Open Housing Ordinance Saved By 4 To 3 Vote Of Commissioners

Charles Zoet

Rev. Herbert Brubaker

Mrs. William Baskins

Speakers Favor Housing Code

For more than two hours Monday evening, residents of Plymouth had an opportunity to express their views on the proposed open housing ordinance and more than two dozen, of close to 300 persons who attended, accepted the invitation.

Here are some of the views:

REV. HERBERT BRUBAKER: "I want to commend the Commission for this privilege of expressing my views. As long as these people work in our factories and provide the opportunities we have, we should see that they have the right to live here. We should practice brotherhood."

DON STROM: "I have devoted much of my time to the mechanics of war and I have worked for builders. In this instance I must agree with Rev. Brubaker. I think the rights and privileges of the minority are being compromised."

THOMAS HEALY, former City attorney: "I am in favor of the ordinance, but there are two points I want to stress. Under Section 6 the word 'knowingly' should be inserted to clarify the misleading statement clause. As an explanation a police officer might sign a complaint on misleading information. I don't think he should be held in violation. In Section 9, if a private sale is exempt we may just as well have no ordinance at all."

DR. DONALD DAVIES, Chairman of Human Relations Committee: "Our Commission supports the intent of the ordinance. I urge the Commission to pass it as I think it is important that it be adopted at the local level."

HELEN BEAVERS: "I have lived in Plymouth for 16 years and my memory will be enhanced if this ordinance is passed. I am happy for the chance to read and study the ordinance. I don't want to place a burden on the real estate men, but will be happy with its adoption."

RICHARD WERNETTE, former Mayor of the City of

THE PUBLIC SPEAKS: For more than two hours the residents of Plymouth expressed their opinions of the proposed Open Housing ordinance at City Hall. Pictured above are some of the speakers and in the lower view the gathering is shown reading the controversial document.

Two Big 'If's' Hold Major Interest Of Plymouth Community Fund Leaders

Two big "if's" are holding the attention of the Plymouth Community Fund leaders as time arrives for the final report meeting at the Mayflower Meeting House on Wednesday evening.

These two "if's" are:
1--If Business comes through with $10,000 as it usually does in the drive.

2--If the Ford employees hit the $16,000 mark in their campaign.

"We are just hoping," Jim Thomas, campaign chairman, said as he awaited the final results.

"We already have hit the $7,500 mark in the business division and there are two big donors still to be heard from. I am confident that they will come through as they did last year."

The big news awaited, however, is the report of the Ford employees.

These men were idle because of a strike for more than a month and the drive for the Community Fund got a late start.

"We received $16,000 from this source a year ago," chairman Thomas pointed out, "and if they just equal that sum this year we will be all right."

The final figures will not be known until Wednesday evening at the annual dinner.

At that time each division chairman will make his final report and the community fund leaders still are hopeful that the goal of $98,565 will be reached.

Aside from the reports of the division captains, the highlight of the evening will be furnished by Judd Arnett, popular columnist of the Detroit Free Press. Judd has acquired quite a reputation as a speaker and he should provide a jovial time of it.

The dinner, sponsored as a way of saying "thanks" to the workers, is scheduled at 7:30 p.m.

Auto Plate Sale Ahead Of Year Ago

The sale of auto license plates in Plymouth is far ahead of other years and moving further ahead each day.

"We are about three weeks ahead of last year," Bob Dwyer, Secretary of State branch manager, explained, "and I feel that the big sale is the result of the prepared forms that were sent in the mail."

The Plymouth office usually disposes of about 20,000 plates each year.

"Despite the big early sale," Dwyer continued, "we are anticipating the usual jam-up on the closing days of the sale."

One Vote Beats Referendum Bid

In a meeting that was fraught with emotion and pointed remarks the Plymouth City Commission voted 4 to 3 Monday evening to give the proposed Open Housing ordinance its second reading and move another step closer toward passage of the controversial measure.

This action came after Commissioner Arch Vallier proposed that the Commission proceed no further with the reading of the ordinance, but have it prepared for a place on the ballot at the election next spring.

Vallier's move started the discussion in which each Commissioner spoke and emotion reached its peak. But the move was defeated 4 to 3, with Commissioners James Houk, James McKeon, Peter Schweitzer and Robert Smith casting negative votes.

IMMEDIATELY, Mayor James Jabara called for a vote on the original motion offered by Commissioner Smith and it carried with Commissioners George Hudson, Arch Vallier and Jabara casting negative votes.

As a result the third reading and final action will be taken at the regular meeting on December 4.

In setting the date, City Attorney Charles Lowe and City Manager Richard Blodgett pointed out that the charter stated that at least two weeks must elapse between the first and third reading. Aside from that Commissioner Houk plans to be out of the city on the date of the next regular meeting, November 20, and in deference to him the Commissioners decided on the December date.

Close to 300 persons jammed the Commission Chambers for the public hearing that preceded the official meeting and each present was invited to speak. Many did and a majority favored passage of the ordinance.

IT WAS after the hearing adjourned that the real action took place--and it wasn't long in coming.

Commissioner Smith asked that the ordinance be given its second reading by title only.

Immediately, Commissioner Vallier offered a substitute motion asking that the Commission proceed no further with

School Nurses Ask Raise

A committee of Plymouth School District nurses came before the Board Monday night and stated that they were being under paid in relation to the amount of work they perform.

Spokesman for the nurses, Shirley Cunningham, said that Plymouth's nurses should be paid the same as teachers.

Right now the nurses are getting from $5,400 to the top $6,500 with the same fringe benefits as teachers, while some teachers are getting as much as $10,000.

Esther L. Hulsing, board president, remarked that the nurses salaries are low and something like a salary schedule or guide should be set up by the board "so that we can live with it and the nurses can live with it."

It was agreed by the board that the nurses and school administrators should work out all the details and then their decisions should be presented to the board as soon as possible.

Previously the board simply set the wages for the nurses once a year. No salary scale was ever established.

The other two nurses are Virginia Gibson, who has been with the school district ten years, and Nancy Kauffman, a part-time nurse.

DANGEROUS INTERSECTION: Since the widening of South Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail this intersection has become hazardous. As shown in the above diagram a pedestrian has only 10 seconds to cross when the "walk" signal is on. The pedestrian also has the right of way while the sign is blinking, but it is hazardous. While the intersection was widened the signals weren't changed.

School Enrollment Hits 8,405 Mark

As of Oct. 10 the Plymouth Community School District had a total enrollment of 8,405 students in both elementary and secondary levels.

Total elementary enrollment was 4,784 and total secondary enrollment was 3,621.75.

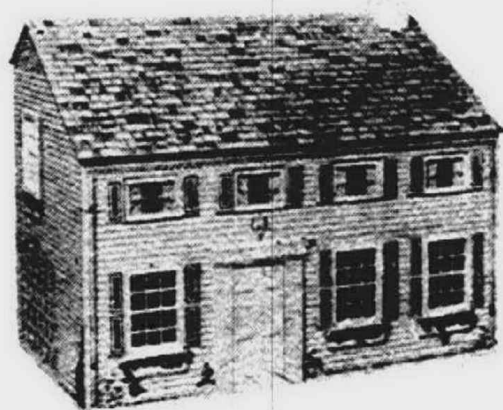

These figures covered 20 days of instruction between Sept. 29 to Oct. 27.

Livonia's Chamber of Commerce Director Phil Tanguay was caught in the middle of a pressing bonding issue and was not able to rouse a large delegation.

His Chamber and Plymouth business will be represented by John Beard of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, however.

FARMINGTON Board of Commerce Administrator Barb Benya reports 13 participating through her office. She and Board President Fred Scott of Steelcrete corporation will head that delegation.

Dowdy is general manager of Redford's largest industry, the General Motors Diesel Engine plant, and Bracken is a State Farm Insurance agent.

Auto Show Features Top Entertainers

It's only fitting that the upcoming 52nd Detroit Auto Show, the nation's largest display of new cars, trucks and recreational vehicles--should feature top-rank entertainers in its twice-daily stage show. Top names like Woody Herman, Della Reese and Bobby Vinton.

It's only right that the entertainment also should have a strong local flavor, since the auto show is sponsored by the 250-member Detroit Auto Dealers Association.

State Home Open House, Tour Set

Plymouth State Home and Training School, at the corner of Five Mile and Sheldon roads in Northville Township has planned two events to observe National Retarded Children's Week.

The first, Wednesday, Nov. 15, in Benet Hall, will be a program and open house for parents, friends and interested members of the community, from 4 to 8 p.m.

The stage show will go on at 4 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. every day during the run of the auto show, Nov. 18-26, in Cobo Hall. A special theatre, with a stage and seating for 1,500 people, will be erected in Hall D at Cobo, and admission to the stage show will be free to anyone already within the premises of the auto show itself.

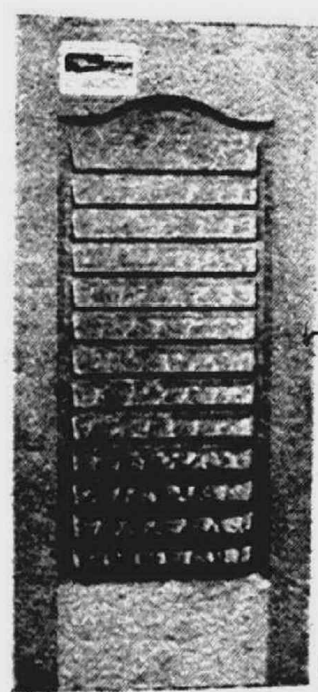

Woody Herman will provide music with his 16-piece band, backing up Della Reese and Bobby Vinton in their vocal numbers and also a few show pieces in the best of the old "big band" tradition. Della will appear Nov. 18 through Nov. 21, and Bobby Vinton will be featured the final four days.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY—Alfred and Anna Horn, married for 50 years and residents of Plymouth for 41, celebrated their golden anniversary Friday. Mrs. Eva Wagner, bridesmaid at the nuptials in St. Paul's Episcopal Church at Hubbell and Grand River in Detroit on Nov. 10, 1917, was present at the festivities. The Horns have three sons, Tom of Plymouth, Don of Redford and Al of Livonia; nine grandchildren, and one great-grandson.

the reading and have it prepared for the ballot.
"I am opposed to this ordinance," Vallier stated, "because in my opinion it will do more harm than good. You can't give Negroes rights by taking them away from others. I spent three days in Detroit during the riots and I saw what went on."
At this stage, Commissioner Hudson stated his opposition, with the remark, "We'd be better off with no ordinance at all."

Plymouth: "I am not too concerned about exemptions. I am concerned with the right of the individual. He has no right to discriminate. Mexicans, Indians or anyone else has the right to buy where they want and can afford."

CHARLES ZOET, President of the Assembly of Equal Opportunity: "I want to commend the Commission for coming to grips with this problem. Housing should be open to anyone. I would like to point out two things—get over the feeling that the passing of the ordinance is for benefit of minority group and does it impose on personal rights. There are many things we can't do with our housing now. I think the ordinance is necessary."

Schools Plan To Obtain Radio Wave

Possibly by 1970 Plymouth High School will be operating its own short wave radio.
Right now, the Plymouth Board of Education is conducting a survey to find an available frequency and then it will apply to the Federal Communications Commission for a short wave license.
When it is installed the student station will be run mostly by students with teacher-advisor guiding them.
James Rossman, superintendent of schools, said that the station would cost about $2,500 a year. Initial costs will be around $15,000 or $20,000 until it becomes established.

REV. HENRY WALCH: "The ministry looks at this from a different angle. Much of what is being said concerns property laws and Justice and Freedom are the main words.
But let's remember the background of the Negro. The pictures of the war in Vietnam show many of them in battle. The blacks and the whites fight together, die together, and often are buried together. So, if he is not good enough to fight for us and die for us then he is not good enough to live with us.
Our use of the missile proves that we are living in a different world today and old solutions don't fit today. I urge the passing of the ordinance. It will be a trip toward the stars."

MRS. WILLIAM BASKINS: "I would like to say that I am against the ordinance. I have lived here for 25 years, worked many years and paid taxes here for many years. And I want the right to sell to anyone or have the right to refuse to sell to anyone. This is nothing more than a small minority trying to invoke its thinking on the city. Negroes need to be educated before they ask for anything more."

HARRY M. DEYO: "There is a lot of difference between peace and war times. Peace is not bad, but war is different and a man must serve. This ordinance will put the real estate men out of business. The crux of the problem is the behavior of the minority group. I lived in Grand Rapids and I know what they did to an area up there. And I used to live at 12th and Clairmont in Detroit and what I saw there made me sick."
"I think the liberals have gone far enough."
DICK JONES: "I don't like to be told who I can sell to and for how much. I just won't sell to anyone regardless."

Businessmen Sponsor Open Housing Forum Lamaze Group Holds Bazaar

The controversial issue of open housing legislation and morality will be the topic of a panel discussion sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Businessmen's Forum on Dec. 7 at the Meeting House. Panel members will include State Rep. James Tierney, who will outline the appropriate section of the State Constitution regarding the segregation issue; Rev. Henry Walch, President of the Plymouth Ministerial Association and Pastor of First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, who will discuss the religious aspects; City Attorney Charles Lowe, who will brief Forum members on the local situation; and an official of the Northwest Realty Board, who will speak on the open housing market and the regulations imposed on sellers.

Junior Troop 819 Wraps Yule Gifts For Viet Children

by Judy Zahler 474-6527

The Juniors of Troop 819, which meets at Ten Mile School, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Mattmuel, co-leaders, are really off to a swinging start this year. For the past few weeks they have been busy collecting toys for the children in Vietnam and they also had a Halloween party.

For the party each of the four patrols was responsible for part of the refreshments and the entertainment. The food consisted of cookies, cupcakes and koolade and the entertainment varied from the teaching of games and dances to singing and bobbing for apples.

In the midst of the festivities the scouts took time out to wrap the toys they had been collecting so they could be sent to Vietnam as soon as possible. At this meeting the girls also suggested that any excess of candy collected on Halloween Eve should be sent to children in a hospital. This idea was taken up by the troop and it was decided to send the candy to the Plymouth State Home.

FRAN BIEKLER and Tess Schafer, two of our Senior Scouts, who have been chosen by the Southern Oakland Girl Scout Council to represent Girl Scouts abroad, have been busier than usual attending various functions to prepare themselves in the event that they are chosen by the National Council to be representatives.

Last weekend Fran went to Ann Arbor to attend a French-speaking open house where she met girls from other Councils and foreign students who are studying in this country. Tess attended a Spanish-speaking open house affair in Flint over the Nov. 3 weekend. These functions help to acquaint the girls with the customs, manners and language of the country to which they will be going.

GIVING VENT to the 'outing' in Girl Scouting, Junior troop 430, which meets at Beechview School, Mrs. Willson and Mrs. Keraston, co-leaders, recently went on a trail hike wherein half of the girls went ahead and laid a trail for the rest of the troop to follow. Needless to say, they all had a jolly time trying to outfox each other.

Last week the girls visited the Consumers Power Company and were treated to cooking demonstrations as well as gaining some pretty basic knowledge about kitchens. This was one step on the way to a cooking badge for those girls who are working on it and also applies to the Community badge where the girls learn more about the community in which they live.

Some of the girls are working on their art badges and a treat is in store for them this week when they visit the J.L. Hudson warehouse and review the parade floats that are being readied for the Thanksgiving Parade.

The artists who have been working on these floats and are responsible for the designs will be talking to the girls and explaining how various details of the floats are worked out.

THESE enthusiastic Scouts are also planning on learning how to knit and Mrs. Joyce Hague will attend several of their meetings and teach them the basics of the art of knitting.

Karate Classes Offered

An advanced Karate class is being offered to area residents for the first time with meetings held Tuesday and Thursday, from 7:30-9:30 p.m., at Jackson Elementary School, Annapolis and Venoy Road, Wayne.

Sponsored jointly by Westland and Wayne Recreation Departments and the Continuing Education Center of Wayne Schools, a further expansion of the Community School Concept.

Avoiding duplication of programs and greater citizen participation and selection is the goal of the Community School Concept and is endorsed by Superintendent Harry Howard of Wayne Schools, Jack Voss, Westland Recreation director, and Angelo DeMario, Wayne Recreation director.

