilson, Farmington's Tim Stoddard and North Farmington's Dave Pardo to round out the top 10 and the pointmakers.

Randle also was among the area qualifiers for the state meet at Ypsilanti.

Soccer 'Smash' At Stevenson

The first season of soccer ends for Stevenson High School Monday with Cranbrook the opponent.

In the words of coach Larry Christoff "It's been a smash success—our first year."

One of the first Detroit area public schools to go for soccer, Stevenson plans to continue to sponsor a team in the years ahead.

"JUST WHAT KIND of a schedule we'll have next season will depend on what some of the other schools close to us do," said Christoff.

"We would like nothing better than to have a new public school league with teams from Bentley, Franklin, Plymouth and maybe nearby Farmington," declared the coach.

"But if they elect not to go in for soccer just yet, we can continue to arrange games with private schools like Cranbrook and the Grosse Pointe University School."

CHRISTOFF SAID it was surprising just "how many schools have called and wanted to play us." Some of the calls have come as far away as Ohio," Christoff noted.

Officials at Stevenson have found that soccer in no way has competed with football or cross country, the two long established fall sports in the high schools.

"All we have done is to make a sports outlet available to the boys who don't want to play football or run on the cross country team," said Christoff.

Gordon Preston, the publicist for the Detroit Cougars professional team, has visited Stevenson and declared the team would help in any way possible.

The Stevenson team suffered only its second loss Tuesday when blanked by the Grosse Pointe University School, 1-0. The setback put the Stevenson record at four wins, two ties and two defeats.

Pairings Set For Tourney

Pairings for the first round of the National Junior College soccer tournament at Schoolcraft College have been announced.

Schoolcraft will meet Delta in the first game at noon Friday with Jackson playing Lorain in the second at 2:30 p.m.

The consolation and championship games will be played next Saturday.

The winning team will advance to the NJCAA invitational meet at Buffalo, N.Y., on Nov. 18.

Foes Face Head-On

The North Farmington-Farmington High football game next Saturday headlines the final week of action for area grid teams.

Actually, it's a slimmed down schedule since the Livonia schools wrapped up their slates this weekend, except for Clarenceville.

Welcome!

The Detroit Red Wings hosts the new Los Angeles Kings for the first time Sunday night at Olympia. Terry Sawchuk, former Red Wing great who makes his home in Union Lake, Mich., is in goal for the Kings.

You May Have Trouble Finding Favorite Booze

You may be having trouble getting your pet brand of liquor at your favorite little drug or party store.

There are a couple of reasons—and one is related to Detroit's riots of last July. But the situation shouldn't last too long, according to George J. Burke, Jr., business manager of the state Liquor Control Commission, which has a monopoly on liquor sales in Michigan.

Meanwhile, suburban customers and small package liquor licensees will be inconvenienced, an Observer survey indicates.

SOURCE OF THE problem is an LCC policy which took effect Oct. 1 limiting the number of "split" cases a licensee can order.

There are 12 fifths or 24 pints in a case. A "split" order is three or six fifths or six or a dozen pints.

The new policy says the licensee can get only 10 per cent of his full-case order in fifths. For example, a licensee who orders 30 full cases can get only three cases of "splits"; under normal circumstances, he could order any number of "splits."

REASONS FOR THE new rule, said Burke, are two:

First, the LCC got $600,000 less than it asked from the Legislature. It ordered a cut in the number of splits to save handling expenses.

"It's six times as time-consuming to fill an order for a case of splits as it does for a straight," Burke said.

Second, the Detroit riots of July disturbed the liquor business. Some dealers were put out of business entirely. Others were afraid to re-order after the riot, which boosted the business of outlying dealers.

Then the dealers near the inner city got over their fear and began making "panic" orders of huge stocks, which threw the LCC's workload off kilter, Burke said.

The LCC is now filling orders on a regular basis, Burke said, but service had been irregular from September to mid-October.

He said the LCC would soon try to modify the splits order.

"THIS WEEKEND I'll be missing three gins," said Rod Linn, proprietor of Linn's Party Store at 19162 Farmington Rd., Livonia.

Ordinarily, he needs about five to 10 cases of splits to keep a reasonable stock of the slow-moving brands. Now he can get only three.

"I just got an order in—and look, I've got blank spaces on my shelves," he said.

There were blank spaces on his shelves. Linn feels he has two alternatives:

1. Carry a smaller stock. In the short run, a customer may switch brands; in the long run, he may switch stores.

2. Invest in a larger stock—which costs a lot of money. Linn gave this example: Three fifths of a certain brand of scotch, which will sell in a week, cost him $14.28; a full case would cost $57.12. Multiply that by many slow-moving brands that he carries for particular customers, and you have an idea of the financial problem.

ROBERT BEYER, who has an SDD license for his Rexall Drug store at 480 N. Main, Plymouth, sees the new policy as forcing him to increase his stock.

"The new rule is actually cheating the customer," he said, because small retailers will have a lack of variety.