This program grew out of a suggestion by the Blue Ribbon Citizens Advisory Committee whose aim is closer cooperation between the schools, community groups, and recreation departments by utilization of all facilities.

Fee for the eight week class which begins Nov. 21 is $11 per person. Registration forms are available at Wayne Recreation, 3355 South Wayne Road, Westland Recreation, 32715 Dorsey Road, or Continuing Education Center, Wayne Memorial High School, 3001 Fourth Street, Wayne. For further information phone 728-1880.

Agreement Sought On Insurance

James M. Hare, Michigan secretary of state, has asked for an "Exploratory meeting" of various states and Canadian provinces to determine if Michigan's Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act is compatible with laws in other states.

Five states and nine provinces, which have either unsatisfied judgment or accident claims funds like Michigan, have been contacted.

Hare said, "We have had many inquiries from citizens of various states regarding coverages provided by the Michigan fund. In most instances we have been forced to deny claims."

There are, however, some instances in which we feel that because there is an unsatisfied judgment fund or an accident fund in their home state or province, they may be eligible under our law."

Hare continued, "As an instance, we have paid claims to residents of Ontario. In these cases, we knew that their act was the same as ours because ours was modeled after the Ontario law."

The states contacted were: Maryland, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, and Virginia; and the provinces of Ontario, British Columbia, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Alberta, Manitoba, Quebec, Newfoundland, and Saskatchewan.

1920's Players Picked

Citizens of the sixties have heard much about the glorious roaring twenties when the fun-loving hep set made bikinis, mini skirts, and Beatle-type music rather dull-or so the story goes.

If you want to know what this fantastic chapter in American history was like, you can see it on the stage at Thurston High School in the musical, "The Boy Friend," which will be playing Dec. 13, 14, 15 and 16.

The decade of the flapper and flippant talk and hot music and a carefree view of the future is depicted with all the zest and rollicking good humor of the era when the play is done right, according to Director Bill Moore.

He just announced the names of his cast which, he declares, will make that trip back in time a rewarding excursion.

The characters and names of the players are: Polly, Laura Kopach; Tony, Gary Parder; Mme. Dubennet, Mindy La Perre; Perciville Brown, Hols Denham; Maisie, Vicki Radke; Bobby, Ted Enright; Lady Brackwurst, Jean Dunham; Lord Brackwurst, Roger Borg.

The cast continues: Hortense, Jane Steslick; Marcel, Bob McRae; Dulcie, Jane Grey; Fay, Barb Beadle; Nancy, Linda La Cass; Pierre, Mike Laperre; and Alphonse, Bill Yanity.

Traffic Toll Takes Drop

Michigan traffic deaths in October totaled 193, a reduction of 28 or 12 per cent compared with 221 in the same month a year ago, according to State Police provisional figures.

The deaths were four fewer than the average of 197 for October in the five years of 1962-66. October also was the eighth month in the first 10 this year to show a decrease compared with corresponding months a year ago.

October's toll brought the accumulated deaths for the first ten months to 1,662 which was 223 or 12 per cent below 1,885 for the same period a year ago. Delayed death reports will increase somewhat the October and accumulated tolls.

Should the present death rate reduction continue through the remainder of the year, Michigan's toll for 1967 would be some 200 less than the record high of 2,296 set in 1966.

EARLY KLONDIKE—These Cub Scouts from Pack 880 took a routine Saturday morning hike recently, but a sudden snowfall turned it into a Klondike Derby a couple of months ahead of schedule. Don Horanoff is their leader, and the Cubs (from front to rear) are Bruce Westerman, Ken Grieve, David Hauer, John Rosevere and Arthur Scott. Staff photographer Harry Mauthe was on the scene.

Real Estate Transfer Tax Will Shift On Jan. 1

January 1, 1968 will see the repeal of a federal act imposing a tax upon written instruments transferring any interest in real property.

This tax generally referred to as "Internal Revenue Stamp" or officially as "Documentary Stamp Tax" was repealed by Public Law 89-44 during the congressional session in 1965.

An act passed by the Michigan Legislature in 1966 and amended in 1967, however, imposes a transfer tax at a county level but under the jurisdiction of the state effective January 1, 1968.

The new law (Act 134, P.A. 1966 as amended by Act 258, P.A. 1967) requires a tax at the "rate of 1.1 mill per dollar for each $500 or fraction (.55¢) thereof of the consideration paid, or if no money is involved, then upon the fair market value of the gift or value of the consideration."

THE TAX IS imposed upon the seller or grantor of the following written instruments executed in the state when recorded:

Contracts for the sale or exchange of real estate or any interest therein, or any assignment or transfer.

Deeds or instruments of con-voyance of real property or any interest therein, whether by gift or for a consideration.

THE FOLLOWING instruments and transfers are exempt:

1. Instruments where the value of the consideration or the gift is less than $100.

2. Instruments evidencing contracts or transfers which are not to be performed wholly within this state.

3. Written instruments which this state is prohibited from taxing under the constitution or statutes of the United States.

4. Instruments or writings given as security or any assignment or discharge thereof.

5. Instruments evidencing leases, including oil and gas leases, or transfers of such leasehold interests.

6. Instruments evidencing any interests which are assessable as personal property.

7. Instruments evidencing the transfer of rights and interests for underground gas storage purposes.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT of Treasury has advised that they are requiring the counties to utilize tax meter machines exclusively and has directed the county treasurers to approve and designate the location of the machines.

Wayne County Treasurer Louis H. Funk has designated Bernard J. Youngblood, Wayne County register of deeds, to be responsible for the collection of the transfer tax on all instruments presented to his office requiring payment of the tax.

In implementing the provisions of the new state act, Funk learned that various title companies and lending agencies were licensed by the Internal Revenue Service to rent and use a meter machine to produce documentary stamps on their own instruments of transfer.

Be A Good Sport And Enjoy Hunting

With the 1967 deer hunting season in the offing, the Observer presents the advice of hunting veterans, the Livonia Sportsman's Club, to those going into the woods for the first time.

By TED E. CALLEAR
Club President

The Livonia Sportsman's Club recognizes that the majority of hunters in our woods at this time each year are good sportsmen; men and women who enjoy the outdoors and the excitement of the hunt.

To those of you who are about to embark on a bush-beating excursion through the woods for the first time, our organization would like to offer this advice:

Be prepared to accept the responsibilities that go with the enjoyment of the sport of hunting. Know, too, the responsibilities that go with the using and possessing of firearms.

A true sportsman recognizes the potential dangers as well as the enjoyment of the hunt. He respects the laws, helps conserve the land he hunts on, and respects other persons' property. Above all else, a good sportsman learns and observes all rules of gun safety.

Those who violate the rules and proper conduct afield hurt the sport for all. Don't let yourself become one of them.

By learning and observing the following rules, outlined by the National Rifle Association, you can be sure you have earned the right to be called a SPORTSMAN.

KNOW YOUR GUN:

Be sure the gun and ammunition are in good condition.

Sight-in the gun before hunting with it. Fifty to seventy-five yards usually makes a good sight-in distance for average high power rifles.

Learn to be a good shot. A little practice on a supervised range is of much value in becoming familiar with your gun and developing skill.

HANDLE YOUR GUN PROPERLY:

Treat every gun as if it were loaded even though it may not be.

Always point the muzzle in a safe direction. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.

Practice self-control. Don't let over-excitement cause you to shoot at a target you are not absolutely sure of.

Open the action and unload any gun that is not in use.

Store hunting guns in a safe place. Good luck! And remember: A GOOD HUNTER IS A SAFE HUNTER.

Farmington Major Heads ANG Unit

A Farmington man has been named commander of the 127th Combat Support Squadron at the Detroit Air National Guard Base, stationed at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

He is Major Raymond Foulkrod Jr., 44, of 24170 Farmington Rd.

A former World War II fighter pilot, he had been commander of the Guard's 127th Communications Flight.

Foulkrod replaces Lt. Col. John F. Creighton a full-time employee of the Guard, who is filling a vacancy as squadron controller.

In his new position, Foulkrod brings 25 years of experience in the service.

As a pilot in the Army Air

Corps, he was shot down near Paris in August, 1944, and held prisoner in Gestapo headquarters until the Allied liberation two weeks later.

After serving a year training French fighter pilots at Wurtsmith and Selfridge Air Force Bases, he was transferred to the reserves in 1945. He joined the Michigan Air National Guard in 1959 as a captain.

Foulkrod, a graduate of Cass Technical High School, is a senior systems analyst for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. He is married and the father of three children.

Seize Vehicles Of License-less Drivers--Hare

Secretary of State James M. Hare has urged the Legislature to give consideration to a self-enforcing law similar to one in Oregon providing that the vehicle of any person arrested for driving while his license is suspended or revoked shall be seized and impounded.

Speaking at a regional traffic safety conference in Grand Rapids, Hare said that such legislation would do much to control the driver who refuses to be helped by regular driver improvement methods.

Hare, who doubles as chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, highlighted the need for such legislation as he displayed the master driving record of a 43-year-old western Michigan driver who is presently revoked until mid-1973 because of continued convictions for driving while his license is suspended, driving while his license is revoked and driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

"Since late 1960, the man was convicted of driving under the influence of intoxicants on three occasions, twice for driving while suspended and twice for driving while revoked," Hare said.

"The Oregon law is a stiff one that merits investigation by the Legislature."

"It provides that when a person is convicted of driving while suspended or revoked, any motor vehicle owned by that person shall be impounded for from 30 to 120 days from judgment, with the convicted driver liable for all expenses incurred whether or not the vehicle is returned to him.

Mental Health Board Elects Power To Serve

Philip H. Power, publisher of The Observer Newspapers, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Wayne County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Health.

He will serve a term ending June 30, 1969.

The board, drawn from throughout Wayne County, is chaired by Rt. Rev. Clifford Sawher.

It serves as a citizen group to help the activities of the Wayne County Chapter of the State Mental Health Society, which has been active in developing programs to deal with problems of mental health.

The board also works to generate citizen support and understanding for the problems of the mentally ill.

Bark, long a waste product in the lumber industry, is now used in bed blankets, ceramic ware, mackinaw and roofing felts.

Poachers Hit By Stiffer Fines

LANSING--Michigan Conservation Director Ralph A. MacMullan, hoping for another show of public support, is again calling for a citizen crackdown on the state's deer violators this fall.

He urges Michigan residents to pick up where they left off last season when they provided more than 1,500 good leads on deer violations.

The extra citizen effort, together with the Conservation Department's own stepped-up enforcement program, was parlayed into 1,233 arrests on deer infractions during the Nov. 7-Dec. 5 period in 1966.

IN HIS "STOP the cheater" talk, the Conservation director noted that "night-time hunting with a light, pre-season hunting, shooting from a car, and even duplicate license shenanigans are major violations." They degrade the fine sport of deer hunting and reduce each hunter's chances of getting a deer, he added.

The price of poaching is substantially stiffer under a new act which adds a special reimbursement penalty covering the value of wildlife illegally taken.

The added penalty, over and above regular fines and court costs, hits convicted game law violators with a per-animal charge of $200 to $300 for elk, $100 to $200 for deer, and $5 to $10 for small game and waterfowl.

In recent weeks, a number of violators felt the full brunt of this year's new law as they were ordered to pay the maximum $200 for each deer they poached.

"THIS NEW LAW really has teeth in it. If we get the public to rally again around our department's all-out enforcement efforts, we're going to make a lot of would-be violators think about going straight this season," predicts MacMullan.

The Department will again use unmarked cars, undercover squads, and several hundred specially trained men to back up regular conservation officers.

"What we need now to make our campaign click against deer cheaters is for enough people to join ranks with us by reporting any information they have on game violations," concluded MacMullan.

Private enterprise annually contributes several million dollars to the 4-H program for educational trips, training aids, awards and recognition.

Notes

By Ken Vogras

The Department of Public Works was busy during the past week with leaf pickup.

This work has been going on from early in the morning until late in the evening, but the leaf crop is so large this year that it is taking a great deal of time to cover the city.

All the leaves will be picked up if they are placed between the curb and the sidewalk, provided the weather holds and we don't run into freezing before the job is done.

Four thousand tulips have been planted in the various sections of the city.

There was one funeral in Riverside Cemetery.

Cold patching of the streets was done where it was found necessary and work has been done in the replacing and re-pairing of traffic signs.

The major streets were swept and wood was hauled to the library for use in the fireplace.

A pavement cut was repaired at Farmer and Starkweather. This cut was made by the contractor who worked on the sewer.

A six inch water tap was installed on Ann Arbor Road.

cent speech to the Second Congressional District Democratic Dinner in Ann Arbor. Plymouth and Plymouth Township are included in the second district, and reporter Dwight Jarrell talked to Wayne County Second District Democratic Chairman, Robert E. Dwyer, of Plymouth about the whole situation which is causing local Democrats real concern.

By DWIGHT JARRELL
Staff Writer

BOB DWYER

Vietnam dove Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, who arrived the cock of the walk among a fringe group of dissident Michigan peace Democrats, flew out of Ann Arbor with political feathers flying in the air.

The Minnesota senator was in the university city ostensibly as keynote speaker for a $10 a plate fund raising dinner sponsored by the Second Congressional District Democratic Committee.

But he ruffled feathers of many party members even more than his prior statements in recent weeks against the President's conduct of the Vietnam War by immediately secluding himself with Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency.

The latter is, himself, outside the party flock of both doves and hawks for his public criticism of Johnson's policies in what he claims is an escalation of the war and blundering of hopes for peace with the Viet Cong.

McCarthy's "credibility gap" with the Democratic Party in Michigan became even deeper than that of Ferency and his minority following, however, when he avoided conspicuously not only all other Johnsonian political party leaders and bigwigs who are pecking away vigorously at Ferency to get his resignation as State Democratic Chairman. He then ignored completely the dinner's host, Washtenaw County Democrat Chairman George Wahr Sallade of Ann Arbor.

Included in McCarthy's snub was Wayne County Second District Democratic Chairman Robert E. Dwyer of Plymouth.

But if McCarthy cut Dwyer short, Dwyer and three other Democratic County Chairmen left the eloquent Minnesota orator almost speechless with their own form of cold-shoulder.

In essence, it was a rumor of a mass walkout of loyal Johnson Democrats if McCarthy showed the least discourtesy to the President in his censure of the Administration's Vietnam policies.

The effect of the threat left many in the audience of more than 300 with the feeling after McCarthy's banquet speech that he had cut it short, and by not following his original text had laid an egg for those dissident Michigan Democratic doves who had looked upon him as a presidential heir apparent of Johnson's political scalp.

IN AN INTERVIEW with the Plymouth Mail & Observer Monday, Dwyer denied that the walkout was any idle rumor. "In fact," he said in describing the extent of the exodus if McCarthy had not heeded the advance storm signals, "I am told the entire 36-member delegation from Lenawee County would have been among those who would have walked out."

Would self-proclaimed dove Dwyer, a loyal Johnson supporter, have followed them?

"Nope," he laughed in answer, "I'd probably have led them."

Five minutes before McCarthy mounted the speaker's platform, Dwyer and his three fellow Democratic Chairmen, George W. Sallade of Washtenaw County, Gerald Sixbey Livingston County, and Marjorie Horky of Lenawee County, distributed a signed statement on their stand for the President to news reporters covering the Minnesota senator's appearance.

IT STATED:

"As Committee and Area Chairmen of the Second Congressional District, we recognize and applaud a vigorous discussion of American policy both foreign and domestic. In welcoming Senator McCarthy to Southeastern Michigan, we want to assure him of our unrelenting support for the cherished American right to dissent."

"However, we would be remiss in our duties if we were to leave the State without being accurately apprised of the real feelings of the Democrats of this part of Michigan."

"There is a wide-spread feeling of pride in the tremendous accomplishments of the Johnson Administration. Liberals everywhere should applaud the steps taken by the President and the Democratic Congress to guarantee equal opportunities to all citizens, to assure adequate and public support for education at all levels, to enable the aged and needy to obtain medical care with dignity and to combat, with greater success than ever before, the root causes of poverty in the land.

"Criticism of the Administration's Vietnam policies is a misdirected and glib answer to a complex question. It ignores the realities of the situation in Southeastern Asia."

"The politicians who denounce the President's handling of the War in Vietnam either deliberately or unwittingly ignore the facts so obvious to us all."

"The President has made repeated and determined efforts to indicate a willingness to negotiate a settlement of the conflict which have been rebuffed by the Vietnam government both publicly and privately."

"These efforts have included, among others, temporary halts in the bombing of Vietnam and attempts to bring the conflict to the attention of the United Nations."

"The answer to the crisis in Vietnam lies not with the new isolationists nor with the unreasoning hawks, but with the President who stands ever ready to negotiate but who is yet committed to protecting the right of the people in Vietnam to determine their own destiny in peace and security and to protecting the honor of the United States and its commitments overseas."

THE STATEMENT by the four Democratic chairmen, combined with the rumored walkout, led to speculation after McCarthy's obviously shortened speech, that he had edited out the more vehement sections attacking the President's Vietnam policies on friendly advice of former Second District Democratic Congressman Weston E. Vivian.

The latter sat beside Senator McCarthy at his banquet companion.

Although McCarthy's appearance here, following his closed door meeting with Ferency, did bring about the organization of a McCarthy for President Committee, Dwyer dismissed the group with an airy wave of his hand.

"These people are the same type liberals who joined Wallace," he said. "They speak eleven years too late, regardless, for the Vietnam War is a question that should have been settled by President Eisenhower."

"If they had made their move and raised their protest in 1956, I would have joined them," he reflected.

And he added:

"If the President chooses, he will be nominated and if he chooses to be nominated he will win."

"But Ferency has committed political suicide," he concluded.

Venison Is Good Eating

by Joyce Totten

Sportmen by the hundreds are headed for Michigan woods. But times have changed. Now we go hunting more for the recreation it provides than for meat.

Today's hunting trip is the city man's opportunity to get close to nature, to enjoy the laughter and fellowship of congenial companions, to slow the pace of life by a return to simple ways of living for a few days.

Where is there a hunter who does not thrill to the winter beauty of the quiet, snow-trimmed forest and brook? Then, the startling glimpse of a gray-coated buck in the thicket, the flash of his white flag as he turns to bound away and the breathless wait to catch him over the gun-sights in the opening you hope he will hit!

MICHIGAN'S deer herd is the source of unmatched recreation. But it can also furnish a palatable and nutritious addition to our living. So if your sportsman expects to bring home his buck, it's time to think about how you'll prepare the catch.

Do you know how to cook venison? What other dishes to serve with a wild venison roast?

It should not be necessary to conceal the flavor of venison. The characteristic flavor seems to be concentrated in the fat and trimming away excess fat will help. However, venison is a rather dry meat and is improved by addition of suet, butter or other fat when using dry heat methods—roasting, broiling or frying.

THE STANDARD methods of meat cooking for beef and lamb are most successful for venison. Even though you do get a deer that is tough or has a strong flavor, there are ways of preparing it for the table that will make it palatable and appetizing.

The use of bacon, vegetables and fruit juices is suggested to impart a different flavor. Spices such as bay leaf, thyme, garlic, savory and the like may be added to suit your taste.

Here are some tested recipes for preserving, cooking and serving venison. Happy eating!

VENISON ROAST

1 - 3 to 4 lb. venison roast
1 tsp. salt
Pepper to taste
1 pkg. dry onion soup mix
1 envelope hamburger seasoning

1 clove of garlic or garlic salt to taste
1 can cream of mushroom or celery soup

1/2 to 2 c. water
Season roast with pepper to taste. Sprinkle soup mixture over meat; add hamburger seasoning. Sprinkle garlic over seasoning. Spread celery soup over roast; add water. Cover; bake at 350 degrees for 2 hours and 30 minutes to 3 hours. Add more water, if necessary. Yield: 8-10 servings.

VENISON MINCEMEAT

1 qt. raisins
4 qt. sugar
1 1/2 qt. meat broth
2 lb. currants
1/4 lb. ground suet
2 T. cinnamon
2 T. allspice
2 T. cloves
1 T. pepper
1 T. salt
1 qt. sorghum
3 qt. ground cooked venison
5 lb. apples, chopped
1 qt. cider vinegar
Juice of 3 lemons.
Combine all ingredients. Store in freezer. Yield: 6 quarts.

BRAISED VENISON

2 c. flour
1 t. salt
1/2 t. pepper
8 venison steaks
2 T. fat
3/4 c. onion rings
Garlic salt
2 c. water
Sift dry ingredients except garlic salt. Coat venison with dry ingredients. Brown in fat. Top with onion rings; sprinkle with garlic salt. Add water; simmer for 1 hour over medium heat. Yield: 8 servings.

Will Schools Be Backed?

EDITOR:

On Nov. 20 (next Monday), another moment of decision will be upon us in Garden City. Again we will be deciding whether or not to back the decisions of the men we elect and hire to provide for and administer the best possible school facilities and curriculum for our children.

Garden City's citizens have an enviable record of progressive thinking and positive action in regard to their school system and they may well be proud of the results of that record.

Nov. 20 we will again be voting to provide the resources to buy the necessary tools to continue the comprehensive and challenging education of our children who must later compete effectively in the job market and at the higher education level. We must keep up with modern concepts of education because it is virtually impossible to catch up should we ever fall behind. Too often we limit our concepts of progress by expecting to buy a block of progress for X dollars and that will be the end of it.

Such is not the case. Progress in education, as in every other field, is a continuing thing or else progress stops.

Because the community should expect the utmost utilization of its educational facilities, the cultural advantages should be enjoyed by the adult segment of the city as well as the children and youth. And so it is planned to use the new instructional centers and the new auditorium to raise the cultural level of all segments of our local society. The proposed auditorium will enable Garden City citizens to enjoy a whole new world of cultural activities which have heretofore been denied them because of lack of a suitable facility which would attract and permit the projection of culture.

Your 'Yes' vote on Nov. 20 will sustain Garden City's proud record of achievement in our educational system, keep our children in step with the competitive educational scene and upgrade the cultural level of all segments of our community.

WALTER R. NEVILL,
President
Garden City PTA Council

Against Busing

I have been reading an article you had in last Wednesday's paper about a meeting that was held in Garden City West High School.

This article disturbed me very much.

The only thing that disturbed me was Dr. John Dempsey's (a Dearborn resident) remarks about busing children "was fear of the unknown."

My reply to Mr. Dempsey is you don't know what you are talking about. My fear is not the unknown but what is known. We know that there is more crime in the streets, more molesting and more bullying in the cities than in the suburbs.

I have joined the Helping Hand program to help prevent this from going on here. Is there or would there be anything like this in the schools where our children would be bused?

Now, I would like to ask Mr. Dempsey some questions. What schools do your children attend or if they are through school, what schools did they attend? What schools do your grandchildren, if any, attend?

If you feel so strongly on this subject why did you not send your children to inner city schools so they could get "prepared for life?"

Why do you live in Dearborn? I am sick of hearing people who live in places like Grosse Pointe and Birmingham trying to tell others how to live and what to do.

I live in a middle class area which will most likely become integrated in a few years. When it does, I will see that my children treat everyone the same.

MRS. GERALDINE PETERSON
Garden City

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Busing of students from one district to another on a regular basis is not allowed under present state school law. One of the exceptions, which has nothing to do with racial balances, is the Nankin Mills district in Westland which buses its 400 high school students to Bentley High in Livonia. The reason for this is that Nankin Mills does not have a high school of its own. Mr. Dempsey, a member of the state Civil Rights Commission, was referring to busing of students from one area to another within the same district.)

AAUW Backs Open Housing

EDITOR:

The Michigan State Division of the American Association of University Women supports the open housing proposal which Gov. Romney has presented to the special session of the Legislature.

These three proposals, open housing throughout the state to be enforced by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, enforcement of housing codes and broadening of tenant's rights against retaliatory eviction are in complete accord with the Division's 1967-1968 legislative program.

The legislative program under Community Problems reads as follows:

Civil Rights--Support measures to protect the constitutional rights guaranteed to individuals. We favor such objectives as:

a. Equal representation for every citizen in Michigan;
b. Elimination of discriminatory practices associated with distinctions based upon sex, age, marital status, race, color, creed or national origin;
c. Support of a bi-partisan Civil Rights Commission.

AAUW supported the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 and is currently supporting the Federal Civil Rights measures which are now before Congress including under Title IV prohibition of housing discrimination.

North Farmington Again

It was hardly a day for football; certainly not the kind of an afternoon for Farmington and North Farmington to stage their annual "inter-city" battle.

But in true show business style—the game went on, as scheduled.

Despite the elements, the game developed into a typical Farmington-North Farmington thriller with form prevailing.

North won, 7-0, and now lead in the series, six games to one. The only Farmington conquest over the team Farmington fans once called "our little brothers" was recorded a year ago.

One bomb did it for North Farmington in this one.

On the first play of the final period, North Farmington seemed to be in a harmless position, back around its own 40-yard line.

NEITHER TEAM had generated too much in the way of a threat until then....and it didn't look like the BIG play was about to be unleashed.

But Norm DeCourcy, the crackjack Raiders' quarterback, wasn't disturbed by the weather. He cared not that it was raining and he had to deal with a wet football, or that Rick Knock, might slip or slide down the field.

DeCourcy called for a pass play. He shot the ball to Knock....and, yep, Knock went all the way.

Nobody was quite sure just how many yards were covered on the play. It was almost impossible to tell where the ball was when the pass was made. The linemen were washed away.

In fact, some thought that Mike McCoy, not Knock, caught the ball. It was difficult to spot who was who. Everybody was covered with mud.

But a check revealed that it was Knock—not that North Farmington really cared. What was important, the Raiders had scored and Charles Button followed with the conversion to make the score, 7-0, which is the way the game finished.

NORTH FARMINGTON had started from its own 24 on the touchdown drive. Two line plays gained a couple of yards, before a 13-yard toss from DeCourcy to McCoy was good for 13 or so.

DeCourcy's touchdown heave was his 14th of the season, making him one of the leaders in the state ranks.

Only three minutes remained in the game when DeCourcy excited the crowd with a 50-yard run into the end zone. The referees called the play back because a Raider was guilty of clipping.

Farmington had its golden chances, too.

In the second quarter, North Farmington's Chuck Hill made a quick, hurried kick from his 14. The ball went only four yards.

Dan Wolfman, Farmington's star quarterback, led a drive that got Farmington to the North six. But a penalty set Farmington back five yards. Wolfman then went to the air.

Three straight passes gained nothing.

IN THE SECOND half, Farmington marched from its own

CATCHING PASS for the game's only touchdown is Rich Knock, of North Farmington, who shakes off Farmington's Steve McGregor. The pass was thrown by Norm DeCourcy in the heavy rain and on the muddy, soggy field.

PLUNGING THROUGH center of the line to score for Garden City East is Quarterback Mike Chute during the annual battle between the crosstown rivals. Five members of the West High team had chances to stop Chute but couldn't make the tackle.

Best Football Season Ends At John Glenn

The best season in the school's history! So it was in 1967 for the football team at John Glenn High.

When it ended last Friday with a 20-14 decision against Gibraltar Carlson, Glenn could look back:

1 -- On a campaign which produced seven victories against only two defeats. (The best previous season showed Glenn with just five victories).

2 -- A share of the Northwest Suburban League crown with Franklin. (Never before had a Glenn team reigned as an outright or co-titlist on the grid.)

Despite rain and wet going, Glenn dominated in the proceedings against Carlson. The score hardly indicated the one-sidedness of the game.

Glenn at one stage led, 20-0, and it wasn't until Coach Bob Lusk cleared the bench and brought in his reserves that Carlson was able to chalk up its two touchdowns in the final five minutes of the action.

ONCE MORE, it was quarterback Tim Wozny who led the way for Glenn. He flipped for two touchdowns and scored the third one himself.

Safety Helps East Top West

A strange sort of a play...and with it Garden City East managed to down Garden City West, 14-12, in a thriller to decide the 1967 Garden City prep football title.

It was a "first" in the series. East hadn't won in the previous two clashes between the schools on a varsity level.

The play that decided the game came in the third period and enabled East to cash in on a safety.

AT THE TIME the score was 12-6 in favor of East. West had the ball up around its 22 yard line.

There was supposed to be a bootleg play on the part of West quarterback Gary Robinson. Something went wrong.

He found himself circled by onrushing players from East. In the confusion, Robinson started to sweep to his left. He did a lot of circling and back-running.

Finally, Rich Lipinski rushed in and tackled Robinson.

By now Robinson was back in his own end zone and East was awarded two points on a safety.

"I NEVER saw anything like that," declared Harold Burkholder, the losers' coach. "Usually, safeties come when a team originates a play back around its 5 or 10-yard line."

Burkholder, nonetheless, had only praise for both teams.

"I was proud of the way my kids played," he explained. "And I told them so."

"I also called Gary Humphreys (East's coach) and congratulated him and his boys. It was a whale of a game."

"They won the first half, 12-6; we won the second, 6-2. It was just that kind of a struggle."

The statistics were fairly even, too. East rushed for 184 yards and picked up 123 passing. East totaled 281 yards on the ground and added eight in the air.

Mike Alexander was the big workhorse for the losers. He personally ran for 134 yards. But East had other heroes.

THERE WAS no scoring in the first period. Then in the second, East recovered a fumble on its own 40.

With Gary Spencer doing most the running, East shot down to the one-yard line from where quarterback John Chute slipped in to make it 6-0.

But the lead didn't hold up very long.

On the next series of downs, it was Alexander breaking loose on a 64-yard gallop to tie the score.

Moments later, West was on the move again. This time West moved to the East six-yard line where it had the ball fourth and one to go.

The Big East line arose to make the stop on the next play and three plays later, sophomore Jim Burton bucked through the line on a dive.

Nobody touched Burton as he went all the way—78 yards—and at halftime it was 12-6 for East.

The safety that ultimately was to prove so important came shortly after the second half kickoff.

Later in the period after a couple of punt exchanges, West struck with a lightning pass to score its second touchdown. Craig Sylvester hit Alexander on a short swing toss and Alexander was off to the races—74 yards away—and the score now read 14-12 for East.

WEST THREATENED twice in the final period. But two interceptions ruined each chance.

"You can't take anything away from the East defense," Burkholder said.

"They just had the better overall performance and certainly they deserved to win," Burkholder added.

Burkholder was pleased with the West defense, especially in the second half.

"We just about stopped them cold," he noted.

Humphreys, the East coach, likewise lauded the performances of both teams.

"It's this kind of a game between our two Garden City schools which make one proud to be part of such a program."

How do athletes become stars and champions?

Be they schoolboys or professionals, they don't get to the head of the class easily. It takes work, it takes desire, it takes the willingness to accept a great deal of mental and physical punishment.

Sometimes the difference between the stand-out and the rest of the pack is small. But when you stop to investigate, you discover the real inside story.

Take a young man by the name of Cazzie Russell, perhaps the greatest college basketball name in the state of Michigan's history.

To become a three-time All American, Cazzie practiced the year around. On hot, sweltering days during the summer, you'd find Cazzie shooting baskets in a gym at the university.

He didn't have much of a rookie season with the New York Knickerbockers last season. He was the target of much criticism. There were those who said: "Maybe he doesn't have what it takes to make a pro."

Cazzie had to hear all this... and read every line.

He spent the summer working—at basketball, every chance he got. Again it wasn't easy. He was on duty with the army for a good part of the time.

THIS SEASON, RUSSELL'S fortunes have taken a big turn for the better. He's playing forward, instead of guard, and he likes it better. He's also doing a bangup job.

Drinking Rule Draws Fire

Student unrest at Schoolcraft College seldom has a chance to materialize into a full-scale battle with the administration, and signs are that a controversy brewing over drinking regulations there will also be settled peacefully.

For now, students are putting a case together in favor of liberalizing the college regulation on alcohol, and Dean Edward McNally says he's aware that "something seems to be brewing."

The matter was taken up at last Wednesday's Student Senate meeting. The student position has not yet been set out in detail.

Generally, the argument is that a portion of the alcohol regulation which reads: "The use of alcohol is forbidden on the way to, or going home from, any college-sponsored event," is unfair to the approximately 30 per cent of the student body over 21.