The retailer, too, will be hurt in the pocket when he carries a larger inventory—it will increase his property taxes, Beyer pointed out.

While Beyer felt the new policy wouldn't hurt him a great deal, he added that a number of small liquor retailers—including a specific acquaintance in Cedar Rapids—may be forced to the wall because they can't afford large enough stocks.

A FARMINGTON licensee, who asked not to be identified by name, said he will have to increase his inventory, which in turn will increase his taxes.

But he didn't feel hurt and wasn't complaining.

He said he carries a number of expensive brands of liquor. Where these would be slow movers to another dealer, they are his regular stock for Farmington customers.

The retailer said the new rule will force businessmen to watch their inventories more carefully—but they should be watching them carefully anyway.

Economic Growth Seen As A Regional Problem

By DWIGHT JARRELL
Staff Writer

While the head of Michigan's Office of Economic Expansion last week tossed the ball of industrial development to civic leaders and public officials from 45 Wayne County communities, the state legislature was engaged in another ball game commonly called "political football."

The latter case involved a bill in the State Senate which, under the heading of Council of Governments (COG), would provide a regional forum for the discussion of local government problems. Its proponents claim it has been scuttled by conservatives in the upper body of the Legislature who have inserted amendments in the original bill which restrict the types of problems COG will be able to discuss. And, at the same time, the same amendments close the door on schools for COG membership.

IN THE MEANTIME, while COG sat on the bench, state official B.M. Conboy, at a Wayne County Economic Development Commission seminar held Tuesday in Dearborn, was leading a cheering section for the support of COG by the 150 mayors, township supervisors, city commissioners, and industrial developers and coordinators present at the meeting. Conboy is executive director of the Michigan Department of Commerce's Office of Economic Development.

"It is no longer possible for any Wayne County community to function as an island of political jurisdiction," Conboy told his listeners. "The isolated community actions regarding tax policy, zoning, and the cost of services are not only obsolete but tend to detract from important growth potential for the whole state," he said.

His analysis of community responsibility to industry he defined as pointing "irrevocably to the provision of services throughout the broader geographic area."

"YOU HAVE HEARD this referred to as councils of government, metropolitan programs, multi-county development districts, and in other ways," he explained.

DEATHS

ERNEST L. RAY, Services for Ernest L. Ray, 72, of Grosse Pointe, father of Mrs. Robert Benya, of Farmington, were held Nov. 2 at Verheyden Funeral Home, Grosse Pointe. Officiating were the Rev. John Estes, of Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, and George Washington Post of the American Legion. Cremation was held in White Chapel Cemetery. Mr. Ray died suddenly Oct. 30.

He was retired manager of the Detroit and Toledo Shoreline Railroad Co., past state president of the Exchange Clubs of Michigan, past commander of the George Washington Post and a 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason.

Also surviving are his wife, Vera; another daughter, Mrs. Betty Davey, of Jackson; a stepson, John Richardson, of St. Clair Shores; three sisters; and six grandchildren.

HERMAN D. JOHNSON, 74, of 22233 Floral Ave., Farmington, died Oct. 25 in his home following a short illness. Funeral services were conducted Oct. 28 in the Thayer Funeral Home by Dr. W. Leslie Williams of Farmington and First Methodist Church. Burial was in Acacia Park Cemetery, Birmingham.

Mr. Johnson had resided in Farmington for 17 years. A retired salesman for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., he was a life member of Marquette Lodge #101 F.&A.M. and the Ahmen Shrine Temple and Francis M. Moore Consistory.

A World War I veteran, he was a member of the Groves-Walker Post #346 of the American Legion and also held a membership in the Greater Shrine Club of Farmington.

Mr. Johnson is survived by his wife, Doris; a daughter, Mrs. George (Margaret) Boehm of Detroit; and one granddaughter.

MRS. BARBARA E. BINGHAM, Funeral services for Mrs. Bingham of 23000 Gill Rd., Farmington, were conducted Oct. 31 in the Thayer Funeral Home by Dr. W. Leslie Williams of Farmington and First Methodist Church. Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery.

Mrs. Bingham, 81, died Oct. 29 in the Pines Convalescent Home following an extended illness. She is survived by her husband, Walter; a daughter, Mrs. Wiley (Margaret) Pruner of Farmington; two grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Nettie Driebel of Freeport, Ill.

PATRICK D. FORD, Funeral services for Mr. Ford, of Commerce Township, were conducted Nov. 3 by the Rev. Walter E. Ballagh of the First Baptist Church of Farmington in the Heene Sundquist Funeral Home. Burial was in the Sundquist Funeral Home. Mr. Ford died Oct. 31 in an automobile accident at Pontiac Trail and Decker Rd. Mr. Ford was a student at Schoolcraft College. In addition to his parents, he is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Ford of Englewood, Fla.; a brother, Timothy; and three sisters, Sandra, Laurie and Pezzy.