The other half of the alcohol regulation draws less protest: "No alcoholic beverages are permitted on the College campus or at college-sponsored events off the campus."

The penalty for breaking either rule is expulsion from the college. When asked about the students' complaints, McNally, who is dean of student affairs, said that he was not yet sure exactly what changes the Senate would want, but that he would be willing to talk to any student or group of students about the regulations.

McNally also said it was important to remember that approximately 70 per cent of the student body is under age.

Some of the student protest results from disciplinary action taken when alcohol has been found in student cars in the parking lots. One member of the Student Senate said recently that he thought it was unfair for a student over 21 to be expelled if a case of beer is found in his car.

Some students have also protested against a regulation which forbids any student to have a gun in his car when on campus property.

Bill Pfiffer, president of the Student Senate, said that the drinking rule was slated for discussion at a meeting to be held soon with Dean McNally.

College To Print 1st Yearbook

Schoolcraft College has announced plans for the school's first yearbook, to be published this spring.

Organization of an editorial staff has been completed, editors have been appointed and deadlines have been established for the publication.

As yet, the yearbook has not been assigned a name, but, according to Roslyn Kellman, 1961 Auburndale, Livonia, editor-in-chief, selection of a name will be announced shortly.

EDITORIAL STAFF appointments announced by the editor-in-chief are:

Lucille Martino, Livonia, editor; James Tobey, Livonia, and Roy Width, Detroit, graphic arts editors; Joan Trujillo and Diane Ballanis, both of Detroit, layout editors; Bob Musial and Miss Martino, feature editors; Bob Aylsworth, Livonia, Barb Junk, Detroit, and Linda Secord, Northville, sports editors; Christine Cramer, Brighton, and William Gayk, Livonia, literary editors; and Aylsworth, business manager (besides features).

According to the editors, the publication will combine the best features of a traditional yearbook with those of a creative arts journal and will contain a section of creative writing by students.

Student publications at the college thus far have been the Commuter, student newspaper published every two weeks during the school year, and a creative arts journal published annually in the spring.

Service Frat Organized At Schoolcraft

A chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity affiliated with the Scouting movement, has been organized at Schoolcraft College.

The first fraternity to be recognized at Schoolcraft since Greek organizations were permitted under a policy change late last summer, APO has already organized an all-campus blood donor drive, scheduled for Nov. 17.

Officers of the group are Davie L. David, 29011 Maplewood, Garden City, president; Dennis D. Dodge, 1327 S. Main, Plymouth, first vice president; Terry Marciniak, 29614 Sheridan, Garden City, second vice president; Allan Nash, 30340 Rush St., Garden City, recording secretary-treasurer; and Arthur D. Desch, 11469 Brownell, Plymouth, corresponding secretary. Faculty advisors are William Ryan, geology instructor, and Gary Herishoren, counselor.

In addition to the blood donor campaign, the new chapter plans a Peace Corps Day next semester, is making arrangements for service work at the Plymouth State Home and the YMCA of Livonia, and plans to donate and maintain a "ride" board next semester.

A PREVIEW

YOU MAY be deciding what kind of mittens and boots you need for winter, but the fashion designers and store buyers have already decided what you'll be wearing when the swimsuit season swings around. So you might as well know, too. The look will be dressier than before, with some of the suits looking not much different than a very short mini-dress. For the bikini fan, a beach dress cover-up, like the empire-waisted one above, will be the key to style.

Bloodmobile Scheduled

Students at Schoolcraft College have scheduled a Red Cross Bloodmobile visit to the campus Friday, Nov. 17.

The Blood Drive will be held in the Waterman Campus Center building.

Alpha Phi Omega, a new service club formed at the college, has planned the Bloodmobile as its first major project. Davy David is student chairman.

Club Not Airborne

A Flying Club has been formed at Schoolcraft College, but it isn't off the ground yet.

Until a question of insurance responsibility is checked out, no group flying lessons are scheduled. A ground school has already been set up, however, and meetings are held each Saturday morning from 9 to 12.

Ed Zebrowski, the Schoolcraft student who has organized the club, said that nearly 100 students turned out for the first meeting and that 40 are attending the ground school sessions.

Plythean Wins Honor

Plymouth High's 1967 yearbook, The Plythean, has received an "A" rating from the National School Yearbook Association.

The honor was announced by this year's editors, Karen Broholm and Jo Anna Firestone.

Nancy Kincade was the 1967 editor and William Sands is faculty advisor.

The awards are given on the basis of content, photo and news coverage and originality.

Special features of the 1967 Plythean were a 24-page spring activities supplement and an orange and green cover in a modern design.

Modern Dance Concert Set

A modern dance demonstration by The Festival Dancers, directed by Harriet Berg, will be presented in the Schoolcraft College Library Thursday, Nov. 30, at 11 a.m.

The concert was rescheduled from Nov. 9. It is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Among the works to be presented on Thursday will be "Mostly About Women," which was prepared under the direction of Charles Weidmann when that nationally known exponent of modern dance served as artist in residence with the group in September. The work is set to the music of Paul Bowles.

JUDY BASS, senior member of Clarenceville's National Honor Society, hands a scroll to one of the new members tapped in a ceremony last Friday.

Honor Society Chapter Takes On New Life

Although Clarenceville High has had a chapter of the National Honor Society for several years, this fall the members and faculty advisor set out to give the organization new prestige.

In the past, the society has quietly inducted its members. This year, new members were tapped at an all-school assembly last Friday. Formal induction ceremonies are also planned. For the four days between tapping and induction, new members are wearing scrolls and ribbons.

Mrs. Dorothy Bennett, faculty advisor for the group, said that the new approach was designed not only to give the Honor Society more prestige at Clarenceville, but to make it a more active organization.

Students eligible for membership must have at least a B average. Selection of not more than 15 per cent of the senior class, 10 per cent of the junior class and 5 per cent of the sophomores is then chosen on the basis of character, leadership and service.

The new Clarenceville members:

SENIORS -- Marie LaLonde, Connie Maslanko, Bryan Kent, Robert Schurig, Harvey Benstein, Sharon Bitterman and Jean Styes.

JUNIORS -- Kerry Rifkin, Linda Bornstein, Norma Shuster, Kenneth Olsen, Mary Lou Simon, Rebecca Harnden, Joanne Fell, Alice Henningsen, Dan Noble, Sandra Taylor, Linda Pridemore, Deborah Cecil, Delores Selman and Cynthia Melow.

SOPHOMORES -- Larry Diamond, Linda Bass, Sheryl Kamins, Nancy Creed, Mark Kuehn, James Croskey, David Nash, Brian Parshall, Peggy Hall, Kay McMachen and Jeffrey Hecker.

Parley Draws Gym Teachers

Three Livonia teachers are attending Michigan's First Institute on Girls Sports at Eastern Michigan University Nov. 17, 18 and 19.

Area participants and their interest groups are: Mrs. Lois McDonald, of Stevenson, diving; Beverly J. LaBoda, of Bentley, gymnastics; and Beverly Jane Dale, of Bentley, basketball.

Sears Plans Warehouse In Livonia

Sears Roebuck & Co. broke ground last Thursday for a large warehouse on a Plymouth Road site, between Merriman and Middle Belt, in Livonia.

The $2-million building will house general merchandise for Sears stores in this area. Sears executives said that the tremendous growth of suburban stores had overtaken present warehouse facilities in Highland Park, and that the Livonia site was considered ideal for present and future needs.

THE 17-ACRE SITE is part of a new 60-acre industrial park being developed by the Taubman Co., Inc. Roads, utilities and railroad sidings will serve each site in the park.

Sears warehouse plans now call for a 211,000 square foot building, although John F. Nahabedian, group operating superintendent for the company, said that it is quite likely Sears will need double that space by the time the warehouse is completed next August or September.

Six-inch-thick concrete wall sections measuring as much as 36 by 30 feet will be poured on the site and tilted up into position even before steel is erected.

STAFF OF Miss Harriet's Dance Studio stand in front of the new building which is now open for business at 27427 Six Mile Road in Redford Township. The studio has been in operation for 22 years and started construction of its own building six months ago with completion two weeks back.

Miss Harriet's Moves Into New Quarters

From a one room makeshift dance studio 22 years ago to one of the most modern equipped studios of the performing arts is the success story of Miss Harriet's Dance Studio.

Miss Harriet's, owned and operated by Mrs. Betty Johnson, business manager, and Mrs. Harriet Fernandez, school director, is moving to its newly constructed quarters on 27427 West Six Mile Rd. near Inkster Rd. November 17.

The new studio, fully air conditioned, is custom built to conform to the strict standards of room size and sound engineering required of a professionally operated studio. The musical comedy, written by Alexandre Breffort, opens Nov. 24 at Bentley High School in Livonia. Additional performances are scheduled for Nov. 25, Dec. 1, 2 and 3. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. with the Sunday curtain at 7:30 p.m.

Violist Doktor Plymouth Soloist

Violist Paul Doktor will be guest soloist at the second concert of the season of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

The free concert will begin at 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 19, in the Plymouth High School, Main at Church streets.

Senior Girl Scouts will conduct a nursery for children over the age of two.

DOKTOR WILL perform two works—"Concerto in G Major for Viola and Orchestra" by Telemann and "Harold in Italy" by Hector Berlioz.

The orchestra, conducted by Wayne Dunlap, will perform "A Solemn Music and a Joyful Fugue" by Virgil Thompson.

Doktor has devoted part of his musical career to performing as a soloist on the viola, usually heard in an orchestra or string quartet.

Born in Vienna, Doktor came to the United States in 1947 and has followed a dual career in concert work and in teaching at Mammes College of Music in New York.

He appeared at one of Schoolcraft College's outdoor court concerts the week of the Detroit riot, and attendance was held down because of the curfew.

THIRD CONCERT of the season will be Dec. 10, when the Plymouth Symphony is joined by the Piccolo Opera Company of Detroit in presenting Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel."

That will be the only concert at which admission will be charged—$1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Ticket chairman is Mrs. Roger Zerby, 453-1077.

All Plymouth Symphony concerts are on Sundays at 4 p.m. in the high school.

'Eye' Is Vulgar

"Reflections In A Golden Eye" currently on view at the La Parison and the Mercury asks the neurotic question: Can a transvestite meet a nymphomaniac on a platonic basis and not anger her homosexual husband when his (or should it be hers) attention is rejected?

Think about that for a full 10 seconds.

If the vulgarity of it all sweeps over you and suddenly revulsion sets in, avoid this picture. Stay home and enjoy family life with your children.

However, if you are curious about how Liz Taylor might look running around the house in the buff, what Marlon Brando does to a candy bar wrapper in a highly erotic state, and what significance a naked soldier has riding bare-back in the thick of the woods, this awesome movie is your reel of celluloid.

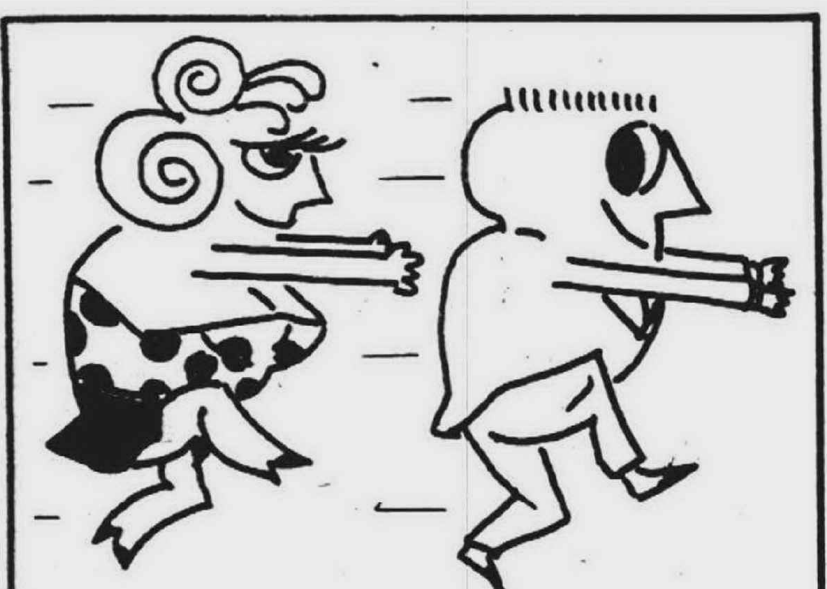

Old Wally felt the movie moved far too slowly. It was apparent from the beginning that sex was going to rear its hoary hydra-head.

Farmington Man Takes High Catholic Education Position

A Farmington father of seven has been named to one of the top educational posts in the Detroit Archdiocese of the Roman Catholic Church.

Jerard E. Delaney's position is administrative assistant to the director of the Archdiocesan Office of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

"The CCD office," he said, "is in charge of all Christian education outside of the Catholic day schools."

This includes catechism classes for children who attend public schools, high school catechism, pre-school religious training and adult education.

"The number of children in catechism classes is very high," Delaney said. "Especially in the suburbs, the population growth has been too fast for Catholic schools to keep up with it."

"In more and more new parishes, the children attend public schools and catechism classes."

DELANEY'S appointment was announced by Father Robert S. Humitz, director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine office.

"Our aim," Father Humitz said, "is to free the director as much as possible from the time-consuming details of office procedure and administration of programs."

"This will allow us to fully concentrate on developing solid teacher training programs, design in-service requirements for full certification of teachers and work closely with curriculum planning and development."

"Delaney has the unique combination of special training and years of experience in both office personnel management and catechetics and should, therefore, be of great help in the future plans and programs of the CCD office."

DELANEY, a member of Our Lady of Sorrows Church, began teaching catechism at his church several years ago, and later became teaching principal of the high school of religion there. "I realized I needed more training and background," he said, "So I began taking courses at the Pius XII religious education center in Detroit, which is part of the Lumen Vitae, the international center in Brussels."

He continued the study as he took over as CCD coordinator for three parishes and then moved into his present job. Delaney formerly was in office personnel management with Home Planners, Inc., a Detroit firm.

IN HIS new post, he will be helping parishes set up teacher training programs and select textbooks. He is the first lay person to hold the position. The office previously had two clergymen heading the work. Delaney and his wife, Helen, live on Wilmarth Avenue. Their children are Jerry, Cathleen, Robert, Stephan, Maureen, Joseph and John.

Missionaries Due To Speak On India

Missionaries from India, Rev. and Mrs. William Pease, will visit the Elmwood Church of the Nazarene, 6149 N. Wayne Road, Westland, at its 11 a.m. Sunday service.

The church's pastor, Rev. T.C. Riddle, who will preach the 7:30 p.m. service that night, said that the Peases are on a one-year furlough and will spend part of that time doing deputation work in Michigan. The balance of the year will be spent in Texas.

Rev. and Mrs. Pease have been assigned to India for the past 13 years where the reverend served as Mission School Principal in Chikhlil and field treasurer. Rev. Pease, a native of Alberta, Canada, received his bachelor of theology degree from the Canadian Nazarene College in Red Deer, Alberta. He then served as pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Alberta and district treasurer in Calgary, in the same province, before being assigned to India.

Rev. Riddle also announced that the Nazarene Church organization will accept a Thanksgiving offering for missions this Sunday with the goal set at $2 million.

Crusade Planned By Businessmen

The Evangelical Free Church of Farmington, 23845 Middle Belt near Ten Mile, will host a Christian Business Men's Crusade beginning Thursday, Nov. 16 through Sunday, Nov. 19.

Outstanding laymen in the Detroit area will both speak and provide musical talent.

Joe DeVita, career agent for Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company and member of the executive council of the Christian Business Men's Committee of Detroit, will speak on the opening Thursday night.

tian Business Men's Committee, will conclude the series at the 7 p.m. Sunday service. Johnson is the manager of the mechanical engineering department, manufacturing development office, of the Ford Motor Company.

The public is invited to all the services. The week-night meetings will be at 7:30 p.m.

From Lutheran Synod Church Gets Official Nod

A group of Christians who have been worshipping together for 10 weeks will become an official congregation of the American Lutheran Church this weekend.

Members of the Sword of the Spirit church, 34563 W. Seven Mile, Livonia, will hold an official organizational meeting Saturday evening with the Rev. Robert L. Wietelmann, president of the ALC Michigan District.

The evening will begin with a covered dish dinner at 6 p.m., and children will be entertained with movies during the business session.

THE FIRST constitution for the Sword of the Spirit Church will be presented at that time, and the first church council will be elected.

The church also will extend its official call to the Rev. William D. Wolfe, who arrived here to serve the church in July and has been conducting services since early September. The Rev. Wietelmann also will preach the sermon and install Pastor Wolfe and the new council at the 10 a.m. service Sunday.

THE FIRST group of charter members will be received during the service.

Livonia Churches Set Joint Retreat

A new step toward closer understanding among area churches will be taken this weekend when about 30 members of seven Livonia churches get together for an Interfaith Retreat.

It will be held Nov. 17 to 19 at Camp Michi-Lu-Ca, near Farview in the Au Sable River area.

Churches participating include St. Matthew's Methodist, St. Paul's Presbyterian, St. Timothy Presbyterian, Rose-dale Gardens Presbyterian, Trinity Church of the Brethren and Holy Cross Evangelical Lutheran.

"MEANING OF Persons and Communication" is the theme of the retreat.

Resource persons will include the Rev. Harold Garner, former pastor of Trinity Church and currently a doctoral student at the University of Michigan, and Dr. John Wickey, consulting psychologist in the Detroit area. Each church has picked several of its members to attend. Most of those who will participate are leaders in the Christian education work of the churches.

PLANS FOR the retreat came out of a series of dialogues on adult education began last spring under the leadership of the Rev. Thomas Estes, of St. Paul's.

Church representatives who participated in the dialogues, besides setting up the retreat, also are making plans for a spring series of seminars when several churches would co-operate.

THE OLD AND THE NEW—These pictures show the old frame building, where Clarenceville Methodist Church's Rev. Elsie Johns began her ministry 26 years ago, and a portion of the new building on Middlebelt Road.

Clarenceville Methodist Church Has New Kind Of Pledge Drive

Clarenceville Methodist Church is celebrating a remarkable growth over the last quarter century by a new kind of pledge drive.

In its "Every Member Visitation", set for the week of Nov. 19 to 25, the church will ask its 1,154 members what they would like to see included in the church program for the coming year.

The idea is that helping to write the church program will bring increased personal involvement, and the needed funds will come too.

DURING VISITATION week, every member will be called on in his home and asked for reactions to various church programs.

Church leaders said that they hoped as more members came to know and understand the needs of the community, they would give more of themselves and their means.

It was on July 3, 1941, that the church's present minister, the Rev. Elsie A. Johns, found in the pulpit of the tiny frame building on Grand River Ave. the following note:

"This church has no membership—no money. Here is the key."

MRS. JOHNS apparently used the key well, for the church passed the 1,000-mark in membership some time ago.

A new building has been built at 20300 Middle Belt, and further construction is planned.

The church has three regular services every Sunday and a mid-week service, and 533 students are enrolled in the church school program, including excellent adult classes. Three youth groups meet every Sunday, and there are five choirs.

THE CHURCH conducts two services a month in homes for the aged. Six members of the congregation have gone into full-time Christian Service and there are more in colleges and seminaries.

Each summer, the church sponsors one of the largest vacation Bible schools in Michigan, with a staff of over 70 teachers and helpers.

Pre-School Religion Is Talk Topic

Sister M. Agnes Therese Bailey, L.H.M., supervisor of preschool religion in the Archdiocese of Detroit, will speak to parents of Our Lady of Loretto preschoolers at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 16, in the parish hall, McNichols at the corner of Beech Daly.

The topic of her speech will be "Parents' Responsibility for the Religious Education of their Preschool Child." Anyone interested in the religious education of the preschool child is invited to attend. Those planning to come are asked to call Mrs. Barbara Shea, phone 531-0589, or Mrs. Sally Wheeler, phone 535-3703.

SR. AGNES THERESE, author of the manual "Preschool Child's Encounter with God," based the current preschool curriculum on the work of a French Jesuit affiliated with the famed catechetical center, Lumen Vitae in Brussels, Belgium. A pilot project was started three years ago in 26 parishes in the archdiocese. Now the program has expanded to approximately 200 parishes, with the laity doing most of the teaching.

The teachers approach the child through the senses because this is how he learns. The child realizes the greatness of all creation by first learning about the lifeless things, then plants and animals, and finally the life of the child.

THE LESSONS center on the love of God, His role as a Creator, and on Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit. Gestures, songs, and simple chants are used by the children. Always a response is elicited from them, and that response can be a time of silence to ponder.

This Is The Week That

... By Don Hoenschell

Mac was a newspaperman who had a problem adjusting his work and recreation, so he took his typewriter to his favorite saloon and wrote his column on the bar. Once the bartender gave him a glass of water, pure and unpolluted. Mac sipped and uttered a political truism:

"Not bad but it needs a gimmick or it'll never sell."

Think about it a minute.

There was the chicken in every pot and two cars in every garage—if you could afford a garage and a pot. Roosevelt's New Deal, Truman's Fair Deal, Eisenhower's Great Crusade.

Following, there was JFK's New Frontier and LBJ's Great Society.

IN MICHIGAN, we deal more in the fun of the thing than in the written word.

Go back a few years and tick them off. There was Gov. Harry F. Kelly, the solid Catholic Irishman; Gov. Kim Sigler of the flamboyant wardrobe, the airplane and the hero figure of a grand jury investigator.

The airplane was Kim's downfall (you should excuse the expression, sincerely). It got to be a fetish, and it was pointed out he should have been in Lansing rather than in the wild blue.

There was that terrible night with snow falling and the fields soaked in by weather that Sigler hit a television antenna near Battle Creek and plunged to his death.

Sense And Nonsense

Women are being taught in Detroit how to maim an attacker by screaming, biting and kicking in the groin. Just pretend he's your husband, ladies, and forget the lessons.

There was a small debate among those who dashed over icy roads to the scene, whether Kim would have wanted to go spectacularly—as he did—or die quietly and lie in state on the translucent capitol rotunda in one of those beautiful suits.

The answer never found a consensus. Nobody ever really agreed on Sigler.

Soapy Williams came along (only Nancy called him Soapy in his presence) with his bow tie and sincerity, and you can't knock either one. He did what he had to do, but he had to have the gimmick.

GOV. JOHN B. SWAINSON had a brush cut and his youth. There are stories that can be written that will amaze you about his contribution to your welfare. Voters saw the brush cut.

At one time on an elevator in Grand Rapids some people, who didn't know him, mused that he should grow a mustache so he'd look older and thus tie the ribbon on a political package.

"If I never become governor, I won't grow a mustache," he said later.

Now we have Gov. George Romney, whose gimmickry started with his public snoozes in a station wagon when he was vice president of the Constitutional Convention.

For Romney there was the golf course and his Compact 18 (six golf balls, three holes) of a morning, a romp across the fairways in the dawning. The grey fringe didn't lose any votes.

You stay awake at night worrying about voters, figuring a gimmick will give them not only what they cherish but also what they need.

You worry about the man more than the gimmick.

But you also worry that the gimmick might win and be more than the man.

One Survey Which Isn't Too Snoopy

Sometimes, surveys can get pretty snoopy.

This is one of the other kind. It seems to be pretty good.

It's being conducted by the U.S. Office of Civil Defense, which, if you haven't been following the papers closely, is still around.

OCD for five years has been surveying public buildings, selecting some for shelters and setting them up with two-week supplies of food, water, sanitary and medical supplies, and radiation detection stuff.

Now, it's surveying residential structures of the one-, two- and three-family size. Livonia and Garden City residents by now have probably received questionnaires, and other Observerland municipalities will be surveyed either by mail or by interviewers.

They say the answers will be confidential.

There's little reason to worry. The questions in the mail survey are hardly personal. They mainly have to do with house roofs, basement walls and distances from other dwellings.

The accompanying letter says that most public shelters in Michigan "are located in commercial, industrial, school and other public buildings in the major cities. But these do not serve the needs of all city residents because of residential location, job location or other factors. . . Families may find that the nearest public shelter is too far away."

It can't do any harm to fill out the questionnaire and send it along to the Census Bureau.

"Every family that lives in a house with a basement," they say, "will be mailed a specially prepared Civil Defense booklet; a label on the cover will provide information concerning the fallout protection factor. . . A general information booklet on protective measures that can be taken by individuals and families will be sent to occupants of homes without basements."

Fair enough.

OBSERVATION POINT

By Philip H. Power

The expressways are still jammed. The war in Viet Nam drags on. Taxes continue to rise. And winter is coming in with the usual sodden and gray hesitations.

In the middle of all this grimness, it's reassuring to know that there is at least one group on the alert and fully prepared for the disasters to come.

The Patriotic Party, occupying a point in the political spectrum somewhat to the right of the John Birch Society, has come forward with a useful little flyer now being distributed in various areas of Observerland.

"ALARM," it opens. "Can you survive the next riot? It has already been planned." That certainly snapped my head around; some writers, those Patriotic Party flacks.

"Next time, they will destroy all utilities, gas, water, lights, phone, and plan to murder all policemen and their families." Evidently, the Patriotic Party has sources of information somewhat better than the Detroit Police Department combined with the FBI and CIA.

BUT FEAR not. The PP has a nifty plan for suburban homeowners to survive in the middle of the impending chaos. They assume that martial law will be imposed when the riot starts, and that everyone will be confined indoors "as long as a month or more."

That's a long time, but the plan has it all worked out:

- "Have a gun, and plenty of ammunition. Nothing wrong with a bow and arrow."
- "At least a 30-day supply of food. You will NOT have refrigeration."
- "A supply of drinking water must be stored in jugs, bottles, barrels, etc."
- "Portable radio and flashlight and extra batteries."
- "Portable stove for heat and cooking. Fire extinguisher."
- "Walkie-talkie for neighborhood communication."
- "First-aid equipment."

The PP says they'll be glad to help you organize, and they mention a series of three rallies held in Detroit and Dearborn. "Persons suspected of being Communist or Black Power sympathizers will NOT be admitted."

CLEARLY, THE Patriotic Party is not your ordinary slapdash organization. Discipline. Toughness. Follow orders. Hut; two; three; foraaard haarch!

Woe to the PP member who doesn't follow the carefully worked out plan.

Let's move our portable tape recorder around to pick up an interview, some months in the future, between Patriotic Leader Smith and new recruit Jones. The conversation takes place in PP headquarters, after a sudden and unannounced inspection of Jones' house.

"WE SAID quite clearly that you should have a gun and plenty of ammo." PPL Smith isn't too happy. "Even a bow and arrow is OK. But a bunch of your wife's kitchen knives and your son's BB gun simply won't do."

"But you oughta see my wife with those knives when she's mad," Jones sputters. "And the neighbors say my son is more dangerous than John Dillinger with that BB gun."

"No insubordination, Jones! I'm here to give you your orders, not to accept back talk."

"Now, you've got enough food for 32 days, although I wonder whether five gallons of peanut butter is entirely suitable to keep up your strength."

"But my son likes it."

"O.K., O.K. But look, you've entirely disobeyed instructions with respect to the drinking water. You were supposed to store it in jugs, bottles, barrels, etc., just like our leaflet says."

"Yeah, I suppose you're right. My wife's pretty sore at that bath tub full of cold water. She wanted to take a bath the other night, and I wouldn't let her. I said the riot could come any day now, and what's a little b.o. as a price for safety. I'll get some barrels, etc."

"Well, you'd better. And you'd better do something about that stove situation. We simply can't have Patriotic Party members with an old 55 gallon drum and a bunch of broken up furniture in their basement. Get hold of Consumers Power Co. and ask about bottled gas."

"O.K., O.K. Reinember, I'm new at this counter-insurgency business. Is there anything else that should be fixed up?"

"You bet there is. And this is serious. Where is your walkie-talkie for neighborhood communication? You know you were ordered to have one! Where is it?"

"Well, I talked to all the people in my neighborhood about it, and none of them had a walkie-talkie. And if nobody else has one, I can't use mine very well for neighborhood communication."

"You mean you TOLD your neighbors about your plans!" roars Smith. "That means you've broken our standing order about secrecy! Everybody will know what we're doing!"

"But shouldn't they?" mutters Jones. "After all, if we're going to save people from the riots, shouldn't we try to save everybody?"

"You must be some kind of Communist or Black Power sympathizer! We aren't interested in helping just everybody. Just our Patriotic Party members. You're expelled!"

"Well, I guess that's OK," Jones says. "My kid really has wanted to shoot that BB gun for the past couple of weeks."

SOUNDS SILLY, I know.

But riots are serious enough to be of concern for everyone without having the waters muddied by extremists . . . black or white.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION IS WORTH A TON OF PEANUT BUTTER!

SENSE 'N' NONSENSE

State Senator George W. Kuhn, whose district includes several communities served by the Observer Newspapers, had a letter to the editor published last week in a Detroit newspaper complimenting Ford Motor Co. for offering thousands of jobs to Inner City residents. What he forgot to mention in between the sugar-and-spice comments about the company and its officers is that George is on leave of absence from the Ford accounting department to serve in the Senate. It looks like he is buttering up the boss even when he is not on the payroll.

The nomination for the stupidest Halloween prankster of the year should be the person (or persons) who tore down the United Foundations gas-fed torch, burning in front of the Garden City Municipal Building.

The Observer's recent editorial reviewing George Romney's past promises and record received several compliments—all from Democrats, of course. But State Senator Bill Faust wrote to the writer last week that he got the Pulitzer Prize—"at least the Democratic one," anyway.

The Secretary of State office in Lansing told a Garden City branch office that it shouldn't reserve special auto plate numbers on 1968 plates which went on sale last week. Several days after the instruction, Secretary of State James Hare himself was pictured in a Detroit newspaper presenting special WS plates to a Wayne State University administrator in observance of the school's centennial. It seems hypocrisy is the name of the game.

Dems Get A Lesson

Westland Democrats learned a lesson the hard way in last week's first general elections in the city.

Although they campaigned on a "unity" theme following a hard-fought primary election in September, the voters, who haven't elected a Republican to office in 12 years, elected one to the City Council last week and even saw the only other Republican finish ahead of the Democratic incumbent who was defeated in his bid for another term.

During the weeks just before the election, Democrats were privately calling one of the Republican candidates a "John Bircher" although the Democrat admitted that the man was neither a member of that group nor attended any of their meetings.

But the Democrats fail to realize that 1967 is not 1964, when the GOP was split by a lot of "labels" from Birch and ultra-conservative to moderate and liberal and ultra-liberal. At that time, Republicans couldn't understand any candidate who didn't fit neatly into one of those categories.

Now the pendulum has turned 180 degrees and the Democrats, from local to the national levels, have been torn apart by "hawks" and "doves" and those who are trying to dump President Johnson from the 1968 national ticket.

It seems odd to this writer that the Democrats are falling into the same pit that spelled disaster for the Republican Party just three short years ago.

They don't seem to realize that just the simple tasks of calling the opponent some kind of nasty name, nailing up posters on utility poles near shopping centers, and passing out literature on election day just isn't enough to win these days.

Across the country, as evidenced by the recent returns in mayoralty races in Boston, Cleveland and Gary, Ind., the record shows that the average voter is getting smarter and more sophisticated about his voting patterns every election day.

STRAIGHT TICKET VOTES are a thing of the past; Democrats are campaigning openly for defeat of fellow Democrats; and Republicans have not hesitated about campaigning for other Democrats, if they feel that the Democrat is the best man in the field.

Race and religion are no longer considerations in politics, and the term "backlash" can now be placed in a political museum along with the Bull Moose Party campaign badges.

Locally, the voters indicated in the Westland election that they are earnest in their fight to maintain a sane tax rate and stop the

Locking Car: A Favor To Yourself

You might just as well give your car away as to be guilty of leaving it unattended with the doors unlocked and the keys in the ignition—literally inviting thieves to take it.

Of the 500,000 cars stolen in 1966, more than 200,000 had been parked with the keys in the ignition, and 80 percent of them had been left with the doors not locked.

According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, auto thefts increased 12 percent in 1966 over 1965.

ONE OF THE LEADING car manufacturers has installed a buzzer on 1968 models which is set off if the key is in the ignition when the driver's door is opened—as an aid to the absentminded driver.

But for the millions of earlier model cars, drivers should be alert and take care to leave the car securely locked whenever it is not occupied, so as to:

First, cut down on juvenile delinquency, for police records show that more than half the stolen cars are taken by persons under 18 years of age and nearly 90 percent by those under 25. Almost one out of four stolen vehicles is involved in accidents. The penitentiaries are filled with convicts whose first crime was auto theft.

Second, reduce the staggering over-all financial loss from car theft which costs more than $250 million a year (including items and accessories stolen from vehicles).

If you want to hold onto your car—lock it.

Schoolcraft 'Delighted' At Working Capital Fund

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter, written by Schoolcraft College President, Dr. Eric J. Bradner, is in response to continued coverage of the college's finances by this newspaper. It contains the fullest discussion to date submitted about the college's fiscal situation, as well as an explanation of the need for operating capital to make up for irregular flows of revenue to the college.)

EDITOR:
This letter is occasioned by the appearance in THE OBSERVER of November 8, an article entitled: "Schoolcraft Amazed Up Pops $211,703."

I would like in the lines below to provide your readers with a more complete picture of the subject matter of the story than the article itself provided.

SCHOOLCRAFT College, like all other public community colleges, is governed by certain stringent rules and regulations in the handling of its finances and keeping of its records and accounts.

The Board of Trustees employs an independent firm of certified public accountants to audit the records.

Since the college receives revenue from both state and federal sources, its books are at all times subject to additional audit from these sources. The college is required to publish annually the report of its auditors, so that the books are a matter of public record. In addition, your newspaper has been furnished and has published a copy of the audit.

I TAKE NO issue with your article as to the fact of the $211,703 disclosed by the audit report for the year which ended June 30, 1967, nor do I contest the fact that this figure surprised us.

I may add, that in addition to surprising us, it also delighted us. We had anticipated some improvement of our financial situation, but had no idea we would fare so well.

LET ME THEN approach the subject matter of the article by defining a term and clarifying a statement made in the first paragraph of the article and repeated later:

The $211,703 referred to is defined in the audit as "Fund Equity." It represents the amount by which income exceeds expense.

The $211,703 is not part of the contingency fund of any budget ever used by this college, as I will explain more fully later.

The $211,703 simply stated, is "working capital." It is money that every business, if you will, needs to maintain its operations on an even keel from one year to the next.

LET ME GO back five years into the history of the college to provide some perspective on the college's "Fund Equity." In every case I will use figures from the general fund from the audit report of the applicable year. (The college as you know, opened its doors in August 1964, but it had been levying taxes and spending tax dollars for several years prior to the 1964-65 accounting year.)

The audit report for the year which ended June 30, 1963, showed a Fund Equity of $119,715. This was the accumulated excess of revenue over expenditures up to that point in the college's history.

During the year which ended June 30, 1964, as the college approached its opening date, expenditures exceeded revenues by nearly $60,000. The audit for that year showed a "Fund Equity" of $70,000, a drop of nearly $50,000.

Then the college opened, and in the year that ended June 30, 1965, the college for the first time received funds from two other primary sources than local taxes: state aid for its students, and tuition and fees from its students. During that year, expenditures again exceeded revenues by some $41,000. The "Fund Equity" of the college--its working capital, if you please--shrank to slightly under $30,000.

In the year that ended June 30, 1966--the second year of the college--expenditures exceeded revenues, this time by about $16,000 and the "Fund Equity" dropped to $10,157.

NOW, I HAVE stated that the "Fund Equity" is "working capital" and not part of the contingency fund of any budget. The working capital is, as we have said, the excess of revenue over expenses, and is accounted with the General Fund, which is used for year-to-year operation of the college.

Obviously, if expenses exceed revenues, the additional money must come from somewhere. Under the best circumstances, it comes from the so-called "working capital," the accumulated "Fund Equity."

As the audit reports plainly show over the years, the college's operating revenue is derived from three sources: local taxes, tuition and fees of students, and state aid.

The budget represents an estimate composed in advance of each operating year, of how much money will come in and how much money can be spent. Hopefully, the money will come in, and hopefully, we will be able to live within our means.

Nowhere does any budget include as anticipated revenue, the "Fund Equity" of the college. Nowhere is this money included in the budgeted contingency fund of any budget.

BEFORE RETURNING to a full explanation of the "surprise" we enjoyed a few weeks ago, let me go a bit deeper into the matter of revenue.

Schoolcraft College, as all public community colleges in Michigan, receives its income sporadically.

While expenses are incurred throughout the year, and are heaviest during the eight months between September and April, income is derived in fits and starts.

In order to pay bills, meet payrolls and other operating costs, the college in the fall of 1966 sold $140,000 in tax anticipation notes to get the cash necessary to meet its financial obligations until money which was due and coming to it finally arrived.

THERE WAS NO other source of funds in the fall of 1966 to provide this cash so vitally needed to keep the college operating, pay the instructors and staff, and to satisfy the claims of creditors.

You will recall, that the college's "working capital"--its "Fund Equity"--was down to $10,157.

Unforeseen at the time the budget for the 1966-67 year was prepared in the spring of 1966 were several circumstances which were to materially affect the college's operation and financial picture during the year.

Foremost of these, as we discovered late in the college year, was that more students than had been anticipated enrolled in the college. The fall term enrollment was about as expected. Winter term enrollment was higher than expected and spring term enrollment in the eight-week spring term exceeded all expectations.

By last mid-May, then, we were aware that from this source alone revenue would exceed projections made 12 months previously. What we did not know, and had no way of knowing, was by how much.

The business office on the basis of best information available to it, estimated this increase to be about $80,000 and so informed the Trustees before the present budget was adopted.

HOWEVER, THE college's cash position late in the year was such that a halt was ordered on all spending in mid-May, 1967. As a result, we completed the year, as the audit disclosed, having underspent our budget by $10,000.

When the audit was completed, early this fall, we learned for the first time the exact nature of our enrollment windfall: 206 more full-time equivalent students than we had anticipated. This meant additional income of about $119,000--$68,000 in state aid, and $51,000 in tuition and fees.

The audit also disclosed that we had missed our estimate--made a year previous--of our reimbursement for technical-vocational programs by $24,000. In past years comparisons of our estimates with actual settlements have varied from minus $10,000 to plus $3,600.

We also finished the year with $11,000 in inventories, which become part of the "Fund Equity" figure.

THUS WAS OUR surprise: Our Fund Equity had increased in one year from $10,157 to $211,703. This after a four year period in which the Fund Equity had dropped from $119,715 to $10,157.

Yes, we were surprised, and happy.

There is no disputing the fact that we ended the year with a far more robust working capital account than we had at any time since 1963.

There is also no disputing the fact that the Fund Equity figure is largely a "paper" figure and does not represent actual dollars in hand, free, clear and available for immediate use.

The facts, as disclosed by the audit, were that as of June 30, 1967--the date of the so-called "amazing" Fund Equity--the college had cash in the bank of $48,446, and owed $116,000 to vendors and for salaries and other costs. On that same date, there was owed and payable to the college $275,000 in uncollected accounts, including unpaid taxes.

All of this information is available in the 1967 year audit report.

IT IS ALSO important to keep in mind a chronology of the financial life of the college. Budgets are structured well in advance of the year to which they are to take effect and are based in largest measure on best guess estimates of how many students will enroll, and how much the tax base will grow, if at all, on the income side, and what unforeseen costs might or could develop on the expense side. Foresight is based on experience and probabilities and is subject to a score of variables.

Thus the college found itself as the present year began on July 1, 1967, of now knowing exactly what its actual financial position was on one hand, but of being painfully aware on the other hand that there was far too little cash in the bank or on the horizon to meet both immediate cash needs and longer range expenses if it were to operate the college during the year on a balanced budget.

Confronted with this dilemma, college officials proposed, and the Trustees concurred in, two independent steps.

One was to sell $250,000 in tax anticipation notes to provide operating cash until local property taxes began coming in after Jan. 1. The second was to increase tuition to provide additional revenue to balance the budget. This tuition increase is not to become effective until after January 1, when the winter semester begins.

Contrary to reports printed in your newspaper, the 1967-68 year operating budget was, at the request of the trustees, cut back at the same time tuition was increased, to make up an obvious budget deficit.

IN CONCLUSION, I would point out that Schoolcraft College has grown at a fantastic rate, exceeding perhaps the hopes of its friends and shattering the doubts of its few detractors. This growth is the fruit of a strengthening partnership between the college's dedication to excellence in education and the people who are using the facilities and resources of the college at an ever increasing rate.

Sound financial management is part and parcel of growth and continued dedication to excellence. This obligates the college to live within its means, and to do so realistically with cash in hand to meet its obligations and to maintain as far as is possible a steady course through solvency, as befits a healthy and growing institution.

PTA In Area Begins Anti-Smoking Campaign

A problem of growing concern among parents -- smoking by young teens and their even younger brothers and sisters -- is getting action from the Parent Teacher Association in the area.

Representatives of PTA's in District 2 will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Edsel Ford High School in Dearborn for a workshop to help local groups initiate anti-smoking programs. District 2 includes PTA organizations in all of Wayne County outside Metropolitan Detroit.

A SIMILAR MEETING was held Nov. 4 for South Oakland PTA groups. Mrs. Carol Comstock, of Farmington, said that meeting included talks by several health authorities. Delegates also saw several films that might be suitable for use in local meetings.

"We'll now make the material available, and it will be up to the various school PTA groups to use it as they wish," she said.

The campaign is now being aimed at elementary school organizations, Mrs. Comstock added, because research now indicates that warnings to junior high pupils about the hazards of smoking may already be too late.

MRS. WALTER NEVILL, director of District 2, said local units were being urged to initiate programs at the younger level because it was felt that children in the elementary grades are beginning to express independence and should know of the adverse effects smoking can have.

She said the PTA has campaigned for 20 years against smoking by young people.

"Many people do not know it," she added, "but there is an old Michigan law still in effect that calls for schools to teach the bad effect of smoking."

"This usually is done in classes in physiology or natural science at the senior high school level, which in our modern and fast-paced life is too late for our children."

THE MEETING at Edsel Ford High is open to the public and free.

Dr. George Pickett, Wayne County General Hospital, will keynote the assembly on the physical effects of smoking on health while Dr. Saul Levine, Lafayette Clinic, will discourse on the psychological and social motivations of the smoking habit among young people. Dr. Levine's panel members will include a school social worker and a school athletic coach.

Various health agencies vitally concerned with the smoking habit and its effect on health, including the Michigan Council on Smoking and Health and the Wayne County Council on Health and Smoking, are cooperating with the Michigan PTA by supplying literature, exhibits and personnel available as speakers. Each PTA unit represented at the meeting will receive a kit filled with material and information vital to programing their individual smoking and health projects.

Women To Join In Farewell

Members of eight women's clubs in this area will join in the gala farewell to the Federation of Women's Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit in planning Dec. 2 for its clubhouse at 4811 Second, Detroit.

The historic old building will be torn down soon to make way for further expansion of the Wayne State University campus. Federation officers are looking around the area for a site suitable for a new clubhouse.

MRS. NATHANIEL BANKS, of Redford Township, a member of the Kenwood Woman's Club, is the current president of the federation.

Other area clubs represented are the Farmington Town Club, the Garden City Women's Club, the Livonia City Women's Club, the Northville Women's Club, the Redford Suburban League, Redford Woman's Club, and Westwood Hills Woman's Club.

THE FAREWELL evening at the Second Avenue house will include a catered buffet dinner at 7 p.m., dancing in the ballroom with an orchestra from the Detroit Federation of Musicians, and movies and cards.

For information or tickets, women interested may call KE. 2-7345 or 534-2768.

Thanksgiving Musicales Set

The Farmington Musicales will hold its Thanksgiving program at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 22, in the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington, Eleven Mile and Farmington Roads.

As a member of the Michigan and National Federations of Music Clubs, the Musicales will recognize Federation Day, acquainting its members, old and new, with the functions and goals of the state and national organizations.

At Northville

Funds Sought For Chapels For Patients

Leaders of five communities are joining in an effort to provide religious facilities which doctors believe may aid in the rehabilitation of Northville State Hospital patients.

The aim is to raise $30,000 for three chapels for Catholic, Protestant and Jewish patients. Besides the small synagogue and sanctuaries, offices are planned for chaplains of the three faiths, and there will be a common meeting and storage room and a conference room.

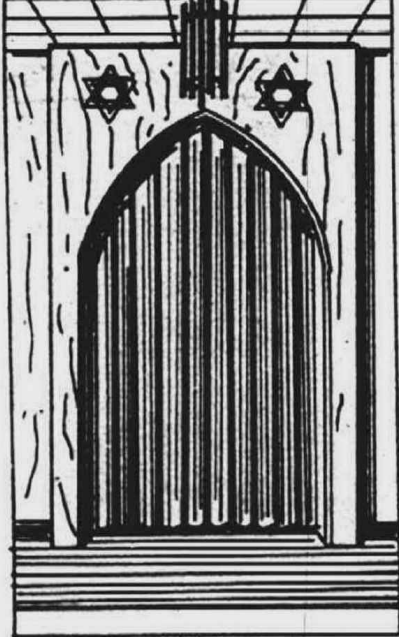

For the past 15 years, Northville State Hospital has had no facilities for religious services. The chaplains have conducted services in a teaching auditorium.

Dr. E.C. Yadashkin, medical superintendent, believes these sanctuaries will help the hospital in its treatment of the mental patients.

PROTESTANT

Dr. Yadashkin said there is an identification many patients feel for their own church that might be a real factor in rehabilitation.

JEWISH

cover if worship facilities could be provided.

Because of the many needs of the hospital, the state is unable to finance the building of the chapels.

So the Northville State Hospital Chapel Committee has mailed letters to all churches and leading businesses in the community to raise the money necessary to remodel a section of the hospital into a three chapel complex.

Although the campaign is barely off the ground several pledges have been made. Jewish Women's organization has pledged $6,000, and the Redford Suburban League $700.

Under the direction of Father Paul E. Lederman, community chairmen will be calling personally on churches and businessmen this week.

Community leaders heading the drive include:

LIVONIA--Mayor Harvey W. Moelke, Philip Power, publisher of the Observer Newspapers; Roland H. Upton, Judge James McCann, Mrs. Robert Fox and Mrs. Louis Pearlman.

REDFORD TOWNSHIP -- Supervisor Aldrick Bellaire, Shirley Hay and Gerry Liblang. FARMINGTON -- Mayor Wilbur V. Brotherton, Dr. Conrad R. Lam, Marie Read and Margaret McHugh.

PLYMOUTH -- Mrs. James Martin.

NORTHVILLE--Mrs. Walter Couss, A. Russell Clarke, Geraldine Seigruue and Eleanor Hammond.

m. m. memos

One of the most pleasant parts of the women's editor's job is handling the pictures of all the pretty girls around here who are about to be married.

For the most part, I know them only as a smiling face on a wallet-sized photo, but I enjoy piecing together the romantic bits of information their announcements contain.

Like the one that came recently from a lovely young lady who was homecoming queen at her college last year. She's marrying the football coach, and what a stir that romance must have caused on campus.

Then there's another recent bride-elect I'd like to meet sometime.

She brought her picture to one of The Observer offices and asked, in passing, when it would be published.

In a week or so, my co-worker told her. And she asked if her mother wanted to know the date so she could get lots of extra copies to send to relatives.

"It's not that," our young lady explained. "I'm a teacher, and it's my sixth grade class that's getting me down. They see my fiance drive me to school every day, and I just have to get them some proof that I'm not married."

Ah, these precocious sixth-graders!

DAR Sees Police Film

A film on police work entitled "To Protect and Serve" will be viewed by the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Nov. 20 meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Willoughby.

Mrs. Ann Holmes, of Birmingham, will narrate and conduct a question and answer period.

The film, which draws on the files of J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI, Adlai Stevenson and the U.S. Department of Justice, relates the history of law enforcement, how police help citizens and how their work is hindered.

Marjorie Becker is glad she teaches art for all kinds of reasons.

A lot of them are tied up in her belief that art can and should be an integral part of each stage of life—to the young a happy means of expression, to the busy adult a satisfying implementation of living, to the older person a worthwhile filler of long hours.

BUT BEYOND this, Livonia's head of elementary art education sees her subject as a tremendously important part of the whole education picture.

"It's the part of school where we can encourage individuality," she said.

"In so many parts of a child's schooling, we must teach him to conform. But in art we can lead him to think for himself, and this is a great thing to carry over into other subjects."

"We are living in an age when we must push scientific knowledge and training if we are to survive as a people," she added.

"But because of this we need more than ever the understanding that comes with the arts."

IN TEACHING art to young children, Mrs. Becker said, she and her staff of teaching consultants try to stress good design and keep it always before the youngsters.

But they only guide, she added, and try to help each child discover for himself what is good in color and design.

And that brings her to another reason she's glad to teach art—the joy of being on hand for this discovery.

Mrs. Becker, a teacher in the Livonia school system since 1931 and elementary art coordinator for 15 years, recently completed the large-sized task of bringing some of her ideas and those of her consultants to art instructors from four counties.

STEVENSON HIGH School was the host school for art teachers during the regional educational conferences early this month, and Marjorie Becker was in charge of the program.

The theme was Kaleidoscope '67.

"To an artist," Mrs. Becker said, "Kaleidoscope means changing patterns, and we carried out the theme both in physical effects and in program."

WHEN NOT DIRECTING the art education of Livonia's small fry, Mrs. Becker likes water color painting—she has had several shows and is past president of the Three Cities Art Club—and collecting antiques.

"Good design is lasting,"

Teaching Art Is Labor Of Love

ART EDUCATION HEAD—Mrs. Marjorie Becker, coordinator of elementary art instruction in Livonia schools, and a friend who came into being in her department.

The students at Stevenson, she said, added to the decor by setting up lights that moved and changed pattern, from moving water reflections to gesture dancing that made moving light and shadow.

FOR THE program, she reported, there was an address by Robert Iglehart, chairman of the University of Michigan art department, a panel discussion on art's changing patterns, and about 50 workshops to cover every phase of art education that Marjorie Becker could think of.

"I was delighted later," she said, "that several of the teachers came up afterward and said they thought there were parts of the program designed just for them. That's what we were trying to do."

MARJORIE BECKER and her husband built the house in the wooded country there shortly before he became fatally ill. "I've stayed there and derived much enjoyment from the home and location," she said. "My mother lived here with me for a while and she used to work out some of my designs in needlework or crochet. I think she gave me a real understanding of what art can mean to the old."

If she needs additional knowledge of what art can mean to the young, she gets it by visiting her son and daughter-in-law and four grandchildren in Northville.

Mrs. Becker thinks their home, with its school art work decorating the walls at times, exemplifies the increased awareness on the part of American families for children's need to express their individuality.

"Parents seem more understanding now, of the part we are trying to play in education," she added.

And that's one more reason to enjoy being an art teacher.

Bentley Teacher To Speak

Daniel B. Kachowski, co-leader of the U.S. history team teaching program at Bentley High School, Livonia, will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the West Detroit Business and Professional Women's Club.

The meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. in the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel.

His address will be on "Anatomy of a Free People," a study of the struggle of men and women in their quest for a government "of the people, for the people, and by the people."

The program is part of the BPW Know Your America Week, Nov. 19 to 24. Legislative chairman, Mrs. Myrtle Luke, of Windsor, Ont., is program chairman for the evening.

Kachowski received his bachelor of science and master of arts degrees from the University of Detroit and has been teaching for nine years. Before joining the Livonia school system, he was affiliated with De LaSalle Collegiate and then was chairman of the social studies department at Austin Preparatory School for Boys in Detroit.

The West Detroit BPW Club is affiliated with the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Inc., which is comprised of 177,000 business and professional women.

Doctor in the Kitchen®

by W.W. Bauer, M.D.
Consultant, National Dairy Council

Doctor in the kitchen? What's a doctor doing in the kitchen?

Kitchens are for home-makers—cooks; not doctors!

Well, now, let's just see. Kitchens are certainly for cooking and otherwise preparing food, aren't they? Well then, isn't food a basic essential for living, along with water and air? And isn't the right food, properly selected, important and indeed essential, for good health, vigor and fitness? I've always thought so.

SO MAYBE A doctor in the kitchen might be of some use in helping the homemaker with her important job of feeding her family correctly, economically, and happily, and with the least wear and tear on herself. Not by telling her how to run her house. She knows about that. But in keeping her up to the minute in the fast-moving world of nutritional research.

New knowledge is being developed all the time by thousands of nutritional and clinical research workers, and reported in more journals than the homemaker could possibly read. Wouldn't it be helpful to have a stand-by source of such information in your kitchen once a week?

So, may I look in?

KITCHENS, I regret to say, are also places where homemakers get hurt. They deal with sharp knives, jagged cans, hot utensils and liquids, whirling beaters and other electric appliances. Water or grease gets spilled on floors and causes falls. Escaping gas may explode: hot grease may start fires. Broken glassware may cause serious cuts. Perhaps the doctor's advice might be helpful in knowing what to do when such situations develop—or still better to keep them from developing. With your permission, madam?

MANY QUESTIONS arise in the course of a week's meal planning and preparation. And over the bridge table, or at the laundromat, many opinions about food are expressed, some correct, some not.

There are, for example, homemakers who even wonder whether proteins and carbohydrates should be eaten at the same meal. Let's get the record straight. There is absolutely no reason for such concern. The notion that proteins and carbohydrates should not be eaten at the same meal arose from a dietary fad more than thirty years ago, and still pops up once in a while. Indeed, most foods naturally contain both of these nutrients.

In nutrition, there are plenty of questions. Most people don't know the facts. For this reason, I hope you'll join the doctor in the kitchen next week, and for many more weeks to come. We'll talk common-sense nutrition for you and your family.

Good day—and good eating!

Huron Botanical Officials Praise Proposed Nature Trail

The old well site on Beck Road near Seven-Mile, has been hailed as an ideal site for the City of Plymouth to establish a nature trail to be used for the study of plants, birds, and other wild life.

This was the opinion of Herbert Conant, president of the Huron Valley Chapter of the Michigan Botanical Club, after exploring the area with members of the City Commission a week ago.

"The site has a number of species of mature trees that are irreplaceable assets, as well as many young trees, shrubs, vines and herbaceous plants in great variety", he went on.

"The value of a natural area of this sort", Conant continued in his report, "can not be measured in dollars and cents, but will become increasingly important as urban development progresses."

He informed City Manager Blodgett that the Huron Valley Chapter would be glad to help lay out a nature trail and lend any other assistance needed.

He made the following suggestions:

1. That the area be fenced, if possible, to prevent vandalism and unauthorized use and destruction. Such fence to enclose all of the wooded area and the small pond northwest of the present fence.
2. That no trees or other plants be removed or added. A truly natural area includes dead trees which are used by birds and other wild life.
3. That any parking area needed be established adjacent to Beck Road.
4. That some of the present buildings be converted to use as a nature museum, rest rooms, etc., and power lines only for necessary service. (Perhaps they could be underground.) The mowed area could serve as a picnic site, but we recommend that it not be extended further.
5. That a bird feeding station be established at a sheltered spot on the nature trail so that wild birds could be seen as a part of nature study.

City Renews Study Of Garbage Problem

After listening to complaints from the Chamber of Commerce and individual home owners regarding garbage collection and prices charged throughout the city, the City Commission has decided to make a thorough study of the garbage problem.

For several months the Commission has been working with the City of Livonia on proposed plans for an incinerator, but this solution, admittedly, is a long way off.

In the meantime, complaints continue to pile up along with requests for additional collections.

In an effort to get some kind of a solution, the Commission agreed to make a study and Commissioner Arch Vallier accepted the chairmanship.

"WE WILL try to have a report ready for the meeting of Nov. 20," he remarked, after accepting the appointment, "we should have the answer to this problem and see just where we are going."

The Retail Committee of the Chamber of Commerce made the following proposal:

"That the City of Plymouth take action to accelerate arrangements between the City of Plymouth and the downtown businessmen for a mutually satisfactory rubbish disposal program in the central business district."

"Three avenues of approach are as follows:

- 1--Cost study of the City to do the collecting of the rubbish for the commercial area, preferably on a five day basis.

"2--We would like to suggest that a City Commissioner be appointed to assist in expediting the necessary program.

"3--We would be willing to appoint a 3 or 5 man task force to review the matter, jointly, with the appropriate city officials."

THE COMMISSION also was told that the contractor had issued warnings to the individual householders that he was planning to raise the rates.

"The City is the one that has the authority to raise the rates and not the contractor," Commissioner Vallier pointed out, and shortly after that remark, he was named chairman of the Committee.

Week-End Crash Injures Three

Three persons were injured Saturday after the cars they were in were struck while one car was trying to turn into a driveway on Plymouth Road, a quarter-mile west of Haggerty.

Charles Kenneth Brockwell, 31, of 301 Elizabeth, was injured but police said that he refused medical attention.

John Rodrick McIssaac, 25, and his wife Joan, 26, of 30439 East Point, Gibraltar, received minor injuries and needed no medical care.

McIssaac told police that he was trying to enter a parking lot when his car was hit. Brockwell said that he saw the other car but couldn't stop in time.

While Brockwell's car was still sitting in the road another vehicle struck it and then continued to go on.

Police reported that the disabled car was well marked with flares and, a car later discovered to be driven by Carroll Alton Stieringer, 24, of 7501 Canton Center, smashed into the car going about 70 miles an hour.

Police said that the third car made no attempt to stop at the scene of the second accident.

Bauer Resigns Planning Post

Due to his increased activities and work in other areas George T. Bauer has resigned from the City of Plymouth Planning Commission, effective immediately.

The resignation was accepted with regrets by the City Commission.

Jaycees Conduct Own Drive For Vietnam

The Plymouth Jaycees, who make a point of the fact that they are not working with the Detroit chapter, Monday announced plans to send a Christmas package to men from the Plymouth community serving with the armed forces in Vietnam.

Detroit's Jaycees started such a movement a week ago and there was some talk of spreading to the suburbs. That's why the Plymouth chapter wants it made known that the "Christmas Gifts for Vietnam GIs in Vietnam" is strictly and solely the work of the local group.

"We plan to make contacts with many of the local stores for assistance in obtaining needed items," said Chairman Jerry Hazlett, "We urge anyone in the Plymouth community who has a son or relative from the community serving in Vietnam, to make the fact known."

Hazlett asks all to send post cards to the Plymouth Jaycees, Box 279, Plymouth, Mich. The card must include the full name, rank, serial number as well as the post office and the military unit.

"However, we must receive the post cards no later than Nov. 21," he emphasized, "If we hope to get the packages delivered by Christmas."

DAR To Study Work With Indians

The monthly meeting of Three Flags Chapter of D.A.R. will be held Nov. 13 at the home of Mrs. Hoyt Stewart, of Lathrup Village. Co-hostesses for the luncheon will be Mrs. Harry Alger, of Lathrup Village, and Mrs. Morley Foster, of Farmington. The program will feature slides on American Indians. This is one of the charitable endeavors of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution. The American Indians Committee was established to help American Indians take their rightful place in our American way of life. The N.S.D.A.R. committee for American Indian Affairs is concerned that all possible assistance for higher education be obtained for Indian youth whose families are too poor to provide adequate education for their children.

The D.A.R. aids St. Mary's School for Indian Girls, at Springfield, S.D., Bacone College, Bacone, Okla., and gives scholarships to many other young Indian men and women who are in need of help. Last year $100,000 was given for scholarships and clothing. Aid to American Indians is only one of the many services D.A.R. provides for the community, state and nation. There are 23 national committees in D.A.R. which serve to aid and benefit all citizens of the United States.

Two book peddlers who were working the Farmington territory Nov. 2, but without solicitor's licenses, knocked on the wrong door, as they learned Tuesday in the court of Municipal Judge Michael J. Hand.

They encountered a traditional occupational hazard when they called at the home of Farmington Police Sgt. Richard Miller, and were asked to show a city license.

Miller was lounging at home, off duty at the time, but that was not a deterrent to law enforcement.

Charged with soliciting without a license, Salvador John Consiglio, of Warren, and Charles Ed Ackerman, of Howell, were each fined $25 plus $10 court costs by Judge Hand in the sequel to their visit at the Miller home.

Police Ticket Motorists

Martha McDonald, 41, of 33680 Hillcrest, Farmington, was charged with "failure to yield the right of way" after her car collided Tuesday afternoon at Farmington and Shawnee Rds. with a motorcycle ridden by Timothy Zerndt, 17, of Northville.

Although Zerndt suffered minor injuries, hospitalization was not required.

Henry R. Lewandowski, 25, of Union Lake, was charged with "failure to have his vehicle under control" after the truck he was driving collided at Halstead Rd. and Grand River with a car driven by Mary Louise Bales, 25, of 36700 Lansbury, Farmington.

Police Have Busy Month

Farmington Township's 27-man police force handled a hefty 1,239 complaints during the month of October, Chief Irving H. Yakes reported this week.

The burgeoning sector, with a population which now is upwards of 30,000, reported 41 burglaries, 79 cases of simple larceny, four complaints of aggravated assault, 37 lesser assault complaints, and 89 instances of malicious destruction of property and vandalism for October.

Yakes said other major statistical categories for the month included these complaints:

Sex offenses, 21; drunkenness and disorderly conduct, 19; embezzlement and fraud, 11; stolen, abandoned or missing cars, 27; personal injury accidents, 32; property damage accidents, 57; missing persons, 16; dog complaints, 36.

The township went through October without a single murder, manslaughter, prostitution, narcotic or gambling complaint, according to the chief's report.

THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL REPORTS SNOW TIRES EQUIPPED WITH SPIKES GIVE YOU 136% MORE TRACTION ON ICY ROADS THAN REGULAR HIGHWAY TIRES

Protect yourself. Think about snow tires before it snows. You know how little traction your regular tires give you on icy roads and how packed snow. Even regular snow tires provide only 30% more traction on slippery surfaces. But snow tires with spikes, like Uniroyal Winter Patrols, give you a full 136% more traction on icy roads than the regular tires on your car. A National Safety Council tests have confirmed that! When you hit the brake you don't have to miss a couple of heartbeats. Winter Patrols' spikes reach out and claw the ice. When you're getting off from a standstill, you can practically forget about spinning your wheels without moving. And if the road is dry, these Winter Patrols with spikes have been tested to do 80 mph. No wonder they're approved for highway police!

During Year City Treasurer Handles $3 Million

By HENRY J. TEUTSCH
Staff Writer

Kenneth E. Way is a man of many titles. He works for the City of Plymouth and is its treasurer, assessor and purchasing agent.

Along with all of these titles goes the responsibility for a lot of money.

As treasurer, Way handled approximately $3 million during the City's fiscal year from July 1966 to June 1967.

Last year, Way collected $1,398,822.21 in local taxes and other revenues.

This figure is broken down into three main categories.

THE GENERAL FUND which includes fees, permits, licenses, fines, penalties, interest on investments, rents, royalties and other city government income amounted to $901,198.72.

The second category is called "other funds" which includes the cemetery fund, the Pettingill Flower Trust Fund, the parking fund which amounted to $144,620.79.

The "utility funds" is the third general breakdown. It includes the water supply system and the sewage disposal system which both amounted to $117,117.54.

Approximately $1 million of this $3 million figure is money the city collects for the Plymouth Community School District, the County and Community College.

All of this money is turned over to its respective receivers and the city acts only as a collection agent.

WAY'S SECOND TITLE, city assessor, means that his office determines who should pay what in the city.

Way begins field work in the summer and fall months so that all land and building assessments can be established as of December 31 in preparation for the following year's taxes.

In 1966 the assessed value of personal property, real property, commercial, industrial, residential, and utility combined, equaled $33 million.

In 1967 the figure was $35 million—a $2 million jump.

Way said that at least half of the increase was attributed to 100 new homes that were built in the New England Village subdivision.

A major portion of the balance included several industrial building additions, commercial building improvements, including a new convalescent home, and the completion of the Plymouth Square and the Shangri La apartment project.

Way said that the assessed value of property in the City is approximately 40 per cent of an average current market value.

AS IN PAST YEARS, the State has always adjusted the City's total assessment to a 50 per cent level, which then established a state equalized value for the City, he said.

Instead of changing each individual property assessment, the adjustment was absorbed by the city tax rate.

Beginning with 1967 city tax bill, a new State law requires that the equalized factor be applied to each individual property.

Way said that instead of applying the tax rate to the assessed value as has been done previously, the tax rate will be applied to the state equalized value and will be printed in this manner on the bill.

Because the equalized value is at a higher level, the city tax rate will be lowered to compensate, he said.

The resulting tax remains the same only the computation method will change.

WAY'S LAST TITLE is purchasing agent. Last year the city spent about $1,326,298.05.

Way said that in order to consolidate the multiple buying needs of the various city administrative departments, the purchasing responsibility has been given to one person as a special assistant to the city manager.

He said that the purchasing agent's primary function is to protect the taxpayer's interests by promoting efficiency, economy and quality in the products and equipment that in turn serve the public.

In order to obtain competitive prices, quotations are solicited on items up to $1,000.

Eight hundred and sixty purchase orders were processed and issued during the last fiscal year. This was an average of 72 a month.

Bids were taken on at least 19 various items, such as tree trimming, sidewalk repairs, police cars, street sweeper and other DPW equipment.

ALL IN ALL, Kenneth E. Way handles a lot of money and has some big responsibilities.

Right now his office is preparing to send out tax bills to city residents for this year and that will mean the handling of even more money.

Charter Q & A: City Has Power To Tax Incomes

[Charter Commissioner Bebe Lindhout has prepared a series of questions and answers concerning the new city charter. They are presented here in the hope they will be helpful to voters in the Nov. 27 election. —Editor.]

Q. Did the charter commission consider a city income tax?

A. Yes they did. They even went so far as to learn that $2.5 million would be the anticipated revenue from such a tax. The city already is empowered to levy an income tax, no action needed by charter. Councilman Jerry Raymond introduced such a measure last year and it disappeared into committee.

Q. Why don't we have a full-time judge?

A. Our present judge spends well over 40 hours a week working as a judge. The "full-time" distinction being that we allow our judge to continue the practice of law during his term. The charter commission chose to retain this provision because it is unfair to ask a man to give up a professional practice, which takes years to build, when he is only running for a four year term.

The sentimental image of judge is the white haired old man, whose judgeship represents the last chapter of a long and dedicated life. Our municipal judge is more apt to be a young man with a growing family who regards our Municipal Court as only a part of his career.

The charter commission, fully aware of the volume of work now before the court, has created a new associate municipal judge, to assist our present judge.

Q. Are any real economies created by the new charter?

A. By changing the terms of office to four-year concurrent terms for all elected officials, the city will save the cost of one primary and one city election every four years.

Other economies are not so easy to spell out. Better utilization of manpower in the department of finance should show some savings.

Family Y Ready For Bright '68

"A year from now we will be holding our annual dinner meeting in our own Family YMCA building", was the statement made by Donald Friedrichs, to the 115 Livonia Family Y members Thursday night.

The occasion was the first annual dinner meeting of the Family YMCA held at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Livonia.

Rev. William Whitledge presented the slate for the new members of the Board of Management and asked for nominations from the floor.

Elected were Mrs. Dottie Blacklock, Whitney Gerrish, Charles W. Allen, Jr., Russell W. Brown, A. Leslie Core, George Friess, Richard H. Funk, Dr. Robert Hornbeck, Edward V. McNally, Rev. William Moldwin, DeWayne Nutter, Mrs. Avram Rosenthal, Mrs. Betsy Tagami, Lt. Robert E. Thorne.

A plaque of recognition for outstanding service was presented to a surprised Betsy Tagami by Livonia Observer Publisher, Philip H. Power. Mrs. Tagami headed the general community solicitation section of the capital funds drive and is presently conducting the drive for Civic and Partner members in the Livonia Family Y.

In presenting the plaque Power pointed out that the pace of the leadership by example set by Mrs. Tagami left no choice for her workers but to get the job done, so earnest and dedicated were her efforts.

The Franklin ensemble under the direction of Robert Ballard kept the pace lively with a program of songs after dinner.

Climaxing the evening, Paul Williams, public affairs director of WWJ-TV kept the vein of his remarks light-hearted. He did make the serious point of acknowledging that the youth of today were asking "why" and formulating independent opinions. He emphasized the importance of adults encouraging family involvement in community affairs as a way to communicate with our youth.

Teen Jobs Get No. 1 Priority

The occupational training needs of Livonia teenagers who do not plan to go on to college are receiving high priority attention by the Livonia school board and other educators serving the suburban area.

A committee of interested civic leaders and educators, which has studied the problem of establishing a comprehensive vocational education program serving the residents living in the 39-square-mile Livonia district, met recently with the Livonia trustees to outline their recommendations.

The basic conclusions reached by the Vocational Education Study Committee were:

1. That there was a proven need for a centralized facility to meet the needs of a growing number of job-bound secondary school students in Livonia.

2. That such a vocational education center be located on a site adjacent to an existing high school or be built on the site of a future comprehensive high school.

3. That the enrollment in the numerous occupational training programs be open to all secondary school students on a part-time basis.

4. That the center be administered by its own administrative staff.

5. That a flexible modern building be planned to meet the changing needs of the program for years to come.

Dr. Donald Friedrichs, director of secondary education, pointed out that the new concept differs from older technical high school systems in the United States in that the center will be tied into the regular programs of the students "home" or neighborhood comprehensive high school.

"STUDENTS WILL attend the center for a portion of the day," Dr. Friedrichs said. "This approach has proven to be the most economical and efficient. Moreover, the student maintains his identity with his high school community through the school's social life and extra-curricular activities."

The committee pointed out that it would be wasteful to put complete vocational programs, with high laboratory, machine, or manpower costs in every Livonia high school.

"However," Dr. Friedrichs pointed out, "the plan will retain all vocational programs, such as secretarial, which can be economically provided in each school, will continue to be offered at Bentley, Franklin, Stevenson, and the new Churchill High School."

Douglas M. Selby, specialist in vocational and technical education for the Wayne County Intermediate School District, said that a county-wide check on vocational needs and a comprehensive plan to establish centers in several locations was being initiated by the county unit.

Dr. Eric Bradner, president of Schoolcraft College, outlined plans the community college had for extending special occupational services to youth and adults living in the school districts served by Schoolcraft.

Dr. A. Edward Katz, school board secretary, in stressing the need for "action and decision making now," said "This is based on a felt need in the community. We know that business and industry is looking to us for vocationally trained young men and women for jobs which now exist. We should get started at once."

IN ADDITION to vocational movies presently available, the new facility would be eligible to acquire funds from Federal and State sources. Among those listed:

1. Under the Vocational Education Act of 1963, construction costs may be reimbursed up to 50% for an approved area center.

2. Equipment costs under the Vocational Education Act of 1963 may be reimbursable up to 50%.

3. Instructional costs are reimbursable under the same legislation. This amount is variable, but it has been at a rate of approximately 25%.

Instructional costs are reimbursable only if the teachers are qualified and certificated in their fields.

4. Scientific and technical education costs may also be funded under the National Defense Education Act. Mrs. Strelsa Schreiber announced that the board would hold a study session and public discussion of the plan and the need for action "as soon as possible. Civic reaction to the plan at that time will be appreciated," Mrs. Schreiber said.

LET'S GET FRESH

By DON KEETH

This is not advocating uncouth actions toward the fair sex. Our crusade for today is for fresh indoor air. This should strike a responsive chord in all you stale air sufferers... all jillion of you.

Many homes today inflict stale air on their occupants simply because the heating system does not provide constant air circulation. Air settles in stuffy layers and pockets. Warm air rises and escapes out the roof at a too-rapid rate, causing high fuel bills.

The bright spot in the picture is that a good many of these homes can be "cured" easily without additional equipment. If they have a good forced air heating system, all that is needed is an adjustment for CONTINUOUS AIR CIRCULATION.

I don't mean a big, constant blast of air through your house. I mean gentle, almost imperceptible, circulation of air. It can make a whole of a difference in your comfort! A breath of spring in the dead of winter!

You don't exactly get this with just a twist of the wrist but almost. Qualified heating experts can do the job in a jiffy.

That's us... qualified through experience and Lennox factory training.

Call us, we will answer with glee.

MORE FIRES IN WINTER

The winter months are the worst for fire losses, according to the Insurance Information Institute. Although other factors are involved, this is mainly the result of heating hazards.

Congressman Esch Reports

Help Is Needed To Combat Air Pollution

Stern reminders of New York City immobilized by a stagnant mass of filthy air, helped achieve the unanimous passage of the Air Quality Act in the House recently. The debate served to highlight the fact that no area, no state is without a dangerous or potentially serious air pollution problem. Michigan fully has its share, and while something is being done at most levels of government, it is clear that our efforts must be intensified.

For many, the New York incident was enough to cause alarm. But a check of conditions closer to home should rally more public concern to the clean air cause. During 1965 at least seven major Michigan cities experienced periods in which air pollution measured well above the level considered to be the point at which corrective measures should be taken. As we well know in the Second Congressional District air pollution is no longer just an urban concern. Rural areas, most of which are now experiencing industrial growth, are encountering similar problems and are very much aware that the same mass of air which formulates over the big city ultimately passes over the farm as well.

HEAVY INDUSTRY is not the only polluter. Motor vehicles, slaughter houses, food processing, chemical manufacturing are included in the long list of operations which contribute to Michigan's dirty air. From my office window here in Washington I can easily see (when the air is somewhat clear) many examples of how government adds dirt to the atmosphere as well.

What's being done? I think we have made a decent start. While I was in the Michigan legislature, I was privileged to be able to support two measures which have put our state in a leadership position in the fight against air pollution. One provides tax incentives for industry to install air pollution equipment. The other establishes an Air Pollution Commission to establish and enforce emission limits. Both of these programs are now underway. On the federal level, a recognition that air pollution is both a national and regional problem, has brought about several programs beginning back in the mid-fifties. Most of these have basically brought about research programs needed before a large scale attack against air pollution could be formulated.

The current Congress passed, and I supported, the Air Quality Act of 1967 which will help to solve the problem on a regional basis in accordance with air quality standards and enforcement plans developed by the states. Over a three year period, $362.3 million is provided in this Act for air control research and the development of plans to control pollution sources.

THESE EFFORTS are commendable, but when you consider that 1400 pounds of pollutants per person are yearly dumped into our atmosphere you can realize the magnitude of the problem. We still need better federal, state and local coordination and cooperation. We still need more and better research to close the gaps in technical knowledge and capabilities. We still need more and better incentives involving the private sector to clean the air. And we still need more and better efforts by the Federal government to set an example by clearing up pollution from its own installations.

A start has been made. We must intensify our efforts. We can no longer afford a continuation of the type of self destruction we have allowed to develop. The air that you and I and our children breathe must be clean.

Two Injured When Auto Runs Light

An accident involving residents of the City resulted in one person being issued a violation for failing to yield right of way and sent two other persons to St. Mary Hospital, Livonia.

William Wallace Carlson, 948 Dewey, failed to stop for a stop sign on west bound Burroughs at S. Main St. and his car struck a car driven by Ross Edwin Fillmore, 41101 Wilcox.

Fillmore and his wife, Kathy, were taken to the hospital but no report on their condition was available.

Carlson told city police that he had stopped for the stop sign and looked both ways but failed to see Fillmore's car and pulled into the intersection and hit it.

Carlson said that his truck mirror obstructed his vision. Fillmore was traveling about 25 miles an hour and didn't see the other vehicle until it hit his car.

Carlson was not injured.

CPA's Hold Tax Forum

Certified Public Accountants from all sections of Michigan are expected to convene on Friday, November 17, when The Michigan Association of CPAs holds its Annual State Tax Forum at the Rackham Building in Detroit.

Because the entire session will be devoted to the new Michigan Income Tax, a capacity crowd is expected. Both CPAs and tax authorities from the Michigan Department of Treasury will participate in the day long discussions.

The luncheon speaker will be Paul Borman, President of Borman Food Stores, and a member of the New Detroit Committee.

Area Plan Accepted By Plymouth Schools

Monday night Plymouth's Board of Education agreed to participate in a vocational center study in the Schoolcraft College area with the college.

Esther L. Hulsing, board president, said, "there is a necessity for this center and we (the board) ought to become involved."

There is an increasing need for youth to receive vocational education of a nature that requires very expensive equipment.

Such programs cannot be economically provided by school districts of the size that make up the Schoolcraft Community College area, she said.

There will be a committee from each participating school district to help in the study.

The committee from Plymouth is: from the board Jack Moehle and Bruce Scott; from the schools Joe West and Don Zander; from industry Clarence Moore and Paul Malboeuf; from a profession other than education Dr. Gary Hall and Don Sutherland; and from labor Raymond Lawrence.

Keith Baughman, a vocational director and High School department chairman will also be on the committee.

The Board adopted a resolution requesting the Schoolcraft Community College to conduct the proposed study to determine the feasibility of a Schoolcraft Area Vocational Center Program to serve vocational needs of youth in the area not presently served or not economically served by the high school districts.

Bud Bennett To Address Scout Chiefs

One of the features that will draw Cub Scout leaders from Plymouth and other communities throughout the Detroit Area Council to the Cubbers Pow-Wow at Mumford High School on Saturday, November 18, will be the appearance of Mr. O.W. "Bud" Bennett, the National Director of Cub Scouting Service for the Boy Scouts of America.

Bennett will attend the Pow-Wow to explain the many changes that have taken place in the Cub program this fall, changes that include provision for men to serve as "Den Mothers", the elimination of the Lion Rank, the extension of the Webelos program to a full year for 10-year-old Cubs, and the new achievement program for Bear and Webelos Scouts.

The Pow-Wow is an annual "show and do" type of training event for the Cub leaders. It features a carefully picked training staff who conduct sessions on Pack Administration, Games and Ceremonies, Webelos Den Operation, and of special interest to the ladies, a session on Themecraft.

The Pow-Wow will get underway following registration from 11 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday. Participants have been asked to bring handicraft items made by their Cubs which will form an amazing variety of ideas on display in the display area.

Emphysema Is Studied

That "cigarette cough" may be just an annoyance, but could it be the first step on the way to chronic lung disease?

Twenty years ago, few of us had heard of emphysema, but many Americans now gasping and struggling for every breath of air have learned about it the hard way.

Emphysema is catching up to heart disease as the major cause of death and disability in this country and kills more American men than does lung cancer.

Respiratory cripples make up the second largest group of workers under 65 receiving Social Security disability pensions.

In emphysema, the lungs become enlarged and less efficient in removing oxygen from the air.

Epidemiological evidence has led many scientists to suspect smoking and air pollution, but proof has been hard to come by.

The symptoms of chronic bronchitis and of the early stages of emphysema are so similar that even specialists cannot always tell the two conditions apart.

Sometimes the diagnosis of emphysema cannot be made with certainty until the patient dies and an autopsy is performed. The National Society for Medical Research explains that

Good News Tonight? Jaycees Call It Magic

Livonia Jaycees will stage "On A Magic Carpet" Nov. 17-18 in Franklin High School auditorium as their major fund-raising program of the year. The show will feature some of the top illusions in magic.

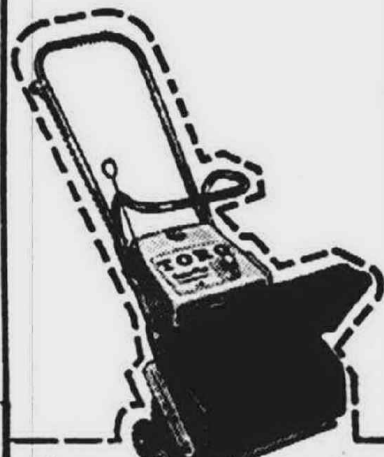

ONE ACT by Jim Edwards took a bit of planning. The Jaycees placed, in a sealed chest, Edwards' predictions of the headlines for Friday--on Monday and turned it over for safekeeping to the LIVONIA OBSERVER.

The chest will be unsealed and the predictions compared with the Friday edition of The News on stage. Dr. Douglas Dean, who recently purchased the show, and with it, the services of the Magicians' Guild of Lansing, will also join the performances.
